Opinions expressed on proposed underpass

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

Those in opposition and those in favor of the proposed underpass on west Highway 35 in Wayne were on hand for a town hall meeting on March 23.

Approximately 50 people attended the meeting at the Wayne City Auditorium to express their feelings on the underpass which would allow pedestrian and bike traffic to move to and from the Western Ridge II subdivision to areas on the south side of the highway.

Mayor Lois Shelton presented a history of the project, indicating that approximately six years ago the city began looking at ways of bringing families with children to the community to increase school enrollment and thereby increasing funding to the schools.

She noted that with the development of the Western Ridge II subdivision, just west of Greenwood Cemetery, there was a concern about getting children across Highway 35 in that area.

Mayor Shelton explained the location of the underpass and said it would be eight feet high and 12 feet wide.

Funding for the underpass and sidewalk to connect the underpass to the trail would include a $380,000 grant from the state, $150,000 in Tax Increment Financing (TIF) from the Western Ridge II project and $35,000 from street department funds.

A number of those in the audience expressed their opinions on the subject.

Verdel Lutt said "lots of children have to cross the highway at various locations in Wayne, so why are we concentrating on this one area. We need to use common sense and look at the cost of the tunnel."

Joe Blankenau spoke in favor of the underpass, noting he has been walking his children to school for several years and Highway 35 is a "busy highway. The underpass is not just for the subdivision, but for those using the trail. It would affect the flow of traffic in the area."

He also noted that the city of Laurel has an underpass and those discussing it have been very positive.

Dennis Carroll said there is a trail crossing on the east side of Wayne where the speed limit is 45 mph. and people have been crossing the highway with no problems.

Lonnie Matthes said that the underpass would not be available all year long, as it could be difficult to keep it open during winter snowstorms and it would be difficult to keep clean.

Garry Poutre, Wayne Public Works Superintendent, said the city would make the underpass a priority and haul the snow out if necessary.

Stacy Craft told those in attendance she felt "the only kids using the underpass would be those in Western Ridge. No one is going to walk there to cross the highway. We need to look at safety issues in other areas of town."

City Administrator Lowell Johnson said that all three of the city's schools as well as the Community Activity Center are located in the same area and the city has to think about how to handle the traffic in this area.

Mark Lenihan, superintendent of Wayne Public Schools, told those in the audience that over 4,000 vehicles drive past the school each day and he was concerned about those drivers who are not familiar with the traffic flow in the area. He also noted that a traffic guard system was a possibility for the district. In addition, the underpass would serve as more than just a crossing for school children.

Don Endicott said that in the community of Schuyler, a lower speed limit is posted at the school crossing and there are crossing guards to assist children crossing the highway. He said he is in favor of moving the crossing to the west where visibility would be better.

"The city needs to be financially responsible. This (the underpass) is not something we need at this time," Endicott said.

Mayor Lois Shelton (left) explained to those at Tuesday's Town Hall meeting that the proposed underpass would be the size of the blue line behind her. At right is City Clerk Betty McGuire.

Council member Kaki Ley said she feels parents need to be more responsible and help their children cross the highway safely.

"The city of Omaha is getting rid of their tunnels because they are not safe. I don't think we need to spend this much money," she said.

Wes Blecke said he was in favor of the underpass as a "great addition to the trail system and a great opportunity to use grant money. There is a history of a growth pattern in that area. Having a trail system is a huge benefit to the community."

If the underpass is not built, an at-grade crossing will be used at the same location.

Members of the audience asked city officials if they could obtain information on how several other Nebraska communities handle the crossing of highways, whether or not a flashing light could be installed at the location and whether the speed limit could be reduced along that area of the highway.

A determination on whether or not to proceed with the underpass could be made at the Tuesday, April 6 council meeting if the necessary information from the other communities and the Nebraska Department of Roads is obtained by that time.

Winside students face more time in school

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Winside students who thought they were getting a break that other area students weren't getting with extended time in school are now in the same boat.

At a special meeting Thursday, the Winside Board of Education opted to not only extend the school day by 15 minutes beginning this week, but added two days to the end of the school year.

Board president Paul Roberts said the move was made to make sure the district meets the minimum number of hours of instruction that is required by the state.

"We were right at (the number), and we wanted to make sure we had enough in case there are some storms on the horizon that we don't know about," he said.

The district had already added days that were originally scheduled to be off days, such as the Friday during the state wrestling tournament. The district has also scheduled school for the Monday after Easter and the Friday before the high school prom, and the last day of classes has been moved from Wednesday, May 19 to Friday, May 21.

Northeast board ratifies agreement

The Northeast Community College Board of Governors ratified a settlement agreement Thursday that should bring to an end controversy amongst the state's six community colleges over funding issues.

The Board action acknowledged an important agreement drafted last month in Nebraska City during a special gathering of community college leaders and key members of the Nebraska Legislature.

The agreement stipulates that Omaha-based Metropolitan Community College will drop its $10.8 million lawsuit against the other five Nebraska community colleges (Central, Mid-Plains, Northeast, Southeast, and Western) and rejoin the Nebraska Community College Association, making it possible for all six community colleges to once again set at the same table and engage in state-wide discussions.

In exchange, the other five community colleges will collectively pay Metro $1.8 million on a pro rata basis over the next two years. Northeast's share of that is $322,082.

This agreement keys off of the successful passage of the recently-amended LB1072, introduced by the chairman of the Legislature's Education Committee, Senator Greg Adams. His bill is designed to address the immediate community college funding

What is going on at the Wayne Airport?

By Nancy L. Braden, Treasurer for the Airport Authority, Finance Director

The Wayne Airport Authority has a long range plan called an Airport Layout Plan approved by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

They are required to keep the airport in good condition for aviation. One of the plans the authority has been work on is to do major repairs to the cross wind runway in this next year. When they started planning for the project they discovered there were major cracks that had developed across the north south runway too.

Based on recommendations from the engineers, the Nebraska Department of Aeronautics (NDA) and the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) the Wayne Airport Authority began planning for major improvements to all the paved areas at the airport. The runways will be replaced with concrete.

The North South runway will have concrete placed on top of the existing asphalt and the cross wind runway will be totally tore out and replaced with concrete. For anyone interested in what exactly will be replaced, the plans are in the Finance Director's office at City Hall.

On March 23 the Wayne Airport Authority opened bids for improvements for the airport runways, taxi ways and apron areas. The bids came in 32 percent below the engineers estimates.

The total cost of the improvements will be:

- $3,647,417 - construction;
 - $754,537 - engineering and testing;
 - $4,401,954 - grand total
- How will this be financed?
- $4,181,856 (95%) - grant from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA);
 - $50,000 - grant from the Nebraska Department of Aeronautics (NDA) and;
 - $170,097 - from local funds.

Wright's journey to South America

Last summer, Wayne High graduate Trevor Wright set out on a bike trip through South America.

The son of Gary and Peggy Wright of Wayne has since provided several accounts of his travels. This is the latest of those updates.

- Have you met any memorable people along the way?

I've met so many good people along the way that it'd be impossible to tell all the stories here.

Here are some of the more memorable ones: I stayed with a German couple who biked South America with their dog, milked a Colombian man's dairy cows, drank with a Greek who now lives in Texas, went on vacation with a special American girl, was adopted by an Ecuadorian family for a month, camped in the jungle with Spaniards, cycled two months with a French man who sailed across the Atlantic, cooked my mom's lasagna for a Peruvian family who in turn shared their family recipes, was nursed back to health by an Australian completing a PhD on indigenous folk dance, ate cheese with a woman who swore she met Jesus, hitchhiked with French guy who speaks six languages, sang around campfires with Chilean pre-med students, and spent my birthday with a Chilean girl who speaks English like an American thanks to an international school she attended growing up.

- Has anyone offered to join you on the trip?

