Flag Day observance

A Flag Day program was part of the city of Wayne's Q-125 observance. Those on hand at the Senior Center on June 14 learned the proper procedure for folding the flag and the significance of each fold (above) from the Wayne Consolidated Veterans. Members of the Norfolk Elks Lodge also presented a history of various flags used in the U.S. throughout its history, (below, left). Featured speaker for the afternoon was Mark Ahmann, Past Nebraska American Legion P.R. Officer.

Winside Biology students tour Blackhills and western Nebraska

Eighteen Winside students, Emily Backstrom, Seth Mangels, Kalin Koch, Jordan Nelson, Jordan Jaeger, Jordyn Roberts, Paul Hansen, Peter Hansen, Kyle Skokan, Kyle Mundil, Hope Voss, Carly Anderson, Sara Pfeifer, Gene Weible III, Kati Watkins, Cassie Mrsny, Aleisha Weinrich, and Brad Doffin along with instructors Paul Sok and Mark Koch recently completed a five day tour out west.

The group departed Winside High School on June 8 at 4:30 in the morning in the school vans. First stop for the day was at a historic sodhouse, homestead outside of the Badlands. The group had a chance to view the internal dwelling, farm buildings and some white prairie dogs native to the area. The homestead was developed by three families from Pierce County in the late 1800's.

Next, the group entered the Badlands National Monument near Interior, S.D. They had a chance to hike around and take pictures of the scenic, eroded landscape and view some of the native wildlife before heading off to Rapid City. Shortly after arriving in Rapid City, the students were engaged in a film presentation and self guided tour of the Journey Center. This offered them an historical outlook of the Blackhills region.

At the next stop, the group toured the Blackhills School of Mines geology museum to view various fossils and crystals along with having the opportunity to see replicas of the worlds largest gold nuggets and a number of fluorescent mineral displays. The afternoon was completed with a trip to the world famous Reptile Gardens south of Rapid City where the students viewed a number of exhibits and were able to take in the Raptor and Snake Shows.

The evening of the first day found the group visiting the Blackhills Institute of Geological Research in Hill City. They had the opportunity to view several examples of T. rex fossils. The museum owners (brothers Neal and Pete Larson) are world famous for their discovery of the near complete T. rex fossils "Sue and Stan" in the early 90's. The students were fortunate to have Neal

Local Red Cross chapter is in need of assistance

In an instant, a disaster can change the well-being of an entire community. The American Red Cross has always been there to provide shelter, food, counseling and other critical services when disaster strikes. The Northeast Nebraska Chapter is in need of funds to meet their year-end budget by June 30. They hope you can stand with them in helping our community by making a contribution to the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross provides shelter, food, physical and mental health services, and bulk distribution of emergency supplies. Because emergency needs can not wait, their disaster relief funds ensure that relief services are available immediately when they are needed. Even in tough economic times, Americans reach out to their neighbors in need through the American Red Cross.

The cost of disaster preparedness and response for the Northeast Nebraska

Chapter this past year has been a record high, costing the chapter over $15,000. This has put a tremendous strain on Red Cross financial resources. At the same time they are responding to a record number of disasters, the entire country has been hit by an "economic storm" of its own!

According to Director Lori Carollo, "This is the first year since I started with the Red Cross 10 years ago that donations have not covered our expenses. We know this is a tough economic time for many people - but it is also a critical time for our chapter. We sincerely ask anyone who is able to please consider making a donation to the Northeast Nebraska Chapter of the Red Cross to help us meet our expenses as we near our year end on June 30."

Carollo continued, "We have cut expenses where possible and increased fundraising efforts. People have been responding very positively, but we still need to raise about $2,500 - $3,000 more! The American Red Cross has always been there at each and every disaster because our community expects us to be there and because they have always supported us. But we need their help now more than ever!"

The local Red Cross Board of Directors and staff are dedicated to ensure the Red Cross is ready to provide comfort and care to many disaster victims each year, right here in Northeast Nebraska! Help change a life... starting with your own! All Red Cross disaster assistance is free, made possible by voluntary donations of time and money from the American people. The American Red Cross receives no funding from any local, state or federal government agencies.

For more information or to make a donation, call the chapter at 375-5209 or donations can be mailed to 106 W. 3rd, PO Box 94, Wayne, NE 68787.

NSCS board to approve tuition rates for Chadron, Peru, Wayne State Colleges

The Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State College System (NSCS) will set tuition rates for Chadron, Peru and Wayne State College at its regular meeting, June 19.

If approved by the Board Friday, undergraduate resident students will pay $122.50 per credit hour, up six dollars from last year. This increase will translate to an additional $90 per semester for undergraduate students taking a full load of 15 hours. Tuition for graduate students will be $155.50 per credit hour. Non-resident undergraduates will pay $245 per credit hour and non-resident graduate students will pay $311 per credit hour.

In response to current economic challenges, NSCS Chancellor Stan Carpenter, along with the college presidents, began budget planning sessions in October 2008. This also coincided with salary negotiations for unionized staff for the next biennium.

Carpenter said, "Our budget process in the Nebraska State College System was strategic, collaborative and inclusive. Systemically, we worked through many different and difficult scenarios, taking into consideration operations, programs, positions and more to find the best way to cut nearly three million from our budget for next year (2009-2010). We remained within the framework of our state appropriation while working to assure the viability and vitality of our colleges without having our students bear the brunt of the difficult economic times."

The NSCS will receive an increase in state appropriation for operations of 1.5 percent for each year of the biennium. "We are appreciative of Governor Dave Heineman and the Legislature's support of the Nebraska State College System during these tough economic times."

In February, the NSCS Board approved an Agreement with Nebraska Association of Public Employees (NAPE) support staff employees that resulted in an overall increase to the salary pool of 3.3 percent and 3.2 respectively over the two years of the biennium. A Special Master ruling resulted in a 3.5 percent salary increase for Nebraska State Colleges Professional Association (NSCPA) professional staff in each year of the biennium. Faculty in the State College Education Association (SCEA) are seeking an 11 percent raise over the next two years and Special Master ruled in their favor in February. The NSCS appealed the ruling in March and is awaiting a ruling from the Commission of Industrial Relations sometime this summer.

All NSCS non-faculty employees making over $75,000 annually will receive no salary increase this year. Chair of the Fiscal and Facilities Committee Larry Teahon of Chadron said, "The Board is very appreciative of the sacrifice these employees are making on behalf of our students."

Carpenter said, "The current economy has been a challenge for many people, including our prospective students and their families. Because the Nebraska State College System mission is to provide access to high quality higher education, we felt it was important to offer our students some new tuition assistance opportunities at Chadron, Peru and Wayne State this fall. The NSCS Advantage assures that Pell-eligible freshmen will not have to pay any tuition at all. Chadron, Peru and Wayne State are also participating in the Yellow Ribbon GI Program at a level which

Marsh entertains many with 'Music of the Plains'

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

In celebration of Wayne's Q-125, "Music of the Plains," a Nebraska Humanities Council program co-sponsored by the Wayne Senior Center and the Wayne Public Library, was held at the senior center Tuesday night. The event featured David Marsh of Denton who entertained a crowd with his talent and humor. Marsh can play many different types of instruments and sing. He is also a story teller.

Marsh noted our country is a melting pot of culture which mingled into the many different types of music we have today. He added that the settlers lives were hard and for entertainment they played whatever they had including spoons and animal bones, which he used to play several tunes. Some of the instruments he played were ancient. He played some polkas on a hammered dulcimer, which originated in the Middle East and is a grandmother instrument to the piano. He also played an auto harp. Each instrument made different sounds that he has mastered into many different songs. He remarked how many instruments there are from over a century ago that people have and don't know they are or how to play them.

Marsh discussed Opera Houses and why many towns along the railroad had them. He noted Vaudeville shows traveled along the railroad line performing in each Opera House.

The crowd enjoyed the many old-time songs and sing-a-longs. The banjo was among the instruments Marsh played. He gave a brief history of the banjo and noted it came from Africa. He played a couple of songs by Steven Foster, an American who loved banjo music. Marsh discussed some dances that were created to be performed to various tunes and instruments.

Marsh has the ability to take inexpensive instruments and play rich-sounding melodies. An example is the Celtic songs he played on a tin whistle. He added a little history on the Celtic people who settled in Ireland, Spain and France.

Occasionally, he strayed from playing music of the plains by adding instruments

Wayne County Fair Board members and volunteers have been busy at the fairgrounds in Wayne once again preparing for the Wayne County Fair, July 30 - Aug. 2. Each Monday evening, there is activity at the fairgrounds which includes remodeling work in some of the buildings.

Some of the remodeling includes the 4-H building bathrooms, which are being made handicap accessible. The 4-H building was built in the 1950s. New toilets were put in recently and other remodeling has been done after the high winds that tore up the fairgrounds a few years ago.

Fair board members and other volunteers are working daily on the 4-H building and will log at least 200 hours to complete the project. Donations for the project have included half proceeds from the Knights of Columbus Tootsie Roll Drive, Otte Construction donated the jack hammer, United Rental of Norfolk donated the sod cutter, private donations and some small grants.

Some of the work being done in the 4-H building includes knocking out cement floors in both the mens and womens bathrooms, retying into the sewer and water lines, adding new plumbing, stalls, handicap accessible toilets, adding new sinks, repouring the floors with new cement while improving any wheelchair access through the doorways. New outside doors will be painted green and new screen doors will be added.

The Wayne County Fair Board notes any volunteer help on Monday nights would be appreciated.

Commissioners approve vacating portion of Childs Avenue in Logan Precinct

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session Tuesday. The commissioners discussed and took action on vacating a portion of Childs Avenue that runs east and west in Section 10, Logan Precinct. Sharon Anderson and her son, Todd, spoke and noted she has property there. They were concerned about accessing it. Commissioner Kelvin Wurdeman assured them that the county is maintaining rights and they will get an easement.

Wurdeman made a motion to vacate the east part of Childs Avenue as long as they can get an easement from Louis Allison to use the creek line. Commissioner Dean Burbach seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Burbach made a motion to approve placement of utility line in a county road right of way by Pierce Telephone Company on 560th Avenue. Wurdeman seconded the motion which passed unanimously. LeRoy Janssen, Wayne County Sheriff, gave an emergency manager update. He noted both he and Nick Kemnitz passed both 300 and 400 level NIMS training in Lincoln recently. He asked the commissioners what their plans were for the emergency manager position. The commissioners noted they are undecided at this time.

The commissioners listened to Wayne County Library Association annual reports and 2009-10 budget requests. Both Winside and Wayne librarians noted the funds they receive from the county are put to good use. Some of the things the funds have helped with include: Winside: purchasing prizes for AR readers; Wayne: large print books, audio books, conversion project of putting Wayne Herald issues on CDs. It was noted the Wayne library is getting more patrons from the county from outside Wayne.

Mark Tietz spoke on behalf of the Carroll Library Board. He thanked the commissioners for the funds they receive and noted they could use more since they have moved a mod to Carroll to use as a library. He noted they are in need of a computer and added they hope to be moved into the new library before winter.

Layne Beza and Dennis Otte were present. Beza gave an update on the Veterans Memorial project. He noted they want the memorial presentable for the Chicken Show July 11 but weather has not been cooperating. Sod and dirt work were discussed as well as flag and light poles, all of which are or soon will be in progress to be finished and installed. Beza noted there are signs of the project in the banks and a vinyl sign will be put on site.

