Doctor helping out in Haiti

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

A recent trip by Jim Van Delden of Wayne to Haiti "was a good trip, but your heart gets tugged on when you see the people there."

This was Van Delden's fifth trip to Haiti as part of a group from Georgia, led by Pastor Austine Smith of Ricon, Ga. and a group known as Foundling House, Inc.

Van Delden flew from Wayne to Miami on March 3 and then to Port au Prince, Haiti. From there he traveled in the back of a truck to the town of Thiottle. With him were Pastor Austine, two male evangelists and two team girls who made the trip to perform humanitarian service.

When the group arrived in Port au Prince, they met Patrick, a translator the group had worked with before.

"It was wonderful to see Patrick and know that he was alive after the earthquake," Van Delden said.

Van Delden is a medical doctor and after a five-hour trip to Thiottle due to poor road conditions, he began work at a medical clinic in the city of 10,000. He noted that there are few, if any, medical personnel in the town and the clinic is only staffed occasionally by medical personnel from the United States.

"I spent six days working in the clinic and treated a number of people with conditions such as diabetes and high blood pressure. I was able to take a number of medications along to give to these patients," Van Delden said.

In addition, he treated children with medical conditions such as skin and respiratory conditions. He said he began work at 8 a.m. and stayed until the last person was seen. Often, more than 60 patients visited the clinic in one day.

He also delivered a baby while there and the mother named the boy Jim, after Van Delden.

Van Delden said that the local pastor, Laurette Batrony, who helps run a school in the town, lets the area residents know when

Sidewalk districts, debated by Council, get past first reading

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

The creation of sidewalk districts in downtown Wayne was debated during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

In recent months townhall meetings were held and building owners were allowed the opportunity to express their opinions on the type of sidewalks to be installed.

It was determined that the majority preferred non-decorative sidewalks.

A Downtown Revitalization Grant in the amount of $250,000 was received for a portion of the project costs. The engineer's estimate for the total cost of the four separate projects, including engineering costs, is $485,000.

The project includes the sidewalk on First Street on the west side of Main Street and sidewalks on both sides of Main Street on Second and Third Streets, as well as the sidewalk on the east side of Pearl Street from First Street to Third Street.

It was noted that the current sidewalks in this area were replaced in 1976. Some of the work that needs to be done on the sidewalks is necessary to meet ADA requirements.

Randy Rubendall, owner of Snakey Jakes Pizza on East Second Street, told the council he felt the sidewalk district should include only the west side of Main Street as originally planned and that another district could be created in the future to address the sidewalk improvement on the east side of Main Street.

The council passed each of the four ordinances for the four districts on first reading but did not waive the three readings.

All four ordinances will be read again at the council's next meeting on Tuesday, April 20.

In other action, the council heard a report on the Pedestrian Underpass.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson told the council that the city is looking at options that were presented at a recent townhall meeting, including lowering the

New area code will soon be available here

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

More phone numbers will soon be available to area residents after the Nebraska Public Service Commission approved the addition of a new area code that will serve the region beginning next year.

The new 531 area code will serve the same geographic region now being served by the 402 area code in what the NPSC calls an area code overlay. The additional area code is needed, as all 10-digit combinations of the 402 area code are expected to run out in the near future.

Beginning June 26, a permissive dialing period will begin and residents will be asked to dial the complete 10-digit phone number (including area code) for all local phone calls. (For example, if you call the Herald office locally at 375-2600, you will have to dial 402-375-2600 under the new system to complete the call). If you forget to use the area code, your call will still be completed.

On Feb. 26, 2011, the new dialing procedure will become mandatory, requiring the 10-digit phone number be entered to complete a phone call. If the area code is not included, a recording will provide instructions. New phone lines or services with the 531 area code would be assigned starting March 26, 2011, assuming no further 402 numbering resources are available in the service area.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

City Council Meeting

The next city council meeting is Tuesday, April 20 at 5:30 p.m. in City Hall at 306 Pearl Street in Wayne.

Green Expo

The Wayne Green Expo will be held Saturday, April 24 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Wayne City Auditorium.

With higher costs ahead for energy production, how can we limit our own cost?

Our energy industry news says the main driver of future energy cost increases is competition from Asian countries as the world economy grows and everyone improves their standard of living to that of the US. The second cost driver will likely be new environmental protections for energy and water use.

Do we have to pay these costs?

Money spent for energy and resources goes out of the community forever. How can we buy only what we need? How do I know if my refrigerator is wasting electricity? How can I have a good looking lawn and use less water? How can I make the best use of rain fall? What part of my house is losing the most heat in the winter? Do we have to be totally dependent on others to sustain our current standard of living? Do you have shade in your yard? Do my kids know how to garden? Do I know how to garden?

For some simple ideas to lower energy and resource costs stop by the Wayne Green Expo in the city auditorium from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on April 24, 2010.

Alumni reunite in Wayne for basketball tournament

By DEB HARM
For the Herald

These items were in abundance as basketball alumni headed off to their Easter gatherings this past Sunday, after playing in the first annual Wayne High Alumni Basketball Tournament held in Wayne over the weekend.

Alumni tournaments are pretty common across the Midwest. Former local celebrities return to their old gyms, break out their court shoes and storm up and down the court, hoping to recreate their glory days.

It's a time for old roles to disappear, for post players to shoot threes, for guards to defend players who slightly outweigh them, for egos to be put aside and become a team of players defending their house.

This weekend was no different at numerous gyms in Wayne. A dozen and a half teams returned home to begin the tradition of honoring this love of the game.

When the dust settled, the championship game pitted an unusual pairing.

The teams facing each other shared a unique bond – a common year. The majority of the 89'ers graduated the same year the youngsters were born. Almost 20 years separated the players that stepped on the floor.

The game was filled with elbows and jabs, old plays reborn, the press and man-to-man. Sometimes the swish happened, sometimes it didn't. When the dust settled, the youngsters came out on top.

And as the teams traveled through their post-game congratulatory line and the gym cleared, it was clearly a moment that stood still in time – almost 20 years in fact.

County board amends budget, receives emergency grant money

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Wayne County Commissioners reopened their 2009-10 budget to accept money that came into the county in the form of an emergency management grant.

At Tuesday's meeting, the county board approved the amended budget in the amount of $33,000, which allows the county to receive funds of $31,788 from a 2007 grant that was received to help with upgrades of the dispatch center in the Wayne city dispatch system.

County Clerk Deb Finn told the board that the board would need to amend the budget to accept and spend the funds immediately. No additional tax dollars would be required, and the difference in the budget amendment and the amount received would allow for a smaller grant, which may come later this spring, to immediately be brought into the county coffers without another budget amendment being required.

According to Nic Kemnitz, county emergency manager, the money received will go toward the installation of computer cards in the county's radios that will assist in an improved system of communications between departments.

The board also approved the purchase of a new Ford Explorer from Arnie's Ford in Wayne for the sheriff's department.

Sheriff LeRoy Janssen said the cruiser he currently uses has more than 275,000 miles on it and recently had $1,500 in repairs.

"It's probably time to take a look at replacing it," he said.

Janssen asked for his Crown Victoria to be replaced with a Ford Explorer, which would give the department a four-wheel drive vehicle that would be better equipped to handle the needs of the department.

The board approved its lawn care services for the courthouse and social service office for 2010. Claussen and Sons Irrigation will handle the sprinkler system at the courthouse, Y and Y Lawn Service was awarded fertilizing and weed control for the courthouse and social service office, and Jason Carollo will handle lawn mowing services for both buildings.

The board also approved a lodging tax grant application for Elderfest in the amount of $1,000.

The county board will next meet on Tuesday, April 20 at 9 a.m.

Craig Florian as Elvis! to be highlight of Elderfest 2010

Elderfest is an all-day event designed especially for people age 55 and older, but it is open to everyone. Various health screenings and information sessions will be held in the morning, while a wide variety of entertainment will highlight the afternoon's festivities.

The doors open at 9 a.m. and free gifts will be given to the first 300 guests. All guests over 55 years of age will be able to register for a $1000 travel certificate, three gift cards worth $225 each and numerous other door prizes.

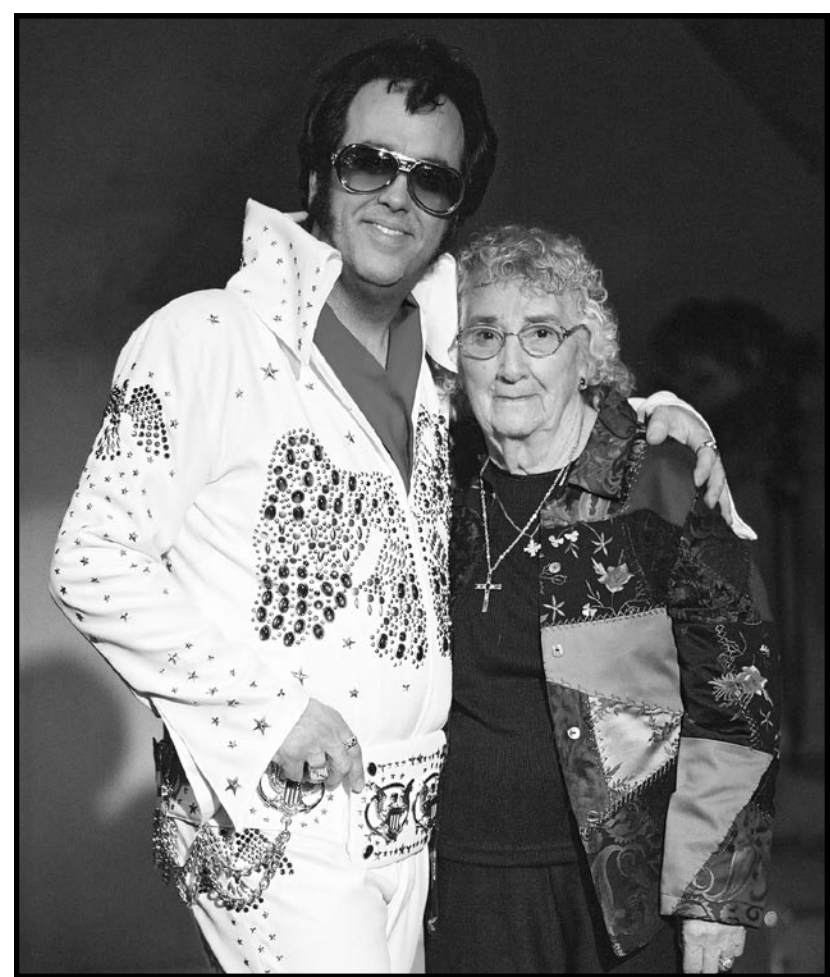

Shuttle service will be provided by the Wayne Rotary Club from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. from Our Savior Lutheran Church at 421 Pearl Street.