I've met over 20 long-distance cyclists in South America, but many of them were heading north while I was going south. In Quito, Ecuador I met a French cyclist with whom I traveled for two months. In Peru he decided to return to France, taking the long way home by biking through Spain. Later, in Santiago, Chile I met an American who wanted to buy a bike and cycle with me to Brazil. I declined, explaining that practicing Spanish, then later Portuguese in Brazil, was important to me. Inevitably we would have spoken English and lost a great opportunity to improve our language skills.

- Any last words?

Yes. Don't forget you too can travel. I've learned the world is much smaller than we think and people are much kinder than television leads us to believe. When the weather improves, ride a bike. You can get anywhere in Wayne in 15 minutes. If you're interested in long-distance biking, make a day trip to Wakefield or a weekend trip to Ponca State Park. It's great exercise and much more fun than going to the gym.

Updates on Trevor's travels can be found on his blog at www.mebo-bandsurly.wordpress.com.

Members of the Barn Chicks sport Wayne Chicken Show Shirts from previous years. The group will be dancing in Norfolk on April 17 in an attempt to win money for the Wayne Chicken Show.

Wayne Chicken Show will be represented at dancing event

Barn Chicks of Akron, Iowa will be representing the Wayne Chicken Show at "Dancing for Tourism" at the DeVent Center in Norfolk on Saturday, April 17 starting at 1 p.m.

"It will be a day of fun, competition, and dancing. Come to the dance workshop; come to watch the young ones show off their expertise and come to cheer on the dancers from around the area representing different events from northeast Nebraska," said Irene Fletcher, Assistant Director of the Wayne Area Economic Development Office.

The Barn Chicks will be representing the Wayne Chicken Show. This is a group of women who have been friends for a long time and have danced together as a group of chicks for at least the last six years.

"When we fixed up our hayloft for our family and friends for a Halloween party one year, we did dancing and eating and karaoke," Connie Tentinger said. "So we thought we needed to get together once a week to learn dances and just have fun; hence came the name 'Barn Chicks.'

"Even though we have had some come and go, move away, we have always seemed to stick together," she added. "We do demos for our local care center and also with other dancing groups. When we decided to get involved with 'Dancing for Tourism,' we asked the Wayne Chicken Show Committee to sponsor us and we are very happy that they decided to."

Members of the group include Cheryl Tentinger, Mary Swain, Roxanne Larson, Connie Tentinger and Karen Wardrip.

The Barn Chicks will be competing for $400 in prize money for the Wayne Chicken Show. They are encouraging everyone to "please come on out and cheer us on!"

issues within this Legislative session and to place a timeline for other solutions to be found.

Under this bill, the Nebraska Community College Association will be dissolved on June 30, 2011—requiring the six community colleges to come to an agreement on a new statewide association structure with a new set of by-laws prior to that date.

LB1072 also requires that the current community college funding formula sunset on June 30, 2011, and that the six colleges must come together with a recommendation for a new funding formula before the start of the 2011 Legislative session.

The bill also suspends the current formula as it is written and mandates that each community college will receive the same amount of state aid next year as it did for the 2009-2010 academic year.

Because the Metro lawsuit will not be officially dropped until after the governor signs LB1072, the Northeast Community College Board of Governors also passed a resolution at Thursday's meeting to continue and certify Metro's request for a hearing on a temporary injunction in Lancaster County District Court on April 21.

"Once signed in to law, LB1072 will mean good things for Northeast Community College and all community colleges in the state," said Larry Poesnecker, Northeast Board chairperson. "We now go forward in good faith to once and for all put an end to the controversies surrounding funding issues."

Nephew is in good spot with picks

It's spring, where the thoughts of young men turn to the fairer gender.

But enough about Tiger Woods... here's a trip through the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— For those of you wondering about the matchup between myself and my nephew, John Canham, in picking the NCAA Div. I Men's Basketball Tournament, we are tied after the first two rounds, but my 8-year-old nephew is in a good spot right about now.

We both had Kansas going deep in the tournament, but he had him losing to Ohio State in the regional finals, while I had them going to the championship and losing to Kentucky. Their unlikely second-round exit Saturday puts a serious dent in my maximum point total while leaving him relatively unscathed heading into this week's action.

The big game will be Friday when Duke takes on Purdue. He likes the Blue Devils to get to the Final Four, while I'm hanging my hat on the Boilermakers. The winner of that game should have the momentum to win the contest.

You can follow our progress on www.mywaynews.com. Click on the "Blogs" link and go to my blog for the round-by-round update.

— Speaking of Tiger Woods, I watched both interviews that were broadcast on ESPN and The Golf Channel, and I'm hopeful that Woods can repair the life that he wrecked last year.

Many years ago, somebody asked me what the one thing was that could stop Tiger Woods from obliterating all the records in professional golf. "Only one thing," I answered, "a woman."

Turns out, it was 14 women, but the infidelity that has come to light has really knocked the seemingly unbeatable Woods down several pegs. The man interviewed this past weekend was a much more humble version of the one that looked to set many unreachable records in the sport.

Can he still beat Jack Nicklaus' 18 majors? Of course. He's got plenty of youth on his side, and if he gets back to the level of play that made him the most dominant player in the sport, it won't be long before he eclipses that mark.

The one thing I hope to see (and, knowing what I know about this industry, am sure I won't) is that the media let this story go. As far as Woods' personal life goes, there is no need for us to know what goes on in his private life. If he and his wife, Elin, reconcile and are able to salvage their marriage, that would be great for them and their kids. If not, I hope they can come to terms and do what's best for their kids.

Either way, unless he commits a crime of some sort, the interest of the rest of the world needs to be limited to what he does on the golf course. What goes on in his personal life is none of our business, and quite frankly, I'm sick and tired of hearing about Tiger's extramarital bunnings.

— Here's what I don't understand about Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback Ben Roethlisberger: In today's modern world, where everybody has a camera of some sort attached to their cell phone, why in the world would you put yourself in a position where you could be compromised in the way he has recently?

— We'll be running a special section next week, honoring the Wayne State women's basketball team on their run to the NSIC championship and the NCAA regional tournament.

While it was a brutal end to what was a breakout season for this team, I am very excited about the opportunities that await this team next year. With only one senior graduating and a host of talent coming in, this team is going to be scary good next season.

Don't be surprised to see this team playing its regional tournament in Rice Auditorium next year. This team is going to be dynamite.

Area mixed martial arts team set to fight Saturday

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

When they first started out, the cage fighters who would form Team Adrenaline had no place to call home.

Some of the mixed martial arts competitors would sneak into Rice Auditorium on the campus of Wayne State College and roll out some old wrestling mats to try to get a workout in before a college official would find them on the stage and ask them to leave.

Saturday, they'll go at it for real in the middle of the Wayne City Auditorium, as 11 members of the Wayne-based mixed martial arts team will compete as part of the Torment mixed martial arts card of fights.

Most of the 16-man team will be on hand Saturday night, cheering on their teammates and getting into the octagon-shaped cage to do battle in a night of amateur mixed martial arts fights that should draw a loud and exciting crowd, according to one of the team's most accomplished fighters.

Tanner Thiem, an education major from Crete, already owns two amateur league belts and will be fighting for a third Saturday night when he takes on Julio Casillas of Worthington, Iowa for the middleweight title. He is one of two Team Adrenaline fighters who will be battling for titles, as Josh Prokopec is fighting for a light heavyweight title against an as-yet unnamed opponent.

The card will also feature two local fighters, as Wayne natives

Sheldon Onderstal and Jake Mrsny are scheduled to compete in the night's bouts.

Thiem, who is helping to promote Saturday's bouts and has fought in bigger arenas like Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln and the Mid-America Center in Council Bluffs, Iowa, said he fell in love with fighting at Wayne's auditorium during his first bout there last September.

"I've fought in a lot of different arenas, but to be honest, fighting at (the City Auditorium) is my favorite because it's a loud, electric atmosphere," he said. "The people are right on top of you and it's electric, and we're expecting a bigger crowd since we have a couple of local boys fighting."

