Rep. Fortenberry talks health bill during WSC visit

 Rep. Jeff Fortenberry spoke with about 30 area residents during a stop at Wayne State College Tuesday afternoon.

While the federal deficit, unemployment, education reform and Afghanistan were topics of discussion, one theme seemed to dominate Rep. Jeff Fortenberry's visit to the Gardner Lecture Hall at Wayne State College Tuesday afternoon: health care reform.

The Republican First District House member spent more than 90 minutes speaking with a reporter-estimated crowd of 50 area residents about a variety of topics, but most of those in attendance had questions to ask about the recent health care reform bill that was passed in the House of Representatives last week.

Fortenberry, who voted against the bill, said the $1.2 trillion price tag was far too much and didn't address issues, he believes, would reduce the cost of health insurance for most Americans.

Fortenberry used his own personal experience in driving home the point of promoting wellness, as well as giving people the option to cross state borders to get the most affordable coverage possible.

"I got a letter from a constituent who said she can go to Iowa to buy beer, go to Kansas to buy a car, go to Colorado to buy land and go to South Dakota to get a fishing license," he said. "But she can't go out of state to shop for affordable health insurance?"

He told the crowd that he feels people should be able to go across state lines to shop for health insurance. Businesses like Norfolk-based Affiliated Foods, which serves co-operative grocery stores in several states, could offer affordable insurance but now is unable to because it is not allowed by law.

Fortenberry said cost is the biggest issue facing health insurance reform at this time, including the cost of medical procedures as well as the often-discussed rising insurance premiums that individuals and businesses must pay. It is difficult, if not impossible, for some to purchase insurance, and those with pre-existing conditions are, more often than not, priced out of the market.

He told the crowd that much of the health insurance goes to fix or prescribe for problems that can easily be prevented.

"Eighty percent of cardiovascular diseases can be prevented, and 40 percent of certain types of cancer," he said. "These

Blecke is named director of Wayne Chamber group

Wes Blecke has been selected to be the new Director of the Wayne Area Economic Development-Chamber-Main Street organization.

The announcement was made by Curt Frye, Chair of the Board of Directors and became effective Nov. 9.

Blecke was named to the position of Assistant Executive Director for Wayne Area Economic Development in November of 2005 and became the Interim Executive Director of the organization in July of this year when David Simonsen left the position.

He is a 1996 graduate of Wakefield High School and a 2000 graduate of Wayne State College with majors in Political Science and History. He earned a Masters of Public Administration from the University of Nebraska at Omaha in 2002.

For nearly three years he served as the City Administrator of Ashland.

"My goal for Wayne Area Economic Development is to continue to grow the local economy, and make Wayne a destination place to live, work and play," Blecke said.

"I have a particular interest in growing Wayne's human resources, including assisting with developing the next generation of

School board hopes to refinance debt

The Wayne school board hopes to refinance more than $5 million in debt when bond market rates are favorable to save on lower interest rates. They have preparations for this by passing a parameters resolution set to trigger when the market improves.

The market conditions changed substantially in recent weeks to the point that if the district refinanced now, there would be no measurable benefit to the district. The board felt the interest rate jump is supply-driven and may come down in the near future.

Wayne Schools Superintendent Mark Lenihan said that by having a parameters resolution approved by the school board, it will be possible to take advantage of any drop in interest rates when they are favorable, rather than having to wait for authorization at the next school board meeting when interest rates may have already increased.

Lenihan added that the savings will be net savings after all other expenses have been paid. Because of the volatility in interest rates, along with developments in legal interpretations the district will be able to utilize, it creates flexibility and allows the board to lock in the appropriate interest rate, he said.

The resolution was unanimously approved by the board.

WSC student group gives to local theater

By DEB HARM
 For the Herald

In a historical move Sunday night, the Wayne State College Student Senate allocated $2000 to Project Majestic. During their weekly meeting, the Senate passed the motion with a unanimous vote.

"This project is a perfect opportunity to bridge the gap between the WSC campus and the community of Wayne," WSC Student Senate President Whitney Kolar said.

The contribution is the first of its kind between the WSC Student Senate and a project in the city of Wayne.

A challenge was issued by the Senate to dorm residents, off-campus students and the WSC Administration to match the $2000 total. The challenge will run through Dec. 4, with contribution buckets placed in all dorms and other campus locations.

"This challenge will be well received," Jeff Carstens, WSC Vice President & Dean of Students and Senate advisor, said. "Our students want a theater in Wayne."

"Project Majestic is thrilled to witness the community involvement by WSC students - they are the future leaders in towns and cities across the Midwest," Project Majestic committee member, Reggie Yates said.

"It's a great example of cooperation between two groups in providing entertainment opportunities for our college students," Yates said.

WSC construction management majors and several WSC varsity athletic teams have assisted in the demolition of the theater's interior.

"Our team was excited to help with the demolition," WSC head softball coach, Krista Unger said. "A theater in a town our size is an important recruiting tool for our success," Unger said.

Upcoming events planned for city's Q-125 celebration

The Wayne Q-125 Committee met Tuesday at the Praise Assembly of God Church.

The first order of business was to review plans and work out details for the 43rd Army Band concert on Sunday, Nov. 15 at 2 p.m. The Consolidated Veterans of Wayne will assist in the details of the program and will be greeting guests at the door and assisting them to the auditorium floor.

The Wayne County Veterans Memorial drawings will be on display and members of the Wayne Consolidated Veterans will be available to answer questions. Free will offerings will be accepted for the Memorial, but there is no charge for the concert.

Doors will open at 1 p.m. and the program will start at 1:55 with a presentation of colors by the Wayne Veterans and a drum roll background followed by the National Anthem.

The concert is Wayne's Veterans Day Program and will feature the Nebraska Reserve Adjutant General doing a special reading entitled, "A Letter from Mom," with background music provided by the band. The concert should last approximately one hour and 15 minutes.

The next item discussed at the meeting was the lighting of the Wayne Community Christmas tree at Seventh and Main Streets. The lighting will take place on Sunday, Nov. 29 at approximately 5:30 p.m. Singing will be lead by members of the Wayne Community Theatre. After the official lighting and singing, the group will move to the Presbyterian Church for a Holiday Singing.

The next business discussed was the Outdoor Residential Holiday Decorating Contest. Three $125 prizes will be offered in three decorating categories: (1) Religious (display with a religious theme); (2) Nostalgic (old-fashioned, reminds me of my childhood); and (3) Martha Stewart would be Proud (pleasing curb appeal).

Out of town judges have been selected for all three categories and entries are due no later than Monday, Dec. 14.

Entry forms can be found at various businesses in Wayne and are limited to homes within the Wayne city limits. Entries can be sent to Nancy Jo Powers or Fauneil Bennett at their Wayne addresses.

The final order of business included a discussion of Q-125 souvenirs. Prices on all souvenirs have been reduced and they can be purchased at the Coffee Shoppe or Swans Apparel. They can also be purchased at Sunday's Band Concert, the Fantasy Forest, and the Wreath Auction at the City Library. Other arrangements are being made for their sale.

The next meeting of the committee was scheduled for the City Library sometime in January. Further information on this will be published as the date draws closer.

Centennial Trunk and Fashion Show scheduled

In honor of Home Economics/Family and Consumer Sciences' 100th anniversary, Wayne State College's Association of Family and Consumer Sciences Professionals student chapter will "Cherish the Past and Celebrate the Future" by presenting a Centennial Trunk Show on Monday, Nov. 16.

The program will include a history of Home Economics over the past 100 years and fashions from each decade. The fashions will be modeled by current Family and Consumer Sciences students. The event will start at 7:30 p.m. at the Wayne State College Student Center in the Frey Conference Suite.

No admission will be charged. For further information, contact Dr. Lindberg (402-375-7281) or Mrs. Sally Ebmeier (402-375-7287). Please come join us as we "Cherish the Past and Celebrate the Future."

Names omitted

Two names were omitted from the Wayne High School Honor roll list included in last week's addition of the Wayne Herald.

Taylor Carroll, a senior, and Taylor Burke, a sophomore, should have been included on the list.

Also, Quentin Jorgensen's name was included in the junior list but should have been listed with the sophomores. Quentin earned a 4.0 GPA for the quarter.

St. Mary's Catholic Church was a recipient of an AED through the joint efforts of Providence Medical Center, the Providence Foundation and the Wayne Rotary Club. Those taking part in the presentation included, left to right, Anne Nolte, Ann Witkowski, Darrell Miller, Father Mark Beran, Marcile Thomas, Laura Gamble and Sandra Bartling.

Cooperation leads to purchase of defibrillators

Providence Medical Center is proud to be a cooperating organization regarding the Wayne Rotary Club's efforts in acquiring three Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs) which have been placed in three churches in the city of Wayne — St. Mary's Catholic Church, Journey Christian Church and Grace Lutheran Church.

An AED is a portable electronic device that automatically diagnosis the potentially life-threatening cardiac arrhythmias which lead to cardiac arrest.

Providence Medical Center and the Providence Medical Center Foundation provided the matching funds necessary to make this project become a reality.

Darrell Miller, Wayne Rotary Club President, said, "What is so extremely wonderful about living in a community like Wayne is that when something like this AED project is introduced and the 'need' is established, people organize and ban together to make it happen. Our Rotary club was pleased to provide financial support for the project from local funds plus a Rotary District Simplified grant."

According to Marcile Thomas, PMC Administrator, "PMC is committed to this project, and we are willing to provide in-kind training at our location to eight individuals from each of the three churches on the proper use and operation of the AED."

In-kind CPR instruction will also be provided by Providence Medical Center. "We had funds in the foundation that were designated for this type of a project," said PMC Foundation Director, Sandy Bartling. "The members of the PMC Foundation Board of Directors share a keen sense of satisfaction in knowing that our foundation is providing support for projects that help to enhance the delivery of healthcare to our fellow residents."

At left is Darlene's husband, John. A number of Wayne businesses took part in the event by having extended hours, refreshments and in-house drawings during the evening.

Bruckner home 'work in progress'

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

This is the fourth in a series.

The biennial Tour of Homes, sponsored by the Friends of the Museum, has been scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21.

Hours for this year's tours will be from 5 to 8 p.m. on Friday and from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Homes on the tour include those of David and Donna Ewing at 1110 Sunset Drive; Cap and Nana Peterson at 502 Douglas Street; Brian and Traci Bruckner at 416 West Ninth Street; Randy and Jill Bell at 625 Fairacres Road and David and Kaki Ley at 1120 Sunset Drive.

The Wayne Museum will be open on the days of the event for ticket sales and refreshments.

Tickets for the tour are $10 each and may be purchased at the local banks. Proceeds from this event have been designated for exterior painting of the museum.

A description of one of the homes on the tour will be included in the Herald, each week until the event.

Brian and Traci Bruckner's cottage-style home was built in 1939 by R.G. (Dutch) and Marjorie Fuelberth. The Bruckners purchased the home in 2006 for its character and charm.

The home had good architectural "bones" but just needed some work. So the home has been a work in progress for the Bruckners. They have done all the improvements themselves - along with some help from family and friends - as time and resources have allowed.

As you enter the home notice the narrow slat oak floors. The walls are the original plaster.

The woodwork, doors and crystal door knobs are original to the home as well. The living room features a real wood burning fireplace that is used often throughout the winter. The real Christmas tree includes a collection of silver sleigh bells the Bruckners started to collect when their son, Sam, was born.

Off the living and dining room is a hallway to the bedrooms and bathroom. The bathroom was completely redone except for the light fixtures, tub and built-in linen closet, which are original to the home.

Sam's room is the perfect boy's room with the walls painted blue and a bookshelf full of books, including a good number of Hardy Boys mysteries. He even helped his mom clean his room for the tour!

The kitchen was also completely redone with some new cabinets, wainscoting and flooring added. The upper wall cabinets around the window are original to the house. In the kitchen, notice the pantry which the Bruckners recently gutted and rebuilt.

Off the kitchen is the back entry way which includes a built-in shelf and coat rack. There are also steps leading to the basement, which is still a work in progress. The Bruckners want to improve it, yet maintain the utility character for which basements in older homes were designed.

The Bruckners love cooking and decorating for the holidays. Throughout the home notice the collection of Byers Carolers Traci has collected over the years, as well as the fresh greenery, flowers and candles.

Sam Bruckner and his dog, Grace, sit in front of decorations in his bedroom, including a plaque that asks, "Is it too late to be Good?"

Dylan, Pospisils hear great, not-so-great news

By JON BURLESON
Of the Herald

The Pospisils have been happy to learn that Dylan has suffered no hearing loss.

After his hearing test, Felicia waited for them to put him to sleep for his treatment. Then, they went to the waiting area for an hour.

"Luckily, when he started waking from sedation, I only had a very crabby boy for about 15 minutes," she said. "It usually lasts at least a half hour."

Felicia said she thought waiting for the sedation to wear off is the hardest thing with Dylan.

"It's like he's awake, but doesn't quite have control over his body yet so he gets very crabby," she said. "He starts throwing his body around and screaming at us. Then if we're not doing what he wants us to do, he starts hitting."

This lasts about a half hour, but it takes a lot of patience, she said. To get Dylan to settle down and try to make him happy, Ryan and Felicia took him to the E Clinic waiting area where they have a little padded play area for kids his age to play in. They figured this would be a good place for him to let the sedation wear off so he wouldn't hurt himself.

"This ended up to be a great idea because in no time, he was playing with Daddy and [brother] Kailyn and smiling," she said. "He was still pretty wobbly, and acted like he was drunk, but happy at least."

Afterwards they would return to their apartment. The family stays at Target House while Dylan is treated at St. Jude. According to the hospital, patients are assigned to Target House if their treatment is scheduled to last more than three months. This house features 96 fully-furnished, two-bedroom apartments. Each apartment is equipped with a full kitchen (including cooking ware, dinnerware, glassware, flatware, etc.), one queen and two twin beds, bath and bed linens, sofa and an entertainment center. This facility is made possible by Target Stores.

The great news of no hearing loss was tempered by some not-so-great news.

"We did find out that the doctor was mistaken when she said we'd be able to be home for good before Christmas," Felicia said. "We will actually be here until the end of February. The next stage of chemo will need to be done here because it goes through his body and they need to take levels with it to see how his body metabolizes the medicines."

