Area schools began closing Tuesday in anticipation of the storm, and all five area schools (Wayne, Wakefield, Winside, Laurel-Concord and Allen) had cancelled Wednesday's classes by early Tuesday evening, and a snow emergency was declared in Wayne by Tuesday afternoon, requiring local residents to move their parked cars off city streets.

per hour creating blizzard conditions that left large drifts on sidewalks, driveways and city streets in and around the Wayne area. Visibility was less than one mile in some areas, and some highways experienced drifting during the night as the blizzard rolled through the area.

The city's NIXLE emergency notification system was put into effect, with information sent out by text messages and e-mail to area residents who have already signed up for the service (to register for the free service, go to www.nixle.com).

New community information service available in Wayne

By CLARA OSTEN Of The Herald

The City of Wayne launched a new Community Information Service this October designed to deliver important and timely information to residents in our area. Using NIXLE Wayne Police department can deliver public safety and community notifications by web, e-mail, and cell phone to the public.

The creator of this service, NIXLE LLC, is sponsoring a $10,000 grant to three agencies who sign up the most users before Dec. 22, 2009.

"Our goal is also to sign up as many users as possible before the winter severe weather season sets in. This will allow snow emergency information to be delivered in a timely basis, often to users already on the road," said Lee Wrede, Communications Supervisor for the Wayne Police Department.

All are encouraged to sign up at www. nixle.com to register, or read messages. Nixle is completely free, simple and trusted.

"We are very excited to have you experience it for yourself," Wrede added.

NIXLE is a new community information service provider built exclusively to provide secure and reliable communications. Its authenticated service connects municipal agencies and community organizations to residents in real time, delivering information to geographically targeted consumers over their cell phones (via text messages), through e-mails and through Web access. Nixle is offered at no cost to all governments, their agencies and organizations, nongovernmental organizations and consumers.

SHORN BEEN

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said he is very excited about this new community notification system. The Nixle notification system will allow the Police Department, and City of Wayne, to notify subscribers of important information in real time, using state of the art technology. With snow season coming one application for Nixle would be to notify Wayne of snow emergencies.

For now, Wayne residents will be able to receive police-related information and municipal government information via Nixle. Channels providing other kinds of information are expected to be introduced in the future.

Any group or organization in Wayne wishing to learn more about NIXLE is asked to contact the Wayne Police Department at 375-2626

City sales tax numbers continue slow, gradual climb in FY 09-10

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

After another record-setting year's worth of receipts, one might wonder if the recession that has hit the Midwest would have an effect on sales tax revenue generated in Wayne.

If the early numbers for the 2009-10 fiscal year are any indication, it would appear local shoppers aren't very concerned about the recession and are doing business in Wayne at a potential record-setting pace.

Receipts from the first two months of the new fiscal year show the city is at, or slightly above, last year's numbers and could be well on its way to its first-ever collection of $500,000 in local sales tax receipts.

October and November revenue figures, which are based on sales during the months of August and September, show the city has collected more than $91,700 in revenue, which is up slightly from the $91,569.97 generated during the same period last fiscal year.

Those early figures put Wayne on track to generate more than a half-million dollars in local sales tax revenue for the first time since the tax was first approved by voters in 2000.

The slight increase in sales tax revenue seems to fly in the face of the troubles experienced in state government, where the Nebraska Legislature was forced into a special session last month to address budget concerns over a sharp decline in tax revenue.

"I don't think we're going to be affected much by the economic downturn," city treasurer Nancy Braden said. "It looks like local business is busy, but historically here in Wayne, even when there have been downturns, we have stayed steady or maintained about a 2 percent growth, and it's not far off it right now."

Wes Blecke, executive director of the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce, said the fact that the agriculture economy is in good shape can have a positive impact on the city's sales tax receipts.

"The farm economy has been strong the last few years, and that has a huge impact on Wayne's economy," he said. "If local farmers have money in their pockets, that can have a huge impact."

Blecke said local businesses were feeling a pinch during the late summer months,

Over 100 citizens and students from Wayne joined in the frosty outdoor event to witness the lighting of the two massive evergreen trees abutting the Hahn building, sip hot cider, get pictures with Mr. & Mrs. Clause, create various Christmas crafts and carol while on a sleigh ride.

The large turnout will surely warrant future festivals. Though the game prizes and crafts reserves will definitely need to be augmented, as will the refreshments.

Not only were the sleighs the main attraction, but according to WSC student Rachel Schmitz, "the horses pulling the sleighs were by far the most pleasing part of the night." The consensus appeared to be that the well-mannered horses were certainly the highlight of the

BCS is, once again, a sham

Carnes

College football's national championship is, once again, a sham.

The Bowl Championship Series has rarely, if ever, had the two best teams in college football play for the mythical national championship (keep reading to understand why I. and other intelligent-thinking sports pundits, call it this way). Year in and year out, either teams with dubious track records get into the championship or multiple teams have strong cases why they should play for the MNC.

This year, both are in play.

Texas snuck in the side door in the Big 12 Championship Game after a questionable, but correct, review of the final play showed that Texas still had one second left after Colt McCoy's near-colossal mental gaffe resulted in a ball thrown out of bounds.

Nebraska's defense unmasked the Texas offense as one that is undeserving of being on such a high podium as the BCS title game. If the Huskers had an offensive coordinator with half a brain (something Shawn Watson, obviously, was lacking Saturday), Nebraska would have turned Bevo and the boys into next week's special on a family pack of New York strip steaks at Pac 'N Save.

Three undefeated teams - TCU. Cincinnati and Boise State - are once again left out in the cold, and if you don't think any of these teams could give Alabama a game with all the marbles on the line, ask Alabama about last year's Sugar Bowl matchup against another allegedly undeserving team, Utah, and the beatdown they experienced from those supposed weak sisters from out west.

