Three to run for Wayne mayor in May 11 primary

Many incumbents to go unchallenged

By MICHAEL CARNES
 Of The Herald

Voters in Wayne County will have a few choices to make in the May primary as the deadline to file for election to public office passed late Monday afternoon.

Voters in the city of Wayne will have three mayoral candidates to choose from in the May 11 primary. Current Ward 4 City Councilman Kenneth Chamberlain, former Councilwoman Jane O'Leary and Randall Pick will be the choices residents have to determine which two will square off in the November general election. All three are seeking to fill the vacancy that will be left when current Mary Lois Shelton leaves office at the end of her term.

Republican voters in the first and third districts in Wayne County will need to select a candidate for the county commissioner's seat in their district. Current District 1 commissioner Kelvin Wurdeman is running against Kelly Meyer for the Republican nod for that seat, while District 3 commissioner and board chairman James Rabe of Winside will go against Myron Miller of Winside for the Republican pick. The winner will run unopposed in the November election, as no Democrats filed for the seat.

Only one county office will have a primary election, as Cory Moeller will face seven-time incumbent LeRoy W. Janssen for the Republican nomination for county sheriff.

Those not involved in the May 11 primary will go directly to the Tuesday, Nov. 2 general election.

Council approves funds for memorial

By CLARA OSTEN
 Of the Herald

An hour of debate and a full council room of supporters highlighted the Wayne City Council's decision in regard to supporting the Wayne Veterans Memorial project with LB 840 Sales tax money.

Wes Blecke, representing the Sales Tax Committee, told the council that the committee had recommended a $75,000 grant to the Veterans Memorial Committee to complete Phase I of the project. Blecke said the Veterans Committee, which has already raised more than $125,000 for the project, would be responsible for raising the remaining $22,000 needed to complete Phase II of the project.

Blecke also explained the process the sales tax committee goes through in determining which requests for funding are approved.

Wayne Police investigated burglaries at two local restaurants early Friday. Godfather's Pizza (pictured) and Geno's Steakhouse were both the target of the thief, who was arrested late Friday afternoon.

Burglary investigation results in arrest

Wayne Police Department officers worked overtime Friday to solve the burglaries at Geno's Steakhouse and Godfather's Pizza. Their work culminated in the arrest of Michael L. Fitzgerald Jr., age 34, of Wayne, who was taken into custody in the 100 block of East Sixth Street shortly after 5 p.m. on Feb. 26.

A search warrant served at the suspect's home late Friday afternoon resulted in the recovery of evidence believed stolen from Geno's Steakhouse. Two cordless drills, a battery jump box, and an air compressor reported stolen in the burglaries were recovered from a rural Wakefield house and the safe allegedly stolen from one of the victims was recovered on a county road in Thurston County.

Officers used a combination of physical evidence and witnesses to help bring this investigation to a successful conclusion.

Michael Fitzgerald is being held in the Pierce County Jail pending the filing of formal charges for two counts of burglary, each Class III felony charges. Fitzgerald is presumed innocent until proven guilty.

Vehicle rollover

At about 8 a.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 23 a one-vehicle roll-over near Wayne sent a Wayne woman to Providence Medical Center. At a location one mile west and about one-half mile north of Wayne two vehicles were on Pheasant Run north of Highway 35. One vehicle was attempting to tow the other out of the ditch because it had become stuck there. A third vehicle, driven by Elizabeth Sievers of Wayne, was southbound and noticed the two vehicles in the roadway. Sievers attempted to avoid colliding with the two vehicles and hit a snow drift that rolled her SUV onto its side. Sievers and the two child occupants of her vehicle were taken to Providence Medical Center by the PMC ambulance. The Wayne Fire and Rescue members also responded to the scene. All of the occupants of the vehicle were in seat restraints.

Mixup of paperwork keeps county off list of state's declared disaster areas

By MICHAEL CARNES
 Of The Herald

Wayne County was faced with another pile to plow through, but this time it wasn't the aftermath of a winter blizzard.

Instead, it was the aftermath of a disaster declaration by President Barack Obama that found Wayne County missing from a list of 34 Nebraska counties that were declared disaster areas in the wake of winter storms that hit the area in late December and early January.

Wayne County officials were told by the Federal Emergency Management Agency that it would need to provide more detailed documentation of resources that were used and emergency routes that were opened by the county in the process of cleaning up from three major blizzards that hit the area. The Wayne County Commissioners went over the details with Nic Kemnitz, emergency manager, at its Tuesday meeting.

Kemnitz said there was some confusion with the site assessment information report the county received back. Information regarding the number of motorists stranded and the number of rescue calls that were reported did not seem to match with what the county originally submitted.

"Some of the information on here isn't accurate to what we submitted," he told the board. "Somewhere along the way between here and Washington it got messed up."

County Clerk Debra Finn, who serves as the board's secretary, said that the state occasionally makes a mistake and confuses Wayne County with Washington County - which was one of the 34 counties that was declared a disaster area - as they are so close together in order of spelling.

"When they enter information on a computer and select a county on the drop-down menu, they will sometimes select Washington instead of Wayne," she said.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson,
City Administrator

City Council meeting

The next regular city council meeting is Tuesday, March 16 at 5:30 p.m. in the city council room at 306 Pearl Street.

The Road Ahead

Take a look at Nebraska highways. Our great-grandparents never imagined we could afford to pave those dirt roads so that we could drive from here to the coast without ever getting off the pavement. We paved all these highways with state and federal gasoline taxes from people using the roads. The system was brilliant and our quality of life has come to depend on cheap transportation.

Be prepared for state and federal highways to decline in quality for a decade or more while our elected officials and the public try to find an acceptable new source of funds to build and maintain roads.

Drivers in Nebraska and nationwide, have wisely and prudently reduced our gasoline and diesel usage by driving fewer miles and by purchasing more efficient vehicles. Add to this the advent of affordable electric plug-in cars for the daily commuters who don't want to be held hostage by the next $4 gas run-up. The result is the best highway system in the world that suddenly lacks the money to maintain it under the current gas tax system.

The Nebraska Department of Roads is re-inventing itself as fast as possible to adapt. Who could have imagined that its total revenues will soon be half of what they once were and won't even be enough to maintain the existing bridges and paving.

As drivers, we will tend to oppose any new taxes to maintain the roads until the paving gets bad enough that we find common ground and require the legislature set up a new system to fix the roads. That common ground is going to be very, very hard to find so be prepared for this to take a while.

Area Red Cross chapter responded to 20 fires in 2009, provides assistance

Imagine for a moment the thought of standing out in the cold watching your home and all your possessions go up in flames. Are the family members all out and safe? Now what — where do you go and where do you turn? You can turn to the Northeast Nebraska Red Cross because "they'll be there, when help can't wait!" The local chapter has responded to 20 fires in the last year. The Red Cross provides emergency assistance in the way of food, shelter and clothing. They can also assist with eye wear replacement and medication replacement when needed. But all of this would not be possible without selfless hours of volunteers who were willing to be trained and then serve others in time of need. Red Cross disaster responders are on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week — just like any other emergency response team. Heather Claussen, Chapter Operations Manager of the Northeast Nebraska Red Cross, says, "The communities' donations allow us to answer the calls for help when it's needed most and to fulfill our promise of 'We'll be there when help can't wait!' The money we raise is spent wisely — nationwide, nearly 91 cents of every dollar is spent directly on programs and services, a stellar record among non-profit groups." One hurt in one-car crash

A one-car crash south of Wayne occurred at about 11:15 a.m. Friday, Feb. 26 that sent a woman to Providence Medical Center. A southbound vehicle driven by Nicole Plagge of Omaha went off Highway 15 about five miles south of Wayne after the driver became distracted and looked away from the roadway. The vehicle crossed the center line and struck a snowbank on the southeast corner of that intersection. Plagge was alone in the vehicle and was taken to PMC by its ambulance crew. Wayne Fire and Rescue teams were also on scene. Use of restraints was unknown.

Wahoo girls run past Wayne, end Blue Devils' state hopes

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

FREMONT – It's been said that speed kills.

That's exactly what terminated the Wayne girls basketball team's hopes of making just the second appearance in a state tournament in school history Friday night, as the fast-paced Wahoo Warriors were too much for the Blue Devils.

Wahoo raced to a 32-18 halftime lead and never led by fewer than 10 points after that, punching their ticket to state with a 54-37 win over the Blue Devils in the C1-2 district final at Midland Lutheran College.

Coach Nate Wall said he knew Wahoo was fast . . . but he and his team had no idea just how fast they really were.

"You can't see how fast they are on film," he said after the game. "We knew they were fast, but we didn't know they were that fast. They beat us to the hole and we didn't close out as well as we needed to."

The Blue Devils stayed with Wahoo in the early going, thanks to back-to-back baskets by sophomore Caitlin Fehringer to tie the game at 6-6. Riley Hoffart hit two free throws to make it 8-8, but that would be as close as Wayne would get to Wahoo the rest of the night.

The Warriors' Mattie Murren hit a 3-pointer late in the first period to give Wahoo an 11-8 lead after one quarter, and Wahoo started to wear out Wayne with its speed in the second quarter.

five points at 17-12, but Murren hit a 3-pointer to ignite a 10-0 run in just two minutes that turned a five-point lead into a 15-point advantage.

"That's what great teams do," Wall said. "They get rid of runs and they made some big plays."

Wayne was able to chip away at the lead, and when Jessica Calhoun hit a short jumper to make it 41-31 with 7:25 to go, Wayne still had a chance at a comeback.

Wahoo put the skids on Wayne's comeback hopes, though, as Emily Brodahl converted a three-point play with 3:50 left to cap a 7-0 run that got Wahoo's lead back up to 17 points. "When we were down 10, if we could have gotten it to eight and kept that momentum going, who knows what would have happened," Wall said. "But my hat's off to them. They're a wonderful team."

Ashley Arlen floats in the lane for two of her game-high 21 points in Wayne State's win over Bemidji State.

WSC women riding 12-game win streak

It's not enough to have a nice, long winning streak heading into the postseason if you're not playing well as a team.

Saturday night, the Wayne State College women's basketball team not only won their 12th straight game, but did so in impressive fashion, defeating Bemidji State 83-59 at Rice Auditorium.