The Pospisils had been excited at the prospect of going home sooner than expected, but they are not so dismayed at the new development.

"At least we know for sure now, and Dylan will get the treatment he needs," Felicia said. "He's doing so well, I would never want to make a bad impact on him with going back to Omaha if he really needs to be here."

The doctors at the E Clinic also had a delightful report for Dylan and his family.

"She gave us the news that the MRI and lumbar puncture came out clear!" Felicia said. "Everything looked the same as it did two months ago. What a relief! This means that the chemo is working to keep the tumor away."

A lumbar puncture is also known as a spinal tap. It is a diagnostic procedure performed in order to collect a sample of cerebrospinal fluid to test.

Through it all, Dylan has persevered. He has had his head cut open and a part of his brain removed; he has had a port installed in one of his veins so that chemicals can be pumped into him - chemicals that can kill cancer but also decrease the production of blood cells and cause the inflammation of his digestive tract; he has a needle stuck in him almost 24 hours a day. Yet, this two-year-old boy carries on. He's tough.

So are his parents. They have to be. But, being rugged doesn't pay the bills. They need help. That is why there are efforts underway in the area to give the Pospisil's a financial hand. Like the saying goes: "The government gives you a HAND OUT; neighbors give you a HAND."

Their neighbors from Wayne, Pierce, Norfolk and Winside have been working to raise money for the family's needs while they have been away. A benefit at Our Savior

Dylan and Mommy (Felicia Pospisil) share a moment between treatments and tests.

Lutheran Church in Norfolk, was held on Oct. 31, and donation buckets have been placed at several area businesses.

"All of the kind hearted generosity has been gratefully appreciated," Rachele. "Dylan's family cannot thank you enough."

As bad as things have been, the Pospisil's have heard that it may get worse. Other parents have told them that the further children get into treatment, the worse it gets for them. They said that the children seem to get sicker as they get into the last months of this chemo treatment, Felicia said. They are hoping this isn't going to be the case with Dylan since he's been doing so well thus far.

"I want to really thank all of you for being there for us and for your prayers," she said. "It's really comforting to know that we have so much support coming from home! And the prayers seem to be working so please still keep praying for him."

Hunger & Homelessness Awareness Week activities planned

Students in Dr. Jean Karlen's Introduction to Sociology class are participating in service-learning projects to inform the public about National Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week, Nov. 15-21.

The annual "Cram the Van" community collection drive helps the Wayne Food Pantry and Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency provide food and goods to needy families in the area. The "Cram the Van" vehicle will be parked at Pamida on Wednesday, Nov. 18 and at Pac 'N' Save on Thursday, Nov. 19 from noon until 6 p.m. People are urged to help "cram the van" with donations of food, clothing, personal hygiene items, and other household non-perishables. Sociology students will be on hand to distribute information flyers and collect donations.

This is the fifth year for the "Cram the Van" campaign. Tiffany Olson, Family Services Coordinator for Goldenrod Hills in Wayne is helping organize the event with the sociology class. Olson said, "Given the current economy the Wayne Food Pantry is very busy. Our supplies are low and we are entering a time of peak demand as the holiday season approaches."

Introduction to Sociology students will also conduct a campus food drive for the WSC Food Pantry and give "Voices of the Homeless" presentations throughout the week.

Another campus activity for the week includes a presentation by Pastor Will Perrigan of the Norfolk Rescue Mission. Perrigan will give a presentation on issues of hunger, poverty, and homelessness in Norfolk and beyond. The WSC Psychology/Sociology Club is sponsoring the event scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 17 at 3:30 p.m. in Connell Hall, Room 131. Attendees are asked to bring free will donations of canned goods/nonperishable foods. For more information, contact Dr. Jean Karlen, WSC Service-Learning Coordinator at (402) 375-7042 or Tiffany Olson at (402) 375-1111.

Chili/Salsa cook-off scheduled for Nov. 13

The annual Chili and Salsa Cook-off, sponsored by the top three vote getters in both Special Events committee of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, will be held Friday, Nov. 13 in the back room of The Max.

The Business After Hours event is encouraging everyone to attend the event and vote for a favorite chili and salsa.

Up to 20 entries in each category will be vying for prize money which will be awarded to Attendance at all Business After Hours events are open to the public. Admission to the Chili and Salsa Cook-off is $5 at the door and includes chili and salsa tasting, vegetable trays and cinnamon rolls. A cash bar will be available.

November Energy Tip — 'Let LEDs brighten your Christmas!'

This year, strings of light emitting diode lights will brighten more Christmas displays throughout the U.S. than ever before. LED lights now offer many different styles. Many colors and sizes are available as well.

There are several advantages in the use of LED lights. New LED lights have an extremely long life. Unlike standard Christmas lights, LED lights will dim toward the end of their life rather than burning out all at once. Remember trying to find the single burned out bulb in a set of Christmas lights? That's no longer a concern with LEDs.

Here are other some advantages of LED lights when compared to their incandescent cousins. Reports have stated the life of LED Christmas lights to be an extraordinary 100,000 hours! Another big advantage is the LED produces more light per watt than other types of lighting. LED lights are 90 percent more efficient than incandescent lights. For example, one set of conventional 100 - C9 style Christmas lights will use 700 watts of electricity. The same set replaced with the new LED lights (with equivalent luminescence) would use only 65 watts. Over the Christmas season, the new LED lights could save $7.50 in electric energy costs.

However, note that there are a few disadvantages of LED lighting. LEDs have a light output limitation. This means they can only be so bright. Though the initial cost may be a concern, note that significant price decreases have occurred over the past few seasons. Plus, since the cost of operating of LED lights is so much lower than conventional lights, the purchase price is usually rapidly covered through energy savings.

LED lights have been around for a while and support many special lighting needs, such as exit lights, flash lights, emergency lighting, and traffic lights. Especially over the last several years, LED Christmas lighting has become popular. As rising energy costs and environmental issues continue to be of greater concern, LED Christmas lighting offers the consumer an opportunity to make a difference while saving money.

The LED Christmas light offers enhanced decorating inside and outside of the home. Christmas LED lighting can put new, brighter sparkle in the Christmas season. Energy dollars, no longer needed to pay the electric bill, can now be spent for the more important joys that this season brings.

For more information on steps homeowners can take to improve the efficiency of their homes, contact your local public power utility, or visit the ENERGY STAR® Home Advisor at <http://www.energystar.gov/homeadvisor>. Lots of useful energy efficiency information is also available at <http://www.nppd.com>.

Your public power electric utility wants you to get the most energy value for your money. It costs far less to save energy than it does to build a new power plant to generate additional power.

One-act team set to present 'The Insanity of Mary Girard'

In recent weeks the cast and crew members of the Wayne High School Drama team have been busy at work preparing for competition.

This season's play is "The Insanity of Mary Girard" by Lanie Robertson. Cast members include Avie Veldkamp, Katie Kietzmann, Jenny Zink, Laura Anderson, Tanner Schopke, Kori Witt, and Lila Goos. Crew members are Aaron Svenson, Jason Holt, Makayla Frye, Taylor Harris, and Sarah Bart.

The show is being directed by Amy Jackson and Terri Hypse.

The first performance will be at the Mid-State Conference One-Act Festival on Monday, Nov. 16. The students are scheduled to present the show in the Johnny Carson Theater at Norfolk High School at about 2 p.m.

A home show will be presented on Monday, Nov. 23, in the Haun Lecture Hall at Wayne High School. Starting time is 6:30 p.m.

Once again this year, the B-4 District Play Production competition is set for Ramsey Theatre on the campus of Wayne State College on Friday, Dec. 4. Performance times for districts are not yet available.

Due to the play's topic and intensity, it is not recommended for young children; however, the team would welcome a large live audience at any of its performances.

Frye noted that the search process for an Executive Director included 22 applicants with "good experience." The field was then narrowed to four candidates and interviews conducted with each of those persons.

He said that the Board of Directors has been "satisfied with the work Wes has done and have lots of confidence in his ability to carry us forward. We are pleased with his skills and his connection to the community."

Frye said Bleckle will be in charge of finding someone to assume the position of Assistant Director for Wayne Area Economic Development.

"I would like to see this move forward as quickly as possible. The office has operated well, (since Simonsen's departure) but some things simply cannot be done without another person in the office."

He did offer, however, that getting both sides to come together on the idea is unlikely at this time.

"It's very fractured and very difficult in Washington right now," he admitted.

Wildcats just one play away

A few thoughts and observations from the area sports scene:
 -How close was Wayne State from making the Div. II football playoffs for a second straight year?
 One play.

That's all that stood between the Wildcats and another postseason appearance, which is too bad because this was a team that deserved a shot at the national title.

Two of Wayne State's three losses were games the Wildcats could have won. They took Minnesota State to overtime and saw Augustana mount a late fourth-quarter comeback, and in both of those games one play could have changed the outcome of the game.

The only game Wayne State was really dominated in was at Bemidji State, who used a great ball-control game to keep the Wildcats' high-powered offense off the field. But take one play here or there from the other two losses, and Wayne State is 9-2 and booking a road trip. Two plays, and they're 10-1 and looking at a first-round host site or, possibly, a bye into the round of 16.

It's the only real disappointment in what was otherwise a great season for the Wildcats, who were led by an outstanding senior class that won a school-record 24 games its last three years. Two thumbs up for the senior class, and their younger counterparts, on a job well done this fall.

Although it's not recognized as a varsity sport, Wayne State's club wrestling team is getting ready to do something that hasn't been done at the college in almost three decades: host a wrestling dual.

The club team will host York College in a dual Friday at 6 p.m. York College is an NALA school that started wrestling a few years ago and is being looked at as a team to watch this season.

Wayne State's club team has a number of area high school kids who had a lot of success in the high school ranks, so it should be a fun dual to watch.

With this area's reputation for delivering quality wrestling talent year in and year out, it would be nice to see this sport elevated to varsity status sometime down the road (assuming, of course, two or three women's sports can be added to satisfy the politically-correct dunderheads at the Office of Civil Rights, who like to bother schools about their alleged Title IX deficiencies).

The Bleacher Bum got moved into his new home this past weekend, and I wanted to thank Wayne High assistant coach Brian Loberg and some of the Blue Devils' muscle men - Drew Loberg, Keegan Dorcey and Alex Onnen - for their help with some of the heavy lifting.

Wayne State's volleyball team closes out the regular season on the road, and two road wins would give this team a little extra momentum heading into regionals.

The guess here is that Wayne State will wind up in the same regional as two-time defending national champion Concordia St. Paul. Here's hoping the Wildcats are in the other half of the bracket and don't have to face them until an Elite Eight appearance - and a chance to end the Golden Bears' two-year title run - is on the line.

Wayne State and Nebraska win, Iowa and Notre Dame lose. Can you think of a better weekend of college football in recent memory? I would argue that you could not.

I don't know what pick I'm more proud of...Iowa's luck (and national title hopes) finally running out or Notre Dame fans coming to the realization that their team really isn't that good if they lose to Navy AT HOME in back-to-back attempts.

Regardless, it was a 6-4 week to bring the overall record to 60-39-1 and set up a week of 10 guaranteed winners:

Winside ends 16-year tourney drought

By JON BURLESON
Of The Herald

RANDOLPH - For the first time in 16 years, the Winside Lady Wildcats are headed to the Nebraska State Volleyball Championships.

To earn their shot at the Class D-1 title, Winside had to get through Hartington in the Class D1-4 district final Thursday. Winside got the job done, beating Hartington in straight sets, 25-21, 25-21, 25-13.

The teams were evenly matched, for the most part. Hartington had an edge in size at the net, with 5-foot-11 senior Kimber Rohde and 5-foot-10 sophomore Taylor Dybdal. Winside would rely heavily on 5-foot-10 sophomore Jerae Doffin to match up well against them.

Hartington drew first blood, but Winside would respond with a five-point tear, spurred by an ace from junior Audrey Roberts. Doffin and senior Cassie Mrsny teamed up on a big block to keep the drive alive and sophomore Shelby Lienemann dealt three monster spikes.

Hartington would fight back to tie the score 6-6 when sophomore Erin Gray found an opening in the Wildcats' defense. Her tip sparked another scoring drive for Winside, who fought to a 10-6 lead.

Hartington would respond again, closing the score, until Gray shut them down from the service line, boosting the score to 15-10 before Hartington called a time out.

The teams went back and forth until Doffin found a big gap on the Hartington side of the court and delivered a timely shot for an 18-12 lead. A side-out seesaw followed with Hartington chewing up the Winside lead until coach Teresa Watters called for time with the score at 18-15. Momentum stayed with Hartington, though, and they closed the score to 18-17 before Winside earned a side out. Again, the volleys flew. Another Hartington time out at 21-18 earned them a side out plus another point. It was Mrsny who found the soft spot in the defense this time around. Lienemann, who delivered an authoritative kill to take the score to 23-20, backed her up.

Lienemann showed she had a soft side, too, as she delicately tipped the ball over the net to put the Wildcats at game point. Gray was kind enough to provide the final point, earning Winside a victory in the first game.

In the second game, Hartington jumped out to a two-point lead. Winside got the serve with senior Jordyn Roberts. Behind her serves, Winside managed to take the lead 6-2 before another timeout switched the impetus back to Hartington.

Doffin proved she was up to the task of matching up with Rohde by blocking a shot, making the score 8-3. As the game progressed, freshman Nazya Thies served and Gray killed to take the score to 10-6 before another side out.

Hartington kept it close through the rest of the game. The largest point margin was at 12-9, but the other Wildcats used skill and a little luck to close that to 13-12 before some quick thinking and quick reflexes by Audrey Roberts turned the tide.

Again, Winside clawed up the opponent until the score was 18-13, and again, Hartington responded as they used every tool in their arsenal to close the gap to 18-16. It was Doffin who finally stopped them with a great kill shot.

Mrsny got the serve and took the team to 23-20 before a good deep hit gave the ball back to Hartington. Winside allowed only one point before getting the serve for the final time, winning the second game.

