Wayne younger than most towns, NPPD study says Redevelopment resolution approved

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

Statistics on who lives in Wayne County, where they work and retail sales within the county were discussed during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Mary Plettner, with Nebraska Public Power District, presented the results of an Economic and Demographic Trends study prepared by Jenny Overhue, also with Nebraska Public Power District.

The study evaluated a number of population areas in Wayne and surrounding counties and examined how the area compares with non-metropolitan and metropolitan Nebraska also.

Plettner noted that the median age for Wayne County residents in 2008 was 27.5 years of age, compared to 36.2 years of age for residents of Nebraska as a whole.

Overhue attributes this in part to the Wayne State College student population in the community.

Because of the high number of people in the 20-34 age group, Plettner told the council that the city needs to determine what types of businesses could be brought into the community to cater to college-age residents.

Part of the discussion during Plettner's presentation included what the city could do to expand and recruit business into the community and retain the population of the community.

The council took steps to move forward with the building of a 44-room motel in the city of Wayne.

Resolution 2009-100 received unanimous approval from the council members present who were able to vote on the issue.

The resolution approves a Redevelopment Plan/Contract for Northeast Nebraska Investors, LLC for Tax Increment Financing (TIF) funds for the $2.8 million project. The agreement allows for TIF funds in the amount of $481,000 with $356,000 for the motel and $125,000 for streets to be constructed in the area.

Council members Kaki Ley and Jon Haase abstained on the vote due to conflict of interest.

The agreement had earlier been approved by the Planning Commission and the Community Development Agency.

During the meeting the council approved two ordinances and waived the three readings of both.

The first, Ordinance 2009-22, will allow for placing a stop sign at the intersection of Summerfield Drive and Centennial Road.

The second ordinance receiving approval involved amending the city code to change the minimum kwh requirement for a utility customer to be placed on demand from 25 to 50. This minimum change requirement was approved by resolution in March of this year.

On a related item, the council approved Resolution 2009-104 which changed the wording in the city code that requires an electric customer to have a peak demand of 50 kw for three consecutive months before placing them on the demand rate.

The council also unanimously accepted a bid from Gana Trucking & Excavating of Martell for the former Kardell Landfill Stream Restoration Project. The work will stop the erosion of the stream bank, haul out exposed garbage and re-seal the former landfill with packed soil.

The bid was for $115,616.85. This will be paid for in part by an $87,450 grant from the Nebraska Environment Trust Lottery funds and a $25,000 from the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District in the form of a Mitigation Cost Share Grant.

The final item on the agenda was the approval of a $38,000 loan of LB840 funds to James Milliken/Godfather's Pizza.

The money will be used for concrete parking of the Godfather's parking lot at the corner of First and Main Streets.

In addition, the council voted to pay 50 percent for an in-ground crushed concrete filter/soak away box around the existing parking lot drain.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Dec. 1 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

County board opts for part-time hire

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Wayne County Commissioners opted Tuesday to go the part-time route and hold off on a decision to make the county's emergency manager position a full-time job.

The board unanimously approved the hiring of Nick Kemnitz as the county's emergency manager, upgrading him from his unpaid duties as deputy emergency manager. Kemnitz's duties began Wednesday as he will work 15 hours per week in the position.

Board members spent about 45 minutes trying to determine whether or not the position should be a part-time position or a full-time position with county benefits.

Kelvin Wurdeman said his concern was with the current state of affairs with the Nebraska Legislature, which is in the middle of a special session to make up more than $334 million in revenue shortfall.

"With the budget cuts and restraints we're looking at, we probably need to go part-time for now and maybe expand it somewhere down the road," he said. "I just can't see us putting a full-time person on board when the state is cutting $334 million and we don't know yet what cuts are coming."

Wurdeman said he has heard that the state will be asking counties to cut 2.5 percent from their budget this year and 5 percent next year. Grant money is available to make the position a full-time position, but the representative from Wayne was uneasy with using grant money to fund an employee's salary.

"The grant only pays about 50 percent of the salary, and when you throw in the benefits you'd pay more than you would pay for part-time," he said. "Next year, if the grant ties, you just can't say that we're done. Maybe, if we get some retirements down the road, we can combine some

Local clinic conducting toy drive for needy children

Area children are in need of some holiday cheer this winter. To brighten their spirits, Dr. Joelle Herman of Herman Chiropractic is hosting a Gifts for Kids drive from Nov. 23 to Dec. 5.

The clinic is encouraging new patients to stop by for free first day services with their donation of a new, unwrapped toy for a deserving child this holiday season. On Wednesday, Dec. 2, existing patients are also encouraged to bring in a new toy for exchange of an adjustment.

"Our office is really looking forward to giving something back to the community. We love having the opportunity to give our time and talents to people in exchange for their toy donation that will help our local children," said Dr. Herman.

Anyone with questions is asked to contact Dr. Joelle Herman at 402-375-3450.

Laurel, Coleridge boards expand co-op agreement

Residents may option kids to other districts

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Laurel-Concord and Coleridge school districts will expand their co-operative agreement, although the superintendent of both schools admits the decision has sparked emotions from parents.

Monday night, the Laurel-Concord Board of Education, on a 4-1 vote, approved an expansion of a long-standing co-operative agreement with Coleridge Public Schools that will expand into middle and high schools, requiring middle students in Laurel and Concord to be bused to Coleridge, while Coleridge high school students will attend classes in Laurel.

"It's an emotional situation for both the board and the community," superintendent Richard Patton said Wednesday. "I want to keep our students here and be happy, but no matter which way we turn, we will probably lose students. But our goal is to do what's best educationally, which includes spending money effectively and efficiently."

For a number of years, Coleridge students from preschool through fourth grade have made the 11-mile trip to Laurel for classes. The two schools have shared a co-operative arrangement in sports like cross country, wrestling and boys golf.

Now, the Coleridge and Laurel-Concord football teams will come together beginning next fall, and middle school students in Laurel and Concord will make the trip northwest to Coleridge each day, while high school students from Coleridge will come from the north to Laurel for classes.

The two districts already share numerous resources, including administration and teachers. Those arrangements would continue and expand, allowing middle school and high school teachers to focus

Scout Paper Drive set for Saturday

Wayne Boy Scouts will conduct their monthly paper drive on Saturday, Nov. 21.

Recyclables should be placed in paper grocery bags or boxes and set at the curb by 8 a.m. Recyclables may also be dropped off at the Scout trailer at the Transfer Station on Monday, Friday or Saturday mornings.

The Scouts accept newspapers, magazines and catalogs, office and miscellaneous paper, shredded paper, books with hard covers removed, junk mail, and aluminum beverage cans.

All types of paper can be mixed together in the same bag or box. No sorting is needed. All books (including telephone books) can be accepted. The covers on hard-cover only need to be removed. Soft books covers, including telephone books can remain attached. Junk mail can be recycled unopened, even with a window in the envelope. Shredded paper can be mixed together with the other paper or it can be placed in a separate plastic bag.

Aluminum beverage cans must be placed in a separate bag and NOT placed together with paper. The following items are NOT accepted by the Boy Scouts: no plastic, no cardboard items with spiral binding (plastic or metal) can be mixed in with the paper.

The City of Wayne accepts cardboard, plastics, and metal at separate drop off locations at the transfer station.

Questions regarding paper and aluminum can recycling can be directed to Jeff Carstens at 375-3840.

Community Thanksgiving worship event scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 22

"Can living gratefully change a person's whole life?"

Sister Cecilia Polt, who many of us know from her work of compassion at Providence Medical Center in Wayne, believes living gratefully can do just that.

"Gratitude is like a spiral: it begins with waking up to surprises, then experiencing deep thankfulness, with expression in a word, a smile or a kind deed. Then what happens? Greater awareness, more surprises, increased gratefulness, and soon our whole life becomes an expression of gratitude. We have the ability to spread joy and hope wherever we are, and gratitude becomes our newly adopted way of life," Sister Cecilia.

The whole nation is called to grateful living next week in the celebration of Thanksgiving Day. The Wayne Community is invited to give thanks on Sunday, Nov. 22 as well, at the Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers Annual Community Thanksgiving Service.

Organized by the Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministries, the service will be at Our Savior Lutheran Church, beginning at 5 p.m. Our Savior Lutheran Church is located at the corner of Fifth and Main Streets in Wayne.

Clergy from most Wayne congregations will lead the service of song and scripture. Sister Cecilia, one of the Missionary Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk, and Chaplain at Providence Medical since 2005, will share her thoughts of Thanksgiving in a homily.

Sister Cecilia Polt

Scripture readings for the service include Joel 2:21-27, 1 Timothy 2:1-7, and Matthew 6:25-33. Songs and hymns include "Come All You People/Praise to the Lord," Psalm 118- from Gather Comprehensive; "Give Thanks" from the Worship & Praise tradition; a Celtic Alleluia; "Great Is Thy Faithfulness," "For the Beauty of the Earth" and more. Church Musician Lucas Wickstrom of Our Savior Lutheran Church is serving as worship coordinator.

Wayne church members are also providing soups and pies for a 6 p.m. simple social supper in Our Savior's Social Hall for all citizens of the community, whether or not they are members of a local church. The free will offering at the service, supper, and bell choirs concert will provide financial assistance to WACAM, an organization that supports area residents with special needs and to the local food pantry and coat closet. Last year's offering exceeded expectations and caused all to offer another, "Thanks be to God."

Following the soup supper, a Bell Choirs Concert will begin at 7 p.m. Three bell choirs will each offer selections and join in common ringing.

Sister Cecilia, who knows so many community members through her work of spiritual care at Providence Medical Center, was invited to deliver the homily as a well-known friend to the sick and suffering. Sister was born on a farm in Pierce County, made her profession of vows in 1950, attended Duchesne College in Omaha and the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind.

For 21 years she taught at Norfolk Catholic focusing on the fine arts: English, creative writing, speech and art. In 1980 she began her career in spiritual care at Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital, interrupting it for seven years of "mountain ministry" in Eastern Kentucky, and again for one year of teaching novices in Namibia, Southwest Africa.

Sister returned to Norfolk in time for the exciting 1996 "merger" of Our Lady of Lourdes and Lutheran Community Hospitals that became Faith Regional Health Services. In 1999 she was on the team of three sisters who led a 10-day pilgrimage of 50 people to the Holy Land.

In 2005 she became chaplain at Providence Medical Center in Wayne. She hopes to be part of this community for years to come.

Providence Medical Center celebrating 50 years of service

Providence Medical Center Home Health and Hospice is celebrating National Home Care Month. PMC Homecare has been serving Wayne and surrounding communities for nearly 30 years.

Originally, Providence Homecare was part of the former Lutheran Community Hospital of Norfolk, Nebraska. Hospice services were provided by volunteers and managed by Home Health. In 1991, Hospice became Medicare certified and it too became part of the Lutheran Community Hospital. In 1995, Home Health and Hospice became part of Providence Medical Center. In 1996, Providence Homecare initiated a Personal Care Program.

Personal Care serves people that do not meet the Medicare Home Health home-bound criteria, but who still need assistance with personal care. Nurses are available to fill medisets and syringes and assess each patient's physical condition. Nurses aides help with bathing, housekeeping, meal preparation, errands, etc. This service is paid for privately by the patient or family, some long-term care insurance plans, and Agency on Aging or League of Human Dignity grants.

Hospice is a holistic team-centered program, under the direction of each patient's physician and the hospice medical director, who help patients and their families in their final stages of life. A social worker, nurses, chaplain, grief counselor, aides and volunteers specialize in pain and symptom management, and emotional and spiritual support.

The philosophy of PMC Hospice is to help people live until the very last day of their life as comfortable as possible, wherever that may be. PMC Hospice cares for each patient in his/her home, a nursing home, assisted living facility or hospital.

PMC Hospice serves people within a 45-mile radius of Wayne. Staff is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Hospice is available to people when their physician feels aggressive measures will no longer prolong their life or cure their illness, and when comfort and palliative measures are needed.

Most patients with a life-limiting illness may meet the criteria for hospice. This includes patients with end-stage heart failure, COPD, emphysema, cancers, dementia, Alzheimer's, multiple sclerosis, ALS (Lou Gehrig's disease), Parkinson's or those with profound weakness, unintentional weight loss, or overall decline in health.

Hospice services are not designed to replace the family but rather to support the family. Providence Hospice offers a 13-month Bereavement Program, which includes a Memorial Service in the summer and a Tree Lighting Ceremony in December.

Providence Hospice is staffed by three registered nurses, one LPN, six certified nursing assistants, one office manager, a social worker, a chaplain, a grief counselor, and many volunteers. New to the program are music and massage therapies.

PMC Hospice presently has 30 volunteers in the Wayne, Wakefield, Randolph, Laurel, Wisner, Pilger, Dixon and Concord areas.

According to Terri Munter, hospice director, most hospices find that individuals are admitted to hospice care during their final days of life and generally families wish they would have had hospice sooner to help them and their loved one be better prepared. This time of life can be very frightening for both the patient and the family members.

Hospice offers pain control tailored to the patient's wishes, helps with some closure for the patient and family, and at the same time respectfully supports them to make sure their own personal wishes and choices are carried out.

