With more and more news stories highlighting problems with lack of water, pollution and various types of energy crisis, the need to develop more sustainable practices is becoming more widely accepted. The City of Wayne wishes to form a "Green Team" of interested citizens who are willing to assist with developing a sustainability plan and helping to educate the community in regard to its importance and implementation.

If you have an interest in being part of this team, please call City Hall at 375-1733 and ask to have your name put on the Mayor's Green Team. Deadline is June 30.

Local student to represent Nebraska in national academic competition for blind students

On Saturday, June 20, 8-year-old Maura Loberg of Wayne will represent the state of Nebraska in an academic competition unlike any other.

Maura, who is totally blind due to an optic nerve disorder, isn't letting her disability get in the way of her dreams. She has been chosen from among more than 600 of the top blind and visually impaired students from across the United States and Canada to travel to Los Angeles to test her braille skills at the ninth Annual National Braille Challenge®.

The National Braille Challenge®, sponsored by Braille Institute of America®, is the only national academic competition for blind students in the nation. It is specifically designed to challenge and motivate students, while encouraging them to continue their study of braille.

Maura, an avid braille reader and outstanding student at Wayne Elementary School, started learning to read braille when she was only three years old and hasn't slowed down since. She has excelled academically despite being the only blind child in her school. She uses several adaptive devices such as a Perkins Brailier and computers equipped with a speech recognition program called JAWS, to help her keep up with her sighted peers.

This will be her first time participating in a national academic competition and her first time on a plane. "I'm so excited that she made it into a national competition that celebrates this unique skill," said her mother Jean Loberg. "If she didn't know how to read braille she would be at a huge disadvantage. It has given her access to the world around her like nothing else and

Locks of Love

Rachel Backman, 10, of Wakefield recently had 12 inches of her hair cut off at the Cutting Edge in Wakefield. She then donated the hair to Locks of Love. She decided to do this while she was a student at Wayne Elementary School. There she observed a classmate who was battling cancer and dealing with hair loss.

Halie Chinn, sporting a new, short hair cut, poses with her friend's mother, Jana Anderson.

Youth inspired to donate hair

Halie Chinn, age 9, recently donated her hair to Locks of Love.

While she had seen other girls donate their hair, she never became totally committed to growing her hair for this program until she saw first-hand what the side effects can be when someone has a series illness during a play date with her friend, Shania Anderson.

Shania's mother, Jana Anderson, was fighting cancer at the time and had lost her hair. Halie has known Jana and Shania since she was a toddler so it really had an impact on her.

Halie returned from their home determined to grow her hair out and donate it in honor of Jana. It took longer than she had expected, but she was very excited to know she could help someone else in this way.

After growing her hair for two years, she was able to have the required 10 inches cut off.

Former Wayne woman takes plea agreement

Fayette Klug, 35, of Norfolk, formerly of Wayne, accused of defrauding two foreign exchange students, took a plea agreement Monday in Madison County District Court. Klug pleaded no contest to theft by deception (over $1,500), a Class II felony and unauthorized use of a financial device, a Class 1 misdemeanor. Two other charges were dismissed as part of the plea agreement. Sentencing, including a restitution hearing, is set for July 23 at 9 a.m.

According to Madison County Attorney Mike Long, last fall, Klug was hosting two foreign exchange students (one from China and the other from Norway) in her home in Norfolk. Klug requested money from the students for expenses while they were in the U.S. and used their pre-paid credit cards to make unauthorized charges. Klug was reimbursed by STS Foundation (the foreign exchange student placement company) so did not need the money, which the students didn't understand. Klug had underwent training which covered financial responsibilities for the host family.

Klug was sentenced in 2006 for a theft by deception charge to 264 days in jail. STS Foundation stated they did a background check on Klug.

After Klug's no contest plea, Judge Robert Ensz adjudged her guilty. The state agreed to a total of 1-3 years at sentencing to be served concurrent; no added charges with the two victims. Judge Ensz told Klug he is not bound to follow that recommendation. The judge ordered a pre-sentence update by the Norfolk probation office. Klug is out of jail on a personal recognizance bond. She has been ordered to reside at the Norfolk Rescue Mission and is not to leave the state or violate any laws.

School board changes SPED coordinator position from half time to full time

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

The Wayne Community Schools Board of Education met in regular session Monday. Carolyn Linster, board president announced there would be executive session. Several special education teachers (Jean Dorcey, Traci Krusemark, Winter Stewart and Emily Sims) were on hand to discuss Misty Bear's part-time SPED coordinator position. They praised Bear's hard work but noted the position should be full-time. It was added there are 132 special education students and many meetings for Bear to attend.

Garwood made a motion to change the AIM special education coordinator position from half time to full time. Mark Hanson, high school principal, informed the board there needs to be clarification as to who will fill the teaching position Bear holds or there will be problems. Jorgensen seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Amy Woedermann, technology director, was present to discuss the website interlocal agreement with WAEDI. She noted the school (as well as the county and WAEDI) have been part of the city's website for several years.

The city wants to make some changes with their website and go with Civic Plus. Staying with the city's website will cost the school around $5,000 compared to around $15,000 if the school went on its own. Rod Garwood, board member, made a motion to stay with the city website, Mark Evetovich, board member, seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Dr. Joe Reinert, superintendent, discussed an agreement contract between Wayne Community Schools and Northeast Nebraska Thunderbirds for the use of the school facilities. Rocky Ruhl, athletic director, noted due to a schedule change, the group had their first game last Saturday. It was noted there is a name change from NE Nebraska Thunderbirds to NE Nebraska Lightening. Garwood voiced concern with liability; Pieper noted proof of insurance is needed before they play on school property again. Ken Jorgensen, board member, made a motion to accept the agreement, Dr. Jeryl Nelson, board member, seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Administrative reports were discussed. Daryl Schruk, elementary school principal, noted he would like to change the reading text book series in the elementary school which would cost around $45,000. He added the newest text book they have is from 1999. Dr. Reinert noted the school doesn't have it built into the budget for that expense. Garwood said reading is so fundamental that the money should be found for the request.

Dr. Nelson noted 2009-2010 state aid for Wayne Community Schools should be $108,000 but around $60,000 of that will go towards teacher salaries and benefits so that leaves only $48,000 excess. Evetovich asked how much workbooks would cost with the present reading series, which Schruk told him would be $2,000. It was decided the principals should meet with the new superintendent, Mark Lenihan, who starts July 1, study the budget and bring their findings to the next board meeting.

Dennis Mitchell, head custodian, discussed problems with the high school roof. It was decided the buildings and grounds committee and the administration should look into the situation and bring information to the next meeting.

Garwood made a motion to approve the second reading of policy 5500 (program for handicapped students). Dr. Nelson seconded the motion which passed unanimously. Garwood also made a motion to approve first readings of policies: 1102 (orienting new board members), 1203 (annual retreat), 4015 (certified employee mentor teachers), 4106 (grievances) and 4202 (smoke-free and tobacco-free work place). Dr. Nelson seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

The high school boiler situation was discussed. Dr. Reinert made a recommendation to fix the small boiler for around $5,000 compared to spending around $225,585 for a new large boiler. Jorgensen cautioned that waiting to deal with this problem could end up costing a lot more. He asked for an engineer study of the problem. Garwood made a motion to approve an engineer study, Dr. Nelson seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Future agenda items for the next meeting of Monday, July 13 at 5 p.m. at the high school in Wayne are: elementary reading series, roofing issue, old district 51, school finance, policies, teacher negotiations, boiler engineer study, Executive session was held for someone not requesting a public hearing and not attending the session. No action was taken during executive session.

