Decisions, decisions

This group of young people was just one of many visiting the four fireworks stands in Wayne this week. Owners of the stands said that the evening hours tend to be the busiest, with many children returning on a daily basis or even more than once a day.

City's Green Community Efforts explained

Editor's note: The following is part one of an article by Wayne Mayor Lois Shelton on efforts being undertaken by the city of Wayne to become more sustainable and preserve the environment for future generations.

Sustainability sounds difficult to understand and even more difficult to achieve. Actually Wayne has been involved in the process of sustainability for many years. Iroquois Chief Oren Lyons asked us to think about the seventh generation in the future when we make decisions in our daily lives - how will that decision impact our descendants? Put another way, it is the ability to meet our present needs without endangering the long-term well-being of the environment.

So how has Wayne been involved? The recycling effort has been active here for many years and has successfully kept many tons of reusable material out of the landfill. It has also saved energy because lower power is needed to recycle it into further use and because there is no need to produce virgin material for the same uses. It has also created industries and jobs to produce those new products. WE have also recently had an e-waste recycling day to reuse and reclaim the valuable parts of electronics that can potentially pollute both the ground and surface water. Additionally, a pharmaceutical collection was recently held at WSC as a pilot for a larger community collection to be held next March. This will help keep the drugs out of our waterways as current wastewater treatment processes can not remove them after they are flushed into the waste water stream.

The municipality itself has been actively working to make changes that conserve both electricity and other resources. We have had a reduction in paper use through the installation of new software that doesn't require paper copy backup, the use of duplexing and the use of paperless council packets when possible. Mowing time and fuel use have been reduced by planting native grasses in some locations to create wildlife habitat and assist with storm water control. We continue to encourage the planting of trees for both visual appeal and the cooling effect they have on the environment and our buildings & homes.

Even though we are the electric utility, we try to reduce our usage because we also have to pay for the power. Both state-wide and nationally, using less power is seen as the most effective way to keep our costs under control and prevent the construction of costly new power sources just to meet the demand on those few hot days. That is why the load control switches that we have asked to have voluntarily placed on you're A/C units are so important. The city has them on the public buildings and is increasingly using programmable thermostats to keep unnecessary heating and cooling to a minimum. Even the Community Activity Center, which has proven to be more efficient than predicted, can now be shut off during those high demand periods. We also shut off less critical Wastewater Treatment Plant blowers and the well pumps.

New projects that are aimed at reduction of electric use are the new radiator for the power plant and some pilot Time-of-Use electric meters. The new radiator will have a drain-back system that will prevent the heating of cooling fluids in the winter. While that sounds like a contradiction, water used to cool the engines when they are run currently runs through the radiators at all times. To prevent the cooling water from freezing when the engines are not running, the water must be heated for its trip through the radiator. The new system will allow the water to be drained into an underground storage tank until the engines are run and need the cooling. This is projected to save $50,000 each year.

Time-of Use meters would allow those who wish to save money on their electric bills based on the lower cost of power during the night-time hours to do so by choosing when they perform certain tasks. Because power is not in such high demand at night with cooler temperatures and fewer manufacturers operating, the cost to produce is lower. At this time, the day or peak rates and the night or off-peak rates are averaged to determine the rate that we pay. Time-of-use meters would register when you use your power and charge you at either the peak or off-peak rate.

The new wastewater Treatment Plant is also a project that promises to reduce our power consumption. With fewer moving parts and a more efficient system, the new plant should reduce our use by about half. This is one of the aspects of the new plant that will help to control your sewer rates.

As you can see, your city government has been thinking for some time about being sustainable. There are several more topics that are part of this whole "green" effort. I will take them up in future articles.

Administrator announces hospital to discontinue providing Meals on Wheels/Congregate Meals program

Marile Thomas, Providence Medical Center Administrator, has announced that the members of the hospital Governing Board have determined that the contract between Providence Medical Center and the City of Wayne should not be signed for the coming year (July 1, 2009, through June 30, 2010), but rather for two (2) months through August 31, 2009.

"The Governing Board arrived at this decision after careful evaluation and review of the programs," said Thomas. She said that since the beginning of Meals on Wheels and congregate meals in Wayne, PMC has provided the meals.

Providence Medical Center was designated as a Critical Access Hospital in 2001. Because of the Critical Access Hospital status, PMC has not been able to recapture expenses related to the production of the Meals on Wheels and congregate meals because they are non-reimbursable.

"We continued to provide the congregate meals and the Meals On Wheels as a community service," says Thomas. "Now, however, because of all the uncertainties surrounding Health Reform, the hospital's Governing Board feels that this is the time to re-evaluate our non-reimbursable contracts and/or services that we provide," she said.

According to Thomas, basis of reimbursement for a Critical Access hospital is the cost of services provided to patients and other expenses related to employees. Congregate meals and Meals On Wheels do not fall into that category and are non-reimbursable. Since 2001, Providence Medical Center has lost between $120,000 and $170,000 per year in Medicare reimbursement.

"Specifically speaking, it is important for our citizens to know that even though PMC has absorbed these losses in the past and remained profitable, we would not be fiscally responsible if we did not reevaluate these losses in terms of our future profitability," said Thomas. "We believe that the upcoming discontinuation of our contract with the City of Wayne will have a minimal impact on the community, while at the same time helping Providence Medical Center in meeting the unseen challenges ahead," said Thomas.

"We believe that sometimes change is good, and the citizens of Wayne are deserv-

Military chaplain strives to meet the needs of soldiers

By Clara Osten
Of the Herald

As the only Catholic chaplain on one of the largest military bases in Iraq, Fr. Mark Beran was kept very busy during his tour in Iraq.

Fr. Beran, who currently serves as pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne, traveled with the 734th Transportation Battalion from Kearney to Iraq and was overseas from September of 2006 to August of 2007.

As part of the Nebraska Army National Guard, Fr. Beran had attended Chaplain Basic Training Camp in Ft. Jackson, S.C. beginning in August of 2004. He completed two, six-week sessions in which he was one of 95 chaplains of all faiths, but the only Catholic.

"I'm not exactly sure why, but when people think of an army chaplain, they always think of a Catholic priest. Chaplains are treated well," Fr. Beran said.

During basic training, he was taught how to march and first aid, but did not have to learn how to use a weapon.

Following Chaplain Basic training, the office of Archbishop Elden Curtiss, Archbishop of the Omaha archdiocese called Fr. Beran to see if he was interested in traveling overseas as a chaplain. He said 'yes' and was sent to Iraq.

"The three pillars (roles) of a chaplain are to nurture the living, care for the dying and honor the dead. Our job is to fill the faith needs of soldiers of all faiths. While in Iraq I met those of the Wicken, Muslim, Jewish and all Christian faiths," Fr. Beran said. "Our job was to make sure every soldier had the opportunity to practice his or her faith."

As the only Catholic priest, Fr. Beran led all Catholic services, including daily Mass and four Sunday Masses. On his base there was a designated chapel area that could be switched to accommodate various religious services.

In addition to his responsibility for the 800 soldiers in his battalion, Fr. Beran was assigned to an area with six other bases. This area included the region north of Bagdad and west to Iran. He traveled to these bases as time allowed, especially during the Christmas and Easter seasons.

During his tour in Iraq, Fr. Beran conducted five classes to discuss the basics of the Catholic faith, performed the sacrament of Confirmation and was involved with marriage preparation.

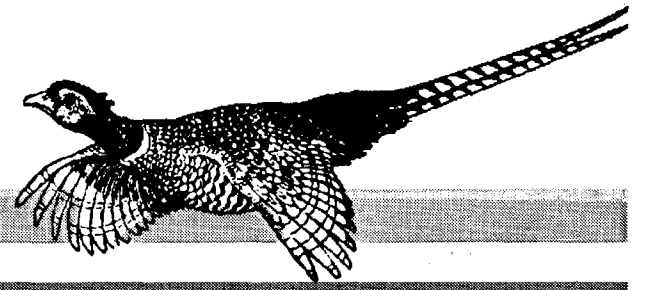

Fr. Mark Beran celebrates Palm Sunday Mass with the men and women on his military base while he served as a military chaplain in Iraq.

See to Reader now available to Nebraska public libraries

One out of five children entering kindergarten in Nebraska has an undetected vision problem. This "unseen" health issue may greatly influence the outcome of a child's academic and social behavior as they struggle to keep pace with other students. Parents and educators need to be aware of this potential link to poor reading performance and other developmental skill lags in children.

Libraries across Nebraska offer summer programs for children of all ages to encourage their continued exposure to books and reading. The See to Read project brings awareness to the vital link between vision and reading. Libraries can help parents learn more about this link when they bring their children into the library this summer. For those parents with younger children, they may then be motivated to take advantage of the free See to Learn vision assessments for 3-year-olds; and will take their child to an eye care professional for a school vision exam before entering school for the first time.

Complimentary copies of the See to Reader are available at Nebraska public libraries. Included in the Reader are:

- warning signs of vision problems,
- booklist for children relating to vision,
- first aid for eye emergencies,
- puzzles,
- ideas for developing a child into a strong reader,
- information for receiving a FREE professional vision assessment for any three-year old in the state, and
- reminders for parents with children entering kindergarten regarding vision evaluations now required by Nebraska law.

This information can also be found by visiting www.NEchildrensvision.org, under See to Read. Please take time to visit your local library this summer to experience the worlds awaiting there for young readers and to find out how you can learn more about the role that healthy eyes play in this discovery.

Computer Basics Workshops coming to northeast Nebraska

Two Computer Basics Workshops will be offered in July by the Center for Rural Affairs' Rural Enterprise Assistance Project (REAP) Hispanic Business Center in partnership with the University of Nebraska Lincoln Extension, Northeast Community College, and the Wakefield Gardner Public Library. The workshops will be located in West Point and Wakefield.

The classes will be conducted in Spanish. Topics involved include how to operate a mouse, open and close files and programs, create an email address, use the internet, protect a computer against viruses, and how to use Microsoft Word.

"These classes will help business owners get more familiar with the use of a computer," commented Adriana Dungan, Center for Rural Affairs. "One of our goals is to increase the use of computers within the business to help business owners with their record keeping."

Computer Basics Workshops in Spanish will be held: July 7, 9 and 10 on the Northeast Community College Campus, West Point, 202 Anna Stalp Ave., 6 to 9 p.m. (Registration Deadline is July 6, 2009) and July 14, 16 17 at Gardner Public Library in Wakefield at 114 W 3rd, 6 to 8 p.m. (Registration deadline is July 13, 2009)

For more information, contact Adriana Dungan, adrianad@fra.org or 402.494.1013. More information about REAP can be found at www.fra.org/reap.

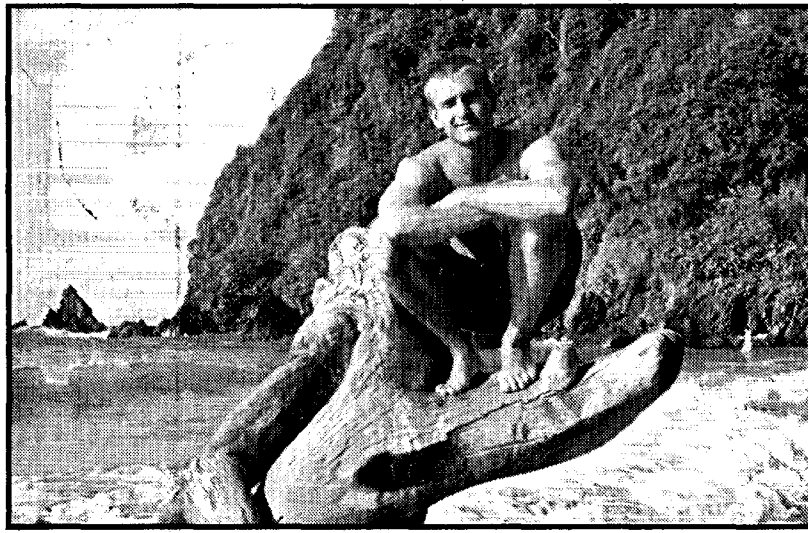

Children 'Caught Being Good'

A number of Wayne area children have been 'caught' by members of the Wayne Police Department.

However, these children were caught being good rather than being bad.

The following children were caught being good by wearing proper bicycle safety equipment — Hunter Loewe, Ryan Karsky, Jacob Karsky, Ryan McGowan and Paige Milliken.

The following children were caught being good by acting in a safe manner and helping with chores — Jacob Stenka, Jace Piper, Liam Wachter, Annika Wachter, Elaine Tellos and Rebecca Tellos.

Trevor Wright embarks on two-year, South American bike tour

Trevor Wright, a 2001 graduate of Wayne High School and son of Gary and Peggy Wright, recently embarked on an ambitious, two-year bike tour of South America.

Previous to beginning his trip, Trevor worked for International Studies Abroad in Austin, Texas.

Trevor's traveling name is Me, Bob & Surly. Me is Trevor, Bob is the brand name of the bike trailer he is pulling and Surly is the brand of bicycle he is riding. He has a Facebook set up for others to join to follow him: <http://www.facebook.com/home.php?#group.php?gid=90654743052>

He has a Twitter account set up here, a very easy way to read updates when he is around the internet: <http://twitter.com/mebobandsurly>

Trevor and his brother, Andy, have created a blog to keep others in contact with Trevor and updated on his adventures. His blog link is <http://mebobandsurly.wordpress.com/>

Below are answers to some of the questions Trevor has been asked as he prepared for his trip.

Why are you traveling?

The idea of leaving home to discover completely new places has always fascinated me. As a kid I flipped through my father's National Geographic magazines, mesmerized by aerial photos of the Amazon, close-ups of tribes with tattoos and hoop rings, cities surrounded by mountains, landscapes locked in time. Slowly I came to realize if I'm to ever experience these things, I would have to act instead of dream. This South American bike tour logically must happen now while I'm youthful and free of responsibilities. Simply put, I'm traveling now because I can.

What do you hope to achieve through this trip?

The reason for this trip is adventure, but since I'm a very goal-oriented person, I've listed some of my more concrete to-dos below.

- Become fluent in Portuguese;
- Gain real world experience for a future Latin American-related career;
- Volunteer at two organizations that truly help local communities;
- Take a photography class in Colombia;
- Learn yoga;
- Stretch daily;

Why travel by bike?

People have reacted differently upon hearing my travel plans, with responses ranging from "That's amazing" to "You're going to die!" Admittedly, this South American bike tour is more ambitious than anything I've ever done. (The farthest I've ever biked at one time was 100 miles during an American Cancer Society fundraiser: www.shinerbash.com). To make the trip manageable I'll break it down to smaller pieces. Instead of overwhelming myself with the vastness of South America (read with echoey booming God voice), I'll concentrate on getting from A to B each day. I will focus on the now. People, scenery, food, music, culture are most accessible when traveling slowly. I can literally stop and smell the roses, at anytime, for as long as I like, and even take a long nap amongst the bees. Why not? Also, bike travel is cheap. Since my funds are limited, biking will allow me to travel farther, longer, with more up-close and personal experiences. In the end, it's all about the stories and the people you meet.

