Mural dedication held

A dedication of the Q-125 mural was held on July 7. The mural is located on the north side of This & That at 222 Main Street and was installed by Otte Construction. This & That is owned by Cap and Nana Peterson. Wayne High School art teacher Amy Jackson gave recognition to her Advanced Art and Painting class for the project. Above, left to right, Jackson's student Ashley Soden, (who made the preliminary sketches of the mural); Cap and Nana Peterson and Amy Jackson.

Chickens, visitors expected to flock to Wayne this weekend

After months of planning and preparations, the 29th annual Wayne Chicken Show is set to take place this weekend.

The Chicken Show committee has planned an egg-citing three day event for July 10, 11, and 12. Over 100 volunteers donate time, talent and financial support to keep the Chicken Show fun and "cheep' for all to attend. Crowds estimated at over 10,000 have attended previous years.

The roesters will be crowing early Friday morning at the Flea Market/Sidewalk Sale downtown. Sellers will be set up on the sidewalks and inside the former Antiques on Main building from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Main Street will be blocked off beginning at 4 p.m. for the Henoween events. Food, fun and craft vendors will line the streets all evening. The Cutest Chicklette Contest is set to begin at 4:30 p.m. in front of Arnie's Ford Mercury.

Registration for the event starts at 3:15 at Arnie's Ford Mercury.

Age groups include up to 12 months of age; 13 to 24 months of age and up to five years of age. Prizes will be given for first place and runner-up in each category. Chicklettes can be dressed up; however, there are no rules for the contest, except that everyone have fun.

The World's Largest Chicken Dance gets things rolling at 6 p.m. Stage events begin at 6:30 with the Q125 T-shirt and Let's Make a Deal contests, Cement Chicken Auction, Saucy Hot Wing Eating contest and a free concert by CrossFire. The evening concludes with a teen dance and Saturday's events kick off with a 5K/1M Run/Walk, omelet feed and Live Rooster Crowing which precede the 9:30 a.m. parade. The parade begins at First and Main Street and proceeds north up Main Street to 10th Street and then west to Bressler Park, where the remainder of the days' activities will take place.

The Chicken Feed, consisting of a chicken breast sandwich, beans, chips and a drink, will be served beginning at 11:30 am and crowds will be entertained by Larry Contests follow, including the Chicken Flying Contest, National Cluck-off, Biggest/ Smallest/ Most Unusual Egg Contest, Egg Toss and Rubber Chicken Chuck and Pizza Hut's Hard Boiled Egg Eating, ending with the Egg Drop.

The fun's not over for Saturday. Strut on down to the Final Touch parking lot on South Main for a street dance with Larry Myer, Cactus Flats, and Leafy Spurge.

Sunday, celebrate the Last Cluck with brunch at the airport, Crowing Motors Car show and Poker Run.

Everyone is invited to wind down at Singsperation, a community songfest led by Phil Phaltzgraph at Bressler Park at 4 p.m. The Singsperation is both a Chicken Show event and a Q 125 event.

> Construction on the approximately 39,600-square-foot facility should substantially be completed in December 2010. A capital campaign is in progress to raise monies for the facility. To date, more than $11.5 million of the total $12 million project cost has been funded through the contributions of the two colleges, private donations, foundations, and federal funds.

Former State Senator Pat Engel is honorary chairperson for the capital campaign. Bart Gotch, president of Siouxland National Bank, co-chairs the campaign with Eric Bertness, CEO of Phillips Kiln Services, Inc.

Nebraska Governor Dave Heineman will be a special guest at the event. For more information about the project, contact Pam Miller at (402) 241-6405 or Phyllis Conner at (402) 375-7510.

Loretta Tejkl of Loretta's Custom Creations is shown wearing a picnic or croquet dress that she made. It is a three piece outfit with a skirt, overskirt and bodice. She got the idea for it after looking through a Butterick publishing magazine from the summer of 1882. The photograph was taken at the Wayne County Museum in Wayne which will have an open house on Sunday, Aug. 9 from noon to 5 p.m.

Q-125 Luncheon and Vintage Style Show set for Aug. 8 in Wayne

By Lynn Sievers

Of the Herald There will be a Q-125 Luncheon &

Vintage Style Show on Saturday, Aug. 8 at the Wayne City Auditorium. Doors will open at 11:30 a.m. Loretta Tejkl of Loretta's Custom Creations will give a presentation on vintage clothing and history. Those attending are urged to wear vintage clothing and hats.

Seats are limited to 240 for the luncheon. Tickets are $10 and can be purchased in Wayne at Swan's Apparel, all four banks or from Nancy Jo Powers, Lorraine Johnson or Fauneil Bennett.

For those out of town who would like to purchase tickets, they can send $10 for each ticket they wish to purchase and a self addressed stamped envelope to: Fauneil Bennett, 1450 Vintage Hill Drive, Wayne, NE. 68787.

Tejkl started her business a couple of years ago after Stanton had their Q125. Tejkl, who used to work in the bridal industry, put on a style show with a 4-H group during the Stanton Q125. Afterwards, she got a number of calls requesting her talents so decided to start her business, Loretta's Custom Creations.

She creates reproduction and vintage clothing that people can wear. Her presentations include: Style Shows, Undergarment shows for Women, Childrens Show and Civil War era. The oldest piece of clothing she has is a child's dress that is pre-Civil War (1840s) and the newest piece she has is an antique item from 1916.

Attendees to her presentations get to see not only vintage styles but also get to hear the history on many interesting subjects.

Teikl makes outfits using actual vintage patterns. Among the patterns she uses is those found in magazines from the 1870s-1880s. Several magazines that had patterns in them were Harper's Bazar, Peterson's Ladies' Magazine and Godey's Lady's Book.

She creates a different outfit for each presentation she gives. For her Wayne Q125 presentation, she will be showing a 1880s wedding dress she made. Teikl will also have a display table of vintage items.