Aaron Luschen keeps the pressure on as he works for a second-period pin against Wisner-Pilger's Ethan Ortmeier during the Blue Devils' 42-39 loss to the Gators Thursday.

Pins cost Wayne wrestlers in loss to visiting Gators

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

With a net 24-point lead on forfeits, Wayne was in position to win its first dual of the 2009-10 season.

A combination of penalty points and matches that got away allowed visiting Wisner-Pilger to come from behind, however, as the Gators won five of six contested matches to steal a 42-39 win over the Blue Devils Thursday at Wayne High School.

"We wrestled pretty well, but I was disappointed with the loss," coach Anthony Lawrence said. "We're up 11-3 in one match and get pinned, then lose three points for an infraction. We came a long way from last year when we lost to them 84-0, but we need to step it

The dual started out as more a game being played between the two coaches, as Wisner-Pilger coach Gordon Bye shuffled his lineup to improve his team's chances. He moved 160-pounder Briesen Jensen up to 171 to avoid Wayne's Riley McManus and got six points when Jensen pinned Jared Klassen in the first period. The Blue Devils had lost three points early in the dual when Darnell Collins was cited for misconduct for a bite during his first-period fall to Alex Brahmer, but looked to be in position to take control of the dual when Drew Loberg got out to a big lead against Garrett Borgelt at 189 pounds.

Loberg was dominating the match early on, taking an 11-3 lead into the third period. He looked to be out of gas in the final period, and Borgelt took advantage and came back to tie the match at 19-19 before catching Loberg and pinning him midway through the final period.

"There was no doubt Drew was dominating that match, and he just ran out of gas and put his head down and the kid caught him," Lawrence said.

The final match proved to be the difference in the dual, and once again Wayne held a lead before the Gators came from behind. Garrett Vawser was leading when Lucas Wiechmann caught him in a cradle and See WRESTLERS, Page 2B

Bruno, Reeves get All-American nods

Two Wayne State College football standouts were recognized last week with selections to separate All-American teams.

Wide receiver Frederick Bruno was named to the American Football Coaches Association Div. II All-America first team as a wide receiver. Linebacker Ryan Reeves was tabbed by the Daktronics Div. II All-American team as a second-team selection.

The Wayne -

Bruno,

5-foot-8, 210 pound junior wide receiver from Miami, Fla., led Wayne State and the Northern Sun Conference in receiving with 77 catches for 1,163 yards and nine touchdowns. He also had 368 yards rushing on 32 carries with six touchdowns.

Bruno

He ranked third in NCAA Div. II in all-purpose yards per game (197.27), eighth in receiving yards pergame (105.73), 11th in receptions per game (7.00) and tied for 20th in scoring with 14 touchdowns.

Bruno was a First Team All-NSIC South Division selection this season and also earned First Team Daktronics Super Region 3 honors.

It's the second straight season that the Wildcats have produced an All-American after defensive end Troy Pribnow Americanteams last season. Reeves, 6-foot-3, 245pound senior line-backer Wahoo, led Wayne State and named the Northern Sun Conference in tackles for the second straight season, recording 124 tackles with four interceptions and seven pass breakups. He had 10 or more tackles in 10 of the 11 games this season, and ranks tied for eighth in NCAA Div. II with 11.27 tackles per game.

Reeves is a two-time selection to the Daktronics Super Region 3 first team and is a two-time All-NSIC South Division selection at linebacker.

The two teams are set to tip off at 6:15 p.m. at Randolph High School.

Wildcats match 35-year old mark Wayne State overcame a slow game while two other unbeatens play for the national title? Of course you can't - because Div. II (and Div. III, NAIA, junior college and every other sport at every other level) determines its national champion the right way...with a playoff.

The powers that be in college football seem to think the bowl system, which hands out bowl bids to 6-6 teams like Iowa State and Minnesota, works just fine for determining a national title. That's right...give the Cyclones and Golden Gophers a bowl game, just like you do the ones that really deserve it (I will give Notre Dame credit one time, though, for saying they were not worthy of a bowl game after going 6-6).

Can you state, unequivocally, that TCU or Cincinnati is not as deserving of a national championship as Texas and Alabama? What about Boise State, who is undefeated for the third time in five years?

Sure, those other three teams play in conferences considered behind the Big 12 and SEC. And yet, teams from those alleged weak-sister conferences more than hold their own against the big boys...or have we forgotten Boise State's upset of Oklahoma in the Fiesta Bowl a used a solid defensive effort to kick few years back, to say nothing of off the 2009-10 season with an the literal demolition Utah put on impressive 66-44 win over Battle Alabama in last year's Sugar Bowl.

You might find this hard to believe, but I've been suggesting a playoff system for most of my 26 years in the newspaper business. I've long believed that the bowl system is a bad way to determine a national title, and have used any variety of bowl games as part of a 16-team bracket that could be used to determine a legitimate national champion.

The BCS system has far too many flaws in it, and the polls have become so geared toward rewarding mediocre schools from big-name conferences that it has in college football is.

And yet, everybody who eats from the trough that is the mainstream media is going to anoint the winner can do that, and they stepped up of the Alabama-Texas game as and hit some shots," he said. "We the national champion. Never

And while the 7-0 start is nice, it's a small part of the big picture for coach Chris Kielsemeier.

"It's a neat headline and something for people to talk about, and any kind of excitement about the program is something we want to build on, but ultimately we don't want to be a team remembered for starting 7-0," he said. "We want to be remembered for doing something special in March.

"We should feel good about what we've done so far," he added, "but we're more concerned with where we're going and what we're doing. We control everything about our season right now."

Wayne native Don Meyer still has passion for coaching college basketball as coach at Northern State. He and his team returned to Wayne State College for a matchup Friday night.

