School to receive less after state aid recalculation

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

The Wayne School District will be receiving even less in state aid for 2010-11 than was announced at its Board of Education meeting earlier this month.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan received numbers from the State Department of Education late last week that showed the Wayne district will receive about $88,000 less than was noted in the first certification. The numbers had to be recertified after an error was noted in the formula that produced the first numbers.

A discussion of the district's state aid and future budget plans will be part of the State of the Schools address, which will be held Thursday, March 25, at 7 p.m. in the Wayne High School lecture hall.

The original numbers showed Wayne would receive about $1.87 million in state aid, including funds from federal stimulus funding. The new numbers show the district will get $1,789.671.31, a drop of about $88,000.

If there is any good news in this, it's that the drop in state is about half of what was originally projected, Lenihan said.

"During the special session of the Legislature last fall, there were some projections that were made, and some of the models had us down in the $140,000-160,000 range," he said. "We weren't happy with the original $53,000 cut, but it could have been much worse."

Lenihan said the district was already working toward putting together a budget that took the projected reduction in state aid into consideration.

"We had already made plans and are not going to rehire for a couple of positions where people are leaving." he said. "I think that will put us in pretty good shape to absorb a good amount of that reduction in state aid, and we've been working off those models since last fall so that we could prepare for the worst.

While some federal stimulus money will be coming the district's way for the 2010-11 fiscal year, that money dries up after that, Lenihan said.

"We have some stimulus money that will offset some of the losses for next year, but the financial picture of the state is not going to get better," he said. "We're not going to

City Council gives nod to sale of lots at Western Ridge area

Of the Herald

Acting as the Community Development Agency, Wayne City Council members gave approval for the sale of two lots in the Western Ridge Subdivision with the assistance of grant funds available for the proj-

The first of these lots will be sold to the local Habitat for Humanity Chapter. Funds from a Department of Economic Development Block Grant will be used to provide assistance with the purchase and meeting other subdivision requirements generally not associated with Habitat homes, such as a basement and garage.

The second lot will be sold to the Wayne Community Housing Development to provide affordable housing on Lot 17 in Western Ridge. The process will be similar to that of the Habitat for Humanity lot.

A public hearing was held in regard to grant funded projects by the Nebraska Department of Economic Development.

These included Downtown Revitalization Phase I ($30,000), Downtown Revitalization Phase II ($250,000), Speculative Building ($255,000), Sand Creek Post & Beam Expansion ($205,000 zero interest loan), and Western Ridge ($387,000).

Lisa Hurley with the Northeast Nebraska Economic Development office explained what types of projects qualify for grant funding through her office and noted that Tuesday's public hearing was a requirement from the Nebraska Department of Economic Development to determine if these projects met the original expecta-

The amendments to the guidelines have been approved by the Nebraska Department of Economic Development and will allow for the use of the remaining grant funds to create affordable housing in the Western Ridge II Subdivision.

Resolution 2017-16 will allow property owners to receive up to $500 in incentive money for certain additions to their homes. such as attic insulation or electric heat pumps once a year on the same property. The advantage to the city is a payback in summer peak electric load reduction and energy efficiency.

After discussion on the costs of the various parts of the agreement, the council voted to amend the contract with JEO Consulting Group for the First Street project under the Downtown Revitalization Project.

The street project was originally in the city's one and six year street improvement plan, but was removed after a public hearing in February due to the fact that the sanitary sewer was found to be sound.

The council will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, March 23 at 7 p.m. in the Wayne City Auditorium for the purpose of discussing the proposed trail underpass on Highway 35 west of Greenwood Cemetery.

Remembering 30 years of fun, annual Chicken Show is July 9-11

Organizers are busy planning for the 30th annual Wayne Chicken Show, scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 9, 10

As the date approaches, periodic information will be published on memorable events in the show's history and several designs from past year's t-shirts featured. Anyone with antedotes from a specific Chicken Show or Chicken Show event is encouraged to contact the Wayne Herald for possible inclusion in a future article.

Members of the Chicken Show Taskforce are currently meeting the second Monday of each month at 5:30 p.m. in the South Meeting Room of the City Auditorium.

Editor's note — The following information was supplied by Jane O'Leary, one of the original founders of the Wayne Chicken Show.

Everyone in town has heard the short version of why we have a Chicken Show, but I thought maybe the detailed (and true) version might be interesting.

By 1981 the Wayne Regional Arts Council had held many functions in its three year existence, including classes in art, landscaping, photography, guitar, small concerts of regional performers, Spring Arts Festivals, photography and local art shows. At our January meeting, we discussed the possibility of using a theme to get more local people involved in the art process and displays.

A couple of us had attended a State Arts Council meeting and had heard about the arts council of Scottsbluff holding a "beet" show, in which everything was constructed of beets. We discussed what kind of theme we could have in Wayne. Of course, the first idea presented was a pig show, but at the time, the Muppet's Miss Piggy was a pop culture icon and we though there would be too much Miss Piggy and not enough originality.

Several other types were suggested, the most prominent of which was corn. Gail Korn fidgeted a little and I could tell that that would not be her preference. Suddenly, she said, "I've got it! A Chicken Show.'

We started talking about it and the possibilities seemed endless. We could have some games and perhaps even some "chicken" music. The minutes of the meeting in February indicate that it was $80 for a chicken art show. Pearl Hansen thought that we might design and sell some silk-screened t-shirts and promised to look into

At the March meeting we came up with some games — a chicken flying contest, a chicken song contest, a chicken hat show, a decorated egg contest and a chicken race, all of which could be held outside the auditorium while the art show was going on inside. Although only four months away, we thought that perhaps the second Saturday in July would be a time in which most rain showers occurred only in the evening — as usually happens on the Fourth.

I sent some press releases about our chicken art show to local media and included the Omaha and Sioux City newspapers, radio and television stations. Someone somewhere forwarded the press release to the Associated Press, and within a week, my phone was ringing, usually from radio stations wanting interviews. A lady from Delaware heard of our show and decided to come. A man from Los Angeles, who claimed he was a "chicken artist" asked to show his photogra-

At our April meeting, we realized announced that we could budget we had to at least provide a chicken show that would meet the expectations of our press so we added a parade. We thought a chicken clucking contest would be fun, and KTCH radio agreed to hold a "preshow, on-air screening of contestants" as a promotion for us. Pat Gross called and offered to go with us to ask Dan Gardner to help with an omelet feed in the morning and the result was that we would not only have a feed, but the Nebraska Poultry Industry would supply the people to cook for the first time. We were able to find a silk-screen company who would let up "pay as we sold" printed shirts. Local screen printers were limited to one color prints, so we took bids from out of town. The first year we sold

Conserving water will save energy, money

As a necessary component of life, water is undeniably a precious resource. As a primarily agricultural-based state, water is especially important to the quality of life in Nebraska, and all Nebraskans have a responsibility to use it

Whether heating it for domestic use or moving it to irrigate crops or water lawns, using water takes energy. Generally, these are three places you can conserve water, use energy efficiently, and save money in the process: At home, in the yard and in the field.

At Home

Many opportunities to conserve water and energy (and save money) exist in the average home in Nebraska, especially if you require warm or hot water. Any water savings is beneficial, and after a look at the following data, a pair of water- and energy-saving devices will clearly benefit the home: low-flow showerheads and a high-efficiency clothes washer.