Thiem got his start in mixed martial arts during his senior year in high school at Crete. He and some fellow wrestlers wanted to try their hand at boxing at a newly-opened club, when the club owner suggested they give mixed martial arts a try.

"The trainer there said we'd be great MMA fighters, and we fought in one of their shows and we loved it," he said. "There were four or five of us in that group, and we're all still fighting and connected with different teams. It's kind of a brotherhood that's spread out."

Team Adrenaline trains in Wakefield, and Thiem said the ability to train has been made possible through the support of several local sponsors, many of whom are helping to sponsor Saturday's night of fights.

"We really appreciate our sponsors," he said. "It's all local people, and we couldn't be doing this without their help. They help us out with rent on the building, equipment like tape and bags and the mats. It really helps us out, because otherwise we're a bunch of poor college kids."

AREA HIGH SCHOOL TRACK TEAMS GET SEASON STARTED — INDOORS — AT WAYNE STATE INDOOR INVITE

Wayne senior Carly Fehring wasted no time establishing herself in the shot put Saturday, as her first throw of the day proved to be the winner.

Seniors lead way as Wayne grabs eight first-place medals

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

While team scores were not kept at the Wayne State College High School Indoor Invitational, Wayne High track coach Dale Hochstein knew his team had fared quite well in their first meet of the spring.

Wayne brought home eight first-place finishes and several high medal placings from Saturday's season opener, and the Blue Devils coach was very happy with how his teams performed.

"We were really pleased with our overall performance," he said. "We had to find out where our kids were at, and I thought we were pretty competitive. We had some young kids surprise and score well, and the kids we thought would pick up some major points did so, so it was a good start."

Two seniors kicked off the spring with some impressive performances.

On the boys' side, Darnell Collins set a meet record with a leap of 22 feet, 8 inches in the long jump, and also won the 55-meter dash in a time of 6.88 seconds. The senior also claimed a third-place finish in the triple jump.

Carly Fehring wasted no time taking charge of the shot put. On her first throw in the preliminaries, the senior heaved the weight to within one-half inch of the 40-foot mark, and easily won the event by almost four full feet.

"It was nice to see those two get started well," Hochstein said. "In past years, we've struggled in field events and had to catch up on the track, so if we can continue to get performances like those and get some team points built up, we can get on the track and really be competitive."

Marcus Baier set a new meet record in the 800-meter run, as his time of 2:08.27 was more than a second faster than the old record of 2:09.75, set by Joel Sullivan of Woodbine, Iowa, in 1998.

Sophomores Marissa Fallesen and Megan Stalling had winning performances Saturday, taking titles in the long jump and 3,200-meter run, respectively. Fallesen won her event by almost 14 inches with a leap of 16 feet, 9 1/2 inches, and Stalling ran a good first race with a time of 13:19.41, crossing the line with about 2.5 seconds to spare.

"Megan ran a really smart race and let those kids that got out to the early lead come back to her, and her kick at the finish was a nice surprise," Hochstein said. "I was hoping Marissa would win the long jump, and going 16-9 is a good way to start the year."

Area teams perform well in spring debuts

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The first meet of the year is always an uncertain one for track coaches, especially coming off a brutal winter that significantly altered the usual preseason preparations.

All four area coaches were pleasantly surprised, then, to see their athletes perform well as teams from Allen, Wakefield and Winside competed in the small-school division of the Wayne State College High School Indoor Invitational Friday afternoon.

Wakefield had the best day of the three area teams, finishing with a combined total of 23 medals, seven of them firsts, in boys and girls action.

"I was pleased with the way our first meet went," Trojans' coach Michael Hassler said. "It was nice for the kids to get an opportunity to compete, because they're tired of pushing each other in practice."

The Trojans fared well on the track, particularly in middle and long distance races.

Senior Tyler Bodlak scorched his own meet record in the 3,200-meter run, knocking more than 13 seconds off his time of last year to win the race in 10:21.94, more than a minute ahead of runner-up Kyle Finnegan of Allen. Bodlak also had no problem taking the 1,600-meter run, coming within 44 hundredths of a second of his meet record of last year.

Wakefield also did well in the girls' distance runs, as Shelby Lierman won the 3,200 and finished second to teammate Abby Schultz in the 1,600.

"Middle distance and distance has been our strength, and I was pleased to have two freshmen girls perform well in their first high school meet," Hassler said. "They're going to make our team a lot stronger, and Tyler is just a really

Wildcats take 3 out of 4 in NSIC opener

BEMIDJI, Minn. – Wayne State College opened Northern Sun Conference baseball play on a positive note, winning three out of four at Bemidji State.

The Wildcats and Beavers opened the weekend Sunday with a split. The Wildcats dominated the first game, outscoring the Beavers 15-2 in seven innings, but Bemidji State earned a split in the second game by scoring six runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to rally for a 7-6 win over the Wildcats.

In the first game, Wayne State used 11 hits and took advantage of 11 walks by Bemidji State pitching to record the easy win.

Nick Bidroski's three-run homer capped a four-run first inning to get the Wildcats off to a quick start. Wayne State scored five in the third inning to take a 9-0 lead, as Tadd Johansen produced an RBI double, along with run-scoring singles from Treye Hacker and Jake Ritzdorf to highlight the big inning.

The second game saw Bemidji State rally for six runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to come from behind.

Wayne State took a 5-1 lead in the sixth, but Bemidji State rallied with six runs in the bottom of the sixth inning off relievers Tadd Johansen and Josh Nelsen, then held off a late rally to get the split.

The Wayne State College baseball team snapped out of a season long slump offensively Monday, belting out 31 hits while scoring 30 runs to sweep Bemidji State, 11-9 and 19-2.

In the opener, Wayne State got a pinch hit two-run double off the bat of Josh Nielsen to scratch out the win. His shot to center scored Hacker and Ritzdorf with the go-ahead runs, and junior Eric Dye pitched six innings of strong relief to earn the win.

In the nightcap, the Wildcats used seven run outbursts in the third and fifth innings to cruise to the doubleheader sweep.

The Wildcats plated four in the first to take the early lead, highlighted by Taylor Welk's two-run single. They scored seven in the third off just three hits, while Wendte's three-run homer was the key hit in the fifth.

Wendte finished 3-for-4 with four RBIs and four runs scored to power Wayne State. Hacker finished 3-for-5 while Welk, Plasha and Derek Eversole each had two hits.

Sophomore starter Tom Doran improved to 2-1 on the season by pitching five innings to get the win, allowing five hits and two runs while striking out three.

Wayne State will be at home this weekend at the Pete Chapman Baseball Complex, hosting Minnesota Duluth in NSIC doubleheaders on Saturday and Sunday starting at 12 p.m.

Sixth-graders take first

Softballers sweep UNK Wayne

The Wayne State softball team showed few signs of an 11-day layoff Tuesday, taking two games from Nebraska-Kearney in Kearney by scores of 5-0 and 14-2.

The first game saw the Wildcats use three home runs and the fourth pitching of Katie Goetzinger and Amber Baird to blank the Lopers.

Amy Sandstrom singled and scored in the first on Sam Earleywine's two-run homer. The Wildcats added three more runs in the fifth as Aeriell Earleywine singled and scored on Hannah Engelkamp's two-run homer, while Blaire Kuhl added a solo blast.

Goetzinger tossed five scoreless innings, allowing three hits with six strikeouts and one walk.

The second game saw Wayne State take control early with a seven-run first inning as the Wildcats scored in every inning to complete the sweep.

The Wildcats banged out eight hits in the first inning to jump on the Lopers early, as Jennifer Radley produced a two-run single while Michele Hogan, Sandstrom and Blaire Kuhl each added RBI singles.