The Winside volleyball team returns to the state tournament for the first time in 16 years after winning the D1-4 district title Thursday in Randolph. Team members are (front) Alishia Weinrich, Katie Saul, Cassie Mrsny, Jordyn Roberts, (back) coach Teresa Watters, Deserah Janke, Erin Gray, Jerae Doffin, Shelby Lienemann, Audrey Roberts, Page Jensen, Megan Leicy, Shannon Gray, Nazya Thies, Bridget Gray and assistant coach Rachelle Rogers-Spann.

The final game was all Winside. Jordyn Roberts served, while Doffin blocked and hit for a 6-0 blitz. Hartington was able to get the score to 8-5 before another scoring streak gave Winside a 16-6 lead.

Lienemann delivered a huge cross-court wallop that deflated any hopes Hartington might have been harboring for a miraculous comeback. A few side outs later, with the score 20-9, Doffin had another beautiful tap that snuck past Hartington defenders. That stalled them at 21-10. Audrey Roberts served the final four points,

Flyers use turnovers to clip Eagles

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

ALLEN - Fumbles turned Allen's hopes for advancing deeper into the playoffs into a one-sided exit from the postseason.

Humphrey St. Francis turned three Eagle miscues into touchdowns in the second quarter, turning the second-round Class D2 playoff game into a blowout, as the visiting Flyers ended Allen's season with a 54-8 defeat Thursday evening.

All three fumbles came on the Eagles' side of the field, giving the bigger and more physical Flyers a short field to execute the blowout.

"From about the third series of the game to the middle of the second quarter, we played pretty well defensively, but that's what they do," coach Dave Uldrich said. "They force turnovers and make you play catchup, and those three turnovers made it look worse than it was."

The Flyers scored on their first two possessions, easily marching down the field before Matt Korus scored on runs of 18 and 13 yards.

Korus' third score, a 37-yard gallop, made it 24-0, but Allen turned the ball over three times in the last eight minutes, giving the Flyers the ball at Allen's 25, 16 and 8-yard line. St. Francis took advantage of each opportunity, and as a result took a 48-0 lead into the locker room at halftime.

"Physically, they're about as good as you can find," Uldrich said. "They've got the whole deal

Allen shows heart, loses district final

WISNER - It's often been said that it's not the size of the dog in the fight, but the size of fight in the dog that matters most.

Howells had the definite size advantage Thursday night in the D1-3 district volleyball title match, but Allen was the team that played with the biggest heart, even though the Bobcats came away with the four-set win to advance to this week's state tournament in Lincoln.

After falling in the first set, the Lady Eagles came out strong and tied the match up, then held a 12-9 lead in the pivotal third set before the taller Lady Bobcats team responded with a 10-point run to take control of the match, winning 25-12, 20-25, 25-20, 25-14.

Coach Cheryl Greve said Howells' height - which included 6-foot-2 twin sisters and four players at 5-

Wildcat hoop teams prepared to tip off season

New coach heads men's squad

Paul Combs begins his first season as head coach of the Wayne State College men's basketball program.

Combs, the 25th head coach in the program's 96-year history, brings 10 years of head coaching experience and 15 overall years of coaching to a Wildcat program that was 11-16 last year and 7-13 in the NSIC. He comes to Wayne State after serving six seasons as head coach at Wisconsin-Platteville, where he coached the Pioneers to a 102-57 mark, culminating with a 23-6 record last season.

The Wildcats return two starters and six letter winners from last year's team. Combs has also brought in three transfers and three high school recruits that will be counted on to provide excellent depth throughout the season. The 2009-10 WSC roster features two seniors, five juniors, two sophomores and three freshmen.

"We feel we had a very productive fall in creating a culture for the future of this program," said Combs. "We have stressed daily results come from investments and our guys are continuously striving for consistency in order to be competitive in the Northern Sun Conference."

The top returner for the Wildcats is senior Brian Metz. The 6-foot-8 center from Keswick, Iowa was a second-team All-NSIC selection last season after averaging 13.5 points and a team-high 7.8 rebounds per game. Metz led the NSIC and ranked sixth in NCAA Division II last season making 67.6 percent of his shots (142 of 210) from the field.

"Brian is the type of young man any first-year coaching staff would want to have in the program," commented Combs. "He is a tremendous student (3.97 GPA) and has an excellent work ethic on and off the court. He has worked extremely hard in the off season and Brian

Talented veterans lead women

Four returning starters and a talented group of newcomers have second-year head coach Chris Kielsmeier optimistic for the 2009-10 women's basketball season at Wayne State College.

The Wildcats finished last season 15-13 overall and 12-8 in the Northern Sun Conference, good for a sixth place tie with St. Cloud State.

Wayne State returns second-team All-NSIC center Mara Hjelle and sophomore guard Clare Duwelius, the 2008-09 NSIC Freshman of the Year. The addition of Iowa State transfer Ashley Arlen and junior college transfers Katie Randall and Renee Wood, along with experience gained by several underclassmen last season, could find the Wildcats finishing much better than their predicted seventh place finish in the 2009 NSIC coaches' preseason poll.

"We have a young but very talented team," Kielsmeier said. "We have a nice mix of returners and newcomers which makes practice every day very exciting. Our players have shown on a daily basis a great desire to learn and get better."

Wayne State was one of the top defensive teams in the Northern Sun Conference last season, allowing just 61.8 points per game to rank second in the league in team defense. In league games, the Wildcats led the NSIC in field goal percentage defense, allowing teams to shoot just 37.2 percent from the field. Offensively, Kielsmeier feels his team should be able to score and not rely on one player to carry team.

"We have multiple scoring threats and are very balanced offensively, having players score in a variety of ways and I think defensively we should be strong again," added Kielsmeier.

The team's lone senior in 2009-10 is guard Kati Jo Christensen of Audubon, Iowa, who

Volleyball team falls to No. 15

Wayne State's volleyball team dropped one spot in the latest AVCA Div. II coaches poll. Despite winning both games over the weekend and taking third-ranked Nebraska-Kearney to four sets on the road earlier in the week, the Wildcats fell behind conference rival Minnesota State to No. 15 in the latest poll. Two-time defending national champion and NSIC leader Concordia St. Paul was the unanimous top selection. Other NSIC teams in the poll include Southwest Minnesota State at No. 13, Minnesota State at No. 14 and Minnesota Duluth at No. 17.

Keitges leads Morningside

Erin Keitges of Allen helped the Morningside women's cross country team qualify for the NAIA national meet. Keitges, a senior, finished fourth at the Great Plains Athletic Conference meet Saturday in Fremont, finishing the 5,000-meter course in 18:34.32. She finished just ahead of teammate Kara Nelson, who was fifth at 18:36.60.

Bebee earns academic honor

Garek Bebee of Wakefield was named to the CoSIDA/ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District 7 team. Bebee, who owns a 3.54 grade-point average as a physics major, earned second-team honors. He started every game this season at offensive tackle and was a leader on the offensive line for Nebraska Wesleyan this season.

From Page 1B will, without question, be one of our leaders this season." The team's other senior this season is Brett Spiker, a 6-foot-7 forward from Chariton, Iowa, who averaged 3.9 points and 4.1 rebounds while appearing in all 27 games last season. "Brett is hungry to make the most of his opportunity in his senior season and believes he still has a lot to prove," Combs said. Headlining a group of five juniors is returning starting point guard Ryan Rudloff from Newman Grove, who averaged 4.3 points and a team-high 2.4 assists last season. "We put a lot of emphasis on our point guards to run our team on and off the court and Ryan has been an excellent role model for our freshmen and has stepped up his leadership role this fall," Combs stated. The other returning junior is Ben Tasa from Humphrey St. Francis, a 6-foot-7 forward who redshirted last season and was slowed this fall with a broken jaw. "Ben has worked very hard over the summer to get himself into basketball shape," commented Combs. "He will be looked upon to help us on the front line and give our team a ton of energy and emotion off the bench for us all season." Another returning junior, 6-foot-4 forward Zane Abner of Atkinson, has been lost for the season with a back injury, after averaging 3.9 points and 2.3 rebounds per game last season. Rounding out the junior class are three transfers - Jason Jensen, Spencer Paulsen and Brad Starcken. Jensen is a 6-foot-4, shooting guard/forward from Milwaukee, Wisc., who comes to WSC from Division I Texas-Pan American. "Jason is a very hungry young man who is anxious to be competing in the NSIC," Combs said. "He fits our needs and will be an excellent addition to our team." Paulsen is a 6-foot-2 junior guard from Alpena (Mich.) Community College who averaged eight points, four rebounds and four assists per game last season. "Spencer comes from a basketball family and he is very strong in the classroom. Our staff is looking forward to working with him," remarked Combs. Starcken, a 6-foot-5 forward from Ellsworth (Iowa) Community College in Iowa, averaged 13.2 points and 4.84 rebounds per game while shooting 49.6 percent from the three point line, ranking sixth in the nation in junior college basketball. "We are excited about Brad and what he brings to the team," Combs said. "His basketball IQ is very high and he has come to Wayne State with a lot to prove." Two sophomores are on the 2009-10 Wildcat squad, 6-foot-6 guard/forward Marcus Messersmith and 6-foot-1 point guard Elijah Miller. Miller, a graduate of Galva-Holstein High School in Iowa, averaged 4.5 points per game last season while appearing in 26 games with seven starts. "Elijah is an old school Wildcat... he is tough, rugged and hates to lose and when the ball is loose you can be certain that Elijah will have his nose around the ball," commented Combs. Messersmith appeared in 17 games last season and averaged 2.6 points per game. He hit a game-winning 35-footer in overtime at Bemidi State to end the season. "Marcus has made some of the biggest improvements on and off the court, working hard in the weight room and improving his overall game during the summer. There are no limitations to how good Marcus can be as he continues to grow and mature into his role," added Combs. The three freshmen on this year's team are guards Michael DiGregorio, Tanner Ferguson and Amry Shelby. DiGregorio is a 6-foot-1, 175-pounder from Notre Dame High School in Niles, Ill., where he averaged 14 points and 6.5 assists per game as a senior. "Michael comes from a first-class high school program and played against great competition throughout his career," Combs said. "He brings to the table a toughness and work ethic second to nobody." Ferguson is a 6-foot-2, 195-pound shooting guard from Sioux City Heelan High School, where he was a three-year starter for the Crusaders, helping Heelan win the Iowa Class 3A title as a senior. "We feel very fortunate to have Tanner in our program. He has a motor and work ethic that will be very contagious to the entire program," said Combs. Shelby is a 5-foot-11, 155-pound guard from Marion High School in Iowa who earned Iowa Class 3A First Team All-State honors last season after averaging 24.3 points per game. "Amry had an exceptional senior season and was able to score and lead his team in many different ways. He will provide us necessary depth at the guard position and had a great summer preparing for life in the NSIC," added Combs. Wayne State opens the 2009-10 season at home on Sunday against Buena Vista University at 4 p.m.

Wayne County Veterans Memorial Fundraising Campaign

Construction is underway on the Wayne County Veterans Memorial located on the grounds of the Wayne County Courthouse. The Memorial is off to a great start, but your help is essential in order for it to be completed. The flag at the right will remain at half-staff and the Memorial will remain at a standstill until $185,000 is raised.

WE NEED YOUR HELP!!

We are searching for names of veterans to include on the Memorial. If you or someone you know from Wayne County honorably served in the U.S. military please submit the name(s) and dates served via postcard to the: Wayne County Veterans Memorial, P.O. Box 196, Wayne, NE 68787. Donations can be sent to the same address. Check out our website at www.wayneveterans.net

WSC Women

From Page 1B started all 28 games last season and averaged 5.8 points and 2.3 rebounds per game. "Our program will look for great leadership from Kati Jo both on and off the court this season," remarked Kielsmeier. Hjelle, a 6-foot-2 junior from White Bear Lake, Minn., had a stellar second half of the season last year and averaged 10.7 points and 7.1 rebounds per game to earn second-team All-NSIC honors. She ranked third in the NSIC in field goal percentage (.519) and was second in offensive rebounds per game (2.89) and sixth in rebounding. Another returning junior starter is 5-foot-11 forward Julie Ann Wagner. The Sioux Falls Roosevelt graduate averaged 5.4 points and 5.1 rebounds while starting all 28 games last season for the Wildcats. The other returning junior is Alyssa Fischbach, a 5-foot-11 forward from Mellette, S.D., who contributed 4.2 points and 4.6 rebounds per game last season. 2008-09 NSIC Freshman of the Year Clare Duwelius headlines a trio of sophomores that gained valuable playing time last season. The 5-foot-10 sophomore forward from Des Moines Dowling Catholic High School was instant offense off the Wildcat bench last season, averaging 11.8 points per game without a start. Duwelius drained

60 three-pointers and shot 41.8 percent overall from the field. Ali Schwartzwald, a 5-foot-8 sophomore guard from Bethel, Minnesota, started 24 games last season at point guard and averaged 3.6 points and 2.64 assists per game. Alisha Brown, a 5-foot-3 sophomore guard from El Paso, Texas, came on at the end of the season last year and scored 5.2 points per game, including a career-high 19 points against Winona State in the first round of the NSIC Tournament. Three transfers join the Wildcat program this season along with two freshmen recruits. Renee Wood, a 5-foot-9 junior guard, comes to WSC after playing two seasons at Fullerton College in California. She averaged over eight points and five rebounds per game last season while finishing tied for first in the Orange Empire Conference in three point field goals. The other junior college transfer is Katie Randall, a native of Gibbon, who played the last two seasons at Santa Barbara City College in California. Randall averaged 12.6 points and 6.3 rebounds per game at Santa Barbara and earned first-team All-Western State Conference honors. The other transfer for the Wildcats this season is Ashley Arlen, who joins the Wildcat program after playing last season at Iowa State University. The Cascade, Iowa native, a 6-foot-1 forward, averaged 3.5 points and 3.1 rebounds per game as a true freshman with the Cyclones, helping Iowa State reach the NCAA Div. I Elite Eight. A pair of Iowa high school standouts round out the 2009-10 Wildcat roster. Marcy Amundson is a 6-foot-3 center from Valley High School in Elgin, Iowa where she averaged 12.7 points, 7.3 rebounds and 2.5 blocks per game to earn first-team All-District honors as a senior. Chelsie Rohrs, a 5-foot-9 guard, was a multi-sport standout at South O'Brien High School in Paullina, Iowa. Rohrs averaged 20 points and 10 rebounds per game in her senior season and was a three-time All-War Eagle Conference selection in basketball. "Our program goal each year is to hang a banner in Rice Auditorium," commented Kielsmeier. "Each player really cares for each other and wants what's best for the program. They are a very fun and easy group to coach." Wayne State will open the season on Sunday and Monday, Nov. 15-16, at the Super 8 Tip Off Classic in Aberdeen, S.D., playing Colorado School of Mines and Colorado Christian. The Wildcats have a total of 14 home games this season at Rice Auditorium with the first home game on Tuesday, Nov. 24 against York College at 6 p.m.

foot-10, compared to starter Bentley Hingst being Allen's tallest player at 5-foot-8 - concerned her before the start of the match, but she was thrilled with her team's response.