Clothes washing - conventional washer, 33 gallons; Clothes washing - front loading, 15 gal-

Automatic dishwashing - 12 gallons; Hand dishwashing, four gallons.

Conventional shower head -2.5 gallons per minute; Low flow shower head - 2.0 gallons per minute or less; Bathing – 20 gallons.

Preparing food – five gallons.

In the Yard Overwatering lawns accounts for the waste of millions of gallons each year in Nebraska. Make sure water is applied efficiently to your lawn. Don't allow your automatic sprinkler system, if applicable, to operate immediately before, after or during rain. Be sure to water your lawn early in the morning before evaporation from the midday sun and increased wind makes your efforts to get water to your thirsty lawn less efficient.

In the field Technological advances in agriculture in the last decade or so have taken great steps forward in water and energy conservation.

It's a proven fact: Center pivot irrigation systems with low-pressure sprinklers lose less water to evaporation while precisely irrigating crops than out-dated high-pressure systems lose. Another advance – center pivots with drop sprinkler heads – only need to apply about half as much water as traditional gravity-flow irrigation systems to sufficiently irrigate crops.

For more information on steps you can take to conserve water and improve your energy efficiency, contact your local public power utility. More energy efficiency information is also available at www.nppd.com.

Support immediate in Red Cross' infancy

Each year, the president of the United States proclaims March "Red Cross Month." The American Red Cross uses this opportunity to promote its services to the American public and for fund raising. How did this tradition come about?

For the first quarter century of its existence, the Red Cross held no regular fund-raising drive. Since Clara Barton created the organization in 1881, it was largely dependent for publicity and funds on the spontaneous support of people who learned of catastrophic events and the Red Cross response to them. News of an event broke, the American Red Cross rushed to the scene with help and people around the country came forth with out-

This rather haphazard manner of operating changed abruptly in 1917 when the United States entered World War I. After declaring war, President Wilson ordered the American Red Cross to raise funds to support its aid to the military and civilians affected by war as Congress had mandated the Red Cross to do. In response, the Red Cross held its first national War Fund drive in June 1917 and set as its goal at $100 million, an astoundingly large sum at the

Under the circumstances, however, the public response was immediate and overwhelming. Within a few days, more than $115 million was raised. Then in December 1917, the Red Cross held its first Christmas Roll Call." People were asked to give a minimum of $1 to join the organization's membership rolls. This drive also proved highly successful, as did an additional War Fund drive and another Roll Call in 1918, the last year of the

decided to make the Roll Call an annual membership and fund-raising drive. In addition, it conducted special appeals from time to time in response to major disasters, such as the Dust Bowl drought of the early 1930s and periodic flooding on the Mississippi and Ohio rivers.

In November 1941, with a war in Europe, the Red Cross conducted a highly successful 25th Annual Roll Call. A few days later the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor and the United States entered World War II. As it had done in the previous World War, the Red Cross responded immediately by declaring a War Fund campaign. By June 1942, it had raised more than $66 million.

Rather than go back to the public pourings of volunteer assistance with a third appeal in one year, the Roll Call. Instead, after discussion with President Roosevelt, the honorary chairman of the Red Cross, the whole month of March 1943 was declared "Red Cross Month." The American Red Cross (ARC) set a goal of $125 million, the largest amount ever requested in one campaign by any American organization. Again, the response was overwhelming. It took less than six weeks to reach the target and by June 1943 donations totaled nearly $146 million. Roosevelt called it "The greatest single crusade of mercy in all of history." This success caused the Red Cross to repeat the March drive during the remaining years of the war and then to make it the occasion of its annual membership and fund-raising efforts ever since. (As a historical footnote, the last radio speech President Roosevelt gave, a few days before his death, was in support of the 1945 Red Cross

As part of the tradition, the current president customarily issues a proclamation each year declaring March as Red Cross Month.

Collegiate Challenge is an alternative spring break trip that offers students ages 16 or older the chance to work with Habitat host affiliate sites throughout the U.S. The students work for one week with the local Habitat group, community members and families to help decrease poverty housing in that region.

This trip was made possible through one of the Service-Learning grants at Wayne State College which are a part of a grant from the Midwest Consortium for Service-Learning in Higher Education (MCSLHE) made possible through the Corporation for National Service under the Learn and Serve America: Higher Education grant program. WSC presidential funds for civic engagement helped cover transportation costs. The WSC chapter also raised money from soup and spaghetti suppers to fund the trip.

The WSC students were: Shawn Vinson of Norfolk, Sarah Thomsen of Wahoo; Laura Hansen of Osmond, Melissa Bauer of Wood River, Lisa Rech of Bee, Jenna Meyer of Pender, and Jessica Wimmer of Norfolk. Hansen served as the Team Leader.

"I thought this was a perfect opportunity to give back to a community on my spring break," Bauer

Monday through Friday, the students worked with Habitat for Humanity of Saline County to help with construction on a house. The WSC crew helped put up oriented strand board (OSB) sheeting, completed application of vapor barrier, installed roof trusses and decking, laid tar paper and various other tasks on the job site, including framing duties.

Saline County Habitat for Humanity is located in Benton, Ark., about 33 miles from the capital city of Little Rock. Since it began in 2000, the Saline County chapter has decreased substandard housing and homelessness by providing 37 homes to families in the area. The chapter is working on Partnership Village, a subdivision for Habitat for Humanity homes. Saline County Habitat for Humanity looks to have 65 homes in the development.

The WSC campus chapter holds various activities on campus including the Cardboard City demonstration to bring awareness about homelessness, the Trick or Change fundraiser, community soup suppers and spaghetti feeds, volunteer opportunities at Norfolk Rescue Mission and house builds with the city chapter

Sen. Fulton to speak on CIR in Wayne on Friday Nebraska Senator Tony Fulton (District 29) islation intended to increase the transparency will be in Wayne on Friday, March 19 at 12:30 p.m. in the back room of the Max to talk about the legislative package for reforming the Commission of Industrial Relations.

Fulton will speak for approximately 10-15 but wouldn't venture a guess as to minutes and then take questions. The public is Fulton recently introduced a legislative package to reform the Commission of Industrial Relations (CIR) before the Business and Labor Committee, chaired by Senator Steve Lathrop.

"Over the course of my service in the Legislature, I have continued to introduce legand efficiency of government. That is why I have introduced a CIR reform package," Senator Fulton said. "Nebraskans need to know an unelected unit of government has a significant say on the expenditure of our tax dollars."

The CIR largely determines the wages and benefits for public employees whenever labor negotiations result in an impasse. The CIR operates in a judicial fashion, yet state law does not require a standard of reason be applied to decisions made by the Commission.

This has resulted in irresponsible comparisons of city employee salaries in Lincoln to salaries in Minneapolis, a metro area 10 times larger then Lincoln.

"Nebraska taxpayers will benefit from a CIR that can use reason in making its decision and take into account the taxpayers' ability to pay particularly in a time when families, small businesses and local governments are tightening their belts all across Nebraska." Senator

"Every Nebraskan is affected by the decisions made by the CIR," Fulton said, "especially in these tough times, the people should at least be assured that the CIR can act reasonably and made the fairest comparisons possible."

