Judge dismisses lawsuit against local police force

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

A U.S. district court judge dismissed a lawsuit filed by a local resident who accused three Wayne police officers of using unnecessary and unauthorized force during an arrest two years ago.

Judge Laurie Smith Camp dismissed a lawsuit filed by James Bilello, who filed the complaint in U.S. District Court last September, accusing Wayne police officers Phil Shear, Rick Haase and Gerald Klinetobe of breaking his wrist during an arrest.

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said he was happy with the judge's decision.

"I think it vindicates what we said all along, that we didn't do anything wrong," he said.

Webster said the officers were conducting an investigation into stolen property, and Bilello's name had been mentioned as a possible suspect. He said officers saw Bilello and a friend back a truck into the driveway of his ex-wife's house with the lights off and contacted Bilello and his friend.

"The officers were conducting an investigation into stolen property and weren't sure if he was involved or not," Webster said. "they were making an inquiry and he became uncooperative."

According to reports, authorities maintained that Bilello had not complained about the injury during the arrest, which took place Feb. 1, 2007. When Bilello could not produce a receipt for a PlayStation Portable game in his possession, it was confiscated and he was handcuffed.

Police learned of the alleged injury weeks later after receiving a letter from Billello's attorney.

"He never said a word to anybody," Webster said. "He complained about the handcuffs being on, but we hear that all the time. He made no indication that he was allegedly injured."

Bilello was seeking lost wages, medical bills of $1,927, attorney fees and punitive damages in the lawsuit.

Community notification service launches in Wayne this week

By CLARA OSTEN Of The Herald

The Wayne Police Department will launch a new Community Notification Service called "Nixle" this week to improve communication with people who live, work, and visit our area.

The system provides a quick, efficient, and secure way to get neighborhood-level information out to community members who subscribe to the system. Through www. nixle.com, the department will be able to send text message (SMS) and e-mail alerts to subscribers in a specific area, down to .25 miles. Notifications might be considered in the following instances:

· A young child or adult with Alzheimer's disease walks away from their home. The alert can include a picture of the child or vulnerable adult with a map identifying the area at which they were last seen.

· A public safety emergency requires people to stay in or remain away from their homes. A Nixle alert can let residents with a registered address in the affected neighborhood know what is happening, allowing residents to take a proactive role in their own safety.

· A serious injury or fatal crash in which traffic investigators close down the intersection for several hours during the morning commute. This situation might warrant a notification to subscribers who live or work in the area, encouraging them to select a different route to work he were an arm of the same house and the same and

Other uses include: Large-scale public works projects, traffic safety implications around large fire scenes, community events such as parades, fireworks, picnics, etc., details about a case of H1N1 (swine flu) in the area, city council meeting information, utility outage advisories/ boil orders.

Siouxland blood bank gets donor center accreditation

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank world in achieving excellence by promothas been granted AABB accreditation for donor center activities.

Accreditation follows an intensive onsite assessment by specially trained AABB assessors and establishes that the level of technical and administrative performance within the facility meets or exceeds the standards set by AABB (formerly known as the American Association of Blood Banks).

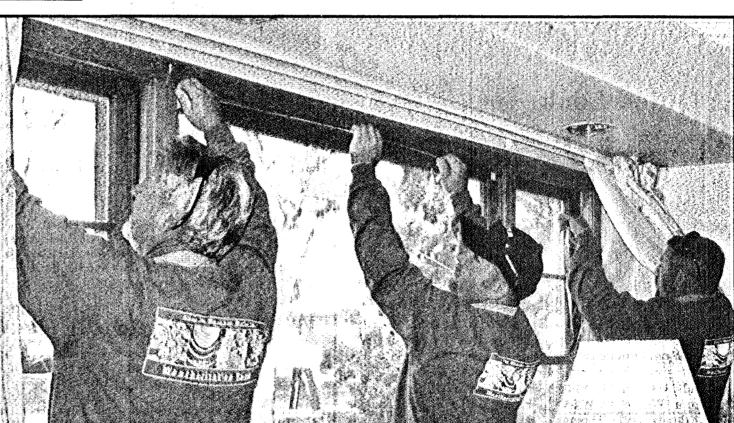

By successfully meeting those requirements, the Siouxland Community Blood Bank joins similar facilities located throughout the United States and around the world that also have earned AABB accreditation.

"The AABB's accreditation procedures are voluntary," said Janette Twait, CEO for the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. "We have sought AABB accreditation because this program assists facilities around the ing a level of professional and technical expertise that contributes to quality performance and patient safety."

Established in 1947, AABB is an international, not-for-profit association dedicated to the advancement of science and the practice of transfusion medicine and related biological therapies. AABB is committed to improving health by developing and delivering standards, accreditation and educational programs and service to optimize patient and donor care and safe-

Black Hills Energy employees installed a plastice film on the window of a Wayne home as part of a weatherization process. Crews spent several hours at the home in an effort to help reduce energy costs.

Black Hills Energy weatherizes local home

By CLARA OSTEN Of The Herald

Employees of Black Hills Energy, Wayne's natural gass provider weatherized a home in Wayne on Oct. 26. The effort was part of the companywide Black Hills Energy weatherization program. The company also weatherized homes in Wymore, Lincoln and Columbus "Helping customers reduce their energy usage is a priority our ours," said Mike Vovos, Black Hills Energy appliance repair technician and leader of the company's Wayne weatherization team. "Our weatherization program shares information with customers about measures they can take to make their homes more energy efficient. For some who can't do the work themselves, we're doing it for them." Black Hills Energy worked with Goldenrod Hills Community Action to identify a customer in Wayne who could not do the weatherization work because of age, health or physical limitations. Black Hills Energy provides weatherization to help those unable to do the work themselves and to raise awareness of the simple, lowcost home weatherization measures all customers can take to use energy more efficiently.

Weatherization measures performed by the Black Hils Energy weatherization teams include inspecting and cleaning furnances; replacing furnace filters and installing weather stripping, caulking, presurized expanding foam, window plastic, outlet gaskets, water heater blanket on a water heater 10 years old or older and water heater pipe insulation.

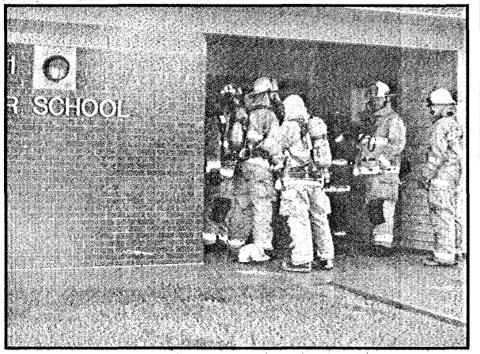

A pre-weatherization inspection of each home by Black Hills Energy determines what each requires.

The Wayne and larger Nebraska weatherization effort is part of a company-wide undertaking in which Black Hills Energy weatherization teams across the organization's multi-state electric and natural gas service territory are weatherizing homes in other communities Black Hills Energy

"It's in everyone's best interest to use energy wisely. Homeowners can do this by increasing the energy efficiency of their home," said Dan Mechtenberg, vice president of Nebraska natural gas operations, Black Hills Energy. "That's why helping our customers use energy efficiently is a priority for Black Hills Energy. "Energysaving tips are available at www.bhehow-

Black Bills Energy offers many other programs and services to help customers manage their natural gas bills and control energy usage, including a budget billing program to level out monthly payments and spread winter bills over the entire year. Additionally, Black Hills sponsors its own energy assistant program, Black Hills Cares, through which customer and employee contributions are matched by the company and forwarded to local agencies for residential energy assistance. Customers can indicate on their bill the amount they want to contribute monthly. In Nebraska,

To the Child of My Heart

O precious, tiny sweet little one You will always be to me So perfect, pure and innocent Just as you were meant to be. We dreamed of you and of your life And all that it would be We waited and longed for you to come and join our family. We never had the chance to play. To laugh, to rock, to wiggle We long to hold you, touch you And to listen to you giggle.

I'll always be your mother, He'll always be your dad. You will always be our child, the child that we had. But now you're gone . . . but yet you're here. You are our sorrow and our joy, there's love in every tear. Just know our love goes deep and strong. We'll forget you never. The child we had, but never had,

WSC to Host Annual Madrigal Dinners Dec. 4-6

Wayne State College 2004, the Madrigal Madrigal Singers will present the sang performancthirty-eighth annual Madrigal Dinners Dec. 4-6 in the Frey Conference Suite in the Wayne State Student Center.

Clad in 16th century attire, the Madrigal Singers transport audiences back to Renaissance England under the rule of Queen Elizabeth I for a Christmasse Feaste. In the midst of music, poetry and comedy, the audience enjoys a succulent feast, including wassail and flaming dessert. Well-known English Christmas traditions such as the hanging of the greens, decking the hall, carrying the birch log to the fire, and the boar's head processional are observed. Guests are entertained by strolling carolers and a troubadour who pass by each table of the hall singing carols or playing the lute. Our jester keeps everyone entertained, and the "punny" play will keep you in stitches.

The Madrigal Singers have given more than 300 performances in their 38-year history. They have toured Mexico and Canada in addition to nine trips to Europe. The group presented dinners in England and Wales, and has performed in the Pantheon and St. Peter's Basilica in Rome. In 1992 the group performed in Berlin, Prague, Hannover, and Bach's own church. the Tomaskirche, in Leipzig.

In 1994, the Madrigal Singers were the only American choir at the prestigious Spittal, Austria, International Choral Competition. In 2000, the Singers toured Russia, and sang in the great concert halls and churches of Moscow and St. Petersburg, including the Kremlin and Pavlovsk Palace. In es in Dublin, the Rock of Cashel, and Galway Cathedral in Ireland, and in 2008, members of the ensemble participated in the WSC Music Department's tour of Venice and Como in northern Italy, Salzburg and Vienna, Austria. The 2003 "Holiday Harmonies" program produced by NETV (on which both the Madrigal Singers and WSC Concert Choir performed) was nominated for a regional Emmy.

Friday's Saturday's dinners will be at 7 p.m. Sunday's dinner will be at 5 p.m. Lordes and Ladyes for the 2009 dinners are Dwain & Carole of Trustees has received notification that Wayne Public Library's state accreditation has been upgraded from Enhanced status to Excellent by the Nebraska Library Commission.

