Transplant wait not slowing local teen down

By KEVIN PETERSON
For the Herald

Time is drawing down for the 76 Wayne High seniors with graduation less than six weeks away. As each of these graduates walk across the stage to receive their diplomas and enter into that abyss known as the next chapter, there is a myriad of dreams, goals and aspirations among all of them.

Tess Moser, daughter of Mark Moser and Jason Barelman is no exception. She, too, has goals which include a position in sports management when she completes her degree in college.

First thing is first, however and Tess is hoping before college classes begin next fall that she will be re-energized after what could be a long summer.

Tess has been placed on the national register to receive a kidney transplant. That's the easy part. The hard part... finding a live donor that matches a number of criteria so she can have the transplant at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.

One might think it's a somber situation for Ms. Moser, but in many ways it's just the opposite. The 18-year-old looks forward to having more energy, something that's been draining from her body since birth but has been more noticeable the past couple years.

"I am not looking at a transplant as a slow-me-down situation," Tess said. "I'm actually looking forward to getting kind of a second-wind back."

Rewinding the 18 years to when she was born, Mark recalls looking at his newly born daughter, Tessa, who was born very prematurely, weighing barely two pounds.

"She spent her first three months of life in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at Creighton/St. Joe's in Omaha," Mark said. "We were advised at that time of potential issues of being born many weeks premature such as possible organ development problems like lungs, kidneys, eyes etc. An ultrasound revealed that her kidneys were very under-sized."

The Mosers did bring Tess home after about a 90-day stint in the hospital as she grew enough to consider her safe to take home. They went about their normal lives as they were advised too. As she grew older and entered junior high she had the normal sports physical where it was revealed she had a high protein count in her urine.

"It's not unusual to have young, active people to have a high protein count in urine," Jason Barelman said. The procedure was repeated again during her eighth grade sports physical and her ninth grade sports physical with the same results.

Between her freshman and sophomore year, Tess went to visit her aunt Phyllis in Iowa who is ironically, a family doctor. She went ahead and had her sports physical and again, results of the lab work revealed what the Moser's had seen the past four years, high protein in the urine. Jason decided to press the issue of Tess' continual results of high amounts of protein and Mark's sister, Dr. Phyllis went ahead and did some blood work.

At that time it was discovered that her kidneys were operating at just 30 percent and that was the first time any of them heard the word, transplant.

"It was definitely a shock and it was a little emotional," Jason said. "Of course everyone had a million questions but as things subsided Tess knew it was inevitable she would be having a transplant, the question was, when?"

Tess said her pediatric nephrologist told her she needed monthly blood testing.

Wayne theater will be called The Majestic

Wayne's theater now has a name.

The community was invited to come up with a name for the theater, and the list of more than 93 names was narrowed down to four. After more than 750 votes were cast, those who voted gave Majestic Theater the overwhelming nod with 42 percent of those favoring the name over The Brookdale, The Chanticleer and The Legacy.

"The involvement in naming the theater has been quite impressive," Reggie Yates, member of the steering committee for Project Majestic, the revitalization of Wayne's downtown theater, said.

There were 93 individual names nominated from area residents, and the theater project's steering committee narrowed the selection down to four names in early March.

The steering committee wanted the community to take ownership of the theater, and the naming process was one way of doing that.

"We wanted to make sure everyone knows this is Wayne's theater and we thought it was only right to give the community a say in what the theater was called," Todd Young, steering committee member, said. "The names were very creative and very representative of Wayne or what has been going on with the renovation project."

The Legacy was the second most-popular name among the 750 votes cast, receiving 38 percent of the vote. The Chanticleer received 13 percent and The Brookdale got 7 percent of the vote.

Those who provided the winning nomination will be notified within the next two weeks on how and when they may claim their season pass as a reward for providing the winning name.

Renovation of the theater continues to progress as they look for a late fall opening.

"We encourage everyone to stop at the windows, or if you see us working, stop in and view the progress," Jeff Morloc, Steering Committee Member and Design Committee Chairman, said. Theater chairs have been chosen and are moving throughout the community on display in the banks and various other public locations.

"Chairs run about $200 each and we are welcoming donations to buy a chair for the theater," Yates added. "We need to raise an additional $180,000 to finalize the fundraising. Along with votes, we have again been encouraged by the support the community has given."

The committee received almost $10,000 donated from private individuals in the last month. Anyone who wants to support the renovation of the theater can send donations to Project Majestic, P.O. Box 161 Wayne, NE 68787. All donations are being made to a non-profit 501(c)-3 organization.

Dr. Wiseman hangs up stethoscope after 40 years

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

Dr. Will Wiseman has officially retired from his duties at Wayne Mercy Medical Clinic, effective April 1.

Providence Medical Center will host this week's Chamber Coffee on Friday at 10 a.m. in his honor.

Dr. Willis Lee Wiseman was born in Omaha, and raised in North Platte. While growing up he worked various positions in his parents' three restaurants and held a paper route delivering the Omaha World Herald. On his paper route he discovered the early morning trains that traveled through North Platte could be a profitable addition to his paper route. Soon he became a regular fixture at the North Platte train depot, selling papers, antiques, souvenirs and sweets from his parents' restaurant.

Dr. Wiseman began his professional education at Stanford University, and received his bachelor's degree from Kearney State College. He earned his medical degree from the University of Nebraska Medical School.

Dr. Will Wiseman retired from his duties at Wayne Mercy Medical Clinic, effective today (Thursday).

Dr. Wiseman has been involved in the Nebraska State Medical Society, Cornhusker Shrine Club and Wayne

Kiwanis Club. He served on the Providence Medical Center Foundation Board of Directors and as the president of Wayne Industries. In 1998 he was chosen as the Norfolk Lavitset Outstanding Citizen and the Wayne Citizen of the Year. Wiseman served on the Wayne City Council for eight years and was the leading force in the creation of Wayne's fitness trail.

Dr. Wiseman began his medical practice in Torrington, Wyo. and moved it to Wayne in 1975. Over 40 years, Dr. Wiseman transformed his single-doctor medical practice into a five-doctor, two physician-assistant clinic with three satellite offices.

The innovative satellite-office concept was pioneered by Dr. Wiseman with the creation of the Wisner Clinic in the fall of 1979. Satellite clinics were then set up in Laurel and Wakefield. The concept was recognized as the first of its kind in Nebraska and defined an "umbrella" of health care coverage for the region. To this day it is served by Wayne-area doctors utilizing Providence Medical Center for acute care. The success of the satellite clinics has become the model for other medical facilities across the state.

Dr. Wiseman was further recognized for initiating Wayne's first active doctor recruitment program in 1978. The collaborative efforts, with the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, was a successful venture in recruiting and hiring several of the present-day physicians. That accomplishment cemented Wayne as a leading center for medical services.

Dr. Wiseman is credited for creating one of the first physical fitness centers to be used in conjunction with physical therapy and wellness programs. Under his direction, the Providence Fitness Center was founded in 1979 and continues to be the prototype for new physical therapy facilities.

"I would like to thank the community of Wayne and the surrounding region for their support. I would also like to extend a special thanks to my colleagues at the Wayne Mercy Medical Clinic and the Providence Medical community," Dr. Wiseman said.

He said his immediate plans for retirement including working on a cabin on his lake property.

Area counties added to feds' disaster list

The three area counties that were not a part of the original disaster declaration from last winter's abundance of blizzards have been added to the list.

Wayne, Dixon and Cedar counties were among 24 Nebraska counties that were added to a presidential disaster declaration by the Federal Emergency Management Agency late Tuesday, making those three counties eligible to receive federal funds to offset costs that were felt in the wake of major winter blizzards that hit the area in late December and early January.

Statewide, costs from the storm have been estimated at more than $8 million. Wayne County's share has been estimated to be at least $80,000, taking fuel costs and overtime into consideration.

County Board chairman James Rabe was surprised to hear of the news, but didn't know how much, if any, of what the county spent will be reimbursed.

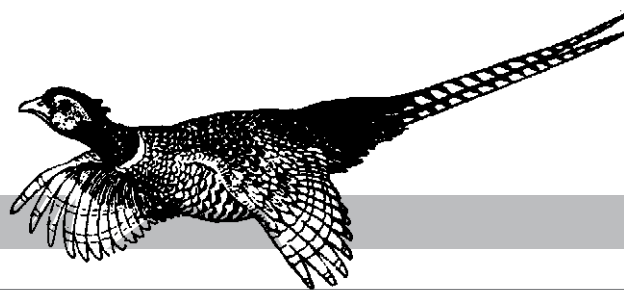

"It's hard to tell how much money we'll get," he said. "I think the big cities will get the money first, and we'll be lucky if we get any money."

