Memorial Day

Those who have served our country through the years were remembered in a number of Memorial Day services in the area. Clockwise, at right, SFC Dale Alexander spoke at the program in Wayne; Advancement of the Colors preceded the program at the Wakefield Cemetery; at the Winside program, Travis Brockman, Eagle Scout, was awarded a flag that was flown over the Capitol in DC and was presented by Roy Reed Legion Commander Dan Jaeger; in Carroll, American Legion Post #165 held a service at Bethany Presbyterian Church and later at the Carroll Cemetery and in Allen, Legion Member Richard Olesen is giving the Roll Call of the Dead. Behind him are members of the Floyd Gleason Legion and Auxiliary.

Wayne receives Housing Groundbreaker Award

Wayne was one of six local Nebraska communities honored by the Nebraska Housing Developers Association at the Northeast Regional Housing Summit held May 21 at Northeast Community College in Norfolk. Wayne, Allen, Columbus, Fullerton, Norfolk, and Schuyler received 2008 Groundbreaker Awards from the Association for making local investments in affordable housing development.

Wayne's award recognized the community for its work improving housing stock. For nearly 10 years, civic and community leaders of Wayne have been polishing the process to address problem properties. Based on a strong sense of community pride and a belief that even one unsightly and poorly maintained property is a detriment to its neighbors and the whole city, the City Council was prompted to strongly support enforcement of building codes and property maintenance standards. In 2000, a Problem Resolution Team was formed and in succeeding years, the Council has reinforced existing codes. Once the program was initiated, City officials tackled the creation of a fair complaint process, enforcement, and tracking. Each year has seen updating and fine-tuning of the process.

As a result, owners show a willingness to maintain properties and undertake maintenance issues on their own initiative rather than wait for the City to identify problems. Besides the improvement to the city's visual appeal, there is a direct economic development benefit as new maintenance and remodeling projects mean more business for area contractors.

In the program narrative describing each community's efforts that led to the award, staff wrote, "It's obvious that Wayne residents care about their community and recognize the important role that affordable housing plays in their city's continued economic vitality."

In addition to the City's work addressing the need for property improvement, the community's website offers pertinent information on a variety of housing-related topics including down payment assistance, homebuyer education, a recent community housing market study, and Meadowview Estates, a 16-unit affordable rental town home development.

Established in 1996, the Nebraska Housing Developers Association has a membership base of more than 60 organizations working to strengthen the state's economic vitality by making safe, affordable housing available to all Nebraskans. The Association provides technical assistance and training, leads statewide education and advocacy efforts, and partners in collaborative housing initiatives. Visit www.housingdevelopers.org for more information.

City preparing for 125th celebration

The City of Wayne celebrated our Centennial Year on the weekend of Aug. 29-Sept. 2, 1984.

It is now time to begin planning the festivities that will recognize the 125th anniversary of the community, the Wayne Quasiquintennial. Wayne Area Economic Development has been asked to coordinate the planning for this event.

An initial planning meeting has been scheduled for Monday, June 2 at 5 p.m. in the South Meeting Room of the Wayne City Auditorium.

Wayne Area Economic Development chairman of the board and long time resident, Curt Frye, will facilitate the meeting. "We are asking all community service organizations to send a representative to participate. Bring your ideas of events and activities that you might want to be involved in or think would make a positive community attraction. You may also be thinking about how your organization could benefit from the fundraising opportunities presented by this occasion," Frye said.

For planning purposes, the WAEDI office would appreciate a RSVP although it is not required. To RSVP or if you have any questions, please contact Irene at 402-375-2240 or ifletcher@waedi.org.

Relay For Life set for June 6-7

Hundreds of area residents will be remembering, celebrating and fighting back during the 10th annual Wayne County Relay For Life Friday and Saturday, June 6-7.

Organizers and teams have been planning and fundraising for several months and hope to make this year's event memorable while raising funds and awareness for cancer prevention and treatment.

The fundraising goal set for the 2008 Relay For Life is $60,000. There are currently 19 teams registered to take part in the event. The theme for this year's event is "Celebrate, Remember, Fight Back." It notes the need to celebrate those survivors who are winning the battle with cancer, remember those who have died from the disease and fight back in the battle to wipe out cancer.

This year's event will be held at Cunningham Field at Wayne State College.

Prior to the opening ceremonies, the Relay For Life Committee will sponsor the Chamber Coffee at 10 a.m. on Friday, June 6 in the Plaza area of the stadium.

Survivors have been invited to take part in activities before and during the event.

The opening ceremonies begin at 7 p.m. and will be followed by a Survivor Lap around the track.

Throughout the evening silent auction baskets will be available for viewing and bidding. Winners will be announced at 9 p.m.

One of the traditional events that has become popular is the Miss Relay Pageant, set to begin at approximately 7:30 p.m.

Carnival games will be available for children from 7 to 9 p.m. Each game will require tickets, which can be purchased for 25¢ each.

Included will be a balloon-dart game, a "tattoo parlor," putt-putt golf and lollipop tree.

Luminariae may be purchased by contacting any team member. They will also be on sale during a Relay For Life event on Friday, May 30 at the Wayne Community Activity Center or at the Relay Friday night.

The Luminaria Ceremony will be held at 10 p.m. with the names of survivors and victims of cancer being read.

Team games will begin following the luminaria ceremony.

Among those planned are "Fear Factor," a sponge relay, shaving balloons, frozen t-shirt, a scavenger hunt and horse race.

Throughout the night, "Texas Hold 'Em" poker will be played in the concession stand.

A "Fight Back" ceremony has been scheduled for midnight.

Throughout the evening several different kinds of food will be available for a free-will offering.

Closing ceremonies will be held at 6 a.m. on Saturday morning.

New face to organize prevention of underage drinking efforts

(Editor's note: the following article is by Cassandra Greisen, program specialist, Project Extra Mile).

The monthly Project Extra Mile meeting was held May 9 at the Journey Christian Church in Wayne. A number of community members attended the meeting to meet Steve Shear, the new community organizer, who will oversee underage drinking prevention efforts in Wayne and Cedar Counties.

Shear recently retired and relocated to Wayne County after completing 28 years in law enforcement in California and is eager to begin collaborating with all areas of the community to address the issues surrounding underage drinking.

"Steve's law enforcement background will no doubt be a strong fit for the position," said Diane Riibe, executive director for Project Extra Mile. "We're pleased to see his energy and passion to protect young lives."

For more information on this year's Relay For Life, contact Brenda Lubberstedt at 375-4884 or Sarah Claussen at 375-4846.

At the meeting the group discussed the fact that underage alcohol use continues to be a persistent problem in the community, although Wayne County is not alone, communities across the nation have experienced the devastating impact of the underage drinking epidemic.

Recently, the acting U.S. Surgeon General Steven Galson visited Nebraska as he traveled across the nation, addressing citizens of states with a high prevalence of underage drinking while promoting The Surgeon General's Call to Action to Prevent and Reduce Underage Drinking. The report stated that underage drinking is a major public health problem and too many Americans consider underage alcohol use a rite of passage to adulthood.

Unfortunately, Nebraska has recently been recognized for its spot among the top five states that have the highest drunk

Use caution and spend tax rebates wisely

Tax rebates from the U.S. government's economic stimulus plan are in the hands of Nebraskans or are on the way. The question is what to do with them.

Kathy Prochaska-Cue, family economist in University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension, said most people will choose to spend their rebates in three ways:

- Save it.
- Pay off credit card, utility or phone bills.
- Spend it all on a vacation or a product.

Most individuals will have $600 in rebates while couples should receive $1,200. Prochaska-Cue said those in lower income households or with more members in the family may receive more money from the government.

She said that if people do choose to spend their money on products, they should spend it on American-made products.

"That way it will definitely go back to the economy," Prochaska-Cue said. "That's the whole purpose, to stimulate the economy."

She said spending all the money on a big screen television at a chain store wouldn't necessarily send that money back into the U.S. economy because it could be a foreign product.

Prochaska-Cue also said many individuals should consider paying off credit card bills or putting the rebate money aside for an emergency savings fund.

Scam artists already are trying to take advantage of the situation. Prochaska-Cue said she has heard of people receiving phone calls or e-mails from what looks to be the IRS. These messages ask for bank information. Prochaska-Cue said the IRS is unlikely to ever contact a person without being contacted first.

