State senators Robert Giese (District 17) and Arnie Stuthman (District 22) took part in the annual Legislative Forum at Wayne State College on Friday.

Members of the audience included students from Laurel-Concord High School and Wayne High School, as well as Wayne State College students and the general public.

Each senator was given an opportunity to speak on his accomplishments in the legislature and what they felt were key issues facing the state.

Stuthman is serving his final term in the legislature as he will be term-limited out at the conclusion of this term. He spoke of the four priority bills he has sponsored during his tenure, including a ban on smoking in public places, the pseudoephedrine bill, the Safe Haven Law and the Student Leadership Bill.

Giese noted that he was elected to the legislature two years ago as a direct result of term limits and is one of 17 new senators in the legislature.

"My time in the legislature has been a very educational process and you can't put a price on experience," Giese said.

The former mayor of South Sioux City talked about the Expressway Bill for northeast Nebraska and told those in the

Surprisingly, sales tax revenue is up

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Recent sales tax numbers seem to show that business in Wayne is doing well, in spite of recent national economic trends.

Sales tax revenue for the month of February in the city was $46,378.48. While that number is down more than $2,000 from the same time a year ago, the year-to-date average is still well ahead of the 2008-09 fiscal year.

During the first five months of this fiscal year, the city has received $216,139.19, an average of $43,227.84 per month. That compares favorably to the 2008-09 fiscal year average of $41,503.34, the highest average in the decade.

Nancy Braden, city finance director, said February's sales tax receipts are from sales made during the month of December, and she was surprised at how well the city did.

"With the blizzards and everything, all things considered it was a good month," she said. "I really expected to see the numbers down because of the weather, so I was really surprised and pleased to see what our results were."

Braden said the city's numbers seem to buck trends shown at the state level and in other communities. "I know that on the state level it's dropped, and a lot of other communities have dropped as well," she said. "Ours has stayed steady, though, and I'm not really sure why. We haven't seen a drop in our sales tax collections yet."

Although sales tax figures tend to level off at this time of year, the city is still on pace to generate more than $500,000 in sales tax revenue for the fiscal year. Currently, the total revenue collected is down $1,203.22 from the same five-month period last year, but history has shown that collections tend to increase during the second half of the fiscal year. If the current average is maintained through the end of the fiscal year, the city should generate more than $518,000 in sales tax revenue.

Wayne district will see drop in state funding

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

At Monday's Board of Education meeting, Wayne superintendent Mark Lenihan shared some bad news with board members.

According to figures released by the Nebraska Department of Education, Lenihan said the district is expected to receive about $53,000 less in state aid for the 2010-11 fiscal year, and that number could fall another $300,000 once federal stimulus money dries up for the 2011-12 fiscal year.

"In 2011-12, (the district will receive) no more than $1.604 million, which is about $327,000 less than what we received in state aid and stimulus money this year," he told the board. "We're looking at a substantial cut in state aid."

While some of the reduction in state aid is offset by stimulus funds, those funds are not going to be available after next fiscal year, Lenihan said. In addition, the state doesn't plan to add money to the pool of funds used to fund the state's schools, so the district will receive less money. The good news, he said, is that the projections give the district a chance to take a look at where it can eliminate expenses and be as lean an operation as possible.

"The good news is that we've already made some plans with staffing for next year, and we'll have to be diligent with our spending and work up our reserves."

On Wednesday, Lenihan said the district received word from the state that an error in the formula for determining state aid was discovered, so the numbers Lenihan presented to the board could change again.

Lenihan said the formula, which is based on student demographic information and land valuation, determines how much state funding each district receives.

"There was an error in the formula, so at this point we don't know what the numbers will be, but they will be different," he said.

Regardless, Lenihan said the district will continue with its plans to take a long, hard look at what it can do to offset the reduction in state aid it expects to receive in the future.

Local business owners opt for least expensive sidewalk option

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Local business owners who attended a meeting on the city's downtown sidewalk replacement project wanted to keep things simple.

Business owners had three options to look at for improving sidewalks in the downtown area, and most of those in attendance felt that substance was more important than style in recommending the least expensive of three options presented at Thursday's meeting.

City administrator Lowell Johnson said that sidewalks downtown "range from pretty darn good to really bad," and said that a combined effort by the city and Wayne Area Economic Development helped secure $250,000 in downtown revitalization grants through the Nebraska Department of Economic Development.

A series of town hall meetings in 2008 resulted in the creation of a comprehensive Honorary pallbearers were Dick and Irene's nieces and nephews. Active pallbearers were Hart Vollers, Scott Huetig, Kurt Rewinkel, Richard Abts, Marty Stewart and Rick Peterson.

Burial with military rites was in the Concord Cemetery at Concord. Hasemann Funeral Home in Laurel was in charge of arrangements.

Irma Baier

Irma Baier, 85, of Wayne, died Sunday, March 7, 2010 at the Wisner Care Center in Wisner.

Services will be held Saturday, March 13 at 10:30 a.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne. The Rev. Kim Stover will officiate. Visitation will be Friday, March 12 from 5 - 8 p.m. with the family present from 5 to 7 p.m. at Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne.

Irma Zita Baier was born Sept. 9, 1924 at Farrar, Mo. to Henry and Emma (Aurich) Rauss. She was baptized and confirmed in the Christian faith. When in her teens, she and her family moved to Nebraska where they farmed south of Wayne. She was employed in and around Wayne until marrying Walter Ernest Baier on Nov. 28, 1952 at St. John's Lutheran Church in Pilger. The couple made their home near Wayne where they farmed for many years. In 1976 they moved from their farm into Wayne. Irma was a member of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne and served there in various ways. She was also a member of Pleasant Valley Club and the DAV Auxiliary.

Survivors include her children, David (Joan) Baier of Wayne, Kenneth (Barb) Baier of Ames, Karen Crawford (Gregg Lair) of Westminster, Colo. and Janet (Virg) Kardell of Pilger; 12 grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren; one sister, Frances Inselman of Columbus; one brother, Walter Rauss of Norfolk; nieces and nephews.

Irma was preceded in death by her parents; husband, Walter in 2001; two great-granddaughters; four brothers; and one sister.

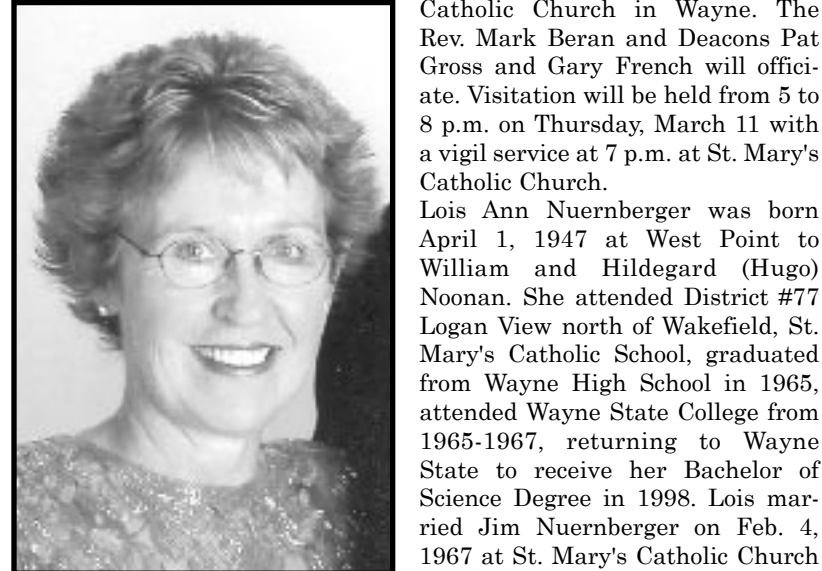

Pallbearers will be Irma and Walter's grandsons, Scott Baier, Jeremiah Baier, Dustin Baier, Ryan Crawford, Aaron Kardell and Matt Leedom.

Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne. Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne is in charge of arrangements.

Lois Nuernberger

Lois Nuernberger, 62, of Wayne died Sunday, March 7, 2010 at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Services will be held Friday, March 12 at 10:30 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne. The Rev. Mark Beran and Deacons Pat Gross and Gary French will officiate. Visitation will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, March 11 with a vigil service at 7 p.m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Lois Ann Nuernberger was born April 1, 1947 at West Point to William and Hildegard (Hugo) Noonan. She attended District #77 Logan View north of Wakefield, St. Mary's Catholic School, graduated from Wayne High School in 1965, attended Wayne State College from 1965-1967, returning to Wayne State to receive her Bachelor of Science Degree in 1998. Lois married Jim Nuernberger on Feb. 4, 1967 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne. The couple farmed south of Wakefield and later southeast of Wayne. She was Director of Activities at the Wakefield Health Care Center. For the past 20 years, Lois was an Information Resource Director at Wayne State College Conn Library. Lois was a life-long member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and was a Mass lector. She was involved in Farm Fans Extension Club, Wayne Area Education Office Professionals, P.E.O. Chapter CZ, Wakefield where she served as International Delegate to the 2001 P.E.O. International Convention in Milwaukee, and various Wayne State College groups. She enjoyed sewing, walking, reading, line dancing, landscaping, and most of all her family.

Survivors include her husband, Jim; their children, Terri Beza of Wayne, Susan Salmon of Concord, and Brad (Tina) Nuernberger of Wakefield; seven grandchildren; a sister, Elizabeth "Liz" (Dave) Dolph of Elkhorn; sisters-in-law, Shirley Noonan and Cookie Noonan both of Lincoln, Dorothy Burke of Lakewood, Colo., and Laraine Derr of Juneau, Alaska; many nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents and three brothers, Bill, Kerry, and Jerry Noonan.

Memorials may be made to St. Mary's Catholic Church or Wayne Area Education Office Professionals Association.

Honorary pallbearers will be Lois and Jim's nieces and nephews.

Active pallbearers will be Larry Sampson, Tom Gustafson, Gerald Muller, Paul Saunders, Kenny Thomsen and Bill McQuistan.

Burial will be in the Wakefield Cemetery in Wakefield. Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne is in charge of arrangements.

Correction to article

In last week's Wayne City Council story, it was reported that during the vote on a request from the Wayne County Veterans Memorial Committee for $75,000 in LB840 funding, Council member Jim Van Delden voted against the request.

This report was in error. Van Delden actually abstained from voting on the agenda item, resulting in a 6-0-1 vote in favor of the request.

The Herald apologizes for the error.

City Administrator

City Council meeting

The next regular City Council meeting will be Tuesday, March 16 at 5:30 pm in the city council room at 306 Pearl Street

If You Pay Utilities on Rental Property, Please Do The Following:

1) Check the following new rate against your last sewer bill: Divide the gallons used on your last sewer bill by 1,000 and multiply that by the new rate of $5.12 per 1,000 gallons. For residences, add the $6.50 monthly sewer fee. For apartments and other commercial customers with a larger water line size, that monthly sewer fee will be higher. Call the city office for that number. The total is what that bill would have been with the new sewer rates approved by the council. Some increases will range up to 100 percent.

2) The rate methodology used to set the new rates is to divide the increased cost by the number of gallons of sewer water usage in Wayne.

3) The water rates have not increased.

4) Call the city billing office with questions.

Trail Underpass: Safe vs Safer?

The Phase II Trail will likely be bid out this year for construction in 2011.

1) The "at-grade" highway crossing for the trail at the west edge of the cemetery is considered safe by Nebraska Engineering Standards and Nebraska Department of Roads Standards.

2) Because of the heavier traffic and shorter sight distance than other areas of Highway 35, some parents have expressed concerns about that crossing.

3) The state has awarded Wayne a $370,000 grant to build an alternate highway underpass for this crossing and the council has allocated $150,000 to match it, plus we will need another $35,000 to relocate the trail to the underpass. These are all estimates at this time.

4) The council has the opportunity to use these funds or return the grant and leave the trail crossing as currently designed. Council members are seeking community input before making the final decision in April to hire an engineer and use the funds. No city money has been spent on this project to-date.

5) A Town Hall meeting has been set for 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 23 in the city auditorium to ask for more public input about the project. Come and take part in the discussion or let the council members know your point of view.

6) Letters and emails received about this are forwarded out directly to the mayor and council members. If you want information ahead of time step into the city office and we'll get it for you.

Opera star to perform with the Sioux City Symphony Orchestra

Legendary opera star, Dame Kiri Te Kanawa, will perform with the Sioux City Symphony Orchestra on Saturday, March 13. This concert will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Orpheum Theatre in downtown Sioux City, Iowa.