Additional questions will be answered in a future edition of the Wayne Herald.

Tree Contest part of Q-125 summer activities; twilight tour set for Aug. 9

In recognition of the city of Wayne's Q125, there will be a Large and Unusual Tree Contest to help identify and honor the largest and most unusual trees growing in Wayne. Deadline for nominations submission is Monday, July 20. Nominations can be picked up at the Wayne County Extension office, the Wayne City office or by calling Steve Rasmussen, 375-0101, (srasmussen2@unl.edu).

Owners and nominators (if different from the owner) will be recognized with Wayne Q125 Large and Unusual Tree Certificates during the community celebration Aug. 7-9. A Twilight Tour of some of the trees recognized will be held on Sunday, Aug. 9 at 7 p.m.

"Hopefully there will be six to 10 trees for us to visit during the tour and talk about each one," Steve Rasmussen, who is with the Nebraska Forest Service, said.

"There will be more information closer to Aug. 9."

Rasmussen noted they have been getting applications. So far, they have received nominations for the Largest and also for the Unusual tree categories.

"The trees are leafing out more and people who are walking are noticing them," Rasmussen said. "Anyone who wants to nominate a tree can give the address if they don't know who lives there. We encourage more nominations. We need more unusual tree nominations, nut tree nominations and conifer nominations."

Rasmussen added that even if someone doesn't know what type of tree it is, they can still nominate the tree. Applications are available at the Wayne County Extension office, the city office or by calling Rasmussen at 375-0101.

Wayne Q125 Celebration Large and Unusual Tree Contest rules are: 1) Trees must be on private property (includes street terrace) and within the city limits. 2) Trees can be nominated by the owner or by a non-owner. 3) Unusual trees will have no more than three of that species in town on private property and be at least 10 years old. 4) Largest trees will be measured using the National Champion Tree Program method of combining height (feet) + average crown spread (4-foot increments) + circumference at 4.5 feet off the ground (inches) for the combined overall score. 5) Trees will be officially measured and compared to other entries by one or more of the following persons: Joel Hansen, Wayne Community Forestry, Cory Schmidt, LENRD Forester, Kim Schramm, WSC Arboretum Curator or Steve Rasmussen, NFS District Forester.

Categories for nomination: *Largest Conifer; *Largest Deciduous; *Largest Fruit Tree (from apple, apricot, cherry, peach, pear, plum, only); *Largest nut tree (from buckeyes, chestnut, walnut, oak, only); *Tallest conifer; *Tallest deciduous; *Unusual trees (not be more than two of the same specie in town on private property).

Total points: Largest trees are determined by assigning points based on trunk circumference, height and crown spread. One point is assigned for every inch of stem circumference, one point for each foot of height, and one fourth point for each foot of average crown spread. The point total is the sum of the points from circumference, height and crown spread measurements.

The Wayne Q125 Celebration Large and Unusual Tree Contest is sponsored by the City of Wayne, Nebraska Forest Service and UNL Extension - Wayne County.

Entries being accepted for Business and Industry Vendor Golf tournament

There are still a few spots available for teams in the Wayne Area Economic Development Business and Industry 22nd Annual Vendor Golf Tournament on July 16.

The Vendor Golf Invitational, in addition to being a major fundraiser, serves as an excellent way to showcase our community to the vendors who supply local companies. For anyone who has vendors who serve the business needs, this is the perfect opportunity to show your appreciation and invite them to participate in an enjoyable day of golf.

Sack lunches will be served to all participants, with free beverages served all day on the course. A steak dinner, door prizes, and the awarding of pin prizes wrap up the event.

An additional opportunity to sponsor a golf hole is available to area businesses. Hole sponsors will have a sign placed at their tee box and may have a display and/or a representative at the tee.

Please contact the Wayne Area Economic Development office for more information.

Ruth Macnamara, Ph.D., appointed assistant dean of new UNMC College of Nursing

Ruth (Pakieser) Macnamara, Ph.D., has been appointed assistant dean of the new University of Nebraska Medical Center College of Nursing Northern Division in Norfolk effective July 1. Dr. Macnamara is the founding and transitional dean. One of her tasks will be to identify a permanent assistant dean by January 2011.

The facility, named the J. Paul and Eleanor McIntosh College of Nursing, is scheduled to open in 2010 and will house nursing programs of UNMC and Northeast Community College. Private donations of $11.9 million funded the project. Annual operating costs will be funded by the state.

Dr. Macnamara has served as an associate professor and clinical instructor in mental health nursing since 2007, and in the last year has been laying the groundwork for UNMC's new division that will serve the northeast region of Nebraska. This is her second stint with the UNMC College of Nursing. She previously served as director of the UNMC College of Nursing Learning Resource Center from 1988 to 1996. She also served as assistant professor in the UNMC School of Allied Health Professions from 1988 to 1996.

Virginia Tilden, D.N.Sc., dean of the UNMC College of Nursing, said Dr. Macnamara has a distinguished career in nursing education and administration.

"Dr. Macnamara brings a wealth of knowledge in nursing education, organizational development and academic administration," Dr. Tilden said. "She is ideally positioned for success as we take the next historic steps in extending our campus structure to northeast Nebraska.

"We couldn't have hoped for anyone with a better foundation of experience. Our faculty are extremely enthusiastic to have Dr. Macnamara take on this position."

Dr. Macnamara, who has 40 years of academic nursing experience, began her academic career as an instructor at St. Joseph School of Nursing in Omaha. Since then, she has held positions, including nursing program director and division chair at Mount Marty College of Nursing in Yankton, S.D., and as dean of the School of Health Care Professionals at College of Saint Mary in Omaha.

Dr. Tilden said Dr. Macnamara has already established excellent working relationships with the university's partners in the initiative to bring UNMC to Norfolk, including Northeast Community College, Faith Regional Health Services, and many community and critical access hospitals.

"Ruth Macnamara brings just the right combination of skill and expertise to the position," said Bill Path, Ph.D., president of Northeast Community College. "Dr. Macnamara's enthusiasm is contagious and she brings a vested interest to the project here. She will hit the ground running in a very few weeks, building what I am sure will be an exceptional team of faculty and administrative staff."

Dr. Macnamara said as liaison between the UNMC College of Nursing and Norfolk, she helped finalize work begun when representatives from the region initiated the request for the college to establish a fifth campus in Norfolk.

"The people of the community and the health care community are uniformly enthusiastic and so very supportive of this project that it has been and will be a joy to work with them in this position," she said. "I look forward to being part of this historic partnership, which has truly been energizing."

Dr. Macnamara, who grew up north of Mason City, Iowa, has called Nebraska home since 1963.

She earned a bachelor's degree in nursing from Creighton University in 1965, a master's degree in educational psychology from the University of Nebraska at Omaha in 1970, a doctorate in industrial/organizational psychology from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1986 and a master's degree in nursing from UNMC in 1993.

Residents invited to be part of Community Band for Q125 parade

Plans are being made for a Community Band to march in the upcoming Q-125 Parade on Saturday, Aug. 8 at 6:30 p.m. on Main Street in Wayne. Anyone who can play an instrument is invited to participate. Practice will be held Tuesday, Aug. 4 at Wayne High School. The Community Band will be marching to the Blue Devil Drum Cadence, the Wayne High School song and the Wayne State College fight song.

Wayne High School band members are also urged to take part in this band for the Q-125.

Also taking part in the Community Band will be Brad Weber, Wayne High School band instructor, Wayne State College band instructor Dave Bohnert and several instructors from WSC and former Wayne High School band instructor Ron Dalton.

Anyone interested in being in the Community Band can call Brad Weber, Wayne High School band instructor, at 402-375-1150.

Judy Korth's name was drawn for one of this year's Wayne Relay For Life quilts. Above, Judy and her husband, Warren, hold up her quilt that was made from Relay For Life t-shirts belonging to her late father-in-law, Wendell Korth.

Relay For Life quilt holds special meaning to recipient

By Lynn Sievers
Of the Herald

Judy Korth of Lincoln was the recipient of one of the quilts raffled off at this year's Relay For Life in Wayne. Having her name drawn was special for Judy as it was made from Relay For Life t-shirts belonging to her late father-in-law, Wendell Korth.

The quilt means a lot to the whole Korth family because Wendell was a cancer survivor and never missed the Relay For Life events in Wayne. Each year he got a t-shirt for the relay. One of the early t-shirts he received was from Vicky Skokan when he had his cancer surgery on his larynx in Lincoln.

"I thought the t-shirts were nice so I donated them to the local Relay For Life committee," Ruth Korth, (Wendell's wife) said.

Skokan decided a Relay For Life quilt made from the t-shirts was a great idea. Linda Young had made her one and she treasured it.

"I thought if a quilt was made from the t-shirts, it would be a nice remembrance of Wendell and make some money for the relay too," Skokan said.

Korth noted, "This spring, Vicky and Sara Claussen stopped by to show me the finished product. Linda Young did a beautiful job on the quilt."

"I loved working on it and it was a privilege," said Linda Young, who pieced and sewed the quilt. "I did it in acknowledgement of the people suffering and going through cancer."

There were two quilts for this year's Relay For Life. The other quilt was made by Sue Gilmore of Carroll. The name of Charlene Jones of Carroll was drawn for that quilt.

Ruth noted she was glad that Judy won the quilt made from Wendell's t-shirts because their son, Warren, and Judy took Wendell to the hospital in Lincoln when he had surgery and brought him home when he was dismissed.

"Judy received the quilt on June 14 at the Korth reunion in Wayne," Ruth said.

She added that Jane Tonjes of Bertrand, (wife of Jim Tonjes, Wendell's nephew), took the photo at the Korth reunion and sent it to Ruth. The Tonjes' daughter, Angie Carr, had been a regional director for Relay For Life in Kansas.

Ruth ended by saying that according to those in charge, it was a successful venture with a happy ending.

Many events slated for Wakefield this weekend

There will be a lot of activity in Wakefield this 4th of July weekend.

Among the many plans include an Antique Engine Show, 11 a.m. - 4 p.m., Saturday, July 4 in the St. John's Lutheran Church parking lot, 409 W. 7th Street. Additional exhibitors are welcome.

Also planned on Saturday is a ribbon cutting of the Chicago Northwestern Train Depot, 10 a.m. at 101 East 1st Street, Gardner Way Street. An Old Fashioned Picnic is planned in the back yard of the Graves Library Museum at 206 West 3rd Street. Entertainment (sponsored by the Wakefield Heritage Organization) will be offered from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. There will be a freewill donation for the event.

Other 4th of July activities in Wakefield include: All School Reunion • Baseball Games at Eaton Field • American Legion Poker Run • New Community Swimming Pool Open • Wakefield and Railroad memorabilia exhibits at the Train Depot • Graves Museum Serving Burgers and Brats, 11 a.m. - 1 p.m. (Home of Russell Marshall's Antique Wrench Collection) • Gardner Public Library Open House, 9 - 11 a.m.

Groundbreaking for College Center of Sioux City planned

The public is invited to watch officials of Northeast Community College and Wayne State College break ground for a history-making facility in South Sioux City in July. Groundbreaking for the College Center of South Sioux City is scheduled for Thursday, July 9, at 9 a.m. at the site located along Highway 77 and across from the Wal-Mart Super Center. The site is a 57-acre parcel of land donated to Northeast by the South Sioux City Community Development Agency.

Parking will be available at the Wal-Mart parking lot adjacent to the building site. The College Center of South Sioux City will partner Northeast Community College and Wayne State College in the same building. Northeast and Wayne State will offer additional opportunities for students to earn associate, baccalaureate, and master's degrees without having to relocate, a combination of customized training for businesses and industry, continuing education, licensing programs, and career and technical training.

Construction on the approximately 39,600-square-foot facility should substantially be completed in December 2010. A capital campaign is in progress to raise monies for the facility. To date, more than $11.5 million of the total $12 million project cost has been funded through the contributions of the two colleges, private donations, foundations, and federal funds.

Former State Senator Pat Engel is honorary chairperson for the capital campaign. Bart Gotch, president of Siouxland National Bank, co-chairs the campaign with Eric Bertness, CEO of Phillips Kiln Services, Inc. The monthly meeting of the Northeast Board of Governors will follow the groundbreaking ceremony at Northeast's Education Center at 3309 Daniels Lane in the Westside Business Park.

For more information about the project, contact Pam Miller at (402)241-6405 or Phyllis Conner at (402)375-7510.

Using energy when demand is less makes good sense

How and when you use electric energy can make a difference.

Nebraska's electric system must be flexible to supply reliable power to homes, businesses, and industries under a wide variety of conditions.

This takes a complex system of power plants, substations, transmission and distribution lines to get energy to where it needs to go. As an energy consumer, there are many things you can do to reduce energy usage, particularly during hot days in the summer months when demand for electricity is typically at its highest.

These EnergyWiseSM tips include:

- When temperatures top 90° F, find ways to reduce your energy usage from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m. when energy usage is typically at its highest.
- Raise your thermostat to a higher setting and turn on fans.
- Close drapes on windows that face the sun.
- Grill supper outdoors. Use your microwave instead of the stove top or oven.
- Delay dishwashing and laundry until after 8 p.m.
- Unplug appliances and shut off lights that are not in use.
- Do any baking early in the morning before it gets hot outside.
- Shower early in the morning or later in the evening.

Your public power electric utility wants you to get the most value for your money, each and every time you turn on a switch. It costs far less to save a kilowatt-hour than it does to build a new power plant to generate one.

For more information, contact your local public power utility.

Historical tidbits from Wayne and Wayne County provided by the Wayne County Museum for Wayne's Q-125

A report to the village board in March, 1889 showed Wayne had a population of 1,130 residents. This being enough for a city organization, the town was divided into three wards. Elections were held in April and the new Mayor and city council took over May 4, 1889.

Expenses for the city of Wayne in the year beginning May 7, 1889, were estimated at a total of $2,753.40. Salaries were placed as follows: Mayor, $100; Clerk, $74; treasurer, $40; attorney, $125; street commissioner, $140; marshal, $600; city council, $240. The amount for streets, alleys and sidewalks was estimated at $250, for printing, $75; elections, $25 and contingent expenses at $300.

The children at Rainbow World Child Care took advantage of warm weather to play outside in water. Buckets, squirt guns and slippery slides provided for an entertaining morning. Mother Nature provided sprinkles to make sure all in attendance got wet.

He noted that there is no 'safe job' in Iraq and while he was not armed during his travels to other bases, he did wear an armored vest.