Tejkl is from Stanton and is married to Ron Tejkl. The couple has four children: Elizabeth, 23, Thomas, 21, Andrew, 19 and Besides her vintage style shows, Tejkl also does custom sewing and can reproduce any style desired. She also rents out clothing. Anyone with questions can contact her at 402-439-2978 or at rltejkl@msn.

Out with the old

Milo Meyer Construction has begun demolition of the former Wayne State College Maintenance building on North Main Street. The building has also been home to a bottling company and the Nebraska National Guard during its history. No immediate plans have been announced for the lot.

"It's already increased," she said. "We've seen a lot of mosquitos, and it's going to continue."

The greatest risk associated with mosquitos is the West Nile virus. In 2008, 47 Nebraskans contracted West Nile with one of those leading to a fatality, according to the Department of Health and Human Services Web site.

To help protect against mobs of mosquitos, Ogg said, Nebraskans while protecting themselves. Any containers or standing water should be dumped. A small pond or body of water that can't be removed can pose problems. Ogg said products containing bacillus thuringiensis israelensis, or BTI, come in the form of doughnuts, biscuits or granules and can be put into a pond to cut down on mosquito larvae.

"You don't have to worry about wildlife or animals drinking out of a pond," Ogg said, "because it is something that is real specific to mosquito larvae."

She said BTI products can be bought at hardware stores or garden centers and cost $10 to $15. Ogg said the amount of BTI product to buy depends on the square footage of a pond or standing water. For those with plenty of cash, a device called a Mosquito Magnet can be bought for about $500. They work with a propane tank to generate carbon dioxide, which attracts mosquitos and traps them.

"Unfortunately, bug zappers don't work on mosquitos," Ogg said. "Mosquitos aren't attracted to light · they find us by detecting carbon dioxide and other odors we give

Nebraska State Patrol begins new Safety Saturdays Initiative

In an effort to reduce the potential for traffic fatalities the Nebraska State Patrol (NSP) will begin a new initiative called "Safety Saturdays" designed to increase trooper presence on selected Saturday nights.

Once a month, for the next six months, each of the six NSP Troop Areas will conduct a "Safety Saturdays" special enforcement. During the designated Saturday, the selected Troop Area will adjust work schedules so that extra troopers are available to hold special enforcement efforts aimed at reducing crash causing behaviors, such as impaired driving.

"We are always looking at ways in which we can best utilize our resources to reduce fatalities," said Field Services Commander, Major Russ Stanczyk. "Safety Saturdays, will enable each Troop Area to present a strong presence, in a defined period of time, with the expressed goal of deterring behaviors which could lead to a crash."

The first "Safety Saturday" will be conducted in Troop E- Scottsbluff on Saturday, July 11. During the special enforcement effort, Troop E will conduct vehicle safety checkpoints, high visibility patrols, DWI checkpoints and selective enforcement operations in and around Scotts Bluff County during the evening hours on Saturday, July 11.

A list of Troop Areas and the date of the planned "Safety Saturdays" enforcement is below. Specific information on the planned enforcement activities can be obtained by contacting the Troop Area Headquarters: Troop E-Scottsbluff, (308) 632-1211 July 11; Troop D-North Platte, (308) 535-8047, August 15; Troop C-Grand Island, (308) 385-6000 September 26; Troop A-Omaha, (402) 331-3333, Oct. 10; Headquarters Troop-Lincoln, (402) 471-4545, November 7, Troop B-Norfolk, (402) 370-3456 December

Be creative at your library

The Summer Reading Program is in full swing, and it's never too late to join in the fun! Currenlty, there are 279 children registered for the program. The youth section of the library has checked out 5,245 books and stories since June 23 and an average of 130 children pour through the doors on activity days. This week the children did some chicken themed activities to jump start the chicken show action. We read chicken stories, saw a wonderful short film entitled "Call Me Chicken" from The Natural History of the Chicken a film by Mark Lewis, a PBS DVD available at the library, made chiken puppets - and of course practiced the chicken dance!

Happy givers

The children at Rainbow World Child Care were all smiles as they presented a check for $50 to Lori Carollo, Director of the Northeast Nebraska Chapter of the American Red Cross. The money represents a part of the proceeds from a recent fund-raising lunch. Carollo also discussed with the children the work of the Red Cross.

County eligible for sub-grant; amount will go towards cost of emergency manager By Lynn Sievers cy manager. Roll call vote was: recovery with the cor

Of the Herald

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session Tuesday. Commissioner Dean Burbach made a motion to amend the agenda to include findings from the Nebraska State Historical Society. Commissioner Kelvin Wurdeman seconded the motion which passed unanimously. LeRoy Janssen, Wayne County Sheriff, discussed emergency management stating Wayne County is eligible for $18,840. With that in mind, he feels a full time emergency manager should be hired.

Wurdeman-nay, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried. A resolution accepting the $18,840 subgrant to apply toward the cost of a full-time emergency manager was signed. A public hearing was held to reclassify Centennial Road from the centerline of Logan Creek, south to 855th Road and 855th Road from Highway 15 to Centennial Road. Elizabeth Carlson, highway superintendent, noted they want Centennial Road to be reclassified from local to major collector status so federal funds can be received for Janssen added the county could be eligible for more money for radios with more frequencies. If the emergency manager position is part time, the county won't be eligible for some of that money. Wurdeman said if they get more radios, it will be the county's responsibility to repair them so that needs to be looked at and built into the budget. Janssen said it is because of 9-11 that there is a push from low band to high band frequency. If there is a disaster, being on the same frequency across the country should be beneficial.

Burbach asked Janssen what his thoughts were on sharing the emergency manager position with another county. Janssen noted that if sharing with more than one county, it could be a problem. On the other hand, it could be efficient with the right people. Wurdeman added that the money the county is eligible for isn't all they would have to provide, there is benefits too.