By JOSHUA STUCHL Of The Herald

Don Meyer's seemingly endless energy and passion for basketball pale in comparison to his desire to develop a winning attitude in his athletes.

Though many articles have been written about his winning the prestigious Jimmy V and ESPY awards, his battle with cancer, and even his car accident and ensuing amputation, few have looked at what makes him who he is.

When asked what is truly important, not just highlights and statistics, he simply yet eloquently replied that "the mark and measure of any coach or teacher is what their students go on the achieve later in life.'

His main goal in coaching is not winning, but is to "get the maximum from the group" and for them to "reach their fullest potential both on and off the court."

In addition to high expectations for his team, he sets high standards for himself. He instantaneously voice records notes at each game for individual and team improvement. He always "studies the greats in the field" of coaching to learn new formations and to be able to effectively counter others' game plans.

Perpetual "learning is the key to success," as he stated Friday night after the Northern State-Wayne State game. He often watches other professionals, reads any pertinent literature on the subject and furiously takes notes. Meyer attributes his success not only to his studiousness, but also to his talented and devoted team members.

His practices usually focus on technique and concentration on the court. He expects all members of the team, including himself, to leave any stresses and doubts in the locker room. "Once that uniform is on, they are playing the game," Meyer said.

Though a Wayne native, he feels no mixed feelings towards playing at his hometown. He always "coaches (his) own team," and demands the same loyalty from his team.

COLERIDGE – First-game jitters got the better of the Allen girls basketball team, as they came up on the short end of a 42-31 decision at Coleridge Friday night.

Coach Logan McPhillips said the Lady Eagles' defense was pretty solid in containing the Lady Bulldogs, but getting things going on the offensive end was a little bit of a challenge.

"We made a lot of mistakes that I think were more first-game jitters than anything, and I think we'll be able to fix those things as the season goes on," he said. "Our offense struggled and we got a little anxious and made some turnovers."

The Lady Eagles hung tough with Coleridge, as the two teams played to a 15-15 halftime deadlock. Allen was still in the game early in the fourth quarter, but Coleridge took advantage of some Allen miscues and hit free throws down the stretch to pull away with the win.

Ashlee Hingst had 14 points and Shannon Sullivan added 12 to lead the Lady Eagles offensively, and McPhillips was happy to see both players' offensive efforts.

"Ashlee was looking for her shot, which is something she didn't do as much last year, so it was good to see her finish with 14 points," McPhillips said. "Shannon is our 3point shooter and she hit a couple out there, and I was proud with how both she and Ashlee played."

Shelby Isom had four points and Hannah Flores added one for the Lady Eagles, who will look to get on the winning side this week, as Homer comes to town Friday.

"They're a pretty solid team, and they'll play us man-to-man with an intense press defense, so we'll need to do a good job taking care of the ball and try to play some solid defense," McPhillips said. "We'll need to play well to make it a game."

Wayne girls use big early lead to cruise to 47-33 home victory

The Wayne High girls basketball team got out to a big lead early and cruised to a 47-33 win over Battle Creek in the season opener for both teams Friday at Wayne High School.

The Lady Blue Devils scored the game's first 10 points and had a 14-2 lead after one period, then responded to Battle Creek's only real challenge in the second period to take a 27-17 halftime lead.

"Our performance exceeded my expectations," coach Nate Wall said. "We got off to a great start and finished well, and I was really impressed with our defense." Wall cited the efforts of Jordan Alexander and Carly Fehringer, who suffocated Battle Creek standout Michaela Barry and limited the freshman phenom to 14 points.

Caitlin Fehringer came off the bench and scored 12 points to lead the Blue Devils, while Riley Hoffart added 10 points. Caitlin Fehringer also had six rebounds and four steals.

"Our bench came up huge, and they had to because of early foul trouble to some of our starters," Wall said.

Shannon Jarvi had 10 rebounds and three assists to lead Wayne. Katie Hoskins had nine points and two blocked shots.

WAKEFIELD – Wayne's depth proved to be a little more than the Wakefield boys could handle, as the Blue Devils got past the Trojans 44-34 Saturday afternoon in an intercounty matchup.

The visiting Blue Devils broke free in the third period, turning a one-point halftime lead into an 11-point lead going into the final period.

Winside falls to hot-shooting Wynot

WYNOT - While the score may look lopsided, Winside coach Jeff Messersmith felt his team played well in a 69-44 road loss to Wynot on Friday night. It was hard for the Wildcats to keep up with the hot-shooting Blue Devils, who hit an amazing 73 percent from the field (26-of-36) and rode a 20-point halftime lead to the victory.

"We played very aggressive and forced (18) turnovers, and if they hadn't shot 73 percent we'd have been in the game," he said. "They shot a tremendously high percentage, and we'd have had to make 50 percent just to keep it close.'

The Wildcats shot just 33 percent from the floor and were led by Michael Lage, who hit 4-of-8 from the floor and finished with a teamhigh 13 points.

"Michael ran the court well and helped lead the defensive effort with Tanner Woslager," Messersmith said. "As he gets stronger and better understands his role, I think we'll see more production from Mike."

Winside's big man in the middle, Nathan Janke, scored nine points in a limited role as he continues to regain his strength after a back injury kept him out of action last year.

"As he progresses the next couple of weeks, he's going to be a big force

Wildcats pick up NSIC split

Senior Brett Spiker poured in a career-high 27 points and pulled down 11 rebounds to help Wayne State pull off a thrilling 74-72 win over Northern State Friday evening in the Northern Sun Conference opener for both teams.

The Wildcats missed out on a chance for a home sweep, however, By LEE KOCH as University of Mary jumped out to a 10-point lead early and pulled away for a 73-62 win Saturday afternoon at Rice Auditorium.

Friday's game featured 14 lead changes and three ties in the second half before a missed layup by the visiting Wolves and a late free throw by Ryan Rudloff gave the Wildcats the two-point win.