Free coffee and pastries will be served throughout the morning.

More than 30 vendors will have exhibits set up through the morning.

Greenwood Cemetery headstones affected by recent harsh winter

People are not the only ones feeling the effects of the long, cold winter.

Headstones at Greenwood Cemetery are being affected by both the winter and the thawing and freezing of recent days.

Steve Gross, a member of the Greenwood Cemetery Board said he feels as many as 50 percent of the stones in the cemetery may have been affected by this past winter's snow and temperature range.

"I have noticed a number of stones in the cemetery that are off-center on the base of the monument. This comes from freezing and thawing temperatures. Water gets between the stones and causes the seal to be broken," Gross said.

He advises the property owners/family members to inspect the stones and determine if something needs to be done.

"If the seal is broken, the stone will begin to move. If someone leaned on an older stone that was loose, it could fall off the base or on someone," Gross said.

He recommends having a professional take the monument apart, re-sealed and put back together. He noted that those in the monument business have both the equipment and materials to complete the project.

"The moving of stones is happening throughout the cemetery, not in any one particular location," Gross said. "This winter has been particularly hard on the cemetery monuments."

He said that when the stones become loose, it becomes 'risky' and noted that Greenwood Cemetery is not responsible for neglected stones.

A long line of people gather to get food in Port-au-Prince following the January earthquake. Many of these people now live in tents throughout the city.

Rally against sexual assault is April 15

Sexual Assault Awareness Month is a time to prevent and raise awareness about sexual violence in our homes, schools and communities. It is also a time to recognize the strength and courage of sexual assault survivors.

Sexual Assault Awareness Month was first nationally observed in April 2001; however, even before then women were organizing activities to promote awareness of sexual assault.

During Sexual Assault Awareness Month, domestic violence/sexual assault agencies plan various activities to raise awareness and celebrate survivors. According to the U.S. Department of Justice, one in four women and one in 33 men have experienced a sexual assault. This fact makes it easy to see why raising awareness and promoting prevention is so important.

During the month of April, Haven House encourages everyone to support the local domestic violence/sexual assault agency and the activities they host in April and throughout the year. Also, create awareness by speaking out against sexual assault, wear a teal ribbon to show support to ending sexual violence, learn more about sexual assault and prevention and support survivors of sexual assault.

The public is invited to attend a "Take Back the Night" Rally, hosted by Haven House and Wayne State College SAVE (Students Against Violence Everywhere) program in recognition of Sexual Assault Awareness Month. The Rally will be held on Thursday, April 15 at 8:30 p.m. at Heritage Plaza, located outside of the Wayne State College Library.

For more information about sexual assault and Sexual Assault Awareness Month, contact Haven House at 1-800-440-4633.

An American medical team is in town and this generally means lots of patients come from the rural areas for treatment.

"The Archdiocese of Madison, Wisc. has a hospital in Thiotte, but is not used unless someone from the U.S. comes to staff it," Van Delden said.

While the living conditions in the area were not comparable with those in this area of the United States, Van Delden said he had "a roof over my head and a bathroom." He said people in the area may have individual generators, which generate electricity for a couple of hours each day.

The area in which Thiotte is located is mainly dependent on agriculture for its income. Vegetables, tropical fruits and coffee are grown in the region.

Van Delden noted that the area of Thiotte was not as affected by the January earthquake as Port-au-Prince but while he was in Haiti, his host, who is well-to-do financially took the group on a tour of Port-au-Prince where many homes and businesses have been destroyed. He said he did not witness a lot of clean-up taking place but people were still going about their daily lives.

Van Delden returned to Wayne on March 13 and already has plans to return to Haiti later this year.

Council member Doug Sturm said he felt, "as a council, we have an obligation to the safety of our residents."

Council member Dale Alexander said that none of the residents in his ward that he has spoken to are in favor of the underpass.

The council also listened to a report on the status of the Wayne Municipal Airport project and results of the recent bid opening for the project.

Mitch Nissen, Chair of the Wayne Airport Authority, and Nancy Braden, Finance Director for the city of Wayne, told the council of the work to be done at the airport.

Originally, one of the runways was scheduled to be re-surfaced, but upon examination, it was found that another needed to be re-surfaced also.

The work will be done in four phases at a total cost of $3,647,000. The city's share will be approximately $132,000. Braden told the council that bids received were 32 percent lower than the engineer's estimates.

Dobson Bro. Construction of Lincoln is the apparent low bidder for the project.

Council members unanimously approved an application for a Class C Liquor License for BaHa, Inc., doing business as The Rain Tree. This is a change in the business' original license and will allow for on and off sale of alcohol.

In other action, Mayor Lois Shelton read proclamations for National Public Safety Telecommunicator's Week, April 11-17 and National Library Week, which is also April 11-17.

The council heard an update from Police Chief Lance Webster on the new E911 software in use by the police department.

Webster said that Phase II of the wireless project is nearly complete and will allow authorities to pinpoint within 15-20 feet the location of a call. The police dispatchers are working with local cell phone companies to complete the project.

The cost of the new service is being paid for by the Public Service Commission.

The next council meeting will be held Tuesday, April 20 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

WSC has gem of a program

As it was said in the classic movie "Field of Dreams": if you build it, they will come.

Scott Kneifl has built quite a volleyball program at Wayne State College over the last several years, and I'm not sure the average sports fan in this area realizes just how shiny a gem they have in the Wildcat volleyball program.

Saturday, area fans were drawn to the campus of Wayne State College to see another crown jewel of a volleyball program perform. The University of Nebraska Huskers volleyball team made a visit to Rice Auditorium and put on an afternoon scrimmage in front of more than 1,200 energetic fans.

Saturday's day-long celebration of volleyball, which included a well-received clinic conducted by the Wildcats volleyball team, was not only a showcase for the Huskers as they prepare for another run at another national title, but was an opportunity for volleyball fans to get a glimpse of the kind of quality program we've got right here in Wayne, America.

While area youth had an opportunity to spend some time with some of the Wayne State players in a morning clinic, the Wildcat players were visible to those in attendance and watched, along with the rest of us, as their big-time counterparts showcased their talents. It was like your kid sister watching the older sister performing and making mental notes of little things they saw that could help them improve their games by the time next season rolls around.

Saturday's crowd was evidence that this area is capable of drawing big crowds to see college sports teams compete. Granted, this was one of college volleyball's hottest draws, but it was also an opportunity for fans to make another connection with a volleyball program that is not too shabby in its own right.

It's a program Kneifl has built over the years, and one that is becoming one of the nation's best. The Wildcats have made it to the NCAA Div. II tournament in each of Kneifl's five years as head coach. Prior to his arrival, the Wildcats had never played in the NCAA tournament.

This year's team was an impressive bunch to watch, and their home games drew some pretty fun crowds. Almost everybody is back next year, and with the talent already in place mixing with some new faces, this is going to be a tremendously exciting time to watch next fall.

While most of the attention was focused on the Huskers and a team that will be in the hunt for a national title this December, I hope fans here don't forget that Nebraska isn't the only team that could be among the nation's best by the end of this year. The team that served as gracious hosts to the Huskers could very well be in that conversation at the Div. II level by the end of this season.

Here's hoping that the dream Kneifl and his team continues to build will get more people to come to Rice Auditorium this fall.

I watched the Tiger Woods news conference at Augusta on Monday, and if there's one thing I'm happy to see, it's my fellow journalists being put in their place.

As a sports fan, the only interest I have in Tiger Woods is his ability to launch lunar rockets off the tee, hit gravity-defying fairway shots, stop a little white ball to within inches of the hole from 200 yards out, and win golf tournaments like no other human being has before.

Maybe it's my experience in the business, but I've been around enough superbly-gifted athletes to know how some of these individuals act outside the lines. There is a sense of entitlement that comes from having mad game, a lot of which is fueled by the hero worship mentality we seem to develop for people like Woods.

I'm not the least bit surprised at the events that have come to light these last five months. That the number of women Woods has slept

Husker volleyball puts on a clinic

More than 1,200 pack Rice to see NU scrimmage

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The crowd in Rice Auditorium was on their feet, clapping along to a fight song not often played inside the arena on the campus of Wayne State College.

The scene was rather unusual as well. Rather than the usual black-and-gold attire, those in the crowd were wearing a familiar blend of red and white. And instead of cheering for the Wildcats, they were showing their Husker pride.

A crowd of more than 1,200 fans from across northeast Nebraska and northwest Iowa invaded Rice Auditorium Saturday afternoon to watch the Nebraska volleyball program conduct an intra-squad Red-White scrimmage in a day of volleyball that not only served as a benefit for the Wayne State program, but gave Husker fans a glimpse of what the Nebraska team will bring to the table in 2010.