The victory, which marked the second time in school history that Wayne State has gone undefeated at Rice Auditorium (14-0 this season), but was done in impressive fashion as the Wildcats finished 16-4 in the NSIC and take a 23-4 record into postseason play.

"We wanted to win it the right way, and the last few games we've won but didn't play real well," coach Chirs Kielsmeier said. "I thought it was important for our program to play at a high level, and we showed a lot of energy that I hadn't seen the last couple of games. I was really pleased with how we played."

Wayne State jumped out to an early lead in the opening minutes despite only shooting 30 percent from the field in the 10 minutes. They dominated the paint in the first half, scoring 19 points in the lane, and capitalized on turnovers to take a 38-22 lead into the locker room.

In the second half, Wayne State continued to add to their lead as the Wildcats earned their largest lead of 33 halfway through the second half. The Wildcat's bench provided most of the damage in the half as they poured in 27 points in the stanza. So dominant, in fact, that only Ashley Arlen finished in double figures, yet all 11 Wildcats who suited up found their way into the scoring department.

"That was awesome to see as a coach, because it shows the balance that you have," Kielsmeier said. "Ashley had a big game, but nobody else was in double digits and yet everybody scored. That's a pretty good feeling for how solid the program is."

Wayne State shot 45.2 percent (28-of-62) from the floor, including 40 percent (10-of-25) from 3-point range while limiting the Beavers to 36.6 percent (26-of-71) shooting from the field.

Arlen's 21 points led the way, and she added seven rebounds on the night. Alyssa Fischbach, Julie Ann Wagner, Alisha Brown and Marcy Amundson all added nine points. The nine points was a career high for Amundson, who also grabbed a team high eight rebounds.

Senior Kati Jo Christensen added six points on the afternoon to go along with three assists as she played her final regular season home game at Rice Auditorium.

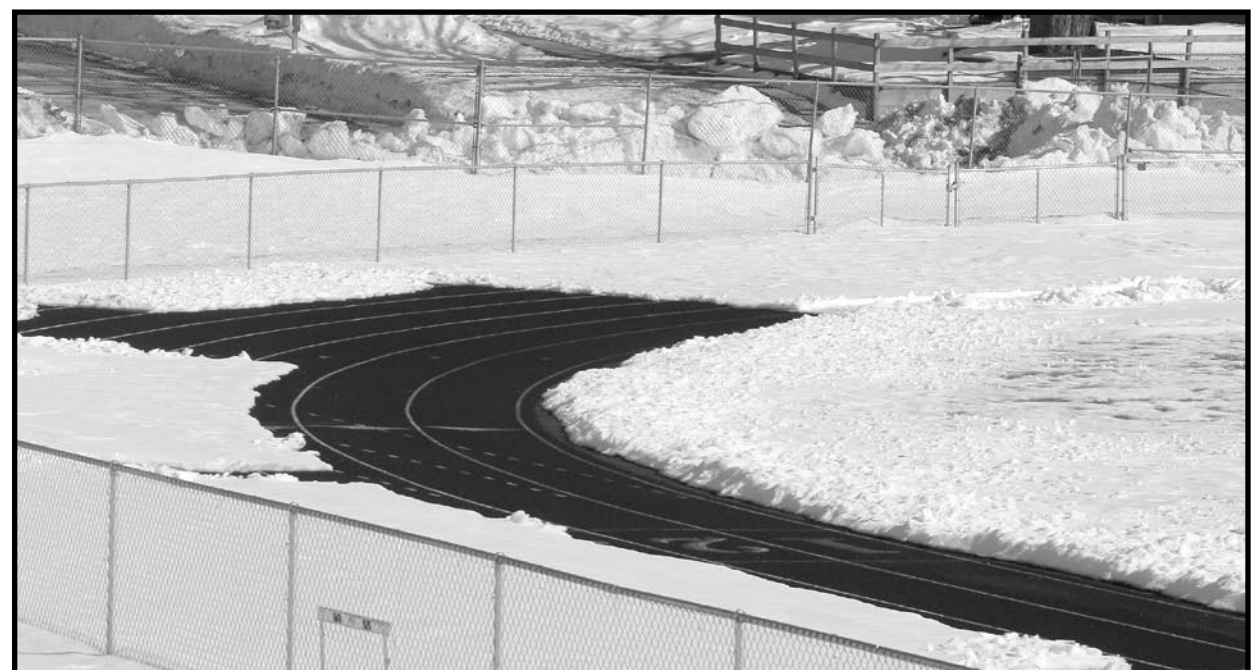

On Wednesday, the Wayne State women overcame 20 turnovers to register a 62-55 win at Southwest Minnesota State.

The Wildcats led 10-4 lead on a Kati Jo Christensen 3-pointer, but the host Mustangs stayed close and took a 22-21 lead on a 3-pointer by Tori Fink with 5:10 to go in the first half. Wayne State closed the half strong and took a 29-24 lead at halftime.

The Wildcats took a pair of 11-point leads in the second half and answered two Southwest Minnesota State runs to hang on to the win. Wayne State responded to an 11-2 run with a run of their own, scoring 11 of the next 13 points.

Southwest Minnesota State made one more run and got within one point at 56-55, but Wayne State held the Mustangs scoreless the rest of the way to seal the win.

Arlen led four Wildcats in double figures with 17 points, Hjelle had 16 points and 11 rebounds, Alyssa Fischbach added 11 points and Christensen scored 10.

It's going to take some time to get the track at Wayne Middle School cleared for the start of the high school track season. The long, hard winter has left a lot of snow on area tracks, delaying the start of the spring sports season for area teams.

Snow delays spring practices

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Spring sports activities were supposed to begin Monday for area high school athletic teams.

There's just one problem – there was a lot of winter left behind.

The abundance of snow that blanketed Northeast Nebraska has left plenty for area athletic directors to deal with as they try to figure out how to get their track and field athletes outdoors, and there is concern as to how long it will be before that will happen.

"The snow and the temperatures are big things right now that are holding us up," Wayne High athletic director Rocky Ruhl said. "And you can't get on the grass, either, because it's still wet and frost is coming out of the ground."

Snow is the biggest hurdle facing track programs right now, with thick, high drifts covering tracks in Wayne, Laurel and Wakefield.

The snow is so bad on the new track complex in Laurel, Scott Petersen isn't sure his school will be able to host their L-C Relays on March 30.

"You can't even believe it," the Laurel-Concord athletic director said. "We have 10 foot high drifts on the track all the way around the first curve. It's probably 7-8 feet deep across the long jump pits and the shot put pit."

Softballers start year 3-1 on road

The Wayne State softball team got the 2010 season off to a good start, going 3-1 at the Missouri Southern/Pittsburg State Crossover Tournament in Joplin, Mo.

"For our first time out, I thought we did really well," coach Krista Unger said. "We haven't practiced on dirt or taken any fly balls, so we played pretty well considering that. Our kids are pretty resilient and did a good job of adjusting."

Katie Goetzinger's pitching and the hitting of first baseman Jennifer Radley carried the 21st-ranked Wildcats to a 4-0 win over Truman State Sunday morning in the final game of the tournament for the Wildcats. A second game scheduled for Sunday afternoon against Fort Hays State was cancelled due to frost coming out of the ground causing wet field conditions in Joplin.

Wayne State opened the scoring in the third inning when Amy Sandstrom scored on Hannah Engelkamp's RBI single to give the Wildcats a 1-0 lead. The lead went to 2-0 in the sixth when Sam Earleywine singled and scored on Jennifer Radley's RBI double, and the Wildcats added two more runs in the seventh when Kassie Nurton singled and scored on Blaire Kuhl's sacrifice fly and Radley's RBI single.

Wildcats bomb Bemidji, get into NSIC tourney

It was win-and-get-in night at Rice Auditorium for the Wayne State and Bemidji State men's basketball teams, and by the early stages of the second half there was little doubt which team was heading to the conference tournament.

The Wayne State men shot a sizzling 63.5 percent from the field in a 91-48 rout of Bemidji State Saturday night, finishing the regular season with a 13-14 overall record and 10-10 mark in the NSIC while sending Bemidji State home for the season.

Wayne State had two players score 20 or more points as Jason Jensen had 23 and Brad Starken added 21, to help the Wildcats clinch a spot in the 2010 NSIC Sanford Health Men's Basketball Tournament.

While the offense racked up its best point total of the year, coach Paul Combs pointed to the defense that fueled the one-sided victory. "Our defense really gave us a great lift, and it fueled our offense," he said. "The kids played with great passion and energy and it was a tremendous effort."

Combs was especially proud of the defense, which stopped a Beavers squad that had averaged more than 90 points a game in its five previous outings.

"The more stops we get with this group, the higher percentage of shots we get offensively and the more confidence we have," he said. "The defense gets a lot of credit for what we did Saturday."

Wayne State never trailed as the Wildcats jumped out to an early lead, thanks to Brad Starken, who hit the first of his seven 3-pointers at the 13:41 mark to give Wayne State the lead for good. Bemidji State would battle back later in

Wayne State runners earn academic honors

Wayne State senior cross country runners Sarah Thomsen and Megan Zavorka were named to the 2009 NCAA Div. II Women's Cross Country All-Academic Team announced by the U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association.

Thomsen, a senior from Wahoo majoring in journalism/spanish, ran a season-best time of 23:27 over 6,000 meters to finish 43rd out of 147 runners at the NCAA Central Regional Championships. She was a two-time All-NSIC runner in cross country and is a three-time selection to the NSIC Fall All-Academic team for cross country. Thomsen was one of 31 athletes named to the team that had a perfect 4.0 grade-point average in the fall 2009 semester.

Zavorka, a senior from Torrington, Wyo. majoring in chemistry/biology, placed 10th at the NSIC Championships to earn All-NSIC honors last fall as a senior while placing 23rd at the NCAA Central Regional Championships in Wayne. She was a three-time All-NSIC performer in cross country during her career.

game, four-hit shutout with eight strikeouts and two walks to earn the win. Radley went 3-for-3 with a double and two RBIs. Earleywine was 2-for-4, while Sandstrom singled and scored twice.