"We take great pride in our service" Munter said. "Our goal is that everyone should be able to die pain-free and with dignity, and that our families should receive enough emotional support to allow them to do so."

For more information about Providence Homecare Services in Wayne, please call (402) 375-4288.

David and Mayor Lois Shelton present a check to Reggie Yates, a member of the Project Majestic steering committee.

Project Majestic work moves forward

Project Majestic has been underway for right at a year now. Reggie Yates, Jeff Morlok and Todd Young were the original steering committee members. Hundreds of hours of volunteer time and talents have been put to use both in the planning for the revitalized theater and the current demolition.

"It has been great to see how the community has responded," commented Jeff Morlok in a recent interview. "The volunteers throughout the demolition process have been very much appreciated—and more work days are scheduled."

Fundraising for the downtown theater renovations has also started. "We are really excited to see how the community will support the financial needs of this project," commented Stephanie Liska, Steering Committee member. In total, the renovation of Wayne's downtown theater will be a community investment of $536,000. "Currently we have commitments for just over $200,000 from local businesses, and we have several grant applications underway as well," adds Liska.

The project will not be complete without the support of Wayne area residents.

Wayne City Mayor Lois and David Shelton are the first of Wayne area residents to make a financial contribution to Project Majestic. "As Mayor, I am thrilled with the planning and the support this town has already shown, this destination is important to Wayne and to the surrounding communities."

David Shelton has already donated countless volunteer hours in the demolition process. "This is an important project for our community, bringing back the opportunity to see a movie in town and watch a live performance is great for Wayne and great for all the residents."

The students at Wayne State College have also stepped up and worked to raise funds. Mayor Shelton comments, "I was very pleased that the Wayne State Student Senate considered this project to be important enough to the college community to make a monetary commitment and challenge the faculty to match it. It would be truly wonderful if both groups exceed their goal. And I am confident that the faculty and staff will join the rest of the community in making a pledge to this project. Even making a contribution equivalent to the cost of a family night at the movie each month will help make this project another success for our community."

Wayne area residents can step up as well and support the revitalization of Wayne's theater by mailing their checks and commitments to PO Box 161 Wayne, Neb. 68787.

"The project and the theater are a non-for profit 501C3 organization. We would encourage all who donate to check with their tax advisors on the deductibility of your contribution," said Tom Hansen, CPA and volunteer for Project Majestic.

According to Jeff Morlok, all the labor and investment that has been

Currently, the steering committee plans to offer a Movie Theater experience for $3 to $4 per ticket with theater concessions. The venue will be available to rent for private meetings and receptions and will feature a catering kitchen. Once completed, Wayne's Community Theater group will also have a venue for performances.

"Wayne has stepped up in the past when the project was right, I'm looking forward to the area residents stepping up again and supporting this opportunity for our community," Mayor Shelton added.

Rotary Club soup and dessert supper scheduled for Dec. 3

Wayne Rotary Club's Annual Soup and Dessert Supper is quickly approaching. This year's event will be held on Thursday, Dec. 3.

With a menu of homemade chili and chicken noodle soup, along with a wide selection of fresh baked pies, the supper is the major fund raising activity for the community service group.

So what does the club raise money for? Rotary Soup and Dessert proceeds are used for four youth-related educational projects.

- $1000 scholarship each year to a Wayne High School senior for studies at Wayne State College. A primary selection criterion for this scholarship is financial need and your support can make the difference in allowing a graduating senior to pursue a college education.

- $500 annual scholarship for a Wayne State College student participating in the campus Rotaract club, a college affiliate of the Rotary International organization. Selection criteria for this scholarship include leadership potential and community service.

- Provide each area third grader with a personal copy of a dictionary. More than 425 dictionaries have been distributed each of the last four years to third-graders in Wayne Elementary and St. Mary's, Allen, Emerson-Hubbard, Laurel-Concord, Pender, Wakefield, Winside, and Wisner-Pilger.

- Annual support for the Wayne TeamMates program including financial support and Rotary members who serve as mentors in the program.

Contributing a festive atmosphere for this year's supper are carolers from the Wayne State College Music Department and the Wayne Community Theatre, as well as a return of the Fantasy Forest. Tasty treats from St. Mary's Bake Sale and a chance to win a Wii game system from the Rotaract Club will be available for purchase.

"Come join the Wayne Rotary Club for soup and dessert on Thursday, Dec. 3 at the Wayne City Auditorium from 5-7:30 p.m.," said Rotary President Darrell Miller.

Tickets are available from Rotary Club members and can also be purchased at the door.

Ley home has unforgettable design

(This is the fifth in a series.)

The biennial Tour of Homes, sponsored by the Friends of the Museum, has been scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21.

Hours for this year's tours will be from 5 to 8 p.m. on Friday and from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Homes on the tour include those of David and Donna Ewing at 1110 Sunset Drive; Cap and Nana Peterson at 502 Douglas Street; Brian and Traci Bruckner at 416 West Ninth Street; Randy and Jill Belt at 625 Fairacres Road and David and Kaki Ley at 1120 Sunset Drive.

The Wayne Museum will be open on the days of the event for ticket sales and refreshments.

Tickets for the tour are $10 each and may be purchased at the local banks. Proceeds from this event, have been designated for exterior painting of the museum.

David and Kaki Ley moved into their home in 1994. It is an example of the popular ranch-style homes that were built in the 1960's. It was built for Carl and Lillian Nuss in 1962. The plan was designed by Kaki's father, Roy Christensen of Carhart Lumber Company.

"There's going to be a lot of paperwork coming down the chute with some of the new regulations,

Kemnitz, a bus driver for Mid-State School Bus, told the board he is looking forward to beginning his duties immediately.

Students earn actor/actress awards

The 2009 Mid-State Conference One-Act Festival was held Monday, Nov. 16, in Norfolk at Johnny Carson Theater. Wayne High School presented "The Insanity of Mary Girard" by Lanie Robertson.

Three of the seven cast members were recognized as outstanding performers, including Tanner Schopke, Katie Kietzmann and Jenny Zink. The judges also named outstanding actors and actresses for the competition. For the third time in four years, Katie Kietzmann was named the Mid-State Conference Outstanding Actress. Sophomore Tanner Schopke was named the Outstanding Actor for 2009.

The next performance will be Monday, Nov. 23, at 6:30 p.m. at the Wayne High School Haun Lecture Hall.

primarily on those grade levels, rather than splitting time between the two levels.

The move is a smart one from a financial perspective, Patton said, as the two districts can continue to receive state aid and Coleridge will not need to close its school.

"I don't think either district is opposed to consolidation, but right now it makes no financial sense," Patton said. "It would cost the two schools upward of $400,000 a year in state aid. If it was a financially sensible thing to look at, we would look very seriously at that. But, at this point, it would be a disadvantage for us to consolidate."

The districts currently share a number of staff, including 11 teachers, two principals, a superintendent, activities director and director of maintenance, Patton said. The districts also share in other expenses, including school buses, and Patton estimated the cost savings to be around $500,000 annually.

The co-operative arrangement will also reduce the number of distance learning classes the two schools would need to offer, as students from both districts would be in the same respective buildings. Had the board decided against the co-operative, Patton said, the Laurel district would need to continue, and possibly expand, its distance learning options.

Patton did concede, however, that the decision to expand the co-operative is not going to sit well with some patrons, who have threatened to option-enroll their children to school districts in Allen, Wayne or Randolph. Patton said the district could lose about $173,000 in state aid if 20 students optioned out of the district.

The co-operative will require the district to add another bus route on the east side of the district. In a summary presented to the Laurel school board, Patton said the additional route would reduce time spent on the bus for most students and the two districts would work to develop the most efficient way to transport students while minimizing the amount of time they spend on the bus.

"There will be inconveniences," Patton told the board. "However, the biggest and most difficult inconvenience will be cutting teachers, reducing programs and limiting future opportunities for our students."

Providence Medical Center celebrating 50 years of service

Providence Medical Center Home Health and Hospice is celebrating National Home Care Month. PMC Homecare has been serving Wayne and surrounding communities for nearly 30 years.

Originally, Providence Homecare was part of the former Lutheran Community Hospital of Norfolk, Nebraska. Hospice services were provided by volunteers and managed by Home Health. In 1991, Hospice became Medicare certified and it too became part of the Lutheran Community Hospital. In 1995, Home Health and Hospice became part of Providence Medical Center. In 1996, Providence Homecare initiated a Personal Care Program.

Personal Care serves people that do not meet the Medicare Home Health home-bound criteria, but who still need assistance with personal care. Nurses are available to fill medisets and syringes and assess each patient's physical condition. Nurses aides help with bathing, housekeeping, meal preparation, errands, etc. This service is paid for privately by the patient or family, some long-term care insurance plans, and Agency on Aging or League of Human Dignity grants.

Hospice is a holistic team-centered program, under the direction of each patient's physician and the hospice medical director, who help patients and their families in their final stages of life. A social worker, nurses, chaplain, grief counselor, aides and volunteers specialize in pain and symptom management, and emotional and spiritual support.

The philosophy of PMC Hospice is to help people live until the very last day of their life as comfortable as possible, wherever that may be. PMC Hospice cares for each patient in his/her home, a nursing home, assisted living facility or hospital.

PMC Hospice serves people within a 45-mile radius of Wayne. Staff is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Hospice is available to people when their physician feels aggressive measures will no longer prolong their life or cure their illness, and when comfort and palliative measures are needed.

Most patients with a life-limiting illness may meet the criteria for hospice. This includes patients with end-stage heart failure, COPD, emphysema, cancers, dementia, Alzheimer's, multiple sclerosis, ALS (Lou Gehrig's disease), Parkinson's or those with profound weakness, unintentional weight loss, or overall decline in health.

Hospice services are not designed to replace the family but rather to support the family. Providence Hospice offers a 13-month Bereavement Program, which includes a Memorial Service in the summer and a Tree Lighting Ceremony in December.

Providence Hospice is staffed by three registered nurses, one LPN, six certified nursing assistants, one office manager, a social worker, a chaplain, a grief counselor, and many volunteers. New to the program are music and massage therapies.

PMC Hospice presently has 30 volunteers in the Wayne, Wakefield, Randolph, Laurel, Wisner, Pilger, Dixon and Concord areas.

According to Terri Munter, hospice director, most hospices find that individuals are admitted to hospice care during their final days of life and generally families wish they would have had hospice sooner to help them and their loved one be better prepared. This time of life can be very frightening for both the patient and the family members.

Hospice offers pain control tailored to the patient's wishes, helps with some closure for the patient and family, and at the same time respectfully supports them to make sure their own personal wishes and choices are carried out.

"We take great pride in our service" Munter said. "Our goal is that everyone should be able to die pain-free and with dignity, and that our families should receive enough emotional support to allow them to do so."

Community Thanksgiving worship event scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 22

"Can living gratefully change a person's whole life?"

Sister Cecilia Polt, who many of us know from her work of compassion at Providence Medical Center in Wayne, believes living gratefully can do just that.

"Gratitude is like a spiral: it begins with waking up to surprises, then experiencing deep thankfulness, with expression in a word, a smile or a kind deed. Then what happens? Greater awareness, more surprises, increased gratefulness, and soon our whole life becomes an expression of gratitude. We have the ability to spread joy and hope wherever we are, and gratitude becomes our newly adopted way of life," Sister Cecilia.

The whole nation is called to grateful living next week in the celebration of Thanksgiving Day. The Wayne Community is invited to give thanks on Sunday, Nov. 22 as well, at the Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministers Annual Community Thanksgiving Service.

Organized by the Wayne Association of Congregations and Ministries, the service will be at Our Savior Lutheran Church, beginning at 5 p.m. Our Savior Lutheran Church is located at the corner of Fifth and Main Streets in Wayne.

Clergy from most Wayne congregations will lead the service of song and scripture. Sister Cecilia, one of the Missionary Benedictine Sisters of Norfolk, and Chaplain at Providence Medical since 2005, will share her thoughts of Thanksgiving in a homily.

Sister Cecilia Polt

Scripture readings for the service include Joel 2:21-27, 1 Timothy 2:1-7, and Matthew 6:25-33. Songs and hymns include "Come All You People/Praise to the Lord," Psalm 118- from Gather Comprehensive; "Give Thanks" from the Worship & Praise tradition; a Celtic Alleluia; "Great Is Thy Faithfulness," "For the Beauty of the Earth" and more. Church Musician Lucas Wickstrom of Our Savior Lutheran Church is serving as worship coordinator.

Wayne church members are also providing soups and pies for a 6 p.m. simple social supper in Our Savior's Social Hall for all citizens of the community, whether or not they are members of a local church. The free will offering at the service, supper, and bell choirs concert will provide financial assistance to WACAM, an organization that supports area residents with special needs and to the local food pantry and coat closet. Last year's offering exceeded expectations and caused all to offer another, "Thanks be to God."

Following the soup supper, a Bell Choirs Concert will begin at 7 p.m. Three bell choirs will each offer selections and join in common ringing.

Sister Cecilia, who knows so many community members through her work of spiritual care at Providence Medical Center, was invited to deliver the homily as a well-known friend to the sick and suffering. Sister was born on a farm in Pierce County, made her profession of vows in 1950, attended Duchesne College in Omaha and the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind.

