Fick found guilty on one count

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

A jury found a former Wayne State student guilty of one count of first-degree sexual assault during a District Court trial in Wayne last week.

Lance Fick, formerly of Inman, was arrested on Oct. 23, 2008 and charged with three counts of first-degree sexual assault in connection with incidents that were alleged to have occurred on the Wayne State College campus earlier in October. Fick was a Wayne State student at the time.

The trial for Fick began Sept. 14 with jury selection and opening statements. The case was sent to the jury on Sept. 16 at approximately 4:30 p.m. and the verdict was returned at approximately 4:30 p.m. on Sept. 17.

The jury found Fick guilty of one of the counts he was charged with, first-degree sexual assault, a Class II felony, and not guilty on two counts of first degree sexual assault.

Sentencing for Fick will take place on Wednesday, Nov. 4 in Wayne County District Court.

Fick could be sentenced to one to 50 years in jail on the charge.

Prosecuting attorneys were Amy Miller of Pieper, Miller and Dahl and the Attorney General's office.

Soldier's body is coming home

Donald Grella is coming back to Laurel after more than 40 years.

The body of Spec. Donald Grella, MIA-KIA Vietnam Central Highlands 1965, will be returning to Nebraska accompanied by his only sibling, Shirley Haase and her husband Ron this Saturday.

The flight carrying his remains is scheduled to arrive at Eppley Airfield in Omaha at 1:05 p.m. Ron Haase is also a Vietnam veteran.

The Patriot Guard Riders have been asked by the family to provide an escort for Grella, as his remains make their way to Laurel. Grella would have been 68 years old now.

The Patriot Guard Riders will lead the coach carrying Grella with a five-man "Missing Man" formation leaving Eppley Airfield in Omaha at 1:45 p.m., with a scheduled arrival in Laurel at 4:30 p.m. Other Patriot Guard Riders will follow the coach as Grella makes his final journey home, more than 40 years after his Huey helicopter went down, reportedly based on a villager's account that he shot down a chopper in 1965.

Sgt. Major Ray Kennedy (Ret.) will be riding the "honor" position in the Missing Man formation along with Jack Zimmer and Mark Desciscio.

The route will travel north from Eppley Airfield to Highway 36, west on Highway 36 to Highway 275 and then northwest on Highway 275 to Highway 15 and north on Highway 15 to Laurel.

The procession will be traveling through the counties of Douglas, Dodge, Cuming, Stanton, Wayne and Cedar and the towns of Hooper, Scribner, West Point, Belmer, Wisner, and Wayne.

A travel break has been scheduled for approximately 3:15 p.m. at West Point. Plans call for the caravan to arrive in Wayne at 4:10 p.m. and in Laurel at 4:30 p.m.

All Riders are encouraged to join the escort as the group travels north to Laurel.

The funeral is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 3 at 11 a.m. in Laurel at the Laurel-Concord High School gym. Visitation will be held Friday, Oct. 2 in Laurel from 4-8 p.m. at United Lutheran Church. Arrangements are being made with Hasemann Funeral Home of Laurel.

Donald Carroll Grella was born to Leo and Alberta (Rath) Grella on Dec. 1, 1940 on a farm near Coleridge. He was baptized in the Lutheran church on March 3, 1941 and confirmed on June 3, 1956. Don lived in the rural area near Laurel until his father died in 1953. Soon after his father's death, Don and his family moved to Laurel, and he graduated from Laurel High School in 1958.

Following graduation, Don was employed in and around Laurel until February 1961 when he entered the Army. He served two years in the states trained as a crew chief for fixed wing aircraft.

After his discharge, he worked in Denver, Colo. until February 1964 when he reenlisted in the Army, intending to make the military his career. He was sent directly to Korea, where he served 14 months and was trained as a helicopter crew chief.

Before returning to the states, Don requested that his next assignment be Vietnam. In July of 1965, he was assigned as a crew chief to A Company, 229th Assault Helicopter Battalion, 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile). The unit departed for Vietnam in August 1965 and arrived there to establish a base at An Khe in the Central Highlands on Sept. 14, 1965.

On Dec. 28, 1965, Don and three other members of A Company departed An Khe on a short service mission from which they never returned. Neither the aircraft nor the crew was found, and the crew was listed as missing in action until Dec. 29, 1966, when an official board of the Army changed their status to presumed dead.

In April 2006, while investigating a 1985 lead from a Vietnamese refugee, the Joint POW/MIA Accounting Command located a helicopter crash site near An Khe. An excavation of the site in

H1N1 cases are presumed, not confirmed

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Recent reports of confirmed cases of the H1N1 flu virus at Wayne State College are somewhat misleading, according to an official for the Northeast Nebraska Health Department.

It was reported last week that a confirmed case of the H1N1 virus was reported at the college. The case was diagnosed, but was not confirmed with specific lab testing, according to Julie Rother, Director of Public Health Nursing and Infectious Disease Surveillance.

"To be confirmed, you would need specific lab testing," Rother said. "A rapid test can determine if there is an influenza A virus present, then you would need to send that sample to a reference lab that could con-

Concerned citizen's call helps authorities stop underage drinking party

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

A concerned citizen's call to local authorities last week may have helped stop an underage drinking party in Wayne County.

The Cedar County Sheriff's Office received a report that an underage party, possibly involving alcohol, was being scheduled in a rural area south of Randolph on the county line between Cedar and Wayne counties. Because the location of the party was actually in the northwest part of Wayne County, Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen was contacted by authorities in Cedar County.

"The Cedar County dispatch got (the call) and determined it was on the county line, so we got together with them and planned what we were going to do and called some people," Janssen said. "A lot of times, we hear about a party three or four days later, so that heads-up was important and, hopefully, it will save lives."

Wayne County officials spoke to people in the Randolph area who had heard reports of a party being planned, and the location of the party was found. Evidence that a party was being planned was found, and authorities contacted the property owner, who gave authorities permission to enforce trespassing laws if necessary.

Eventually, officials from the Cedar County Sheriff's office contacted some younger people who were gathering near the area, and the people who gathered eventually left the area.

Janssen said he hopes concerned citizens in the community will continue to be proactive in reporting parties where underage youth may be attending and alcohol is being served.

"We want to encourage that type of action by the citizens," he said. "We'll go out and investigate if they call it in. We want to be proactive with this, and I think people will be more active in helping out if they know we're going to investigate these parties."

Steve Shear, project coordinator with the area Project Extra Mile chapter in Wayne, praised the efforts of local authorities.

"This incident is a perfect example of concerned citizens reporting information and working with law enforcement agencies giving them the opportunity to do what we expect and pay them to do; preventing crime and protecting life and property," he said. "The Sheriff's personnel realize that

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson,
City Administrator
City Council meeting

The next regular City Council meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 6 at 5:30 p.m. in the council room.

Some People are Cutting Their Garbage Costs. Did You Know?

The City of Wayne offers a "pay-to-throw" program at our local transfer station in combination with a recycling option for those residents who have very little garbage and don't want to pay a monthly garbage pickup fee.

Our current price to dump one bag of garbage at the transfer station on Monday, Friday or Saturday mornings is $5. Some households in Wayne can minimize their garbage bill by reducing their garbage volume with these free options:

- 1) using a mulching mower instead of gathering lawn clippings
- 2) composting garden and kitchen waste
- 3) taking sticks and branches to the brush pile by the softball fields
- 4) recycling plastic, cardboard, paper, steel and aluminum
- 5) buying as few products as possible in glass containers

The Wayne Green Team is researching additional recycling options to present to the mayor and council to reduce garbage costs and make recycling easier.

Mixed martial art fighters set to do battle at Wayne Thursday

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The clanging of metal could easily be heard through the open doors of the Wayne City Auditorium Wednesday afternoon as workers prepared an octagon stage for a mixed martial arts event that will take place Thursday night.

Tri-State Cage Fighting is hosting a night of mixed martial arts (known as MMA) competition as a fundraiser for the Wayne State College rugby teams. A number of amateur and professional fighters will compete in the 7:30 p.m. event, and it's a full-scale production much like what is seen on TV shows like "The Ultimate Fighter."

Award-winning DJ to perform at Northeast

An award-winning salsa instructor/disc jockey will entertain at Northeast Community College as part of its Hispanic Heritage Month activities.

"Salsa Magic," an interactive Latin dance party, will entertain on Wednesday, Sept. 30, from 7-10 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center on the Northeast campus in Norfolk. All activities that evening are free and open to the public.

According to Carissa Kollath, Northeast student activities coordinator, the event will begin with dance lessons by Lee Smith. Following the lessons, there will be a dance contest with prizes and party with Smith as DJ "El Gringuito."

Smith has won countless awards and taught Latin dance to more than 100,000 college students in 47 states. He has appeared on Ambush Makeover, FOX Television, NBC, ABC Univision, and Telemundo. He has also appeared on a final episode of America's Got Talent.

In 2005, he was nominated as Salsa Instructor of the Year by peers in Washington, D.C., and in 2006, Lee as "El Gringuito" was chosen to represent Latin America at the World Bank International Showcase of Talent. He was nominated as Best Novelty Act of the Year by the Association for the Promotion of Campus Activities in 2007 and 2009.

ing, boxing, wrestling, ju jitsu and other martial arts," Dan Lewis, owner and promoter of Tri-State Cage Fighting, said. "This is one of about 40 events we'll do across the region this year, and we have a mix of amateur and pro fighters that should make it entertaining."

Workers were putting the cage in place Wednesday afternoon and working to install lights and big-screen TVs that will show fans live action and instant replay of each fight, along with biographies of some of the fighters who are competing.

Several competitors from the Wayne-based Team Adrenaline are scheduled to compete. Wayne-area fighters include Tahner Thiem, Beau Borcya, Jeff Mills and Josh Prokapek, and some fighters from Vermillion, S.D., are on the card as well.

Mixed martial arts fighting is somewhat similar to boxing in that fighters competed in timed rounds. Thursday's fights will include three three-minute rounds for amateur fights and three five-minute rounds for pro fights. All the fights are scored on a 10-point must system, similar to boxing, by three sanctioned judges.

Fighters in mixed martial arts can win by knockout or what is known as "tap out," when they force their opponent with a submission move and the fighter signals that he (or she) has had enough. The fight can also be stopped by the referee if he determines a fighter is unable to continue or is unable to defend himself.

Lewis said the fights are sanctioned by the Nebraska Athletic Commission, and all fighters go through pre-fight physicals and have blood work done to check for hepatitis or HIV.