Wurdeman made a motion to pass a resolution requesting the Nebraska Department of Roads to change the state functional classification of Centennial Road, Burbach seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Wurdeman made a motion to authorize solicitation of sealed bids for culverts for C-90 (559), two miles east and 2.2 miles south of Winside on the east line of Section 13, T. 25 N. R. 3 east of the 6th P.M. on 570th Avenue, Mile 849. Burbach seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

Liebers noted she understood the commissioners' concern with the budget. She explained changes the district has gone through in the past few years which included growth, moving and now redistricting from District 2 to District 7 to match judicial districts. She discussed costs, including their new building in Norfolk, which was necessary because they are offering more services than before.

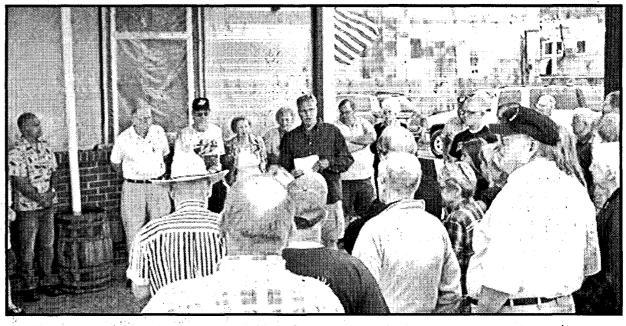

Wurdeman noted their main concern is why Wayne has to pay twice; for the Norfolk unit and also for the Wayne unit. Having to go from $2,400 to $8,533 per month for office space is quite a jump. He added that is why he's been talking to Sen. Giese to get legislation passed to make the cost more fair for Wayne County. He added that District 7 is now comprised of seven counties, not 17 as it was before so he isn't sure why the new bigger building is needed. Sen. Giese noted that with the economy the way it is, judges are tending to be pro-probation and community service so the probation districts are busier. Wurdeman stated that maybe probation districts fees charged needs to be raised. Sen. Giese questioned Liebers as to who approved her budget, which she noted Madison County commissioners did. Discussion ended with the senator's office drafting a new bill that can be introduced in the next session.

A fund closure resolution was introduced. Wayne County has the following funds: reappraisal, unemployment, county relief, institutions, special police and noxious weed. It has been determined that there is no longer need to have those separate funds so those funds should be closed and all money remaining in those funds be transferred to the general fund. Burbach made a motion to approve the resolution, Wurdeman seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

The 2009-2010 budget was discussed. A motion was made by Wurdeman and seconded by Burbach to appoint Finn to assist with budget preparation.

Haase tells story of brother who went missing in Vietnam

July 4th is over but the reason for the holiday should stay in our minds. July 4th is a celebration to commemorate the courage and faith of our founding fathers in their pursuit of liberty. Every day, American soldiers fight to maintain that liberty so we can enjoy the freedom we have. Shirley Haase of Omaha, formerly of Laurel, travels the area telling the story of her brother, Donald Grella. Don and other helicopter crew members went missing on Dec. 28, 1965 while flying a supply mission in Vietnam.

Recently, Haase's search for information as to her brother's fate, came a step closer to answers when the family learned that search teams had found the scattered debris of a Huey helicopter that, in fact, was the one carrying her brother and his three fellow Army 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) soldiers.

Looking back, Donald Grella was born Dec. 1, 1940 at Laurel, the son of Leo and Alberta Grella. The family lived on a farm north of Laurel until Leo died in 1953. Following his death, the family moved into Laurel where Don and his sister, The Assessor's office can have that Shirley, attended school. Alberta married Ernie Sutton in 1954. Don in 1958. He worked on a farm near Laurel and later worked for Alan Hawaii. Now, they wait again. The next Wayne County Brodersen's well digging and repair

When Don learned that the company was planning layoffs, he reenlisted in the Army early in 1964 with plans to make the military a career. He was immediately sent to Korea where he trained as a helicopter crew chief. He returned from Korea in April or May, 1965. spent about a month in Laurel on leave and then went to Fort Rucker, Ala. for advanced training as a helicopter crew chief in preparation for his upcoming tour in Vietnam. Don had volunteered for Vietnam (he wouldn't have had to go at that time since he had just returned from a hardship tour in Korea). From Fort Rucker, he went to Fort Benning, Ga., to join A Company, 229th Assault Helicopter Battalion, 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile). In August, the unit deployed by ship (personnel, aircraft, etc.) to Vietnam, arriving there in September, 1965 to establish their base and fight a war. Don and the other helicopter crew members went missing on Dec. 28, 1965 while flying a supply mission, just one month after they fought and survived the Ia Drang battles.

In 1985, searchers received a lead on the possible site of the helicopter crash. It was in a letter from a Vietnamese refugee. Promises to search came and went and the Vietnamese shut down the central highlands region to investigators until 2006. In 2006, a Vietnamese peasant told a search team he had shot down an American helicopter in 1965 or 1966. He said he had seen the remains of four soldiers.

In 2002, the movie "We Were Soldiers", staring Mel Gibson, was released. This movie depicted the November 1965 battles in the Ia Drang Valley. A Company of the 229th AHB provided the airlifts for the infantry men who fought in those battles. "After seeing that movie, I asked Mom for the letters Don wrote home in November 1965", Haase said. "They were so similar to the movie. I searched the Internet and, one by one, found many of the men who also flew in those airlifts. I was amazed how they all remembered and still cared about their missing comrades. They truly are a band of brothers."

Haase said an excavation team confirmed in March that the site was of Grella's helicopter. Some teeth were found at the site, which are suitable for identification, so were sent to a forensic lab in Haase hopes they can identify all four crew members and that no Army in 1961 and served in the there has been 10 years of ups and downs with exciting, frustrating, and infuriating times. Through these years, she and her husband came into contact with the families of the other three servicemen who crash site was approved for excavawere with her brother when he went missing. She notes they see some of these family members in Washington, DC when they attend government briefings.

