Changes open up options for more dual credit courses

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Recent changes within the state Department of Education will make it possible for public schools to utilize the talents of professionals in the community and Wayne State College.

Currently, Wayne Public Schools offers some courses that serve as dual credit courses for high school and college. But those courses are being taught by accredited teachers within the school district. Professors at Wayne State College who aren't already accredited by the Department of Education were not able to teach dual credit courses for high school students.

That will change thanks to a revision to the department's Rule 21 that goes into effect next month, according to Sharon Katt, administrator for adult program services at the Nebraska Department of Education.

The revision creates a dual credit certificate, which provides an opportunity for individuals at the postsecondary level to obtain a certificate to teach students in public school classrooms, particularly at the high school level.

"A lot of Nebraska postsecondary faculty are very knowledgeable, but don't have a certificate," Katt said. "If they meet certain requirements, like having a Master's (degree) and six hours in content related to the endorsement they are asked to teach, and there is an agreement in place between that particular postsecondary institution and a school district, it allows them to teach at the high school level."

Accident claims life of Wakefield man

A grain elevator collapse in Russell, Kan. claimed the life of 21-year old Max Greve of Wakefield.

Officials said Max Greve, who was currently living in Hays, Kan. and Sean Banks, 19, of Russell, Kan. were unloading a tractor-trailer full of wheat on June 24 when two bins of the Agco Inc., elevator collapsed, burying them with grain.

Russell is located on Interstate 70, about 180 miles west of Topeka, Kan. Authorities said the collapse was a result of a structure failure, not an explosion.

Greve, a 2007 graduate of Wakefield High School, attended Colby Community College where he played baseball. He was currently attending Hays State University. He is the son of Steve and Cheryl Greve of Wakefield. Also surviving are one brother and two sisters.

Services for Greve were held Monday, June 28 at Eaton Baseball Field in Wakefield. Bressler-Munderloh Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

County should qualify for federal assistance

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Wayne County officials are optimistic that the county will be able to share in the federal money that will be available to more than half of the 93 Nebraska counties that had disaster declarations come as the result of recent flooding.

County officials and representatives from the Nebraska Emergency Management Agency (NEMA) and Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) took a tour last week of some of the parts of the county that were damaged by flooding that occurred during the first part of June. After the tour, the county looks to be in line to receive some emergency funds to help cover the costs of repairing roads and bridges in the county that were damaged by the heavy rains.

"We're in the process of fixing and documenting everything, then (FEMA) will send a representative down to make sure the work's been done, and once they sign off on it, we should get paid," Wayne County Commissioner Kelvin Wurdeman said.

"We did a drive around the county last week, and the damage they saw was viable damage that would qualify, so there's a good chance we'll get paid," he said.

County board chairman James Rabe said the county needed to meet a minimum

Frye returning to Wayne State, will serve as interim President Scheduled to begin duties Aug. 1

Curt Frye, former Vice President and Dean of Students at Wayne State College who retired June 30, 2009, has been chosen to serve as interim president of the college, effective Aug. 1.

Dr. Richard Collings, current Wayne State president, has accepted the position of president at Southwestern Community College in Sylva, N.C. Nebraska State College System Chancellor Stan Carpenter's recommendation of Frye will be forwarded to the NSCS Board of Trustees for approval in September.

"Curt was an integral part of Wayne State College for more than 18 years," Carpenter said. "He served as interim president at Wayne State in 2003, so his leadership and background made him the top choice to serve as interim president again. He understands the mission of the Nebraska State College System, and specifically, Wayne State, from the inside out, and he will serve the college well during the search for a new president."

Frye began working at Wayne State in 1985, serving as associate dean of students, dean of students, and in 1993 was named vice president and dean of students. A native of Elk City, Frye holds a bachelor of science in education from Midland Lutheran College in Fremont and a master of science in education from Chadron State College.

Prior to coming to Wayne State, Frye was a teacher and coach at Cody/Kilgore and a guidance counselor in Neligh and Wayne. He and his wife, Dianne, have two children and two grandchildren.

"I am pleased to return to Wayne State and looking forward to renewing old friendships and acquaintances," Frye said. "Wayne State has been and will continue to be an excellent place to attend college. My plan is to ensure Wayne State continues to move forward as a strong, viable college."

State Patrol to be busy on July 4 holiday

Motorists traveling Nebraska roadways can expect to see a strong Nebraska State Patrol presence over the Independence Day weekend.

Troopers will be assisted by Nebraska State Patrol communications specialists, who also will be putting in overtime hours during the July 4 holiday enforcement period. Special enforcement efforts will focus on enforcing safe driving practices, with an emphasis on crash causing behaviors such as speeding, following too closely, impaired and distracted driving. Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson, City Administrator

Council meeting

The next regular City Council meeting will be held Tuesday, July 6 at 5:30 p.m. in the city council room at 306 Pearl Street

Recycling

Recycling will be changing in Wayne. Beginning Aug. 1, Waste Connections will close their plastic and can recycling at the Wayne transfer station.

1) Both Gill Hauling and Waste Connections will offer curbside recycling pick-up to their regular garbage customers.

2) The city will continue to accept cardboard and scrap metal and appliances when the transfer station is open.

3) We will continue to accept air conditioners, refrigerators and freezers for $17 each to collect the Freon as required by law.

4) The Boy Scouts will still operate the paper and aluminum recycling at the transfer station.

Mosquitoes

What are we doing about mosquitoes? This year the multiple heavy rains have created thousands of small and large breeding areas for mosquito larvae and have overwhelmed our normal system of applying a film on top of the water on all the usual standing water in and around town. Our staff has discussed fogging for mosquitoes and decided to not fog. Here is our thought process:

1) While there are mosquito chemicals registered safe for human use, there are residents that have objected over the years to whole-sale area spraying as a short term threat for asthma sufferers and a long term threat to children and also to adults with compromised breathing capacity.

2) No spraying system can kill all the mosquitoes and it would take multiple times of city-wide spraying to do the job. The mosquito infestation of grass and vegetation is extremely high.

3) We don't own fogging equipment but could hire it done multiple times.

4) Personal repellent protection and targeted area yard spray are the most effective. The odds are the weather will turn dry if we can gut it out for a few weeks.

Budget

We are preparing our new city budget for next year. Our current budget is available on the city website under Quick Links and our new budget proposal will be linked when it is presented to the mayor and council.

Hospital now part of Rural Nebraska Collaborative

As of June 15, Providence Medical Center in Wayne has finished the requirements of the Rural Nebraska Pressure Ulcer Prevention Collaborative.

The overall goal of this group was to spotlight pressure ulcer prevention, and lower the rate of pressure ulcers in patients in rural hospitals and nursing homes.

The group began working on this project in September of 2009, with 24 hospitals taking part. Each was given a chance to learn from local and national pressure ulcer leaders on best practices, intervention strategies and proper care. They were also given tools to help change their place of work and care practices, as well as their surroundings.

Because of this project, the hospitals and nursing homes that participated are reporting progress in lessening pressure ulcers. "Improving the quality of care at PMC will continue to be our priority," said Marcile Thomas, Administrator. "We enjoy every chance we have to work with other hospitals across the state that seek to provide outstanding care. We plan to build on our successes and hope to help others in our area as they move towards improving pressure ulcer prevention and care. It is a win-win for everyone involved."