"I was nervous going in, because Howells was a much bigger team, but I think the girls gave it all and left their hearts on the floor," Greve said. "They tried as hard as they could."

Howells jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first set and never let Allen get into a rhythm. Allen couldn't put together a significant run of points, and it appeared the Lady Bobcats were going to dominate from start to finish.

But the Lady Eagles had a response in the second set, highlighted by kills from Ashlee Hingst and Shannon Sullivan off sets by Hannah Finnegan. Allen went on a five-point run in the second set to turn an 8-7 disadvantage into a 12-8 lead. With the match tied at 20-20, Allen rolled off the final five points, highlighted by a dump from Hingst and a couple of Howells hitting errors, to tie the match at one set apiece.

Allen continued its momentum into the third set, and a Sullivan kill gave the Lady Eagles a 12-9 lead and had their fans thinking an upset might be in the making.

That was when Howells took control of the match. The Lady Bobcats rattled off 10 unanswered points, and by the time Allen regained serve, they went from a three-point lead to a seven-point deficit and could never regain the momentum.

"They're a solid team and they do a lot of things well, but to our girls' credit, they still didn't give up and kept working for a side out," Greve said. "It was just hard hitting around those big blocks."

Allen tried to keep themselves in the game and got as close as four points before the Bobcats closed out the third set. The teams traded side outs early in the fourth set before Howells scored five straight points to take an 11-5 lead, and Allen would not get closer than three points after that.

Hingst led the Allen attack with 14 kills, while Sullivan added 10 and Bentley Hingst put down nine kills. Finnegan had 30 set assists and Sullivan led four Allen players in digs with 18.

It was the final match for seniors Hingst, Sullivan and Hannah Flores, and Greve credited the seniors for their leadership during the Lady Eagles' 14-15 campaign.

"We're going to build from this year and the seniors were really good leaders and set the table for us," Greve said. "They were dedicated and they've done a great job for us."

there, and we told the kids that if things aren't going well, to just keep playing hard."

The Eagles did that, slowing down the Flyers' offense in the second half. Allen avoided the shutout midway through the fourth quarter when A.J. Williams scored on a seven-yard run and Heath Roerber caught the two-point conversion pass from Cody Stewart.

Despite the one-sided end to his team's 6-4 season, Uldrich said he was proud of the team's effort against one of the best teams in Class D2.

"They've got a great club and you have to give them a lot of credit, but I was proud of our kids' effort," he said. "The kids played hard and hit hard tonight, and I thought they did a great job."

It was the last game for Allen's 10 seniors, who became the first class in school history to qualify for state four straight years in football.

"The seniors have been in the playoffs four years in a row, and that's something these kids can be proud of," Uldrich said. "I'm very proud of what they have done."

Club wrestling team adds NCWA affiliation

Wildcat Wrestling Club head coach Greg Vander Weil says year two is going to be bigger and better, primarily because of its affiliation with the National Collegiate Wrestling Association.

"Drawing upon the experiences of last season, the first year learning curve was very good, and returning wrestlers know what to expect," Vander Weil said. "The addition of coach Sean Smalley is a tremendous asset to the program, and a good group of freshmen and some upperclassmen who have decided to give wrestling another shot will help the program grow."

Smalley is responsible for the club's association with the NCWA. He is a four-year letter winner and graduate of Morningside College, and is currently working toward a master's degree in sports management at Wayne State.

The team was allocated money from the WSC Student Senate this year, but the most sizeable donation has come from the support of Sand Creek Post & Beam's Len Dickinson and Jule Goeller.

Last year, the Wildcats began practicing on an old mat left at the school from the 1970s. The team later received another used mat. They had 4-5 competitions, and WSC supported the travel. Fundraising and Sand Creek Post & Beam's support funded lodging, registration at the meets and singlets.

This year, Sand Creek Post & Beam has continued to support the team with warm-up jackets. The team is seeking more mat space, a team scale for weight checks and additional funding for competitions.

The team hosts its first dual in 28 years Friday when it takes on York College at 6 p.m. at Rice Auditorium. Admission is free.

Wildcats cap season with 47-21 victory

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The senior class on the Wayne State football team took their final bow Saturday, and did so with a dominating performance.

Senior quarterback Silas Fluellen overcame an early injury to throw for four touchdowns, receiver Logan Masters finished his perfect 46-game run with at least one reception, and the Wildcats' defense managed to keep one of the top running backs in the Northern Sun Conference at bay as the Wildcats closed out the season with a 47-21 win Saturday in the annual Egg Bowl matchup at Cunningham Field.

And while the Wildcats just missed out on a playoff spot, coach Dan McLaughlin was happy his team ended the season on a good note.

"I thought we played well on both sides of the ball, and I was pleased for the kids," he said. "It was a good way to finish off the last game of the year."

Wayne State scored on its first possession, thanks to a 17-yard run by Frederic Bruno. But concern arose when Fluellen left the game with a shoulder injury and went to the locker room.

"He got injured at the end of the Concordia game and didn't practice hardly at all, and it was still sore at the start of the game and he couldn't get anything on the ball," McLaughlin said. "I assumed he wasn't going to play the rest of the game, but they were able to numb up his shoulder and he went back out and had a great game. He's a real warrior and had a great career."

Fluellen, who earned the team's MVP honors for the Egg Bowl by going 15-of-18 for 220 yards, returned and threw a pair of touchdown passes in the second quarter, then threw two more in the third, including a 25-yard strike to Masters, who finished off his career with four receptions on the day and an NCAA Div. II-record 46 straight games with at least one reception.

"It's great, but it was more fun that we won today," Masters said of his record. "It was just one of those things where I went out and did my job, and (the record) will be something that will be cool to remember years from now."

While the Wildcat offense racked up 436 yards in total offense, they were able to contain Mary running back Jamal Lomax, who finished with 116 yards and scored a pair of touchdowns, one coming after a Wayne State turnover.

The win capped a great career for the senior class, which won a school-record 29 games during its four years, including 24 the last three years.

"That was the best three-year run in school history, so it's quite an accomplishment for these kids," McLaughlin said of the 13 seniors who played their final game. "It was just a really good class, and I was pleased with what they accomplished. They were our first recruiting class and got a lot of good things done."

Wayne State wins final three at home

Wayne State closed out the home portion of their schedule in fine fashion Tuesday to take a 27-6 record into the final weekend of the regular season.

Sophomore outside hitter Tali Fredrickson recorded her 14th double-double with 16 kills and 17 digs to lead the 15th-ranked Wildcats to a 3-1 NSIC win over Augustana on White Out Night at Rice Auditorium, 25-21, 25-27, 25-20 and 25-19.

"We came out and played well the first set, and the second set (Augustana) got into their rhythm and did some good things, and they're an athletic team," coach Scott Kneifl said after the Wildcats improved to 15-3 in the NSIC. "We were able to fight back and get into it and had to compete, and I think we came back and did some good things."

In the first set with the score tied at 7-7, WSC scored seven straight points to take a 14-7 lead and take control of the first set. Augustana took the early lead and use 18 kills to hold off a late rally and tie the match at one set apiece.

In the third set, WSC held the lead for most of the way and had 14 kills, then rallied from an early deficit in the final set, scoring four straight points to break a 17-17 tie and go on to the win.

Fredrickson's 16 kills were followed by Jennifer Hefner with 15 and Mindy Moody with 12. Senior Tessa Wietfeld, in her final home game, notched a team-high 23 digs, followed by Leigh Connot with 19 and Fredrickson with 17. Setter Diedra Artz handed out 46 set assists to go with 12 digs in the win.

On Friday, the Wildcats won their third straight home game against a ranked opponent at Rice Auditorium, defeating No. 16 Minnesota Duluth 26-24, 25-14, 19-25, 18-25, 15-11.

Wayne State trailed 11-7 in game one, but came back to take the first set after the Bulldogs battled back from a 21-17 deficit.

In game two, the Wildcats took control jumping out to a 6-0 lead. Wayne State hit a game-high .317 to dominate the second set. Minnesota Duluth battled back, however, and took the next two games to force the fifth and deciding set. The fifth and final game was back and forth until the Wildcats took the lead at 12-11 and never looked back.

Hefner led the Wildcats with 17 kills, Fredrickson added 13 kills and Mindy Moody and Shelby Schultz each had 10 kills. Artz recorded 54 set assists. Defensively, Fredrickson led the Wildcats with 18 digs and senior Tessa Wietfeld who had 17.

The Wildcats rallied to defeat Bemidji State Saturday night. Bemidji State won the first set 25-22 before Wayne State rallied to win the next three sets 25-23, 25-21 and 25-16.

The visiting Beavers came out on fire, hitting .318 in the first set with 18 kills. Both teams struggled hitting in the second set as WSC took advantage of 11 Bemidji errors, but the Wildcats rebounded and took the second and third sets. In the fourth set with the score tied at 14-14, Fredrickson got a hot hand with her serving and scored 10 straight points to give the Wildcats the momentum to finish off the match.

Fredrickson led Wayne State with 14 kills and 24 digs, Hefner had 14 kills and eight blocks, and Moody added 10 kills as Wayne State hit .168 for the match. Leigh Connot contributed 22 digs and Nicole Brungardt with 15. Artz had 46 set assists to go with 13 digs.

Wayne State wraps up the regular season on the road this weekend, visiting Minnesota Crookston Friday and MSU Moorhead Saturday. They will know whether or not they will head to regionals sometime Sunday afternoon.

Condition of the Month
Tension Headache

Definition

A condition involving pain or discomfort in the head, scalp, or neck, usually associated with muscle tightness in these areas. Tension headaches are one of the most common forms of headache. They can occur at any age, but are most common in adults and adolescents. If a headache occurs two or more times weekly for several months or longer, the condition is considered chronic. Tension headaches result from the contraction of neck and scalp muscles. One cause of this muscle contraction is a response to stress, depression or anxiety. Any activity that causes the head to be held in one position for a long time without moving can cause a headache. Such activities include typing or use of computers, fine work with the hands, and use of a microscope. Other causes include spinal misalignment, eye strain, fatigue, excessive caffeine use, sinus infection, nasal congestion, overexertion, colds, and influenza.

SYMPTOMS:

- DULL PAIN, PRESSURE-LIKE
- GENERALIZED PAIN, WORSE IN THE SCALP, TEMPLES OR BACK OF THE NECK
- NOT ONE SIDED
- FEELS LIKE A TIGHT BAND OR VISE ON THE HEAD
- OCCURS AS AN ISOLATED INCIDENT (OR OCCURS CONSTANTLY OR DAILY)
- WORSENERD OR TRIGGERED BY STRESS, FATIGUE, NOISE, GLARE, ETC.

Wayne State women ninth, men 15th at regional meet

The Wayne State College women's cross country team placed ninth out of 22 teams and the men's team was 15th out of 18 teams at the 2009 NCAA Division II Central Regional Cross Country Championships, held Saturday at the Wayne Country Club.

The Wildcat women finished with a team score of 265 to record the best-ever finish by a WSC women's cross country team at regionals. Six-time defending national champion Adams State of Colorado won the team title with 36 points and was one of six teams from the Central Region to advance to the NCAA Div. II National Championships in Evansville, Ind. on Saturday, Nov. 21.

Senior Megan Zavoroka was the top finisher for the Wildcats, placing 23rd out of 147 runners with a time of 22:53 on the 6,000-meter course. Following Zavoroka in 43rd place overall was senior Sarah Thomsen at 23:27.

Other WSC finishers included freshman KyLee Engelken in 54th place (23:52), senior Molly Gibson ran a time of 24:12 to finish 67th, junior Melissa McIntosh was 78th place in 24:34, Jenna McCoy came in 129th place at 26:56.9 and Meghan Jacob took 143rd with a time of 28:58.

Adams State of Colorado easily won the team title with 36 points followed by Western State of Colorado in second at 88 and Augustana in third with 90. University of Mary (169), Metro State of Colorado (175) and Minnesota Duluth (179) round out the six teams that advance to nationals. Finishing out the top 10 teams were Mesa State of Colorado in seventh (184), Colorado Mines eighth (213), Wayne State ninth (265) and Winona State 10th with

Hefner earns academic honor

Jennifer Hefner of Wayne State College has been named to the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District VII College Division First Team as voted on by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA).

In the classroom, Hefner, a 6-1 junior middle hitter from Archer, maintains a stellar 3.96 grade point average majoring in applied human and sport physiology.

On the court, Hefner leads the Wildcats in a number of areas, including kills per set, hitting percentage and blocks.

She leads the Northern Sun Conference in points per set and blocks per set, is second in kills per set and seventh in hitting percentage.

Last season as a sophomore, Hefner earned ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District VII Second Team honors.

Rugby women dominate USD

The Wayne State women's rugby club team capped its seventh straight Great Plains Conference championship with a dominating win Sunday at "The House of Pain."

Wayne State raced to a 34-5 halftime lead and never let up, shutting down South Dakota and pulling away with a 73-5 win to finish a 12-0 regular season. The team has qualified for the national playoffs and will face LSU next spring in Baton Rouge, La.

Wayne State scored three touchdowns in the first 15 minutes of the game to take command. The Wildcats' scrum won several loose rucks and pounded the offensive side of the field with their run-and-gun efforts. Wayne State used several 5-on-4 situations to break off some big gains that led to touchdowns.

Ashley Dittberner and Jess Anderson each found the end zone three times, while Kelly Eikholt, Brit Hans, Jess Gatzmeyer and Rachell Rinke each had two touchdowns. Colleen Andrews, Jen Becker and Christal Randal scored single points.