For 21 years she taught at Norfolk Catholic focusing on the fine arts: English, creative writing, speech and art. In 1980 she began her career in spiritual care at Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital, interrupting it for seven years of "mountain ministry" in Eastern Kentucky, and again for one year of teaching novices in Namibia, Southwest Africa.

Sister returned to Norfolk in time for the exciting 1996 "merger" of Our Lady of Lourdes and Lutheran Community Hospitals that became Faith Regional Health Services. In 1999 she was on the team of three sisters who led a 10-day pilgrimage of 50 people to the Holy Land.

In 2005 she became chaplain at Providence Medical Center in Wayne. She hopes to be part of this community for years to come.

Wayne mock trial teams advance

The Wayne High Mock Trial teams competed in Madison on Nov. 11.

The Red Team (Quentin Jorgensen, Max Morris, Anna Osten, Tyler Poehlman, Burgandy Roberts, Emily Nelson, Norel Naeve, and Kendra Liska) advanced to the next rounds with wins over Wayne Lavender (Sawyer Jager, Hannah McCorkindale, Jenna Pieper, Megan Stalling, Collin Loberg, Tyler Tyrrell, Natalie Sieler, and Alexis Reinert) and Battle Creek.

Wayne Lavender lost to Battle Creek in the tie-breaker round.

Wayne Yellow (Andrew Pulfer, Jacob Pulfer, Jorge Dunklau, Marcus Baier, Lisa Temme, Kristin Liska, Kelly Gentrup, and Joey Dunklau) defeated Norfolk Catholic. Wayne Yellow and Red advance to the next rounds on Friday Nov. 13 in Madison.

"Great job to all teams," said Coach Josh Johnson.

Wayne Mock Trial competed in the advanced rounds of the Mock Trial competition on Friday in Madison. In the quarter finals the Yellow team of Jorge Dunklau, Andrew Pulfer, Jacob Pulfer, Kelly Gentrup, Lisa Temme, Marcus Baier, Joey Dunklau, and Kristin Liska defeated South Sioux City. They advanced to the semifinals to face Battle Creek and won there, too. They will next compete in the district finals on Tuesday Nov. 24 in Madison. The competition will begin at 2 p.m.

The Vanilla team of Anna Osten, Quentin Jorgensen, Max Morris, Tyler Poehlman, Narelle Naeve, Kendra Liska, Burgandy Roberts, and Emily Nelson faced Lyons-Decatur in the semifinal round and was defeated. They end the year with third place in the district.

Congratulations to both teams on a great season. Good luck to the Yellow team at District finals.

David and Mayor Lois Shelton present a check to Reggie Yates, a member of the Project Majestic steering committee.

Project Majestic work moves forward

Project Majestic has been underway for right at a year now. Reggie Yates, Jeff Morlok and Todd Young were the original steering committee members. Hundreds of hours of volunteer time and talents have been put to use both in the planning for the revitalized theater and the current demolition.

"It has been great to see how the community has responded," commented Jeff Morlok in a recent interview. "The volunteers throughout the demolition process have been very much appreciated—and more work days are scheduled."

Fundraising for the downtown theater renovations has also started. "We are really excited to see how the community will support the financial needs of this project," commented Stephanie Liska, Steering Committee member. In total, the renovation of Wayne's downtown theater will be a community investment of $536,000. "Currently we have commitments for just over $200,000 from local businesses, and we have several grant applications underway as well," adds Liska.

The project will not be complete without the support of Wayne area residents.

Wayne City Mayor Lois and David Shelton are the first of Wayne area residents to make a financial contribution to Project Majestic. "As Mayor, I am thrilled with the planning and the support this town has already shown, this destination is important to Wayne and to the surrounding communities."

David Shelton has already donated countless volunteer hours in the demolition process. "This is an important project for our community, bringing back the opportunity to see a movie in town and watch a live performance is great for Wayne and great for all the residents."

The students at Wayne State College have also stepped up and worked to raise funds. Mayor Shelton comments, "I was very pleased that the Wayne State Student Senate considered this project to be important enough to the college community to make a monetary commitment and challenge the faculty to match it. It would be truly wonderful if both groups exceed their goal. And I am confident that the faculty and staff will join the rest of the community in making a pledge to this project. Even making a contribution equivalent to the cost of a family night at the movie each month will help make this project another success for our community."

Wayne area residents can step up as well and support the revitalization of Wayne's theater by mailing their checks and commitments to PO Box 161 Wayne, Neb. 68787.

"The project and the theater are a non-for-profit 501C3 organization. We would encourage all who donate to check with their tax advisors on the deductibility of your contribution," said Tom Hansen, CPA and volunteer for Project Majestic.

According to Jeff Morlok, all the labor and investment that has been

Currently, the steering committee plans to offer a Movie Theater experience for $3 to $4 per ticket with theater concessions. The venue will be available to rent for private meetings and receptions and will feature a catering kitchen. Once completed, Wayne's Community Theater group will also have a venue for performances.

"Wayne has stepped up in the past when the project was right, I'm looking forward to the area residents stepping up again and supporting this opportunity for our community," Mayor Shelton added.

positions that would open up some money, and if the work justifies making the job into a full-time position, then we can take a look at it."

Winside representative Jim Rabe

said he was confident Kemnitz would be able to handle the duties, thanks to his current work with Sheriff LeRoy Janssen.

"There's going to be a lot of paperwork coming down the chute with some of the new regulations, so you should be able to hit the ground running because you know a lot of that stuff already," he said.

Kemnitz, a bus driver for Mid-State School Bus, told the board he is looking forward to beginning his duties immediately.

Students earn actor/actress awards

The 2009 Mid-State Conference One-Act Festival was held Monday, Nov. 16, in Norfolk at Johnny Carson Theater. Wayne High School presented "The Insanity of Mary Girard" by Lanie Robertson.

Three of the seven cast members were recognized as outstanding performers, including Tanner Schopke, Katie Kietzmann and Jenny Zink. The judges also named outstanding actors and actresses for the competition. For the third time in four years, Katie Kietzmann was named the Mid-State Conference Outstanding Actress. Sophomore Tanner Schopke was named the Outstanding Actor for 2009.

The next performance will be Monday, Nov. 23, at 6:30 p.m. at the Wayne High School Haun Lecture Hall.

primarily on those grade levels, rather than splitting time between the two levels.

The move is a smart one from a financial perspective, Patton said, as the two districts can continue to receive state aid and Coleridge will not need to close its school.

"I don't think either district is opposed to consolidation, but right now it makes no financial sense," Patton said. "It would cost the two schools upward of $400,000 a year in state aid. If it was a financially sensible thing to look at, we would look very seriously at that. But, at this point, it would be a disadvantage for us to consolidate."

The districts currently share a number of staff, including 11 teachers, two principals, a superintendent, activities director and director of maintenance, Patton said. The districts also share in other expenses, including school buses, and Patton estimated the cost savings to be around $500,000 annually.

The co-operative arrangement will also reduce the number of distance learning classes the two schools would need to offer, as students from both districts would be in the same respective buildings. Had the board decided against the co-operative, Patton said, the Laurel district would need to continue, and possibly expand, its distance learning options.

Patton did concede, however, that the decision to expand the co-operative is not going to sit well with some patrons, who have threatened to option-enroll their children to school districts in Allen, Wayne or

The co-operative will require the district to add another bus route on the east side of the district. In a summary presented to the Laurel school board, Patton said the additional route would reduce time spent on the bus for most students and the two districts would work to develop the most efficient way to transport students while minimizing the amount of time they spend on the bus.

"There will be inconveniences," Patton told the board. "However, the biggest and most difficult inconvenience will be cutting teachers, reducing programs and limiting future opportunities for our students."

Wildcats swept by eventual state champs

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

LINCOLN—Winside's first trip to the State Volleyball Championships in 16 years didn't go the way they had planned.

Exeter-Milligan came out and took control of the match early, then overcame early rallies by the Wildcats in the second and third sets to hand the Winside girls a straight-set defeat in the opening round of the Class D1 tournament at Lincoln East.

The Timberwolves, who went on to beat Howells and claim the Class D1 state title, eliminated Winside with a 25-13, 25-22, 25-16 win to end the Wildcats' 20-9 season.

Winside seemed tentative early in the match, and the taller Exeter-Milligan team took advantage. Megan Zwickl and Heather Pribyl combined to block an attack by Jerae Doffin on the game's first point, and that sparked the Timberwolves to an early 10-4 advantage before coach Teresa Watters called time out.

The Wildcats had trouble putting any kind of a rally together. The Wildcats' first multi-point rally came after an Exeter-Milligan error, and a kill by Shelby Lienemann off a Jordyn Roberts set brought the Wildcats to within eight points at 17-9. Back-to-back Timberwolves errors got Winside to within seven points, but a five-point rally by Exeter-Milligan helped propel them to the first-set victory.

"The girls were fired up and excited to play, and we practiced for the noise, but there is only so much you can practice for (to prepare for state) and it took us a while to get into a rhythm," Watters said.

In the second set, Winside seemed to shake the cobwebs out and got off to a quick 3-1 lead, thanks to kills by Doffin and Audrey Roberts. Exeter-Milligan regained momentum and took a 17-14 lead before the Wildcats put together a key four-point run to take an 18-17 lead. Erin Gray served up back-to-back aces and the 5-foot-10 Doffin stuffed an attack by the 6-foot Pribyl to give Winside the one-point lead.

"One of our main goals was to get them slowed down, and we were able to get some blocks made and I was confident that our girls in the back row could pick things up," Watters said.

Exeter-Milligan rallied, however, scoring four straight to take the lead for good. Winside tried to rally with Doffin and Roberts combining on a block to make it 21-20, but Exeter-Milligan got a tip by Pribyl to take the two-set advantage.

Winside got off to a good start again in the third set. Jordyn Roberts knocked down a free ball at the net to get Winside on the board, and Gray put down a kill to spark a quick rally to give Winside the 7-5 advantage.

Exeter-Milligan's height advantage proved to be too much, though. A four-point rally, highlighted by a Jennifer Pribyl kill, put Exeter-Milligan ahead to stay. Winside got to within 14-13 when Jordyn Roberts set up Gray for a kill, but the Timberwolves responded with a key seven-point rally to put the match away, ending Winside's season at 20-9.

It was the last game for Winside's four seniors—Cassie Mrsny, Jordyn Roberts, Katie Saul and Alisha Weinrich, and Watters said the Hot week for football picks

The Bleacher Bum is getting ready for a festive holiday next week, but we can't let this week go by without the weekly football picks.

It was a good week for The Bleacher Bum. My upset special fell through with Florida outlasting South Carolina, and the stinker NFL game of the week between Oakland and K.C. was a coin flip that landed wrong.

So, with that 8-2 week (68-41-1 for the year) out of the way, here are 10 sure-fire winners for you to bet your Monopoly money on this week:

Nebraska 38, Kansas State 10 (Bill Snyder's return to Lincoln not a good one...wonder if he'll yell at Bo Pelini for running up the score?)

Oklahoma State 48, Colorado 10 (If you have something better to do Thursday night than watch this on TV, by all means, do it.)

Minnesota 27, Iowa 24 (Gophers get what some would call an upset. I wouldn't call it that, but those who thought Iowa was good will.)

Ole Miss 24, LSU 21 (Rebels pull off big upset and end Tigers' faint BCS hopes.)

Stanford 38, Cal 28 (Cardinal put up 55 at USC last week, the most ever given up by USC at home.)

Arizona 41, Oregon 38 (Wildcats pull off big upset, bolster Pac 10 title hopes. If you had Arizona in your "What team nobody figured would win a conference title ultimately wins one in 2009?" pool, you can cash your ticket in next week.)

Detroit 14, Cleveland 10 (There have been some real stanky games in the NFL this season. This one might be the stankiest.)

Indianapolis 38, Baltimore 24 (Amazing comeback by Colts, and they won't let down now.)

San Diego 34, Denver 24 (Broncos' annual late-season choke job got an early start this year.)

New Orleans 48, Tampa Bay 14 (Saints are in cruise control.)

WSC netters seeded fourth in Central Region

Although Wayne State dropped a four-set decision to Minnesota Moorhead Saturday, coach Scott Kneifl believes his team is in good shape as it heads into its fifth straight appearance in the NCAA Div. II volleyball tournament.

"If you had told me at the start of the year that we'd have the year we had and be fourth in the region, that would have been amazing," he said. "Not that I didn't think we could do it, but this team has done a nice job of sticking together and fighting hard and going through with some adversity with some injuries. We've had people step up in different areas, and it's truly been a fun team to coach."

On Friday, Jennifer Hefner and Tali Fredrickson each recorded 14 kills to help the Wildcats cruise to a straight-set win at Minnesota, Crookston, winning 25-18, 25-12 and 25-7.

The Wildcats hit .404 in the match, the third time this season that WSC has hit over .400. Hefner hit .667 with 14 kills in 18 attacks while Fredrickson notched 14 kills to go with 16 digs for her 15th double-double of the season. Libero Leigh Connot contributed 12 digs in the win while setter Diedra Artz was credited with 40 set assists for WSC.