"Be cautious," she said, "and remember the rule: if you don't initiate the call or e-mail, don't give out your information."

Prochaska-Cue also said people should remember that the rebates are not free money. She said the rebates are a gift from the government, but taxpayers are the ones that fund the government.

"It's ultimately money that we'll be paying for with our future taxes," she said. "It's like getting a loan. There's a danger that we may see an increase in taxes to help fund it in the future."

Use caution when caring for storm-damaged trees

A stormy Memorial Day weekend left a trail of tree damage throughout portions of Nebraska.

When assessing storm-damaged trees, Eric Berg, Nebraska Forest Service community forestry program leader, urges individuals to use caution and follow these tips:

- When inspecting trees for storm damage, look for splits or cracks in the trunk and major limbs, as well as disturbed soil around the trunk. This indicates a possible structural problem. If it's suspected the tree sustained structural damage, contact a certified arborist.

- Never climb a damaged tree to remove limbs or attempt any type of clean-up on a tree that is leaning or has a split trunk or branches. These tasks are best left to certified arborists.

- Never remove or trim branches that are interfering with power lines or are near downed power lines. Instead, contact the local power company.

Weber awarded the Professional Staff Recognition Award at Wayne State College

Dorothy Weber of Wisner was honored with the annual professional staff recognition award at the close of the spring semester on the Wayne State College campus. Weber's award was presented in recognition of her focus on achievement, positive attitude and dedication to success at WSC.

She was awarded a framed certificate. Wording from the certificate reads as follows: "Wayne State College and the Professional Staff Senate proudly recognize your focus on achievement, dedication to success, and your positive attitude. Your patience, compassion, support and professionalism provide a high level of service to our students. Thank you for your continued pursuit of excellence as a valued member of the Wayne State College team. Signed by Dr. Richard J. Collings, Wayne State College President and Beverly Buhman, Professional Staff Senate President."

Weber was awarded a dinner for two at an area restaurant compliments of President Collings.

Named Interim Director in 1988 and Director of the Learning Center in 1991, Weber came to WSC as a part-time learning skills specialist in 1986. She earned her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Weber has developed a number of classes and programs at WSC including: Succeeding in College, a reading and study skills class for freshmen; Beginning Algebra, a course to reinforce basic mathematical skills and their everyday applications; Choosing Academic Success, a one credit class for probationary students; additional one credit courses in vocabulary development, speed reading and ESL (English as a Second Language) classes. Weber coordinates the nationally certified Peer Tutor Program, Early Alert Program, Writing Help Desk and Myers-Briggs workshops.

The Myers-Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) uses a personality questionnaire to indicate an individual's preferences, tendencies and characteristics. Because of its unique focus on valuing individual differences in a nonjudgmental way, the MBTI(C) has become the most widely used personality inventory in print.

Weber is a certified MBTI(C) facilitator. She attended the MBTI Professional Development Workshop at St. Louis University and has taken additional training in Denver, Kansas City and Orlando. Averaging between 300 and 400 individuals per year, Dorothy conducts workshops for area businesses, elementary and high school personnel, campus classes, peer tutors and faculty/staff seminars.

Weber has also coordinated campus fall and spring A.C.T. workshops for area high school juniors.

Research shows that young people who begin drinking before the age of 15 are four times more likely to become alcohol dependent than those who wait until the legal drinking age of 21. Studies also indicate that alcohol harms the developing adolescent brain, which is not fully developed until the mid twenties. The availability of this new research provides more reasons than ever before for adults to protect the health and safety of kids.

One of the most effective ways to prevent youth access to alcohol is to hold adults accountable when they provide alcohol to kids. Those adults who continue to put young lives at risk will now face the possibility of both criminal and civil penalties with the passage of the dram shop and social host liability law in Nebraska.

The new law allows for civil liability when adults provide or sell alcohol to a minor in either a social or retail setting and that intoxicated minor kills or injures a third party. The message to adults is clear: There is No Free Ride if You Provide.

Couple keeps busy running two businesses

Regg and Dixie Pehrson have two businesses in Laurel, which are Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency and The Plantation, a floral and gift shop. The two businesses are located at 107 E. 2nd Street in Laurel. The phone numbers are: Insurance Co.: 402-256-9138 and The Plantation: 402-256-9119. Both businesses are open Monday through Saturday.

Looking back, about 24 years ago, the Pehrsons started their plant businesses on their farm growing most of their own bedding plants. They later moved the plant business to Laurel when Regg took over Dixie's father's insurance business. Fifteen years ago, they sold the flower shop/greenhouse to Susan Birkel, who ran it for five to six years. Birkel sold the business to Cheryl (Ebmeier) Smyth, who had it for five years and then the Pehrsons' bought it back.

Through the years, the Pehrsons' have slowly expanded and added a floral department to their plant business. Last fall, they tore their old greenhouse down and this spring, they added a new permanent one. They are still working on the front of it but the garden plant area is full of bedding plants. Customers can find fresh flowers, house plants, tuxedo rentals, bedding plants and vegetables, which can be delivered to the neighboring towns.

The Pehrsons' have a daughter, Amber Waterbury, who helps them out in their flower shop when they need an extra hand. Amber has seven-year-old twins, Hunter and Sydney and eight-month-old, Tucker.

As for the insurance business, Regg has two offices; the one in Laurel and another in Coleridge. The insurance business is a branch office of Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency, Inc. in Wayne. Regg handles auto, home, farm, crop and commercial lines of insurance. Regg has operated his insurance office for over 20 years.

In the insurance office in Coleridge, Regg also has Cedar Graphics, a screen-printing business that he runs with Jacie Burbach, who is also an agent in the insurance office there.

Jill Sohler works with the Pehrsons' at both of their businesses in Laurel.

Besides their busy work schedules in Laurel, the Pehrsons' also raise cattle on their farm 13 miles north of Laurel. And, Regg is an avid carpenter and does all the work on their buildings as well as make a lot of their furniture.

The Pehrsons invite everyone to stop in, visit and see their new greenhouse addition to The Plantation.

Dixie Pehrson holds a plant in the new greenhouse section of The Plantation.

Laurel-Concords Erwin finishes in four-way tie four 14th

Diediker finishes ninth at Class B State Golf Meet

By Casey Schroeder

With the regular season in the books the Wayne Blue Devils boys golf team and Laurel-Concords Heath Erwin took center stage for the 2008 Nebraska State Golf Meet.

Wayne entered the Class B State Meet at Pioneers Golf Course in Lincoln with a complete squad while Erwin was left to fend for himself in Class C action at the Kearney Country Club.

The Blue Devils were led by Andi Diediker who used a 36 hole total of 150 to bring home a ninth place individual medal for Wayne.

"It was nice to have a medalist amongst the group who will hopefully get another shot at it next year," Wayne head golf coach Dave

Hix said. "Andi did a great job of holding his composure after taking an eight on a par four on hole five."

Complimenting Diediker while in Lincoln was Shaun Kardell who finished the two day event with an overall score of 157.

"Shaun had two decent rounds, but he couldn't buy a putt," Hix said. "It would have been nice for him to take a medal home for the last time in his high school career."

Collin Jeffries finished midway through the pack after he scored a 83 on day one and then followed it up with a 82 the following day to combine for an overall total of 165.

"Collin was really disappointed in his play" Hix said. "He is a better golfer than what he showed at state."

Other golfers who significantly contributed to Wayne's overall records were Joe Whitt (169) and Owen Rickner (173).

"Owen and Joe both contributed, one each day," Hix said. "Owen really struggled with the greens and Joe gave himself a little boost to end his junior year shoeing an 81 on day two."

Also finding their way to the greens last week was Heath Erwin

Wildcats sign three more standouts to '08 recruiting class

Wayne State College head softball coach Krista Unger announced on May, 22, that three recruits have signed national letters of intent to attend WSC and play softball for the Wildcats in the 2008-09 academic year.

The recent signings include, Allison DeVilder of East Moline, Ill., Lindy Maxell of Underwood, Iowa, and Brooke Vollmer of Freeburg, Ill.