There are a number of new houses being constructed in the new subdivision on the western edge of Wayne.

New houses are going up in the Western Ridge II subdivision

Construction is ongoing in the Western Ridge II subdivision in Wayne. The project offers affordable housing and financing to anyone wishing to build a house. There are 34 lots in the subdivision, 15 of which are sold. The lots range in price from $5,000 to $12,000.

All of the water and sewer work is done in the subdivision, as well as some paving. When 80 - 85 percent of the lots are sold, paving will be finished. Houses in this subdivision will be nice homes.

The City of Wayne is in charge of the street and sewer work as well as selling lots but it is up to each lot owner to hire their own contractor to build their home. For those buying a lot, there is a stipulation that a home must be built on that lot within a year.

Anyone with questions about the Western Ridge II subdivision can call Ken Chamberlain, president of the Wayne Community Development Agency, 375-1699 or Della Pries, executive director of the Wayne Community Housing Development Corporation, 375-5266.

Whitt represents Nebraska at Oratorical Contest

Joseph Whitt of Wayne competed in the National Finals of the American Legion High School Oratorical Scholarship Program, "A Constitutional Speech Contest" April 17-19 in Indianapolis, Ind.

There, Joe competed along with 53 other state champions and student representatives from the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and France.

The purpose of the oratorical contest is to develop deeper knowledge and appreciation for the Constitution of the United States on the part of the high school students. Other objectives of the contest include the development of leadership qualities, the ability to think and speak clearly and intelligently, and preparation for the acceptance of the duties and responsibilities, rights and privileges of the American citizenship.

Joe competed at the area, district, and state level. His 10 minute oratorical speech was on the duties of American citizens to vote and how constitutional amendments have changed voting rights. In addition, Joe had to be prepared to speak extemporaneously on four sections of the Constitution—Amendment 1, Amendment 3, Amendment 4, and Article 3 Section 3.

"The experience was incredible and invaluable" Joe said. He highly recommends high school students to participate in the annual contest. "The American Legionnaires are wonderful people. They demonstrate their love for our Country on a daily basis. I am grateful for their dedication to all of us." For his efforts, Joseph won over $3,000 for his college education.

The information for next year's contest is already posted on the Nebraska American Legion website or contact Bud Neel for further information on contest rules.

Work on the elevator that is being installed in the Wayne High School is progressing. Otte Construction is in charge of work on the project. September is the projected finish date for completion.

EnergyWiseSM Tip: Time to tune up your home's cooling system

Editor's note: The following is another in a series of articles designed to help energy customers use energy efficiently to reduce costs and conserve energy.

For this month's EnergyWiseSM Tip, it's always good to remember that old adage: An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. This saying works well for home heating and cooling systems, too!

Whatever type of system you use to heat and cool your home, maintenance is a critical factor in its performance and longevity. Regular maintenance is often overlooked, but it can be key to saving money on heating and air conditioning costs. The easiest approach to a home heating and cooling system tune-up is to have a licensed HVAC contractor inspect, clean and (if necessary) make improvements to your system.

These inspections aren't without cost, but fortunately there is a $30 EnergyWiseSM Cooling System Tune-Up incentive program available to homeowners this year who take that first step in preparing their cooling system for this summer's heat and humidity. End-use customers of NPPD and its wholesale electric utility partners are eligible to apply for this $30 incentive every three years. The incentive will help pay a share of the tune-up cost.

Maintenance should include:

- Clean Condenser Coil
- Check Indoor Coil
- Check Refrigerant Charge
- Check Belt/Lube Motor, if needed
- Blow Out Drain Line
- Discuss Proper Operation
- Perform Visual Inspection of System

• Filter Change Out Schedule

• Discuss/Review Proper Temperature Set-Back

To find out more:

If you are interested in knowing about the steps you need to take to schedule a heating and cooling system tune-up (improve your home's heating and cooling efficiency and get $30), contact your local public power utility. Lots of useful energy efficiency information is also available at nppd.com.

Your public power electric utility wants you to get the most energy value for your money. It costs far less to save energy than it does to build a new power plant to generate additional power.

When she's not busy reading her favorite books in braille, Maura, spends her free time playing both piano and violin. She plays by ear, utilizing her gift of perfect pitch. Imaginative by nature, she also loves writing her own short stories.

But the outdoors is also her playground and she can be found jumping on the family trampoline, swimming and camping with her brothers and sisters as well. "I think people should realize that blind kids are just like sighted kids. They like to run and play and do everything kids their age like to you," said her mother. "People don't have to be in awe of her abilities because she is just a normal kid. The only difference is that she can't see, but she doesn't want to be treated differently."

In this year's Braille Challenge®, Maura, along with 60 other blind students, ages 6 to 19, will compete in categories that will require them to transcribe, type and read braille using a device called a Perkins Braille. Each category is designed to test their braille skills in several areas—reading comprehension, braille spelling, chart and graph reading, proofreading and braille speed and accuracy. Every participant will receive a trophy for their efforts, but the first- through third-place winners in each age group also will receive a savings bond ranging in value from $500 for the youngest group to $5,000 for the oldest. In addition to these prizes, Freedom Scientific Corporation has donated the latest adaptive equipment for braille readers—a portable braille device called a PacMate—the world's first accessible pocket PC with a braille display.

Mod moved to become library

Above, one of the last mods was moved from the Wayne High School lot Friday. It was moved to Carroll to be used as a library and senior center/community hall. Originally there were eight mods which were bought when the Middle School was being remodeled (1996). Below, on the way to Carroll, a little help was needed. Alan Finn of Northeast Equipment, Inc. Wayne, hooked on and helped up the hills. Scott Sievers had helped too.

Juniors walk past Emerson 11-1

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne Juniors aided by 10 walks and a nine-run first inning, improved to 4-2 overall and 4-1 in league play after they defeated Emerson 11-1 in five innings at Hank Overin Field in Wayne on Friday.

For Wayne, the win came by way of the walk.

After retiring Emerson in the top of the first, Wayne used its half of the inning to repeatedly load the bases on walks, giving the Juniors the early 9-0 lead.

The score would remain the same until the top of the third when Emerson scored its first and only run of the game to cut Wayne's lead to eight at 9-1.

However, Emerson would get no closer as Wayne added two additional runs in the bottom of the fourth inning before settling for the 11-1 win.

The Juniors were led at the plate by Frank Bernal and Drew Loberg who finished with one hit and two RBI's each.

Pitcher Joey Lenihan (1-1) was tagged his first win of the season, allowing just one run on four hits with one walk while striking out four in four innings of work.

Wayne can next be seen in action on Friday, June 12 when they host Lyons in a 6 p.m. game at Hank Overin Field in Wayne.

Dirt Devils' wild ride ends in 4-3 win over West Point

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne 16-and-under girls' softball team held off a late two-run rally in the top of the seventh inning to escape with a narrow 4-3 win over West Point on Thursday evening in Wayne.

With the win, Wayne improved to 7-6 overall and 2-3 in league play. "We played great defense with few errors and we recovered quickly from those errors," Dirt Devil coach Ashley Belmer said.

"We kept our heads held high the whole game, and had lots of fun with it. We also got on the bats late in the game, but stayed on them until the end."

Going into the bottom of the fifth inning and with the score still standing at 0-0, Wayne drew first blood, scoring three runs to take a 3-0 lead.

However, West Point quickly banded the open wound in the top of the sixth with a lone run scored to cut the Dirt Devils' lead back down to two at 3-1.

In the bottom of the sixth inning Wayne scored its final run of the game to reclaim a sizeable 4-1 advantage going into the top of the seventh.