By being added to the disaster declaration, officials in the counties added to the original list of 34 Nebraska counties will be able to request federal aid to help pay for costs related to the storm.

Along with Wayne, Dixon and Cedar counties, the other counties added to the list were Boone, Boyd, Colfax, Cuming, Fillmore, Frontier, Furnas, Gosper, Greeley, Harlan, Holt, Howard, Knox, Loup, Merrick, Nuckolls, Pierce, Platte, Polk, Richardson and Sarpy counties.

Wayne Dental Clinic partnering with Family 1st Dental group

Dr. Stephen Becker is excited to announce his association with Family 1st Dental. Wayne Dental clinic has begun operating as Family 1st Dental of Wayne. They are excited to be partnering with Family 1st.

Dr. Becker decided to partner with Family 1st Dental because "I am excited by the association and can now just deal with the dentistry aspect of the office and leave the other responsibilities to them," Dr. Becker said.

Family 1st Dental Associates was formed in 1999 and now has 33 locations in Nebraska and western Iowa. Family 1st Dental's mission statement reflects their priority in putting your family dental needs first and their commitment to excellent dentistry in even the smallest town.

"We cherish the patients comfort and want them to feel safe and comfortable while they are receiving the best care possible," said Dean Cyboron, CEO of Family 1st. "It is important that patients are treated with kindness, that your needs are addressed, that they are made as comfortable as possible with their care and that every effort be made to make the treatment affordable with insurance processing and payment plan options."

Dr. Stephen Becker, and his team are excited and welcome the opportunity to join the Family 1st Dental team. Dr. Stephen Becker has been a practicing dentist for 32 years. He began practicing in Wisner and moved his practice to Wayne in 1981.

Dr. Becker is the son and grandson of dentists and his son, Daniel, will graduate from Creighton in the field of dentistry and become the fourth generation of dentists in the family. His son, Andrew, lives on the east coast and works in the field of statistics and analysis.

Dr. Becker and his wife, Kathy, live at Pilger. Staff members include Cindy Wills who has been a part of the office for nine years, both as a dental assistant and is now fulfilling front desk duties. She and her family live in Pender.

Sara Husman has been a dental assistant at Wayne Dental Clinic for two years. She and her husband, Ryan, have two children, Kendra and Dylan and farm near Wayne.

Yulie (Yuliana) Barquero has been a part-time dental assistant for two years and serves as an interpreter for Spanish-speaking patients. She is a native of Costa Rica and a 2009 graduate of Wayne State College.

Sheri Johnson enjoys "being the dental assistant who makes sure materials and equipment are in working order to help keep things running smoothly in the office." She and her husband, Dan, have three children, Zack, Drake and Karlee Rai.

In addition to the current staff, Family 1st has plans to hire a dental hygienist to round out the existing team.

Family 1st Dental offices accept many forms of insurance, Medicaid, Care Credit and other payment financing options.

Family 1st Dental wants to stress that their ownership of the former Wayne Dental Clinic will have a positive effect on Wayne.

"Our focus is on preventative care for young and old alike. Family 1st Dental is where your family comes first. Make sure to come by and see the improvements that Family 1st will be making to your dental office," Cyboron said.

Family 1st enjoys supporting dentistry in rural Nebraska and Iowa communities. While many communities have struggled to maintain or replace their medical providers, Family 1st has been very successful in keeping small town dental offices vibrant and fully staffed. A total of 22 new graduates have been brought into the offices in the last five years, the majority from rural communities who have been able to return to their roots by working with Family 1st.

Winside youth group donates quilts

Youth from the Winside United Methodist Church recently delivered homemade tie blankets to the Providence Medical Center Foundation Office, to be given to elderly patients at Providence Medical Center. Members of the congregation blessed the blankets during their regular church service.

When the patients are discharged from the hospital, they are to take the quilts home.

Since the project began, adults from the church have joined in as well, along with the youth group. They have named themselves the "Coat of Many Colors Quilters" and they meet weekly to make the lap quilts.

The group encourages new members. They say there is ample opportunity for needle threading and fabric cutting from the ten large boxes of donated fabric.

"It is very heartwarming to know that these Winside young people and their sponsors cared enough about our elderly patients to create such soft, warm lap quilts," said

Sandra Bartling, PMC Foundation President. "They are just the right size to fit over the lap and around the legs. And the materials used are so interesting! We have a quilt with horses, a nice pink and purple quilt for a lady, a quilt with teddy bears and even one quilt with a bear pattern!"

"Thank you to everyone involved in this project. We are very grateful to each one of you for remembering our hospital with your time and talents!"

Gigi Inness (center) spoke about the TeamMates Mentoring program's success during last week's Chamber Coffee.

Wayne TeamMates host weekly Chamber Coffee at Activity Center

The Wayne TeamMates hosted the weekly Chamber Coffee at the Wayne Community Activity Center.

During the coffee, TeamMates Coordinator Jenny Hopkins told those in attendance about the program and its goals. She noted that Dr. Tom and Nancy Osborne, who started the school-based mentoring program, are still actively involved with it.

Hopkins highlighted two fundraising events for the program, including a Runza promotion on Tuesday, March 30 in which a portion of the day's proceeds will go to the local TeamMates program and the One Hour Walk, which is scheduled for Sunday, April 18. Board members of the program are currently soliciting donations for the event. A registration fee of $20 is required for the walk, which includes a TeamMates t-shirt.

Gigi Inness, Regional TeamMates Coordinator, also spoke during the coffee and explained the benefits of the program and presented statistics on both the number of students involved and the academic, attendance and discipline improvement for those in the program.

Current board members include Jill Walling, chair; Bryan Hestekind, treasurer; Clara Osten, secretary and Craig Walling, Ric Wilson, Rob Burrows, Carolyn Linster, Mark Lenihan, Darrell Miller and Pat Cook.

Following the coffee, board member Pat Cook presented the program with a check for $5,000 in memory of her husband, Tom, who died last fall.

Medicine collected, disposed here

A total of 14,792 pills, 1,065 ml and numerous additional partial tubes, sample packages, caps, and tabs were collected during the March 17 Medicine Collection Day held in Wayne.

Of the totals, 235 pills and 455 ml were controlled substances.

There were 36 people completing surveys and several others attended the event without filling out the survey. That results in an average of 370 pills turned in by each household.

Participants were from Wayne (37), Winside (1) and Wakefield (2). A total of 27 women and nine men participated.

Wanda Hofeldt won the tackle box and Marilyn Collings won the tool box to secure medications.

Funding for this program provided via a Prevention Mini Grant from Region 4 Behavioral Health System.

The uncontrolled medications will be disposed of by Clean Harbors in Georgia by incineration. The smoke stacks of the incinerator had scrubbers so that air pollution is not created by the medications. The Wayne Police Department is disposing of the controlled medications via incineration as well, according to their policies.

Medicine Disposal Recommendations

If there is no collection event in your area, dispose of drugs in your household trash. Before placing in the trash, follow these steps:

Do not flush unused medications and do not pour them down a sink or drain.

1. Place medications in a plastic baggy and then add water and sand/ashes/dirt/coffee grounds/etc. and seal shut.

2. Hide all medications in an outer container, such as sealable bag, box or plastic tub to prevent discovery and removal from the trash. Seal the container with strong tape.

3. Dispose of drugs as close to your trash collection day as possible to avoid misuse and/or misdirection.

4. Do not conceal discarded drugs in food to prevent consumption by scavenging humans, pets or wildlife.

Transplant

Sports was encouraged as long as she had access to water at all times. The school nurse was also contacted about taking Tess' blood pressure weekly.

Today, Tess' kidney function has dipped just below 20 percent, which is the mendoza line for being put on the transplant list.

"At 10-15 percent you get put on dialysis," Mark said. "We certainly hope we can get a kidney transplant before it gets to that point."

She was put on the "List" just two weeks ago. Across the United States there are more than 50,000 people on the waiting list for a kidney transplant. Those numbers may seem daunting, but closer looks reveal that nearly 1500 are on the transplant list at UNMC but the numbers falls to under 30 for those 18-under.

At this time the search is on for live donors. Those in the Moser family are being tested to see if they are a possible match.

"Anyone can be a donor," Mark said. "It's just a blood test to check blood type and the number of antigens that match what is needed for Tess."

There are eight antigens that are sought for a match. Not all of them have to be matched but the more that are, the better odds you have of the kidney not being rejected. Once a person is considered a possible donor, they are put in contact with a transplant team from UNMC for evaluation.

"You have to be at least 19 years old to be considered for being a live donor," Jason said. "Siblings and parents are usually the first people looked at as best options but not always does that work out. We're hoping for as many people as possible get tested to see if they would be a match."

Live donors are the quickest way for a transplant to take place. If one can not be found, the recipient remains on the register list, waiting for a cadaveric kidney, which - at this point - can take anywhere from three to five years for blood type "O."

