Wayne State College Relations

Marguerite Ellen Morris Cortez of Sioux City, Iowa graduated with an Early Childhood Education Unified degree from Wayne State College on May 3. Cortez and her family will celebrate her degree and her birthday with a family gathering on Mother's Day, May 11.

"I feel like I've already had my Mother's Day gift," said Sheila Morris. Cortez's mother after commencement activities. She and her husband had moved in with her daughter to help with her children while she was a student at WSC.

"I had three different jobs while I raised my children. I had seven children. I quit as a junior to raise my children. I went back to school and became a site coordinator. Part of my job was to help students become interested in attending college. My own daughter wasn't as interested at first. She took a few classes. She took some encouraging and convincing, but then she just took off," Morris said.

Morris said Marguerite and her brother Tony raised the younger five in the family when she had cancer twice. This was her chance to give back by helping raise Cortez's children while she took classes and completed her student teaching experience.

"They didn't have a childhood. I didn't want that to happen here," Morris said. "I saw how excited my daughter was when she would come back from working at the daycare. I said you have to go on with this. You were meant to work with children."

Cortez said her children felt better about her leaving for class when they knew that their grandmother would be watching them. She also said she made an extra effort to attend the children's school events and she and the children went to the library together for projects.

"My professors were wonderful about working with me to help me also have time for my kids. I had to make sure I had time for the kids as well as studying," Cortez said. "I worked hard at my school work and got good grades to show my children that they need to work hard to do well in school. I plan to return to school as a graduate student. I am considering coming back to college through a learning community. I would rather spend a weekend away from my children than evenings away from them. I think one weekend a month is something I can do."

"She is very determined," said Professor Marilyn Mudge of the School of Education and Counseling at Wayne State College. "She is so caring about her family and talented as a teacher. When she works with students, her eyes light up. She is a great role model for other students or individuals thinking about going to college."

A Native American mother of three children and 1996 Sioux City West High School graduate, Cortez entered Wayne State College after completing work at Little Priest Tribal College.

Cortez is the daughter of Anthony and Sheila Morris of Sioux City. She grew up in Sioux City and continues to live there with her husband, Rafael. Their three children are Rafael Curtis, Derrik and Kylah. She plans to continue to work in the Winnebago and Macy area. While a WSC student, Cortez participated in Alpha Sigma Lambda and recently traveled to Greece with other WSC students and faculty members. Cortez presented information for Greek students on her life as Native American through translators in Greece.

"It was hard to be away from my family while I was in Greece. I called home every day or my husband called me. It was a great

Town hall meeting on sales tax planned

A town hall meeting is planned for Tuesday, May 20 at the Wayne city auditorium at 7:30 p.m. to discuss continuing the one cent sales tax in Wayne. The bond payoff for the community activity center will be done in the fall of 2009. The amount generated from the sales tax has been around $40,000 a month.

The purpose of the town hall meeting is to explain the continuing of the sales tax, what it can accomplish for the town and residents and to answer any questions the public may have. Also discussed will be the recent sales tax survey, LB840 and LB904 and more. With approval, the issue of continuing the sales tax will be on the November ballot.

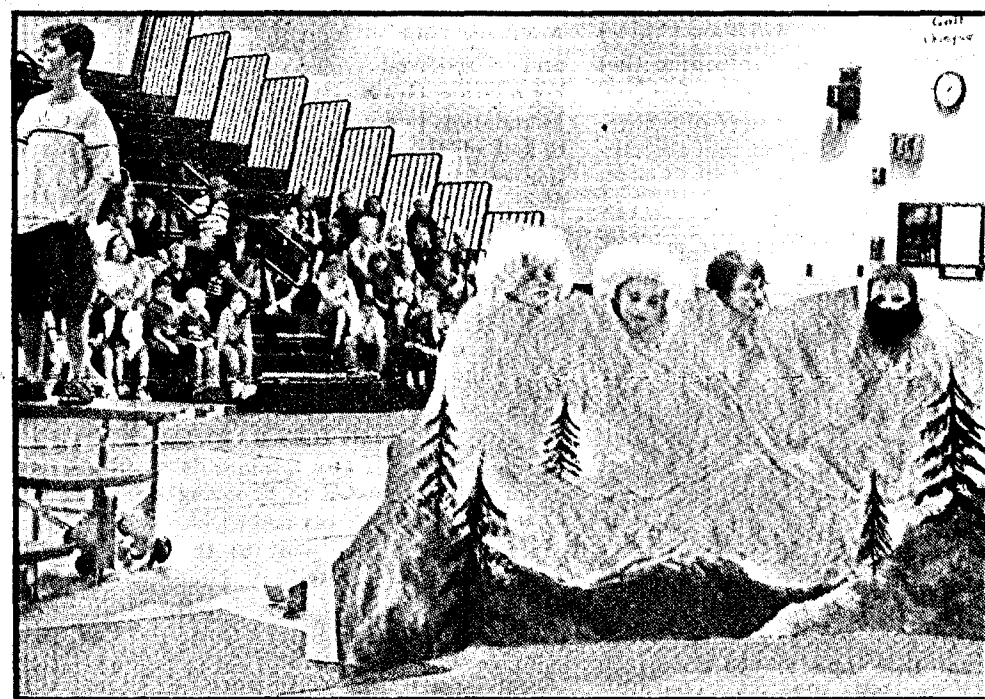

A sales tax survey was taken recently with over 200 responses. Eighty-three percent of the responses were positive.

A committee was put together to explore the possibilities of continuing the tax and what could be accomplished by doing so. The group is looking at the tax to continue for 15 years, subject to public and council approval. The committee has been studying LB840 and LB904 (mandated state law) for correct implementation of the funds. For example, by letting the one cent sales tax continue, $480,000 should be raised and of that, LB904 directs that $65,000, which was generated from vehicle registrations, etc., must go to street improvement.

Some of the needs the sales tax could go to include specific projects, economic development to help the town grow and in turn offer more job opportunities and to provide downpayment funds so bonds don't have to be put into place, ultimately helping relieve property taxes.

Anyone with questions on the sales tax or the upcoming town hall meeting can contact committee member Kent Franzen at franzenkent@hotmail.com opportunity for me to go that I couldn't pass up," Cortez said.

"I'm very proud of her going to work and school at the same time," Rafael Cortez said of his wife.

Alpha Sigma Lambda is an honor society that recognizes the special achievements of adults who accomplish academic excellence in higher education while facing competing interests of home and work.

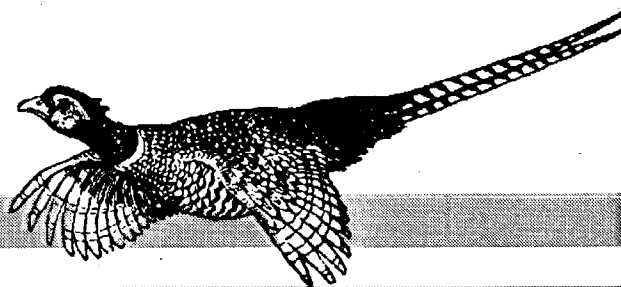

Rafael Curtis and Kylah Cortez congratulate their mother Marguerite Cortez after commencement activities, May 3.

Jerry Grubb

Jerry Grubb, 68, of Omaha died Saturday, April 26, 2008. Memorial services were held Wednesday, April 30 at Countryside Community Church, United Church of Christ in Omaha.

Jerry Leon Grubb was born Sept. 1, 1939 on a farm near Wayne. His love for the land, nature and its wildlife stemmed from this rural upbringing and became the foundation for his life. As a friend of Bill W., Jerry brought renewal and happiness to many. A funny and generous man, his life centered around helping others through reaching out and speaking to those in need of a friend. He enjoyed carving wildfowl decoys, painting his special brand of abstract oils, fishing, cooking, gardening and simply sitting and enjoying the beauty of the day. A spiritual man, Jerry's sanctuary was the natural world around him and his higher power was the gift of love which he has left to all who knew him, and which will remain his legacy forever. He was employed for 40 years with Morgan Stanley financial services, retiring as senior vice president in 2002.

Survivors include his wife, Linda Goth Grubb; three children, Curtis, Kevin and Kelly and one brother, Gayle of Newport Beach, Calif.

Memorials are suggested to Siena/Francis House, 1702 Nicholas St., Omaha, Neb. 68102 and/or Nebraska Wildlife Federation, P.O. Box 81437, Lincoln, Neb. 68501.

Renovation is in progress at the Wakefield Legion Hall

The Wakefield American Legion Post 81 and the Wakefield American Legion Auxiliary Unit 81 have come to the realization that the current American Legion Hall kitchen is in major need of renovation. It is estimated that the current kitchen is at least 30-35 years old. The total cost of the kitchen renovation project is approximately $50,000.

The Legionnaires and Auxiliary members are excited about this new venture. Both organizations are committed to assist in the physical part of the renovation project, as well as to share in the fund-raising activities this project requires. Even though both organizations are becoming small in number, they all welcome this challenge knowing that it is for the betterment of Wakefield. It is their hope that once this renovation is complete, the American Legion Hall will be more attractive and functional to rent not only to members of the Wakefield Community but also to members of area communities as well.

The Wakefield American Legion Auxiliary Unit 81 has applied for and received a Gardner Foundation Grant. The Gardner Foundation has graciously agreed to kick off the project with a donation of $10,000. The Foundation has also generously agreed to match monies donated by others dollar-for-dollar up to $20,000. That means, donations of $100 becomes $200, donations of $500 become $1,000, or donations of $1,000 become $2,000.

The organizations are currently accepting donations from community members. If any community member is interested in donating to this cause, their tax-deductible contribution can be sent to the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 81, P.O. Box 634, Wakefield, NE 68784. The Iowa-Nebraska State Bank in Wakefield has also set up an account to accept donations.

WSC professor receives State Teaching Excellence Award

Dr. Todd Young, associate professor of physics and astronomy at Wayne State College, has been named as the recipient of the Rebensdorf Teaching Excellence Award from the Nebraska State College System. Dr. Young excels in the classroom, his profession and in the community.