Mark Klein discussed building and grounds electrical work. He stated some of his plans and proposals for both the memorial and also for the courthouse grounds. He noted he could start soon on both. Burbach made a motion to install three inch pipe for communications lines from the courthouse to the probation office. Wurdeman seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

The TRANE chiller maintenance agreement was discussed. Wurdeman made a motion to renew the one year contract with TRANE. Burbach seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

The courthouse/court services buildings bond interest payments were discussed. Total payment for both is $6,967. Wurdeman made a motion to approve the bond interest payment. Burbach seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Deb Dannelly, clerk of the district court, asked what was planned for the Q-125 tour on Friday, Aug. 7. Several ideas were discussed. The commissioners asked to have some plans written down and brought to them. They noted they don't want to be in the lead on this.

Board of Equalization was held. Commissioner Jim Rabe made a motion to approve a motor vehicle exemption for Mosaic for a 2008 Impala. Burbach seconded the motion which passed unanimously. There were no tax list corrections. Joyce Reeg, Wayne County assessor, noted they have received a couple of valuation protest filings and that July 1 is the deadline to get those to their office.

The District No. 2 Probation office budget was discussed. It was noted there was a request for more funds. Last year, Wayne County costs were $5,826; next year, $15,447. It was noted 13 counties were in the district, now seven and that the change is to align with the Judicial Districts. Wurdeman questioned why it looks like less counties are covered but more funds are needed. It was decided to have Kathryn Liebers, chief probation officer of Probation District 2 speak to the commissioners.

The winners of the County Flag contest were announced. Roberta Carmen of Wayne will receive $100 and Callie Finn of Winside will receive $50. Presentation of the awards will be made at the next meeting.

Wurdeman made a motion to approve the commissioner employment resolution. Burbach seconded the motion which passed unanimously. Wurdeman made a motion to approve the Commissioner Employment one-year contracts stating $8 an hour, not to exceed $3,000 for additional services that may be needed (example for snow removal, gravel hauling, heavy equipment operation, etc.). Burbach seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Wurdeman made a motion to approve a fund transfer from the county road fund to snow removal and equipment fund. Burbach seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

The next meeting of the Wayne County Commissioners will be Tuesday, July 7 at 9 a.m. in the courthouse in Wayne.

Energy costs, conservation highlight agenda

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

Energy - the cost of purchasing it and ways to save it - was among the items discussed during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson told the council that electrical price increases are coming. The city of Wayne has been working with Nebraska Public Power District to deal with high costs. He added that the goal is to get people to use electricity during peak times of the day and to not have to build additional power plants.

Discussion included the possibility of metering homes and encouraging customers to do certain activities such as laundry and baking during off-peak hours (10 p.m. to 10 a.m.). Different rates would be charged for day and night usage.

Johnson noted that this is a complicated, on-going process and that costs increase, measures will need to be taken to get rid of waste and inefficiency.

Acting as a Community Development Agency (CDA), the council gave its approval for a redevelopment plan and contract for Benscotter Development.

The CDA heard that earlier the Planning Commission had recommended approval of the plan, which involves Tax Increment Funding (TIF) Assistance in the amount of $140,000.

During a public hearing at the meeting, Louis Benscotter told the council he intends to start work on the project, which is located on ground south of the Wayne Fire Hall, this fall. The 19 acre piece of property is known as the Scottie Thompson property.

The financing would help cover the costs of demolition and cleanup of the property, as well as paying for a portion of the water, sewer and street infrastructure to create residential lots.

Dave Simonsen, representing Wayne Area Economic Development, told the council that the "benefit to the city from this project has the potential to be very large." He added that the project could involve commercial business as well as residential property.

Following the public hearing, the council approved Resolution 2009-47, which approves the plan and moves the project forward.

The council heard a brief update on the wastewater committee discussions from Roger Protzman of JEO. He explained the process so far and the two options that are being considered. He told council members that another meeting will be held yet this week and the plan is to bring a recommendation to the council for a special meeting on Tuesday, June 23.

The two options include renovating and expanding the current wastewater treatment facility or replacing the current system with a new plant, which would be more costly to construct but less costly to operate.

Three ordinances involving vacating city streets and alleys on Wayne State College property received first reading approval.

Discussion was held on the city's obligation in regard to the street and the item will be discussed again at the next regular meeting.

The council voted unanimously to use a portion of the current sales tax receipts to pay for street paving in the Kardell Industrial Park Subdivision. It was agreed that a portion of the remaining sales tax receipts should be kept in reserve for future needs at the Community Activity Center.

The council also listened to a report from Lance Webster, Chief of Police on an Leadership Summit he recently attended at the University of Arkansas. He gave a brief summary of the seminars he was a part of and noted that the amount of information available throughout the world is growing at a tremendous rate and measures need to be taken to deal with both the information and technology.

The council will meet in special session on Tuesday, June 23 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers to discuss the wastewater treatment plant and capital projects. The next regular session on Tuesday, July 7 at 5:30 p.m.

First session of Adult Summer Reading Program begins at Wayne Public Library

The June session of the library's Adult Summer Reading Program will be held on June 23, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Area adults are invited to share stories of their family, ethnic celebrations, recollections of their childhood or memories of their hometown. At the beginning of the evening those in attendance will hear Dorothy Stevenson, and her daughter, Mary Marchio, tell of their experience with the StoryCorps.

StoryCorps is an independent nonprofit project whose mission is to honor and celebrate one another's lives through listening. By recording the stories of our lives with the people we care about, we experience our history, hopes, and humanity. Since 2003, tens of thousands of everyday people have interviewed family and friends through StoryCorps. Each conversation is recorded on a free CD to take home and share, and is archived for generations to come at the Library of Congress. Millions listen to our award-winning broadcasts on public radio and the Internet. StoryCorps is one of the largest oral history projects of its kind, creating a growing portrait of who we really are as Americans.

Wayne Public Library is fortunate to be able to have reserved two StoryKits from the StoryCorps national office. We will raffle off the opportunity to record your story. The drawing will be held at the August program during the Q125 celebration weekend. The winners will be able to record their story in mid-September. Area adults, eighteen and over, may sign up for the drawing and this wonderful opportunity to record your story.

The program is free and open to the public and will be held at the Wayne Senior Center. Light refreshments will be served. Call the library, 375-3135 for more information.

New superintendent set to begin duties July 1

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Mark Lenihan, new superintendent of Wayne Community Schools, will begin his duties on July 1. He and his wife, Lisa, and their family, Joey, 15, Maria, 10 and their dog, Tucker, will soon be moving to Wayne from Battle Creek. The couple is building a home on Grainland Road. They are originally from Hugo, Minn. and moved to Nebraska in 2005 to be near Lisa's sister and family (Elizabeth and Michael Odell) in Clearwater.

Lenihan noted he was attracted to the Wayne school system. He knows there is a lot of community support and pride in the school and wants that to continue and expand. He also wants to see student achievement continue in classes and activities.

"One of my highest priorities will be to engage all aspects of the community of Wayne to make the best possible school system for the kids who attend Wayne," Lenihan said. "It is very evident that the patrons of the Wayne Community School District support the school and the programs provided by the school and so continuing that work will be a focus."

As for hobbies, Lenihan enjoys outdoor activities and is active in sports, bike riding and walking. Lisa enjoys reading, baking, knitting and crocheting. Lenihan is a member of the Lions Club and plans to join the Wayne Lions Club.

The Lenihan family has been in Wayne a lot lately attending ball games as their son, Joey, is in the Wayne Junior League. He will be a sophomore at Wayne High. He also enjoys track, basketball and football. Maria will be in the fifth grade. She enjoys playing volleyball, basketball, softball and swimming. She also likes to read. Over the summer, she has spent time at the Wayne Public Library, enjoys it and plans to spend more time there.

Faith is important to the Lenihan family. The family belongs to the First Christian Church in Norfolk and will join a church in Wayne but they are undecided at this time which one.

The Lenihan family looks forward to living in Wayne and meeting the residents.

Wayne Senior Center is distributor for the Nebraska Senior Farmers' Market Nutrition Program

The Nebraska Senior Farmers' Market Nutrition Program (SFMNP) provides low-income senior citizens with coupons to purchase fresh produce or honey (pure only) at Nebraska farmers' markets and roadside stands.

The purpose of the program is to provide fresh nutritious, unprepared, locally grown fruits, vegetables, herbs and honey to low-income seniors and increase consumption of agricultural commodities by expanding or aiding in the development of new farmers' markets and roadside stands. Nebraska's SFMNP State Plan of Operations was officially approved early in the year, allowing the state to continue the operation of this program for 2009.

In order for participants to be eligible for the program, individuals must meet categorical and income eligibility requirements. Categorically, participants must be 60 years of age or older. Income is measured in one of two ways. An individual, single household's gross income cannot exceed $20,035.50; a two-person household's gross income cannot exceed $26,954.50. Older adults wanting to be considered for the program may be asked to provide documentation showing age and income eligibility at the time of registration.

Older adults enrolled in the program will receive SFMNP coupons, which they will be able to exchange for fresh produce and honey at registered farmers markets and roadside stands. Coupon distribution will start in June and run through August. Coupons must be spent on or before Oct. 31, 2009. Coupons will be available through participants Area Agencies on Aging, Wayne Senior Center and Commodity Supplemental Food Programs' local distribution sites.

Dixon County domestic violence policies to go into effect July 1

In December 2008, members of the Dixon County Coordinated Community Response (CCR), which consists of representatives from the Dixon County Sheriff's office, Nebraska District 16 Probation, Dixon County Attorney's Office and Haven House Domestic Violence program met with Office on Violence Against Women (OVW) national consultant Rose Thelen from Praxis International, St. Paul, Minn. to review current practices and develop model policies for responding to domestic violence cases.

The members of the CCR continued to meet monthly and consult with Rose Thelen to draft and finalize policies & procedures for Dixon County. As a result of those efforts, Dixon County Sheriff's Office, Dixon County Attorney's Office and Haven House agreed on the following three important documents which will guide future responses: 1) a law enforcement and advocacy protocol 2) a law enforcement response policy and 3) a prosecution policy.

On June 1, training on these policies and protocols was conducted at Highland Oaks Golf Course in Ponca. Twenty-four individuals from the following agencies participated: Dixon County Sheriff's Office, Dixon County Attorney's Office, Nebraska District Sixteen Probation, and Haven House. The purpose of this training was to train all responders to domestic violence cases on the new policies and procedures that aim to improve law enforcement response to domestic violence calls, implement immediate advocacy response and assistance to domestic violence victims, and improve prosecution of domestic violence cases. These new policies will go into effect July 1.

Historical tidbits from Wayne and Wayne County provided by the Wayne County Museum for Wayne's Q-125

Among the first business transactions of the village of Wayne trustees was to pass an ordinance providing for the building of sidewalks. It was ordered that a sidewalk "four wide, built of inch fencing, laid on three two-by-four stringers, be built by each lot owner on Lincoln Street, extending from First to Sixth Street." Other streets were also included in this order.

Early industries in Wayne included Sherbahn's brickyard, Weber's Flour Mill (1885) and X Ray Incubator factory north of the frame depot.

familiar to other places such as the bag pipe that originated in England in the mid-1400s. He added there are Scottish bag pipes too.

One of the most popular instruments to the crowd was the accordion. He noted accordions were used in the music of many different cultures and that polkas were popular in the settlers' days.

A question and answer session brought the evening to a close. Marsh was asked how he knows how to play so many different instruments. He noted he was influenced by his father, a piano player and composer. He father was also a retired Methodist minister and performed in churches across Nebraska.

Marsh is self-taught on many instruments but has had some training and has a minor in music from Wesleyan University. He has played drums since he was nine years old. He has also played in an Irish band. He noted they had an accordion in their basement and that was one of the instruments he taught himself to play. He added that practice is important.

Marsh tries to master different instruments and add them to his performances. He played a harmonica and a guitar and told the story of how he got his first guitar. A lady spoke to him after one of his performances and asked what instrument he would add to entertain with next. He told her he was looking at a $1,000 guitar. She told him to purchase it and send her the bill. Marsh's love of music is obvious and it was enjoyed by many. Evidently the talent runs in the family as he said his son and daughter play instruments too.