"The transplant team has our phone numbers," Jason said. "Once a kidney comes in they have one hour to find us, and then we would have to drop everything and head to Omaha. Once there, if Tess is the best match with that kidney that was received, she would be prepped for surgery and if all goes as expected, she would be ready for dismissal in under a week."

Tess said she would be on anti-rejection drugs for the rest of her life once a transplanted kidney has been put in.

"I could lead a normal life for the most part," she said. "The first six weeks after surgery I wouldn't be able to lift anything over 10 pounds. I have a cat that weighs more than 10 pounds."

Anyone wishing to find out more about kidney donation is encouraged to call Lori Schmida who is the transplant coordinator at UNMC. The toll free number is (800) 401-4444. You can also contact Mark Moser or Jason Barelman.

Although statistics are a "wow" factor when it comes to the number of people across the country waiting for a kidney transplant (more than 50,000), Tess Moser is more interested in a smaller number, one.

That's all it takes...one match to jump-start the rest of her life.

Chief: Parents should be aware of choking game

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said his department has recently been made aware of a very dangerous game that is becoming popular across the country, the so called "Choking Game."

According to the web site, www.ChokingGame.net this game is injuring and killing teens and pre-teens across our nation. Webster said he is not aware of anyone in Wayne engaging in this dangerous practice but wanted parents to be aware of this new and very dangerous craze.

The "Choking Game", also called "Pass Out", "Hangman", "Twitching Game", "Knock Out", "Black Hole", and similar names consists of cutting off blood and oxygen flow to the brain by choking, hyperventilating, compressing the chest, or hanging using a ligature such as a belt, towel, rope, etc.

The game is played in groups or, more dangerously, by a child alone. When playing this game persons experience lightheadedness followed by a surge of pressure when the blood and oxygen flow begins again. This sensation can become addictive.

The typical participants in this activity are boys and girls between 9 and 16 years of age. Data shows that, unlike other risk taking behaviors, self choking often occurs among well-adjusted, high achieving students.

Some signs and symptoms to watch for are frequent and severe headaches, bruising or red marks around the neck, bloodshot eyes, changes in attitude, disorientation or grogginess after being alone, unusual demands of privacy, and curiosity about asphyxiation of knots. At home look for locked or blocked doors, ligatures (belts, tee-shirts, ties, ropes) in strange knots or unusual places, an Internet history of websites or chat rooms about asphyxiation or the "Choking Game", wear marks of beds or closet rods, or the sound of a thud from a bedroom that may indicate a fall.

The "Choking Game" is generations old. Children alone using ligatures is new and it's deadly. For more information parents should go to the www.ChokingGame.net - a website sponsored by the DB Foundation.

State of the school addressed Thursday

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

A little more than 50 people dotted the bleachers in the Wayne High School gymnasium Thursday to hear the State of the Schools address at a special meeting of the Wayne Board of Education.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan updated patrons on a variety of issues pertaining to the school, including technology, facilities and the district's future budget needs.

Lenihan told those in attendance that the district will be looking at a reduction of more than a quarter-million dollars in state aid in coming year. While the district will receive more in federal stimulus money next year, the district is scheduled to receive more than $141,000 less in overall state aid next year.

"When the stimulus money goes away in 2011-12, it will have something of a cliff effect," he told those in attendance.

Future state projections show the district could receive even less in state aid, with talks of a 5 to 10 percent cut in state aid being discussed at the state level.

"We need to be responsible with our spending and make sure that what we spend is going for the best interests of our kids," he said.

Lenihan said the district is going to handle some of the changes in funding by using attrition of staff and not re-hiring some teaching positions, but doesn't want to get into a situation where teachers have huge class sizes.

"That's asking a lot, and we need to make sure we can cover what (the outgoing staff) have been doing," he said.

Lenihan said cutting staff or programs is something the district wants to avoid.

"We are going to do everything we can to not get into a situation where we have to cut staff or programs," he said. "We have great staff here, and we have time to work toward that."

Lenihan said one of the district's goals is to upgrade the district's 275 computers to keep pace with current technology.

"Currently, none of our computers are under warranty, so we're working to upgrade our computer system so everybody has computers that are current and under warranty," he said.

A question about providing laptops for students was asked, and Lenihan said the initiative is one the district wants to consider at some point.

"It's not off our radar, but we want to get our house in order and get our infrastructure ready to handle that," he said.

Underage drinking forum April 8 at Frey Center

A forum on underage drinking and other risky drinking behaviors among teens and young adults will be held in the Frey Conference Center on Thursday, April 8 at 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.

The event will include speakers addressing all aspects of this behavior and its affects. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

One of the speakers will be Lorraine Erdmann. Lorraine and her family have become spokespersons for the devastating effects that underage drinking and driving can have on families and communities.

Lorraine's daughter, Ariana, was just 16 when a tragic car accident claimed her life. In an honest and personal manner, Lorraine shares about the loss of her beautiful and charismatic daughter who touched so many lives. Lorraine gives parents and teens a perspective that can only be shared by someone who has experienced such a tragic loss.

Tragic health, social, and economic problems result from the risky use of alcohol by youth and young adults. Underage drinking is a factor in a host of serious problems, including homicide, suicide, traumatic injury, drowning, burns, violent and property crime, high risk sex, fetal alcohol syndrome, alcohol poisoning, and need for treatment for alcohol abuse and dependence.

In 2005, the cost to the citizens of Nebraska for underage drinking was $447 million.

A member of law enforcement will also be present to provide law enforcement's perspective. Speakers will also share facts on the physical and mental impact of risky drinking on young adults.

Rugby team wins 72-team tourney

Late score gives WSC win over Wichita State

The Wayne State men's club rugby team scored in the game's final minute to outlast Wichita 17-15 and win the annual March Madness and Mayhem college men's division tournament at the House of Pain in Wayne.

The WSC men went on a seven-game winning streak over the weekend, defeating Luther College, Iowa Tech, North Dakota State, Bemidji State, and Salina to place themselves in the semifinals Sunday against Grinnell, advancing to the championship final against Wichita State, ranked No. 13 nationally.

With perfect weather on Sunday afternoon, the Cats took the field as heavy underdogs against a powerful Wichita State team that, according to coach Darrin Barner, is led by four high-end players from France. The crowd was in a great setting as other teams that were eliminated stayed to cheer on the home team to see if Wayne State could possibly pull off an incredible upset to win the tournament.

Wichita went on the board first, using a nice drive deep into Wayne State territory. The Cats held up with a stingy defense to keep them out of the end zone, but Wichita kicked a field goal to take a 3-0 lead. Wayne State responded, taking the ball in the middle of the first half and scoring with speedster Nolan Persson, turning on the burners and turning the corner on the defense, finished with an impressive 50-yard score to put the hosts up 5-3. Late in the first half, Wichita State put a score on the board by crossing the goal line, and took an 8-5 halftime lead.

As teams exchanged hard hitting rucks and mauls and stayed in the center of the field trying to gain territorial advantage, inside center plays by Pete Kenifel were starting to put holes in the Wichita defense. A play designed to give a fake hand-off to Kenifel, on a scissoring play by the bootleg running of Taylor Foster left Wayne State with a 3-on-2 option play with two defenders crushing Kenifel, with out the ball. Foster passed the ball wide with a perfect backwards spiral and hit Persson in stride and Wayne State went ahead 12-8 after Nick Robinson's 2-point conversion kick.

With four minutes left in the game, Wichita quickly answered with a touchdown of their own, thanks to the strong back line of the French players, to regain the lead at 15-12.

With time running out, the Cats strapped up a very impressive 80-yard drive down the field, and with 30 seconds left in the game was set up only seven yards from the goal line. Rugby quarterback J.J. Johnson kept the ball himself and squirted through the ruck pile and was hit at the 2-yard line. His teammates mauled and pushed Johnson over the goal line to win the game for the Cats in the closing seconds, as the touchdown gave Wayne State the exciting win, 17-15.

Colorado State won the women's division of the tournament, while Minneapolis and Winnipeg claimed their respective titles in the two City Club divisions.

Wildcats come from behind, take 3 of 4 from Minn.-Duluth

Wayne State came within one out of a four-game sweep of Minnesota-Duluth over the weekend, winning three out of four in an NSIC matchup at the Pete Chapman Complex.

The Wildcats came from behind twice on Sunday, sweeping the Bulldogs 10-6 and 4-2. They won the opener Monday 11-7, but came up short in their quest for a four-game sweep, losing 4-3.

All in all, it was a pretty good weekend for the team, coach Brian Disch said.

"We came back in both games Sunday, and that was nice to see," he said. "We hit the ball pretty well in the first game Monday, and we had a chance with the bases loaded at the end (of the second) game and just needed to put the ball in play. We played well. It was nice to win three, but I wish we could have won all four."