"We played really well at Crookston," Kneifl said. "They struggled with their serve receive, but we played really clean volleyball, and when you get a lot of free balls and put them away, they were pretty helpless against us."

Minnesota Moorhead came from behind to post a 3-1 win over Wayne State Saturday afternoon in Moorhead, Minn. After the Wildcats won the first set 25-19, the Dragons came back to win the last three sets 26-24, 25-22 and 25-20 to win the match 3-1.

The match was a defensive battle as MSU Moorhead outhit WSC .175-.122 and the Dragons had 95 digs to 84 for Wayne State. MSUM also had 60 kills in the win to just 47 for the Wildcats.

"They're really an underrated team, and it was like a playoff game for them because it was the last game and they knew they weren't going to the NCAAs, and we came out a little flat," Kneifl said. "They blocked us 15 times for points and were really solid at the net and got us passing out of our system, which will make any team predictable."

Fredrickson led Wayne State with 13 kills and 14 digs, her 15th double-double of the season, while Hefner finished with 11 kills and five blocks. Mindy Moody accounted for 10 kills. Connot had 27 digs followed by Artz with 19 and Tessa Wiefeld added 12. Artz was also credited with 40 set assists.

II Women's Volleyball Championship. Wayne State drew the fourth seed in the Central Regional Tournament that will be hosted by Concordia-St. Paul beginning Thursday.

"We need to refocus now, and hopefully the loss Saturday will help us," Kneifl said. "We know Concordia is there, but we have to worry about Mankato first and take it one match at a time, and I think our girls realize how much this means right now."

Seven of the eight teams in the region are ranked in the latest AVCA Div II Coaches poll, led by the top-seeded and two-time defending national champion Golden Bears, who take a perfect 31-0 record into the tournament.

Even though the Wildcats come in as the No. 4 seed, Kneifl feels they have just as good a shot to make the Elite Eight as anybody.

"I think it's really anybody's tournament," he said. "Concordia is the defending champion and are at home, but you just have to get hot for three days and you're on a plane someplace else, and I hope that's us. There is some great volleyball being played in this region, and one of our goals was to get here, but we have some other goals that haven't been reached yet and we're going to see if we can get some of those checked off the list."

It's the fifth straight national tournament appearance for the Wildcats, who will take a 28-7 record into Thursday's 5 p.m. first-round match against fifth-seeded Minnesota State Mankato (25-6). Wayne State won the only meeting between the two teams earlier this year, beating the Mavericks 25-18, 25-18, 25-23 in Wayne on Oct. 23.

Kneifl said the Wildcats didn't get an easy draw in the Mavericks.

"They're a really athletic team and as good as anybody in the NSIC, and when their ball control is on they are a scary team," he said. "We're going to have to go in and serve aggressive and try to get them out of their system, and we'll need to tweak some things that we did the first time because, with their athleticism, they can do some great things."

First home dual for WSC wrestling team in 28 years

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Something that had not been seen in Rice Auditorium took place Friday at Wayne State College—a wrestling dual.

The college dropped its wrestling program about 30 years ago, but a new club program has developed on campus and the second-year team hosted York College for its first dual in almost three decades, drawing a crowd of about 200 people.

Although the Wayne State club team lost to the NALA Panthers 28-13, coach Greg Vanderweil, a wrestler on the old Wayne State team, was happy with the effort.

"I thought we competed well," he said. "York is a five-year-old varsity program with five matches under their belts, but you take a couple of pins and a major decision out and we're right where we want to be."

The program is quickly taking on a life of its own after Vanderweil brought the first group of 30 kids together last year. Starting with a 20-by-20 mat left behind from the old program, the team works out nightly on the Rice Auditorium stage and is gaining some support. Vanderweil found a newer mat in Rosalie while supervising a student teacher at Bancroft-Rosalie High School, and the team can have three matches going on the mat during its practice sessions.

Vanderweil said Sand Creek Post and Beam has helped support the program financially, and he just received word this week that the Huskerland Wrestling organization is going to purchase a weight scale for the team.

The Wildcats will wrestle a full schedule of open tournaments this year and will try to qualify wrestlers for the NWCA national tournament next March in Hampton, Va.

This weekend, the wrestlers will head to Omaha to wrestle in the Kaufman-Brand Open at Nebraska-Omaha. The tournament is the largest single-day amateur wrestling tournament in the nation and will bring college teams from all levels, from junior college to NCAA Div. I powerhouses like Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska, and Div. II kingpins UNO and Nebraska-Kearney.

WSC teams pick up 2010-11 recruits

Wayne State coaches have been busy signing recruits for next season. Volleyball and women's basketball coaches recently announced new recruits that have been signed for 2010-11.

Women's Basketball

Coach Chris Kielsmeier has announced that three standout high school players have signed national letters of intent during the NCAA's early-signing period - Ellen Hansen of Ames, Iowa, Audrey Holmes of Omaha and Jennifer Kalbfell of Lakeville, Minn.

Hansen is a 6-foot forward from Ames High School and is a two-year starter who averaged 12 points, eight rebounds, five assists and four steals per game last season, helping the team reach the Iowa Class 4A State Championship Game.

Holmes is a 5-foot-6 point guard from Concordia High School in Omaha and is a multi-sport standout. As a junior, Holmes averaged 10.3 points, 6.2 assists and 4.1 steals per game while helping her team to a 21-3 record and a berth in the Class C2 State Tournament.

Kalbfell is a 6-foot forward who has started for Lakeville South High School in Minnesota since the eighth grade. She is a two-time All Lake Conference selection who has already scored over 1,000 points in her high school career.

Volleyball

Coach Scott Kneif announced that four Nebraska high school standouts have signed national letters of intent or scholarship offers for the Wildcats in the 2010 season. They are Cori Hobbs of Battle Creek, Jordan Lechner of Syracuse, McKenna Reagan of Elkhorn and Tatum Wroblewski of St. Paul.

Hobbs is a 6-foot outside hitter who was a four-year starter at Battle Creek, helping the Bravettes to a 25-4 record this season. As a junior, Hobbs helped the Bravettes reach the Class C1 State Tournament, earning Class C1 All-State honors and Third Team Super State recognition from the Lincoln Journal Star while being named captain of the Class C Norfolk Daily News Elite Eight squad. She also set a new Class C1 state record last season with 614 kills for the Bravettes.

Lechner is a 5-foot-8 defensive specialist/libero from Syracuse High School, starting all four years. She had 263 kills, 61 aces and 12 blocks this season for Syracuse, helping the team to a 31-3 record and a fourth place finish at the Class C1 state tournament. She is a two-time All-State selection.

Reagan is a 5-foot-9 outside hitter/defensive specialist that helped Elkhorn High School reach the Class A State Tournament this season, going 32-7 with a third-place finish. She finished this season with 267 kills, 93 set assists, 49 aces and 23 blocks for the Antlers. Reagan is a two-time All-Eastern Midlands Conference selection that also earned All Area honors as a junior last season.

Wroblewski is a 5-foot-7 setter that started four seasons in volleyball and track and field at St. Paul High School. As a junior, she recorded 828 set assists and 113 digs to help St. Paul to a 31-4 record and a fourth-place finish at the Class C1 state tournament and joins former high school teammate Melanie Placke, who is a freshman on the Wildcat squad. Wroblewski earned All-Lou Platte Conference honors and was named to the Grand Island Independent All-Heartland Second Team to go with honorable mention all-state honors as a junior.

Briar Cliff comes back, edges Wildcats in season opener

Wayne State got off to a hot start in the team's first game under new head coach Paul Combs, but couldn't seal the deal against Buena Vista.

Nathan Parker scored on a layup with four seconds remaining to lift the visiting Beavers to a come-from-behind 62-61 win over Wayne State in the men's basketball opener for both teams Sunday afternoon at Rice Auditorium.

The visiting Beavers trailed by as many as 16 points in the first half and outscored Wayne State 9-0 in the final 2:02 to escape with the victory.

"Briar Cliff is a well-coached team and you have to tip your hat to them," Combs said. "They came in here and took it from us. We were up eight with two minutes to go and didn't score the rest of the game, and when you miss free throws and turn the ball over, that allows a good team like that to get back in the game."

The two teams battled back and forth through the first 10 minutes, but Wayne State put together a lengthy scoring run to take control of the game late in the first half. With Buena Vista leading 14-12 at the 10:38 mark, Wayne State used a 23-5 run over the next 7:01 to take a 35-19 lead, the biggest of the game for WSC, with 3:37 left in the first half.

Wayne State did a good job taking what Briar Cliff was giving them. Combs was hoping to pound the ball inside to Brian Metz, but the 6-foot-8 center only got two shots on the day, and the Wildcats scored their first 18 points on six 3-point shots, as Brad Starken and Elijah Miller both got hot from the perimeter in the first half.

"That certainly wasn't by design,"

Jason Jensen slips past the defense of Briar Cliff's Michael Elming during Sunday's season opener for the Wildcats.

Combs said of the Wildcats' early long-range efforts. "We talked a lot about feeding the post, and it looked like they would double Brian every time he got the ball and they weren't playing us as hard on the perimeter."

The Wildcats finished the first half with a 36-24 lead and led 38-26 with 16:15 left in the game when Buena Vista began their comeback.

Wayne State held a 61-53 after Brian Metz made one of two free throws with 2:16 left, but would not score for the remainder of the game.

Buena Vista's Sam Moser converted a three-point play with 2:02 left to cut the Wildcat lead to 61-56. A Michael Elming basket for the Beavers brought Buena Vista to within 61-58 with 1:22 left.

Buena Vista one last opportunity. The Beavers got the ball inside to Nathan Parker, who drove to his left and scored with four seconds to play to give Buena Vista the win.

Starken led the Wildcats with 15 points and eight rebounds, while Miller added 13 points. Buena Vista's Doug Bissen led all scorers with 16 points.

Wayne State returns to action on Tuesday, Nov. 24, hosting York College in an 8 p.m. contest at Rice Auditorium.

team will miss the contributions those players made to the team's first state tournament trip in 16 years.

"Our seniors did a super job for us," she said. "Jordyn has been amazing for us as a setter this year, and it's going to be tough to fill that spot; and Cassie has gone from not playing much to starting and has done a really nice job for us."

As for the returning players, Thursday's match will likely prove a catalyst for the team's hope to return to state next year.

"The girls have had a taste of it now and know what it's like to get here, so next year we're going to want more of it and we're going to have to work a little harder to get to that next level," she said.

Wayne State women dominate in Super 8 Tipoff Classic wins

Coach Chris Kielsmeier saw his second season as coach of the Wayne State women's basketball team get off to a flying start.

The Wildcats dominated Colorado School of Mines and Colorado Christian to go 2-0 at the Super 8 Tip Off Classic over the weekend in Aberdeen, S.D. The Wildcats dominated the Orediggers with a 72-48 win on Sunday, then followed it up with a 71-46 triumph over Colorado Christian on Monday.

Ashley Arlen led a balanced scoring attack with a career-high 21 points to lead Wayne State over Colorado School of Mines. The Wildcats raced out to a 46-20 lead at halftime and led by as many as 34 points in the second half to cruise to the easy win.

After Colorado Mines scored on the first possession of the game to take a 2-0 lead, Wayne State scored 11 straight points on three pointers from Alyssa Fischbach and Ali Schwartzwald and a layup and three pointer from Arlen to take an 11-2 lead with 16:19 left in the first half. The Orediggers would get no closer than five points as Wayne State raced to a 46-20 halftime lead and led by as many as 34 points in the second half.

Arlen, a 6-foot-1 sophomore forward transfer from Iowa State, was 5-of-12 shooting from the field and 9-of-10 at the free throw stripe. Junior center Mara Hjelle added 14 points while sophomore forward Clare Duwelius scored 13 on four three pointers.

Duwelius sank five 3-pointers and scored a game-high 17 points while Hjelle added 16 points and six rebounds to lead Wayne State over Colorado Christian Monday afternoon.

The Wildcats used a pair of scoring runs in the first half to take control of the game for the second straight night. With Colorado Christian leading 4-3 early in the game, Wayne State went on a 15-0 run over the next 7:28 to take an 18-4 lead, then closed the first half on a 12-0 run over the final 5:43 to grab a commanding 38-15 lead entering halftime.

"I knew this kind of performance was in these kids," remarked WSC head coach Chris Kielsmeier on his post-game radio show. "We're doing things the way I want it done and it's fun to watch. It was a great performance by our kids and I'm very proud of them. These are two big regional wins against two of the top teams in the Rocky Mountain Conference."

Duwelius, a 5-foot-10 sophomore forward from Des Moines, drilled 5-of-6 shots from beyond the arc and finished with a game-high 17 points to pace a balanced scoring attack for the Wildcats. Hjelle chipped in with 16 points and six rebounds. Arlen and Fischbach also reached double digits with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Wayne State is back on the road Monday, Nov. 23, visiting Dakota State for a 5:30 p.m. battle.

Fluellen earns NSIC Galligan Award

Silas Fluellen of Wayne State and Marcus Greatens of Winona State University were named winners of the 2009 NSIC Glen Galligan Award.

The Galligan Award was initiated in 1948 to honor an outstanding senior football player in the Northern Sun Conference and is given to a student-athlete who participates at his institution for four years and is academically superior while making a positive contribution to his institution.