He did not have a lot of contact with the Iraqi people so was not able to determine if the Iraqi people were happy to have the U.S. soldiers in their country.

Due to the fact that the U.S. had been in Iraq for several years before Fr. Beran's tour of duty, he said he found living conditions there relatively good. The base he was stationed on had running water, showers and other basic necessities. He did say that temperatures there often got to 120 degrees during the day in the summer.

The battalion Fr. Beran was part of lost four of its soldiers during the time they were in Iraq, including two soldiers from Nebraska.

Fr. conducted two services for each of these men, a ramp ceremony as the body of the fallen soldier was loaded onto a plane for the trip home and a memorial ceremony on the base.

In addition to traditional chaplain duties, Fr. Beran worked with soldiers in areas such as suicide prevention and making the transition from being in Iraq to being at home.

"Soldiers feel safe talking to a chaplain. They know that what they said would remain with the chaplain, unlike talking to their buddies."

In attempting to meet the goal of "keeping life as normal as possible," the soldiers' living quarters were decorated with cards, letters and pictures from people in the United States.

"We received lots of care packages, support and cards from back home. That was very nice," Fr. Beran said.

Fr. Beran said one of the most difficult aspects of spending a year away from home is coming back to friends "whose lives had gone on while yours was put on hold."

Fr. Beran has stayed in contact with some of the chaplains he served with and his chaplain assistant, a soldier who was trained to protect and assist a chaplain.

As the anniversary of the nation's independence is observed, Fr. Beran is grateful to be in Wayne and enjoying the freedoms we have, especially after having served in an area where many people have never seen peace.

Wayne Municipal Airport Chicken Show Fly In is scheduled

An airport Fly-in on Saturday, July 11, includes free airplane rides for children age 8-17 from approximately 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. weather permitting. Parental consent is required.

There will also be static displays at the airport. Shuttle service between the airport and Bressler Park will be provided by Wayne Rotarians. This event is sponsored by E.A.A. Young Eagle Program, Wayne Airport Authority and Becker Aircraft Maintenance.

The Fly-In continues Sunday with Pac 'N' Save serving brunch from 8 am - noon. Open to the Public. The Crowing Motors Car show from 9 a.m. - noon.

All vehicles welcome at no cost. Prizes awarded on spectator vote. Registration for the Last Cluck Poker Run begins at 11 a.m., with all vehicles welcome. All hands must be turned in by 5 p.m. Prizes awarded.

ing of the best that can be provided to them," said Thomas. "I am very proud of the service that PMC has provided regarding these programs over the past years. I am confident that these programs will continue to be offered and that in the end, everyone will be pleased and satisfied with the outcome."

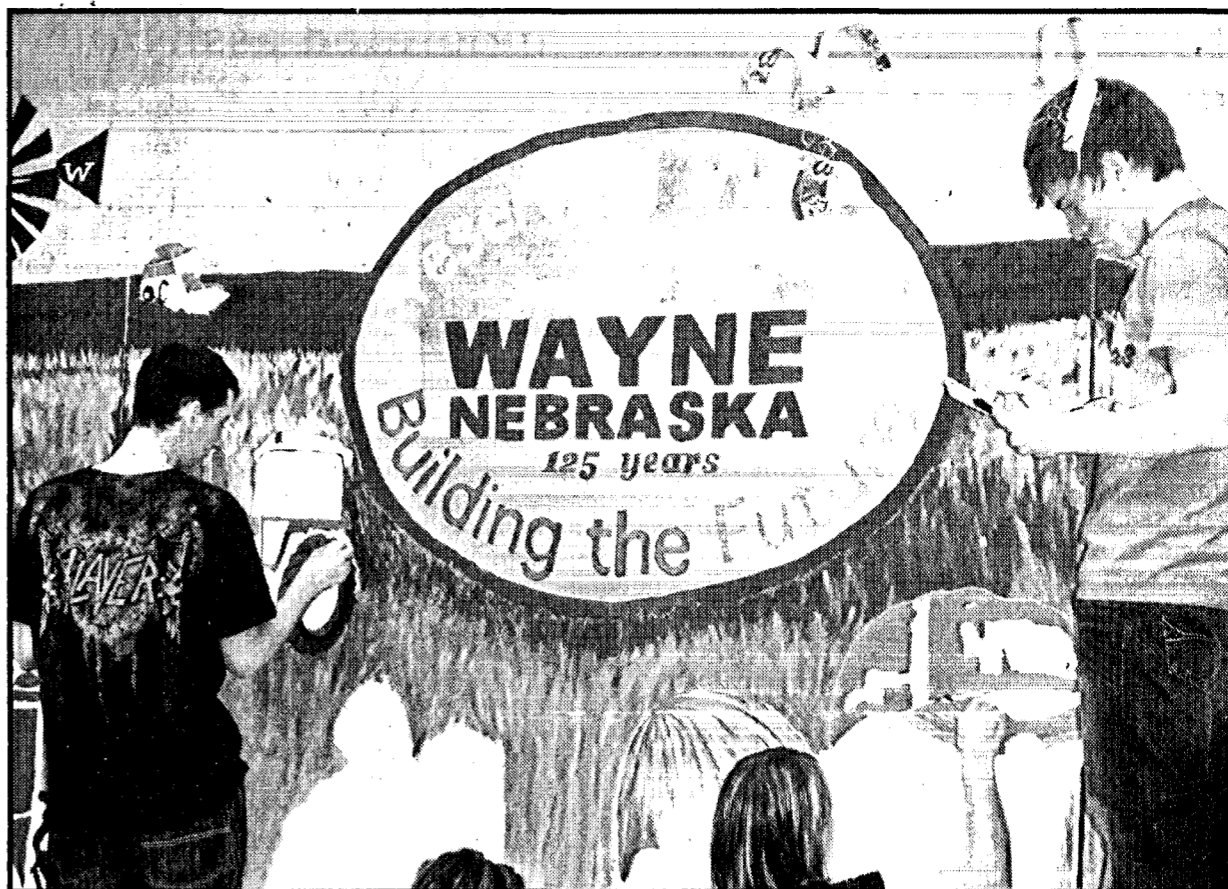

Lowell Johnson, Wayne city administrator, noted that Providence Medical Center has catered meals to the Wayne Senior Center for a long time.

"We have been getting about 17,000 meals per year from PMC and our seniors think the food is rich and tasty," Johnson said. "When PMC became a Critical Access Hospital, the certification brought a better Medicare reimbursement plan for rural Nebraska hospitals. However, the reimbursement formula reduces reimbursement to those hospitals that use hospital room and staff to do non-medical services for the community like catering to senior centers."

Johnson ended by saying, "Penny Vollbracht, our senior center coordinator, has bid out the catering contract for the senior center meals and Meals on Wheels for the next year. We are fortunate in Wayne to have several good local catering services and we will find out on July 3 how many submit bids. PMC is covering our needs through August so we should be OK."

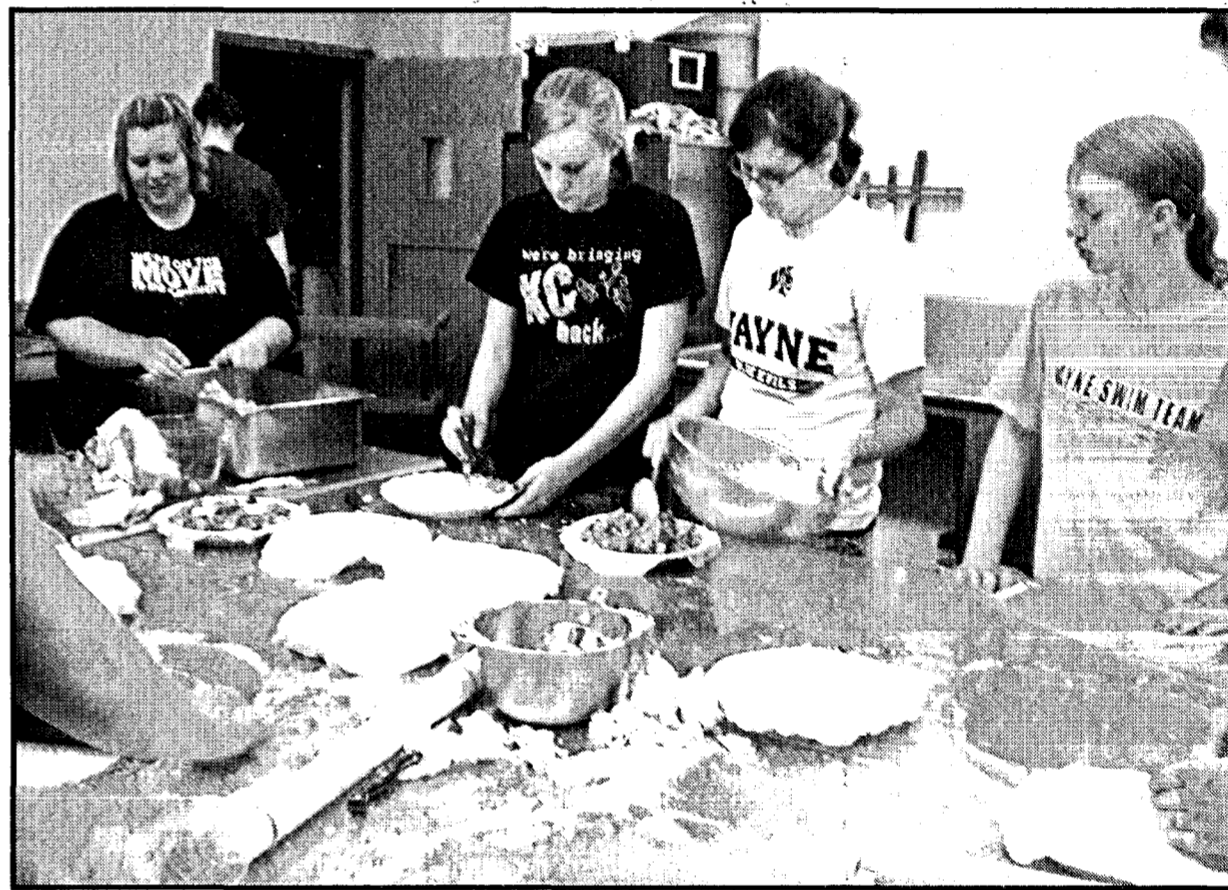

Justin Viek and Joey Muren were among the many students in the Wayne High School Advanced Art and Painting class who worked on the mural for the Wayne Q-125. The mural is finished and will be installed downtown on Tuesday, July 7 at 5:30 p.m.

Mural dedication planned

A dedication of the Q-125 mural is set for Tuesday, July 7 at 5:30 p.m. on the north side of This & That, 222 Main Street, in Wayne (rain date is Wednesday, July 8). The public is welcome and encouraged to attend.

Otte Construction of Wayne is installing the eight foot by 16 foot mural as their contribution to the Q-125 committee. The mural will be mounted to the side of the This & That building, which is owned by Cap and Nana Peterson.

Wayne High School art teacher Amy Jackson and her students will be among those receiving recognition for the project. The mural was created by the Advanced Art and Painting class.

Practice makes perfect pies

Angie Gnirk, Danielle Wurdeman, Anna Osten and Emma Loberg were among the Wayne County 4-Hers who spent the morning making pies last week. More than 80 pies were assembled for this year's food stand. The Wayne County Fair will be held July 29-Aug. 2.

Nelson announces $47.8 million in stimulus funds for Nebraska schools

Nebraska's Senator Ben Nelson welcomed recently an announcement by the US Department of Education that $47.8 million in stimulus funding will be added to existing Title 1 funds being made available to school districts across the state for a total $115 million investment.

Title 1 grants to local educational agencies: FY 2009 Title 1, Part A. allocations under the regular FY 2009 appropriation and the ARRA are: Allen Consolidated Schools: *Title 1 Allocation Final Regular Appropriation Only: 17,077, *Title 1 Allocation regular appropriation & ARRA: 27,157; Laurel-Concord Public Schools: *47,824, *31,681, *79,505; Wakefield Public Schools: *74,597, *42,482, *117,078; Wayne Community Schools: *92,061, *57,602, *149,663; Winside Public Schools: *51,406, *21,522, *72,928.

"These stimulus funds will help Nebraska school districts meet the needs of their students in the midst of funding problems brought on by the economic downturn," said Nelson. "A quality education serves as the foundation for a prosperous and successful future. By ensuring continued funding for financially strapped schools, these stimulus funds are being put to good use."

The funds are being made available as part of the Title I program, which provide financial assistance to local educational agencies for services that improve the teaching and learning of children at risk of not meeting challenging State academic achievement standards, especially those children who reside in areas with high concentrations of children from low-income families.

The funds are distributed using four formulas: basic grants, concentration grants, targeted grants, and education finance incentive grants. Each formula uses specific criteria such as the number of students, families above and below the poverty line, and number of children in foster homes to determine the amount of the funding.

The funds are part of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) investment, also known as the stimulus bill.

Senator Nelson played a key role in the passage of the $787 billion stimulus bill. He worked with a bipartisan group of nearly 20 Senators to better focus The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act on tax cuts for the middle class and job creation for millions of Americans. Senator Nelson led the group through the initial bill line by line, dollar by dollar, to reduce spending and cut out $108 billion of inefficient or less-stimulative spending. The bipartisan group helped the improved bill win congressional approval.

President Obama signed it into law Feb. 17. Senator Nelson is posting information about the release of stimulus funds on his website as it becomes available. Visit http://ben-nelson.senate.gov/feature_4.cfm for more information.

Lincoln Nemesis outlasts Wayne 2-0 in Championship game

Dirt Devil 14's earn first-ever Class A runner-up honors

By Casey Schroeder

The Lincoln Nemesis used a pair of solo runs in the second and third innings to edge the Wayne Dirt Devils 2-0 in the championship game of the 2009 Nebraska Class A State Softball Tournament held this past weekend at the Bill Smith Softball Complex in Hastings.

"This shows how hard this group of girls have worked to get to this point. The team's goal was to get to Sunday and play. They surpassed their goal and surprised a lot of teams to finish as runners-up." Wayne 14-and-under coach Doug Carroll said.

"For a group of girls to play together for the first time this year, putting eighth graders with freshmen and sophomores to finish 34-5 shows how well these girls get along and respect each other."

For Wayne, the journey began Friday afternoon when they opened State Tournament action with a 7-3 win over the Ralston Rage.

Wayne opened the scoring in the bottom of the first when Emily Leeper doubled and later scored on wild pitch to put the Dirt Devils on top 1-0 after one inning of play.

In the second inning, Wayne continued its offensive success, scoring six additional runs on hits by Kristin Carroll, Caitlin Fehringer, Courtney Davie, McKenna Gibson and Tia Jech to make the score 7-0 heading into the top of the third.