Nephew tabs Ohio State to win NCAA

This week is what they call March Madness, when the 65 best teams in NCAA Div. I men's basketball compete for a shot at the national championship (are the dolts running college football watching this? No? I thought not...).

Every year, productivity in offices across the country grinds to a complete halt as workers use valuable time and company resources to get some real work done – like filling out their brackets for their company-wide contests (all perfectly legal, of course, since no money is changing hands...at least, as far as vou know).

A number of years ago, I thought I would show everybody my prowess by publishing my picks and having somebody try to out-guess me on the tournament. I had my wife pick against me, and while I used logic and data from past games and tournament history to set up a North Carolina vs. Connecticut final, she picked Duke to beat Arkansas because her brother's nickname was Duke and she had family in Arkansas.

Of course, everybody figured I was going to prevail in this little family contest – at least until three of my final four teams, including Carolina and UConn, were upset in a 90minute span in the second round. The championship game that year? Yep...Duke and Arkansas.

Three months later, we divorced. This year, I have decided to invite a family member who knows a little about college basketball. In fact, he probably knows more about sports than The Bleacher Bum...and he's only 8 years old.

presentable, articulate young pitchman for his daddy's store (his face also adorns the Canham Maytag ads you see in the Herald and the Morning Shopper).

John is a wise young cuss when it comes to sports. At age 3, he could tell you who drove each car on the NASCAR circuit, going strictly from the number. He could also tell you the driver's main sponsor, crew chief, color scheme and, if you pressed him hard enough, his rightside tire changer.

He's a Husker football nut already (growing up in a family of Husker fans, this shouldn't be a surprise) and doesn't miss a weekend without going to a basketball or football game. His friends go home to watch cartoons...he turns the TV to SportsCenter. He's destined for a career in sports, either as a golf pro or, at worst, a sports writer with a prodigious beer belly (like his Uncle

From The Bleachers Improbable 10-minute cold spell dooms Wildcats' NCAA tourney hopes DURANGO, Colo. - Even three days after his team's first-round exit in the NCAA Div. II Central Regional, Wayne State women's coach Chris Kielsmeier still had trouble coming up with the words to explain his team's 59-48 loss to Colorado State-Pueblo.

"Even three days later, I'm still in shock. It's not what any of us expected," Kielsmeier said of a game in which Wayne State went more than 10 minutes without a basket and wound up on the wrong end of a 22-0 run that saw the Thunderwolves storm back in a battle of the tournament champions from the Northern Sun and Rocky Mountain conferences.

Wayne State held a 44-35 lead with 10:37 left after Mara Hjelle made one of two free throws. That would be the last points Wayne State would score for the next 10 minutes, as the Thunderwolves shut down the Wildcats and turned that nine-point deficit into a 57-44 advantage. By the time Hjelle ended the rally with two baskets in the final minute, it was too little. too late for the Wildcats.

And it left their second-year coach trying to process an unlikely end to his team's 15-game winning streak and 26-5 season.

"I'm a firm believer that when you're trying to build a program to an elite status, it's a process and sometimes you're going to go through some hard growing pains," he said. "This was an example of the process, where an inexperienced team in the NCAA tournament showed up, played poorly and got beat, and now we have to deal with

The Wildcats weren't dominant in the first half, but rode the scoring of Hielle and Ashley Arlen to a 27-18 halftime lead. Still, even with a nine-point advantage at intermission, Kielsmeier sensed that his team wasn't playing at a level it was capable of playing.

If you've seen the Canham (the first half), and maybe this but our defense hurt us as bad as Maytag commercials on TV, you goes back to the last month of the our offense did. When you give up know my nephew, John, as a cute, season," he said. "We played our best ball at the end of January and early February, and we came close to coming back to that point, but at no time did we sustain that level for a long period of time. We're capable of playing at that level, and why we did not find that level again is probably the thing that will haunt me most about how the season

> Wayne State trailed early after Kendall Babler hit a 3-pointer for the Thunderwolves, and were down 10-9 before going on a 6-0 run to take a 15-10 lead, highlighted by three straight baskets by Arlen.

The Thunderwolves closed to within 23-18 on a Babler 3-pointer Wayne State seemed to take the momentum into halftime with a pair of late baskets by Hjelle and Arlen to lead by nine at the break.

Hjelle opened the second half with a layup to give Wayne State its biggest lead of the game, and Kati Jo Christensen matched an Amanda Bartlett 3-pointer with a trey of her own to make it 32-21 with 16:15 to go, and the Thunderwolves could not get closer than seven points through the midway mark of the second half Hjelle hit one of two free throws with 10:37 left to make it 44-35, but the Wildcats missed their next 11 shots and committed three turnovers, allowing the Thunderwolves to mount their comeback.

Hjelle finally ended the 22-0 run with a basket with :35 to go, then hit another basket after a missed free throw to pull Wayne State within nine points before Katrina Selsor closed out the game with a pair of late free throws.

The Wildcats were 21-of-53 from the floor, but the bulk of those shots came from Hjelle and Arlen, who combined to shoot 18-of-38. The numbers showed that the team was unable to find somebody to step up and help out down the stretch, Kielsmeier said.

"It wasn't a lack of effort, but it just didn't work for whatever reason," he said. "Nobody stepped up down the stretch. The whole game was nothing like what any of us have become accustomed to with this team."

More frustrating, Kielsmeier said, was the defensive breakdown in the second half that helped the Thunderwolves score more than half of its 41 points in the final 10 minutes.

"I've been coaching this defense for 10 years, and I don't think there's been anything close to a 22-0 run stuck on us," he said. "You "I think we were just surviving can talk about the lack of offense, 22 straight points, your defense isn't doing something right, either. It was a very disappointing day."

> And while the day brought a sudden and disappointing end to a 26-5 campaign, Kielsmeier said that a lot of good things came about during the course of the season that the team can reflect on.

> "We won conference for the second time in school history and made the NCAA tournament for the third time in history, so in some ways this team did make a big jump," he said. "We were 15-13 last year and lost in the first round of conference. so this team showed that it can be a

Nation's top rugby teams set to invade 'House of Pain'

By MICHAEL CARNES

Of The Herald

The scrums will be aplenty as one of the nation's largest rugby tournaments is set to descend on

A total of 72 teams from 17 states and Canada will compete in women's and men's divisions in the March Madness Rugby Invitational rugby football March 27-28 in

The 72-team tournament at the "House of Pain" will feature "no helmets, no pads and no mercy," according to tournament director and Wayne State rugby coach Darrin Barner.

The tournament is a great barometer for how teams will do on the national stage, Barner said.

"This is the ninth year of the tournament, and six times, the winner of this tournament has gone on to win the national championship," he said. "The top teams play each other in the opening week of the season to measure what they've done in the offseason."

Wayne State Rugby is a nonvarsity club sport affiliated with the college's Student Activities Board. This is one of the largest rugby tournaments in the United States, serving as a kickoff event for the 2010 spring rugby season for many college and city teams.

The Wayne State club rugby program will host one of the nation's biggest rugby tournaments next week, with 72 teams expected to compete in men's and women's action.

Included in those is defending men's championship team from Aberdeen, S.D. They will be competing in the City Division, one of four divisions that will be included in this year's tournament.