Working toward being green

Congregation members and friends from Journey Christian Church gathered recently to hear City of Wayne employee Joel Hansen (far left) explain the city's attempt to keep people from putting hazardous materials in the city's storm sewer drains. Members of the group then spent the morning putting stickers on the drains.

Be wary of Gulf fundraising

Consumers horrified by pictures of oil-covered birds, brown gunk on beaches and plumes of oil spewing from the crippled BP oil well at the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico may want to volunteer to help or donate money for the cleanup.

BBB suggests that donors and volunteers consider the following:

- Beware of well-intentioned but inexperienced organizations

New non-profits and relief organizations spring up following any major disaster. While these groups might have the best of intentions, new charities responding to a crisis may lack the resources, experience and management needed to be effective.

- Understand where your money is going

Find out how the organization plans to spend funds for Gulf relief, ecosystem recovery and related activities. Ask whether the organization offers to restrict your donation for use in its Gulf-related activities or intends to use it for general support for all of its programs.

- Rely on expert opinion when it comes to evaluating a charity

Be cautious when relying on third-party recommendations posted on blogs or websites, as the authors might not have fully researched the organizations they list. The public can go to www.bbb.org/charity to research charities to verify that they are accredited by the BBB and meet the BBB's 20 Standards for Charity Accountability.

- Find out if the charity is doing Gulf-related work or raising funds for other Gulf relief organizations

If a charity is raising money for other groups, you may want to consider "avoiding the middleman" and giving directly to those performing the work. Research ultimate recipients of the "middleman's" donations to ensure that these organizations are equipped to do the job you want to support and are aware of the individual or organization soliciting on its behalf.

- Volunteering for Gulf cleanup may require special skills or training

Learn what qualifications are necessary before setting off for the site. If you're looking to get your hands dirty, you're out of luck unless you're certified to handle hazardous materials or have received training to care for injured wildlife.

Other volunteer opportunities BBB Wise Giving Alliance has compiled a list of nationally soliciting charities which meet BBB standards that are asking for donations and volunteers for the Gulf effort. These can be found at <http://www.bbb.org/us/article/charities-assisting-gulf-coast-oil-spill-clean-up-20061>.

Liska participating in 'Cure' event in Dallas

Sixty miles, three days, thousands of steps and months of preparation to make a personal difference in finding the cures, Jan Liska of Wayne has joined thousands of breast cancer supporters in preparing for the 2010 Susan G. Koeman Dallas/Fort Worth, Texas "3-Day for the Cure," presented by Energizer.

After months of training and fundraising, participants will walk 60 miles during three days to raise awareness and funds for breast cancer research and community-based breast health and education programs.

"This is my first year participating in the Susan G. Komen 3-Day for a Cure," Liska said. "Through my participation in this event I know I am making a personal impact on the breast cancer movement. The Komen 3-Day for the Cure is challenging, but the opportunity to have an impact is enormous."

Liska made the commitment to be a part of this year's event on March 29. Since that time she has been working to get into shape for the 60 mile walk. She generally walks from her home outside of Wayne into town three times each week and works out at the Wayne Community Activity Center twice a week.

She has also been making an effort to raise money for Susan G. Komen, as participants are asked to raise $2,300 each.

Liska is proud to say she is a 21-year survivor of breast cancer.

"My memory is as clear as yesterday of my diagnosis, surgery and the fantastic support of my husband, Ken, loving family, friends and my medical team. Having six granddaughters and a grandson, I want to walk so they and others like them, can avoid my history. My team "Here's to Healthy Hooters" consists also of my daughter-in-law, Dana, who has walked this walk five years in my name. I have always wanted to join them in this journey of a lifetime and 2010 is my year."

Liska went on to say, "I have wanted to join Dana 'just once' on this adventure and feel this is a good time to do it. I'm not getting younger, slimmer or in any better shape, BUT, I have put this off long enough. I want to be in Dallas in November to experience the 'walk for a lifetime' with Dana and the 'Here's to Healthy Hooters' team."

Liska has been a part of the Wayne County Relay For Life event in Wayne a number of times and has walked the survivor lap with other cancer survivors, as well as raising funds for the American Cancer Society.

The Susan G. Komen Dallas/Fort Worth 3-Day for the Cure starts Friday morning, Nov. 5 and ends with the Closing Ceremony on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 7. Walkers cover about 20 miles a day, traveling at their own pace. The course is shaped like a cancer ribbon, with participants camping overnight Friday and Saturday at the same location at what would be the center of the ribbon.

Special Olympics torch run comes through Wayne July 12

Runners will begin from the east lot on the Wayne State College campus at 3:45 p.m. during the Special Olympics Torch Run and Ceremony in Wayne on Monday, July 12. The ceremony portion will begin at 4 p.m. at the Courthouse Veterans Memorial in Wayne.

"The final leg team will comprise around 100 runners including law enforcement, a few WSC criminal justice students and select Special Olympians," said Dr. Jason Karsky, a Wayne State College faculty member who serves on the planning committee in addition to the Omaha Police Department the Wayne Police Department, and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

The Final Leg tradition is for law enforcement officers and Special Olympics athletes, representing their state and Torch Run/Special Olympics Program, to act as Guardians of the Flame and carry the Special Olympics Torch and Flame of Hope to the Opening Ceremonies of the Special Olympics USA National Games. This Torch Run event is called the Final Leg because it represents the culmination of Law Enforcement Torch Run (LETR) events that have occurred previously throughout the United States in 2010.

The LETR Final Leg is not only a salute to the athletes from around the United States who will participate in the Final Leg and compete in the Special Olympics USA National Games, but also an honor for the participating law enforcement officers who comprise the Torch Run Final Leg Team.

The Olympic flame symbolizes the light of spirit, knowledge and life. With identical power and majesty, the Special Olympics Flame of Hope, in the entrusted care of the law enforcement community, symbolizes the courage and celebration of diversity that the Special Olympics movement represents.

The 2010 Law Enforcement Torch Run Final Leg will precede the Special Olympics USA National Games in Lincoln. The Flame of Hope will enter Nebraska on the evening of July 11 and travel throughout the state for one week. The Final Leg Team will conduct runs and ceremonies at more than 70 cities and towns before arriving at the USA National Games Opening Ceremonies in Lincoln on July 18.

The International Association of Chiefs of Police is the Founding Law Enforcement Organization of the Law Enforcement Torch Run for Special Olympics.

After delays, Los Arcos Restaurant now open

BY JOSHUA STUHL
Of The Herald

At last, the Los Arcos Restaurant – The Arcos or Arches in Spanish – is open.

The newest restaurant in Wayne features a well-rounded spread of 13 meals and several ala carte items. All are authentic Mexican dishes, from tacos and enchiladas to tilapia and tortas.

Felipe Sanchez, owner of Los Arcos: Sanchez Mexican Restaurant, is a native of Mexico. Sanchez came to America in 1986 and worked at Michael Foods for about two years. He and his extended family, currently living in Wakefield, operate the restaurant in Wayne.

Sanchez planned to open the doors to the public on May 25, but a communication error in the delivery of the tables and chairs delayed the opening a full month.

Los Arcos currently can seat up to 52 customers comfortably, and, if needed, they will set up additional seating to accommodate more dining traffic. All equipment is new, and the establishment was entirely redecorated to suit the atmosphere intended in Los Arcos.

Sanchez has established the hours of operation as 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., seven days a week to gauge when the heaviest customer flow occurs. If necessary, the hours will be adjusted in the future, especially when school is in session.