Fluellen, a 6-foot-1, 210 pound quarterback, is the first student-athlete from Wayne State to earn the Glen Galligan Award. He has a cumulative 3.318 grade point average majoring in Physical Education at Wayne State College. He was a Presidential Scholar Athlete three times and this year was named the Physical Education Major of the Year Award winner from the Wayne State College Health Human Performance and Sport Division as selected by faculty members.

The honor is based upon their academic performance and personal character. Fluellen also represented the WSC football team on the Wayne State Student Athletic Advisory Committee for four years. He also volunteered as a reader at area elementary schools and as a softball umpire for Wayne City Recreation leagues in the summer.

On the field, Fluellen holds nearly every career passing record at Wayne State College. He holds the NSIC career records for passing yards (8,996) and total offense yardage (10,170). He became the 29th NCAA Div. II players with 10,000 career yards of total offense and the 19th player in NCAA Division II history with 10,000 career passing yards. Fluellen was named the 2008 and 2009 NSIC South Division Preseason Offensive Player of the Year and was a First Team NSIC South Division quarterback as a junior and senior.

Keitges earns All-GPAC award

Erin Keitges, a senior from Allen, was one of two Morningside women's cross country runners to be named to the All-GPAC women's cross country team. Keitges was joined by teammate Kara Nelson on the all-conference team. Keitges led the Morningside women to a fourth-place finish and a trip to the NALA national meet Saturday in Vancouver, Wash. The team's coach, Dave Nash, was named conference Coach of the Year.

Read How Chiropractic Care Has Influenced the Lives of People in Your Community

For several years, I have been suffering from headaches in my right temple of my face. I saw several doctors who treated me for migraines and sinus and allergy problems. I took several different medications, none of them would completely take the pain away. In the fall of 2008, I went to see an ear, nose, and throat doctor. After examining me, he thought I had TMJ (temporomandibular joint disorder). The doctor said I would probably have to wear a mouth piece at night to prevent putting pressure on my jaw or have surgery. I figured before doing the above, I would check with a chiropractor to see if they could help me. I made an appointment with Dr. Herman, and she knew exactly what needed to be done to correct this. Dr. Herman said she suffered from TMJ also, and she did several adjustments on my jaw and neck. Within a few weeks the headaches went away! I haven't had a headache for the past 9 months. I wished I would have started seeing Dr. Herman years ago!

Pelosi comparison not responsible

The comparison of Nancy Pelosi, the speaker of the House of Representatives, who is working to make health care available for all Americans, to Charles Manson, a serial killer, is not responsible journalism.

Some of the 70 percent of people in your poll who favor health reform may consider cancelling their subscriptions if such unfair and biased attacks continue. I think Mr. "Don't Get Me Started" should stop and practice a little restraint and consideration for people who might not agree with him.

Protection corridor infringes on rights

Over the last five or more years, people in Wayne, Dixon, Dakota, Madison and Stanton counties have been attending meetings on the planned construction of Highway 35 as a four-lane, divided expressway.

Highway 35 is a 70-mile stretch of road that winds its way from Norfolk to Dakota City, added to the Nebraska Expressway System in 1988 as a planned expressway in anticipation of future demands on the transportation system.

Currently, 179 miles of the original 600 miles (Highway 35 is not in the original expressway system) have not been completed. At an estimated cost of $236 million in 2006, funding for Highway 35 as an expressway is decades away. Nebraska, as most states, is experiencing major budget deficits and lacks the funds for even yearly road maintenance and repair.

In July, 170 letters of corridor protection were sent by the Nebraska Department of Roads (NDOR) to property owners along the preferred route. Letters of Corridor Protection puts you on notice that your land, homes, buildings or business will be affected, and if you are planning any improvements of $1,000 or more, you will need to get permission from NDOR and/or your zon-

Honoring adoptions in state

It is very important that our children are safe and in homes that provide support and love. It's a privilege and an honor to recognize the caring families who are choosing to adopt children who are state wards.

All children deserve to grow up in a loving and stable family, and National Adoption Month is a great opportunity to personally thank all of the wonderful foster and adoptive parents in our state who have made a difference in a child's life.

I especially want to thank the families who have opened their hearts and homes to children in foster care who are looking for forever families. Many of these foster parents have adopted the children in their care. They have made a life-long commitment that will absolutely transform the lives of children in our state.

I'm pleased that Nebraska courts, advocates, caseworkers and others within the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services are working together to focus on finding permanent homes for the children who need them. Their efforts are evident in the more than 92 percent increase in adoptions of state wards during the past five years. Last year alone, there were 572 children adopted from foster care in our state. Those adoptions represent the most adoptions of state wards Nebraska has achieved in any year so far.

To commemorate National Adoption Month, juvenile judges across the country will open their court rooms on a Saturday in November for special adoption hearings for children who are state wards. This month, judges in Lincoln, Hastings and Omaha will finalize the adoption of nearly 100 of these children in Nebraska. Several other judges, churches and community groups in cities across ing authority.

When I learned of this letter from my father, a property owner in Wayne County, my sisters and I decided to do some research on this project. I hope you can imagine our disbelief when we found out this road will divide our father's property in half (prime bottom land and known to flood) and the negative impact it has on primarily three counties - Wayne, Dixon and Dakota. The N-35 Corridor Study and EIS Summary of Requested Impacts lists 1,710 acres of farmland converted, segmenting 67 fields and pastures and impacting 61 acres of wetlands; property acquisitions of 19 or more houses, 34 outbuildings and three businesses.

Yes, your property will be assessed and you will be paid for what is "used." But how do you get compensated for the fields on each side of the expressway, or access when you can't even use the expressway and the devaluation of the farm by lost acreage? How does this affect a business or a home you've built after decades of hard work and savings? It will be destroyed.

This is all very disheartening, but the most appalling aspect is this Corridor of Protection infringes on our constitutional rights as property owners in the restriction of our land and property, and ability to make a living on our property or enjoy the comforts of our home for decades to come. There is no time limit on this Corridor of Protection. There also are no funds to build Highway 35 as an expressway. And the fact that, 20 years later, Highway 35 is no closer to meeting the measurable statistics and criteria needed as an expressway than it did in 1988 means this road is not even needed. This affects all Nebraska citizens and taxpayers.

When contacted, District 17 Sen. Robert Giese responded that this expressway was needed for future economic development. Is "if we build it, they will come" scenario the deciding factor now for spending hundreds of millions of dollars on a road in the hope the economy will improve? And whose economy is going to increase? It definitely will not be those counties most impacted or the property owners along this route.

Please write, e-mail, fax or call Gov. Heinemann, Monty Fredrickson at NDOR and your district senator to initiate legislation to release the N35 Corridor of Protection and remove Highway 35 from the Nebraska Expressway System.

state are planning celebrations to honor families touched by adoption this year.

Additionally, courts in O'Neill, Grand Island, Kearney, and Scottsbluff/Gering are celebrating all of their adoptions for the year. I've attended these events in past years. It's a heart-warming and exciting day. I have special admiration for the families that have welcomed new children into their lives. I appreciate the dedication of the juvenile judges who make sure that children in need have permanent loving families.

If you'd like to make a difference in the life of a child who is a state ward, please call 1-800-7-PARENT for information about becoming an adoptive or foster parent. Adoptive families are needed for approximately 100 children in foster care who are available for adoption and looking for permanent families.

If it's not one thing...

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - A long time ago, when Saturday Night Live was still a relatively new and very successful show, a character who sometimes showed up on the make-believe news segment would describe some terrible ailment or annoyance, then announce "I thought I was gonna' die!"

Roseann Roseannadanna (played by the late Gilda Radner) might then proceed to set up a punch line, comparing one ghastly ailment to some other disgusting thing, by saying "If it ain't one thing, it's something else!"

If Miss Roseannadanna were covering the current meeting of the Nebraska Legislature, she would have plenty of unpleasant material to digest and comment upon.

She might offer a Weekend Update report like this:

"Out there in Nebraska they got these terrible budget problems in the state government. Most of you probably don't know where Nebraska is. Well, it's one of those sort of oblong places between Brooklyn and a California wildfire. And in Nebraska they have to find a way to not spend a lot of money they were planning on spending. And they got other problems, too. Like, they're gonna' have a corn crop bigger than any corn crop they've ever had, but they don't have enough doctors and nurses in some of the places where all that corn grows! But they have this plan to put this new nursing center at the university in Lincoln, see? And that would make for some more nurses. But they have another plan to cut the state budget, see? So part of what the university isn't going to do, by way of not spending so much money, is they are not going to go ahead with putting that nursing thingee in Lincoln. It goes to show you. If it's not one thing, it's something else! Either you're gonna' go broke so fast it will make you sick, or you're gonna' get sick and not have a nurse. So, I went to Nebraska and I asked them what they were gonna' do and they said they were gonna' make greaaaaat big sacrifices and save a greaaaaat big bunch of money. And I was so surprised that I, Roseann Roseannadanna, went into shock, right in one of those corn fields. But we were way out there, you know, where they have more cows than people, and no one could find a nurse. I thought I was gonna' die!"

Whaddya gonna' do? Whatever the Legislature and the university decide to do, it won't bring that proposed nursing program back to life. It might arise from the dead one day, but not soon.

Somewhere during the 2010 elections you can figure on someone criticizing the Legislature and Gov. Dave Heinemann for their current and not-long-past budget decisions.

They will likely get knocked for not using some of Nebraska's federal stimulus dollars to push things, like brick and mortar projects, to make room for training more healthcare professionals, in Lincoln or elsewhere.

Had policymakers taken that route, they would then be subject to criticism for not using more of those federal dollars to prop up the state budget and avoid greater budget reductions elsewhere.

It goes to show you. If it's not one thing...

Warning: Frustrated columnist unloads

There were two items on the Omaha World-Herald's Web site Monday that really bothered me, and I'm trying to decide which story is more frustrating for me, as a taxpayer.

Here are the two items that have me fired up:

-An effort by Nebraska state Sen. Heath Mello of Omaha to reduce the salaries of about 270 state employees who make more than $100,000 a year was, for the most part, cast aside by the Legislature, who are looking to close a $334 million budget deficit.

The potential savings of more than $2.7 million (assuming a $10,000 pay cut for each of those employees) aside, what was interesting to note was the fact that there are six employees of the state who make more than $200,000.

Of those six...five are psychiatrists.

If you think THAT is crazy, how about this...

- More than a dozen speeches made by "representatives" in the House over the health care reform were not speeches written by those who gave the speeches.

In fact, they were not even written by staff members of the "representatives" in the House.

Who wrote them, you ask? I'll tell you...lobbyists from Genetech, a subsidiary of Swiss drug company Roche.

Even more interesting is that

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

Genetech's talking points were used by 22 House Republicans and 20 House Democrats.

Among those "representatives" who thought it was better to parrot a drug company, rather than take the time to come up with their own original thoughts, was Nebraska's Second District, ahem, "representative," Republican Lee Terry.

Head doctors pulling down 200 G's a year, or "representatives" of the taxpayers regurgitating the words of drug lobbyists. I'm really having a hard time deciding which abuse of taxpayer dollars bothers me more.

While I ponder this, here's something else to incite a digestive riot in your gut...

- A North Carolina woman has been charged with felony child abuse and human trafficking after her 5-year-old daughter was found dead off a rural road Monday.

The woman was offering her little girl up for prostitution. Video surveillance found a man, who has been charged with kidnapping, carrying the girl into a hotel room.

Can anybody drop their value system far enough to even BEGIN to fathom this crime? How pathetic a waste of human flesh do you have to become in order to consider prostitution as a way of life, let alone selling your own child into it?

And how sick and twisted must somebody become to devalue human life in such a manner as the man who, allegedly, was using this child for such a purpose?

I am a firm believer in the fact that the death penalty is not used nearly enough, and that it should not be limited only to those who commit murder. Cases like this make a strong argument to have the penalty expanded to those who commit sexually-related crimes against our babies.

And if that hasn't gotten you all good and frustrated with modern civilization, how about this one...

-The Associated Press published a picture of King Obama bowing to the emperor and empress of Japan during his recent visit to that nation.

Can you imagine ANY past leader of this nation bowing to ANY leader of another country, casting a view of subservience? Well, our king and alleged leader has now pulled this act of weakness twice, following his vow to the king of Saudi Arabia back in April.

The President of the United States is supposed to be a sign of strength and is supposed to conduct himself as a leader of what many see as the world's strongest nation. Twice now, King Obama has failed to act as a leader in something as simple as a greeting with a fellow world leader, acting more as a well-dressed peasant than presenting himself as an equal to those he is greeting.

We are the United States of America, and we bow to nobody. If King Obama can't grasp this simple truth, he should take one last curtsy and leave the job to somebody who is man enough to look another foreign leader in the eye and greet him with a handshake, not a bow.

Norfolk VA Health Clinic to hold open house

Veterans and community members are invited to visit the Norfolk Veterans Affairs Community-Based Outpatient Clinic Nov. 20 to celebrate its one-year anniversary.

The clinic employees will host an open house and offer tours from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the facility located at 710 S. 13th Street in Norfolk.

The VA-staffed Norfolk clinic opened in November 2008. The clinic was the second of four clinics that the VA opened or expanded recently in Nebraska and western Iowa.