"They are our friends and we all feel empty not knowing what happened to our loved ones," Haase said. "When your loved one goes missing, grieving doesn't happen even though the government declared them dead. There was a memorial service but we didn't quit hoping."

Haase and her husband, Ron, live in Omaha. Ron is a Vietnam veteran. He works for NMPP Energy in Lincoln. The couple has three daughters, Nicole, who is married and lives in Omaha, Melinda teaches Kindergarten in Bellevue and Kristina is a physician assistant in Kansas City.

Haase graduated from Laurel High School and from St. Joseph Mercy School of Nursing. She recently retired from her job in medical records. She and her husband became actively involved in pursuing Don's case in 1999 when they joined the National League of POW.MIA Families and began attending the annual meeting of the organization in Washington, DC. ---

As for Alberta Sutton, Shirley and Don's mother, she died on Dec. 4, 2006. For years she had waited for word on her son. When Don first went missing, she received letters from the government every month noting searching was in reclassified as missing, presumed dead, and, after the war ended, he was listed as killed in action. body not recovered. Sutton died in 2006, three months after the tion. Haase said, "I know she's way ahead of us and already knows the final chapter of Don's story."

"We will have a wide variety of wood species to choose from and plan to cater to all our customers, from those desiring very simple designs to high end cabinets," said Jess Thompson, one of the owners of International Stoneworks.

The business has a customer base from Sioux Falls, S.D. to Omaha and serves clients within a 100-mile radius of Wayne.

"We pride ourselves in quality craftsmanship, a quick turn over and quality service," Thompson said. He noted that adding cabinetry to their line of services "made sense as we should be able to save a customer money by doing both the cabinetry and counter tops."

Also being added to the product line at International Stoneworks is a wide variety of memorials which can be customized to nearly anything a customer wants.

Thompson noted that drawings and even pictures can be put on a memorial stone using a laser.

Also available are accessories such as vases to be placed next to the stones.

During the next few weeks, the Sorensen asked if that area will staff at International Stoneworks that provides the memorial stone and accepting suggestions for proper placement and handling of the stones. Wayne 18-and-under girls go 4-2 to claim Class B runner-up honors

Flames snap, crackle and pop in 10-0 win over Dirt Devils

By Casey Schroeder

The Wayne (28-5) 18-and-under girl's softball team brought home Class B runner-up honors after going 4.2 in this past weekend's Nebraska State Softball Tournament at the Bill Smith Softball Complex in Hastings.

On Friday, Wayne opened Class B action with a stunning 5-4 comefrom-behind win over Columbus Lakeview.

In the first inning, Lakeview opened the scoring with a run scored to jump out on top 1-0 before adding two more runs in the second for the early 3-0 advantage.

Wayne then responded with a run in the second, cutting Lakeview's lead to 3-1 while going on to score two additional runs in the third to tie the game at 3-3.

After four scoreless innings of play and with the score still tied at 3-3 going into the eighth, Columbus scored one run to reclaim a 4-1 advantage over the opposition, but failed to keep it as Wayne added a pair of late runs to rally for the 5-4

Following the Dirt Devils' win over Columbus Lakeview, Wayne returned to action later in the day where they defeated North Platte

In the second inning, North Platte took a 1-0 lead over Wayne, but quickly relinquished it as the Dirt Devils scored five runs in the third to jump on top 5-1.

Wayne then added three more runs in the fourth for a 8-1 advantage before allowing a pair of North Platte runs late in the eighth en route to the 8-3 win, Calhoon finished with three hits, including a double and two runs followed by Finkey with a pair of hits and two runs scored.

In addition to Calhoon and Finkey, Fehringer and Jarvi each contributed two hits while Caitlin Gustafson singled.

With Columbus and North Platte out of the picture, Wayne closed out Friday's action with an 8-0 win over Lexington.

The Dirt Devils took control from start, jumping on top of a 5-0 lead after one inning of play before adding two runs in the fourth and another run in the seventh as they cruised on to the 8-0 victory.

Finkey led Wayne at the plate with three hits, two runs scored and an RBI followed by Justin Carroll with two singles.

Hoffart, also contributed a tworun homer in the fourth, her first of the season, while Dacia Gansebom, Fehringer, Jarvi and Calhoon each finished with a hit in the win.

From within the circle, Jarvi (27-3) was tagged with the win, having worked seven innings where she gave up no runs on two hits with no walks while striking out five.

On the pitcher's mound, Ellis was tagged with the win as she gave up one run on six hits with no walks while striking out nine in seven innings of work.

Following the Dirt Devils' win over the Lincoln Thunder, Wayne closed out Friday's tournament action with a 3-1 win over North Platte.

"We continued to play solid defense and took advantage of any errors they had," Belmer said. "Both teams just played solid softball and we came out on top."

After four scoreless innings of play, both teams opened the scoring in the fifth with a run scored to make it a 1-1 contest heading into the sixth.

It was then in the sixth that Wayne clinched its first and only lead of the game at 3-1, scoring two runs which was all that was needed as the Dirt Devils held off a late seventh-inning rally by North Platte to preserve the 3-1 win.

For Wayne, Fehringer finished with two hits and a run while Ellis and Steenken each added a single and run scored in the win.

Defensively, Wayne saw Ellis go the distance as she worked seven innings where she gave up just one run on 11 hits with no walks while striking out six.

Winside 16-and-under girl's team earns berth to '09 Class C State Softball Tourney

The Winside 16-and-under girl's softball team has qualified for the 2009 Nebraska Class C State Softball Tournament that will be held at the Bill Smith Softball Complex in Hastings on July 10-12.

Winside earned the berth to the State Tournament after finishing as runners-up with a 7-2 record at this past weekend's District C-6 Tournament in Battle Creek.