"It's state-sanctioned so it makes it safe for the fighters and better for the fans, because we have to have the proper equipment for safety and medical insurance," Lewis said.

The doors open at 6 p.m. tonight. Tickets are available at The Max or by contacting a member of the Wayne State rugby team.

Burleson new addition to Wayne Herald staff

The Wayne Herald has a new employee as Jon Burleson has joined the staff this week.

Prior to joining the Herald, Burleson worked for Linscott Publishing as the editor of the Wilber Republican and the DeWitt Times-News.

While Burleson's primary duties are layout for the Herald, the Morning Shopper and various special sections, he may also be spotted covering some civic meetings and sporting events as the need arises.

While he has worked at several newspapers over the last 12 years, he still admits to being nervous about the new position. But, Burleson expressed an earnest desire to be a worthwhile addition to the crew.

"I am excited to be a part of this team and hope I can contribute as much as I learn," Burleson said.

Managing editor Michael Carnes said he is excited to have Burleson join the staff.

"I've seen some of Jon's work in some of his previous tours of duty, and I think we're getting a tremen-

Students in Joan Hansen's third grade classroom use the SMART Board to complete Daily Oral Language assignments.

SMART Boards put to good use

Wayne Elementary School currently has seven SMART Boards in use throughout the school.

SMART Boards are interactive whiteboards. A computer, LCD projector, and USB Bluetooth enable the board to be interactive.

The teachers and students can manipulate the mouse from the computer, remote in hand, or by touching the board with a finger or a pointer. Anything that can be done on a computer, can be projected up on the SMART Board.

By a touch of a finger/pointer, the SMART Board can be used to write on, click through a power point, view a video, browse an educational internet site, and interact with a learning activity.

"This is amazing technology that we are offering our students and staff at Wayne Elementary School," said Daryl Schunk, Wayne Elementary School principal.

Schunk thanked the Wayne Education Boosters and all those in the community who contributed to the purchase of this new equipment.

firm what type of influenza A virus it is."

Because more than 98 percent of flu cases that have been diagnosed across the country involved the H1N1 virus, the Centers for Disease Control determined that it wasn't a cost-effective measure to run tests on every case. They recommend reserving confirmatory testing only for those who are hospitalized with the virus, she said.

In a release sent by NNPHD, they acknowledge that the use of the words "confirmed H1N1 flu case" are being used, but it may be confusing to others who do not work in the health care field.

According to Dr. Tom Safraneck, Nebraska State Epidemiologist, and based upon state and national guidelines, the only "confirmed" 2009 H1N1 influenza cases are those specimens that have been tested by authorized laboratories such as the Nebraska Public Health Lab (NPHL) or other labs who have the ability to perform the confirmatory test for 2009 H1N1.

During winter months, when the annual flu season takes place, a virus passes between humans. Each flu season may have a different virus or one that repeats from a different year. Sometimes the virus causes more symptoms and sickness than other years.

This year is different. Over the past summer months, an influenza virus has been circulating around the world, causing fairly mild symptoms in most patients. This influenza virus, H1N1, has been identified as a new flu virus.

Rother said that the new virus is having a different effect than traditional influenza viruses. Rather than being prevalent among senior citizens, the H1N1 virus seems to be hitting children and young adults the hardest.

"It's hitting the younger people more than it is the older populations," she said.

The best advice to stay well is to wash your hands frequently in warm soapy water, stay away from sick persons if possible, cough and sneeze into your elbow if you don't have a tissue that you can throw away, and stay home if you get sick unless you need medical care.

For more information, call Rother or Deb Scholten, Health Director, at Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department at (402) 375-2200.

a simple report of possible illegal activity is not proof positive of a current or future crime, but simply indicates a need to investigate further.

"In this case, that further investigation provided some corroborating information, leading to further action. That action was to prepare for enforcement if needed, but engage in preventive patrols that possibly deterred the incident from occurring with no heavy-handed enforcement being needed at all."

Shear said it is important for the community and area law enforcement to work together to deal with underage drinking in the area.

"Sheriff Jansen respects the right of anyone, including young people, to attend friendly gatherings, but if underage drinking is involved it becomes a matter of public safety and needs to be addressed," he said. "Underage drinking is all too often seen as a minor issue or a right of passage but law enforcement officers know that underage drinking can, and often does lead to tragic consequences. Wayne and Cedar County Sheriff's personnel are to be commended for diligence and response to this incident. The citizen who made the call to the Cedar County Sheriff's Office is also to be commended."

WHS cross country team ends streak

Some news and notes from around the area's sports scene:

— The Bleacher Bum isn't wrong often, but when he is, he is the first to admit his faux pas.

With that said, apologies to Wayne High softball pitcher Cassidy Miller, who threw the no-hitter against Battle Creek last week. I reported that Shannon Jarvi turned the trick, but I was wrong. Great job, Cassidy.

— Wayne's cross country team ended one of the most dominating streaks in Nebraska cross country at last week's Wayne Invite, then made it two in a row over the Knights Friday at Columbus.

Coach Rocky Ruhl said that he talked with Norfolk Catholic coach Doug Zoucha about the Knights' winning streak, and found that Norfolk Catholic had not lost a meet since the 2005 state meet, a string of 39 meets and more than 200 teams.

Great work by the Blue Devil runners. Here's hoping the Wayne boys keep their own streak going.

— Two thumbs up to Wayne State volleyball star Jennifer Hefner, who earned a prestigious honor as Sports Imports/AVCA Div. II National Player of the Week last week.

The award is an honor bestowed on only one other Wayne Stater, that being Emily Schroeder a few years back.

Great work, Jen!

— That rumbling sound you hear is the start of district play in area high school football, and two of the toughest districts in the state include teams in our area.

Laurel-Concord is playing like a team that could be a contender in their C-2 district, while Wayne could be one of five teams out of their district to reach the C-1 playoffs if they can get a couple of wins.

— Seems the NBA and its referees' union are miles apart on contract talks, and that a lockout, according to a member of the refs' union, is "imminent and unavoidable."

After watching some of last year's playoffs and all the phantom fouls, uncalled traveling violations and other acts of roundball larceny that were taking place, there's just one thing The Bleacher Bum has to ask...the NBA has referees???

"Twas a rough week for The Bleacher Bum in the prediction department. All the local teams came up short (heartbreakers for the Wildcats and Huskers), making for a 4-6 week that brings the overall record to 17-13.

No problem...here are 10 guaranteed winners for this weekend's action on the gridiron (and, as always, these are for entertainment purposes only. Please...no wagering):

Wayne High 24, Battle Creek 17 (A district opener that will be a big one for the Blue Devils' playoff hopes.)

Wayne State 41, SW Minnesota State 38 (Wildcats bounce back with shootout win over Mustangs.)

Huskers 48, Louisiana-Lafayette 10 (No looking ahead to Mizzou after loss to the Hokies.)

Miami 38, Virginia Tech 28 (Huskers exposed Hokies offense, Canes will blow 'em up.)

Penn State 42, Iowa 21 (Nittany Lions are the only relevant team in the Not-So-Big 10.)

Stanford 27, Washington 24 (From zero wins a year ago to the No. 24 ranking after upsetting an overrated USC team? Please.)

TCU 27, Clemson 24 (Horned Frogs are Mountain West's last hope to crash the BCS.)

Arkansas 34, Alabama 31 (The Super-Duper Upset of the Week.)

Minnesota 38, Northwestern 28 (Gophers had Cal on the ropes, so the Mildcats ought to be a breeze.)

Iowa State 27, Army 24 (Only the players' parents care about this game, and that's assuming the Iowa State booster club's check to the star quarterback's mom clears before kickoff.)

Near-perfect run to first conference title

Pitchers dominate, throw two no-hitters in tourney

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

When you have pitching like Wayne High's, you don't need a lot of offense to win conference softball titles.

The Blue Devils came within two outs of no-hitting their way to the first Mid-State Conference softball title Tuesday at the Wayne Softball Complex, but Shannon Jarvi's one-hit shutout was more than enough to help the Blue Devils beat West Point Central Catholic 4-0 in the championship game.

Wayne High rolled through pool play Monday as Jarvi and Cassidy Miller both threw perfect games that were shortened by the run rule. Miller tossed a three-inning no-hitter in a 12-0 win over Boone Central, while Jarvi iced Battle Creek's bats over four innings with 10 strikeouts and no walks in a 10-0 win.

Jarvi got the call for the championship game and was near perfect for 6 1/3 innings, allowing only a two-out walk in the third before giving up a pair of hits in the top of the seventh.

"They are really hitting their spots and mixing things up, and our defense is making some plays for them as well," coach Rob Sweetland said. "The girls are throwing it where it needs to be thrown, and they're getting good defense behind them."

Jarvi, who has already thrown two no-hitters this season, credited her defense with helping her come within two outs of a third gem and praised her hurling partner.

"I really like having Cassidy pitching along with me and us being able to mix things up," she said. "My pitches were really working tonight, and my teammates made some great plays for me, so it's knowing they have my back."

Wayne's defense came through at a couple of key times in the game. Caitlin Fehringer ran down a hard-hit fly ball to center by Jamie Oligmueller to end the fifth, and first baseman Lindsay Frahm made a couple of nice stops in the second and third innings.

Wayne got the only run they would need in the second when Carly Fehringer doubled and scored on a Miller groundout to second. Getting the three insurance runs in the sixth made Sweetland breathe a little easier.

"When you have that one-run lead and it just hangs there, it could go either way, so it was good to get the three in the sixth," he said.

The Blue Devils got their insurance runs when Jessica Calhoun singled, Jarvi hit a bloop single and Caitlin Fehringer drove them home with a double to center. She would later come home when Miller drew a bases-loaded walk.

West Point Central Catholic's only threat came in the seventh. Bradee Rief broke up Jarvi's no-hit bid with a liner past Jarvi's glove into center, but was tagged out at second after a bunt single by Marissa Franzluebbers to end the game.

Caitlin Fehringer had an outstanding tournament for the 13-4 Blue Devils, going 7-for-9 with 10 RBI's and six runs scored.

Wildcat netters tie school record with wins WSC falls in overtime

Wayne State's volleyball team matched a school record Monday night by winning its 14th consecutive match.

The win moved the Wildcats to 15-2 on the season, and the 14-game win streak matches the team record set in 1991.

Wayne State coach Scott Kneiff said he and his team is enjoying the ride right now.

"I feel like we have a really nice team," he said after the Wildcats disposed of Chadron State in straight sets (25-9, 25-13, 25-14) Monday at Chadron. "I don't know if I'm surprised, but there was a little doubt when we started 1-2 and then we won a couple of matches and got some confidence, and that has really kept the team going."