While a regulation rugby match consists of two 40-minute halves, teams will play one 40-minute game in this tournament, with semifinal and championship matches lasting 60 minutes.

"It's tough, because by the end of the tournament some of these teams are playing their fourth or fifth game, so the depth of your roster really matters," he said. "Some of these guys are tired and beat up by the end of it."

Some of the top college programs in the country will be in town, including men's teams from Nebraska, Iowa, Oklahoma State, Pacific (California), Iowa State and Northwestern, as well as women's programs from Minnesota and Colorado State. City teams from Aberdeen and Kansas City

SPRING SPORTS PREVIEWS

Wayne has 12 qualifiers

The Wayne High track teams both have a good mix of returning state qualifiers that should help the team improve this spring.

Coach Dale Hochstein has a total of 12 returning state qualifiers back from last year, including seven on the girls side with the recent addition of West Point-Beemer transfer Ellie Ehrsman.

Senior Carly Fehringer set the school record in the shot put last year and earned a trip to state, and she will lead a solid group of girls for the Blue Devils. Classmate Jordan Alexander has run in Omaha, as have sophomores Taylor Burke, Kristin Carroll, Marissa Fallesen, Megan Stalling and Caitlin Fehringer. Ehrsman, a junior, qualified for state in the hurdles last year and will give Wayne some added depth in those races.

On the boys' side, senior long jumper Darnell Collins will look to add to his school record of last year. A two-event qualifier (also in the triple jump), Collins will be joined by fellow senior two-event qualifier Marcus Baier, who represented Wayne in the 400- and 800-meter

Senior Cory Foote is also back for the Blue Devils in the 1,600-meter run, as is Quentin Jorgensen, who qualified in both distance runs. Sophomore state qualifiers Sawyer Jager and Luke Trenhaile are also back in the lineup.

"As a team last year, our guys finished third in the district and we're looking to move up from there," Hochstein said. "The girls finished sixth in the district, and overall we return 13 of our 14 state qualifiers from last year."

Jeffries leads WHS golf

Third-year golf coach Dave Hix will have a returning state medalist and three members of last year's district championship back in the fold for the Wayne High linksters this spring.

Senior Collin Jeffries was the B-3 District and Mid-State Conference medalist last year and finished sixth in the state and will lead a talented team on the links in 2010. varsity roster.

He will be joined by Trent Beza and Collin Preston, both of whom were members of a team that won the district title and placed seventh in the state last spring.

Also returning this year as a letterwinner is Taylor Martin, a senior who should give the Blue Devils some added depth on the

Baseball team stumbles on road The Wayne State baseball team has battled through a rough stretch recently, and they'll open NSIC action this weekend with hopes of ending a five-game losing streak. The Wildcats had a rough outing during their spring break trip to Evansville, Ind., March 6-8. The Wildcats lost two games to Wisconsin-Parkside (10-7, 6-1) and dropped a pair to Southern Indiana (12-1, 4-3).

In the first game against Parkside, Wayne State tried to rally from a 7-0 deficit and got within 7-4 after Justin Beranaek's two-run triple highlighted a four-run sixth inning. Nick Bidroski hit a threerun homer in the seventh to get back to within three runs at 10-7, but could not get any closer after

In the second game, Parkside scored four runs in the third to take command of the game, touching starter Tom Doran for seven hits and five runs in just over five innings. Wayne State's only run came in the fourth when Treye Hacker was hit by a pitch and later scored on a Taylor Welk sacrifice fly.

Against Southern Indiana, the hosts pounded out 14 hits and scored seven runs in the second inning to post the easy win in the first game. Beranek and Tadd Johansen each went 2-for-4 in a losing effort for the Wildcats.

In the second game, Wayne State led 3-1 before the hosts scored three in the bottom of the eighth to come back and pick up the win. Wayne State had a two-out, three-run rally in the sixth inning, highlighted by an RBI single by John Plasha and a two-run single by Beranek. Bidroski was 2-for-4 with a double and an RBI to highlight Wayne State's seven-hit effort.

On Tuesday, the Wildcats' woes continued as 18th-ranked Emporia State avenged an earlier loss to the Wildcats with a 4-2 win at Emporia,

Wayne State trailed 2-0 before tying the game in the fourth on Plasha's two-run double down the left field line, scoring Beranek and Emporia State broke the tie with single runs in the fifth and seventh innings, limiting the Wildcats to six hits for the game. Bidroski was 2for-4 and Brandon Polk was 2-for-

A weekend doubleheader with Upper Iowa in Topeka, Kan., was cancelled. The Wildcats open NSIC play this weekend at Bemidji State, with doubleheaders scheduled for Saturday and Sunday beginning at 12 p.m. both days.

Wayne State will host Washburn in a 12 p.m. home matchup Wednesday, and host Minnesota Duluth in an NSIC doubleheader March 27-28.

Softballers go 9-1 on spring trip

It was a good spring break for the Wayne State softball team, as the Wildcats went 9-1 on a week-long journey to Clermont, Fla.

Wayne State's only loss during the 10-game, five day swing was a 3-1 loss to Bentley University, and coach Krista Unger was happy with how things went for her

The Wildcats got some good performances at the plate, with Jennifer Radley batting .346 with seven RBI's, Amy Sandstrom hitting at a .344 clip with a pair of triples, and Sam Earleywine hitting .333 with six

On the mound, Katie Gutsinger had a solid week, going 5-1 with an 0.52 earned-run average and 55 strikeouts. Amber Baird also pitched well, going 3-0 and striking out 19 for the week.

On Saturday, March 6, the Wildcats opened with a pair of wins, beating ninth-ranked Kutztown 4-1 and edging Assumption 3-2.

Earleywine broke a 1-1 tie with an RBI double in the ninth inning, and Radley followed with a two-run homer in the Wildcats' upset of Kutztown. Goetzinger went the distance and struck out 11 while allowing two hits and one walk.

Against Assumption, Wayne State broke a scoreless tie with three runs in the fifth, highlighted by a threerun homer by Earleywine. Baird picked up the win in relief and preserved the win after Assumption had pulled to within a single run late in the game.

The following day, Wayne State lost to Bentley 3-1, but came back to beat St. Joseph's 7-2.

Wayne State scored its only run of the game on Blaire Kuhl's RBI double to left in the fifth, scoring Sandstrom. That pulled them to within a run at 2-1, but Bentley picked up an insurance run in the sixth Sophomore Brittany Greenwood was 2-for-4 with three RBI's in the win over St. Joseph's. Her two-run single in the third helped stake the Wildcats to a 3-0 lead and they never looked back from there.

On Monday, the Wildcats spun a no-hitter in a 2-0 win over Millersville, then followed with an 8-2 win over Post of Connecticut.

Baird and Goetzinger combined on the no-hitter against Millersville, and Sandstrom went 2-for-3 to become the school's all-time hits leader. Baird worked the first four innings, striking out six, while Goetzinger cleaned up the final three innings to post Wayne State's third no-hitter in the last two years. Sandstrom's two hits gave her 202 hits for her career, bettering the mark set by Sarah Herrick from 1999-2002.

Against Post University, Radley went 3-for-3 and helped fuel a five-run fourth inning to give the Wildcats the easy win. Michele Hogan picked up the win, allowing four hits while striking out five.

After a day off, the Wildcats got back on the winning track with a 3-0 win over American International and a 1-0 win over Belmont Abbey on Wednesday.