With many more improvements in the immediate future, including expansions to the menu, Los Arcos hopes to expand their customer base significantly. The staff is considering installing two televisions in the corners of the dining area and a speaker system for music as well, to add to the authentic Mexican atmosphere.

Farmers & Merchants merger is noted County

Phil Burns, Chairman of the Board of Directors of West Point Bancorp, Inc. has announced the merger of its Nebraska affiliate banks: F&M Bank, West Point and Gretna; Farmers & Merchants State Bank in Wayne and Dakota County State Bank of South Six City.

The newly merged bank will operate under the name F&M Bank. The merger is pending regulatory approval.

The banks have operated under the common ownership of West Point Bancorp, Inc. (F&M Bank since 1977; Dakota County State Bank since 1981; and Farmers & Merchants State Bank since 1990). The new F&M Bank will continue to have the same ownership, management and staff at the local levels that they currently have.

With this merger, F&M Bank will have bank locations in the communities of West Point, Gretna, South Sioux City and Wayne. Each bank invites customers to stop by or call if they have questions or concerns regarding the merger.

amount of dollars in damages to qualify for funding.

"We passed that by a long shot," he said. "The one bridge in Kelvin's district, alone will cost $30,000 to fix. The guys that came down very very positive and had a big list, and they were going to go over everything."

Both Wurdeman and Rabe said they were hopeful they would get funding for the spring disaster, but are not optimistic about getting any money from the damages caused by last winter's blizzard conditions.

"Ultimately, we aren't going to get any money because Wayne County wasn't in the winter disaster declaration, even though everything they said in referring to the state's disaster declaration came from Wayne County," Wurdeman said. "They never gave us a logical explanation (why Wayne County wasn't included)."

"We'll have to wait for the governor to give out the money, if there is any," Rabe added.

Courses

That option could very well create opportunities for Wayne Public Schools to utilize the talents of instructors who teach just up the road at Wayne State College.

"The change in the rule will basically open up opportunities for us to do more partnering with the college and their instructors," Mark Lenihan, superintendent of Wayne Public Schools, said. "We haven't talked with the college yet, but it's something we might look at expanding down the road."

At the present time, Lenihan said the school district relies on its own faculty to teach the dual credit courses that students at Wayne High School take, which include psychology, English and some math courses.

There is also a change in the Department of Education's Rule 24, which would allow professionals with a special services certificate to teach certain dual credit courses.

Lenihan said that the school district's nurse, Carolyn Harder, will be able to teach Certified Nursing Assistant courses during the second semester at Wayne High School.

"She still has to go through some things to get an endorsement, but that will be good for our kids because they'll be able to take a class that could open up some career opportunities or a chance to work a summer job," Lenihan said.

The CNA class will be taught at the high school through Northeast Community College's career academy.

Sharing the experience of last CWS

My family is a family that likes to share our sports memories. My dad took me to my first Nebraska football game when I was 11 years old, and I can still not only remember the game, but the deal that was made that allowed me to go to the game (I had to miss the local high school team's homecoming game the night before watching the Huskers pummel Kansas State 51-0).

My dad also took me to my first NFL game, a game that was so poorly played that it still ranks as the worst football game I've ever personally witnessed (and I've sat through some real stinkers covering high school football over the years, so you know how bad a 6-0 NFL game really is).

I took my daughter to her first Nebraska football game when she was 10 years old, and still remember her pointed assessment of Nebraska's opponent that afternoon, the Baylor Bears: "Geez, dad - they SUCK."

So, when two tickets to the final College World Series at Rosenblatt Stadium came across my desk, I knew that I needed to continue the family tradition and take my dad to this first game.

This was especially important, because my dad had never been to a College World Series at Rosenblatt Stadium, and he was disappointed that he might not have a chance to see a game in the classic home of the best baseball tournament in the world before it moves to Omaha's new downtown stadium next summer.

There really is nothing like the experience of the College World Series. From the Zesto's shakes to the mass of humanity attempting to maneuver in the tight confines of the Rosenblatt Stadium concourse, it's an experience unlike any other that every sports fan should be a part of, if for only one time in their lives.

Friday night turned out to be a perfect night for baseball. Temperatures were in the mid 90's that afternoon, and I was concerned that my dad might not be able to handle the high temperatures, sweltering humidity and the tight quarters of a sold-out Rosenblatt Stadium.

As it turns out, he enjoyed himself immensely. We had great seats along the third base side, and since we were behind Clemson's dugout, we decided to cheer for the Tigers as they battled in-state rival South Carolina. The Tigers lost 5-1 (and lost again the following day to bow out of the CWS), but dad had a blast at the 'Blatt.

We witnessed the mass of beach balls (and a blown-up dolphin) being bounced around in the outfield bleachers, smiled at the pretty girls from Clemson fans with T-I-G-E-R-S spelled out on their midriffs (I don't ever recall college girls being THAT attractive when I was in college), enjoyed being a part of a unique version of the wave (the pace of which slowed and sped up in different parts of the stadium) and marveled at the entourage that followed Erin Andrews around while she did interviews in the stands (and, in case you were wondering, she is as mind-numbingly gorgeous in person as she is standing on the sidelines on TV... or, in the words of the late Harry Caray... holy cow!).

My dad joked that seeing a College World Series game at Rosenblatt Stadium was one thing he could cross off his bucket list. I was happy to be able to share that opportunity with him, and we're both looking forward to seeing a game in the new stadium next summer.

I'm not a big soccer guy, but I have been watching bits and pieces of the World Cup the past couple of weeks.

In watching some of these games, I have come to a rather interesting conclusion - pro rassling referees

Legion teams break out of slumps

Sometimes the best way to get out of a funk is to go back to the basics.

That's what coach Jeff Zeiss did with the Wayne American Legion baseball teams after both teams went into multiple-game losing streaks last week, and the work paid off with a doubleheader sweep of Pierce on Monday night.

The Juniors scored eight runs in the fourth inning to cruise to a 12-5 win, and the Seniors followed that up with an explosion of their own, scoring 10 runs in the fourth and fifth innings of a 15-8 win at Pierce.

The wins helped both teams break losing streaks. The Juniors had lost back-to-back games last week - both on one-hitters - while the Seniors ended a three-game skid with the win Monday.

Zeiss said both teams had to get back to the basics and work the kinks out.

"The Juniors had been struggling with our hitting, and we just had an extra long hitting practice and just tried to do the little things like stay in the box a little longer and keep our weight back," he said. "After the game (Monday), I told them that the extra work had paid off, and we're going to try to continue to stay after that until season's end. Hopefully, that will be the end of July."

The Seniors lost to Pierce and South Sioux City at home, then had a comeback effort fall short at Pender as part of a three-day, three-game run.

"It was a rough week, and a couple of those games were tough," Zeiss said. "We got down 5-0 to Pender, and the kids did a nice job getting us back in the game. We went up 8-6 on them, but we just couldn't hang on to it."

The Juniors scored three runs in the second inning and held a 4-3 advantage over Pierce when they went on their fourth-inning tear, sending 13 batters to the plate in the inning to turn a close game into a one-sided affair.

Miles Anderson had three hits in the game, including a double, and scored two runs to highlight the Hannah Gamble has her eye on the ball as she slams a base hit during a recent game for the Dirt Devils 16-under team. The Wayne squad came from behind to beat Arlington Tuesday night.