The Wildcats made just seven hitting errors in Monday's win, hitting at a .378 clip and using eight service aces to cruise past the Lady Eagles. Junior Jennifer Hefner had a match-high 10 kills without an error, hitting .714 for the match. Setter Diedra Artz had 27 set assists and three service aces, Tali Fredrickson contributed 10 digs and three service aces while libero Leigh Connot paced the Wildcats defensively with 16 digs.

Hefner, who was recognized with a national player of the week honor recently, is establishing herself as the team's go-to player, Kneiff said.

"She has gotten so much better the last couple of years and can do some incredible things on the volleyball floor," he said. "I think, in a tight spot, everybody knows where the ball's going, but it's still hard to stop her. She's a very intelligent volleyball player who continues to get better."

Wayne State's Tali Fredrickson tries to hit the ball past two University of Mary defenders during the Wildcats' three-game sweep Saturday.

The only thing that has seemed to slow the Wildcats lately was a one-hour campus-wide power outage Saturday afternoon. That only served to delay the inevitable for the visiting team, as the Wildcats easily bested University of Mary 25-23, 25-10, 25-14.

The Wildcats struggled briefly during the first set, but after tying the match at 13-13, the lights went out inside Rice Auditorium and it took an hour before the match could resume. After getting through the first set, the Wildcats dominated Mary and cruised to the easy win.

Junior outside hitter Lea Hartigan led a balanced hitting attack for WSC with 11 kills, while

WSC falls in overtime

MANKATO, Minn. — Wayne State coach Dan McLaughlin said the Wildcats needed to bring its "A" game if they wanted to pick up a key road win Saturday.

No. 20 Wayne State had its chances to pull off an upset, but the Wildcats came up short in a 37-34, double-overtime loss to seventh-ranked Minnesota State.

Sam Brockshus kicked a 19-yard field goal in the second overtime after a 32-yard field goal attempt by Nick Hope hit the right upright, spoiling the Wildcats' hopes for a key road win.

"The disappointment is in that we didn't play very good," McLaughlin said of his team's first loss of the year. "We had two kicks blocked, turned it over twice in the red zone and gave up more than 300 yards rushing. You're not going to beat a good team on the road like that. You have to bring your 'A' game and we didn't do that."

The Mustangs got out to a 14-0 lead by punishing the Wayne State defense with a solid ground game, while the defense kept the Wildcats from getting into a flow.

"They pounded it down our throats and got ahead, and we weren't able to move the ball offensively early on," McLaughlin said.

The Wildcats found their groove in the second period, as Frederick Bruno caught a pair of touchdown passes from Silas Fluellen to pull even midway through the second period.

Winside overcomes early deficit, rolls to 56-22 win over Pender

By LEE KOCH
Special to the Herald

WINSIDE — Pender scored early and Winside scored often as the Wildcats cruised to a 56-22 victory over the Pendragons Friday night.

The visitors took advantage of a Wildcat fumble on the Winside 14-yard line to score the game's first touchdown on a six-yard pass from Jonathan Smith to Zack Johnson with 8:25 left in the first quarter.

Winside responded to the Pendragon lead by mounting a nine-play scoring drive, capped by Anthony Nelson's two yard plunge to tie the game at 6-6 at the end of the first quarter.

Kalin Koch gained 35 yards on the first play of the second quarter, setting up a second Nelson touchdown from the 1-yard line. Koch added the two-point conversion, giving the home team the lead for good.

Koch added a 52-yard run for a touchdown with Nelson's two-point conversion giving the Wildcats a 22-6 lead at intermission.

Koch scored the second of his five touchdowns on a two-yard run early in the third quarter, then added touchdown runs of 52, 6 and 20 yards to his night's work. Koch led the Wildcat offensive effort, rushing for 214 yards on 23 carries and completing 3 of 7 passes for 73 yards.

Fullback Kelby Prince galloped 31 yards untouched up the middle, giving the Wildcats a 43-14 margin as the third quarter came to a close. Justin Buresh added a pair of extra point kicks to the Winside scoring column.

Anthony Nelson gained 77 yards on 20 carries and 29 receiving yards with Kelby Prince adding 53 yards on seven carries to the Winside offensive effort. Zach Brokaw gained 40 yards on his lone reception.

Brokaw led the Winside defensive effort, recording seven solo tackles and five assists to lead all Wildcat tacklers. Brokaw also intercepted a pair of Pender

Wayne boys best Norfolk Catholic again, girls sixth

COLUMBUS - In their last meet, the Wayne boys cross country team used a tie-breaker to end Norfolk Catholic's 39-race winning streak. Notie-breaker was needed Friday, as the Blue Devils dominated the Knights to take top honors at the Columbus Scotus Invitational. Cory Foote, Quentin Jorgensen and Jordan Barry all finished in the top 10 to help the Blue Devils build a 15-point cushion over the Knights. Seth Onderstal and Zach Thomsen also medaled to help Wayne cruise to the victory. "The heat and wind and pollen affected our breathing a little bit, but our placement was good and I was happy with that," Wayne coach Rocky Ruhl said. "It was a bigger meet, so we had to beat a few more runners." As it was at the Wayne Invite, the Blue Devils put all six of their varsity runners ahead of Norfolk Catholic's fourth scoring runner, which helped put some distance between the two teams in the final standings. "Their fourth runner didn't have a very good race, and we had all six of our runners in front of him, and that helped spread things out," Ruhl said. "I thought our guys ran in the positions they needed to." The Winside boys finished 12th out of 15 teams and were led by John Hansen, who placed 60th with a time of 19:48. His brothers, Peter and Paul, placed 89th and 106th, respectively. In the girls race, Wayne finished sixth and had to do without the services of Martha Mitiku, who had to pull out of the race. "We had to pull Martha out because she was having some breathing problems, and that dropped our scoring off quite a bit," Ruhl said. "On a normal day, if she runs we're probably going to finish in the top three and compete with Scotus. They have a couple girls that haven't run before, and one of them was a sprint champion, so they're looking pretty good." Jordan Alexander and Megan Stalling both earned medals, placing 12th and 13th, respectively. Overtime

The Wildcats seized the momentum early in the fourth quarter when Bruno scored on a 47-yard run, but the Mustangs went back to their ground game and reclaimed the lead late in the game after intercepting a Fluellen pass deep in Wayne State territory. The Wildcats maintained their composure, getting the ball back with 1:20 to go in regulation, and Fluellen broke free on a 47-yard gallop down the sideline to tie the game and send it into overtime. Wayne State had a chance to win the game in the first overtime after limiting the Mustangs to a field goal, but a controversial call forced the Wildcats into a game-tying 21-yard field goal by Nick Hope to send the game to a second overtime.

Facing a third-and-goal at the Mustangs' 4-yard line, Fluellen tried to hook up in the end zone with Logan Masters. The throw was low, but Masters felt he caught the ball. The official said he trapped it, forcing the Wildcats to settle for the field goal.

"I don't know if he caught it or not," McLaughlin said. "Looking at the film it was hard to say. (Masters) said he scooped it, but the ref said he didn't."

The Wildcats moved the ball to the Mustangs' 10-yard line in the second overtime, but Fluellen was sacked on second down, and an incomplete pass put Wayne State in another field goal situation. Hope's 32-yard attempt clipped the right upright and fell away, giving Minnesota State a golden opportunity to win the game. They took advantage, driving to the Wayne State 2-yard line and settling on a Brockshus' game-winner from 19 yards away.

"We had a first-and-goal on the five and we just didn't execute," McLaughlin said. "It should have never gotten that far."

The Wildcats will need to bounce back this week, as they will face a tough home game against Southwest Minnesota State, who is tied for first in the NSIC's South Division.

"They're a lot better than they have been," McLaughlin said. "They have a great junior college quarterback that has come in and they have some great receivers and a four-year starter at tailback, so they're much improved."

McLaughlin said the Wildcats will need to forget about Saturday's defeat quickly and prepare for a tough conference matchup at Cunningham Field this weekend.

"We have a tall order ahead of us, so we need to make sure we don't have our chins on the floor and let that hangover carry over, or we'll be in trouble again."

Trojans win in comeback

PENDER - Wakefield spotted Pender the first two sets, then rallied for a five-set win over the Pendragons in volleyball action Thursday evening.

The Trojans lost the first two sets in close outcomes, 25-22, 25-21, but dominated the final three sets, winning 25-12, 25-15, 25-9 to improve to 6-7 on the season.

"We just couldn't get into a groove the first couple of sets," coach Megan Nixon said. "We didn't hurt ourselves, but we weren't really playing as sharp. I was happy with the effort the girls put out and that they didn't get down after going down two sets. I was proud of the way they came back."

Keri Lunz had a big night at the net, recording a match-high 26 kills. Nixon said the team's ability to communicate openings in the Pender defense helped Lunz out.

"We have really worked with the back row communicating to the front row where the gaps are, and Keri really got into it and got aggressive at the net, which we need consistently," Nixon said.

Katie Weinrich also had a good night at the net with 10 kills and two blocks. Morgan Lunz offered up six ace serves and Jenna Henderson had 24 set assists for the Trojans.

SOUTH SIOUX CITY - South Sioux City took advantage of some key mistakes and dominated the time of possession to hand the Wayne High football team its first loss of the season Friday.

The Blue Devils jumped out to an early 13-0 lead, but could not hold off a comeback by the Cardinals, as South Sioux City came away with a 34-21 win in the final non-district matchup for the Blue Devils.

"I thought we played hard, and that's what I like," coach Rich Rethwisch said. "But we're still making some minor mistakes that ultimately prolong their drives or hurt ours."

The Blue Devils didn't need a drive for its first score, as Darnell Collins took the opening kickoff 93 yards for a touchdown.

"We ran our middle return and the kids hit all their blocks," Rethwisch said. "It was almost exactly like we drew it out, and speed kills and Darnell's speed is a nice advantage."

The Blue Devils intercepted a pass and scored a second touchdown on a five-yard run by Derek Poutre to make it 13-0, but the Cardinals scored two touchdowns in the final 27 seconds of the period, the second coming on a Gage Rethwisch pass that was returned for a touchdown, to take the 14-13 lead.

"Gage went the wrong way on a trap and tried to make something out of nothing, and just made a sophomore mistake," Rethwisch said. "We've talked before about when something like that happens to just get it back to the line of scrimmage and try again."

The Blue Devils answered in the second period, as Rethwisch hit Keegan Dorsey on a 70-yard pass to set up a seven-yard run by Justin Anderson, who seemed to have everybody confused when he walked into the end zone untouched.