The next Nebraska Humanities program is during the Q-125 celebration weekend, Aug. 7-9. "Country Tales and Truths" by Richard Kimbrough will be on Aug. 9 at 2 p.m. at the Wayne Senior Center in Wayne. Anyone wanting more information can contact Rita McLean at the library at 402-375-3135.

The Nebraska State College System Advantage guarantees that first-time freshmen students who receive federal Pell Grants will pay no tuition at the Nebraska State Colleges for the 2009-10 academic year. Participants in the NSCS Advantage Program must be a Nebraska resident, a federal Pell Grant recipient, a new first-time freshman for the 2009-10 year and enrolled in at least 12 on-campus credit hours. More information can be found at www.nscs.edu/adv.

The Yellow Ribbon GI Education Enhancement Program is offered in conjunction with the United States Department of Veterans Affairs and is available to service men and women who were honorably discharged and who have served at least 36 months after September Larson gave a tour and explain how he and his brother entered into the business of paleontology. He concluded his talk by discussing the legal aspects of fossil hunting.

After dinner, the group participated in a hike around Mt. Rushmore and viewed the night-lighting ceremony. Mr. Koch, having spent six years in the Army National Guard, had the opportunity to participate in the closing ceremonies when the park officials had all service men in the audience come down to the base of the amphitheater.

Tuesday came and it was another early start for the group as they tried a little gold panning at Wade's Historic Gold Mill near Hill City. Host, Robert Wade, gave a guided historic tour of old mining equipment and allowed them to view his own mining operation in action. Later on the tour was completed as he instructed the group in the art of gold panning. Everyone collected numerous samples of garnet crystals and two members of the group were even able to find a gold flake in the Newton Fork Stream on the property.

Next was a stop near Custer at the Crazy Horse Memorial. The students watched an informative video about the construction process and then were able to partake in a history lesson on the Sioux tribes with author and college instructor Donovan Sprague Hump (distant nephew of Crazy Horse). Mr. Sprague Hump had the group in his private classroom in the lower level of the memorial museum and explained the locations and historical impact of the seven major Sioux tribal groupings.

The afternoon was then spent spelunking and touring in Jewel and Wind Caves. Ten members spent three hours in Wind Cave with park rangers while Mr. Sok participated in the historic candlelight tour. Five other students went spelunking in Jewel Cave for three and a half hours while Mr. Koch and the remaining three participated in a walking tour of the cave.

The group then had a sit down meal at the Bavarian Inn and viewed the laser show at Crazy Horse.

Wednesday morning was another early start with a trip to the Needles and Cathedral Spires region of Custer State Park. The group then went down to Sylvan Lake for a swim in the frigid waters of the lake that was recently featured in the Nicolas Cage movie "National Treasure."

The class then took a short walk through hike of the Gordon Stockade Fort outside of Custer

State Park. This was one of the first army forts in the Blackhills region. After this the group went on a drive through-tour of Custer State Park where the students were able to view bison, antelope, bighorn sheep, whitetail deer, mule deer and prairie dog towns. Before leaving the park the group had a meal at the Blue Bell Lodge near the south end of the park.

The Winside students and instructors then participated in a walking tour of Wind Cave. It was then off to Evan's Plunge for an hour swim. After this the students took a guided tour of the Mammoth Site on the south end of Hot Springs. They were able to see several mammoth skeletons and a mockup of a primitive caveman dwelling along with a chance to view the lab workings in the basement of the Mammoth Site.

Wednesday activities were concluded with another trip to Evan's Plunge and a pizza party.

Thursday was off for some more adventure as the group hit Cascade Falls south of Hot Springs and enjoyed another early morning swim before returning to Nebraska.

The Winside students were to spend a couple of hours looking for fossils at the Kevin and Twila Grote Ranch north of Harrison but unfortunately the weather did not cooperate (it rained every day) so they took a couple of side tours north of the Crawford area. The first stop was a short hike at Toadstool Park which was followed up with a guided tour of the Hudson-Meng Bison Kill Site. It was then time for a fun drive on the wet gumbo roads around the north side of the Pine Ridge before taking a drive through of Chadron State College. The class then headed east of Chadron over to the North American Museum of Fur Trade for a video presentation and walk through tour of the historic fur trading post. The afternoon concluded with a video and tour of the Bowring Ranch and BBQ meal by the park staff before heading off to Valentine. While in Valentine the group stayed at the Raine's Motel and had a bonfire, smores cookout along with fresh cooked trout that Mr. Koch and Mr. Sok caught at five o'clock that morning.

The final day started out with a half hour tour of the Valentine radio station (KVSH) and a little DJ work by Hope Voss. Hope was able to have the experience of making a few comments on live radio as she introduced the Winside class to the area listeners. The two vans then continued north and east of town for a drive through of the wildlife loop of Fort Niobrara where they were able to view the buffalo in the park. To see parts of the elk herd, the group had to drive about three miles west of the park/reserve. The class then participated in a hike around the Ft. Falls area near the Niobrara River and a drive through of the Cleghorn State Fish Hatchery at the north end of Valentine. The students were able to witness a park ranger checking the length and weight of several fish in a stocking pond. The Winside students then concluded the trip with a guided tour of the Ashfall Fossil Beds by Sandy Mosel. While at the "Rhino Barn" they had an opportunity to see Dr. Voorhies (discoverer of the site) in action. "The group is especially thankful to Gardner Foundation and Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District for funding the majority of the trip. The group would also like to thank the Winside Board of Education and Administration for the use of the school vans," Sok said. This is the 13th consecutive summer trip that Paul Sok has led to the Blackhills and Western Nebraska.

Force. The new programs offered throughout our system address these priorities by assisting those who may not have attended college due to financial reasons," Carpenter said.

The LR 174 Task Force also indicated that higher education needed to more actively recruit non-Nebraska high school graduates. Carpenter, who is also serving as President of Peru State College, said Peru State will offer a new program this fall to address this priority.

A new nonresident tuition program will be available at Peru State in the fall. Nonresident students who enroll and are on campus at Peru will pay the same tuition rate as in-state students. This pilot program was approved by the NSCS Board of Trustees at its April meeting.

Board Chair Bill Roskens of Omaha said, "This program reflects a forward thinking approach and is one that will be watched closely at Chadron State and Wayne State. We believe this is also a good economic development tool because many students who attend Peru State will stay in Nebraska after graduation."

Many things affect a credit score

Maintaining a credit score is important, so remember that lots of things can affect it, including:

- Any late payments. If any, how often do they occur?
- How much is owed? Think about what types of accounts money is owed on. A specific creditor may value one type of account more than another.

- How many credit accounts? Each creditor will decide how many is too many. Even if they have no balance, having too many accounts is considered negative.
- How many credit accounts are maxed out? If one credit card is maxed out and two cards have low or no balance, consider transferring some of the debt from the maxed out one to the others to get rid of that negative information.
- How long has credit been used? The longer used, the better.
- How long since a new account was opened? Opening several new accounts within a certain time period will lower the credit score.
- How many recent inquiries? Too many inquiries are negative. Each creditor determines how many is too many within a specified amount of time. If shopping transfer balances from a high-limit credit card to one with a lower limit for the same reason.

Sandy Preston
Dixon County

- Pay off debts, especially revolving accounts such as credit cards. Aim to always have credit card balances at no more than 30 percent of the credit limit on each account. If all credit cards can't be paid, start by paying extra to the accounts closest to the credit limit. Once credit card balances are below the 30 percent limit, focus on paying off credit cards with the lowest balances.

- Use credit cards sparingly. Even if paid off in full every month, carrying a large balance each month can hurt a credit score. Some credit card issuers, including American Express and Capital One, do not report credit limits to credit reporting agencies. If they don't and the same amount is consistently charged every month, the credit-scoring system assumes the consumer is charging to his or her limit each billing period. To avoid this happening, be sure to pay the balance down well before the date when the billing period closes.

- Correct errors in the credit report. It's always worth contacting credit reporting agencies if there are errors.

- Be careful when closing unused credit accounts. Be sure the credit record shows a variety of types of credit are used over time. When deciding to close some accounts, close accounts with lower limits first. Close newer accounts before older accounts. Keep those older accounts so the record will show the length of time creditors are looking for when deciding whether to hand out credit or not.

- Use old accounts at least every few months to keep them current. Older accounts are more valued than newer accounts by the credit-scoring system.

for financing a home or car, several inquiries may show up in a credit file. When taking on a new loan, creditors will understand why those inquiries are there.

- How good is the credit standing even with a poor credit history? It is true that people can outlive negative credit information such as bankruptcy or foreclosure. It just takes time.

- Is a mix of credit used? Having only credit card debt or only installment loans will count against a credit score. Creditors want to see a variety of types of credit used.

If turned down for credit, contact the creditor and ask for the reasons for denial. At the request, reasons must be given in writing. These reasons for denial will give some suggestions for improving a credit file.

Here are nine tips for improving a credit score:

- Have enough but not too much credit. Creditors need to know that a consumer knows how to handle credit obligations responsibly. Don't apply for new credit when plenty is already available. For example, don't agree to open a new credit card just to get a discount many stores offer with the first purchase on their card.

- Pay bills on time. Emergencies happen and sometimes people can't pay credit bills on time one month. Try to bring any past due accounts current as soon as possible.

- Don't exceed the credit limit for credit cards and revolving credit. Credit cards charge an over-the-limit fee that may be reported on a credit file.

- Don't ask a creditor to lower the credit limit. This reduces the gap between available credit and balances on accounts. The closer to using all available credit, the lower a credit score will be. Also, don't

P.E.O. chapters celebrates 100 years

Chapter AZ of P. E. O. was organized in Wayne, Nebraska on March 3, 1909. During its 100-year existence a total of 324 women have been enrolled in Chapter AZ.

The nine charter members of Chapter AZ are Eva Davies, Clara B. Ellis, Elizabeth S. Heckert, Edith Hufford, Clara K. Jones, Irma B. Kate, Gertrude Morris, Alice H. Philleo, and Minnie Wightman.

P. E. O. International (Philanthropic Educational Organization), one of the pioneer societies for women, was founded on Jan. 21, 1869, by seven students at Iowa Wesleyan College in Mount Pleasant, Iowa. Originally a small campus friendship society, P. E. O. soon blossomed to include women off campus. Today, P. E. O. has grown from that tiny membership of seven to almost a quarter of a million members in chapters in the United States and Canada.

The P. E. O. Sisterhood is passionate about its mission: promoting educational opportunities for women. It is a philanthropic organization where women celebrate the advancement of women through scholarships, grants, awards, and loans. It motivates women to achieve their highest aspirations.

P. E. O. owns Cottey College, a two-year, independent, liberal arts and sciences college in Nevada, Missouri, open to all women high school graduates. P.E.O. is headquartered in Des Moines, Iowa.

Programs of the past year for Chapter AZ have included a reflection of the past, and the theme for next year will be the Second Hundred Years: Back to Basics. Meetings are generally held on the first and third Tuesdays in the homes of members. A second chapter, ID, was organized in Wayne in 1987.

Guest musician to lead music at Grace Lutheran Church

Brent Walker will be leading the musical portion of the Monday night service on June 22 at 6:45 p.m. at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Brent is a Christian musician and singer from Lake Wales, Fla., where he teaches elementary music and Michaela, his wife, takes care of Sophie their daughter. They are both alumni of Evangel University in Springfield, Mo., and they travel almost every weekend and during the summers singing and sharing their music.