Radley hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning and Goetzinger struck out 10 and allowed one hit in the win over American International.

In the nightcap, Sandstrom tripled with one out in the bottom of the seventh and came home on a single by Hannah Engelkamp to score the game's only run. Wayne State closed out the week with a pair of wins.

shutting out Merrimack 4-0 and beating West Chester In the Merrimack game, Goetzinger struck out 10 batters and was 2-for-3 at the plate. She allowed one hit and three walks in five innings of work.

Against West Chester, the Wildcats came back from a 3-0 first-inning deficit to get the win. Brittany Greenwood's triple was the only hit in a four-run second inning for the Wildcats, who got an insurance run in the seventh when Blaire Kuhl singled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Greenwood.

Unger said she's hopeful the team can get on the field next week when they host Nebraska-Omaha in a $2~\mathrm{p.m}$ doubleheader on Wednesday. They are scheduled to play at Nebraska-Kearney on Tuesday.

With Christensen the only senior graduating, a lot of excitement will be swirling around the program, and Kielsmeier hopes the team can learn from the experience of a frustrating first-round loss.

"Because we had the success this year, they're going to be a year old next year, but this year doesn't guarantee a thing," he said. "It's not going to happen because we had a great year this year. We've got to go to work and really define our game and define what the program is about. If our players do that, look out, because they showed us how far you can come in a year."

Kielsmeier also said the NCAA tournament should only be the

Bates falls one match short of team's first All-American at NCWA nationals

HAMPTON, Va. - The Wayne State club wrestling team was one win from having an All-American at the National Wrestling Coaches Association tournament.

Matt Bates, a 197-pounder from Columbus, reached the quarterfinals and was one win away from All-American status before losing two close matches to fall out of the tournament.

Bates picked up a major decision and a pin in his first two matches before losing a close 6-3 match to Richard Rippy of Central Florida. Dropping down to the consolations, Bates came up on the short end of a 7-4 decision to Arjan Gill of Douglas College to bow out of the tournament.

Matthew Peter (149) and Tahner Thiem (184) both went 1-2 in their respective brackets. Peter, a freshman, got a pin in the opening round before losing twice, while Thiem overcame a first-round loss to pick up a win in consolations before ending his tournament with a 5-2 decision.

Laurel native Jonathaon Mullen went 0-2 in the heavyweight division in his first college national tournament, while Cory Devine, a wildcard selection at 174 pounds, also went 0-2 in the tournament.

As a team, the Wayne State squad finished tied for 25th in the Div. II team race with 7.5 points. Former NCAA Div. III program MIT won the Div. II team race with 64.5 points. Central Florida claimed the Div. I crown with 128 points.

DeLong, Schantz lead Laurel tracksters

Laurel-Concord's track teams should be a contender for topten status once again in Class C this year, as the Lady Bears look to defend their state title from last spring while the boys hope to improve on a sixth-place finish.

The Laurel-Concord girls will be led by Colorado State recruit Bethany DeLong, who will defend three state titles from last year after winning the long jump and 200-meter dash while running on the winning 400-meter relay team.

Two of DeLong's relay teammates, Ashley Lunz and Katie Jacobsen. are also back from last year and looking to improve on their own personal medal count. Jacobsen was the runner-up in the 1,600meter run and both she and Lunz ran on the 3,200-meter relay with Erika Hochstein.

"We return a very solid nucleus from last year's state championship team," girls coach Nate Sims said. "We need to stay healthy and continually work to improve each and every meet."

Amy Pritchard, a state qualifier in the triple jump, is among a group of returning letterwinners that should also help the team, including Kayla Wiese, Chelsey Wolfgram, Jade Cunningham, Audrey Kastrup and Mandy Nelson.

On the boys' side, the Bears will be led by senior Ezra Schantz, the defending champion in the shot put and a silver medalist in the discus last year. He is one of three Laurel-Concord boys with state medal experience, along with senior Johnny Saunders (400 relay, 1,600 relay) and sophomore Mitch Heikes (400-meter relay).

"We have kids that have competed at the state level, and bring that experience to each meet," coach Terry Beair said. "I expect the boys to compete very hard and do well this year.'

One of the team's challenges will be to bring along a group of talented, if inexperienced, athletes

"We are quite a bit younger this year, and it will take some time to get into rhythm and form needed to qualify for state, but I think the team will adjust quickly," Beair

Allen boys look to defend district title

The Allen track teams will have several talented athletes competing this spring, and should have some athletes who can compete among the best teams in the area.

The Allen boys have five returning state performers back from a team that has won three district titles in the last four years.

Keith Jorgensen qualified in the 800-meter run and the 1,600- and 3,200-meter relays last year and will be back this spring. Also back are fellow seniors Jacob Woodward. a member of the 1,600 and 3,200 relays; Heath Roeber, who ran in all three relays including the 400-meter relay; Cody Stewart, a qualifier in the long jump, triple jump and 400 relay; and A.J. Williams, who will run again in the 400 and 1,600 relays and compete in the sprints.

Also back are fellow seniors Cody

Logue in the relays, Jarret Warner in the shot put, Charlie Reynolds in the distance runs and Tyler Surber in the sprints.

Junior Kurtis Eisenhauer will score in the weight events for the Eagles, along with classmates D.J. Kennelly (distance), Dylan Mahler (distance), Austin Roeber (hurdles) and Eric Oswald. Sophomores include Kyle Finnegan (3,200), Caylyn Cayou, Derek Torres, Charles Brahmstedt, Coty Reuter, Danielle Schneider (triple jump) and Justin Lorimor. Freshman on and Olivia Schnieders (3,200). A back from last year and will be the team include Brandon Sullivan, Silva, Israel Demadrid, Jon Bausch and Billy Eisenhauer.

"We're very optimistic about the talent of our squad," boys coach Dave Uldrich said. "We have the potential to do very well in meets, and ultimately we want to make a strong district and state showing.

We should be strong in middle and long distances, as well as the jumps, and we could sneak up on people in the sprints.

"The team looks as strong as ever, and if we can keep injuries and illness away we could enjoy a great season."

On the girls' side, coach Denise Hingst has several girls who should score well for the Lady Eagles, including Mariah McCoy (shot put), class will also help out.

"It's exciting to see the leadership we have in the younger classes," Hingst said. "We need people that are willing to work hard and make a difference on the track."

Bodlak, Lunz lead Wakefield track teams

Wakefield's track team has some outstanding talent returning this year, led by a senior who is looking for his fourth gold medal at state.

Tyler Bodlak won the 3,200-meter run and was the silver medalist in the 800-meter run last year, and will be looking for a fourth gold medal this year after earning state championship medals as part of the 3,200-meter relay team his freshman and sophomore years.

Bodlak has won six medals at state in three years, including a runner-up finish in the 1,600-meter run and a fourth-place finish in the 3,200 as a sophomore.

Bodlak leads a boys team that should have some good talent that includes three-time letterwinner Clay Chad and two-time letterwinner Tim Campton, both seniors. Two-time letterwinning juniors Hugo Ortiz and Michal Bodlak are back, as are returning letterwinners Brock Soderberg, Dusty Sherer and Michael Eaton.