"I thought we played with a lot of energy and played extremely well, and we showed a lot of character to come back from being down six in the second half and stick to the game plan," coach Paul Combs said. "It was great to see the guys making plays down the stretch.

The two teams battled back and forth early in the game until Wayne State put together a strong run to take a 40-31 lead at the break. Trailing 20-17 at the 10:01 mark of the first half, the Wildcats went on a 12-0 run over the next 6:21 to take a 29-20 lead following an Amry Shelby lay up with 4:20 to play in Northern State came out strong in the second half and outscored Wayne State 16-7 to tie the game at 47-47 with 14:41 left. The Wolves would build a seven-point lead before Wayne State battled back.

"We've let some leads slip away, but I thought in the second half we were very disciplined and able to play a half-court game and make plays down the stretch," Combs

Area teams open at Creighton Invite

Special to the Herald

CREIGHTON - Winside finished in the middle of the pack at the Creighton Invitational wrestling tournament Saturday, as the Wildcats finished in eighth place in the 18-team field.

The Wildcats, who finished the day without an individual champion, were led by runners-up finishers Paul Hansen (112), Kalin Koch (145) and Jordan Nelson (171)

Hansen lost his finals match to Garet Bowder of Pender by a 6-1 score, while Koch lost a 3-1 match to Paul Cheyney of Stanton, a state runner-up in Class C last year. Nelson was forced to default his finals match due to injury.

Laurel-Concord finished in 15th place, as Riley Lund (215) placed sixth, losing his medal round by match limitation. He earned the Bears' only medal on the day.

Winside, minus the services of varsity wrestlers Ethan Thies and Zach Brokaw-along with returning letterwinners Kelby Prince and Sage Schwedhelm - wrestled shorthanded for the opening competition, a situation that should be corrected as the season progresses according to coach Paul Sok.

"Overall, I would consider the tournament on Saturday to be moderately successful," he said. "The team did not finish as high as

Nelson, who finished third in the some mistakes and probably would 215-pound weight class.

"Hopefully we can get the injuries healed up and keep following the weight loss plans for some individuals and go into the North Bend invite a little stronger," Sok said. "When you look at the whole picture I don't think the team did have placed at 152, and Jon Jacot made a mistake that cost him a chance at a medal, but overall they did a good job."

Winside travels Saturday to compete in the North Bend Central Invitational while the Bears will wrestle in the Stanton said. "It all balanced out for us."

Shelby tied his career high with 18 points, while Jason Jensen poured in a season-high 13 points

The University of Mary led from start to finish in Saturday's game, which dropped the Wildcats to 2-5 overall and 1-1 in the NSIC.

"The first 10 minutes was the key to the game, and you have to give Mary credit for knocking down a lot of shots early," Combs said.

Mary jumped out to an early 7-0 lead and built a 21-10 advantage with 10:35 to play in the first half. They led 38-21 at halftime, and Wavne State got within nine points at 40-31 with 15:50 to play following a jumper by Shelby.

Spiker had another stellar game for the Wildcats, recording 23 points and 12 rebounds for his second straight double-double. Shelby notched a career-high with 21 points as the only other doublefigure scorer for Wayne State. Wayne State will be on the road Saturday, visiting Augustana hoped but there were several factors to be taken into consideration. We did not have a number of guys at the weights they will be at later on during the year and we have some injury factors that kept a couple of individuals out of the first meet."

"Throw in an injury at the tournament (Nelson) that resulted in an injury default in the finals, along with a few early season miscues that kept a couple of other individuals from placing, and you finish in the middle of the pack," he added.

Also earning medals for the Wildcats were Brady Wurdemann, sixth at 103 pounds; Forrest Jones, fourth at 152 pounds; and Anthony too bad. We ended up with three in the finals and three other placers for a total of six medals. Throw that in with four other individuals winning matches and I felt the team had a moderately successful day."

The Bears, under the tutelage of head coach Don Maxwell, fielded a young, inexperienced team with Lund and Jon Jacot the only returning wrestlers with varsity experience.

"With as much inexperience as we have, I thought our kids did a good job," Maxwell said. "Riley (Lund) wrestled at 215 and weighed in at 193, and he did a good job fighting back for sixth after getting beat in the quarters. Austin (Roach) made

Wayne freshman girls open with road losses

The Wayne High freshman girls basketball team lost both of its first two games as it opened its 2009-10 schedule.

Wayne opened the season Thursday with a 34-26 loss at Norfolk Catholic. Sarah Maxson led the team with 14 points, Kennedy Stowater added seven, Hannah Gamble put in three and Jaci Alexander added two points. On Monday, the Blue Devils were edged by Randolph 44-39. Maxson led the scoring with 20 points and Megan Hoffart added 14. Gamble and Alexander each had two points, while Sydney Harris added a free throw.

The team plays at the Oakland-Craig 9/10 Touranment on Saturday.

Late free throw sinks Bears Trojans take sixth at Howells;

LAUREL - For the third time in as many years, the Laurel-Concord boys basketball team came up a point short in its matchup with Crofton.

The Warriors' Tyler Foxhoven hit a free throw with six-tenths of a second left to break the tie and give Crofton a 46-45 win over the Bears in the season opener for both teams Friday.

Kyle Koester tied the game at 45-45 with a pair of free throws with :25 left, and after calling time out, the Warriors set up a play that put the ball in Foxhoven's hands. Foxhoven tried a turn-around jumper but was fouled in the game's final second.

"They threw a lob play to the Foxhoven kid and he made a good move," coach Shannon Benson said. "We had him covered and Ezra Schantz went up for a block and got called for a foul."

The NENAC matchup was tight throughout. The Bears led 25-18 at intermission before the Warriors battled back to take a one-point lead into the final quarter.

In spite of the loss, Benson said he was happy with his team's effort.