Aeriell Earleywine laced an RBI single in the two-run second and Radley added a solo homer in the third inning to give WSC a 10-0 lead. Blaire Kuhl's three-run homer capped a three-run fourth inning, and Kuhl added an RBI single to close out the scoring.

The Wildcats had a season-high 17 hits in the win, led by Radley going 3-for-3 with a homer, three RBIs and three runs scored.

winning effort in the 55-meter hurdles, edging out Kim Huwaldt of Osmond by six hundredths of a second with a time of 9.49 seconds.

The Blue Devils coach may have had to flip a coin to figure out how to split up the Blue Devils' last win of the day, as teammates Katie Hoskins and Sara Maxson both cleared 4 feet, 8 inches to share the high jump title.

"I think we were really pleased with Katie and Sarah both going 4-8 in the high jump, especially since all we've been able to do in practice so far are arm drills, so it's good to see that in the first meet of the year," Hochstein said.

In all the Wayne teams brought home a total of 20 medals, with each side claiming 10 medals for a top-six finish.

The Wayne teams return to the track Tuesday, March 30, for the Laurel-Concord Relays, which will be held at the Wayne Middle School track.

Thiem has stayed in shape this winter thanks to his winter job as head coach of the West Point Central Catholic high school wrestling team. Coaching a bunch of wrestlers has helped him in his professional pursuit of being a teacher and coach, and it also gives him a good workout every day in practice.

"I get a chance to work out with the kids and do some wrestling and conditioning, and it's a lot of fun coaching them and working out at the same time," he said. "They've been supportive, too. Some of them have shown up at some of my fights and cheered me on, and it's pretty cool to have them there."

Teams and fighters from Omaha, Columbus, Grand Island, Elkhorn, Elmwood, Nebraska City, Sioux Falls, S.D. and Tarkio, Mo., are expected to compete in the event.

Sherer wins national title for Augustana

Augustana's Jay Sherer, the grandson of Larry and Karen Sherer and the late Derald Utecht and Connie Lundahl, all of Wakefield, claimed the 141-pound national championship at the NCAA Div. II Wrestling Championships held recently in Omaha.

Sherer, ranked No. 7 in the nation heading into the meet, upset three of the top four wrestlers in the country to win the title, capping it off with a 3-1 overtime win over third-ranked Mario Morgan of Nebraska-Omaha.

Wrestling on the UNO campus, Sherer won two of his final three matches in overtime while beating the No. 1, No. 4 and No. 3 wrestlers. He got a takedown in the final second of overtime after both he and Morgan posted escapes in a defensive battle for the title.

Sherer, the son of Charles and Carla Sherer of Columbus, was a four-time qualifier, a three-time medalist and a two-time state champion during his high school years at Columbus High School. During his college career, he has been a three-time qualifier and a two-time All-American, including a seventh-place finish in 2009.

Arlen is honorable mention selection

Wayne State's Ashley Arlen was named to the honorable mention list for the NCAA Div. II State Farm Coaches All-American team.

Arlen led the Wildcats in scoring and helped them to a 26-5 record, an NSIC tournament championship and a trip to the NCAA Div. II tournament.

Wayne hoopsters get All-Conference

Seven Wayne High basketball players earned nominations from conference coaches as the Mid-State Conference announced its All-Conference teams.

Katie Hoskins and Jacob Zeiss were both named to their respective All-Conference teams. Honorable mention selections went to Caitlin Fehringer and Shannon Jarvi on the girls' list, while Derek Poutre, Jordan Barry and Gage Rethwisch were tabbed on the boys' honorable mention list.

Six Bears get All-NENAC nods

Three girls and three boys from Laurel-Concord were named by conference coaches on the NENAC's All-Conference basketball teams.

On the girls' side, Bethany DeLong and Mandy Nelson were named to the All-Conference team, while Jade Cunningham earned an honorable mention selection.

On the boys' list, Ezra Schantz was named to the All-Conference squad while Johnny Saunders and Travis Nelson were honorable-mention selections.

Eighth boys

1-2 at Kearney

The Wayne eighth-grade club boys basketball team posted a 1-2 finish at the Kearney Blowout tournament.

Luke Rethwisch had 13 points and Jared Anderson added eight in a 43-34 loss to Northwest Kansas. Also scoring were Austin Keiser with eight, Payton Janke with three and Trevor Pecena and Matt Schrunk with two each.

Wayne's lone win was a 51-39 decision over Gering. Rethwisch had 16 points, Jalen Barry added 13, Keiser put in seven and Schrunk and Kaje Maly each scored five. Pecena put in three and Anderson and Janke each had a free throw.

In the final game, Wayne lost to D-T, 41-36. Barry had 20, Rethwisch 10 and Schrunk, Keiser and Jacob Lutt had two apiece.

 hard worker and everything he's achieved is owed to his drive to be the best. He's a kid that has another gear, one you don't see too often."

Other first-place medal winners for the Trojans included the 3,200-meter girls relay of Schultz, Lierman, Keri Lunz and Katie Weinrich, Hugo Ortiz in the boys 400-meter dash and Chad Clay in the 200-meter dash.

Allen fared well on the day with four first-place finishes on the boys' side and a combined total of 14 medals.

Cody Stewart was impressive in the high jump, winning the event with a school-record leap of 6 feet, 4 inches, while Keith Jorgensen set a meet record in the 800-meter run and ran legs on the winning 4-by-800 and 4-by-400 relays. He was joined on the first relay by Dylan Mahler, Jacob Woodward and Cody Logue and teamed up with Stewart, Logue and A.J. Williams on the final relay of the day.

"The boys did a nice job today," coach Dave Uldrich said. "Keith and Cody had record performances, and there were several kids who didn't place that had some good starts to their seasons, also. It will be fun to watch everyone improve as the season goes on."

The Lady Eagles didn't come away with any first-place efforts, but did finish with three medalists on the day and drew praise from coach Denise Hingst.

"We had a couple of girls who were hurt, which forced us to put some people in events they weren't used to being in," she said. "We had some girls step in and do a good job for us in those areas, and I was really pleased with how we performed."

Vanessa Klug and Olivia Schnieders both earned individual medals for the Allen girls, with Schnieders running her personal best in the 3,200-meter run.

"Olivia ran one of her best times in the two-mile, and to do that at the beginning of the year is great to see," Hingst said.

Winside finished the day with nine total medals and had a pair of champions on the day.

"Considering it being the first meet and an indoor meet, I thought we didn't do too bad," coach Mark

Tonniges said of the Wildcats' efforts. "We had some nice jumps from our girls in the triple jump, and I was happy with all our throwers. We're a young team, and I'm excited for the girls, and we have some boys that are going to create some excitement."

Senior Nathan Janke brought home the lone win of the day for Winside in the shot put, winning with a toss of 44 feet, 7 3/4 inches.

"Nathan is ahead of schedule, and I was really happy with his throwing," Tonniges said.

Jerae Doffin led a 1-2 finish for the Winside girls in the triple jump, easily winning the event with a leap of 33 feet, 8 1/2 inches. Teammate Jordyn Roberts finished second with a 32-foot effort.

Wakefield and Allen will travel to Wayne Tuesday for the Laurel-Concord Relays, while the Winside tracksters will head south to compete in the Stanton Invitational on the same day.

Health care a responsibility, not a 'right'

Time for a few thoughts and observations, now that spring is here:

— A lot of dumb things have been said during the course of this controversial debate over health care reform, but the most hilarious, mind-altering pieces of idiocy came from the mouth of House Speaker Nancy Pelosi when she said that Americans have a “right” to health insurance.

When I heard this, I spit a mouthful of water all the way across my living room. After cleaning up the mess, I went and checked the U.S. Constitution to see which amendment covered health insurance.

Let's see...there's the right to free speech, bear arms, abolishment of slavery...but no right to health insurance.

Before my arrival in Wayne, I had spent three of the previous five years living without health insurance. And not once, during that time, did I feel my rights were being violated. In fact, I had not even thought, for one minute, that it was anybody's responsibility but my own as to whether or not I had health insurance.