On the girls' side, junior Keri Lunz has won medals in each of her two previous trips to state, taking fifth in the 100-meter dash last year and earning an eighth-place finish as part of the 3,200-meter relay as a freshman.

Lunz, who also qualified in the 400, will be joined by senior Libby Henschke, a three-year letterwinner who should be a consistent scorer for the Trojans.

Other letterwinners who are back for the Wakefield girls are sophomores Mercedes Greve, Katie Weinrich, Amanda Wyninegar and Vicky Sanchez.

Athletes who are expected to step up this year include senior Chris Matias on the boys' side and freshmen Abby Schultz, Shelby Lierman and Syndy Rose on the girls' team, according to coach Michael Hassler.

Four return for L-C golfers

Four starters are back for the Laurel-Concord boys golf this spring, as the Bears look to make some noise on area golf courses in experienced team for third-year coach Brian Kaiser.

Seniors Kyle Koester, Derek Colwell and Jason Miller and

Among the players to watch for the Bears this spring include brothers Billy and Sean Leapley. Billy, a junior, and Sean, a sophomore, should be in the mix to be a part of junior Mike Olesen will lead an the Bears varsity this spring.

Buskirk just short of All-American status, three Wildcats compete at indoor nationals

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. - Wayne State's Casey Buskirk just missed out on being an All-American at last weekend's NCAA Div. II National Indoor Track and Field Championships.

Buskirk, a junior from Spring field,reached the finals in the weight throw Friday and posted a mark of 57 feet, 10 1/4 inches on her final throw of the day. That mark was eclipsed by Rebecca Stier of Winona State, who bumped Buskirk out of the eighth-place spot and took the final All-American spot in the King finished 11th in the 400-meter dash with a time of 56.24 seconds in the preliminaries. A run of 55.75 seconds was needed to qualify for the finals. Freshman Savannah Wakeley tied for 12th in the high jump, clearing 5 feet, 3 inches.

Roberts, Cold & Snow Got You Down? Koch lead Start Thinking About Winside on SPRING & GOLF! track team

The Winside track and field teams have a good mix of experience with four total state qualifiers back in the fold for this spring.

On the boys' side, three qualifiers are back for the Wildcats, led by Zach Brokaw. Brokaw placed fourth in the 1,600-meter run last year and will look to improve on that performance in 2010.

Also back with state qualifying experience are seniors Nathan Janke, who will handle the weights, and Kalin Koch, who was on last year's 400-meter relay team and will look to anchor the team this spring.

Anthony Nelson is expected to show some good signs for the Wildcats, as he will likely be a quality finisher in the sprints and relays this spring.

On the girls' side, Jordyn Roberts was a state qualifier last year in the triple jump, and has also qualified previously in the 100-meter hurdles. She'll lead a young, but experienced team for the Wildcat girls.

Senior Erin Gray should be a solid competitor for the Wildcats in the triple jump and long jump, as will sophomore Jarae Doffin, who should also compete in some running events. Cassie Mrsny and Alishia Weinrich look to be solid contributors in the sprints for the Wildcats.

Trojan golf team has two returning

Two starters are back for the Wakefield boys golf team this spring, as the Trojans look to make their mark on area links.

Senior Scott Wageman and sophomore Anthony Munson are good freshman and sophomore called upon to lead a young varsity team Freshmen Owen Salmon and Devin Anderson, and seniors Wyatt Jacbosen and Brady Miner round out a team that will be short on depth, but should show some competitive efforts on the fairways for seventhyear coach Kevin Roberts.

The Trojans are scheduled to host a triangular on Tuesday, March 29, to open their spring season.

Numbness in the foot

Weakness of the knee or foot

Difficulty walking

Sciatica is defined as pain that radiates from the lower back into the buttocks and down the back of one or both legs, caused by the irritation of the sciatic nerves. If the vertebrae or bones in the lower back are misaligned or out of place they can put pressure on the nearby nerves. This can cause tremendous pain and normal daily activities become almost impossible. Chiropractic care works on correcting misaligned or out of place vertebrae and can remove the pressure placed on the sciatic nerve, reducing pain and improving flexibility and function.

Loberg dedicated to helping others of Nebraska at Lincoln majoring in Family and Consumer Science Education, has dedicated much of her past two years away from home to helping others.

She came up with the idea for a program that encourages children to learn to cook; her dream was to lead kids' cooking lessons for profit as a career. After she moved to Lincoln, she was inspired to try and start her plan early. After forming an outline of the program, she went to each elementary school and promoted her plan. She then followed through with those schools in making a constitution and logic model to set the goals for the program.

After a failed start in the Fall of 2009, she has now started a nonprofit after school program that teaches cooking and baking skills to students in grades 1-3 in lowincome elementary schools. The Caring Kitchen teaches 25-30 students per week and she has filed 501(c)3 tax exemption so that the program can grow and apply for grants to be self-sufficient.

"Currently the program depends on the schools' community learning programs to pay for the supplies I can't buy myself," Loberg said.

Many weeks are themed, such as an insect unit where students made Special K mix and formed it into anthills, using raisins for ants. They've also done a Ratatouille lesson, making tortilla snails (escargot) and rat pizzas. There are added challenges to the program because, although the school has an oven, they're still raising the money for the electrical hook-up so the program only has access to a microwave.

"Needless to say, although interesting to make, microwave cake doesn't taste as good as when it is baked in the oven!" Megan said.

Many students are from different cultural backgrounds, providing assorted challenges, from language differences to some religious beliefs where followers do eat pork, and as always, allergies.

"I have learned so much about the different ways that kids learn and what they want from an instructor - I am so thankful to take part in this opportunity and that my volunteers get real classroom experience with kids. Many of them are special-education majors and this is a good experience for a challenging career." Loberg said.

Megan is the daughter of Dan and Kris Loberg from Carroll and the granddaughter of John and Marilyn Anderson of Wayne.

In Lincoln she is also involved in the Big Brother/Big Sister program, teaches youth programs about agriculture, is VP Membership Development for her sorority, Alpha Chi Omega, and works part time at both the Nebraska State Capitol and at an agriculture commodities brokerage. In her spare time she is working on a study that is researching the challenges facing students and teachers in schools with large Native American populations, to be completed in May.

Thanks to federal funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, eligible Nebraska women between 40 and 64 can benefit from WISEWOMAN (Well-Integrated Screening and Evaluation for Women Across the Nation) services as a fully integrated part of the EWM program.

"Without this program, I would probably go most of my life without the medical attention I need," said a program participant.

The EWM Program has reached more than 70,000 women since it began screening for breast and cervical cancer in 1991. As one of the first 12 programs to receive WISEWOMAN funding in 2001, Nebraska has since helped over 19,000 women receive screening and education to help reduce their risk of heart disease, stroke and diabetes under the WISEWOMAN a healthy life, but some may not have access to screening services and education.

WISEWOMAN closes that gap for many women who wouldn't otherwise be able to make health a priority. Services are aimed at lowincome, uninsured or underinsured women ages 40 to 64. Special efforts are made to reach populations of women at higher risk for cardiovascular disease – African American. Hispanic and Native American.