Jarrett Jackson, a transfer from the University of Washington who just received NCAA clearance Friday, made quite a showing in his first game, going 2-for-5 with a triple and three RBI's in Sunday's opener.

Wayne State got two runs in the second inning when Jake Ritzdorf scored Treye Hacker on a sacrifice bunt and Mike Bisenius scored on a Brandon Polk single.

The Bulldogs battled back to take a 5-4 lead in the top of the fifth, but Wayne State responded with three runs of their own in the bottom of the inning, highlighted by Jackson's two-run triple to right center. The Wildcats added four runs in the sixth and went on to take the first game win.

Senior John Snyder picked up the win, allowing seven hits and four runs in five innings of work. Trevor Reeves got the save, working the final three innings and striking out five.

Wayne State battled back again to sweep the Sunday twinbill.

Duluth led 2-0 in the fourth when the Wildcats started their comeback. Wayne State got a run in the fourth, then scored three in the fifth, highlighted by Nick Bidroski's two-run single and a fielding error that allowed Justin Beranek to score the insurance run.

Sophomore Austen Wisroth pitched a complete game, striking out eight batters while scattering six hits. Bidroski went 2-for-3 in the game, and Brandon Polk added two hits.

"Nick is hitting .424 right now and has a .602 on-base percentage," Disch said of Bidroski's efforts this season. "Some pitchers are trying to pitch around him, but he's been hitting the ball well for us."

On Monday, six different Wildcats hit home runs as the Wildcats finished with a split of the doubleheader.

Minnesota-Duluth took an early lead, but Wayne State erased that disadvantage quickly in the third when senior John Plasha blasted a three-run homer to left.

The Bulldogs would battle back in the top of the fourth to tie the game at 3-3, but Beranek doubled and later scored on a wild pitch, and sophomore Mike Bisenius connected on a three-run bomb to put the Wildcats up 7-2.

The Bulldogs came back with four runs in the top of the seventh to cut the lead to 8-7, but Wayne State got three runs in the eighth on Jackson's three-run homer to left to put the game out of reach.

Wayne State had 13 hits in the first game, with Beranek going 3-for-3 with two doubles and Hacker weather today, but I thought our kids competed well."

Collins had a pretty good day for himself, setting new meet marks in the triple jump and 100-meter dash. His best effort of 22 feet in the long jump was well past the meet record distance, but wound up being the second-best jump of the day as he was bested by fellow senior Johnny Saunders of Laurel-Concord, who bounded 23 feet, 4 inches to take top honors.

"These kids have grown up around each other and know each other pretty well," Laurel-Concord boys coach Terry Bear said of the dual between the two seniors. "Johnny got that 23-footer and Darnell jumped well also, and he came back and got Johnny in the 100."

"Darnell got the record in the triple jump and the 100 today, and he and the Saunders kid went back and forth in the long jump, and I think we'll see that continue," Hochstein added.

Collins and Saunders were joined by Wakefield senior speedster Chad Clay in a great race in the 100-meter dash finals. Collins and Clay were right there at the tape, with Collins nudging Clay for first place and Saunders finishing just one-tenth of a second behind in third.

The Blue Devils picked up three more wins on the day. Marcus Baier took top honors in the 400-meter dash, Quentin Jorgensen and Seth Onderstal led a 1-2 finish in the 3,200-meter run, and the weight relay team came home with top honors as well.

Two area athletes who finished as state runners-up in their respective events set new meet marks on the boys' side.

MIXED MARTIAL ARTS A BIG HIT IN WAYNE SATURDAY

(Photos by Michael Carnes)

Fists and feet were flying Saturday night as an evening full of mixed martial arts fights was on display before a capacity crowd at the Wayne City Auditorium. In the fight pictured, Aaron Nielsen of Wayne-based team Adrenaline gives Omahan Alex Evans a face full of knee on his way to a unanimous decision. Most of the bouts on the 10-fight card featured fighters from the local team, including Tanner Thiem, who won the Tournament middleweight title with a third-period TKO of Julio Casillas.

Wildcats, Mavericks split softball doubleheader

Wayne State split a doubleheader with Nebraska-Omaha Wednesday, March 24, in the Wildcats' home opener at the Pete Chapman Softball Complex.

UNO smashed four homers in the first game off Katie Goetzing and Amber Baird and came away with a 7-2 win. Goetzing bounced back in the nightcap, tossing a four-hit shutout with 10 strikeouts to give Wayne State the split with a 3-0 win.

"I was proud of how the girls came back and shut them down the second game," coach Krista Unger said of her team's effort. "It's tough in this game to play a doubleheader, because you have to play the same team after you've just played them, and I thought the girls did a good job letting that first game go and coming back to play well the second game."

In the opener, UNO scored twice in the sixth and plated three more in the seventh to snap a 2-2 tie.

Wayne State struck first in the opening inning when Amy Sandstrom singled and scored on Sam Earleywine's groundout to shortstop.

UNO took a 2-1 lead in the fourth when Julia Krejci and Lindsey Slocum each hit solo home runs, but Wayne State tied the score in the bottom of the fifth when Hannah Engelkamp doubled and scored on Earleywine's single to shortstop.

The Mavericks took the lead for good in the sixth when Kristin Wellwood hit a two-run homer to center, then added insurance in the seventh when Krejci hit her second homer of the game, a three run shot to center.

runs and seven hits in the first game, Goetzing came back and struck out 10 batters while throwing a four-hit shutout to help the Wildcats gain the split.

Wayne State had just three hits in the nightcap, but took advantage of three errors and four walks by the Mavericks' defense.

Wayne State got on the board in the first with two runs, as Sandstrom singled and scored when Sam Earleywine reached on an error. Blaire Kuhl singled and scored on an RBI groundout to second base by Aeriell Earleywine to make it 2-0. Wayne State scored on another UNO error in the fourth, and that was more than enough for Goetzing, who kept the Mavericks in check with a fine pitching performance.

"We've done a good job getting the lead runner on and getting them over to second, which gives us some opportunities to score and we had some kids come up with key hits," Unger said.

Blue Devil becoming a Bulldog

Logan Owens signed a letter of intent to accept a wrestling scholarship at Concordia University in Seward. The Wayne High School senior wrestling standout was a three-time state qualifier, and a state medalist during his high school career. Owens set the school record for wins in a single season during 2009-10, recording 46 wins, and came within one match of winning a second medal at the state tournament this season. Seated with him are his parents, Lori and Randy Owens. Standing, from left to right, are Stephanie Owens, Wayne High coach Tony Lawrence, Concordia University coach Doug Reece and Bryce Owens.

Fields named NSIC's top golfer

Adam Fields of Wayne State College was named the Northern Sun Conference Men's Golfer of the Week after claiming medalist honors at the Wayne State Spring Invitational Sunday and Monday, the first tournament of the spring season.

Fields, a junior from Sioux City Heelan, shot a two-over par 74 Sunday and a two-under par 70 Monday to finish the 36-hole tournament at even par 144. His score Monday helped the Wildcats set a new 18-hole school record with a 287 while also establishing a new 36-hole school record with a 589, good for a second place finish and just two strokes behind first place St. Cloud State.

going 3-for-5 in the game. Tom Doran got the win, going six innings and giving up six runs on nine hits.

In the nightcap, Duluth broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth with a run, then added an insurance run in the seventh to take a 4-2 advantage.

Wayne State battled back in the bottom of the seventh, loading the bases, but the Bulldogs held and escaped with a split.

WSC men set new marks at home meet

The Wayne State College men's golf team set two new school records Monday to finish in second place at the Wayne State Spring Invitational played at the Wayne Country Club. The Wildcats set a new school record for 18 holes with a 287 and established a new 36-hole scoring record of 589 to finish just two strokes behind team champion St. Cloud State at 587. The old school records for Wayne State were 291 for 18 holes and 595 for 36 holes, both set at the Hastings College Fall Invitational on Oct. 10, 2008. Sioux City Heelan junior Adam Fields captured individual medalist honors, shooting rounds of 74 and 70 to finish with an even-par 144 to lead Wayne State. Bellevue West graduate Jake Hirz, another junior, was right behind in a four-way tie for second at 145 after rounds of 73 and 72. "He just played really consistent. He was 3 or 4 under at one time and it's great to see him off to a great start for the spring," coach Troy Harder said. "We worked on a couple of minor things and some of that's kicking in, but a lot of it is confidence and playing at home, it's a nice, comfortable setting for them. Glenwood, Iowa sophomore Tyler Thompson fired a two-under par 70 on Monday to go with his 77 on Sunday to finish tied for sixth at 147. Other Wayne State scores included Tyler DeJong, tied for 30th at 153 (78-75); and Scott Barnes, tied for 56th at 164 (83-81). "Hopefully this is the start of something for them and we'll need a repeat performance this weekend," Harder said. "We're fighting for a shot at regionals and we need to get in the top three in about every event to make it to regionals in California. Kearney is in our region and to come back from down 10 shots after 18 holes is great, and to lose to a great team by St. Cloud is great for us." The Wayne State women finished in sixth place with a team score of 709. Concordia-St. Paul won the tournament with a 637, finishing nine strokes ahead of Southwest Minnesota State in the eight-team event.