"It was a tough one, because you want to be upset with the loss, but it was a good way to start the season," he said. "We played hard and played well, and Crofton always brings their 'A' game and it's nice to play a game like this. If you play well, win or lose, it's a good set-up to the season."

The Bears had good balance in the scorebook, with Koester's 11 points leading the way. Travis Nelson and Johnny Saunders each had eight points, while Schantz, Bryan Pippitt and Michael Olesen each had six.

"They've played together for so long so they know where the other player is at," Benson said. "We're trying to get more balance so it's tougher for other teams to

Allen senior Cody Logue looks to get the fast break started for the Eagles during their 46-35 loss at Coleridge to open the season Friday night.

COLERIDGE - The Allen boys basketball team stumbled out of the gate Friday night and couldn't overcome a slow start in a 46-35 loss at Coleridge.

The Eagles didn't really warm up until the fourth quarter, but were unable to come back from a 14-point deficit, falling to 0-1 on the season.

Coach Luke Hoffman said his team had some opportunities to score early in the game, but couldn't get shots to fall.

"I thought we had a lot of opportunities that didn't go down early in the game," he said. "We created some turnovers with our press, but we couldn't get anything to fall. We looked a little first-game jittery-ish."

Hoffman said he thought his team was somewhat tentative and didn't do a good enough job of creating opportunities out of the offense.

"We tried to take what the defense gave them, but we couldn't really get anything going and make things happen on offense," he said. "We had 25 turnovers, which is 25 more shots we could have had."

Cody Stewart did have a good night for the Eagles, scoring 20 of the team's 35 points.

"Cody is kind of the team leader and tried to make some things happen by driving and dishing it off or just taking it to the basket," Hoffman said. "I was pleased with his effort."

Rose leads way with three pins

HOWELLS - The Wakefield wrestlers wrestled five tough dual matches on Saturday and came away with a sixth-place finish at the Howells Invitational.

The Trojans finished second in their pool, beating Ponca 39-30 and Osceola 48-15 while losing to the Millard South JV squad 65-18. The second-place finish put them in the three-team silver pool, where they lost close battles with the host Bobcats (39-30) and Lutheran High Northeast (42-33).

The Trojans got a couple of key wins late in their dual with Ponca to take the win. With the dual still in doubt, Trevor Rose came through with a first-period pin at 135 pounds and Jacob Nelson finished off the dual with a second-period pin at 145 pounds to give Wakefield the nine-point win.

Wakefield scored all its points on forfeits in the win over Osceola, as the Bulldogs brought just three wrestlers to the match. All three overcome the points given up in eight open weights.

The Trojans found the going tough against the JV squad of one of the top Class A programs in the state. Rose, Wyatt Jacobsen (119) and Tim Campton (215) each picked up pins for Wakefield in their only loss in pool play.

Wakefield found the going tough against the defending Class D champion Bobcats. The Trojans scored all their points on five Howells forfeits, with Howells winning each of the six individual matches.

Rose got his third pin of the day in the finale against Lutheran High Northeast, but the Eagles were able to outlast the Trojans with bonus points coming on five pins. Jacobsen, Campton, Brendan Nicholson (171) and Jacob Nelson (145) earned pins, while Cody Henschke (160) picked up a decision.

Pender's experience sinks Trojans

WAKEFIELD - The Wakefield the girls couldn't believe how much and Libby Henschke put in five. girls struggled at both ends of the floor in their season opener Thursday, and a more-experienced Pender team took advantage in claiming a 56-35 win.

The Pendragons returned all five starters back from last year, and that experience made all the difference, according to coach Matt Brenn.

"We're starting a freshman and a sophomore and our bench is pretty much freshmen and sophomores, so we're a young team," he said. "We watched film after the game, and we were out of position, and that was good for them to see."

The Trojans struggled out of the gate early in the game, but only trailed 11-8 after one period. Pender continued to take advantage of their size in the second quarter and held a 12-point lead at intermission.

"We started off pretty rough and just didn't execute on either end of the floor," Brenn said.

Keri Lunz had a good outing to lead the Wakefield offense, finishing with 13 points on the night. Mercedes Greve added six

"Keri was coming off having her tonsils taken out and had only practiced about a week or so, so for not being in the best basketball condition I thought she played a pretty good game," Brenn said.

Brenn said the team will be working hard to do a better job of executing on both ends of the floor as they prepare for Friday's home tilt with Wausa.

"There's a lot of room for improvement, and we've been working on a lot of different things in practice to try and execute what we want to do, and we're going to get better at that this week," he said.

Wayne wrestlers pick up five medals at York Invite wrestling team had its best opening-tournament performance in six years Saturday as the Blue Devils earned five medals and finished seventh at the York Invitational.

Taking just nine wrestlers to the team's first tournament of the season, the Blue Devils scored 73 points, the most they scored since winning the meet in 2003.

"Last year, I think we scored 20 points at this tournament, so I thought the kids wrestled pretty well," coach Anthony Lawrence said. "We didn't take the whole team in, but the kids we had in it performed well and we got five medals out of nine kids."

The Blue Devils had five wrestlers in the semifinals in the 12-team tournament, but had a rough semifinal round and saw all five drop to the consolation bracket. All five wrestlers won Logan Owens (140), Riley McManus (160) and Drew Loberg (189) finished the day as consolation champions, while fourth-place medals went to Aaron Luschen (152) and Jorge Dunklau (285).

The Blue Devils will see a lot of action this weekend at the Nebraska Duals Tournament, as they will compete in five dual matches each day of the two-day tournament that starts Friday in Columbus.

"We've got a big test coming up this week, so it will be interesting to see where we're at," Lawrence said.

Among the teams Wayne will wrestle are Class A teams Omaha Bryan and traditional powerhouse Millard South.