The event, which was sponsored by The Wayne Herald and Morning Shopper, came together as part of an ongoing relationship between Nebraska coach John Cook and Wayne State mentor Scott Kneifl.

"Coach Cook and I have been friends for a long time, and we've been trying to get his team up here to display their talents to the fans up here, and I felt this was a great opportunity to get them here," Kneifl said.

Cook said the Huskers traditionally go outside Lincoln and showcase their team to in-state fans during the spring, but could not recall having come to this part of the state.

"I've known Coach Kneifl for several years, and we started throwing ideas around," Cook said. "We were able to get his players involved and brought our players up and it was a good opportunity for us to interact with fans. This is the first time we've been up in this part of the state, and it's been a great reception for us."

The day started with a morning volleyball clinic, conducted by Wayne State players. More than 250 young players spent the morning working with, and getting to know, the Wayne State players before the Huskers came in to show their talents.

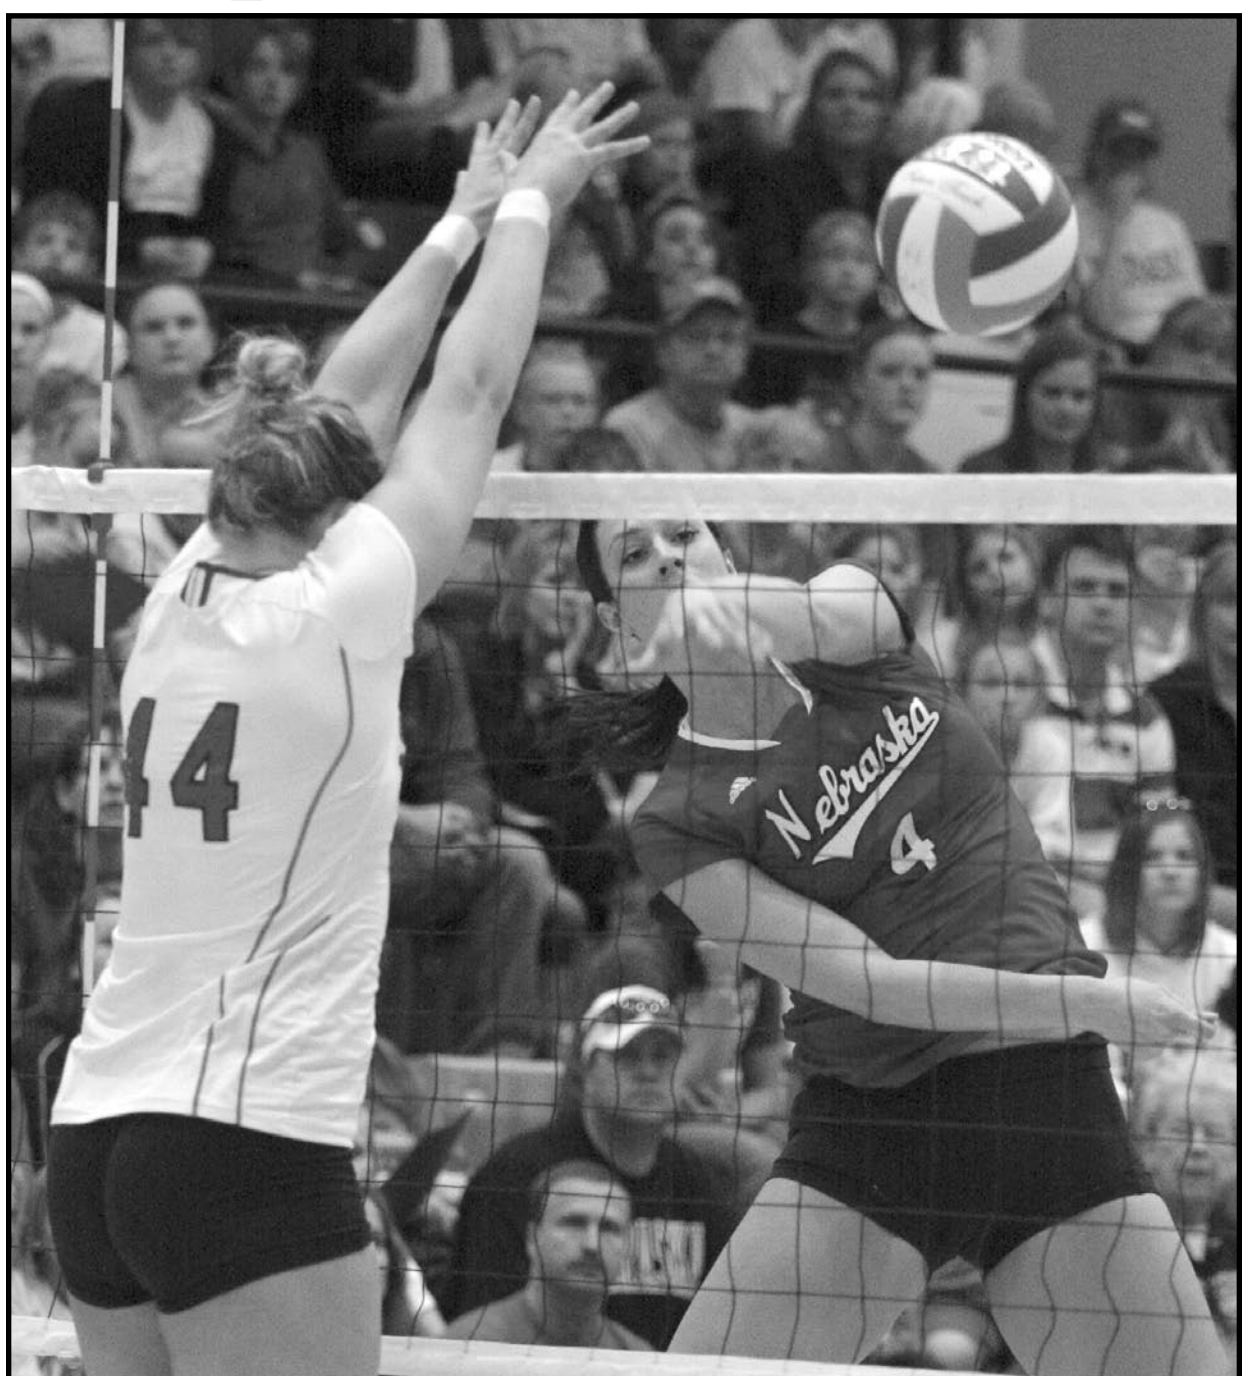

"It's a great thing for our program, and having 250 kids here for a morning clinic was just great," Kneifl said.

By lunch time Saturday, Husker fans were lined up around the southwest corner of Rice Auditorium, waiting patiently to take advantage of what is fast becoming the toughest ticket in the state. And the Huskers didn't disappoint, providing numerous long rallies and impressive serves, sets and slams during a four-set exhibition, won by the Red team, 25-22, 25-18, 23-25, 15-13.

"We did some really great things, but as a coach I know we have a lot of stuff to work on," Cook said of his team's performance. "I didn't really know where we were at until today, but I was glad to see some of the things we did. This was a great teaching day for us, and we still have a lot to work on."

It was also a great opportunity for Kneifl and his team to see one of the best teams in the country work of the state.

Blue Devils work late, win meet

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

As night fell on the track at Wayne Elementary School, the Wayne boys track team needed a strong finish in the final event to win a three-team race to the top of Tuesday's Wayne Invitational.

The anchor leg of the final event, the 1,600-meter relay, fell on the legs of Zach Thomsen, who made his first quarter-mile race a memorable one. He brought the Blue Devils home second to a strong Wakefield team, giving the host team just enough points (93) to outlast David City (90) and Pierce (88) to win an exciting team race.

Thomsen was a late addition to the lineup after Keegan Dorcey was unable to compete due to illness. He had run a leg on the Blue Devils' victorious 3,200-meter relay foursome earlier in the day, but this was a distance he wasn't used to running.

"I'd never run the 400 before, so it was a lot of pressure," a still-winded Thomsen said after receiving congratulations from his teammates. "I was really nervous, but it was one of my best races. I felt a lot of pressure, but I went out and gave it my all and it feels good to do it for the team."

Coach Dale Hochstein said he challenged Thomsen, and the junior responded with a fantastic anchor leg, keeping pace with the leading team from Wakefield and not allowing teams from David City and Pierce — teams that were one point behind Wayne going into the final event — to overtake him.

"I told Zach we needed somebody to step up, and he's a competitor and went out and ran really well," he said.

The Blue Devils won a tight team race, thanks in no small part to the efforts of their middle- and long-distance runners, who brought home the bulk of the team's points on the day.

The Blue Devils scored 18 points in the two distance relays, winning the 3,200-meter relay to start the day's track events. The team of Thomsen, Cory Foote, Luke Trenhaile and Marcus Baier finished almost nine seconds ahead of runner-up Wakefield, who returned the favor in the meet's final event, which was run in near-total darkness.

the individual distance races, picking up eight total medals and a combined 42 points in the 800, 1,600 and 3,200-meter runs. The Blue Devils posted 2-3-5 finishes in the 800 (Baier, Thomsen and Trenhaile, respectively) and 1,600 (Foote, Seth Onderstal, Quentin Jorgensen), then saw Onderstal and Jorgensen finish third and fourth in the 3,200. Baier also won the 400-meter run, adding another 10 points to the Blue Devils' total.

Hochstein said the Wayne boys answered a challenge he put to them before the meet.