The Wildcats won two games Saturday, beating Pittsburg State 4-2 and outlasting Emporia State 4-3 in 10 innings in the second game. The win over Pittsburg State was Coach Krista Unger's 100th win as Wildcat head coach.

In the win over Pittsburg State,

Kuhl went 2-for-4 with three RBIs to lead a 10 hit attack, while Engelkamp, Nurton and Brittany Greenwood each had two hits. Amber Baird got the win on the mound, allowing five runs and striking out five in 5 2/3 innings.

The second game saw Wayne State win in the bottom of the 10th inning on Radley's RBI single. The game was tied 1-1 heading into extra innings. Each team scored in the eighth and ninth, and Radley produced the game-winning hit in the bottom of the 10th.

On Friday, Wayne State opened the season with a 3-2 loss in eight innings to Washburn. Washburn's Lauren Himpel belted a two-run homer in the top of the eighth inning to hand Wayne State the defeat.

Washburn opened the scoring in the fifth inning when Alex Zordel homered to left center field. Wayne State tied the score in the bottom of the seventh when Earleywine led off the inning with a walk and pinch runner Alesha Finkey scored on Greenwood's double to left field to force extra innings.

In the bottom of the eighth, Aeriell Earleywine was placed at second base, Nurton reached on an error moving Earleywine to third, and then scored on Sandstrom's fielder's choice to make the score 3-2, but the Wildcats could not get the tying run home.

Wayne State will resume play on Saturday, March 6, when the Wildcats play Kutztown (Pa.) and Assumption College (Mass.) at the NTC Spring Games in Clermont, Fla.

Spring

"We've got a meet on March 30, so we're getting a little bit concerned," he added.

And it's not like you can just drive a snowplow on the track and clear things out. With the crumb-rubber track surface, a snowblower could leave gashes in the track.

"We've got a couple hundred thousand dollars invested in a track surface, so I'd hate to bring any equipment on it," Petersen said of the Laurel track. "Hopefully we can at least clear a couple of lanes on the inside so some of the kids can work out that way."

Ruhl had the same feelings about Wayne's track.

"If you put a snowblower that's self-propelled or has chains on the wheels, it will rip the surface up," he said. "A snow thrower would tear up the track, too. We've been using plastic shovels and the coaches have been trying to get some lanes open, but I don't know if we can do anything with the drifts."

Things aren't quite as bad on the new track built in Wakefield. The final surface hasn't been laid yet, so athletic director Chad Metzler said it wouldn't be as bad for them to use equipment to remove the snow on their current asphalt surface.

"We're going to put the final surface on it when the temperature allows, but one good thing about not having the surface on it now is that we can get on it and push the snow off," he said. "Hopefully we can get all the snow moved off this week and give the sun a chance to dry the track so we can get on it in the next couple of weeks."

While an exposed track can absorb sunlight and speed up the melting process, the same can't always be said for the field event areas.

"The field areas are going to be slow going, and we may have to get some equipment and do something with those areas," Ruhl said.

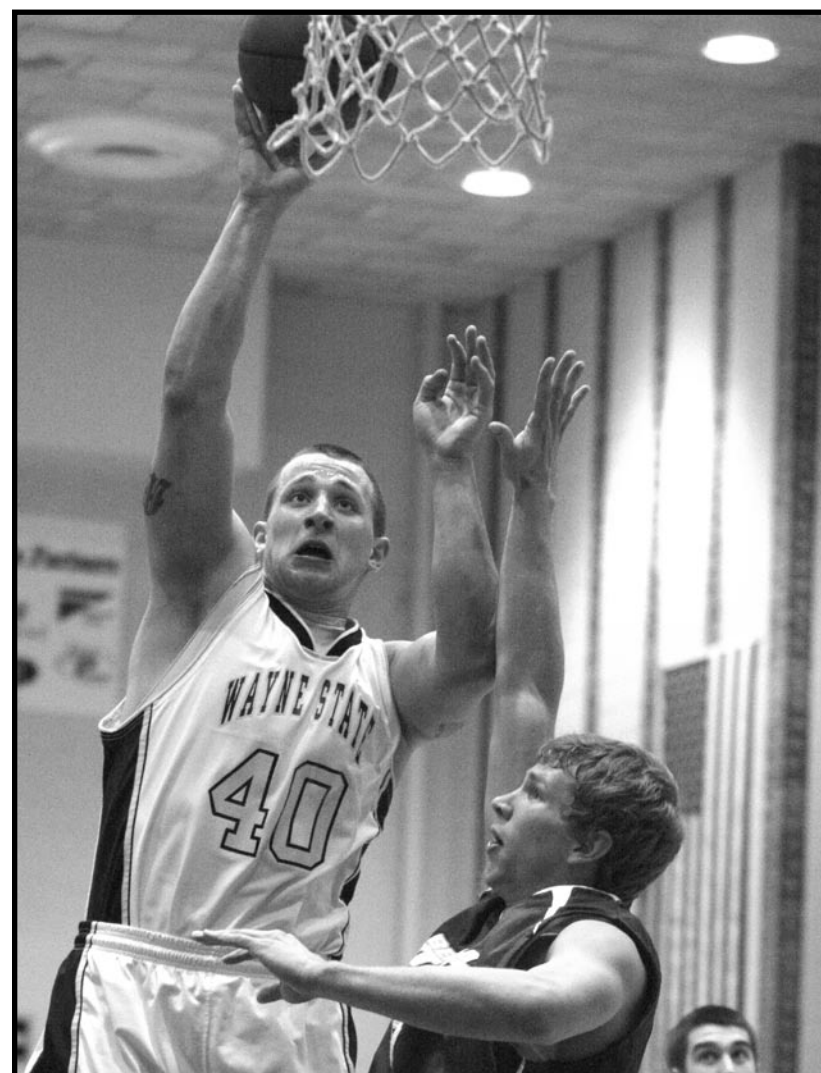

Just getting to the track is an adventure in itself right now in Laurel, Petersen said.

"The quantity of snow up there is just unbelievable," he said. "We couldn't get up there until the city came in and cleared the road and driveway to our complex. The discus pit has snow a couple of feet deep and it's blown up into the cage."

And while snow shovels and sunshine can eventually clear things up on the track, the process will be a lot slower for the area golf teams, who will have to rely exclusively on Mother Nature to melt the snow and firm up the fairways and greens before they can hit the links.

"When the golfers are going to get some quality practices in is anybody's guess," Petersen said.

the first half to cut the Wildcats' lead to two points at the 4:29 mark of the half. But Wayne State would outscore the Beavers 17-3 in the final 4:29 seconds of the opening stanza to take a 42-26 lead into the break.

"Brad gets into a rhythm and he's a dangerous shooter, because once he hits one he feels he can hit anytime, anywhere, and he played with tremendous confidence," Combs said.

The Wildcats dominated the second half, as Wayne State shot 66.7 percent from the field (18-of-27) in the half. The Wildcats defense would also lead to offense, as Wayne State had 14 points off of turnovers in the half. Junior Ben Tasa capped off the night with a rim-rattling dunk that had the Wildcats faithful on their feet.

Freshman Amry Shelby added 17 points and senior Brett Spiker notched his 12th double-double of the season, scoring 11 points and grabbing 15 rebounds in his final game at Rice Auditorium. Fellow senior Brian Metz added five points in five rebounds in his final game at home.

A furious comeback fell one point short Wednesday night, as the Wayne State men nearly rallied from a 21-point deficit early in the second half before suffering a heartbreaking 70-69 loss at Southwest Minnesota State.

The host Mustangs started the game on fire, making their first eight shots and 10 of their first 15 to take a 23-6 lead with 9:36 to play in the first half. Southwest Minnesota State eventually took a 20-point lead in the first half at 38-18 and led 38-20 at halftime.

SMSU opened the second half with a 3-pointer by Kevin Andrews to take their biggest lead of the game at 41-20, but the Wildcats slowly began chipping away at the Mustang lead and got the lead down to single digits at 47-39 on a Jason Jensen layup with 12:04 to go.

Wayne State got within five at 51-46 on a Jensen trey with 8:09 to play, but SMSU came back and held a 10-point lead at 61-51 with 4:23 remaining before the Wildcats made one more comeback.

Trailing, 68-61 with 1:27 left, Jensen hit a three to cut the Mustang lead to four at 68-64 with 1:11 to go. The Mustangs used a pair of free throws with :38 left to lead 70-64, but Shelby made a pair of free throws after a technical foul with :28 left to make the score 70-66. A Starken layup and free throw to cut the Mustang lead to one at 70-69 with 25 seconds left.

Without any timeouts, Wayne State had to foul Southwest Minnesota State and the strategy worked, as Trent Carlson missed two free throws to give the Wildcats the ball. Jensen missed a jumper with 10 seconds left and the Wildcats had to foul SMSU's Jordan Miller, who missed two free throws with seven seconds left. Wayne State drove the ball down the floor for one last shot, but a 3-pointer by Jensen was no good as time expired.

Ezra Schantz shoots for two of his game-high 17 points in Laurel-Concord's season-ending loss to Hartington Cedar Catholic in the C2-7 subdistrict.

L-C boys can't hold off Trojans' subdisrict surge

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The first 19 minutes of Thursday's C2-7 subdistrict final was anyone's game.

The last 13 minutes, it was all Hartington Cedar Catholic.

The Trojans exploded for a 12-2 run during a two-minute stretch of the third quarter after Laurel-Concord pulled to within two points on a 3-pointer by Ezra Schantz, turning a close game into a rout as they beat the Bears 66-52 to advance to the district finals.

"The execution was something we needed to do if we were going to have a chance, and the kids played hard but it got away from us a little bit and (Cedar Catholic) were able to take advantage," coach Shannon Benson said after the loss ended the Bears' 13-7 season.

Laurel-Concord had played Hartington Cedar Catholic close throughout the first half, and when Schantz hit the second of his four 3-pointers right before halftime, it pulled the Bears to within three at halftime and gave Laurel-Concord some momentum going into the second half.

"We knew it would be a game of runs and we got our run there in the first half, but it's hard to play from behind because you use a lot of energy coming back."