South Sioux City would answer later in the period to take a 22-21 half-time lead, then dominated the line of scrimmage in the second half, keeping the Wayne offense off the field for much of the final 24 minutes.

The Blue Devils take a 2-1 record into district play and host Battle Creek Friday in their first district matchup. The Wayne coach said he likes where his team is at heading into district play.

Laurel-Concord teammates Audrey Kastrup (3) and Lexi White try to keep the ball in play during the Lady Bears' three-game sweep of Plainview Thursday night.

Lady Bears sweep Pirates, struggle at Stanton Invite Laurel-Concord dominated Plainview in volleyball action Thursday, but struggled to a 1-2 finish Saturday at the Stanton Invitational.

The Lady Bears dominated Plainview in straight sets Thursday at Laurel-Concord High School, led by double-digit kill efforts from Amy Pritchard (15) and Taryn Dahlquist (10).

"We were able to run our offense and defend against some good counter-attacking," coach Patti Cunningham said. "They have some pretty aggressive outside hitters, and we were able to transition off that and keep our aggression going."

On Saturday, the Lady Bears fell to Hartington Cedar Catholic and Twin River while defeating Elkhorn Valley in three sets.

"We didn't play up to our potential throughout the tournament," Cunningham said. "We had trouble passing and didn't really adapt, and our serve receive and ball control just wasn't there."

The Lady Bears are 7-5 on the season and have some tough games coming up with West Holt at home this week and a weekend tournament at Wisner-Pilger.

"We have some teams coming up that are doing well, so we need to step up and work to play at a consistent, high level," Cunningham said.

Allen girls use solid play to record wins

Solid team play has helped the Allen volleyball team find a little groove, as the Lady Eagles won four matches during the past week.

On Sept. 15, the Lady Eagles swept a triangular at Winnebago, getting past Ponca in three sets (25-23, 21-25, 25-19) and making quick work of the host team (25-14, 25-14).

"We're starting to work together and communicate better and making sure the right person is handling the ball," coach Cheryl Greve said. "We're coming together a little bit better, and having Hannah Flores back from a knee injury helps a lot."

Bentley Hingst led the net attack against Ponca with 11 kills, while Ashlee Hingst added six kills and three blocks. Mariah McCoy served up 10 aces and Hannah Finnegan had 24 set assists.

In the Winnebago match, Bentley Hingst had nine kills and Shannon Sullivan added seven kills for the winners, while Finnegan served up 21 assists.

On Thursday, the Lady Eagles came through in a challenging battle with Emerson-Hubbard, winning in four sets (25-13, 24-26, 25-23, 25-17).

"Emerson-Hubbard is a better team than their record shows, and I thought our girls handled their pressure fairly well and were able to hang in there," Greve said.

Bentley Hingst led three Allen players in double digits in the kill department with a match-high 20. Ashlee Hingst added 14 kills and Sullivan put down 10. Finnegan finished with 46 set assists.

Allen continued its winning ways Tuesday night at Newcastle, posting a 25-20, 25-14, 26-28, 28-26 victory.

Ashlee Hingst had 15 kills, Bentley Hingst added nine kills and Sullivan had eight for the Lady Eagles. Sullivan had five ace serves and Finnegan recorded 31 set assists.

JV team falls

The Wayne JV team hooked up with Norfolk Catholic on Sept. 14 and came up on the short end of a 30-0 decision.

Luke Trenhaile led the offense for the Blue Devils JV, while Bradley Longe and Ian Webster paced the defense.

Freshmen defeated

The Wayne freshman football team dropped an 18-7 decision to Pierce in action last week. Jordan Backer scored the Blue Devils' only touchdown, with Keith Hobza adding the extra point. Bradley Longe led the offense, while Brady Soden, Zach Shear and Ramsey Jorgensen led the defensive effort.

Junior Devils compete

The Wayne Junior Blue Devils football teams battled Hartington on Saturday. The sixth-graders came away with a 26-6 win as Colby Keiser threw for two touchdowns and ran one in himself. Malik Knox scored on a 60-yard run and caught a touchdown pass, and Keith Mundil snagged a 25-yard scoring pass from Keiser.

The fifth-graders found themselves in a defensive struggle and came up on the short end of a 6-0 decision to Hartington.

Wayne golfers earn four medals, place third at Boone Central

The Wayne girls golf team competed in three events over the past week, leading with a triangular at Pierce on Sept. 17. The Blue Devils managed second place with a 212, four strokes back of Pierce and ahead of third-place Hartington Cedar Catholic, which shot a 238. Wayne was paced by Lauryn Braun and Taylor Burke, as each carded a 52, while Burgandy Roberts fired a 53 and Lisa Temme, 54. Hannah McCorkindale carded a 64 but her varsity score was not included in the team total. Medalist was Pierce's Britney Dinkel with a 43.

Wayne's JV team also competed as Kaitlin Potter led the way with a 53 while Alexis Reinert finished with a 65.

On Saturday, the Blue Devils competed at the Boone Central Invite in Albion, and Josh Johnson's squad placed third in the nine-team field with a season-best score of 403. Boone Central won its own invite with a 359 followed by Columbus Scotus with a 395. The host team had the medalist in junior Brooke Bohlin with a 79.

Wayne had four medal winners on the day, as the top 15 players each earned hardware. Braun capped the day with a sixth-place finish of a career-best 94. Sophomores Britney Peterson and Burke placed 10th and 13th, respectively, with a 98 and 105, while senior Temme finished in 15th position with a 106. Burgandy Roberts, another sophomore, also played varsity but her 124 was not included in the team total.

"It was our best showing of the season," Johnson said. "The girls did a good job and it's the first time in recent history we had four medal winners in the same meet."

Tuesday afternoon at Wayne Country Club, the host Blue Devils placed second in a triangular with district foe Stanton and Columbus Lakeview. Stanton carded a 216 team score, edging Wayne by a stroke. Lakeview finished well

Wakefield gridders fall short again, drop 13-12 decision to Lutheran NE

WAKEFIELD - For the third straight week, the Wakefield football team dominated every statistical category except the most important one...the scoreboard.

Lutheran High Northeast got a touchdown with :20 left to cap a fourth-quarter comeback and post a 13-12 win over the Trojans, who fell to 0-3 on the season.

"Their size really got the better of us the second half, and we had 11 penalties for 95 yards and that was big," coach Mike Clay said.

"We didn't play very well down the stretch."

The Trojans scored a pair of first-half touchdowns to take a 12-0 lead at intermission. Quarterback Chad Clay called his own number and rolled in from seven yards out, and Tyler Bodlak hauled in a 40-yard pass from Dusty Sherer off a reverse to give the Trojans the halftime edge.

It stayed that way until the fourth, when the Eagles came back with a pair of short touchdowns runs, the final coming on a one-yard plunge by quarterback Jordan Coolidge to give the visitors the win.

The Trojans dominated the Eagles for much of the contest and had a 3-to-1 edge in time of possession. However, for the third straight week it was not quite enough to get that first victory.

The Trojans play this week at Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Blue Devil VB team swept by Lady Knights

The Wayne High volleyball's teams struggles continued Tuesday, as they were on the short end of a straight-set loss to Norfolk Catholic.

The visiting Lady Knights took advantage of their experience against a younger Blue Devil squad and finished off the hosts in three sets, winning 25-18, 25-16, 25-14 to drop Wayne's record to 3-8.

"We played all right the first set and were blocking a lot better and trying to do the little things, but it was hard for the girls to keep that focus throughout," coach Joyce Hoskins said. "Norfolk Catholic is a good and talented team, and they were really able to pick apart our defense and hit around our blocks."

Katie Hoskins had seven kills and Erica Sebade added three kills to lead the Wayne attack. Jessica Bierman had 12 set assists and Hoskins and Cassie Harm had five and four digs, respectively, to highlight the defensive effort.

Hoskins said her team is showing its youth and needs to get a confidence boost to turn things around at this point.

"I know, once these girls have a big win, they'll get a little more confidence," she said. "That's the one thing we're lacking right now, is the confidence to play with these big teams."

Winside girls pick up wins, record is 9-5

The Winside volleyball team got solid net play to post wins over Bloomfield and Wausa to improve to 9-5 on the season.

On Thursday, the Lady Wildcats spotted the Bees one set, then rolled to a four-set win, 21-25, 25-23, 25-13, 25-19.

"We kind of had a slow start with our serve receive, but we woke up and were able to pick it up the last three sets and turn around our passing," coach Teresa Watters said.

Jerae Doffin had a big night at the net for Winside, knocking down a career-high 20 kills and stuffing eight Bloomfield attacks.

"She had a wonderful night," Watters said. "She was kind of a turning point for the team and she got some good sets from Jordan Roberts. She dominated quite a bit of that game."

Shelby Lienemann added 10 kills and Audrey Roberts had nine kills in the win. Jordan Roberts had 38 set assists.

Lienemann and Audrey Roberts led a balanced attack in the straight-set win over Wausa, combining for 21 of Winside's 34 kills.

"We did a lot of hitting from the outside and tried to mix it up a bit," Watters said. "We got off to a slow start, but we were able to finish them off in three sets."

Second-half rally dooms Eagles' road hopes

EMERSON - Turnovers and a second-half surge spelled doom for the Allen Eagles Friday as Emerson-Hubbard came from behind to post a 20-14 victory.

The Eagles held a 14-0 halftime lead, but seven turnovers proved to be their undoing as the Pirates stormed back in the second half.

"We played pretty well and controlled the game the first half," coach Dave Uldrich said. "At halftime, we told the team that Emerson-Hubbard would come out and make a huge push early. They did, and we did nothing about it and let them gain momentum."

The Eagles got on the board in the first period when Heath Roeber rolled 39 yards for a touchdown. He added a 6-yard run late in the second period to give the Eagles a two-touchdown edge.

But, true to Uldrich's word, the Pirates marched down the field on their first drive and got a 30-yard run by Scott Servine to cut the deficit in half. Max Renning's 1-yard run with 4:45 to go in the third tied the game and put momentum squarely on the home team's shoulders, frustrating the Allen head coach.

"Our play in the second half was unacceptable," he said. "We'll need to work on putting away these games, as we made error after error in the second half, allowing them numerous chances to win the

Emerson-Hubbard took advantage of Allen's second-half miscues and capped it off with the winning touchdown with 3:30 to go on a 4-yard run by Servine, dropping the Eagles' record to 1-2.

Allen will host Walthill for homecoming Friday night.