They join four others who signed with WSC during the NCAA early signing period which included Gabrielle Ayata of Grand Island, Brittany Greenwood of Logan, Iowa, Elizabeth Hullinger of Elkhorn and Alyssa Kirsch of Papillion. DeVilder, a pitcher/first baseman from United Township High School in East Moline, Ill., was a four-year starter and letter winner in softball and swimming where in 2007 she earned First Team All-Metro honors in softball after she posted an ERA of 1.02 while hitting a .260.

DeVilder helped United Township High School to regional softball titles in 2006 and 2007 with a sectional championship in 2007.

She also earned NISCA Academic All-American honors as a swimmer in 2007 and was a three-time First Team All-Metro swimmer from 2005-07 while being named a MVP swimmer in 2007.

"Allison will be a very versatile player for us by playing both the infield and outfield while adding depth to our pitching staff," Unger said. "She is a consistent contact hitter who will score plenty of runs of Laurel-Concord.

Erwin entered the Class C State Golf Meet as a individual qualifier, and did not disappoint as he finished in a four-way tie for 14th place overall.

On day one Erwin finished with a sub-par total of 82, but then fired back with a dynamic second round of golf on day two as he shot a 76 to combine for an overall total 158.

for us."

Maxell, an infielder from Underwood High School in Underwood, Iowa, was a three-year starter and four year letter winner in softball. Last season she hit .341 with 19 stolen bases and was named Best Defensive Player while also earning Western Iowa Conference honorable mention honors.

Maxell also started and lettered three seasons in volleyball at Underwood High School where she was an academic all-conference selection.

"Lindy will add depth and range to our infield and outfield," Unger said. "With her speed and quickness she will be a threat on the base paths."

Vollmer, a pitcher from Freeburg Community High School in Freeburg, Ill., was a multi-sport standout who started three years in basketball and two years in volleyball and softball where she earned First Team All-Conference honors in both softball and basketball.

Currently this season, Vollmer is 5-2 with a ERA of 2.49 and has struck out 55 batters in 45 innings pitched with six complete games and one shutout.

"Brook is an outstanding pitcher with an exceptional number of pitches," Unger said. "She is an all-around athlete and will add depth to our pitching staff as well as our outfield."

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne 16-and-under Dirtdevils advanced to 6-3-1 on the season following a 4-3 loss to Adams in the championship game of the Wahoo Softball Tournament in Wahoo, Neb.

The Dirtdevils ascent to Sunday's championship game was a rather cumbersome affair as Wayne went 2-0-1 in Saturday's tournament pool play.

Wayne opened Saturday with a 6-1 victory over the Blair Ice.

Wayne was led at the plate by the dynamic trio of Shannon Jarvi, Bayli Ellis and Jordan Alexander.

Jarvi recorded two hits (both doubles) for Wayne in addition to two scored runs. Alexander complimented Jarvi's efforts with two hits (both singles) one run scored and a pair of stolen bases while Ellis added a hit and two RBI's.

Assisting Jarvi, was Lindsay Frahm and Courtney Steenken who both recorded a pair of singles in the win.

In addition to her work that was done at the plate, Jarvi was tagged with the pitching win as she had given up one hit and one walk with three strikeouts in two innings pitched.

After the Dirtdevils, crushed Wahoo in game two, Adams brought the wood in Saturday's final game of pool play as the game resulted in a 2-2 tie.

Riley Hoffart came through for the Dirtdevils as she recorded one hit and one run scored for Wayne in addition to an RBI.

Jarvi closed out her duties as pitcher on Saturday, as she struckout nine and gave up two hits and one earned run in six innings of work.

While Saturday was filled with several highs and lows Wayne showed their resiliency as they opened Sunday with a 5-1 win over the Lincoln Magic.

Jessica Calhoun highlighted the Dirtdevils offense with two hits (both singles) and one run scored.

Jarvi (4-1-1) assumed her duties from mound and earned the win as she dealt out nine strikeouts and gave up four hits and one earned

Carroll advanced to 2-0 on the day as she gave up three walks and three hits with nine strikeouts and two runs scored in four innings worked.

After a rough 2-0 start for Wayne, things only got tougher for the Dirtdevils as they faced off against Omaha Northside in game three of Saturday's pool play.

Omaha Northside took an early 1-0 lead in the first inning and then added an additional run in the fourth inning to take a 2-0 lead.

However, Wayne responded back with an offensive surge in the fourth inning with one run scored. The Dirtdevils then went on to add a pair of scores in the fifth inning to hang on for the 3-2 win.

After Saturday's narrow win against Omaha Northside, Wayne put it all together as they opened Sunday with a 10-0 win over the Valparaiso Sting.

Courtney Davie led Wayne offensively as she scored one run for the Dirtdevils while also recording two hits (both singles) and an RBI.

Adding to Davie's efforts was Elle Schramm who also had added two RBI's and a single.

Carroll pitched four innings for Wayne and added another win to her record as she struckout nine batters and gave up just four hits.

After Wayne dismantled the Valparaiso Sting the Dirtdevils had the tables turned on them as they were dealt a 7-2 loss by the Fremont Sparks in the 14-and-under championship game.

Wayne's top-hitter in the loss was Schramm who had two hits, one walk and two RBI's.

Carroll was tagged with the pitching loss as she recorded only two strikeouts, but gave up four earned runs, two walks and eight hits in six innings pitched.

Wayne Senior baseball goes 1-4 at the Wakefield Chuck Ellis Memorial Tournament

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne Senior baseball team opened 2008 Wakefield Chuck Ellis Memorial Tournament a 2-1 loss to Wahoo on Saturday.

Wahoo took an early lead over Wayne as they scored one run in the first inning and then added another additional run in the fourth inning to take a 2-0 lead.

However, Wayne did respond back with one run in the sixth inning, but it wasn't enough as Wahoo hung on for the 2-1 win.

Tyler Schaefer led Wayne with one hit while Shaun Kardell was tagged both a run scored and a stolen base.

Wayne's Jesse Hill was tagged with the pitching loss as he allowed two hits, one walk and one earned run while striking out 15 batters in

After a narrow loss to Wahoo on Saturday, Wayne responded back on Sunday with a 3-1 over Freeman, S.D.

Kardell paved the way for Wayne offensively as he had a solo hit and one run scored.

Teammates Shawn Jenkins, Ryan Pieper, and Hill all came through with hits for Wayne while Drew Workman and Nate Summerfield each added a run.

Jenkins got the nod as pitcher, and earned the win as he gave up seven hits and two walks with one earned run and eight strikeouts in eight innings.

Following Wayne's win over Freeman, S.D., the Seniors saw their momentum come to an abrupt halt as Pierce slid by with the 9-8 win.

Jenkins again put together a solid effort for the Seniors as he had three hits, two runs, an RBI and one stolen base.

While Jenkins was left with hitting detail, it was Kardell who led Wayne in RBIs as he finished the game with four in addition to two hits and one run.

Michael Denklauf was dealt the loss from the pitcher's outpost as he gave up five hits and one earned run in 1 2/3 innings worked.

After Pierce squeaked by Wayne on Sunday, Wakefield followed suit on Monday as they dealt out a 7-6 loss.

Jacob Triggs and Cory Harm highlighted Wayne's offensive push as Triggs had two hits, one run and an RBI while Harm added a solo hit (triple) and two runs.

Heath Erwin assumed duties as pitcher for Wayne and was tagged with the loss as he allowed four hits, two walks, four earned runs and one strikeout in two innings.

Wayne will look to turn things around this week as they host Ponca on Friday night at 8 p.m.

With a string of good luck working in favor for Wayne things only got better as they edged the Blair Ice for a second time 3-2 on Sunday.

Carly Fehringer and Ellis took it upon themselves to lead the Dirtdevils' offense, as both recorded one hit and one run scored in the narrow win while teammate Halsey Lutt added an additional run and two RBIs.

Ellis worked 4 2/3 innings as the Dirtdevils starting pitcher and was credited with five strikeouts, two walks while giving up only four hits.

Schumacher given the nod for All-American Honors

Nick Schumacher of Wayne State College was recently selected to a pair of All-American baseball teams that were announced on May 27.

He was named a First Team All-American selection by Rawlings and the American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA) and received Third Team All-American honors from Daktronics in voting that was conducted by sports information directors from across the country.