The Rebensdorf Teaching Excellence Award is presented annually to a faculty member who demonstrates innovation and leadership in teaching and service in the Nebraska State College system, which includes Chadron, Peru, and Wayne State Colleges. Administrators, fellow faculty, students, and alumni nominate candidates.

In the supporting materials for his nomination for the award, it was noted that Young "constantly stresses the importance of physics as a tool for learning about the world around us" and continuously explores and investigates methods to better educate his students. He has applied this philosophy outside of WSC by helping secure two grants aimed at improving the content knowledge and teaching styles of practicing secondary teachers.

In a letter of support for his nomination, a fellow WSC faculty member wrote that Young receives great reviews from his students regarding the rigor of his classes and his commitment to their success. Other faculty members within Young's department noted that he serves as inspiration for students by challenging them to perform well in physics, which translates to favorable scores on professional school and graduate school entrance exams.

Young is the 24th recipient of the Teaching Excellence Award. He was first selected as Wayne State College's Teaching Excellence Award winner, which qualified him as a candidate for the system award. The NSCS Board of Trustees met in March and after careful deliberation, selected Young as the 2008 recipient. Several

Providence Medical Center has pain manager REMICADE available

If you suffer from rheumatoid arthritis, and if your physician has prescribed a pain manager called REMICADE, please know that REMICADE is available at Providence Medical Center Outpatient Services in Wayne.

REMICADE is administered intravenously at zero, two and six weeks initially and every eight weeks subsequently. After the first year, patients are scheduled to receive six infusions a year.

"I continue to hear from individuals that they are making a trek to Omaha and other locations to receive their REMICADE treatment. That is unfortunate, as REMICADE is available right here, 'close to home' at PMC, said Providence Medical Center Administrator Marcile Thomas.

REMICADE may be able to help individuals who have been diagnosed with moderate to severe rheumatoid arthritis. In combination with methotrexate, REMICADE may:

- Stop further joint damage;
- May improve mobility;
- May quickly relieve pain and stiffness.

According to Thomas, REMICADE is covered by most insurance plans, including commercial insurers, Medicare and Medicaid.

Thomas said, "We just strongly encourage people to consult with their physician, that's the first step. Then, if REMICADE is prescribed by their physician, the second step is to remember that they need not travel distances for a treatment that is available right here in Wayne at Providence Medical Center."

He noted that last year, Klein Electric had given a bid of $4,000 to install the fiber optic cable. Neel asked the commissioners if he could see if Klein would update that bid, which they said he could.

Deanna Beckman, Wayne County emergency manager, gave the commissioners project updates. He noted the disaster preparedness presentations last week at local schools and with businesses went well and would like to bring back the presenter again next year.

Beckman had the commissioners look at the basement of the nearby court services building for a possible EOC (emergency operations center). The commissioners told her to get a price for fixing the walls, floors and installing cabinets. She also asked permission for her to move her office to the court services building (probation area), which the commissioners agreed to.

Wayne Planning Commission met in regular session on Monday night. Commissioners present included Lee Brogie, who was appointed recently. On the agenda was discussion and a recommendation of the preliminary plat for the Western Ridge II addition.

Commissioner Sharon Braun, chair, noted that in looking at the preliminary plat, it should have the correct legal description and doesn't so that needs to be changed.

George Ellyson, Wayne chief inspector/planner, discussed the watershed issue in that area and said the basin is designed to drain the slope even above the plat area. He feels this more than protects residents in that area.

Dave Ptak's presentation prior to the Planning Commission's last meeting was discussed. The presentation included finding of fact and its importance.

Commissioner Brogie discussed types of houses to be built in the area and asked about duplexes. Don Buryanek, a member of the CDA, said zoning permits it; the only thing that can't be done is one person can't combine two lots for one home.

Commissioner Derek Hill asked if there was a limit of amount of each home to be built there. Buryanek noted $160,000 and that the first 17 lots are to be low - moderate income houses valued at $92,000 each.

Commissioner Brogie asked about the street width in the area. She also questioned the names of the streets, which are the same or similar to other areas in the city and she wondered if that would be confusing. (Example: there is a Bressler Court in the new area and Bressler Park in town).

Commissioner Bill Kranz asked about the cropland near outlet B area and if it was being farmed because if it was, sediment would come into the subdivision. Ellyson noted it wasn't so that shouldn't be a problem.

The number of houses to be built in the subdivision was discussed. Buryanek said according to the grant, there are 17 houses required to be built in three years.

More discussion was held on the basin and Kranz said basins shouldn't be retainer but rather detention, in fact, silt and detention basins are identified now.

Commissioner Kelby Herman moved to approve the preliminary plat with needed corrected legal description. Ellyson also recommended approval. Herman amended his motion to approve according to finding of fact and to include silt detention basin accommodation.

The commissioners approved and the recommendation to city council passed.

The next meeting of the Wayne Planning Commission will be on Monday, June 2 at 7 p.m. in the city council chambers.

WSC presents Alumni Achievement Award

Dr. Terri Monk, a professor in the Department of Anesthesiology at Duke University Medical Center in Durham, N.C., was presented with this year's Alumni Achievement Award at Wayne State College's spring graduation on May 3. Dr. Monk delivered the commencement address at the baccalaureate ceremony.

She earned her bachelor of science degree at Wayne State College in 1973, received her M.D. degree from the University of Nebraska and completed a residency in anesthesiology at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Texas. Prior to her move to Duke, she was a faculty member in the Department of Anesthesiology at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., and at the University of Florida in Gainesville, Fla.

Dr. Monk received a National Institutes of Health Clinical Research Curriculum Award that enabled her to obtain a master's degree in clinical investigation at the University of Florida. She has also been awarded a career development award by the National Institute on Aging. This award supported her clinical research program evaluating the mechanisms responsible for postoperative cognitive dysfunction following major surgery. Her other major research interests involve blood conservation strategies, geriatric anesthesia, and long-term outcomes following anesthesia and surgery.

Dr. Monk is a founding member and past president of the Society for the Advancement of Geriatric Anesthesia and serves as a representative to the American Geriatric Society's Section of Surgical and Related Medical Specialties. She had the honor of delivering the Rovenstine Lecture at the American Society of Anesthesiologists conference in October 2003. The Rovenstine Lecture honors the memory of Emery A. Rovenstine, M.D., who, at the time of his death in 1960, was considered the most knowledgeable anesthesiologist in the world. Dr. Monk's lecture topic was "Postoperative Cognitive Dysfunction: The Next Challenge in Geriatric Anesthesia."

The executive committee of the Anesthesia Patient Safety Foundation appointed her to serve as chairperson for the Data Dictionary Task Force in 2001. The goal of this task force is to improve patient safety and medical communication through the development of a standardized nomenclature for anesthetic terms. She is also the chairperson of the Special Interest Group for the Generation of Anesthesia Standards. Her research in this area is funded by grants from the Veterans Affairs Medical Services and the National Library of Medicine.

The Wayne State College Alumni Achievement Award recognizes alumni for outstanding achievements in their field of expertise, civic involvement and support of the college. Phyllis Conner, vice president for development, and Dr. Richard Collings, president of Wayne State, presented the award to Dr. Monk.

Several members of the 1951 Wayne High School basketball team and their coach, Lloyd Horton, will be on hand at the Wayne High School Athletic Banquet on Tuesday, May 13. The 1951 team finished the season as Class B runner-up, losing in the finals to David City. They had earlier defeated Holdrege in two overtimes and a sudden death on a winning shot by Richard Berry. This photo, from 1951, shows a smiling victorious team, including members Warren Price, David Meyer, Virgil Rohlff and Richard Berry. That same year the Wayne Prep Panthers also earned a trip to the state tournament.

Mothers work, volunteer and more; be sure to remember them on their special day

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Sunday is Mother's Day and time to remember how important mothers are. Besides busy schedules of working at home and many at jobs; many mothers also find time to volunteer their time and services. One place mothers volunteer at is the local schools.

Daryl Schrunk, principal at Wayne Elementary, notes parent volunteers assist classroom teachers, they help read with the children, help the students with art projects, to learn math facts, review sight words with the students, copy papers for teachers, cut out items for teachers, assist during classroom parties by bringing food, plates, napkins, etc., assist with games during classroom parties and more. Parent volunteers help out in the Middle School and at the high school too.

"We greatly appreciate all the support we get from our parents," Schrunk said. "Many parents assist in the classrooms in some capacity weekly. Some bring things home to work on like cutting out things or putting things together that makes it easier for the teacher. There are many more things that parents do for our students and staff that I can not even begin to name them all."

Parent volunteers also are important at St. Mary's Catholic School in Wayne.

"We have moms that fill many roles for us at St. Mary's School," said Connie Wageman, head teacher. "We have four moms that take turns serving lunch each week. We have a mom who serves as our librarian. Moms and some times dads provide transportation on field trips. We have had moms and dads in to school to talk about their job. We also have many parents and parishioners that help to give the school a good cleaning before school starts. Moms also provide refreshments for our programs and other activities throughout the year. We are very thankful to all our mothers."

Mothers are special. Be sure to thank them on Mother's Day and every day for all they do.

Liquor license, sales tax among agenda items

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

An application for a special liquor permit was denied and updates given on the possibility of having a sales tax issue on the ballot were agenda items during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Chicken Show Committee had requested a Special Designated Liquor Permit for a Beer Garden on Saturday, July 12.

The request was for a street dance to be held in the Carhart Parking Lot on South Main Street, similar to an event held last year.

Ken Jorgensen, owner of The Max Again in Wayne told the council he felt that he paid taxes as part of his liquor license and "should have protection from anyone who wants to come in and take business away. This would be direct competition with my business."

Wes Blecke, representing the Chamber and the Chicken Show said he did not feel this was "direct competition. If this is the case, lots of things we (the Chicken Show) do are in competition, such as the Chicken Feed and vendors." He noted that over 1,100 people attended the dance last year and many also patronized other establishments in downtown Wayne.