"We got out to a tough start the first day," Harder said. "I was glad we could come back and play better the second day, and now we're going to have to play even better the rest of the way. We have a good group of upperclassmen, and they can do it." Individually for Wayne State, Norfolk Catholic senior Ali Fuchtmann and Plainview junior Heather McCabe finished in a tie for 21st overall to lead the Wildcats, as both players shot 36-hole scores of 174. Fuchtmann shot 85 and 89 while McCabe's scores were reversed with an 89 Sunday and 85 Monday. Gretna senior Kelsey Katsampas was 27th overall at 180 (94-86) with Valentine sophomore Katie Isom close behind at 181 (92-89) to finish in 28th. Battle Creek sophomore Paige Barry rounded out the Wildcat scoring with a 193 (96-97). The next meet for both will be Friday and Saturday when Wayne State plays in the Upper Iowa Invitational in Ankeny, Iowa.

Relays

Tyler Bodlak won the 800 and 1,600-meter runs, setting a new meet mark in the 800-meter run with a time of 2:05.4. Schantz was a double winner as well in sweeping the throws, including a new meet standard in the shot put with a throw of 52 feet, 6 inches.

Bodlak's efforts, which included running legs on the Trojans' winning relays in the 1,600- and 3,200-meter events, helped the Trojans finish a respectable second in the seven-team boys race.

"Overall, I was very pleased with how we performed," Wakefield coach Mike Hassler said. "Chad and Tyler both ran well for us today, and it was good to see them step up for us."

Hassler was pleasantly surprised at his team's efforts in the hurdle events. Brendan Nicholson and T.J. Rose led a 1-2 sweep in the 110-meter hurdles, and Rose came within an eyelash of a first-place finish in the 300-meter hurdles.

"We hardly ever do well in the hurdles, but this year it seems we have them coming out of the woodwork," Hassler said. "Brendan getting first in the hurdles and T.J. almost getting first in the 300 hurdles was a big surprise for us."

Clay bounced back from his near miss in the 100-meter dash to claim the 200-meter race by four-tenths of a second over Saunders, who got a second win on the day as the anchor leg of the winning 400-meter relay team.

Colorado State recruit Bethany DeLong was a one-girl wrecking crew in helping the Lady Bears to the top of the leader board, winning three individual events and running a leg on the winning 400-meter relay team.

Two of her wins were record-setting performances, as she set new standards in both the 100- and 200-meter dashes. She had sizable leads in both races, winning the 100-meter dash by almost a full second and cruising to a 1.6-second win in the 200-meter dash.

"She's going to get her points no matter where she's at on the track, but the difference for us is that we have people picking up points from top to bottom in other events," Sims said.

One of those point-scorers is junior distance specialist Katie Jacobsen, who put up new marks in the 800- and 1,600-meter runs. She was pushed by Wakefield runners Abby Schultz and Shelby Lierman, both of whom finished within three seconds of her, and she had an easy time in the 800-meter run, winning by more than four seconds. She also ran the anchor leg on the winning 400-meter relay team.

"She ran well today, and I would have liked to have had her in another open race," Sims said. "I think she was concerned with her times a little bit, but I felt she ran well today."

Wayne's sister act of Carly and Caitlin Fehringer found their way into the meet record books Tuesday. Carly, the senior, swept the throws and set a meet mark in the shot put with a heave of 41 feet, 10.5 inches; while Caitlin, the sophomore, raced to a record mark of 17 seconds flat in the 100 hurdles and finished second to another meet record mark in the 300 hurdles.

The Wakefield girls finished a respectable third and came away with four first-place performances of their own. Keri Lunz breezed to a win in the 400-meter dash, Lierman was first to the tape in the 3,200-meter run, and the Trojans won the 1,600- and 3,200-meter relays, setting a new meet standard in the latter.

"Our distance girls ran really well for us, and I was really pleased with them and with Katelyn (Tuttle) and Sydney (Rose) as well," Hassler said.

The Allen girls didn't come away with any first-place performances on the day, but had some pretty good efforts that allowed them to finish with 10 medals and a sixth-place finish in the eight-team girls race.

Half of the Lady Eagles' medals were won by Mariah McCoy and Olivia Schneiders. McCoy finished with three medals, two coming in the weight events, while Schneiders had a pair of medals and flirted with the school record in the 300-meter hurdles.

"Olivia almost broke the school record, and I knew she had it in her," coach Denise Hingst said. "I thought our 400 and 3,200 relays had a good day overall as well, and I think a lot of our times improved from the first meet."

All the area teams will return from the Easter break with action on the track in the area. Wayne hosts its own meet Tuesday, with Wakefield one of the teams scheduled to attend. The Trojans will join Allen and Laurel-Concord among a number of area teams that will go to Homer for the Krumweide Invite on Friday, April 9.

Collins won the race in record-setting time. Wayne's Marissa Fallesen earned medals in the long jump and triple jump. Laurel-Concord's Ezra Schantz won both throwing events, including a meet record in the shot put. Wakefield's Keri Lunz cruised to the win in the 400-meter dash. Allen's Olivia Schneiders performed well, nearly breaking the school record in the 300-meter hurdles.

SAFE WINTER DRIVING TIPS

- Clear snow and ice from windows, lights, windshield wipers, the hood, and the roof of your vehicle, before driving. The windshield-washer reserve should be filled with a freeze-resistant cleaning solution.
- When you see plows, stay at least 200 feet behind them.
- Leave room for stopping. Brake early and carefully.
- Don't use cruise control. The short touch of your brakes to deactivate the cruise control can cause you to lose control of your vehicle.
- Pay attention. Look ahead to see what other vehicles are doing. That way you will know about any impending road or weather conditions.
- Watch your speed. Even if your car handles well in snow and ice, other drivers' cars may not. Drive according to the conditions: Don't exceed the speed limit and drive slowly in harsh conditions. Don't try to out-drive bad weather.

Some believe U.S. Prez is Antichrist?

Happy April Fool's Day – since April 1 fell on our paper day, I was hoping we'd do something for our readers to make your newspaper-reading adventure a little more interesting than it is the other 51 weeks of the year.

However, some of the ideas we had for this week's paper either were not technically possible (printing everything upside down and backwards) or were ethically questionable (fabricated stories about widespread corruption and money laundering in Carroll's city government...although if the stories were about Washington politicians, they'd be true and we'd have to print 2-3 special editions).

So, in lieu of confusing our readership with bogus stories, upside-down front pages or other April Fools-related hijinks, here's a few crazy – and yet, true – news bits yours truly found while surfing the net in a blatant attempt to appear as if I was actually working:

– a new online Harris Poll of 2,320 adults has found that 14 percent of those surveyed think President Barack Obama is...brace yourselves...the Antichrist.

In addition, 29 percent think he has done things as President that are unconstitutional, 38 percent say he wants to take away our right to own guns, and 20 percent think he is doing many of the same things Hitler did in pre-World War II Germany.

As for those who think he is the Antichrist, it's obvious those people have the wrong guy identified. Everybody who knows understands the Antichrist is actually Nancy Pelosi...or it might be Rush Limbaugh.

–From the "Those wacky, dentally-challenged Brits" department: a British professor has concluded that using Facebook can give you a sexually-transmitted disease.

According to reports, cases of syphilis have increased by more than four times in the United Kingdom, and the professor, Peter Kelly, blames the sudden jump in STD's on Facebook.

Kelly said that his staff had found a link to social networking among those who had been diagnosed, and that people are more likely to meet up for casual sex after connecting with one another via social networking sites.

I don't know about you, but I've had a Facebook account for more than two years, and the only thing I've been diagnosed with is coming into contact with too many people I haven't communicated with since high school. That, and carpal-tunnel syndrome from too many mouse clicks.

–And now, this week's front-runner for "Stupid Criminals of the Week," brought to you by Enron: A couple in New York are in trouble with the law after engaging in some fraudulent behavior that involves...Jell-O pudding.

The couple allegedly purchased several packages of Jell-O instant pudding, removed the contents, replaced them with salt and sand, then returned the packages for a refund.

I don't make these stories up, folks...I just wait for Darwin's theory to be proven wrong and then download the evidence off the Internet.