Wakefield golfers seventh

Wakefield girls golf coach Jaime Manz was happy with her team's play during action last week at Pender and Plainview.

The Trojan golfers shot a 225 to finish second in a triangular at Pender on Thursday, then got an individual medal and a seventh-place effort Saturday at the Plainview Invite.

"The girls shot very well at Pender," she said. "They were 13 strokes behind Stanton and showed improvement from the last time we went up against Stanton. And we had a very good day at Plainview and Hannah (Paxton) got her first medal and shot the low round for the team.

Hannah Paxton came through with a 15th-place finish, winning a playoff for the last individual medal available at Plainview. Her score of 110 led the Trojans.

Jacobsen wins third race for L-C

O'NEILL - Laurel-Concord runner Katie Jacobsen was determined to finish ahead of some runners that have beaten her this season, and she did just that Thursday at the O'Neill Invitational.

The junior cut more than a minute off her best time of the year and finished 15 seconds ahead of some runners from Crofton that beat her earlier in the year, allowing her to cross the finish line first and pick up her third first-place finish of the season.

"She had her mind set that day that she wanted to beat Crofton's runners, and she wasn't going to let them beat her," coach Megan Meyer said. "She beat second place by about 15 seconds, so it was a close race. Katie was surprised her time was so fast."

Freshman Sammie Camenzind also ran well, finishing 22nd in the girls race.

"She was a strong competitor and had an amazing kick at the end," Meyer said. "She ran a good sprint the last 200 meters and was able to pass four girls at the end."

Isaac Haahr showed progress with his 21st-place finish.

"He got under 20 minutes, so he is sitting where he was last year at this time, and if he keeps cutting his time he'll be a competitor for state," she said.

Hope on Mitchell Award watch list

Wayne State College kicker Nick Hope has been named one of 18 Division II and III place kickers to the Watch List for the Fred Mitchell Award, given to a collegiate place kicker for excellence on the football field and in the community.

Hope

The senior from Avoca, Iowa has gone from a walk-on to one of the most successful place kickers in school history. A straight-on, left-footed kicker, Hope earned 2008 NSIC First-Team South Division honors last season as a junior after making 14 of 17 field goals and 44 of 46 point-after kicks. He made 10 straight field goals last season, including a school record-tying 50-yarder against Minnesota State on Sept. 20, 2008.

For his career, Hope is 94 of 100 on point-after kicks and 25 of 34 on field goals. He was a 2009 Preseason First-Team All-American selection by Lindy's College Football Preview.

Eight recruits will join Wildcats

Wayne State College men's basketball coach Paul Combs has announced his first recruiting class as Wildcat head coach.

The group of eight players includes four high school players and four transfers that include one walk-on.

The 2009 recruiting class includes high school standouts James Chute of Tring, United Kingdom; Mike DiGregorio of Morton Grove, Ill.; Tanner Ferguson of Dakota Dunes, S.D.; and Amry Shelby of Marion, Iowa, along with transfers Jason Jensen of St. Francis, Wisc.; Andre Miller of Elizabethtown, Ky.; Spencer Paulsen of Coloma, Mich.; and Brad Starken of Muskego, Wisc.

"Our program feels very fortunate to be bringing in such quality student-athletes who will be an excellent fit here at Wayne State in the classroom, on the court as well as in the community of Wayne," Combs said. "We have a good balance of true freshmen and transfers which will provide us excellent depth throughout the year."

Chute is a 6-foot-4, 195-pound guard. Playing for the West Herts Warriors Basketball Academy in an under-18 national league, Chute averaged 21 points, 10 assists, 10 rebounds and three blocks per game while shooting 62 percent from the field and 80 percent at the free throw line.

"James has excellent athleticism and a college body which will allow him to compete immediately," said Combs. "He is also very humble and appreciative of his opportunity to become a Wildcat."

DiGregorio is a 6-foot-1, 175-pound point guard from Notre Dame High School in Niles, Ill., where he was a three-year starter, averaging 14 points, 6.5 assists and 4.0 rebounds per game as a senior. He earned All-Conference and All-Area honors while being named the team's most valuable player.

"Mike brings to the table a toughness and work ethic second to nobody," Combs said. "He played in a first-class high school program against great competition throughout his career."

Ferguson is a 6-foot-2, 195-pound shooting guard from Sioux City Heelan High School. He was a three-year starter for the Crusaders, helping the team win the Iowa Class 3A state title as a senior. Ferguson holds the school's single season (65) and career (123) marks for three-pointers and was 57-6 as a three-year starter while earning First-Team All-District honors as a senior.

"We feel fortunate to have Tanner in our program," Combs said. "He has a championship mentality to go along with a motor and work ethic that will be very contagious to the entire program."

Shelby is a 5-foot-10, 155-pound guard from Marion High School.

He averaged 24.3 points per game during his senior season to help Marion HS reach the Iowa Class 3A State Tournament for the first time in 52 years. Shelby was a First-Team Class 3A All-State selection as a senior and earned Second-Team All-State honors as a junior while also collecting Academic All-Conference recognition.

"Amry had an exceptional senior season and was able to score and lead his team in many different ways," Combs said. "He will provide us necessary depth at the guard position and has had a great summer preparing for life in the NSIC."

Jensen, a 6-foot-4, 190-pound guard, transfers to Wayne State after playing last season at Division I Texas-Pan American. He averaged 25.3 points, 7.5 rebounds and 3.7 assists per game as a senior in high school to earn Third-Team All-State honors in Wisconsin and scored 1,589 points in his high school career.

"Jason is a very hungry young man who is anxious to be competing in the NSIC," Combs said. "He fits our needs and will be an excellent addition to our team."

Miller, a 6-foot-7, 200-pound forward, is transferring to Wayne State after two seasons at Wabash Valley Junior College in Illinois. Miller started all 31 games for his team last season, averaging 7.6 points and 6.8 rebounds per game. "Andre has a huge upside as he is still growing into his body after an excellent career at Wabash Valley," Combs said. "He will fit in very well here at WSC on and off the court."

Paulsen is a 6-foot-2, 185-pound guard who is a walk-on after playing at Alpena Community College in Michigan. The younger brother of graduate assistant coach Paige Paulsen, Spencer averaged eight points, four rebounds and four assists per game last season.

"Spencer comes from a basketball family. Our staff is looking forward to working with Spencer, as he is also very strong in the classroom with a 3.97 overall grade-point average," said Combs.

Starken, a 6-foot-5, 200-pound forward, comes to Wayne State after playing last season at Ellsworth Community College in Iowa. He averaged 13.2 points, 4.8 rebounds and 1.6 steals per game while shooting 50 percent from the three-point line to rank sixth in the nation.

"We are excited about Brad and what he brings to this team," added Combs. "His basketball IQ is very high and he has come to Wayne State with a lot to prove." Wayne State returns three starters off last year's team that finished 11-16 overall and 7-13 in the NSIC.

The Wildcats open the 2009-10 season at home on Sunday, Nov. 15 against Buena Vista University.

Game and Parks asking area hunters to be on lookout for tuberculosis

LINCOLN, Neb. - As deer hunting season gets under way, the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission is asking hunters for their assistance in monitoring the deer population for tuberculosis.

Within the past year there has been a finding of bovine TB at a facility with a captive elk and deer herd in northern Knox County. There also has been a finding of bovine TB in a beef herd in Rock County.

"Subsequent testing has not found any additional cases of the disease in either deer sampled in Knox County or cattle in the Rock County area," Jim Douglas, Commission Wildlife Division administrator, said. "We just want hunters to be aware of the signs of TB and to contact us if they happen to observe the signs of the disease on any deer they field-dress."

The Commission recently sampled more than 40 wild white-tailed deer living near the Knox County facility where the infected animals were discovered. Officials found no indication the disease had spread to the wild deer population.

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture continues to test cattle for bovine TB in north central Nebraska. To date, 11,800 head have been tested with no positive cases.

TB-infected deer may have tan or yellow lumps lining the chest cavity, in the lung tissue, or in the lymph nodes of the cheek, head and neck. These signs could be mild, with only a few lumps, or severe. Any hunter who observes these signs when field dressing a deer should contact the nearest Commission office, Douglas said.

Bovine TB is an infectious disease caused by the Mycobacterium bovis bacteria. Bovine TB primarily affects cattle, but can affect other mammals, including deer and humans. The Commission recommends wearing rubber gloves when field dressing any wild game and fully cooking meat to an internal temperature of at least 165 degrees.

Deer are susceptible to many different diseases and parasites. Not all abnormalities encountered when field dressing a deer may be related to TB.

Agape Pregnancy & Parenting Center celebrates 10 years

What started out as a dream for Martha Huddleston in 1997, became a reality in 1999. Martha had a heart for teen pregnancy issues, but found that there was not a center in Norfolk.

So after much prayer, seeking others with a similar heart, and affiliating with other advocates, the Agape Pregnancy Care Center was born.

This month Agape Pregnancy and Parenting Center is celebrating its 10 year anniversary. Through these years, the center has seen lots of changes: new directors, added staff and volunteers, different locations, and a name change are just a few. The biggest change is probably going from 11 client visits the first year to 585 client visits in 2008.

The Agape PPC, located at 1309 West Norfolk Avenue, provides pregnancy testing, crisis pregnancy support, educational classes, post-abortion support, and advice for making positive life choices.

Current office hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday with evening hours by appointment.

The center serves 11 counties in northeast Nebraska, with many financial partners coming from the Wayne area.

Most of the people working at the Agape PPC are volunteers because of it being a non profit entity.

Agape does two main fundraisers every year, with the rest being dependent upon individual donors in the community.

The fundraiser presently in progress is the Garage and Bake sale on Saturday, Sept. 26.

All services provided by Agape PPC are free and confidential with an after hours help-line available. "It is our desire to be there for people when faced with a crisis pregnancy issue" says Lisa Christensen, current Director. "It is always a challenge to meet so many needs in the community with the amount of funding that comes in each year; however God has not failed to provide".

In celebration of its 10 years and in preparation for the coming year, Martha Huddleston was the visionary speaker at Agape's annual board retreat this last week. To find out more about Agape PPC and the work that it does, the community is encouraged to visit with the staff and board members at the garage and bake sale fundraiser.

CONCORDIA LUTHERAN

Ruth Circle met Sept. 3 with 11 members present.

Leader Verlyn Anderson led the business meeting. Following the reports, the Guest Nite plans were finalized. It will be held Wednesday evening, Sept. 16. The decorations and lunch were discussed. A complete report will be printed next week.