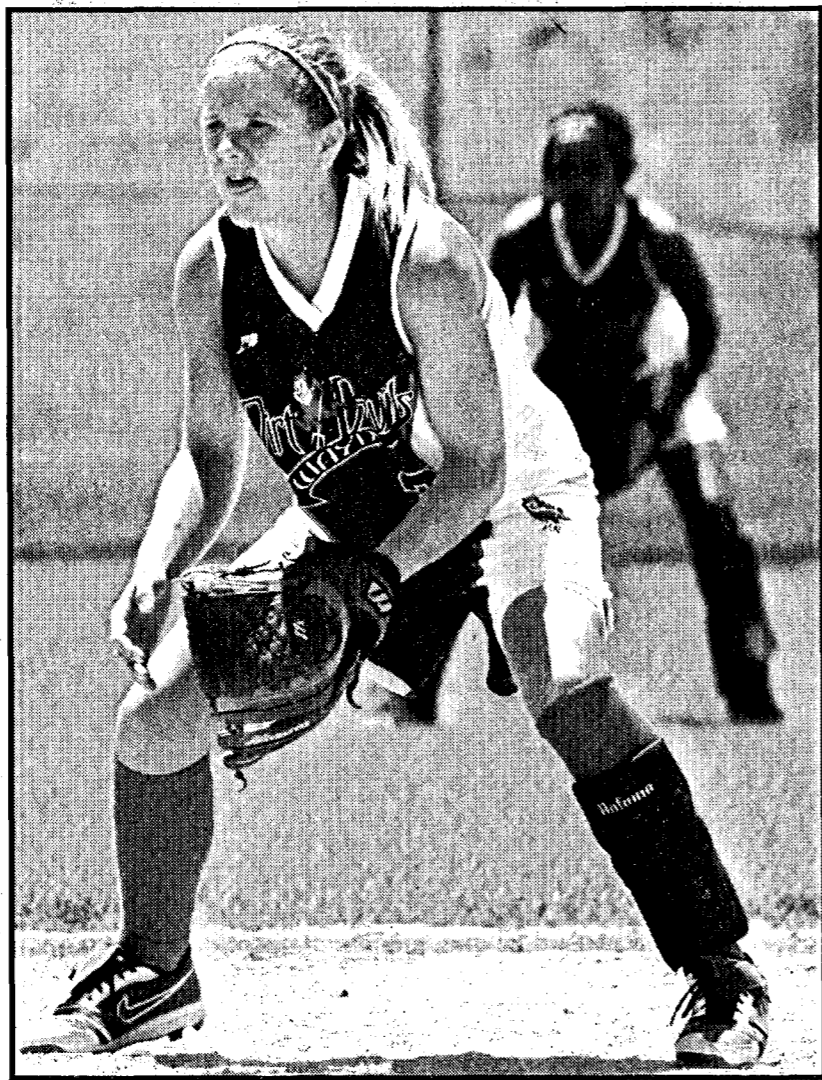

Following three scoreless innings of play, Ralston put together its only rally of the game with three runs scored in the top of the sixth, but by that point it was too late as Wayne was well on their way to the 7-3 win.

The Dirt Devils were paced at the plate by Leeper who went 2 for 3 with two runs while Carroll finished 2 for 3 with one run scored.

Defensively, Carroll (23-0) was tagged with the pitching win as she gave up one run on six hits with three walks and five strikeouts in six innings of work.

Following the Dirt Devils 7-3 win over Ralston, Wayne returned to action later in the day where they used a late three-run rally in the top of the fifth to pick up a 4-1 win over the Lincoln Blue Diamonds.

With the score still standing 0-0 after one inning of play, Wayne seized control of the game in the top of the second with a run scored by Gibson, who singled earlier in the inning from the leadoff spot.

In the bottom of the third, Lincoln tied Wayne at 1-1 with a run scored, but failed to get any closer as the Dirt Devils added three additional runs on hits by Leeper and Jech and a pair of RBIs from Fehringer before settling for the 4-1 win.

Gibson led Wayne in hitting, going 2 for 2 with a run while Jech, Carroll and Fehringer each contributed a hit and run scored in the win.

On the pitcher's mound, Carroll (24-0) earned the win, allowing one run on five hits with three walks while striking out two in seven innings of work.

After going 2-0 on Friday, Wayne returned to action early Saturday morning where they earned a third straight win, defeating the Nebraska Rockets 13-1.

In the bottom of the first, Wayne jumped out to a 2-0 lead after Gibson connected on an RBI single to score both Leeper and Carroll who each got on base earlier in the inning on a single.

The Rockets would later score in the top of the second to cut the Dirt Devils' lead to 2-1, but got no closer as Wayne erupted for 11 runs in the bottom of the fourth on hits by Hannah Gamble, Leeper, Carroll, Fehringer, Davie, Gibson, Jech and a triple by Jalyn Zeiss to hang on for the 13-1 win.

Carroll, Gibson and Zeiss each went 2 for 3 at the plate while Carroll and Leeper both finished with three runs scored in the win.

Defensively, Carroll (25-0) picked up her 25th win as she gave up just one run on three hits with no walks while striking out three in four innings of work.

With a perfect 3-0 mark, Wayne entered Sunday's action poised for another big day, but instead saw things take a dramatic turn for the worst as they fell victim to the Lincoln Nemesis 7-1.

The Dirt Devils only run came by way of a double by Carroll and an RBI single from Fehringer in the top of the first to give Wayne the 1-0 lead.

However, Wayne quickly relinquished the lead, allowing Lincoln to score a lone run in its half of the inning before adding single runs in the third and fifth innings for a 3-1 lead.

With the Nemesis on the cusp of pulling away with the win, Wayne loaded the bases in the top of the sixth, but fell short, turning the game back over to Lincoln who added four runs in the bottom of the sixth en route to the 7-1 win.

Carroll and Fehringer went 3 for 3 at the plate with Carroll scoring the Dirt Devils only run while Davie and Jech each added a hit in the loss.

On the pitcher's mound, Carroll (25-1) took the loss, working six innings where she allowed 10 hits while striking out only one.

With the loss to the Nemesis, Wayne soon found itself in unfamiliar territory, just one loss away from returning home empty handed or possibly finding themselves back in contention for a 2009 Class A State Championship.

And it just so happened, that fate was on Wayne's side as the Dirt Devils managed to oust the Nebraska Storm in Sunday's consolation final 4-1.

The Storm took a 1-0 lead after one inning of play, but Wayne responded with four hits in the bottom of the second on hits by Gibson, Zeiss, Gamble and Jech to earn the 4-1 win.

Wayne was led in hitting by Gibson, Zeiss and Gamble who each finished 2 for 3 with a run while Jech added a hit and one run scored in the win.

Defensively, Carroll (26-1) was credited with the pitching win as she gave up one run on eight hits with a walk and six strikeouts in seven innings of work.

In the Dirt Devils' final game of the 2009 Nebraska State Softball Tournament, Wayne who was back in contention for a State Championship, squared off against a formidable opponent in the Lincoln Nemesis who they had previously lost to 7-1.

The Nemesis again, proved to be too much for Wayne as Lincoln came out victorious, defeating the Dirt Devils 2-0.

Leeper and Fehringer led the Dirt Devils in hitting, going 2 for 3 while Zeiss finished 1 for 3.

On the pitcher's mound, Carroll suffered her second loss of the season, dropping to 26-2 after she allowed two runs on five hits with no walks and one strikeout in six innings of work.

The Dirt Devils will close out the 2009 season this weekend when they travel to Sioux Falls, S.D., for a 32-team tournament that will feature teams from across Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Canada.

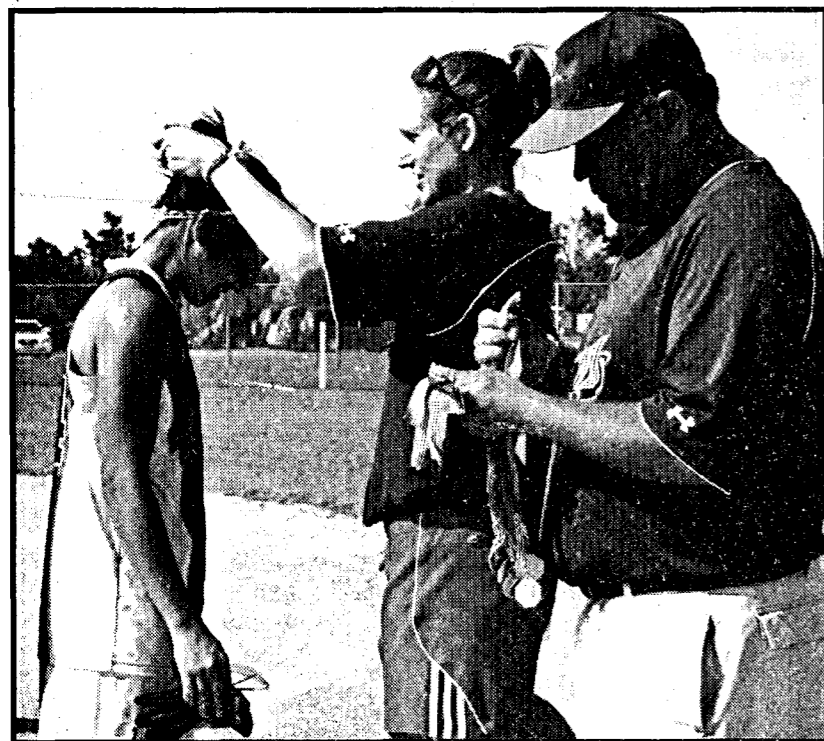

Pool play will be held on Friday and Saturday, July 3-4 with a single elimination tournament to be held on Sunday, July 5.

A whole lot about nothing...

Due to abrasive nature of rumors and how they can be twisted in order to contort the truth, I figured that this week's column would best be suited to clear up a few things.

Maybe you've heard, maybe you haven't. But in the event that you haven't the rumors around town regarding my recent resignation are true with my final day being Thursday, July 9.

Reasons for my resignation remain personal, as I felt that it was just the right time to move on as I have nothing keeping me here.

To be honest, my resignation stems mostly from my desire to be closer to family.

To some extent I feel that I've completely neglected them for the past year, due to the nature of my job and the distance that separates us.

Secondly, another reason for my resignation came from a desire to fulfill a life long dream of becoming an educator.

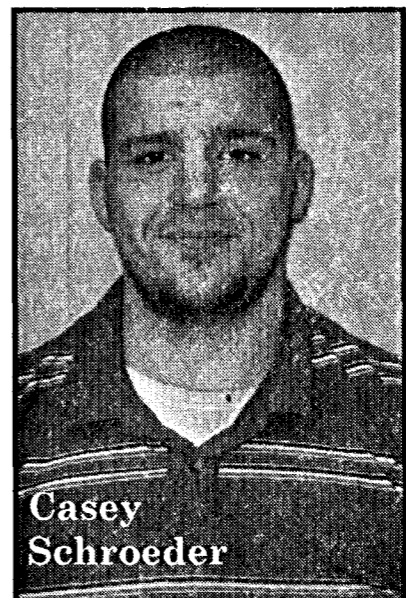

For as long as I can remember I've always had the desire to teach and while I've enjoyed my time spent as a journalist, I know that my heart is not totally committed.

Therefore, I intend to enroll into UNK where I should be able to complete my degree in elementary education in a year or two, as I was about a year short when I graduated from WSC in May of 2007.

With that being said, I'd like to recognize a few people who've helped me along the way.

First off, I owe my boss Kevin Peterson and the entire staff of the Wayne Herald a big thank you.

I know I'm not the easiest to work with at times, but what you all have taught me over the past year is invaluable, and I'd like to think that the success that we've enjoyed, especially in the sports department can be attributed to all of the continuous help and support that you've provided me with.

Without all of you, we would have never pushed the envelope, increasing what was once a two to three page sports section, into a section that often eclipsed seven pages.

In addition to The Wayne Herald staff, I also feel that I owe a great deal of my what I'd like to call success to Wayne State College Sports Information Director Mike Grosz.

Without Mike and his staff, I don't know if I would have ever developed into the writer I am today. His writing, which I grew to appreciate taught me the importance of being brief, yet thorough at the same time.

In addition to his writing, I will be the first to admit that it was an asset to have a former sports editor to call upon, as we've both shared the same experiences and frustrations. But more importantly, when nobody else got it, Mike did.

Lastly, I would like to acknowledge all of the coaches, athletes and parents to whom I've worked with this past year.

For the most part, I've worked with a lot of good people, people who I wish I could work and interact with on a daily basis. To me, these were the people who very seldom complained, who were willing to work with you, but above all were honest with you.

You know who you are, and I thank you.

In closing, I want to wish all of the coaches and area athletes the best of luck this upcoming year, and I hope that some day, if everything goes as planned I can turn in my pen for a clip board and join the coaching ranks of the Dan McLaughlin's, John Manganaro's and Terry Bear's.

Wayne 12-and-under girls claim fourth in first-ever Class A State Tournament

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne 12-and-under girl's softball team finished fourth overall at the 2009 Nebraska Class A State Softball Tournament, going 4-2 in action played this past weekend at the Bill Smith Softball Complex in Hastings.

In the Dirt Devils' tournament opener, Wayne succumbed to the eventual undefeated State Champion Lincoln Blue Diamonds, 4-0.

The usually potent Dirt Devil offense was held to just one hit in the loss, a single by Abbie Hix while Kendall Gamble took the loss on the mound as she gave up one hit with two walks and nine strikeouts in five innings of work.

Following the Dirt Devils' loss to the Lincoln Blue Diamonds, Wayne redeemed itself on Saturday morning with a 3-0 win over the North Platte Bandits.

Wayne was led in hitting by Ashton Schweers with one hit and two runs scored while Lexi Sokol, Skyler Gamble and Alexis Owens each contributed a hit in the win.

Defensively, Wayne saw Kendall Gamble earn the pitching win as she allowed no runs on one hit with two walks while striking out 11 in six innings of work.