Winside dropped its first game of the tournament to the O'Neill Heat, but then played its way through the consolation bracket, defeating O'Neill to force the "if neccesary game," where they fell short in five innings 8-0.

Winning or losing pitcher in all games, except for Pierce (Deserah Janke) was Miranda Hansen.

BUSY ALUMNI WEEKEND

Allen's Alumni Weekend was a busy, fun filled weekend. Along with the Allen Alumni Banquet Saturday night, the Allen Gym Fundraiser Social at the Firehall Friday night along with the classes of 1988-1998 meeting for a social hour, and the many Class Reunions; Allen was a busy town!

One of the big events was the Bid Deal $1,000 Cash Suitcase giveaway. Three lucky names were drawn Friday night - Anita Rastede, Jane Keitges, and Judy Fornash Hopkins and the suitcases where chosen on Saturday night. Anita Rastede was the winner of the $1,000 suitcase, in which she graciously gave back to the gym fund; Judy Hopkins was winner of the $500 and Jane Keitges was the winner of the $100.

The auction, which included the 1988 Nebraska Football, painting by K.R. Mitchell's wife, the 1990 aerial photo of Allen, and many other items were a big hit with over $600 raised for the gym fund. FIREWORKS - BIG HIT!

Allen Public Relations Committee was overwhelmed with the donations from individuals, families, and organizations that contributed to the fireworks display. This was the first year we provided the opportunity to sponsor aerial displays in honor or in memory of loved ones and we were overwhelmed by the response. We easily had enough money to put on a great show. The Allen Fire Department lit the

Concerned about health care plan

Dear Editor,

I'm writing to say that we can all agree that health care could use some serious reform but do we need to have a form of socialized health

We can't afford to have more government control in our daily lives. We can't afford more taxes and we sure can't have the government telling the doctors who can be treated and who has to suffer the consequences.

President Obama's health care plan is not for the freedom loving American people.

We all need to get involved and informed in what is happening to our country because things are changing. But is it good for a democracy?

Rose Janke, Winside

Thanks to coaches, volunteers

On behalf of the City of Wayne Recreation Department, Softball and Baseball Associations, I would like to thank all the coaches and volunteers who have spent countless hours throughout the year working with our youth in many different capacities.

Your cooperation and willingness to assist in any way is a reflection on the success of our programs.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson, City Administrator

City Council meeting

The next regular City Council meeting will be Tuesday, July 21 at 5:30 p.m. in the council room. Somebody has to make a profit:

1) For all the federal, state and local government sponsored projects, somebody has to generate the profit to pay the taxes to provide the money.

2) For every job in the Wayne area, somebody has to make a profit to pay the wages and taxes.

3) Why take the risk of starting your own business?

4) Why take the risk of hiring employees to expand? 5) Why have your business in the Wayne area? 6) If you own a business on the east or west coast, how would you even know about Nebraska as a place to expand your business and create Nebraska jobs?

7) If you start your business in the Wayne area, why would you stay here and expand?

8) If we need companies and jobs to live and prosper here, what is the impact of local government decisions on these issues? Keeping our eye on the ball:

These are all questions that the council deliberates at budget time.

Somebody has to make a profit here for our future success. The mayor and council have a budget workshop scheduled on the evening of Aug. 11. If you have comments before that time, let them or city staff know your thoughts.

Questions or comments?

Call Lowell Johnson, City Administrator at 375-1733 or email me at cityadmin@cityofwayne.org.

Can the state afford higher teacher salaries?

Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

Only a couple of times a year do we hear from a reader who suggests, or even insists, that we ought to write a column about a specific event in the news.

Since we have heard from three readers concerning Gov. Dave Heineman's letter urging teachers to seek higher salaries, it seems some observation may be appropri-

In a June 9 letter, Heineman said teachers should push for higher pay this year because federal stimulus dollars allowed local governments to receive more money as state aid for the next two years. That is, the Legislature passed the money through to the locals.

The executive director of the Nebraska Association of School Boards summed up the group's reaction, politely and in language suitable for publication.

"I just can't believe him sending that," said John Bonaituto. "The governor's letter is insinuating districts have enough money to increase salaries substantially, and that is not true."

And to whom did Heineman send his letter? To the Nebraska State Education Association, which represents tens of thousands of teach-

Objective observers might ask: "When's the last time a conservative, Republican governor told labor to go after management for more money?"

One not-so-objective school board member, speaking (understandably) on condition of anonymity, asked: "Is he gonna' make sure the money keeps coming in over the

The answer to the first question: Can't think of a single instance. The answer to the second question: Not likely, because the money told a reporter: isn't likely to be there.

The latter concerns many school boards. The economy isn't in peak form. What happens when stimulus dollars stop flowing from Washington in two years? How could school boards continue to cover the higher costs of those salaries recommended by Heineman? The Legislature provides more state aid dollars to school boards every year, Heineman said, and school boards say that 80-to-85 percent of their budgets are spent to cover salaries and benefits.

Sounding something like a friend of labor, in this instance, Heineman

"What I'm saying is, all school districts seem to come to us and say we need a dramatic increase in state aid," and therefore it is fair to ask "why aren't teachers seeing the increases superintendents [of schools] are?"

Oh, my! Heineman is seeking re-election in 2010, and critics will accuse him of using the federal money to curry favor with teachers - who are known to vote, regularly. After all, there are more schoolteachers than school board members.

The view from here: It won't matter one bit. Even given that Heineman is as paranoid as every politician, there isn't currently anything or anyone on the horizon that remotely threatens his re-elec-

It goes without saying - but always needs to be said - that anything can happen to the fortunes of any politician in the blink of a single news cycle.

But even the slightest understanding of Nebraska politics, and political history will tell you that Heineman's policy position or political gambit (call it what you will) doesn't approach anything near what could be called a legitimate political risk.