After the Trojans' Cody Klug opened the second half with a basket, Schantz drilled another bomb to make it 31-29 and give the Bears some hope that they might be able to hang with one of the top teams in Class C2.

Klug followed Schantz's trifecta with one of his own, then scored quickly off a steal to make it 36-29. By the time Schantz and Johnny Saunders scored on back-to-back possessions, the Cedar Catholic lead had grown to double digits and Laurel-Concord couldn't get any closer than 11 points after that.

Saunders finished with 17 points and Schantz added 16 in their final games with the team. They were two of seven Laurel-Concord seniors - including Bryan Pippitt, Travis Nelson, Kyle Koester, Lucas Pallas and Anthony Brandow - who played their final game Thursday night.

"I always tell our seniors that they have given me everything they've got and it was a pleasure to have them on the team," Benson said. "They gave me a lot of confidence as a coach, and they'll be a tough group to replace. They do a lot of things well and have played well together."

The Wayne State College women's indoor track and field team set four new school records and had one automatic and two NCAA provisional national qualifying marks to place sixth at the 2010 Northern Sun Conference Indoor Track and Field Championships, held Friday and Saturday in Mankato, Minn.

The Wayne State women finished with 58.5 points, placing behind Augustana (146), University of Mary (134), Minnesota State (116), St. Cloud State (77) and Winona State (73.5). The Wildcat men's team came in ninth place with 26 points.

Senior sprinter Christina King placed second in the 400-meter dash with an NCAA automatic qualifying time of 55.94 seconds, and also placed sixth in the 200-meter dash finals in 25.64 seconds. Junior Paige Pollard also earned a second-place finish in the 800-meter run with a time of 2:17.03.

She also placed third in the shot put with a provisional national qualifying mark of 44 feet 11 1/2 inches.

Senior distance runner Megan Zavorka broke the school record in the 3,000-meter run with a sixth-place finishing time of 10:19.14, eclipsing the previous school mark of 10:27.55 set by Sarah Thomsen

The fourth school record set was by the distance medley relay team of Ky'Lee Engelken, Melissa McIntosh, Pollard and Thomsen, as the foursome placed second with a time of 12:21.99 to top the previous school record of 12:36.74 set in 2007 by Molly Gibson, Jade Lippman, Erin Oswald and Zavorka.

Other medal winners for the women's team included Brienne Hofstetter placing sixth in the long jump with a mark of 17 feet, 4 1/4 inches, Megan Dias placed seventh in the triple jump, Thomsen placed

Other medal winners included York Thomas placing seventh in the 5,000-meter run and Brad Wright taking eighth in the weight throw. The distance medley relay team of Matt Seiler, Andy Jansen, Lee Anderson and Cheto Cerda placed fifth, and the 4-by-400 meter relay team of Michael King, Drew Molacek, Aaron Garza and Jansen placed fifth.

Wildcats knock off No. 9 Emporia State in 7-3 win

Jake Ritzdorf and John Plasha each had a double, two hits and two RBIs and Wayne State used a five-run fifth inning to down NCAA Div. II No. 9 Emporia State 7-3 in a non-conference college baseball game Tuesday in Emporia, Kan.

Trailing 1-0 after four, the Wildcats (4-5) used four hits and a pair of walks to score five runs in the fifth to take control.

Joe Wendte's solo homer tied the score at 1-1 to start the inning. Nick Bidroski walked and Justin Beranek doubled, followed by an RBI groundout from John Plasha that scored Bidroski to put the Wildcats in front 2-1. With two outs, Mike Bisenius singled to score Beranek, then Josh Nielsen walked and with Nielsen and Bisenius coming home on a two-run double to center by Jake Ritzdorf to give the Wildcats a 5-1 lead. Wayne State added two more runs in the sixth on a fielding error and an RBI double by Plasha.

The Wildcats had 11 hits in the game to nine for Emporia State. Ritzdorf finished 2-for-4 with two RBIs and a double while Plasha was 2-for-5 with a double and two RBIs. Josh Nielsen added two singles.

Junior Eric Dye was strong in four innings of work, striking out seven batters while allowing four hits and count. Redshirt freshman reliever

Tadd Johansen followed with three solid innings of relief to earn the win, allowing two runs on four hits

Matthew Peter (149), Tanner Thiem (184), Matthew Bates (197) and Jonathon Mullen (285) all earned trips to the national tournament with their efforts in the conference meet.

Peter lost a close match in the semifinals of his weight bracket, but came back and reached the consolation finals, losing on a second-period pin to finish fourth.

Thiem, who serves as the head wrestling coach at West Point Central Catholic, battled through to finish sixth. He reached the semifinals, but an ankle injury limited his wrestling and he had to forfeit his final three matches to finish sixth.

Bates avenged a loss from earlier in the season to reach the consolation finals, where he lost to Grand Valley's Adam Martin, who is participating in the Olympic Training Program in Colorado in Greco-Roman and freestyle wrestling, VanderWeil said.

Mullen, a true freshman from Laurel, finished off a tremendous tournament with a fifth-place finish at heavyweight. The 18-year-old competed against some very tough competition, and had to win two matches to qualify for nationals.

VanderWeil said the team is looking for support for the trip to nationals. Those who are interested in donating can call VanderWeil at 375-0645 or e-mail grvande1@wsc.edu.

"For basically a first-year team and wrestlers in this division, it was a great tournament," he said. "(Tournament champion) Grand Valley State has three paid coaches, and (runner-up) Southern Illinois-Edwardsville is a Div. I team

Letters

Red Cross is always there

RED CROSS. Two powerful words that evoke a range of emotions throughout the world including joy, relief, pride and comfort.

During March, Red Cross month, we celebrate all that the Red Cross stands for — humanity, caring, unity, experience and innovation. The Red Cross enhances lives and saves lives each and every day in and around Northeast Nebraska and around the world. The nation's best known humanitarian organization is dedicated to helping make families and communities safer, including people right here in Northeast Nebraska.

Your Red Cross is about helping our community prevent, prepare for and respond to emergencies. As a volunteer-led organization, the Red Cross relies on the generosity of people living here in Northeast Nebraska who donate their time, blood and money. We are a non-government organization, so we receive no federal or state funding. The only funding we receive on a regular basis is our annual United Way allocation. All emergency support service that we provide is made possible through local donations.

Could you spare your change, or even a dollar or two, to help us help others? It is private local citizens in our nine counties, as well as business owners and community leaders that we rely on to give generously to enable us to keep our promise to the American people that "we'll be there!"

The Northeast Nebraska Red Cross NEEDS your continued support in 2010. During Red Cross month and throughout the year, we ask people to consider giving generously to the Northeast Nebraska Red Cross. Individuals and businesses can make financial donations to the Red Cross by calling 375-5209 or mailing donations to our office in Wayne and Norfolk or mail donations to PO Box 94, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

Each and every person in our community can ALWAYS count on the Red Cross for a helping hand, a comforting smile or hug, and a compassionate heart. On behalf of the Northeast Nebraska Chapter of the American Red Cross, thank you for any donation you can make to help us to continue to be the calm following the storm, a pillar of strength and knowledge and a pacesetter humanitarian organization. We invite you to become part of a glorious past, inspiring present and exciting future with the American Red Cross!

Can Democrat candidate deliver?

BY ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — The Democrats found a candidate.

Omaha businessman Mark Lakers will take on Republican Gov. Dave Heineman in the November general election.

Lakers began his campaign by saying he believed the state can do better, from one end to the other, in terms of economic development. It's an issue that dates to humankind's invention of money, but it never gets old.

The bottom line on the campaign was sized up perfectly by veteran political writer Don Walton a couple of weeks ago.

"Whether he can deliver his message effectively and mount a competitive campaign is yet to be determined. There's not room for many mistakes or missed opportunities in a contest with Dave Heineman."