Dame Kiri's concert will be an event that receives national and international attention because of the limited number of performances she has scheduled this year.

The concert will include a variety of repertoire showcasing some of Dame Kiri's most cherished and signature songs. Concert attendees will be treated to arias from The Marriage of Figaro and La Boheme. The SCSO and Dame Kiri will also perform numbers written by some of the greatest American composers. Selections scheduled to be performed include: "Somewhere," from West Side Story; "Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man," from Show Boat, and the Rogers and Hammerstein classic, "You'll Never Walk Alone." "We are very honored to have Dame Kiri perform with the Sioux City Symphony," said David G. Krogh, Acting Executive Director. "In the 94-year-history of the SCSO, Dame Kiri Te Kanawa is one of the greatest stars to ever grace the stage of our Symphony. It truly will be an evening to remember."

Tickets are on sale now for this once-in-a-lifetime performance with Dame Kiri Te Kanawa. For tickets, call the Sioux City Symphony Orchestra office at 712-277-2111 or on-line at www.siouxcitysymphony.org. Tickets prices are $75, $50, $40, and $20.

This concert is sponsored by The Gilchrist Foundation, Security National Bank, Mercy Medical Center, CNOS, and Larry and Becky Williams.

Trevor Wright provides update on South American bike adventure

Last summer, Wayne High graduate Trevor Wright set out on a bike trip through South America.

The son of Gary and Peggy Wright of Wayne has since provided several accounts of his travels. This is the latest of those updates.

A portion of the interview is included in today's edition of the Herald and the remainder will be included in next week's edition.

First, could you give us an update on the areas you have traveled?

I'm in southern Peru at the moment. Since June 2009 I've traveled Trinidad & Tobago, Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Chile, and Peru. A month was spent in the Amazonian jungle, which seems like a whole different world with its own customs and languages. Overall, I've cycled over 2,200 miles—about a third of my proposed trip. I have yet to visit Bolivia, Brazil, Uruguay, and Argentina. By the time I arrive to Buenos Aires, Argentina I'll have pedaled an estimated 6,500 miles.

Recently an earthquake claimed more than 800 lives in Chile. Could you tell us anything about the situation?

I left Chile weeks before the earthquake hit. Upon hearing the news I immediately called my Chilean friends to see if they were safe. The capital of Santiago - where most of my friends live - is about 200 miles northeast of the epicenter. I was told a few apartment buildings fell, walls now have cracks that will make them weak when future tremors hit, but all in all things were not as bad as farther south where entire towns were destroyed. One friend almost entered her apartment building's elevator right before the shaking started. Minutes later the elevator fell several stories and shattered upon impact. She is in good spirits, but now takes the stairs.

Have you had any language issues?

The official language of all the South American countries traveled so far is Spanish. Thanks to many years of study I'm now fluent in the language. No issues there. Ironically, the biggest communication breakdowns happened in English-speaking Trinidad & Tobago. The island was a British colony and now speaks an English similar to Jamaica's. The accent is thick, the Caribbean slang like a secret code. At times I couldn't understand the taxi drivers and they couldn't understand me. In Peru I've stayed with families whose grandparents only speak an indigenous language called Quechua. More than once I found myself around wood-burning stoves trying to tell the cook in a mix of sign language and Spanish that the soup was delicious. Brazil's official language is Portuguese, with over Trevor Wright poses with his bike and an Incan child and llama in Cuzco, Peru, his latest stop on his South American bike trip.

192 million speakers. I'm studying now and am excited to practice once I arrive.

What is the best or strangest food you've eaten?

I miss the food in Trinidad & Tobago the most. The many years of Indian, British, Caribbean, and Middle Eastern immigrant influence has created a Caribbean fusion that can only be found on the island. A typical beach meal is a "Bake and Shark"—a fried bread sandwich with spicy sauces and grilled shark. It's usually eaten in a BBQ atmosphere with lots of beer and music. Another favorite was the "Bus Up Shut"—a doughy flour tortilla filled with curried vegetables and meat then wrapped like a burrito.

With a medicine man in the Amazon jungle I drank chicha—a fermented drink made from cassava root that is served in a large communal bowl. I finished it, but more because I didn't want to offend his wife than because I liked its taste.

The strangest food I've eaten was guinea pig (cuy) in Peru. It's baked, then served whole, head, feet, and all.

What are the most common/unusual questions asked by those you meet?

I was on a bus in Venezuela when I heard the news of Michael Jackson's death. The radio stations played his music non-stop that day. It was a very big deal. Now kids in every country ask if I like his music or if I met him when he was alive.

Also, since family is very important in Latin America people begin conversations by asking if I have any siblings or a family. They are always surprised that I have only one brother and no wife, but laugh in agreement when I explain that perhaps a wife wouldn't have let me bike South America. Of course, I'm always asked too why I'd want to bike South America in the first place. It's pretty universal that people think I'm crazy for doing this.

Why are you biking South America, anyway?

Adventure. How are you surviving the trip financially? For example, where do you sleep, eat, and do laundry?

The key to long-term travel—assuming you don't have endless amounts of money like myself—is to minimize expenses. My bike is my vehicle; I have no transportation costs. My money only goes toward food, lodging, and entertainment. To minimize lodging costs I camp whenever and wherever possible, sleep in fire stations and police departments, and contact members of Couchsurfing.com for free accommodation in big cities.

To minimize food costs, I cook the majority of my meals on a camp stove. When I do eat out I ask taxi drivers for recommendations—they always know cheap places with quality food. To minimize laundry costs, I do laundry in Couchsurfers' homes or hand wash clothes in the sink. On average I've spent about US $15 per day.

We are in the middle of the worst winter in 30 years. Have you experienced any weather problems in South America?

Wind. Sun. Flurries. Fog. Rain. I've experienced everything but an all-out blizzard. The weather is varied in South America, with climates ranging from sea level tropics to snow-capped peaks.

Once a tropical rainstorm overtook my French cyclist friend and I while biking out of the Peruvian jungle. Though the rain was cold, the weather was warm, so we continued even though it felt like riding through a car wash. Suddenly lightning hit a tree just a hundred yards ahead, causing a large branch to fall onto the asphalt. We took it as a sign to stop for lunch. It was then that my friend told me he felt an electric shock in his handlebars. That was the closest I've come to a dangerous weather situation.

Here in Peru the daily rain is making it difficult to continue. I'm waiting for better weather before I cycle to Bolivia.

What do you do if the weather is bad?

In the Andes mountains rain is the only element that concerns me. Hypothermia is dangerously real at 12,000+ feet elevation; staying dry can be the difference between life and death. When it rains I slip into my rain jacket and search for shelter. When no shelter is available, I lash a plastic tarp to my bike, then sit underneath it while wishing for sun. I learned this trick from the indigenous women who work the potato fields. On rainy days you can look up and see colorful dots of plastic tarp scattering the mountainside, each with a crouched woman below who observes the rain with a timeless indifference.

On average, how many miles do you travel each day?

The mountains determine my mileage. I've embraced the what-goes-up-must-come-down philosophy as a way to deal with the most difficult days. It's amazing what you can endure when you know tomorrow will be better. Sometimes I'll climb all day only to realize I traveled just 30 miles. Other days I'll coast 50 miles downhill before lunch.

My longest day so far was in central Colombia. For some insane reason I decided to pedal 100 miles, not knowing the last three miles before my destination was a steep vertical climb that would have made Lance Armstrong think twice. Dogs were taking breaks walking up it. That night I arrived to a cheap hotel, but barely. I'd guess I average about 50 miles a day.

Current status of local Red Cross Chapter presented

The local Red Cross chapter has a budget of $195,000 for fiscal year 2009-2010.

The United Way contributes about one fourth of the budget. The remaining amount must be raised through class fees, books and first aid kit sales, and personal donations from the community.

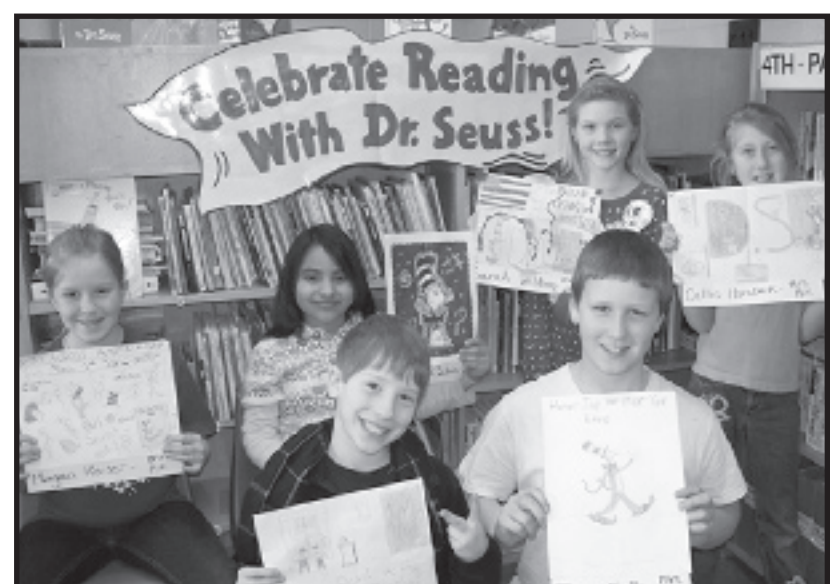

"We are at a very critical time not only for our local chapter, but for chapters nationwide," said Chapter Operations Manager, Heather Claussen. "There have been over 100 chapters closed in Nebraska and South Dakota during the last few years. Only 10 chapters remain open in Nebraska and we want to remain one of those chapters," Claussen said.

"We receive no federal, state or city funding of any kind. We do receive a little over $45,000 from the two local United Way units, but that represents only about 25 percent of our total budget. We need to find ways to raise the other 75 percent to meet the needs of the community and the requirements to maintain an active status as a chapter," said Marion Arneson, chapter chairman of the local chapter.

"I was really encouraged with the response we received during our sponsorship drive (which is always on-going). Each board member is personally committed to raising the financial funds needed to secure the future of the Red Cross chapter. I am overwhelmed at their support and enthusiasm," said Claussen. "Now I just hope that the community will respond positively to all the hard work and dedication we have exemplified. It is my hope that more and more people will make giving to the Red Cross something

Read Across America Day

Community Theatre to sponsor arts festival

Wayne Community Theatre is sponsoring an arts festival on Sunday, March 14 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Wayne National Guard Armory.

The event will feature artists, crafters, and vendors from the Wayne area as well as from all over Nebraska and western Iowa. The festival will showcase items from artists and crafters including handmade jewelry, pottery, photography, wool goods, woodworking and baked goods as well.

In addition to vendors, there will be free arts workshops for kids, live music, a coffee bar and lunch available.

The Wayne Community Theatre is partially funded by the Wayne United Way.

For more information on the festival, contact Mollie Spieker, 375-2869.

Warning signals explained

As northeast Nebraska moves into the severe weather season, an explanation of the different warning signals has been issued.

The tornado or alert signal is a steady blast or tone for three minutes.

When this signal is sounded, residents are asked to take protective action immediately. They are to take shelter and tune into radio station KTCH/KTCY or another northeast Nebraska radio station for official instructions and listen for additional messages over the Wayne outdoor warning system.

The fire signal warning is an alternate high-low tone for approximately three minutes.

The fire signal means citizens should be on the alert for the following: fire personnel who will be reporting to the fire hall at a high rate of speed and emergency vehicles which will be reporting to the fire location at a high rate of speed.

The public address/notification signal is a series of two short blasts about 10 seconds in length.

When the Wayne Public Address/Notification signal is sounded, citizens should be alert for an important public message such as the following:

1. an electrical system brownout or peaking emergency is in effect;
2. a water emergency is in effect;
3. some other important public message will be forthcoming.

The attack warning signal is a wavering tone of short blasts for three minutes. It will be sounded if an actual attack against this country has been detected. If this happens, citizens are asked to do the following:

1. Take protective action immediately. Take shelter.
2. Follow directions in your community shelter plan.
3. Tune to radio station KTCH/KTCY or another northeast Nebraska radio station for official instructions.

Farmers Mutual provides assistance with purchase of Carroll fire vehicle

Farmers Mutual of Nebraska recently presented the Carroll Volunteer Fire Department with a check for $1,000 to assist with the purchase of a new rescue truck for the department.

In 1945 there were only 45 fire trucks in Nebraska that were available to respond to a rural fire. By 1952 the number of trucks available for rural fires went up to 170. Much of the credit for this expansion belongs to Farmers Mutual and its president at that time, Harold Requarte.