Weekly Legislative Update

Greetings from the Unicameral! The growth of wind energy in Nebraska was a major topic last session, with a number of bills passed to encourage further development.

While Nebraska has the sixth highest potential for production of wind energy, we rank just 24th in wind power generation. One of the bills passed this session, LB 561, seeks to encourage the type of large-scale generation that other states have utilized with great suc-

The bill allows public power districts to waive their eminent domain power in agreements with private wind-farm developers and build wind generation facilities that create more than 80 megawatts of electricity. The bill also provides a state sales tax exemption for investment in wind energy, provided that 33% of the investment is from Nebraska residents or companies.

Another bill passed this session, LB 568, provides protections for Nebraska landowners seeking to lease all or some of their property to wind-farm developers. Under the bill, wind leases would have to be filed with the county Register of Deeds office, and would have to meet certain parameters so that landowners are not taken advan-

Additionally, with the passage of LB 436, Nebraska became the 43rd state to adopt what is known as a "net metering" policy. Under net metering, consumers who produce their own wind or solar energy will be able to sell any excess power they generate back to their local public power district. With all three bills becoming law, the Legislature has demonstrated a strong commitment to the development of wind energy - both largescale and small-scale.

In addition, the Natural Resources Committee will be examining the complex issues surrounding wind development over the interim. LR 83, which I am co-sponsoring, directs the committee to work with an advisory group of public power districts, private developers, and other interested parties to review issues relating to the expansion of wind energy in Nebraska, and to recommend any additional legislation that may be necessary to further its development. I look forward to seeing the results of the committee's work, as I believe that wind energy will

Honoring law enforcement and gave their lives in service by ication in helping and protecting Nebraskans who continue to pro-

By Nebraska Attorney General Jon Bruning

Local law enforcement officers are on the front lines protecting Nebraskans and making our great state safer and stronger. They confront danger in the line of duty often putting their lives at risk to save others. They know the true meaning of the words duty, honor and courage.

Recently, I had the honor of attending the Nebraska Law Enforcement Memorial dedication at Fonner Park in Grand Island. When I looked into the audience, I saw those who had lost a loved one in the line of duty, a sacrifice that can't be measured.

I was humbled by 130 names etched into the black granite wall. They represent a great loss to our state. These courageous men cared about their families, their communities and the people they served. Their loss is ultimately experienced by us all. No words can ease the pain of losing a father, a husband, a son or a friend. But it is both fitting and proper that we pay tribute to our fallen members of law enforcement and keep them in our memories.

We must never take for granted those who bravely place themselves in harm's way for the protection of their fellow citizens. We must never forget their sacrifices for they are Nebraska's heroes. And, it is our responsibility to make sure our law enforcement officers are remembered with respect, reverence and heartfelt gratitude.

We can honor those who risked showing the same passion and ded- others, and we can honor all the tect us today.

Twas the Night before Fair Twas the night before Fair, and all through the house, Not a person was sleeping-not even the mouse. The unfinished clothes were hung with care, In hopes to be finished in time for the fair.

The children were hustling, making mother see red,

While visions of blue ribbons danced in their heads.

As Judy sewed kerchief and Sue knitted cap,

Mom and Dad wished for a long winter's nap.

When out on the lawn, there arose such a clatter,

Those darn steers were out again! That was the matter. Away to the window flew Mom like a flash. Pulled open the drapes and threw up the sash. The moon on the breast of the lawn freshly mowed, Gave a lust of mid-day to creatures below. Bill ran for the halter, Dad put on his shoes,

The girl's smelled bread burningthere go the blues!

Around 10, its hard to be lively

But they knew at the moment, they couldn't be licked. More rapid than eagles, the steers, running, came, As Dad whistled, shouted and called them by name.

"Come Dasher, come Dancer, come Prancer and Vixen, Here Comet, here Cupid, here

Donner and Blitzen. (They were named after the reindeer.)

To the corn on the porch, they charged the wall, And grabbed the broom, screaming, "Now get away All!" Out of the barn, the steers quick-

Followed by Dad, Mom and her broom, too.

Meanwhile, the girls filled out fair tags, too fast, Forgetting the first names always go last, As they started again to turn names around, In came the rest of the folks with a bound.

Bill was covered with hay from his head to his boot.

So Mom quickly scolded and told him to "Scoot!"

Washing her hands, she eyed clothes on the door, and wondered if others followed this pre-fair score. "I'll finish the tags, you finish the sewing, Dad'll help John wash the sheep, where is this night going?" The bread a bit brown, but preserved looked quite merry Sue iced coffeecake, topping it with a cherry. Mom finished the tags and proceeded to wrap,

The foods in plastic which ran out with snap! Now blouses have buttons, skirts hemmed at last. The long dress looks better with seams pressed flat. By two in the morning, the sheep clean at last, John sat in the kitchen and took a short rest. Bill said his tool box paint was still wet,

But Mom said, "At this hour-too late to fret." "Go take a shower" and she tweaked his nose, With yawns and a stretch, the children arose.

Mom cleaned the kitchen while Dad sipped iced tea,

Glanced at his watch, and said, "You'll agree they really did itthey've got some time to spare." Said kids, "4-H is really a family

With a wink of his eye and a nod of his head, he said,

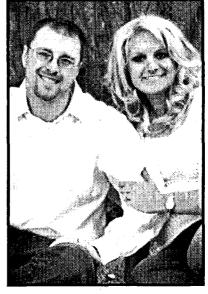

'Let's go to bed Mother, we've got a big day ahead."

Drought tool expands to 48 states

Response Index expanded across the 48 states of the continental United States. VegDRI maps, produced every two weeks, combine satellite-based observations of vegetation conditions with climate and drought's effect on vegetation at a one-kilometer resolution.

