Council takes steps for grant application

By Clara Osten, Of the Herald

The city of Wayne continues to move forward in an attempt to secure grant funding for downtown improvements.

Following a public hearing and a presentation from representatives of the Northeast Nebraska Economic Development, District. Resolution 2008-40 was approved at Tuesday's meeting of the City Council.

It will allow for a blighted and substandard area determination for the downtown area of Wayne. A study of the area revealed that it has met the objective and subjective criteria for the determination.

The study will allow the city to move forward in a grant application for a $30,000 planning grant. Wayne is one of eight Nebraska cities eligible for grant funding for downtown improvement. If the city is successful in obtaining the grant, an additional $250,000 in grant money could be made available to the city.

Among the items noted in the study was the need for sidewalk work in portions of the downtown area

The council unanimously approved a special designated liquor permit for the White Dog for a beer garden in conjunction with Chicken Day activities.

Kirkham Michael has been hired for professional permitting and design services for the former Kardell landfill improvements.

The contract of $22,900 is for design services for the area. Additional funding will be needed to complete the project as the garbage and dirt in the area will need to be hauled to the Jackson landfill.

During the meeting, Brent Doring was appointed as Fire Chief for the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department for the coming year. He had previously served as chief a year ago and replaces Robert Woehler.

As a Community Development Agency (CDA), the council approved a dirt contract for the Western Ridge area and approved an agreement with Kirkham Michael for engineering services for overlot grading construction in the Western Ridge subdivision

The CDA approved two purchase agreements during the meeting. They involve the CDA and Felix Industries and the CDA and Wayne Industries. The land purchases will result in better alignment of the property in the area where the speculation building is being built. Funds for the purchases will come from the Revolving Loan Fund as a forgivable loan.

Mayoral appointments during the meeting included Nick Hochstein, Jill Walling and Pat Jenkins to the Recreation-Leisure Services Commission.

During the meeting Wayne Area Economic Development, Inc. Executive Director David Simonsen reported on a meeting he had attended on Alternative Energy. He presented information on a number of companies who have products

Plan and timeline requested for cul de sac at Muhs Acres

By Lynn Sievers Of the Herald

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session on Tuesday. On the agenda was discussion on installation of Muhs Acres cul de sac. Mark Klassen and others were present to find out when action would be taken on this issue. Klassen noted since the Planning Commission and the City Council approved the plat and ground had been given for the cul de sac, he wondered when it would be put in. Klassen noted dirt from their addition could be used for some of the additional dirt needed.

Commissioner Kelvin Wurdeman said he hasn't talked to city officials but the dirt is too wet to move yet anyway. Hopefully they can do so in July or August. Wurdeman noted it will take a lot more dirt than what's there. Klassen asked for a plan and timeline for the project as trucks can't turn around the way it is now.

Klassen also asked that signs be put back up at west and east 21st Street as delivery trucks have trouble finding houses around there. He added that for some reason west 21st Street doesn't show up on GPS and asked the board to check into why that is.

Klassen asked for more frequent maintaining of Highview Drive and added gravel as there are a lot of potholes.

The commissioners approved the Wayne County Ag Society liquor license applications for the beer garden and also for the consumption area at the fairgrounds during the Wayne County Fair tractor pull and the demo derby.

The commissioners followed the lodging tax committee's recommendations and approved the following onset and reduce the progression of lodging tax applications: Wayne County Ag Society (advertising), Wayne County Fair (fair book publication), Wayne Area Chamber of munities; and 3) build prevention Commerce (Wayne Chicken Show), capacities and infrastructure at the in 2001 targeting high risk drink-Main Street Wayne (Henoween), Wayne Softball Association - Class B District Tournament). Wayne State College TRUST Coalition has opportunity to apply for grant Center TRUST (Toward Responsible Use of Substances Today) Coalition has the opportunity to apply for a Governor's Strategic Prevention Framework State Incentive Grant (SPF SIG) through the Nebraska Department of Health and Human August and the rest would be given Services/Division of Public Health of up to $150,000 annually over a five year period.

The purpose of the SPF SIG project is to reduce substance abuse by implementing evidence-based policies, programs, and practices. The goals are to 1) prevent the substance abuse, including underage drinking; 2) reduce substance abuse related problems in comstate and community levels. The priority areas identified are alcohol use among persons 17 and younger;

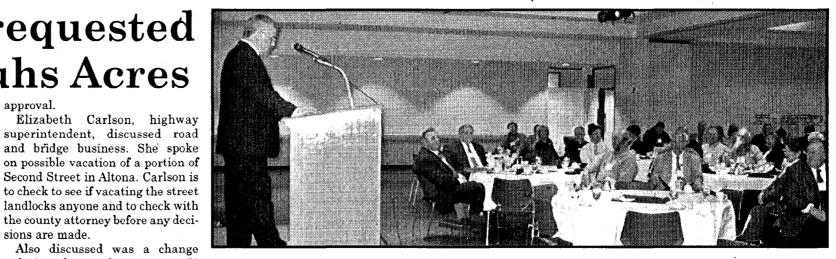

Wayne State College Counseling 25 year olds; and to reduce alcohol impaired driving across all age groups

> If the grant is received, it would be given to the college in two phases: the planning phase of around $40,000 - $60,000 would come in over a five year period starting in January 2009.