Veterans who are not enrolled and using VA health care services are encouraged to stop by the clinic to complete enrollment forms. Veterans can visit www.nebraska.va.gov to learn more about eligibility requirements.

VA community health clinics were designed to provide eligible veterans primary health care nearer to the communities where they live. In addition, the clinics are intended to prevent the veterans from having to travel hours to one of the VA health facilities in Grand Island, Lincoln or the medical center in Omaha.

The VA Nebraska-Western Iowa Health Care System proudly serves more than 167,660 veterans in Nebraska, western Iowa and portions of Kansas and Missouri. Omaha's medical center is an inpatient facility and also a large outpatient clinic for primary and specialty care. The Community Living Center is in Grand Island. There are community-based outpatient clinics in Lincoln, Grand Island, North Platte, Holdrege, Norfolk, Bellevue and Shenandoah, Iowa. For more information, visit <http://www.nebraska.va.gov>.

Wayne State College Planetarium hosts for a limited time 'Season of Light' Show

Wayne State College will host a first-time, high-definition, full-dome presentation of "Season of Light," a 36-minute presentation tracing the history and development of many of the world's most endearing holiday customs. The WSC Fred G. Dale Planetarium will offer this opportunity for a limited time with shows on Sunday Dec. 6 and 13 at 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, Dec. 7-11 at 7 p.m., and Saturday, Dec. 12 at 3:30 and 7 p.m. Special showings are also available upon request. There is no admission charge.

The show will involve customs that light up the winter season from burning the Yule log, sparkling Christmas tree lights and candles in windows, to the lighting of luminarias in the American Southwest and the traditional ritual of the Hanukkah Menorah.

The show also recounts the historical religious and cultural rituals practiced during the time of winter solstice - not only Christian and Jewish, but also Celtic, Nordic, Roman, Irish, Mexican and Hopi. It also takes a look at some of our more light-hearted seasonal traditions: from gift-giving and kissing under the mistletoe, to songs about lords a-leaping and ladies dancing, and the custom of decking the halls with greenery and candles. St. Nicholas, Sinterklaas, Kris Kringle, Father Christmas, and Santa Claus all drop by as well. Season of Light is visually rich, culturally inclusive and musically satisfying.

For more information, contact Dr. Todd Young, professor and director of the planetarium at WSC, at (402) 375-7471.

Moving closer to the goal

FINANCIAL FOCUS

If the Recession is Over, What's Next?

Many economists and government representatives tell us the recession has ended. An official declaration based on economic statistics may be months away. And, while individuals vary in their predictions, there is a general expectation that the economic environment will gradually improve over time.

As we encounter more signs of vitality - increased hustle and bustle in stores; fewer For Sale signs on your block; and, eventually, an upswing in employment rates - what's the best way to react? Should we return to "business as usual," or should we use the experience of the recession to guide our financial decisions going forward?

Here are some suggestions on how to manage your financial life in a post-recession world:

#1 - Be a Smarter Consumer

This wasn't called the "Great Recession" for nothing. The unemployment rate reached its highest level in 25 years. Many homeowners found themselves facing foreclosure. Consumers were caught carrying too much debt. Even the country's financial system required massive infusions of government money to avoid a major crisis.

As a consumer, your biggest lesson should be to remain vigilant about controlling your expenses, even as the economy brightens. If you found yourself falling deeper into debt during the recession, safeguard yourself from a similar fate this time around. Scrutinize your spending habits. Even if you have felt deprived of some of your favorite things (dinners out, regular stops at the gourmet coffee shop, travel plans), resist the temptation to revert to those same old spending habits unless you can really afford them.

A good rule to live by is to only spend money that you have. Try to avoid putting purchases on credit cards unless you are able and willing to pay off the bill on time each month when it arrives. This will help you avoid some of the same problems the next time the economy goes through a rough patch.

#2 - Prepare for Emergency Needs

One positive trend to emerge from the recession is that more Americans are putting money into savings. Make sure you have adequate emergency reserves to meet short-term income needs. The value of an emergency fund has become especially apparent after seeing a number of Americans lose their jobs during the economic downturn. You should try to build emergency savings equal to at least six months worth of expenses. Given the risk of extended periods of unemployment, it may even make sense to have the equivalent of nine months worth of living expenses set aside.

This information is provided for informational purposes only. The information is intended to be generic in nature and should not be applied or relied upon in any particular situation without the advice of your tax, legal and/or your financial advisor. The views expressed may not be suitable for every situation. Financial planning services & investments offered through Ameriprise Financial Services, Inc., Member FINRA & SIPC.

You may also consider making sure you are properly protected from potential financial loss. This is important regardless of economic conditions. Assess the status of your current auto, home, life and disability income insurance policies to make certain you will be adequately protected if an unforeseen event should disrupt your life.

#3 - Keep Up Retirement Plan Contributions

If you are still working (or have returned to the workforce), it is important to make regular contributions to a workplace retirement plan (if offered by your employer) and/or an IRA. Facing a financial crunch as the recession took hold, many individuals halted contributions to their retirement plans in order to increase their take-home pay. If you can afford to resume retirement plan contributions, you should do so. It provides you with notable tax advantages and will keep you on track to achieve your retirement goals.

#4 - Focus on Personal Growth

The recession serves as a necessary reminder that nothing is certain and, if we aren't careful, our financial security can disappear in the blink of an eye. A number of people who never would have imagined losing their job found themselves among the millions of unemployed in the past two years. Even if you managed to keep your job and your income intact, consider the post-recession period an opportunity to be better prepared for any eventuality.

We all hope that an improved economy will relieve some of the anxiousness we feel about our financial lives. It is also a good occasion to achieve greater financial well-being for any challenges that lie ahead.

Holidays: Family History or Family Hassle?

It is hard to believe that the holiday season is right around the corner. Holidays can establish traditions, strengthen family ties, and set milestones in the passage of time. But holidays also contribute to family stress. Routines change, expectations soar, and long-term problems of loneliness, family conflicts, or economic stress can seem worse.

Keeping your holiday simple doesn't mean ignoring your family's traditions. Instead, you may discover and strengthen what is most important about your family history.

As a grandparent, you might feel the pull of wanting to preserve old routines and traditions (we've always met at our house on Thanksgiving and yours for Christmas Eve), even while realizing that new patterns would be better for you and your family (gathering the week before at your daughter's would mean less meal preparation for you and less travel with toddlers for her). Letting go and making changes can be difficult. To manage the hassle and strengthen family ties, consider these ideas.

Talk about feelings. Many families don't really talk about their feelings; they only suppose they know what the other party must be thinking. Have a family discussion by phone, mail, or in person to decide what's important in your holiday traditions. Talk about why some traditions are especially important to each of you.

Cooperate. Consider new ways to keep the traditions that mean the most to everyone. A newly married couple may love having a chance to entertain the family at a holiday dinner. Teenagers might organize a family gift exchange drawing.

Angela Abts
Dakota County

Pass on a special tradition as a gift such as a family making copies of all the stories, poems, and songs that were part of their family's holiday history for the next generation to continue the traditions.

Create new ways to share old traditions. Consider visits at a new time. Your family could look forward to a January visit rather than one during the most stressful holiday period. A grandchild might enjoy your pre-holiday visit to attend a special performance.

Use family history in your gift giving. Write stories about your childhood or your children's growing up years. Give a small heirloom with a written history as a gift. Choose a few old photos and accompany them with a story about the events and people shown.

Give the gift of caring; it keeps on giving year round. To have a caring family holiday, consider the changing needs of family members. Keep the best of the old while you build new family history.

Another resource available from UNL Extension with helpful ideas to use during the holiday season to strengthening your relationships is Family Treasures. There are several activities based on the six qualities identified through the American Family Strengths Inventory by Dr. DeFrain and Dr. Nick Stinnett. For more information about strengthening families and resources, please contact the University of Nebraska Lincoln Extension Office in your local county or visit the website at www.extension.unl.edu.

Engagements

Gubbels - Epping

Maureen Cecilia Gubbels of Randolph and Christopher William Epping of Funk wish to announce their engagement and upcoming wedding.

The bride-to-be is a 1999 graduate of Winside High School, a 2003 graduate of Dana College where she got a bachelor's degree in biology, and a 2004 graduate of Creighton University where she got a bachelor's degree in nursing. She is a registered nurse.

Her fiancée is a 2001 graduate of Holdrege High School. He is self employed as a farmer outside of Funk.

Parents of the bride are Randy and Jenny Gubbels of Randolph. Parents of the groom are Rod and Grace Epping of Funk.

Grandparents of the bride are Ivan and Shirley Gubbels of Randolph and Roger and Millie Burns of Detroit, Mich. Grandparents of the groom are Luella Epping of Funk, Louis and Joy Criddle of Barford, England and the late Ben Epping.

The couple will be married Dec. 5, 2009 at Cornerstone Berean Church in Kearney.

Leather and Lace hold Veterans' Day dance

Leather and Lace danced to the caller Doug Phillipi on Nov. 13 with about 30 participants. It was a Veterans Day dance and the hall was decorated in red, white and blue.

Merna Jones received the free pass and Marie Borgman, Denise Jacobsen and Sandy Preston split the pot. Single Wheelers took the club banner. Birthdays recognized were Barb Stout and Vernon Bauermeister.

Delmer and Betty Pufahl invited dancers to their annual Christmas open house in their home in Norfolk Friday and Sunday, Dec. 11 and 13. Also, Darold Ortgren and Theoramae Bauermiester invited dancers to their wedding celebration dance on Saturday, Nov. 21 at the Knights of Columbus hall in Columbus at 7 p.m.

Dancers were reminded that Leather and Lace will not dance Friday, Nov. 27 because of Thanksgiving and the next scheduled dance will be Friday, Dec. 18 at the Wayne City Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. with John Orlowski, Jr. calling. Note the change of date.

Bob and Peggy Krueger, Rachel and Jim Rabe will be in charge of lunch and Connie Kirkpatrick in charge of beverages. Leather and Lace will only have one dance in December because of Christmas. Spectators are always welcome.

Hansen-Davis wed in Wayne ceremony

Allison Hansen and Justin Davis of Rockwall, Texas were married in a Sept. 5, 2009 ceremony officiated by Pastor Doyle Burbank-Williams. The ceremony was held at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne.

Parents of the couple are Gene and Karen Hansen of Wayne, Joni Davis of Winside, and Rick and Diana Davis of Carroll.

Grandparents are George and Janice Jaeger of Winside, Mary and the late Don Davis of Carroll, Franklin and Janice Hefner of Coleridge, the late John and Pauline Dall and Andrew and Grace Hansen of Wayne. Great-grandmother is Elta Jaeger of Wayne.

Matrons of Honor were Mandy Wall of Arlington Va. and Kristy Lutt of Battle Creek, sisters of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Mashala Davis of Norfolk, sister of the groom, Ashley Holtz of Omaha, cousin of the groom, and Michelle Preston of Broken Bow, friend of the bride.

Personal attendant was Mattie Burnham of Sioux Falls, S.D. friend of the bride.

Rachelle McCalla is PEO speaker

P.E.O., Chapter AZ, met at the home of Gail McCorkindale on Nov. 7.

Assisting hostesses were Marie Mohr, Annette Rasmussen, and Janice Liska. Gail showed a video on Cottey College, a two-year, accredited, liberal arts college in Nevada, Mo., owned by P.E.O.

Following the meeting, Rachelle McCalla told of three mystery stories she has written, with two published and to be released soon. The group was filled with curiosity and suspense as she read a portion of one of her books.

Blue Christmas service scheduled at Grace Lutheran Church

The annual Blue Christmas Service will be held at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne, on Sunday, Nov. 29 at 6:30 p.m. Following the service, there will be refreshments and fellowship time.

The service, focusing on the promises of God, is more quiet and meditative than traditional Christmas services. There is a time during the service when anyone can light a commemorative light in memory of a loved one, and at the conclusion of the service, home-knitted prayer shawls are given to anyone desiring one.

This is the fourth year that the service is sponsored by the Stephen Ministers of Grace Lutheran Church. Each year the service and fellowship time has touched people in a special way as God's promises are heard and people make special connections.

This is the third year for the prayer shawls to be given as gifts at the service. The shawls are made with loving care and prayer. They are offered as a gift to remind people of the blessings that God gives us through His Body, the church. The time in the service where people are invited to light a candle and say the name of the one they miss has been a moving time in the service where tears are shed, but God's grace is evident as well.

"I'll have a blue Christmas without you.... I'll be so blue just thinking about you." For those who have suffered the loss of a loved one, the words of Elvis Presley's classic "Blue Christmas" express a very real pain that is felt during a season generally marked by joy and celebration. The fake, plastic secular celebration of Christmas doesn't touch the deep sense of loss that many people feel. The feeling of loss, during the time when the world says "to celebrate and party", makes the season extra difficult for many, and that is why the Stephen Ministers of Grace are sponsoring this fourth Blue Christmas Service.

The service is open to the public, and for anyone feeling "blue" this Christmas time there is a special invitation to come and join the fellowship. Stephen Ministers will be available at the conclusion of the service to visit with anyone seeking encouragement.