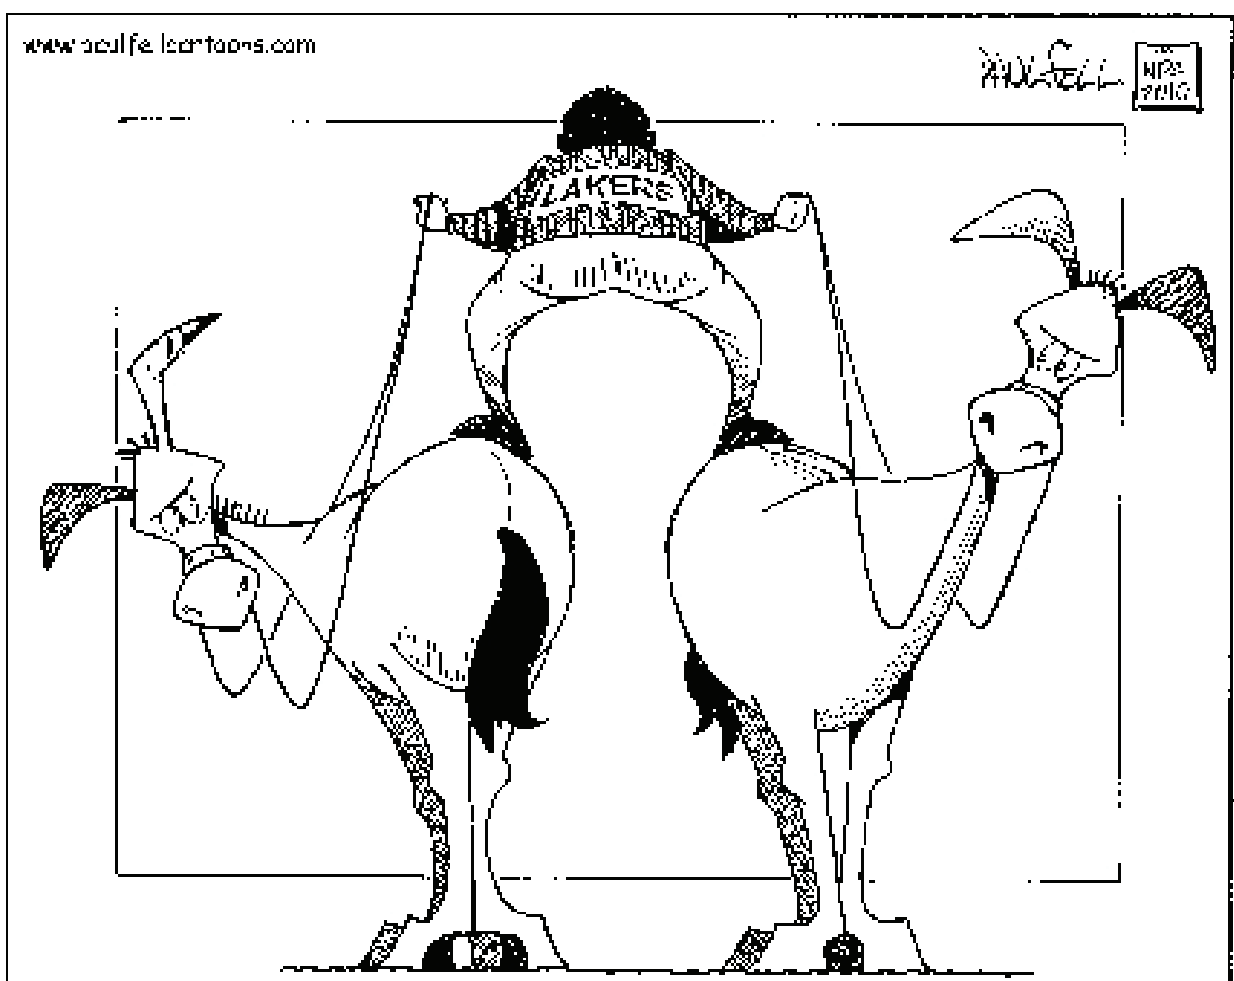

Amen.

Is Money An Issue?

Sen. Brenda Council of Omaha wants the Legislature to fund a study on what it costs taxpayers to maintain the death penalty — costs of legal battles, maintaining death row, etc.

At a recent hearing on her proposal someone proffered that Nebraskans want the death penalty on the books and the costs of it don't matter.

The view from here: Taking one with another, Nebraskans probably don't want to spend any more than necessary on any government program or policy. That being said, it's hard to imagine that producing hard, all-encompassing numbers on the death penalty would much diminish the electorates support for the notion that killing convicted killers is good policy. Dividing Nebraska's Electoral Votes

Sen. Beau McCoy said he wants to put aside his bill to do away with Nebraska's current system that allows three of the state's electoral votes — one for each congressional district — to go to whichever presidential candidate carries a district. The system allowed President Obama to claim one electoral vote in the 2008 election. The state's other two electoral votes go to the candidate with the most votes statewide.

The Omaha lawmaker said he might re-introduce the bill next year. If enacted, the state could return to the winner-take-all system in time for the 2012 elections. Only Nebraska and Maine divide electoral votes by congressional district victories.

NSEA Chief Commends Nelson On "Cornhusker Kickback"

Jess Wolf, the president of the Nebraska State Education Association, put in a good word for Sen. Ben Nelson concerning what transpired in Washington in the wake of Nelson's one-time deal to spare Nebraska the increased costs of a proposed healthcare program.

"Senator Nelson deserves praise for uncovering and then forcing Congress to address a large unfunded federal mandate on the states through what some critics call the 'Cornhusker Kickback,'" Wolf said. "If Senator Nelson hadn't put the spotlight on this costly problem and fought to fix it for all states, another unfunded federal mandate would have gone through with little or no thought of its consequences."

Two bills awaiting Governor's signature

Greetings from the Unicameral! Two of my bills have been passed by the Legislature and are awaiting the Governor's signature.

The first bill, LB746, extends data collection provisions of Nebraska's existing ban on racial profiling and would add four additional members to the Racial Profiling Advisory Committee of the Nebraska Crime Commission. As many Nebraska communities have learned through experience, bringing law enforcement and the affected communities together is essential to finding broad-based solutions that can best address the difficult issues facing our state. These new members of the advisory committee, representing the affected communities, will work with state and local law enforcement agencies to implement policies which identify and eliminate any instances of racial profiling which may be occurring.

My second bill that was passed by the Legislature law week is LB873, a "clean-up" measure designed to eliminate taxpayer confusion. Currently, owners of mobile homes, cabin trailers, manufactured homes and other types of property that are subject to personal property taxes receive a second notice that is not received by real property owners. LB873 would eliminate the requirement that these additional notices are sent out, which will help save counties money as well as eliminate confusion for taxpayers who own both real and personal property.

Both LB746 and LB873 were passed on unanimous votes, and I am hopeful that Governor Heineman will sign them both into law.

During the interim, the Education Committee studied issues related to early childhood education and kindergarten eligibility as part of its work on LR116. The result of that interim study was LB1006, a bill introduced by Sen. Greg Adams of York, Education Committee Chair.

Legislative Update
By: State Senator
Bob Giese, District #17

Under the bill, the kindergarten entrance age would be moved from the current date of Oct. 15 to the earlier date of July 31, beginning with the 2012-2013 school year. The bill helps address the growing age gap amongst students entering kindergarten, and would also move back the eligibility date for publicly funded preschool programs offered in many Nebraska communities. LB1006 has been named one of the Education Committee's priority bills for the session, and was advanced to Select File last week.

As always, I would encourage you to contact me if you have any questions or simply have an opinion on legislation before the Unicameral. Feel free to call my office at (402) 471-2716, send me an e-mail at bgiese@leg.ne.gov, or stop by in person any time you're in Lincoln.

Family is always a good source of material

It's a question that is asked of me on almost a weekly basis: where do you come up with your column ideas?

A good columnist will call on a variety of resources to use as inspiration for his (or her) regularly-scheduled pieces of wit and/or wisdom. Some use the latest news headlines. Others will turn to a local controversy. You can use politics, the local sports teams or any other entity that would include some kind of local or regional connection.

Some columnists use their family for inspiration, sometimes at the risk of creating a family crisis with what could be viewed by some (particularly those who are the subject of the columnist's creativity) as airing of the family's dirty laundry.

I have been writing personal columns for more than 20 years, and my family has become accustomed to being used as material for my work. Most of the time, family members who are mentioned in this space are presented in a positive light, as they are usually the voice of reason or the one who got one over on yours truly with a practical joke or a game of Monopoly (I used to be the family's board-game guru,

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

until the former spouse pulled off a David vs. Goliath-type of upset and beat me at Monopoly one winter's night. The family all fawned over her as if she were the reincarnation of Elvis. The marriage was never the same after that).

Interestingly enough, this space (or the space I was using to write columns at previous stops on my world tour) served as a tremendously-effective parenting tool.

One Monday morning, my former spouse called and spoke with a voice of frustration. Our daughter had tried to pull the wool over her mother's eyes, only she underestimated the level of common sense my former spouse possesses (except for that day when she decided not being married to me was a good idea, but that's another column for another day).

To make a long story short, my daughter thought she could fool her mother into thinking she had taken a shower. She failed, and her mother grounded her for a week. The night my daughter got off her grounding, she tried to pull the same stunt a second time, only to find out that, while her mother might be insane, she is not stupid. She asked if I would have a talk with our daughter while she and her husband went to a concert.

After my daughter and I had our "come to Jesus, because Dad will smack your butt good if you don't" meeting, I found this whole scenario to be quite humorous, and wrote a column about it. Everybody who read the column — especially the parents of children who are, or recently were, teenagers — loved it. When my daughter found out I had written the column, she was mortified. And we're not talking frightened-out-of-your-shoes mortified, folks. We're talking this-will-take-years-of-visits-to-the-psychiatrist mortified.

"How could you do that," my daughter wailed. "Everybody will think I'm a stinky pig." And that's when she discovered the Miranda Rights of column writing for single fathers with teenage daughters trying to see just how far they can push their parents before they snap: anything you say, do or attempt can, and most likely will, be used against you in next week's column.

For many years, my daughter could get out of line and be reined in with one simple statement: "I haven't written next week's column yet."

So now you know where I get some of my ideas for keeping you informed and entertained in this space each week. I'd love to share with you my thoughts for this week . . . but, unfortunately, I have run out of space.

Blood Bank encourages lifetime of giving to young donors

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank recently announced its schedule of blood drives in March. Forty blood drives scheduled during the month will be held at high schools throughout the Blood Bank's service area of Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Local drives include Tuesday, March 9 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne; Thursday, March 11 at Wakefield High School in Wakefield; Thursday, March 18 on the campus of Wayne State College and Thursday, March 25 at the Wayne Fire Hall in Wayne.

"People may be surprised to know that 16-year-olds are able to give blood," said Heather Marreel, Director of Recruitment at the Siouxland Community Blood Bank. "We ask anyone who is 16-years-old to bring a signed copy of our parent permission form which is available on our website."

The minimum age of 16 to donate has only been in place for a few years but the results have been immediate. "As the general population gets older and tends to become ineligible to donate blood, it's fantastic to see the younger population understand the importance of donating blood on a regular basis," said Marreel. "We achieve about 20 percent of our annual collections from high school and college blood drives. These young people are serving a very important role in their communities."

The high schools that conduct blood drives with the Siouxland Community Blood Bank are also eligible to participate in the Blood Bank's "Gift of Life" scholarship program. "Last year we distributed almost $10,000 in scholarship monies," said Marreel. "We have had more schools participate in the 2009-10 school year and expect to see the dollar amount double."

The Blood Bank's "Gift of Life" scholarship is funded solely by the Blood Bank's "Drive For Life" Golf Tournament held every June. This year's tournament is scheduled for June 7 at Whispering Creek Golf Course in Sioux City, Iowa.

For more information, call the Siouxland Community Blood Bank at 1-800-798-4208 or visit them online at www.siouxlandbloodbank.org

Did You Know? Chiropractors Treat Sciatica...

Numbness in the foot

Weakness of the knee or foot

Difficulty walking

Sciatica is defined as pain that radiates from the lower back into the buttocks and down the back of one or both legs, caused by the irritation of the sciatic nerves. If the vertebrae or bones in the lower back are misaligned or out of place they can put pressure on the nearby nerves. This can cause tremendous pain and normal daily activities become almost impossible. Chiropractic care works on correcting misaligned or out of place vertebrae and can remove the pressure placed on the sciatic nerve, reducing pain and improving flexibility and function.