Win not pretty, but good one before state for Devils

By MICHAEL CARNES
 Of The Herald

The Wayne Dirt Devils 16-under softball team was in a giving mood Tuesday evening, but managed to take a win when the opportunity presented itself.

The defense was a little shaky at times, but Kristin Carroll managed to leave eight Arlington runners on base and kept things close until Lindsy Frahm's blast to center brought home Hannah Gamble with the winning run to give the Dirt Devils a 3-2 win over Arlington's 18-under team in a great matchup at the Wayne Softball Complex.

It wasn't pretty, but it was a win coach Doug Carroll said his team would take going into this weekend's Class B State Tournament at Lexington.

"I was not real thrilled with the effort, but (Arlington) is a very good 18-under Class B team and I'm sure they're going to finish in the top four or five at state if they play well," he said. "We still have to make the routine plays, though. We struggled with the routine plays, and you can't give good teams like that extra at bats."

The Dirt Devils dropped a couple of foul pop-ups and a lazy fly ball early in the game, which gave Arlington a chance to make things difficult early on. Carroll had to work out of a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the second inning, getting an infield pop-up and a strikeout to end the threat; then left two runners on in the third with an inning-ending strikeout, one of six she had on the evening.

"We told the girls that you can't give good teams extra at bats, and we gave them two innings worth of them," Carroll said. "The girls did a good job getting out of that, and Kristin did a good job spotting that Megan Leich drives a pitch for a base hit during the Winside 16-under team's doubleheader sweep of Albion Thursday in Winside.

Winside girls rolling into state tournament after sweep of Albion

The Winside 16-under softball team has played very well this summer, and continued their solid play Thursday with a doubleheader sweep of Albion at Winside.

In the first game, Winside easily won 17-6 behind the bats of Audrey Roberts, Shelby Lienemann, Tina Nelson and Elysia Wagner, who combined for eight RBIs off four hits, two of them doubles.

Deserah Janke got the win on the mound in the opener, striking out six and walking five in three innings before Mickayla Goger pitched one inning of relief.

In the nightcap, Winside whitewashed Albion 8-0 behind the pitching of Miranda Hansen, who struck out five and walked two in five innings of work. Roberts, Hansen, Janke and Goger combined for four hits and four RBIs in the win.

The 16-under team is 6-2 in their league and has gone 9-2-2 in tournament play this year. The team has dominated their league, winning by an average of six runs per game.

Recently, the team won its district championship, beating Creighton (8-4), Emerson (10-3) and Albion Extreme (8-1). They lost to Albion Extreme 5-1 in the first championship game, but came back to win the second one 4-1 to earn a trip to state.

The team will play in the Class C State Tournament July 9-11 in Auburn.

12-under Devils qualify for state

The Wayne Dirt Devils 12-under softball team went 3-2 in their district tournament, qualifying them for the state tournament July 9-11.

The Dirt Devils opened the tournament with an easy 17-1 win over Valpraiso, scoring eight runs in the second inning to break the game open and seven more in the fourth to end the game.

Danica Schaefer had a huge game for the Dirt Devils, recording two hits and six RBIs in the win. Kortney Keller had two hits, scored three runs and drove in three more while Shanda Lambert had three hits, scored three runs and had two RBIs. Emily Matthes had two hits and two runs in the win.

Hannah Belt pitched well in the win, allowing one run on no hits in four innings. She struck out six and walked five.

In their second game, Wayne held on for a 9-7 win over Tekamah-Herman Purple. Wayne scored five runs in the first inning, but had to hang on after Tekamah-Herman scored four in the third to make things interesting.

Schaefer had two hits and scored a run to lead the Wayne offense, while Keller and Lambert each added singles. Belt, Keller, Matthes and Rylee Bessmer all scored runs, and Belt threw a five-hitter on the mound, striking out eight.

Wayne made it a sweep over the Tekamah-Herman teams in the tournament with a 3-1 win over the Gold squad, riding the pitching of Belt, who struck out 11 and scattered five hits. Schaefer doubled and stole home and Jade Botger and Maddie Morris both scored runs. Wayne broke a 1-1 tie with two in the fifth to get the win.

The Dirt Devils' offense was stopped by West Point in their first loss, a 13-2 decision. West Point broke the game open with 10 runs in the third inning to send Wayne into the losers' bracket.

Schaefer doubled home a run, Morris added a hit and Keller and Nicole Craft each scored runs. Belt took the loss in the pitcher's circle, giving up eight hits and six walks while striking out five.

In their final game of the tournament, the Dirt Devils lost to the Elkhorn Slammers 5-3. Wayne scored three runs in the fourth to cut a 4-0 deficit down to a single run, but the Slammers added an insurance run in the fourth and held on for the win.

Bessmer, Matthes, Lambert and Botger each had hits for Wayne, while Bessmer, Matthes and Belt scored runs. Belt gave up six hits and a walk and struck out two in the losing effort.

In a league make-up doubleheader, the Dirt Devils dominated Norfolk Kelly's, playing just four innings in two games and winning both games easily, 25-0 and 22-2.

Younger Dirt Devils beat older squad

The battle for softball supremacy in Wayne will end in a draw this summer.

After losing to their older counterparts earlier in the year, the Wayne 16-under team returned the favor in their second league game of the season Thursday, coming away with a 9-1 win at the Wayne Softball Complex.

The 16-under team took advantage of some defensive miscues early on and got some good hits off 18-under lefthander Shannon Jarvi to come away with the win. The 18-under team had beaten the 16-unders earlier in the year, 6-3.

The 16-under Devils got things going in the first inning when Hannah Gamble doubled and scored on an error. Kristin Carroll and Caitlin Fehringer, both of whom reached on errors, scored on a double by Courtney Davie to make it 3-0.

The 18-under team would get its only run in the bottom of the first inning when Riley Hoffart singled and scored on Carly Fehringer's double.

The younger Dirt Devils struck again in the second, doing all of their damage after Jarvi had struck out the first two batters. Fehringer scored and Gamble came home to make it a 5-1 game, and Davie would reach on an error and come home on Katelyn Matthes' groundout in the third to make it 6-1.

In the fourth inning, Gamble and Carroll both got on base and came home on an error, and Gamble ended the game in the fifth with a single that scored Matthes.

Gamble finished with two hits on the night for the winners, and Carroll scattered five hits and struck out five to get the win.

The 18-under team got a double from Carly Fehringer and hits from Jarvi, Riley Hoffart and Katelyn Wells. Jarvi struck out four and gave up three hits. Only half of the six runs that scored off Jarvi were earned.

"It was a good benefit for us going into state to see a great lefthander like Shannon Jarvi," 16-under coach Doug Carroll said. "She's a quality pitcher that paints the outside part of the plate well, so it was good for our girls to see that as well going into state."

Carly Anderson lays down a bunt for the Dirt Devils 18-under team to try to get the offense going during Thursday's matchup with their 16-under counterparts at the Wayne Softball Complex. The 18-under team won the first meeting between the two teams, but the 16-under squad took Thursday's matchup by a 9-1 count.

Devils

inside fastball and her screwball to get us some crucial outs."

Wayne drew first blood in the third inning when Carroll stroked a one-out double to left-center and came home on Courtney Davie's single to right.