Following debate, Council member Verdel Lutt made a motion to approve the application for the permit. However, the motion died due to lack of a second.

Ken Franzen, representing the LB840 Committee, told the council that the committee continues to meet and is working toward a public education meeting for the community, with a tentative date of the third week in May. He also discussed the formation of a seven member committee with members from within the WAEDI organization and from the community. He recommended these committee members have staggering terms.

Franzen also talked about the results of a recent community survey on the sales tax issue and noted there was overwhelming support for the tax. He also discussed the division of funds generated by the tax.

Several public hearings were during the meeting.

The first involved the preliminary and final plat for the re-plated area in Muhs Acres. Following the hearing the council unanimously approved the request.

A second public hearing was held in regard to a Wayne Revolving Loan Fund application from the Wayne Area Economic Development, Inc. That request was also approved.

The third hearing involved approving amendments of the Wayne Revolving Loan Fund Plan. Wayne Industries and the Department of Economic Development have already approved the changes and additions to the plan. This resolution also received unanimous approval.

The final hearing of the evening involved Resolution 2008-38, which will amend the city's Investment and Portfolio policy.

Council members suggested several changes to the resolution, which was passed on a 5-2 vote with Council members Darrel Fuelberth and Brian Frevert voting against and Council member Kaki Ley abstaining.

A bid from Schmitt Construction in Laurel was approved for the over-look grading project on the Western Ridge II Subdivision project.

Morgan Sikes with Kirkham Michael told the council that a total of eight bids had been received for the project and seven of those were under the engineer's estimate.

Members of the Public Works Department were on hand during the meeting to present an update on current park and street projects.

It was noted that the department is working on installing a sidewalk between Wayne Elementary School and the Community Activity Center and plans to install a shelter and several pieces of park equipment at Henry Victor Park on South Main Street.

A number of other project are scheduled to be completed as time allows this summer.

As part of the meeting, the council met as a committee-of-the-whole to work on the continuation of the budget process for the coming fiscal year.

Among the items discussed was the re-designing of the city's web page and the services provided by the Wayne Public Library for its patrons.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, May 20 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

All landscaping services offered at Unlimited Landscaping

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Joe Niemann of Unlimited Landscaping at 707 Windom Street in Wayne can take care of all your landscaping needs. Niemann works locally and regionally, traveling as far as Norfolk, Yankton, SD and Sioux City, Iowa.

Landscaping services offered through Unlimited Landscaping includes installation of retaining walls, maintenance of shrubs, bushes, flower beds, planting of trees, shrubs, perennials, weed control, fertilizer application, pond and waterfall installation, brick or concrete paver installation (Niemann is a certified installer) and more.

Also offered is mulch coloring. "We can dye mulch in colors of brown, red, gold or black," Niemann said. "A lot of people have colored mulch in their landscapes and every year they buy new mulch to make it look good. They don't need more mulch they just need it to look nice so we can color it for about half the price of buying new mulch."

Niemann does most of the work at Unlimited Landscaping but he does have a couple of people he contacts when extra help is needed. He notes that sometimes the homeowner wants to do some of the work to help lower the labor rate. "I like it when they get involved because they get a better understanding of what is involved in doing the job and get the feeling that they accomplished something they'll enjoy for years to come," Niemann said.

He noted he grew up in Wayne until he was nine and then his family moved to New Albany, Ind. but he still came back to Wayne every summer.

After graduating from New Albany Senior High School, he moved back to Wayne and worked at Great Dane Trailers for 15 years. Then, he worked for Country Nursery for six years and Outdoor Environments in Sioux City, Iowa for a year. He is employed at Wayne State College in the Grounds Maintenance Department and has been running his landscaping business in the evenings and on weekends for three years. His wife, Lisa, is from New Albany, Ind. and they have two daughters, Samantha and Sydney.

Anyone with questions can call him at 402-369-2725. Free estimates and designs are available.

Gathering with Mort at his benefit were his family and friends, Angel Henderson and Lela, Sheri Henderson, Ellen Young of Pender, Tom Henderson of Wakefield, Lori Gutzmann of Emerson, Deb Henderson, John Henderson of Cerestone (behind), April Young and Mary Krueger of Kensington, Fuzz Henderson, Perry Henderson of Emerson, Mort Henderson of Norfolk, Colleen Hupke of Norfolk, and Harley Henderson. Not pictured is Linda Johnson of Council Bluffs.

Omelet feed benefit for Mort Henderson successful

An omelet feed benefit was held for Mort Henderson in Wakefield on May 4. Omelets and condiments were served with a variety of bagels/cream cheese and beverages.

The breakfast or lunch was for approximately 250 people. The free-will offering, along with supplemental funds from Thrivent Financial for Lutherans Wayne-Dixon County chapter, made the benefit very successful. Mort wishes to thank everyone for coming.

A raffle was held for three items: Grand prize - Legacy Sport Escort Over/Under 12 Gauge was won by William and Pat Wiseman of Homer; J.J. and Tracie Morgan of Emerson won a half a processed hog and David Fauss of Norfolk, received $50 cash for third prize in the raffle.

There were over 50 silent auction items that were donated from Kensington, Kan, Council Bluffs, Iowa, Watertown, SD, South Sioux City, Norfolk, Lincoln, Wayne, Emerson and other places. The variety of items to bid on was quite a shopping spree from buffalo meat, kid's wagon, household furniture, outdoor fire pit, many crafts, digital camera, pictures and much, much more.

The most popular items were: 2008 UNL Huskers football autographed by Tom Osborne and the coaching staff went to Loren Victor from Wakefield, a patio set's highest bidder was Val Vanderveen of Wakefield, 20 Lincoln Salt Dog baseball tickets were won by Bruce and Tina Henderson of Lincoln and Loren Victor won a Terry Redlin painting. The Huskers and Michigan football game tickets sold for $500 for the Aug. 30 game.

The health history on Mort is that he was born with a quarter size hole in his heart. This condition was unknown until he was 28 years old. It's amazing with that condition to be alive. He is the oldest northeast Nebraska person to have had this condition. In 1992, open heart surgery was done to patch the hole. Since then, major heart problems have led to another 2008 open heart surgery. It will take four to six months to know if the surgery was successful.

While living in Wakefield for 18 years, he was employed with Michael's Foods. He now resides in Norfolk and is an employee at Apache-Palco Equipment Co.

Mort shared with his families, "In each person's life there are certain dates that stick with them forever, some happy and sad, but yet etched in their memory forever. It may be the birth of a child or losing a loved one. It maybe winning or losing a championship. What do all of these have in common? They affect your life tremendously, your thoughts, priorities, and what is important to you. For me, May 4, 2008, is etched in my mind forever. Not because of the money raised, or seeing people I had not seen for a long time, but watching my family work together and do what they did for me."

He continued, "The idea to part with her stuffed animals came from precious little niece Katie from Pender. (Katie presented Uncle Mort with a plastic container with an amount of $31.55 from her animal sales to Morts' brothers and sisters). This was a reminder to me what family is and having fun while doing it."

Mort's sisters wore decorated t-shirts to be identified. It was really a well organized benefit that involved a total of at least a 1,000 hours from sisters, brothers, spouses, nieces, nephews and friends who assisted in some way for this successful event.

WSC student's walk for children of Sudan may take longer due to Nebraska weather

Walk a mile in another's shoes. Wayne State College student James Zieu of Omaha plans to walk much farther than a mile to help children from Sudan. Zieu remembers walking and often running away through gunfire to escape Sudan during civil war between Christians in the south and Muslims in the north. Although he was only a small child at the time of his long journey on foot out of Sudan, he still recalls his life before he was helped by the United Nations and came to the United States. The Wayne State College student has embarked on an effort to walk from Wayne to Omaha to raise funds for the Children of Sudan Education Foundation, however present Nebraska weather conditions mean his walk must be delayed for safety reasons.

Zieu said even though he made it out of the country safely, a number of other children who traveled with him were killed. Many drown trying to escape. Zieu was separated from his mother and family. He was recently reunited with his mother after more than a decade.

"I'm a junior on my way to graduation with the hope of making this foundation successful to be able to help other children like myself," said Zieu, a dual citizen of Sudan and the United States. "When I look back to my life and obstacles I have overcome, I see children still suffering. I want to help them reach their goals. Without the help of other people, I couldn't be as successful as I am today."

Searching for help and donations, Zieu will ask for support in communities along his walk to Omaha. He plans to stop at Wisner, Scribner, West Point and Fremont within the next week due to the weather and speaking engagements arranged for Zieu along the way about this nonprofit organization that was started by WSC students who are motivated by the need for education of the children of Southern Sudan. Other individuals have volunteered to join Zieu on his walk.

"I can't do this by myself. If others join me, we can help these children achieve and learn in this modern world of opportunity and 'Create the lights for these children,'" Zieu said. The purpose of the Children of Sudan Education Foundation (COSEF) is to help sponsor children at schools in neighboring countries and within Southern Sudan. Tuition, supplies and books are a small part of what will be provided for them.

"The foundation's main goal is to find ambitious hard working individuals who are willing to attend establishments of higher education and reach goals otherwise unattainable without education," Zieu said. "Education was not valued by the older Sudanese as a key to success, but it is considered important by the younger generation."

Checks may be written to: Children of Sudan Education Foundation, 6206 S. 73rd Ave, Omaha, NE 68127.

More information will be released as Zieu's walk progresses. For more details or to become involved in Zieu's effort, please contact James Zieu at james.zieu@gmail.com or Dr. Jeff Carstens at Wayne State College at (402) 375-7318 or Jim Thompson at (402) 706-3994.

Wildcat Softball has five players named to All-NSIC Softball Team

The Wayne State College softball team recently had five players selected for the 2008 Northern Sun Conference All-Conference Softball Team, which was announced last Friday night at the 2008 NSIC Tournament Banquet in Marshall, Minn.