Health insurance, despite the blabberings of the dingbat Speaker of the House, is a personal responsibility for every American citizen, and is in no way tied to any rights we have (or used to have, if this current administration is left in power much longer). It isn't up to the federal government to make sure I am insured...that is MY decision and MY responsibility, and is one I take seriously.

There are many reasons why this health care “reform” is going to hurt this nation more than it will help (and while I have space this week to go over every detail, there are more interesting issues to discuss). Suffice to say, though, that our “rights” as Americans are going to take a hit with this reform that was shoved through Congress against the will of the American people (up to 67 percent opposed, depending on which poll you're looking at). Your right to determine whether or not you need, or can afford, health insurance is about to be taken away from you.

And who is going to win in the end? It won't be the uninsured or the underinsured...it will be the insurance and drug companies that are going to cash in big. They will continue to jack up costs, and the government will subsidize left and right with money that we don't have (by the time you finish this sentence, the federal debt will have gone up several hundred thousand dollars more, adding to the TRILLIONS we're already in the red).

If there's a silver lining to this cloud, it's in the fact that Nebraska's three House representatives all voted against this $940 billion boondoggle. My guess is they should take a good look at those working the other side of the political aisle, because those faces will very likely be changing come November.

— A lot is being said about the Tea Party that is trying to reform government, but for as independent as I am and looking forward to the day when we can exterminate Democrats and Republicans from Washington, I'm not too excited about getting on board with this movement.

It seems to me that there are too many Republicans who are trying to jump on this bandwagon under the guise of running Democrats out of Washington, and those who support the Tea Party movement seem all too willing to allow people like Sarah Palin and other Republicans to do their speaking for them.

Make no mistake, though...the problem in Washington is not exclusively that of the left-wing lunatics running the Democrat party. It's a universal problem that includes the Republicans, who—lest we forget—got our nation started on this downward trend during the second term of the Bush regime.

Handing over the Tea Party to Republicans looking to distance themselves from the organization they sold their soul to is a little like handing the keys to the asylum over to the inmates. Those looking for a new political voice to replace the greed-infested brothels known as the two dominant political parties in this nation need to pay close attention to a third party that could very well turn into a wolf in sheep's attire.

— Those who know me have learned not to discuss “reality TV” shows with me. The Idiot Box (or the TV, for those of you still catching up on my pet phrases) has no shortage of programming that fits the lowest common denominator of intelligence, and “reality” shows are about as low as it gets for IQ-melting programming.

Monday night, though, I actually broke down and recorded the season opener to “Dancing With The Stars” and actually watched the first 30 minutes of the program.

One thing I don't understand is why they dig up somebody from the over-70 crowd to compete in this. This season, it's former astronaut Buzz Aldrin, who just celebrated his 80th birthday. Recently, they had actress Cloris Leachman, who will turn 84 later this year.

Maybe they could get Harry Morgan out of the Old Actors' Home and have him compete. After all, he is “only” 94...

— Speaking of birthdays, a happy belated birthday to my sister, Jenni Canham, who hit the big Four-Oh last week; and to my mother, Judy King, who hit the big Four-Oh a long time ago...but still acts like she's 39. Love ya' both...

Capitol View Prenatal care is a touchy subject

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN—Sen. Kathy Campbell spared some of her colleagues the need for what could have been an unpleasant political choice in this election year.

Campbell is chief sponsor of a bill that would have provided alternative government funding to continue providing prenatal care for approximately 1,500 poor women, about 800 of whom are in the country illegally.

It's a two-pronged political issue, as noted here previously. One centers on the argument that prenatal care should be part of a pro-life philosophy. The other involves the argument that government ought not provide such services for illegal aliens, or undocumented workers or — whatever nomenclature one might choose. The latter is the position, by the way, taken by the federal government. The feds told Nebraska last year to stop using Medicare money to pay for prenatal care for “illegals.”

Thirteen state senators face opponents in the coming election. Having to cast a vote that some would regard as being soft on illegal immigration, or one that others would see as being less than true-blue, pro-life, isn't a fun thing. Especially for a bill that, even if passed, couldn't muster the votes to override a virtually guaranteed gubernatorial veto. A lot of people could get political bloody noses in a debate that might accomplish nothing more than — a debate. And even for politicians who aren't facing elections this year, the record of votes on such issues stick around like glue.

Campbell withdrew the bill from legislative consideration recently. There was no shortage of lawmakers who acknowledged that her decision was a political blessing.

The state's Catholic bishops want the services restored, as does the very politically active, pro-life Nebraskans for Life organization.

Legislative Update

Wind energy issues are under discussion

Greetings from the Unicameral! Nebraska's potential for the generation of wind energy has been one of the major topics in Lincoln during my first two years in the Legislature.

According to the most recent reports, Nebraska ranks fourth nationally in wind energy potential, but just 22nd in the actual production of wind-generated electricity. In the final months leading up to this session, the Natural Resources Committee completed their work on LR83, a comprehensive study to examine existing barriers to wind energy in Nebraska and recommend further legislation to promote development.

The result of the LR83 study was the introduction of LB1048, a bill designed to encourage the private development of wind energy in Nebraska while at the same time preserving the benefits of our state's unique public power system.

The bill strengthens protections for private wind farms against the use of eminent domain, establishes a process for private developers to build and pay for transmission lines to export wind power out of state, and protects landowners in the event that wind farms are decommissioned.

Opponents, including Gov. Dave Heineman, agree with the feds — tax dollars generally shouldn't fund services for people in the country illegally, or for their unborn, but-soon-to-be-American citizen children.

If you're interested enough in government to read your local newspaper (thank you), you can easily imagine the sort of tough questions that would have arisen during debate on Campbell's proposal.

“So, you say you're pro-life, and you want the unborn to be born, but you oppose this bill. Are you saying you just don't care whether they come into the world so sickly and malnourished that they might die en route, or that they might require so much medical help when born that the cost will make prenatal care look like a down payment on a pack of chewing gum?”

If that sounds ugly, you can be absolutely certain it is a powder puff compared to what the real debate could have brought out.

How about this:

“Are you saying the federal government is wrong, and that we should subvert the rules and find a backdoor to put other federal dollars into a program that rewards people who are already breaking the law? Do you want to encourage more people to come here illegally, to take advantage of these benefits that are paid for by Americans, and are intended for Americans? And how many millions of dollars, aside from this prenatal care, are you willing to throw around to bail out those lawbreakers who might need all kinds of other services?”

Unpleasant, isn't it?

Sen. Jeremy Nordquist of Omaha, a supporter of the bill, summed it up: “It's an election issue, 100 percent. Without senators' concerns about their political future, we could have gotten this done.”

Without the federal ruckus, Nebraska would have spent some $6.9 million in state funds over the next 18 months. A new program envisioned by Campbell and others centered on a separate source of federal dollars and would have reduced the price to an estimated $3.7 million.

The prenatal program, shut off in March, was in place for about 20 years. It could be restored one day — or not.

It, or something like it, is virtually certain to be debated next year. And (or) the year after. But if debates were movies, chances are the discussion would be rated PG at best.

Legislative Update
By: State Senator
Bob Giese, District #17

LB1048 advanced on a 44-0 vote during General File debate, and I look forward to continuing discussion on the benefits that wind power presents for our state.

Earlier this session, the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee heard significant testimony on LB875, a bill I introduced that would have required the Secretary of State to develop a system for online voter registration. While the bill was not advanced to the floor, the ease and potential cost savings of online registration generated significant interest amongst committee members.

In order to continue that discussion, I recently introduced LR409, which directs the committee to study the issue of online voter registration over the interim. Among the issues to be examined as part of the interim study are the technology upgrades needed to develop an online registration system, the potential cost savings at both the state and county level of such a system, and the processes used by other states which have already adopted online registration.