The couple just released their newest CD - "Another Child (Songs for Sophie and Other Kids We Love)". Michaela is a niece of Ted and Sandy Baack of Wayne. Brent and Michaela led a Monday night service a couple years ago at Grace, and it was greatly enjoyed by the congregation and visitors.

The Walkers are new parents learning everyday what it is like to be a child again by watching their young daughter Sophie. She was born in February of 2008 with a rare condition that required a lengthy hospital stay.

"Watching out new baby lying in that hospital bed gave us a profound appreciation for her life and for the God who created her. She is an amazing little girl, and we are excited to be her parents." Children - God's gift to us. Of course, we were all children once. But we all grow up and take on responsibilities, jobs, families, and the resulting stress and pressures. We think we know it all - at least we pretend to. But looking into the eyes of a little child, one who has yet to be jaded by this world, we see a trust and an excitement that many of us adults need to reclaim. Jesus reminded us of this when he said, "unless you change and become like little children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven (Matthew 18:3). What does it take to become like a little child? Faith, trust, the ability to jump in to the pool without testing the water first.

The general public is invited to the Monday night service to be blessed by the Word and by Brent Walker and his Christ-centered music. There will be a free-will offering to support their ministry. Anyone who would like to hear Brent's music in advance, can go to: <http://www.brent-walker.net> and click on "music" button to hear a sample of his music.

Winside WELCA discusses upcoming events

The WELCA at Trinity Lutheran in Winside met June 11.

President Kathy Jensen opened the meeting with a reading "then Jesus Told Them," based on John 12:35-36 and "I Love What Light Can Do."

The Bible study was led by PMA Glenn Kietzmann and based on Mark 4:26-34, planting seeds.

Roll call was answered by seven members and PMA Kietzmann. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved.

There will be Teacher Enrichment workshops held and if anyone is interested, they are to contact Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne.

An invitation to Our Savior in Wayne's Guest Day was read. It will be held Wednesday, July 8 at 2 p.m. and RSVPs are due June 29.

Trinity's Guest Day on Thursday, Sept. 10 was discussed. It will be held at 2 p.m. with lunch to follow.

The meeting closed with The Lord's Prayer.

The next meeting will be Thursday, July 9 at 2 p.m.

Arlene Rabe serve lunch.

Retired Nebraska National Guard Staff Sergeant Matthew Schaub spoke to those who were attending "Studio Go!" Vacation Bible School.

Vacation Bible School focuses on service

Recently youth from the Wayne community had a chance to learn what service is all about and how they can spread the love of Christ to others.

Through a vacation bible school, called Studio Go!, over 100 youth participated in four different service projects for the Wayne community and beyond.

On Sunday night, the children heard from retired Nebraska National Guard Staff Sergeant, Matthew Schaub. Following his presentation, care packages and cards were made for the military overseas.

On Monday night, Haven House shelter coordinator Ilene Nichols spoke to the students about what they do, and why their services are important. The students then made tie blankets, decorated totes, and made care packages for children entering the Haven House shelter.

On Tuesday night, the students heard from a Wayne Police Officer, Brian Swanson. They learned about the Juvenile Detention Center in Madison and why it is important to reach the youth who enter that facility. Faith bracelets and cross bookmarks were made to send to the facility in Madison.

Wednesday night the children heard from a Wayne Volunteer Firefighter, Don Forney, about what it means to volunteer your time and serve the community you live in.

Those in attendance then decorated flower pots and filled them with dirt and flowers for different service agencies in the Wayne Community.

The week ended on Thursday night, with families coming together to eat and participate in a closing program. Over $700 was raised throughout the week as well for a nearby church camp in need of a tornado shelter, Camp Nebowa.

"It was a lot to accomplish in one week's time, but with a lot of work and dedication on the many people who helped, it came together nicely. It was definitely worth it, to see so many kids learn about something so important so that they can make their community's better places to be in as they grow up. To see them grasp the importance of taking the love God gives us and sharing it with as many people as possible. Kids need to know they can do things for other people, and they saw this at Studio Go! They learned to sometimes take risks in sharing that love as well, but they were reminded through Joshua 1:9, that God has commanded us to be strong and courageous, but to not be discouraged or afraid for the Lord our God is with us wherever we go!" said Brook Jech, Children's Ministry Director.

Journey Christian Church would like to thank the many people who donated things to make this event a success. Wimmer's Meat Products, Pac 'N' Save, Wayne Greenhouse and Plant Market, Pamida, and Quality Foods.

"We couldn't have done all the projects without the help of these Wayne businesses, so Thanks!" said Brook Jech.

Grace Ladies Aid holds meeting

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML meeting on June 10 was called to order by President Ellen Heinemann.

Vice President Bev Hansen's opening devotion was a responsive reading titled "For God So Love the World," followed by the singing of the hymn "For God So Love the World." Bonnadell Koch accompanied the group.

Roll call was answered by 15 members and Pastor Lilienkamp.

Minutes of the April and May meetings were read and approved as read. The treasurer's report was given and filed for financial review.

Committee reports were as follows:

Kitchen - Cupboards were cleaned and the floor scrubbed.

Visitation - LaVon Biermann reported sending many cards.

Care Center - The committee will visit June 28.

Seminary student - At present, we are waiting for an updated address for Jacob Bobby.

President Ellen Heinemann reported on the balcony, stating that the roof had been repaired, but the leak continues. She has contacted several people to help with the flooring, if and when it can be done.

Grace Lutheran LWML will host the LWML zone meeting on Monday, July 13.

Pastor Lilienkamp reported that a "Kids Against Hunger" packaging event will be held at Grace Lutheran on Saturday, June 20.

The mites were collected.

Pastor Lilienkamp presented the lesson "God Compared to a Home." The meeting closed with prayer, The Lord's Prayer and table prayer.

Hostesses were Verdelle Reeg and Melvy Meyer. Ruth Victor and Dorothy Meyer will host on Wednesday, July 8.

The birthday song was sung for Mary Janke, Pastor John Pasche and Verdelle Reeg.

STEEPLE REPAIRED

Concordia's carpenter "lifts high the cross," a project which began in the planning stage three plus years ago at Concordia's yearly meeting.

Warren Hanson, head of the property committee and local carpenter, made plans to repair the steeple. He rented a bucket crane from Iowa and finished this project last week with the help of his wife, Danita, and Burns Welding along with many stopy by to give their advice.

The steeple was re-sided and enforcements were made where necessary. The steeple had withstood lightning, the elements and many families of birds. The Concordia congregation truly appreciates Hanson's talents, especially his love of heights. He takes his love of the cross both literally and seriously, as he does his faith. Thanks to Lee Johnson of Dixon for the beautiful photos he took.

Above, Warren Hanson, property committee head and local carpenter, made repairs to Concordia's steeple recently. Also pictured above are Swedish words that are on the bell below the steeple.

RC&D speaker topic is on economics of birding

The next meeting of the Northeast Nebraska RC&D will be June 22 at the RC&D office in Plainview at 7:30 p.m. Dave Titterton of the Nebraska Birding Trail & Wild Bird Habitat Stores is the featured speaker and his topic will be The Conservation of Nebraska's Birds through Economic Development.

Did you know that in the United States birding generates an annual economic output of $85 billion? It has become one of the fastest growing forms of outdoor recreation and, according to a 1997 Newsweek article, will grow faster than the national population over the next 50 years.

Communities, Chambers of Commerce, and Convention and Visitor Bureaus across Nebraska have already begun to take advantage of this economic opportunity by developing websites dedicated in part to bird watching in their areas. "It's currently estimated that there are more than 18 million traveling bird watchers in the United States and that number continues to grow" says Dave Titterton. "These traveling birders spend in excess of $42 billion each year in search of bird watching opportunities."

Nebraska is ranked among the top 10 states for number of bird species and has numerous birds of special interest. It is likely that Nebraska is one of the best bird watching areas on the North American Continent with several major migratory flyways passing through the state, ten distinct ecological regions, and supporting both eastern and western bird species.

Those students achieving a 4.0 grade point average for the second semester include seniors Brittany

Dietrich and Nicole Thompson; juniors Brianna Johnson and Kyle Koester; sophomores Emma Engbreetsen, Leanna Gubbels, Isaac Haahr, Katie Jacobsen and Chelsey Wolfgram; freshman Kate Victor; eighth graders Erica Brandow, Katie Gubbels, Ryan Lunz and Kiley Thompson and seventh graders Kelsey Dietrich, Erin Gubbels and Brittany Wolfgram.

Investment Features Today's Date: 06/11/2009

Description: America Bonds (BABs) is a federal program to finance road, bridge, water and other critical infrastructure projects. BABs are taxable municipal bonds to encourage capital spending through a 35% credit to the issuer to reduce interest expense. When you buy a BAB, you are lending money to tax-exempt borrowers to fund new capital programs. These bonds are solely backed by the issuing municipality and are not obligations of the U.S. government.

Objective: To provide regular taxable income.

Suitability: These securities are suited for risk-averse, income-oriented investors.

Regular Income: BABs offer a fixed rate of interest that is typically payable twice a year.

Call Features: Bonds may be callable; either with stated call dates or make-whole calls. The make-whole call feature typically provides investors with better call protection. That's because the call price on a make-whole call bond typically rises when interest rates fall, reducing the incentive for issuers to refinance the bonds.

Marketability: BABs may be sold on any business day at current market value, which may be more than, less than or equal to the amount originally invested.

Price Fluctuation: While a bond's interest amount always remains the same, its market value can change daily. Long-term bonds are more sensitive to market price fluctuations as interest rates change than shorter-term investments.

Investment Amount: BABs are purchased with a $5,000 minimum and in increments of $1,000 or $5,000 thereafter, as determined by the issuer.

Taxation: Interest and capital gains earned from BABs are subject to federal taxes. In some cases, BABs may be exempt from state taxes.

Risks: Before investing in Build America Bonds, you should understand the risks involved including interest rate risk, credit risk, and market risk. Bond investments are subject to interest rate risk. Bond investments are subject to interest risk such that when interest rates rise, the prices of bonds can decrease and the investor can lose principal value. Lower-rated bonds are subject to greater fluctuations in value and risk of loss of income and principal. The value of bonds fluctuates and you may lose some or all of your principal. Bonds called prior to maturity may result in reinvestment risk for the bondholder.

NDA rolls out 2009 Seniors Farmers Market Program

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) has officially kicked off another year of the Seniors Farmers Market Nutrition Program (SFMNP). The program allows low-income senior citizens to receive locally grown, fresh fruits, vegetables, herbs, and honey, at no cost, from NDA certified produce vendors.

Earlier this year, NDA received $255,353 in U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) grant money for the program.

"Each year, we continue to expand our reach to Nebraska's low-income senior citizens. We are expecting approximately 5,123 people to take advantage of this year's program," said NDA Director Greg Ibach. "This program also benefits the produce growers who are certified to accept the coupons."

SFMNP, established as a pilot program in 2000, and re-authorized in the 2007 Farm Bill, provides low-income seniors with coupons that can be exchanged for fresh produce and honey at farmers' markets, roadside stands and U-pick operations. SFMNP is intended to provide fresh, nutritious, locally grown fruits, vegetables, herbs, and honey to low-income seniors and to increase the consumption of agricultural commodities by expanding or aiding in the development of farmers' markets and other outlets.

Nebraska's SFMNP is a joint effort between NDA, Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) Medicaid and Long-Term Care - State Unit on Aging, Nebraska DHHS Commodity Supplemental Foods Program, Nebraska Area Agencies on Aging, and the Nebraska Senior Centers.

Coupons are available to low-income seniors during June from their local senior centers. Free copies of the "Your Guide to Nebraska Fresh Produce," which identifies the locations of Nebraska's farmers' markets, roadside stands, and U-pick operations, are available from NDA by calling 800-422-6692, or visiting www.agr.ne.gov.