If you have a friend or relative who is "blue" this Christmas, please invite and bring them to the Blue Christmas Service Sunday, Nov. 29 at 6:30 p.m.

Methodist Church Holiday Fair to be held Saturday

Wayne's First United Methodist Church is busy preparing for the annual Holiday Fair, which will be held Saturday, Nov. 21 from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

There will be many old favorites appearing at the fair this year, as well as a few new additions.

The United Methodist Women are busy finishing up their homemade craft items that will be available to purchase, as well as preparing baked goods for sale at the Country General Store. There will also be

Fifth Sunday of Music event scheduled

The community is invited to the next "Fifth Sunday Night of Music" to be held Sunday, Nov. 29 at 6:30 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church in Wayne.

This month's event will follow the lighting of the Wayne Community Christmas tree at the corner of Seventh and Main Streets at 5:30 p.m.

The Rev. Ray McCalla and his congregation are preparing a "Service of Lessons and Carols" which will include scriptures, carols and special music from college and community musicians.

"Make plans to attend this special event," said Phil Pfaltzgraff, who is one of those who has been responsible for organizing these events throughout the year. Music presentations are held throughout the community in each of the months that has five Sundays. Refreshments will follow the "Night of Music."

themed baskets available at the silent auction.

Many activities are being planned for the children. There will be children's craft activities, a pop walk and the always popular holiday cookie decorating. Decorated cookies may also be ordered at the fair. Relieve some holiday stress and order decorated cookies to have on hand for the holidays.

A dinner featuring hot turkey sandwiches, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans and homemade pie will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Take-out will be available, as well as delivery by calling the church at 375-2231. Musical entertainment can be enjoyed while those attending relax with a hot meal or shop at the Country Store or the Attic. The Attic will feature nearly new and gently used items, as well as holiday-related treasures.

All are invited to "join us Saturday, Nov. 21 between 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. to get a head start on your Christmas shopping with some wonderful homemade gifts. Come experience a great time, a wonderful meal and friendly fellowship."

Four Full-Time Childcare Openings Available.

Ages 6 weeks to 12 years. Accepting subsidy as payment. Infant/Child CPR certified and First Aid trained. Providing childcare in a learning, caring, fun-loving environment. For any questions please contact Karla Wall at 833-0969 or 402-641-4372 or email me at isalahfriends@hotmail.com

Kids Against Hunger

Working in two shifts, students and parents in St. Mary's Religious Education program packaged more than 12,200 meals for Kids Against Hunger. Ross Peterson of Norfolk, who organized the event, spoke to the students on hunger in the world. Prior to the event, students raised $715.92 for the project by doing good deeds and turning in money to help pay the cost of getting the food to those in need.

Wanted ... Church news

The Wayne Herald would like to print information and schedules from area churches.

All information submitted to the Herald by Monday at 5 p.m. (delivered to the Herald office) or emailed by 8 a.m. on Tuesday will be included in that week's edition of the paper.

Articles may be mailed to P.O. Box 70, Wayne, Neb. 68787 or emailed to clara@wayneherald.com

The Herald thanks its readers and area ministers for their cooperation in our effort to keep informed on the happenings at various churches.

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid plans future events

The Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML meeting was called to order on Nov. 11 by President Ellen Heinemann.

Vice President Bev Hansen's opening devotion included a Veteran's Day prayer and a reading entitled "Say 'Yes' to Confirmation" and the group singing "Now Thank We All Our God."

Pastor Lilienkamp led the Bible Study "Balancing on Solid Rock" and closed with prayer.

Vice President Hansen gave a memorial for Louise Larsen, based on I Thes. 4:13-18. The group then sang "Abide With Me."

Roll call was answered by 18 members and Pastor Lilienkamp.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as read. The treasurer's report was given and filed for review.

Committee reports were as follows:

Mission Service - Joann Temme

had packets of corn candy and a message for each confirmand.

Sewing - Ruth Victor reported four ladies had tied five quilts. They had delivered seven quilts to Haven House, eight to the Red Cross, one to North Star, seven to the Rescue Mission, seven to Orphan Grain Train and seven to the Veterans Home which will be used for Christmas gifts there.

Visiting - Fauneil Bennett and Bev Hansen visited at Premier Estates. They will purchase Christmas gifts for members there.

Seminary Student - Melvy Meyer will write this time.

A wreath for the Veterans Memorial Silent Auction is being completed for a donation.

The nominating committee presented the names for the election. They include Fauneil Bennett for President and Rhonda Sebade for Secretary.

The group voted to send birthday monies to the Seminary Student, Ben Vogel. They also voted to give $150 to Camp Luther and $75 to both Orphan Grain Train and Bethesda.

Vice President Bev Hansen announced that the Ladies Aid will host the Spring Workshop in April.

Correspondence was read from Camp Luther.

The Wednesday, Dec. 9 meeting will be a noon luncheon and will be hosted by Rhonda Sebade, Bev Hansen and Mary Janke. Members are encouraged to bring guests, one dozen cookies for shut-ins and either a salad, main dish or dessert.

The mites were collected.

The meeting closed with The Lord's Prayer and the table prayer. Millie Thomsen and Ellen Heinemann served dessert.

The birthday song was sung for Bonnadell Koch and Leona Janke.

Wayne is a caring community that is great to live, work, and raise a family in. When a community member is in need, it seems like everyone pitches in to help. I like doing business in Wayne because I feel genuinely appreciated for coming into the store. The clerks greet me and know me, and are glad to see me. Many of my customers were friends of my grandma's and customers of my parents when they owned the business. I hear from many people every year, and they tell me how friendly and clean Wayne is.

When people ask me what makes this little town continue to prosper, I say it is the spirit of the people who founded Wayne. That spirit lives on in the people who are here today. You don't have to be born and raised here to be part of the spirit, you just have to join in.

Living in Wayne for the past 17 years has been a truly rewarding experience. Gwen and I both came to Wayne and attended WSC. We found Wayne to be a very friendly and inviting community with that small town feel we were looking for to raise our family. The school system has been excellent for both of our boys. Meeting people and becoming involved with the community has been very rewarding.

Living here has been a great "adventure." Wayne is always striving to be the best it can be. This would not be possible if we were not for the caring people that live in Wayne and the drive they have to improve the community we live in.

Take pride in Wayne. Get involved. There are many ways you can do this.... Just ask and let Wayne become your hometown.

Our Savior WELCA recognizes deceased members

Our Savior Women of ELCA Joy Circle met Wed. Nov. 11 with 18 women, Pastor Kim and Luckus Wickstrom.

Decorations for the day were in red, white and blue in honor of Veterans' Day and included a wood painting by Roberta Carman.

President Dorothy Wert announced that the sewing women would not meet in November and December and that the annual Christmas pot luck for the women would be Wednesday, Dec. 9 and if inclement weather, it would be the following Wednesday. Visitation for December will be Dec. 3 at 1 p.m.

She also announced that Charity Circle will meet the third Wednesday of each month in 2010. The women voted to keep the present board as had been the previous year. Birthdays recognized for the month of November were Rodella Wacker, Evie Schock, Gena Puls and Margaret Korn.

Gloria Leseberg began the program with the reading "The Dash Poem" and the group recited together the "Prayer for All Saints" by Glenn Schwerdtfeger.

Lois Youngerman, Phyllis Rahn and Gloria Leseberg then presented a program recognizing the nine women who have died in faith from Our Savior Lutheran this past year. A candle was lit for each one as Lois read a poem in their honor and Phyllis encouraged the audience to share memories of each Saint. Pastor Kim also shared a thought about each one.

The saints recognized were Annamae Wessel, Ruby Jensen, Grace Peters, Frances Doring, Marilla Beckner Ellen Hansen, Mindy Spangler, Alta Baier, and Edna Nissen. Luckus Wickstrom accompanied the women as they sang "Amazing Grace" and "O Women Strong" to the tune of "America the Beautiful."

Veterans were also recognized and a prayer was shared with the group by Lois, Gloria and Phyllis then concluded the program with a dedication of the Thank offerings for the year.

Lunch was served by Elaine Draghu and Dorothy Wert. The next meeting will be the Christmas Potluck General meeting at noon. The executive Board will have the program and decorate for the celebration of Jesus Birth.

Briefly Speaking

Arlene Allemann hosts Merry Mixers

AREA — The Merry Mixers met at the home of Arlene Allemann on Nov. 10. Five members answered roll call with a joke. Adeline Anderson was a guest.

After the business meeting, the afternoon was spent playing pitch and dominoes.

The December meeting will be held at the Senior Center for dinner.

Winside Trinity Lutheran Women gather for meeting

The WELCA at Trinity Lutheran Church in Winside met Nov. 12 with six members answering roll call.

President Kathy Jensen had a Thanksgiving Bible Quiz with members taking turns looking up Bible passages for the correct answers. She closed the Bible Study with a Thanksgiving prayer.

The secretary's report was read and approved. There was no treasurer's report.

A thank you from St. John's in Norfolk was read for the enjoyable Guest Day they attended at Trinity.

The church has purchased a new 12 foot Christmas tree for the sanctuary. It was decided to take the old tree and place it in the entry way opposite the Sunday School's tree and make it a family decorated tree. All church families are encouraged to bring an ornament and hang it on the tree. Each family has the option of taking their ornament home after Christmas or leaving it in church to be used again next year.

Ornaments can be brought any time, starting the first Sunday in December.

The WELCA will be purchasing extra decorations for the larger tree. Mary Lou George volunteered to do that.

Irene Fork is the new vice president as Greta Grubbs is moving.

The next meeting will be the noon Christmas potluck on Thursday, Dec. 10. Everyone is encouraged to bring a guest. There will be a grab bag gift exchange held.

The kitchen committee will be made up of Kathy Jensen, Irene Fork, Arlene Rabe and Peggy Krueger.

Cards were signed for Trinity's two members in the service - John Neel and Christopher Thies.

Thanksgiving wishes were sent to Joy Maas and Arlene Bargholz in Thanksgiving cards.

A card was also signed for Greta Grubbs to wish her well and let her know she will be missed, but wish her much happiness in her move.

It was noted that the eight quilts made by Irene Fork and tied by the Confirmation students have been taken to be delivered to Lutheran World Relief.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Dec. 10 at noon for a Christmas Potluck.

The meeting closed with The Lord's Prayer and lunch which was served by Mary Lou George.

Christmas events scheduled by Wayne Eagles

The Wayne Eagles Auxiliary met Nov. 16 with President DeAnn Behlers presiding.

The Thanksgiving committee, consisting of Linda Gamble, Babs Middleton and Ann Marie Tentinger hosted a potluck supper on Nov. 14 with over 50 in attendance. Door prize winners were Fern Test and Lynn Sievers.

A newsletter was sent out to all members. Anyone who did not receive one can view it on the internet at Wayne's website, www.FOE.com/wayne

The Eagles Christmas party will be held Saturday, Dec. 12 with a 7 p.m. potluck supper. A 43 gift exchange, games and a visit from Santa Claus will be included. Guests and family are all welcome.

The first soup supper will be held Thursday, Dec. 3 from 5:30 to 8 p.m. The sign up sheet is at the club. The public is encouraged to attend.

A joint meeting was held with discussion on Parade of Lights entry, money grants and volunteering.

Serving lunch following the meeting was Anita Luschen.

The next meeting will be Monday, Dec. 7 with Maria Roth serving.

Minerva Clubs learns about Salzburg Festival

Minerva Club met in the home of Connie Glassmeyer on Nov. 9 with 13 members present.

President Phyllis Rahn opened the meeting with a reading by Joan Burney entitled "Machines Are Out to Get Me." In recognition of Veteran's Day, roll call response was "Your Favorite Patriotic Song." Minutes of the previous meeting were read, corrected and approved. Donna Hansen gave the treasurer's report.

Historian Hollis Frese read from the minutes of Nov. 9, 1931, noting the roll call topic was "The Latest Book You've Read." The program of the day was the life of Willa Cather and her book, "Shadows on the Rock." On Dec. 7, 1931, roll call was answered with "A Favorite Bible Character" and the program topic was Dixieland. Mention was made of the Christmas Parade in Wayne.

The birthday song was sung for Lila Brown and MaryAnn DeNaeyer.

The Senior Center will be the site of the Nov. 23 meeting with Marilyn Wallin as hostess. The meeting adjourned and the program was presented.

Connie Glassmeyer chose The Salzburg Festival for her program. In keeping with the "flavor" of her topic, before her presentation she served Bavarian Raspberry Torte for refreshment. Mrs. Glassmeyer showed a film and pointed out points of interest in Salzburg, as well as sharing her personal experiences since she lived in Salzburg for a year. It was interesting to see pictures of the very stage where she had performed.

Northeast Board of Governors seeks candidates to fill Lingenfelter vacancy

Following the recent death of her unexpired term on the Board, Northeast Community College Board of Governors member Nancy Lingenfelter of Plainview, the Board now seeks qualified applicants to fill Lingenfelter represented District I of the Northeast Community College 20-county service area. District I includes Antelope, Garfield, Pierce, Wayne, and Wheeler Counties in their entirety and portions of Boone, Cedar, and Madison Counties. Boone County precincts Ashland, Midland, North Branch, Oakland, and Shell Creek that existed on July 1, 1975, are in District 1. Precincts 19, including 19-1 North Ward, and 19-2 South Ward, and Precinct 20 from Cedar County and Precincts Schoolcraft-Emerick and Shell Creek-Newman Grove City from Madison County are also in District 1.