LR409 is being co-sponsored by several other members of the committee, and I look forward to continuing work on this issue over the interim.

As always, I would encourage you to contact me if you have any questions or simply have an opinion on legislation before the Unicameral. Feel free to call my office at (402) 471-2716, send me an e-mail at bgiese@leg.ne.gov, or stop by in person any time you're in Lincoln.

Cub Scouts Kade Jensen, Owen Frideres, Shane O'Donnell and Jonah Brodersen receive their Bear badges and advancing rank. Their adult akela's are behind them.

Cub Scout pack has busy month

Cub Scout Pack 174 has been busy recently learning more about the 12 traits of being a scout.

Character, cooperation and respect are just three of the traits that Cub Master Tami Worner has been focusing on in the pack meetings. Mrs. Worner told the boys her father had only girls and yet he was a District Executive for Boy Scouts because "he was training the future men that his girls would date and perhaps marry." She told the cub scouts, "we, the adult Akelas (ie. adult parent/partner) are about helping you to grow up to be the "good guys." In helping these boys grow to be young men, each boy has an opportunity to try his hand at many different activities.

In the past month, Tiger scouts, Couy Johnson, Christopher Wurdemann, Colton Vovos, Reid Korth and Peyton Riesberg have achieved both the computer belt loop and the computer pin. Many of the Wolves have earned their Chess belt loop as well as their Marbles belt loop including Jon Worner, Zach Schenk, GW Robinson and James Simpson. Aiden Consoli and Kevin Kilty earned their Marble belt loop and Christopher Wurdemann and Trace Naeve earned their Chess belt loop.

Bears den members Jonah Brodersen, Owen Frideres, Aaron Holdorf, Kade Jensen and Shane O'Donnell finished all the requirements for advancement of rank and were presented with their Bear badges. Zach Schenk received special recognition for his achieving his Light of Christ religion pin.

Among all this learning, there is still a lot of time for fun. Scouts learned "Mother Goosey Duck," a new action song about a duck. Scouts also had time to try the race walkers that the Wolves made at the beginning of the year. The race walkers really brought home the importance of the word "cooperation" as two boys tried to walk across the room together on two pieces of board, two feet in length and about the width of a ski. One boy stands in front of the other boy and each boy slides a foot under a strap on each race walker. There was a lot of "LEFT, RIGHT, LEFT, RIGHT" in the midst of a lot of laughter as teams tried to get across the room without losing their balance.

April and May will continue to hold many adventures and celebrations for the members of Pack 174, including their annual BLUE and GOLD Banquet and their spring-time camp out at Izaak Walton Lake north of Wayne.

Any young boy ages 6 - 11 interested in joining cub scouts should contact Tami Worner at 375-4809 for more information.

Know the proper and improper ways to freeze food

Freezing food is a good way to save leftovers and eat them later on, but there are proper and improper ways to freeze.

Foods should be cooled to refrigerator temperature before they are put in the freezer. Pack foods fairly tightly into containers or press out excess air when packing foods into bags. For most foods, allow one-half inch for expansion of the food during freezing when packing into freezer containers.

Foods should be frozen in portion sizes needed for future meals. To hasten thawing, freeze food in a thinner, flattened shape in freezer bags or freezer foil.

Check storage times of specific foods using the Food Marketing Institute's Food Keeper at www.fmi.org/consumer/foodkeeper/brochure.cfm indefinitely, its quality deteriorates the longer it is stored.

Freezer burn occurs when moisture on the surface evaporates. Prevent freezer burn through proper cooling, air removal, moisture-vapor-resistant packaging, a tight seal and an appropriate length of storage.

Freezer burn is evident when the surface of food appears light-colored and dried out. While safe to eat, the quality of the food is lower.

When storing food in the freezer, label each package with the type and amount of contents and the date it was frozen.

If freezing several packages at once, leave a little space between them to allow air to circulate freely and freeze the food faster. The packages can be moved closer together when they are frozen.

Suitable freezer wrapping materials include freezer paper, plastic freezer bags and freezer aluminum foil. Check wrapping labels for specific information on whether the material is designed for freezer use. Freezer-appropriate materials are more likely to keep moisture out and less likely to tear.

When using freezer paper, check directions to make sure it is being used correctly. Unless directed otherwise, the plastic-coated side goes next to the food. The paper can be secured with freezer tape.

Rigid freezer containers include metal, foil, plastic, glass and ceramic containers identified by the manufacturer as safe for freezing. Foil and metal pans work well for foods that will be reheated in the oven. Consider freezer/microwave containers for foods that will be reheated in the microwave. Choose a container that fits the amount of food being frozen.

When thawing, it is best to plan ahead for slow, safe thawing in the refrigerator. For faster thawing, place food in a leakproof plastic bag and immerse it in cold water. Change the water every 30 minutes to assure it is always cold.

If food is thawed in the microwave, cook it right away. Microwave-thawed foods reach temperatures that encourage bacterial growth, but cooking immediately kills any bacterial that may have developed.

Buying Insurance?!
There are so many choices and decisions.
• Where should I buy?
• What's a good price?
• How much coverage do I need?
• What types of coverage?
• Will I have enough?
It can be overwhelming.

Some companies want you to believe that the only thing you should consider is cost, but insurance is much more than just premiums. Insurance is about loyalty and teamwork and community relationships. It's about stability and consistency, and finding the right coverage at the best price.

As your local independent Auto-Owners Agent we'll look at all your insurance needs. Ask us about Safe. Sound. Secure.* protection from Auto-Owners Insurance Company.

Because coverage for what took a lifetime to build, shouldn't be decided by the latest fad.

Sacrament of Confirmation celebrated at St. Mary's Catholic Church

Archbishop George J. Lucas celebrated the sacrament of Confirmation with 34 eighth and ninth grade students, their sponsors, family and friends on March 17 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

He was assisted by Fr. Mark Beran of St. Mary's, Deacons Gary French and Pat Gross and several priests from the area.

Those receiving the sacrament included Alyssa Anson, Meagan Backer, Jalen Barry, Molly

Burbach, Miriam Casillas, Derek Davis, Miranda Denklau, Diana Fernandez, Hannah Gamble, Kendall Gamble, Layne Hochstein, Erica Holcomb, Jaci Jenkins, Ramsey Jorgensen, Victoria Kranz, Katie Loberg, Jacob Lutt, Lauren

Mecseji and Daniel Melena.

Also, Martha Mitiku, Curtis Moeller, Quinton Morris, Aspen Pflanz, Lydia Pflanz, Gage Rethwisch, Luke Rethwisch, Jacob Reynolds, Andrew Scholl, Matthew Schunk, Rochelle Sukup, Alyssa Thies, Seth Trenhaile, Dalton Uhing and Kimberly Zuniga.

Teaching the class this year were Phylis Trenhaile, MaryAnn Lutt, Laura Gamble, Brigid Griffin and Cecilia Modrell.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church's fellowship hall, hosted by the sixth and seventh grade students and their parents.

Church Council conducts retreat

The Church Council of Our Savior Lutheran Church (OSLC) retreated to the Welcome House at Wayne State College on March 19-20.

The purpose of the retreat was that of spiritual discernment regarding the reasons God chose participants for leadership in the church. Vera Hummel, member of OSLC and Spiritual Director, led the retreat. Vera was trained in Spiritual Direction at Benedictine Center in Yankton, S.D. and has been working with individuals since 2001, as well as groups through the Nebraska Synod, ELCA.