This season marks the fifth time in the last six years that a Wildcat baseball player has achieved All-American status as Schumacher joins Travis McCarter and Brian Foy (2003), Tim Richt (2004), Brian Van Driel (2005), and Dustin Jones and Scott Bidroski (2007).

Schumacher, a senior right handed pitcher from Nebraska City, Neb., finished with a 13-2 record and a 2.36 ERA for the Wildcats this season to earn 2008 NSIC Pitcher of the Year honors.

He was tied with five other pitchers for the most wins by a NCAA Division II pitcher this season and set a new single season record for wins at WSC, as he broke the old mark of 11 that was set by Nate Miller in 2004.

Saturday, Adams had different plans for the Dirtdevils on Sunday, as they slid past Wayne 3-2 in the 16-and-under championship game.

Hoffart led Wayne with two hits (both singles) while Ellis, Fehringer and Jarvi each scored a run for the Dirtdevils.

Jarvi dropped to 5-2-1 from the pitcher's mound as she allowed five hits and one walk with five strikeout in five innings.

The Wayne 16-and-under Dirtdevils are currently 6-3-1 on the season and will look for some additional wins as they will play host to this weekend's Wayne Softball Tournament.

Wilson and Herian shine at NCAA Track and Field Championships

By Casey Schroeder

After a record-setting regular season and a pair of wins at the NSIC Outdoor Track and Field Championships, Wayne State College's thrower Katie Wilson kept the ball rolling this past weekend at the NCAA Division II National Championships in Walnut, Calif.

The junior from Glenwood, Iowa became the first female NCAA National Champion in WSC history after she won the women's shot put on Friday night with a mark of 51' 11 3/4", which broke her own school record of 49' 10 3/4" that was set at the Sioux City Relays on April 19.

"Katie had the weekend that most athletes only dream of, winning a national championship," Brink said. "Katie is such a great competitor that it is really exciting to see her competing again at her best."

In addition to her first place finish in the shot put, Wilson also took 11th in the hammer throw (160' 9") and then went on to place fourth in the discus on Saturday with a school-record throw of 154' 5", which beat the previous record of 152' 4" that was set by Lindsey Stockwell in 2005.

"The weekend was made even better when Katie came into the discus ranked 20th and finished in fourth place to earn her second All-American award," Brink said.

"We didn't think she was even going to get to throw the discus until the night before we left...she hadn't practiced the discus since winning the NSIC Conference championship, so we really didn't know what to expect."

Aside from Wilson, another Wildcat who found success while at the NCAA Nationals was sophomore hurdler Kylie Herian.

Herian placed sixth in the women's 100-meter hurdles on Saturday night with a time of 14.14 seconds, which was just .04 seconds off the WSC school record of 14.10 that was set by Kelley Snyder in 1984.

"Kylie ran very well to make the finals," Brink said.

"In the finals, she had a great start and maintained her speed through the end to end up with a personal best time of 14.14 seconds. It was easily the best race of her career."

WSC's other lone qualifier in the women's division was hurdler Rachel Roebke.

Roebke, a senior from Seward, was denied access to Saturday's finals of the 100-meter hurdles after she finished 10th with a time of 14.36 seconds in Friday's preliminaries.

Overall, the Wildcats combined for 18 points in the women's division to finish 17th, while Abilene Christian won the team title with 76.5 points. Adams State of

Whisman named North Central Region Coach of the Year

Wayne State College assistant track and field coach Josh Whisman was recently named the U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association NCAA Division II North Central Region Assistant Men's Outdoor Track and Field Coach of the Year.

Whisman who is in his second season as a throws coach for both the men's and women's track and field teams saw his throwers help the WSC men win a third straight NSIC Outdoor Track and Field Championship two weeks ago.

Under Whisman's leadership Brett Suckstorf and John Sloup set new school records in the hammer throw this season and were national provisional qualifiers while Suckstorf went on to qualify for last weekend's NCAA Division II Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Walnut, Calif.

FayeMarie Roeber

Roeber recognized by U.S. Achievement Academy

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that FayeMarie L. Roeber has been recognized by the United States Achievement Academy as a student of excellence in Band.

This is an honor very few students can hope to attain. The Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

FayeMarie, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for this honor by Brad Weber, a teacher at the school. Her name will appear in the United States Achievement Academy's Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and support our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy students should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Founder of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy recognizes students upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards for Selection set forth by the Academy. The Standards for Selection include academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a qualified sponsor.

FayeMarie is the daughter of Garry and Diane Roeber of Wayne. Her grandparents include Arnold and Evelyn Webster of Pender and Lloyd and Donna Roeber of Wakefield.

Computer recycling collections set

Need to get rid of an old computer? The Laurel Regional Recycling Center is holding a Computer Recycling Collection, Saturday, June 7, from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. at the Recycling Center in Laurel. The collection and shredding will be free of charge that day.

Some computer equipment contains toxic chemicals, such as lead, mercury and hexavalent chromium, that can contaminate our drinking water. In addition, the plastic and metal and glass that make up computer equipment isn't biodegradable, so the only environmentally safe way to get rid of a computer is to recycle it.

The collection will also include TVs, VCR's, DVD's, keyboards, mice, speakers, scanners, fax machines and phones. Security Shredding will also be available that day to shred documents.

For more information, call 402-256-3155.

McKenzie Stauffer, left, received her diploma from Wayne High School; Sara Stauffer, center, earned her Bachelor of Science degree from South Dakota State University in Brookings and Heather Stauffer, right, completed her Master of Arts degree in History from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

SEWER CLEANING NOTICE

During the weeks of May 19th and May 26th, the City of Wayne Sewer Department will be having sewer mains cleaned in various parts of the City. The majority of the sewer cleaning will take place in the area south of 7th Street and west of Main Street, but other areas will be cleaned as well.

In this process, high pressure water is forced through the sewer pipe to clean it. This pushes solid materials to the manholes so they can be removed by vacuuming. This entire process is necessary to keep obstructions out of the sewer system and insure proper drainage of waste.

Residents should be aware that when this process is done, the high pressure water pushes the air in the sewer line which occasionally enters the private sewer lines into homes and businesses. If this happens, it can result in the air exiting through the toilet bowl, shooting the water out of the toilet bowl. This air should exit through the sewer vent of the building, but inadequate venting or location of toilets can cause the air to exit through the toilet. This is a rare occurrence and keeping the lid closed on the toilet during this time will keep most of the water in the bowl rather than the floor.

If you have any questions about the sewer cleaning process or the areas the sewer main cleaning will take place, you may call the Wastewater Treatment Plant at 375-5250.

Thanks for the support

Dear Editor,
I would like to take a moment to thank the Wayne High School National Honor Society for their continued support of the Spina Bifida Association of Nebraska (SBAN).
Your yearly fundraiser provides support to children throughout Nebraska who live with the challenges of spina bifida. With your support it makes it possible to increase public awareness about spina bifida as well as providing opportunities for these children.
One goal of the SBAN is to assist with camp memberships for children with spina bifida. Our daughter is able to attend a camp every year in Minnesota. This camp is for children who live with spina bifida.

This gives her an opportunity to make friends and relate to others who experience the same struggles that she goes through on a daily basis.
This is an amazing experience for her and without your continued support of the SBAN, camp assistance would not be available. Your support has touched many lives and I hope you continue to remember the SBAN in the future.
You are all exceptional students and obviously committed to helping others. Keep up the good work. The great things that you do, do not go unnoticed.
Thank you.

Leslie Schulz,
Wayne

Who should pay for Nebraska water?

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Where better for a rural lawmaker to be interviewed about property taxes than from the seat of a tractor?
Sen. Mark Christensen of Imperial was reportedly in the saddle of his farm machinery when questioned about a court decision that struck down the authority of some Natural Resources Districts to levy a special property tax.
A district judge in Lincoln said the Legislature overstepped its authority when it gave NRDs in the Republican River Basin the power to collect additional property taxes, with the money going to help settle a longstanding water dispute between Nebraska and Kansas.
Christensen said the striking down of the law wasn't really such a big deal, because it was only intended to make banks feel good about issuing bonds so that Nebraska would have the money to pay Kansas - either in more water, or cash.
The case was destined for the Nebraska Supreme Court from the beginning. And that's where Attorney General Jon Bruning says he will now take it.
The importance of the issue, in terms of state authority to single out individual groups of property owners for higher property taxes, is substantial.
It was the State of Nebraska which entered the compact with Kansas and Colorado concerning use of Republican River water. It was irrigators in the basin who used more than a fair share of water, thus depriving Kansas of its rightful amount.
Since the state decided to buy water from southwest Nebraska irrigators, in order to pass it on to Kansas, was the financial burden rightfully aimed at only those property owners in the river basin? Or should the costs related to a compact, which was approved by the state, be borne by all the state's taxpayers through the state's general fund?