The purpose of the accreditation process is to establish expectations for governance, services, and resources for public libraries. The anticipated outcome is that Nebraska citizens will have access to accurate, quality library and information services from public libraries that meet statewide independent guidelines.

To qualify for Excellent Accreditation status, a library must meet all 26 Essential and 22 of the Excellent Guidelines.

Of the 273 public libraries in Nebraska, only 21 are ranked at the Excellent level.

"This is very exciting for us," said Lauran Lofgren, Library Director. "We have worked very hard to achieve this level of recognition by the state accrediting body. It will directly impact the amount of state aid we receive each year, which in turn will allow us to further improve library services to the community of Wayne."

Libraries have their accreditation status reviewed every three years. Wayne Public Library current status is in effect until September,

WSC graduate Heather Hegi earns national scholarship

Heather Hegi, a Wayne State College Geography graduate of May 2009, is one of five recipients of a prestigious Gamma Theta Upsilon national scholarship competition, the Benjamin F. Richason Scholarship.

GTU is an international honor society in geography and, since 1965, has awarded scholarships to help students attend graduate school. Hegi is a native of Columbus. She is enrolled in the Masters in Geographic Information Science program at the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities campus.

While at WSC, she was involved as vice-president of the Lambda Zeta chapter of Gamma Theta Upsilon advised by Professors Randy Bertolas and Vicki Tinnon. She also served as president of the Pi Gamma Mu social sciences honor society chapter at WSC. Benjamin Richason was chair of the Geography

Rotary scholar tells local group of her year studying in Zambia

The featured speaker at a recent Wayne Rotary Club meeting was Angeline Petak of Columbus.

Angeline is a Rotary Foundation Ambassadorial Scholar who spent a year in Zambia after she graduated from UNL in 2007. She has a B.S. and degrees in Biology, Anthropology and Women's Studies. She minored in Environmental Studies. Petak works at the East-Central District Health Department in Columbus where she is a Project Manager. In Zambia, she worked on a Neuropathogenesis HIV study.

Petak noted she loved school and always wanted to go to Africa. She was excited to be a Rotary Ambassadorial Scholar and enjoyed Rotary so much that she joined the organization.

Zambia gained independence from Great Britain in 1964. It is a democratic country and predominately Christian. Zambia has a population of 12 million people. English is the national language. The winter months are a rainy season. The economy is poor with a 50 percent unemployment rate. The national economy is dependent mostly on copper exports. One million people in Zambia have HIV/ AIDS. Life expectancy there is 42 years. Of the two million children under five years old, 95,000 were born with HIV.

Approximately 1.1 million children are orphaned. Many orphans only eat one meal a day which consists of only rice. There is a myth in Zambia that having sex with a virgin cures AIDS so many children are raped. The Zambian government and non-governmental organizations are trying to stop these actions.

Co-Ops are on horizon for football

More than any other sport, football is a game of depth, and a team's long-term success is often runner-up trophy. The boys settled dictated by the number of bodies available.

Every two years, the Nebraska School Activities Association adjusts the field for the six football classifications, the end result being teams moving in and out of classes.

For a number of years, Wayne was a lower-enrollment school in Class B. As the school population shrank, year. the numbers eventually moved the school's football program from Class B, where it was a small fish in a big pond, to Class C1, where its size comparison gives the school more of a competitive balance.

Over the years, schools like Wayne and Pierce, who were Class B stalwarts, have been joined by other schools whose enrollment numbers have creeped backward. Several area schools are playing at a classification level much lower trophy. than they once were.

Winside, for example, played 11man ball off and on until recently, when it has become a consistent 8-man school. Wakefield's numbers are putting them on the brink of falling below the 11-man level.

The same goes for Laurel-Concord, but they might get a lift in the next two years if they take on Coleridge's enrollment numbers.

Coleridge is a telltale sign of the with a medal, as he placed sixth shrinking numbers in our rural communities. This program has seen success at the 11-man and 8man level, and not long ago was a state championship team. Their enrollment numbers, however, have fallen so low that the school can no longer get enough kids together to field a football team.

The possibility exists that Coleridge may be forced to co-op with another area school. Laurel-Concord makes the most sense, as they already co-op in cross country, boys golf and wrestling, and they also share an athletic director (Scott Petersen) and other administrative

It will be interesting to see where Coleridge winds up, as there are discussions taking place now. By the end of November, Coleridge and Laurel-Concord will need to have a co-op agreement in place if the two schools are to co-op in football, and the co-op arrangement could extend to the classroom as well, as the two districts share teachers and school administrators and utilize distancelearning opportunities.

As it stands, we will see the area landscape change in high school football. Randolph reportedly will make the move from 11-man to 8man next season, although there is an outside chance they might co-op with somebody, like Coleridge, to maintain an 11-man squad.

Other schools in the region, like Creighton and West Point Central Catholic, will be playing 8-man ball the road (say, at least a decade from now), we might see the area 8-man teams (Winside and Allen) being forced into a co-op situation by dwindling enrollment. The regional landscape when it comes to high school football is steeped in a long tradition of success. Sadly, the reality of dwindling enrollment has led to a decreasing number of young men walking the hallways at each school, and that eventually is going to make those days of gridiron dominance a memory in some places.

In honor of the area teams making the playoffs, we'll lead off this week's picks with our area teams' games. Hopefully, they will help improve the overall record, which now stands at 47-32-1 after last week's 5-5 effort.

Wayne runners finish among Class C's best

Laurel-Concord's Jacobsen earns third Class D medal

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

KEARNEY - Wayne High cross country coach Rocky Ruhl got what he wanted, even if it didn't mean bringing home a team trophy.

Both Wayne High cross country teams finished higher than last year at the State Cross Country Championships Friday at the Kearney Country Club, with the boys just missing out on a state for a third-place finish, while the girls moved up from last year's eighth-place effort to take fifth in the Class C race.

It was also a good day for Laurel-Concord's lone runner, as junior Katie Jacobsen earned her third medal, matching the sixth-place finish she had as a sophomore last

Wayne was in the mix with Norfolk Catholic, Ogallala and Gothenburg for much of the season, and those four teams were touted as the teams that would battle for the state championship and runner-up trophies. In the end, Norfolk Catholic would wrap up its fourth straight Class C title while Ogallala, the Class B champion in 2008, edged out the Blue Devils by five points for the second-place

"Our goal was to get in the top two so we could take some hardware home, but I was happy with how the guys ran," Ruhl said. "They competed very well and gave their best effort today, and when you do that you just let the chips fall where they may and Ogallala came in and did very well and got second."

Senior Cory Foote was one of two Wayne High boys to come away with a time of 17:15.5.

"I tried to stick with the top guys, Foote said of his performance. "I thought we all ran pretty hard. We didn't finish the way we wanted to, but we gave it our best effort."

Quentin Jorgensen also came home with a medal, finishing 14th in a time of 17:27.6. He was just five seconds short of a top-10 finish, and said he thought he could have ran a better race.

"I didn't think I ran that great, but it was good to get a medal," he said. "Hopefully we can come back next year and finish a little better,"

Jordan Barry was in the hunt for a medal as well, but the senior came up three spots short with an 18th place finish. Ruhl complimented Barry and Foote for their senior leadership.

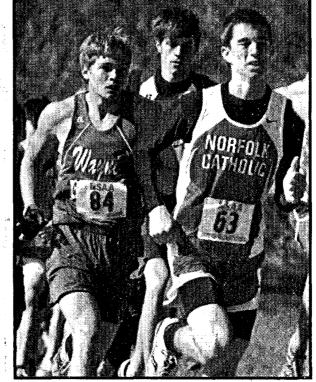

"They both ran well today and Jordan was up there with Quentin  $\ensuremath{\mathsf{most}}$  of the day, and they were great leaders for our team this year," Ruhl said.

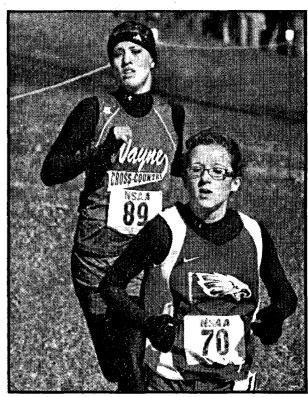

Wayne's scoring was rounded out by Seth Onderstal, who finished 23rd. Zach Thomsen came home in 52nd place and Sawyer Jager was 81st to round out the Wayne High

THE WAYNE GIRLS PLACED fifth out of 12 teams with 93 points and also brought home a pair of individual medals. Senior Jordan Alexander was 11th with a time of 16:38.6, while Megan Stalling finished 1.5 seconds behind in 14th

"I was really happy with how the girls finished," Ruhl said. "We wanted to improve on last year's eighth-place finish, and the girls ran a great race today. Some of the

Wildcat volleyball team earns key home victories over rated foes

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Hearld

When Wayne State called its final time out, things were not looking good for a key home weekend sweep.

Trailing 12-9 in the final set against 15th-ranked Southwest Minnesota State, and one day removed from a straight-set blowout of No. 10 Minnesota State, one could hardly fault the Wildcats if they were to be happy with a home weekend split against two of the top teams in the country.

The Wildcats stormed out of the huddle with a look of determination, however, and scored six of the last seven points to come away with a five-set thriller over the Mustangs, winning the match 25-22, 24-26, 20-25, 25-22, 15-13 in the finale of the Cats Against Cancer day at the college. "When we got down in that fifth set, we could have said that one win was good enough, but the girls talked in the huddle about how hard they've worked in practice and in the offseason, and they just weren't going to let this happen," coach Scott Kneifl said after his team improved to 23-4 overall and 11-2 in the NSIC.

Mindy Moody got the comeback started with a kill off one of Diedra Artz's 56 assists in the match. Backto-back hitting errors by the Mustangs tied the match at 12-12 and forced the visitors to call time out.

The Mustangs briefly regained the lead on a hitting error by Tali Fredrickson, but the sophomore redeemed herself with a match-tying kill, and back-to-back errors by Southwest closed out the match for the pink-clad Wildcats.

The comeback capped a weekend that started Friday job for us.'

with a three-set sweep of Minnesota State, as the Wildcats won 25-18, 25-18, 25-23.

Junior Jennifer Hefner, who had 15 kills in Friday's win and had a match-best 20 kills Saturday, said the weekend was an important one for she and her teammates.