Kneifl named Coach of the Year, four named to All-NSIC volleyball

Wayne State College had four players named to the 2009 Northern Sun Conference All-Conference Volleyball Team and coach Scott Kneifl was selected the conference Coach of the Year.

Kneifl

Kneifl, in his fifth year as head coach of the Wildcats, has a 127-46 overall record and is 64-23 in Northern Sun Conference games. This season, he has directed the Wildcats to a 27-6 overall record and a 15-3 league mark, tied for second in the NSIC, after a predicted fourth place finish this season. WSC is ranked No. 15 in NCAA Div II and has been ranked as high as No. 14, the highest-ever national ranking for the Wildcat volleyball program.

It's the second time that Kneifl has been named NSIC Coach of the Year after sharing the honor with Southwest Minnesota State's Terry Culhane in 2005.

Juniors Jennifer Hefner and Diedra Artz received First Team All-Conference honors while junior Lea Hartigan and sophomore Tali Fredrickson were both selected honorable mention. Wildcat head coach Scott Kneifl also received accolades being voted the 2009 NSIC Coach of the Year.

Hefner, a 6-1 middle hitter from Archer, Neb., is a repeat First Team All-NSIC selection. She leads the Wildcats in kills per set (3.77) and blocks (1.23), and ranks first in the NSIC in blocks, third in kills and seventh in hitting percentage. Hefner also was named to ESPN The Magazine First Team Academic All-District

VII honors earlier this month, and earlier this season, joined the career 1,000-kill club at Wayne State.

Artz, a 5-7 from Mellette, S.D., was selected First Team All-NSIC after averaging 10.79 set assists and 1.80 digs per set this season for the Wildcats. Her 10.79 assists per set ranks fifth in the NSIC this season.

Hartigan, a 5-10 outside hitter from Treynor, Iowa, is averaging 3.09 kills per set to rank second on the team in that category. She also averaged 1.09 digs and 0.44 blocks per set for WSC this season. Hartigan had 10 or more kills in 13 matches this season.

Fredrickson, a 5-7 outside hitter from Grand Island, averages 2.92 kills and 3.59 digs per set for the Wildcats this season. She has had 13 double-doubles this season and also leads the Wildcats in service aces with 32.

Wildcats tabbed on All-NSIC team

Wayne State College had 13 players named to the 2009 Northern Sun Conference All-Conference Football Team.

The Wildcats landed five players on the NSIC South Division All-Conference First Team, four players received NSIC South Division Second Team All-Conference honors while four other players were selected NSIC South Division All-Conference honorable mention.

Senior quarterback Silas Fluellen, senior wide receiver Logan Masters and junior wide receiver Frederick Bruno were named First Team NSIC South Division All-Conference Offense, senior linebacker

Ryan Reeves was named First Team Defense and senior place kicker Nick Hope was selected First Team Special Teams.

Cats Against Cancer Raises Breast Cancer Awareness

Wayne State College Athletics hosted Cats Against Cancer on Oct. 24, as part of Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

The day involved home soccer, football, and volleyball games at which fans had the opportunity to assist Wayne State College in their efforts to raise money for the Every Woman Matters Foundation.

More than 2,000 fans and spectators attended the day's activities and $765 was raised from the event.

All proceeds raised from the day's activities will go to support the Every Woman Matters Foundation.

EWM Spokesperson Jane Green presented Wayne State College a certificate of appreciation and she stated that the foundation was "extremely pleased that a college would like to help fund something that is for the women of Nebraska."

Every Woman Matters is a program funded through the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services. It is designed to pay for health checks, such as mammograms, for women who are unable to cover the cost themselves with the aim of diagnosing more cases at earlier stages. EWM also pays for follow-up tests, including biopsies and other tests, to diagnose breast and cervical cancer.

The day began with fans watching the Wildcats soccer team defeat University of Minnesota Crookston two goals to one. Although the morning was cool, fans revealed their willingness to support the 'Cats Against Cancer' event. Many fans enjoyed the pink cupcakes and rice crispy bars donated by the Wayne Educational Office Professionals Association, as well as pink lemonade. Pink bandanas with 'Cats Against Cancer' were passed out to fans supporting the cause. A soccer ball signed in pink was raffled off to a lucky winner.

As the day progressed, fans began to crowd at the football game where the Wildcats played hard but came up short in a 27 to 24 loss to Augustana College. Many of the players were seen with pink athletic tape, but some went as far as pink mouth guards and hand towels. Not only was the football team present, but the Men's Basketball team was eager to help out by providing their services of pink face and fingernail painting. A signed in pink football and basketball were raffled off as well.

Finally, the volleyball team

wrapped up the day defeating Southwest Minnesota State three sets to two. Pink uniforms were provided by Peak Performance in Sioux City to help support 'Cats Against Cancer'. Pink bandanas were distributed to fans at the volleyball game as well. A final raffle for a volleyball signed by the team, in pink, was held as well.

Winside has new ambulance

The Winside Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department recently took possession of a new 2009 Road Rescue Ambulance. This vehicle will be replacing a 1987 Wheeled Coach Ambulance. Winside will now have two ambulances, including the new 2009 Road Rescue and a 1998 Road Rescue unit. A majority of the funds used to purchase this new piece of equipment came from the Winside Rural Fire District with additional funds being contributed through department fund raisers and donations. Rescue Captain Verneal Marotz said it will be a valuable addition to the Village of Winside and the Winside Fire District and will also be a big asset to communities around Winside in need of ambulance services. The Winside Volunteer Fire and Rescue Department would like to thank everyone involved in making this purchase possible.

Winside students learn fire prevention

The kindergarten and first grade classes from Winside Elementary School visited the Fire Hall in Winside for National Fire Prevention Week recently. The students learned how to escape from their homes if there was a fire, what to do if clothes catch on fire, to stop, drop and roll and how to call 9-1-1. They received a tour of all the trucks and rescue units, then received a gift pack from the fire department with an escape map and a meeting point to take home and plan with their parents. They also got a bracelet with "Stop, Drop, and Roll," plus a certificate that they attended the class. The teachers of the classes, Mrs. Straight and in her absence, Mrs. Frahm, and Mrs. Loetcher came with the students.

Consoli named ESU 1 Employee of the Year

Wendy Consoli, of Wayne, has been named the ESU No. 1 Employee of the Year.

Consoli started working for the Service Unit in 1991 and has served students in most, if not all of its schools, and even several beyond its borders. She's seen many changes over the past 16 1/4 years.

Her assignments have moved her all over the six counties and beyond, but she's never been heard complaining. This positive attitude is one of the things noted in her nominations.

A true leader, she has consistently taken on more and more responsibility. When she started at ESU No. 1, there wasn't even a name for her job description, so she was considered a "Language Resource Assistant." Therefore, she might be considered as the mother of all Speech Techs. She has persistently sought to further her knowledge and education.

After six years, she got her Master's in Communication Disorders. She went on to obtain an additional endorsement to become an educator of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing. She is also involved in the Education Association, book club and volunteers for whatever needs doing.

But this award is not about longevity, amassing degrees or piling up accomplishments; it is about the impact a person has on others. This year Consoli has taken over as the coordinator for the ESU's largest department and helped a great group of people become even better. She leads humbly and considerably by consistently treating others with dignity and respect while maintaining an expectation of excellence. She accomplishes this in addition to teaching classes at Wayne State College and serving on her local school board. Her work ethic, her professionalism, her high standards and the way she looks to lift people up set her apart and made her this year's Employee of the Year.

Stuart Clark, ESU 1 Director of Special Education, presents Wendy Consoli with the 2008-09 Employee of the Year Award.

UNK performs classic Roman play 'Pseudolus'

"Pseudolus," a Roman classic play, opens Wednesday, Nov. 18, on the University of Nebraska at Kearney campus.

Directed by Jack Garrison, "Pseudolus" is a comedy written by ancient Roman playwright Plautus. It is described as a Roman farce dealing with slavery and other serious issues during the time that it was written.

Among those involved in the play is Brittany Greunke, a junior at UN-K. She plays the part of Aeschrodora.

"I thought that it was time to do something that has never been done before' at UNK," Garrison said. "It is Plautus' best comedy, and I have always been curious if it could be done on the modern stage." In the early 60s, the play was one of three by Plautus that provided the foundation for an adaptation that became "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." The UNK production is based on the original work, not the musical adaptation.

"What makes this play unique is that no one around here has ever seen a Plautine farce, much less ever had the opportunity to act in one," Garrison said. "The cast is excellent in their acting. They have picked up the style and techniques of this type of farce quickly."

"Pseudolus" is age-appropriate for audiences of high school age or older. Performances will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday-Saturday, Nov. 18-21, and at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 22. All performances will take place in the Miriam Drake Theatre, located in the UNK Fine Arts Building. Tickets are $7 for adults; $5 for seniors, UNK faculty/staff and non-UNK students; $3 each for a group of 10 or more; and free for UNK students with a valid ID. Reservations can be made by contacting the UNK Box Office at 308.865.8417 or unkbboxoffice@unk.edu.

Project Mittens

The Wayne High School Cheerleaders have set a goal of collecting 100 winter items to be distributed through the Wayne Community Schools to children in need this winter. They are seeking donations of gently used or new pairs of mittens, gloves, hats, scarves or boots. The donation box is located outside the high school gym. The cheerleaders hope to reach their goal by Nov. 20. This year's cheerleaders include, front row, left to right, Marisa Vawser, Brianna Smith, Cristina Topete, Liz Hines and Felicia Keiser. Back row, Kennra Dunker, Megan Showen, Taylor Harris, Megan Wherley and Sarah Bart.

Garvin earns Outstanding Accounting Educator Award

Sharon K. Garvin, an Associate Professor in the School of Business and Technology at Wayne State College, is the recipient of the Outstanding Accounting Educator Award.

The award was presented during the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants at the Society's Annual meeting held recently in Omaha.

Founded in 1928, the Nebraska Society of CPAs, with nearly 2,700 members statewide, is the premier professional organization for CPAs in Nebraska. Siouxland Blood Bank in Wayne Nov. 17

The Siouxland Blood Bank will be in Wayne on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 17 and 18.

Donations will be accepted from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Wayne State College Student Center both days.

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank was founded in 1967 and is the sole provider of blood and blood products to 37 Siouxland area hospitals.

To be eligible to donate blood individuals must be at least 16 years of age; however there is no upper age limit as long as the donor is in good health. Donors under the age of 17 require parental consent. In addition, donors need to weigh at least 110 pounds and have not donated whole blood in the past 56 days. A photo I.D. is required at the time of registration.

For more information about the Siouxland Community Blood Bank or blood drives in your area, call 712-252-4208 or 800-798-4208, or visit the Siouxland Community Blood Bank's Web site at www.sioxlandbloodbank.org.

Opinion

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

Tax-happy Pelosi has Manson's eyes

Now that I'm all moved in to my new home, it's time to start unpacking. We'll start with an unloading of the "Bits and Pieces" file:

- Did you see the look on Nancy Pelosi's face when she announced that the House of (Alleged) Representatives had passed their health care legislation late Saturday night?

The smile on her face reminded me of a similar look - the one on Charles Manson's face when they brought him up on murder charges 40 years ago.

If ever there were a good time to vote 535 people out of office, it would be right about now.

Seriously...these are the same people who have wasted TRILLIONS of our tax dollars bailing out the automotive and banking industries. Now we want these buffoons to run our health care system?

I'd like to say the thought makes me sick...but I'm afraid of how much government red tape would be involved to get me to feel better.

- Did you have a "remember when" kind of moment while watching the Nebraska-Oklahoma game Saturday night?

Although the inability of either offense moving the ball reminded me more of a Kansas vs. Kansas State game from years' past (any KU-KSU matchup between 1940 and 1995 would apply), the drama and tension of the Huskers vs. Sooners matchup reminded me of many of the great matchups that took place during the 1970s and 1980s.

Of course, during those years you had two great teams on both sides of the ball. This year, both teams' defenses were outstanding, while the offenses were nowhere near the same level. Had the Blackshirts not handed the Husker offense the ball on Oklahoma's 1-yard line after an interception, it might have been a festival of field goals that would have decided the outcome.

- The Nebraska Legislature is trying to determine how best to deal with a $334 million shortfall, and what's funny about this is how anybody who gets one dollar from the state government is fretting over losing any state funding for their programs.

One area they could look at is the University of Nebraska system, where there is widespread waste of taxpayer dollars going on, as was documented in a recent audit by the state auditor.

One university official spent more than $15,000 on a plane ticket to China, another university official bought more than $9,000 worth of computer equipment at Best Buy for official use and used his rewards card to gain bonus points for personal use, and there were numerous instances of pyramiding purchases (paying for one purchase with multiple credit card uses) for hotel rooms, meals and other items. One meal for the women's basketball team included a 40 percent gratuity that amounted to more than $1,000.

If you or I were to abuse the corporate credit card like that, how long would it take before our bosses were to hand us a pink slip? One day? Two hours? Ten minutes? (Considering how judicious my boss is with our company's expenses, I'd put the over-under at 17.8 seconds and bet the under.)

The widespread abuse of taxpayer dollars within the University of Nebraska system is disgusting and needs to be dealt with right now. It wouldn't solve the state's budget woes...but I'm betting it would make a nice dent.

- Speaking of gambling, maybe it's time the state take a look at expanded gambling, including the legalization of poker.

Poker is more a game of skill than a game of luck (although luck certainly plays into it), and some states are taking a hard look at making the game legal to play within its borders.

While there are those who laugh at the notion that poker is a game of skill, it doesn't take a rocket science to figure out that the game of poker is less of a gambling game than current state-sponsored games such as keno, Powerball or pickle cards. More and more people are playing poker in Nebraska, and evidence of that can be found by going to poker rooms in Sioux City, Sloan or Council Bluffs, Iowa. I've played in poker tournaments in all three locations, and I would venture a guess that at least half of the players who participate are from the west side of the Missouri River.

I realize this state's movers and shakers are going to allow casino gambling right around the time icicles form on the devil's pointed nose. However, considering the financial plight the state is in, it might be time to bite the bullet and expand the state's "gambling" ventures to include both live and on-line poker. The amount of revenue that could be generated from the taxing of poker would help make up some of the revenue shortfall the Legislature is dealing with.