With Wayne leading 4-1 after six innings of play, West Point entered the seventh inning poised for a comeback which they half-heartedly fulfilled, scoring two runs before being dealt the 4-3 loss.

The Dirt Devils were led at the plate by third baseman Lindsay Frahm who finished with two hits and three RBI's while Megan Bessmer, Carissa Fehringer and Katelyn Mathes each added a hit in the win.

Defensively, Bayli Ellis was tagged with the pitching win, allowing two runs on eight hits with one walk while striking out eight in seven innings of work.

Winside Class of 1969 gathers

Marking its 40th anniversary as graduates from Winside Public School, the Class of 1969 gathered on May 22 at The Max in Wayne.

There were 18 classmates, plus spouses, in attendance. Decorations were provided by Peggy Eckert Krueger with assistance from Susan Hamm Seifken, Patricia Hoeman Brown and Glenda Morris McDonald. Everyone was on their own for their evening meal.

After the meal a special Memorial Tribute was held for classmates Thomas "Tom" Frederick Witt (1951-1984); Robert "Bob" Donn Wacker (1951-2004); James "Jimmy" Dean Jackson (1951-2006) and Lynne Adele Troutman Wacker (1951-2009). They were all members of the class from kindergarten through 12th grade. Other classmates from kindergarten through 12th grade include Beverly Gallop Neel, Denise Hansen Broders, Andrew Mann, Kathleen Pfeiffer Wacker, Phyllis Prince and Leon Trautwein. All but Denise were able to attend the gathering.

Special guests included past teachers Nancy Powers from Wayne and her son, as well as Candance Stubbs Johnson (Mrs. Donald) from Oakland. An "Ah Hah" Moments session was held where Susan Hamm Seifken and Patricia Hoeman Brown would provide two or three-word clues and wait for other classmates to relate the story behind the clues. There were many stories revealed this night that had one classmate wondering if she even was in the class as this was the first time a majority of these stories came to light. It was definitely a fun time.

Class officers present were President Leon Trautwein and Secretary Glenda Morris McDonald. Jimmy Jackson was the class treasurer and Robert "Bob" Farran was the class vice president.

Advance planning for the weekend involved making contact with

Project Extra Mile-Wayne Coalition meeting held

The Project Extra Mile-Wayne Coalition met recently at Journey Christian Church in Wayne. Guest speaker was Mark Vasina of the group, Nebraskans for Peace. Vasina spoke about the Battle for Whiteclay which deals with the ongoing issues in Whiteclay and the document detailing the extent of the problem.

Whiteclay's history has always been tied to that of the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation, which is on the South Dakota side of the border. When the boundaries of the Pine Ridge reservation were originally established, a 4-square-mile (10 km²) tract of land in Nebraska was included within the reservation, which included the Whiteclay community. In 1905, President Theodore Roosevelt signed an executive order that removed the Nebraska land from the reservation; the legality of this order has been disputed. Ever since, Whiteclay has been notable primarily for the vast quantities of alcohol sold to residents of the legally dry Pine Ridge reservation.

Discussion was held on policy matters including the 2009 Nebraska Legislative tracking sheet. The Nebraska Liquor Control Commission hearings are set for June 9 - 10. Also discussed were the CBS liquor ad policies. CBS has accepted alcohol ads. The group was urged to write letters to the TV station.

The group reviewed the Alcohol compliance checks that were conducted recently in Wayne. "The compliance checks resulted in only one violation which is good news," said Steve Shear, project coordinator, Project Extra Mile. "There were six violations during the first round of compliance checks 6 months earlier. I believe it speaks to the validity of compliance checks, the benefit of having the SADD students assisting us disseminating information to the retailers following the first round of compliance checks and the responsibility of local retailers."

The next meeting of the Project Extra Mile Youth Group will be on Tuesday, Aug. 11 at 6:30 p.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church. Summer Youth Leadership Training will be Sunday, June 28-30 at the Lutheran Church of the Master in Omaha. More information can be found at: www.projectextramile.org

The Nebraska CAN training June 4 at the LaVista Police Department was discussed. Alcohol awareness proclamations were read.

The next meeting of the Project Extra Mile - Wayne County Coalition will be Wednesday, June 10 at 1 p.m. at Journey Christian Church in Wayne.

the 28 surviving classmates for the graduating class of 32. Organizers heard from everyone and a general data form was returned and a Class of 1969 Reunion booklet was created. What made this booklet extra special was that family members of the deceased classmates were contacted and provided information on their loved ones to make the reunion whole. Booklets were prepared by Beverly Gallop Neel and Andrew Mann. All classmates received a copy, as did the families of the deceased members.

Several photo displays were available to view and reminisce. A new collection of current photographs was taken of the gathering as well as a group photo.

Classmates attending the evening events included Terry Davis (Jan), Oshkosh; Constance "Connie" Deck Behmer (Richard), Hoskins; Peggy Eckert Krueger (Robert), Wakefield; Beverly Gallop Neel (Robert), Wayne; Susan "Susie" Hamm Seifken (Richard), Wayne; Patricia Hoeman Brown, Waverly; Leon Husman (Cindy), Pilger; Lorence Johnson (Donna), Wakefield; Renee Langenberg Menard, Golden, Colo.; Linda Longe Mickel (Jack), Fremont; Andrew Mann (Sue), Norfolk; Glenda Morris McDonald (Patrick), Carroll; Kathleen "Kathy"

Holly Carr Mrsny of Norfolk came to the banquet and received a potted geranium for having worn the most red clothing.

Class President Leon Trautwein introduced all the classmates present. Additionally, President

Leon Trautwein presented $575 to the Winside School Scholarship Foundation as a tribute to the Class of 1969 deceased members. Classmates throughout the Friday/Saturday events donated the funds.

Classmates unable to attend any of the events included Betty Andersen Deck, Crawfordville Ind.; Ellen Andrews, Fremont; Patricia Ave Holmberg, Schuyler; Kevin Brockmoller, Yankton S.D.; Daniel Bruggeman, Hoskins; Sandra Coulter Helmer, Crofton; Robert Farran, Los Angeles Calif; Patricia Frevert Miller, Winside; and Denise Hansen Broders, Wayne.

Classmates doing the pre-event planning included Glenda Morris McDonald, Peggy Eckert Krueger, Patricia Hoeman Brown, Andrew Mann, Susan Hamm Seifken and Beverly Gallop Neel. Kathy and Keith Wacker took the memorial rose for each of the deceased classmates and placed them at their gravesites at Pleasant View Cemetery in Winside and took the rose for Jim Jackson to his widow, Julie Jackson, in Lincoln. By all measures the Class of 1969 Winside Public School was grateful for the opportunity to gather again and look forward to more frequent gatherings.

Buying, storing fresh produce

Susan Hansen, UNL Extension Educator in Colfax County

Whether you grow your own vegetables, buy them at the grocery store or shop at the local farmer's market, take proper care of the veggies for optimum freshness and value.

Vegetables taste best when freshly picked so if growing your own vegetables, pick only what you will use that day or that meal. Growing up on our family farm, one of my jobs was to go to the sweet corn patch about 11:00 to pick corn for the noon meal. If we had sweet corn for the evening meal (and we usually did if it was in season), fresh corn was picked just before that meal as well. Freshly picked vegetables also have the optimum amount of nutrients.

In most cases, commercially frozen vegetables retain more nutrients than commercially canned vegetables or some fresh produce in the stores. That doesn't mean that purchasing canned or fresh vegetables in a store is not a good idea, because all vegetables have value in the daily diet.