"Those were huge wins, and they were both ranked ahead of us in regionals so we had to get those wins,"

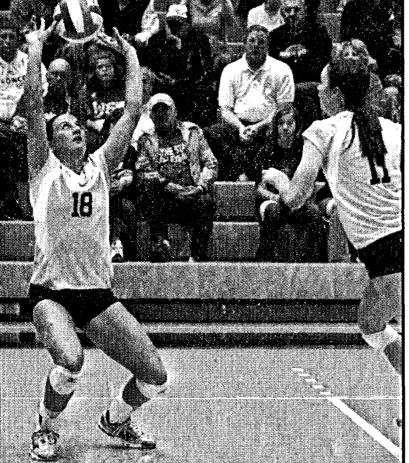

Wayne State won the opening set by scoring six of the last seven points. Fredrickson had an ace serve and a key kill, and Moody finished off the first set with a spike off an Artz set.

The Wildcats forced a fifth set Saturday after losing the second and third sets. Once they got to the fifth set, Hefner said her team was confident they could win the finale.

"We've played two five-set matches earlier this year, so when we go to that fifth set we knew it was go time," she said.

The Wildcats won Saturday's game without the services of left side hitter Lea Hartigan, who went down with a knee injury in Friday's win over Minnesota

"She hurt her knee on a play at the net, and when you take away one of your (left side) hitters, that's tough,' Kneifl said. "She's a very important part of the team and has worked hard the entire year, but sometimes you face things like this and the girls showed they're ready to do battle with whoever we have out on the floor, and Madison (Penicek) came in and did a fabulous college's "Cats Against Cancer" promotion.

The Wayne State football team couldn't follow that advice, and now finds itself on the outside looking in for the NCAA Div. II playoffs.

Augustana receiver Sam Holsen torched the Wildcats's econdary with 267 yards and two touchdowns on 11 catches, and the visiting Vikings came from behind in the fourth quarter to escape Cunningham Field with a 27-24 win.

The loss, Wayne State's second in the last three games, dropped the Wildcats to 6-3 overall and seriously jeopardized their chances of reaching the postseason. And, according to coach Dan McLaughlin, the loss came down to simply not making a play when one was needed.

"It was very disappointing, because it's a game that we should have won and we just weren't able to get it done," he said. "We had opportunities to make plays to win the game and we didn't do it. It was a very frustrating day for us."

The frustration started on Augustana's first drive, a 17-play, 90-yard march down the field that ate up more than eight minutes before ending on an Andrew Behrens 21-yard field goal.

On the first play of the second period, the Vikings took to the air as Luke Butler threw the first of three touchdown passes, a 78-yard aerial to Holsen, who burned the Wayne State secondary for the easy score and a 10-7 Augustana lead.

"We didn't cover him and we didn't put pressure on the quarterback, and when you don't do those things in college football they're going to tear you up," McLaughlin said. "It was like putting gasoline on a fire."

girls had been sick during the week, and they came through and did an awesome job."

Stalling, who has led the team for much of the season, battled through a cold to find a spot on the medal stand.

"With the cold, it was hard for me to breathe early on, but I was feeling pretty good toward the end and it was better than I thought it would be," Stalling said. "I thought we ran really well today, and hopefully we can get back again next year and try to do better."

Alexander, a senior who has been among the team's top two runners all season, overtook her teammate down the stretch and just missed out on a top-10 finish in her last

"I was really nervous at first, but I wanted to do well today," she said. "I had a lot of adrenaline at the end and really wanted it bad, and we've been working really hard up to this point so I thought we were really ready today."

Martha Mitku finished 45h and Emily Nelson was 72nd to round out Wayne's scoring. Taylor Stowater finished 86th and Halsey Lutt placed 90th.

It was the last race for Alexander and Lutt, both of whom joined the team after taking part in softball earlier in their high school careers.

"They have been a bit part of continuing the tradition we have with cross country, and they did a great job with their leadership," Ruhl said.

LAUREL-CONCORD,

"I felt really good the first two miles, and I thought I ran pretty well," Jacobsen said. "I was really happy to get sixth, and I plan on getting another medal next year."

Coach Megan Meyer was happy with her runner's effort, which was 13 seconds better than last year's state performance.

"She did really well to cut 13 seconds off her time," she said. "I thought she'd finish in the top five or six, because a lot of the top runners were from our area. Katie's good runner, and she'll be going back again next year." Class C Boys

Of The Herald

NORFOLK - Mother Nature can be a great equalizer.

Cold, wet and windy conditions made for a slippery football at Memorial Field, and the rotten weather almost left a rotten taste in the mouths of Norfolk Catholic fans, who had to sweat out a nearupset by the Wayne Blue Devils in the regular-season finale for both

The Blue Devils took the lead early and almost made it stick, giving up a late touchdown on a 35yard run by Kelby Seyl with 2:55 to go in a 12-7 Norfolk Catholic win in front of a reporter-estimated 300 fans on a frigid Thursday night.

"I can't thank these kids enough for the great job they did tonight," coach Rich Rethwisch said after the game. "The weather was a great equalizer and probably helped us more because they had some great playmakers. But I was very proud of our kids' effort tonight."

The Blue Devils got the early lead Winside 42, Emerson-Hubbard in the first quarter when Derek 20 (Wildcats already have a win Poutre took off on the left side and ran 58 yards for a touchdown. Tory Allen 52, Falls City Sacred Booth's point-after kick gave Wayne Heart 34 (Long road trip is worth it a 7-0 lead and proved to be a very important point in the game.

"We got some good blocks on that St. Paul 14 (Wildcats take out play, and Derek has the ability to break one and he found a hole and took it," Rethwisch said.

> Rethwisch called time out before special teams unit wasn't set.

"We needed to take the time and get that set up right, and I'm glad now that we did because that could have made the difference," he said.

Wayne's defense came through with a big play on their first series as well, as Alex Onnen blocked a punt and Justin Anderson recovered, field position at the Knights' 20.

Wayne had a good chance to make of the gate, but a slippery pass from Anderson to Poutre squeezed out of the senior back's hands, and a 35yard field goal attempt by Booth was blocked.

It would stay that way until the second period, when the Knights scored on a third-down pass from Austin Ketter to Ethan Brozek. The five-yard strike brought Norfolk Catholic to within a point, but the missed extra point left the Blue Devils with a one-point halftime

It would stay that way until the fourth quarter, as both teams moved the ball but could not find the end zone.

After getting pinned deep on a 51-yard punt with the wind, Wayne put together an 11-play drive that stalled at their own 30-yard line. Norfolk Catholic took the ball at their own 48-yard line with 3:11 to go, and needed just two plays to take the lead for the first time.

Ketter hit Tyler Habrock on a 17-yard pass on the first play of the drive, and Seyl followed with a 35-yard run off a draw, giving the Knights the five-point lead. Wayne had one last chance to come from behind, but the Knights held and finished an undefeated regular season, while Wayne ended the regular season 4-4.

"We just had to make that one more stop," Rethwisch said. "They had to make that one play to win it, and they got it done."

Regardless of the outcome, both teams are headed to the playoffs, and the two teams will meet in a rematch Thursday at Memorial Field at 6 p.m. Getting to the playoffs was one of Wayne's goals, and Rethwisch is hoping the team can enjoy their playoff run, no matter how far it goes."

"This is a great feeling, meeting one of our goals," he said. "Now that we're here, we need to get ready and see how far we can take this.'

Lady Bears take thrilling win, advance to finals in NENAC

LAUREL - Laurel-Concord took the long road to 18 digs and Mandy Nelson picked up nine digs. the NENAC championship match, winning an exciting five-set match over West Holt to advance to Friday's final against Creighton in Plainview.

After losing the first set, the Lady Bears won two in a row and were on the brink of closing it out in four sets before the Huskies staged a rally and forced a fifth set. The Lady Bears came through on their home floor to close out the match, winning 20-25, 25-20, 25-23, 23-25, 15-10.

"This was a true, end-of-the-season, winner-take-all type of match," coach Patti Cunningham said. "There were back-and-forth rallies and first-ball, end-of-play points. The competitive nature of the game allowed the athletes to recognize that their level of importance depended on the emotional state they were in at the

The Lady Bears kept their poise when it mattered most, riding the 1-2 hitting combo of Taryn Dahlquist and Amy Pritchard. Dahlquist knocked down 22 kills on the night while Pritchard put away 13 kills. They got great support from sophomore setter Jade Cunningham, who not only had 41 set assists, but contributed at the net with four kills and a team-high Kastrup's 23 digs leading the way. Pritchard added Pritchard 18, White 6, Kastrup 23, Lunz 6.

Cunningham led the team in serving with four aces.

Tuesday's thriller was a stark contrast from Monday's opening round for the Lady Bears, as they had no trouble disposing of Plainview, taking an easy 25-12, 25-12, 25-10 victory. Dahlquist had 12 kills, Cunningham had 28 set assists, 10 digs and four ace serves and Kastrup had a team-best 13 digs in the easy opening-round win.

The 19-8 Lady Bears will meet Creighton for the NENAC title Friday at 8 p.m. at Plainview High School. They will compete in subdistrict play next week at O'Neill.

Allen goes 1-1 at conference tourney

in the Lewis and Clark Conference tournament, bowing out in the second round to Homer Monday.

The Lady Eagles have been battling the flu bug recently, but recovered enough to dispose of Winnebago in three sets, winning 25-17, 25-20, 25-18. They took host Homer to four sets before bowing out. 25-21, 25-17, 18-25, 25-18,

"We've been battling the flu bug lately, and we've had some practices where we only had a few girls," coach Cheryl Greve said. "Yesterday (Monday) was the first day where we had everybody back, and it looked like we hadn't practiced in a few days when we played Winnebago."

Greve said the Indians showed much improvement from their first matchup with the Lady Eagles, but Allen's volleyball team went 1-1 Allen was able to play well and take care of Winnebago.

"Winnebago has really come along and made some good strides," she said. "We didn't get into much of a rhythm because some of the girls were just getting back from being out with the flu." Ashlee Hingst had 12 kills and Shannon Sullivan added seven to lead the Allen attack. Hannah Finnegan had 21 set assists to direct the offense.

The Lady Eagles played much better in their second-round match with Homer, but couldn't get past the host Lady Knights to earn a trip to the conference semifinals.

"We came out and played with a lot more enthusiasm," Greve. "I thought we pushed them fairly well, but we just made some critical errors at the wrong time."