First baseman Jennifer Radley was selected as the NSIC Rookie of the Year by league coaches and was one of four Wildcats named to the All-NSIC First Team.

Joining Radley, was junior Amy Sandstrom, freshmen Samantha Earleywine and Katie Goetzing, while freshman second baseman Blair Kuhl received All-NSIC honorable mention honors.

Radley, a freshman from Des Moines, Iowa (East High School), set a new single season record with 11 homers this season while posting a .373 average. She also led the team in total bases (95), RBI's (39), home runs (11), slugging percentage (.633) and walks (23).

Additionally, she was the first Wildcat softball player to receive a post-season award since WSC joined the NSIC in 1999.

Sandstrom, an outfielder from Millard North High School, led WSC in batting this season by hitting a .375 with four homers and 22 RBI's. She led the Wildcats in hits (63), runs scored (41), at bats (168) and stolen bases (7).

This season in the NSIC, Sandstrom finished second in hits, runs scored, total bases and doubles (14).

Earleywine, a catcher from Sergeant Bluff, Iowa (Sgt. Bluff-Luton High School), held a .361 batting average with one home run and 14 RBI's. Her 60 hits ranked third in the NSIC as she struck out six times in 166 at bats

Furthermore, Earleywine caught all 50 games for WSC and did not commit a single error behind the plate.

Goetzing, a pitcher from Harlan, Iowa (Harlan High School), was 22-12 this season with an ERA of 2.43. Her 22 wins set a new single season school record, which topped the previous mark of 20 that was set by Roni Johnson Wobken in 1990.

Goetzing recorded 132 strikeouts in 218.2 innings worked this season, and had five shutouts and 17 complete games.

Kuhl, a secondbaseman from Logan, Iowa (Logan-Magnolia High School), posted a .314 average this season with nine homers and 38 RBI's to rank second for WSC in both categories.

The secondbaseman, also started and played in all 50 games at second base for WSC and led the team in sacrificed hits with 15.

She also ranked third in the NSIC in RBI's (36) and was fifth in total bases with 85.

WSC finished the regular season with a 29-21 overall record, while going 12-6 in league play.

Northeast Nebraska Lightning to call Wayne home for upcoming season

By Casey Schroeder

After seven years and two different towns, the Northeast Nebraska Lightning have relocated to Wayne, and have high hopes for not only their upcoming season, but what they can possibly offer to the Wayne community.

"We hope this team can bring a clean family oriented sporting event that everyone can enjoy, whether as a player or as a fan of the game" Lightning treasurer and offensive center Ray Keiser said.

The Lightning who are a non-profit semi-pro football team, is one of five teams in the Great Plains Division, which is part of the 137 team North American Football league.

The team is comprised of players that are as young as 18, to as old as 44 with a majority of the players being in the 21 to 31 age group.

encourage anyone who want to have fun to come out and play." Secondly, while a majority of the team is made up of players from northeast Nebraska and southeast South Dakota, there are also players who are from California, Florida, Louisiana and Missouri.

With the Lightning's openness to various levels of experience, which is evident in the age variation, it is a little surprise that winning is often overshadowed by an aspect of the game which is commonly forgotten about; fun.

"The team is comprised of anyone who has a desire to have a lot of fun and play 11-man football," Keiser said.

"We also try to bring together a group of people who have a love of the sport, and then try to have fun pro football.

The Lightning, who were previously known as the Northeast Nebraska Thunderbirds, were formed in 2001 by a group of ex-football players who had a desire to strap on the pads in hopes of fulfilling their void for football and all that it entails.

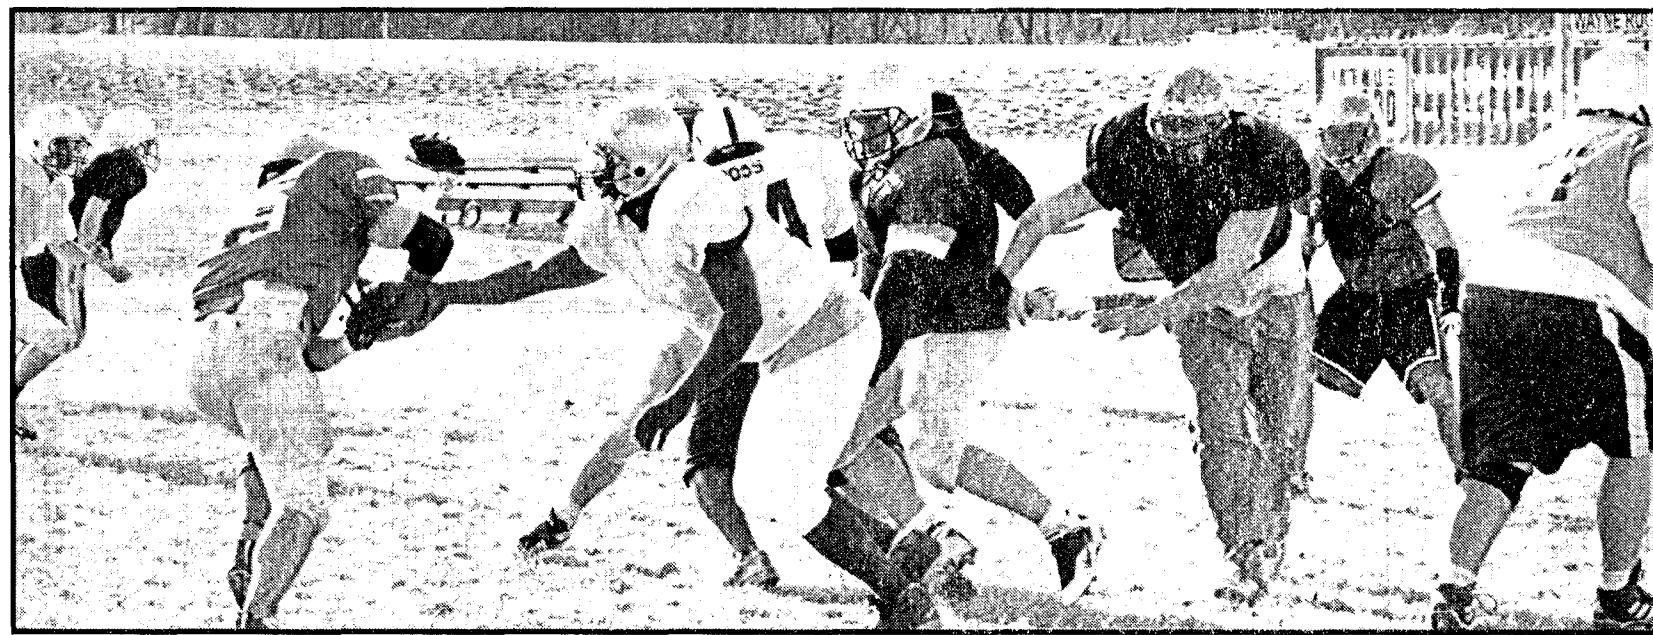

The Lightning kicked-off their inaugural campaign in 2001 and then played six seasons in Norfolk. And then in 2007, left Norfolk and relocated to Crofton, Neb. after logistics of field costs and insurance became a problem, according to Lightning head coach and general manager Brent Pick.

After one season in Crofton, the Lightning looked into relocating again, as time restrictions, field rent and insurance all took their toll on the Lightning's $10,000 the high school fields less than optimal, because they were all grass fields and they needed to be in great shape for the high school season, so we had to play our games in the summer and we were not able to play any pre or post season games."

With the Lightning's budget relying solely upon sponsorships and fundraisers, the team set out to find a new home that could provide the team with not only a strong fan base but also a field. And according to Keiser, Wayne "fit the bill" for both.

"Wayne has many opportunities for our team, one of them being a core of sport fans that will have an opportunity to fill in the gap between the spring and fall high school and college sport seasons," ers that are as young as 18, to as old as 44 with a majority of the players being in the 21 to 31 age group.

"Our team consists of all levels of experience, from high school to college players," Keiser said. "We and build long lasting friendships."

While the team may be out to have fun, that wasn't always the case for the Lightning, as over the past seven years they've experienced the highs and lows of semi-budget.

"Prior to 2008, we rented high school fields and the liability insurance, as well as the cost of renting those fields continued to rise," Keiser said.

"Time restrictions also made

Keiser said.

With a solid market of fans, the Lightning's next goal upon a full fledged move to Wayne was to find a field that was not only afford-

Wildcat softball ousted from NSIC Tournament in 3-0 shutout by Mary

By Casey Schroeder

The University of Mary used three runs to not only post a win against the Wayne State College softball team, but to also send the Wildcats packing back to Wayne following their elimination from the 2008 NSIC Softball Tournament in Marshall, Minn. "We had a great season this year ending with 30 wins," WSC head softball coach Krista Unger said. "Ending third in the NSIC was tremendous. We were ranked sixth in the preseason, so I think we exceeded everyone's expectations." Alaina Novotny recorded WSC's lone hit of the day, as she singled in the third inning. Mary's starting pitcher Brenda Langston struck out four Wildcats and walked one as she pitched a one-hit shutout where WSC failed to advance a runner past second base.

The game was a tight-knit affair that remained scoreless until the sixth inning when Mary scored two runs on three hits to take a 2-0 lead. With a win still in sight for WSC, Mary blinded the Wildcats in the seventh inning as they used one hit to earn the 3-0 win.

The Marauders finished the game with eight hits, compared to just one WSC hit.

Katie Goetzinger (23-14) worked a complete game for WSC, but suffered the pitching loss as she allowed three runs on eight hits with five strikeouts and one walk.

With the loss, WSC finished with a 30-23 overall record, which was the most wins for a WSC since the 1990 campaign when the Wildcats finished 34-22.

This season also marked the first time that WSC had back-to-back winning seasons since the 1989-90 season.

Prior to their elimination on Sunday, WSC went 1-1 on Saturday's opening day of the NSIC Tournament.