- I became an official resident of Wayne this past week, and moving day was made a lot easier with the help of some of the community's good people.

Brian Loberg, who works for the city and is an assistant coach on the high school football team, brought a few football players along to help with the heavy lifting, and I can't thank those guys enough for the invaluable help they brought.

I also had a lot of help from my family, who have always been there for me at various points in my career. My mom and dad helped paint a couple of rooms in my house, my brother-in-law (who owns the Maytag dealership in Norfolk) came in to install the appliances, and the rest of my family helped with transferring my possessions from storage to my new home. For all my family has done to help me get to this special moment, I can't possibly thank them enough.

Capitol View

Worried about budget cuts

By ED HOWARD,
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - Cast your memory back to last year's presidential campaign when then-candidate Barack Obama, talking about economic opportunity, said he wanted to spread the wealth around.

The notion worried some people who weren't sure of what he meant.

Now come on back to 2009 and consider Gov. Dave Heineman's assertion that more than $334 million needs to be cut from the state budget, and that he wants to spread the pain around.

The notion worried some people who were altogether sure of what he meant.

Some of those most concerned with the governor's plan were eyeballing the proposed across-the-board reductions in funding. As the budget surgery began, some hoped the Legislature might decide to spread the pain proportionately, rather than at a flat rate.

Think of it this way: Having your $150,000 income reduced by several percentage points would be what a small child might call an "Owee!" Getting hit with the same percentage cut when your income is just $35,000 would be what the same youngster would probably call "A BIG Owee!"

Where the big money goes

State government sends the biggest share of its expenditures to school districts to help fund K-12 schools. Those schools would see a cut of $47 million in next year's budget under a plan offered by the Education Committee.

It would generally limit spending increases to 1 percent. Districts facing exceptional needs, such as quickly burgeoning student populations, would get a bit more breathing room--but not much. It would give similar consideration to districts where spending is already low.

There is just a hint of the old "use it or lose it" situation there. If a school district budget was already spending the maximum allowed, perhaps a 1 percent cut wouldn't hurt quite so much; whereas a budget that was down to the bone would feel it a tad more - or a lot more. The Education Committee hoped its proposed exceptions would ease the latter burden.

There are priorities and priorities

When a special session is needed in November it has to be called and efforts must be made to deal with the issues.

Sacrifices must be made. It is nonetheless true that some among us (who wish to remain anonymous) who have difficulty imagining what they could be. Which proves the other old axiom of government: There are priorities and there are priorities - usually defined as yours, mine and ours.

For one thing, this is hunting season. Pheasant are fair game. And rifles need to be sighted in for the upcoming deer season. Not to mention it's time for bringing in wood so the old fireplace can get a good workout. This is also the right season for working on one's recipe for hot bread pudding.

People who aren't concerned with any of the above activities might have other things to consider, but there are some among us (who still wish to remain anonymous) who have difficulty imagining what they could be. Which proves the other old axiom of government: There are priorities and there are priorities - usually defined as yours, mine and ours.

Weekly Legislative Update

Dealing with cuts in special session

Greetings from the Unicameral! Unlike the Legislature's regular sessions, a special session is limited not just in time, but also in the scope of legislation that can be considered.

Because Governor Heineman has called the current special session for the purpose of making cuts to the state budget, any proposals by senators that would increase taxes or otherwise fall outside of the narrowly defined scope cannot be considered by the Legislature.

One of the items included in Governor Heineman's proposed budget reductions during the special session is an across-the-board cut for the majority of state agencies, including those that are funded by cash funds and user fees.

Among those agencies are the Nebraska Corn Board, Nebraska Wheat Board, and other agricultural commodity boards designed

Legislative
Update
By: State Senator
Bob Giese, District #17

to promote and develop agriculture in the state, and whose budgets are entirely funded by commodities check-offs paid by Nebraska farmers. I believe that transferring these check-off funds to help balance the budget, while it would "share the pain", would amount to levying an additional tax on ag producers when they can least afford it. I plan to oppose any efforts to use these check-off funds for non-agricultural purposes, and am co-sponsoring LB 11, which would prohibit transfers from these funds to the state's general fund.

Thankfully, cuts to state aid to K-12 schools during the current school year were not included in the governor's proposal. It does, however, propose to freeze the state aid funding formula for the 2010-11 school year, which would eliminate a planned increase of more than $47 million to local school districts throughout the state.

To address these proposed cuts, the Education Committee will be holding a hearing early this week on possible changes to the funding formula that are designed to ensure that the burden of cuts would not hit certain school districts more than others. Throughout this ongoing discussion within the committee, my office plans to maintain an open dialogue with local school officials. While the state aid formula may be unable to avoid cuts altogether, I am hopeful that any cuts to individual districts can be minimized as much as possible.

As always, I would encourage you to contact me if you have any questions or simply have an opinion on legislation before the Unicameral. Feel free to call my office at (402) 471-2716, send me an e-mail at bgiese@leg.ne.gov, or stop by in person any time you're in Lincoln.

I look forward to seeing fans of the Winside Wildcats during the State Volleyball Tournament this week!

New GI Bill good for distance learning/online courses, certificate testing, votec training as well as college

The passing of the new Post 9/11 GI Bill has caused hundreds of thousands of veterans to apply for college.

The GI Bill program provides higher education and housing funding for any veteran who served 90 days or more on or after Sept. 11, 2001.

Beneficiaries of the bill may use the funds to pay for certification testing, enroll in undergraduate and graduate degree programs, or receive vocational training at VA-approved institutions nationwide, including 26 distance learning and online schools.

The amount of assistance available to each applicant is dependent on several factors, including time served and active duty or reserve status.

Under the new program, called Chapter 33, veterans may receive coverage for up to 100 percent of their tuition and fees.

Funds were set to be made available on Aug. 1, of this year, which resulted in high volumes of veterans enrolling in higher education programs in the fall semester.

The VA expects up to 440,000 students to apply for funding from the new program next year, a significant increase from the 305,000 who benefited from the Montgomery Bill this year, the Statesman Journal reported.

Additional opportunities for military students

Higher enrollments due to the new bill have inspired some schools to engage in other alliances and programs catered to veteran or active-duty students, Caller.com reported.

Texas A and M at Corpus

Christi joined the Servicemembers Opportunity Colleges consortium, which allows military to take courses at or near military installations, at sea or on Navy ships during their off-duty hours through correspondence or online programs.

Del Mar College has also announced it will charter the Del Mar Student Veterans Chapter of the American GI Forum, the country's first student chapter of the American GI Forum.

Many online colleges are also offering special tuition discounts for military students and other programs to help servicemembers adjust to academic life.

As schools continue to make education more accessible to veteran and active-duty soldiers, departments of the U.S. military are developing programs in addition to the GI Bill to create greater opportunities for their members.

The increasing number of financial aid options for former or current members of the military may allow active-duty or veteran students to obtain a higher education through convenient methods, such as online degree programs.

This will be Santa Claus' first trip of the year to the area during the craft show on Friday evening, so bring your children. Santa will be talking with the children and his elves will be present to pass out candy to all of the good boys and girls on Santa's list.

WAARSP meets in Wayne

The Wayne Area Association of Retired School Personnel met Nov. 2, at The Oaks with 16 members answering roll call.

President Marilyn Leighton called the meeting to order and distributed certificates of appreciation for 1,509 volunteer hours and 702 hours with youth activities.

Mrs. Leighton reported on attending the state convention in September.

Speakers were senators who spoke on the Safe Haven Law and updates on the state's tax situation. Next year will be the 50th state convention and plans are being made for the event.

Arlene Ostendorf, the group's health informer, read a poem, "Pills," as well as giving information on the importance of Vitamin D.

Jeff Morlok, guest speaker for the day, was presented by Gertrude Vahlkamp and spoke on "Radon." He noted the high concentration of radon in Wayne County and showed a testing kit. He outlined the follow-up procedure necessary to reduce the level.

Inhaling radon particles can develop into lung cancer.

It is a tasteless, odorless, invisible gas and is the second leading cause of lung cancer.

The next meeting for the group will be Monday, Jan. 4, 2010, at 10 a.m., at Tacos & More in Wayne. Officers will be in charge of the program.

Following the meeting, a soup, sandwich and dessert lunch were served at The Oaks.

Leather and Lace dancers conduct Halloween dance

About 30 participants danced to the caller Dean Hanke at the Leather and Lace Halloween dance.

The dancers were treated to taverns for lunch.

The free pass went to Janet Mansfield and split the pot went to Vernon Bauermeister, Sandy Preston and Rick Christensen. The dancers were reminded to attend Norfolk 49's free 60th anniversary dance Nov. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

Single Wheelers took the Club Banner and Leather and Lace dancers retrieved their Banner the following week.

The next scheduled dance will be Friday, Nov. 13, with a Veterans Dance at the Wayne City Auditorium at 7:30 p.m., and members are reminded to bring snacks for the evening.

Spectators are always welcome.

Briefly Speaking

Acme Club meets at Tacos' & More

WAYNE — Members of the Acme Club met Nov. 2 at Tacos' & More with Verdelle Reeg as hostess.

The Thought for the Day was a poem, "Autumn Glory." Roll call was to tell of a favorite thing to see or do in the fall. Club members voted to give a donation to the Veterans' Memorial. Bonnadell Koch is making tray favors to take to the hospital for Veterans' Day.

Verdelle Reeg gave an interesting program about the National Eagle Center at Wabasha, Minn. that she had visited recently.

The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 16 with Joann Temme as hostess.

Winter Bridge played at Senior Center

AREA — The Winter Bridge group met on Tuesday, Nov. 10 at the Wayne Senior Center with 16 persons attending. Bridge was played at four tables.

Hostesses were Norma Backstrom and Lucille Peterson.

Bridge will be played again on Tuesday, Nov. 17. For reservations, contact hostesses Jerry Sharpe at 375-3855 or Barb Greve at 375-2309.

The Question of Faith

Do you believe in God? Are you Agnostic? Are you Atheist? Does faith or disbelief in anything spiritual shape your life?

In these difficult economic times, people are questioning their faith and spiritual belief systems more than ever before. And, following suit, mainstream media and "pop culture" are addressing this issue. For example, the Associated Press (AP) has recently announced that England's former Prime Minister Tony Blair and Nashville's country music star, Dolly Parton will be featured in a new BBC series exploring how faith shapes lives. Also featured will be Nobel Peace Prize winner Archbishop Desmond Tutu. The program explores the role religious belief plays in the lives of high-profile figures. Few could have predicted that the Almighty would recruit a trio as unlikely as Tony Blair, Dolly Parton and Archbishop Desmond Tutu to explain the importance of faith. However, belief in God (or not) isn't discriminatory. It is among people of all faiths, religions, races, economic status and gender.

Blair will talk about his conversion to Catholicism, while Parton will explain how she balances her faith with her flirtatious, sexy stage image. Parton has often joked on TV talk shows that when she was a little girl growing up in the mountains of Tennessee, she admired the women who wore bright red lipstick, high heels and lots of high teased hair. When she asked her mother who these women were, her mother said, "Oh, they're trash." So, Dolly wanted to grow up being "trash" just like those other women.

"All the interviewees come from very different backgrounds, but what binds them together is the fact that, although their faith has been challenged, they've emerged with strong spiritual beliefs," said Fern Britton, the show's presenter.

Blair, who left the Anglican church to become a Catholic two years ago, talks about his conversion and his decision to set up a faith foundation to get people from different religions working together. Despite Alastair Campbell's famous declaration, "We don't do God," Blair's conversion to Catholicism - just before Christmas 2007 - had been widely predicted. His wife, Cherie, and their children, are Catholics and he spoke earlier this year about how much her faith had informed his own. "Frankly," this all began with my wife," he said in August this year. "I began to go to mass and we went together. We could have gone to the Anglican or Catholic church - guess who won?"

He also described how natural and comforting his reception into the church had been. "Ever since I began preparations to become a Catholic, I felt I was coming home, and this is now where my heart is, where I know I belong," he said.

Speaking at the time, a Vatican spokesman said the conversion of "such an authoritative personality" could only give rise to joy and respect. The Tony Blair Faith Foundation was set up in May 2008 to promote cooperation between faiths.

Parton, meanwhile, reveals how she manages to balance her religion with her famously pneumatic image. The singer, best known for her songs Jolene and I Will Always Love You, feels she has disproved her Tennessee preacher grandfather's adage that "A dancing foot and a praying knee don't fit on the same leg." Doesn't all music come from the heavens?

Dolly Parton is the most honored female country performer of all time. Achieving 25 RIAA certified gold, platinum and multi-platinum awards, she has had 25 songs reach number 1 on the Billboard Country charts, a record for a female artist. She has 41 career top 10 country albums, a record for any artist, and she has 110 career charted singles over the past 40 years. All-inclusive sales of singles, albums, hits collections, paid digital downloads and compilation usage during her Hall of Fame career have reportedly topped a staggering 100 million records world-wide.

She has garnered seven Grammy Awards, 10 Country Music Association Awards, five Academy of Country Music Awards, three American Music Awards and is one of only five female artists to win the Country Music Association's Entertainer of the Year Award.

In 1999, Dolly Parton was inducted as a member of the Country Music Hall of Fame. She has her own star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame and became a member of the National Academy of Popular Music Songwriters Hall of Fame in 2001. Broadcast Music, Inc. honored Dolly with their Icon Award in 2003, and in 2004, the U.S. Library of Congress presented her with their Living Legend Award for her contribution to the cultural heritage of the United States. This was followed in 2005 with the National Medal of Arts, the highest honor given by the U.S. government for excellence in the arts.

Yet with all of the national and international recognition given her, Dolly Parton calls the bronze statue of her, which stands on the courthouse lawn in her hometown of Sevierville, Tennessee, her "greatest honor, because it came from the people who know me."