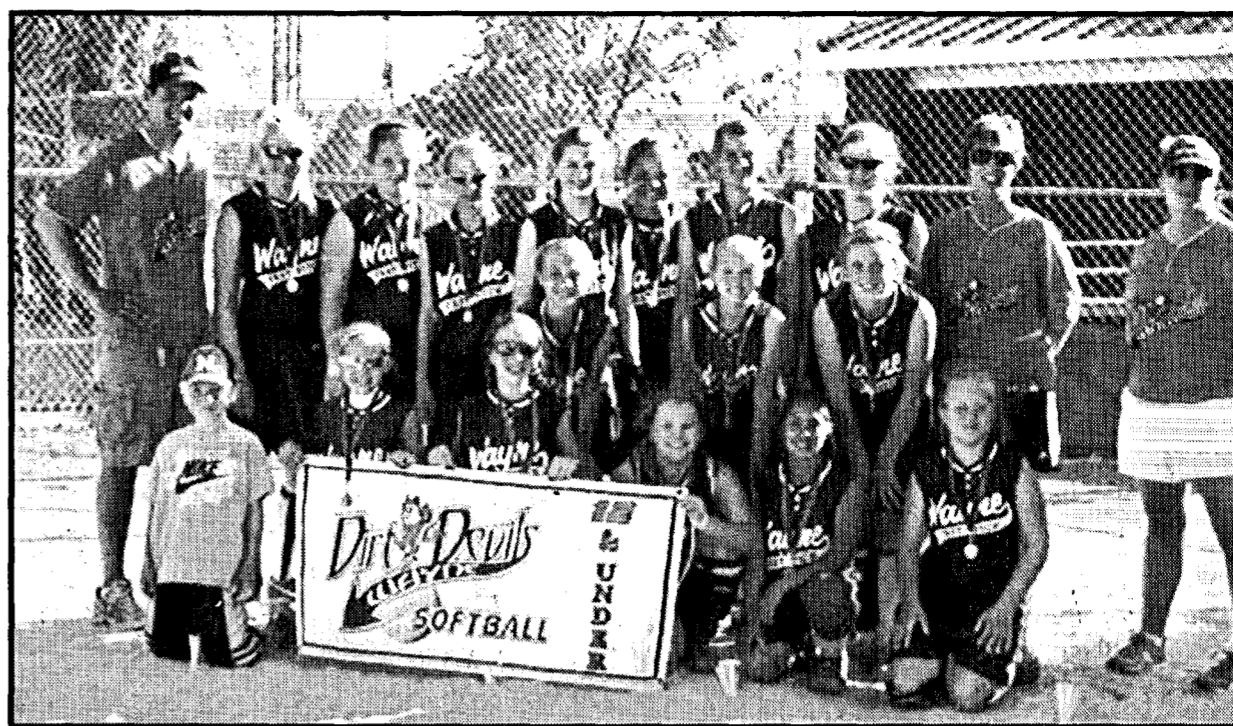

After inching past the Bandits 3-0 earlier in the day, Wayne handed out its second consecutive loss on Saturday with a 7-1 win over the North Platte Sensations.

Offensively, Wayne saw Owens turn in a pair of singles with two runs scored while Gilliland added a hit and run scored in the win.

On the pitcher's mound, Kendall Gamble was tagged with win as she threw a complete game no-hitter, walking just two with seven strikeouts in five innings of work.

After improving to 2-1, Wayne concluded Saturday's tournament action with a 10-1 win over the Seward Storm.

the plate with two hits and a pair of runs while Rachel Rauner and McKenzie Rusk each added a hit and run scored in the win.

Also contributing hits in the win were Skyler and Kendall Gamble with one apiece.

From within the pitcher's circle, Kendall Gamble was again tabbed with the win as she threw a second complete game no-hitter, working four innings where she struck out five.

Following a much deserved night of rest and relaxation, Wayne opened the third and final day of the 2009 Nebraska Class A State Softball Tournament with an easy 14-1 win over the Columbus Fire and Ice.

Ashton Schweers led the Dirt Devils at the plate with a double, triple and three runs scored while Lauren Gilliland added two singles and a pair of runs in the win.

In addition to Schweers and Gilliland, Skyler Gamble also doubled, scoring one run followed by Rauner with a single and two runs scored.

On the pitcher's mound, Kendall Gamble got the start, but only worked one inning before Schweers stepped in to earn the win, allowing just three walks with three strikeouts in three innings of relief.

After battling back and finding themselves back in contention for third place, Wayne was dealt a devastating 3-0 loss by the Grand Island Lil Flames later in the day to drop to 4-2 in tournament play and fourth place overall.

The Dirt Devils were led in hitting by Gilliland with two hits, a single and double, while Kendall Gamble took the loss on the pitcher's mound as she gave up two hits with four walks and six strikeouts in five innings of work.

Wayne will close out its 2009 season this weekend when they travel to Sioux Falls, S.D., for the 32-team Ringneck Tournament that will feature teams from across Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Canada.

Pool play will be held on Friday and Saturday, July 3-4 with a single elimination tournament to be held on Sunday, July 5.

Ashton Schweers makes it back to home plate in Wayne's 3-0 win over the North Platte Bandits.

Dirt Devil pitcher Kendall Gamble en route to her second straight complete game no-hitter on Saturday.

The Wayne Junior baseball team was recently crowned runners-up of the O'Neill Junior Legion Baseball Tournament after going 2-1 with wins over Crofton and O'Neill.

Late two-run rally in fifth sees Juniors top Ponca 10-9

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne Junior baseball team used a two-run rally in the bottom of the fifth inning to pull away with a narrow 10-9 win over Ponca on Monday evening at Hank Overin Field in Wayne.

With the win, Wayne moved to 12-7 overall and 9-4 in league play.

In the top of the first inning, Ponca opened the scoring with three runs scored to take a commanding 3-0 lead over Wayne.

However, Wayne quickly responded with two runs in the bottom of the first to cut Ponca's lead to one run at 3-2.

During the second inning, Ponca blew the score wide open again, scoring three runs to reclaim a 6-2 lead, but just as the case was before, Wayne managed to tack on a lone run in its half of the inning to make the score 6-3 heading into the top of the third.

With only three runs separating the two teams, Ponca put together its last major scoring threat in the top of the third with two runs scored to take a short-lived 8-3 lead over Wayne.

The Juniors then scored two runs in the bottom of the third, cut Ponca's lead to three at 8-5 before adding four runs in the fourth and two more in the fifth before settling for the 10-9 come-from-behind win.

Keegan Dorcey led the Juniors at the plate with two hits, three runs scored and two RBI's while Gage Rethwisch added a pair of hits, one run and an RBI in the win.

Also adding hits for Wayne were Mason Wren with two, both singles, followed by Trent Beza, Frank Bernal, Miles Anderson, Tony Sinniger and Joey Lenihan all with one.

On the pitcher's mound, Wren picked up the win as he allowed one run on two hits with four walks while striking out four in two and two-thirds innings of work.

In addition to Wren, Alex Onnen also saw time on the mound, pitching two and two-thirds of an inning where he gave up seven runs on five hits with six walks and three strikeouts.

White Ponys cruise past Fordyce 10-6 in Mid-Summer Classic

In pool play this weekend the Wayne Blue Ponys advanced to Monday's championship round of the Mid-Summer Classic Tournament in Wakefield with wins over Ponca and Pierce.

On Monday, Wayne got off to a rocky start against Bancroft, falling behind 10-2 before rallying for three runs in the fifth and six more in the sixth to claim the 11-10 win.

Defensively, Ezra Broderson worked two innings for Wayne while Brady Soden pitched three innings before Drew Carroll stepped in and worked one inning of relief in the sixth.

Following the White Ponys' win over Bancroft, Wayne returned to action later in the evening where they avenged their only loss of the season by defeating Fordyce 10-6.

The White Ponys used several key individual performances to earn the 10-6 win, but owe much of the win to Carroll as he pitched a complete five inning game.

Timely hitting and stellar pitching lifts Seniors past Ponca 11-5

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne Senior baseball team used a deadly combination of timely hitting and stellar pitching from Michael Denklauf to post an 11-5 win over Ponca on Monday night at Hank Overin Field in Wayne.

With the win, Wayne improved to 16-5 on the year and 11-2 in league play.

In the bottom of the first inning, Wayne opened the scoring with three runs to take a commanding 3-0 lead over Ponca.

The Seniors then scored another run in the bottom of the second for a 4-0 lead before adding a pair of runs in the third inning for a 6-0 advantage.

With Wayne in control of a six-run lead, Ponca looked to narrow the deficit heading into the top of the fourth, but had very little success, scoring only two runs to make it a 6-2 contest heading into the bottom half of the inning.

Following a score by Wayne in the bottom of the fourth, Ponca put together a three-run scoring barrage in the fifth, cutting Wayne's lead to two at 7-5, but got no closer as the Seniors added four insurance runs in the bottom of the fifth before going on to the 11-5 win.

Tyler Schaefer paced a balanced hitting-attack for Wayne with two hits, two runs and three RBI's while Ryan Pieper added a pair of hits, a single and double, and two runs scored in the win.

Other contributing hits in the win for the Seniors included Jacob Zeiss, Jacob Triggs and Denklauf with one apiece.

On the pitcher's mound, Denklauf was tagged with the win as he allowed two runs on four hits with four walks while striking out 10 in seven innings of work.

White Ponys sweep Norfolk Pioneers on Thursday

The Wayne White Ponys traveled to Norfolk on June 25 where they picked up a two-game sweep over the Norfolk Pioneers with Wayne winning the first game 19-8.

In the second game with the White Ponys trailing 7-0 going into the top of the sixth, Wayne erupted for seven runs to tie Norfolk at 7-7 and force an extra inning of play.

The White Ponys then added a pair of runs in the top of the seventh before holding off a late one-run rally by Norfolk en route to the 9-8 win.

The Wayne nine-year olds celebrate their recent 4-0 sweep of the Wakefield Mid-Summer Classic on Tuesday evening.

Wayne nine-year old Blue team captures Mid-Summer Classic championship

The Wayne nine-year old Blue team went 4-0 in the Wakefield Mid-Summer Classic to claim the team championship of the nine-year old Coach Pitch division.

On Saturday, Wayne defeated Pender 12-2 and Ponca 11-10.

Then on Tuesday night in championship pool play, Wayne upset the Norfolk Titans 8-7 in one extra inning before posting a 16-2 win over Wakefield.

With the four wins, Wayne moved to 11-0 on the year.

Carroll outlasts Wayne 24-18 on Tuesday

The Carroll 10-and-under girl's softball team faced Wayne's nine-year olds on June 23 in Carroll.

Each team had strong hitting with a lot of scoring. The game went six innings in the June hit with Carroll coming out on top by a score of 24-18.

Degrees awarded at UNL commencements

Approximately 2,400 students received degrees from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in commencement exercises this spring. UNL conducted separate commencement exercises for postgraduate, baccalaureate and law degrees.

Chancellor Harvey Perlman presided over the graduate and baccalaureate ceremonies at the Bob Devaney Sports Center, while Steven Willborn, dean of the College of Law, presided over the law exercises at the Lied Center for Performing Arts. Chemist Eugene "Gene" Cordes addressed the baccalaureate ceremonies, UNL mathematics professor Judy Walker addressed the postgraduate ceremonies and Theodore C. "Ted" Sorensen, former special counsel and adviser to President John F. Kennedy, addressed the law graduates.

The degree recipients are from 44 states, the District of Columbia, and 40 countries.

The list includes students who received degrees from the University of Nebraska at Omaha or the University of Nebraska Medical Center in UNO or UNMC programs offered on the UNL campus. Information includes the graduate's name, college, degree and any applicable honors. Honors include degrees with distinction, high distinction or highest distinction (cum laude, magna cum laude or summa cum laude for UNO degrees).

Shannon Renee Woodward of Concord, Business Administration, B.S. in business administration with distinction.

Lori Lynn Pritchard of Laurel, Business Administration, B.S. in business administration.

Jennifer Mary Brummond, Education and Human Sciences, B.S. in education and human sciences; Bradley Brian Frevert, Business Administration, B.S. in business administration; Ashley Marie Gentrup, Arts and Sciences, bachelor of science with highest distinction; Molly Alta Hill, Education and Human Sciences, B.S. in education and human sciences with high distinction; Matthew Patrick Nelson, Engineering, B.S. in construction management; Marissa Ann Roney, Arts and Sciences, bachelor of arts. All are of Wayne.

Dean's List released at UNO

More than 2,110 students were named to the Dean's List at the University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) for the Spring 2009 semester.

Among those being honored were Kyle Kwapnioski and Chase Luedeke, both of Wayne.

To qualify for the Dean's List, students must earn a grade point average (GPA) of 3.5 or better for courses taken at UNO during the semester, provided 12 or more semester hours were completed.

Work continues

Work at the fairgrounds continues before the Wayne County Fair, July 30-Aug. 2. Volunteers are still needed. Anyone wanting to help can go to the fairgrounds on Monday nights. Above, Trever Hartmann dumps a bucket of concrete from the mens restroom in the 4-H building.

Winside 16-and-under girl's team earns berth to '09 Class C State Softball Tourney

The Winside 16-and-under girl's softball team has qualified for the 2009 Nebraska Class C State Softball Tournament that will be held at the Bill Smith Softball Complex in Hastings on July 10-12.

Winside earned the berth to the State Tournament after finishing as runners-up with a 7-2 record at this past weekend's District C-6 Tournament in Battle Creek.

Winside dropped its first game of the tournament to the O'Neill Heat, but then played its way through the consolation bracket, defeating O'Neill to force the "if necessary game," where they fell short in five innings 8-0.

Winning or losing pitcher in all games, except for Pierce (Deserah Janke) was Miranda Hansen.

Norfolk XC Series held June 23

A huge field of mountain bikers braved the heat and humidity for the second race in the Norfolk XC Series held June 23 at Maskenthine Lake north of Stanton. The 12 riders who signed up to race made this the largest XC race to date for the Tuesday night series. The heat and humidity took its toll on the entire field, with all riders suffering in the elements. The large field made for great racing however, more than making up for some slightly slower lap times overall.

The field lined up for the uphill start on the gravel road in a mass sprint for good position entering the singletrack. Once on the trail, the first half lap of the 1.5 lap race served to string out the field and set up the racing for the finish. Devin Bethune, first into the singletrack, crashed causing him to lose several positions. Duane Blair and Jim Weiland, despite being classified in different categories, raced head to head to a near dead-heat at the finish. Weiland narrowly bested Blair for first overall.

The Norfolk XC Series is a part of the Norfolk Race Series. The series continues with a time trial on July 14 starting at 7 p.m. at Norfolk Beverage.

Overall results: 1. Jim Weiland, Stanton; 2. Duane Blair, Norfolk; 3. John Weiland, Stanton; 4. Devin Bethune, Carroll; 5. Todd Jochum, Stanton; 6. Shannon Sullivan, Hoskins; 7. Matt Classen, Norfolk; 8. Nick Cleveland, Norfolk; 9. Tim Powell, Wayne; 10. Jon Downey, Norfolk; 11. Jerry Hoff, Norfolk; 12. Randy Zach, Humphrey.

Category Results MTB: Advanced - Men: 1. Duane Blair, Norfolk; 2. Devin Bethune, Carroll; 3. Todd Jochum, Stanton; 4. Shannon Sullivan, Hoskins; 5. Nick Cleveland, Norfolk; 6. Tim Powell, Wayne.