The judge in Lincoln said the NRDs couldn't be given special authority to tax property owners in the river basin.
Christensen met the news with equanimity.
He said the additional taxing authority was established to comfort financial institutions being asked to put out the revenue bonds that would generate income to buy the water, to send to Kansas, to comply with the compact. The lawsuit halted issuance of the bonds.

A per-acre tax on irrigated land, also part of the 2007 law, can suffice to meet the burden of the revenue bonds, Christensen said.
Gosh. The Legislature sure generated a lot of expense and worry to authorize a property tax, that Christensen said wasn't really needed, to get the job done.
And more legal wrangling and expense is in the offing, since the Supreme Court will be asked to chime in.

The constitution specifically prohibits the Legislature from using property taxes to pay for state obligations.
Does the state-initiated and state-approved water compact represent a state obligation? Or, may a portion of its cost be assessed to a comparatively few property owners, via property taxes?
If the Supreme Court addresses and answers that question directly, and if the decision goes against property owners, it will be one heckuva a historic event in the history of Nebraska jurisprudence.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson,
City Administrator

City Council meeting
The next regular City Council meeting will be Tuesday, June 3 at 5:30 p.m. in the council room.
Sales Tax or No Sales Tax?
Just a reminder of the special town hall meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 5 in the city auditorium to discuss whether to renew the one percent local option sales tax that will expire at the end of 2009. It was approved by voters to build the Community Activity Center.
Wayne residents approved a one time one percent local sales tax to build the library/senior center in 1996. When it expired, a group of citizens asked the council to approve a ballot election in 2000 to approve a one time one percent sales tax to build the Community Activity Center.
The mayor and council have appointed a group of Wayne residents to get a sense of the community to see if there is sufficient interest in future projects and/or property tax reduction to place another one percent sales tax proposal on the ballot in the November election. This appointed sales tax committee has been talking with residents and evaluating interest.

The committee has scheduled this town hall meeting on June 5th to have a public discussion about the options before making a recommendation to the city council. Plan to attend if you want to have a part in that discussion about future funding in Wayne.
The mayor and council are also meeting in informal open budget discussions after council meetings planning next year's budget. Your comments and presence are appreciated.

Basic Public Information Officers course planned

A two-day course intended for new or less experienced Public Information Officer (PIO) or for those who may find themselves into service in a PIO capacity is planned for Tuesday, June 24 and Wednesday, June 25 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Wayne Fire Hall, 510 Tomar, Wayne. The course will be delivered by Jim Bunstock from the Nebraska Emergency Management Agency.

The emphasis of the course is on the basic skills and knowledge needed for emergency management public information activities. Topics include the role of the PIO in emergency management, conducting awareness campaigns, news release writing and television interviews.

Bunstock is the PIO for the Nebraska Emergency Management Agency (NEMA) and is the primary media point of contact for the Agency. He produces the news releases and public information materials that NEMA uses to communicate with the citizens of Nebraska. He is also the Agency's public information representative to the state's two nuclear power plants, serving as Nebraska's lead PIO during exercises and drills and is the event of an incident at the facilities.

In 2005, he created Nebraska's Joint Information (JIC) program, an element of the Joint Information System mandated by the National Incident Management System (NIMS). As one of the first such state programs in the country, the Nebraska JIC sets standards for the development of other such programs. He is featured in the FEMA Emergency Management Institute's on-line independent study course IS-702 National Incident Management Systems (NIMS) Public Information Systems.

Bunstock is currently serving on the development committee for FEMA's new training course "JIC Management Training," which will be the primary course of instruction for the development of joint information centers under NIMS.

Anyone interested in attending the PIO course should contact Deanna Beckman, Wayne County Emergency Manager, at 402-833-5190 or wayne_em@qwest.net

ServSAFE Train the Trainer workshop planned

A ServSafe certification workshop is set to begin later this month at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.
The ServSafe workshop, Train the Trainer, with course number FOSR 010203-08S, is set for Saturday, May 31 and June 7, from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. in the Utility Line Building, Room 102. The Utility Line Building is located east of campus at 1601 East Benjamin Avenue.
Melva Ball, licensed medical nutrition therapist (LMNT), registered sanitarian (RS) and registered environmental health specialist (REHS) and Tama Krause, registered dietitian (RD), LMNT, are the instructors. Both are certified ServSafe instructors.

Cost of the class is $150 and includes textbook, handouts, the cost of a certification exam, lunches, and snacks.
According to Krause, ServSafe is the food safety training program that has evolved to meet the most urgent training challenges in food service. It is recognized as the food safety training program that works for all managers and employees.

Accredited by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) Conference for Food Protection (CFP), the ServSafe Food Protection Manager Certification Exam is valid, reliable, and legally defensible. More than 2.6 million ServSafe Food Protection Manager certifications have been awarded to date. Written examination booklets are offered in English and Spanish, as well as in large print.
"Dietary staffs deserve the best safety training and supervision in the workplace. At the same time, facilities want this training at an affordable price too," Krause said. "But, most of all, residents and staff deserve the security of a Certified ServSafe Trainer to supervise staff training and food preparation in the facility."
"Our ServSafe Train the Trainer certification workshop fulfills all these requests and requirements," she concluded.
To register, call Northeast Community College at (402)844-7000.

Gamble and Carroll talked about the work that has been done at the complex, including the construction of a concession stand/restroom, work on the fields and additional lighting. The two thanked the community for its support of the project and recognized the major donors. The majority of the work has been completed and a tournament is scheduled for this weekend.

UNL ag economist: ethanol behind about 1.2 percent of U.S. food price hike

Ethanol's increasing demand for corn is responsible for about 1.2 percent of the increase in U.S. food prices during the last two years, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln agricultural economist estimates.

However, Richard Perrin said, in poorer parts of the world, ethanol's impact on food prices likely is much higher -- perhaps accounting for as much as 15 percent of rising prices.

"The food bill of poor people in poor countries is more sensitive to grain prices, simply because grain constitutes more of their food, and food takes more of their income," the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources economist said.

Perrin outlined his findings in a new report titled "Ethanol and Food Prices -- Preliminary Assessment" (<http://digitalcommons.unl.edu/ageconfacpub/49/>).

Food prices in the U.S. and worldwide have risen dramatically in the last year, Perrin noted. Many have pointed to the corn ethanol industry as one culprit.

Ethanol's demand for corn is a factor, Perrin said.

Grain prices have roughly doubled in the last two years, Perrin said. His calculations found that ethanol is responsible for about 40 percent of that increase. Doubled grain prices contributed about 3 percent to the increase in U.S. food prices; 40 percent of 3 percent comes to about 1.2 percent.

Americans spend a much smaller proportion of their income on food than people in other parts of the world, Perrin noted, so the ultimate impact of rising grain prices on their food budget is muted.

"The value of grain in U.S. consumers' expenditures constitutes less than one-half of 1 percent of consumer income," Perrin said. "In food-insecure countries, it may constitute 20 percent or more of total consumer income. Thus, a doubling of grain prices can absolutely devastate families in poor countries and put them at the edge of starvation, even though it constitutes a barely noticeable inconvenience to most families in the U.S."

Perrin added, "If you are one of those poor consumers and grain prices double, it's a big deal, regardless of how little responsibility lies with ethanol."

On the other hand, "if you are a poor producer in one of those countries, as many of the world's poor are, higher grain prices are a good deal."

Perrin said his calculations are "broadly consistent" with other attempts to measure ethanol's impact on food prices, including studies by Iowa State University's Center for Agricultural and Rural Development and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Perrin said his study is preliminary, and he's still exploring other causes of increasing food prices, which may include increased energy costs, higher demand for food, unusually low world wheat production and speculative purchasing.