> In preparing to apply for the grant, members of TRUST Coalition are doing a number of things including evaluating 10 years of Core Alcohol and Drug Survey data of substance abuse trends in WSC students; developing their strategic plans and evaluating current capacity to put new programs into place

> WSC's TRUST Coalition started ing. Two area counselors have worked on include a social norms campaign and the Wildcat Wheels Safe Ride program (safe transportation of students around town on Thursday nights-- the college has contracted with Checker Cab of Norfolk to provide transportation).

Each year, WSC Counseling Center staff have interviewed at least 600 WSC students to obtain self-reported use of substances and their perceptions regarding their peers' use of alcohol and other drugs. Many students thought that the majority of students were drinking alcohol three times a week or more when in reality only 26

Holbrook gave his perspective and noted that economic development has to transition into a new economy. Our country can adapt and be innovative, which will improve our society.

He continued that our country is challenged on many issues and adjustments are needed as there is an economic battle for dominance in the world. Europe has exceeded the US in gross domestic products (GDP). Trade is growing three times faster than GDP. The US helped to create globalization. ust be progressive and forward thinking.

He said the next bubble is the green bubble which will be great to invest in the early stages.

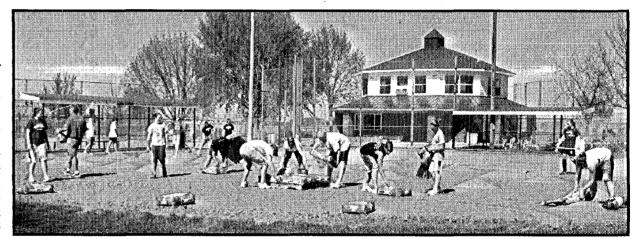

Holbrook believes the US has to develop a world class mindset to create our own resources and highly invest in ourselves first to make competition. Education is first in importance with economy. community is going and be able to invest. People attract jobs. A community needs curb appeal.

Communities that succeed find a way to create their own blueprint. Educating the population is key to making a difference.

Holbrook noted energy is his biggest concern and as a nation we have to break free from the fossil fuel addiction. In the last six months, energy has risen 30 percent, which he sees no basis for but it has caused everything to go up. There must be a rebirth of building infrastructure so communities are successful. Investing in energy change is important.

He ended by saying, make a difference, get involved; projects change the community for the better and you will see the fruit of this almost immediately.

Members of TRUST Coalition also put together a social norms poster campaign reflecting data they collected from the Core Alcohol and Drug surveys.

If the TRUST Coalition secures the grant funding, they are planning to hire staff to focus in the area of helping reduce high risk alcohol drinking. Members of the TRUST Coalition have been using the report from the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) Task Force on College Drinking (NIAAA 2002) to determine evidence-based programs to address high risk alcohol drinking for some time. Members of the Providence Medical Center group presented portions of their Foundation, in conjunction with plan last fall at the US Department of Education national meeting in Omaha. Receiving the grant would broaden the efforts of what they have already started.

> At a recent meeting, members of the TRUST Coalition brain-stormed what measures the college could take to improve cutting the number of high risk alcohol drinking occurrences. Prevention education is a key component.

> A number of positive outcomes including the expansion of the Safe Ride program to seven days a week and to include offering participation The goal of expanding educational efforts is to partner with students and the community in addressing high risk alcohol use to create a safer environment.

High risk alcoholic drinking has also been the target of the legislature. LB 573 passed on May 30, 2007 and increased the penalties for people who purchase alcohol for underage persons. Included in the language of this bill is a "social host" clause that places liability on those who allow underage people to drink on their property. Laurel-Concord girls track and field team returns from Omaha with Class C State Track and Field title

After a successful regular season, the Laurel-Concord girls track and field team reached a pinnacle in their season as they were crowned the 2008 Class C State Champions at last weeks Nebraska State Track and Field Meet in Omaha.

Laurel-Concord combined for an overall team score of 51 points in the division to oust North Bend Central, who finished second with 44 points.

"It's a great feeling. The girls performed so well down in Omaha," Laurel-Concord girls head coach Nate Sims said.

"We broke school records in all three relays, and had other personal records as well. That's all you can ask for as a coach, is for the kids to go down and perform at or pointed she didn't win an all-class gold, but she still won Class C and ended up with four gold medals...something that is pretty rare."

Aside from DeLong setting the track ablaze, Laurel-Concord also saw several other athletes go above and beyond in Omaha.

Katie Jacobsen, took fourth in the 800-meter run (2:21.088) and then went on to place fourth in the preliminaries of the 400-meter dash with a time of 1:01.234.

Ashley Lunz, also contributed to Laurel-Concord's efforts as she finished fourth in the 400-meter dash preliminaries (1:00.941) while teammate Kacie Gould took seventh in the preliminaries of the 100-meter hurdles (17.097).

While individual performances highlighted the day for Laurel-Concord, it was a combination of talent that came together that guided the Bears to an eventual state title.

Laurel-Concord took first in both the 400-meter (49.970) and 1600meter (4:06.505) relays, while also finishing third in the 3200-meter relay with a time of 9:59.638.

"I was really surprised at how well our three relays ran," Sims said

With only five members of the Wayne track and field team making the trek to Omaha last weekend for the 2008 State Track and Field Meet, the Wayne Blue Devils arrived in the Big O with a all business mentality.