Archbishop Tutu, who describes a life spent as "a prisoner of hope," jokingly confesses that he would like to ask God, "Whose side are you on?" Desmond Mpilo Tutu was born October 7, 1931. He is a South African cleric and activist who rose to worldwide fame during the 1980s as an opponent of apartheid. In 1984, Tutu became the second South African to be awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. Tutu was the first black South African Anglican Archbishop of Cape Town, South Africa, and primate of the Church of the Province of Southern Africa (now the Anglican Church of Southern Africa). Tutu chaired the Truth and Reconciliation Commission and is currently the chairman of The Elders. Tutu is vocal in his defense of human rights and uses his high profile to campaign for the oppressed. Tutu also campaigns to fight AIDS, tuberculosis, homophobia, poverty and racism. He received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1984, the Albert Schweitzer Prize for Humanitarianism, the Gandhi Peace Prize in 2005[1] and the Presidential Medal of Freedom in 2009. Tutu has also compiled several books of his speeches and sayings.

For the fourth Fern Britton Meets...Program in the faith series, the former BBC This Morning host will interview Sheila Hancock, the actor and a Quaker, who has lost two husbands to cancer. Following the death of her second husband, John Thaw, she wrote two autobiographical books. More recently, she has traded the simplicity of the meeting house for a nun's habit and the boards of the West End to play Mother Superior in the musical version of Sister Act.

The new BBC chat show series begins on November 30 and will be broadcast every Sunday for four consecutive weeks until Christmas. Fern, the bubbly presenter, said there was a pattern to her eclectic guest list. "All the interviewees come from different backgrounds, but what binds them together is the fact that, although their faith has been challenged, they've emerged with strong spiritual beliefs," she said.

Worship times to change at Journey Christian Church

Starting, Sunday, Nov. 22, Journey Christian Church will be offering their two worship services on Sundays at 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

Both services will be the same, featuring authentic praise and practical, biblical messages in a friendly, come-as-you-are atmosphere.

Sunday School for all ages will be offered during the 9 a.m. hour and Children's Church will be offered during the 10:30 hour.

Journey Christian Church seeks to be a place for all people to connect to God, to each other and to the world.

"The purpose of this change is to allow us to continue to grow and impact more people with the love of Jesus Christ," says Troy Reynolds, preaching minister.

Journey Christian invites members of northeast Nebraska to worship with them at either of their services - 9 a.m. or 10:30 a.m.

Keep the Faith

A large crowd was on hand for the Keep the Faith concert on Sunday at First Presbyterian Church in Wayne. Following the performance, soup and sandwiches were served. The event raised $458, of which 100 percent will go to the Wayne Ministerial Emergency Fund to use to help people in need. Members of the group include, left to right, Brenda Nissen, Dr. James Lindau, Madge Brufflat, Alan Brufflat and Sherie Lundahl.

CARING KIND AWARD

Paulette Hanson, laboratory supervisor at the Johnson County Hospital, was chosen as Johnson County Hospital's Caring Kind Employee for 2009.

The award is sponsored by the Nebraska Hospital Association. She was recognized during a luncheon held at the Nebraska Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln on Oct. 16, celebrating the 30th anniversary of the annual Caring Kind Employee.

Hanson is a native of Concord. Her parents are Vandelyn Hanson and the late Bud Hanson.

Joining Paulette at the luncheon were her mother, Vandelyn, sister, Doreen Lawrence of Waverly and Diane Newman, administrator of the Johnson County Hospital.

"I believe the way you are is because of the way your parents and grandparents bring you up," Paulette said.

In addition to her work as a laboratory supervisor at the hospital, Paulette currently serves as a member of the STEPS Team at the Johnson County Hospital. The STEPS Committee is involved in addressing patient safety issues. She previously served on the Tecumseh Rescue Squad for 30 years. She served as a member of the Johnson County Ambulance Board for several years as well.

RUTH CIRCLE

Ruth Circle met Nov. 5 at the church with six members present.

Avis Pearson led the business meeting and opened with devotions and prayer from the Book of Romans.

Following the reports, election of circle officers was held. Naomi Peterson was nominated as the new Leader for 2010. Evonne Magnuson volunteered to serve as Secretary.

Paulette Hanson

Suzie Johnson volunteered to serve refreshments at the November general meeting which will be held Thursday, Nov. 19. Reports will be given from the WELC convention held in September and each member is asked to remember her ThankOffering Box.

Plans are underway for the Advent Luncheon to be held on Wednesday, Dec. 2 at 6:30 p.m. Naomi Peterson and Lyla Swanson are in charge of the program.

Verlyn Anderson volunteered to give the January, 2010 Bible Study and Evonne Magnuson and Avis Pearson will host.

Vandelyn Hanson led the Bible Study from Paul's Letter to the Romans entitled "Hope Does Not Disappoint." Members studied how to follow St. Paul as the Navigator, his signs and symbols that will help us to know where we have been, our final destination and just how to get there with the help of God's Grace.

The offering was lifted and table grace said. Hanson served as hostess.

PhUn Day activity

Bruflat to present Senior Recital at Nebraska Wesleyan

Emily Bruflat will present a Senior Recital on the campus of Nebraska Wesleyan University on Nov. 22 at 3 p.m.

The recital, free and open to the public, will be held in O'Donnell Auditorium at 50th and Huntington Streets in Lincoln and will feature works for piano, organ and harpsichord by Bach, Mozart, Chopin, Debussy, Rachmaninoff and more.

Emily Bruflat

Emily, a 2006 graduate of Wayne High School, is completing her final year of study at Nebraska Wesleyan, majoring in Instrumental Music Education (emphasis in piano) and minoring in English.

Emily said, "This is my seventh semester of study in piano with Dr. Larry Jones. I met Dr. Jones on a campus visit and knew right away that we would work well together; his upbeat personality woke me up to more aspects of the piano than I thought possible."

Emily previously studied piano in Wayne with Marcile Uken for 13 years and Dr. Linda Christensen for two semesters.

Aside from lessons and accompanying, Emily has also discovered an interest in composing and arranging. Several of her arrangements have been performed at Wesleyan concerts; one, "Be Thou My Vision/Amazing Grace," has been performed on tour, for the Nebraska Music Educators Association Convention, and for the 2009 baccalaureate ceremony.

After graduating in the spring of 2010, Emily hopes to continue her education in music.

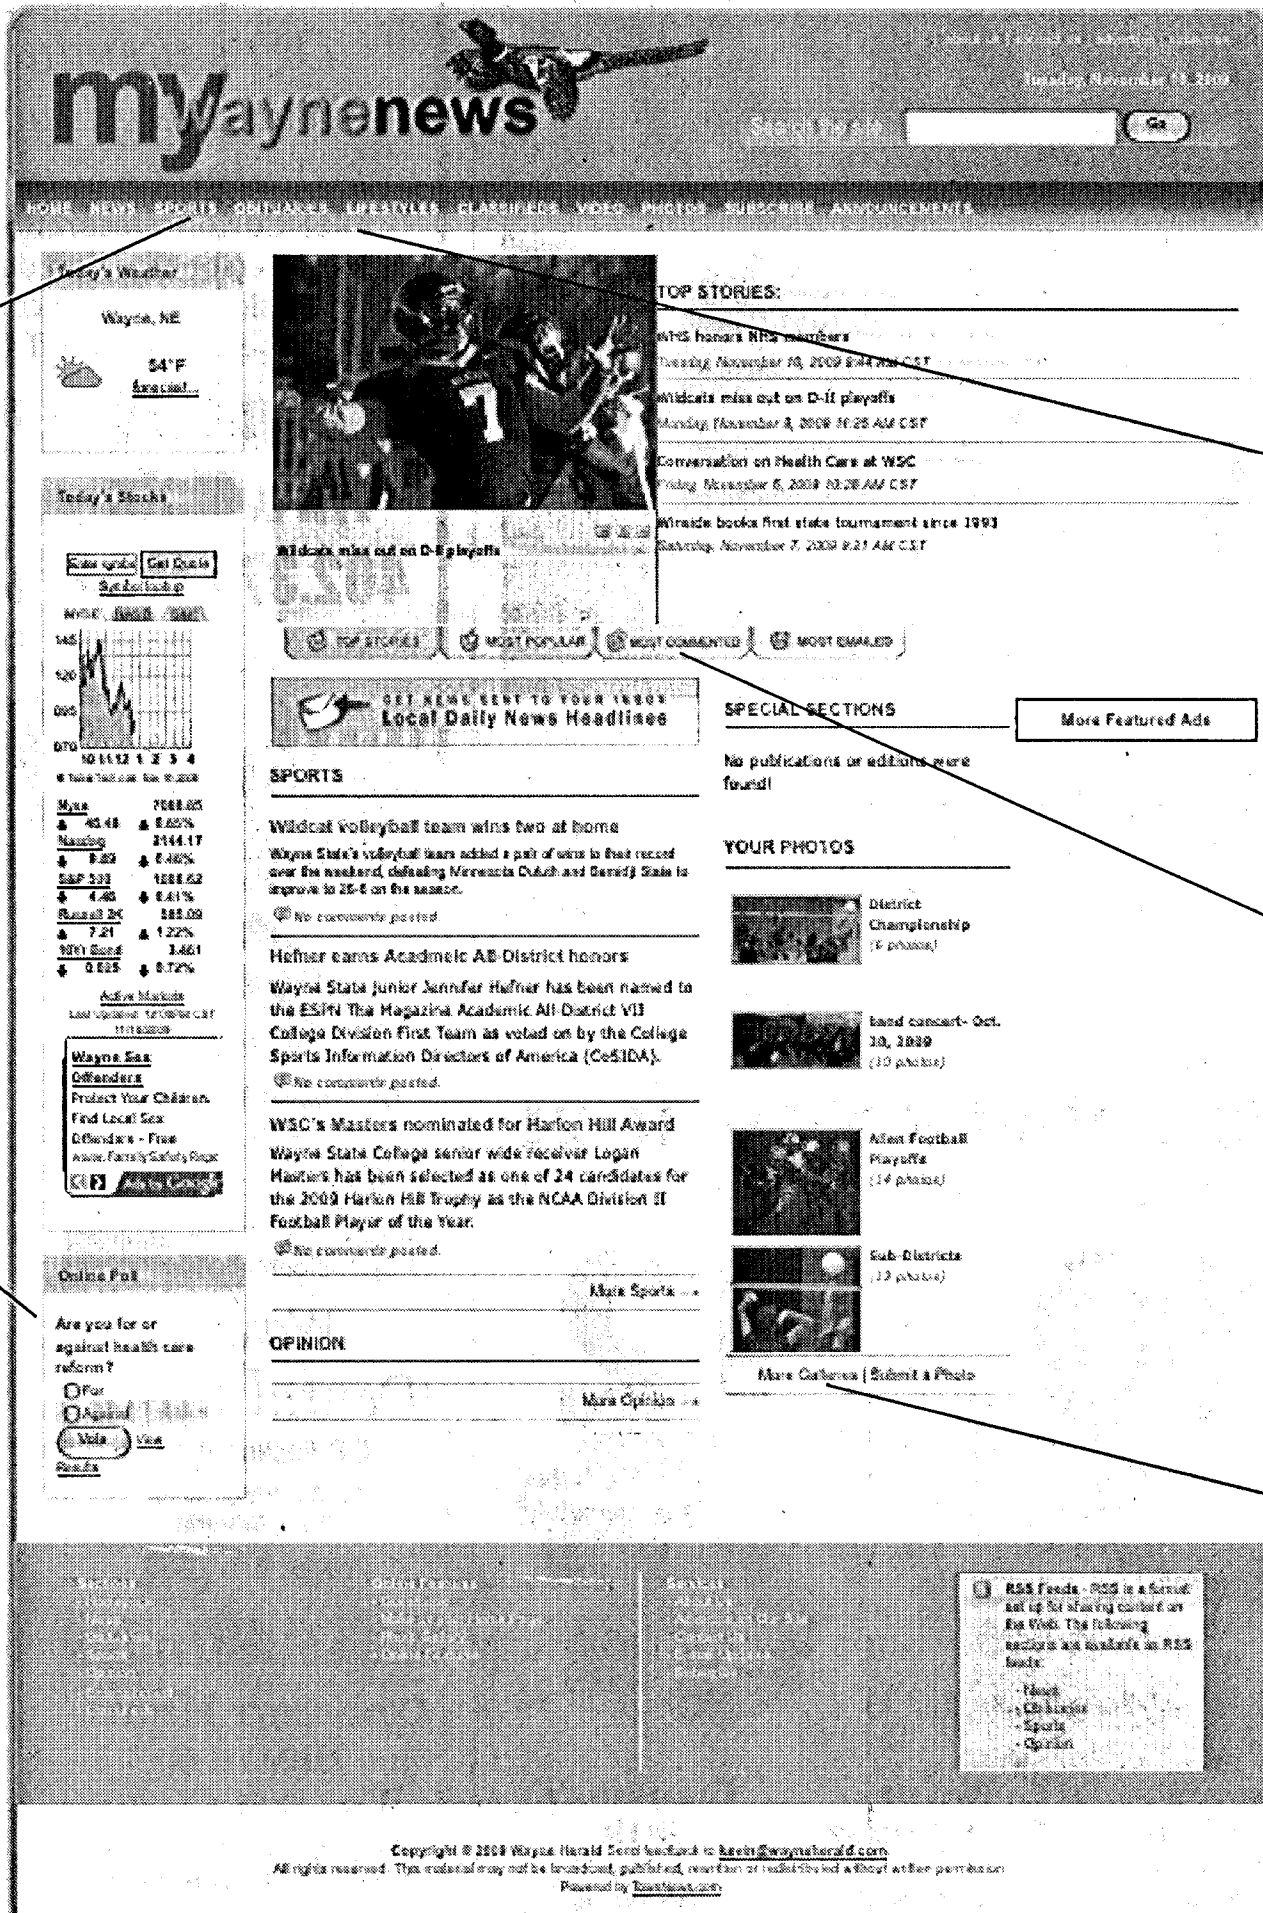

She said, "I know I will graduate with the desire and motivation to continue my study. My time at Wesleyan has been instrumental in cultivating my passion for the piano."

Emily is grateful for all the support in music that she has received over the years from her family, church, school, and community. All have been "instrumental" in shaping the person she is today. She is looking forward to seeing many of those supportive faces in the audience at her Senior Recital.

Emily is the daughter of Alan and Marge Bruflat of Wayne.

Musical events provide enjoyment

We have been enjoying the scenes from the Brandenburg Gate in Berlin this weekend.

Today is the celebration of twenty years since the Wall fell. I remember sitting alone in the living room on the farm, crying because I had thought I would not live to see that day. A year later, we were in the Black Forest as the country observed Reconciliation Day.