UNL's Department of Agricultural Economics is a part of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

One hundred days of summer special enforcement

In an effort to reduce the number of fatal crashes on Nebraska roads during the heavily traveled months of May, June, July and August, the Nebraska State Patrol has instituted the new traffic safety initiative "100 Days of Summer."

Each day from May 25 through Sept. 1 the Nebraska State Patrol Field Services Division will work to hold at least one traffic safety enforcement operation somewhere in the state.

Motorists can keep abreast of the planned special enforcements by visiting the Nebraska State Patrol web site at www.nsp.state.ne.us and clicking on 100 Days of Summer in the Quick Links box on the upper right hand side of the page. The link will display monthly calendars, with each day listing the type of special enforcement planned and the location of the special enforcement.

The Nebraska State Patrol hopes by publishing the agency's special enforcement efforts, the motoring public will be reminded to comply with all traffic safety laws during this busy travel period.

"It is our goal to reduce the number of fatal crashes on Nebraska roads," said Field Services Major Russ Stanczyk. "By publicizing our special enforcement efforts, we are asking motorists to partner with us in reducing crash causing behaviors. It is our hope fewer crashes will result in fewer fatalities."

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Enjoying your family vacation - on a budget

Ask a child where they would like to vacation with their family and Walt Disney World® ranks as a top choice. Kids love the magic of Disney and parents appreciate the family-friendly experience. With a little forethought, you can plan an exciting family vacation that works with your budget.

Time your stay. If you can, try to schedule your trip during the off season. According to Disney World, there are lighter crowds beginning in August and running through December. Their resorts may offer lower rates at this time as well. You may also be able to get lower fares because you won't be competing with spring break or summer fares.

Look for affordable accommodations. If you want to stay at a Disney World Resort, you can choose from a wide range of properties and price tags. At the low end, you can pitch a tent at Disney's Fort Wilderness and pocket significant savings. Resort guests have access to free airport and park shuttles (and free parking if you drive to the resort), so you can subtract a daily parking expense that would accrue if you stayed at a non-Disney property. Another way to save money is to look for a hotel or rental property in nearby Kissimmee, Fla. - preferably with a kitchenette so you can prepare your own meals. However, if you have small children, having your hotel in walking distance of the park may be a convenience you can't afford to pass by.

Buy your tickets in advance. Advance ticket purchase may make it easier to plan your trip and budget your time and money. The most affordable tickets allow one park entry per day. However, Disney allows you to customize your tickets with the flexibility to visit additional theme and/or water parks for an additional fee. The more days you purchase, the more you save. For example, based on a recent visit to the official Walt Disney World site, you can save $36 per ticket per day for an adult "Magic Your Way" ticket by simply extending the daily passes you purchase from a 3-day ticket to a 7-day ticket. Of course, you'll spend more simply by lengthening your vacation those extra four days, but you're getting more value for the days you're there.

You may be eligible to purchase discounted family vacation ticket packages through your employer, so be sure to inquire. You can try to purchase family theme park tickets on eBay, but there's no guarantee you'll find the combination of days you need or that you'll win the bid.

Limit your meals in the park. Eat a hearty breakfast before you start the day to avoid a hunger attack inside the doors. If you plan to spend more than several hours on site (and most people do), pack snacks and beverages rather than purchasing expensive park fare. Disney discourages guests from bringing food into the park but does provide a picnic area outside of the gates and lockers are available to store a small cooler or backpack. To please the kids, the character breakfast (or lunch or dinner), a fun-filled meal featuring the likes of Snow White, Cinderella, Mickey and other favorites, is one park meal you may want to consider. Advance reservations are recommended.

Gather free information online. The official Disney World site provides a wealth of information on their parks, ticket packages, hotel options and much more. Between this information and the many public sites offering tips and recommendations for how to best enjoy your time at the other parks, you will have plenty of information with which to plan your trip.

Start saving now. If you plan to go on a family vacation or visit Disney World within the next year or two, start saving now so the expense is easier to bear. Set a target budget for your vacation to determine how much you need to set aside each month to afford your trip. Consider talking to a financial advisor for ideas on how to save for your short- and long-term goals. Make the right choices for your finances now so you and your family can experience the magic of Disney and much more in the years to come.

ASK THE TRAINER

"As a female, will I bulk up if I lift weights?"
This is a very common question most trainers answer on a regular basis. The answer is no! One of the biggest misconceptions surrounding women and weight training is the fear of "bulking up". The reality is, most women do not produce enough testosterone to "bulk up" by increasing muscle mass alone. This is not to say women cannot gain muscle mass, but the lower level of testosterone when compared to a man's limits the muscle's ability to hypertrophy the same as a man's. I am sure some of you are reading this and saying, "Why then do my clothes fit tighter after weight training for a period of time?" The answer to this question comes down to calories in and calories out. If you take in more calories than you burn, you will increase your overall body fat percentage. This increase in body fat percentage gives the "bulky" look by increasing the amount of stored subcutaneous fat. This layer of fat, as the name indicates, is located just beneath your skin and prevents everyone from seeing the lean and toned body you've been lifting for! Always consult your physician before beginning any exercise program. Call me at Wellness Center if you have any more questions about the benefits of strength training or you are ready to get started on your own path to health and wellness.

Lifestyle

The Wayne Herald

Families can save big money taking small steps

In the midst of the current housing crisis and with oil prices hovering at record highs, the need for families to reduce wasteful spending is more important than ever. Following a household budget takes practice. Recognizing unnecessary expenditures is the first step whether streamlining a budget or simply making small habitual changes to save money.

Determining the difference between needs and wants and only purchasing things that are needed is an effective way to begin cutting expenses. Food and clothing are two areas where most families can trim their budgets.

Impromptu trips to the grocery store can be a huge drain on a bank account. Planning meals in advance, making a list and shopping alone reduce the chance of needless impulse purchases. Avoid grocery shopping when hungry, frustrated or rushed as these situations can also lead to impulse buys and overspending.

Shopping for clothing can be a pacifying experience that is usually expensive and often unnecessary.

Buying new garments for a job interview or school clothing for children may be unavoidable, but money still can be saved at these times. Purchasing washable fabrics, which are often less expensive, save money on dry cleaning. Proper care should be given to clothing already in a wardrobe so they don't need to be replaced as often.

Children often outgrow their clothing before wearing them out. This can be an expensive and frustrating experience, so don't let their wardrobes get too large.

Purchasing second-hand clothing from thrift stores or from relatives with older children is a good way to keep this cost down.

Small daily expenses can add up to big savings when less expensive alternatives are used.

For example, packing a lunch instead of eating out - even if it is fast food - can save an individual $25 to $35 each week. Over a year's time, that is a savings of between $1,300 and $1,820. Multiply that savings by the number of family members eating lunch away from home, and the savings are even greater.

Another way to cut down on daily expenditures is to avoid buying expensive coffee and soft drinks. Purchasing a $3.50 mocha latte may seem like an innocuous splurge, but multiplied by 365 days this caffeine fix costs $1,277.

Unused health-club memberships, phone services, magazines, newspapers and unwatched cable packages are other expenses that can be eliminated.

Preventative maintenance on vehicles and appliances should be done regularly to reduce the chance they will need repaired or replaced.

Routine check-ups to the dentist or family physician should not be overlooked when trying to save money. The initial cost of these visits may seem expensive, but early detection of health problems will cut down on the time and money spent to rectify them.

ELCA Lutherans to gather in Grand Island

Hundreds of Nebraska ELCA Lutherans will gather as the voting members and as visitors May 30 - June 1 at the Heartland Event Center in Grand Island for the annual Nebraska Synod Assembly. Grace, Gratitude, Giving will be the focus as they celebrate the many ministries together and lift up how they respond to God through stewardship of time, talent and treasure.

Pastor Kim Stover, Pastor Bill Koeber, Sue Stover, Marion Arneson, Darrell Heier, Mary Mohl, Dave Olson and Sue Olson are representing Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne as voting members in discussing and voting on issues before the Church.

Those gathering in Grand Island will join hundreds of members of Nebraska ELCA Lutheran Congregations, a delegation of African "companions," a group of teen leaders, some extraordinary, inspirational presenters and a dedicated group of planners and on-site volunteer workers.