The Wildcats defeated Upper Iowa 11-4 in the first round and then fell to Winona State 4-2 in the winner's bracket semi-finals.

In game one, WSC had three home runs and 16 hits to knock-off the Peacocks 11-4.

WSC used a three-run second inning and six-run third to score nine runs to give WSC a commanding 9-2 lead.

Highlighting the second inning was Sam Earleywine who belted out a three-run double. Additional scores for WSC included a two-run homer by Goetzinger, a two-run double by Sandstrom and a solo home run from Blaire Kuhl.

Novotny, also came up big for WSC as she had a RBI double that scored Valerie Robinson in the fourth inning while Robinson homered in the sixth inning to close out WSC's scoring.

Novotny, led the WSC offensive surge, going 3 for 3 with two runs scored. Robinson finished the game 3 for 4 with three runs scored and a home run while Sandstrom went 3 for 4 with two RBIs.

Additional big time players for WSC included Goetzinger who was 2 for 3 with two RBIs, two runs scored and a home run and Earleywine who finished 2 for 3 with three RBIs in the win for the Wildcats.

Goetzinger recorded the win as pitcher for WSC, as she allowed only two runs on seven hits with one strikeout in five innings worked.

Relief pitcher Amber Baird worked the final two innings for WSC and allowed two runs on five hits with two strikeouts and one walk.

In game two of Saturday's action, Winona State overcame a 2-0 deficit in the bottom of the fifth inning with four runs to earn the 4-2 win over WSC.

The Wildcats did show some spark in the first inning as Robinson's sacrificed fly scored Sandstrom, who doubled earlier.

WSC then scored again in the top of the fifth inning after Amber Baird scored on a Sandstrom RBI single to center field.

However, the Warriors came back with offensive charge that saw four runs scored on six hits with one WSC error in the bottom of the fifth to give Winona that 4-2 win.

Robinson led WSC in hits, as she went 2 for 2 with an RBI while Sandstrom was 2 for 4 with an RBI and one run scored.

Goetzinger earned the loss from the mound, as she gave up four runs on seven hits in 5 2/3 innings worked.

Relief pitcher Keri Walsh

pitched the final one-third inning and allowed two hits.

Your rotator cuff is made up of the muscles and tendons in your shoulder. Four major muscles (subscapularis, supraspinatus, infraspinatus and teres minor) and their tendons connect your upper arm bone (humerus) with your shoulder blade. They also help hold the ball of your upper arm bone firmly in your shoulder socket, as if holding a golf ball on a tee. The combination results in the greatest range of motion of any joint in your body.

Rotator cuff injuries are fairly common. Causes of the injury may include falling, lifting and repetitive arm activities, especially those done overhead. These activities may include throwing a baseball, reaching, or placing items on shelves above your head. The injury is also common among people whose jobs or hobbies include heavy demands on their shoulders, such as athletes, archers and people in the construction trades. Poor posture, especially rounded shoulders, also can contribute to rotator cuff injury. As you get older, your risk of a rotator cuff injury increases.

Most of the time, treatment for rotator cuff injuries involves exercise therapy. Your doctor or a physical therapist will talk with you about specific exercises designed to help heal your injury, improve the flexibility of your rotator cuff and shoulder muscles and provide balanced shoulder muscle strength. Depending on the severity of your injury, physical therapy may take a few weeks or up to several months. For any questions or concerns please contact Providence Physical Therapy at 375-7937 or toll free at 1-877-375-PTOT.

able, but also free from conflict, and it just so happened that the Lightning stumbled upon the Wayne Rugby Complex.

"Brent Pick did a great job in scouting out a new place to play," Keiser said. "The rugby fields are a great place to have our games and it is a good fit, due to the fact that our seasons will not collide."

While the Lightning toyed with the idea of the rugby fields, there was still a sense of uncertainty, as why would Wayne differ from any other town, in terms of logistics and legalities?

"We went to the Wayne City Council and made a proposal," Pick said. "The members okayed it and we are currently renting the fields for $1 a year."

Even with the low cost of rent for the fields, there are still several problems that continue to plague the Lightning, the largest being funding.

"This team was developed by a board of players, and the biggest problem is fundraising," Pick said.

"We are non-profit, where the players pay to play. No players are paid, and they play because of their love for the game."

Pick, further indicated that while the Lightning are appreciative of their current sponsors, which includes several businesses in the Wayne and surrounding area that there is always room for more, as field maintenance costs and travel expenses continue to rise.

The Lightning will start their season on Saturday, when they will travel to Fargo, N.D. for an exhibition game.

The Lightning will kick-off their season on Saturday, as they will face the Fargo-Moorhead Liberty in Fargo, N.D.

The Wayne State College (38-10) baseball team went 3-1 over the weekend at the Pete Chapman Baseball Complex in Wayne...

"I felt our team played well, taking three of four from Bemidji," WSC head baseball coach John Manganaro said.

The Wildcats split a doubleheader against the Beavers on Saturday, as they won game one 7-2 and dropped game two 7-5.

Matt Dunn and Seth Chadick paved the way for the WSC offense, as Dunn was 2 for 3 with two RBI's and two runs scored while Chadick finished 2 of 3 with two runs scored.

The Wildcats kept their distance from Bemidji as Sean Soderberg, Marc Manganaro and Joe Wendte each added one hit and an RBI, while Alex Koch drove in a run for WSC.

Mitch Herrick pitched a complete game for the Wildcats and moved to 7-1 on the season as he allowed just two runs on 11 hits with one walk and six strikeouts.

In game two of Saturday's doubleheader the Beavers used four runs in the third inning and three runs in the fifth inning to grab the 7-5 win.

Manganaro led the way for the Wildcat offense as he went 2 for 4 with two RBI's and two runs scored, while Koch, Wendte and Diego Marquez all added a hit and RBI.

John Snyder (4-4) recorded the loss from the pitcher's mound as he allowed five runs on five hits with two walks and four strikeouts in four innings worked.

On Sunday the 'Cats buried the hatchet with the Beavers, as they shut out Bemidji 3-0 in game one, and then hung on for a wild 13-12 win in game two.

In game one, Nick Schumacher set a new WSC single season record as he recorded his 12th win of the season.

Schumacher, allowed four hits while he also struckout five.

"I thought as a whole we swung the bats well, but Nick Schumacher and Mitch Herrick led the way with two strong outings this weekend," WSC first-base manager Marc Manganaro said.

Koch, led the Wildcat offense, going 2 for 3, with Nick Bidroski and Dunn each adding a hit and an RBI.

In game two of Sunday's action, WSC maintained a 9-2 advantage over the Beavers, until the top of the seventh inning when Bemidji rallied for seven runs to tie the game up at 9-9.

After several Wildcat blunders in the bottom of the seventh inning, Bemidji went on to use the eighth inning to score three runs and reclaim a 12-9 lead over WSC.

However, with the regular season conference title on the line, WSC rallied in the bottom of the eighth inning where they used two hits and several walks to score four runs and earn the 13-12 win.

Wendte and Brian Sulzman each recorded an RBI walk for WSC, while Bidroski added an RBI single in the four run eighth inning.

Soderberg was 3 of 4 in game two, with Koch going 1 for 3 with a three-run homer.

Sulzman rounded out the 'Cat attack, as he was 2 for 4 with three RBI's and a run scored.

Wayne State will now look to keep their season alive, as they will play host to the 2008 NSIC Baseball Tournament on May, 8-11.

The Wildcats, who are the number one seed will face the sixth seed Winona State at 1 p.m. on Thursday.

"The tournament is up for grabs," coach Manganaro said.

"I don't think any one team has the upper hand. The team that pitches and plays defense is probably the team that will capture the automatic bid to the Central Region Tournament next week."

ACEP kicks off 35th annual National EMS Week, May 18-24

The American College of Emergency Physicians (ACEP) will kick off the 35th annual Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Week starting May 18th with events in communities across the nation as well as several national events organized around the theme "Your Life is Our Mission."

EMS providers include paramedics, emergency medical technicians, first responders, fire fighters and police. National EMS Week will feature hundreds of grassroots activities coast-to-coast, including golf tournaments, bake sales, blood pressure checks, presentations on cardiac health, CPR classes and child passenger safety seat inspections. National events include the Stars of Life Celebration from May 5-7 in Washington DC, which pays tribute to paramedics and EMS personnel who exemplify what is best about their service. The Stars of Life Banquet on May 6 honors 100 EMS professionals who have made outstanding contributions to the communities they serve.

"Around one million EMS professionals provide lifesaving care to people in their communities when every minute counts, before they even get to the emergency department," said Dr. Linda Lawrence, president of ACEP. "This year's theme, 'Your Life is Our Mission' illustrates the selflessness and commitment these extraordinary people bring to their jobs every hour of every day of the year. For this they deserve our recognition and thanks."

From May 17-24, the EMS Memorial Bike Ride from New York City to Roanoke, Va. will raise awareness of the National EMS Memorial and the National EMS Memorial Service. This year, one group of riders will start their journey in New York City, while another starts in Lexington, Kentucky. Both rides will converge in Roanoke, Virginia on May 24th for the National EMS Memorial Service. This service honors EMS personnel who have died in the line of duty and will include a National Moment of Silence at 8 p.m. EDT.

EMS Week 2008 corporate sponsors include American Medical Response, OnStar, NBC Universal, JEMS, and EMS Magazine. ACEP's 2008 organizational partners for EMS Week include: the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Emergency Medical Services for Children, and The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

ACEP reminds you always to call EMS if you or someone you are with needs immediate medical treatment. To make this decision, ask yourself the following questions: Is the victim's condition life-threatening? Could the victim's condition worsen and become life-threatening on the way to the hospital? Does the victim require the skills or equipment of paramedic or emergency medical technicians? Could the distance or traffic conditions cause a delay in getting the victim to the hospital?

If your answer to any of these questions is "yes," or if you are unsure, it is best to call EMS (911 in most communities). Paramedics and emergency medical technicians can begin medical treatments at the scene and on the way to the hospital and alert the emergency department of your condition en route.