A quilting party will be held Monday, Sept. 28, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Each participant is asked to bring a sack lunch and to stay as long as possible. All finished quilts are to be returned to the church by the middle of October. Health and school kits are also being gathered. There is a box in the Narthex for these items.

A report and note of thanks was read from the Camp Carol Joy Holling Annual Quilt Auction for the quilt send down. Thanks to Verlyn Anderson and Evonne Magnuson for their hours of work planning our quilting projects.

Pastor Karen gave the Bible study entitled "Be Mutually Encouraged," from the series taken from the Book of Romans. St. Paul wrote these letters to the Jews and Gentiles encouraging them to love one another and the world; to do good to others and become strong in the Lord. We closed with prayer, offering was lifted and table Grace said. Elaine Lubberstedt served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Oct. 1, at 2 p.m. Pastor Karen will give the lesson and Naomi Peterson is host.

ECLA STATE CONVENTION

The Women of the ELCA State Convention will be held at the Kearney Holiday Inn Convention Center Friday, Sept. 25 through Sunday, Sept. 27. Doris Nelson and Suzie Johnson are delegates from Concordia Lutheran.

GUEST NITE

Concordia Lutheran Church held their annual Guest Nite with many local churches present. It was held Sept. 16, with approximately 90 ladies attending.

President Doris Nelson welcomed the guests and introduced each church and where they were from. Pastor Karen Tjarks gave devotions and prayer from the Book of Romans about creation. Georgia Addison and Peg Lutt sang a duet, "One Step," accompanied by Marilyn Wallin. Fern Erickson introduced our guest speaker, Marci Boyhill, from Homer. She is a storyteller, entertainer and farm girl poet. She is a newspaper columnist and holds a Master's degree in education with endorsement in early childhood. She turned her farm girl experiences into humorous, homespun, nostalgic journeys and everyone enjoyed her very much. A dessert luncheon was served and Fall centerpieces given away. Tables were decorated with Fall foliage, leaves and pumpkins. Verlyn Anderson and others were in charge of the planning.

RALLY DAY

Concordia Sunday School Rally Day was held during worship Sept. 13. The children and Pastor Karen chose the hymns and choruses.

A special children's sermon was given by the Pastor, showing and explaining an assortment of Bibles, who wrote them and why, and the reason the stories printed in them were so important to all of us. Study Bibles were then given to the first, second and third grade students.

Also dedicated on this day was the Prayer Garden, which had been built in a special place in the front of the church. It contains stepping-stones made by the Sunday School students with each name printed on them. Neal Kluger and his daughters also placed a prayer bench there in loving memory of his wife and their mother - Karen (Clark) Kluger.

Appreciation was extended to those who worked to create this corner, and also thanks to all who worked so hard to upkeep our church property.

The Prayer Garden at Concordia Lutheran was dedicated on Sunday School Rally Sunday.

School speech got point across

I have listened to the reports of many schools not broadcasting the President's back to school speech today and am saddened by where we have come as a country.

I remember being taught to honor and support our leaders. How did we get to this point where we don't even want our children to listen to our elected leader when he is telling them to work hard, stay in school and be a part of making our country even better? What message are we sending our kids?

I really respect the administrators and teachers who took a leadership role in allowing this televised speech to be shown in their schools. As a lifelong educator, one of the most important messages I feel we can share with our children, and all our citizens, actually, is to take personal responsibility for our success.

I have just read the President's prepared remarks online, and see that is the point of this whole message. I am including the link for the school speech text and the content of the whole speech with my letter today, in the hopes that this paper will print the speech in its entirety for the benefit of all our families who read this paper.

Hopefully, this speech will be a useful tool to help parents, also, in having "success" discussions with their kids. We may not agree with all the President's policy proposals, but, surely, we can agree we want our kids to work hard, stay in school and help this country continue to grow stronger and better.

Cindy Goeller Wisner

Economic picture worsens?

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — Here it comes. The economic trouble that has made lives miserable in many other states has begun to cast a slightly darker shadow on Nebraska's economic picture.

The state's tax system generated less-than-anticipated net receipts in August. Almost $15 million less. Tax revenue has fallen short of projections in four of the last five months. You needn't be an economist to see the trend.

Gov. Dave Heineman reacted like a rabbit that realized there was a whiff of coyote in the wind. Fast.

"I will oppose any attempt to increase [state] sales or income tax rates" in the 2010 legislative session, Heineman said.

Every member of the Unicameral knew it without being told.

But the governor did what governors do, moving to assure taxpayers that he didn't intend to let the state deal with an economic downturn in general by taking more money from them in the form of greater state sales and/or income tax burdens.

Reducing some services, eliminating some programs and increasing some fees are usually the first things policymakers consider when times are lean, but not so lean as to require cutting expenditures to the bone. In that context, however, it's important to remember that (believe it or not) the state government budget looks a lot more like Gumby than, say, the Pillsbury Dough Boy. You won't cut too very much before you hit bone.

approaching port. Darn near.

With that said: Were it put to a statewide vote it is hard to imagine that a bill proposed by Sen. Steve Lathrop of Omaha, to outlaw what he calls "predatory towing" of motor vehicles from private lots, would be adopted by anything less than a supermajority.

Citing cases of ludicrous towing charges, and subsequent storage fees, Lathrop wants to put limits on the amount that companies can charge in such cases.

Lathrop says he might propose legislation that would limit fees for towing vehicles from private lots, based on the fees that cities allow when vehicles are hauled off public streets.

Lathrop tried to limit predatory towing in the 2009 session. The industry successfully opposed it by complaining that government ought not regulate business.

The GOP's politically ubiquitous Don Stenberg is thinking about another bid for elective office. The former three-term attorney general (1991-2003) is eyeing a campaign to succeed State Treasurer Shane Osborn, who will not seek re-election.

Stenberg has plenty of name recognition, at least among voters who have paid attention to the political scene over the past few decades.

His last foray was in 2006 when he lost a bid for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate. The nod went to multimillionaire businessman Pete Ricketts of Omaha, who eventually lost to incumbent Democrat Ben Nelson. Stenberg was the GOP Senate nominee in 2000 when Nelson, a two-term governor, narrowly defeated him (51 percent to 49 percent) to win the open seat.

Weekly Legislative Update

Greetings from the Unicameral! Last session, the Government, Military & Veterans Affairs Committee heard testimony on two bills that would have made Nebraska the ninth state to adopt election-day registration, or EDR.

LB 125, introduced by Sen. Avery, would have allowed voter registration at individual polling places on election day, while LB 382, introduced by Sen. Rogert, would have allowed voter registration on election day only at the County Election Commissioner or County Clerk's office.

Also known as same-day voter registration, EDR has been shown to significantly increase voter participation, particularly among young adults. Over the past two election cycles, states with EDR saw 10 percent higher turnout than the rest of the country during the 2006 mid-term elections, and a 7 percent higher turnout during the 2008 presidential election.

Participation by college students and other groups with historically low turnout has increased in EDR states as well, with new voter turnout increasing by as much as 14 percent in some cases.

Next month, the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee will hold hearings on LR 127, which directs the committee to study the issue of election-day registration. In order to address concerns about the possibility of voter fraud, the committee plans to work with the Secretary of State's office, local election officials, and other interested parties throughout the interim.

While current EDR states have found very little evidence of voter impersonation at the polls, the com-

Government controlling garage sales?

It's not enough that the federal government wants to make decisions on our health care — you'd think that would be enough, but it by no means isn't — they also want to run your garage sale, and they'll fine you hundreds of thousands of dollars if you don't do it their way.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission Act of 2008 was instituted after a string of recalls on toys made in China with lead paint that were being sold in the United States. As it turns out, this act could also be used on unsuspecting families who want to get rid of the junk in their closets.

The CPSC has initiated what is known as "Resale Round-Up," and they could be coming to a garage sale near you...maybe even your own garage...to check on the items you have for sale.

I'd like to tell you that this is an elaborate figment of my imagination. Sadly, it isn't.

People who violate this act are subject to fines. And we're not talking slaps on the wrist, ladies and gentlemen. No, sir...your nickel-and-dime garage sale could wind up costing you up to $100,000. Multiple violations could jack that fine up as high as $15 million.

The fines are being justified by officials at the CPSC as a deterrent to major corporations like Fisher-Price, who imported a bunch of toys that fell under the lead paint ban. And if you happen to have an Easy-Bake Oven with a $1 price tag on it in your garage, the fines Fisher-Price paid ($2.3 million for importing more than 2 million toys) could easily fall on you as well.

I don't know about you, but that's a lot of old children's clothes that you'll need to sell to pay that fine.

This is just one in a growing number of examples of our government grossly overstepping its boundaries and interfering in the day-to-day lives of the people they are, allegedly, serving. We have a government that is, by the hour, becoming more of a socialist philosophy than the democratic system that millions of Americans have fought, and continue to fight, for.

Last year, we the people exercised our rights by voting for the candidates we felt would best represent our wishes. I'm happy (maybe I should be disappointed?) to say that none of the people I voted for won those elections because I was one of the few, intelligent voters who see that the two major political parties — Democrats and Repukeicans — have made a mockery of what was once the most powerful government on the face of the Earth.

Every day, I see greed-driven thieves like Nancy Pelosi, Charlie Rangel, Harry Reid, Chuck Grassley, and others on the news, and the garbage that these people are trying to sell us, regardless of the issue, is equal parts funny and frightening. That a bunch of greedy, driven, egomaniacal scumbags are spending our tax dollars like drunken sailors visiting the nearest house of ill repute while on shore leave, and then having the gall to tell us how we are to live our day-to-day lives, makes me wonder what the vast majority of voters were smoking when they went to the polls to elect these slimeballs who, obviously, are doing a pathetic job representing us in Washington.

And this goes double for the President of the United States. Never have I seen someone exhibit a greater level of "I know what's best for you, and if you don't like it, that's too bad" attitude than what is being shown by Barack Obama.

I know there are some left-wing lunatics out there who will be quick to paint me as a racist by saying this, and you couldn't be more wrong. The fact of the matter is, I could care less if Obama is black, yellow, brown or blue with pink polka dots on his fanny...his ill-conceived agenda and the blind support from the far left wing of the Democrats and the Big Media should scare the bejeebers out of a free-thinking citizen.

Unfortunately, the combination of an incompetent prior administration (Bush couldn't have found Bin Laden if he was standing right next to him) and Big Media's overwhelming liberal leanings left most of us thinking our only choice was a crochety old Vietnam war hero or a history-making man of color who, if you paid close enough attention to how the mainstream media kissed this guy's backside, sat on the right hand side of the Almighty himself (unless you watched Keith Olbermann or Chris Matthews on MSNBC...then you would think Obama is God).