Dr. Mark Allan Powell, guest speaker, will deliver three keynote presentations on "Grace, Gratitude and Giving." The Sunday presentation will be given by Dr. Richard Hardsell on the topic, "Living a Generous Life." Music will be led by Jay Beech.

On Friday evening the 15th anniversary of the Companion

Synod relationship with the Northern Diocese of Tanzania will be celebrated. The Assembly features an anniversary celebration with a delegation from the Northern Diocese. A special offering will be received to assist the Northern Diocese prepare future pastoral leaders and strengthen its ministry in East Africa.

The Northern Diocese has a growing need for pastors to serve its 152 parishes as well as its hospitals, schools and emerging mission areas. In Tanzania the annual cost for a year of seminary education ranges between $3,200-$3,700 depending on the person's course of study. The goal is to raise at least $15,000 with this special offering.

Business before the Assembly includes: Elections of Nebraska Synod leaders; Election of Voting Members to the 2009 ELCA Churchwide Assembly; 2009 Budget and Resolutions.

At the Saturday evening Recognition Banquet, Patrick Henry Hughes will share the inspiring story of his life as the special anniversary of service in the lives of the Nebraska Synod leaders are recognized.

The Assembly will conclude with a public festival worship on Sunday, June 1 at 10:30 a.m. at the Heartland Event Center. Bishop David L. deFreese will preach.

Duo Club volunteers at Orphan Grain Train

The Lutheran Laymen's League Grace Duo Club members recently volunteered at the Orphan Grain Train at the Norfolk warehouse. Twelve individuals assisted in preparing undergarments for shipping, assembling boxes, sorting good-used clothing, and loading a semi-load of Global Care kits that are going aboard to India. The kits will be distributed to needy school children.

The OGT was organized in 1992 by Rev. Ray Wilke, Norfolk. This organization is known for its assistance in times of disaster. Recently, a 45-foot long kitchen trailer where meals are cooked for the individuals that assist at a problem site, was constructed. Bedroom, utility, and shower trailers are some of the equipment that composites Camp Restore. A Wayneite, Dwaine Rethwisch, had the hands-on-service opportunity in constructing such a trailer.

Another OGT project, which was initiated by Rev. Terry Timm and wife, Ruth, of Norfolk, is "Warm Boots for Russia." LHM has produced a movie "Red Boots for Christmas" that's based on a German folk tale involving a grouchy shoemaker who changes his mind to share the gift of life about giving. Many $15 donations are given year-around for Russian orphanages' children who do not own shoes. The children may go to the market and barter for their shoes. A children's Bible is included with your donation.

The Grace Ladies Aid quilting group with leader, Esther Brader, have made many quilts over the years and shared where needed.

GYM EXPANSION EFFORTS

While doing your "spring cleaning", save some of your "valuables" for the community-wide auction to benefit the gym project. Community members are asked to donate items to sell at the auction that will be held at the Allen Fire Hall, Saturday, June 14 at beginning at 11.

Allen Graduates Ryan Kraemer and Greg Rastede will be the auctioneers for the event. They will accept anything from toys, to knickknacks, to furniture, appliances, farm equipment, and used vehicles. If you think someone might want to buy it, we will sell it! If you have a high value item and would like to give half of the proceeds to the gym and keep half, this can be arranged.

Anyone wishing to donate large items to the Gym Fund Auction on June 14 may contact Jerry Schroeder with item descriptions. Also contact Jerry if you have an interesting item so it can be included in the advertising. You are asked to place small items in boxes and bring everything to the Firehall Friday, June 13 between 2 and 8 p.m. If this doesn't work, or if you need help with a large item, please contact Kathy Boswell.

The auction will be in conjunction with the Lov-A-Lop Swap meet, the community wide rummages, and several other events going on. The Senior Center is having a Pancake Breakfast on Sunday, June 15.

Alumni Volleyball Tournament will be held on Saturday, June 14 at the Allen gym. If interested in bringing a team, contact Jaime (Kluver) Anderson at jlander-son@nntc.net. Look for more upcoming events.

He teams up with Mary Duff, Ireland's top female vocalist, with their blend of traditional Irish ballads, country favorites, and traditional gospel with an Irish twist.

This will be followed by Noah the Musical at Sight & Sound Theater - with more than 40 actors, elaborate sets and staging along with hundreds of costumes and live animals. On Wednesday, will be the Roy Rogers Museum and Show and the Mannheim Steamroller mix of classical music. Call for itinerary and price. This is a shared trip/first come-first serve policy applies.

Briefly Speaking

Happy Workers play pitch

CARROLL — The Happy Workers Club of Carroll met at the home of Iyy Junck with seven members and Doris Clausen as a guest.

Pitch was enjoyed for entertainment. Lucille Nelsen won high; Ann Jenkins, low; and Mary Davis, traveling.

The next meeting will be with Lucille Nelsen on Wednesday, June 18.

Frese family reunion held near Carroll

Terry and Mary Janke hosted the Frese family gathering on May 25 at their home near Carroll.

Pictures of the house and farmstead were displayed, noting the changes that have taken place through the years.

The family tree was updated and since the last reunion, there have been two births; Zoe Rae Janke and Colton Gunnar Dodd; the marriage of Brenda Hilbers to Jay Draheim; and one death, Madeleine Frese on April 21.

The celebration took place in the original home that the late Herman and Anna Frese built in the 1930's. The home has stayed in the family. Werner and Norma (Frese) Janke lived and farmed the homestead following Herman and Anna Frese's retirement. Werner and Norma (Frese) Janke raised their two boys, Byron and Terry, in the home.

In later years Terry and Mary Janke moved into the home and farmed the homestead and raised their family.

There were 14 families represented with 44 people in attendance. The families came from Carroll, Wayne, Winside, Pender, Papillion, Norfolk in Nebraska and Sioux City, Iowa.

The afternoon was spent reminiscing and the children were treated to outdoor games and rides in an antique car and tractor restored by the Terry Janke family. Family pictures were taken with the tractor and car.

The afternoon closed with cake and ice cream. The oldest one present was Hollis Frese and the youngest was Zoe Rae Janke.

Darrel and Phyllis Rahn will host the next reunion.

Leather and Lace dancers hold Memorial Day dance

The Leather and Lace Club held the annual Memorial Day Trails In dance at the Wayne City Auditorium on May 23 with 84 participants dancing to Jerry Junck as caller.

The auditorium was decorated for the occasion with red, blue and white decorations furnished by Peggy Krueger. Dancers were from Kansas, Iowa, South Dakota, New York, Wyoming, Minnesota, Colorado and Nebraska. The Leather and Lace members furnished snacks for the evening.

Five participants split the pot. Bruce Fiscus, Connie Kirkpatrick and Peggy Krueger celebrated birthdays.

Betty and Delmer Pufahl of Norfolk will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, May 31 at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Norfolk. Dancers are invited to dance to help celebrate from 7 to 9 p.m. and from 3 to 6 p.m. there will be an open house.

Leather and Lace will not dance for the summer but the members are encouraged to support the area clubs. The next scheduled dance will be Friday, Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wayne City Auditorium with Dave Riley calling. It will be Snack Night with all members providing snacks.

Advice given on planning for old age

I belong to a local group called Lincoln End of Life Coalition. Its mission statement reads: "Improving end of life care and choices for all people, their families and health care providers in the Lincoln area."

We meet in the auditorium of the VA hospital, which is literally across the street and a bit north of where we live, so I don't have much of an excuse for not getting to its meetings.

Last week, I heard a speaker on the subject of "My Future Self." The presenter was a woman with a PhD in Gerontology and her goal was to help us plan for our old age. (You might say I'm a bit late for this, but I thought I would find it interesting, and I did.) She does this presentation for all age groups, including college students, and of course, gets very different answers.

Ahead of the meeting, we were invited to go to a web site and use the online questions to calculate how long we are going to live. It also touts a book by the same title. I'm not even sure I want to live to be 100, but it's fun to take the test.

I found it to be a bit picky; for instance, I answered I drink a cup of caffeine a day and it advised me to cut that out. We all know the latest research shows some positive benefits for caffeine.

Would you believe, I'm going to live to 101? That's if I continue to do the things I'm doing now, like walking and going to Curves, and not smoking and getting plenty of dairy in my meals. Of course, it also cautioned me about red meat. Who wants to live to be 100 if we can't enjoy red meat?