Hingst led the net attack with 14 kills and three blocks, while Bentley Hingst had 11 kills. Sullivan and Hannah Flores each had two ace serves, Sullivan had 24 digs and Finnegan served up 26 set assists.

Winside falls in L&C semifinals

WAUSA - Winside was one set away from a sweep of Bancroft-Rosalie in the semifinals of the Lewis and Clark Conference tournament, but were unable to close out the Panthers.

Bancroft-Rosalie battled back from a two-set deficit and outlasted the Lady Wildcats in five sets, dropping Winside to 17-8 heading into subdistrict play next week at Battle Creek.

Despite the loss, coach Teresa Watters was happy with her team's effort.

"I was pleased with how aggressive we came out, and I thought the girls played very well." she said. "Bancroft is a tough, tall team and I thought the girls battled very well and played one of their better games. We're just disappointed that it didn't end the way we had hoped."

Erin Gray had 17 kills and six ace serves, and Audrey Roberts added 14 kills in the losing effort, while Jordyn Robert had 44 set assists. Six of the seven players had double digits in digs, led by Shelby Lienemann's 24.

Winside opened the tournament with two wins at home, defeating Osmond in three sets and Hartington in four.

Subdistrict play begins Monday at Battle Creek High School.

Trojans fall in five-setter at L&C meet

WYNOT - Wakefield's volleyball team went out in the first round of the Lewis and Clark Conference tournament Monday, but they certainly didn't go down quietly.

The Trojans and Wausa hooked up in a wild five-set thriller that saw the Trojans battle back from a 2-0 deficit to force a fifth set, only to come up on the short end of a 15-10 decision in the final set.

"We definitely gave the crowd their money's worth," coach Megan Nixon said,

After getting down two sets, the Trojans responded and played outstanding volleyball, Nixon said.

"The third and fourth set were great matches for us. The girls talked on the floor and made things happen with aggressiveness. Sydney (Rose) played a great back row, and that kind of hustle creates opportunities for my hitters."

Nixon said the Trojans served well throughout the game, finishing with eight ace serves, and that helped the offense build some momentum.

That momentum seemed to shift in the final set, and Nixon said her team just couldn't get back on the right side of the ledger.

"We got down early and needed to bounce back, and we lost our aggressiveness and the (fifth) set went in their favor," she said.

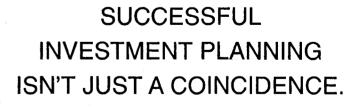

Keri Lunz had a match-high 25 kills and five blocks for the 13-16 Trojans. Abby Schultz added six kills, Morgan Lunz had five kills and Jenna Henderson and Erika McNiel each had three ace serves. Rose had 21 digs and Henderson had 26 set assists. On Thursday, Wakefield split a triangular with Winnebago and Homer at Homer. They handled Winnebago in straight sets, led by Keri Lunz's 14 kills, and fell in two sets to the host Lady Knights, 25-23, 25-13.

The Trojans will take part in the C2-5 subdistrict at Wayne.

State football playoffs kick off on Thursday

games involving four area high school football teams have been set for Thursday night.

The Wayne Blue Devils, fresh off a near-upset of Norfolk Catholic last week, get a rematch with the topseeded Knights in the first round Thursday at 6 p.m. at Memorial Field in Norfolk. The Blue Devils were projected as a No. 12 seed, but a loss by Pierce changed Wayne's point totals, dropping them to the No. 16 spot in the east bracket in Class C1.

Laurel-Concord, which enters the Class C2 bracket as the No. 13 seed, will travel to Fremont to take on fourth-seeded Fremont Bergan at 7 p.m. at Christensen Field in Fremont. Wayne State's Mario Melvin runs away from a diving Augustana defender on his way to a big gain during the Wildcats' 27-24 loss to the Vikings Saturday at Cunningham Field.

Wildcats

The Wildcats would answer on a 4-yard dive by Silas Fluellen. After Holsen caught his second touchdown pass, a 28-yard connection with 1:06 left in the first half, the Wildcats sprinted down the field for another score to make it 17-14 at intermission.

Wayne State's second scoring drive was lightning fast, as they took the ball with :58 seconds left in the half. Fluellen found Frederic Bruno on two straight passes, a 27yarder and a 50-yard bomb that Bruno was able to catch in tight single-man coverage. That set up Nick Pulscher's five-yard run to cap a three-play drive that used just 28 seconds.

The Wildcats, who outgained Augustana 471-426, appeared to take control of the game in the second half. Fluellen hit Sir Lawrence Davis on a 15-yard pass late in the third quarter, and Nick Hope's 36-yard field goal with 12:15 left gave the Wildcats a 24-20 advantage.

Augustana responded, however, with a nine-play, 64-yard drive that included a fourth-down pass from Butler to Eric Ellingworth that kept a drive alive at the Wayne State 23-yard line. Two plays later, Butler and Ellingworth hooked up on a 14-yard pass for the winning points. "We had some good defensive stops, but when we needed one there on that fourth-down play we couldn't get it. It was very frustrating," McLaughlin said.

Logan Masters, who caught four passes for 63 yards, tied the NCAA Div. II record for consecutive games with at least one catch. The senior matched the record of 44 straight games, set by Mitch Allner of Morningside from 1996-99.

"It's a great achievement," McLaughlin said of Masters' mark. "He's had a great career here and I'm very proud of him. It's kind of like with Silas' records, a lot of it is due to their ability and athleticism, and they've also had the chance to start and play since they were freshmen because we weren't very good when they got here. In order to catch a ball in 44 straight games you have to play in 44 straight games, and not a lot of kids get to do that. He's a great receiver and he's done a great job."

The Wildcats will look to get back on track this week with a road trip north to face Concordia St. Paul, a team that is playing well after a couple of big wins, including a 57-56 overtime win over Upper Iowa

Regardless of the Wildcats' playoff chances, McLaughlin said his team is going to gear up for what should be a tough road game Saturday.

"If you have to find a reason to play, you're in the wrong business," he said. "We're going to go there and play to win, whether the playoffs are on the line or not. It would be a poor testament to the players' and coaches' if we don't want to play because we're not in the playoffs.

Frosh fall in double OT

The Wayne freshman football team completed their 2009 season with a road game at O'Neill on Oct. 13, losing an exciting game 34-28 in double overtime.

Tyler Robinson and Luke Trenhaile each scored a touchdown and scored a two-point conversion for the Wayne frosh. Jordan Backer hit for two touchdowns, one through the air and one on the ground. Backer connected with Robinson and Trenhaile on two-point conversion passes. Brady Soden accounted for Wayne's final score with a touchdown of his own.

Defensively, the Blue Devil freshmen were led by Steven Sherman, Ramsey Jorgensen and Zach Shear. Trenhaile also contributed defensively, recovering a fumble.

The Wayne freshmen finished the season with an 0-5 record.

Wayne takes fifth in Mid-State

The Wayne High volleyball team got ready for the postseason with solid fifth-place finish in the Mid-State Conference volleyball tournament.

Playing at Madison, the Blue Devils came back from a first-set loss to Pierce and handled Madison in four sets on Monday, then made quick work of Boone Central with a three-set win Tuesday to take fifth-

The win over Boone Central was something coach Joyce Hoskins has been looking for all season.

"We've won a lot of first sets, but we haven't been able to finish, and that's something we've been struggling with the whole year," she said. "Tonight we played solid all three sets and didn't let down, and this is a good time for us to start doing that."

Katie Hoskins had 17 kills and two blocks, Elisa Robinson added 10 kills and Jessica Biermann put up 35 set assists to lead the victorious Wayne effort. Cassie Harm finished as the team leader in digs with 21, while Biermann added 14 and Hoskins recorded 10.

The Blue Devils played well in a losing effort to second-seeded Pierce, then took care of the host Dragons with a solid comeback effort.

"I was pleased with how the girls played the first and third sets against Pierce," Hoskins said. "We came out flat the second set, but we were able to make some changes and the girls responded to that, and that carried over into the Madison game where we played more aggressively."

Robinson had 13 kills and four blocks and Hoskins added six kills in the loss to Pierce. Biermann recorded 23 set assists, Robinson had 11 digs and Harm added 10

Against Madison, Robinson had 15 kills and five blocks, Hoskins added 12 kills and four blocks and Elle Schramm put down nine kills. Biermann had 30 set assists in the win, and Harm had 16 digs to lead the defense.

In their home regular-season finale, Wayne came up on the short end of three-set losses to O'Neill and Hartington Cedar Catholic. The Blue Devils won the first set in both matches before the visiting teams rebounded to win the final two.

Wayne carries a 10-17 record into the C1-6 subdistrict at Norfolk High that begins on Monday.

Allen closes out season with win over Coleridge

VERMILLION, S.D. - The Allen Eagles closed out the regular season in fine fashion, walking away with a 58-12 win over Coleridge Thursday at the Dakota Dome.

The win wrapped up the Eagles' fourth straight appearance in the playoffs and their fifth in the last seven years, but it didn't come quickly, coach Dave Uldrich said.

"The boys started slow. We're just getting our health and timing back," he said.

Coleridge stopped the Eagles on their first drive, but Heath Roeber got the Eagles on the board later in the first period with a 44-yard gallop to give Allen the 8-0 firstquarter lead.

The Eagles would erupt for 28 points in the second period to take a 36-0 halftime advantage, highlighted by a 38-yard punt return by Austin Roeber and a 70yard run by A.J. Williams.

Allen picked up where it left off on the second-half kickoff, as Williams took it 72 yards for another score. Alex Langseth added a 31-yard run to make it 52-0 going to the final period, and Allen cruised to its fourth win in five district games, taking a 5-3 record into the

Northeast joins other colleges in observance of Financial Literacy Week

will join 16 other colleges on 18 campuses in early November in the observance of the award-winning Nebraska Financial Literacy

Sponsored by the National Student Loan Program and the Nebraska Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators, the week of special activities is planned for Nov. 9-13. The event will include a special program, "Tackling Debt: Strategies for a Strong Financial Future." It is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 6 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center on the campus in Norfolk.

The program will be presented by an accredited NSLP financial counselor. "In these tough economic times, students clearly need help identifying and managing realistic financial goals," says Sharon Cabeen, NSLP's vice president of financial literacy. "We'll address that need by helping students learn how to budget properly, giving them tips so they don't get overextended on credit and debt, and providing them with knowledge to develop a plan to repay their obligations, including their student loans."

Discussion will also include identity theft and other ways of financing education.