"Churches are interesting organizations," said Pastor Kim Stover. "To some, the church seems to be one of many benevolent or service organizations in a community. To others the church seems to be a social organization built on a former era's immigration patterns, contemporary friendships, or family relationship. To others the church appears to be an institution of moral education for young children. And, to some, churches are businesses that provide services to clients or consumers and tax deductions to those who itemize. While these things can be seen in today's churches, the church has a greater calling in the world than expressed by any one or even all of these perceptions combined. The church is called to be Christ in the flesh, in the world today! Attentive to the work of the Holy Spirit in the daily life of the church, leaders become celebrants of God's work, finding joy in leadership, even in the midst of the struggles of congregational life. Vera's training helps all of us see and hear that which God is doing in and among us at Our Savior Lutheran Church."

outreach ministry center for the Nebraska Synod, provided space for the retreat. The remodeled meeting place was a congenial and convenient setting for the annual council retreat. Julia Shear, ELCA Campus Minister, spoke briefly with the council about ongoing remodeling efforts at the Welcome House, but more importantly the developing student led ministries taking place in and through the Welcome House.

For more information about Our Savior Lutheran Church, contact Pastor Kim Stover at 375-2899 or visit www.oslwayne.org.

Did You Know? Chiropractors Treat Sciatica...

- Numbness in the foot
- Weakness of the knee or foot
- Difficulty walking

Sciatica is defined as pain that radiates from the lower back into the buttocks and down the back of one or both legs, caused by the irritation of the sciatic nerves. If the vertebrae or bones in the lower back are misaligned or out of place they can put pressure on the nearby nerves. This can cause tremendous pain and normal daily activities become almost impossible. Chiropractic care works on correcting misaligned or out of place vertebrae and can remove the pressure placed on the sciatic nerve, reducing pain and improving flexibility and function.

Traditions of Holy Week discussed

The most distinctive feature of the Sunday of the Passion is the procession with palms. This tradition originated in the church in Jerusalem during the fourth century. The oldest Greek and Latin liturgical texts understand the branches as symbols of hope, life, and victory. The hero's welcome accorded Jesus was seen as anticipating his impending victory over death.

The week remembers Jesus' celebration of the Passover, his betrayal, persecution, trial, and crucifixion. The intensity of Jesus' suffering is upheld during this time--as dreadful as it is, it is not to be denied. Suffering, especially the suffering of a crucifixion, once thought to be a curse, is not outside the realm of God's redemptive power. It takes much faith to embrace this idea, and that is the faith we see in Jesus.

The Season of Easter

The celebration of the Resurrection of Christ, Easter, is regarded as the "queen of feasts" in the church year.

The origin of the word Easter is disputed, but probably relates to the fact that the sun rises in the East. The original name for the Resurrection celebration was Pasch (pronounced PAHSK), from Greek and Hebrew words meaning "passing through," referring to the Israelites' rescue from bondage when the avenging angel passed over their homes; the Israelites' passage through the Red Sea; and Jesus' passage through death to new life as told by the evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John.

The Resurrection of Christ has been celebrated as a distinct festival since the early second century; it was the first festival in the church year. Its earliest observance was as the Easter Vigil, celebrated on Easter Eve.

The dating of Easter has been a matter of controversy in Church history. The earliest date was the same day as the Jewish Passover, the 14th day of the Jewish month of Nisan--that is, the first day of the first full moon of spring. According to this calculation, Easter could fall on any day of the week. By A.D. 325, Christians in Rome had adopted the practice of celebrating Easter on the first Sunday after Passover, and the early Christians became enmeshed in a great controversy about how the date of Easter should be determined. In A.D. 325, the Council of Nicaea determined that Easter would be celebrated on the first Sunday after 14 Nisan, that is the Sunday after Passover, which is the Sunday after the first full moon of spring. That practice has continued to this day.

In the early fourth century, Easter was celebrated along with the Passion in a unified three-day commemoration of salvation known as the Triduum (TRIH-doo-um). The Friday and Saturday prior to the Easter Vigil were observed with prayer and fasting.

Toward the middle of the fourth century, an additional preparatory period before Easter developed. Originally this period lasted three weeks, but soon it lasted six weeks, or 40 days prior to the Triduum. This time became known as Lent, a time for the final, intense preparation of adult candidates for Baptism. In the fourth through the sixth centuries, Lent also became a season of penitence in preparation for Easter.

Easter celebrates an event so great that it cannot be limited to one day. Thus Easter is fifty days, a "week of weeks" plus one more day, the Day of Pentecost. Since the early Church, several practices have marked these fifty days: kneeling was prohibited on Sundays of Easter. Standing is the posture of the resurrection! Fasting was also prohibited, and "Alleluia" was restored to the liturgy as a profound expression of joy.

It is during the 50 days of Easter that the church recites the stories of the appearances of Jesus following his crucifixion and concludes with the festival of Pentecost.

Two serious pests attacking Nebraska's pines

Nebraska's pine trees are under attack from two serious pests -- the mountain pine beetle and pine wilt disease. The mountain pine beetle, a small insect that has killed millions of acres of pines in the western U.S. and Canada, was identified last year on pines in several western Nebraska counties. So far, the insect has killed only a few trees at several scattered locations, but it can kill many trees easily when conditions are right.

Forest health experts with the Nebraska Forest Service said mountain pine beetle attacks have been reported in Scottsbluff, Gering, Minatare, Kimball, Sidney, and areas of the Wildcat Hills and Pine Ridge. Mark Harrell, Nebraska Forest Service forest health program leader, said adult mountain pine beetles bore into pines from July through October, leaving small, marble-sized masses of resin, called pitch tubes, on the trunk.

"Adult beetles are black, about one-fourth-inch long and lay eggs in the tunnels between the bark and wood," Harrell said. "Grub-like larvae hatch from the eggs and feed in the tree until July of the following year. The tunnels made by the larvae can kill a tree if enough larvae are present."

According to Harrell, Scotch pine and ponderosa pine are the trees killed most often in Nebraska. When trees die from the beetle, they should be removed and either chipped, burned, buried or have the bark stripped off before mid-June to reduce the risk of the beetles spreading.

Insecticide trunk sprays can be applied to prevent attacks on high-value trees and should be applied in the late spring but before mid-June.

"Carbaryl is the most effective insecticide for mountain pine beetle," said Harrell. "Bifenthrin and permethrin are also effective." Only products that have directions for mountain pine beetle on the label should be used, and insecticides will not control beetles that have already entered the tree, he said.

In forested areas, dense stands of trees are often stressed and more susceptible to attack. Thinning dense stands will improve tree health and reduce the susceptibility of the trees to the beetle.

"The other major problem we have with pines is pine wilt in the eastern and south central parts of the state," said Harrell. "Since entering Nebraska about 10 years ago, pine wilt has killed an estimated 10,000 pines, mostly Scotch pine."

Trees infected with pine wilt die from the disease, so it is important to take steps to prevent its spread, said Harrell.

Pine wilt is caused by a microscopic, worm-like organism called the pinewood nematode. These nematodes live in pines and are carried from tree to tree by insects called pine sawyer beetles. Once inside the tree, the nematodes disrupt the flow of sap, causing the tree to turn brown and die.

Concert tour results in house guests

If it's spring break, it must be time for the college choirs and bands to go drinking! Two weeks ago, I heard the choir from Concordia, Mequon, Wisconsin, at a local church and my cousin Lyn had two swingers at her home overnight. Last year, we had two gals from Augustana College.

This weekend, Luther College from Decorah, Iowa, presented their symphony orchestra at First Plymouth. Our director for Lincoln Lutheran Choir is a Luther grad. Since there are eight members of the orchestra, he was having a hard time finding beds for everyone. So, like a guppy, I volunteered. THEN, I found out that they had to be back at the church before 6:30 a.m. on Sunday! For some of you, that would not be a problem; for me, that is early.

The concert was wonderful, beginning with a thunderous piece by Richard Wagner. In reading the program notes, I had no idea he had been such a bad guy! I did know that he was a favorite of Hitler's, so I guess I should have had an inking.

After an intermission, during which I viewed a wonderful collection of soft sculpture dolls, they did several numbers by Jean Sibelius, which were much more to my taste. Then, we hosts gathered in an adjoining chapel and waited for our "match". Soon, a young cellist from Vietnam, named Phu, and a violinist from Wausa, Wisconsin, were introduced. They went to change out of their taxes and we had cookies and limeade in the fellowship hall.