– Our runner-up to the "SCotW" award has to be this guy: Cleveland police were led on a high-speed car chase by a 20-year-old man who had been stopped for driving on a suspended license.

The suspect abandoned his vehicle, took off on foot and scaled a 30-foot fence to escape from police... but realized, much to his chagrin, that he landed directly in the yard of a women's prison.

– From the "And remember, THESE chaps are wasting your hard-earned tax dollars as well" folder: the Republican National Committee is asking one of its members to return $1,946 that was reimbursed for a recent trip to a bondage-themed lesbian nightclub in West Hollywood.

So remember, folks...when you go to the polls this November to weed all the lunatic liberals out of Washington, remember that your only alternative, at this point, are the greedy, nutjob conservatives. Enjoy the choices...I know I'll sleep well knowing one of these two political parties will be hard at work making sure they put America's interests first (and, yes, that was sarcasm...thanks for noticing).

Letters

Writing in favor of highway underpass

This letter is concerning the proposed underpass that would run underneath Highway 35 and allow Wayne Public Elementary students a safer way to cross the street when going to and from school. I attended a town hall meeting Tuesday evening, March 23, and heard some resistance to the idea so I thought I'd share my thoughts about it.

My daughter is one of the students that has to use the system that is in place now, which is a traffic light with a button the children can push to make traffic stop. Since I don't believe the light stays red long enough and I don't trust drivers to always be attentive, I have instructed my daughter to push the button, make sure traffic is stopped and then run.

This isn't a quiet little street she's crossing, but a state highway with higher speeds and heavier traffic. It is nerve-wracking for her and me and I don't believe it's something we need to experience twice a day, five times a week during the school year.

One of the city council members at the meeting pointed out the fact that it has been this way for years with no injuries or fatalities. I think that means we've been lucky so far and that is a poor argument for not fixing something potentially dangerous. A council member also suggested talking to our kids about safe ways to cross a road.

Capitol View What to do after stimulus funds?

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN – The economic stimulus package pushed by President Obama and enacted by Congress went a long way towards helping the Legislature balance the current state budget. And it was especially useful in providing state dollars to local school districts.

Wherever the money comes from, state aid to schools is intended to help local governments hold down the taxes levied on local property to whatever degree possible. It is also intended to help school districts avoid making painful personnel and program cuts that might be deemed harmful to the educational experience.

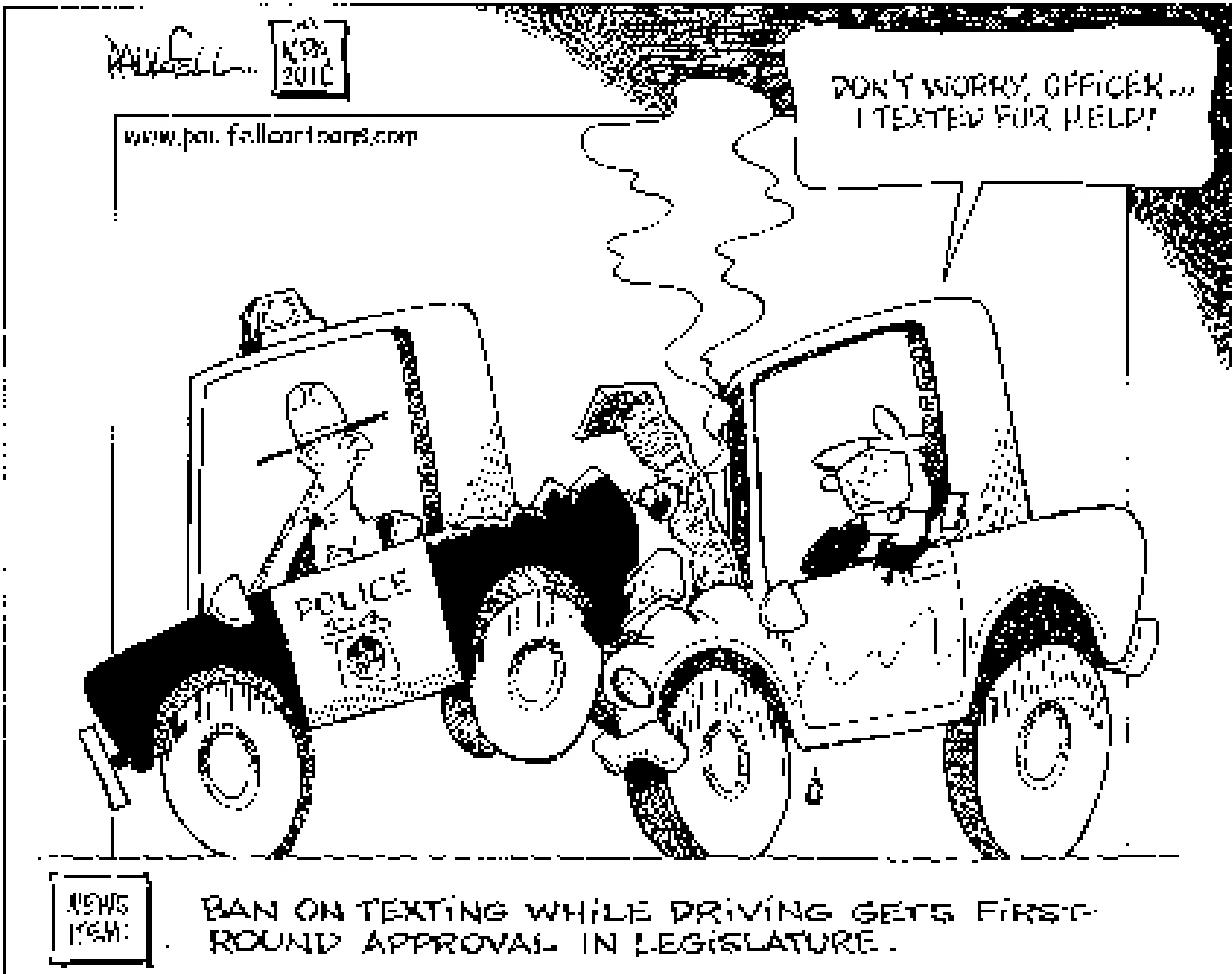

Gov. Dave Heineman and the Legislature chose to use a big percentage of its stimulus dollars to avoid the need for even greater budget cuts at the state level than those already enacted, and to provide the previously mentioned money for local governments.

So far, so good. In the next year, those federal dollars will contribute $140 million to state aid. It is $94 million for the 2010-2011 school year. The total state aid package: $950 million dollars.

But as state policymakers knew from the beginning, those stimulus dollars run out pretty soon. Which means the 2011-2012 school year looms large and ugly, financially. That's when the federal money runs out. And the state burden will soar to about $1 billion dollars. That's billion, with a "B."

Texting And Driving Soon To Be A No-No in Nebraska

Without making any editorial endorsement per se, this column previously noted it could not find fault with a proposal to make it illegal to drive and text at the same time. A majority of lawmakers have expressed the same sentiment with their votes.

At this writing, it appeared that the measure was headed for passage, and approval by Gov. Dave Heineman.

You haven't lived, or perhaps nearly died, until you look up and see someone swerving in your lane, smiling and texting away, guiding their motor vehicle with – what?

Legislative Update

Business bill hit by bad timing

Greetings from the Unicameral! Sometimes timing can be everything in the Legislature. Last week, that held true for LB709, a bill introduced by Sen. Tom White of Omaha which I chose as my priority bill for the session.

The bill would have adopted the Small Business Regulatory Flexibility Act, which would require state agencies to consider the economic impact of proposed regulations on small businesses prior to adoption, periodically review existing regulations to ensure they are not excessive, and consider less burdensome methods of compliance with regulations for small businesses. As many small business owners know, the cost of business has increased significantly in the past decade, in part due to excessive "red tape."

While LB709 received strong support from the National Federation of Independent Business and the Nebraska Farm Bureau, many state agencies claimed that the bill would be a burdensome addition to their workload in light of unconstitutional. Legal scholars are divided on whether the new law can pass constitutional muster.

Can States Recall Elected Federal Officeholders?

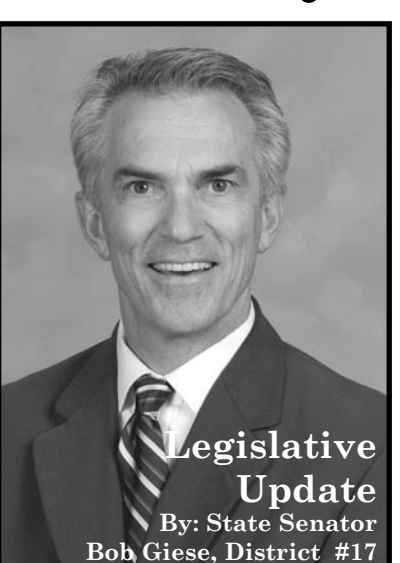

The federal judiciary will likely decide whether voters in individual states can use the petition process to enact measures allowing for the recall of federal officials. A group of Nebraskans, and activists in some other states, are circulating petitions for an initiative that would attempt to give state voters such authority.