According to a NSLP news release, students who participate in Nebraska Financial Literacy Week can also learn more financial management skills using NSLP's Financial Literacy Online, a comprehensive online learning center that includes free courses on budgeting, contracts, credit cards, credit history, identity theft, financing education, insurance, and starting a business.

Students who successfully complete at least one online Financial Literacy course (www.nslpflonline. org) between Nov. 9-30 will be eligi-

Last year, "Nebraska Financial Literacy Week" won an award for outstanding service to students, parents, and families from the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators.

Nebraska Governor Dave Heineman kicked off this year's observance by proclaiming the week of Nov. 9-13 as "Nebraska Financial Literacy Week" at a signing ceremony on Oct. 14, at the State Capitol Building.

The National Student Loan Program www.nslp.org is a private, nonprofit corporation serving higher education as a student loan guaranty agency. NSLP works with lenders and post-secondary schools across the nation to help students gain access to low-cost student loans. With annual loan guarantees of more than $1.9 billion, NSLP is one of the nation's major guaranty agencies. # FRIENDs observes Red Ribbon Week

The Wayne Middle School FRIENDs Drug Free Youth Group has elected its Leadership Team for 2009 -2010.

Officers for this school year include: Matt Schrunk, President; Angie Nelson, Vice President; Victoria Kranz, Secretary; Abbie Hix, Treasurer; Meagan Backer, Historian; Payton Janke, and members Autumn Svenson, Ande Schulz, McKenzie Rusk and Cassidy

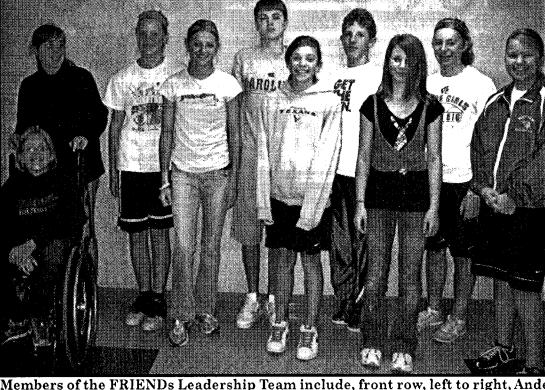

FRIENDs stands for Facts Raising Interest Ending Needless Drugs. The group was begun by students in 1989 as a way to raise awareness, establish a positive peer culture and to provide drug free fun activities. Seventh and eighth grade students join the group by signing a pledge.

The FRIENDs motto is: "NO use of illegal drugs. NO illegal use of legal drugs." This year, the pledge is on a football, and the Leadership Team has created a bulletin board display to recognize the 83 members who have signed the pledge so far, and to promote the drug free message. Each member receives a "Proud to be Drug Free" silicone bracelet with "FRIENDs" printed on the inside.

The FRIENDs group has been busy with the annual Red Ribbon Week campaign, Oct. 26 -30. Red Ribbon Week got started in 1985, when federal agent Enrique "Kiki" Camarena lost his life fighting drug smugglers in California. His friends and family initiated the red ribbon tradition to honor his sacrifice by working for drug and alcohol prevention.

The effort caught on and has become an annual national campaign. Celebrated with theme days in both the elementary school and middle school, Red Ribbon Week is an opportunity to encourage all students to be drug free.

With the generous support of Wayne United Way, Wayne FRIENDs has provided pencils bearing the message, "Color my World Drug Free," to each elementary school student. Stickers for each theme day have been provided for all students in the elementary

From Gov. Dave Heineman

Dear Fellow Nebraskans,

I recently toured the progress of a new project taking place in Beaver City, where a company still fairly new to Nebraska is finishing a new facility and its second expansion project in our state in the last four

While this is one of several new developments in Nebraska communities this year, this particular project is inspiring because it is an example of how personal connections can sometimes make the difference in attracting new business development to our state.

I toured the new space under construction and visited with company leaders and employees. It was a reminder of the difference a new employer can have on a small community and I wanted to share the story of how this company came to Nebraska.

Beaver City is located near Nebraska's southern border and since 2006 the town has been home to a Kaufman Trailers facility manufacturing flatbed trailers for commercial customers and agricultural producers.

The story begins with a pastor in Beaver City. Instead of the first contact occurring between state or local economic development officials, the suggestion to bring the company to Nebraska was made by Beaver City resident, Rev. Wesley Russell, during a conversation with a colleague in 2005.

That colleague mentioned that a former classmate had started a successful trailer manufacturing company back east and was now looking to expand in the Midwest. The company focused primarily on customers east of the Mississippi River. In order to expand to the central plains and western one resident took the initiative to states, Kaufman owners needed a Midwestern location.

Rev. Russell placed a call to company owner Robb Kaufman, encouraging him to make the Capitol View

His philosophy was simple. The young are the future of Nebraska and the nation, and the future of the young depends much on public education.

Moving on to 2009

The cost of public school education could be an issue in the anticipated special legislative session in November, being called by Gov. Heineman to trim the state's budget.

The view from here: Lawmakers will look at almost every proposal for reducing state expenditures before taking on the delicate matter of cutting aid to public schools.

They might even chat about trimming or eliminating some sales tax exemptions, since the state now exempts more dollar value from the tax than it actually taxes. At this writing, one ought not expect much

Sad statistic

Nebraska was ranked fourth among the 50 states in the annual number of children's deaths attributed to violence and/or neglect in 2007. The number of fatalities: 16.

The report from the child-The closest thing state employees advocate group Every Child Matters also noted Nebraska was 13th in per capita spending directed to reduce such violence and neglect. Like Father Like Son?

Tom Dierks of Lincoln hopes to join his dad in the Legislature. He has announced he will run against incumbent Sen. Amanda McGill.

He is the son of Sen. "Cap" Dierks of Ewing.

The elder Dierks was elected to the Unicameral in 1986 and served four terms before being term limited out of office. He sat out the mandatory four years before again being elected in 2006.

Weekly Legislative Update

Greetings from the Unicameral! One piece of legislation that I introduced last session which received considerable interest was LB538, which would have exempted government-sponsored pension plans from state income tax

Nebraska is one of just four states in the country that does not offer either income tax credits or an income tax exemption for pension income. Combined with the fact that Nebraska is one of just five states that fully taxes Social Security income, this practice makes our states one of the least retiree-friendly in the nation when it comes to tax policy.

Given the fiscal situation that our state has faced in the past year, however, it comes as no surprise that the cost of exempting retirement benefits played a role in the Revenue Committee's decision to indefinitely postpone LB538 last session.

Fortunately, Nebraska's taxation of retirement income is one major topic that the Revenue Committee has chosen to study over the inter-

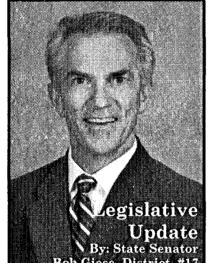

I was proud to co-sponsor two interim study resolutions last session addressing the taxation of retirement income: LR106, which would examine the economic impact of retirement income on the State of Nebraska and the most appropriate way to tax such income; and LR139, which would examine the tax climate for Nebraska's retired citizens. A hearing on both studies has been scheduled at 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 10, at Bellevue University's Criss Auditorium in Bellevue.

I look forward to the continuing discussion on this important topic. and to working with the committee to find a way to reduce the incentives for retirees to leave the state that is the result of our current tax policy.

My office had originally scheduled a series of six town hall meetings during the interim, with the goal of holding one each month in a different community throughout District 17.

With the recent announcement that Governor Heineman intends to call a special session of the Legislature in November, my November town hall in Newcastle is one of a number of items that will have to be rescheduled. Within the next few weeks, I am hopeful a new date for the meeting can be found. In addition to the Newcastle town hall, my final meeting of the interim is tentatively scheduled for Dakota City in early December.

knowledge that they share enough to thank them for their assistance.

My fellow co-workers probably hear me say "thank you" more often than not, especially as we're getting close to deadline and I need a story written or a proof page printed out as soon as possible. It may be said quickly and as I'm moving from one assignment to another, but it's an honest sign of appreciation for the work they do to help us get the newspaper out each week. Saying "thank you" is such a simple thing that we can do to show our appreciation, and it really takes little effort at all. And yet, it surprises me how often people fail to show their appreciation for their interactions with their fellow human beings, particularly in the business community.

How often do you walk into a place of business (not just in Wayne, but in any community, big or small), purchase something and pay for it, and never hear a peep out of the individual who just took your hard-earned money? Think about it...their employment, and their employer's ability to keep the doors open, hinges on whether or not you make a purchase at their business. Is it THAT difficult to say two words as a symbol of appreciation for your doing business with them?

It isn't often that somebody walks into our office here to buy a paper and walks out without hearing somebody thanking them for coming in and buying a paper. I sit next to two of our advertising representatives, who spend a lot of time on the phone talking with potential advertisers. Whether they get the sale or not, they always thank the person on the other end for their time. The business person may not be interested in advertising with us now, but they thank them for their time just the same. Sometime down the road, that businessperson may remember that last contact they had with one of the girls and decide to buy an ad for something like a special section. Those two words go a long way, whether or not a sale is made.

Whenever I hold the door open for somebody, I almost always hear them say "thank you," and while I don't expect it, I welcome the exchange and let them know I appreciate it. It takes so little time or effort, and it can make someone's day knowing there are people out there who appreciate having the little things done for them that make their lives just a little bit easier.

It's a two-word sentence that provides a sense of value that is well worth the time and energy it takes to express that appreciation. I would hope that, given the opportunity, we make more of an effort to express our appreciation for those who impact our lives on a day-by-day basis and give even a little bit to our lives. Take the time to acknowledge your neighbors, friends and business contacts for the value they give to your life.

And thank you for reading this column.

On a personal note, I'm happy to report that, by the time you read next week's column, I will be an actual home owner.

Some of those at the office are growing weary of my daily countdown to "signing day," but they are looking on the bright side in knowing that my daily complaints about the commute from Norfolk will come to an immediate end.