Requarte wrote a bill for the 1945 legislature that allowed farm mutual insurance companies to lend money at very low interest rates to volunteer fire district for the purchase of fire trucks. Not only did this allow for the purchase of fire equipment, but also reduced the fire insurance rates by nearly 30 percent.

Although the company no longer is in the loan business, Farmers Mutual does make contributions for the purchase of fire trucks. They appreciate the efforts of the volunteers who dedicate their time and effort, and risk their lives to protect lives and property.

Farmers Mutual is the largest farm insurance writer in Nebraska. With nearly 300 local agencies across the state, they are also one of the largest writers of homeowners and automobile policies.

Wayne State women's basketball coach Chris Kielsmeier is only 34 years old, but has already coached an NCAA Div. III national championship team and has the Wayne State women in the NCAA Div. II tournament this week in Colorado.

WSC coach has been there before

If anybody knows what a team capable of winning a national title looks like, it's Wayne State women's basketball coach Chris Kielsmeier.

In his second year as the Wildcats' mentor, the Iowa native has Wayne State in the NCAA tournament for the third time in school history. But this isn't Kielsmeier's first rodeo.

Before coming to Wayne, America, Kielsmeier led Howard Payne University to four straight appearances in the NCAA Div. III tournament and won the national title in the 2007-8 season. And he believes this year's Wayne State team — winners of 26 of 30 games and 15 in a row heading into this weekend's Central Region tournament in Durango, Colo. — is a team capable of winning it all.

It's capable, he said, because the team is relaxed and not thinking of anything beyond its next game, an approach the team has followed throughout the course of its 26-4 season.

During our weekly office chats this season, Kielsmeier has seemed more relaxed as the season went on. After winning the Northern Sun Conference title this past weekend, he yawned several times during the course of our interview, more the result of a short night that came from an eight-hour bus trip home and a late-night organization of game plans and must-haves for the team's trip to Colorado this week than the boredom of talking basketball with the local sports editor (at least, that's what I'm assuming...I've never had a coach fall asleep during an interview before).

And yet, the exhaustion seemed to be replaced by a sense of comfort that Kielsmeier, 34, could draw on from his experience in Texas, where he helped Howard Payne use an impressive defense to become one of the top programs in Div. III and cut down the nets two years ago.

"This team isn't excited to just be in it," he said Monday. "All we're doing is preparing for game number 31 and keeping it as simple as that, and the kids have really bought into that."

So much so, that Wildcat Sports Network play-by-play man Kevin Culhane asked Ashley Arlen who she'd rather play in Sunday's conference finals. It didn't matter, Arlen told Culhane, they were looking forward to playing game number 30.

If you've had a chance to see this team play this season (and if you didn't, you're missing out on something special), this team plays with an attitude that winning teams project. This team plays outstanding defense, creates unselfish opportunities for everybody on the floor, and any one person on the team is capable of stepping up with a big performance that leads the team to victory.

What's more interesting is the sense of community with this

Wayne State women roll to conference title, No. 2 seed in regionals

The Wayne State women were pretty much a lock for the NCAA Central Regional tournament, but that didn't stop them from wanting to go into the tournament on a high note.

The Wildcats hit an NCAA Div. II record 30-of-30 from the free throw line Sunday afternoon and punched their ticket to the NCAA Div. II tournament with a 77-67 win over Minnesota-Duluth in the finals of the Northern Sun Conference Tournament in St. Paul, Minn., their first conference tournament title since winning it in the 2006-07 season.

And even with a 15th straight win, a record-setting effort and a conference championship trophy to take back to Wayne, coach Chris Kielsmeier said the team didn't show a tremendous amount of emotion in winning the tournament title.

"The neat thing was that they weren't overly excited, it was like they expected to do it and now it's time to move on to next week," he said. "I've coached teams like that before, and teams with a mindset like that are dangerous going forward. (Winning the title) was awesome, but the one we really want is in the future, so it's an exciting time."

The Wildcats (26-4) were a perfect 30-of-30 from the free throw line, breaking the record of 29-for-29 set by Tusculum College of Tennessee. Wayne State was one free throw shy of matching the all-NCAA record of 31-of-31 set by Kansas against Nebraska in 2004.

"Shooting 30 free throws in a game is a lot, and some of those came late after the kids had played a lot of minutes on a long weekend," he said. "It was impressive, and we had to hit those down the stretch to seal the win."

Tournament MVP Mara Hjelle earned her eighth double-double of the season with 26 points and 11 rebounds. Ashley Arlen, who was also named to the NSIC All-Tournament Team, added 23 points in the win.

"Those two are great players and get a ton of publicity, but this is such a great team when it comes to understanding roles and what they have to do for us to be successful," Kielsmeier said. "Ashley and Mara were getting a lot of shots because our guard play was getting them a lot of shots, and they're loving it."

The Wildcats trailed 6-2 early in the game, but Ali Schwartzwald hit a 3-pointer and two free throws for a 7-6 advantage. Wayne State overcame early foul problems by Hjelle, but the Wildcats were able to persevere behind the shooting of Arlen and Clare Duwelius and took a 40-35 lead at the half.

Hjelle opened what would be a spectacular second half for her — scoring 16 of her team-high 26 points — with eight straight points and Arlen's free throws gave Wayne State a 50-41 lead with 11:56 to go. Wayne State capped a 12-0 run with a Hjelle jumper with 11:28 left to make it 58-41, but Duluth responded with a 12-0 run of their own to get within five points with less than six minutes to go.

Minnesota-Duluth would get as close as four on a 3-pointer by Jheri Booker with 3:13 left, making the score 65-61, but Wayne State continued shooting lights out from the line, hitting their last 13 charity tries in the final three minutes to claim the conference tournament title.

The Bulldogs out-rebounded the Wildcats 48-45, grabbing 26 offensive rebounds, a statistic that concerned Kielsmeier.

"That was very frustrating, and it was something Moorhead did to us Wednesday," he said. "I told the girls that if we keep rebounding with that inconsistency, we're going to lose a game solely because of our rebounding. We shot free throws great and did a lot of things well, but we didn't rebound well. We survived, but it's got to get better."

Jheri Booker, the conference's Player of the Year, led the Bulldogs in scoring with 26 points while going 10-of-31 from the field, and had a team-high 11 rebounds.

"She's a great player without question, and she gets a lot of points because she shoots a lot," Kielsmeier said. "I was happy with how we defended her. Any time somebody gets 31 shots in a game, you're going to have a hard time holding them down, but it was a team effort and we defended them well, especially in the second half."

Wayne State opened the conference tournament at home, but had to scratch and claw their way to a 77-70 win Wednesday against Minnesota State-Moorhead at Rice Auditorium.

Arlen scored a game-high 28 points and made 6-of-10 3-point shots to lift Wayne State to a school-record 15th win at home this season. Wayne State led by as many as 16 points and was a perfect 15-0 at Rice Auditorium, but had to hold off a late Dragon comeback to advance to the semifinals.

Coach feels team has a shot to win Central Regional

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Being second best in the Central Region doesn't seem to bother Wayne State coach Chris Kielsmeier.

Fresh off of winning the Northern Sun Conference tournament title for the second time in school history, the Wildcats carry a 26-4 record and a 15-game winning streak into the first round of the NCAA Central Region tournament that begins Friday at Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colo.

As NSIC tournament champions, Wayne State could have made a case for hosting the tournament, especially with Fort Lewis' upset loss to Colorado State-Pueblo in the finals of the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference tournament.

Kielsmeier said the NCAA looks more at the entire season's work than the conference tournament, and said Fort Lewis deserves to play host for the eight-team tournament.

"When the season starts in November, every game matters, and so it's all about the season of work and our players understand that," he said. "The way we played down the stretch, we gave ourselves a chance (to host), and if we had lost one or two fewer games we probably would be host."

"But I'm not concerned with that," he added. "It's March, and I've always said that if you have a reason to play in March then you've got to love it, and we've got a chance to play in the NCAA tournament, which is the neatest thing coaches and players get to go through."

The Wildcats will take on CSU-Pueblo in a 2 p.m. (central time) game Friday afternoon. The Thunderwolves (20-10) finished third in the RMAC's West Division behind fellow regional competitors Fort Lewis and Adams State, and enter the tournament without the team's leading scorer, Rachel Espinoza, who averaged 14.9 points per game before an ACL injury in the opening round against Adams State.

Freshman Katrina Selsor poured in a game-high 28 points in the Thunderwolves' 61-60 win over Fort Lewis, and the team likes to light it up from outside, averaging more than 21 3-point shots per game.

depth, but they won three in a row to get into the tournament and they have a freshman who shoots the ball very well," Kielsmeier said. "I think it's a good matchup for us, but it doesn't matter to these girls, because they believe they've got a shot."

A win Friday would put them in the semifinals against either Concordia-St. Paul or Adams State on Saturday at 6 p.m. The championship game is set for Monday at 8 p.m., and it's a game Kielsmeier believes his team can get to if they continue the approach that has helped them win 15 in a row.

Wildcats go down, but not quietly in NSIC

The Wayne State men's basketball team entered the Northern Sun Conference tournament as the No. 6 seed, but they certainly didn't play like one.

The Wildcats went into Sioux Falls, S.D. last Wednesday, March 3, and pulled off an impressive upset of NCAA Div. II No. 15 Augustana, jumping out to an 11-point lead in the first half and running away with a 75-52 win.

Wayne State nearly pulled off a second upset Saturday afternoon, giving second-seeded St. Cloud State a scare late before being eliminated by the 24th-ranked Huskies 74-66 to close out a 14-15 campaign.

All in all, it was a season of improvement for first-year coach Paul Combs and his team, which started the year 2-6 before saving their best basketball for the end of the year, where they won 12 of their last 21.

"Obviously, it was a transition year and there were a lot of ups and downs, and it took the first semester to really establish our system and identify roles on the team," he said. "I feel good about the direction of the program right now, and while we're not satisfied with where we're at, we've built a foundation that is needed to move the program forward."

The Wildcats held Augustana to 36 percent shooting and held the Vikings 27 points below their season scoring average in shocking the Vikings in the first round at the Elmen Center in Sioux Falls, S.D.

With the exception of a 2-2 tie, Wayne State led from start to finish. Wayne State used a 9-2 run to take their first double-digit lead

No-hitter highlights busy spring break for WSC softball squad

Amber Baird and Katie Goetzinger combined on a no-hitter Monday afternoon to lead the 22nd-ranked Wayne State College softball team in a 2-0 win over Millersville (Pa.) at the NTC Spring Games in Clermont, Fla.

Later in the day, the Wildcats topped Post University of Connecticut 8-2 to improve to 5-1 on their spring trip and 8-2 overall.

The first game saw Baird work six innings with eight strikeouts, while Goetzinger notched the save in the seventh with no strikeouts. Senior outfielder Amy Sandstrom, junior catcher Sam Earleywine and sophomore third baseman Brittany Greenwood each recorded two hits in the win for the Wildcats.

The second game saw Jennifer Radley go 3-for-4 with two RBI's to spark the Wildcats over Post University of Connecticut. Freshman outfielder Kassie Nurton added two hits in the win in support of winning pitcher Michele Hogan.

Wayne State College split a pair of games Sunday on the second day of their spring break trip. The Wildcats fell to Bentley (Mass.) in the first game 3-1, but came back for a 7-2 win over St. Joseph's College of Indiana in the second game.

In the first game, Goetzinger was the losing pitcher. The second game saw Brittany Greenwood go 2-for-4 with three RBI's to support winning pitcher Baird over St. Joseph's College of Indiana. Radley also went 2-for-4 at the plate for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats opened their spring break trip in Florida with a pair of exciting wins Saturday afternoon, beating No. 9 Kutztown of Pennsylvania 4-1 in nine innings and edging Assumption College of Massachusetts 3-2.

In the opener against Kutztown, the game was scoreless after seven innings of play. Both teams scored in the eighth inning, and Sam Earleywine gave Wayne State a 2-1 lead with an RBI double followed by a two-run homer from Radley. Goetzinger was the winning pitcher for the Wildcats.

The second game saw Earleywine connect on a three-run homer to boost the Wildcats over Assumption College. Baird was the winning pitcher.

Indoor track team heads to nationals

The Wayne State College women's indoor track and field team has qualified three individuals in three events for the NCAA Div. II National Indoor Track and Field Championships, set for this weekend in Albuquerque, N.M.