"When we scored it on paper with the times everybody sent in, it looked like we'd finish fifth, so we put that challenge out for them and I was really happy with how they competed, and to get it done at the end like that was great," he said.

The Blue Devils scored fairly well in the field events. Senior Darnell Collins took third in the long jump and fifth in the triple jump. Jordan Barry was third in the high jump and Drew Loberg managed a sixth in the shot put. Wayne also scored in the 400-meter relay and the

Wildcats find groove with wins

The Wayne State baseball team is starting to find its groove in the Northern Sun Conference after winning four of five games this past week.

Joe Wendte homered twice and was 5-for-6 with four runs scored and three RBIs to highlight a 20-hit attack as Wayne State won a wild 13-12 slugfest over Concordia-St. Paul Thursday in the opening game of a doubleheader in St. Paul, Minn.

Every Wildcat starter had at least one hit in the first game of the doubleheader. The Wildcats used run-scoring singles from Jake Ritzdorf, Wendte and Justin Beranek to highlight a four-run second inning. Wendte hit his first of two homers in the sixth inning to help the Wildcats take a 9-6 lead before the Golden Bears scored three in the bottom of the sixth to tie the score at 9-9.

A Mike Bisenius solo homer in the top of the seventh put Wayne State up 10-9, but Concordia-St. Paul plated two runs in the bottom of the inning to take an 11-10 win.

Wendte led off the top of the eighth with a solo homer to even the score at 11-11 followed by a two-run blast by Jarett Jackson that scored John Plasha to give Wayne State a 13-11 lead. Concordia-St. Paul scored once in the bottom of the eighth and got the tying run to third in the bottom of the ninth, but Wildcat closer Josh Nelsen was able to end the game.

Jarett Jackson was 3 for 5 with a homer, two RBIs and two runs scored in the win. Beranek, Bidroski, Plasha, Treye Hacker and Mike Bisenius each added two hits.

Reliever Trevor Reeves picked up the win, with Josh Nelsen collecting his first save of the season, pitching two shutout innings allowing just two hits to preserve the win.

The host Golden Bears got a split in the nightcap, limiting the Wildcats to seven hits in a 7-2 win. Concordia-St. Paul starter Chris Peterson tossed a complete-game seven hitter, holding the Wildcats to just two runs.

Wayne State took a 2-1 lead in the second when Bisenius singled and scored on Josh Nielsen's two-run homer to left field. Wayne State was held scoreless the rest of the game, allowing the Golden Bears to salvage the split.

Bidroski, Jackson and Hacker each homered to lead Wayne State in an 8-5 rain-shortened win over Concordia-St. Paul Friday afternoon. The game was delayed in the fifth inning for almost 90 minutes due to lightning, with rain and poor field conditions causing the game to be called in the top of the eighth inning.

Wayne State finished the game with 11 hits. Brandon Polk finished 3-for-3 with three singles and a run scored while Hacker was 2-for-4 with a solo homer. Bidroski homered and had three RBIs while Jackson homered with two RBIs and Plasha doubled and had two runs batted in.

The Wayne State baseball team battled the dismal weather in a two-game sweep of Augustana Tuesday at the Pete Chapman Complex.

Sophomore Austen Wisroth struck out 11 Viking hitters in Wayne State's 8-2 victory over Augustana in the first game. The Wildcats then overcame a three-error effort, coming back from a 9-2 deficit with four runs in both the sixth and seventh innings to post a 10-9 win.

In the first game, Augustana jumped out to an early 1-0 lead in the first inning, but would not score another run until the ninth inning as Wisroth pitched seven strong innings, allowing one run on seven hits. Wisroth struck out 11 batters and did not walk a single hitter.

Wayne State erupted for six runs in the bottom of the seventh inning, as the Wildcats had six hits in the inning. The highlights of the inning were a pair of two-run singles by Hacker and Beranek.

Augustana once again was the first team to get on the board in game two, as the Vikings opened up the scoring in the third inning when Nate Baumann tripled to right field scoring Gates Cook. Wayne State took the lead in the fifth inning when Bidroski doubled to right field scoring Brandon Polk and Joe Wendte for a 2-1 lead.

Augustana scored eight runs in the top of the sixth inning, thanks to three Wayne State errors. Wayne State would weather the storm, though, and used a wind-aided, bases-clearing double by Jackson to highlight a four-run sixth inning, and the momentum continued into the seventh, when Plasha dropped a bases-loaded single into shallow center field for the winning runs.

Wayne State, 14-13 overall and 10-3 in the NSIC, will face Doane College in a non-conference nine-inning game on Thursday at Eaton Field in Wakefield, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Kielsmeier is honored

Wayne State College women's basketball coach Chris Kielsmeier was honored at the NCAA Div. I Women's Basketball Final Four in San Antonio, Texas over the weekend as a recipient of the Russell Athletic/Women's Basketball Coaches Association Victory Club Award for passing the 200-victory plateau.

The Russell Athletic/WBCA Victory Club Award is presented each year to a WBCA-member head coach who achieves career wins of 200, 300, 400, 500 or more in 100-victory increments. Kielsmeier earned his 200th career win on Dec. 4, 2009 in a 64-42 win over Northern State. He has a 220-62 record in his 10 seasons as a head coach, including a 41-18 mark in his two seasons at Wayne State.

The Wayne girls finished a solid third in the 11-team meet, scoring 77.5 points. The Blue Devils won two field events and carried two of the four relays on the day.

The day started with an impressive effort by the 3,200-meter relay team of Megan Stalling, Sydney Burke, Kristin Carroll and Emily Leeper. They managed to outkick a solid Wakefield team and won by about one-and-a-half seconds to kick off Tuesday's meet. "We knew coming in that Wakefield had a great team, and we were able to compete with them," Hochstein said.

Senior Carly Fehringer continued to perform well in the throws on a cold, drizzly and windy afternoon. She swept the throws, clearing 40 feet in the shot put and winning by more than two feet in the discus with a best effort just short of the 110-foot mark.

Wayne's other victory came in the freshman medley, as the foursome of Sarah Maxson, Sydney Harris, McKenna Frevert and Leeper outlasted a strong comeback by David City Aquinas.

Almost all of Wayne's other points came on the track, although Katie Hoskins was able to pick up a half-point in the high jump by tying for sixth place. Burke earned sixth-place medals in the 400 and 800, Stalling was a double medalist in the 1,600 and 3,200, Leeper finished third in the 800, Marissa Fallesen was fourth in the 100, and Caitlin Fehringer and Ellie Ehrisman finished third and fourth, respectively, in the 100 hurdles. with a third-place effort in the 1,600-meter relay.

The Wakefield boys finished a solid fourth, as the trio of Tyler Bodlak, Chad Clay and T.J. Rose helped carry the day for the Trojans, and the 1,600-meter relay team of Bodlak, Dusty Sherer, Hugo Ortiz and Chris Matias ended the day with a victorious effort.

Bodlak was his usual self in the distance events, cruising to a first-place finish in the 3,200-meter run and taking over a tight four-man race in the final lap to win the 1,600-meter run. He also helped the 3,200-meter relay team to a runner-up finish.

Clay dominated the sprints for the Trojans, taking top honors in the 100 and 200. Rose was also solid for Wakefield, taking fifth in the long jump and 300 hurdles and earning a sixth in the triple jump.

Also earning medals for the Trojans were Ortiz (third in 400), Sherer (fourth in 300 hurdles) and Michal Bodlak (fifth in 3,200).

The Wakefield girls finished seventh in Tuesday's meet, with Keri Lunz leading the way with a couple of individual medals. She finished second in the 200-meter dash and was fourth in the 400.

Shelby Lierman placed third in the 1,600-meter run, and the Trojans had runner-up efforts in the 1,600 and 3,200-meter relays.

Golfers win home quadrangular

Braving cold winds and a cold drizzle, the Wayne boys golf team managed to come away with a first-place finish in a quadrangular Tuesday at the Wayne Country Club.

Led by Collin Jeffries' round of 41, the Blue Devils finished with a 181 to finish five strokes ahead of Oakland-Craig Schuyler (189) and Wisner-Pilger (194) also competed in Tuesday's event.

Jeffries was followed by Trent Beza, who finished with a 7-over par 43 on the day. Dustin Stegemann shot 48, Taylor Martin added a 49 and Collin Preston carded a 50 to round out a Blue Devil varsity round that, coach Dave Hix said, left a lot to be desired.

"When you have to count a 48 and a 49, you're not going anywhere," he said. "We have some young kids that are showing potential and some veterans that aren't showing their ability yet, so we're going to work on it."

On the JV side, the Blue Devils shot 181 to easily win the four-team event. Sean Gansbom matched the low varsity round of the day, finishing with a 5-over 41 to lead the Blue Devils' second string. Ezra Brodersen added a 45, Tony Sinniger shot 47, Zach Rasmussen added a 48 and Ryan Grosz carded a 52.

"We're getting a few kids that are showing some potential," Hix said. "If there was a state tournament for JV we'd win hands down, but we need to get people in the right places. It's still early so we'll keep plugging away and once they get in a groove and get some more repetition we'll start shooting lower scores."

Wayne plays in the Lincoln Pius Invitational today (Thursday) and will be at the Laurel-Concord Invite next Thursday.

Allen boys take second place finish

HARTINGTON – The Allen boys track team ran well and came home with a runner-up finish in the Hartington Invitational, held March 30 at Hartington.

"We ran and competed well," coach Dave Uldrich said. "We elected to not run our usual agenda, due to a few nagging injuries. We will continue to take care of our health and be ready for the mid-season run at the big meets."

Jacob Woodward led the Eagles with a first-place finish in the 800-meter run, coming in with a time of 2:08.0. He also ran on the first-place 3,200-meter relay team, joining Dylan Mahler, Cody Logue and D.J. Kennelly on the winning team.