Wayne Elementary School Character Students of the month for February pose with their certificates during a recent assembly.

Students recognized at Wayne Elementary

February birthdays and Students of the Month were recognized at an assembly at Wayne Elementary School on Feb. 26.

Mr. Schrunk, Elementary Principal, spoke to students about proper behavior at assemblies and everyone practiced listening and appropriate applause.

Ms. Sudmann, K - 8 Counselor, talked to students about the character qualities displayed by the Olympic athletes in Vancouver, that many of the students have been watching on TV. The character traits that are recognized in Students of the Month are the same ones that the athletes must have in order to win an Olympic medal. These include: "always working hard in class," "making sure work gets done before going outside for fun," "being very responsible," and "always giving the best effort, no matter the task."

"Most of us will never be the best in the world at something. But ALL of you can be the best in the world at being YOU. When you are the best YOU that you can be, then you ARE a winner - every day!" Ms. Sudmann told the students.

The Character Connections word for February and March is Responsibility. Character Connections students

- for February include:
- Kindergarten: Rockhill - Brendy Ruiz; Meyer - Catherine Archer; Heikes - Emily Krupicka.

Modify a recipe for healthy results

By preparing a recipe in a different way or by substituting ingredients, a recipe can be made healthier.

Recipes can be altered to reduce or eliminate fat, salt, and unwanted calories in the form of sugar; alternatively, ingredients can be added to increase fiber, thereby making recipes healthier. When modifying a recipe, it is best to make one modification at a time. Reduce or increase the amount of an ingredient to be modified by a small amount at first. You can make an additional adjustment the next time you use the recipe.

Most foods, especially baked goods, require careful adjustments. Every ingredient has an important role in the outcome of a satisfactory meal. Fat provides flavor and richness and improves texture in baked goods and makes foods smooth and creamy. Eggs provide structure, act as thickeners, and add volume to food. Sugar provides flavor, increases tenderness, and acts as a preservative in some products. Salt provides flavor, reduces the action of yeast, and also acts as a preservative in some foods.

Below are suggestions for reducing fat, sugar, and salt and increasing fiber in recipes without changing texture, flavor, purpose or structure:

To Reduce Fat:

- Use fat-free (skim) milk instead of whole milk.
- Use low-fat sour cream (1 percent) or fat free plain yogurt in place of sour cream.
- Use low-fat varieties of cheese instead of full fat cheeses.
- Use one fourth less of liquid oil or solid fat in most recipes.
- Use 2 egg whites for every egg or one fourth cup of egg substitute for every egg.
- Substitute lean ground turkey for all or part of ground beef in recipes.
- Use half the specified amount of oil to sauté or brown food.
- Substitute applesauce for one half of the butter or margarine in cookies or cakes.
- Use cooking methods such as bake, boil, broil, grill, roast or stir-fry instead of cooking foods in fat.

To Reduce Sugar:

- Use up to one third less sugar in recipes for cookies, muffins, quick breads, and pie fillings. This includes sugar, brown sugar, corn syrup, honey, and molasses.
- Replace canned fruit packed in syrup with fresh fruit or with canned fruit packed in water.
- Add cinnamon, vanilla, and almond extract in place of sugar for sweetness.

To Reduce Salt:

- Omit or reduce one half the amount of salt in most recipes.
- Replace salt with spices or herbs to add flavor.
- Use fresh or frozen foods, rather than canned foods, or use low sodium canned foods.

To Add Fiber:

- Use brown rice instead of white rice.
- Use whole grain pasta instead of regular pasta.
- Substitute up to one half of all purpose flour with 100 percent whole wheat flour.
- Add whole oats or chopped fruit to cookies, muffins, waffles, and pancakes.

March is busy for Winside auxiliary

Roy Reed Unit No. 252, American Legion Auxiliary of Winside Feb. 13 with President Rose Ann Janke presiding and Chaplain Adeline Anderson providing prayers.

Two Junior and eight Senior members attended and recited the Pledge of Allegiance, sang the first verse of the "Star-Spangled Banner" and recited the Preamble to the American Legion Auxiliary Constitution. Hostesses were Beverly Neel and Rose Ann Janke.

Secretary Beverly Neel read the minutes of the Nov. 9, 2009 meeting which were accepted as read. It was noted due to winter weather, no meetings were held in December 2009 or January 2010.

Treasurer Bonnie Wylie provided the financial reports and will be placed on record. Bills were accepted for expenses of the public auction lunch prepared on Nov. 15.

Old Business was discussing the success of the auction luncheon and a "thank you" to all who assisted in any way. This was a first-time experience for the Unit and we are pleased with the results.

Members on the Girls State Selection Committee for 2010 are Mary Lou George, Marilyn Morse, Adeline Anderson and Rose Ann Janke. Interviews were to be held on Feb. 15; however, due to winter weather they were postponed until Feb. 18 at the Winside Public School at 9 a.m. Female members of the Junior Class are eligible to apply to attend the 2010 session of Cornhusker Girls State on the city campus of the University of Nebraska - Lincoln, June 6-11, 2010.

New Business brings about the many activities the Unit will participate in during March.

Tuesday, March 2 the Unit will provide homemade brownie alamo to members of The American Legion and Sons of the American Legion in recognition of The Legion's 91st birthday.

Saturday, March 13 at 10 a.m. is our monthly meeting as Saturday did work out pretty well due to the weather again.

Tentative plans are to assist with a "Kids Against Hunger" food-packing project at the Orphan Grain Train Warehouse in Norfolk, the morning of Saturday, March 13 at 11 a.m. More details will be forthcoming. Anyone wishing to volunteer please contact Beverly Neel 402 529-3593 or 402 379-0700.

Friday, March 19 at 2 p.m. the Unit will host a Bingo Party at the Norfolk Veterans Home with refreshments being Little Debbie treats. The Unit will also provide $20 in quarters for Bingo prizes. Members planning to attend are Rose Ann Janke, Adeline Anderson, and Bonnie Wylie. More members are needed, so please contact Rose Ann Janke if you wish to attend.

Saturday, March 20 at 8 a.m. at Decatur the District 3 Spring Convention will be held. All members are invited to attend. Election of officers for both the District President and District Vice President will take place.

Sunday, March 21 the Unit will assist in the "Swing Into Spring With a Sunday Serenade" at the Winside City auditorium. A canned lunch of homemade soup and sandwiches will be served, plus, Art & Gwen Schmidt will provide "Big Band" music. There will be a freewill donation that will get everyone a lunch and an afternoon of toe tapping to the music and kicking up your heels on the dance floor. Proceeds from this event will be given to the Norfolk Veterans Home for the "Heroes Park" being developed on the south eight acres at the Home.

The Home will provide a video on the project and bring along Veteran residents of the Home, weather permitting. Thrivent Financial for Lutherans will provide supplemental funds for the event success. Lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., with musical entertainment from 1 - 4 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

President Janke read an essay she received in error from the Louisville School. The essay was on Honor, Vote and Respect - Patriotic duty as a U.S. Citizen. This essay was determined to be an entry for the Americanism Essay Contest being conducted by the Department of Nebraska and coordinated through Unit member Beverly Neel, who serves as the Department Americanism Chairman. The essay was given to Beverly for further handling. It was returned to the Louisville American Legion Auxiliary Unit for proper handling. It is hopeful the essay will be returned for competition.

With no further business, the meeting adjourned. Next meeting will be Saturday, March 13 at 10 a.m., hostesses will be Beverly and Laura Neel.

Our Savior celebrates more than 40 years of radio ministry

Our Savior Lutheran Church (OSLC) at the corner of Fifth and Main in Wayne has broadcast the Gospel of Jesus Christ since 1968.

Originally a ministry of Redeemer Lutheran Church, the ministry has helped hundreds of persons in the KTCH broadcast area. In the 42 years of broadcast, KTCH has changed ownership while OSLC and (Redeemer Lutheran previously) have been served by 13 different pastors, associate pastors, and interim pastors. The broadcast began with Rev. S. K. deFreeze.

Technological changes have been significant over the broadcast years as well. In 1968, the Internet was hardly a dream, the yearly inflation rate was 4.27 percent, the year end Dow Jones Industrial Average was 943, the Average Cost of new house was $14,950, the average income per year was $7,850, a gallon of gas was 34 cents, and the average cost of a new car $2,822.

Over time, however, church leadership and financial supporters have understood the broadcast as a helpful way to minister to shut-ins, nursing home residents, and the general public.

Currently the live 10:30 a.m. Sunday morning broadcast originates at the church, is streamed in digital format to the Internet, and then picked up by KTCH 1590 AM broadcast. Throughout the year, other special services are broadcast as well. The technology today is convenient and a higher quality than analogue cassette tapes or phone lines. The service is no longer broadcast on KTCY FM band for program and economic reasons.

For more information about the broadcast, contact Rev. Kim Stover, Our Savior Lutheran Church, 375-2899.

Workshop scheduled on 'Walking the Full Circle of Life'

"Walking the full Circle of life," A workshop about "how we can companion those we love during their final dance with life" will be held Saturday, March 27 from 9 a.m. to noon at St. Mary's Catholic church in Wayne.

Organizers are encouraging everyone to "come learn about the most normal-natural part of our living experience - how we die and how we grieve."

The workshop is based on "No one Die's Alone" program and "The Final Act of Living" by Barbara Karnes, RN

Workshop facilitators will be Jill Belt, Ann Witkowski, and Sister Deana Case OSB.

A small donation of $5 is suggested to cover the cost of printed materials. Those attending are asked to bring their own lunch

Anyone who has an interest in this workshop is asked to call St. Mary's Parish at 402- 375- 2000 or Sister Deana Case at 375-3134.

Retired School Personnel learn about plants

The Wayne Association of Retired School Personnel met at Tacos & More on March 1.

President Marilyn Leighton called the meeting to order with 10 members present. She presented the group with Nebraska-shaped cookies in recognition of Nebraska's 146th birthday. Pat Rhode gave a reading entitled, "Stop Worrying-Start Living." Lois Youngerman followed with "Mirror, Mirror on the Wall."

A Community Service Award was presented to Marilyn Bodenstedt for 113 hours of volunteer work. Arlene Ostendorf reviewed an article about the spreading of MRSA, especially affecting daycare children, military personnel and athletes.