Senior Christina King, junior Casey Buskirk and freshman Savannah Wakeley have each qualified for the Wildcats based on performances they had during the indoor track season. Buskirk, a graduate of Platteview High School, is ranked 10th in NCAA Div. II in the weight throw after recording a career best throw of 57 feet, 11 1/4 inches at the NSIC Championships last weekend in Mankato, Minn. She will compete on Friday, at 2:30 p.m.

King, a graduate of Millard West High School, was an automatic qualifier in the 400-meter dash with a time of 55.64 seconds at last weekend's NSIC Championships. Her time ranks sixth in NCAA Div. II and she will compete in the prelims on Friday at 4:50 p.m.

Wakeley, a graduate of Wausau High School, qualified in the high jump and ranks eighth in NCAA Div. II after clearing 5 feet, 7 inches at the Mankato State Open on Jan. 30. She will compete at nationals on Saturday at 1:45 p.m.

WSC soccer signs Lincoln Pius star

Wayne State College head women's soccer coach Molly Grisham announced that Heather Feltes of Lincoln has signed a national letter of intent to attend Wayne State College and play soccer for the Wildcats in 2010.

Feltes is a 5-foot-4 defender from Lincoln Pius, where she is a three-year starter and letter-winner. Last spring, she helped Pius HS reach the Class B girls semifinals while earning honorable mention All-State honors the last two seasons. She also excels in the classroom, earning Academic All-State honors each year in high school while also being a National Honor Society member.

"I am so excited that Heather will be joining our team in the fall," Grisham said. "She is the kind of student-athlete we want in our program. Heather is a very consistent and competitive player and she adds much needed depth to our back line. She has a great personality and made a very positive impression on everyone at Wayne State College."

Grisham expects to sign several more players in the upcoming weeks.

Wildcats add recruits

Wayne State football coach Dan McLaughlin announced that three more players have signed national letters of intent to attend Wayne State College and continue their football careers with the Wildcats.

Sam Blake of Utica, Matthew Cassidy of Plainfield, Ill., and Ryley Mohl of Bancroft are the latest players to join 27 others as members of the 2010 recruiting class.

Blake is a 6-foot-6, 255-pound tight end that is transferring to Wayne State after playing the last two seasons at Iowa Central Community College, where he was an All Midwest Football Conference West Division All-Conference honorable mention selection at tight end in 2009 and also excelled in track and field at the school by placing in the shot put and discus at the regional meet.

Cassidy is a 6-foot-3, 290-pound offensive lineman from Plainfield North High School in Illinois, where he earned All-Area and All-Southwest Prairie Conference honors as a senior, helping his team reach the Illinois Class 7A playoffs with a 7-3 record.

Mohl is a 6-foot-2, 200-pound defensive lineman from Bancroft-Rosalie High School and earned Class D1 All-State First Team honors from the Omaha World-Herald and Lincoln Journal Star last fall, helping the Panthers to a 10-1 record and the quarterfinal round of the Class D1 playoffs.

WSC cross country girls honored for academics

The Wayne State College women's cross country team received the All-Academic Team Award from the U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association.

For a team to be considered for the award, they must have competed and compiled a team score at an NCAA Regional Championship and also have a minimum 3.0 team cumulative grade-point average.

The 2009 Wildcat women's cross country team compiled a cumulative grade point average of 3.55 to finish in a tie for 18th amongst the NCAA Div. II schools that received the honor. Wayne State was one of eight schools from the Northern Sun Conference to be selected for the award.

Sixth-grade girls win

The Wayne sixth-grade girls basketball team won a pair of tournaments, taking first place at Norfolk Catholic and North Bend.

Wayne beat Norfolk Public (24-6), Norfolk Catholic (29-19) and Crofton (21-17) to win the Norfolk Catholic tournament. Kayla Schrunck was the leading scorer in the first two games, while Tarah Stegemann led the way in the finale. Danica Schaefer and Peyton Roach also scored well in the tournament.

In the North Bend tournament, Wayne dominated West Point (45-2) and DC Breakers (27-5). Schrunck led the team in both games, while Schaefer, Stegemann, Roach and Morgan Keating led the way over West Point.

WBDA 7th girls go 2-2

The WBDA seventh grade girls went 2-2 in the Norfolk Catholic Booster Tournament, held Feb. 27-28.

Wayne beat Norfolk Public (44-16) and Newman Grove (23-10) before losing to Crofton (27-21) and Norfolk Catholic (30-13). WSC baseball team facing tough competition on spring road trip

The Wayne State College baseball team opened its 2010 spring trip Saturday with a 10-7 loss to Wisconsin-Parkside at the Dunn Hospitality Tournament in Evansville, Ind.

The Rangers scored four runs in the third and added three more in the fifth to take a 7-0 lead, but Wayne State rallied with four runs in the sixth inning to make the score 7-4. Brandon Polk led off the inning reaching on an error, followed by a Joe Wendte single. Polk scored on Nick Bidroski's RBI single for the Wildcats' first run, followed by a Justin Beranek two-run triple that scored Wendte and Bidroski to make the score 7-3. Beranek later scored on John Plasha's RBI single to close out the four-run inning.

After Wisconsin-Parkside scored three runs in the top of the seventh to grab a 10-4 lead, the Wildcats responded with their own three run inning to cut the Rangers' lead to 10-7. Treye Hacker and Wendte each singled, with Bidroski belting a three-run homer. Wendte finished 4-for-5 with a double and two runs scored while Bidroski was 2-for-5 to highlight Wayne State's 10-hit attack. Austen Wisroth suffered the pitching loss, allowing six runs on six hits, over 4 1/3 innings with three strikeouts and two walks.

Wayne State suffered losses to Wisconsin-Parkside (6-1) and No. 26 Southern Indiana (12-1) Sunday afternoon. The Wildcats were limited to four hits by Wisconsin-Parkside, while Southern Indiana erupted for seven runs in the second inning en route to the win over the Wildcats.

Southern Indiana scored three runs in the bottom of the eighth inning Monday evening to rally for a 4-3 win over Wayne State College dropping the Wildcats to 4-9 on the season.

Southern Indiana took a 1-0 lead in the third, but Wayne State came back with three runs in the sixth to take a 3-1 lead thanks to a two-out rally. With two outs and the bases empty, Ritzdorf reached on a bunt single down the third base line followed by a single by Bidroski. Plasha laced a single up the middle to score Ritzdorf and Beranek singled to right field scoring Bidroski and Plasha to put the Wildcats in front.

The score stayed that way until the bottom of the eighth inning when the host Eagles used three straight hits to open the inning, setting the tone for the winning rally. Rosario tripled to left center field to score the first run followed by a Brad Vance RBI single that scored Rosario to tie the score at 3-3. The eventual game-winning run was produced on a Dylan Mooney sacrifice fly to center field that scored Vance.

Bidroski was 2-for-4 with a double and RBI to lead the Wildcats at the plate. Beranek had a two-run single while Wendte, Ritzdorf, Plasha and Brandon Polk also had hits.

Coach, players earn All-NSIC honors

Wayne State's Chris Kielsmeier was voted by his peers as the 2009-10 NSIC Coach of the Year, and two of his players earned first-team All-NSIC nominations, the conference announced Thursday morning.

Kielsmeier was cited after leading the Wildcats to a 16-4 NSIC record and a tie for second place in the league standings this season. In only his second year at Wayne State, Kielsmeier has a 28-12 record in league play.

This season the Wildcats defense led the NSIC in scoring defense, holding their opponents to 58.7 points per game while his offense put up 71.9 points per contest. The Wildcats held their opponents to a league low 36.9 percent field goal percentage as well. After starting league play 4-4, the Wildcats rolled off 12 straight wins to finish the season, including a 87-69 win at then No. 23 Concordia-St. Paul.

Kielsmeier is a native of Iowa, graduating from Hubbard-Radcliffe High School, and is a 1999 graduate of Iowa State University. He served eight years as head coach at Div. III Howard Payne University in Brownwood, Texas, before taking over the Wayne State program last year. At HPU he led the LadyJackets to a 33-0 record and the NCAA Div. III national championship in 2007-08.

Ashley Arlen and Mara Hjelle were both named to the conference's first-team All-Conference list.

Arlen, a 6-foot-2 sophomore transfer from Iowa State, leads the team with 19.3 points and 3.2 steals per game, and also averages 7.5 rebounds per contest, the second-best average on the team. She has also been tabbed as one of five players from Region 8 of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association to be nominated for NCAA Div. II All-American honors.

Hjelle, a 6-foot-2 junior, averaged 14 points per game and a team-leading 8.3 rebounds, 2.2 steals and 1.4 blocks per contest. She was also named to the conference's All-Defensive squad.

On the men's side, Brett Spiker was named to the conference's first-team All-Conference squad. He averaged 12.5 points and 9.8 rebounds a game in helping the Wildcats reach the NSIC playoffs.

and built several leads of 16 points in the second half before holding off a late Dragon rally for the win. The Wildcats jumped out to a 13-5 lead four minutes into the game, but MSU Moorhead used solid first half shooting to stay in the game and trailed 34-32 at halftime.

The Wildcats came out strong in the second half, using an 18-4 run in the first six minutes to take a 52-36 lead with 14:00 to play. Wayne State still held a 16-point lead with 10:33 left before MSU Moorhead made their run at the Wildcats. The Dragons cut the Wildcat lead to 58-51 with 8:43 to play and got within two points at 66-64 following an Angie Jetvig layup with 3:13 to go. After Wayne State built its lead back up 71-64 on an Alisha Brown layup with 2:16 left, Moorhead made one last run and pulled within two at 72-70 on a 3-pointer by Kaycee Charette with 1:27 remaining. Wayne State avoided the upset, hitting its free throws down the stretch to advance to the semifinals.

Hjelle added 16 points and Alisha Brown scored 15 points to lead the Wildcats. Meghan Rettke and Angie Jetvig each scored 16 points to lead the Dragons.

In the semifinals Saturday, Wayne State used a pair of 11-0 runs in the first half to rout Augustana College 75-60.

Augustana opened the game on a 3-pointer by Faith Tinklenberg for a 3-0 lead, but Wayne State responded with an 11-0 run, highlighted by a Kati Jo Christensen 3-pointer and back-to-back-treys from Arlen, to take an 11-3 lead. The Wildcats used another 11-0 run later in the half, with Hjelle scoring 10 straight points at one stretch to help the Wildcats to a 42-30 halftime lead.

The Wildcats continued to put pressure on the Vikings in the second half. WSC would increase their lead, thanks to seven straight points from Duwelius, and built a game-high 18 point lead following a Brown layup, and the Wildcats cruised to the conference finals from there.

Arlen had her ninth double-double of the season with 22 points and 12 rebounds, and also recorded three steals and a season-high four blocked shots. Hjelle finished with 18 points and Duwelius added 12 as three Wildcats finished in double figures. Faith Tinklenberg led the Vikings with 15 points.

at 27-16 on a 3-pointer from Elijah Miller with 4:28 to go in the first half, and increased that lead to 33-21 at halftime.

Augustana opened the second half with a basket to cut the Wildcat lead to 33-23, but the Wildcats went on a 20-2 run to go up 52-25 and put the Vikings' hopes of contending for a conference title on ice. The Vikings never got closer than 18 points the rest of the night as Wayne State used tenacious defense and solid shooting to hand Augustana just its second home loss of the season.

"It was the third time we'd played them, and we had put a really good half together in each game," Combs said. "I felt our game plan was good and our guys executed well defensively, and it was just a huge team effort. We definitely put two good halves together, and beating the No. 15 team in the country on their home floor was a huge credit to our players."

Freshman guard Amry Shelby poured in a game-high 22 points to lead the Wildcats. Senior forward Brett Spiker added 16 points and 11 rebounds for his 13th double-double of the season while Jason Jensen and Brian Metz contributed 12 points apiece.

Wayne State shot 52 percent (26-of-50) from the floor, the fifth straight game the Wildcats have shot over 50 percent from the floor. Augustana did not have a player reach double figures. Lee Stephens finished with eight points for the Vikings, who were held to 36 percent shooting (18-of-49).

On Saturday, St. Cloud State held off a second half Wayne State rally to end the Wildcats' season, but the upstart Wayne State boys were not going to go down quietly.

"It was a great college basketball game," Combs said. "The game had a lot of runs and had players making some special plays, and St. Cloud hit their shots down the stretch. We took the lead late, and they were able to come back. They won the conference title for a reason, and it was a heck of a basketball game and I was proud of our effort."

St. Cloud State opened the game with an early 8-0 run to take a 10-4 lead with 17:20 to play in the first half, but a Starken 3-pointer and Brett Spiker basket got Wayne State within one at 10-9. Wayne State was within three points at 24-21, but St. Cloud responded with a 10-2 run to take a 34-23 lead at the break.