By: Pat Meierhenry

Anyway, the speaker's advice included some very practical things, like floss every day and see your dentist regularly. The plaque on our teeth is the same stuff that hardens our arteries.

She recommends a crossword puzzle a day; I don't do that. My neighbor says she is hooked on Sudoku. I don't do that either. Hopefully, all my reading is good for my brain. She also says to turn off the TV; I don't have a problem there.

We are to try new hobbies that use both hands; you know why? It's called bilateral brain stimulation. And like all other life counselors, she recommends journaling. That's what this column is for!

She ended with a quote by Rosa Parks: "Life is to be lived to its fullest so death is just another chapter. Memories of our lives, works and deeds will live on with our loved ones." Oh, and she thinks everyone should have a pet; I think mine is named Mike!

One more thing, she advocates Advance Directives. You know how I feel about those. In case, when we are 100 years old, we can't make health care decisions for ourselves, who do we want making them, and which decisions should they make? All good advice.

Roads Scholar Tour takes IANR employees to northeast Nebraska

While the University of Nebraska's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources is always working to make connections throughout the state, it also wants people across the state to feel connected to it as well.

That was one purpose of IANR's inaugural Road Scholars Tour, held May 15-16 in northeast Nebraska, said Debra Schroeder, chairman of the IANR Liaison Committee.

About 35 IANR employees boarded a chartered bus and visited a variety of university and business sites throughout the region. The group included administrators, liaison committee members and faculty and staff members with one to five years of university service.

"The over-arching goal in this whole process was we wanted to provide opportunities for new faculty to be exposed to different areas of the state," Schroeder said.

IANR hopes that the employees will be able to use the information they gained on the trip in their teaching, research and extension responsibilities, Schroeder said.

In addition to helping IANR employees to learn more about the state, the trip was an effort to help Nebraskans learn more about the mission of IANR, Schroeder said.

"We want to increase awareness in the state of what's going on within the institute and connect faculty and people within the state," she said.

The production of agricultural equipment was the focus of the first stop at West Point Implement and Design. Owner/manager Erv Eisenmenger demonstrated the company's major lines of equipment, including its Spread-All spreader, largely manufactured with recycled materials to spread the abundance of manure from feedlots.

The contingent stopped at the Knobbe Feedyards, owned by Harry Knobbe of West Point, which feeds about 20,000 head of cattle annually on 1,000 acres. Knobbe Livestock Sales buys and sells more than 140,000 head annually from 30 different states.

Topics addressed included groundwater monitoring wells and the demand for manure to use as fertilizer. While the company once had to beg people to take the manure, now there is a waiting list for it.

A discussion of agricultural issues followed at the Center for Rural Affairs in Lyons. Executive Director and NU Board of Regents Chairman Chuck Hasselbrook met with the group and answered questions for about an hour about the center's program priorities.

Group members visited the John G. Neihardt Center in Bancroft, where they watched a short video about the life of Neihardt, who was state poet laureate and wrote the famed book "Black Elk Speaks."

The first day also included a visit to the Haskell Agricultural Laboratory in Concord, where extension specialists talked about their research projects on such topics as conservation buffers, the effect of tillage on soil, and the use of propane flaming as a weed control tool.

Family and consumer sciences was the topic during an evening session, where extension educators shared the impact their work is making related to healthy families and communities, aging issues and financial management.

The second day featured a tour of the Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk, which houses offices of the Northeast Research and Extension Center, UNL Extension in Madison County, Northeast Community College, Wayne State College and other entities.

Progressive Swine Technology in Humphrey provided a lesson in pork production. The production facility founded by Jim Pillen has 80 different sites in Nebraska and employs more than 550 people.

The IANR employees toured a produce farm at Daniels Produce near Monroe, owned by Andy Daniels. The company grows corn, pumpkins, tomato and other produce, which is sold at farmer's markets and in grocery stores.

The group learned about extension's grant-funded after-school programming at Centennial Elementary School in Columbus, then toured east Columbus, where many agricultural manufacturing interests are developing and expanding.

John Owens, IANR NU vice president and Harlan vice chancellor of IANR, is considering sponsoring annual Roads Scholars trips to different areas of the state, Schroeder said.

Construction underway at NECC on new services building

Preliminary earth work has begun at Northeast Community College in Norfolk for an off-delayed, but badly needed, facility that will be a service center for students, prospective students, visitors, or vendors.

The new facility will be the first building visitors see when they turn off Benjamin Avenue on to the campus in northeast Norfolk. Appropriately called the College Welcome Center, it will house several departments within Northeast's Student Services division and most administrative services' functions.

The approximately 35,000-square-foot facility is designed to be a "one-stop shop" for students that will include a welcome/reception area, testing and academic advisement area, financial aid offices, student counseling facilities, and the business offices for payment of tuition and fees. Prospective students will begin their college tours from that facility and there will be conference rooms for meetings of student groups and organizations.

The College Welcome Center will also be home to recruitment/admissions, disabilities services and the adaptive technology center, career services, registration and records, and veteran's services.

It is tentatively set to open in late summer of 2009. General contractor J.H. Hesse Co. of Norfolk submitted the lowest of five bids for the project. The Northeast Board of Governors accepted the bid, not to exceed $7,777,500, at its April meeting.

The College Welcome Center will be built with revenue bonds issued by the College Facilities Corporation. Jerry Petersen, Dr. Bob Cox and Larry Godel are officers of the corporation. The semi-annual payments to the Facilities Corporation will be made with student facilities fees. Once the debt is retired, ownership of the building will pass from the Facilities Corporation to the college.

As construction nears an end on the Welcome Center, construction will also be in process for the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) College of Nursing Northern Division on the Northeast campus. That facility will house all Northeast's nursing programs including basic nurse aide (commonly called certified nurse aide), licensed practical nursing and associate degree nursing, and UNMC's bachelor's, master's and doctorate programs in nursing.

Northeast will graduate up to 50 associate degree students each year, while UNMC will graduate up to 48 bachelor of science-nursing (BSN) students when the UNMC College of Nursing Northern Division is fully operational.

"The need for the College Welcome Center becomes keener every year," said Dr. Karen Severson, vice president of student services. "As our college and the subsequent services we offer our students grow, we are short of space to accommodate students and visitors and their needs."

"We desperately need the space that the College Welcome Center will give us," said Dr. Bill R. Path, Northeast president. "The UNMC College of Nursing will bring more students to our campus who will need the services that will be provided in the Welcome Center."

When Northeast's Student and Administrative Services offices relocate to the new Welcome Center, it will free up space in the now-overcrowded Maclay Building, built in 1970. "The staff in 1970 was a small fraction of what it is now," Dr. Path said.

"We are currently using closets in the Maclay Building as offices. When the new Welcome Center is complete, we will be able to move other staff to the vacated space."

"We do not plunge in to multi-million dollar construction projects recklessly," Dr. Path said. "The College Welcome Center has been needed for a long time. The need is even keener with the approach of the College of Nursing."

"We always look to the future and our students' needs whenever we take on any new building project," he concluded. "We believe the College Welcome Center will help us serve our students even better."

EARTH DAY

Winside elementary students all took a part in Earth Day activities by taking their turns at getting rid of some of the trash around the town. Some of the classes went through the town and some went along the highway. The fifth graders, along with teacher Mrs. Susan Mohr, organized Earth Day activities for the K-6 Elementary School.

HANDS-ON LEARNING

Edgerton on the Move Science Explorit Center from Aurora presented two shows to Winside Elementary students including Go Show and Sparks. The center exists to instill and nurture in all people the joy of scientific discovery and exploration through hands-on learning and experiences. The program was generously funded by the Winside Boosters including officers Becky Lange, Brenda Hokamp and Laurie Lienemann.

JUMP FOR HEART

Winside Elementary P.E. teacher Dustin Nilus recently awarded prizes and shirts to the top three Jump for Heart winners who collected the most money to fight heart disease. The entire elementary collected $1100.

Awards were handed out by physical education teacher Dustin Nilus recently who awarded the top three money raisers for Jump for Heart. They included Trevor Lenton, Catherine Thompson and Joey Haase.

Winside Elementary students learn about electricity through a shocking hands-on experience as a generator sends the current through each student. Mr. Marland Erb's sixth graders are shown testing out the "shock."