A person needs five servings of vegetables every day. Eat a variety of vegetables. A good way to remember this (and is fun for the kids) is to "Eat your colors." No, not the colors used with coloring books. Instead, choose vegetables in a variety of colors - white cauliflower, purple eggplant, green beans, orange carrots, red peppers. A variety of vegetables (as well as food in general) helps provide a variety of nutrients, including vitamins and minerals.

When growing or buying produce, select ones that do not have bruises or insect damage. Parts of the damaged vegetables may be salvageable, particularly if used right away.

Some fresh vegetables are best stored at room temperature while others are best in a refrigerator. Vegetables such as melons, onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and winter squash should be stored at room temperature in a clean, dry, well ventilated place away from direct sunlight. Do not store all the vegetables together. Potatoes and onion are delicious when cooked together but are best kept apart during storage to reduce spoilage. To reduce risk of decay, do not store the vegetables in plastic bags. All vegetables over time will either rot or dry up - you don't need to help the process.

Vegetables such as carrots, peppers, lettuce, and spinach should be stored in the refrigerator at 40 degrees F or lower. The crisper drawer in the refrigerator is a good place to store whole produce. Any vegetable that has been cut apart needs to be stored in the refrigerator to reduce risk of foodborne illness.

Remember to wash your hands before working with vegetables (or any food, for that matter). Wash the produce before you use the produce, NOT when you harvest or purchase the vegetables.

Fresh vegetables, no matter where you obtain them, are an important part of a healthy diet.

Attorney General Bruning hosts Internet Safety Conference in Lincoln; Wayne Law Enforcement attend

Nebraska Attorney General Jon Bruning said statewide education is critical in the fight against online predators at WEBSAFE, an Internet safety conference in Lincoln hosted by the Nebraska Department of Justice, the U.S. Attorney's Office and the Nebraska State Patrol.

"Sexual predators are on the Internet right now targeting kids," said Bruning. "Arming law enforcement with the latest tools to find and prosecute predators is critical in our fight to protect Nebraska's children."

Colonel Bryan Tuma, Superintendent of the Nebraska State Patrol said, "The Nebraska State Patrol is actively engaged in efforts to put Internet predators behind bars. Cooperative efforts with our federal, state and local partners both law enforcement and judicial, are vital as we work to stop those who use the Internet to harm our children."

WEBSAFE is meant to improve the response to Internet crimes in Nebraska. It's paid for by settlement funds from a 2005 agreement between the State of Nebraska and Yahoo! after an investigation by the Attorney General's Office. The settlement shutdown 70,000 user-created chat rooms, many had names suggesting sexual contact between children and adults.

Law Enforcement from Wayne attended WEBSAFE along with other law enforcement and officials from around the state. Presenters included representatives from the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, the Nebraska State Patrol, the Nebraska Attorney General's Office, the U.S. Attorney's Office and the LaVista Police Department.

Last week's WEBSAFE conference was the fifth one held in Nebraska over the last year. Previous locations were Scottsbluff, North Platte, Kearney, and Norfolk.

Protecting children from Internet predators has been a priority for the Attorney General's Office. The Legislature recently passed LB 97 which was part of the Attorney General's Legislative Package. The bill, sponsored by Sen. Scott Lautenbaugh, protects Nebraska's children from Internet sex predators and expands the crime of online enticement to include communications through electronic devices other than computers, like cell phones. The bill also makes it illegal for registered sex offenders who prey upon children to use social-networking sites.

and other information necessary to advise students and to make necessary curriculum changes to better prepare students. Each company had human resource personnel and other high ranking officials make presentations.

The company representatives stressed the importance of communication, working as a part of a team, group brain storming, creative thinking, flexibility, lifelong learning, being able to make presentations and possessing computer skills.

Those individuals and groups achieving Gold Level of Corporate Sponsorship ($450 and above) pose for a picture during this year's Relay For Life event at Wayne State College. This year's Relay raised more than $65,000 for the American Cancer Society.

25 Years of Hope

Cancer survivors, team members and the community gathered at the Wayne State College track on Friday for the 11 annual Wayne County Relay For Life. Twelve teams set up campsites, decorated using "the 1980's" as a theme. Throughout the evening funding raising activities took place. Among these were food provided by Northeast Nebraska Cattlemen and Pizza Hut, children's games and a Miss Relay Contest. Nearly 1,000 luminary bags surrounded the track and the names of both cancer survivors and those lost to the disease were read during the Luminaria Ceremony. Walkers were able to spend several hours circling the track. Due to impending bad weather, the event was cut short, but not before those involved raised more than $65,000.

Department deserves support

Dear Editor,

Recently, I was standing in line to pay for gas at Sinclair. An older man was at the counter buying a copy of the Wayne Herald when I noticed a picture on the front page of the house fire on Windom Street.

As I noticed this, the man was in conversation about the picture and made the statement "they probably had to take 10 trucks."

I didn't get a chance to ask about his statement before he left, so I do not know for sure if he was being "sincere" or "sarcastic." Let me respond to it publicly hoping that he and others will read it and understand what and why we do things the way we do.

If the statement was in regards to the severity of the fire, it could have been a lot worse and thankfully NO ONE was seriously injured.

How many fire trucks does it take to put out a fire?

First, I am a Proud member of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department and have served the community of Wayne for 15 years as a firefighter and 10 years as Rescue Captain. In those years, I have never been on a call where we had "too many" trucks respond to an EMERGENCY. And I would also bet anyone who has needed our help would say the same.

Second, how are we supposed to respond to those calls if we don't take all of those trucks? One thing that should be made clear first is that Wayne technically has two Fire Departments within one.

The City of Wayne (which has a total of seven Response vehicles. Of those, one is our very first hand-pulled pumper and one is our antique parade pumper #36, taking the number of active trucks to five) and Rural Fire District #2 (which also has five Response vehicles).

To start with, we have guidelines that we follow when we respond. The first guideline is what vehicles respond to what kind of emergency.

On this particular city structure fire, which did require water, we used Engine #32 as our primary pumper. Then we took Aerial #50 to also protect surrounding structures from burning. We also used Equipment Truck #60, which is actually a Rural Truck, Command Vehicle #10 and personnel Carrier #15 with an air cascade trailer. In this case, we used Engine #30 as a back-up pumper.

The total under of trucks we used was six. The total number of firefighters that can be carried on the trucks listed above is 30. We have 35 active firefighters in the department. Somehow, they have to get there.

I seriously hope that there is not an issue with how expensive it is to keep all those trucks going. Don't worry about how much it costs and the time that we spend to train so that we can protect and help in those emergency situations. WE DON'T and neither have those people who have needed us in the past 100+ years.

The City and Rural Departments share the expenses. Don't let public safety come down to an unneeded expense. Maybe someday YOU will need us. I hope not, but if you do, can you put a price on that?

I can safely say that the Fire Department thanks you - Wayne and the surrounding area - for all the support we have received and hopefully it will continue for many years to come.

Don Forney,
Wayne

Dealing with those on death row

By Ed Howard

Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association

Nebraska has adopted lethal injection for imposition of the death penalty.

Question: Since the state was without a means to kill them between February 8, 2008 and this year's legislative approval of lethal injection, might the 11 men on death row escape their court-ordered deaths?

Most of the condemned had been sentenced to die in the electric chair, but in February of 2008, the Nebraska Supreme Court declared that method of execution to be unconstitutional.

One of the legal issues centers on whether, in effect, their previous appointment with "the chair" can be converted to a date with "the needle."

What about anyone sentenced to die after the electric chair was declared unconstitutional, but before legislative approval of lethal injection? What about anyone sentenced before the law becomes effective in August?