Helping women live healthier lives means more than just putting their minds at ease when it comes to breast or cervical cancer. With the WISEWOMAN Program, it can mean putting their hearts at ease too. For more information visit www.dhhs.ne.gov/womenshealth/

Financing offered for

may be the time! Many people who never thought they could own a home may now have an opportunity through the USDA direct loan profying applicants in rural communities. The Direct homeownership loan program provides for a long term fixed interest rate, which is currently 4.875 percent. Mortgage payments are adjusted according to household income: therefore the effective interest rate paid by the homeowner may be further reduced through interest rate subsidy to qualified applicants.

Housing Specialist Teresa Olander, in the Norfolk Area office said that applicants may actually be able to pay a total monthly house payment, including taxes and insurance, for less than what they are currently paying for rent.

As a result of increased funding through the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, USDA Rural Development has more than $24 million available in Nebraska to homeownership through the direct $11 million through this loan program to rural Nebraska households for home purchases.

Individuals or families must be within income guidelines that are established by county. For example, USDA Rural Development offers a four person household in many home loans with no down payment counties in Nebraska cannot exceed and low interest rates for quali- $42,950; however, some counties may have higher income limits. Properties eligible for Rural Development financing must be located in rural communities, which are those communities with a population of 20,000 or less; but include Columbus and Norfolk. You can visit the Agency eligibility website at http://eligibility.sc.egov.usda.gov to determine if you are within the established income limit based on the size of household and county and if the property is located within an eligible area.

Maximum mortgage limits apply for home purchases from $145,000 - $170,000 in Nebraska, depending on the county. Potential home buyers must have a stable source of income, meet repayment guidelines and have an acceptable credit history. Although there is no minimum credit score, applicants with help families achieve the dream of a 640 credit score or higher receive streamlined credit reviews.

Police did its job on party

On behalf of the Wayne County Coalition, I want to extend our support and appreciation to the Wayne Police Department for doing its job to enforce the underage drinking laws. Despite the recent controversy surrounding an underage drinking party, where a number of youth were cited for underage drinking, one thing is undisputed - consuming alcohol before the age of 21 is illegal.

While we respect the rights of individuals to discuss this incident publicly, we thought it's important that the facts be clear and accurate surrounding the effectiveness of the 21 Minimum Legal Drinking Age Law enacted by President Ronald Reagan over 25 years ago.

The evidence remains strong the law unequivocally saves lives. The number of young people killed annually in crashes involving drunk drivers under 21 has been cut in half: from more that 5,000 young people killed in the early 1980's to less than 2,000 in 2005.

More recently, brain development research has further supported the 21 law, indicating a young person's brain is still developing well into his or her mid 20s, particularly the frontal lobe. It is this area that houses judgment, impulse control and decision making - all vitally important for adulthood.

Knowing these facts, we believe the current law can withstand the challenge; however, statistics can only do so much to garner support for the law. To truly address underage drinking in a community, it's critical that adults, particularly those who work with young people and students regularly, support the law through their actions and

If we as adults don't send a clear and consistent no-use message to those under 21, then the efforts of so many who work to protect young people from preventable tragedies - which we've all been touched by will be undermined.

Debate sure to come in Legislature

By ED HOWARD

Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - Debate flambe could be on the Legislature's menu.

Flambe usually refers to pouring brandy, or something, into a very hot pan in which something is being cooked, resulting in a burst of flame.

Lawmakers will soon debate proposals for use in their collective recipe to continue reducing state spending here and there - but not everywhere. Think of the legislative chamber as that hot skillet. Think of proposals for budget reductions, and some proposed spending adjustments, as the alcohol.

Some flaming results are virtually assured.

It isn't true that too many cooks are bound to spoil a broth, or a budget. But put 49 of them to the task of writing a budget, and there are bound to be some disagreements cooks and lawmakers can be temperamental types.

Budget deliberations will likely center on a hard-won compromise reached by the Appropriations Committee. It calls for a 2 percent across-the-board reduction for most state agency spending plans. Remember: Such a reduction has to be seen in the light of the 5 percent budget cuts ordered by lawmakers during a special session last November.

Safe from pending reductions, as well as the November cuts: the State Patrol, institutions caring for the mentally disabled and, for the most part, the Department of Health and Human Services. Meanwhile, Chancellor Harvey Perlman is recommending $3.5 million in cuts from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln budget. That proposal goes to the NU Board of Regents. Additional, substantial cuts are in the works for the NU Kearney campus and at the NU Medical Center in Omaha.

Note: Fiscal matters are already problematic. Now, look down the road to the next two-vear budget cycle. Revenue shortfalls could be as much as $700 million.

Prenatal Care As A Pro-Life Issue

Julie Schmit-Albin, head of Nebraska Right to Life, said support for the prenatal care measure will be looked at when the group considers candidate endorsements this year. And the state's Catholic bishops are among its supporters.

Republican Gov. Dave Heineman opposes the bill, although he has previously been in step with Nebraska Right to Life as a determined opponent of abortion. Heineman has acknowledged his respect for the bishops' position, but says he will not support taxpayersupported services for illegal immigrants. And that's that.

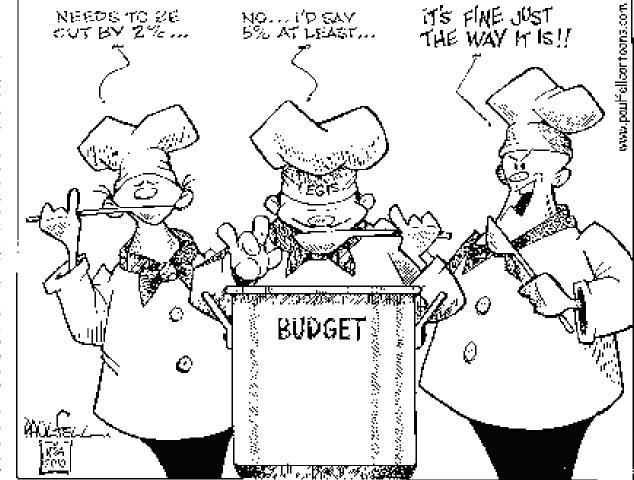

How does it break down politically for Heineman and Democratic challenger Mark Lakers? Would supporting the bill draw the ire of those vehemently opposed to illegal which says its mailing list includes some 65,000 households identified as pro-life, makes it a central issue in deciding its endorsement for the November general election? Your Legislative Update

Greetings from the Unicameral! Last week was a busy one for the Legislature, and with late nights scheduled to begin in the end of March, vigorous floor debate will be the norm for the rest of the ses-

One bill that was debated on the floor last week, and which received significant attention from area hunters and landowners, was Sen. Scott Lautenbaugh's LB836. Designed to address the growing deer population in eastern Nebraska, the original bill as drafted would have radically changed the existing permit structure and seasons for deer hunting, and allowed the use of spotlights when hunting deer.

Natural The Resources Committee, working closely with the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, advanced LB836 to the full Legislature with a committee amendment that replaced the bill's original provisions. The amended version of the bill, which was advanced to Select File, would instead authorize the Game and Parks Commission to extend existing deer hunting seasons and use revenue from depredation season permits to address property damage caused by deer.

Another bill which generated significant discussion was LB1014, a bill that would help increase teacher salaries in Nebraska by taking advantage of an impending "windfall" expected by the Board of Educational Lands and Funds, which owns land throughout the state and distributes rental income from that land to school districts throughout the state.