While the Blue Devils may have been short handed in terms of participants, Wayne made the best of the situation as the 4 x 800-meter relay team of Elisa Robinson, Maddie Jager, Alesha Finkey and Jordan Alexander all got down and dirty in the Big O.

"I thought that we ran about as well as we could," Wayne head track coach Dale Hochstein said. "Nerves and the atmosphere always affects athletes differently."

The Wayne girls 4 x 800-meter relay team went to work first thing Friday morning and put together a solid performance on the track as they finished 15th with a time of 10:24.707

"Staying out of the box, people sliding in or out in the exchange zones impeding incoming runners and getting out of the way once the stick is exchanged. It is different then most meets since many teams are getting their at the same time."

With the season now over, Hochstein is optimistic about next season's possibilities as the Blue Devils only graduated one state qualifier and will have a solid core of returning talent and incoming freshmen.

"The athletes there (Omaha) were already talking about next season," Hochstein said. "It is one of those experiences that athletes want to return to, the weather, the crowds and the support was fantastic."

Wakefield finishes in a three-way tie for 2nd place for Class C-2 boys title

By Casey Schroeder

After two days of running at the 2008 State Track Meet in Omaha last weekend, the Wakefield foursome of Joel Nixon, Nick Curnyn, Colby Henderson and Tyler Bodlak returned home to Wakefield with not only blisters but also with a little additional hardware.

The Trojans finished the two day meet with 34 points and finished in a three-way tie with Deshler and Thayer Central while Lincoln Lutheran snuck by with 35 points for the State Championship.

"I couldn't be more pleased with our kids performance down at state," Wakefield head coach Mike Hassler said. "The boys did what they needed to do and went out and posted their best performances of the year."

Individually Wakefield was led by Tyler Bodlak who finished sec-(4:46.550) and fourth in the 3200meter run (10:10.703).

while Colby dash (50.725) Henderson placed fourth in the 800-meter run with a time of 2:00.849

"Colby Henderson placing fourth out of the slow heat was probably the biggest performance of the weekend, that got the ball rolling," Hassler said. "When that happened we knew we had a shot and I think that got Joel and Tyler pumped up a little bit.'

While Wakefield used individual performances to ascend up the scoreboard, it was their 3200-meter relay team that highlighted the Trojans' efforts in Omaha, as the small but mighty squad finished first with a time of 8:10.842.

"We knew the 4 x 800 was probably going to bring home the gold ," Hasseler said. "Our kids stepped up and came through with their best performances of the year on ond in the 1600-meter run the biggest stage. As a coach that's what you build towards."

While the boys squad returned In addition to Bodlak, Joel Nixon home with a trophy and some addi-finished third in the 400-meter tional medals, the girls squad saw six of their seven state qualifiers return home with a state medal around their neck.

> "The ladies had an outstanding state meet," Hasseler said.

> "This group of girls worked so hard this year, you hate to see the season end. This was my first year ever coaching a girls track team and I couldn't have wished for a better group of girls to work with."

> Wakefield saw Carly Gardner finish eighth in the discus with a throw of 114' 6" while Lexi Nelson used a time of 26.783 seconds to finish fourth in the 200-meter dash.

> Other medalist for Wakefield included Des Driskell who finished seventh in the 1600-meter run (5:28.277) and the 3200-meter relay team of Steph Klein, Morgan Lunz, Keri Lunz and Driskell who ran their way to eight with a time of 10:11.750.

Wildcats stung by Hornets at NCAA Central Regional

By Casey Schroeder

The top-seeded and fifth-ranked Emporia State Hornets showed that their sting can be just as deadly as a bite from a Wildcat as they handed the #19 Wayne State College baseball team a 13-8 loss last Friday afternoon at the NCAA Central Regional Tournament in Emporia, Kan.

With the win, Emporia State improved to 50-8 overall, while WSC dropped to 40-13.

"I'm happy for our team that they achieved some of their goals for the 2008 season," WSC head baseball coach John Manganaro said. "A conference championship, 40 wins, a regional birth and most importantly a 3.0 cumulative grade point average."

The Hornets took an early 5-0 lead in the second inning as starting pitcher Mitch Herrick, who entered the game allowing just 14 walks and three hit batters in 68 innings pitched, got off on the wrong foot as he hit two batters and walked one.

With the "big-mo" working in favor for the Hornets, Emporia State's Andy Anderson pounded out a three-run double that was followed by a Brian Majors RBI double to give the Hornets their five run lead.

WSC fought back in the bottom of the second inning as Joe Wendte hit a bases-loaded single to right to put the Hornets ahead 6-1.

inning as Wendte led off with a single to left field that was followed by a bunt by Manganaro down the third base line.

Wildcats then saw The Manganaro and Wendte advance one base on a throwing error by ESU's Kevin Wempe to put runners on both second and third base.

Second baseman added a line drive that was further highlighted by a ESU fielding error to load the bases for the Wildcats.

With the bases loaded, Sean Soderberg and Trey Hacker each drew bases-loaded walks that scored Manganaro and Wendte to make it 9-7 contest.

WSC's luck ran out however, as Brian Sulzman grounded out to third to keep it at 9-7 after six innings of play.