Much of the public will fly into furious outrage if any of the 11 see their sentences commuted to life in prison.

The citizenry at large isn't interested in the specifics of any judicial analysis of the law and/or the constitution in such cases. The heart of their position is that the heart of the condemned inmates should be made to stop beating, and that's that. Next case.

The public is especially vocal when a court's ruling delays the execution, let alone spares the life, of one whose crime is especially horrific.

The murderer raising the legal argument referenced in this column is Raymond Mata Jr., regarded generally as monstrous, and the horrid quintessence of evil incarnate.

He murdered a 3-year-old boy, Mata dismembered the body and, among other horrific things, fed part of the child's remains to a dog.

It is easy to imagine the reaction if Mata's life were spared by any court, for any reason.

The view from here: Our emotions are understandable, but we don't have a much informed grasp of the law. The former is the most common reason for public outrage with the judiciary, particularly where especially heinous crimes are involved.

A court's interpretation of what the constitution means and requires, in a specific case or across the board, usually has to do with examining legal theory. It does not, or ought not, reflect popular sentiment on an individual case.

The Nebraska Supreme Court is supposed to have only one client: the constitution.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson,
City Administrator

City Council Meeting

The next regular City Council meeting will be held Tuesday, June 16 at 5:30 p.m. in the council room.

More Questions:

Why is my sewer bill so high?

In preparation for renovating our existing treatment plant or building a new one, the council increased rates in 2008 to begin building cash reserves for what will likely be a $6+ million project. We used a utility rate consultant to design a sewer rate that would begin raising $250,000 per year to build reserves. We bill the sewer usage on the basis of gallons of water used, so we had the rate consultant design a lower summer sewer rate based people irrigating lawns and a high winter rate based on actual usage. The lower summer rate months were proposed by the consultant to be from June 15 to Sept. 15 because that has been traditionally the peak irrigation months in Wayne. This year we are having a very dry spring and many property owners are watering gardens and lawns earlier than usual when the new higher winter sewer rates are still in effect.

What is the solution?

Since no one but us is going to pay for a new treatment plant, it is up to us to find the fairest way. Here are options than can be considered?

1) We can make the summer season rates another month longer for our lawn and garden irrigators. Since we still need to raise at least $250,000 per year for the project, that will mean a slightly higher rate in the winter months to raise the same amount of money.

2) We can combine the water and waste water department cash reserves to secure better interest rates on the bonds to build or renovate a new plant. We have recently paid off the 20 year water bonds used to build the well field out north of town. Those payments were $180,000 per year that we can now apply to the new waste water plant.

3) We can allocate $100,000 per year of the one percent sales tax capital projects revenue for the next 15 years.

4) We can bill out most of the cost of the new plant on the gallon usage portion of the sewer bills and not the monthly service portion so that the bigger users pay their share of the project.

The old treatment plant cost $24-million in 1987 and Wayne received a large federal grant to help pay for that. There are no large federal waste water grants now except for small communities. We have just finished paying off the 20 year bonds used to pay for our existing treatment plant built in 1987.

What's wrong with the existing plant?

1) When the 1987 Wayne treatment plant was built, the test requirements for our treated water going to Logan Creek weren't as restrictive because it was classified as an agricultural stream. Since that time, South Logan Creek has been reclassified as a seasonal recreational stream with higher standards for the 500,000 gallons per day of treated waste water we discharge into it. Our current plant was not designed to meet these new standards and we have had some violations of our discharge permit requirements. We have to double the capacity of our existing plant by rebuilding it or replacing it. NDEQ has given Wayne until August 2011 to complete this. All three of the lowest cost options we will be considering are each about $6 million.

2) The existing treatment plant was built with a 20 year life and the steel parts are showing a lot of deterioration from the gases off the waste water.

"How old are your kids?"

That simple question over lunch with a state official was the beginning of what has been one of the most interesting experiences of my lifetime. Content with my role as Mayor of South Sioux City, the thought of running for the Nebraska Legislature had never crossed my mind. Following what was a seemingly endless campaign and more than seven months after being elected to represent District 17, I am still in awe at the enormous responsibility of serving as your State Senator. It is a deeply humbling thought to know that the votes I cast on your behalf can have such an impact on our state.

Despite multiple meetings with veteran senators, nothing could have truly prepared me for the first week of session. Within hours of arriving in Lincoln, my new staff and I had been shuffled from the pristine office suite of former District 17 Senator Pat Engel to the floor of the Legislature to be sworn in, then down to a small table in the Judiciary Committee Hearing Room that served as our temporary office. It would be two days before we could begin moving into our permanent home across the hall and finally begin working on introducing my first legislation. Even now with session concluded, many of my office walls remain bare because there hasn't been time for something as simple as framing and hanging pictures.

No political body on Earth can compare to the quirks and nuances of Nebraska's one-house legislature. The unicameral system allows Democrats and Republicans to work side-by-side to tackle the tough issues of the day without the partisan bickering so often present in Washington, while at the same time opening up the legislative process to allow all Nebraskans the opportunity to have their say on the bills their representatives will be voting for. One lesson that I have learned is that something as simple as the date of a bill's public hearing can be the difference between getting that bill to the floor and having to wait until next year. Fortunately, my staff will have time over the next six months to prepare my bills for early introduction next year and to continue working on legislation introduced this year that still awaits action on the floor.

Perhaps the biggest change between local and state office has been the lobbying. As Mayor, the only people lobbying me were friends and neighbors who passed by on the street or who stopped by to visit with me at work. In the Legislature, I have to deal with high-powered lobbyists who work for special interest groups in Lincoln. I have been proud to have received hundreds of phone calls, letters, and e-mails from my constituents back in Northeast Nebraska to let me know their thoughts on legislation and even to give me new ideas for future bills.

Your feedback is greatly appreciated, and I hope that you will continue to contact me about the issues that are important to you.

While I feel that I have adjusted to the steep learning curve down in Lincoln, I definitely look forward to returning home to my friends and family, as well as my "day job" with Hy-Vee. Thankfully, I know that my office will be in good hands during my absence. My Administrative Assistant Bri McLarty and Legislative Aide Trevor Fitzgerald have been invaluable during my first session in the Capitol, and will continue to work on important issues over the interim. It has truly been an honor representing District 17 this year, and I hope that I can continue to serve you well.

Using safe microwave techniques helps prevent injury and illness

Microwave ovens cook food differently than other appliances, so safety precautions need to be applied.

Food needs to be cooked to at least 165 degrees Fahrenheit in a microwave oven.

Frozen foods, such as those bought from supermarkets, have specific directions that need to be followed. The directions usually state that food should sit for two minutes after being heated in a microwave oven. The food needs to sit because the food will continue to cook even though the microwave power is off.

Microwaves do not cook evenly. This is why they have a turn table inside. If a microwave doesn't have a turntable, the food needs to be stirred halfway through the process. If there isn't a turntable in the microwave, individual ones can be bought.

Meat should be thawed with the defrost setting on a microwave. Start with a small amount of time for defrosting and increase the time if the meat isn't thawed yet. Because food cooks unevenly in microwaves, some parts of the meat may be cooking while other parts are still frozen.

When defrosting is finished, immediately cook the meat. Anything that is only partially cooked has the ideal environment for the growth of microorganisms. When meat is bought from a store, divide it into serviceable portions first instead of freezing, thawing and splitting it up later.