Trojans open with 56-30 win

WAKEFIELD - The Wakefield boys basketball team did a good job taking care of the ball as it opened the season with a 56-30 win over Pender Thursday night.

The Trojans committed just 10 turnovers and added a solid defensive effort that helped them take a 16-point halftime lead and cruise to the easy win.

"I thought we played well defensively, and we had some shots fall and only had 10 turnovers, so it was a good win for us," coach Mike Clay said. "We were able to keep them to one shot and lay good defense."

Chad Clay had the hot hand for the Trojans, finishing with a gamehigh 23 points.

"Chad shot the ball well from the free throw line, which is good because he struggled at the line last year," Clay said.

The Trojans had good balance behind Clay, with Alex Schultz adding nine points and Chris Matias and Dusty Sherer each putting in seven.

"Dusty came in at center and did a nice job for us inside, and Chris is an undersized guy, but did a great job on the offensive glass and got several points off putbacks," Clay said.

LINCOLN – Ah, the Christmas season.

Family gatherings abound. All those hugs and smiles at the door.

"Look how you've grown!" is a common pleasantry, so long as it's directed to your sister's little boy, and not your sister.

"You look won-der-ful!" is a lot safer, and it's a multipurpose, gender-neutral thing. Safer still is "I'm sooooo glad to see you!"

And conversation abounds.

Think of a gathering of the clan as akin to one of those "Holiday Letters" that some people mail to friends and family each year. The difference is that when you get a lot of family and friends together, the information overload is multiplied by ten.

The catching up among siblings, the next generation, in-laws and outlaws may eventually subside.

That's when trouble might come sliding down the chimney, so to speak.

Seldom have various levels of our government cooperated, or colluded, to provide so much fodder for the holiday roundtable. Government and politics and Nebraska football will certainly come up in lots of happy homes. Whether they remain happy once such topics arise is, as those long in the tooth can testify, is another matter.

Consider the following a holiday offering from this corner. It may serve as a guide to things you might say in hopes of avoiding conversational calamity. The kind that can conclude with people being knocked off Christmas card lists, if not off their feet. Of course, you have no control over what others may say, especially if the Christmas punch packs a punch, but it might allow you to emerge without a painful case of the post-holiday "Boy, I wish I hadn't said that to Uncle Charlie Blues." Especially if Uncle Charlie is rich, single and childless. The issues, as they might be doing with this healthcare thing.

Congress and the president will find a way to just do what's best for the country. We all want what's best for our nation. I certainly do!"

for the country. We all want what's best for our nation. I certainly do!"

"The Big 12 Championship game was really something! What did you think of the way Pelini called plays? And our defense! Whaddya say about how those guys played? Huh?"

Answer: "Go Huskers!"

Sometimes a person simply has to be assertive in the face of seasonal situations. Face what needs doing and speak up when it's time to say: "Put the mistletoe down, dear!"

"Put the bottle down, Grandpa!" "Put the baby down, Mikey!" "Put the mistletoe down, dearest!"

"Put the tape of the Nebraska-Texas game down, Agnes!"

"Put Aunt Agnes down, Uncle Charlie!"

"Put my sister DOWN, dearest!" "Put the keys down on the table, and the eggnog, Grandma!"

dearest up!"

There remains the unfortunate possibility that things may get out of hand. Hollering turns to screaming. A falling out turns to fisticuffs. A falling down leads to a concussion.

thing is a mess. Don't you think we should stay over there as long as it takes to do whatever it is needs doing? Or are you on the 'Bring the troops home' side?"

- From the "Holy cow...when did he have time to play golf?" folder: A recent report noted that there are at least (as of Monday evening) 10 women linked to pro golfer Tiger Woods in the recent discovery of his adulterous affairs.

For those of you scoring at home, Woods has been linked to two cocktail waitresses, a club hostess, a Las Vegas club manager, a swimsuit model, a lingerie model, a pancake house waitress, a former adult movie star, a British TV personality and a woman who, one paper reports, is addicted to sex.

Meanwhile, word is that his wife, Elin Nordengren (who, after one look, makes me wonder what kind of drugs someone would have to be on to consider an affair with a pancake house waitress to be an upgrade), has moved out of the family's Orlando, Fla. house.

I'm trying very hard to avoid making an off-the-cuff, sexuallysuggestive golf reference here. Really, I am. Let's just move on...

- From the "Oh no you didn't...oh yes he did" folder: How clueless are the powers that be in Washington?

Here's the latest evidence... Sen, Majority leader Harry Reid is linking those who oppose health care reform to people who support slavery.

"When this country belatedly recognized the wrongs of slavery, there were those who dug in their heels and said 'slow down, it's too early, things aren't bad enough," the Nevada Democrat was quoted on the Senate floor.

Really? Those who oppose going so far in debt that our grandchildren will be paying it off are proponents of slavery? Seriously? I can't believe any intelligent, liberal-minded individual (and I know they're out there) would want to have his or her way of thinking represented by this nutiob's comments.

I've long maintained that both political parties have completely lost touch with the real world and have absolutely no idea what we, the common folk, deal with in our day-to-day lives. If Reid's recent comments don't drive that point home, I don't know what would.

I will agree that health care reform needs to happen. It's pretty obvious, though, that we don't want a budget.

- Do your parents still call to check on your whereabouts?

I'm 43 years old, and every now and then I'll get a call from my mom, who seems to think her son still needs to be told what to do.

Tuesday morning, she called to By DAVE HEINEMAN ask this question: "You're not going Nebraska Governor out in this blizzard, are you?"

Well of course not, mother - I'm in the office all day working.

"Well, don't be driving to any ball games tonight in this mess."

Can I drive to the grocery store and pick up some milk and bread?

"What??? You don't have any groceries??? What are you going to do with no food in the house in the middle of a blizzard????