The Huskies led by as many as 14 several times early in the second half, but Wayne State went on a 16-5 run over a five-minute stretch to pull within three points at 48-45 following a Shelby jumper with 8:56 left. The Wildcats stayed even with the Huskies and used a Jensen 3-pointer with 4:15 to go to take a 58-56 lead.

After the Huskies scored the next five points to go in front 61-58, a Starken free throw and another three from Jensen gave Wayne State a 62-61 edge with 2:48 to go. St. Cloud retook the lead on a Taylor Witt 3-pointer and a shot by NSIC Player of the Year Matt Schneck to go up 66-62. Wayne State's Elijah Miller canned two free throws with 1:20 left to get the Wildcats within two at 66-64, but they could get no closer as the Huskies made 6-of-6 free throws in the final 41 seconds to hold off the Wildcats.

Spiker paced Wayne State with 18 points and 12 rebounds for his 14th double-double of the season, Shelby added 15 points, Jensen put in 12 and Miller scored 11. Witt poured in a game-high 21 points to lead four Huskies in double figures.

It was the final game for seniors Spiker and Metz, and Combs hailed their contributions this season.

"They have meant a lot to our program, both on and off the floor, and both kids had fantastic seasons and played tremendous roles for our program," Combs said.

The first-year Wildcat coach held out hope for a good season next year, with eight of the team's top 10 players set to return in 2010-11.

"We need to add some depth and some front-line help, and when you play in the Northern Sun you need that depth to play back-to-back nights and be successful, both at home and on the road," he said. "We'll work on getting our current players better and continue their growth, and try to add quality depth to our roster."

Wildcat women finally crack Div. II Top 25

It was better late than never for Wayne State's women's basketball team, as they finally cracked the USA Today-ESPN Top 25 list for NCAA Div. II.

Wayne State entered the poll at No. 22, one spot behind fellow NSIC team Concordia-St. Paul. The two teams are among three from the Central Region, along with top-seeded Fort Lewis of Colorado, which is No. 6.

The Wayne State women will compete in the NCAA Central Region tournament, beginning Friday in Durango, Colo.

The USA Today-ESPN Top 25 is as follows:

1. Gannon University,
2. Franklin Pierce,
3. Michigan Tech,
4. Arkansas Tech,
5. University of Indianapolis,
6. Fort Lewis (Colo.),
7. Washburn (Kan.),

bunch of girls. These girls not only enjoy playing with each other, but they enjoy being with each other. It's a unique mix of talent and togetherness that, Kielsmeier says, is the mark of a team capable of winning a national title.

That's exactly what Kielsmeier was looking for when he took the job here two years ago. And he's not afraid to say it, either.

"When I came here, I came here because I wanted to win a national championship, and you have to talk about winning a national championship to get that chance," he said. "You want to establish an identity that says, 'Hey, we can win a national championship in Wayne, Nebraska,' and doing stuff like that changes things."

"I'm not trying to build up an unrealistic expectation here, but I'm not going to sit back and say that it can't (happen), because I believe it can and you can do it at Wayne State College."

Whether or not the Wayne State women go all the way and win the title later this month in St. Joseph, Mo., remains to be seen. One thing is for certain, though — they not only have the talent and desire to win it all, but they are led by a coach who knows what a winner looks like... and he likes his team's look heading into the NCAA Div. II tournament.

COUNTYWIDE GAS & GROCERY NOW OPEN
Allen's newest business "Countrywide Gas & Grocery" is now open for business.

Volunteers from the area have worked for nearly a year to complete the building and site work. The property is leased to David Albers who has quick stop experience.

There will be a Grand Opening sometime in the near future. The station does have credit card pumps so gas is available 24 hours/seven days a week. All area residents are encouraged to "stop in and check it out."

BLANKET DRIVE

During the month of November, Cub Scout Pack 172 of Allen and Wakefield did a blanket drive.

Members collected over 100 blankets and gave them to the Allen Food Pantry, Wakefield Food Pantry, Haven House, and Soup Kitchen.

The Scouts would like to thank all of the people who donated blankets and all of the businesses that allowed them to put drop boxes in their locations.

Wakefield to host art show

Michael Hassler, K-12 Art Teacher at Wakefield Community Schools, has announced the first annual BIG SHOW Art show to be held Wednesday, March 24.

Approximately 60 area schools have been invited to be a part of this show, and the first 20 to register will be a part of the show.

"I want to give our art students a chance to interact with each other and partake in a day dedicated to just the visual arts. This is also a wonderful opportunity to see a wide range of artwork from schools all over Nebraska that they otherwise would not have the chance to see," Hassler said.

The show will begin with students arriving at 8 a.m. for registration. All artwork should be hung by 10. Students will then be encouraged to work on a group activity to produce a collaborative piece of artwork which will be put on display for public viewing.

Judging of exhibits will take place between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

At 1 p.m. the show will be open to the students and general public and group activity work will continue.

At 3:15 p.m. the Student's Choice and People's Choice Best of Show Awards will be presented.

The show is scheduled to end at 4 p.m.

Schools who have indicated that they will attend include Wakefield, Pender, Keya Paha (Springview), Ponca, Winnebago, Atkinson West Holt, Elgin Public, Burwell, Clearwater, Orchard, Battle Creek, Crofton, Randolph, O'Neill Public and Omaha Nation.

Blood drives scheduled for March

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank has scheduled a blood drive at Wayne State College.

The Wayne State College Blood Drive will be held at the Student Center (Elkhorn and Niobrara Rooms) on Thursday, March 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

To be eligible to donate blood individuals must be at least 16 years of age; however there is no upper age limit as long as the donor is in good health. Donors under the age of 17 require parental consent. In addition, donors need to weigh at least 110 pounds and have not donated whole blood in the past 56 days. A photo I.D. is required at the time of registration.

For more information about the Siouxland Community Blood Bank or blood drives in your area, call 712-252-4208 or 800-798-4208, in the Mitchell area call 996-3896 or visit the Siouxland Community Blood Bank's website at www.siouxlandbloodbank.org

The Siouxland Community Blood Bank was founded in 1967 and is the sole provider of blood and blood products to 37 Siouxland area hospitals.

Grandson accepted into travel program

Joshua George, a Seward High School student, has been accepted into the People to People Student ambassador Program, an educational travel program founded by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Joshua is the son of William and Kristi George of Seward. He is the grandson of Kermit and JoAnne Bensch of Carroll and Mary Lou George of Winside.

Joshua will explore England, France, Germany, Belgium, Switzerland and the Netherlands for 20 days this June as a member of the Lincoln delegation. by participating in the European Heritage itinerary, he can earn academic credit while getting to know the people, culture and history of the places visited.

He will take part in a variety of activities such as helping European citizens protect the famous Black Forest in Germany, experience England's royal history, understand life during the world wars at Normandy, Flanders Field and the Anne Frank House, shoot the rapids on an alpine river and explore the masterpieces of the world-famous Louvre Museum.

Acceptance into the Student Ambassador Program is an honor. After being invited to enroll, Joshua submitted letters of recommendation and successfully completed an interview process.

Before departing, he will attend several orientation meetings with program leaders and fellow delegates to learn about the destination and prepare for the journey.

He will travel under the leadership of Dave Ripa, a teacher-leader from Lincoln Public Schools in Lincoln.

American Broadband to offer phone service and enhanced cable TV services in Wayne

Blair, NE — American Broadband announced today that it is making a significant investment to upgrade its network and will be bringing local telephone and long distance services to the community of Wayne. The upgrade will enable faster Internet speeds and will also enhance the company's existing cable TV services by offering additional channels. Customer will now have the opportunity to save money by bundling these new services into one convenient monthly bill. American Broadband hopes to launch the new services June 1, weather permitting.

American Broadband President and General Manager Shawn Hanson said, "The upgrade and service enhancements are examples of our commitment to the people and values of rural communities in Nebraska. Our emphasis on personal service and customer care, together with our belief in developing a high level of technology, is something that we believe will benefit the people of Wayne. We are glad to be able to make more of our services available to them."

Hanson also said that he is pleased to build on the company's past success of expanding its services in the nearby communities of Tekamah, Oakland, Lyons, Pender, Wakefield, and Emerson. "We are very happy with the response from the residents of nearby communities, and hope to match or exceed that response in Wayne," he said.

Switching to American Broadband's telephone service will be very simple and customers will be able to keep their existing telephone number. The company will offer free phone activation with telephone service as low as $9.99 per month. Additionally, once the entire upgrade is complete, high-speed Internet speeds up to 10 Meg will also be available, and up to 50 HD channels will be added in 2010 along with several additions to the basic and digital cable line-ups. An enhanced sports and variety package will also be offered. As technicians are working on this upgrade, customers may experience brief outages of service until the necessary work is completed.

Residents and businesses who want to sign up for service or want more information will be able to do so at an event that will be held in Wayne at the City auditorium on Thursday, May 13, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Prize drawings will be held, and food and refreshments will be served throughout the day for everyone who attends. Guests are encouraged to bring their current telephone bills to see how much they can save per month by switching to American Broadband's services. In addition, those interested in signing up for service will have the opportunity to schedule an installation time that is convenient for them. Additional sign-up events will be scheduled at a later date.

For all new customers signed up between now and July 31, American Broadband will donate $5 to the Wayne Veteran's Memorial Fund. The new local telephone and long distance services will be available to all customers who live within the current coverage area for cable television and cable modem Internet access service. More information is available by calling 375-1120 or visiting www.ABBNebraska.com.

Winside students participate in Conference Art Show, Speech Meet

By Kalin Koch, Winside High School

"Wonderful! Just Marvelous!" These remarks are what one could have heard at the Clark Division of the Lewis and Clark Conference Art Show and Speech Meet.

The Winside art students had a good showing this year. All together, the students received seven blue ribbons, four red ribbons, and two white ribbons. One student also received a "Best in Show" award.

The students who competed in this year's show were Jayd Roberts and eighth grader, Erin Gray a sophomore, Miranda Hansen, Lesley Milenkovich, Megan Leicy, and Audrey Roberts who are all juniors. The seniors who competed this year were Carly Anderson, Stephen Perkins, Gene Weible, and Kyle Mundil.

The majority of the students did two pieces. Jayd Roberts received both a red and blue ribbon for her pencil and clay pieces. Erin Gray received a white and blue ribbon for her pencil portrait and Batik. After creating a great pencil piece and a Batik, Miranda Hansen received two red ribbons. Megan Leicy, Carly Anderson, and Audrey Roberts received blue ribbons for their Batik projects.

Stephen Perkins and Kyle Mundil also created and submitted Batiks. Kyle received a white ribbon while Stephen received a red ribbon. Kyle also received a blue ribbon for his pencil portrait.

Lesley Milenkovich received a blue ribbon for her batik and she received the coveted "Best in Show" award for her wonderful pencil portrait.

From the looks of it this year's conference art show was a good one. "Everyone should be proud of themselves and all their classmates. Congratulations to all of the Winside art students who competed in the art show. Your hard work has really paid off and has made the art program at Winside keep its grand reputation for always entering good work every year," said Nancy Berns, Art Instructor at Winside High School.

This is the 19th year one of Mrs. Berns students has received Best in Show at the Conference Art Show.

Speech meet results from the Conference Art Show for Winside students is as follows:

Caroline Burris - Conference Champion in Extemp and fourth in Persuasive;
Duet Acting - Colin Hansen and Alec Sindelar - third; Brian Greunke - fourth in Poetry;

Hope Voss - fifth in Poetry;
Kyle Mundil - third in Serious Prose;
OID (Oral Interpretation of Drama) - Kyle Mundil, Colin Hansen, Brian Greunke, John Hansen and Alec Sindelar - fifth;
Morgan Quinn - Superior Rating in Informative; Hope Voss - Superior Rating in Persuasive.

offers more than 135 undergraduate and 63 graduate programs in the arts, sciences, professions, and education. Each year more than 11,000 students choose Buffalo State for its superb academic programs, applied learning opportunities, affordable tuition, and metropolitan location.

March is National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month

American Cancer Society says colon cancer remains preventable if caught early Colorectal cancer (commonly referred to as colon cancer) can be easily prevented; yet it remains the third most commonly diagnosed cancer in men and women in the United States and will claim approximately 49,920 American lives this year.