Low-income seniors interested in more information about SFMNP coupons should contact the Nebraska DHHS Medicaid and Long-Term Care - State Unit on Aging at 800-942-7830.

Members of the Sewers & Growers Club could invite friends to the event and this year the club also invited the Spring Branch 4-H Club to be a part of the event.

Twenty-one contestants competed for prizes, compliments of many area supporters. Fishing contest rules included one pole per person, fish from the jetties and the fish had to get a measurement to count. Points earned included one point for each inch and two points for each species.

The evening started with those in attendance saying the Pledge, a rules reminder and a quick check to make sure poles were ready. Tackle and bait were available to those needing it.

The contest started at 6 and ended at 7:30 p.m. The group of 45 people then met back at the Sewers & Growers campsite to tally up the points.

A sponsor board was read to the group, acknowledging all the gifts received from the community. Prizes were awarded and those in attendance enjoyed burgers, hot dogs, watermelon and smores.

Top awards included - Samantha Glassmeyer, Top Fisherman with 30 1/2 points; Dana Doffin, Longest Marotz, Most Species (two) and Fish with an 18 inch catfish; Landon Fauneil Olander, Most Patient.

Dana Doffin's first fishing experience landed her the longest fish of the contest.

Some weekends are more fun than others

We've had more welcome rain, and we've heard that northeast Nebraska has, too; thank goodness! In fact, it looks much like a tropical rain forest around here. The forecast is for more, and for warmer temps, so it will continue to feel sticky, I guess.

Someone at Curves asked me last night if I had had a good weekend. Well, most of my weekends are "good", in one way or another. Some are just more fun than others.

Ours began on Friday evening, after I left work. Sue had already picked up Mike and they watched the 5 p.m. basketball game in which Thomas was playing. There is a team camp at Southwest High School each summer; each team plays five games. So, I hustled over to the Taj Mahal of high schools to see the end of that one and all of the 7 o'clock game. We've been watching these kids since junior high; it's fun to see them grow tall and exhibit prowess at sports. But it dawned on me that this will be the last year for Thomas; he's going to be a senior!

On Saturday morning, I had to "do thirty" at Curves because I hadn't been there since Tuesday; and then head to the grocery store, as we were out of milk. We can do without a lot of things, but we can't do without milk.

After a quick lunch, I drove Mike back to the scene of the basketball games and I headed to First Plymouth Church for the wedding of the son of a co-worker. First Plymouth is the church I first saw when I graduated from it. It's a huge, historical, acoustically sound building that now houses a million dollar organ and I have attended many concerts there. In fact, our choir sang with theirs in a concert there early this year.

The bridal couple used the Plymouth Brass for music and they certainly added to the solemnity of the occasion. It was all beautiful, of course, and fun for all the Tabitha hospice nurses to get together there.

Next, I picked up Mike, drove to my Mom's to get her, and went to church. We are Saturday night regulars anymore, as the group is smaller then, we don't want to get up in time for the 8 a.m. on Sunday and we aren't crazy about the contemporary late service. However, we have been known to do it, and usually enjoy it, too. To each his own.

On Sunday, I had good intentions, but really did not accomplish much more than reading the Sunday paper, which takes a while. Lincoln Lutheran Choir practices on Sunday afternoon, and we are preparing for a presentation at the Nebraska Music Educators Convention at Doane College in July.

We are learning an Italian, a Latin, and a German song, and it kind of reminds me of all the stressing over the language for Sound of Music last summer. This time, though, we will be allowed to hold our music, and we won't have to move around on stage, too!

Then, it was the Lakers over the Magic, and a College World Series game. That was all!

Tractor safety class provides valuable experience

Well, tractor safety training is over and on last Thursday and Friday we were able to certify 15 youth from around the area to drive tractors on public highways and work for persons other than their immediate family. These 14 and 15 year old students were a good group, all of them had some tractor driving experience and for the most part, were very attentive during the sometimes challenging time watching the required safety videos and slides.

Doing a tractor safety course is a good reminder that farming is one of the most dangerous occupations in America. Looking through some of the news clippings of articles of farm accidents from the previous few years and statistics of injuries and fatalities is a sobering reminder that working with large machinery with many moving and possibly exposed parts requires great concentration and respect for the equipment. Farm safety should always be on the top of the list as you prepare to begin your day's work.

One saying that I have remembered over the years is "Familiarity breeds contempt". I take it to mean that when something becomes so routine during your everyday life you can tend to get a little too complacent when it comes to things like safety. One of the articles detailed a farm accident in which two middle-aged experienced farmer-ranchers were unloading big bales (over 2000 lbs) of hay from a semi. Somehow, both men were crushed to death by the bales. The newspaper article quotes a neighbor as saying they had done it "over a thousand times".

One more statistic really came out. Most fatalities involving tractors occur in rollovers. Every tractor should have a ROPS (roll over protection structure) along with a seat belt. If you don't have that equipment, please upgrade your tractor for your family members' or employees' sake. The shielding of PTO's (power take offs) is also something that needs to be taken care of.

I would like to thank Allan Finn and Gary Schmeckpeper from Northeast Equipment who generously donated their time and machinery to give the students the most important part of the training, the hands on experience, and for supervising the driving test. Their familiarity with all farm equipment and their great attitude with kids made the driving experience a good one. Todd Gruenke was there for both days and sacrificed some vacation time to lend his expertise in construction equipment like front end loaders to the mix, along with some important tips on safety. A special thank you goes out to Don Skokan of the Winside Fire Department who was able to present a great talk on first aid, the importance of knowing how to respond to injuries and how to contact emergency services for help. Don was able to come on short notice and his extra effort is appreciated.

Have a safe week, now and always.

GM attempting to circumvent Nebraska Law

Attorney General Jon Bruning today sent a letter to all state attorneys general urging them to consider the consumer and antitrust implications of General Motors' (GM) recent claims that it can ignore state laws that protect consumers and dealerships.

"What GM is trying to do in Nebraska and other states is unconscionable," said Bruning. "That is why I'm leading an effort involving other state attorneys general. We will file an immediate action against the company to try and put a stop to its illegal tactics."

In an unprecedented move, GM, which will be majority-owned by the federal government, claims that states' rights and states' laws that protect consumers and dealerships can be ignored at GM's choosing. In doing so, federally-owned GM leaves consumers vulnerable by depriving or deferring warranty service and avoiding lemon laws. GM's behavior not only violates consumer protection laws, it also may violate antitrust laws. Antitrust laws promote vigorous competition, and protect consumers from anti-competitive mergers and business practices.

Bruning said, "Rural states, like Nebraska, are already disproportionately impacted by GM's proposed closing of dealerships. My goal is to protect people in rural areas so they don't have to drive hundreds of miles to get their car serviced."

By circumventing state laws, GM also eliminates dealer protections. GM insisted that current dealers sign a new dealership agreement if they want to be part of the new operation. The new dealership agreements give the new GM complete control over the dealers beyond anything that would be allowed by law. The new agreements amount to take-it-or-leave-it ultimatums that force current dealers to waive state laws that were enacted to protect them. If dealers don't sign the contract, they'll lose their business.

According to the Nebraska Motor Vehicle Industry Licensing Board, there are 72 franchised GM auto dealers in the state.

Girl Scout camps ready for summer

Every young person's favorite time of the year has finally come—summer vacation. And if you are a girl, there is no excuse to be suffering a case of "summer boredom," because Girl Scouts is offering hundreds of programs at their six camp properties across the state.

Regardless of whether or not you are a Girl Scout member, these programs are open to all girls, ages 5-18, and range from Iron Chef competitions to zip-line challenges; wilderness scavenger hunts to camping like a princess, and there are many more types of adventures to choose from.

"Our camps are located in some of the most beautiful areas of the state," said Fran Marshall, Girl Scouts Spirit of Nebraska CEO. "Time spent outdoors is so important for all children, it teaches them to care for the environment and to be self-sufficient and reliable. What better way to spend the summer than in nature's classroom."

The six Girl Scout properties are: Camp Maha (Papillion), Catron Camp and Retreat Center (Nebraska City), Camp Crossed Arrows (Nickerson), Camp Cosmopolitan (Grand Island), Lakeview Cabin (North Platte) and Hidden Oaks Cabin (Valentine). These properties are also open to the public and available as rentals. Programs at Camp Maha will explore the newly acquired "Girl Scout Island," where girls will perform water experiments and enjoy an island utopia. Sky Camp at Catron Camp and Retreat Center, which opened this year, is a tree house-filled alcove where girls will feel as though they are sleeping with the stars.

For more information about Girl Scout summer programs, property rentals, corporate team building or an outdoor adventure for a group, logon to www.girlscoutsnebraska.org or call: 877.447.5558 x221.

Wayne 10-and-under girl's team goes 2-2, falls to 9-9

Dirt Devils have up-and-down weekend at League Tourney

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne 10-and-under girl's softball team dropped to 9-9 overall and 6-3 in league play after they went 2-2 this past weekend at the Logan Valley League Tournament in Uehling.

In Saturday's tournament opener, Wayne was edged by Oakland 6-5.

In the first and second innings, both teams scored one run apiece to make it 2-2 going into the third inning.

However, in the third inning Oakland broke the scoring wide open with three runs scored to climb on top of an early 5-2 lead.

After a scoreless inning of play in the fourth, Wayne tied Oakland at 5-5 with three runs scored, but Oakland managed to hang on for the win, scoring one before settling for the 6-5 win.

Jamie Gamble and Ashten Gibson both finished with one hit and a run scored in the loss.

Defensively, Hannah Belt was tagged with the pitching loss, allowing three walks while striking out 11 in five innings of work.

With one loss on the day, Wayne returned to action later where they used a 14-run first inning to defeat Dodge 21-4 in two innings.

The Dirt Devils were led at the plate by Courtney Melena who finished with one hit and three runs while Gamble added a single and three runs scored.

Also contributing to Wayne's success from the plate were Emily Matthes and Danica Schaefer who each had one hit and two runs scored in the lop-sided win.

On the pitcher's mound, Belt earned her first win of the day after she worked one and two-thirds innings where she gave up just one walk while striking out four.

After a good night's sleep, Wayne resumed play on Sunday where they opened the day with a 16-5 win over West Point II.

The Dirt Devils took an early 9-5 lead over West Point II in the first inning and never looked back as they added two runs in the second and five in the third en route to the 16-5 win.

Nicole Craft led a balanced hitting attack for Wayne with one hit and three runs scored while Kortney Keller, Shanda Lambert, Schaefer and Gibson all singled in the win.

From atop the pitcher's mound, Belt was again tagged with the win after she worked three innings where she gave up six walks while striking out four.

After starting out 0-1 and improving to 2-1, Wayne's tournament run came to an end on Sunday when they suffered another heartbreaking loss to Oakland, this time by a margin of 10-6.

In the first inning, both teams kept it close, scoring two runs apiece to send the game into the top of the second tied 2-2.

Then in the second inning, Oakland took its first lead over the game at 7-4, scoring five runs in the inning compared to just two for Wayne.

With the Dirt Devils trailing 7-4 going into the top of the third, Wayne cut the deficit to two runs at 7-5, but got no closer as Oakland added three insurance runs late in the inning before going on to the 10-6 win.

The Dirt Devils were led in hitting by Matthes and Melena who finished with one hit each while Taylor Gamble, Belt, Schaefer, Keller scored one run apiece in the loss.

Riley McManus (center) joins Austin Becker of Madison and South Dakota's Adam Ivarsen on the podium during the AAU Grand Nationals Folkstyle awards ceremony.

McManus earns National Championship and AAU All-American honors

Wayne High School junior wrestler Riley McManus, became just the second national champion and All-American in school history after he finished first in the 160-pound weight class of Folkstyle wrestling at this past weekend's Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Grand Nationals in Brookings, S.D.