Our government is, very quietly and quickly, taking away all the freedoms that we hold dear, the ones that have come with the shedding of blood of millions of people who have fought for that freedom for more than two centuries. It's high time we, the people, take back our freedom and eliminate those in Washington who are intent on wasting our money, determining how we live our lives and telling us what to sell at our garage sales.

Cummins ISX diesel engine presented to Northeast by diesel firms

Area diesel shops and an engine manufacturer have donated a 2009 Cummins ISX diesel engine to Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

The state-of-the-art engine will be used as an instructional tool in Northeast's diesel technology program. "This new engine will be a huge asset to our program," said Tony Milenkovich, instructor in diesel technology-truck option. "It helps us keep our training equipment up to current diesel truck engine technology. Our sophomore students will be able to train on the latest in truck engine electronics, emission controls, and fuel systems."

The donation is valued at well over $25,000.

The Cummins engine was donated through the cooperation of Peterbilt of Norfolk, Cummins Central Power of Omaha and the engine manufacturer. "Our shop removed the 500-horsepower engine from a 2009 truck because of a minor factory defect, a small water leak," said Peterbilt Service Manager Dennis Zimmerer, who handled the warranty issues. "We thought the engine would work fine for the college, and the minor water leak won't hamper its usage as a training aid."

Zimmerer contacted Service Manager Gary Donnar at Cummins Central Power who asked the dealership warranty department to contact Cummins Inc. about the possibility of donating the engine. "We're glad Cummins agreed to the donation, rather than scrapping the engine," Zimmerer said. "It will now be used by 80 advanced students for educational purposes. Hands-on training with this advanced engine technology will make Northeast Community College graduates even more employable by the transportation industry."

The local Peterbilt heavy-truck dealer,

Peterbilt of Norfolk, is one of four, full-service truck dealerships owned by Sioux City Truck Sales, Inc.

The Peterbilt franchise offers heavy- and medium-duty trucks, parts and service from its new location on South Highway 81 in Norfolk.

Cummins Central Power, LLC, is an authorized distributorship for Cummins parts and service in the region and operates 12 full-service branches and one industrial branch.

Cummins, Inc. is a global power leader that designs, manufactures, sells, and services diesel engines and related technology. Cummins has distributors and dealers in over 160 countries.

"Peterbilt of Norfolk and Cummins Central Power are big supporters of our diesel technology program and hire a number of our graduating technicians," Milenkovich said. "We are thankful for that and this generous gift."

Members of Northeast's Drafting Club designed the maze while members of the Diversified Ag Club planted the corn. Northeast's utility line and electrical construction and control students have provided lighting. This year's maze has a fall/Halloween design.

Admission is free for children five and under and $3 for children age 6-12. Those 13 and older will be charged a $5 admission. Proceeds go to NECC scholarships and community service projects.

"This Corn Maze gets bigger and better every year," said Danny Whitlock, Drafting Club advisor. "It is a fun activity for all ages."

Five pitfalls to avoid in retirement

You work hard and save aggressively so that one day you can retire from the workforce. When the fabled day arrives and you enter the blissful state of retirement, you may be tempted to think you're done agonizing over your money and savings. The truth is the hard work is probably just beginning. Assuming you're like most of us, with a finite number of dollars available to fund your retirement, you need a plan to make sure you are spending and investing in the most optimal way to make your money last as long as possible. Here are five pitfalls to avoid in retirement to help you preserve your assets and maintain your lifestyle for years to come.

Don't retire too early. It's difficult to predict how long you will live, but longevity trends suggest the likelihood of longer life spans for current and future retirees. If you retire at age 62, you could live another 20 or 30 years. Not only do you need to think about how long your money will last, you should also consider the consequences for taking early withdrawals from your retirement nest egg. Also consider that if you choose to take Social Security early, you agree to receive a reduced amount each month for the privilege of potentially more years of the benefit. Your Social Security statement can help you determine the financial trade-offs of taking early benefits or postponing Social Security income for a few years.

Don't rely on just one form of income. You probably realize that Social Security is unlikely to provide you with enough money to live on in retirement, and that you will need additional sources of income to live comfortably. Most retirees look to a number of sources to cobble together a retirement income. Even though you're retired, you can still seek out growth investments, assuming you retain a good share of your savings in less risky ventures. Seek balance by diversifying or spreading your savings across a variety of investments with varying levels of risk. A financial advisor can help you select from available stocks and bonds to keep your money working for you and help generate investment income.

Beware of insurance gaps. Your insurance needs may change in retirement, but they won't go away. You may need to replace employer-sponsored benefits such as life, health and dental insurance after you retire. Shop around for attractive price points and good quality plans. Even if your home is paid for, you should maintain an appropriate level of homeowners' insurance in case of theft, fire or other incidences. Consider whether long-term care insurance for you and your spouse is something you want to help pay for things like long-term care in a nursing home.

Avoid tax mistakes with retirement distributions. Your sources of income in retirement may include Social Security, a company-sponsored pension plan, IRA, 401(k) or a profit sharing plan. How you access your savings in these various investment vehicles can have a profound effect on how long your money lasts. The IRS regulates how much you can take out of your retirement accounts each year and you can incur stiff tax penalties if you do not abide by the rules. Talk to your tax preparer and financial advisor about required minimum distributions from your retirement accounts and establish a schedule of withdrawals that satisfies requirements while preserving principal. At retirement, you are generally required to begin taking minimum distributions from qualified retirement plans by April 1 of the year after you turn 70½.

Don't underestimate the impact of inflation. When you estimate how much you need in retirement, don't forget to consider how inflation reduces the value of your savings over time. Your budget should factor in rising health care costs and other expenses that may grow disproportionately. In general, early retirees spend more on travel and hobbies while they are still active and healthy; these costs may go down as you get older.

Get professional advice. A knowledgeable financial advisor can help you analyze your retirement portfolio and recommend steps to help you make choices with your retirement assets. Talk to your advisor and tax professional to plan your distributions to help reduce your tax obligation. With careful planning, you can effectively manage your retirement assets — and relax and enjoy the golden years.

Help children cope with stress

Many times when a child is acting out or misbehaving it is because the child is under a lot of stress. Children may not always know the best way to deal with that stress but parents can help.

A lot of stress for a child can come from an outside source such as a parent or a sibling.

Parents should examine their own stress levels and find out if their own actions are causing more stress for their child. It is not uncommon for parents under a lot of stress to take frustrations out on their children.

Children depend on their parents for emotional security. When parents are tense, upset and inattentive, it disrupts the flow of normal activities.

This is the time when parents need to take a deep breath and take time to talk and listen to their kids.

Consider the child's diet or sleeping pattern. It is important for a child to have a consistent routine. Constant changes or inconsistency will create changes in the child's mood or attitude. Children are unable to handle stress when they are hungry, tired or not feeling good.

Amy Topp

Extension Educator
4-H & Youth

After identifying the source, talk with the child. It is important that children learn early that stress is a part of life that they will have to deal with. Don't try to solve all of children's problems but listen and try to help work them through their situation.

People who are not ashamed to express fears, anxieties and sorrows, and seek help from others deal with crises more successfully. Children who learn this at a young age will be more likely to cope with stress as adults. Being able to discuss and vent angry feelings can help keep those feelings from creating more severe problems such as emotional difficulties, family violence or alcohol abuse.

The best thing a parent can do is acknowledge a child's feelings, for example, by saying, "I understand you are very angry." This opens the door for children to talk because it shows someone is willing to listen. A parent should not always feel like they have to advise, analyze or have all the answers. Helping a child to look at all the choices is a good way for children to learn to solve problems and relieve stress. This helps encourage a child and teaches him or her self-respect.

Show affection to the child by a hug or a simple touch. Sometimes even an extra-long hug can do wonders for a child's mood. The affection will help give a stressed out child a feeling of security.

Youth at Our Savior Lutheran Church sang several songs during the recent Rally Sunday activities.

Sunday School Kick-Off held at Our Savior

Rally Day activities at Our Savior Lutheran Church took place on Sept. 13.

As the congregation begins a new Sunday School year, the children participated in an opening which included singing songs with Lucas Wickstrom and participating in a game show of "Who wants to know Jesus?" led by Susan Urbanec. The children then went outside and played outdoor games in the lawn and enjoyed watermelon before going to worship.

Worship was a special celebration led by Pastor Kim Stover. Sue Stover, AIM and Ann Milliken, Sunday School Superintendent, presented Bibles to the children going into Nursery, third grade and seventh grade.

Sunday School teachers and leaders were installed during worship. The service provided special music from Our Savior's Choir, and the children. The children have been learning to play bells which were used during one of the songs.

"We welcome visitors to attend our Sunday School or Worship Service. Feel free to just come," Pastor Stover said.

That's what it would cost to replace Nebraska's coal-generated electricity with wind power.

Wind is going to be an important part of Nebraska's energy future, but it is not free and it is not always available when we need it. We believe that a combination of electric generating resources is the right answer. Wind will be part of that mix, but it is not the whole answer to our energy challenges. Wonderful World of Water Program celebrates 20th anniversary

The 20th Annual Wonderful World of Water Festival was celebrated Sept. 16 at Gilman Park in Pierce. Twenty-six teams of ninth and 10th grade students from 17 schools across northeast Nebraska competed in the day-long program vying for championship honors. The day began with registration and a brief overview of Gilman Park by Park Superintendent Gary Zimmer. Then each team competed in a track of hands-on activities focusing on water quality and other water related issues. The teams were then quizzed regarding those sessions to accumulate points for the competition. Following the educational sessions, the teams were given one last chance to extend their point totals by participating in the Water Wheel of Fortune Game. Then while the final totals were being calculated, each team was given the opportunity to participate in the Wonderful World of Water special project. This year's special project was Water Rockets, which is a program taught through the Jr. Academy of Sciences. Each team was invited to build a water rocket and demonstrate their knowledge of mass, velocity and engineering. The rockets were judged on distance and creativity. Several rockets were launched Wednesday with prizes being awarded to Clearwater High School, Newcastle High School Team 2 and Newman Grove High School Team 2 for excelling in one of the above categories. Following the presentation of the special projects the winners of the 2009 Northeast Nebraska Wonderful World of Water were announced. The winner of Track 1 was West Point-Beemer Team 1 and the winning team from Track 2 was Pierce High School Team 2. Both first place teams were awarded 20th Anniversary Wonderful World of Water T-shirts. Schools participating in this years event include: Clearwater High School, Orchard High School, West Boyd Public School, Winside Public School, Niobrara High School, Lynch Public School, Ewing Public School, Pierce High School, Elgin Pope John XXIII, Madison High School, Newman Grove High School, Elgin Public Schools, Newcastle High School, Allen Consolidated, West Point-Beemer High School and Lyons-Decatur High School. The Wonderful World of Water program would not be possible without the many natural resources professionals from across the area who volunteer their time each year to share their expertise and work with students who might be interested in a career related to natural resources. They come from a variety of agencies including: The Natural Resources Conservation Service; UNL Cooperative Extension; Nebraska Game & Parks Commission; Nebraska Public Power District; and, the Natural Resources Districts. The Wonderful World of Water is sponsored by: the Upper Elkhorn NRD; Lower Elkhorn NRD; Lower Niobrara NRD; and, Lewis and Clark NRD.