Earlier this session, the Legislature passed LB235, which authorized the Board of Educational Lands and Funds to enter into lease agreements for wind or solar energy production on these "school lands". Under the provisions of LB1014, income as a result of any wind and solar leases would still be distributed to all school districts, but would be earmarked to allow school districts to provide performance-based pay for teachers in addition to the existing salary structure.

Nebraska currently ranks 42nd in the nation in average salary for teachers, so any effort to increase teacher salaries will help keep our best teachers in the state. I was proud to sign on as a co-sponsor to LB1014, and look forward to continuing debate on working to increase teacher pay in Nebraska. Feel free to call my office at (402) 471-2716, send me an e-mail at bgiese@leg.ne.gov, or stop by in person any time you're in Lincoln.

will of the people who elect them as our "representatives."

I'm not saying that this nation doesn't need health care reform. Reform is needed desperately to fix the many problems we have, particularly with insurance issues (ask me sometime about the two years I spent without health insurance while dealing with a bad back). However, it is pretty obvious to me - and any other human being whose way of thinking isn't muddied by the partisan lock-step lunacy served up by those on the Loony Left and the Righteous Right - that the government takeover of the healthcare industry by the sham of a government we currently have "representing" us is the last thing this nation needs. And let's be honest - right now, health care shouldn't be the first item on the agenda for these bureaucratic boobs in Washington. I don't know if you've been paying attention or not, but we've got an unemployment crisis going on in this country. One in 10 Americans is out of work right now. People are scrambling to stay afloat financially. Health care is important, but health care doesn't put food on the table, clothes on the kids' backs and a roof over their heads. There are people in this area, in this state and in this country who need a job much worse than they need a government-mismanaged health care plan. Even the dimmest bulb in the chandelier can see this. Why 535 otherwise-intelligent men and women in Washington, D.C.

Sixteen months ago, the nation wanted a change from the eight years of misguided leadership under George W. Bush. Bush bumbled through the bulk of his second term (although I think we can all be thankful it was Bush, and not Al Gore, who was in charge on Sept. 11, 2001) and ultimately left America in much worse shape than it was when he took over.

As bad as things were in the final days of the Bush regime, though, things are getting worse under the "leadership" displayed by King Obama and his henchmen running Congress.

And as bad as the Democrats are screwing things up right now, it won't get any better if the Republicans regain control of one house, or both houses, of Congress this November. "representatives" Congress need to be listening to the will of the people, not whatever special interests they happen to be selling their votes to. They are there to represent the wishes of those who elected them to office, and yet the fact that more Americans want something other than the Obama health care boondoggle seems to be an idea they can't grasp.

They just don't get it, do they?

maybe it's a friend under the weather... a great report card ... or just because just sending a card can be the biggest little thing you can do

You might not be as thirsty as you were, but you still need water. Water helps with metabolism and digestion. It is important to get about eight glasses a day, although it can come in the form of soup, fruits and vegetables, coffee and tea. You should stay away from too much caffeine since, because it is a diuretic, your system will dispose of the water more quickly.

So what does a person do about all these changes? You try to make the food taste better. Doubling the amount of extract helps with flavor. Try adding chopped onion or seasoning and spices. You may not have tried something like cumin before, but it may add some zest. Adding shredded cheese not only adds color and flavor, it also increases your sauces will not only add flavor, they will also help meat become more tender.

To improve nutrition, prepare meals and eat them at regular times. Remember, you can't eat as much as you used to, so pay attention to portions sizes. For variety, take only 2 - 3 bites of one food and then switch to different food. Make sure your meals are colorful, adding at least one fruit and one vegetable to each meal.

Sometimes as we age, we lose family members. It is hard to eat by yourself. If this is the case, take a friend or family member out to lunch. Then, since the meals are often very large, save the leftovers for another meal. Invite a group of friends over once a week, then, each person brings a dish and you can enjoy good food and fellowship. The Senior Center has a lot of activities and will also supply you with a delicious meal. Get out of the house and take a walk. This will not only improve your appetite, it will help you sleep better.

Aging is something everyone deals with. By being creative, we can make our meals enjoyable and fulfilling.

For the Master to perform in Wisner

The toe-tapping sounds of Gospel years. melodies will soon fill the air at Christ Lutheran Church in Wisner. An afternoon concert featuring the popular Gospel quartet, For the Master, is planned for Sunday, March 28. The concert is free with the public invited to attend. The concert will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Pie and ice cream will be served at a homemade ice cream social following the concert, also with the public invited.

For the Master is a men's quartet performing a medley of Southern and Contemporary Gospel tunes in four-part harmony. Vocalists include eunuch first tenor Cliff Struble of Hornick, Iowa, second tenor and lead Eric Smith, baritone Bob Dyer and bass Ken Dahl, all of Wayne. They have been blending their voices in song for the past 10

Whether it's the slow and choppy sounds backing "I'm Just a Sinner Saved by Grace," the joyous, rhythmic "When We all Get Together," or an a crapella version of the "Star Spangled Banner," their programs are a harmony of old favorites and new, soon-to-become favorites. They typically begin with upbeat refrains such as "Soon and Very Soon" and "This Little Light of Mine." During the second half of their concert they slow down the tempo and close with selections like "Greatest Lie ever Told," "At the Cross-Section," and "Sinner Saved by Misdirection."

Christ Lutheran is located at 57 Fourth Street in Wisview.

Good Reasons Why Pays To Shop Locally

Your local merchants usually have the same merchandise as their big city counterparts, but maintain a lower overhead. These savings get passed on to you in the form of lower prices.

Gas, tolls and parking, may make that out-oftown bargain more than you bargained for.

Shopping locally makes returns and exchanges easier.

You'll save time and avoid large crowds.

Every dollar you spend in your hometown goes back into your local economy to help fund schools, roads, and other services where YOU live — not in some other town.

Husker women's basketball worth watching

If it's the fifteenth, I guess it's "the Ides of March", a time to watch out for if you are Julius Caesar. I'm just looking for sunshine! They keep talking about it, and then talk about snow towards the end of the week. Go figure!

We have been Connie Yori fans since she was coaching at Creighton. When we moved closer to Omaha, and had a daughter who attended there, we began paying attention to the Bluejays. And we were impressed by the girls' basketball coach, and were really pleased when she went to NU.

We don't feel we are among the bunch of folks who have come lately to NU women's basketball; we remember the success that Angela Beck had in the 80s. Typically, we only make it to one game a year, but watch as many as possible on television. We even saved the flap from our popcorn box last year that said we could get five people in to Devaney to watch a game by presenting it.

This year, they did not need the flaps from the popcorn boxes. And we did not get to one game, as it was usually cold and often slick. But we have certainly enjoyed the

So, bring on the Big Dance; let's get to the Final Four, and we wish them all good luck.

We were disappointed with their loss in the Big 12 tournament: and we watched the Norfolk boys lose in the championship round that evening. But hey, that's life. It makes us realize why we would rather stay home and watch sports than go to movies.

We had a review of The Hurt Locker by a commander in Iraq by e-mail tonight; he says it is full of inaccuracies. I say, That's Hollywood. I'm always disappointed when they make a medical movie, too. We'll stick with real life, win or lose. On to the NCAA basketball tournament, and the NIT, and even the CIC, or whatever that is. (And it's softball and baseball time, too!)