Plastic wrap is the preferred method for covering foods in the microwave. However, don't wrap food too tightly, because plastic wrap can pop at high temperatures. Wrapping food loosely will prevent popping or explosions from happening. Plastic bags shouldn't be completely closed in a microwave because they could explode as well. Read labels on all wraps and bags to make sure they are microwave safe. Use equipment that is meant to be used in a microwave. Leftovers from restaurants often are put in plastic foam containers. These containers can melt in a microwave. Transfer food to a microwave-safe container for reheating. Dishes should say if they are microwave safe. To test if a dish is microwave safe, put water in it and microwave the water. If the dish transfers heat from the water, then it is not microwave safe.

The edges and thickness of food will affect the evenness of cooking. Food with uneven thickness and jagged edges will have uneven cooking. Round food with consistent thickness will cook better.

Foods with liquid and sugars will become hotter in the center than the outside. If baby bottles or baby food jars are microwaved, shake them well and test their temperatures before feeding them to a baby. Liquids such as coffee with sugar and foods such as jelly donuts will be very hot. The sugar holds heat extremely well.

The fairest fat of all - take control of your diabetes

First it was low fat, then zero trans-fat and now the push is toward monounsaturated fatty acids (MUFAs). Absolutely, there is confusion over fats. There is general agreement that about 30 percent of total calories should come from fat.

for Life" where the June 24 session will focus on "On the Go" Diabetes Self Management.

The message is loud and clear that saturated fats, cholesterol, and trans-fats need to be avoided. These are the three things that contribute to heart disease, which is the number one killer of men and women. When one is diagnosed with diabetes, their chances of heart disease also increase.

Set a goal to take control of your diabetes. Aim for lower blood glucose levels to feel better now and stay healthy for years to come. Wednesday, June 24, topics that will be addressed during the two-hour program include What to Expect When You Are in the Hospital, Fairest Fats of All, Is Your Pantry Experiencing Sticker Shock, and Eating on the Go.

Learning about fats in the diet and how to make wise choices related to fats is very important. Learn more about fats, what better fats are and how to make wise food selections for a healthy diabetes appropriate diet during the summer session of Control Diabetes for Life. Learn new strategies by attending "Take Control of Diabetes

Team-teaching the program will be Phyllis Heimann, R.N. and Certified Diabetes Educator; Stacie Petersen, R.N. and Certified Diabetes Educator; Mary Clare Stalp, R.D., of Franciscan Care Services; "in West Point" and Debra Schroeder, UNL Extension Educator in Cuming County.

Control Diabetes for Life will be held Wednesday, June 24, from 1:30-4 p.m. at Wayne County Courthouse.

"Control Diabetes for Life" is a joint project of University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension, and Franciscan Care Services of West Point. The program is offered free-of-charge. "Control Diabetes for Life" will help participants learn to control diabetes and prolong the onset of complications from the disease.

Participants are asked to pre-register for "Control Diabetes for Life" by calling Wayne County Extension office at 402-375-3310. Please register by Monday, June 22, so the proper number of handouts may be prepared. Nebraska School Food Service Association has approved this session for two hours of continuing education credits.

Noxious weed tour set

Dixon County is the site of this year's no-fee Noxious Weed Tour on Wednesday, June 17. Registration and refreshments are in the Newcastle Fire Hall from 8:30-9:30 a.m. Tour highlights include stops at herbicide plots that were established in 2000 on Leafy Spurge and Canada thistle. Biocontrol insects have also been released on Leafy Spurge at this site.

An RSVP is requested to ensure there's enough food for everyone to 402-635-2129 or via email to dixoncoweed@nntc.net by Monday, June 15.

Thanks to several willing landowners this tour is possible at these plots. They've been glad to assist others interested in learning more about the most effective controls for these noxious and invasive weeds. The tour is sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Weed Management Area and Dixon County Weed Control.

Tree activities consume week

I've just completed a mile around our neighborhood and I can happily report that the trees, grass, and flowers are all looking very good! The inch and a half of welcome rain this weekend has helped a lot.

The Big Farmer has a snazzy new rain gauge, a Christmas present. It is attached to a railing on the deck, has a collection bowl, and a digital reading inside, next to his recliner! This is his kind of gadget, and meshes nicely with the thermometer that reads in and out temperatures.

He's also in his element with the new bushes that were planted last week. I know it's hard to believe, but he has not planted one thing since moving here four years ago. And by the way, all those spruce trees out at the acreage at Murdock are looking great.

I had been looking at the sick looking little evergreen at the west end of the patio fence and thinking it needed to go. Since lilacs are among my favorites, and since I'm looking for things that do not need trimming, I decided that's what would go there instead.

First, we had a "designer" from a landscaping company come and give us an estimate. We also had a tree west of the house that had one dead trunk that needed to be cut out. After she left, we guessed what the estimate would be: I said $1000 and Mike thought maybe $300. Well, it was a total of the two! $1300.

By: Pat Meierhenry

No way was that going to happen! First, Monte came with a chain saw and got rid of the dead trunk. Cost: one lasagna lunch. Oh, and he cut off the evergreen, too. Then, Alex and Thomas arrived and picked up rocks and cut off the limbs of that trunk.

Finally, Thomas came back last week and dug three holes for three lilac bushes. Of course, he ran into roots and he worked hard, but he got all three bushes in the ground before he had to leave to go to his school and lift weights! (?)

Then, our resident planting expert had me cover one of the hedge bushes that was transplanted so the hot sun didn't kill it and had me carrying buckets of water to all the plantings. Thank heaven, the rains came! Hopefully, next spring, I will have blooms.

We had a huge old-fashioned bush on the farm, right in the front yard. We tried to start some at the acreage but did not have any luck.

Also, on the farm, in the back yard, was a clothes line. And there was one at the Farm House. But there isn't one here. And this week, would you believe, is International Clothesline Week! Using a clothesline conserves energy, and the sheets all smell better. Besides, we won't have to empty the lint tray! Happy Clothesline Week!

Ensure good survival in new conservation tree plantings

We have received a lot of calls this spring on trees not leafing out, or dead from winter kill. This year seems to be a bit worse than most others, and many different species of trees have been affected.

Most problems have been blamed on late freezes or cold weather during bud expansion, but sometimes we don't have a very good explanation for what happens. Unfortunately, there is very little that can be done. If there is green tissue remaining the tree may leaf out late or survive. An important consideration when buying a tree is to determine whether it is adapted for the winters here in northern Nebraska. Always check to see how hardy your tree is before you buy.

Forester Dennis Adams provides some tips for helping ensure survival in conservation tree plantings that are good for homeowners, as well.

Each spring over 1 million tree and shrub seedlings are planted in Nebraska for protection, beauty, and wildlife habitat, lumber, watershed protection and other conservation purposes. All conservation plantings require considerable care to ensure good growth and survival. Taking care of your trees should begin early - when you receive the seedlings.

Immediately check the roots for moisture. If the roots appear dry, wet them down and keep moist until planted. It is best to plant the seedlings the same day they are received. But if it becomes necessary to hold seedlings for several days, they should be placed in the coolest place available, out of the sun, and kept moist. Never allow the roots to become dry or hot, as this will greatly reduce the chances for survival.

During the planting operation the roots must be kept moist at all times. Carry the seedlings in containers partly filled with water and covered with moist burlap. Plant the seedlings the same depth they grew in the nursery. Planting too shallow or too deep may result in poor survival. Make sure the seedlings are planted firm and straight (without doubling the roots) and the soil is well packed.

After planting, treat trees as you would any other crop. Help them in their fight for survival against drought, weeds, disease and pests by giving them the best care and protection. Visit your tree planting often the year round, to determine any attention it may need.