MTB: Beginner - Men: 1. Jim Weiland, Stanton; 2. John Weiland, Stanton; 3. Matt Classen, Norfolk; 4. Jon Downey, Norfolk; 5. Jerry Hoff, Norfolk; 6. Randy Zach, Humphrey.

Theobald is All-American Scholar

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Alayna Theobald of Wayne has been named an All-American Scholar.

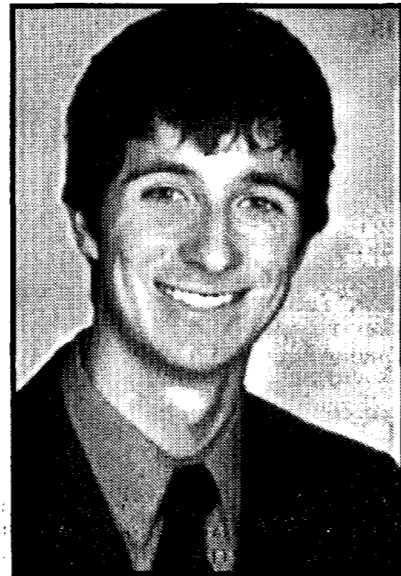

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or higher grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor or other qualified sponsor are accepted.

Alayna, who attends Wayne High School, was nominated for this honor by Sylvia Ruhl, an English teacher at the school. Her name will appear in the All-American Scholar Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, students recognized as All-American Scholars should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Founder of the United States Achievement Academy. The Academy selects All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors.

Alayna is the daughter of Jan Simmons of Wayne and Paul Theobald of Buffalo, NY. Her grandparents are Lois Simmons of White, S.D. and Gil and Paige Theobald of Rochester, Minn.

Invest Nebraska announces new operational assistance program

Invest Nebraska Corporation (www.investnebraska.com), a non-profit venture development organization, announced the launch of its Operational Assistance program.

The Operational Assistance Program is designed to spark angel and venture capital investment throughout the state of Nebraska. To accomplish this goal, the program is focused on helping companies that have demonstrated potential to attract angel investors (high net worth individuals), or venture capital, in order to become truly ready to attract major capital investments.

"Many companies we see have the potential to get funded but are missing one or two key milestones that angel and venture capital investors seek," said Dan Hoffman, executive director of the organization.

"This program helps them overcome that last hurdle - whether it be applying for patent protection, developing a working prototype, completing capital raise documents, or conducting market validation research," he added.

Companies selected to participate in the Operational Assistance Program will receive up to $25,000 of investment from Invest Nebraska to complete the key milestones that will position them to attract high-growth capital later on. Hoffman indicated that the organization plans to fund at least four to six companies in 2009. Interested companies should complete an application and return it to Invest Nebraska. The application can be found at www.investnebraska.com.

To qualify for the Operational Assistance Program, companies must:

- Be based in, or willing to relocate to, Nebraska.
- Have the potential to become backed by angel or venture capital investors.
- Be positioned so that operational assistance from Invest Nebraska can significantly impact their probability of achieving funding from sophisticated angel and venture capital investors.

"The program is focused on those situations where Invest Nebraska's capital and assistance can have a meaningful impact on their ability to attract capital," said Invest Nebraska Corp's Operational Assistance Committee chairperson, John Gustafson of Ideation Ventures.

"While it is not focused on companies that have many items to complete before raising capital, those companies are invited to apply early to get advance feedback," Gustafson explained.

Added Invest Nebraska's chairman, Matt McNair of the University of Nebraska Foundation: "The addition of the Operational Assistance program is an important complement to our regional New Venture Competitions across the state."

To date, Invest Nebraska Corporation has organized new venture competitions in Scottsbluff, Norfolk and McCook, Nebraska, with two more competitions planned for 2009.

Invest Nebraska is funded through the Nebraska Department of Economic Development and private contributions. To learn more about the organization, visit www.investnebraska.com.

Legislative update

Mike Flood, Speaker of the Nebraska Legislature, spoke to those in attendance at the recent Wayne County Republican gathering. Flood discussed the issues faced by this year's legislature and spoke of what needs to be done in the future.

Bill Kugler, left and Art Barker, center, of the Wayne Fire Department brought an antique 1936 fire truck to the Oaks Senior Living Community and took residents and grandchildren for fire truck rides on June 27.

Nebraska State Patrol to focus on impaired drivers over July 4th holiday weekend

Motorists traveling Nebraska roadways over the long July 4th holiday weekend can expect to see a strong Nebraska State Patrol presence. The equivalent of 46 extra troopers will be on the road, thanks in part to a nearly $22,000 grant from the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety (NOHS).

Special enforcement efforts will focus on enforcing safe driving practices with an emphasis on removing impaired drivers from our roadways. Troopers and dispatchers will put in overtime hours beginning in the early afternoon Friday, July 3, and continuing through the evening hours on Sunday, July 5.

A vehicle check will be conducted in conjunction with the State Fire Marshal's Office. The time and location of the vehicle check should not be released to the public until its completion. On Wednesday, July 1, from 9 a.m. - Noon, a vehicle check will be conducted on Route 136 on the eastside of Auburn, in Nemaha County. Anyone possessing illegal fireworks will face a $50 fine (plus $45 court costs).

"Whether you are headed to an area lake or to one of the big celebrations, you can be sure you will be sharing the road with a lot of other travelers," said Colonel Bryan Tuma, Superintendent of the Nebraska State Patrol. "Our troopers will be working hard to make sure you reach your destination safely. You can help them out by wearing your seat belt, obeying the posted speed limit and never driving impaired."

Karen McDonald completes workshop for Nebraska County Treasurers

Karen McDonald, Wayne County treasurer, completed a three-day workshop conducted June 16-18 for Nebraska County Treasurers in Lexington.

The annual workshop and continuing education was represented by county officials and employees and is part of a continuing education leadership development series sponsored by the Nebraska Association of County Treasurers.

The workshop educated county officials on upcoming legislation in state law and provided extensive training on the responsibility of their respective office.

Finn attends state workshop

Debra Finn, Wayne County Clerk, completed a three-day workshop conducted in North Platte on June 10-12 for Nebraska county clerks, election commissioners and registers of deeds.

The workshop updated county officials on recent changes in state laws and provided extensive training on the responsibilities of their respective offices.

Nebraska State Fire School held, several from area attend

About 1,500 people from Nebraska and several other states attended the 72nd annual Nebraska State Fire School May 15-17 in Grand Island. The event was offered by the Nebraska State Volunteer Firefighters Association in cooperation with Fonner Park and Central Community College-Grand Island.

The following individuals completed at least nine hours out of the 12 hours of classroom training offered at the school: CARROLL: Mitch Osten; WAKEFIELD: Jennie Lunz, Johna Oswald and Adam Ulrich; WAYNE: Scott Brogren, Jesse Hartlett, Cody Henderson, Nicholas Kemnitz, Shawn Pearcy, Nick Vanhorn, Brooks Widner, Joshua Widner, Matt Wriedt and Brandon Ziska; WINSIDE: Donald Nelson and Terry Nelson.

Motorist assist volunteers in specially marked vans will also be available to help stranded motorists along Interstate 80 from Kearney, Nebraska to Council Bluffs, Iowa. Travelers are reminded if they experience a roadside emergency or observe an impaired or reckless driver to dial the Nebraska State Patrol Highway Helpline at *55 on any cellular phone or 1-800-525-5555 for emergency assistance.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson, City Administrator

City Council Meeting

The next City Council meeting will be held Tuesday, July 7 at 5:30 p.m. in the council room.

Green Team

Mayor Shelton is organizing a Green Team in the Wayne Community. The creation of a Green Team is to take advantage of new technologies and new funding sources to help us reduce future energy costs and move toward a sustainable operation of the community that conserves all community resources for long term use while maintaining our life style. The Green Team members will be appointed by the mayor and approved by council. If you would like to participate in this group call Chanelle in the city office at 375-1733.

Pre-organizational meeting was held last evening that discussed these Community Opportunities:

1) Storm water management plan:

- cost reduction for new streets by using small rain gardens, ground-water infiltration areas and open grass filter water strips instead of large underground concrete pipes that add more water to the current storm drain system;
- signage/stencils for storm drains noting they drain directly to Logan Creek;
- rain gardens;
- green roofs;
- rain barrels, cisterns and storm water storage.

2) LEED building certification

- contractor education/certification opportunities;
- public education about new materials and practices;
- building codes;
- landscape education/certification.

3) Transitioning from high maintenance bluegrass to native plants on public properties.

- 4) Recycling
 - high school community service projects for recycling?
 - trash cans and recycling down town?

- public education;
- Logan Creek clean-up of debris;

- WSC recycling opportunities;
- WSC Service Learning help available;

- recycling management and storage for public events and gatherings.

- 5) WSC students/faculty available to get involved if a community service structure is in place.

- 6) Urban Forest
 - future of Wayne's mature trees;
 - a northern plains city with only grass and no trees?

- Wayne Tree Board?
- plan to replace some of the loss of ash, scotch pine and silver maples that are dying;
- need for shade as part of electric peak load control;
- what to do about distaste of raking leaves.

- 7) Public Education about sustainability
 - Green Team Facebook page
 - school water, tree and garden projects;
 - community garden plots;
 - website, cable channel, group presentations, utility letter, radio show, demonstrations and fairs;
 - photos of environmental issues and projects posted.

- 8) Apply for new Green Funding Sources available.

- 9) Time of Use Metering for Wayne electric utility customers.

- 10) Composting.

Capitol View

Democrats hope to take congressional seat

By Ed Howard
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Democrats are hoping state Sen. Tom White will make a move from the Unicameral to the Congress in 2010.

Although his final decision won't be made until July, White has strongly indicated of late that he will take on six-term Republican Lee Terry in the Omaha-dominated 2nd Congressional District.

White, an Omaha attorney, is likely encouraged by the fact that Terry faced viable challenges in 2006 and 2008 from virtual political unknown Jim Esch, also of Omaha.

The questions:

- Was Terry simply hurt last year by the then-decreasing popularity of President Bush, and the Iraq war? President Obama carried the 2nd District, and thus one of Nebraska's electoral votes. And Democrats have a slight voter-registration advantage in Douglas County.

With Obama in the White House and the Iraq war seeming to wind down, and with Republicans on the offensive in regards to virtually all of the president's policies, will 2nd District voters return to the solid GOP voting traditions of the past?

The late Peter Hoagland was the last congressman elected from the 2nd District. He served three terms, from 1989-1995.

State Sen. Steve Lathrop, another Omaha Democrat, is considering a bid against Gov. Dave Heineman next year.

U.S. Sen. Ben Nelson said Lathrop would face an uphill climb. That was an understatement. Driving to Denver is uphill.

A campaign against Heineman is a political undertaking equal to an attempted climb of Mount Everest.

President Obama was scheduled to talk last week about a plan to deal with illegal immigrants. The Nebraska Legislature enacted a limited measure involving illegal immigrants in 2009.

When presidents talk about illegal immigrants, they tend to resemble first-term candidates for Nebraska's governorship when the latter talk about cutting the state budget. There are a lot of generalities and very few specifics.

A recent story in Congressional Quarterly noted the plan Obama has hinted at resembles one offered by former President Bush - which the Senate rejected, twice.

Summing up nicely, CQ noted: "The president added that undocumented workers who wish to become citizens should pay a penalty and back taxes, be required to learn English and 'go to the back of the line behind those who played by the rules.' That's politically savvy code designed to insulate the administration against charges it backs 'amnesty' for illegal immigrants who broke the law."

As of this writing, Obama had been like those candidates for governor, omitting an all-important specific: How would the government persuade or force illegal immigrants to abide by such a law? Why would they comply voluntarily?

Letters Welcome

Letters from readers are welcome. They should be timely, brief (no longer than one type-written page, double spaced) and must contain no libelous statements. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter.

Letters published must have the author's name, address and telephone number. The author's name will be printed with the letter; the address and the telephone number will be necessary to confirm the author's signature.

The Wayne Herald editorial staff writes all headlines.

Secretary Gale urges flag display on Fourth of July

Nebraska Secretary of State John Gale encouraged Nebraskans to fly the U.S. flag during the Fourth of July holiday to show their patriotism.

Gale said that displaying the U.S. flag is a good way to demonstrate pride in America. "The U.S. flag is the iconic symbol of our values of freedom, liberty and democracy," he said.

Independence Day also is a time to reflect on the heroic sacrifices of U.S. military personnel from the time of the Revolutionary War to the present, he said. "Our thoughts and prayers are with our troops serving in Afghanistan and Iraq," he said.

As a free public service, people may arrange with Gale's office to have U.S. and Nebraska flags flown at the State Capitol throughout the year in recognition of individuals, accomplishments and special occasions.

Those interested must provide the flag, deliver it to Gale's office and provide information as to why the flag is being flown. Flags flown at the Capitol are accompanied by a keepsake certificate signed by Gale detailing the date and purpose of the flight.

For information on the flag service, call (402) 471-4070.

Midstates planning committee seeks rural community success stories

The Midstates Community and Economic Development planning committee is seeking examples of successful development efforts in towns and cities in Nebraska, South Dakota, and Iowa. The committee is looking for people to share their story of what their community did to revitalize and enhance the quality of life for individuals living in their town or city.

The 2010 conference theme will be "The Power of Partnerships" and will focus on such topics as going green, organic businesses, creative financing, innovative youth involvement, leadership, and entrepreneurship.

"If you know of a success story in your community, we want to hear from you," said UNL Extension Educator, Dewey Teel. "In the event your story is selected, you will be provided with an all expense paid trip to South Sioux City, Neb., and have the opportunity to inspire others by telling your success story at the ninth annual Midstates Community and Economic Development Conference." The 2010 conference will be held on Wednesday, March 31 at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City, Nebraska.

Participating communities will enhance this one-day program which incorporates successful strategies and innovative ideas to advance community and rural development in the tri-state area. Past conferences have featured many success stories from Northeast Nebraska and we have many more to share at the 2010 conference, said Teel. It is always exciting to have Northeast Nebraska represented at our conference.

If you have a story to tell, please submit a summary of your success story to the attention of Sherry McGill, Director, Iowa State University Extension-Woodbury County, 4301 Sergeant Road #213, Sioux City, IA 51106 or mcgills@iastate.edu. The deadline for submission of stories is Aug. 28.

The Midstates Community and Economic Development planning committee is a joint partnership of fifteen agencies and organizations from Nebraska, Iowa, and South Dakota.

Online tool helps people avoid dreaded 'doughnut hole'

By the end of this summer, more than one million older Americans will have fallen into the "doughnut hole"-a coverage gap in Medicare's prescription drug program that leaves individuals on the hook for all of their own drug costs while still paying premiums. AARP is launching a new online resource to help older Americans avoid this dreaded coverage gap.