In Nebraska, 950 individuals will be diagnosed with colon cancer this year, and 350 will die from the disease. According to the American Cancer Society, the nation's leading voluntary health organization, many of those lives could be saved if people better understood the risks for the disease and got tested regularly. Colon cancer screening tests identify suspicious or pre-cancerous polyps, which can be removed before they develop into a serious health problem.

"Routine colon cancer testing can actually prevent the disease from occurring," said Mike Lefler, Director of Communications for the Nebraska Region of the American Cancer Society. "Societal roadblocks, however, need to be overcome to make this the norm. Many people find colon cancer an embarrassing topic to discuss, even with their doctors. For a variety of reasons, many doctors do not discuss the issue with patients at risk for the disease, including those 50 or older and African Americans."

Preventing colon cancer altogether through testing is the ideal outcome, but early detection of the disease also yields important health benefits. Nationally, people whose colon cancers are found at an early stage through testing have five-year survival rates of 90 percent. However, only 39 percent of colon cancers are detected in the earliest stages. Of those whose cancers are found at the late stage, the five-year survival rate is less than 10 percent.

This March, as the nation observes the 2010 National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month, the American Cancer Society is boosting efforts to increase colon cancer testing and to eliminate the taboo associated with talking about the disease - for the public and the medical community.

Both men and women are at risk for colon cancer. Personal risk varies, so your doctor can help you make informed decisions about when to begin testing and the most appropriate testing method for you. Factors associated with increased risk for colon cancer include:

- Age - most diagnosed are 50 or older;
- Race - African Americans are at greater risk;
- Personal or family history of colon cancer;
- Personal or family history of intestinal polyps;
- Personal history of inflammatory bowel disease (ulcerative or Crohn's colitis);
- Certain genetic factors (familial adenomatous polyposis, Gardner's syndrome, hereditary non-polyposis colorectal cancer, Ashkenazi Jewish descent);

• Smoking or use of other tobacco products;
• Physical inactivity;
• Diets high in red meat.
For information about colon cancer detection and prevention, call toll-free anytime 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit the American Cancer Society Web site at www.cancer.org.

Public encouraged to learn the latest information on diabetes

Yes, we have come a long way since we first began working in the field of diabetes education. We now know that the complications associated with diabetes can be prevented or delayed. Plus our growing knowledge of various foods and their effect on blood sugar levels enables people with diabetes to eat food they like and still control blood-sugar levels.

Today people with diabetes can choose from a wide variety of non-nutritive sweeteners and can even figure out how to fit sugar-containing foods into your meal plan. With carbohydrate information now readily available for most foods, diabetics can easily learn to count carbohydrates at each meal. This allows diabetics to fit virtually any food into your meal plan.

Fitting diabetes into your life style is the key message today. Diabetes does not have to dictate how you live.

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension invites you and your family members to participate in the diabetes educational program. Participants will learn about current issues related to diabetes from educators with over 22 years of team-teaching experience with the in-depth Living with Diabetes series.

Wednesday, March 31, is the first of three programs in "Control Diabetes for Life" series. Topics that will be addressed during the two-hour program are: "The Science of Carbohydrates," "Check Up for Your Control", and "Slow Cooker Magic", and along with other helpful hints.

Participants have the opportunity to attend from 1:30-4 p.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church social room in Wayne.

"Control Diabetes for Life" is a joint project of University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension and Franciscan Care Services of West Point. The program is offered free-of-charge. "Control Diabetes for Life" will help participants learn to control diabetes and prolong the onset of complications from the disease. These sessions are designed to supplement the education that you receive from your local diabetes education team and not a substitute for diabetes classes through your local health care providers.

Participants are asked to pre-register for "Control Diabetes for Life" by calling UNL Extension office in Wayne County at 402-375-3310. Please register by Monday, March 29, so the proper number of hand-outs may be prepared. School food service staff may earn two hours of continuing education credit for attending.

RUTH CIRCLE

Ruth Circle met March 4 with 10 members present.

Leader Fern Erickson opened the business meeting with a reading entitled, "Value Every Day." Plans were made for the new year, as this was the first meeting of the year due to bad weather.

The ladies will have the program for the March 18 general meeting. Suzie Johnson will put it together.

Verlyn Anderson led the Bible Study, "The Renewing of Our Minds," from Paul's letter to the Romans. "Echoes of our minds" were discussed and memorizing has connected us to the wonders of the Lord.

The meeting closed with prayer. Our Thursday, April 1 meeting will be held at the church with Lyla Swanson leading the Bible Study and Naomi Peterson will be the hostess.

Vandelyn Hanson served refreshments.

SENIOR CENTER

Seniors met for pot-luck, dominoes and quilting on March 5 with 20 people in attendance.

President Roy Stohler led the business meeting. Reports were accepted.

Stohler reported on the public hearing. The budget was presented and accepted. Lois Ankeny presented a reading "Another Scam" from the Norfolk Daily News, and Rozanne Hintz read an article on "Hypothermia" for the NIA News. Betty Bothwell reported on her hospital visits to Alyce Erwin and Dick Hanson. Naomi Peterson reported on the health of her husband, Iner.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, April 2, with a pot-luck dinner.

Makeover

The winner of Extreme Makeover 2010 at Missa Sue's Salon and Spa in Laurel was Trish Erickson. She received a haircut, color, manicure, pedicure, facial, and makeup by Shasta Hans of Missa Sue's. She also received flowers from Dixies Plantation and Tanya at the Saloon treated Trish to a meal and a bottle of wine. This was the fifth year of this promotion and Melissa Graham, owner and manager of the salon, plans to continue this event again this December.

National Consumer Protection Week observed

Attorney General Jon Bruning kicked off National Consumer Protection Week by offering up information on employment scams, debt elimination frauds, and newly revised credit card regulations today. NCPW is March 7-13 this year.

"A slow economy can put families into a desperate situation, which may make them vulnerable to scam artists," Bruning said. "The best defense against these frauds is education."

According to the Federal Trade Commission, scam artists and fraudsters are likely using the economic downturn to take advantage of consumers who are having financial problems.

Bruning was joined by U.S. Attorney Deborah Gilg, Postmaster General Kerry Kowalski, Lancaster County Sheriff Terry Wagner.

Employment Scams

Scam artists are using different tactics to take advantage of job seekers. They may place ads on the Internet or in the paper offering a chance to earn money by working at home. Some of the work-at-home scams involve mystery shopping, rebate processing or compiling lists of information for a fee. Consumers usually have to purchase an initial kit to begin their home business.

Job hunter tips:

- Avoid any job that requires you to pay money up front
- Check out potential employers
- Protect your personal information – never give out your social security number or birth date until you've confirmed the employer is legitimate.
- If the job offer seems too good to be true, it probably is.

To download a tip sheet on employment scams go to: www.ago.ne.gov

Debt Elimination

Some Nebraskans are drowning in debt. They may be in danger of losing their home or car or having trouble putting food on the table. Many people face a financial crisis during their lifetime, and some turn to online loans or debt elimination companies that promise to work with creditors to get rid of outstanding debt. Some companies ask for an up-front fee. They'll take the consumers money but won't provide any assistance. Be wary of debt elimination companies that:

- Charge high up-front or monthly fees
- Pressure you to make "voluntary contributions."
- Won't send you free information about services without requiring your personal financial information, like credit card numbers and account balances.

To download a fact sheet on identifying unscrupulous debt elimination companies, go to: www.ago.ne.gov

Revised Credit Card Rules

On Feb. 22, the Credit Card Accountability Responsibility Disclosure Act (Credit CARD) went into effect. These regulations were designed to protect cardholders from the costly practices of some credit card providers.

Advance notice of changes - Credit card companies must send a notice 45 days before they increase your interest rate, change fees, or make any significant changes to an account.

No interest rate increases for the first year - There are some exceptions:

- If your card has a variable interest rate tied to an index.
- If there is an introductory rate, it must be in place for at least 6 months; after that your rate can revert to the "go-to" rate the company disclosed when you got the card.
- If you are more than 60 days late in paying your bill.
- If you are in a workout agreement and don't make your payments.

Increased rates apply only to new charges - If your credit card company does raise your interest rate after the first year, the new rate will apply only to new charges you make. If you have a balance, your old interest rate will apply to that balance.

Restrictions on over-the-limit transactions - You must tell your credit card company that you want it to allow transactions that will take you over your credit limit. Otherwise, if a transaction would take you over your limit, it may be turned down.

Caps on high-fee cards - If your credit card company requires you to pay fees (such as an annual or application fee), those cannot total more than 25 percent of the initial credit limit.

Protections for underage consumers - If you are under 21, you will need to show that you are able to make payments, or you will need a cosigner, in order to open a credit card account and to request a credit increase.

Standard payment dates and times - Credit card companies must standardize the delivery of your statement and the due date.

Paying down debt - Payments must be applied to the highest-interest bearing balance first.

Eliminates "double-billing" - Credit card companies can only impose interest charges on balances in the current billing cycle.

Additional safeguards are expected to take effect in August 2010. To download a fact sheet on the Credit CARD Act, go to: www.ago.ne.gov

State colleges' mission remains same in 2010

This week, I'd like to highlight the work of our Nebraska State College System. These colleges offer a great value in higher education. The system consists of three colleges located in Chadron, Peru and Wayne.

The Nebraska State College System began in 1867, the same year as Nebraska was admitted to the Union, as a resource to prepare teachers for their careers in the classroom. Adding colleges and programs along the way, the system has responded to the changing needs of individuals, businesses and communities during its long history.

In 1867, Peru State College, located in the southeast portion of the state, was Nebraska's first public postsecondary institution. Wayne State College, anchored in northeastern Nebraska, joined the system 100 years ago. Chadron State College in the rural northwestern part of the state was added in 1911.

While the scope of our state colleges has expanded, the core mission remains the same: Providing a high quality and affordable education allows these three colleges to add to the intellectual, cultural and economic development of their respective regions and throughout our state.

Today, the Nebraska State College System serves 9,000 students on campus and online. During the past two years, the three colleges were ranked for academic quality by U.S. News & World Report due in part to the hands-on research opportunities that start during a student's freshman year, honors programs, attentive, caring professors, study abroad programs, small classes, and over 200 undergraduate and graduate degree options.

Online courses have provided students anywhere in the world the opportunity to take colleges and earn a degree including students located in Iraq, Afghanistan and even Antarctica. Currently, more than 700 undergraduate and graduate courses are offered online with more courses added each year. Nebraska's state colleges work closely with community colleges across the state. A joint enrollment program allows students attending any state or community college to take courses from other colleges and campuses. The South Sioux City College Center is being built as a partnership between Northeast Community College in Norfolk and Wayne State College.

Chancellor Stan Carpenter, the Board of Trustees and the staff and faculty of Nebraska's three state colleges work to ensure these opportunities are available at reasonable rates. Efficient use of resources is helping keep tuition and fees as low as possible.

To help ensure that more families can send their children to state colleges, two new programs were started recently that provide financial assistance

Capitol View Doing something about Whiteclay

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN – Whiteclay is a blot on the road in northwest Nebraska, within easy stumbling distance of the Oglala Sioux reservation in South Dakota. Members of the tribe go to Whiteclay to drink beer, to the tune of some four million cans each year.

The results are pathetic, tragic, heart wrenching and disgusting.

For decades and decades and decades this situation has generated well-intentioned discussions, demonstrations, public hearings and other goings on. Mostly in Nebraska. Social activists, politicians and uplifters of all sorts have participated. Most yielded a lot of well-intentioned, platitudinous conversation, some gave birth to some very good documentaries, centering on the need for state and local and federal and tribal commitment to do something.

Lots of folks see it as the duty of the Nebraska Legislature to do the aforementioned "something." Although there is nothing approaching a consensus on what the "something" is, there is solid agreement that it will involve money.

This is a good place for the obligatory note that alcohol is officially banned from the reservation, much the way celebrants are banned from the field after national championship football games. But Whiteclay is the place to be if you want to drink, stagger and fall down.

It's also appropriate to note the government of South Dakota and the tribal leadership have been as helpful as a toothache in regards to the situation; although, in fairness, their ineffectiveness has probably been as worthwhile as Nebraska's ineffectiveness. They just aren't talking about hitting up their taxpayers to fund more of it.

The Nebraska Legislature is considering, at this writing, a proposal calling for $250,000 annually to provide local government grants for "economic development, health care and law enforcement" in the area. The money would be administered by the Commission on Indian Affairs.

Even if enacted, it seems unlikely that lawmakers, facing downstream revenue shortfalls that could exceed one-half billion dollars, would actually fund the program. Still, some proponents say, it would send the message that policymakers are aware of the problems and want to deal with them.