Cody Stewart picked up plenty of silver on the day, getting runner-up finishes in the triple jump and high jump and running on the second-place 1,600-meter relay team. He also ran on the 400-meter relay team that finished fourth.

Kennelly took runner-up honors in the 3,200-meter run, with Kyle Finnegan finishing third and Mahler fourth. Keith Jorgensen placed third in the 800-meter run, Austin Roeber had fourth-place medals in both hurdle events, running personal best times in each event. Jarret Warner placed fourth in the shot and A.J. Williams was fourth in the long jump.

Wildcats third in softball ratings

Wayne State is ranked third in the first NCAA Div. II Softball Central Regional Rankings.

The Wildcats are 15-3 overall and 6-2 against teams within the Central Region, which is made up of teams from the Northern Sun and the Rocky Mountain Athletic conferences.

Metro State of Colorado is ranked first, followed by Winona State, Wayne State, Minnesota State and Augustana. The top eight teams in the region at the end of the regular season qualify for nationals.

Bleachers

with is under 20 is, in my mind, the only surprising tidbit in the airing of Woods' personal dirty laundry (even if you'd have said the over-under on the number of affairs Woods was having was 50, I'd have bet the over in a second).

But do we need to hear more about Woods' personal life? I don't believe we do. Frankly, it's none of our business what Woods does outside the space between the first tee box and the 18th green. If Woods wants to live a good, quiet life, then that's great. If he wants to sleep with every I-hop waitress on the planet while his wife takes care of the kids at home, who am I to care? The mainstream media – and their pseudo-journalism cousins at TMZ, the National Enquirer, the New York Times and other fake-media entities – spend far too much time telling us things that, in the grand scheme of things, are none of our business. If an athlete the caliber of Tiger Woods is doing the things I, as a sports fan, look for in a world-class athlete, then that's what I need to know about.

What, who, where and how Woods does things outside the lines is something I'd prefer to remain blissfully unaware of. The sooner athletes start answering these personal questions in a manner similar to Woods' handling of the press at Augusta, Ga., Monday, the better off we're all going to be.

Winside boys win three events, take third at Newman Grove

GENOA – Nathan Janke and Zach Brokaw both won first-place medals to help the Winside boys to a third-place finish at the Newman Grove Invitational.

Janke was a double winner for the Wildcats, sweeping the throws with first-place efforts. Janke just missed the 44-foot mark in the shot put, and cleared 122 feet, 9 3/4 inches to win the discus.

Zach Brokaw had a profitable day with four medals, including a first-place effort in the triple jump with a leap of 39 feet, 5 inches. He posted third-place efforts in the long jump and 1,600-meter run, and also ran a leg on the 400-meter relay team that finished second.

Kalin Koch and Blaine Meyer both came away with multiple medals as well. Koch finished seventh in the long jump and was on the 400- and 1,600-meter relay teams that earned medals. Meyer was sixth in the triple jump and was on the 1,600-meter relay team that finished seventh.

The Winside girls tied for seventh in the 12-team meet, led by a three-medal day from Jerae Doffin.

Doffin was the runner-up in the triple jump and placed eighth in the long jump, and she added a medal as a member of the 400-meter relay team. Jordyn

Roberts had a third-place finish in the 100-meter hurdles, and Tarrin Quinn and Deserah Janke gave Winside a 4-8 finish in the discus.

Huskers

out in their gym and give them some ideas that they can carry with them into the coming fall season.

"I think it's a great opportunity for our kids and our coaching staff to see how they do it," Kneifl said. "Some of the things, we typically know what they're doing, but for the players to see it performed on the court, they understand what's going on and it's great to see such a high level of volleyball in our own gym. If we can each take one or two things from this, it's going to make us a lot better next year."

One thing Cook isn't worried about is the team's chemistry.

"You can tell these girls really love playing with each other and for each other, and it takes a special athlete to play Nebraska volleyball," he said. "I feel like they're all on the same page and really working hard right now. We had a great season (in 2009), but we want more and we have a chance to be a special team."

Returning second-team All-American Brooke Delano echoed those sentiments as she joined her teammates in an hour-long autograph session after the scrimmage.

"I am super excited for this team," she said. "I see us doing big things, and there's a seed planted in every one of us that we're going to be a national championship team and we have the mentality that we can do it."

And while many of those in attendance Saturday were there to see the Huskers, the event also served as an opportunity to let people know there's a top-notch Div. II program that plays its home games right here in Wayne, America. And that team's coach is hoping the Huskers' appearance will serve to draw more fans to see the Wildcats this fall.

"The neat thing was getting people here to see some great volleyball, and I think it's a great thing for our program," Kneifl said. "We had 250 kids at our clinic and about 1,300 fans here today, and if five of those people start coming to Wayne State games and start telling people about our program, I think our program will grow in attendance."

Did You Know? Chiropractors Treat Low Back Pain...

Discomfort While Sitting
Pain And Stiffness In The Lower Back
Leg Fatigue While Walking

The majority of back pain patients have not experienced any trauma, accidents or major injuries prior to the onset of their problem. The cause of most back pain is the cumulative affect of improper sitting posture, poor work habits, incorrect lifting, lack of proper exercise and other lifestyle-related factors. All of these factors cause stress and imbalances on the spine and eventually pain. This is why people often injure their back by just bending over to pick up a piece of paper. The spine was already compromised and just the simple act of bending was enough to set off the problem. In the US, low back pain is one of the most common conditions and one of the leading causes of physician visits. In fact, at least four out of five adults will experience low back pain at some point in their lives. One half of all working Americans admit to having back symptoms each year.

Fields finishes fifth, leads golfers to fifth-place finish

Fueled by a fifth-place finish from junior Adam Fields, the Wayne State College men's golf team placed fifth in a strong field at the Upper Iowa Invitational men's golf tournament, held Friday and Saturday at the Otter Creek Golf Course in Ankeny, Iowa.

The Wildcats shot 309 Friday and 308 Saturday for a 36-hole total of 617. St. Cloud State edged Concordia-St. Paul, 591-596, for the team title.

Fields, a junior, shot rounds of 75 and 73 to finish at 148 to tie for fifth place overall. The individual medalist was St. Cloud State's Evan Peters, who shot two-over par 144 following rounds of 72 and 72 on the par-71 course that covered 6,895 yards.

Roach named to All-NENAC list

Laurel-Concord wrestler Austin Roach was named to the second-team All-NENAC wrestling roster in a vote of conference coaches.

Roach was the lone Bears wrestler to be named on the conference's three-deep roster. He wrestled at 145 pounds for Laurel-Concord this past season.

Plainview had the most wrestlers named to the first team, with five Pirates making up the 14-man first team. Neligh-Oakdale had the most wrestlers named to the three-deep all-conference team, with nine of its wrestlers being tabbed. Plainview, Crofton and Creighton each had seven wrestlers selected.

Softball team bounces back, plays well in first NSIC games

Missouri Western held Wayne State to just five hits in two games Wednesday afternoon to sweep a non-conference softball doubleheader over the Wildcats in St. Joseph, Mo.

The first game saw Allison Jones of Missouri Western and Katie Goetzinger of Wayne State battle in a pitchers' duel with the Griffons scoring a 2-1 win over the Wildcats. Jones held WSC to just one hit, a second inning single by Brittany Greenwood, while notching seven strikeouts to beat Goetzinger, who allowed just two runs on six hits with seven strikeouts.

The second game saw Jannelle Belger of Missouri Western pitch a complete-game four-hitter with seven strikeouts.

WSC scored first again in the second game, taking a 1-0 lead in the second when Hannah Engelkamp's double to left center field scored Alesha Finkey, who reached on an error.

The Griffons answered in the bottom of the second inning and took a 2-1 lead, putting together three hits to plate two runs. Missouri Western added an unearned run in the third inning to close out the scoring.

Amy Sandstrom was 2-for-3 with a pair of singles to lead Wayne State. Amber Baird was tagged with the pitching loss for the Wildcats, charged with three runs (two earned) over three innings on five hits with three strikeouts.

Goetzinger and Baird combined for 26 strikeouts while holding MSU Moorhead to four hits over two games as the Wildcats swept the Dragons 5-0 and 9-2 in the Northern Sun Conference openers for both teams Friday afternoon in Moorhead, Minn.

The Wildcats also had plenty of offensive support, producing 20 hits in the two conference wins.

In the first game, Goetzinger and Baird combined for 16 strikeouts allowing just two hits. The Wildcats opened the scoring in the first with two runs as Sandstrom singled and scored on Blaire Kuhl's RBI double, with Kuhl later scoring on Brittany Greenwood's RBI single.

In the third, Sam Earleywine singled and scored on Goetzinger's RBI single, with Jennifer Radley scoring on Aeriell Earleywine's single down the left field line to increase Wayne State's lead to 4-0.

The second game saw Sam Earleywine homer twice, with Sandstrom adding another long ball.

MSU Moorhead used a walk, Wildcat error and a wild pitch to score two runs in the first inning to take a 2-0 lead. Earleywine hit the first of her two homers, a solo shot in the second inning, to make the score 2-1. The Wildcats tied the score at 2-2 in the third when Sam Earleywine drew a bases-loaded walk to score Goetzinger, who led off the inning reaching on an error. Wayne State took the lead for good at 3-2 in the fourth when Sandstrom's RBI double scored Goetzinger, who singled with two outs.

The Wildcats plated six runs on five hits in the fifth inning to break open the game, highlighted by Earleywine's second solo homer, an Aeriell Earleywine two-run triple, a Goetzinger RBI triple and Sandstrom's two-run homer.