The U.S. Constitution is silent on the issue. That means the federal courts, probably the United States Supreme Court, can expect to be asked to settle the question.

Is Cutting Taxes During A Recession Good Policy?

Barring a turnaround by a legislative majority, Nebraska will soon enact more tax breaks for businesses, hoping to bring more high tech companies to the state. The battle among states to lure businesses with tax breaks, in the name of economic development, has been going on for more than 30 years.

Critics say the pending Nebraska proposal could reduce state revenues by $13 million over the coming years. Proponents hope the plan would mean new economic activity which would ultimately yield more tax dollars, compensating for the initial reductions in tax breaks.

Safe Routes Nebraska sponsors day to promote safe walking and biking

Safe Routes Nebraska encourages parents, educators and community leaders to celebrate Nebraska's third annual Spring Walk to School Day, Wednesday, April 21. The goal of the day is to promote healthy, active lifestyles for children through safer routes to walk and bike to school.

Schools and groups across the state are planning Walk to School Day events in their communities where youth can meet and walk together along safe routes.

According to Kelly Morgan, program coordinator for Safe Routes Nebraska, the events highlight safety in walking and biking to school and the importance of increasing physical activity in the lives of children. "Walk to School Day events demonstrate an easy, fun way to integrate extra activity into the day," Morgan said. "They also emphasize the importance of safety while addressing environmental and traffic congestion issues. In addition, the events are valuable in building rapport between families, schools and the community as a whole."

Morgan also said there is still plenty of time for parents, educators and community groups interested in organizing and registering an event in their community.

Natalie Kingston of Public Health Solutions District Health Department organized Walk to School Day events in the communities of Crete, Diller, Odell and Exeter in 2009. This year she plans to expand events to the communities of Fairbury, Bruning, Davenport and Dorchester. "We're working to expand our Walk to School Day events into more communities this year, and we're supplying local groups with the tools they'll need to be able to host great Walk to School Day events."

The Safe Routes Nebraska Web site — www.saferoutesne.com — offers useful tips and ideas for groups wanting to host a Walk to School Day event. Once a Walk to School Day event has been registered on the Safe Routes Nebraska site, organizers will receive a link to the Spring Walk to School Day toolkit, which includes posters, printable brochures for parents and ideas for promoting the event in the community. The kit also includes a certificate of participation for children who get involved in the event.

Walk to School Day events are organized nationally to emphasize the importance of increasing physical activity among children, creating safer routes for children who walk and bike and improving pedestrian safety. In addition, traffic congestion and environmental concerns are addressed while building connections between families, schools and the greater community.

Parents are encouraged to actively participate in Spring Walk to School Day as well by walking with their children. In addition to kick-starting a healthier lifestyle, it's a great way to start the day.

The statewide Spring Walk to School Day is conducted through Safe Routes Nebraska, a state affiliate of the National Safe Routes to School Program. Through the 2005 passage of the Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy of Users, Congress designated $612 million toward developing the National Safe Routes to School Program. Money is distributed to the Nebraska Department of Roads to fund education, planning and implementation of Safe Routes to School plans and programs.

For more information about how to organize or promote a Spring Walk to School Day event, contact Kelly Morgan, Safe Routes Nebraska program coordinator, at (402) 476-7331 or kmorgan@sinclairhille.com.

Sharp Shooters compete in several meets

March Madness not only refers to basketball play-offs, it also refers to the shooting schedule of the Wayne County Sharpshooters 4-H Club. Members of the Sharpshooters 4-H club have spent the majority of their March weekends competing in shooting competitions throughout northeast Nebraska.

The first shoot had four members of the Wayne club competing at Pierce County Shoot. The Sharpshooters club had representatives in both the Junior Division and Senior Division for BB Gun. Total possible points in the BB gun competition are 400.

Josh Greunke represented the club in the Junior division and placed fourth with a total score of 245. The Senior division was represented by three club members: Landon Kraft placed second with a 354, David Greunke placed third with a 342 and Myles Flores placed fourth with a 324. The club also had four members competing for honors in air rifle competition with a possible total of 300 points being earned.

In the Intermediate division, Myles Flores placed second with a score of 200 and David Greunke placed fourth with a 167. In the Senior Division, Lathan Kraft placed second with a 195 and Landon Kraft placed third with a score of 179. ## Winside Scouts have busy month

The Winside Boy Scouts met the last two Sundays to work on the plans for the Omelet Feed that will take place on Sunday, April 11 at the Winside Auditorium from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"What's unique about the Omelet is that each guest gets to build their own omelet!! We will have ingredients like mushrooms, cheese, ham, onion, green peppers, jalapenos, salsa, etc. We will also have sides of link sausage and french toast," said Scout Leader Joni Jaeger.

This year is the 100th year of scouting and the scouts will be raffling off a Henry 22 caliber rifle with the Boy Scout Law and Oath and 100th year symbol on it. The rifle will be drawn at 12:30 p.m. on April 11. ($5/ticket or $10/3 tickets). Tickets available from any scout and adult leader/parent of the Winside Troop. They will be available at the door also. All proceeds will go toward the Troop trailer/equipment that we are saving up to purchase.

Kathy Hansen is serving as the advertising chair and Jason Elznic is working with the radio stations.

The new recruit of Webelos scouts this year required a new patrol. They are the "Hissing Cobras". The older scouts changed their patrol name to the "Screaming Badgers." The patrols are presently making new patrol flags and working on their new yells and patrol song. All should be ready for the next campout, which will be April 30 at Norfolk. This is a district event.

Campout activities will be canoeing, compass hiking and dutch oven and patrol relays. Scouts will leave Friday at 5:30 p.m. and return Sunday afternoon.

On March 21 the scouts went to Grand Island to watch the migration and tour some museums and Cabela's. They camped at St. Augustine Boy Scout camp.

Brock Carlson was the cook for the weekend. Adults leaders were Broch Muhs, Jason Elznic and Paul Hansen. The new Scouts worked on their Tenderfoot requirements. The Webelos and their dads were also invited. They are working on the outdoorsman activity pin.

After each regular patrol meeting scouts have an optional MB/rank clinic with Scoutmaster/MB counselors. This has been successful toward finishing up merit badges. Scouts earning awards for March were Connor Elznic - Music, Family Life, and Computers, Caleb Dwinell - Music, Isaiah Muhs - Music.

The scouts are also picking their classes out for Camp Cedars summer camp in Fremont.

The next activity will be this Friday night. Scouts are going to the YMCA for laser tag. They will leave the scouthouse at 7:15 p.m. and return by 10 p.m. Bring $8 for laser tag and money for ice cream afterwards. The event is limited to the first 20 that sign up.

The next meeting after that will be at the Auditorium on Sunday, April 11 at 7:30 a.m. to set up for omelet feed.

A total of 16 teams competed in the tournament, including law students representing the University of Connecticut, Georgetown University, Fordham University, University of Virginia, George Mason University and George Washington University.

The event is hosted by the American University Washington College of Law Stephen S. Weinstein Trial Advocacy Program and Mock Trial Honor Society.

Responsibility is Character Connections theme

Responsibility was the theme of the Character Connections assembly held at Wayne Elementary School on March 29.

A short play entitled, "Standing Tall," was performed by Molly Hoskins, Miranda Fehringer, Brock Rebersdorf, Kendall Braun, Jack Evotovich, Austin Fernau and Kennedy Maly. The play showed how a group of students, who at first made fun of the stuttering of a new student, learned to take responsibility for their actions and treat the new boy with respect. "It isn't funny," one of the characters declared as the play ended, "I'm sorry, Jason. This is a nice school."

March Students of the Month were honored with certificates and pins, and March birthdays were celebrated.

Mr. Schrunck, elementary principal, picked some "helping hands" out of the bucket and recognized the students for their good deeds with praise and a treat.

The Wayne Elementary Character Connections program, reinforced by all staff, ensures that Wayne Elementary School maintains a positive school climate. Social skills for conflict resolution and bully prevention are systematically taught in guidance classes by Ms. Sudmann, school counselor, and bullying is not tolerated.

The Character Connections word for April and May is 'Perseverance,' "a quality we will all need from now until the last day of school on May 20!" Ms. Sudmann said.

Character Connections students for March included:

Kindergarten: Rockhill — Brenden Swanson; Meyer — Tyler Reinhardt; Heikes — Drew Sharpe.