That lead would be short-lived, however, as Arlington used an error and two hits to take a 2-1 advantage in the top of the fourth, and Arlington pitcher Molly Miller pitched a very solid game for the visitors, getting eight of the first 12 outs via the strikeout and keeping the locals' bats in check until late in the game.

After Arlington left two runners in scoring position in the fifth, Wayne tied the game in the bottom of the sixth. Davie reached on an error and moved to second on a Elle Schramm walk. Both runners advanced a base on a passed ball, and Katelyn Matthes' fly ball to center brought Davie home with the tying run.

Arlington put the potential go-ahead run on base with two out in the top of the seventh, but Davie gunned down a would-be stolen base threat, as Hannah Gamble applied the tag to end the Arlington rally.

Wayne only got one ball out of the infield dirt in the bottom of the seventh inning, but that one ball brought home the winning run for the 20-6 Dirt Devils.

Gamble led off the seventh with a slow liner that was picked up by the center fielder on the outer edge of the infield. Carroll tried to sacrifice Gamble, but a throwing error by the pitcher allowed both runners to advance to third and second.

Caitlin Fehringer laid down a bunt toward third base. The third baseman faked a throw to first in the hopes of catching Gamble trying to score, but the fielder's choice left the bases loaded for Frahm. Frahm took a 1-1 pitch deep to center field. The ball one-hopped under the fence, and the long single brought Gamble home with the winning run.

Arlington outthit Wayne 9-5 in the game. Gamble, Carroll, Frahm, Davie and Megan Hoffart all had singles for the Dirt Devils.

Carroll said it was important for his team to get one last game in before this week's state tournament. The Devils will open play against the winner of the first-round matchup between Lexington and the Bellevue Shockers Purple Friday evening at 6:45 p.m. in Lexington.

"We haven't played a lot lately and didn't have a league or district tournament, so those couple of weekends off kind of concerned me," he said. "We'll practice Thursday and take a little batting practice before we take off Friday and get ready to play down there."

Carroll said that if his team can correct its recent defensive hiccups, they have a chance to do very well this weekend.

"There will be 17 or 18 teams there, and if we can get on a roll and play well, we'll have a chance," he said. "We'll go as far as our defense carries us."

have got nothing on the incompetent soccer officials working some of these games.

There have been so many high-profile gaffes by the officials working some of these games that even Tim Donaghy — the former NBA official who was caught gambling on games he officiated — looks like an honest injun right about now.

First, there was the goal the United States scored against Slovenia that was whistled off for reasons that, even two weeks later, have yet to be explained. This past weekend, two high-profile matchups saw controversial blunders by the officials, from the obvious offside call that wasn't made during Argentina's first goal against Mexico, to the shot by the stirker from England that hit the Germany crossbar, bounced inside the goal line twice before the keeper picked it up, and was ruled as no goal, killing whatever momentum England might have gained from what would have been a 2-2 game before losing 4-1.

After these recent mishaps, FIFA is now censoring replays at the stadiums so that fans won't get all bent out of shape over the incompetence on display by the officials working the match. Heaven forbid an official getting an earful from a fan who knows his team has been wronged by his inability to properly apply the rules of the game in an unbiased, or even intelligent, manner.

ESPN quoted new Texas Tech football coach Tommy Tuberville on the future of the Big 12 Conference now that Nebraska and Colorado are jumping ship.

This just in . . . his opinion is not one the bosses in Austin would want made public:

"I don't think this conference will last long because there is too much disparity between all the teams," he said on a radio sports talk show. "In the SEC, for instance, Vanderbilt makes as much money in the television contract as Florida. Everybody is good with it. Everybody is on the same page. Everyone gets the same votes. "That doesn't happen here in the Big 12. We have some teams that get a little bit more money and have a little bit more stroke than some of the other teams. And when that happens, you're gonna have teams looking for better avenues to leave and reasons to leave."

Kendall Gamble winds up to fire a pitch for the Dirt Devils 14-under team during action at the state tournament in Hastings.

14-under team goes 2-2 at state

The Wayne Dirt Devils posted a 2-2 effort at the Class A state 14-under tournament, held over the weekend at Hastings.

The Dirt Devils opened the tournament Friday with an 11-3 win over the Omaha Echoes, using an impressive offensive effort to win their first game of the tournament.

The Devils had 13 hits in the game, with Jalyn Zeiss and Sydney Harris each getting three hits in the game. McKenna Gibson and Victoria Kranz each had two hits, while Kendall Gamble, Lauren Gilliland and Ashton Schweers each had a hit. Zeiss scored three runs and Gibson and Harris each came home twice.

Gamble got the win in the circle for the Devils, striking out six and allowing three hits and five walks.

In their second game, Wayne was limited to one hit and lost a 9-1 decision to the eventual champions, the Omaha Frozen Ropes. The opponent held true to their name, hitting two home runs in the game. Zeiss got the Devils' only hit of the contest and scored the lone run.

The Devils stayed alive in the tournament with a 9-1 win over Columbus Fire and Ice. Zeiss had another big game, recording three hits and two runs. Gibson, Harris, Gamble, Emily Leeper and Alexis Owens each had a hit to highlight the offensive effort for the Dirt Devils, while Gamble struck out eight and allowed just two hits to get the win.

The Dirt Devils' state tournament hopes were dashed Saturday in a 4-1 loss to the Lincoln Nemesis. Leeper, Gibson, Gamble, Schweers and Sydney Harris all had hits in a losing effort for the Dirt Devils, who bowed out of the tournament with their second loss.

In league action Tuesday, the Dirt Devils were edged by Dodge 3-2 in action at Dodge. Kranz and Schweers each had two hits and Gilliland and Zeiss added singles for the Wayne girls, who are now 18-10 on the season.

14-under Devils post 7-6 win

The Wayne Dirt Devils 14-under softball team won a close one on the road at Tekamah, defeating Tekamah-Herman 7-6 in six innings on Thursday.

Jalyn Zeiss had three hits to lead the Wayne attack, while Kendall Gamble tripled. Also getting hits were Emily Leeper, McKenna Gibson, Ashton Schweers, Abbie Hix and Skylar Gamble.

Gibson threw a complete-game seven-hitter to get the win on the mound for the Dirt Devils. She struck out eight and walked three in the game.

14-under Devils win

The Wayne Dirt Devils 16-under softball team got a run in the top of the eighth inning to win a tight affair with North Bend, taking a 2-1 victory.

"It was a good, close game which was won in extra innings," coach Doug Carroll said. "For once, we played good defense and were solid in the pitching circle. We only managed three hits, but we found a way to win the game."

Caitlin Fehringer, Kristin Carroll and Elle Schramm each had hits for the Dirt Devils. They broke a scoreless tie with a run in the sixth, only to see North Bend tie the game in the bottom of the inning. Wayne got a run in the eighth inning, then held on as Carroll struck out eight to get the complete-game win.

Wayne onslaught. Brady Soden had two hits, two RBIs and scored two runs, while Frank Bernal scored two runs and Gage Rethwisch recorded two RBIs.

Trent Beza and Tony Sinniger combined to limit Pierce to five hits and two earned runs in the game. Beza was credited with the win.

The Seniors were tied 2-2 with Pierce when they went on their rally, scoring four times in the fourth and six more in the fifth.

Tory Booth had a big night for the Seniors, collecting three hits and scoring three runs. Jacob Zeiss added two hits and scored three runs, and Alex Onnen, Zac Braun, Dustin Stegemann and A.J. Longe each scored two runs. Stegemann and Mason Wren both had four RBIs.