Wayne State swept Minnesota, Crookston 10-0 and 16-2 Saturday in Crookston, Minn.

Goetzinger pitched a one-hitter with 11 strikeouts in the first game, while Brittany Greenwood highlighted a 16-hit attack by going 3-for-3 with four RBI's in the second game.

The first game saw Wayne score 10 runs on just six hits, but that was more than enough support for Goetzinger, who struck out 11 while tossing a one-hitter in the shutout win.

Wayne State led 3-0 entering the fifth, then scored seven runs to post the 10-0 win. Radley's two-run single and a two-run double by Aeriell Earleywine were key hits in the game-breaking rally.

The second game saw the Wildcats record 16 hits while scoring nine runs in the seventh inning.

Greenwood finished a perfect 3-for-3 at the plate with two doubles, a single and four RBI's while Sandstrom ended 3-for-5 with five RBI's, including a grand slam homer, and two runs scored. Blaire Kuhl, Sam Earleywine, Aeriell Earleywine and Kassie Nurton each added two hits.

Amber Baird was the winning pitcher, striking out nine in five innings of work while allowing two runs on four hits.

The Wildcats remain unbeaten in league play at 4-0 while improving to 19-5 overall.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

A story I would rather not write

(NOTE: This column is written as an open letter to the youth of our area. If your child isn't a regular newspaper reader, I would encourage you to have him or her sit down with this week's column and make sure they pay close attention to what he or she is about to read. The adults in the audience, as always, are invited to read along as well.)

I've been involved in the newspaper business for most of my (soon to be) 44 years, and have had the opportunity to write just about every kind of story there is to write.

I've written a zillion sports stories about the physical talents displayed by area youth and have witnessed many of them personally. Whether it's your team, your older (or younger) sibling's team or any other team in the five-school region, chances are good that you've seen me taking pictures and paying close attention to what you and your fellow students in the area are doing between the lines.

I've also written numerous stories over the years about some of the things you are doing outside of sports. Whether it's something as simple as typing up the honor roll or featuring a certain creative talent or the achievement of a particular honor, it has been my pleasure and privilege to document those achievements over the years.

Every once in a while, though, I am called upon to write stories that, given the choice, I'd rather not have to write. They are the stories of tragedy, of young life lost much too soon.

I once had to write a story about a 16-year-old girl who suffered a heart attack during a dance team's routine at a pep rally and dropped dead as the entire student body looked on in horror. It was a story that ate at me, even weeks after it had been published, because we don't think tragic things like this should happen to our young people, who have so much opportunity waiting for them.

On several occasions, I've had to write stories about teenagers who thought drinking and driving was fun...right up until the point where somebody lost control of their vehicle and one (or more) kids died unnecessarily. These stories anger me, because underage drinking is a total act of stupidity that shouldn't happen, but – for some odd reason – continues to be a problem in our allegedly intelligent, civilized society.

Recently, some of my colleagues had to report the story of an 11-year-old David City boy who died while being involved in something called "the choking game." You might know it as Hangman, Space Monkey, Tap Out, Blackout or Flatliner.

From what authorities are telling us, this is an activity people in your age bracket are engaging in, where you cut off the blood supply to your brain in order to get some sort of physical rush. Done correctly, a dizzying sensation is experienced as the blood flows back to the brain. Done incorrectly can lead to permanent brain damage, if not death.

Of all the crazy things in the world that you can do – why this?

There is nothing good that comes from an activity that cuts off oxygen supply to your brain. At your age, you need all the oxygen your body can get, because your body is developing from that of a child to what, we hope, will become an intelligent, capable, productive adult human being.

This is an activity that can lead to death. There is nothing fun, good or exciting about death, boys and girls. Death is the final chapter in our lives. There is no coming back from death (despite what you might read on the Internet). You don't pay a fine, get grounded or spend a week in detention for death. You spend ETERNITY paying for death, and for what? A cheap thrill? A moment of light-headed thrill-seeking?

It's bad enough for us, as adults, to have to talk with our children about the dangers of drugs and alcohol. We worry about the ongoing exposure of images that give confusing (and, usually, wrong) information about sexuality. We teach you to look both ways before crossing the street, never get in a stranger's car, and try to get you to understand that it takes hard work to make money and provide for your family once you get out in the real world.

If you're looking for a thrill, try a different game. Instead of cutting off your oxygen supply, how about adding to it by taking on some kind of a project, whether it's mowing the lawn or picking up litter in the city park. Granted, it doesn't sound like fun, but it would be an act that would be appreciated and would provide a sense of accomplishment once the project is completed.

Instead of trying to kill yourself playing a game, how about improving yourself by getting away from the television, the computer, the cell phone or whatever means of electronic nirvana takes up your time and getting involved with an organization that betters the community? There are a variety of groups and organizations that could use the energy of a young man or woman to help with any number of projects they have going on.

Those are the kinds of stories I would rather write about when it comes to our area youth. The last thing I want to do, as a journalist, is write a story about the death of a young person whose lives are still in front of them. I hope I never have to write the kind of story my colleagues in David City had to write recently.

I also hope no parent in this area (or anywhere else, for that matter) has to experience the tragedy and pain that goes from burying their own child, especially when that child had a choice between bettering his or her life – or playing a stupid, deadly, meaningless "game."

Capitol View Abortion law invites lawsuits

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN – The state is en route to a new abortion law and, with it, another round of courtroom combat over whether the Legislature can reduce the timeframe in which the procedure is allowed.

Since the U.S. Supreme Court's historic 1973 decision in Roe v. Wade a key standard for permitting abortion has centered on viability – that is, whether the fetus could survive outside the womb.

The measure moving through the Unicameral would set the standard for permissible abortions at 20 weeks into the pregnancy, based on the belief that the unborn can feel pain at that stage. The current standard is 24 weeks, based on viability criteria.

It isn't hard to envision such a Nebraska statute being the subject of legal battles that will lead to the door of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Whether the nation's highest tribunal would agree to hear a case based on the "pain standard" is the penultimate question. If the judges agreed to take the case, the ultimate and potentially historic issue would center on the majority decision.

At this writing, the measure was at the second of three stages of consideration by the full Legislature, having cleared its first hurdle on a 38-5 vote – 13 more than needed for final passage.

Lawmakers acknowledged the virtual certainty of a judicial showdown, amending the law so that it would not become effective until Oct. 15.

Note: The bill includes an exception to its proposed standards in cases where the physical health of a pregnant woman is involved. The federal courts have made clear that such an exception is mandatory.

However, senators rejected a proposal that would have included an exception based on risks to the woman's mental health.

The Bucks Have Been Passed
A $3.4 billion budget that includes funding reductions of 2 percent for most state agencies has

www.paulfellcartoons.com

been passed and sent to Gov. Dave Heineman.

Remember: The spending cuts mandated in the budget are in addition to the 5 percent reduction that lawmakers carved out of the spending plan during a special session last November.

Economy watchers envision even tougher times ahead. Lawmakers acknowledged as much by writing into the budget a requirement that state agencies prepare for leaner times.

The budget requires state agencies to develop plans for further reducing costs. Such contingency plans may include everything from personnel reductions to program consolidations and changes in administrative procedures, along with the viability of a four-day work week.

Texting Would Be A "Secondary" Offense
Lawmakers pulled the biggest teeth from a measure that would make it illegal to be texting while driving a motor vehicle.

It was amended so that the cops couldn't bust drivers simply because they saw them texting. The revised measure makes texting while driving a secondary offense. That means drivers couldn't be ticketed for texting unless they were actually stopped for doing something else – like speeding or reckless operation, etc.

Pot Could Cost Young People Driving Privileges

It's likely that judges will soon have authority to revoke the driving licenses of those under 21 who are caught possessing marijuana.

A bill given first-round approval brings possession of marijuana into line with potential penalties for being a minor in possession of alcohol.

If there are any youngsters who don't get it: You don't have to be high on alcohol or marijuana to lose your license. If you're found guilty of simple possession of either, you could find yourself looking for a ride.

No Study Of Death Penalty Costs

It was no less predictable than "Construction Ahead" signs in July.

The Legislature will not fund a study to determine the costs involved in using the death penalty, compared with the dollars required to keep a convicted killer locked up for life.

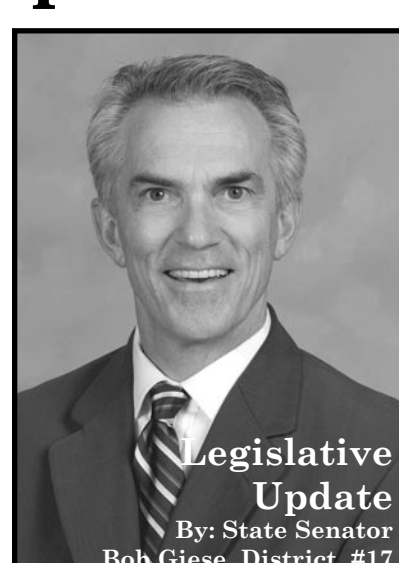

The most obvious factor in the debate came up several times. In the last analysis, or even the first, Nebraska is a pro-death penalty state. Itemizing its costs, from arrest and trial through appeals and the execution, wouldn't engender a policy change.

LB411 to update state's Electrical Act

Greetings from the Unicameral! It was a week of hard-fought battles on the floor of the Legislature last week, with one of my bills finally moving forward after multiple delays, but another falling to a filibuster.

Last session I introduced LB411, which would update the State Electrical Act to reflect changes in the National Electric Code. Historically, this code is updated every three years when new national standards come out, but bills updating to the 2008 code have stalled in the Legislature for the past two years. In fact, multiple Nebraska communities have adopted the 2008 National Electric Code themselves rather than wait for the Legislature to adopt the code statewide.