After losing some ground, the Hornets regained their composure in the seventh inning as they scored three runs on five hits, which included three straight singles to give the Hornets a 12-7 lead. ESU added an additional run in the eighth inning to take sole control of the game at 13-7. While the Hornets were busy cracking out hits, WSC responded back in the eighth inning with three straight singles by Alex Koch, Bidroski and Soderberg.

Soderberg's single brought Koch home to knot the score up at 13-8. With runners on first and third with no outs, ESU's Aaron Burris took to the mound where he recorded three straight outs and preserved the 13-8 win for ESU.

Wendte led WSC from the plate as he was four of five with three RBI's and two runs scored, which included a two-run home run while Manganaro, Bidroski and Soder-the road things will even out." Offensively, Koch led the charge for the Wildcats in their loss as he was three for three with two runs scored, that included a solo home run and a pair of singles.

Soderberg highlighted Koch's efforts from the plate as he was two for four with a pair of singles while Justin Hemauer, Josh Yost, Ian DeLaet, Wendte, Manganaro and Sulzman all accounted for singles to round out WSC's 11-hit attack.

Nick Schumacher (13-2) suffered the pitching loss for WSC as he gave up seven runs on seven hits over 7 2/3 innings of work. He struck out six and walked five while throwing 140 pitches.

"Nick was a little too pumped and was all over with everything today," Manganaro said.

"They hit one ball hard (Ian Dykins' homer in the third inning) and then in the eighth inning he was a little tired and started walking guys. You can't walk five or six guys against a team like Central Missouri and get away with it."

Reliever Reid Lancaster recorded the final four outs for the Wildcats, after he gave up just one hit with two strikeouts and one walk.

Proper Shoe Fit

Walking is a popular means of exercise. Take care of your feet with tips for a proper shoe fit:

Feet change as we age so have your feet measured before buying shoes. The best time to measure feet is at the end of the day when feet are largest. Most people have one foot that is larger than the other, so fit your shoe to your larger foot. Make sure there is 3/8" to 1/2" for your longest toe at the end of each shoe when standing up. Make sure the ball of your foot fits into the widest part of the shoe. Your heel should fit comfortably with minimal slipping. Walk in the shoes to make sure they fit and feel right.

Replace your shoes when they have lost cushioning and support. Alternate brands and styles of shoes to prevent your feet and muscles from adjusting to one style, setting yourself up for injury.

Wayne State College track and field coach Marlon Brink announced on Monday that Lachel Milander of Pierce, Neb., has signed a national letter of intent to attend WSC and compete in track and field in the 2008-09 school year.

This season she ranked fourth in the shot put for Class B with a mark of 42 3/4". She also went on to districts, where she earned first in the discus and finished second in the shot put.

All of the students were selected for these opportunities through competitive processes established by the various institutions.

In applying for the fellowships, the students submit their BVU transcript, an essay describing their previous research experience and how the fellowship program will help them achieve their career goals, as well as letters of recommendation from two to three faculty members supporting their application. These applications are evaluated by research faculty members at the host institutions.

Typically, less than 10 percent of applicants are selected for the paid fellowship positions at research institutions, said Dr. Brian Lenzmeier, assistant professor of biology.

One of the factors that has given BVU students an advantage in the consideration for the fellowships is that BVU biology and chemistry majors are required to carry out laboratory or field-based research projects as part of the academic requirements toward graduation, notes Dr. Dunbar.

Scott Kleeb is the new, best hope for Nebraska Democrats who hope to capture the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican Chuck Hagel.

Capitol View

Kleeb walloped Republicanturned-Democrat Tony Raimondo in the recent primary. A multi-millionaire industrialist and close friend of Democratic Sen. Ben Nelson, Raimondo was rejected like a ham sandwich at a kosher cooking contest.

Next question: How does Kleeb mount a meaningful campaign against Republican Mike Johanns, the former governor and former U.S. Secretary of Agriculture?

Johanns enjoyed solid job ratings during one-and-a-fraction terms as the state's chief executive. The GOP currently has an edge in voter registration that can be compared to a 26-length lead in the Belmont stakes - about two lengths from the finish line.

Might the economy, gasoline prices, the Iraq war and whatever else give Kleeb a boost? You can bet the Dems will hammer on those themes, and the fact that Johanns served in the cabinet of President Bush.

Kleeb ran a losing campaign against Congressman Adrian Smith in the 2006 election, when the 3rd District seat was left open with the retirement of GOP Rep. Tom Osborne. An overwhelming loss to Johanns, who goes into the race an overwhelming favorite, would leave Kleeb a two-time loser. A young, good-looking, Yale educated, ranch hand and college educator - but still a two-time loser. It would also leave the Democrats, no matter how they spin it, looking for a new, best hope.