Protect your tree planting from animals, insects and disease. Animals may cause severe injury to trees. Soil compaction around roots, browsing, debarking and trampling by large animals is some of the damages from which your trees will need protection. The only remedy for this kind of damage is to build and maintain a fence to keep all large animals out of the planting.

Rabbits, mice and other rodents may cause severe damage to young trees, usually during the fall and winter months when other food sources are scarce. Debarking, girdling and even chewing-off the tops of some seedlings by rabbits is possible.

Trees can be protected by a guard made from hardware cloth encircling the stem and extending 12 inches above the highest snowfall. Homemade or commercial repellants and poisons are available. Mice will usually cause little damage if trash and debris is removed from the base of the tree, where they congregate and breed. If insect or disease problems are suspected or if your trees lack vigor and color, contact an extension specialist to diagnose and recommend treatment.

Young trees and shrubs should be relatively free from weed competition for several years until they have reached a growth that will partially shade out grass and weed growth. By this time the tree root system will be established and developed to a degree that competition from weeds will be less of a problem. Remember, the time spent protecting and maintaining your planting will pay substantial returns in comfort, protection and beauty.

Several area 4-Hers received awards at the Northeast Regional 4-H Public Speaking Contest held on June 2, at the Northeast Community College Agricultural Complex, in Norfolk, Nebraska.

Eighty-one youth from 26 counties throughout the state competed in their respective age division in the 2009 Regional 4-H Speech competition. Additionally, 45 contestants from 15 counties from the northeast district competed in their respective age division in the 2009 Regional 4-H Public Service Announcement (PSA) competition.

Contestants earn the opportunity to participate in regional competition by winning their age division at the county level. Contestants may compete in one or both categories.

In the Junior division (11 years of age and younger), Intermediate division (12 to 13 years of age), and Senior division (14 to 19 years of age), speakers are required to prepare an original speech incorporating some aspect of 4-H in the content. The second category included 4-H members from those age groups recording a 60-second PSA promoting 4-H.

Contestants were awarded purple, blue, or red awards in recognition of their accomplishments in speech or PSA; in addition, the top four individuals in each division received medals. The four winners of the senior division speech and PSA competition are given the opportunity to compete for awards at the State 4-H Public Speaking Contest to be held in Lincoln on Sept. 5 during the Nebraska State Fair. All youth competing in state competition and staying for awards will receive special awards. The top two speech and PSA winners in State 4-H Public Speaking Contest receive scholarships.

Wayne County Results are:
Junior Division Public Speaking:
Sylvia Jager, Wayne - Purple;
Anna Loberg, Wayne - Blue.

Intermediate Division Public Speaking:

Emma Loberg, Wayne - Purple
Public speaking is a communication skill with many career possibilities. Present 4-H members and 4-H Alumni have identified communication skills as some of the most important life skills gained through their 4-H experience. The Nebraska State 4-H communications program is sponsored by the Nebraska Rural Radio Network, which includes KRVN, KNEB, and KTIC.

The Northeast Regional contest is conducted by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension 4-H with support from Northeast Community College.

Makin' Money Camp held

Twenty-three 5th through 8th graders had a great time learning how to be successful entrepreneurs. They came from Creighton, Brunswick, Bloomfield, Elgin, Neligh, and Oakdale to take part in this two-day Makin' Money Camp.

Participants had fun while learning how to develop a business plan, borrow money from a banker, and create their billboard ads. They made business cards and wrote radio commercials which were turned into professional ads by 94 Rock. Each camper created a product - gourd birdhouses, homemade breads, or wooden toys which they sold to the Neligh Chamber of Commerce and citizens who became the customers at the Camp Marketplace.

After selling their wares they heard from Jim Blackburn of Blackburn Mfg. and toured three entrepreneurial businesses - Custom Sports, Hilltop Drug and Smeal Fire Apparatus Co. The owners were very open with the kids and stressed the importance of customer service, and that it takes lots of work and long hours to make a business a success.

The Camp was held June 4 and 5 at the Fountain Café in Neligh. It was funded in part by a grant from The Connie Fund Foundation.

Other partners were the Northeast and the Antelope County Resource Nebraska RC&D, UNL Extension, Center.

Hearing set for Nebraska community college study

The Nebraska Legislature recently passed LB340 directing the Nebraska Coordinating Commission for Postsecondary Education (CCPE) to work with the community colleges to explore the role and mission of the state's community colleges, the weighting of courses for reimbursement purposes, the role of the Nebraska Community College Association or a similar entity, membership in such an entity and coordination in the absence of such an entity. The CCPE is to report its findings to the Legislature on or before Dec. 15, 2009.

The CCPE will hold a hearing to receive public testimony regarding the study of Nebraska's community college system as mandated by Neb. Laws 2009, LB340, on Thursday, June 18, at 1:30 p.m. The hearing will be held at the Nebraska State Capitol, Room 1524, Lincoln. All interested persons are invited to attend and testify at the hearing. Interested persons may also submit written comments prior to the hearing on the commission at 140 N. 8th St., Ste. 300, Lincoln, Neb. 68508, or email neccstudy@gmail.com.

Randy Schmailzl, MCC interim president, said the study's findings are critical to the future of community colleges in Nebraska. "This study will help assure community colleges are best positioned to serve Nebraska. It provides an opportunity to align statewide coordination efforts and the funding formula with State statutes regarding intent and purpose. These statutes wisely recognize that what makes community colleges uniquely valuable are the qualities of local focus, local control and local funding. This local nature allows services to be tailored to the needs of each service area and provides accountability that encourages the responsible use of resources."

Dear Friends & Family,
 Words can never be enough to thank you for all the love and support you have given us in the loss of our loved one Gene Rethwisch. He was a great husband, father, grandfather and brother. The food, visits, phone calls, flowers, memorials and words of comfort meant the world to us. Thank you for all the get well cards Gene received before his death. He appreciated them all so much when he was trying so hard to get well. Thanks to Pastor Doyle Burbank-Williams for his service and Mary Claussen for the music. Thanks to Dr. Martin and everyone at Providence Medical Center who took care of him.
 Thanks also to Mercy Medical and the June E Nylan Cancer Center in Sioux City for their care and support. A special thanks to the Carroll Methodist Church ladies for preparing and serving the lunch and Scott Hasemann and staff at Hasemann Funeral Home for all their help and kindness. Gene was a good guy who liked to have fun with his family and friends, and he especially enjoyed his grandchildren and he loved us all. We will miss him so, but he will be in our hearts and memories forever.

CITY OF WAYNE, NEBRASKA

ORDINANCE NO. 2009-11

AN ORDINANCE CREATING PUBLIC UTILITY WATER SERVICE DISTRICT NO. 2009-01 OF THE CITY OF WAYNE, NEBRASKA; ESTABLISHING THE PROPERTIES CONTAINED WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE SAID DISTRICT; DESIGNATING THE SIZE, LOCATION AND TERMINAL POINTS OF WATER MAINS WITHIN SAID DISTRICT; AND REFERRING TO PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS AND COST ESTIMATES AS PREPARED BY THE ENGINEER IN CONNECTION THEREWITH AND ON FILE WITH THE CITY CLERK.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE Mayor AND CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WAYNE, NEBRASKA:

Section 1. The Mayor and Council of the City of Wayne, Nebraska, hereby find and determine that it is necessary and advisable to construct improvements to the existing municipal water system consisting of expanding, improving and installing water mains and related improvements to expand, enlarge, and otherwise upgrade certain portions of the City's existing system of water service lines and mains, and for that purpose there is hereby created Public Utility Water Service District No. 2009-01 of the City of Wayne, pursuant to Sections 18-401 through 18-406, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1997, as amended.