Incidentally, the dolls being displayed were all created by Joyce Donovan, who was the grandmother of one of my first patients after moving to this area. Tim was a homophiliac and had contacted AIDS from the blood products he needed to stay alive. After he died, two of his brothers, also dealing with homophilia, died. Joyce cared for all of them. I had appreciated her care of her sons, but had no idea she was such an artist. She has since died, too, and her daughters had arranged for the show and an article about them in the Lincoln paper. I'm glad I got to see the dolls; they were so interesting.

Anyway, the two young men politely joined us in watching more of the NCAA games; though I'm not sure Phu was all that interested. He attended a boarding school in Italy the last two years of high school to pursue his study of the cello and found his way to Luther because of the cello professor there. Now, that is a passion! YoYo Ma is his hero, and interesting enough, was playing at the Lied Center yesterday afternoon. But, of course, he was well on his way to Greeley by then.

Speaking of basketball, we are still wondering how Northern Iowa could beat Arkansas, and breathing sighs of relief that their women's team was no match for our Bug Eaters. Tomorrow will certainly be a lot simpler; we will just have to see what happens.

Snow mold beginning to cause problems

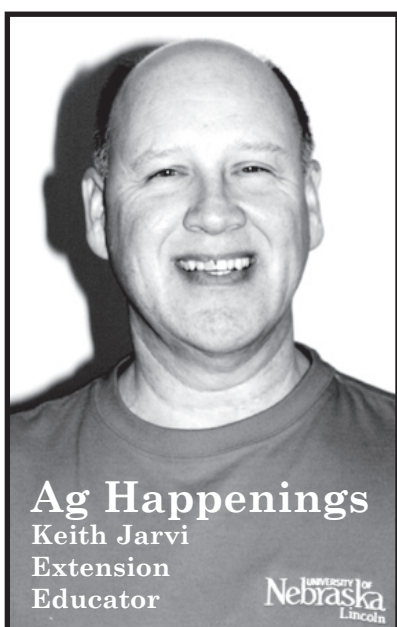

As the snow has begun to melt many area lawns, including my own, are showing the symptoms of snow mold, a fungal disease. There are two kinds of snow mold that are described by their color, pink snow mold and grey snow mold. So far all I have seen is grey snow mold, but both may be present in the area.

Snow mold develops when we get heavy snow cover before the ground freezes. The snow acts as an insulating blanket and provides the fungus with ideal growing conditions under the snow. As the snow melts it reveals the results of mold growth. Spots in your lawn will appear matted down and be covered with a layer of grey material. There may be yellow areas where the grass has died. At first people may be inclined to blame dirt and trash from the windy, snowy conditions we experienced this year. If you look closer at the matted-down grey area you may see some black spores, but not always. Some people have described snow mold appearing as webbing across the ground. Remember this is only in some areas and usually not the entire lawn.

Generally snow mold is not too serious. Rake the area as soon as it is dry to break up the matted mess and allow the grass to grow through. Some people recommend a light application of fertilizer to stimulate grass growth and a fungicide treatment, but this is probably not necessary, since temperatures will soon rise to the point where it will be too warm for the mold to grow.

Do not put on your entire load of fertilizer too early in the year, it is better to wait until May. If the mold is thick and has killed some areas in your lawn, you may have to reseed or resod.

Some people recommend cutting your lawn short in the fall and applying a fungicide before a hard freeze. However, we don't usually have to deal with snow mold very often since our snow cover generally is not too deep and we usually have frozen ground before a lot of snow falls. This is just another nuisance we have had to put up with due to our long, snowy winter.

The following steps can be taken to minimize damage in future years:

- Avoid excessive applications of nitrogen fertilizer in the fall.
- Continue to mow the lawn at the recommended height until it is no longer actively growing. The taller the grass, the more likely it will mat down and encourage snow mold development.
- Rake up leaves in the fall.
- Manage the thatch layer to avoid accumulations of more than 1/2 inch.
- Spread out large snow piles to encourage rapid melting. Use snow fencing to minimize snow accumulation in problem spots.

Private pesticide applicator training scheduled

Private pesticide applicators whose licenses expire in 2010 and those seeking first-time certification can find information on pesticide safety education programs at their local University of Nebraska Extension offices.

Licensing as a private applicator allows farmers to purchase and use pesticide classified for restricted use by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in their own farming operations.

Extension provides the educational program, while the agriculture department is responsible for licensing. The training fee is $30.00. An applicator may also certify by self-study for a $60 training fee.

In 2001 the Nebraska Legislature created a state pesticide license fee of $25 for private applicators. The fee covers a three-year license period.

A training is scheduled for Tuesday, March 30 at 6 p.m. at the Auditorium in Winside.

Prevent complications from diabetes

You probably already know that diabetes can lead to devastating problems with the heart, kidney, eyes and nerves. Did you also know that by taking control of diabetes and identifying problems early you can prevent or slow many of these conditions?

High blood glucose is a major cause of serious diabetes complications. Recognizing diabetes early and getting your blood glucose levels under control allows for swift action to slow its progression and avoid complications. Lowering your A1C by just one percentage point lowers your chance of getting eye, kidney or nerve disease by 40 percent. Blood glucose control is just one aspect of preventive care. Following a meal plan, being physically active, losing excessive weight, keeping your blood pressure and cholesterol levels in check, quitting smoking and taking aspirin are all important ways to prevent future health problems. Good control requires both diligence and willingness to try new strategies. Learn new strategies by attending "Control Diabetes for Life." The March 31 session will focus on "Diabetes from the Ground Up."

Set a goal to take control of your diabetes. Aim for lower blood glucose levels to feel better now and stay healthy for years to come. Wednesday, March 31, topics include: "The Science of Carbohydrates," "Check Up for Your Control", and "Slow Cooker Magic".

Team-teaching the program will be Phyllis Heimann, R.N. & Certified Diabetes Educator; Stacie Petersen, R.N. & Certified Diabetes Educator; Mary Clare Stalp, R.D., L.M.N.T., all of Franciscan Care Services in West Point and Debra E. Schroeder, UNL Extension Educator in Cuming County.

These sessions are designed to supplement the education that you receive from your local diabetes education team and not a substitute for diabetes classes through your local health care providers.

Participants have the opportunity to attend from 1:30-4 p.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Church social room in Wayne.

"Control Diabetes for Life" is a joint project of University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension and Franciscan Care Services of West Point. The program is offered free-of-charge. "Control Diabetes for Life" will help participants learn to control diabetes and prolong the onset of complications from the disease.

Participants are asked to pre-register for "Control Diabetes for Life" by calling UNL Extension office in Wayne County at 402-375-3310. Please register by Monday, March 29, so the proper number of handouts may be prepared. School food service staff may earn two hours of continuing education credit for attending.

Runza® promotion to benefit TeamMates program

On Tuesday, March 30, Runza® Restaurants across Nebraska and Iowa will be donating 10 percent of all proceeds to the TeamMates Mentoring Program. The effort is part of Runza's belief that it takes more than food to serve a community.

"Runza® Restaurants is proud to take an active role in each and every community we serve. More than a responsibility, it's our privilege to positively impact the lives of our neighbors," said Becky Perrett, Director of Marketing at Runza® National.

Seventy-six Runza® locations will be participating in TeamMates Day. "We are so grateful to Runza® for supporting our local chapters across Nebraska and Iowa. TeamMates and Runza® are two organizations founded in Nebraska and we are honored to be able to partner together to support our youth," said Suzanne Hince, Executive Director of the TeamMates Mentoring Program.

Founded in 1949, Runza® Restaurants is famous for the Runza® Sandwich with its delicious blend of ground beef, cabbage, onions and secret spices baked inside homemade bread; made-to-order hamburgers; and homemade onion rings.