Look for a unique perspective from a first-time homebuyer in this space next week.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Using life insurance to fill gaps in your financial plan

Traditionally, life insurance has been viewed as a safety net in the event the family breadwinner dies. To be sure, life insurance in the pre-retirement years can help cover the needs of your survivors, which may include replacing lost income and funding education costs or other financial goals. Yet for those near or in retirement, the need to replace income may become less pressing, while the desire to preserve and protect wealth for retirement needs and pass wealth efficiently to the next generation gains greater importance. There are a variety of innovative insurance solutions that can help meet your needs and also provide a way to help you achieve some of life's extras, including taking steps to ensure a family legacy. Keep your legacy intact with life insurance solutions You may not realize it, but retirement plan income from an inheritance may trigger a tax bill for your heirs that can significantly eat into the amount you leave behind. If you should die, the distributions your beneficiaries take from certain retirement assets such as Traditional IRAs, 401(k)s, non-qualified annuities, and non-qualified deferred compensation is considered Income in Respect of Decedent (IRD) and subject to income tax. The tax on IRD assets is in addition to estate taxation and thus can result in double taxation. Unlike estate taxes, these taxes are typically paid by the beneficiary and not by the estate. Additional taxable income from an inheritance can cause a host of potential income tax problems, from bumping the beneficiary into a higher tax bracket, to phasing out personal exemptions and itemized deductions and erasing certain tax credits. One way to make up for the IRD tax bite is to take out a life insurance policy with a value equivalent to the anticipated tax bill. With beneficiary proceeds that are generally exempt from estate and income taxation, the life insurance policy can help replace the amount of your legacy that is lost due to income taxation on IRD assets.

Diversify with a variation on traditional life insurance

A traditional life insurance policy provides an income-tax free benefit, often with limited growth opportunity and flexibility. There are other life insurance options that offer the potential for growth and an income-tax free benefit. These options also build "cash value" and have the added benefit of flexibility to access cash for unforeseen events. These policies can contain fixed rate investments, or provide access to a range of variable rate investments. For example, Variable Universal Life (VUL) is a type of policy that offers the opportunity to build cash values. A VUL policy can add diversification to your retirement portfolio. As a form of permanent life insurance, VUL provides financial protection against unexpected events. Because the cash value within the policy can be invested in separate accounts, a VUL introduces investment diversification. A VUL also offers some flexibility regarding taxes. You can use after tax dollars to pay premiums in the VUL now for the potential to accumulate cash value tax-deferred and receive tax-free supplemental income during retirement. Your financial advisor and tax professional can help you determine whether a VUL would benefit your circumstances. Ask questions and explore protection options with a financial advisor

Take time to review your financial plan with a qualified financial advisor to help assess whether a life insurance product can help you achieve your financial goals in retirement. To determine what kind of policy would best suit your needs, and the amount of the policy, ask yourself:

- How much of your present living expenses will remain after death?
- Will survivor Social Security benefits
- offset these expenses? Will your tax rate change?
- Will the investment risk tolerance of your surviving spouse change? What is the life expectancy of the survi-

An important consideration when purchasing life insurance is cost. Most policy premiums increase with the policyholder's age, and variable products may have other flexible premium options that affect their cash value. Review your cash flow to ensure you will have sufficient funds to pay your premiums for the duration of the policy. Your life insurance needs will fluctuate over the course of your lifetime as your needs, goals and circumstances change and should for spring green-up to help avoid applying fertilizer early in spring when soil temperatures are too

A myth about the last fertilization is that fertilizer high in phosphorous and potassium is needed. This is not the case. With few exceptions, soils in Nebraska have adequate levels of phosphorous and potassium. With this application, nitrogen is still the nutrient most needed.

With the water quality issues rous carried to lakes, rivers and streams, phosphorous should not be applied to lawns unless a soil test shows the need for this nutrient. Money should also not be spent on something that is not needed.

When buying winterizer fertilizer, many of the products have high percentages of phosphorous and potassium. The analysis on the bag is a number such as 8-12-20. A fertilizer with this analysis has 8 percent nitrogen, 12 percent phosphorous and 20 percent potassium. A fertilizer with an analysis such as 25-5-5 would be better to use. And a product where at least 50 percent of the nitrogen is from a slow release source, such as IBDU or sulfur coated urea, is best.

It can be challenging to find such fertilizers, but they are becoming more readily available. When a product such as this is found, buy enough for all fertilizer applications made during the lawn care season. Store the fertilizer under dry conditions until it is used.

All applications of lawn fertilizer need to be watered in. This moves nitrogen into the soil for roots to take up and decreases the risk of fertilizer running off lawns during heavier rain storms or along with snow melt. During winter, when soils are frozen, snow melt runs off lawns into the street, down storm drains and into surface water.

When fertilizing, do not forget to sweep granules that fall onto sidewalks and driveways. Sweep them into a dust pan and place them on the lawn where they will be watered into the lawn and not washed off of pavement into surface water. Do not sweep them into the street.

Rake or mow tree leaves on a regular basis to avoid the buildup of leaves on a lawn for longer than 3 to 4 days. If letting leaves remain on the lawn after mowing, mow when leaves are dry.

Pulverize leaves by using a mulching mower or making two to three passes. After mowing, the pulverized leaves should not cover the turf but filter into the grass.

When mowing the lawn in late fall, it is not necessary to lower the height. While the height of bluerass can gradually be taken down to as low at one and one-half inches and fescue down to two and onehalf inches, it is now preferred to keep the same height, about three inches, all year. This will maximize rooting and increase stress tolerance of turfgrass.

Organ recital scheduled at Our Savior Lutheran Church

being invited to "Come and enjoy of Easter; Holy Thursday, Good a spook-tacular organ recital on Friday, Oct. 30, at 8:15 p.m., at Our Savior Lutheran Church. (NOTE THE TIME CHANGE TO ACCOMMODATE THE HIGH SCHOOL BAND CONCERT).

With the assistance of many of the congregation's youth, Lucas Wickstrom, church musician at OSLC, will perform a recital of Halloween themed music; laughing at death. Those attending are invited to come dressed in their scariest or funniest costume.

"At the end of October, we have three days in the church year that many times we don't give the emphasis we should. All Hallows' Eve, All Saints' Day and All Souls Day make up an Autumnal Everyone in the community is the "Triduum" as the three days Friday and the Easter Vigil. In this case, we have an opportunity for yet another celebration of life and death over the course of three days," Wickstrom said.

In the pagan carnival celebrations of All Hallows' Eve our ancestors used the most powerful weapon in the human arsenal, the power of humor and ridicule, to confront the power of death. The following day, in the commemoration of All Saints, we gave witness to the victory of incarnate goodness embodied in remarkable deeds and doers triumphing over the misanthropy of darkness and devils. And in the commemoration of All Souls we proclaimed the hope of common mortality expressed in our aspira-"triduum." We usually talk about tions and expectations of a shared eternity; life eternal.

In the church today, we pay little attention to All Hallows' Eve, and have reduced it to toddlers dressed as mutant Ninja Turtles extorting candy and grinning pumpkins. We have combined All Saints and All Souls into a remembrance of those who have gone before us, and usually give name to those gone before us in the last year.

We live in a culture that is fearful of death. Being the death-denying culture we are we know full well how difficult it is for us to look fear in the face. But we have no choice these days. When the doorbells of our lives ring we do not meet a child in a funny disguise. We meet the faces of friends and family who are mortally ill, the face of death incarnate.

"You are invited to participate in Everlasting.

a celebration of Death and eternal life this autumn. On Friday, Oct. 30, we will celebrate All Hallows' Eve with an organ recital of spooky, scary and fun organ music provided by Lucas Wickstrom, OSLC Church Musician, with assistance from our High School youth as we gather together to laugh at and ridicule death," said Pastor Kim Stover, Senior Pastor at OSL.

At worship on Saturday and Sunday (Oct. 31 and Nov. 1), the congregation will celebrate the lives and memories of those who have died in the last year; we'll also be surrounded by the cloud of witnesses and saints from our lives. On Monday evening, Nov. 2, we will gather at 7 p.m., for Evening Prayer as we remember all those who have been brought into Life

Members of St. Mary's WINGs youth group spent a portion of a recent Sunday afternoon raking leaves at the homes of several members of the parish. The effort was one of several community service projects planned by the group this year.

Our Savior Women of the ELCA hold October meeting

Our Savior Lutheran Women of ELCA Joy CIrcle met Oct. 14, with 17 participants.

Dorothy Wert shared the executive meeting notes with the women, noting the sewing, visitation reports and year book assignments. She then passed a sheet around for women to sign up for serving 2009-10 lunch.

It was noted that the dollor offering at the door on Sundays for one month will be set up to match funds for the C.C.F. Child organization. Dorothy also noted that the women needed to remember to bring their Thank Offering for the Nov. meeting.

It was decided that if the weather was inclement for the Christmas Pot Luck the snow date would be the following Wed. Dorothy also noted the upcoming Pies-4-U dates for participants to help Nov. 7, to make crusts Nov. 12, to do Apple Pies and Nov. 14, to finish and send out the pies.

Dorothy Wert and Phyllis Rahn reported on the Women of ELCA Convention in Sept. They began with a devotion called "What is Safe" which centered around the Women of the ELCA Purpose. Dorothy then shared that she helped with the Hands on Lutheran World Relief workshop putting together over 350 Health Kits and about that many School Kits that the women brought to the convention. Phyllis shared information from Bishop deFreese Bible Study "Be Still and Feel Christ's Heart Within You" and a few workshops that were designed to be used for programs.

Phyllis then concluded her talk sharing information from the convention key speaker Patty Morrison who centered her talk on changing our "tude" from negative to positive using laughter to encourage an attitude of joy. "Attitudes are the way we approach life, our perspective, our outlook, our disposition or state of mind. Attitudes are contagious more contagious than the common cold.

The group closed with the convention prayer with participants saying together "Help us to be still and listen to God's call and feel Christ's Heart within us." A delicious lunch was served by Arlene Ostendorf and Lois Youngerman.

The next Joy CIrcle meeting will be Nov. 11, which will be a remembrance of the Women who have passed away this past year and a Thank Offering Service. Program Leader will be Lois Youngerman. Lunch will be served by Elaine Draghue and Dorothy Wert.

Northeast plans Ag Conference for women

No matter what their role, women in agriculture can fulfill it with more confidence and knowledge after attending a one-day conference at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

The conference, AG-ceptional Women, is Friday, Nov. 20, from 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. in the Lifelong Learning Center on the Northeast campus in Norfolk.

Bonnie Schulz, Northeast agriculture instructor, and Corinne Morris, associate dean of the agriculture, health and science division, are conference directors.

According to Schulz, this conference is designed to help farm wives, country gals, and agribusiness women empower themselves to meet the challenges of the diverse agriculture industry.