Section 2. The outer boundaries of Public Utility Water Service District No. 2009-01 shall consist of a tract of land located in Wayne County, Nebraska, outside of the City's corporate limits but within the City's utility service areas and within the City's jurisdictional limits, being specifically described as follows:

The boundaries of the project area consist of a tract of land located in Wayne County, Nebraska, including property located in Section 1, Township 26 North, Range 3 East, in Wayne County Nebraska including the following lots, tracts or parcels located in Muhs Acres development tract: Block 1, lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19; Block 2, lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 12, and 13; and Tax Parcel No. 27 in Section 1, Township 26, Range 3 East, Wayne County, Nebraska.

together with County Road West 21st Street right-of-way immediately adjacent to the south of the aforesaid described blocks, lots and parcels.

Within said Public Utility Water Service District No. 2009-01, water mains and water distribution improvements together with control systems, and other necessary and appurtenant improvements shall be constructed for the purpose of improving, enlarging and expanding the existing water system. The size, location and terminal points of the water mains, water distribution lines and related improvements located both within and without the bounds of said District shall consist of the following:

Phase I Improvements (Transmission Lines) - located within or without the bounds of said District:
Phase I improvements shall consist of transmission lines, interconnections and control equipment linking the existing water house located on the north side of the Wayne County Road known as West 21st Street, including construction of a 12 inch water transmission line beginning at the existing water house and terminating with a connection to the distribution mains to be located in Public Utilities Water Service District No. 2009-01 at its intersection with Highway Drive in Muhs Acres. Phase I improvements shall be constructed at the cost and expense of the Wayne Water Utilities System utilizing existing rights-of-way for the placement of the utility improvements in Wayne County roadway easements and rights-of-ways. Wayne Water Utilities System shall acquire necessary construction easements and pay the cost of such easements.

Phase II Improvements (Distribution Lines) - located wholly within the bounds of said District:
Phase II improvements shall consist of all improvements to be constructed within Public Utility Water Service District 2009-01, including 8 inch distribution mains, connection taps, meters, control devices, fire hydrants, and all other necessary appurtenant improvements. Said Phase II improvements shall be made at public cost but such cost together with a portion of the costs of transmission mains and related improvements shall be assessed against benefiting properties within the said District as shall be determined by the Mayor and City Council after completion of project improvements.

Section 3. Reference is hereby made to the plans and specifications for said sanitary sewer extensions, which have been prepared by Olson & Associates, special engineers for the City, and which, together with said engineers' estimate of the total cost for the proposed sanitary sewer extensions, have heretofore been filed with the City Clerk.

Section 4. The engineers' estimate of total cost for the proposed improvements in said District including engineering and miscellaneous costs is:

Total Estimated Cost $147,000
Section 5. The Mayor and Council hereby find and determine that the properties located within said District are presently served by the City's existing system of water service and that said District constitutes an area of land located outside of the corporate limits of the City but all of the property in said District is located within two miles of the corporate limits of the City of Wayne, Nebraska and within the City's jurisdictional territory and within the water service area of the City as such service area is now presently existing, that the City has authority to construct said improvements and the City shall levy special assessments for the cost of the improvements within the area included in the said District as provided by law, which assessments shall be recorded and become a lien on the property so assessed as provided by law.

Section 6. Objections to the creation of the District may be filed by property owners subject to the levy of special assessments on the basis of linear front footage of property abutting on the front lot line, there being no right of objection based on side lot line abutting a water line, and further based on (but not limited to) these findings:

Upon construction of the improvements, special assessments shall be levied on the basis of abutting front footage on front lot lines only - no special benefits shall be determined to accrue based on side lot lines abutting properties, provided however, that if a property is provided water service from a side yard abutting only, then such side yard abutting footage shall be subject to special assessment and no front yard assessment shall be levied. The basis for the levy of special assessments shall be that of the same basis on which objections to the creation of the District are founded.

The construction of the improvements is based in large measure on the availability of Federal Stimulus monies currently found to be available which monies are subject to terms of the Stimulus Funding program, current program conditions finding that 25% of costs shall consist of a forgivable zero percent interest rate loan and 75% of costs shall consist of a 3% per annum loan. Such Stimulus Funds encourage the construction of the improvement to the benefit of owners of abutting property within the District—in the event that Stimulus Funding should become not available or the program terms changed from current interpretations and approvals, then special assessments shall be amended at the time of levy of special assessments to enable the City to recover project costs anticipated to be funded by Stimulus monies from upward adjustments to the special assessments levied against benefiting properties—provided further that benefits levied shall in no case exceed the project cost incurred by the City for construction of the said improvements.

WAYNE COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska June 2, 2009
The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, June 2, 2009 in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse.
Roll call was answered by Chairman Rabe, Members Wurdeman and Burbach, and Clerk Finn.

Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on May 21, 2009.
A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.
The agenda was approved.
The minutes of the May 19, 2009, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record.

The Nebraska Historical Society was removed from the agenda as the recommendations had not arrived. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to approve the amended agenda. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.
City of Wayne representatives Lowell Johnson and Lee Wrede appeared on a fact-finding trip regarding the creation of a Mutual Finance Organization (MFO) for rural fire districts. The Mutual Finance Act provides state aid to rural fire protection districts and MFO's for operational and equipment needs. An agreement is created that requires all members of the MFO to levy the same property tax rate within their boundaries. The amount of state aid is unknown, the impact would depend on the membership of the MFO, and if the funds were used to maintain or increase current budgets.

Auditor Harlan Aevermann pointed out that the board is responsible for the audit report and presented management letters of representation for signatures. Aevermann recommended methods of implementing better internal control of fuel usage. The board was encouraged to consider reporting commuting when using county pickups.
As per Cuming County, papers are being prepared to withdraw from the emergency management interlocal agreement. Interim emergency management director LeRoy Janssen recommended the board re-appoint Nick Kemnitz as a deputy emergency manager. Kemnitz has previously served in this capacity, has attended basic academy and is state certified. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to appoint Kemnitz deputy emergency manager with expense reimbursement.

Janssen also noted that the county's appointment to the North East Planning, Exercise, Training (PET) and Interoperable Communications Region needed to be updated, and recommended that the board make the appointment by position rather than by name. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach that the Wayne County Emergency Manager, and in his/her absence the Deputy Wayne County Emergency Manager, be appointed to the group known as the North East PET & Interoperable Communications Region to fulfill all duties as required by the regional group. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.
An application for a special designated liquor license submitted by Wayne County Ag Society for the sale and consumption of beer and wine in the beer garden area during the county fair, July 30 - August 2, 2009 was reviewed. The application included a request for waiver of fencing for the consumption beer garden. After discussing the application, a motion was made by Burbach, seconded by Wurdeman to approve the application subject to fencing of the consumption area. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.

An application for a special designated liquor license submitted by Wayne County Ag Society for the sale and consumption of beer and wine in the consumption area during the tractor pull on July 30 and the demolition derby county fair on August 2, 2009 was reviewed. The application included a request for waiver of fencing for the consumption beer garden area. After discussing the application, a motion was made by Burbach, seconded by Wurdeman to approve the application subject to fencing of the consumption area. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.
Bids received for fire-resistance double-wall above ground storage tanks, fuel pumps, and installations were reviewed. Motion by Wurdeman second by Burbach to accept the bids submitted by Stanley Petroleum Maintenance Inc. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried. Additional information on site preparation and location of dispensers and meters will be sought.

City of Wayne representatives Lowell Johnson and Lee Wrede appeared on a fact-finding trip regarding the creation of a Mutual Finance Organization (MFO) for rural fire districts.