When you call for help, speak calmly and clearly. Give your name, address and phone number; give the location of the victim and describe the problem. Do not hang up until the operator tells you to, because he or she may need more information or need to give you instructions.

Auction to follow open houses of student-built homes at NECC

Two new homes designed and built by Northeast Community College building construction students will be open to the public for inspection later this month and then sold at public auction in June.

The open houses are set for Tuesday and Thursday, May 27 and 29, from 7-9 p.m. at Northeast Community College. The homes will be auctioned Saturday, June 7, at 10 a.m. at the college.

The first home, a 1,500-square-foot, two-bedroom home with double-attached garage, also has two-baths, formal dining room, main-floor laundry room, and vaulted ceilings. This home also has Andersen Windows LoE insulated glass with argon gas.

The second home is a 1,550-square-foot, two-bedroom, two-bath home with formal dining room and coffered ceilings. It has Integrity by Marvin Windows LoE insulated glass with argon gas.

According to Lyle Kathol, dean of applied technology at Northeast, both homes have Ferché oak mill-work stained to match the built-in, custom cabinetry, laminate flooring, and satin, nickel finish Seagull lighting fixtures. The homes also feature fiber cement siding, 30-year, laminate shingles, and Thermo-Tru insulated, exterior doors with leaded glass sidelights.

Both homes also have R-21 sidewall and R-44 attic cellulose insulation. There are also central vacs and other built-ins in these custom homes designed and constructed by Northeast building construction students. Electrical work on both homes was done by Northeast electrical construction and control students.

Both homes include all water, vent and waste lines extended to floor joist level for ease of hook-up and 2 x 6-inch exterior stud walls. According to Kathol, these homes meet or exceed local and state building codes. All electrical conveniences were installed in accordance with the national electric and FHA code. Circuits are tested and connected to a 200-amp breaker panel.

Buyers must pay 20 per cent down the day of the sale and the balance when the home is moved at buyer's expense within 75 days. A sales tax of 7 percent will be collected at final closing.

For more information or to schedule a tour, call Kathol at (402)844-7215

NNPHD provides education, follow up on reports and monitoring of communicable diseases

There are many germs that cause problems but one in particular is causing a lot of concern and that is MRSA. MRSA stands for Methicillin Resistant Staphylococcus (Staph) Aureus. 'Staph' is a germ that is commonly found on the skin and in the nose and can cause skin infections.

Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department (NNPHD) recently partnered with Providence Medical Center and Wayne Public Schools to offer and provide education on this disease to the school systems throughout the Health District (Cedar, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne Counties).

Several schools participated in the event but for those that could not, NNPHD provided resource materials to them so they can be prepared for preventing this disease from infiltrating their facility. NNPHD also provided the resource materials to barbers, hair dressers, cosmetologists and massage therapists throughout the district so they would have the latest up-to-date information on the disease and how to prevent its spread.

MRSA is a form of the Staph germ that penicillin and some other antibiotics won't kill. In addition to infecting the skin, MRSA can spread to other parts of the body including the blood, joints and other vital organs.

What does MRSA look like? It could look like: *Spider bite, * Turf Burn, *Abscess, *Boil, * Impetigo, or * Infected skin or wound.

How does MRSA spread? *MRSA spreads by contact with someone's skin that has it. *Touching surfaces that have MRSA on them (workout equipment, doorknobs, etc.). *Sharing personal items (bar soap, towels, razors, clothes, sheets, etc.) *Not having the ability to keep clean.

Misusing antibiotics causes germs to become stronger instead of killing them. Ways that people misuse antibiotics include: *Stopping them early *Missing doses *Demanding antibiotics for an infection even if your doctor says you don't need them *Saving some for use later *Using someone else's prescription

How can MRSA be stopped? You can stop the spread of MRSA by practicing good hygiene: *Wash Your Hands, a lot! Use running water and soap. If you don't have access to that use a hand sanitizer that is at least 60 percent alcohol. *Do NOT share towels or other personal items with others. *Keep the environment clean. *Do NOT touch other people's wounds. *Keep cuts and scrapes clean and covered with a dressing. *Keep wounds covered with a clean, dry dressing and taped on all four sides. *Visit your doctor if you suspect a skin infection. You can NOT tell if an infection is caused by MRSA without having a culture done by your medical provider.

Schools, especially the sports departments, have special instructions to follow to keep MRSA out of their facilities. Parents should talk to the coaches, school nurse or school administration to ask what precautions they take to prevent MRSA.

NNPHD followed-up on over 75 reports of communicable disease in our Health District in 2007. All follow-ups done were for diseases that could cause or were causing an outbreak such as West Nile Virus, food-borne illnesses, respiratory illnesses, and rabies. Follow-ups would not be provided for MRSA but rather this is a disease in which the presence is simply monitored.

"The important things for people to be aware of is that MRSA is present in our environment. What used to infect only an unfortunate few hospitalized patients has now grown in strength and number to find its way out into the community at large. This germ sits silently in peoples' noses, on their skin and also on objects where there is high traffic skin contact (such as sports equipment) and waits for an opportunity to make its ugly presence known," said Julie Rother, Director of Public Health Nursing at NNPHD. "It is estimated that slightly more than 2 million people in the United States harbor the MRSA bacteria (according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention). These people may or may not develop an obvious infection."

People should feel free to talk with their medical provider about this topic or they can call the Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department at 402-375-2200 for more information.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

City Council meeting

The next regular City Council meeting will be held Tuesday, May 20 at 5:30 p.m in the council room.

What does "blight and substandard determination" mean?

- Our house on Oak Drive is over 40 years old. It doesn't meet current insulation and ventilation building code standards, the driveway is cracking and it needs new shingles and would likely be determined to be blighted and substandard in a "blight and substandard study" of the area.
- Almost every home in Nebraska over 40 years old would likely qualify.
- Land in the city limits that is poorly drained or has problems with storm water run-off, is underdeveloped or has unsightly stuff on it would likely qualify as "blighted and substandard"
- Most commercial properties down town would likely qualify because they are over 40 years old unless they have been totally renovated

Why do we care about this?

- No building lasts forever;
- Where do we get the money to fix up or tear down old buildings and replace them?
- If a building isn't maintained what will it look like in another 20 years?
- Should a community care if buildings aren't maintained?

What about down town?

- Most Nebraska towns were railroad towns and were built about the same time.
- New state grant assistance and tax credit programs are being made available to property owners to help pay the costs to repair and extend the life of older buildings, fix sidewalks and streets.
- To qualify for some of these programs a "blight determination study" (Congress gave it this name) has to be done for the area.
- Some communities will take advantage of these new programs and some won't.
- Wayne is seeking grant funds to assist building owners down town and is doing the required "blight and substandard determination" study of the down town area.

What is Tax Increment Financing (TIF)?

- TIF is a financial incentive to build and renovate property in areas determined to be "blighted

What affect will Nebraska primary have?

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The answer is: Don't know, don't care, and it don't matter.

The question is: What do you hear about the May 13 Nebraska presidential primary?

Even a talking, talking, talking head like Wolf Blitzer would have a hard time working up so much as a breathless sentence about it.

The state's Democrats divided their nominating convention delegates in a February caucus. Barack Obama claimed 22. Hillary Clinton received 8. On the GOP side, Sen. John McCain has the nomination virtually in hand.

In the very strangest of all possible worlds, how could the Nebraska balloting be newsworthy?

If Hillary outpolled Barack, it would actually give pundits something to talk about. And, given that this campaign has gone on so long and become soooooo boring to so many, they would analyze it more closely than a Hannah Montana photograph.

McCain doesn't have an opponent for the nomination these days, but Republican voters will see Ron Paul's name on their ballot. Now, if Paul were to run close to McCain, the political world as we know it would come to an end. Wolfman Blitzer would faint, at least.

On a matter with some practical significance, Nebraskans will decide whether to allow public endowments to earn more money.

Amendment 1 would allow public endowment funds to be invested in stocks. Since 1875 the state constitution has limited them to bond investments - a comparatively low-yield market.

What's a public endowment? It's a sum of money held by a city for a specific purpose. Example: Lincoln created a health program fund when it sold a public hospital. There are only a few endowment funds around the state.