Derek Poutre pitched well on the mound to get the win, going six innings and striking out seven while working around seven hits and seven walks.

"Derek didn't have his best stuff there, but he was able to get the win for us," Zeiss said.

On Wednesday, the Juniors shut out Pierce 8-0 at Hank Overin Field, but the Seniors came up on the short end of a high-scoring 10-8 decision.

Rethwisch was on his game in the Juniors matchup. He limited the guests to a pair of hits and struck out eight in the five-inning game. He helped his own cause with two hits, while Sinniger and Beza each added two hits to a balanced 11-hit effort.

Wayne took command of the game early, scoring six runs in the second inning. They added two more runs in the fifth to end the game on the eight-run rule.

The Seniors and Pierce were tied at 3-3 after three innings, but the visitors took the lead for good with two runs in the fourth and five more in the fifth. Wayne rallied with a pair of runs in the sixth and one more in the seventh, but could not finish off the comeback.

Booth had three hits and three RBIs, and Poutre added a pair of hits in the losing effort. Braun and Longe each scored two runs.

On Thursday, the two teams came up on the short end of decisions against South Sioux City. The Juniors saw a 1-0 lead get away late in a 5-1 defeat, while the Seniors were touched early by South Sioux City's bats and dropped an 8-0 decision.

Sinniger singled and scored a run for Wayne in the second inning, and it looked like that run would hold up until the visitors got to starter Joey Lenihan late in the sixth inning. Lenihan pitched well in a losing effort, allowing two hits and striking out eight.

The Seniors could never get anything going against South Sioux City in the nightcap. Taylor Carroll had the only hit of the game for Wayne, and Poutre was touched for three earned runs in four innings of work.

Both teams came up a run short on the road in Pender on Friday. The Juniors lost a defensive struggle to Pender 2-1, while the Seniors' comeback effort fell short in a high-scoring 10-9 decision.

The Juniors, once again, were limited to one hit in suffering their second straight loss of the week.

Sinniger got the team's only hit in the game. Keegan Dorsey came home with a run in the sixth to tie the game, but Pender scored in the bottom of the sixth and held on for the win. Carroll was the hard-luck loser, limiting Pender to four hits and striking out three in six innings of work.

The Seniors trailed 5-0 after the first inning, but chipped away and led 9-7 before the hosts scored three times in the bottom of the fifth.

Wayne had their chances late in the game, loading the bases with nobody out in the top of the seventh.

"We had the bases loaded and nobody out, and we had talked about squeezing (a run home), but I believe in our kids and we had the guys up that we wanted up," Zeiss said. "It just didn't happen."

Zeiss, Onnen and Stegemann each scored two runs for the Seniors in the losing effort. Onnen and Wren each had two RBIs. Braun pitched well in a losing effort, scattering five hits and striking out four in six innings.

Both teams played Wakefield on Wednesday and host Dodge on Thursday, then begin play in the Ralph Bishop League tournament next week.

Zeiss said it will be important for both teams to peak as the tournament season kicks into gear. "League is next week, and then districts start the week after that for the Juniors, so that's when we want to be peaking," Zeiss said. "For the Seniors, league is like a mini-state tournament, so it will be important for us to put a few games together and have a good showing to get us ready for the postseason."

ENERGY FACT #24

MAINTAINING BALANCE IS KEY.

ESPECIALLY WHEN IT COMES TO ENERGY.

Nebraskans pay lower rates and receive better reliability when a diverse mix of fuels are used to generate the electricity they need. While some utilities rely upon a single fuel source like natural gas, our power supplier generates with a diverse mix of fuels, 40 percent of which are carbon-free, like nuclear, wind, and hydropower.

The Allen gym's new support beam was put in last week and construction crews are continuing to make progress. This week they are working on the ceiling and roof of the new addition.

Oaks administrator attends state convention

Recently, Donna Hawley, Administrator of The Oaks, participated in the Nebraska Health Care Association (NHCA) and Nebraska Assisted Living Association (NALA) Convention in Kearney.

The highlight of the conference was the opportunity to share conversation with Governor Heineman regarding the health care needs in rural Nebraska. "It is important to build strong relationships with our Governor in order to collaboratively enhance the quality of life for seniors through our combined efforts in the State of Nebraska."

Hawley also attended the Veterans Administrative Benefits session, as well as, programs that provided opportunities for Dementia-specific care for senior living support in the Assisted Living environment. She has had extensive involvement in developing dementia support programs for communities and assisted living facilities, including working with new construction building design.

In addition, Hawley will be participating on the NHCA/NALA Public Relations/Membership committee whose mission statement is "Serving Those Who Serve". Through this committee work, we hope to share public and facility awareness of senior living activities and offer program support through the association memberships. Together as health care teams we will be stronger in providing quality services to our seniors.

Republicans gather in Wayne

The Wayne County Republican Party met in convention at the First National Bank meeting room on June 2 with around 20 delegates in attendance.

Speaker of the Nebraska Legislature, Sen. Mike Flood was the speaker. Sen. Flood discussed how a senator who resigns is replaced. He also talked about the status of the Highway 35 expressway project. The Senator answered questions ranging from wind energy to the possibility of limiting appeals on the death penalty. The Senator from Norfolk was, as usual, well-informed and knowledgeable about events across the state of Nebraska.

The delegates to the convention elected party officers for the next two years. They include:

Chairman: Dave Bloomfield from Hoskins; Vice-chair: Rose Janke from Winside; Secretary: Carol Rethwisch from Wayne; Treasurer: Deb Dickey from Wayne.

Wayne County is allotted three delegates and three alternates at the Nebraska State Republican Convention which will be held in July. The delegates and alternates elected are:

Delegates: Joe Nelson of Wayne, Shawn Story of Wayne and Dave Bloomfield of Hoskins.

Alternate Delegates: Tim Voss

of Winside; Dee Boeckenhauer of Hoskins and Emily Nelson of Wayne.

Shawn Story, the Vice President of the Young Republicans from Wayne State also spoke briefly to the delegates convened in Wayne.

Is it time for a second American Revolution?

Taxation without representation. That was one of the many straws that broke the camel's back when our founding fathers gathered to write what we now know as the Declaration of Independence, a document that we celebrate every year with the Fourth of July.

The American colonies were being taxed to death by King George and the royal henchmen across the Atlantic. Great Britain was taking almost every bit of revenue opportunity available in the form of taxes from the colonists, right up to the point where those who came across the Atlantic to get away from the oppression that was going on in the British homeland decided that they had had enough.

The document was adopted on July 4, 1776, but a lot of work, discussion and argument occurred before the 56 signatures from representatives of the 13 colonies were affixed to that parchment of freedom. And it wasn't the end – the Revolutionary War took the better part of a decade to fight before the Brits realized they could no longer control this budding nation.

This nation has survived quite nicely on its own since the Brits gave up and went back across the ocean. We've lived through a civil war, world wars fought overseas, domestic and international terrorist attacks and numerous disasters of all shapes and sizes. We stared down the Russians in the Cold War, saved Europe from dictatorial ruin and made this nation the envy of the world.

Today, though, we find ourselves in a situation that is becoming eerily similar to that which our founding fathers faced almost 240 years ago.

We are being taxed to death in this nation right now, with the rules being dictated by a group of individuals who do a poor job of representing the people who elected them to serve in the halls of Congress.