I didn't tell her that I was going to the store without a coat and with my shoes untied...no need in worrying the poor lady.

- I'm not a big fan of going allout with Christmas decorations, but I like the decorations that I see downtown. They're festive, without being too flashy.

I'm happy to see Mayor Lois Shelton didn't hire a Clark Griswold-inspired consultant to put up the decorations the way it is done in some other communities. Having some guy stapling his flannel shirt sleeve to the awning over First Realty, in all seriousness, would have been overdoing it.

- The criteria for voting for the Heisman Trophy is to select "the most outstanding player in college football."

Considering the five finalists for the award, the question I would ask is this: what would each player's team have done this season without them in the lineup?

In the case of the other four candidates, their teams probably wouldn't finish as well as they had, but would have had good seasons.

Without Ndamukong Suh anchoring the Huskers' defense this year, Nebraska would have been, at best, a .500 team. Most likely, Nebraska would have finished 3-9 or 4-8 without Suh up front.

In the end, the award will be incorrectly presented to the mosthyped player in the game, which will probably be Ingram. Suh, clearly, is the player who most accurately fits the award's criteria.

Schools recognized for parental involvement

How to handle the holidays

Dear Fellow Nebraskans,

Recently Nebraska  $\mathbf{the}$ Association of School Board and I honored four school districts with the 2009 Governor's Education Initiative Award for Parental Involvement. The Cozad, Kearney, Millard, and Sutherland public school districts were recognized for efforts to engage parents in daily school activities and their child's education.

This is the third year we've recognized school districts for parental involvement. Parents play a critical role in education. By developing innovative ways of reaching out to parents; parents, teachers and administrators develop stronger relationships that can help students accomplish their goals while also encouraging better communication with school district leaders.

Sutherland Public Schools was recognized for creating opportunities for greater parent involvement using a combination of traditional approaches such as take home packets for elementary students, open houses, and special programs like Family Literacy Night. Sutherland schools also invite parents to be part of the school day by visiting classrooms and helping teachers throughout the year.

The result is that this small districthas near-perfect participation at parent-teacher conferences, strong school attendance and superb performance on state assessments.  $Cozad \, Public \, Schools \, was \, honored$ for a series of focus groups that help parents learn about school issues and provide a forum for discussion with school leaders. Focus group topics range from academic achievement to assessments, building maintenance, after school programs, and school policies.

Cozad schools works with the local Chamber of Commerce to include school and youth development information in welcome packets for new residents. Parents also formed a group to recognize outstanding student academic achievement.

Kearney Public Schools was recognized for an after school program that is an effective way to involve parents. Parents are invited to talk with students about hobbies and interests, such as a biology professor and parent volunteering to lead science experiments with after school participants. The program helps staff and parents connect with students by talking about academic progress and other issues. The opportunity for additional enrichment has helped more Kearney students meet state reading, writing and math standards.

Kearney schools reach out to special populations by providing additional support for parents of at-risk students such as Native American and migrant students. These groups provide a forum to help parents encourage learning and set high but reasonable expectations for their child. Families with English Language Learning students have seen an increase of 18 percent of fourth graders meeting state standards, and a six percent increase among eighth graders.

The Millard Public School District was honored for using a program that helps teachers and parents track the character development of every student. Research has identified 40 traits correlating to academic success in young people, such as the ability to use time wisely and follow rules. Parents and teachers work together to help each student master new skills with older students helping track their own progress.

Millard schools provide opportunities for parents to volunteer with approximately 4,000 parents forming a volunteer network to help with everything from special events to improving reading skills of young students.

I applaud each of these school districts for their emphasis on getting parents involved. Parents and teachers working together is an essential element in student learning and academic achievement.

I hope these successful ways of welcoming parents are ideas that other schools will use in their own parental involvement efforts.

Keep moving during winter months [Briefly Speaking -

Don't let those extra pounds creep up this winter. Be sure to ly active during the cold winter keep moving.

Section C

Finding ways to stay physicalmonths can be challenging. But don't let it stop daily exercise. Continuing to exercise during winter will help prevent weight gain that can cause panic come spring and summer.

Varicose veins are not always a cosmetic issue.

Holiday meals and less outdoor activity time can cause extra weight to sneak up very quickly. Being physically active isn't all about preventing weight gain, it also may help boost the immune system and control holiday stress.

What does one do for exercise when bicycling, jogging and rollerbladeing are out of the question? When it starts snowing, get creative. Bundle up, dress in warm layers and go for a walk or try sledding. Try making a snow angel or have a snow ball fight. One is never too old to have fun in the snow.

If the thought of going out in the cold does not sound appealing, consider working out at home. With the purchase of a few workout

DVDs and a few weights, one can have a nice home gym. Depending on the budget, a new or used treadmill or stair-stepper also can help. Get up 30 minutes early and watch the morning news while sweating away the pounds.

The Wayne era

Another idea is to join the local gym. This has a whole slew of benefits, from the vast array of weights and aerobic equipment available, to the yoga or spinning classes and the indoor pool. If being physically active 30-60 minutes every day seems like too much, little bouts of exercise throughout the day can be just as beneficial for as a full 30 minute workout routine. Think of taking the stairs instead of the elevator, or going for a walk after lunch and dinner. Driving to the mall and walking inside is also an option if the weather is blustery outside. Set a goal during the cold winter months to be physically active at least 30-60 minutes most days of the week. This will help improve your health and mood throughout the winter season.

If a staff person notices a student doing the right thing, the staff person can "catch the student being good" by writing his or her name on the "High Five" and making note of what the student did. ### Dates, locations set for 2010 crop production clinics

Pest management, soil fertility, cropping systems and water management will be among the topics to be presented at the 2010 University of Nebraska-Lincoln crop production clinics to be held at nine locations across Nebraska in January.