Rs and Ds on the national level

Memorial Day is a day of rememgive blood or platelets in honor of those who have served our country. Many Americans gave blood for the first time when the American Red Cross initiated the first national blood program during World War II. War has prompted several other innovations, including the creation of a national blood donor program, mobile blood collection units, and the development of a method for drying plasma for distribution where and when it was most urgently needed. "Blood is a perishable product that needs to be constantly replenished," said Dr. Ram Reddy, Interim CEO of the local Red Cross Blood Services region. "Red blood cells have a shelf life of only 42 days and platelets just 5 days. We rely on our blood donors to donate regularly to meet the needs of patients - there simply is no substitute for blood." Blood and platelet donations can drop during the Memorial Day weekend when many donors are vacationing, however, the need for blood doesn't take a vacation. The need for blood is constant. That is why it is so important that generous blood and platelet donors donate regularly. How to donate blood- there is always the blood drive every Tuesday at 1603 Prospect in Norfolk from 11:30 to 5:30. Or, call 1-800-GIVE-LIFE(1-800-448-3543) or visit givebloodgivelife.org to

The November general election will send at least 15 new state senators to the Capitol.

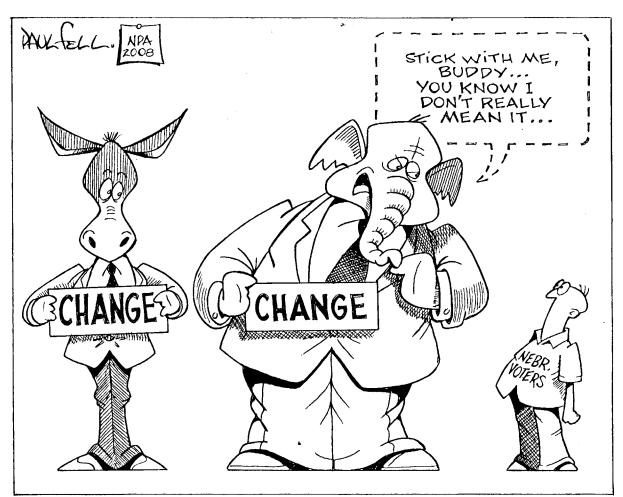

Nebraska's constitution limits lawmakers to a pair of consecutive, four-year terms. Another six seats are being contested. Five incumbents are unopposed for re-election, three of them from the state's largest metro area: Sens. Gwen Howard and Rich Pahls of Omaha and Abbie Cornett of Bellevue. Sens. Chris Langemeier of Schuyler and Deb Fisher of Valentine are also unopposed.

More on interesting summer reading. For conservatives, liberals, middle-of-the-road and neophytes interested in current events, Susan Jacoby offers some interesting notions in The Age of American Unreason. Her thesis is that virtually all of us, regardless of our political affiliations and/or philosophies, have decidedly closed our minds to the views of the other side - whatever the other side might be.

In a recent interview, Jacoby said we are no longer interested in going to events, or even watching television, where that other side makes its case.

"Now, people go to hear people they already agree with," she said. "They don't go to hear people they don't agree with, to see if the devil has horns."

Mulches beneficial to landscape if applied correctly

Mulch, an organic or inorganic material applied on the surface of soil, benefits landscapes in a variety of ways.

Ideally, it must allow water and landscape plants from mechanical air to enter and exit the soil. Mulch injury due to mowers and string also can insulate a plant and its roots from the effects of extreme temperature fluctuations. Mulch lawn mowers. should be attractive, relatively odor free and should stay in place.

 maintaining cooler soil temperatures during the summer.

The depth of mulch depends on the type of soil, plants and mulch used. Layers thinner than recommended depths may need to be replenished more often and may not give the desired benefits. Thicker layers may reduce the amount of oxygen in the soil and encourage plants to root in the mulch layer rather than in the soil.

During wet periods, avoid thick layers of mulch around plants in heavy soils such as clays and clay loams. Thick layers may reduce soil oxygen and injure plants. When conditions are cool and wet, mulch should be pulled away from plants to ensure good air and water exchange.

Late-season organic mulches are applied after at least two hard freezes. Applying mulch earlier will insulate the soil and keep plants from hardening off. Children of the World perform in Wayne

The Children of the World Choir from the World Help organization appeared in Wayne on May 14 at Journey Christian Church.

With goal of "making a difference with the families affected by AIDS in Africa," these 15 orphaned or disadvantaged children have a way of motivating people to give.

"What makes the choir such a powerful motivator is the fact that they put a face to what you are giving your money to. They make it personal. And after you see them perform, there is no way you can't give, even if it means just a little." said Brook Jech, one of those who helped organize the children's appearance in Wayne.

Their energy and smiling faces is astounding. They are the friendliest children and very well behaved. They will truly make a difference in their home countries when they return. Which is what they will be doing in a few weeks. Their stop in Wayne is among the last as they only have a few weeks left in their tour of the United States

While the children were in the area, they stayed with numerous families in the Wayne community.

"It is definitely a unique experience and if you have children of your own, it is one they will never forget." The children range in age from 6-12 and are very independent. They are very appreciative of everything they are given.

They have a strong desire to praise a God who loves them even though they may not have a family here on Earth to love them.

The children may not be returning for a couple of years, but we definitely want to have them back.

"If you missed the show again, watch in a few years for their return. It is good enough to see over and over again, as we saw at the performance, 40 percent or more of the crowd had seen the first performance and came to see it again. We want to thank everyone for coming out and giving to such a worthy cause," Jech said.

will increase the state's preparedness for invasive species. "The survey will provide a clearer picture of species composition and distribution within Nebraska and throughout the northern plains states, helping identify areas most at risk to different invasive species," Rasmussen said. "This will allow forestry professionals to target efforts toward areas most at risk when invasive species arrive.'