Marilyn Leighton informed the group of Legislative Bill 958 introduced by Bob Geise. This bill has a three year "Phase-in" procedure to provide less of an impact to state revenues. The group voted to accept the slate of new officers: President-Pat Rhode; Vice President-Don Leighton; Secretary, Ruth Grone, and Treasurer, Twyla Lindsay.

President Marilyn Leighton informed the group that a motion was approved at the state conven-

Minvera Club meets at Senior Center

Lila Brown hosted the Minerva Club meeting at the Senior Citizens Center on Monday, Feb. 8.

President Phyllis Rahn opened the meeting with a reading by Joan

Burney entitled "Confessions of a Chronic Shopper."

Nine members responded to roll call by identifying a U.S. President who impressed them and explained why this was their choice.

After the business meeting, Lila Brown presented a program on the memorial celebration of the Battle of Beecher Island. In the annals of the west, the Battle of Beecher Island is noted as the hardest battle between the Indians and the white. Fought on the Arickaree fork of the Republican River near the southwest corner of Nebraska and near the Colorado town of Wray, it began on Sept. 17, 1869.

Colonel George Forsythe was in charge of 50 civilians who set out to deal with the plains Indians who had been raiding homesteads and railroads. During the battle, Forsythe and his men were forced to retreat to a sandbar island in the middle of the river where they proceeded to dig holes with one hand while holding a rifle with the other.

Fifty men held off 400 Cheyenne, Arapaho, and Oglala Sioux for nine days. They were without their provisions until the cavalry arrived and drove the Indians away. The famous Indian Chief Roman Nose was killed in the siege.

Every September, hundreds of people from all over the world arrive for three days of celebration filled with food, games, entertainment, and history.

The Monday, March 8 meeting will be held at the Senior Citizens Center with Arlene Ostendorf as hostess.

Don't Toss This Form

When It Comes in the Mail

Pictured above is the one page 2010 Census form that will be mailed to every residence in the U.S. in mid March. The US Census Act calls for all residents to complete and return the form in the postage free envelope provided.

Did You Know?

The US Census form counts all people at each residence whether they are US citizens or not, and it doesn't ask if they are citizens. The Census count records US college students where they live most of the year and where they are living on April 1, 2010, and not where their parents live

The Census count for students living on campus is completed by WSC staff

Every US residence that doesn't mail back the Census form will receive a visit from a Census taker to complete the survey for that residence

16.5 years old was the average age of the total US population in the first census ordered by George Washington in 1790

28 was the average age of the US Founding Fathers in 1776 (excluding Ben Franklin who was 70 and Washington who was 44)

James Madison who later became the 4th President was 25

James Monroe was only 18, helped to write much of the US constitution and went on to become the 5th President

Alexander Hamilton was only 21 and went on to become the first US Treasurer

John Adams and Thomas Jefferson both died on July 4th, 1826 exactly 50 years after the Declaration of Independence was declared

Thanks for being counted in 2010

Berries and pruning are topics at Gretna Tree Talk

"Aronia berries are fast becoming the first new major commercial crop for the United States in over 70 years," according to Dr. Eldon Everhart, former Iowa State University horticulture specialist and current co-owner of Everhart Horticulture Consulting.

"Interest in eating healthy has led to the phenomenal worldwide growth in the popularity of aronia berries and products made from them," said Dr. Everhart. "The aronia berry is considered to be three times healthier than a blueberry."

Aronia's dark purple berries contain higher levels of antioxidants than blueberries, elderberries, grapes, cranberries, acai, and most other fruits. Medical research has shown that antioxidants help reduce the risk for cancer, heart disease, and diabetes in humans.

Aronia berries are ripe in the fall and may be picked by hand or with a mechanical harvester. The berries can be used in baked goods, jams and jellies, or any other way that berries are used. They can also be used to make juice, dry wines, or blend with other wines.

Aronia is also becoming very popular as a landscape plant. Easy to grow and very attractive, aronia plants are perfect for edible landscapes, fruit gardens, hedges, and windbreak plantings.

"They are wonderful ornamental plants that really look great in a home landscape in mass plantings or as focal points," said Dr. Everhart. "The plants thrive in full sun on several soil types, even on highly erodible land."

In late spring, aronia plants are covered with white flowers. Their shiny green leaves turn bright red to orange in the fall. If the dark purple berries are left on the bush, song birds will eat them in late winter. Aronia is a multi-purpose plant with season-long interest.

To learn more about aronia and about pruning fruit trees, visit Dr. Everhart's website www.hortconsulting.com and attend the fourth annual Gretna Tree Talk in Gretna on Saturday, March 13 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at Squire Thomas Elementary, 11221 Northridge Drive (Hwy 370 & 200 Street), Gretna, NE. The event is free to the public.

Risk management coverage must be purchased in timely manner

Nebraska Farm Service Agency State Executive Director Dan Steinkruger reminds farmers, ranchers and landowners that 2010 risk management coverage for all crops in all counties must be timely purchased in order to maintain eligibility for disaster program benefits.

Risk management coverage may either be purchased through the federal crop insurance program, or through FSA's Non-Insured Crop Assistance Program (NAP), as applicable. Coverage purchased through the Pasture, Rangeland and Forage - Vegetative Index (PRF-VI) crop insurance pilot program meets the risk management coverage requirements.

March 15, 2010 is the spring sales closing date for purchasing both NAP and certain crop insurance coverage in Nebraska. Producers who fail to timely purchase the required risk management coverage for all required crops will be ineligible for 2010 program benefits available through the Supplemental Revenue Assistance Program (SURE), the Emergency Livestock Assistance Program (ELAP), and the Livestock Forage Program (LFP).

Steinkruger noted that in 2009, producers were provided an opportunity to "buy-in" and maintain eligibility for the permanent disaster programs after the sales closing date. No "buy-in" opportunity will exist in 2010. Producers must purchase the required coverage by March 15, 2010 to maintain their eligibility for 2010 disaster program benefits.

In cases where PRF-VI was purchased, all acres of a crop must have been covered in order to maximize benefits under FSA's permanent disaster programs. Certain producers who qualify as socially disadvantaged, limited resource, or beginning farmers or ranchers, may be exempt from the risk management purchase requirements. Specific questions regarding the risk management purchase requirements for each disaster program (SURE, ELAP or LFP) should be referred to the local Farm Service Agency office.

Steinkruger added, "Drought and other natural disasters damage crops and pastures every year in Nebraska. Farmers, ranchers, and landowners need to utilize all of the USDA risk management programs to protect themselves from natural disaster losses. March 15, 2010 is the final date to complete their 2010 risk management strategy."

Dinner Theatre production includes local students

A man and his dog is an iconic, some may say "sacred," bond. But when that relationship gets in the way of his job, marriage, and even the kids' college fund, it becomes a formula for comedy.

In its final show of the season, the Norfolk Community Theatre and Northeast Community College will present A. R. Gurney's comedy Sylvia at the Time Square Event Center, 1905 Vicki Lane, Norfolk.

The production opens Thursday, March 4, and will play the first two weekends in March.

Gurney's play requires only four actors to play a total of six roles, including that of the dog, Sylvia. When Greg, the lead character, brings home a stray lab/poodle mix whose tags say "Sylvia," Greg's career-oriented wife, Kate, gets more than a little upset. And the fun begins!!

Greg gets advice from a dog expert named Tom; Kate confides her feelings of hatred towards Sylvia to her friend, Phyllis, and Greg and Kate both end up in marriage counseling under the guidance of a gender-neutral therapist named Leslie. All the while, Sylvia inserts herself into all their lives.

The cast includes Norfolk dentist Brad Krivohlavek as Greg; Northeast student Marie Kubo of Norfolk, as Kate; Northeast associate dean of humanities, arts, and social sciences Pam Saalfeld of Norfolk, as Sylvia; and Northeast student Tyler Wieseler of Wayne, as the remaining characters of Tom, Phyllis, and Leslie.

Sylvia is directed by Paul Peister, with Saalfeld as producer. Northeast students Tyrel Whalen of Laurel, and Taylor Christiansen of Plainview, are assistant director and assistant producer, respectively.

Peister has directed Sylvia twice, but this is the first time he has done it as part of a dinner theatre. Sylvia is the second dinner theatre in many years for the Norfolk Community Theatre. Saalfeld, who acted with Krivohlavek in last year's Alone Together Again and also produced that play with Peister, said that staging a dinner theatre has its own set of complications and rewards.

Doors open at the Time Square Event Center at 5:30 p.m., with dinner at 6 and the production of Sylvia at 7:30 for evening performances Thursday through Saturday, March 4 - 6 and again March 11 - 13. For the Sunday, March 7 matinee, doors open at noon with dinner at 12:30 and Sylvia at 2. Dinner reservations should be made at least 48 hours in advance of the performance.

For ticket information and prices for the dinner/show combination or the show only, call the Norfolk Community Theatre box office at 844-7360.

Dwaine Junk

Philip H. Cole Dairy Award winners named

The Philip H. Cole Memorial Dairy Award was presented to Dwaine Junk during the 2010 Nebraska State Dairy Association Convention on Feb. 18, in Grand Island.

Junk was named the 2009 Philip H. Cole Young Dairyman. Dwaine and his wife Pricilla, along with their four children reside near Carroll. He milks 300 Holstein, Jersey and Swiss cows on what was originally his grandparent's farm. He and his family have worked to promote dairy by providing school tours, participating in Ag in the Classroom, and donating dairy products to local organizations. He has travelled to Washington DC four times to lobby for the dairy industry.

Within the dairy industry he has been a member of the NSDA, served as past district Chairman with AMPI, served as past chair for the National Milk Young Cooperators advisory council, is a delegate for AMPI's Young Cooperators group, and has served as Vice Chair of the ADA/DC of Nebraska board and currently serves as Board Chairman. Outside of the dairy industry he serves on the 4-H council, is a volunteer fireman/first responder, and serves as a Trustee and Assistant Sunday School Superintendent at Concord Evangelical Free Church.