"This conference will provide a networking venue where women in agriculture can gain knowledge to develop management skills, confidence in their decision making, and information for an overall sense of well-being," she said.

She said this conference is ideal for women who want to learn more about farm/ranch management, women landowners, women involved in day-to-day business and family decisions, and women involved in other facets of agri-

"We hope to empower women to meet their goals in agriculture in this seminar," Schulz said. "If management/ownership is a goal, we want to provide information to help women reach that goal. If attending or returning to college to earn a degree is a goal, we want to provide information on how a busy woman can do that.'

Registration and a continental breakfast with soy donuts, compliments of the Nebraska Soybean Board, are scheduled for 8-9 a.m. Following a welcome at 9, Mary Kay Mueller, the Gratitude Guru, will present the keynote address at 9:30.

Mueller is the author of the book, of Happiness." Based on her book, Mueller will explore why we run from happiness; the habits of the happiest people, how to make happiness contagious, and more.

Break-out sessions are scheduled at 11 a.m. and 1:30, 2:30 and 4 p.m. Each participant can choose to attend four, 45-minute breakout sessions by 26 different presenters during the course of the day. The break-out sessions will include topics like farm tax strategies; insurance; sustaining innovation in food, feed and fuel; the future of irrigation water; online grain marketing, grain marketing strategies and commodity marketing; agri-tourism; basic crop insurance; fitness for a busy lifestyle, and classes and technology for agriculture.

"We have many more interesting break-outs sessions," Schulz said. "I encourage everyone to find out more at www.northeast.edu"

A luncheon with a Fashion Show

"Taking Care of Me: The Habits by RENEGADE Work, Western, and Weekend is scheduled for noon.

> Lynette Brown, a dairy farm wife and Harlan County Extension Assistant, will wrap up the day with a humorous look at the role ag women have in farming and ranching. She will also examine the differences and similarities in that role between herself and her mother and grandmother.

According to Schulz, registration fees have been kept affordable because of the assistance of 75 business, commodity board, agencies, and organizations. Preregistration is available through Tuesday, Nov. 10, at a cost of $25. After the 10th, registration is $40. The fee includes all workshops and materials, continental breakfast, lunch, and breaks.

A printable registration form is available online at www.northeast.edu. Registrants should make checks payable to Northeast Community College.

Winside's Boy Scout Troop 179 Screaming Badgers Patrol members are working on a merit badge called Citizen in the Community. Part of this process involves recycling.

Scouts work on Citizenship badge with recycling project

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED the Boy Scouts to help buy troop what the world will look like 50 years from now? 100 years?

If the world's population keeps on its current lifestyle, your pretty picture might not be realistic.

Recycling should be on the minds of everyone.

Why wouldn't you want to help Mother Nature?

Besides helping to save the planet, recycling can be a donation to a worthy cause.

All proceeds from the paper product recycling bin in Winside go to camping gear. The recycling bin is located on Main Street west of the Post Office in Winside.

You may drop off your paper products 24/7. This includes newspapers, books, magazines and cardboard. Please DO NOT add soiled materials or any garbage. Don't forget that you can recycle more than just paper. Pop cans, glass, and plastics are recyclable too but take them to the proper recycling centers. GO GREEN....

Nebraska State RC&D Association announces annual awards

At its annual conference, held on Oct. 4, 5 and 6, in Gering, the Nebraska State Resource Conservation & Development Association showcased the positive impact its 12 regional Councils have contributed to the State of Nebraska.

Councils work in the areas of Natural Resources, Recreation & Tourism, Economic & Community Development, and Education. The Panhandle RC&D served as host and had lined up speakers and tours including wind energy, riverfront development, cropping systems used in the panhandle area, riparian area controls on noxious weeds, fundraising, and more.

Fifty-five people from around the state were in attendance. Awards were announced for outstanding performance in the following eight categories:

Outstanding Performance by a Council Coordinator - Scott Willet of Nebraska Great Plains RC&D, David City.

Outstanding Performance by a Council - Five Rivers RC&D,

Outstanding Sponsor Achievement - Lower Elkhorn NRD, Norfolk, a partner with Northeast Nebraska RC&D, Plainview. Outstanding Performance by a Council Member - Daniel Hruza of Loup Basin RC&D, Ord.

Outstanding Performance by a Program Assistant - Carol Speicher of Nebraska Great Plains RC&D, David City.

Outstanding Youth Involvement Award - "Nemaha against Drug and Alcohol Abuse Coalition," a project of Five Rivers RC&D, Spirit of Nebraska Award - Janet Eckmann, posthumously of Northeast Nebraska RC&D, Plainview.

Wayne seventh grade students discover career possibilities through online assessment, planning

Students at Wayne Middle School recently participated in a series of online career development activities with Nebraska Career Connections in the new seventh Grade Careers Course taught by Mrs. Annette Rasmussen.

The online system was implemented to help students explore a variety of career options.

The sophomores will also participate in a career unit utilizing Nebraska Career Connections later in the school year.

Nebraska Career Connections (www.nebraskacareerconnections.org) provides career cluster exploration, and depending on a student's grade level, additional resources such as research-based interests, skills, and work values inventories, the Career and Life Skills Assessment, an online career portfolio, and postsecondary planning tools. Students accessed the system through the Internet and received comprehensive assessment results immediately online. Students who use Nebraska

Career Connections improve selfunderstanding and goal development which can lead to improved student retention and success

Additionally, after completing the assessments and using the system, students are better prepared for successful eighth grade and posthigh school transitions. Students are encouraged to continue career planning by creating a Personal Learning Plan, building a professional resumé, exploring college options and occupational information, and managing a "favorites" list within the Career Portfolio.

The technology-based system provides an opportunity for parents/guardians to access resources through the parents' area and log on with their child from any Internet location to review their child's progress.

The system also allows school personnel to access data on individual and composite results to assist with matching students to job shadowing experiences or work site visits, helping students with course selection, planning career fairs, scheduling classroom speakers, and program and curriculum development.

To learn more about Wayne's participation with Nebraska Career Connections, contact Annette Rasmussen at 402-375-3150. Additional system information is also available from the publisher, Kuder, Inc. at 877.999.6227 or support@kuder.com.

First Robotics competition of the year is Oct. 31 at Northeast

The information technology department at Northeast Community College and Wayne State College will team up soon to sponsor the first Robotics Competition of this academic year.

The event is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 31, at 10 a.m., in the Lifelong Learning Center on the campus of Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

The public is invited to watch high school teams from Columbus Lakeview, Stanton, Pierce, and O'Neill Public compete in the contest.

Other high school teams could also participate. College teams from Northeast Community College and Wayne State will also compete.

The second Robotics Competition is Saturday, Jan. 23, at Wayne State College.

The final competition of the year is Saturday, April 17, at the Sunset Plaza in Norfolk. Both are at 10 a.m.

For more information, contact Richard Chrisman at (402)844-7291.

Star gazing

Isaac and Maiah Davis take turns looking through the telescope with their father, Adam Davis, during the Wayne State College star party on Oct. 10 at the WSC observatory. The evening included kinesthetic astronomy, a solar system walk and a build your own telescope for the kids. In the sky were Jupiter, Neptune, Uranus, the Andromeda galaxy, the Dumbbell nebula, the Hercules cluster and other astronomical wonders. Tours of the constellations were also given. The event was directed by Dr. Todd Young of WSC. Contact Dr. Young for more information at 402-375-7471 or send an e-mail to: toyoung1@wsc.edu.

Rain, cloudiness lead to frustration

Stadium on Saturday, is that when Iowa State beats our volleyball and football teams at home in the same week, the moon has somehow gotten out of orbit!

Our boys in Seward did not have a single turnover on Friday eve, and I got through the whole game, even though it was cold.

They are district champs, but have a poor seed because they have lost three games; three out of the four top ranked teams in class B were on their regular schedule! Some luck, huh?

Oh, well, it will soon be basketball season! It has actually felt like basketball season through most of football season.

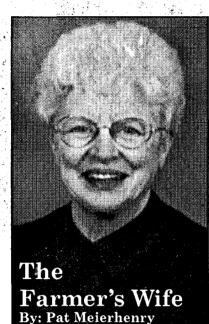

Where is all this rain and cloudiness coming from? We have a bunch of locust trees on our cul de sac, and their tiny yellow leaves are all

On the driveway, in the street, under the pine trees mixes with pine needles, and in the garage. Naturally, they get tracked into the house, too. I filled a lawn bag with them on Saturday, and haven't even started on the patio.

I can only imagine the frustration for those who need to be combining. I told Mike's cousin in Oregon today that I can remember finishing on December 24th one year, and there was one other year the fall meeting was last week.

All I can say on Sunday eve- when we picked a few rows by hand ning, after the debacle at Memorial because the snow was so deep, the picker couldn't get in. But that's no fun, unless you are in the state picking contest.

I became a fan of our community colleges when Ann attended Northeast. Her student loans were much less than those of the other kids, and everything transferred to the four year colleges. Now, I sit on an advisory committee for Southeast College's nursing program. We meet twice a year, and

The placement counselor handed out the annual placement report. This year, it contains interviews with some of the graduates. Their graduates are getting jobs! There are color photos, including those of male nurses, which I see more and more of; but also one of a gal who is a technician at one of the local garages in collision repair and automotive technology.

One picture and interview is of a gal who is taking classes with her daughter. The one that really impressed me is of a young man who graduated as an LPN ten years ago. He was a Fulbright scholar, and one of his references came from a nursing instructor at Southeast. He had to apply to a university as part of the Fulbright process, and the highly esteemed university in Sweden accepted him into its graduate Public Health program. Competition was very stiff. and people who attended Harvard were turned down!

The final story is about a man from Sudan who came to America when he was 31, is studying Building Construction, works parttime at Region V, and is praised by the faculty for his English skills and work ethic. I still believe our community colleges are one of the best bargains going in education, and I am amazed at the variety of subjects and skills that are offered. They are a good deal!

Crop drying hampered this fall moisture, and that was before the

to a record cool fall.

That combined with wet weather has slowed natural corn and soybean drying in the field, forcing farmers to dry their crops in the

Tom Dorn, Extension Educator in Lancaster County, says soybeans usually dry very well in the field, but we haven't had the kind of fall where they have been able to, so some farmers are trying to do the drying in the bin.