LB411 was included as part of this year's Consent Calendar, which is designed to allow non-controversial legislation a chance to pass prior to the end of session.

Legislative Update
By: State Senator
Bob Giese, District #17

Legislation updating to the 2008 National Electrical Code was originally introduced by former District 17 Senator Pat Engel in 2008, and I am happy that the code update is finally in sight with the advancement of LB411 to Select File.

Over the past few decades, the long-standing Nebraska horseracing industry has been in decline, reaching the point where in the next few years, smaller racetracks like Atokad Park in South Sioux City will be forced to close their doors unless something is done.

In order to stem the further decline in the horseracing industry and potentially prevent job losses in Northeast Nebraska, I introduced LB1102, which would permit the State Racing Commission to authorize and regulate wagering on "historic horseracing". Also known as "Instant Racing", wagering on historic horseracing is an enhanced form of the simulcast racing already available at Atokad Park and the four other thoroughbred racetracks in Nebraska.

Under LB1102, Instant Racing terminals would only have been permitted in licensed racetracks, thus ensuring that the bill would not expand gambling in Nebraska.

While a number of senators stood in support of LB1102 as a means of protecting Nebraska jobs that were at risk, a minority of senators who were in strong opposition to any and all forms of gambling were able to mount a successful filibuster. After more than six hours of floor debate, my motion to invoke cloture garnered 30 votes, which would have been more than enough votes to pass the bill, but fell three votes shy of the number required to end debate and allow a vote to advance LB1102 from General File.

As always, I would encourage you to contact me if you have any questions or simply have an opinion on legislation before the Unicameral. Feel free to call my office at (402) 471-2716, send me an e-mail at bgiese@leg.ne.gov, or stop by in person any time you're in Lincoln.

Voles and snow mold in local lawns

Snow banks have melted and uncovered some lawn surprises. If snake-like channels can be seen in the lawn, these were caused by voles feeding. If an area of turfgrass is matted and has a grayish crust on top, this may be gray snow mold.

In both cases, lawns will recover without special care or the use of control practices. For now, be patient and stay off lawns until the grass and soil has dried out enough to tolerate traffic. Foot traffic and raking now may damage turfgrass crowns (growing points), uproot plants and create soil compaction, which can lead to more serious problems.

Voles are small mouse-like critters. They fed on turfgrass beneath snow where they were protected from predators for a good three months this winter. Not as much vole damage occurs during open winters when voles are exposed to predators.

Some people are blaming moles for the damage. However, moles are not plant eaters. They feed on earthworms and insects and are not as active during winter. Voles are plant eaters and more active during winter.

On close inspection of vole channels in lawns, it will be apparent the grass was chewed to the soil line. With moles, turfgrass will not show feeding damage, only tunnels pushed up from below as moles moved through soil to mate or feed.

Fortunately, damage to lawns from voles is fairly short term. Once turfgrass begins active growth, the channels will disappear fairly quickly. Where voles can cause economic damage is to trees. If voles gnawed on young trees and the damage encircles the trunk, the trunk is girdled and the tree will die.

At this time of year, it is too late to protect woody plants from voles. The damage is done. Dead trees and dead stems in shrubs will need to be removed. The trees are a loss. Most multi-stemmed shrubs will shoot new stems and recover. In future years, protect trees from vole damage by placing a ring of hardware cloth around the trunk of your trees in early fall.

Gray snow mold is a fungal disease that infects turfgrass under snow cover. It appears as grayish, roughly circular patches that may have a dry mat or papery crust over them, especially where snow banks persisted for a period of time.
 Lawns with gray snow mold should not be sprayed with fungicides. Fungicides are not effective in controlling snow mold at this time year. Golf courses will apply

New Arrivals

VAN GELDER — Jom and Stephanie Van Gelder of Waterloo, Iowa, a daughter, Veda Johanna, 7 lbs., 3 oz., 20 inches, born March 30, 2010. She is welcomed home by a sister, Olive Lynn, 19 months. Grandparents are Lynn and Barb Bailey of Wayne and Doug and Ruth Van Gelder of Cedar Falls, Iowa. Great-grandparents are Wilva Jenkins of Wayne, Margaret Cunningham of Carroll, Keith Carter of Dubuque, Iowa, Mary Carter of Ottumwa, Iowa and Tom Van Gelder of Greybull, Wyo.

fungicides to areas with a history of snow mold diseases during November. Rarely are fungicides needed or recommended on home lawns.

Whether a lawn has vole or snow mold damage, these areas will eventually fill in and repair themselves as active turfgrass growth resumes. Larger areas of damage, especially gray snow mold, may be slower to recover and may need to be overseeded once soil temperatures have warmed.

When soil temperatures are consistently around 45 degrees Fahrenheit, typically sometime in April, cool season grasses can be seeded. Rake the damaged areas to allow for seed to soil contact. When soils are moist, but not too wet, core aeration to relieve soil compaction would be a wise management practice to follow this spring to any lawn.

DHHS promotes diabetes risk test

Nebraskans are encouraged to take a Diabetes Risk Test to find out if they are at risk for developing type 2 diabetes. The test is available now on the American Diabetes Association website at www.stop-diabetes.com

Diabetes is a chronic disease marked by elevated blood sugar levels caused by the body not producing or properly using insulin. Insulin helps glucose (sugar) leave the blood and go into the body's cells to turn into energy. If not treated, the sugar that builds up in your blood can damage your heart, eyes, kidneys and blood vessels.

According to the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), diabetes affects more than 100,000 children and adults in Nebraska. Many Nebraskans have pre-diabetes, which is when blood glucose levels are higher than normal but not yet high enough to be diagnosed as diabetes.

Nearly one-fourth of those with type 2 diabetes do not know they have it. Oftentimes, diagnosis comes seven to 10 years after the onset of the disease. Early diagnosis is critical to successful treatment, delaying or preventing complications such as heart disease, blindness, kidney disease, stroke, amputation and death.

"Taking the Diabetes Risk Test on-line is a quick and simple way to determine if you are at risk for diabetes," said Dr. Joann Schaefer, Chief Medical Officer and Director of the Division of Public Health. "It's free, takes less than a minute and could be the 'wake-up call' to people unaware that they already have diabetes or pre-diabetes."

Diabetes can cost a person their eyesight, kidneys, feet (through amputation) or even their life. Diabetes was the seventh leading cause of death in Nebraska in 2006.

Lifelong disability, caused by diabetes, can make it hard to hold a job or support a family. The cost of the uninsured is passed on to all others in the community who use the health care system.

Factors determining the likelihood of diabetes include gender, age, ethnicity, weight and family members with diabetes.

Compared to the white population, Hispanics are 1.6 times, African Americans are 2.5 times, and Native Americans are 3.8 times more likely to die from diabetes.

Diabetes-related spending in Nebraska was approximately $809 million in 2006, compared to $792 in 2002.

According to data collected in 2008 by the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS), the number of Nebraska residents 18 years of age or older who have been diagnosed with diabetes is estimated at about 103,000, or 7.8 percent of the state's adult population. By contrast, the number of Nebraska adults with diabetes was estimated at about 60,000 in the year 2000 and about 50,000 in 1990.

People can reduce their risk for diabetes by choosing healthy foods and snacks for the whole family such as fresh fruit and vegetables, lean sources of protein, low or fat-free milk and cheese products, and whole grain breads and cereals.

"The good news is that more people are aware that type 2 diabetes can be prevented or delayed," according to Schaefer. "But more people need to understand their risk for diabetes and to take action now to prevent or delay the development of this serious disease."

For more information, contact Kathy Goddard, Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services, at (402) 471-0194 or email at www.dhhs.ne.gov.

WillyCon to be held at Wayne State

WillyCon, the annual convention sponsored by the WSC Science Fiction and Fantasy Club on April 9-11, will mark the 12th year at Wayne State College. Each year guests of honor are chosen to take part in the festivities.

The author guest this year, David J. Williams, was born in Hertfordshire, England and resides in Washington D.C. His first book, Mirrored Heavens, was published in 2007 and is the first of a trilogy in the Hunt for Autumn Rain Series.

Sarah Clemens is the honored artist for WillyCon XII. She works as a medical illustrator and also creates as a fantasy artist.

Some of the things you will encounter at WillyCon:

- An art show and auction, displaying/selling science fiction and fantasy art, and a vendors' room with gaming supplies and miscellaneous items. The art show, art auction, and vendors' area at WillyCon are open to the general public, so drop by and see what is available.
- Presentations and panels by students, faculty, and fans talking about a variety of things and fun activities like board and card games, a masquerade show and Halo, Rock Band and Magic tournaments.

Artist and Author workshops will include tips from a successful author and information about the craft of writing or specific instruction from a talented artist on illustrative drawing or painting techniques. Workshops require pre-registration and an associated materials/fees charge along with the base convention cost.

Registration for the convention is $20 for the weekend. For more information, please call 402-375-7321 or e-mail Ron Vick at RoVick1@wsc.edu (please include "WillyCon" in the subject line) or visit our website at <http://www.willycon.com/>.

'Here Comes Peter Cottontail' to Winside Elementary

By Caroline Burriss

The kindergarten and first grade classes at Winside Public School celebrated Easter with an unexpected visitor on April 1.

As the first graders were sitting down to read the book "Rabbits, Rabbits, Rabbits" by Gail Gibbons with their teacher Ms. Loetscher, the Easter Bunny decided to drop by and read them the story. After the book was finished, the Easter Bunny handed out Easter eggs to the class.