First grade: Thomas — Koby Nelson; Maas — Victor Kniesche; Ostrand — Christopher Reyes

Engagements — Kids learn about more than food in the kitchen

Dickey — Lewis

Bill and Deb Dickey of Wayne have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jessica Dickey, to Marice Lewis, son of the late Vickie Lewis, Stanley Gayton and Jannie Courtney of Brunsville, Minn.

The bride-to-be is a 2006 graduate of Wayne High School and a 2009 graduate of Minnesota State University at Mankato with a degree in social work. She is currently employed as a staff trainer by Mosaic in Norfolk.

Her fiancé is a 2004 graduate of Apple Valley Senior High School in Apple Valley, Minn. He is currently enrolled at Wayne State College and is pursuing a degree in accounting.

The couple is planning a May 22, 2010 wedding at the Concord Evangelical Free Church in Concord.

Leather and Lace holds March dance

Leather and Lace held their bi-monthly dance on March 26 with 38 dancers present. They danced to the caller Mike Hogan.

Linda Schmidt won the free pass and split the pot went to Jennette Workman, Donna Tietzort and Alan Leopley. Single Wheelers took the club banner.

The following week 12 Leather and Lace dancers traveled to Norfolk Single Wheelers to retrieve the club banner and take home Single Wheelers banner as well.

Dancers were reminded to attend the Spring Festival with Dean Dederman calling on Friday, April 9, beginning at 7:15 p.m. at Christ Lutheran in Norfolk with the Grand March at 7:30 for the dance.

Leather and Lace members will attend the Spring Festival instead of their usual dance that night. Members are reminded of the annual meeting, which will be Thursday, April 22 at The Coffee Shoppe and members will order off the menu.

The next scheduled dance will be Friday, April 23 with Marshall Poole calling. It will be Root Beer Floats night.

Asking kids to help in the kitchen may speed dinner preparation; it also may improve their report card. Encouraging children to learn about food and basic cooking skills can simplify family meals and snacks. It also can help children expand their vocabularies; learn math; and practice their people skills as they learn to enjoy cooking with others.

Learning to read a recipe can help children learn new words and actions, like pinch, roll and slice. Measuring and following the steps in a recipe also can help children practice math skills, learn about science — why does the bread rise? — and logic. Here are some suggestions for age-appropriate activities in the kitchen:

- A two-year-old can wipe tabletops; snap green beans; scrub vegetables or wash salad greens.

- A three-year-old usually can pour cereal; spread soft spreads, like jam; place things in the trash; mix some ingredients, like dry ingredients for a quick bread, and clear their place at the table.

- A four-year-old may be ready for additional activities, such as setting the table; peeling hard-cooked eggs; mashing bananas with a fork, or helping to unload the dishwasher.

- A five-to-six year old should be able to measure ingredients; break eggs into a bowl; cut with a blunt knife or use an egg beater.

As children master new skills, they often are eager to accept more responsibility in the kitchen. Their interest can provide enjoyable family times and teachable moments. Talk about where food comes from (like milk from a cow that lives on a farm) and nutritional value (builds strong bones and teeth), and teach food safety. For example, remind children to wash hands with soap and water — count to 20 while lathering — before and after handling food. Prepare food on a clean table or counter top, using clean utensils. And, to save later stresses, start teaching clean-up at an early age.

Younger children do need to be supervised. Hot pots and pans or a stove top; electrical appliances, like mixers, bread machines or dishwashers; knives, shears, or other kitchen utensils can be problematic. Here are some project ideas for parents and children in the kitchen:

- Make personal pizzas. Use

Angela Abts
Dakota County

prepared crusts or a can of refrigerated biscuits. Roll biscuits to flatten slightly; spread with pizza sauce and toppings of choice, like diced ham, crushed pineapple, and cheese.

- Make a spider pretzel. For each, set out two round crackers; two teaspoons of creamy peanut butter; eight stick pretzels; and two raisins. Make a cracker "sandwich" with the crackers and most of the peanut butter; insert pretzels as legs; and secure eyes with a small dab (remaining) of peanut butter.
- Plan an indoor picnic. Ask children to help fill a basket with foods; spread a tablecloth or blanket on the floor in a room other than the kitchen and have a party.
- Turn dessert into a party — set up a sundae bar. Choose ice cream, frozen yogurt or sherbet, and offer a selection of toppings,

Minerva Club learns of Wausa festival

Members of the Minerva Club met March 22 at the Senior Citizens Center with Margaret Anderson serving as hostess.

Ten members answered roll call by telling of a sign of spring they have noticed. Vice-President Mary Ann DeNaeyer made us smile when she opened the meeting by reading a list of old proverbs with a twist written by first graders.

Minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given by Donna Hansen. The constitution was up-dated. The birthday song was sung for Connie Glassmeyer and Twyla Lindsay.

Historian Hollis Frese read from the minutes of Oct. 14 and Oct 21, 1946. Minerva Club celebrated its 50th birthday by inviting Acme, UD Club and Monday Club to an elaborate tea. The committee was busy making sandwiches and tea cakes as well as sweeping, dusting, and pushing furniture in the new Women's Club Room.

The nominating committee, consisting of Arlene Ostendorf and Fauneil Bennett, presented the following slate of officers: President-MaryAnn DeNaeyer; Vice-President-Connie Glassmeyer; Secretary-Fauneil Bennett; Treasurer-Donna Hansen and Historian-Hollis Frese. Election will take place the first meeting in April.

More program themes were discussed. Added to the list were World Fairs/Expos and Favorite book/author. Officers for 2010-2011 will meet and decide the program theme for the up coming year.

Margaret Anderson presented her festival program about the Wausa Smorgasbord. It was most interesting to learn how this event began. Twenty-five Methodist women organized a dinner to raise money for a new church organ. The first smorgasbord was held Oct. 7, 1949 with 700 people attending. The event raised $850.

Over the years more and more Swedish recipes were prepared. It took 55 gallons of milk and seven gallons of cream to make rice pudding and ostkaka. People continued to attend from the local area as well as other states and even foreign countries and the crowds grew larger and larger. Entertainment by Swedish dancers and craft vendors was added to the festivities. Because of the popularity of this occasion, men started lending a helping hand. They made 3,000 cups of egg coffee. 1962 was the last year the Methodist ladies were able to manage such a large event and six years went by without the smorgasbord being held and then the entire community got involved.

Swedish dishes and entertainment continue to this day. Profit from this event goes to pay for scholarships, community facility improvement, youth programs, etc. Margaret showed photos and encouraged us all to attend the Smorgasbord on the fourth Saturday of October.

The Monday, April 12 meeting will be held at the Senior Center with Twyla Lindsay as hostess.

There are two ways to participate in the Wayne event. People may meet in the worship center at Journey Christian Church (1110 E. Seventh St.) at noon to sing songs and rehearse the biblical story of Jesus' death, or people may gather at St. Mary's Catholic Church (412 E. The two groups will combine for the closing of the service. All members of the community are invited to be a part of the remembrance.

Did You Know? Chiropractors Treat Sciatica...

Numeness in the foot
Weakness of the knee or foot
Difficulty walking

Sciatica is defined as pain that radiates from the lower back into the buttocks and down the back of one or both legs, caused by the irritation of the sciatic nerves. If the vertebrae or bones in the lower back are misaligned or out of place they can put pressure on the nearby nerves. This can cause tremendous pain and normal daily activities become almost impossible. Chiropractic care works on correcting misaligned or out of place vertebrae and can remove the pressure placed on the sciatic nerve, reducing pain and improving flexibility and function.

THANK YOU

From the family of Kylie Brown,

We appreciate so much all of the prayers and expressions of sympathy extended during our loss of Kylie. Even though our hearts are heavy and our family seems incomplete, having such a caring and helpful community, friends and family has been more support than it is possible to convey.

It is physically impossible and simply too painful to write each person individually, but please know we have read, re-read, and taken comfort from every card, flower, gift, food, visit and telephone call. Thank you to everyone who has made donations to Kylie's fund. It is greatly appreciated.

We would like to offer a special thank you to Valerie Hangman, Melissa Davis, Scott and Mary Kay Hasemann, Jen Simpson, Pastor Mark, Pastor Todd, and Shannon Arduser.

Jeff, Sherri, Dennis, Austin, Isaac, and Aaron

Thank you friends, families and communities for the kindness shown to Lois and us during her illness and since her death. We are forever grateful to everyone for their thoughts, prayers, cards, phone calls, visits, food and kind words. Thank you Dr. Martin, Dr. Bacon, Dr. Vollstedt, Dr. Doddabele, Providence Medical Center and Siouland Cancer Center for Lois's care. Thanks also to Pat Gross, Gary French, Ann Witkowski, Father Beran, Sister Cecilia, Hasemann Funeral Home and P.E.O. Chapter CZ. Mom gave the gift of herself to others and you have done the same for us. We cannot express how deeply touched we are during this difficult time. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.