When weather conditions are warm, breezy and sunny, corn can dry down 0.25 percent per day in Drying corn in the bin can take about the same time as drying it in the field if the corn in the bin is being dried with unheated, natural air at 1 cubic foot of air per minute per bushel. For long-term storage without aeration, corn should be at 15 percent moisture and soybeans at 13 percent.

Before the rain last week, corn planted before rains in early May was averaging around 17 percent moisture and group 2 soybeans

A record cool summer has yielded were about 13 to 15 percent moisture. Longer season varieties or fields planted late are running considerably wetter. Producers from the eastern third of the state have reported corn fields as high as 30 percent moisture and soybean fields testing around 18 percent

Dorn said the time required to dry wet grain depends on the grain's initial moisture content, the grain dryer's airflow rate, the humidity and temperature of air coming into the bin, and how much the temperature inside is increasing if a heated drying system is used. This, combined with higher energy costs, can quickly add expenses to a crop that already has higher than usual input costs.

Corn can be dried faster by using a propane burner. For example, if 20 degrees could be added to the ambient air temperatures, it can reduce drying time in half. However, this also adds the cost of Dorn said soybeans should not be dried with heated air because they will over dry, especially at the bottom of the bin. Dorn does not recommend running a stirring system when drying soybeans because of the damage it could cause.

For more information on stored grain, check out http://lancaster. unl.edu/ag/Crops/storage.shtml.

The Allen Community Club met Oct. 19 in the Village Inn for a meal and meeting.

President Pro Term Eunice Diediker called the meeting to order. The secretary and treasurers reports were read and approved.

Old business was discussion of where to move the trees that were originally at the trailer park (gas station site).

It was voted to plant them along the alley on the south side of the new caboose site.

Everyone is invited to the community Thanksgiving dinner at the Village Inn at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 16.

The program will be a speaker about the Dixon County Food Pantry and those attending are asked to bring an item for the food pantry. They are in need of canned meat and Complete Meals.

A sign up sheet will be posted in the Village Inn and Post Office. Those attending are asked to sign up so the Village Inn knows how much food to prepare.

Santa and Mrs. Claus will again visit the children and hand out candy sacks at the school Christmas Concert on Monday, Dec. 14.

It was decided to decorate the caboose this year with Christmas lights.

WSC presents 'Two Rooms'

Promise with Phil Pfaltzgraff, et al, 11:30 a.m.; Pool, 1 p.m.; Bingo, 1:15.

"Two Rooms" by Lee Blessing, Nov. 5-8, in the Black Box Theatre, located on the west end of the Peterson Fine Arts Building on campus.

There is no admission charge; however, donations are appreciated as admission will benefit the Drama Club. Performances will be Nov. 5,-7, at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 8, at 2 p.m.

The cast includes Amber Tennell of Omaha, Andrew Halsey of Pierce, Matthew Johnson of Pierce and Blair Sommerfeld of Wayne.

A talk-back will be held following the Friday night performance.

The set was designed by Michael Rohlena, a WSC adjunct theatre instructor from Sioux City, Iowa. The play is directed by Dr. Gwen Jensen, WSC professor.

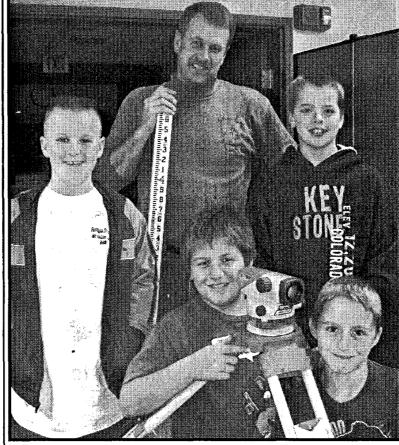

The two rooms of the title are a windowless cubicle in Beirut

Wayne State College will host where an American hostage is being held by Arab terrorists and a room in his home in the United States, which his wife has stripped of furniture so that, at least symbolically, she can share his ordeal.

> Imaginary conversations between the hostage and his wife take place in the room along with talks she has with a reporter and a State Department official.

> developments to speak out against government policy and triggers the tragic series of events that brings the play to its startling conclusion.

In the end there are no winners, only losers, and the sense of futility and despair that comes when logic, compassion and fairness have become meaningless when commit such barbarous acts so 2 p.m. willingly.

Scouting experience

Terry Schulz of Schulz Land Surveying assisted the Webelos in Pack 174 on earning their "Engineering" activity badge. The boys learned about different job opportunities in surveying, the importance of surveying, how to use survey equipment, and a brief history of surveying. The boys also drew floor plans of their homes, along with learning about different professional careers including civil, mechanical, and electrical engineering. Pictured are, left to right, Steven Keiser, Terry Schulz, Mikey Reyes, RJ Liska and Jonathan Vick.

The family of Louise Larsen would like to thank all friends and relatives who expressed their sympathy with food, flowers, phone calls, memorials, cards of sympathy, visits and attendance at the visitation and funeral.

We are grateful to Sister Cecelia and Pastors Lilienkamp and Pasche for their ministry, Ron Carnes and Bonnie Hansen for their music, the Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid for their assistance with the lunch, and all who helped with the services. Thank you to Scott Hasemann for his kind and compassionate help and provision of funeral

The concern and kindness which so many have shown has been a great comfort and blessing to us all and will always be remembered.

May our Lord Jesus touch each of your lives with His peace and grace, as He has touched us through you.

With love and appreciation,

Barb Muhs, Don and Sue Larsen and Larry

A SPECIAL thank you to Pac 'N Save for sponsoring the Wayne Q125 Pumpkin Contest and the gift cards we received. The pumpkins were fun. Ray and Theresa Jensen

THANK YOU for remembering us in the loss of our daughter, Cheryl (Hagemann) Polakowski. The cards, telephone calls, flowers and prayers were much appreciated in our time of sorrow Ervin and Norma Hagemann

THANKS TO everyone who made my 75th birthday a memorable one. Thanks for the cards, letters, phone calls and gifts. A special thanks to my family for honoring me. Lois Black

BJ Woehler of Woehler & Sons Construction and Gary Poutre of the City of Wayne asked if the board would permit the closing of West 21st Street during the installation of a new water line from Well 6 to Highview Drive and further north. After reviewing the project with engineers it was decided that road closure would be better than trying to maintain one lane of traffic. Members of the housing association in that area supported the proposal. Woehler hopes to start the installation of the 2300 foot line in the next two-three weeks. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to authorize the closing of West 21st Street during construction subject to advance notice to the residents along Highview Drive and to the county. # Pheasants Forever mentors take Legal Notices young hunters under their wing

By Jon Burleson Of the Herald

More than a score of young hunting enthusiasts gathered at the Izaak Walton League of America building in the chilly early morning hours Saturday.

The anxious young men were crowded into the antiquated IWLA hut to sign up for the annual Pheasants Forever youth mentor hunting expo. The event is designed to help youngsters develop knowledge and passion for the outdoors, and plant the seed for the conservationists of tomorrow.

Pheasants Forever is an organization dedicated to the conservation of pheasants, quail and other wildlife through habitat improvements, public awareness, education and land management policies and programs.

Outside, the veteran hunters, such as Steve Mrsny, Don Luschen, Brad Meis and Larry Brodersen chatted while sipping coffee. A few gathered around a fire built in a rusted truck rim. All were there voluntarily to share their knowledge and passion for hunting.

The boys were paired up with a hunter, issued Day-Glo orange hunting safety vests and separated into groups. These groups rotated between a number of activities, including air rifle silhouette shooting. rifle cleaning, archery and hunting Pheasants Forever member Darin Greunke was the air rifle instructor. The young men spent some time shooting pellets at very small targets that resembled hogs, ducks and other animals.

Elsewhere in the rotation, the boys learned how to punch the bore of a rifle, as well as what to look for while cleaning and oiling their weapon.

Archery was a very popular activity. The young men learned the proper stance, the correct way to nock an arrow and make a full draw prior to firing. They also learned the safe way of mounting an arrow and recovering shot arrows.

Dr. Melissa Heithold of Wayne Veterinary Clinic demonstrated how to care for a hunting dog. Jack - a German shorthaired pointer that belonged to event organizer Scott Brummond - assisted her.

Jack was a very enthusiastic assistant. He leapt up on the picnic table serving as the demonstration area and allowed Dr. Heithold to illustrate how to examine for and remove ticks; check feet pads for injury; and give water and honey for a working dog.

He was somewhat less keen on the mouth injury portion of the lesson. This entailed his muzzle being wrapped in medical gauze. Jack demonstrated his displeasure by chewing the gauze.

Also included in the day's activities were blue rock shooting and a live hunting exercise. Overall, the boys seemed to enjoy being outdoors and taking part in the lessons. Chances are, the mentors had just as much fun.

For more information on Pheasants Forever and its activities. contact the Logan Creek Chapter. Regional representative Scott Smathers can be reached via email ssmathers@pheasantsforever.org, or by telephone at (402) 261-4923.

Staying warm by the fire was popular activity, as Learning to sight in a target using an air rifle was one of the many activities available to young hunters at the Youth Mentor Hunt.

No spells will be cast on young spooks this Halloween with a few sensible tips from the Nebraska Regional Poison Center. Take the following preventive measures to keep children safe this Halloween:
•Glow sticks can cause immediate stinging and a burning sensation if the liquid comes in contact with the mouth or the eyes. Be careful when small children put these in their *Sponsor a block party as an alternative to wide-range trick-or-treating. Parties at home can substitute for, or at least shorten, trick-or-treat trips.

· Give out non-edible treats such as stickers, pencils, erasers, barrettes or other party favors.

•When children trick-or-treat, treats should be carefully inspected by adults. Homemade treats or anything out of its original wrapper should be discarded unless parents are positive of the identity of the person from which it came. Providing children with a full meal before trick-or-treating will reduce the temptation for children to eat treats before they return home.

· Make sure children are accompanied by an adult and take a flashlight along if it is dark. All children should stay in their own neighborhood and only go in homes of friends and family. · Costumes should be warm, well fitting and nonflammable. Masks should provide adequate vision and should be removed while children are crossing streets. Use inexpensive, nontoxic face paint as an alternative to masks. Consider using reflective tape on costumes worn after dark.

*Serving punch containing dry ice is not considered dangerous as long as the ice is not swallowed in its solid form. Small pieces should not be put in individual glasses. Frostbite can occur if dry ice touches the skin or mouth.

*Stay away from barking dogs or upset animals.