The list of taxes that we currently pay is mind-numbing. There are so many taxes, in fact, that there is not enough space in this column to list them.

Did you know that almost one-fourth of your paycheck goes to taxes that you may never benefit from? More people are receiving money from Social Security than is going in right now. The federal income taxes we pay won't even begin to make a dent in the federal deficit, which now stands in the tens of TRILLIONS of dollars. I'm still waiting for an answer from the governor's office on how he'll cut spending and balance a budget that faces a near billion-dollar shortfall – all without raising taxes.

We are working longer and harder to make ends meet in this country, mainly because of the abundance of taxes that we have to pay and the inability of our representatives to stop spending money we don't have.

And for what? Our nation has fallen deeper into debt, and our "representatives" seem intent on looking at the best interests of those back home only on the years in which they are up for re-election. We see these "representatives" only when they are looking for donations for their re-election campaign, or in times of high-profile crisis (like the recent flooding along the Elkhorn, which brought Sen. Nelson away from his cozy Washington office to, as they say, inspect the damage).

I have a healthy disrespect for those who represent us in Washington, and my disrespect easily crosses party lines. There is not a single Republican or Democrat "representing" us in Congress right now that I have any kind of respect for. These "representatives" are taxing us to death without really representing the will of those who elect them to "represent" us in the halls of government.

Unfortunately, the opportunity to remove these bloodsuckers from public office is severely limited, thanks to a system that greatly limits our ability to properly choose the best candidate for the job.

Here in Nebraska, we don't get a chance to elect a third-party candidate, all because of a state law that requires third-party candidates to submit a certain percentage of valid signatures to get on the ballot. Even then, that party must receive a certain percentage of the state's votes in the Presidential election in order to stay on the ballot for future elections.

What kind of representation is that? It's next to impossible for a third party to gain any kind of political foothold in this state when it is limited in such a fashion. That means that we'll only be able to choose Republican or Democrat when we go to the polls to elect our Congressional representatives, in spite of the fact that neither political party offers any kind of true representation while offering candidates who do nothing more than suck at the nipple of their national political party affiliation, all while ignoring the wishes of those they represent.

This nation has longed for true leadership and representation, and while we celebrate our independence from British monarchy this weekend, we must ask ourselves whether or not this great nation – the greatest in all the world – isn't overdue for a second American Revolution.

How much longer will we put up with this modern-day version of "taxation without representation"?

Capitol View Money and politics go together

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
LINCOLN – Money and politics. Politics and money. You cannot have one without the other.

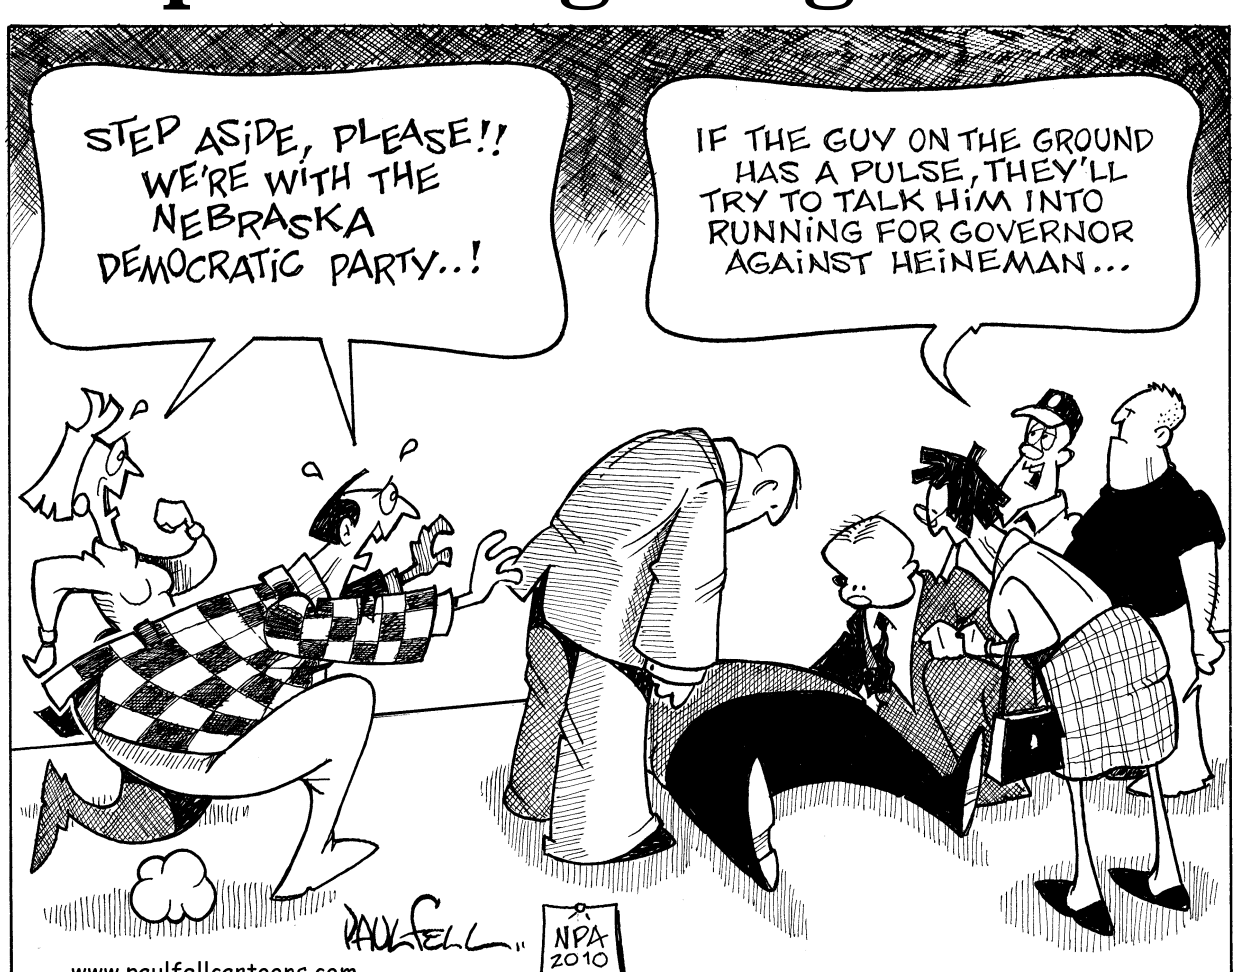

Money is synonymous with influence. Money influences policymakers, mostly because it influences voters.

And that brings us to the situation in Fremont, which is reflective of the situation in uncounted communities nationwide. A lot of people in the town of 25,000 – a voting majority, to be sure – are upset because the Hispanic population has grown tremendously over two decades. Some have entered the U.S. illegally. The consensus is that "the illegals" are most often employed by local meatpacking operations.

Fremont voters have approved an ordinance making it illegal to employ or rent housing to anyone who can't prove they are in the country legally. The city attorney figures expected lawsuits could cost local taxpayers $1 million or so every year. It could mean higher local property taxes. Think about that: $1 million a year for however many years. A few communities around the nation have enacted similar ordinances, with no significant results, but nonetheless found themselves sledge-hammered by the costs of defending the ordinances in court.

The legal battle facing Fremont, and the other communities, is the direct result of local government trying to do the federal government's job. Congress hasn't seen to the proper enforcement of immigration laws along U.S. southern borders since approximately forever. This is a matter of fact, not opinion.