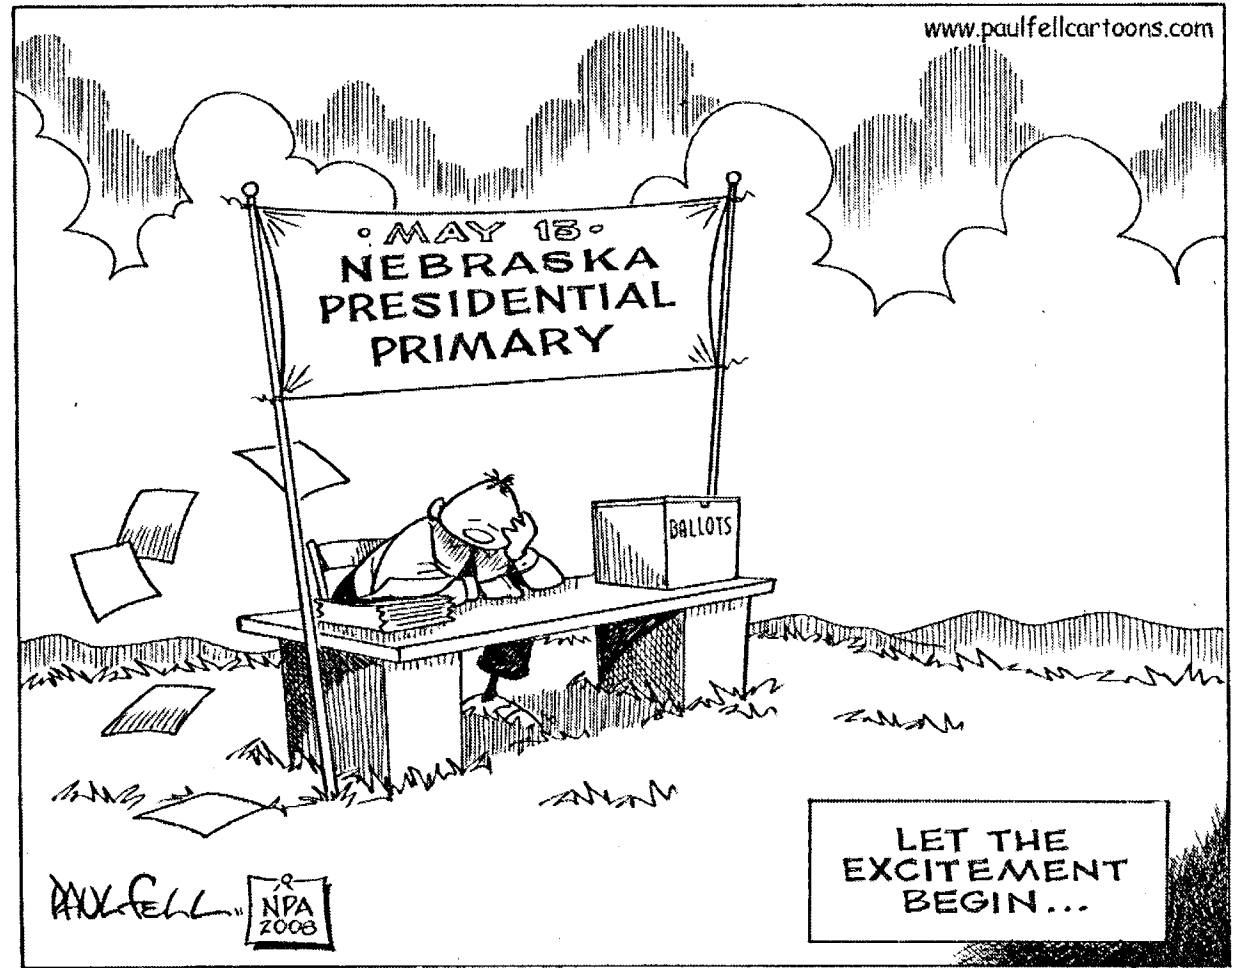

In 2006 voters rejected a similar proposal, but most Capitol observers figure it was because a lot of controversial stuff was also on the ballot - expanded gambling and such.

The company a constitutional amendment keeps is important. Nebraska has the nation's only unicameral Legislature. Voters approved the idea the same year they cast a big "yes" vote for pari-mutuel racing.

The 2009 Legislature will convene with a membership possessing only a comparative modicum of experience. Long-serving lawmakers have been term-limited out of office.

Much has been written about how a lack of institutional memory and expertise can play into the hands of interest groups and their lobbyists, along with bureaucrats.

Equally as interesting is the fact that many voters believe term limits on state lawmakers can have the opposite impact - that inexperienced legislators, who can only be around for a maximum of eight years at a stretch - might be less subject to influence.

Be safe - call before you dig

Anyone who plans to plant a tree, build a fence or start any project where the soil is being disturbed should first call Digger's Hotline of Nebraska, an Aquila offi-

Area BVU student participates in Scholars Day

Todd Wical was one of approximately 145 students who participated in Buena Vista University's Fourth Annual Scholars Day on April 18.

Wical is a junior from Wayne majoring in biology and psychology. His presentation was entitled "Investigations of Escherichia coli, nitrate, and phosphate levels within Outlet Creek, Iowa."

The public event showcases BVU students' original academic work. "Scholars Day is an opportunity for the BVU community to come together and celebrate the academic achievement of our students," says Dr. Brian Lenzmeier, assistant professor of biology, who chairs the events committee of the Faculty Senate.

The event includes presentations from all five BVU schools — Communication and Arts; Science; Education and Exercise Science; Social Science, Philosophy and Religion; and the Harold Walter Siebens School of Business. The participating students were selected based primarily upon the recommendations of their sponsoring faculty members.

cial has advised.

Digger's Hotline of Nebraska is provided at no charge by Aquila and other participating utilities in the state, according to Tim Proksel, field operations supervisor for Aquila and member of the Digger's Hotline of Nebraska board.

"Residents need to call at least two business days, but not more than 10 business days, before starting to dig, drill or blast," Proksel stated. Digger's Hotline will then notify all affected utilities after which personnel will be sent to mark the location of any underground lines and facilities. For example, yellow paint or flags mark the location of pipelines carrying natural gas, steam, petroleum or gaseous materials.

Every year, especially as weather warms and digging outdoors begins, safety issues arise and property is damaged by people or companies digging or excavating and striking pipelines and other utilities they didn't know were underground because they did not call for a utility line locate.

"Safety is a top priority for Aquila," Proksel said. "That single call to Digger's Hotline helps Nebraska residents avoid the possibility of serious or fatal injury. In addition, repairing a damaged line is expensive." Besides paying for repairs, an individual or company could be fined up to $10,000 for each violation for each day the violation persists up to a maximum of $500,000.

"It just doesn't pay nor does it make sense to skip this important step, even if all you're doing is digging in your backyard," said Proksel. "So before you dig, call for a utility line locate. It's free, it's easy and it's the law."

To request a line locate, dial 811 nationwide, (800) 331-5666 statewide in Nebraska, or (402) 344-3565 in metropolitan Omaha.

In Nebraska, Aquila provides natural gas to approximately 197,000 customers, with state headquarters in Lincoln.

Why do these things?

- Communities grow and prosper by one project at a time.
- Some communities use all the incentives they can find and some choose not to.
- Someone has to step up and take the risk.
- Wayne has a history of being pretty active.

RC&D Council Learns of SCORE

SCORE is America's Small Business Counselor. It's a totally confidential free service provided by businessmen and women from a variety of backgrounds. Marvin Rosberg and Brian Lundy, both volunteers with the Norfolk Chapter told the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation & Development (RC&D) Council about this program and their desire to give new and existing small businesses the help they need to be successful. To find out more about SCORE contact them at 402-371-4862 or check their website www.scorenorfolkne.org.

Bud Knuth, President led the regular order of business after all present were honored for their volunteer service. National Volunteer Week is in celebration of all who give willingly of their time and talents for worthy projects everywhere.

"Country Adventures is a relatively new resource available to those offering rural, unique and real experiences for travelers", said

Dick Haskin. This online based opportunity gives those looking for that type of travel a way to make their plans via the Internet. It's also a way to diversify farm and ranch operations and enhance their economics.

Dick also reported that the Mystery History Tour was a success despite the spring snowstorm that made it impossible to travel to some of the out-of-the-way places located on gravel roads. Participants were pleased with the day.

The computer recycling collections in Wayne and Bloomfield were a very well received and did a terrific job of keeping over 27,000# of electronic equipment out of landfills. Donna Christiansen reported that it appears there will be enough funds left to host a third collection sometime this summer. Watch for information on the date.

Due to Memorial Day the next RC&D meeting will be moved up one week to Monday, May 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the RC&D office in Plainview. The training program will focus on wind energy and be presented by Nebraska Farmers Union. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Aging is a process not an event

I spent three days in Junction City, Kan., at a retreat called "The Aging Smorgasbord." Much to my denial, I think the process has already begun and I need time to stop for approximately 10 years so don't spend any money, why should it be a concern?" I understood why he said this. He's three years younger than me. He still has to grow up!

Ruth Vonderohe

The next session talked about some of those deep dark secrets. "Will the Real Aging Process Please Stand Up?" Without giving away too many of these secrets, it is sometimes very difficult to decide whether the process is a natural part of aging or is there something I should be concerned about. Well, television definitely gives us ideas but who do we really talk to about these concerns. I am pretty sure my 25 year old son does want to know.

Another concern which was brought up is becoming familiar with the foundation upon which successful interactions with older people are built. What communication techniques need to be used, what about the generation gap, and do we value life differently?

Number six, "When I'm 67: A Future Self Exercise" - we needed to think beyond the first job and the children. We were asked to visualize our physical, psychological/spiritual, financial, social and environment as an older person.

Housing is a huge issue. Research states that almost all of us want to stay in our homes until we die. This can be done with a little research about the options in your community, what In-Home Services are available. Are these organizations reputable? We have to be realistic about our shortcomings, stop denying them and have someone add those safety measures to our homes.

The final session was "Aging Network 101." What services are available; what entitlement programs like Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid are available; and are there respite care resources available for you and the family care giver. There are resources available but unearthing them maybe difficult.

There is so much to do before those golden years sneak up and grab us. We truly need to be proactive. Look at your family history and ask yourself about your future. What do you really want to be like when you grow up?

If you have any questions on the above topics, call Ruth Vonderohe at 402-254-6821 in Cedar County or 402-288-5611 in Knox County.

"To live is so startling; it leaves little time for anything else." Source: Emily Dickinson.

I can catch up and put all my ducks in a row.

Our first session, Aging, Drama & Creativity, not only made us laugh, but made us realize how little we laugh. Picasso had a wonderful insight into successful aging when he said, "As one grows older, life and art become one and the same." More and more research is being done on the impact of Arts on health and wellness, revealing the potential for using creative processes (in drama, music, drawing, painting, dance, writing, etc.) to develop psychological growth, social connection, and problem solving abilities. What better way to leave our legacy by writing, painting, or drawing our lives out for our children to better understand why we are who we are.

The second session discussed the dynamics of aging and community development. What is your community doing about the aging population? In most communities, the retirees are a majority. If the community forgets about them, the community now has two generations of people moving out, thus decreasing their population twice as fast.

The third session discussed what Extension can do to assist this population as well as looking for other agencies to collaborate with. Also discussed were the types of programs that are available and what needs are missing in many of these communities.

The fourth session had such an impact on me that following the session, I called my husband and said this Friday we are taking care of our finances and getting everything in order. His comment was, "I

Creighton - McKelvey

Elizabeth Creighton of Lincoln and Samuel McKelvey of Denver, Colo. are planning a May 31, 2008 wedding at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Lincoln.