And so, once again, lawmakers might enact what we have oft noted as that which legislative veterans long ago described as the perfect bill: It doesn't hurt anyone, it doesn't help anyone, it doesn't do anything and it doesn't cost anything.

Proposed pain standard for abortion

An overflow crowd attended a recent public hearing on a bill that would effectively ban abortions after the 20th week of pregnancy. The procedure would be barred on the basis of the pain it might cause the fetus.

Exceptions would be allowed for women facing medical emergencies.

If enacted, and if it survived subsequent court challenges, it would be the first law of its kind in the nation.

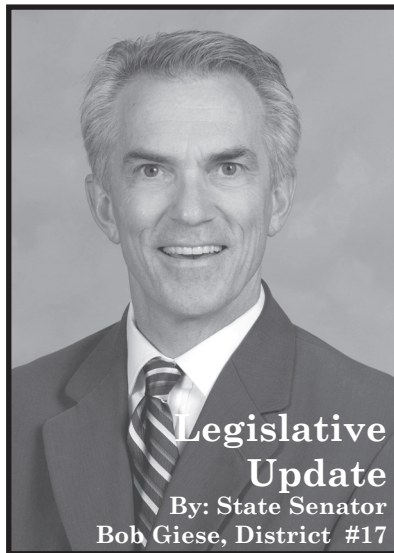

Weekly Legislative Update

Greetings from the Unicameral! With the last few committee hearings on bills completed, the Legislature transitioned to full-day debate last week.

One bill that generated significant discussion both on the floor and in the media was LB952, a bill introduced by Sen. Tom White of Omaha to exempt certain sewer and gas infrastructure replacement projects from state and local sales taxes. While the bill was introduced in response to a federally mandated sewer separation project in the Omaha metropolitan area, the exemption would also apply to a handful of sewer projects in Nebraska's small and mid-sized communities.

LB952 was narrowly advanced on the floor last week, and Sen. White has pledged to work between General File and Select File to find language that would help communities throughout the state address unfunded federal mandates and ensure that the bill is more than just a solution for Omaha's sewer woes.

The Education Committee recently advanced LB1071, the second of the committee's two priority bills for the session. While the bill primarily makes a number of technical changes to education-related statutes, one of the changes made will assist Nebraska teachers looking to gain valuable knowledge and experience by furthering their own education. The Enhancing Excellence in Teaching Program, which was expanded by the Legislature last session, uses lottery dollars to provide tuition reimbursement for qualified Nebraska teachers seeking a graduate teaching degree. With the changes included in LB1071, teachers would also be eligible to seek tuition reimbursement from the program to seek a graduate degree in their teaching area, such as a math teacher seeking a Masters degree in mathematics. I support this common-sense change which will help keep the best teachers in our local school districts here in Nebraska.

The recent "controversy" surrounding the Wayne Police Department's bust of an underage drinking party, in my view, is much ado about very little.

I preface my thoughts by disclosing that, as a college student, I was among 99.9 percent of the student body (at least, those under 21) that ran afoul of the state's laws concerning underage drinking. I fully understand and appreciate the desire for young adults to "find themselves" and imbibe on a few beverages that, eventually, will allow them to cut loose and party.

I also share in the frustration of the hypocrisy of the laws of the land. We allow college students to drive motor vehicles, vote in elections and die for our country in ill-conceived wars overseas. They are, after all, adults.

Still, the law is the law, and those who break the law should fully expect to, at some point in time, pay the punishment due – and they should do it without trying to portray themselves as victims of what they perceive as heavy-handed law enforcement.

From all accounts, Wayne Police acted on information they received and busted a party, serving up numerous minor in possession tickets. My guess is that the police are not going to just randomly select a house and write tickets to whoever might be within shouting distance unless they've got a good reason to. And if they do, it's a pretty good bet the county attorney is going to dismiss those charges and, as a result, damage the credibility of local law enforcement.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

Studies have shown that brains of adults age 18-24 are still in a developmental stage, and adding alcohol to that rarely, if ever, results in something good. Many of the crimes committed by those in that age group are alcohol-related (sexual assaults, assaults and other crimes such as vandalism, theft, etc.). And, in an era of high unemployment, the last thing a college student needs on his or her record is any crime, especially those where intoxicants are involved.

Many of the dumb decisions I've made in my life had a common thread – alcohol. Time has provided enough experience, and with that experience has come the wisdom for me to understand that too much alcohol is not a winning proposition for me.

It would be in the best interests of those involved to heed that wisdom, attend the diversion classes that will keep the MIP off their record, and think twice the next time they think breaking the law in Wayne, America is a good idea.

Every year, the Nebraska

Legislature introduces hundreds of bills for consideration.

Most of the bills that come before the 49-member body are of great importance to the state's future. Every year, it seems there are a few bills that make logical-thinking members of the human species ask: what in the world are they thinking about in Lincoln?

The bill in the Legislature that has me asking that very question is LB945.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Jon Harms of Scottsbluff, makes texting while operating a motor vehicle a primary offense, similar to speeding, driving on expired plates or operating a vehicle while under the influence.

Seriously – does Sen. Harms, or those senators in Lincoln who are supporting this measure, think that a member of law enforcement can make a judgement call as to whether the individual that they are approaching – usually at speeds of up to 60 miles an hour on the highway or 75 on the Interstate – is dialing a number on his (or her) cell phone or sending a text message?

to qualified students. The Nebraska State College System Advantage guarantees that first-time Nebraska freshmen who receive federal Pell Grants will pay no tuition while attending Chadron, Peru or Wayne State Colleges. The Yellow Ribbon program exempts eligible military veterans from tuition and mandatory fees at the three campuses. In addition, colleges are exploring creative ideas such as Peru State College's 'One Rate, Any State' program to increase enrollment.

While the Nebraska State College System has expanded over the years, its campuses have also been quick to adapt to a changing learning environment in order to provide students with a valuable education that enriches their earning power and adds to the development of communities across Nebraska.

I encourage Nebraskans interested in more information to visit the Nebraska State College System online at www.nscs.edu.

Volunteer opportunities available through 4-H

The 4-H program offers numerous opportunities for adults and youth to volunteer. For youth who volunteer, the benefits are enormous. Youth volunteers develop life skills with increased self-esteem, development of empathy for others and numerous other positive youth development factors. Volunteering promotes positive citizenship among youth when they engage and feel connected to their community. When youth volunteer, they are also able to form lasting relationships with peers, adults and

There were 11 graduates between Norfolk 49rs and Single Wheelers. The banner will be home for the next dance, Friday, March 12 at the Wayne City Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. with John Orlovske Jr. calling.

Members are reminded to bring snacks for the evening and Roger Willers will be in charge of beverages.

reasons focus on being approached or asked by the organization, the student's school, or family and friends. If you ask the youth to volunteer, they probably will!

Youth are extremely busy these days, but volunteering remains an important part of youth development. You can help youth to volunteer in a number of ways. First, help youth to find opportunities to volunteer. Perhaps you can think of an activity where volunteers are needed. Youth are very capable of handling most volunteer activities.

Second, be sure to ask and encourage youth to volunteer. Often youth do not volunteer because they have not been asked. Third, help youth to work through some of those obstacles that may be in their way. Transportation and lack of time may be issues that prevent youth from volunteering. Can you help to arrange a carpool for the volunteer activity? Can you give suggestions for volunteer activities that maximize the free time that these youth may have?

Fourth, tap into the interest of the youth. A 4-H member who is interested in the animal science projects may be very interested in volunteering at a 4-H livestock judging workshop or an animal shelter.

Fifth, highlight some of the extra benefits that volunteering can provide. Volunteer activities are beneficial in and of themselves, but they also provide the volunteer with some other benefits. Volunteering may add to the 4-H member's resume for future careers or college scholarships. Sixth, you, can act as a positive role model with your volunteer service. Role modeling encourages youth volunteerism.

Finally, encourage families and clubs to volunteer together!

Acme Club meets at The Oaks

WAYNE — Nine members of the Acme Club met March 1 at The Oaks with honorary members Mary Doescher and Margery Summers, who are residents of The Oaks.

The Thought for the Day was "The completely lost of all days is the one on which one has not laughed."

Roll call was a sign of spring.

A book will be placed in the library in honor of the club's 125th anniversary. A collection was taken to be used as a monetary gift to be sent to the Children's Home for Easter.

It was decided to go to the Senior Center on Wednesday, March 31 to hear Steve Gross give his presentation on "Brick Streets of Wayne."

The program for the day was sharing jokes and having many laughs.

The next meeting will be Guest Day on Monday, March 15 at 2 p.m. at Tacos & More.

Winter Bridge played at Senior Center

AREA — The Winter Bridge group met on Tuesday, March 9 at the Wayne Senior Center with 12 persons attending. Bridge was played at three tables. Hostess was Gail Godbersen.

Bridge will be played on Tuesday, March 16. For reservations, contact hostess Barb Greve at 375-2309.

Immanuel Ladies Aid conducts February meeting

Immanuel Lutheran Ladies Aid of rural Wakefield met Feb. 18.

Pastor Bertrand led a hymn study for devotions. After the history and discussion, the group read and sang the hymns.

Nyla Schuttler presided at the business meeting. Four members and Pastor Bertrand were present.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given for November and December and the yearly report was presented. The January meeting was cancelled due to a snow storm.

The pastoral conference was scheduled for March 2 at Immanuel of Wakefield.

The 50th anniversary of Merle and Donna Roeber was recognized.

We closed with The Lord's Prayer and the common table prayer.

Nila Schuttler served lunch.

YOUR RETIREMENT SAVINGS MAY BENEFIT FROM NEW 2010 TAX LAW CHANGES.

If you're looking for tax-free opportunities for retirement, now is a great time to talk because tax law changes have created new reasons to consider converting to a Roth IRA, including:

- No income limit on conversions
- Ability to split your conversion amount equally and report it as income for tax years 2011 and 2012

Call today to discuss how this opportunity may benefit you.

Katherine Bartels

Wayne State College senior enlists into the Nebraska National Guard

Katherine (Katie) Bartels, 22, a senior at Wayne State College, and 2006 graduate of Laurel High School, enlisted into the Nebraska Army National Guard on March 8. Katie received a promotion to Private First Class at the time she enlisted into the National Guard, and upon graduating in May 2010, will be promoted to the rank of Specialist.

Katie is the daughter of Craig and LuAnn Bartels of Belden. She is currently a senior at Wayne State College and will graduate May 2010.

After graduation Katie will begin graduate school at WSC. In August of 2010 she will attend basic training at Fort Sill, Okla., and Advanced Individual Training at Ft. Leonardwood, Mo.

When she returns, she will continue to pursue her Masters Degree in Education at WSC.

Katie joined the 1075th Transportation Company in Columbus, as a Motor Transport Operator.

SFC Dale Alexander would like you to congratulate Katie and her family when you see them in the community.

University of Nebraska-Kearney students present papers at regional conference

Eight University of Nebraska at Kearney history students are presenting papers at a regional conference in Omaha this week.

Among them is Zeke Brummels of Winside with his presentation, "Che Guevara and the Pop Culture of the U.S.A."

The eight are members of Phi Alpha Theta (PAT) history honor society, and they are presenting at the Nebraska PAT Regional Conference. The conference includes a total of 52 panel sessions that discuss a wide range of history topics. Special emphasis is placed on local and regional history.

"The PAT Regional Conference is part of the larger Missouri Valley History Conference (MVHC) held annually in Omaha," said UNK Phi Alpha Theta chapter president Kelli Cavenah from Rapid City, S.D. "Each year, a section of the conference is reserved for Phi Alpha Theta members to present papers. However, students can also choose to present in the MVHC as well."

The students will compete for Best MVHC Undergraduate Paper, Best MVHC Graduate Paper, Best PAT Undergraduate Paper and Best PAT Graduate Paper.

History faculty members will also be presenting their research. Dr. Doug Biggs, UNK history faculty member, will present his research on "Henry of Bolingbroke, 1367-1399: A King in Waiting or a Playboy of the Medieval World?"

"These students have been working on their papers for about six months," said Dr. Roger Davis, UNK history professor and UNK Phi Alpha Theta adviser. "All of the students did a very good job presenting during their practice speeches last week and, as for content, the papers are very strong."

"Students who wish to join Phi Alpha Theta must meet the national requirements that include 12 hours of history courses with a 3.1 grade point average (GPA), and have at least a 3.0 average in two-thirds of all other course work," Cavenah said.

"The most interesting part of this group is getting to know the history faculty at UNK better and having the opportunity to network within the history field," Cavenah said. "I've learned a lot about the history field and have made some great connections while being a part of Phi Alpha Theta."