A seven-year research effort are doing," said Brian Wardlow, the staff at the U.S. Geological Survey's achieved a milestone last month GIScience program area leader at Center for Earth Resources when the Vegetation Drought the National Drought Mitigation Observation and Science, with spon-Center, which is headquartered at sorship from the U.S. Department the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. of Agriculture's Risk Management "For anyone monitoring agricultural conditions, particularly ranching, or with interests in natural resource management, this is an biosphysical information to map invaluable addition to their tool

Wardlow and Tsegaye Tadesse,

Agency, to fine-tune VegDRI. A USGS/EROS historical 20-year satellite database provides critical input for VegDRI.

This project represents a very successful partnership between the USGS and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's National Drought Mitigation Center," Brown said. "It shows how far we have come in recent years utilizing satellite remote sensing in combination with climate and other environmental data for operational monitoring."

In 2002, Brown and Tadesse received funding for a pilot study from the USGS to develop the concept into a drought monitoring tool for the U.S. that would complement other tools such as the U.S. Drought Monitor. In 2006, with additional RMA resources, the team began transitioning VegDRI from a research activity to producing biweekly maps for a seven-state region centered on the northern Great Plains. VegDRI's coverage has expanded each year, culminating in coast-to-coast coverage as of May 4.

Although VegDRI now spans the U.S. coast-to-coast, the team's work is far from over. One of its current major tasks is to see how accurately the VegDRI maps depict actual drought conditions. Work has been ongoing over 22 central and western states, for which operational maps have been produced since 2008, but this is the first year VegDRI will be produced and tested over the 26 midwestern and eastern states. The researchers are recruiting people to join the VegDRI evaluator network. Evaluators in the past have included ranchers, farmers, climatologists, extension agents, resource management agency employees, and others in the general public.

"We're really looking for input from anyone who can compare what they see on the map with what they see on the ground for their local area," Tadesse said.

VegDRI is undergoing fine-tuning, as better and more data are incorporated. For example, Wardlow said, VegDRI maps now are based on 20 years of historic climate and sounder basis for comparison with a longer historical normal.

Additional features to be added to future include animations, change maps showing the difference unl.edu/vegdri/VegDRI_Main.htm.

4-H Horticulture Contest held

On June 24, 29 people met at the Don and Dorrine Liedman farm west of Carroll. The reason for this gathering was the fourth annual 4-H Horticulture Contest. Ten 4-H competitors were there with their families. Three from Pierce County and seven from Wayne County with 21 adults consisting of the hosts Don and Dorrine, the 4-H parents, staff from the Pierce and Wayne County Extension offices, and several Northeast Nebraska Master Gardeners.

The activities actually started on Monday afternoon when Don and Dorrine, Wayne Ohnesorg-Extension Educator, and Jim Laycock- Master Gardener set up the course for the competition. The Liedmans have just about every plant on the 4-H State list plus so many more, so choosing just 30 plants to put on the exam was not an easy task. Eleven more difsatellite information, providing a figult plants, most not on the 4-H list, were selected and marked for the Master Gardener's competition. ## Spending the Fourth in Seward

Well, that was the coolest Fourth I can remember! Since Larry the Cable Guy was scheduled at Memorial stadium on Saturday evening, the city's fireworks were scheduled for Friday, and were rained out. I hear they had a good crowd for Sunday, though.

We spent part of the day in Seward, the Fourth of July city. Grandson Alex had a gig for his band at the youth center at 2 p.m. Last year, we listened to it in front of the garage, and the sound had space to dissipate. But the youth center is a cement block building with a low ceiling. This grandma lasted for about half of the set, then had to relieve the pressure on the ears. These kids are all going to be deaf by the time they are thirty!!! Seward has many traditions for their celebration, and one is to "capture" a tourist family off the interstate and have them spend the day. Often, it is a family, but this year, it was just a couple, from Georgia. And the gentleman really got into the spirit of things. Going through the lunch line, Sue saw him snapping pictures right and left, exclaiming, "I'm having so

There were only two Czech queens this year, but three rodeo gals on horses. The Pinto queen, however, rode in the back of a convertible. Mrs. Nebraska did, too, as did Miss Dairy Princess. Seward High's band looked sharp, but they were the only school band. There was a Seward metropolitan band that sounded good, and a smaller group honoring one of the banks for 125 years that had a great tuba player!

St. John school is also observing 125 years, so had a giant birthday cake. There were bunches of fire trucks, and the usual compliment of antique autos, all shined up, and about a dozen old tractors, All in all, a very satisfactory presenta-

We celebrated with Val's pizza on Friday night; they are 51 years old this year, and runzas on Sunday; they are saying they are 60 years old! Since we remember them both in the very early days, we are feeling a bit older, too.

Hopefully, we can make it to Wayne's birthday celebration and one more parade this year. That will be here before we know it. The corn is tasseled, and the kids are out there picking them off! Summer is rapidly moving on. Enjoy it while Armed with nets, the kids collected flying insects as well as those in the grass and water at Ike's Lake recently.

Entomology workshop held at Ike's Lake

4-Hers recently participated in a two day entomology workshop in which they were able to collect and identify insects for their 4-H project. This workshop is part of the curriculum area of Environmental Education and Earth Sciences. UNL Extension Educator, Wayne Ohnesorg taught the students about the process of collecting and mounting species for their entomology exhibit. The event was held at the Ike's Lake near Wayne.

Other projects that are part of the curriculum area of Environmental Education and Earth Sciences include: conservation, forestry, range, wildlife and shooting sports. Youth who are interested in these 4-H projects may be interested in the following careers: Biologist, Extension Educator, Natural Resources Systems, Plant Systems, Seed, Fertilizer, or Chemical Sales, State and Federal Regulatory Agencies, Travel and Tourism.

Is fungicide treatment profitable?

As corn growth continues to progress, some producers will consider applying fungicides near tasseling

Fungicide use in corn has increased dramatically over the last few years, with many chemical companies promising enhanced yields due to "plant health" even if no noticeable disease is present. Research from Midwest universities shows that the most benefit from fungicide applications to corn comes when diseases are actually present, which makes sense.