The Philip H. Cole Awards recognize producers who have achieved excellence in managing their dairy business, are leaders within the dairy industry and are active in their communities. Distinguished Dairyman candidates must be over 40 years of age and Young Dairyman between the ages of 25 and 40. The awards are given in honor of Philip H. Cole, a Lincoln, Nebraska dairy farmer who served as the Secretary/Treasurer of the Nebraska State Dairy Association from 1969-1984.

The Nebraska State Dairy Association promotes dairy interests in the state of Nebraska. For more information, visit www.nebraskamilk.org.

SAFE WINTER DRIVING TIPS

- Clear snow and ice from windows, lights, windshield wipers, the hood, and the roof of your vehicle, before driving. The windshield-washer reserve should be filled with a freeze-resistant cleaning solution.
- When you see plows, stay at least 200 feet behind them.
- Leave room for stopping. Brake early and carefully.
- Don't use cruise control. The short touch of your brakes to deactivate the cruise control can cause you to lose control of your vehicle.
- Pay attention. Look ahead to see what other vehicles are doing. That way you will know about any impending road or weather conditions.
- Watch your speed. Even if your car handles well in snow and ice, other drivers' cars may not. Drive according to the conditions: Don't exceed the speed limit and drive slowly in harsh conditions. Don't try to out-drive bad weather.

We all need a 'Plan B'

What did I say about bringing on March Madness??? Tomorrow evening will be my sixth game in seven days, and in addition, we watched the Husker men finally win a game, listened to the women win number 27, cheered the bobbed team as they won gold, and sighed for the hockey team as they settled for silver.

I've always considered Canada a good neighbor, and I commented to friends last week that I was liking their national anthem. They worked hard to be hospitable, and overcame a lot of things like lack of snow and the terrible accident in the luge practice runs.

Earlier in the month, I attended a meeting of the local End of Life Coalition. This is a group of people, mostly affiliated with hospice, who meet every other month to hear inspirational speakers and plan activities for helping folks be aware of the need for advance directives.

This time, the speaker was a young man named Brady Beran. Brady was a football player for East High; not only did he play high school football, he says it was his "passion." And he encouraged us all to follow our passions. But he told us to also have a Plan B.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Brady was hit in the head during a game and passed out on the bench. He was rushed to the local trauma center, placed in a coma, and part of his skull was removed to allow room for the bleeding. Of course, he was also intubated; we saw slides of the CT of his brain, and one of him in the hospital bed with tubes in every orifice.

Then there were pictures of him at the rehab center, with five people helping him walk. Well, of course, he never played football again. But all this time, there were many people praying for him, and he did go back to school. Eventually, he graduated high school and Southeast Community College, and is now at UNL, planning to become a counselor, his "Plan B."

He wears a leg brace, and prism glasses. But he's a good speaker, has a sense of humor, and takes no medications. Many victims of head injuries have headaches, irritability, and memory loss. In other words, he is a walking, talking miracle, and he says it is all due to the power of Poop. I certainly would not disagree!

And I walked out of the meeting room, thankful that I can walk, talk, think, and plan. We need to be reminded periodically about taking life for granted, and Brady does a good job of doing just that! Now, it's on to the State Basketball Tournament!

If early fall snows stalled corn harvest, try grazing

Some Nebraska corn growers are still waiting to get out in the field and finish harvesting their crop.

However, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln forage specialist says it might be a better idea to allow cattle to graze that corn.

"If early fall snows prevented you from harvesting all your corn, instead of waiting for snow to melt and the ground to either freeze or dry out, try grazing," Bruce Anderson said. "Grazing standing corn is one way to finish harvest early so preparation for next year's crop can begin. After all, cattle can get into graze much earlier than large harvest equipment."

Cattle also will be able to take advantage of corn ears that fell to the ground.

When considering grazing corn, cattle producers first may want to feed cattle corn to help the animals adapt to a higher grain diet, Anderson said.

In addition, producers should limit the size of the area animals have access to so they don't run wild, knocking down, trampling in and wasting the valuable feed.

Limiting the area can involve daily strip grazing, Anderson said.

"Use electric fences that you reposition every day to allocate only one day's worth of feed at a time," he said.

To determine how much area to provide on a daily basis, Anderson recommends first estimating corn grain yield.

"Each bushel of grain you provide should support about three cows for one day, considering that they also can eat much of the corn forage but will have some waste," he said.

Producers can give cattle an estimated area to start, then give a little more or a little less each day depending on how well cattle used the previous day's allocation.

800 to 900 lb. steers, $90 to $100; heifers, $80 to $90.

400 to 700 lb. holstein steers, no test.

700 to 1,000 lb. holstein steers, no test.

Good bred cows and heifers, no test.

Medium bred cows and heifers, no test.

The sheep sale was held Saturday at the Nebraska Livestock Market.

The market was higher on all classes.

Fat lambs: 130 to 150 lbs., $101 to $106.50.

Feeder lambs: 40 to 60 lbs., $100 to $110; 60 to 100 lbs., $90 to $105.

Ewes: Good, $70 to $100; medium, $50 to $70; slaughter, $25 to $50.

The dairy cattle sale was held at the Nebraska Livestock Market on Saturday.

Holstein baby calves, $20 to $45.

Butcher hogs were sold at the Nebraska Livestock Market on Saturday.

Prices were steady on butchers. Sows were lower. There were 260 head sold.

U.S. 1's + 2's, 230 to 260 lbs., $49 to $49.80; 2's + 3's, 230 to 260 lbs., $48 to $49. 2's + 3's, 260 to 280 lbs., $47 to $48; 2's + 3's, 280 to 300 lbs., $45 to $47; 3's + 4's, 300 lbs. +, $42 to $45.

Pesticide applicator training, organic farming workshops scheduled

Pesticide applicator trainings are winding down and here are the remaining meetings in this area; Walthill at the Extension office on Monday, March 8 at 1 p.m.; Norfolk at the Lifelong Learning Center on Saturday, March 13 at 9 a.m., or Winside at the City Auditorium on Tuesday, March 30 at 6 p.m.

Attendance will certify you as a private applicator or recertify you if you already have a license. Remember to bring your bar-coded letter with you from the Nebraska Department of Ag for easier processing. The sessions last for 2 1/2 to 3 hours and the cost for the training is $30.

Two days of organic farming workshops Friday, March 5 and Friday, March 19 at the Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk will give participants the tools they need to farm organically. The workshops, hosted by University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension in Madison County, will benefit organic farmers, market gardeners and those desiring to transition from conventional to organic farming.

The March 5 workshop from 11 a.m. - 4 p.m. will address weed control. Weed control ranks as the No. 1 problem limiting organic crop production. Workshop presentations include: "Mechanical Weed Control and Field Preparation" by Larry Stanislav, certified organic farmer. Stanislav will share more 30 years of farming organically, discussing field preparation, cover crops and mechanical weed control. Also presented will be "Weed Control with Flaming Research and Results" by Stevan Knezevic, UNL integrated weed management specialist, and George Gogos, professor of mechanical engineering at UNL.

Knezevic and Gogos will share their research on broadleaf and grassy weed control in field corn, sweet corn, popcorn, soybean and wheat and discuss their findings about their custom-designed weed flammers and weed and crop tolerance to broadcast flaming.

The March 19 workshop will be from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Presentation titles include: "Soil Fertility and Organic Farming" by Charles Shapiro, UNL soil scientist. Shapiro will discuss maintaining and enhancing soil quality and soil fertility. He also will address how to determine nutrient needs when farming organically.

"Using a Whole-Farm Budgeting Tool for Calculating Organic Farming Costs" by Roger Wilson, budget analyst in UNL's ag economics department. Wilson will go over the cost of organic production and help participants learn a breakeven price for their operations.

"Managing Farmland for Biodiversity" by John Quinn, UNL conservation ecologist. Quinn will discuss birds, insects and plants as parts of healthy ecosystems. He will go over the contributions organic farming systems can make to protect these organisms in Nebraska. He also will share the potential for biodiversity to improve the health of farm systems.

Lunch will be provided. For more information or to preregister, contact the Madison County Extension office at (402) 370-4040 or e-mail dkawmensah2@unl.edu. Each workshop is $10 payable the day of the workshop.

American Broadband to offer phone service and enhanced cable TV services in Wayne

Blair, NE – American Broadband announced today that it is making a significant investment to upgrade its network and will be bringing local telephone and long distance services to the community of Wayne. The upgrade will enable faster Internet speeds and will also enhance the company's existing cable TV services by offering additional channels. Customer will now have the opportunity to save money by bundling these new services into one convenient monthly bill. American Broadband hopes to launch the new services June 1, weather permitting.

American Broadband President and General Manager Shawn Hanson said, "The upgrade and service enhancements are examples of our commitment to the people and values of rural communities in Nebraska. Our emphasis on personal service and customer care, together with our belief in developing a high level of technology, is something that we believe will benefit the people of Wayne. We are glad to be able to make more of our services available to them."

Hanson also said that he is pleased to build on the company's past success of expanding its services in the nearby communities of Tekamah, Oakland, Lyons, Pender, Wakefield, and Emerson. "We are very happy with the response from the residents of nearby communities, and hope to match or exceed that response in Wayne," he said.

Switching to American Broadband's telephone service will be very simple and customers will be able to keep their existing telephone number. The company will offer free phone activation with telephone service as low as $9.99 per month. Additionally, once the entire upgrade is complete, high-speed Internet speeds up to 10 Meg will also be available, and up to 50 HD channels will be added in 2010 along with several additions to the basic and digital cable line-ups. An enhanced sports and variety package will also be offered. As technicians are working on this upgrade, customers may experience brief outages of service until the necessary work is completed.

Residents and businesses who want to sign up for service or want more information will be able to do so at an event that will be held in Wayne at the City auditorium on Thursday, May 13, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Prize drawings will be held, and food and refreshments will be served throughout the day for everyone who attends. Guests are encouraged to bring their current telephone bills to see how much they can save per month by switching to American Broadband's services. In addition, those interested in signing up for service will have the opportunity to schedule an installation time that is convenient for them. Additional sign-up events will be scheduled at a later date.

The new local telephone and long distance services will be available to all customers who live within the current coverage area for cable television and cable modem Internet access service. More information is available by calling 375-1120 or visiting www.ABBNebraska.com.