Husker Harvest Days is BIG

Cousin Addy in Phoenix called on Saturday and asked about our weather. When I extolled the cool nights, the warm days, and the lack of wind, she wondered what happened to Nebraska this year. It really has been unusual. Every time I have my mother, who is 93, in the car, she remarks about how beautiful the trees are this year.

There has been a thing called Husker Harvest Days near Grand Island for 32 years now. We even had a Bed and Breakfast guest from California a few years ago who drove there two days in a row from the Farm House. I guess he thought if he was going to a farm show, he should stay in a farm house. I'm sure he didn't realize when he made the reservations, he would be two hours away. Anyway, he was fascinated by the big machinery.

Meanwhile, I talked about going every year, and every year, there would be a conflict. This year, I marked the calendar and got on the website to check out how to get there. Last Wednesday, we finally got there. Let's just say it's BIG!

First of all, they wouldn't even let us in at the usual place on Highway 30; we had to drive further west and come in on the Alma road. The Big Farmer was amazed at the number of vehicles in the parking area. Parking lot attendants were on horseback. We waved our handicap sticker and they let us go to the front of the line, but said there were no guarantees. We had a great spot.

Then, we had to find a golf cart or Gator to haul us to the hospitality tent. There was a company that rented 150 small carts, but they were all spoken for when I called on Monday. So, I went to the show office and a nice young man who runs the wood chipper for three days picked us up. I rode in the back, and had wood chips all over my black slacks. But that was okay; it was better than walking half a mile. The Nebraska Farmer, 150 years old this year, was serving free coffee and ice water, and they provided some very nice pews in that tent.

Mike spent quite a bit of time there, just visiting with whomever happened to sit down by him. I scouted the area, but didn't even make it to the craft tent before I gave out. I did hear some of the calf handling demo, and I did see some of the livestock. Our lunch was provided by the Wood River Boosters; that has to be a super money maker. Grand Island Central Catholic was also serving fresh grilled burgers and other good things. I can't imagine what they must make in three days out there.

It was FFA day, and we saw shirts from as far away as Falls City. As usual, I read some of the shirts; one said Team roping; if it's too fast, you're too old! One lady sported a sign that said she would trade a husband for a tractor!

We were back home in time to watch the NU volleyball game, and now we can say we've been there. Did I mention it is BIG?

Tips offered for managing alfalfa, pasture

Here are a few tips from Bruce Anderson, UNL forage Specialist, on managing alfalfa and pasture this fall.

During early fall alfalfa plants detect the decreasing sunlight and adjust their growth process to winterize themselves. If you cut alfalfa during this winterizing period, the plant begins to regrow. This reduces its ability to become as fully winterized as it would be without a cutting.

We all know from experience that alfalfa cut in late September or early October often survives just fine, although spring growth might be a little slower. To increase the chance of your alfalfa surviving and growing well next spring, take these steps.

First and foremost is to make sure your alfalfa gets a chance to grow well for a long time in late summer to build its root nutrient reserves. Allow at least six weeks between your previous cutting and the cut that occurs during winterization. This is even more critical if the field gets cut four or more times this year.

Second, thoughtfully select fields to be cut during winterization. Avoid old, thinning fields unless you plan to rotate that field to a different crop next year. Young, healthy alfalfa fields containing varieties with good winter survival ratings are most likely to perform well even after cutting during winterization. Third, consider waiting to cut until mid-October, after winterization is over or plants are nearly dormant. The stress of regrowth following this extra late cutting usually is small.

"Take half and leave half" was the grazing management recommended for many years on rangeland and for planted warm-season grasses. And in many cases it still is. But today, much emphasis is on grazing techniques that use cross-fences to form multiple paddocks. These techniques are known by many names like management intensive grazing, controlled grazing, and wagon-wheel grazing. Used correctly, they permit increased stocking rates and produce excellent animal performance.

How we graze our pastures, though, does not affect the basic growth processes of our grasses. If we severely graze a pasture short, plants in that pasture need extra time to recover before they are grazed again. And warm-season grasses are particularly sensitive to recovery periods that are too short. This is true regardless of whether the plants are in a continuously grazed pasture or the plants are separated into many rotationally grazed paddocks.

Recovery time is particularly important as we approach winter. Extra rain on many rangelands this summer allowed grass to thrive. You still may have enough growth to provide grazing for another month or two. But plants grazed earlier may not have fully recovered yet despite the rain. Severe grazing now, before full recovery from earlier grazing, will weaken plants as they go into winter. Plants probably will survive, but next spring they will green-up later, early growth will be slow, and they'll compete poorly with weeds.

As we approach winter, "take half and leave half" still is a good management technique. It helps assure that your pastures will be healthy and grow vigorously again next year.

Farmers Market Moms project receives USDA grant

U.S. Department of Agriculture Secretary, Tom Vilsack announced recently that the Northeast Nebraska Resource, Conservation and Development (RC&D) Council, Inc. of Plainview was awarded funding for a new project called "Farmers Market Moms."
 Farmers Market Moms was one of 86 projects nationwide awarded through the 2009 Farmers Market Promotion Program, to encourage the viability of farmers markets and direct marketing projects across the country.
 "Farmers markets have an important role in local and regional food systems by helping consumers have access to healthy, nutritious foods," Vilsack said. "These grants will help continue the recent expansion of farmers markets across the country to increase access to locally grown foods for consumers, and increase incomes for farmers."
 The Farmers Market Moms project, directed by Sandy Patton of Brunswick, with Curt Arens of Crofton as assistant director, will encourage new market vendors and provide consultation and technical assistance to new and existing farmers markets in northeast Nebraska and southeast South Dakota.

Farmers Market Moms project will survey young families, and through the answers from these surveys, develop training for new farmers market vendors in the region. Four market vendor training sessions are being planned in March and April 2010 to be held at the Corps of Discovery Welcome Center, located in northern Cedar County, Nebraska along Highway 81, three miles south of Yankton.
 Patton and Arens recently completed the "Farm to Family Connection" project with the Northeast Nebraska RC&D in the fall of 2008, when they co-authored the local food campaign booklet and CD, "Making the Connection: A Toolkit for Starting a Radio and Web-based Local Food Campaign."
 Farmers Market Moms is one of three Nebraska projects funded through the program. There were three projects in Minnesota, one in Iowa and two in Kansas that also gained funding. Total grants nationwide amounted to $4.5 million, including the Northeast Nebraska RC&D program award of $86,462.

Energy marketing company makes donation to 4-H

For the second year, ONEOK Energy Marketing Company, an Oklahoma-based natural gas company that has customers in rural Nebraska, has given a significant donation to the University of Nebraska 4-H Foundation to distribute to Nebraska 4-H.

A check for $12,342 was presented to the foundation during the Nebraska State Fair, said Donna Hughes, marketing representative in Hastings for the Tulsa-based company.

The foundation will distribute the money to 60 counties in the company's service area, Hughes said. The company provides natural gas for residential, commercial and agricultural customers primarily in the western two-thirds of the state through the Nebraska Choice Gas program, she said.

"We are committed to the communities and rural areas we serve and supporting 4-H youth is one way we reinvest in their future success," she added.

The money is for the betterment of the 4-H programs the counties serve, Hughes said. Counties in the service area are: Adams, Antelope, Blaine, Boone, Box Butte, Brown, Buffalo, Cedar, Chase, Cheyenne, Clay, Cuming, Custer, Dawes, Dawson, Deuel, Dundy, Fillmore, Franklin, Frontier, Furnas, Garden, Garfield, Gosper, Greeley, Hall, Hamilton, Harlan, Holt, Howard, Kearney, Keith, Kimball, Knox, Lincoln, Madison, Merrick, Morrill, Nance, Nemaha, Nuckolls, Perkins, Phelps, Pierce, Platte, Polk, Red Willow, Rock, Saline, Saunders, Scotts Bluff, Seward, Sheridan, Sherman, Stanton, Thayer, Valley, Wayne, Webster and York.

This is the second year the company has made a donation for 4-H and it has announced the continuation of the program for 2010.

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension, expressed appreciation to ONEOK Energy for the donation, calling it a significant contribution to an organization in which one in three age-eligible youth in Nebraska participate. More than 135,000 young Nebraskans participate in 4-H.

"Funds provided to the counties through the ONEOK donation help deliver educational programs that teach 4-Hers skills for life such as responsibility, decision making, leadership and teamwork," Birnstihl said.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Lincoln, Nebraska

Pursuant to NDEQ's Title 118 - Ground Water Quality Standards and Use Classification, public notification and opportunity for comment is hereby given of the following:

1. On or about August 31, 1992, a petroleum release was identified originating from a storage tank system at Roy Reed American Legion Post (Former Service Station). The source of the release is located at 110 Hunter Street (Jct Hunter & Main Streets). An approximate legal location is SW1/4, NW1/4, NW1/4, Section 2, Township 25N, Range 02E, Wayne County, Nebraska.
2. Follow-up investigation identified the effects of the release and led to the remedial actions proposed by NDEQ. The investigation resulted in a determination that this ground water contamination event is defined as remedial action class two.

3. The source of the release has been removed. A Risk-Based Corrective Action (RBCA) Tier 1 assessment was conducted. The assessment indicated the presence of dissolved petroleum compounds in ground water. The contaminant concentrations found were below the numerical levels used by the RBCA process to establish a need for further investigation or remediation. The NDEQ has determined that no further remedial action is necessary due to the lack of threat to human health or safety.

Information regarding this release is contained in NDEQ file LST#051293-JF-0930. Any person may receive further information or submit comments on the proposed action, and request or petition NDEQ for a hearing, in writing, stating the nature of the issues to be raised in the hearing, on or before October 19, 2009.