Dental Health Month

In celebration of Dental Health Month, one class of Fishers of Kids Preschool visited the dental office of Dr. Burrows in Wayne. Dr. Burrows let them explore what a visit to his office would be like. They saw x-rays, dental tools, learned how to care for their teeth, and got a ride in the dental chair. The following day, Dr. Burrows visited Fishers of Kids to share a story with the other class about the importance of eating healthy and caring for teeth. The children especially enjoyed the model Dr. Burrows used to show the proper way to brush teeth.

'Circumstances' trips up spellers

By Caroline Burris, Winside High School
 Winners of the annual Pearl Ziegler Spelling Bee at Winside Public School on Feb. 17 competed in the Wayne County Spelling Bee.

Competitors at the Winside Spelling Bee were eighth graders Jayd Roberts and Mallory Stubbs; seventh graders Zane Jensen and Carly Schwager; sixth graders Jayden Prince and Marlo Kampa; and fifth graders Cody Frederick and Connor Elznic.

The contestants battled it out for 13 rounds. Finally, the word "circumstances" put Jayd Roberts on top with Zane Jensen taking second.

Both Jayd and Zane then competed in the Wayne County Spelling Bee. Zane was the returning champ of the county spelling bee, but was knocked out before the finals.

Jayd, however, nabbed second place and a trip to the Nebraska Spelling Bee in Omaha. First place of the county spelling bee was Jacob Lutt of Wayne.

Organic information workshops announced

Currently, Nebraska NRCS has 1.5 million dollars for the EQIP Organic Transition Program for the 2010 growing season.

This program can provide farmers/ranchers up to $20,000 per year in incentives to help make the transition to organic production. But making the switch is much more than a practice here or there. It involves a complete system change in how the farm is managed.

To help growers make informed decision on whether organic is a good fit on their farm or ranch the Northeast Nebraska RC&D is sponsoring four, no-fee information meetings in northeast Nebraska.

Wednesday, March 17 - Concord, Haskell Ag Lab, 1-4 p.m.

Tuesday, March 23 - Pierce, Town and Country Insurance Building, 1-4 p.m.

Wednesday, March 24 - Wayne, The Max Again, 9 a.m. - noon.

Thursday, March 25 - Neligh,

Antelope County Courthouse basement meeting room, 1-4 p.m.

These informal meetings are designed to answer questions about organic production. Weeds, fertility, erosion, rules and regulations are just a few of the anticipated topics.

Funded by the Nebraska Environmental Trust, these meetings are part of a statewide project to help agency staff, farmers and ranchers better understand the rules and regulations governing the organic production.

Although these meetings are designed to be a service, reservations are appreciated. For more details and to reserve space at these meetings, contact: Northeast Nebraska RC&D 402-582-4866, email: carol.peters@rcdnet.net or Martin Kleinschmit 402-254-3310; or your local NRCS office in Dixon, Pierce, Antelope and Wayne County.

Casserole making brings back lots of memories

The snow is finally gone from the bushes and I was able to get the Christmas lights off and into the house. I even found the box I had stored them in, which is an accomplishment because I had used it to deliver Habitat for Humanity meals the past couple of months. And I'm amazed at the resilience of the bushes; I was afraid they would never be upright again. The rain last night took care of the small amount of snow left on the lawn, but there are big piles in the center of the cul de sac under the huge pine trees.

We hosted eight people from Randolph for the girls' state basketball tournament; they weren't in the tournament, but the five teens will be playing for Randolph next year and one of the adult moms is the women's basketball coach there. Theresa Thies Schnoor played on the championship team when I was the school nurse at Randolph, and went on to play four years for Mount Marty. It was fun having them, and I have all the sheets and towels washed again, ready for anyone who is coming for the guys' tournament.

Watching Seward girls claim their second championship was a real kick; they are rated number one in all classes by the World Herald, and everyone is sad that the NSAA rules prohibit a game with the class A champs.

By: Pat Meierhenry

I'm in kind of a melancholy mood this morning; I made Shipwreck casserole for lunch, and as I peeled the potatoes, I remembered getting the recipe from Mike's Aunt Hazel. She was a good cook; she had to be, to feed six kids, and I have several good recipes from her. She died of cancer shortly after we moved from Hoskins, and we still miss her. Plus, my cousin, Phillip, who worked for us and lived with us for a couple of years, used to love this dish, saying it could not go wrong, as there was hamburger, potatoes, and pork and beans in it. His mom had eleven children, and I have a hunch those were her mealtime staples. Phillip was killed in a car accident, coming home from a fishing trip, and I still miss him!

I attended two sad funerals last week, due to the devil cancer. One, a middle-aged father of three young sons, and the second, the same age, father of two children whose mother died nine years ago. The pastor read from John 14, a familiar chapter to all of us, but pointed out that verse 18 says, "I will not leave you as orphans", and challenged the congregation to fulfill that verse and be the hands of Jesus as the siblings grow up. The church has already been doing that, taking the kids to school and providing meals. And I know they will continue to do so.

In Wayne, there was the service for Kodi Nelson-Skalberg, who was the age of our Ann and played sports for Wakefield and participated in 4-H. She left six children! And I feel certain that the church and the community will support that father, also; after all, that is what we as Christians are called to do. God give us the courage and the will to do so.

And may we continue to remember them, with love and appreciation.

Chemigation Training, Beef Tips, Siouxland Garden Show, Organic Farming Workshop coming soon

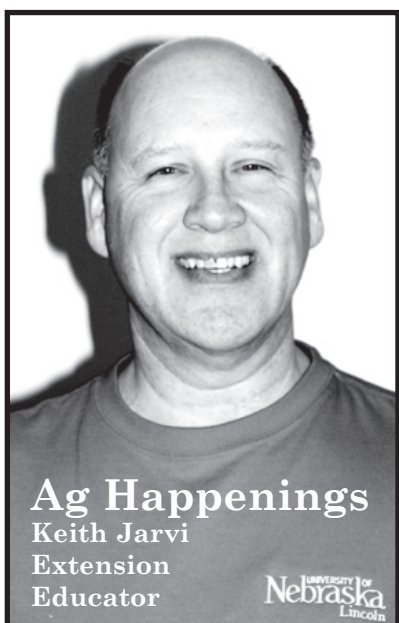

Those of you who need to get certified or re-certified to apply fertilizers and/or chemicals through an irrigation system can attend the chemigation training session at the Haskell Ag Lab one mile east of Concord on Tuesday, March 16. The chemigation training will start at 1:30 p.m.

We will be holding a Beef Tips meeting on Thursday, March 18 at 1:30 p.m. at the Fire Hall in Newcastle. This is the meeting that was scheduled in February that got snowed out.

Topics to be covered include pasture leases, grazing strategies to reduce costs, limit feeding programs, and strategies for developing replacement heifers, among others. There will be a $10 fee at the door to cover the cost of the handouts. The handouts will include information on over 20 ways to reduce costs for beef producers. Hope to see you there.

The Siouxland Garden Show is coming up soon and we don't want you to miss it. The show will be at the Marina Center in south Sioux City on Friday and Saturday March 19 - 20. Over 50 exhibitors will showcase innovative products and services, 13 education seminars will be presented by regional experts and 18 "How to" sessions will be held. There are plenty of activities for all ages.

This meeting is co-sponsored

An organic farming workshop Friday, March 19 at the Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk will give participants the tools they need to farm organically. The workshops, hosted by University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension in Madison County, will benefit organic farmers, market gardeners and those desiring to transition from conventional to organic farming.

The March 19 workshop will be from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Presentation titles include: "Soil Fertility and Organic Farming" by Charles Shapiro, UNL soil scientist. Shapiro will discuss maintaining and enhancing soil quality and soil fertility. He also will address how to determine nutrient needs when farming organically.

"Using a Whole-Farm Budgeting Tool for Calculating Organic Farming Costs" by Roger Wilson, budget analyst in UNL's ag economics department. Wilson will go over the cost of organic production and help participants learn a breakeven price for their operations.

"Managing Farmland for Biodiversity" by John Quinn, UNL conservation ecologist. Quinn will discuss birds, insects and plants as parts of healthy ecosystems. He will go over the contributions organic farming systems can make to protect these organisms in Nebraska. He also will share the potential for biodiversity to improve the health of farm systems.

Lunch will be provided. For more information or to preregister, contact the Madison County Extension office at (402) 370-4040 or e-mail dkwawmensah2@unl.edu. Each workshop is $10, payable the day of the workshop.

Resolution No. 10-06: WHEREAS, the Federal Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000 was signed in to law on October 30, 2000, placing new emphasis on state and local mitigation planning for natural hazards and requiring communities to adopt a hazard mitigation action plan to be eligible for pre-disaster and post-disaster federal funding for mitigation purposes; and

WHEREAS, a Multi-jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan was prepared by Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District with assistance from JEO Consulting Group, Inc. of Lincoln, NE, which includes Wayne County.

WHEREAS, the purpose of the mitigation plan was to lessen the affects of disasters by increasing the disaster resistance of the District and participating jurisdictions located within the planning boundary by identifying the hazards that affect the District and prioritize mitigation strategies to reduce potential loss of life and property damage from those hazards, and

WHEREAS, FEMA regulations require documentation that the plan has been formally adopted by the governing body of Wayne County in the form of a resolution and further requesting approval of the plan at the Federal Level; and

NOW, THEREFORE, the governing body of Wayne County does herewith adopt the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District Multi-jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan in its entirety and request approval of the plan at the Federal Level.

The solicitation of bids for lawn mowing, lawn spraying and servicing the lawn sprinkler system was authorized. Bids will be accepted until April 1st at 4:00 p.m.

General Fund warrant 10020096 in the amount of $280.00 was canceled on motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.

Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz reported that Wayne County was not included in the disaster declarations had been granted for 34 counties in Nebraska for the late-December and early January snowstorms. FEMA has requested additional information on what roads were opened for either people or livestock safety in Wayne County. Providing this information may result in the county becoming eligible for funding. The board worked on identifying routes taken for each call answered.

A work-session on the personnel policy was conducted.

Several members of the Wayne County Jaycees visited Rainbow World Child Care recently to make Valentines with the pre-school students there. After the project was completed, the Jaycees took the Valentines to residents at Premier Estates Senior Living Community and spent time visiting with the residents.

Saving money begins with tracking and cutting back on spending

Saving money can be challenging, but it starts with tracking your expenses and seeing where you can cut back, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension family economist says.

In an ideal world, people should save 15 percent of their income, but Kathy Prochaska-Cue realizes this is not a perfect world. In this economy, it is difficult to save money, she acknowledges.

That doesn't mean people should not try, however. Trying to save should start by tracking expenses, she said.

"You need to track where your money is going and figure out where you can cut back," Prochaska-Cue said.

Most people don't track their expenses, but they can start by just keeping a record for one or two months. Write down what money is being spent on and then determine where money can be saved.

For example, many people spend too much money eating out and seeking entertainment, she said. Meals can be eaten at home and people don't have to spend money to entertain themselves. People can have fun by going to public festivals, museums or parks, or they can invite friends over for a potluck dinner or a game night.

Clothing is another area where people can over-spend, Prochaska-Cue said. Often people don't need as many clothes as they think they need or do not need to get the more expensive brand names.

Utility expenses can be cut by lowering the temperature on the thermostat a couple of degrees then wearing a sweater.

Once expenses are cut, an emergency fund should be created, she said. Put money into a liquid account such as a money market account to cover expenses that might arise in the next six to 12 months.

Beyond that, Prochaska-Cue advises putting emergency fund money into a certificate of deposit with higher interest rates. A series of CDs can be purchased with staggering maturity dates to allow for the availability of funds, she said.

The bottom line in reducing expenses is determining needs vs. wants, Prochaska-Cue said. One positive side to the down economy is that it has taught people to be more cautious in their spending.

"That has been the big change within families," she said. "We realize our needs probably aren't really needs."

Why are volunteers important to hospice?

Cancer for volunteers makes a difference in patients' lives.

- Volunteers
 - Visit patients and families and provide "emotional support"
 - Run errands, such as grocery shopping
 - Provide respite relief for family caregivers for short periods of time
 - Assist in patient's home care
 - Help or write letters to patients
 - Help with:
 - Care plans
 - Care support to the family and the patient's doctor

Volunteering takes time. It takes time to train you and to get you started. But you can't do it if you don't have time to give. If you're interested in volunteering and making a difference in the lives of the patients and their family, contact our local hospice office.