However, some plot results have shown significant increases in yields even when no visible disease symptoms were present. Of course, the companies will promote these results as they try to sell more product to farmers. I am not against free enterprise but I have yet to find a farmer who wants to pay for something and get nothing out of it.

Profitable returns from the use of fungicide are hard to predict. How do you know if applying a fungicide will make you money? First, be wary of non-replicated plot results. If you divide a field in equal halves, one half is going to yield more than the other simply due to chance variability of the soil types and other factors involved. That means 50 percent of the time the treated area will "beat" the untreated area and vice versa. Remember that to be profitable, you must make up the cost of the product and the application, which will require at least a 4-5 bushel increase. In University tests this happens only from 20 to 60 percent of the time depending on the plot conditions when there is little disease pressure.

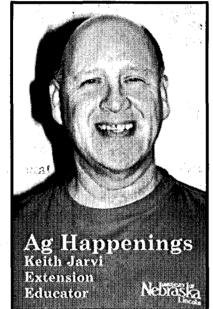

Your greatest chance of return on investment is if you have a majority of these factors: 1. Disease is present.

- 2. Weather conditions favor disease reproduction.
- 3. You have a susceptible vari- event.
- 4. You have corn on corn. 5. The field has a high yield
- potential. 6. There is heavy residue which
- may harbor disease organisms. 7. The corn in irrigated which
- raises the humidity levels. 8. A history of disease, particularly grey leaf spot. If you want to try out the use of fungicides on your farm try to put in at least three strips of treated and untreated areas and take yield results in the fall. It takes more work but you will have a higher confidence in the results. Fungicides work well in preventing yield loss from diseases, but try to determine whether or not they are really needed. Always carefully read the label to understand pre-harvest intervals and potential negative effects like stunted ears.

Top youth riders will be at Fonner Park in Grand Island, July 12-16

Young riders who earned blue judging phases of the hippology conand purple ribbons at 4-H District test and showmanship finals also Horse Shows will meet July 12-16 are scheduled July 13. Results of at Fonner Park in Grand Island for the judging and hippology contests the 2009 Fonner Park State 4-H are announced at 6:30 p.m. fol-Horse Exposition.

Kathy Anderson, University of at 7 p.m. Interviews for the R.B. Nebraska-Lincoln Extension horse Warren and Grand Island Saddle specialist, said the event not only Club Scholarship are at 9 a.m. allows 4-H'ers to compete, but is a tremendous character-building

"There just are a lot of educational benefits and great impacts that come out of it," Anderson said.

The annual exposition, which began in 1976, helps youth gain organizational skills as well as horse skills as they prepare for and compete in the event. She said she expects 500 to 600 youth to compete. While certain events require qualification from the district horse shows, other state events can be entered into without qualification.

Anderson also said the event helps Nebraskans come together. "It's a very special event for 4-H'ers," she said.

The 2009 exposition begins July 12 with horse show check-in from 4-8 p.m. The junior and senior hippology contest of oral presentations, written exams and stations starts at 6 p.m. with check-in at 5:30 p.m. July 13 events begin at 7:30 a.m.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING RELATING TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE LOWER ELKHORN NATURAL RESOURCES DISTRICT GROUNDWATER MANAGEMENT AREA RULES AND

REGULATIONS The Lower Eikhorn Natural Resources District ("District") will hold a public hearing in compliance with Section 46-743 of Nebraska Revised Statutes on July 21, 2009, at 7:00 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center at 601 East Benjamin Avenue in Norfolk, Nebraska The purpose of the hearing is to take public comment on proposed amendments to the District's groundwater management area rules

The District is amending its groundwater management area rules and regulations in an effort to maintain the status of not fully appropriated by limiting irrigation growth in the hydrologically connected area of the District for the next four years, as required by Section 46-714(12). A map of the geographic area impacted is available at the District office. Generally, these proposed amendments include controls to: (1) limit irrigation growth in the hydrologically connected area to no more than 10,000 acres through 2012, averaging 2,500 acres of new irrigation development per year, (2) prohibit the construction of any new well or the expansion of irrigated acres without a variance from the District, (3) establish parameters for the variance process, including an application period and a ranking system, (4) create a process for certifying irrigated acres in the District, and (5) require the installation of devices for measuring ground water withdrawals from water wells.

The full text of the proposed rules and regulations is available at the District office or on the District's website (www.lenrd.org), and is available by request from the District.

Any interested person may appear at the hearing and present written or oral testimony concerning this matter, individuals with disabilities may request auxiliary aids and service necessary for participation by contacting the District by July 17, 2009. Testimony relevant to the purposes of the hearing may also be submitted in writing (prior to the close of the hearing) to the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District, 601 E Benjamin Avenue, Suite #101, PO Box 1204, Norfolk, NE 68701

Faith Regional Health Services is Proud to Welcome

M. Naser Imran, M.D. Cardiac Electrophysiologist

M. Naser Imran, M.D., will join the Faith Regional Cardio Vascular Institute in July. He is Board Certified in Internal Medicine and Cardiovascular Disease. Dr. Imran is a cardiac electrophysiologist - a cardiologist who specializes in the diagnosis and treatment of abnormal heart rhythms.

Heart rhythm disorder symptoms may differ for each patient. Some symptoms may go unnoticed while others may cause a patient to feel fluttering in the heart or entirely out of breath. Dr. Imran uses a variety of heart tests to look at the heart's structure, circulation and electrical system, in order to identify the cause of the heart rhythm disorder and to decide on an effective treatment plan for the patient.

Dr. Imran is now accepting appointments at Faith Regional Cardio Vascular Institute. For an appointment call (402) 844-8284. To learn more about Dr. Imran visit our website at www.frhs.org.