Two of the crews each will visit 100 plots in the Lincoln and Omaha areas, while the other two crews

Through the Great Plains Tree and Forest Invasives Initiative, state forestry agencies in Nebraska, Kansas, North Dakota and South Dakota are working together to prepare for the arrival of invasive species in the Great Plains. The agencies are assessing the region's tree resources, determining and addressing the potential impacts of invasives to those resources, creating public awareness of invasive species and promoting species diversity. The initiative is funded in part by a $500,000 seed grant from Kansas, North Dakota and South Dakota also will be conducting surveys within their states. Steve Rasmussen, NFS district forester and Great Plains Initiative coordinator, said invasive pests, uch as emerald ash borer, pose a tremendous threat to the state's forest resources, and this inventory will visit 200 rural and urban plots throughout the rest of the state.

he U.S. Forest Service.

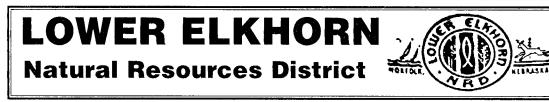

Plots were selected for each state by the U.S. Forest Service National Inventory and Monitoring Applications Center in Newtown Square, Pa. Each plot is one-sixth acre.

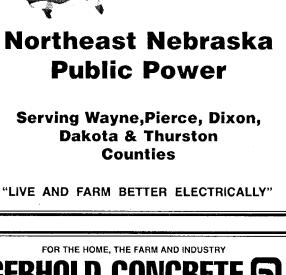

The number, species, diameter and height of trees within the plot and the use of land within the plot will be recorded. Observations also will be made about tree health based on the percent of canopy dieback within each tree. Information about distance from buildings will be recorded for energy computations. For rural plots the function of trees, such as windbreaks, will be recorded. Plots without trees will not be surveyed. Once collected, data will be sent to the U.S. Forest Service for analysis. Data will be analyzed for each individual state, as well as regionally to provide a picture of the tree and forest resources throughout the northern plains.

The information provided by this survey will be invaluable in helping natural resource professionals estimate economic impacts of invasive species, as well as the volume and location of wood that will be generated by trees lost to invasive pests.

Rasmussen said this is the first time these techniques, tools and software have been used for such an expansive inventory project and is the first inventory of its type in the Great Plains.

"There has never before been such a thorough inventory done on non-forest lands, like windbreaks, shelterbelts, wildlife areas, narrow riparian tree belts and other smaller treed areas, in the Great Plains," said Rasmussen. "It is exciting that Nebraska and the other three states will have a chance to use this new technology and perhaps be a part of developing a new methodology for use in other parts of the country."

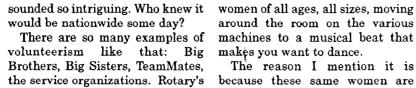

Community is full of volunteers

Another "beautiful day in the neighborhood!" I try to focus on this instead of the awful news out of Myanmar and China. I don't think it is possible for the media to portray the awful loss of life, the destruction of property, and the immense task of restoration. And then, when your own government will not allow assistance, the whole scene becomes even more horrendous.

I volunteered to take a lunch to the building site for Habitat for Humanity a couple of weeks ago. That was a fun experience. There were about a dozen guys there, of varying ages, but the majority are obviously retired. In fact, one lives in a local retirement facility.

As they expressed appreciation, I said, "Well, I can't hammer nails straight, but I can cook." To which one fellow replied,"We can find guys who can hammer. We need people who can cook!" I almost took one poor fellow home with me who said he had lost his wife and the meals he got on the job site were better than he had at home. (Let that be a lesson, fellows; appreciate her while you can.)

As I drove away, I marvelled at the way Habitat for Humanity has grown. I remember first hearing about it many years ago from a woman in Norfolk who said she thought the concept, brought forward by a Mr. Fuller in Georgia,

There are so many examples of goal is to stamp out polio, for instance. Lions collect eye glasses and redistribute them.

I joined Curves three months ago, with the goal of increasing strength and flexibility. (When you turn seventy, you are suddenly aware of how much you have lost.) It is much less intimidating than a gym, and the employees work very hard to make it fun.

But it is a sight for sore eyes; around the room on the various machines to a musical beat that makes you want to dance.

The reason I mention it is because these same women are constantly doing something worthwhile for the community. In March, it was a food drive, and this site in Lincoln was third in the nation for the amount donated.

This month, it's shoes. They are going to Fresh Start Home and the ones that are in good condition go to their clients. The rest are sold, by the pound, for recycling. I think they make artificial turf with them. Anyway, I now have a lot more room on the closet floor. Why do we hang on to these things we are no longer wearing?

Some of the stories of the individual friendships established by our troops in Iraq are equally heart warming. Today's paper highlights the community of Central City, which has basically adopted a town south of Baghdad, a farm area. The school kids send supplies and letters, and the FFA collects things for farmers. A company in Cedar Rapids ships them.

There are a lot of good people in the world; we have to hang on to that knowledge when we read the front page.

Meanwhile, it's time to get out the flags. Enjoy Memorial Day; summer is very close!

Eddy Weiss, leader of the national Chasing4Life StormChase Team, gave disaster preparedness presentations to Winside School students. Above, are students in grades 4-6.