The Children of the World International Choir will be in Wayne on Wednesday, May 14.

'Children of the World' Choir returning to Wayne

Good news for the Wayne Community and beyond!

The Children of the World International choir that performed last March in Wayne, is returning. This time with a whole new group of children, a whole new performance, and a whole new cause.

The choir will be at Journey Christian Church, 1110 East Seventh Street, on Wednesday, May 14 from 7-8 p.m.

The Children of The World is a choir comprised of orphaned and disadvantaged children from several different countries. They are part of the World Help organization whose sincere desire is to help those in need both spiritually and physically.

Their choir's high-energy and inspiring program will feature several songs, in both English and native dialects, as well as stirring personal testimonies. The children have performed in such venues as Focus on the Family, Brooklyn Tabernacle, Crystal Cathedral, and Disney World.

"If you missed the performance last year, I would definitely recommend not missing it this year. They may not be returning for a few years. And if you came last year, come again, for they will be singing some new songs and it is a whole new choir. It is very exciting and very entertaining!" said Brook

Jech, one of the organizers of the event.

Members of the group dance as well as sing and are truly touching. "You won't want to miss this performance," Jech said.

DeNaeyer hosts Minerva Club

The Minerva Club met April 28 at the home of MaryAnn DeNaeyer.

Thirteen members answered roll call by telling of a vacation spot they would like to visit or return to. In recognition of Arbor Day, Vice President Phyllis Rahn opened the meeting by reading a poem entitled "Why an Old Man Plants a Tree" She shared that old proverbs make trees weather forecasters. For example, "If the oak is out before the ash, summer will be wet and splash." Phyllis concluded by reading "Nebraska Friends."

Historian Hollis Frese read minutes from Sept. 25, 1961 and Oct. 9 and 23, 1961. Programs were entitled Robert Frost by Minnie Rice; I Heard It On A Record by Dorothy Brandstetter; and United States Dams by Frances Johnson.

Minutes were read and approved. Nominating committee members Hollis Frese and Arlene Ostendorf presented a slate of officers for the coming year as follows: Phyllis Rahn, president; MaryAnn DeNaeyer, vice president; Fauneil Bennett, secretary; Donna Hansen, treasurer and Hollis Frese as historian. A unanimous ballot was cast. MaryAnn DeNaeyer presented her program about creative problem solving with numbers. Group participation made members good thinkers and solvers.

At the Monday, May 12 meeting the officers will have suggestions for the program theme for the new year and members will vote.

The club will travel to Sioux City on May 12 for a luncheon at Bev's on the River. Car pooling will take place at 10:30 a.m. at the Our Savior Church parking lot. Hollis Frese, Connie Glassmeyer and Phyllis Rahn offered to drive.

Nominations sought for Ag Family of the Day for State Fair

The Nebraska State Fair Board, Nebraska Farm Bureau and KLNK TV, Lincoln, will honor five "Ag Families of the Day" at the 2008 Nebraska State Fair. The families will be selected from nominations submitted by fellow Nebraskans, who this year can submit nominations online through a new website as well as through U.S. mail. The Ag Family of the Day program was begun in 2007 and was honored by the International Association of Fairs and Expositions as the best new agricultural program at a state fair of Nebraska's size.

Agriculture is Nebraska's number one industry. It creates one of every three Nebraska jobs in food processing, distribution, marketing, research and other fields. "We want to honor families who are the 'faces' of the agricultural industry and showcase the great job they do in providing food for Nebraska, the nation and the world," Keith Olsen of Grant, Nebraska Farm Bureau president, said April 23.

Honorees will be recognized on five weekend days: Aug. 23 and 24 and Aug. 31 - Sept. 1. They will receive complimentary gate and midway passes, a hotel voucher for a one-night-stay in Lincoln, $100 cash, recognition at an awards program in Ag Hall which showcases their farming or ranching operation, a reception in their honor, featured status in the daily parade, and be featured on the day's KLNK TV evening news. Friends of the honored family are encouraged to walk in the parade.

"We had a fantastic day last year; it's hard to say what we liked best! We felt so honored and pampered," said Jan Frenzen of Fullerton, who with her husband Craig and family members were one of the 2007 honorees. "As an agricultural family, we feel it's important to keep agriculture at the forefront of the State Fair, and to help bridge the urban-rural gap by educating our city friends about agriculture."

Honorees will be chosen based on their contributions to their community, Nebraska and agriculture. Farming or ranching must be their primary occupation. Farm Bureau membership is not a criterion for selection. The judging panel will include representatives from Farm Bureau, the State Fair Board, State Fair staff, State Fair 1868 Foundation Board, and KLNK TV. Judges will attempt to select winners geographically distributed, and whose enterprises represent the diversity of agriculture across the state.

Nomination forms can be submitted online or downloaded at the official Ag Family of the Day website, nebraskaagfamily.org. Hard copy nominations with the family's contact information and information about their farming/ranching operations and contributions to their community, Nebraska and agriculture can also be sent by mail; include contact information for the nominator. Send to: Ag Family, Nebraska State Fair, 1800 State Fair Park Dr., Lincoln, Neb. 68508 or send by fax to 402/473-4114. Nominations also may be emailed to chrasmussen@statefair.org. The deadline for nominations is Wednesday, June 16, 2008.

The 139th edition of the Nebraska State Fair opens Friday, Aug. 22 at 5 p.m. and will run through Labor Day, Sept. 1. For more information about the State Fair visit www.statefair.org.

Weather, activities highlight week

I think it hit 80 degrees yesterday, and the corn planters are rolling! Of course, there was one more round of snow in the western part of the state yet last week; so much poor visibility that the interstate was closed, on May 1st!

We had a fun weekend because we watched Randa in the Norris Jr. High musical, "Guys and Dolls." She was a female lead, and we were all so nervous, but she did just great. Then, on Sunday morning, she was confirmed, at the 11 o'clock service. We made that, after watching Alex make his vows at a 9 a.m. service in Seward. Then, we all met for brunch so nobody had to cook. After that, I think everybody took a nap!

Friend Marlyce has just returned from China, so called to check in on Saturday morning. They had an amazing trip, including a five day cruise on the Yangtze.

We are befriending an international couple from China who are graduate students at UNL. He wanted to see some big equipment, so we took him to Murdock a couple of weeks ago. Cousin Judeen's husband does have some very big equipment! I climbed into the cab of the combine; it was like sitting in the cockpit of a plane. It even looked huge to me because I usually just see it in the fields.

I've never really had a yen (no pun intended) to visit China, but everyone who has comes back full of stories. We have a post card of the terra cotta soldiers. If you haven't heard of these, check them out on Wikipedia. 170,000 workers crafted soldiers, horses, and chariots for one of the rulers B.C.! They still have not all been excavated. There are hundreds of them.

We are still enjoying the flowering trees. There are some beautiful redbuds outside our kitchen window. There is a sign on the Unitarian church that says that trees are the lungs of the earth, and that one generation plants them and the next generation gets the shade.

All the blue spruce trees that the Big Farmer planted on the acreage look really healthy. And it's a good thing they weren't pine. They seem to be going year by year, from pine wilt.

We also checked out the neighbor's calf crop when we were out there. He's had four sets of twins, so he's doing very well. It made us a little bit homesick, but there was just enough mud in his yards to help us remember the work.

Today, Nurse's Day, I'm taking in a special workshop at Southeast Community College. I'm hoping to relax and hear a wonderful speaker tell us how wonderful nursing is. I remember being at one years ago when the speaker asked the audience to tell us positive things about nursing. One gal said we are going and coming from work when no one else is, so we miss a lot of traffic! I'm not sure that's enough some days. Oh, well, as Joan Burney's son says, there is some manure in every job!

Have a wonderful Mother's Day. And congratulations to all the graduates.

Participating in the Dixon County 4-H Speech Contest were: (front row) Sean O'Keefe, Kathryn O'Keefe, and Heidi Borg (back row) Connor O'Keefe, Patrick O'Keefe and Lydia Gould.

Dixon County 4-H Public Speaking Contest held

The Dixon County 4-H Public Speaking Contest was held on May 5 at the Haskell Ag Lab at Concord. Six youth participated in the contest. Receiving purple ribbons in the senior division were: Lydia Gould, Newcastle and Patrick O'Keefe, Allen. Connor O'Keefe received a blue ribbon. Lydia and Patrick are eligible to participate in the regional contest May 23 in Norfolk.

Purple ribbon winner in the junior division went to Kathryn O'Keefe, Allen. Participating in the novice division were: Heidi Borg, Wakefield with a purple ribbon and Sean O'Keefe, Allen with a blue ribbon. Kathryn and Heidi are eligible to compete in the regional contest. Mary Jarvi of Wayne served as judge for the event.

UNL Extension Board - Wayne County meeting planned

The UNL Extension Board - Wayne County will meet on Tuesday, May 13 at the Extension Office in the courthouse in Wayne. The 7:30 p.m. meeting is open to the public. An agenda is available at the Extension Office at 510 Pearl Street, Suite C, in Wayne.

ELECTION PREVIEW

EDITOR'S NOTE

Nebraskans will be voting on one issue when they go to the Primary Election polls on May 13. So that voters can better understand this important proposed change to the state Constitution, the Nebraska Press Association in cooperation with this newspaper has prepared this report. This report briefly defines the issue, explaining its purpose.

Proposed Amendment 1

Public endowment funds are used by local governments for specified purposes. The City of Lincoln created such a fund after the sale of a public hospital, and allocates money from it for a variety of community health programs. Omaha and North Platte have public endowment funds for other purposes. If approved by voters, Amendment 1 would allow the Legislature to permit cities to invest endowment funds to protect and increase their worth. Money from public endowments currently can be invested only in the bond market, which yields lower returns than stocks and other securities. The amendment would allow investments in stocks and other instruments that would generate more money.