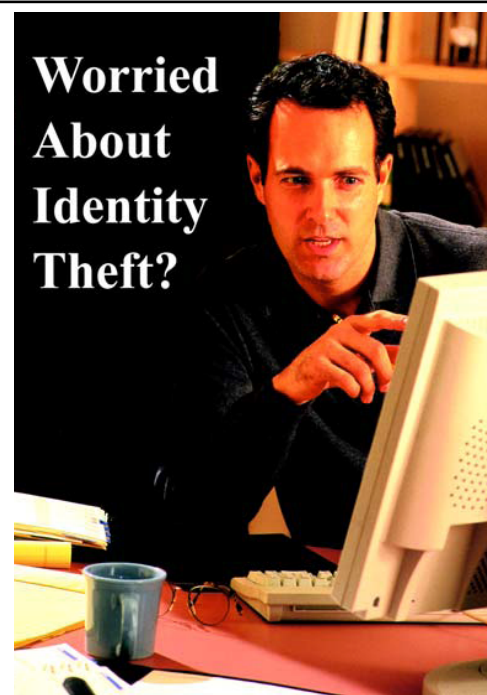

Although there were enough eggs for each eager child to have two, the class voted to surprise the kindergarten class with their extra eggs. The first graders and Easter Bunny hopped down the hall to surprise the ecstatic kindergarteners with the Easter goodies.

In addition to being yummy, this served as a learning experience to the first graders who not only learned about rabbits, but also gained an important lesson in sharing.

OLD FASHIONED WORSHIP

An old-fashioned service was held on March 21 in Concord with many attending the service with an old fashioned garment or hat, plus gloves.

The women sat on one side and the men (and children) on the other. Offering was lifted with an extended handle and velvet bag passed along each pew by ushers, Ron Harder and Dustin Thompson.

Naomi Peterson, pianist, dressed in her mother's blue and yellow Swedish ensemble with the traditional blue cap and apron. Pastor Karen Tjarks led the service in her black alb and did a fine job of chanting the Worship Liturgy. This was one of the monthly special worship services scheduled as the congregation gets ready for its 125th faith celebration in September. On April 11th the worship service will consist of a "Holy Humorous" hour. Thanks to Lee Johnson of Dixon for photos taken during the event.

Hazmat Awareness

Members of the Winside Fire and Rescue Department sponsored training for Hazmat Awareness on March 15 and March 22. Bill Pfeifer was the instructor for the training for the Hazmat Awareness training. Fire personnel from Winside, Carroll and Stanton attended the classes.

Agriculture

Easter, basketball activities discussed

The "Cinderella" team is giving the Duke Blue Devils all they can handle as I write this; and I could not help but feel that our Husker women should have been in San Antonio.

We had left over ham and sweet potatoes for supper, but when I looked for salad dressing for the left-over salad, I was missing at least four different kinds. It seems that in clearing the holiday table yesterday, our daughters decided to spare us possible food poisoning by getting rid of any that were outdated! I'm pretty sure that a mixture of vinegar and tomato will not spoil very soon, but I couldn't convince them. I still haven't figured out what they did with them, or how they sneaked them out of the house!

That's the trouble with having kids; eventually, they grow up and think they have to take care of us. It's all well and good that they are making their own house payments and paying their own car insurance, but then they come into your home and throw things away!

My mother joined us for Easter dinner, under protest. We brought her along after church and told her we were taking naps before the crew got here. She sat down on the couch with a copy of Nebraska Life, and promptly fell asleep. But when

By: Pat Meierhenry

I got up, I asked if she had a good nap, and she insisted she couldn't sleep! So, I'm thinking that when we get to that age, we won't even realize it when we nap. That doesn't sound like any fun.

Friend Marlyce and her hubby are actually at the basketball game tonight. He has had his name in the lottery for years and finally got tickets this year. Since one of their daughters lives in Indianapolis, it really worked out. The only thing is, Jerry is from Kansas and thought his team would be there. A lot of us thought Kansas would be there!

As usual, it felt like we went directly from winter to summer, and the forsythia are all in bloom around here. The lilacs our grandsons planted last year are beginning to bud, and the lawns are all green. The long cold winter is becoming just a bad memory.

I was a guest speaker at the state TOPS convention a couple of weeks ago; that was quite an experience! About one hundred women, of every age and size, full of enthusiasm. One of the regional directors informed me that the state of Nebraska had lost seven thousand pounds last year! I find that remarkable, since I don't seem to have the will power to lose ten.

They sang all kinds of familiar melodies, with appropriate words, like "bring back my body to me" to Bring Back My Bonnie, and heard all kinds of motivational talks. I was inspired by them, that's for sure. And my hat goes off to someone who can lose one hundred pounds, as this director did. Of course, as she said, "why in the world did I let it creep on, anyway?" I'd better get up and get outside and take my walk! Happy Spring!

Planting season getting underway

Well, time flies and the snow melts and with warmer weather our thoughts turn to planting, whether it's our lawns, gardens, trees, or crops. Over the last 15-20 years our crop planting dates have moved up considerably and this has helped give us improved yields and more time to put the crop in the ground.

Most area farmers now begin planting in April, and some really early planters may be gearing up to go sometime late next week. Newer corn varieties have been improved to withstand some of the stresses of earlier planting including cooler soil and air temperatures, and the addition of seed treatments can help protect against early season insects and disease problems.

However, there are two things that can really affect crops that rely on the farmers' decision making. That is when to plant to avoid compaction, and planting depth. We have excellent soil moisture reserve going into the growing season, but that also means that when we have rain, the ground may be a little wetter longer than usual after a rain. Patience is thin during planting but a great deal of potential problems later on in the season can be avoided by planting when soils are in the right condition to avoid compaction.

This is a friendly reminder not to plant into wet soil. When is it dry enough to plant? I have heard that when you are 100 percent absolutely positive that the soil is dry enough to plant, you should wait at least one more day. This is a little tongue in cheek but it has a ring of truth to it.

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator

Planting depth is critical; the corn should be planted no shallower than two inches deep. When it is cool and wet, some growers think that planting shallower than two inches deep will help germinate the corn faster. It might, but it will actually result in uneven emergence, and the resulting shallow root system will really cause problems later on, especially if later season growing conditions are less than ideal, which can happen quite often here in Nebraska. Shallow planting and compaction can result in rootless corn syndrome, lodging, potential damage from herbicides, and possible fertilizer injury.

In my experience as an entomologist, I often visited lodged fields in July, August, and September. At least one-half the time the lodging was due not to corn rootworms, which is usually the first culprit suspected, but shallow planting which did not allow a good root system to develop.

Adjust your planning depth and seed spacing for best results, and be safe during this busy time of the year.

Master Gardeners to meet in Norfolk

Vendors are still being accepted for the April 30-May 1 Plant Fair. For more information, contact the UNL Extension office in Wayne, 510 Pearl Street, Wayne, Neb. or by calling 402-375-3310.

UNL Extension Board - Wayne County meeting planned

April is National Public Health Month

Public health will be focus of upcoming forum and presentation at WSC

April is National Public Health Month and was also made an official state event by Nebraska Gov. Dave Heineman. This year's theme, "A Healthier America: One Community at a Time," reflects that Public Health's purpose is to prevent diseases and promote healthy lifestyles in our communities.

To celebrate National Public Health Month, Dr. Richard Raymond, former Undersecretary of USDA's Food Safety Program, and former Chief Medical Officer in Nebraska, will lead the forum, "Partnering for the Public's Health: A Conversation with Dr. Richard Raymond and Friends," Tuesday, April 20 at 7 p.m. in the Lecture Hall in the Gardner Business Building at Wayne State College (WSC). He is also presenting, "Public Health Careers: More Opportunities Than You Can Imagine," at the Wellness Fair in the WSC Student Center (Bluestem Room) on Wednesday, April 21 at 11 a.m.

The public is welcome to take part in these events that will give insight into the field of public health and how public health professionals work together with other healthcare professionals, institutions and organizations to form our national, state, and local public health systems. Both the forum and the presentation are sponsored by the Nebraska Medical Association, Nebraska Dental Association, Wayne State College and Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department. There is no admission charge.

Dr. Raymond will give a brief history of public health in Nebraska, LB692 and 1060, and the public health preparedness funds. Also planned is an overview by the Nebraska Medical Association of the proposed health care reform in Nebraska, as well as how local, state and federal public health departments work together to strengthen public health. Through the upcoming forum and presentation, Dr. Raymond, an engaging, motivational speaker, will give many examples for the public to gain a better understanding about what the local health department does, thus building a stronger advocacy relationship.

He added, "When LB 692 was signed into law in July, 2001, Nebraska essentially had 22 counties covered by one of 16 local health departments, but very few of those local health departments had the personnel, expertise or fiscal capacities to be of serious assistance to the State of Nebraska in a public health emergency, or to provide essential public health services to the communities they served. With the signing of LB 692, and later LB 1060, funds were made available to create local health departments with many criteria attached to the funding.

As a result of LB 692, all 93 of Nebraska's counties are now covered by one of the 20 local health departments to form a statewide public health system." This accomplishment proved to be critical in the successful implementation of the H1N1 pandemic and vaccination efforts in 2009-10. In addition, the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) now has a College of Public Health which awards Masters of Public Health

Thank you... For your continued patronage and trust in me as your doctor of chiropractic.

"You have helped make my passion for chiropractic care come to life throughout the time we have known each other. It is time to make you aware that I plan to retire in May of 2010 and have chosen a replacement, Dr. Kimberly Thor, who is also a graduate of Palmer College of Chiropractic.

We have roughly six months to help train Dr. Kim on what works best to keep you healthy. She has been working with me these past few months to help you and your family with the transition.

My wish is that the trust and loyalty you have shown to me will continue with Dr. Kimberly Thor. I encourage any questions or concerns you may have."

Yours in health, Dr. Curtis L. Meyer