Wayne County sponsors disaster preparedness presentations

Wayne County Emergency Management recently sponsored Eddy Weiss, leader of the national Chasing4Life StormChase Team based in the midwest, to give disaster preparedness presentations. He spoke at the following: Wayne schools, St. Mary's School in Wayne, Winside School, Wayne State College and also stopped at several businesses in the area.

Weiss' presentations were on severe weather and how to be prepared. He showed tornado videos and noted how having an emergency plan in place, as well as having a disaster kit with an all-hazards weather radio.

He told his audience that he is a storm chaser not for the thrill but to help protect communities and that no one should try to chase storms but should take cover. At St. Mary's he added that they need to take extra precautions with the busy highway nearby. He noted for instance a tanker could have a problem and leak hazardous waste; would they know what to do?

At the college, he gave the same presentation but also discussed building safety and where students and staff should go should an emergency strike, as well as discussing advanced warning systems in place.

Weiss noted that warning preparedness and awareness can cover any kind of emergency.

"We have been building a net-severe weather of tracking for each other, coordinated through our tracking center in Shelton," said Weiss. "This network is built of fire departments, agencies, civilians, storm chasers, etc. across the country. Many of these in our network have purchased ThreatNet systems, the same system that we use in our chase vehicles. ThreatNet is a weather tracking system that allows the user to track weather on their own in a mobile or stationery situation."

Here's what some of the comments were on Weiss' presentation, "It was an excellent program," said Daryl Shrunk, Wayne Elementary School principal. "I heard a lot of positive comments from both teachers and students."

"The students and teachers really enjoyed the storm chaser presentation," said Connie Wageman, head teacher at St. Mary's School. "He presented a lot of educational information in a fun and interesting manner. The students quickly learned how quickly the weather and a storm can change. We are very appreciative that he took the time to visit with our students."

"I had the opportunity to listen to the presentation given to the 7-12 graders," said Mark Koch of Winside School. "I thought it was a at the Court Services building next very good presentation. It was to the courthouse in Wayne at 521 informative and interesting. I Lincoln Street.

work of agencies and fire depart- think it helped make the students ments that support each other in aware of how dangerous bad weather and tornados can be. I also think it helped emphasize how important tornado drills are because students generally do not take these seriously."

"I think Eddy gave us a lot of useful information," said Beth Kroger of Wayne State College. "He indicated that WSC is ahead f the game in many ways and that our focus on communications is right on the money. Based on our discussions and some of the material he brought, we have a clearer idea of some initiatives we can implement and also what we need to start working on the future. He also showed us the computer storm tracking system he uses. It's really amazing what technology can do in terms of tracking storms."

"We wanted to get in the county and work with disaster preparedness," said Deanna Beckman, Emergency County Wayne Manager. "If school officials want to have Eddy give a presentation next year, they should let me know soon so I can get him booked."

Beckman added that if anyone has questions on disaster preparedness, they can call her at 402-833-5190 or stop by her new location in the Probation Office (which is closed daily from noon to 1 p.m.)

Northeast Nebraska RC&D receives grant from the Nebraska Environmental Trust

Nebraska The Northeast Conservation Resource & Development (RC&D) in Plainview will receive $30,000 from the Nebraska Environmental for "Invasive Species Control on Ecologically Sensitive Sites." The Trust Board announced funding for the project at its April meeting in Lincoln. This is the first year of three grants totaling $80,000. The project is one of 77 projects receiving $14,798,518 in grant awards from the Nebraska Environmental Trust this year.

Invasive species are sited frequently as significant threats to biological diversity in Nebraska's Natural Legacy Project planning document (NNLP). To address those issues, NNLP recommended development of collaborative conservation efforts to seek effective control measures, increase awareness of biological diversity and implement strategies addressing specific issues in biologically unique landscapes (BUL's) identified in the plan.

One such group is the Northeast Nebraska Weed Management Area (NNWMA) who seeks innovative, collaborative and effective means to reduce ecological and economic impacts of noxious weed infestations. NNWMA's diverse group of partners covers eight counties and 4,610,212 acres of private, public and tribal land whose northern boundary is the Missouri National Recreational River.

Repairing the damage can be a long and frustrating process, but there's a tool that gives people information they need to take action.

The Identity Theft Repair Kit offers consumers who are victims of identity theft a step-by-step guide to repairing credit. It also reviews a consumer's rights and liability under Nebraska and federal laws, and offers tips for protecting personal information in the future.

significant riverine, woodland, wetland and grassland habitats are partially or wholly within NNWMA boundaries. These include prairies that contain federally threatened Western Prairie Fringed Orchid and state listed Small White Lady Slipper Orchid as well as habitats that are home to 34 Tier 1 plant, mussel, fish, insect, bird and mammal species. Beginning in 2008, NNWMA proposes to acquire biological control agents (insects) to control noxious weeds on ecologically sensitive areas. Releases will be prioritized and targeted at places where herbicide use is not desired (i.e. high diversity grasslands, wetland/riverine habitats, rangeland with organic designations, etc.). Targeted plants are Purple Loosestrife, Leafy Spurge, Spotted Knapweed and Canada thistle. Appropriate insects will be acquired for each weed species. Releases will occur in a variety of locations within the NNWMA over a three year period. Each release will be marked using GPS and photo points will be established to monitor progress. 'Outreach is a key component to this effort.