McManus (20-6) on the year defeated Adam Ivarsen of South Dakota by pinfall in the second period for the 160-pound AAU National Championship while also placing second in both divisions of the Greco and Freestyle wrestling.

"I'm pretty excited, it's my first national champion since I've taken over. He's dedicated himself to being the best wrestler in Nebraska," Wayne head coach Anthony Lawrence said.

"He's defeated state medalists from Iowa and Nebraska and this is a kid who didn't even make it to state. From not making it to state to being a national champion is a big jump. He's matched his season total in wins and he's not even done yet."

McManus will continue his quest for the gold when he competes in the 2009 AAU Ironman Folkstyle World Championships at the University of Nebraska-Omaha on June 25-27.

Listed below are the final standings for the 160-pound Cadet division of AAU Grand Nationals.

Several WSC baseball players earn additional post season honors

Four Wayne State College baseball players took home additional post season honors last week with the release of the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association (NCBWA) All-American and All-Central Region Teams.

Junior outfielder Joe Wendte was named NCBWA First Team All-Central Region and Third Team All-American, senior utility player Alex Koch and senior pitcher Chad Moreland were both named NCBWA First Team All-Central Region while junior shortstop Eric Bond was selected NCBWA Second Team All-Central Region.

Wendte, a graduate of Sioux City Heelan (Iowa) High School, was named the 2009 NSIC Player of the Year after hitting .396 this season with 14 home runs and a team-high 67 RBI's to help the Wildcats win a sixth straight Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference (NSIC) regular season title.

He set a new school record with 83 runs scored, which ranks fifth in NCAA Division II, and has a team-high 51 walks to rank eighth in NCAA Division II.

Wendte was a three-time NSIC Player of the Week this season and he led the Wildcats this season in hits (78), doubles (20), stolen bases (19), slugging percentage (.741) and on-base percentage (.527).

It's the second All-American honor for Wendte this season as he also received ABCA/Rawlings First Team All-American honors on May 26, to go with three First Team All-Central Region honors (ABCA/Rawlings, Daktronics and NCBWA).

Bond, from Blue Springs, Missouri (Longview CC), was named the 2009 NSIC Newcomer of the Year and First-Team All-NSIC after .365 with a team-high 19 homers and 61 RBI's for the Wildcats this season.

His 19 homers set a new single season Wildcat record for homers, breaking the previous mark of 18 that was set by Bill Schwartz in 1981.

Bond led the team in at bats (211) and total bases (152) while ranking second in hits (77) and stolen bases (13).

He was an ABCA/Rawlings Second Team All-American honoree last month while also collecting Second Team All-Central Region honors from both Daktronics and NCBWA.

Moreland, a graduate of Sioux City Heelan (Iowa) High School, posted a 7-2 record in 12 starts with a 4.38 ERA as the Wildcats #1 starter this season.

After starting the year 0-2, Moreland won seven straight starts and had one complete game. In 61 2/3 innings pitched, Moreland allowed 63 hits and 41 runs (30 earned) with 41 strikeouts and 17 walks.

Moreland was a First Team All-Northern Sun Conference selection this season for the Wildcats, going 6-0 in six NSIC starts with a 4.26 ERA in league play.

He was also named to the ABCA/Rawlings First Team All-Central Region to go with Second Team All-Central Region honors from Daktronics.

Koch, a graduate of Millard South High School, is a three-time First Team All-NSIC performer that hit .341 this season for the Wildcats with 12 homers and 64 RBI's.

He became the all-time doubles leader this season at WSC with 53 and also ranks third on the career RBI's list (181) and is fifth in career hits with 217.

Koch was named Preseason All-American by Collegiate Baseball Newspaper and this is the third All-Central Region post season honor for Koch, as he received First Team honors from NCBWA and Second Team accolades from Daktronics and ABCA/Rawlings.

WSC finished the 2009 season with a 45-15 record, tying the school record for wins in a season that was set by the 2005 team that went 45-14.

The Wildcats won a sixth straight regular season NSIC title, going 27-4 in league play, and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the sixth straight season and seventh time in the last nine years.

WSC advanced to the NCAA Central Region title game before falling to Mesa State 8-2.

Living Resourcefully

Parents as teachers are encouraged to use UNL Extension resources

by Rebecca Versch, Burt County
In a parenting class that we teach statewide, we use an inspirational poem entitled, "Children Learn What They Live." How true! Remember when your children were two years old and you learned that you had to watch what you say because they repeat what they hear? I hope you didn't learn that the hard way like I did!

There is no question about it: you are your child's first teacher. You are a role model. The way in which you behave sets the example for your child about how to behave. The way in which you deal with stress...the way in which you handle conflict...even the way in which you approach solving problems can easily--although unwittingly--be passed on to your children.

So, as we weather the stresses of these tough economic times, we have the opportunity to teach our children some important life skills. How are you doing?

At UNL Extension, we want you to know you don't have to go it alone! It's been said that it takes a village to raise a child. UNL Extension has been a partner in every village in Nebraska since 1918. Your local Extension office is your front door to the University of Nebraska with a statewide network of researchers and educators whose mission it is to help Nebraskans enhance their lives.

Both the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension and the extension system nationwide have a wealth of resources to help you enhance your personal skills and help you build your parenting skills to nurture resilient children. Whether it's identifying the stress management strategies that work best for you or enhancing your conflict resolution skills; whether it's learning to communicate more clearly with your family members or finding the disciplinary techniques that work best with your children; whether it's honing your money management skills or just learning to save money on your food budget, UNL Extension can help you learn how and we can help you learn it now.

For more information, you can visit our local UNL Extension office or the web site at Extension.unl.edu. You can also click on the link to 'eXtension' to access the latest research-based information from our nationwide database of extension specialists.

NDA announces additional quarantines in Bovine TB case

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) has quarantined additional herds as it continues to trace the locations of cattle involved in the ongoing bovine tuberculosis (TB) case. Agriculture Director Greg Ibach announced recently that 42 herds have been quarantined as part of the epidemiological investigation (including the infected herd), up from 32 herds announced.

In addition to Rock, Holt, Loup, Boyd, and Brown counties, quarantined herds have also now been identified in Cedar, Colfax, Gage, Keya Paha, and Pierce counties. Ibach said these counties were added based on cattle sales records from a fence line herd prior to the quarantine.

"The increase in quarantined herds is not unexpected as we continue to identify cattle that had the opportunity for contact with the TB-infected herd through fence line exposure," Ibach said. "We also are reviewing the records of sales made from the TB-infected herd over the past two years, so additional quar-antines may occur.

"This is all part of a responsible, thorough epidemiological investigation. This foundation is critical to determining the scope of the problem and moving aggressively to address it," Ibach said. "That said, I want to emphasize that these quarantines do not represent assured exposure to TB. Just because a fence line is shared, does not mean the two herds necessarily had contact."

"It's important to remember that at this time, only one herd has had animals test positive for TB."

NDA announced on June 1, 2009, that a cow from a Rock County beef herd had tested positive for bovine TB. The herd remains under quarantine. A second cow from that herd later also tested positive for the disease. The epidemiological investigation involves locating any cattle that may have been pastured next to the infected herd during the past two years, as well as tracing cattle movement into and out of the herd during that time frame.

Animal health officials in Colorado and South Dakota also have been alerted to herds in their states which received animals from Nebraska herds prior to those herds being quarantined.

Ibach said while the epidemiological investigation continues, NDA began to focus Monday on testing the quarantined herds for TB. Two teams, made up of NDA and U.S. Department of Agriculture officials, are conducting the testing. All quarantined cattle over 12 months of age will be tested. At this point, the number of animals to be tested totals approximately 15,000.

"We are pulling together all the resources we have at our disposal to address this situation," Ibach said. "The beef industry is a cornerstone in our state's agricultural foundation, so we recognize the importance of handling this matter efficiently and effectively for our state and region."

For further information on bovine TB, visit the NDA web site at www.agra.ne.gov

NECC plans another health conference

Northeast Community College in O'Neill will sponsor a day-long conference in June for healthcare, dental and social services professionals. The O'Neill Health Conference is set for Friday, June 26, from 7 a.m.-3:30 p.m. at the O'Neill Public High School, 540 E. Hynes Street. Bone density, blood pressure, and blood sugar screenings will be available during the day.

Following registration, breakfast, welcome, and announcements from 7-8:15 a.m., Amy Dee-Kristensen, RN, will help participants identify levels of stress and specific stressors in their everyday and personal lives in her talk, Stress, Life Seasoning and Life Balance-The Perfect Blend.

According to Dee-Kristensen, a little stress, like seasonings, goes a long way. Insufficient stress acts as a depressant leaving feelings of boredom and rejection. But too much stress, she said, can tie people into knots wreaking havoc on mental and physical health and damaging relationships and productivity.

Dee-Kristensen will discuss types of stress and the damage too much stress causes to emotional well-being, relationships, and productivity. After a short break, Rebecca Olander, APRN, CNS, will speak on Autism Spectrum Disorder-The Journey Down A Different Path. Olander will explain how to identify the common signs of autism and state-related diagnoses listed under the diagnosis of Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD). She will review treatment options and how to understand the prevalence of autism and how to analyze the costs of autism to society. She will also review coping with, managing, and thriving as a family with autism.

Following the provided lunch and announcement of booth prize winners, Kathy Arens, LCSW, and Kevin Liewer, RN, will review, Hospice Care. They will discuss hospice and what is provided to patients in hospice care. They will also review who is eligible for hospice and interpret why those eligible should be recognized early. Advance directives will also be addressed.

At 1 p.m., Layne Beza, Region 2 Military Family Assistance Specialist, will review Family Emergency Preparedness. He will explain how to recognize the importance of being prepared for emergency situations and how to be prepared for emergencies in local schools, work, while traveling, or in public areas.

Jodi Loecker will present a 15-minute Stretching-Yoga exercise session at 1:30 p.m. Dee-Kristensen will return to the podium for the 2 p.m. session entitled, "Everyday Hero: Celebrating the Heart of the Healthcare Professional." She will tell participants to leave their red capes and super powers at home!" She says this inspirational session will celebrate the heart of the healthcare professional.

Door prizes will be awarded at the end of the conference. Enrollment is limited and participants are encouraged to register by Monday, June 22. Cost of the conference is $30 for those not interested in earning continuing education units. Those individuals should register for course number ALHE 0122-30.

This continuing nursing education activity was approved by CNE-Net, the education division of the North Dakota Nurses Association, an accredited approver of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation. This continuing education activity has also been approved by the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services for dentists and dental hygienists. Attendance for the entire day is required to receive hours and an evaluation is required at day's end. Credit for six contact hours is available for daycare, counselors, and dental professionals. Those interested in earning continuing education units should register for course number ALHE 0122-31 with a cost of $60.

UNL Extension-Wayne County holds marbling workshop for 4-Hers

On June 9 and June 16, 4-Hers were able to participate in a marbling workshop. Marbling originated in Japan around the 12th century. Some believe it was discovered by accident by someone in the Japanese Imperial family who submerged sumi ink paintings in water. Marbling became popular again around the 1970's when crafts and handmade books emerged.

The marbling is done with a methocel base that forms a gel. Marbling paint is then used and individuals use such things as combs, forks, or toothpicks to make a design in the gel base. They then lay fabric which has been treated with an alum solution in the gel base and the design adheres to the fabric. At the workshop the 4-Hers ended up with a variety of pieces of fabric in which they can either frame or utilize to make another 4-H exhibit. Some of the 4-Hers chose to participate in the completion workshop in which they will cut blocks of fabric for a nine patch pillow.

The marbling experience fits under the 4-H curriculum area of Consumer and Family Science.