In all the news coverage, I have not found any mention of the role that Christian churches played in the eventual opening of the gates. So, as usual, I went to the faithful computer and googled "St. Nicholas Church, Leipzig, Germany." You may want to do the same thing. It all started there with prayer services on Monday evenings at 5 pm. Eventually, when the 2000 folks who were in the building went out into the square, carrying candles, there were thousands of others. It was a totally non-violent protest; as one participant stated, "when you are carrying a candle, it takes two hands. You cannot carry a gun or a stick in one." And one of the German hierarchy is quoted as saying, "we were prepared for everything but the prayers and the candles."

I was on Highway 6 on Sunday, and there were fifteen trucks lined up at the Greenwood elevator. The Big Farmer asked, "semis?" My answer: all kinds of trucks!

Big ones, little ones, and even a rock truck that is ordinarily used to haul all that white limestone rock in Cass County. I am quite sure they were all there today, too; thank goodness for warm, dry weather!

Last week turned out to be a totally musical week for yours truly. A friend called on Saturday, while I was in Crete doing an insurance assessment, to say she had two tickets for White Christmas at the Orpheum on Sunday. Someone who had planned to go with her could not, did I want to? Mike answered in the affirmative for me, and then checked the calendar.

It was old-fashioned, a colorful production, and just very sweet. Lots of good music you could sing along to (but I didn't) until the last chorus of White Christmas when they invited us to join them. There was Blue Skies, Snow, Til There Was You, all accompanied by an orchestra.

On Wednesday evening, several of us got together at the Embassy for supper and then walked to the Lied Center for Camelot. Another old-fashioned, musical story. I had a hard time not singing with these folks, too! How Do You Handle a Woman? The Merry Month of May, If Ever I Would Leave You were really hard to resist.

There is a church downtown that has a wonderful new pipe organ, and to showcase it, they have something all winter called First Friday. A different organist plays over the noon hour, and there is no admission. This week, the organist from one of the other Lincoln churches was featured, but she invited the assistant music director to join her on the grand piano. The girl happens to be the granddaughter of one of my old Waco friends, a senior majoring in piano performance at UNL. It was good stuff, on my two favorite instruments. Now, I have to get ready for state volleyball!!!!

Crop Enterprise Budgets to be released soon

Well, everyone's mood is a little better around the area as the weather has given us a break and allowed most of the soybean harvest to be completed.

We should be done harvesting soybeans in the next few days barring machinery problems, and most of the farmers have begun to harvest corn.

Corn moistures are still pretty high and many farmers have to slow down harvest to dry corn before storage.

The 2010 Crop Enterprise Budgets will soon be published. They will also be available on the web in two places: the University of Nebraska's "Crop Watch" Website (cropwatch.unl.edu) in the Economics and Marketing section, and on the Agricultural Economics Website at www.agecon.unl.edu. The Agricultural Economics Department at the University of Nebraska has been publishing crop budgets since 1975.

The approach to budgeting has changed over the years as producers have adopted new production systems.

In 1975, all budgets reflected systems using conventional tillage methods. As the number of production systems used by Nebraska producers increased, the practice of creating different budgets for different parts of the state was replaced with creating budgets using these different production systems.

The 2010 budgets include 13 different systems for corn production.

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension
Educator

These systems differ in how water is applied, tillage system used, type of rotation and seed type used.

In addition to budgets for corn, the 2010 crop budgets include eight soybean, seven alfalfa, five wheat, four grain-sorghum, two sunflower and sugar beets, and one each dry beans, sorghum-sudan, millet, pasture, oats, grass and grass hay. The result is 48 distinct crop budgets.

The purpose of the published budget is to provide information for producers in helping to create their own budgets, tailored to each unique operation.

The published budgets represent neither specific operations nor averages. One would expect that producers using new machinery would have lower repair and higher machinery ownership costs, while those using older machinery would spend more on repairs, but their ownership costs would be less.

An assumption was made that machinery was fully utilized. Underutilized machinery would increase all operational costs.

The variability in the price of inputs continues to be something everyone should be cognizant of when using any budgeting tool.

Uncertain prices for inputs was a particular problem in the 2009 budgets, since there was a huge fluctuation from the Fall of 2008, to the Spring of 2009 in fuel and fertilizer prices.

Visit the Websites and see how your operation compares to the budgets listed.

USDA still expecting record Nebraska corn crop

The latest federal forecast shows no change in expectations for a record Nebraska corn crop.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that, based on Nov. 1 conditions, the corn crop should hit 1.58 billion bushels - 14 percent higher than last year's 1.39 billion bushels.

The Nebraska corn crop record was set in 2007 - 1.47 billion bushels; the 2009 forecast exceeds that by 8 percent.

The yield is forecast at a record 178 bushels an acre, which would be 12 bushels higher than the Nebraska high mark set in 2004.

Soybean production is forecast at 247 million bushels - 9 percent higher than last year and the second-highest on record. Yield is forecast at 52 bushels an acre. That's a bushel higher than the record set in 2007.

The truth about marriage and family

Couples and families have it in their power to be happy with each other and create pleasant and peaceful home environments in which they may live together.

Our aim in writing about getting connected and staying connected is to accentuate the positive to show clearly and simply how happy couple and family relationships are created and maintained over time.

So then, what is the truth about marriage and family today? How are families doing? Researchers do not have the ability (or the invitation) to go behind closed doors, like the proverbial fly on the wall, and observe what is going on in all the couple and family relationships around the world.

There are literally 32 different types of strong families – not just mom, dad and children – so it is important to focus on the quality of the relationships inside these family structures.

What makes a strong family? We believe the answer lies in the strengths of the relationship; these strengths have emerged over the past 35 years from research at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and allied institutions around the world.

These strengths include appreciation and affection for each other, commitment to the family, positive communication, enjoyable time together, spiritual well-being and the ability to manage stress and crisis effectively.

The six strengths are not independent of each other but are closely related to each other. Appreciation and affection make positive communication happen; commitment to the family makes it easier to manage stress and crisis effectively and so forth.

The goal is not to work hard at being married and living in a family. The goal should be to live our lives in a way in which we find the time to create precious and intimate moments with each family member. If we have the good sense to be able to do that, everything else will likely fall into place.

Life has never been easy, and David H. Olson says, "All the problems in the world either begin in families or end up in families." Many families can create their own problems by being argumentative and violent; have drug and alcohol issues, or relationship issues.

The rest of the problems families face, in Olson's view, are problems the family did not create but were thrust upon the family by the outside world. For example, war, economic issues, or unkind acts of Mother Nature.

The family specialists outline 10 major challenges families face today. These challenges include: stress, change, and materialism; lack of time for oneself and significant others; increasing use of child care outside the family; instability of couple and family relationships; violence, criminal victimization, and fear; use of alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs, the Internet and human relationships; changing gender roles and the balance of power in families; urban migration and overcrowding; and financial problems and the global economy.

If it is true that all the problems in the world either begin or end up in families, the importance of the family as an instrument of safety, stability, and comfort for individuals becomes undeniable. The family becomes, in the proverbial sense, the haven in a heartless world that we all seek. And, the foundation of many families is a strong marriage.

Sociologist Linda Waits argues that marriage can be good for a person's physical and mental health, good for financial stability, good for one's sex life, and good for one's children. Like exercising and eating right, getting married is another step toward living longer and better.

In a strong marriage the partners value and cherish each other. They care for, counsel, nurture, encourage and love each other, helping their partner through life's most difficult times, and enjoying countless good times together.

These innumerable little gifts partners bestow on each other lead to a better and more confident attitude toward life, the belief that one can succeed in his or her efforts.

This does not mean that you should run out and get married today, but our focus here will steadfastly remain on how to create and maintain a sound relationship. In essence, how to get connected and how to stay connected.

Real Life Story
"The everyday rituals such as a kiss good morning, a kiss goodbye, or a good night hug are the most meaningful. Mealtimes are the things that sustain us. We work very hard to eat together each day."

Tips for Strengthening Your Relationship

1. Marry your best friend.
2. Find a partner you can give unconditional love to and receive unconditional love from.
3. Somehow every day let your partner know specific things you appreciate about him/her.

Ruth Vonderohe
Extension Educator

4. Somehow every day take time to nurture your couple relationship, just the two of you.

Youths can attend Ducks Unlimited Banquet for free

The first 50 kids, 16 years of age and younger, (must be accompanied by DU Adult Member) will be able to attend this year's Ducks Unlimited Banquet for free.

The Wayne area Chapter of Ducks Unlimited is looking to the next generation of wildlife conservationist and hunters. Greenwings: (DU young members 16 years old and younger) are able to attend the 2009 banquet for free when accompanied by an adult DU member.

Chairman Kent Bearnes of Laurel said that the Wayne Area chapter has been given a sponsor gift to support the Greenwings in the local area. The chapter will pay for the "Greenwing" youth membership in DU and meal for the first 50 to register. The banquet will be held Nov. 20, at the Nebraska National Guard Armory in Wayne.

A social will begin at 5:30 p.m. followed by the dinner and auction at 7. Committee member Rob Bose of Emerson, said, that the new generation of hunters will be the leaders of conservation in the future, and that focus on the Greenwings in the area are important to future programming and events.

Committee member Greg Urwiler of Laurel, said all Greenwings will also be in a drawing for a youth DU gun.

Tickets are available at the door or from a committee member. A single is $40 with couples at $60; Greenwing at $15 and National Sponsorship is $265. This also includes dinner and membership in DU. This year's banquet will include an auction of both collectible DU art and memorabilia and other useful items for the hunter.

Other Wayne area members to call for tickets include: B.J. Woehler, Mitch Lanser, Adam Dorey, Matt Haschke, Chad Frideres; from Laurel: Steve Smith, Chad Johnson, Tim Bearnes and Greg Urwiler; from Emerson: Rob Bose.

Wakefield NHS inducts nine

The Wakefield Chapter of the National Honor Society held their annual Induction Ceremony on Oct. 21. Current NHS members read information about the National Honor Society, and "tapped" the new members. The nine new NHS members, four seniors and five juniors, all recited the NHS pledge, signed the constitution, and received a pin and a rose. Current members include Libby Henschke, T.J. Rose, Alex Schultz and Tyler Bodlak. Sponsor is Mrs. Jean Dorey. The 2009 NHS inductees are front row, left to right, Hayley Zamzow, Tara Bjorkland, Alison Luhr and Amanda Luhr. Back row, Keri Lunz, Jenna Henderson, Scott Wageman, Cody Henschke and Brock Soderberg.

Stories of Inspiration focus of quilt display

For Diane Gubbels of rural Coleridge, every quilt which she makes reflects some possibly simple but special time in her life. These times can be as ordinary as a forgotten dandelion poking its head up through a bush, to the inspiration of music, children's artwork, or even to conversation or feelings which she has at a given point in time.

Gubbels' career as a serious quilter began when she was asked by her parish priest to make a set of special vestments for his silver jubilee. She thanks the priest for the confidence which he had in her talents and acknowledges that this gift gave her the wings to expand her quilting talent. Since that first set of vestments, she has sewn seven other sets of vestments, numerous sanctuary banners and banners for area marching bands.

Gubbels does not always follow a commercially made pattern but designs her own patterns. She says that inspiration for a quilt comes to her both day and night. Sometimes a night-time inspiration will be quickly sketched out and in the morning if it still looks good, she will design and make the quilt.

Gubbels has made many interesting quilts including a quilt which incorporated the naval uniforms, pictures and other service memorabilia for a service man. Although some of her quilts are made for specific purposes, she says that she is happiest when she is swimming in a sea of fabric and listening for her own inner voice and trusting her own design ideas.

When inspiration guides her work, she states that she just tries to be open to the simple but beautiful things in life. Fabric is her medium like paint is the medium for artists, or wood is the medium for the carver. In her stories, she urges the listener to look for the inspiration in their own lives.

Diane Gubbels will have her Stories of Inspiration Quilt Trunk Show at the Little Red Hen Theatre in the 300 block of Main Street in Wakefield. The show will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Diane Gubbels, left, will have quilts on display at the Little Red Hen Theatre in Wakefield. With her is Janet Sievers, owner of The Quilt Shop.

on Sunday, Nov. 15. Admission to the show is $5 per person. Tickets may be purchased in advance at The Quilt Shop or at Gardner Public Library both located in Wakefield. Tickets will also be available at the door.

This show is being sponsored by The Quilt Shop in Wakefield and Gardner Public Library in Wakefield. For those quilters responding to their own inspirations, The Quilt Shop in Wakefield will be open from noon to 1:30 p.m. and then open again until 6 p.m. following the show.

Nelson named president of national association

Cory D. Nelson, the administrator of the South Dakota Human Services Center in Yankton, S.D., has been elected president of the Western Psychiatric State Hospital Association during its annual meeting.

Nelson is formerly from Carroll and is a graduate of Wayne High School.

WPSHA is committed to ensuring that effective, state-of-the-art mental health treatment and rehabilitation services are provided to people served by publicly operated hospitals. The association serves as a model for regional collaboration by providing opportunities for continued education and leadership development of the executive management of state psychiatric hospitals. It also ensures participation in the national policy debate of issues relevant to public hospital services.

WPSHA provides its members with a forum for resources, sharing of expertise and joint research to improve services. The WPSHA region includes Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming and South Dakota.

Nelson has been recognized within the western states for his innovation, as evidenced through the progressive approach to treatment and services provided for the SDHSC.

As WPSHA President, Nelson will preside at all meetings of the association and the Board of Directors and will be a key contact for the organization. As the WPSHA spokesperson, Nelson will provide input on national policy development on such issues as standards of care, federal regulations and the Joint Commission. He becomes the first officer elected to the organization from South Dakota and will serve a three-year term.

Busy season

Fishers of Kids Preschool of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne has had a busy fall. Dr. Jodi Pulfer came to teach students how to care for pets. With a Community People and Places theme, students and volunteers visited the Wayne fire station (above, right), post office, and Wayne Herald (above, left). A special guest, Hilda Pearson from Wakefield, visited the Fall Party to share her hippo collection. "We would like to thank the community businesses for opening their doors to us," said Ann Steinmeyer, teacher of Fishers of Kids.