SEWER CLEANING NOTICE

During the weeks of May 19th and May 26th, the City of Wayne Sewer Department will be having sewer mains cleaned in various parts of the City. The majority of the sewer cleaning will take place in the area south of 7th Street and west of Main Street, but other areas will be cleaned as well.

In this process, high pressure water is forced through the sewer pipe to clean it. This pushes solid materials to the manholes so they can be removed by vacuuming. This entire process is necessary to keep obstructions out of the sewer system and insure proper drainage of waste.

Residents should be aware that when this process is done, the high pressure water pushes the air in the sewer line which occasionally enters the private sewer lines into homes and businesses. If this happens, it can result in the air exiting through the toilet bowl, shooting the water out of the toilet bowl. This air should exit through the sewer vent of the building, but inadequate venting or location of toilets can cause the air to exit through the toilet. This is a rare occurrence and keeping the lid closed on the toilet during this time will keep most of the water in the bowl rather than the floor.

If you have any questions about the sewer cleaning process or the areas the sewer main cleaning will take place, you may call the Wastewater Treatment Plant at 375-5250.

Youth comedy camp set for Norfolk

It's called a youth comedy camp, but it doesn't mean the students who participate necessarily have their hearts set on becoming a stand-up comedian.

Part of the inaugural Great American Comedy Festival in Norfolk this summer, the camp is designed to help students develop their creativity through writing and performing. "All people are born creatively equal...but we lose that side and don't always tap into our abilities," said John Haynes, director of the Minneapolis-based Brave New Institute. The camp set for June 15-21 at Northeast Community College in Norfolk . will serve students well in almost any career they ultimately choose to pursue, Haynes said.

One of the focuses of the camp. for example, is improvisational comedy. Individuals who end up working in sales, who make presentations or who work with the public may not realize it, but they use improv skills. "They will learn how to 'take an idea from start to finish...to speak in the moment....to pitch ideas," he said. "It's amazing how our students have utilized those skills."

Havnes will be among four representatives of the Brave New Institute serving as instructors at the camp. Joining them will be Dave Reinitz, a stand-up comedian and instructor from Los Angeles. LuAnn Schindler of Ewing, a longtime speech and drama teacher in Northeast Nebraska, is serving as the camp director. The Brave New Institute is the educational arm of the Brave New Workshop, which offers comedy theatre and corporate entertainment. In its 50th year of teaching and performing, the Brave New Workshop is the nation's longest-running comedy troupe and workshop.

Haynes said he hopes many Northeast and North Central Nebraska high school students will consider registering for the camp to develop their writing, improvisation and stand-up comedy skills along with stage presence and related skills. The participating students will end the camp with a

And at a cost of $399, the camp is a bargain, Kent Warneke, chairman of the festival's board of directors. And they will sharpen their writing and performing skills during the stand-up comedy classes. The camp, which begins Sunday, June 15, concludes with a Youth Camp showcase on Saturday, June 21, at 5 p.m. at the Johnny Carson Theatre.

During the week, students will be housed in the Northeast dormitories and have full days of classes, activities and be able to attend some performances at the Great American Comedy Festival. All meals will be provided too. The camp is for students 19 years old and younger, but no younger than freshmen in high school. The festival is designed to pay tribute to the legacy of the late Johnny Carson, who gave many young comedians their first big break by inviting them to appear on "The Tonight Show." The idea for the camp was to continue that Carson tradition by giving high school students a chance to learn about the skills that made Carson a comedic leg-

The registration fee recently was reduced thanks to a grant provided to the festival from the Nebraska Humanities Council.

"The council recognized the uniqueness of what this camp has to offer to high school students in Northeast and North Central Nebraska. They felt it was something important to offer speech and drama students and others - and we do, too, " Warneke said. "And now we're pleased to be able to

Click It or Ticket Campaign focus of Memorial Day Holiday enforcement

Raising awareness of the need for motorists to buckle up is the focus of efforts by the Nebraska State Patrol over the first holiday of the summer travel season. The Nebraska State Patrol will take part in the "Click It or Ticket" campaign, which began May 19, and runs through Sunday, June 1. The special enforcement effort includes the Memorial Day holiday weekend.

"Click It or Ticket" is a nationwide campaign designed to raise awareness of the need to wear your safety belt every time you get into your vehicle.

"Each year dozens of motorists in Nebraska die in single vehicle rollover crashes," said Colonel the Nebraska State Patrol. "In most cases, those killed were not wearing their seat belt and often times were ejected from their vehi-

Statistics from the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety show wearing your seat belt increases your odds of surviving a crash by up to 50 percent.

Troopers and dispatchers with the Nebraska State Patrol will put in overtime hours as part of the "Click It or Ticket" special enforcement campaign, with special emphasis placed on the Memorial Day holiday time period which runs Thursday, May 22 through Monday, May 26. The special enforcement effort is paid for thanks in part to a $ 25,000 grant from the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety.

Nebraska's seat belt law is a secondary law. Drivers can be cited for Bryan Tuma, Superintendent of this violation only if stopped for a separate violation. Violating Nebraska's seat belt law carries a $25.00 fine, for each offense.

"We want to thank Affiliated Foods Midwest for its continued support and commitment to the safety of Nebraskans," Rice said.