The Consumer and Family Science areas focus on such projects as home environment, clothing and textiles, consumer management, entrepreneurship and heritage. Youth interested in these 4-H projects may be interested in the careers such as business management, family and community services, food product development, and professional sales and marketing.

4-Hers took their marbling fabrics and created a nine patch pillow in which they can exhibit at the fair.

Lyme disease film wins awards

"Under Our Skin" is a dramatic tale of medicine and money. This film investigates the untold story of Lyme disease, an emerging epidemic larger than AIDS. Each year thousands go undiagnosed or misdiagnosed, told that their symptoms are "all in their head".

Following the stories of patients and physicians as they battle for their lives and livelihoods, the film brings into focus a haunting picture of our health care system in relationship to the treatment of Lyme disease. To watch a 4-minute trailer of this film, see www.openeypictures.com.

"Under Our Skin" is a finalist for the Tribeca Film Festival Audience Choice Awards, and recently won the Freddie Documentary Award for physicians. Producer Andy Abrahams Wilson travelled to Iowa in May of 2007 to include the Lyme Disease Association of Iowa members in the "Under Our Skin" documentary. The audience was joined by Nebraskans and Minnesotans with Lyme disease.

A Memorial tree is planted at Little Wall Lake, in Jewell, Iowa, where plaques were placed to commemorate the nine Iowans who have died from the complications of Lyme disease. One of the most poignant moments, was the commemoration of Geri Fosseen, of Radcliffe, Iowa, who died from Lyme disease at the age of 32. Her father, tearfully, recalled her final moments.

Lyme disease can be prevented or cured, if detected early. Many attending the Memorial service were in late-stages of Lyme disease due to misdiagnosis. Late-stage Lyme disease is incurable and can lead to extreme disabilities. Several Lyme patients at the service were confined to wheelchairs. The International Lyme and Associated Disease Society warns: "Avoiding a tick bite remains the first step in preventing chronic Lyme disease. One needn't have been 'hiking in the woods' in order to be bitten by a tick. There can be ticks wherever there is grass or vegetation, and tick bites can happen any time of the year. Spraying one's clothes with DEET containing insecticide, wearing long sleeves and long pants, and 'tucking pants into socks', continue to be the best ways to avoid ticks attaching to the skin. But don't forget the post-walk body check."

If you would like a community showing of "Under Our Skin" in your city, please contact the Lyme Disease United Coalition at (515) 432-3628.

Shooting at targets more than target practice for these teens

Courtney Anthony of Lexington was just 8 years old when she picked up a BB gun and started shooting at cans. Two years later she started shooting an air pistol. Now, the 18-year-old 2009 graduate of Cozad High School is preparing to compete in the National 4-H Shooting Sports Invitational in Grand Island June 24-28. Anthony started shooting because it was fun. Now it's competition.

"As I've gotten older and have fine-tuned my shooting, it's more of a competition. I like to win," said Anthony, who will major in fisheries and wildlife at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln this fall. UNL Extension 4-H is hosting this year's sports invitational, which will bring 4-H members ages 14-18 to Grand Island for competition in nine discipline areas. They include: small bore rifle, small bore pistol, muzzle-loading, shotgun, air pistol, air rifle, hunting skills, recurve archery and compound archery.

About 490 4-H members from 30 states will participate in the event, scheduled at the Heartland Events Center and Heartland Public Shooting Park west of Grand Island.

"This is the top event in the country for the 4-H shooting sports," said Steve Pritchard, UNL extension educator and coordinator of Nebraska's 4-H shooting sports program.

Anthony will compete in small bore pistol, which is shooting at targets using .22-caliber ammunition. Anthony has been shooting pistols in 4-H for eight years, but her roots in shooting sports began even earlier at age 8.

"We live on a farm and my dad had an old BB gun. One day I said 'hey, I want to try this out.' I started shooting at cans in the backyard and graduated from there," she said.

It was a similar experience for Carlie Redding, a 2009 graduate of Elgin High School. She started shooting a BB gun when she joined 4-H at age 8 and also learned to shoot air rifles. Her father thought she might enjoy learning archery and bought her a small bow.

"I've always liked medieval things and shooting a bow brings you back to that," said Redding, 18, who will study journalism at Wayne State College this fall. She likes archery because it is challenging and requires a lot of practice. Last year she competed in compound archery at the national 4-H invitational. This year she is participating in recurve archery, which she describes as "more old style" and more challenging than compound archery.

Anthony and Redding have competed in other shooting competitions. Anthony was the small bore pistol champion at the 2009 Rifle/Pistol National Junior Olympic Championship in Colorado Springs, Colo., in April. Redding participated several years ago in a national BB shooting competition and has competed in numerous state events across Nebraska.

Pritchard said youth participating in sport shooting find it fun and challenging.

"You don't have to be the fastest or strongest individual to participate in this sport as long as you are willing to work and put forth the effort," he said. "It's a lifetime sport."

The invitational is free and open to the public. More information can be found at <http://shootingsports.unl.edu>.

Thanks to the community

Dear Editor,
Thank you to all the people in Northeast Nebraska who participated in the Q-125 activities of the weekend.

We kicked off our activities on Feb. 2 with our birthday party and have been doing things, many in conjunction with other organizations and groups throughout the year, but I believe this extended weekend was the first time we had attempted three things in four days.

Our Garden Walk on Saturday was a great success and I thank all the people who bought tickets and joined us; all our volunteers who helped in the planning and working at each garden - the Andersons, the Headleys, the Fluents and Julie Cull - for consenting to have their gardens viewed for this purpose. Lou Wiltse and her staff at the Greenhouse and Plant Market in the sale of tickets for the Garden Walk; Lynn Sievers for the great articles she wrote on the gardens each Thursday in May; Nancy Jo Powers and her sub-committee on the Garden Walk. It was a real pleasure and lots of fun to work on this group and Nancy Jo.

Our Sunday activity was the fantastic Flag Day Program that was done at the Senior Center. Special thanks goes to the men and women of the Norfolk Elks Lodge that did the history of the American Flags and their response; Mark Ahmann who delivered a strong and timely address; Lane Beza and his Wayne Consolidated Veterans for demonstrating to the audience the proper way to fold the flag; Pat Cook who played the piano of the program; the Wayne City Library staff who made it possible for us to use the Senior Center and the Coffee Shoppe for preparing cup cakes and making them look like an American flag.

It was an uplifting and patriotic hour and I am proud that I had the opportunity to witness and participate in the program.

Nothing Monday, but we did have the honor and pleasure to participate in the Wayne City Library Humanities Program on Tuesday. We started with a great meal, which was special for those who chose to eat and we thank the Senior Center staff for their efforts in doing this; the entire Library staff for their efforts with the Humanities Program and working with the Q-125 Committee to make the humanities program part of our celebration; David Marsh for his finger tapping presentation of "Music of the Plains," and to all those who attended this beautiful presentation that capped off a great weekend of activities.

Our Q-125 celebration is a year-long one and much of what we have done and will be doing has been reported on in the Wayne Herald and KTCH. Special thanks goes out to them also for the great work they do of keeping the Wayne community informed of our activities and the activities in the area. Our committee has worked hard to plan and conduct a year of activities to make the activities we have done and will be doing in the future the best choice of tourist activities for the people in our area.

We appreciate your support and hope you will continue to support our activities throughout the remainder of this 125th anniversary year for our great city.

Very sincerely yours,

Tony Kochenash, Chair
Wayne Community Q-125

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson,
City Administrator

Special meeting

There will be a special City Council Meeting on Tuesday, June 23 at 5:30 p.m. in the council room.

Questions:

When will the city council make a decision to build a waste water plant? June 23.

The mayor and council have scheduled a special council meeting that evening to discuss the two final options which are: 1) rebuild the existing plant at a lower renovation cost but a higher operating cost and use the existing lagoon sludge handling system or 2) build a new plant at a higher initial cost but lower operating cost that would be an enclosed system that internally digests almost everything, leaves almost no sludge and generates no external odor.

Is the city building houses west of the cemetery? No.

In the 1990's, and again in 2003, Wayne Industries surveys of area employees showed a desire for lower cost lots for working families to build homes on. The city council acquired a $387,000 grant to help a developer build lower cost lots west of the cemetery for income qualified families. The developer decided to not move forward with the project. Since the grant required homes to be built on the lots, the council advertised for other developers to take over the project. No one responded and the council decided to use the grant funds to finish the planned development.

The lots are for sale to anyone. The homes are being built by others who purchased the lots with the condition that they complete a house on that lot within one year. The grant requires that 17 homes be built within three years on the original 17 lots with nine homes owned by income qualified families.

What's happening with the property south of the Wayne fire hall?

A Wayne couple is in the process of purchasing the farmstead and the land, clearing it and developing it for residential and commercial development. The planning commission has approved a preliminary plat for a layout of streets and lots. The city council has approved a $140,000 Tax Increment Financing incentive from the new taxes generated by new the buildings on the property for the developer to help pay the cost to clear the property and install the infrastructure.

Questions or comments?

Call Lowell Johnson, City Administrator at 375-1733 or email me at cityadmin@cityofwayne.org.

Capitol View

Smoking continues to be hot topic

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The smoking wars, the smoking gun and the campaign that was snuffed out before it began.

Let's start with Mark Welsch, the leader of GASP and a fellow determined to minimize to the greatest possible degree the use of tobacco products.

Nebraska's statewide ban on smoking in most public places is in effect. Initial reports are that there have been surprisingly few reports of alleged violations. That's a few too many violations for Welsch and others similarly dedicated.

He has promised to keep on keepin' on with efforts to further restrict smoking via the Legislature. His next target could be those who smoke in homes where children are present. Welsch believes secondhand tobacco smoke might contribute to Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS). If a SIDS case is found in a home where people have engaged in smoking, he said recently, it could set the stage for civil litigation, at least. If such a case developed it would certainly set the stage for legislative debate on whether smoking in homes where infants are present ought to be criminalized.

Most of us have given thought to the terrible possibility of someone breaking into our home while we're at home. What would we do?

Some of us have firearms at home, for hunting or other sports, and/or to protect ourselves and others.

What happens when a resident fires a gun and wounds or kills an intruder?

The police investigate. The person who did the shooting might be exonerated, or they might be charged with any number of crimes.

The question many people might ask themselves:

What if someone breaks into their home, presumably at night, and the resident, excited (most likely) or otherwise, opens fire, killing or wounding the villain? Is the fact that the resident reports having been terrified prior to shooting the stranger/intruder sufficient to avoid prosecution? Or being sued by the person who was shot? Or that person's relatives? What criteria might be used by prosecutors to determine whether the shooter should be prosecuted?

Beyond those questions lies another. What should the legal standard be for justifiably opening fire on an intruder in your home?

There is an old saying: "It's better to be judged by 12 than carried by six." The allusion is to 12 jurors, rather than six pallbearers. The saying is clever, and reflective of what many would call commonsense truth. Homespun, folksy observations aren't necessarily justification as defined by the law.

Enter Sen. Mark Christensen of Imperial. He wants the Legislature, through the Judiciary Committee, to examine the merits of a so-called "Make my day" law. Remember Clint Eastwood as Inspector "Dirty Harry" Callahan? His immortal line in one of the "Dirty Harry" movies came when he was, with .44 caliber revolver in hand, staring down an armed bad guy:

"Go ahead punk. Make my day." Christensen questions whether Nebraska law offers sufficient protection for those who might shoot a home invader. In an interview with Christensen, the Lincoln Journal-Star reported: "The state allows the use of deadly force as a defense only if the person using it believes he or she is being threatened with death, serious injury, kidnapping or forced sexual intercourse."

Former Lieutenant Governor Kim Robak will not seek the Democratic nomination from the House from the 1st Congressional District in 2010.