The AARP Doughnut Hole Calculator, available at www.aarp.org/doughnuthole, guides visitors through their prescription drug options using localized information about their plans and prescriptions to determine if or when they will fall into the coverage gap. In about 15 minutes, visitors can view a graph of their out-of-pocket spending by month, look up lower cost drugs for their conditions, create a Personal Medication Record and print out personalized letters to their doctors to help start a conversation about safely switching prescriptions.

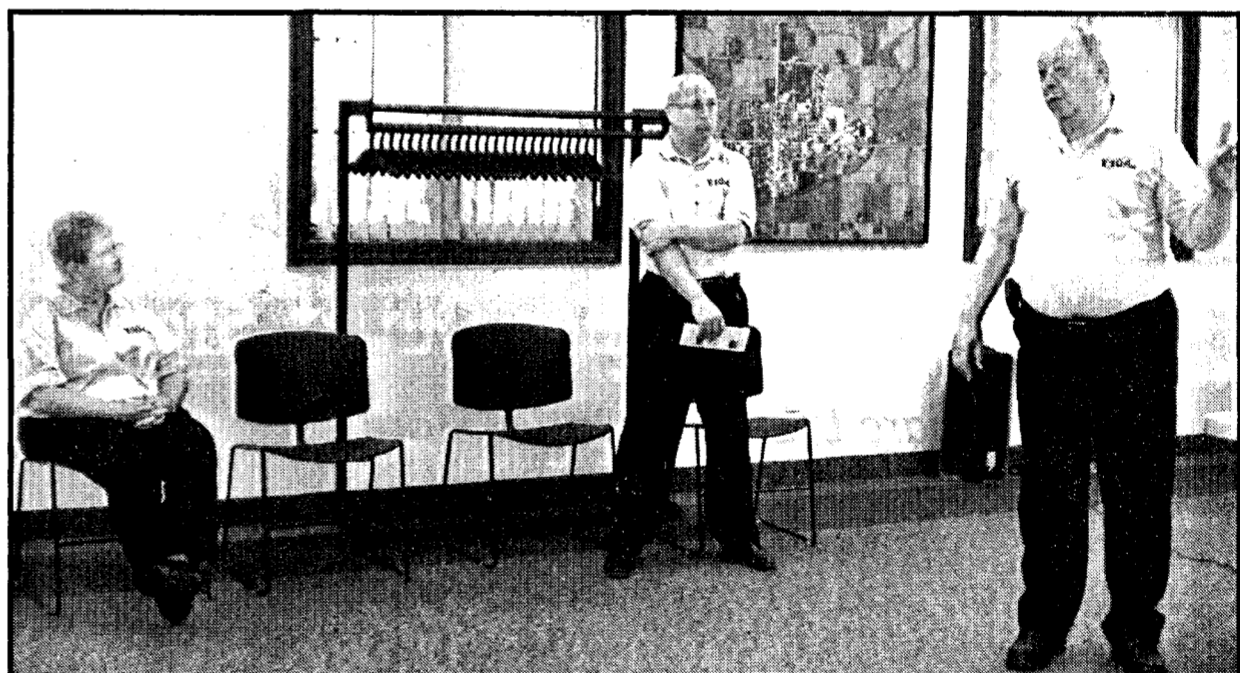

"Thirty-three percent of Nebraskans in Medicare fall into the gap each year, and millions more nervously wonder if they might fall in," said AARP State President Sunny Andrews. "For the first time, people in Medicare have a simple way to learn if they'll fall into the doughnut hole and find ways to avoid it by switching to safe, less expensive medications."

As a part of its Health Action Now campaign, AARP is calling on Congress to close the doughnut hole and lower prescription drug prices so that no one has to go without the prescriptions they need to stay healthy. Yesterday, AARP joined President Obama to endorse an agreement by Senate leaders and the pharmaceutical industry that would reduce brand name drug costs for most people who fall into the doughnut hole by half. Research has shown people cut back on their prescription drugs when their costs become unaffordable, which can lead to more serious health conditions and larger health care bills.

Andrews added: "Saving money on prescription drugs is going to mean pressing hard in Washington to close the doughnut hole; yesterday we were proud to help announce significant progress toward that goal. In the meantime, we also want to give Americans the tools they need to cut their drug costs and stay out of the gap in the first place. We encourage every person in Medicare to take a few minutes to find the right drugs at the lowest prices." The calculator is powered by DestinationRx as part of a special arrangement between AARP and Medicare. The data is the same used by the Medicare Prescription Drug Plan Finder, giving users the most accurate and up-to-date drug pricing information available. For details on AARP's health reform priorities, visit <http://www.aarp.org/governmentwatch>.

Discussing changes

David Kelly, right, owner of Superhits Y 104 KCTY and 1590 KTCH, spoke to those in attendance at last week's Chamber Coffee. He discussed a number of the changes that have taken place at the radio station in the past year and introduced his staff. Two of those, Colleen Simpson and Mick Kemp, listen as Kelly described services currently offered by the station.

Planning for retirement can be fun

Seniors in Kansas or Nebraska can hope to live until age 77... and of course, longer if they remain healthy. Some seniors live well into their 80's and 90's. So if one retires at age 60 or 65, you can hope to have at least 15 to 20 years in retirement. What are you planning to do with those years?

While it may seem that the economy isn't cooperating with those who would like to retire early, planning for your retirement years, can still be fun. Retirement may not be the bliss that you have imagined. A spouse may become chronically ill or die. But it still behooves us to make preliminary plans to guide us time learning? Local colleges have great opportunities for short term courses and some might even involve a tour experience. Banks and other agencies may offer day trips... so look close to home for fun. Then you can't whine about not having retirement fun.

Ruth Vonderohe

Perhaps you will need to work part time? This is very common and some places to look for work include non profits in your community. Museums or other agencies may offer a part time job that could work with your flexible schedule. You won't get rich working at these type of jobs, but you'll be giving back to your community while you keep your mind active and earn a few dollars.

What other businesses are in your community? You could even barter helping at a local gym for the ability to exercise there. Look for volunteer opportunities. Schools and churches are some places that have special projects and they can use extra manpower. Helping at a school can get you acquainted with young families in your community.

Another place to job search is with the government in your area. Check out the site, www.usajobs.gov to help track down federal jobs in your area. Three agencies that are receptive to people over 50 are the IRS, the U.S. Small Business Administration's Disaster Assistance office and the Peace Corps.

Got a hobby? Perhaps you can turn that into some cash. Quilting, woodworking or even helping someone complete a scrapbook can be an enjoyable experience. Competent do-it-yourselfers can earn good money helping folks with small fix it jobs. Running errands, organizing basements or closets as well as caring for pets could be a source of income.

Planning for retirement? Look around for opportunities that may be at your back door. Set some goals for yourself or find activities that provide a sense of purpose and meaning to your life. Remember, we don't stop playing because we grow old. We grow old because we stop playing.

Our Savior introduces Church Musician as new community resident

Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne has employed Lucas Wickstrom as its full time Church Musician.

Wickstrom received his undergraduate degree in music and religion from Augustana College in Sioux Falls, S.D. and has done some advanced degree work at the University of Washington in Seattle. Lucas has a wealth of experience in a variety of churches including Lutheran, Episcopal, Catholic, Methodist and Presbyterian. His instrumental skills include Organ, Piano, Trumpet, Tuba, Flute, Oboe, Trombone, Saxophone, Clarinet and percussion.

In his role as Church Musician, Lucas will contribute his many talents to worship and community life at the church. And, just as importantly, he will help others in offering "their song" for worship and community life.

Lucas has served as the Chair of the Worship, Music and the Arts committee of The South Carolina Synod of the ELCA. He has experience working with preschoolers up to mature adults, as well as beginners to professional musicians. Lucas has directed chime and handbell ensembles, vocal choirs, various instrumental ensembles, preschool music, and has directed and coordinated a free summer music camp with over 170 elementary aged children and 60 adult volunteers. Lucas' passion is sharing the joys of music and helping people of all ages and abilities discover what a vital part of life and liturgy music can be.

Pastor Kim Stover, Sr. Pastor, Our Savior, believes Lucas' music ministry will extend far beyond the walls that define the church building. "In his role as Church Musician at Our Savior Lutheran Church, Lucas will help the church membership and the community offer their songs of thanksgiving and praise to God. Lucas' references told of a congenial, caring, and capable servant whose faith, humor, and music who was a great blessing to others. We are delighted to have Lucas as a staff colleague and Church Musician."

Pork and Transport Quality Assurance certification sessions offered

To help pork producers and their employees gain certification in the Pork Quality Assurance Plus Program and/or the Transport Quality Assurance program, several training sessions will be available at 22 locations across the state Aug. 4, 5, 11 and 12. The Nebraska Pork Producers Association, the Nebraska Soybean Board and University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension are sponsoring the PQA Plus and TQA producer certification sessions.

Two major packing plants recently announced that hog suppliers will be required to have these certifications, said Duane Reese, UNL Extension swine specialist.

Hormel Foods recently announced that all the hogs that they purchase will be raised by pork producers and their employees who are certified in PQA Plus and have completed well-being assessments on their farms and have TQA certification by at least Dec. 31. Tyson Foods announced it will ask that all hog suppliers to the company become certified in the PQA Plus program by June 30, 2010 and complete a site assessment by Jan. 1, 2011.

PQA Plus certification is required before site assessment can be conducted. There are about 44 PQA Plus Advisors in Nebraska trained to perform those assessments.

PQA Plus is a workable, credible and affordable solution to assure food safety and animal care. It will help meet the needs of customers including restaurants, food retailers and consumers. TQA is a program that helps swine transporters, producers and handlers understand how to handle, move and transport pigs and the potential impacts of those actions on pig well-being and/or pork quality.

Reese will conduct the sessions in Lincoln and locations across the state will receive the training via satellite. There will be two-way audio to address any questions. "This will be a convenient and cost-efficient manner in which to receive this training," Reese said. More information is available at <http://www.nepork.org> or by contacting a local UNL Extension office. To register, visit <http://www.nepork.org> or call 1-888-627-7675 at least one week in advance of the session.

Faith Regional Health Services is Proud to Welcome
M. Naser Imran, M.D.
Cardiac Electrophysiologist
M. Naser Imran, M.D., will join the Faith Regional CardioVascular Institute in July. He is Board Certified in Internal Medicine and Cardiovascular Disease. Dr. Imran is a cardiac electrophysiologist - a cardiologist who specializes in the diagnosis and treatment of abnormal heart rhythms.
Heart rhythm disorder symptoms may differ for each patient. Some symptoms may go unnoticed while others may cause a patient to feel fluttering in the heart or entirely out of breath. Dr. Imran uses a variety of heart tests to look at the heart's structure, circulation and electrical system, in order to identify the cause of the heart rhythm disorder and to decide on an effective treatment plan for the patient.
Dr. Imran is now accepting appointments at Faith Regional CardioVascular Institute. For an appointment call (402) 844-8284. To learn more about Dr. Imran visit our website at www.frhs.org.

When it comes to fresh produce, food safety is important

Berries are in season and in their prime. However, before enjoying the wholesome summer snack, or any fresh produce this summer, be sure to follow good food safety to reduce the presence of harmful bacteria that could cause foodborne illness, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln food safety specialist said.

When it comes to berries, be sure to promptly refrigerate at 40 degrees or below, said Julie Albrecht, UNL Extension food safety specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

"Wash hands with warm water and soap before and after handling berries, and be sure to rinse berries under cool tap water just before preparing or eating," Albrecht said.

According to the Partnership for Food Safety Education, consumers can take six steps for safer fruits and vegetables. These include to check, clean, separate, cook, chill and throw away. When at the store or local farmer's market, be sure to check that the fresh fruits and vegetables are not bruised or damaged, Albrecht said.

"Check that fresh cut fruits and vegetables like packaged salads and precut melons are refrigerated before buying. Do not buy fresh cut items that are not refrigerated," she said.

Harmful bacteria may be in the soil or water where produce grows and may come in contact with fruits and vegetables and contaminate them. Fresh produce also can become contaminated after it is harvested or during preparation or storage. Eating this contaminated produce can lead to foodborne illness which can cause serious and sometimes fatal infections.

Also, be sure to separate fruits and vegetables from household chemicals and raw foods such as meat and poultry. Also keep them away from these things in the home. At home after purchasing fruit and vegetables, be sure to wash hands with warm water and soap for at least 20 seconds before handling, Albrecht said. Also, be sure to clean all surfaces and utensils.

"Rinse fruit and vegetables under running tap water, including those with skins and rinds," Albrecht said. Packaged fruits and vegetables labeled "ready-to-eat" or "washed" or "triple washed" need not be washed again. If vegetables do touch raw meat, poultry or seafood or their juices, be sure to cook them right away or throw them away, Albrecht said.

"After cutting, peeling or cooking fruits and vegetables, but sure to refrigerate them within two hours," she said.

If fruits and vegetables have not been refrigerated within two hours of cutting, peeling or cooking, be sure to throw them away. Also, throw away bruised or damaged portions of fruits and vegetables when preparing to cook or eat them raw, she said.

"And, remember, when in doubt, throw it out," Albrecht said.

For more information about safe handling practices for produce, visit these publications, UNL Extension NebGuide G1901, Safe Handling Practices for Fresh Produce in Foodservice Operations, available at a local extension office or online at <http://www.ianrpubs.unl.edu/send/t/g1901.pdf>, or Safe Fresh Produce at Home available online at <http://www.eatright.org/ada/files/FoodSafetyHOMEFinal.pdf>.

Finding the connection with those we meet

By: Pat Meierhenry

Wow, the last day of June, the year is half over, and we are preparing for the Fourth. We have been reading about all the cattle deaths last week, and shuddering. I can remember a few other years when that happened, and it's not funny!

Last week was a scorcher, that is for sure. We are all so spoiled with air conditioning; I wonder sometimes how we survived all those years without it. They are working on the main building at Tabitha, and for one long day, our offices were deprived of it. It was miserable! But all we had to do was look out the windows at the construction guys on cranes, tearing down brick, and decide we were still better off.

I have a reputation at work for always finding a connection with new people I meet. For instance, I visited a 90 year old at an assisted living facility last week and learned that she worked for forty years at the York hospital where I was born. She worked all that time in the nursery, so I'm guessing she probably took care of my sis. Remember, they all stayed in the hospital for ten days after a child was born in those days. Unbelievable now.

86 year old lady who lives with her daughter here. I don't remember why I mentioned Winside, but the daughter said she was born there. Turns out her mother grew up in Winside, graduated from high school there, and had her children there. It was old home week as we reminisced about Fleer's grocery store, Dr. Craig, and Doc Dittman. Her graduation year was 1939, the seventy year honor class this year. I asked if she remembered George Voss, and she said of course she did. "He married the little Benschoff girl," was her comment.