Any qualified voter in these counties and precincts is eligible to fill Lingenfelter's term that would have ended on December 31, 2012.

The Northeast Board consists of 11 members. Two members represent each of five districts in the service area with one at-large member. Each member serves for a term of four years.

Application deadline is Friday, Jan. 8. Applications should be requested from Board Recording Secretary Diane Reikofski, Northeast Community College, P.O. Box 469, Norfolk, Neb., 68702-0469. Nominations may also be sent to her and she will forward a formal application. She can also be reached by phone at (402)844-7055 or by email at diane@northeast.edu

A committee of the Northeast Board will evaluate applications, select and conduct interviews, and make a recommendation to the entire Board to fill the position.

For more information, please contact Diane Reikofski at (402)844-7055. Or refer to the Northeast web page at www.northeast.edu

Students present concerts in the community

A number of students presented "Spotlight on Promise Concert #2" at the Wayne Senior Center on Nov. 6.

Wayne State College music students Katie Hansen, Krista Ohde, Jesse Rossberg, Katie Bencken, Harley Mohlman and Emily Derby presented music for those who gathered at the center for lunch.

Katie Hansen, Krista, Jesse and Katie Bencken all sang. Harley played a euphonium solo and Emily played a piano solo.

The students present concerts at the Senior Center once a month. Very soon music students from the college will begin monthly "Spotlight on Promise" concerts at the Oaks.

Additional information about these concerts will be printed in future editions of the Wayne Herald.

Wayne Optimist Club hears of new communication system available

The Wayne Optimist club met Nov. 10 at the Coffee Shoppe in Wayne.

Bob Wriedt, Club President, introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Lee Wrede from the Wayne Police Department. He shared with the group information about a new communication system the police station has available for anyone who wants to be connected. If you subscribe to this free computer system, NIXLE, you will have available by cell phone, text message and email any emergency alert information advisories, community and local traffic information.

It was noted that anyone can view information by going to www.nixle.com but you must set up an account to personalize your location and preferences making the service fit your needs. Anyone wanting more information should contact the police station and connect with Lee Wrede.

Lynette Krie then finalized information necessary for the annual soup and desert fund raiser to be held Thursday, Dec. 10 at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne from 5 until 7 p.m. Tickets are available at the door or from a club member. Adults are $5 and children under 10 $3. Soups will be chicken noodle, chili and potato.

Proceeds from the event go to children-related projects in the community.

Some discussion followed as to the Krafts for Kids project held in December so that parents may drop their children off while they shop. A date will be announced later.

The next scheduled meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 24 at the Coffee Shoppe at 6 p.m. and members are reminded that they are to invite someone to the meeting and let Bob know as soon as possible who they want to invite to the NOW meeting. Members will pay for their meal and guest will be paid by the club. The meeting closed with the Optimist Creed. The Optimist mission is to bring out the best in kids.

They want to put Wall Street in charge of my electric bill?

Congress is debating a plan to put Wall Street in charge of reducing carbon emissions from the power plants that serve Nebraska. It's called "cap and trade."

And yes, it would be expensive, complicated, and wasteful - and would raise your monthly electric bill substantially.

There are better, cost-effective ways to solve the problem, including finding new ways to conserve electricity or use it more efficiently, using a sensible approach to wind energy and renewables, and adding more low-emission power plants. Teaming with our power supplier, we're working on them all.

November is National Hospice Month

Only in Nebraska: When I left the house for church on Saturday eve, the score was 13-10. When I got to my Mom's to pick her up, it was 16-10. Before the service started, Pastor announced 23-17, and when I turned around to pass the peace after the sermon, my friend, Deb, said, "31-17, we won!"

they are known nation-wide for their Christmas observances. I had received these in the past, but had no clue where Belmont College was.

Anyway, their interviews showed us the same story: when people confront their mortality, they begin

The Farmer's Wife By: Pat Meierhenry

It's November and time for my annual speech about Hospice because it's National Hospice and Palliative Care Month. The Governor proclaimed it this morning. The latest statistics show we are caring for more and more people; and that the majority are no longer cancer patients. We are seeing debility (old age, but they won't let you call it that), dementia, kidney disease, stroke, heart failure, and neurogenic diseases. For the first time, nationally, the majority were not in their homes, but in nursing homes or hospice facilities.

Tabitha is observing thirty years of hospice, so that called for something special. Our guest speakers were Bob and Judy Fisher of Nashville, who have written a book, Life is a Gift, after interviewing 104 people who were hospice patients.

Incidentally, Bob Fisher works at Belmont College in Nashville. Some of you may have received wonderful e-mails featuring their choirs and decorations at Christmas; to look back on their lives to see what was significant. It was never their jobs, or their houses, or their vacations, even. Rather, it was Relationships.

I remember first hearing this from Orville Kelly, founder of an organization called Make Today Count. He used to ask the groups he spoke to how they would spend their last 24 hours. The answers were always the same: with Family, Spiritual Advisers, and Nature. Then, he would say, we have the ability to spend our days in this way now, even when not confronting a terminal diagnosis. We just need to be reminded every so often.

I started Veteran's Day at a local retirement community where Dr. Louis Leviticus was speaking about his experiences in Holland before and during World War II. Dr. Leviticus was a Jew. He jumped from a third story window in his parent's apartment when the Secret Police came for his parents. He was eleven years old.

We listened, spell bound, as he recounted his memories of the days leading up to that event, and how he managed to survive the war. He is a graduate of Purdue in engineering, and for years, was head of the tractor testing lab at UNL. And through the whole story, the famous Jewish humor was evident. It was well worth my time. Now I have to find his book. Meanwhile, I'm reading Life is a Gift! I think the moral is the same, in either one. A local church has a sign that says, "As we spend our days, so will we spend our lives." Of course.

Livestock producers should use caution when feeding high moisture corn

Here is some information provided by Galen Erickson, UNL beef feedlot nutrition specialist, and Michael Carlson, UNL diagnostic toxicologist.

When it comes to feeding this year's high moisture corn crop to livestock, producers need to pay close attention. Conditions have been such this fall that some corn may be higher in molds than usual. With these molds comes the possibility of several types of mycotoxins, which can cause some problems, especially in breeding stock. While feedlot cattle are most tolerant to mycotoxins, swine and breeding stock can be sensitive to them.

Fumonins, which are one type of mycotoxin, are deadly to horses and in swine can cause porcine respiratory syndrome. Vomitorin and zearalenone are not deadly to animals, but both can affect performance. Vomitorin is associated with feed refusal or decreased feed consumption. Thresholds for decreased feed intake are 1 part per million for swine and 10 to 20 such as propionic acid, to force the corn into fermentation.

For more information mycotoxins in corn, contact the Nebraska Department of Agriculture. For additional information ear rots and grain molds, including additional photographs of the diseases, visit Crop Watch, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension's crop production newsletter, at http://cropwatch.unl.edu, "Market Journal" at http://marketjournal.unl.edu and UNL's Beef Production Web site at http://beef.unl.edu.

Identification of the ear rots and grain molds can be made by the UNL Plant and Pest Diagnostic Clinic and sample submission forms and more information can be found on the Plant Disease Central Web site at http://pdcc.unl.edu.

More information also can be found in UNL Extension NebGuides G1513, Understanding Fungal (Mold) Toxins (Mycotoxins); G1514, Use of Feed Contaminated with Fungal (Mold) Toxins (Mycotoxins), and G1515, Sampling and Analyzing Feed for Fungal (Mold) Toxins (Mycotoxins). These are available from a local UNL Extension office or online.

be contaminated. The bottom line for producers is to have corn, corn products or rations containing corn analyzed for mycotoxins if there is a concern.

There also are two options in storing this high moisture corn. The first is to store it in an anaerobic facility where all oxygen is absent. This could be a silo, silo bags or in a bunker silo. This way the corn will go through a fermentation process. Another way is to get corn dry enough before putting it in dry storage.

The challenge this year is that corn has been too wet to get it to store well in dry storage but doesn't have enough water in it to put it into a high moisture facility. However, if corn is put in a high moisture facility and later fed to livestock water can be added or it can be treated with organic acids, parts per million for ruminant animals, such as cattle. Zearalenone typically is not present at high enough levels to harm many animals but can cause problems in swine reproduction.

If mycotoxin-contaminated corn is used to produce ethanol, the resulting distiller's grains also can

COMMUNITY CLUB EVENTS

The Allen Community Club met in the fire hall for the annual Thanksgiving meal served by Katie Hancock and Kristy Sullivan.

After the meal, Pastor Sara Simmons explained about the Dixon County Food Pantry now housed at the United Methodist Church. She told of the process of distributing the food and repeated that anyone wishing to donate food can leave it in the entryway of the church. At this point, there is enough food, but with winter approaching, she reported there may be need for more donations.

Decorating of the caboose will be Sunday, Nov. 22 at 1 p.m. Christmas candy sacks to be distributed at the Christmas concert will be made on Friday, Dec. 11 at 5:30 p.m. in the school commons.

THANKSGIVING

The Allen Community Thanksgiving Service will be held on Sunday, Nov. 22 at 7 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Allen. Everyone is invited to attend.

COMMUNITY CLUB

Santa and Mrs. Claus will again visit the children and hand out candy sacks at the school Christmas Concert on Monday, Dec. 14. It was decided to decorate the caboose this year with Christmas lights.

MUSIC BOOSTERS

Jack Hintz has donated a Cedar Curio Cabinet to be raffled off for the Music Department. It is hand milled by Jack from cedar logs by the river. Stop in and see the beautiful curio cabinet on display at Security National Bank. The cabinet will be raffled off in December. Tickets are 1 for $1 or 6 for $5.

Ham Pickup - Hams will be available for pick up on Friday, November 20th beginning at 4 p.m.

EARLY DISMISSAL

Allen Consolidated School will have an early out on Wednesday, Nov. 25 at 1:50 p.m. There will be no school on Thursday and Friday.

ALUMNI UPDATE

Allen Alumni meet every two years and will be gathering again on the weekend of July 2, 2011. The Waterbury All-School Reunion will be held this coming summer, June 19, 2010, at Storm'n Norman's in Waterbury. Waterbury Alumni meet every three years.

BLANKET DRIVE

The Cub Scout Pack 172 of Wakefield and Allen will be doing a blanket drive for the needy. They will be gathering blankets for the elderly, infants and young children. They will be collecting until Nov. 30.

Drop off locations in Allen will be Security National Bank, United Methodist Church. In Wakefield, please drop off at The Fair Store and the Christian Church. If you can't get to one of these locations, call Tammy at 402-638-2811 (home) or 635-2010 (work). Arrangements can be made to pick it up.

Cub Scouts are also still doing recycling pickup the second Saturday of every month at 10 a.m. They can take paper, cardboard, and aluminum cans. Please call Tammy with any questions at the number above.

DORCAS SOCIETY

The Peace United Church of Christ Dorcas Society met at the church on Nov. 5.

Co-president Donna Asmus presided. She read "A New Way to Look at a Deck of Cards."

Pastor Olin Belt gave the opening prayer.

Pastor Belt, eight members and guest Lanette Stoffel answered roll call. Lanette became a member.

Adeline Anderson was hostess and her chosen hymn was "For the Beauty of the Earth."

During the month cards were sent to Carol McCloney and Shirley Mann. Lorraine Wesely volunteered to send cards this month.

Thank you's were given by Olin Belt and Shirley Mann. The secretary's report was given and approved. The treasurer's report was also accepted as given.

Members brought their Thank Offering. It was voted to give to the Wayne County Veterans Memorial, Kids Against Hunger, the Rescue Mission and Good Neighbors.

Plans were made for the Thanksgiving dinner. Lanette Stoffel will be in charge of arrangements.

The Christmas no-host dinner will be on Thursday, Dec. 3. Names were drawn for a $5 gift exchange. Lorraine Wesely and Ramona Puls are on the decorating committee and Adeline Anderson will be in charge of the program.

Members thanked the hostess and closed with The Lord's Prayer.

Lorraine Wesely led the lesson on "The Wise Woman from Abel."

At the December meeting, Adeline Anderson will be in charge of coffee.

VISITORS

Hildegard Fenske's granddaughter, Laura Grace and her daughter, Westy, from Omaha visited on Nov. 14.

They came to help Hildegard celebrate her 80th birthday, which was Nov. 14.

They also visited Esther and Julius Rechtermann before returning home on Nov. 15.

THANK YOU

THANK YOU to each of you who remembered our sister, Laura Fredrickson, with memorials and flowers. The acts of kindness extended to us and our entire family prior to and following Laura's death shall never be forgotten. Thank you to the Carroll and Winside Rescue teams for your prompt response. Special thanks to Dr. Martin and the entire staff at Providence Medical Center for your loving care. Thank you as well to the staff at Premier Estates. Finally, we offer our sincere gratitude to Rev. Gail Axen and the members of the Bethany Presbyterian Church. Our blessings to you and those you love during the upcoming holiday season and always.