Robak fans recently took to the Internet, floating Robak's name as a potential candidate, and encourage support for her.

Robak said she wouldn't rule out seeking public office some day - but not in 2010.

Weekly Legislative Update

Greetings from the Unicameral! One of the final actions taken by the 2009 Nebraska Legislature prior to adjournment was the passage of LR 171, which called for the creation of the Sentencing and Recidivism Task Force. This seven-member committee was created in response to the April 24th announcement by the Director of Correctional Services that the State of Nebraska's correctional institutions had reached 140 percent of their designed capacity.

The task force, to which I was recently appointed, will examine current sentencing guidelines in the Nebraska Criminal Code and study the effectiveness of our prison system in rehabilitating criminal offenders. I look forward to working with Senator Brad Ashford, Chair of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee, and other members of the task force to help reduce the number of released prisoners that reoffend, increasing the financial burden on our correctional facilities.

The Education Committee's interim work is in full swing, with the exception for one more year, allowing the Education Committee to research the topic in further detail over the interim. LR 116, which directs the Education Committee to examine issues relating to early childhood education and kindergarten eligibility, is one of the committee's top priorities this interim. My staff will be working closely with committee staff on this study and many others over the next few months.

As always, I would encourage you to contact me if you have any questions or simply have an opinion on legislation before the Unicameral. Feel free to call my office at (402) 471-2716, send me an e-mail at bgiese@leg.ne.gov, or stop by in person any time you're in Lincoln.

committee staff conducting initial research on a number of interim studies addressing K-12 education. Last session, two bills (LB 479 & LB 530) were introduced to make permanent a one-year exception that allowed children who are of kindergarten age but have not yet reached mandatory attendance age to enroll in preschool programs run by a school district or Educational Service Unit (ESU). The Legislature voted to extend high school students.

Hannah, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for this honor by Sylvia Ruhl, an English teacher at the school. Her name will appear in the United States Achievement Academy's Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy students should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Founder of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy recognizes students upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The Standards for Selection include academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a qualified sponsor.

Hannah is the daughter of Mitiku Mamo and Brigid Griffin of Wayne. Her grandparents are Maura Griffin and the late Sean Griffin of Co. Mayo, Ireland and Mamo Admassu and Felekech Wolde of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Delegates selected to attend 38th annual NAYI; local youth one of those delegates

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) is pleased to announce the selection of 127 Nebraska high school juniors and seniors to attend the 38th annual Nebraska Agricultural Youth Institute (NAYI). NAYI will be held July 12-16 at the University of Nebraska - Lincoln campus. A local delegate is Kristin Liska of Wayne.

"We continue to be encouraged about the level of interest in the agricultural industry from today's youth," said NDA Director Greg Ibach. "We are excited to present these youth with the opportunity to hear from an excellent line-up of speakers and numerous opportunities for the delegates to network with agricultural industry leaders."

"Keeping It Rural" has been chosen as the theme for this year's Institute. The delegates will experience five days of agriculture policy discussion, agricultural career exploration, and group discussions. Motivational speakers, a farm management program, and a media component will help the delegates to develop leadership potential and strengthen their pride in Nebraska's agricultural industry.

Since NAYI's beginning in 1971, more than 4,800 youth from across the state have participated in NAYI. The Institute is the longest-running agricultural youth institute of its kind in the nation. NAYI is coordinated by the Nebraska Agricultural Youth Council, comprised of 14 college-age men and women selected by NDA. Kyle Clymer, of David City, is the Agricultural Youth Coordinator for NDA and is responsible for overseeing the day-to-day planning of the Institute.

Wayne State students win Student Quiz Bowl

Wayne State College students won the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) Student Bowl Championship in Seattle, Wash., May 27-30 at the 56th annual ACSM meeting. Kelly Brink of Lyons, Peter Ray of Spalding, and Darren Richter of Fremont, Wayne State College students from the Department of Health, Human Performance, and Sport majoring in Exercise Science were awarded a permanent trophy which is on display in the trophy case in the north foyer of the newly renovated basement in Rice Auditorium on campus.

In addition to the trophy, each was awarded more than $500 in prizes including a one year membership to the ACSM, a voucher for an ACSM certification and an ACSM certification preparation textbook packet. The team competed in a Jeopardy ACSM style contest against six other teams from schools throughout the United States that won regional chapter competitions. Wayne State won the Northland Chapter regional competition in Duluth, Minn. on Oct. 16, 2008 which earned them a place in the national competition.

Other institutions and regional chapters represented in the national competition included: University of Oregon (Northwest Chapter), Florida State University and University of Western Florida (Southeast Chapter), University of Connecticut (New England Chapter), Eastern Michigan University (Midwest Chapter), Cal State San Bernardino (Southwest Chapter), and West Chester University and Edinboro University (Mid-Atlantic). Financial support for WSC students to participate in this event was provided by the Northland Chapter ACSM. Support for Brink and Ray to present their research paper at the meeting was provided by the Dean of Natural and Social Sciences (Dr. Kevin Hill) and the Vice-President for Academic Affairs (Dr. Robert McCue).

Quiz Bowl competition involved answering open-ended short answer questions in three rounds of Jeopardy (single, double, final). Questions became more difficult as point values increased. Questions were devised by experts in their respective academic areas and covered a variety of topics commonly taught in undergraduate exercise science curriculums including strength and conditioning, anatomy and physiology, biomechanics, electrocardiogram interpretation, environmental physiology, exercise physiology, exercise prescription, metabolism, mixing chamber (variety of categories), nutrition, pathophysiology and pharmacology.

Students were given just 10 seconds to answer questions and incorrect answers resulted in associated point values being subtracted from the teams running score. Score keepers were positioned at each teams table and three judges (past-presidents of ACSM) ruled on answers that were viewed as questionable in accuracy. Brink is the son of Brad and Jill Brink of Lyons; Ray is the son of Daniel and Peggy Ray of Spalding; and Richter is the son of Jeff and Sharon Richter of Fremont.

Learning to Lead Program a Success in Northeast Nebraska

A leadership program that recently concluded is going to be replicated in other Northeast Nebraska communities. The successful Learning to Lead in Cedar County Program concluded on May 26. The program consisted of eight classes which provided leadership skills and economic development insights.

Program participants agreed that the opportunity to learn and develop leadership skills is important, and strong leadership skills are an integral part in maintaining a successful community. "I was especially impressed by the Economic and Demographics Trends report that we discussed," commented Diann Ballard, Economic Developer from Pender. "Our small towns and counties have so much to offer but so many of our people don't share in the vision. These classes help everyone to see what we can do to foster entrepreneurial leadership and innovation to produce positive outcomes for our communities."

The Learning to Lead series of classes provided local and regional participants the chance to learn about themselves, others, leadership skills, and economic development. Organizers cited a strong partnership between UNL

Extension, Nebraska Department of Economic Development, Nebraska Rural Development Commission, USDA Rural Development Housing Services and the Center for Rural Affairs as critical to bring these leadership programs to Hartington and Northeast Nebraska. "These classes encourage individuals develop not only their leadership skills but also their confidence in becoming more involved in their communities," stated Carla Becker, Economic Development Coordinator for Hartington.

"As a result of the Learning to Lead in Cedar County Program, we found a need and an intense desire to further develop strong leadership within Northeast Nebraska," said Stephanie Fritz with the Center for Rural Affairs. "We are taking a regional approach to continued development of future leadership training and project development. We know this is how rural Northeast Nebraska will continue to provide a quality of life we all enjoy."

Those who would like to get involved and provide input for future programs in Northeast Nebraska should contact Carla Becker at 402-254-6357 or devcoor@hartel.net.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Redefining risk in a down market

Has Wall Street hit rock bottom, and is the U.S. economy bound for recovery? Some claim the worst is over, which is of small comfort to American investors, many of whom have seen their retirement portfolios quickly drop in value during the last 18 months. Just as the stock market crash and Great Depression of 1929 had a lasting impact on those who lived through it, our current recession could change the way Americans earn, save, invest and spend money. The question is how will we improve our individual and shared financial future?

We all make choices. The tanking economy has triggered all kinds of responses. Some investors have simply pulled the plug on their remaining investments however; a mass exodus from the stock market will do more damage to the economy as a whole. The other problem with this approach is that once you sell a stock, you forfeit any opportunity to regain the value you lost. Some investors are paralyzed by fear and have not corrected or adjusted their financial position in the marketplace. While this is a common and natural response, it's not necessarily in your best interest to stand still. Whether you ultimately move or adjust your stocks, it's important to take time to evaluate your investment positions and make changes as you see fit, all the while proceeding with due caution.

Rebalance your holdings and diversify. The widespread nature of the downturn means almost every sector of the economy has been negatively affected. Those portfolios that were weighted heavily in risky investments generally suffered the largest losses. Many investors re-evaluated their risk tolerance. Low-yielding CDs, money market funds and Treasury Bills grew in popularity since they were considered less risky investments. Unfortunately, these options don't provide much return. In fact, your assets may remain rather stagnant in these investment vehicles, but some argue that could be better than watching your savings drop in value.

Buy low if you can bear the risk. This suggestion may seem counterintuitive, but if you are in a position to accept risk, right now is a great time to invest. The market is full of bargains and there will be people who can profit from the market's downfall. As the old adage goes, buy low and sell high. But as recent history shows, investing involves risks — more than many of us bargained for — and there are no guarantees.

Recoup some of your losses through tax breaks. With the failure of mortgage companies, banks, development firms, car manufacturers and other businesses, some investors have experienced losses that simply can't be replaced. If you find yourself at ground zero (or below), keep in mind that you may be able to offset your losses in the form of tax breaks. Talk to your tax advisor to determine if you can deduct a portion of your losses from your taxable income.

Consult with a financial advisor. Now more than ever, investors can benefit from the insights of an experienced financial advisor who can help you sort through your options. As survivors of the recession, we can potentially work even harder, adjust our expectations and appreciate what we have. Much of the success or failure of the stock market relies on something intangible — buyer confidence. If we can find our way back to confident investing, we could be on our way to a stronger economy.

Anyone under 18 must have a waiver form signed by a parent or legal guardian.

This 1.5-credit-hour class meets Fridays from 6:30-10 p.m., Saturdays from 7:50 a.m. - 5:30 p.m., and Sundays from 7:50 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. in Room 103 of the Utility Line Building, located east of campus at 1601 East Benjamin Avenue. Instructor will be Harry Lindner, Roger Nelson, or Don Moser. All have completed intensive training to be certified by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation and Nebraska Department of Motor Vehicles.

According to the instructors, this class improves skills and may lower motorcycle insurance premiums. Students will receive five hours of classroom instruction and 10 hours of riding instruction on motorcycle basics, turning, shifting, and braking.

Participants are required to wear proper gear including eye protection like sunglasses or prescription eye glasses, a long-sleeve shirt or jacket, long pants (excluding parachute or baggy pants), full-finger gloves, boots or high-top athletic shoes that cover the ankle, and rain gear if the weather is threatening.

Upon completion of the class, students will take a driving test and written exam. After passing both exams, a certificate from Northeast Community College and the Motorcycle Safety Foundation will be awarded. Students then must take the MSF card to the Driver's License Examiner to be issued a license with a motorcycle endorsement. An eye examination is required but applicants will not have to take the riding or written examination. Cost of the class is $152.01 for Nebraska residents.

Community service project

The children and staff at Rainbow World Child Care conducted their annual fund raiser last week. Rainy weather forced the event inside, but did not deter friends, family and community members from enjoying lunch at the facility. Money raised from this year's project will be split between the Northeast Nebraska chapter of the American Red Cross and the Food Pantry. Above, the students help serve and wait on customers. At right, those in attendance enjoy the company of the children at the facility.