Since son in law Max was MC for this year's alumni banquet, I had a program from the affair. I took it to her, and the names brought back many memories. Her name was the first on the list, alphabetically.

So, with her permission, I am printing it here, in the hope that some of the old grads who are still around will drop her a card and let her know what they are doing. It's Mildred Christensen Holloway and she lives at 3731 Linden St., Lincoln, NE 68516.

Her sister was Ellen Denkinger, who taught at Winside for many years. It really is a small world, and as I explain to my younger co-workers, when you have been around as long as I have, and never moved out of Nebraska, you are bound to run into folks with the same background. We are sparsely populated, and we just move around. And it makes it fun for people like me because, as I also tell them, if I don't know them, I will dig until I find someone who does!

Kevin Bacon and his six degrees of separation? It's more like three, at least in Nebraska!

Time to scout for soybean aphids

By Keith Jarvi, Extension Educator

Tom Hunt, Extension Entomologist at the UNL Haskell Ag Lab in Concord has reminded me that it is time to start looking for soybean aphids. Up to now we haven't found any soybean aphids in Nebraska soybean fields, but that is not unusual (other states to our north and east are already dealing with them); we usually find only a few in June.

Having said that, do not forget that if temperatures are moderate in July, aphid populations can increase very fast. Remember last year? We had a relatively cool July (temperatures did not exceed 90° F at Concord), and aphid populations exploded in much of Nebraska.

The aphid is light green to pale yellow, less than 1/16th inch long, and has two black-tipped cornicles (cornicles look like tailpipes) on the rear of the abdomen. It has piercing-sucking mouthparts and typically feeds on new tissue near the top of soybean plants on the undersides of leaves. Later in the season the aphids can be found on all parts of the plant. It is the only aphid in North America that forms colonies on soybean.

Soybean aphids overwinter on buckthorn as eggs. In the spring the eggs hatch and eventually winged females fly to soybeans. Multiple generations of wingless female aphids are produced on soybeans until late summer/fall, when winged females and males are produced that migrate back to buckthorn, where they mate. The females then lay eggs on buckthorn, which overwinter, thus completing the seasonal cycle.

Soybean aphid populations can grow to extremely high levels under favorable environmental conditions. Reproduction and development is fastest when temperatures are in the 70s through the mid 80s (degrees F). The aphids do not appear to do well when temperatures are in the 90's, and are reported to begin to die when temperatures reach 95 degrees F. When populations reach high levels during the summer, winged females are produced that migrate to other soybean fields.

Soybean aphids injure soybeans by removing plant sap with their needle-like mouthparts. Symptoms of soybeans infested by soybean aphid may include yellowed, distorted leaves and stunted plants. A charcoal-colored residue, also may be present on the plants. This is sooty mold that grows on the honeydew that aphids excrete. Honeydew in itself makes leaves appear shiny. Soybean plants are most vulnerable to aphid injury during the early reproductive stages.

During the last few years in Nebraska, very few aphids have been found during the vegetative stages. We may find a few in late June - early July, but it is usually mid-July before we begin to regularly find aphids, while soybeans are entering or in R3 (beginning pod stage). In Nebraska aphid populations can reach economically damaging populations in late July, but most reach economically damaging populations in August, while soybeans are in the mid-reproductive stages (R4-R5). The exception was last year (2008), when we had a relatively cool July and aphid populations started reaching economically damaging populations two to three weeks earlier than normal.

Soybean Aphid Management

1. Scouting. Begin scouting soybean fields once or twice a week in late June to early July. Check 20 to 30 plants per field. Aphids are most likely to concentrate at the very top of the plant early in the season, and will move onto stems and within the canopy as populations grow and/or the plant reaches mid to late reproductive stages. As the season progresses, aphid numbers can change rapidly (populations can double in 2-3 days).

2. Economic threshold. The current recommended threshold for late vegetative through R5 stage soybeans is 250 aphids per plant (field average) with 80 percent of the plants infested and populations increasing. Depending on economic conditions, this gives you about five to seven days to schedule treatment before populations reach damaging levels (if populations do not increase during these seven days, you may be able to eliminate or delay treatment). Determining if the aphid population is actively increasing requires several visits to the field. Factors favorable for aphid increase are relatively cool temps, plant stress (particularly drought), and lack of natural enemies.

3. Natural enemies. Look for the presence of aphid natural enemies such as lady beetles, minute pirate bugs, and other insect predators. Aphid "mummies" (light brown, swollen aphids) indicate the presence of parasitoids. These predators and parasitoids may keep low or moderate aphid populations in check (under 200 aphids per plant). One can often find soybean aphids by examining plants where lady beetles are observed.

4. Winged aphids. Look for the presence of winged aphids. If the majority of aphids are winged or developing wings, the aphids may soon leave the field and treatment can be avoided.

5. Late treatment. If the plants are covered with honeydew or sooty mold, or stunted, an insecticide treatment may still be of value but the optimum time of treatment is past.

6. Test strip. If fields are treated, leave an untreated test strip to compare against sprayed sections. This also provides a refuge for beneficial insects.

7. Coverage. Good insecticide coverage and penetration is required for optimal control of soybean aphid, as many aphids feed on the undersides of the leaves and within the canopy. Use high water volume and pressure. Aerial application works well when high water volume is used (5 gallons of water per acres recommended).

8. Insecticide selection. Several insecticides are labeled for the soybean aphid. A list of registered insecticides, rates, preharvest intervals, and grazing restrictions can be found at <http://entomology.unl.edu/instabs/soyaphid.htm>. Pyrethroids have a relatively long residual. Chlorpyrifos has a fumigant action, and may work well in heavy canopies or high temperatures.

9. Bee safety. Spraying flowering soybean poses a threat to honey bees. Inform treatment plans to nearby beekeepers and follow precautions to minimize honey bee kills. When there is concern about honey bees, pyrethroids are the better insecticide choice.

10. Not with glyphosate. We do not generally recommend applying an insecticide at glyphosate application. In Nebraska this is usually before the aphids reach damaging levels, or are even in the field. Insecticide treatment at this time would simply rid the field of natural enemies. In addition, application methods for herbicides (e.g. lower pressures) are not optimal for good insecticide efficacy.

11. Dual treatment. If fungicides are sprayed when soybean aphid thresholds are met, a fungicide/insecticide tank mix should be effective because application methods for both require high water pressure for adequate penetration and coverage.

FOOTBALL AUCTION

A 1988 Nebraska Cornhusker Autographed football has been donated to be auctioned off on Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Alumni dinner. It has been autographed by the 1988-89 roster including coach Tom Osborn, Athletic Director Bob Devaney, quarterback Steve Taylor - to name a few of the names on the football.

There will be a silent auction on Friday and Saturday and the football will be auctioned off before the $1000 Cash giveaway on Saturday at 8 p.m. You need not be present at the Alumni dinner to take part in the raffle.

ALUMNI WEEKEND HERE

FRIDAY: The Allen Alumni Evening All School Social will be on July 3. The Reunion Social will be from 5-8 p.m. at the Firehall. The Gym Fundraising Committee will be serving a variety of grilled meats, salad, dessert and a drink ticket for $10 - along with a cash bar. The Public is welcome. Allen Alumni Classes of 1988 - 1995 are invited to 515 S. Clark street for Happy Hour starting at 5 p.m. The Class of 1959 will meet at the Firehall meeting room at 5 p.m.

SATURDAY: On July 4 - Breakfast at the Firehall from 7:30 - 10:30 a.m.; 10 - 4 p.m. is Fun and Food at the Village Park. The carnival style games are being loaned to the Music Boosters from Mike and Val Isom. The food booth will be serving taverns, hot dogs, nachos, pop, water and more. Funds raised will support the band trip to the Cotton Bowl.

The Dixon County Museum, Car Show and Antiques shops will be open. The Classes of 1948 and 49 will meet at the United Methodist Church - light lunch and visiting at 1 p.m. From 2 - 4 p.m., the Classes of 1968 and 1969 will meet at the Firehall. Classes of 1944 and 1945 - will be meeting at Carol and Gaylen Jackson's home.

The Alumni Banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. There will be a program honoring the classes of 1958 and 1959 followed by an Alumni meeting. Next will be a Memorabilia Auction for Gym Fund - including a painting by Mrs. K.R. Mitchell. Before the Cash Giveaway at 8 p.m. the 1988 Nebraska Autographed Football will be auctioned off. Followed by the 3 winners of the $1,000 Big Deal Raffle Suitcase selecting their suitcases of either $100, $500, or $1,000.

The Dixon County Museum will have a special display case showing uniforms of Allen High school past. Alumni can stop in July 4 from 1 to 4 p.m. and on Sunday July 5. The Dixon County Museum in Allen is open Sunday afternoons, 2 to 4, June through August.

At dusk, there will be fireworks at the Isom/Hill Athletic Field. Music Boosters will be serving beverages and popcorn at the football field.

SUNDAY: On Sunday, the Senior Center will have coffee and rolls at the Allen Firehall from 7:30 - 11 a.m. They will be serving rolls, coffee and juice.

CAR SHOW

Everyone is invited to participate in the second "Anything on Wheels" car or whatever show. If it has wheels, bring it. This is a non-entry, non judged event. Just a chance for you to bring out your pride and joy and let the world take a look. It will be the same location as last reunion, on Clark Street between Second and Third Streets, starting around 10 a.m.

JOHN'S WELDING & TOOL
If you would like to contribute to Allen's 4th of July fireworks fund, please see Barb at Security National Bank. If you wish to sponsor a "burst" in honor or in memory of someone, you may do so for $50. These special purchases will be announced during the fireworks display. Or you may simply help sponsor the event with a smaller donation.

BIG DEAL CASH RAFFLE
Tickets for the $1000-$500-$100 Big Deal Cash Suitcase Raffle are available to anyone over 18. You do not have to be a graduate or be present to win. If your name is drawn July 3 at the Firehall Social at 10 p.m., as one of the three names chosen to select from the three suitcases, you will be notified and you or your representative will make that selection at 8 p.m. Saturday night in the school gym, as part of the entertainment for the Alumni Banquet.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

The Allen's Community Vacation Bible School theme this year is "Crocodile Dock - where fearless kids shine God's light." Bible School will be held at the Allen School. Registrations were mailed out to be returned when your child comes to Bible School. If you did not receive a registration, please stop at the bank and pick one up.

The dates for Vacation Bible School are Sunday, July 12 through Thursday, July 16. The night will begin at 5 p.m. with a light supper and parents are invited to eat too. The fun begins about 5:45 p.m. and will finish at 8:30 p.m. If you have any questions, please contact Carol Chase 635-2440 or Ken Johnson 755-2742. The event is sponsored by the Allen Lutheran Church and the Allen United Methodist Church.

ALLEN MUSIC BOOSTERS

A chartered bus for Allen band supporters to the 2010 Cottonbowl has been discussed for parents, grandparents, teachers, etc. The trip would consist of the parade and the game - staying just one night. If interested, please let Missy Sullivan know and if there are enough people interested, we'll have to look for hotel rooms, Cottonbowl tickets, etc. and figure out what the cost would be per person to figure out if this would be an option. Please email her at home at msullivan@ntnc.net or leave a message at 402-287-2998.

NECC plans intro to photoshop II class

Learn to further enhance and improve your photos in a one-credit-hour Photoshop class at Northeast Community College in West Point. The one-credit-hour Introduction to Photoshop II class, with course number ARTS 1005-30/09B or HawkNET Call #10230, meets Tuesdays and Thursdays, July 14-28, from 6:30-9:30 p.m. in Room 212 at Northeast's new education center in West Point. The center is located at 202 Anna Stalp avenue at the corner of Washington and Mill.

This class, with Patty Schinstock as instructor, is a continuation of Introduction to Photoshop (ARTS1000). That course is a prerequisite for this class. This class will cover additional selection and editing procedures as students are introduced to additional methods to add impact to their images. They will also learn to create objects and modify text.

Cost of this one-credit class is $78 plus a $9 materials fee. To register, visit www.northeast.edu or call Terry Ramig (402)372-2269.

Industrial Technician Career Fair is July 8

Learn more about opportunities as an industrial technician during an Industrial Technician Career Fair Wednesday, July 8, at the Northeast Community College Education Center in South Sioux City. The fair is scheduled for 1-5 p.m. at the education center located at 3309 Daniels Lane in the Westside Business Park.

Those attending the career fair will learn that Northeast will begin offering classes for a one-year industrial technician diploma this fall. All course work for the diploma can be completed in South Sioux City. Through classroom instruction and hands-on lab experiences, students will graduate with skills necessary to operate machines and do simple repairs in a wide variety of manufacturing environments.

The first semester of the 30-credit-hour program will include classes in basic electricity and computer applications, precision measurement, shop operations, and applied math. Classes in the second semester are motor controls, an OSHA 30-hour safety class, machinist fundamentals, blueprint reading, and career composition.

According to Pam Miller, Northeast's education center director in South Sioux City, the instructors in this program have worked in the field and will give their students real-world learning experiences.

Upon completion of the program, students will be able to find employment as an entry-level maintenance technician, automated machine operator, or CNC machine tool operator. According to 2008 data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the average salary for an industrial technician in Nebraska is $32,900.

"We welcome Siouxlanders to learn more about our diploma program and career opportunities as an industrial technician," Miller said. "We will have local business representatives at the fair to visit with our guests and answer all their questions about career opportunities as an industrial technician."

For more information about the industrial technician diploma program or the career fair, call (402)241-6400.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING RELATING TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE LOWER ELKHORN NATURAL RESOURCES DISTRICT GROUNDWATER MANAGEMENT AREA RULES AND REGULATIONS
The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District ("District") will hold a public hearing in compliance with Section 46-743 of Nebraska Revised Statutes on July 21, 2009, at 7:00 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center at 601 East Benjamin Avenue in Norfolk, Nebraska. The purpose of the hearing is to take public comment on proposed amendments to the District's groundwater management area rules and regulations.
The District is amending its groundwater management area rules and regulations in an effort to maintain the status of not fully appropriated by limiting irrigation growth in the hydrologically connected area of the District for the next four years, as required by Section 46-714(12). A map of the geographic area impacted is available at the District office. Generally, these proposed amendments include controls to: (1) limit irrigation growth in the hydrologically connected area to no more than 10,000 acres through 2012, averaging 2,500 acres of new irrigation development per year, (2) prohibit the construction of any new well or the expansion of irrigated acres without a variance from the District, (3) establish parameters for the variance process, including an application period and a ranking system, (4) create a process for certifying irrigated acres in the District, and (5) require the installation of devices for measuring ground water withdrawals from water wells.
The full text of the proposed rules and regulations is available at the District office or