The clinics will provide valuable information to help crop producers and agribusiness professionals improve their profitability and safety, said Mark Bernards, extension weed specialist.

The clinics will feature presentations on soil fertility, soil water and irrigation management, cropping systems, pesticide safety, plant disease, and insect and weed management. Program topics are tailored to each location, Bernards said. Program topics can be found at http://cpc.unl.edu.

The clinics will be the primary venue for commercial and non-comrenew their licenses in the categories of Ag Plant, Regulatory and Public Library. Demonstration/Research, Bernards BIOGRAPHY

Thoughts running through brain prevent sleep

I received a cute e-mail from my eldest daughter, Sue, that purported to show why women can't sleep! It was a huge, complicated graph with little blue balls running all over it; the caption explained that the little blue things were thoughts that ran through our brains all night. I laughed, but it really isn't so funny. I sent it on to female friends who all could relate. In fact, I got a Christmas letter today that said she started writing it one night in October when she could • not sleep!

On Saturday, we had Christmas cantata practice because it's getting to be crunch time. We are scheduled to sing it this Wednesday, unless we are actually in the blizzard that they are forecasting. So, naturally, all those Appalachian tunes were running through this old brain.

After church that evening, we turned on the TV for the Big 12 Championship game. I tried to keep busy and not watch. I read the old Lincoln papers that my Mom had sent home with me. I folded some clothes from the dryer. Cousin Addy called from Phoenix to ask what was wrong with our offense! But I kept sneaking in to watch, mostly because I could not believe we were staying with them. By the last few minutes. I was sitting forward in my glider, yelling at our offense! Then, there was the unbelievable moment when we thought we had won; and the most unbelievable second when the clock went back on and that field goal was kicked. I confess I actually thought Suh would somehow block that kick, too; he had displayed superhuman tactics all night long. We didn't go to bed right away;

we were too keyed up. I read a darling book called A Dog Called Christmas, the story that had been on the Hallmark channel last Sunday. But we finally called it a day and crawled under the flannel sheets. Then it began: the little blue balls!

"A star, rising in the East"----- How in the world can we win games with just defense and field goals?

"I hear the prophet callin' pre-pare the way of the Lord"-----If only Asante hadn't been called for that horse collar; he's always doing dumb stuff!

"The people who walk in darkness have seen a great light"----Suh deserves the Heisman!

"She's rockin' slow and singin' low, she's rockin' slow and even"-----It's going to be a long flight home for that team.

And so it went, until at least 2 am; between the lyrics of the music and the highs and lows of that football game, it's a wonder I slept at all! And if I'm that disappointed, think how those players feel. Oh, well, it's just a game, right? And we have come along way in two years, that's for sure. Time to prepare for great volleyball at the Qwest center; and you know, Nebraska's women haven't lost a basketball game yet! Onward and upward!

To see a table giving maximum storage times under various combinations of grain temperature and moisture content go to www.extension.umn.edu/specializations/cropsystems/M1080-FS.pdf

Grain above 16 percent moisture in a bin will deteriorate about three times as fast as the estimates in the table if it is not aerated to carry away the heat generated by the fungal growth.

This year, some producers will likely not be able to get all of their grain dried to a moisture content considered safe for long-term stor- system and continue to see indicaage (15 percent for corn and 13 tions of a hot spot, unload enough percent for soybeans) before the weather gets too cold to accomplish enough additional drying to make it economically feasible to continue to run the aeration fans.

reading. Run the aeration fan if the thermometer detects heating anywhere in the grain mass or if there is more than a 5-8° difference in grain temperature between any two spots in the bin.

At the very least, start the aeration fan and immediately climb up and lean into the access hatch at the top of the ladder. If you detect a moldy smell or the air hitting your face is warmer than expected, or you see condensation on the underside of the bin roof on a cold day, this could signal a hot spot is forming in the corn. If you find any of these symptoms, continue aerating until conditions improve.

If you have a stirring system in the bin, run a couple of rounds while aerating to break up wet spots and even out the moisture in the bin. If you don't have a stirring Always push a cooling front completely through the bin before discontinuing aeration for longer than a few days. An estimate of the hours of fan operation required to push a temperature front through a bin of corn is 15 divided by the airflow rate in cubic feet per minute per bushel (cfm/bu). If your drying fan can produce 1.0 cfm/bu, it will take about 15 hours. If you have a storage bin with a small fan producing 0.2 cfm/bu, it will take 75 hours.

Here is some information on grain storage during the winter months from Tom Dorn, Extension Educator in Lancaster County. Unfortunately, we had a significant amount of corn harvested at higher moisture content than we would like. To keep this wet, stored grain from heating and losing quality in storage, producers should run the fan continuously whenever the wettest corn in the bin is above 18 percent moisture and grain temperature is above 50°F. Even with this cold weather, the grain mass may be significantly warmer than the air temperature.

There are two rules of thumb

Consider intermittent fan operation during winter. This recommendation is contingent on the producer's ability and willingness to closely monitor the corn to detect the first sign of heating in the bin. If the moisture content is above 16 percent, use a grain thermometer to monitor temperature. (This is a sturdy thermometer attached to a metal rod that can be pushed several feet into the grain mass.)

Probe several places near the bin walls and a couple of places near the center of the bin. Allow several minutes for the thermometer to equalize with the temperature grain to locate or break up the wet spot

When the weather forecast calls for a period of warmer weather for several days, resume aeration when the equilibrium moisture content table indicates that some drying can be accomplished. For example, if the air temperature is 50°F and the relative humidity is 60 percent, the table shows the equilibrium moisture content is 13.8 percent. If the wettest corn in the bin is a couple of points higher, you may want to kick on the fan to do as much drying as you can while you have the opportunity.

If you warm the grain mass above 40°F while drying, continue fan operation until the grain temperature drops below 35°F again. The goal is to get corn to 15 percent