Latino labor was and still is comparatively cheap. Business interests profiting immensely from that cheap labor did not, and still do not, want to see it go away; for example, the meatpacking industry has been found to recruit undocumented workers from the Southwest. Those combined business interests have money. A great many Latinos and other citizens don't want the feds to go on a full-tilt enforcement binge, either. Those Latinos can vote. Money and politics. Politics and money.

Add up those things and what you get is: Nothing. As in, nothing meaningful being done by Congress to see that people don't enter the country illegally; nothing meaningful being done to reduce their population in any significant way; nothing meaningful being done to punish those who employ them. Money and politics. Politics and money.

Push legislation for hardened enforcement of the law, and a lot of money and political ire can be aimed at a congressman or senator. Argue that no program is going to turn back the clock, so accommodations must be made, and it's the same story.

It does not appear, to date, that collective courage will rally behind either approach – or any approach. It does appear, however, that every so often some village, or town or state will try to put its governmental foot down – at the risk of having its fiscal legs broken.

Footnote: There is an irony in the decades-long movement of Latinos to el Norte. In the 1970s American businesses built factories in Mexican communities, just across the border from the U.S., to take advantage of cheaper labor. A lot of Americans lost jobs. But in the 1990s, a lot of those factories were closed because businesses sent those jobs to China, to take advantage of even cheaper labor. A lot of Latinos lost jobs. That situation, by itself, led to a substantial migration across the border.

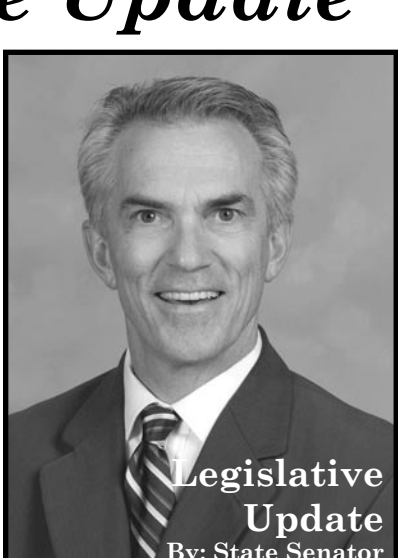

Legislative Update

Greetings from the Unicameral! With the Fourth of July holiday quickly approaching, many Boy Scout troops, churches and other community groups throughout Nebraska have opened their annual fireworks stands.

Many fireworks-seekers may be unaware of recent changes to state law made by the Legislature which will expand the types of fireworks available in Nebraska, helping our local groups compete against retailers in neighboring states.

For years, many Nebraskans have traveled to neighboring states like South Dakota and Missouri to purchase fireworks which were banned from being sold in-state. Under LB880, introduced by Sen. Kent Rogert of Tekamah and passed by the Legislature this past session, Nebraskans will not only be able to buy a broader selection of July 4th fireworks without leaving the state, they'll be able to buy fireworks to celebrate New Year's Eve as well. Many of these fireworks are no stronger than those already available, and should hopefully provide a boost to Nebraska fireworks retailers. Larger fireworks such as aerial bombs, M-80s, and large rockets, as well as metal sparklers and bottle rockets, will continue to be banned under state law. These new provisions go into effect on Oct. 1.

In addition to liberalizing the types of fireworks that can be sold in Nebraska, LB880 eliminated a requirement that all fireworks sold in-state be tested by the State Fire Marshall's Office. Because virtually all fireworks are tested and approved by the Consumer Product Safety Commission, this change will save nearly $20,000 that is currently being spent on duplicative testing. Combined with the increased revenue the state will likely see from additional sales by in-state retailers, these changes to state fireworks laws should give Nebraska economy a well-timed "bang" in difficult economic times.

Legislative Update

As always, I would encourage you to contact me if you have any questions or simply have an opinion on legislation before the Unicameral. Feel free to call my office at (402) 471-2716, send me an e-mail at bgiese@leg.ne.gov, or stop by in person any time you're in Lincoln.

Core freedoms hang in balance

It's the time of year for fireworks, barbecues, pool parties and celebrating our nation's freedom. Because of what our forefathers fought for, the American dream of entrepreneurship, prosperity and limitless creative ambition has become a reality for so many people.

But this July 4th brings a harsher reality for Americans as one of our most core freedoms hangs in the balance – the freedom from the government to force citizens to buy a certain product or participate in any one part of commerce.

Three months ago, Congress passed and President Obama signed the healthcare bill into law. The nation needed healthcare reform but this law was not the way to do it. In fact, this law is unconstitutional.

The healthcare law infringes on every American's right to purchase what they please, including health insurance plans. The law forces Americans to buy health insurance, whether they want to or not, or face a penalty in the form of a fine. Our nation was not founded upon a government that forces its own citizens to purchase something against their will or face a penalty.

Maybe being forced to purchase health insurance doesn't sound so bad to you. But what about if the government forces you to buy vitamins or join a gym or say that we can't eat our barbecue on July 4th because it's unhealthy? If the courts uphold the healthcare law, there is no limit to what the government will be able to mandate Americans purchase.

This law is not only detrimental to our freedoms but also to our businesses, particularly infringing on small business owners' abilities to manage the day-to-day operations of running their businesses. The individual and employer mandates combined with the onslaught of new taxes, paperwork requirements and new rules will dramatically increase the cost of starting and running a small business. And while there are a few provisions that may benefit a limited number of small businesses, the overall effect of the law will do much more harm to small businesses than good.

A law that harms small business harms the entire nation. Small business deserve better than a healthcare law that was rushed through the legislative process, ignored the Constitution, and ultimately will destroy jobs and force some small businesses to close their doors. Along with 20 states, NFIB is fighting to overturn this legislation and protect our nation's freedoms through a lawsuit against the healthcare law.

Mandates from a central government authority that forced the people to behave or act in certain ways were exactly what we won our independence from over 200 years ago. Let's not go back.

National Federation of Independent Business, Lincoln

UNMC nursing, pharmacy, allied health students make Dean's Lists

Students enrolled in the University of Nebraska Medical Center Colleges of Nursing and Pharmacy, and the School of Allied Health Professions' radiation science technology and clinical laboratory science programs, were named to the dean's list for the 2010 spring semester.

Boy Scouts attend Scout Camp

To qualify for the dean's list, nursing and radiation science technology and clinical laboratory science students must be enrolled for 12 or more hours during the semester and have a grade point average of 3.75 or above. To qualify for the pharmacy dean's list, students must place in the top 20 percent of their class and maintain a grade point average of 3.5 or above.

Gaining new life skills and having fun in the outdoors are common experiences for the members of Boy Scout Troop 174 of Wayne.

This year approximately one-half of the scouts attended the annual Camp Cedars week of fun and learning in Cedar Bluffs. The scouts participated in a number of activities and increased their knowledge and experience in the following areas: camping, canoeing, metalworking, swimming, safe rifle handling, first aid, emergency preparedness, fire safety, environmental science and space exploration.

Members of Troop 174 climbed 35 and 55 foot climbing walls and repelled other walls at the camp. The scouts continued their fun by challenging the staff to ultimate frisbee. Following an exhaustive encounter of the sport, they claimed a 5-5 tie.

Fun, the ability to camp and survive the outdoors no matter what the weather (i.e. rain and storms) and teamwork are the hallmarks of scouting and are skills that are obtained by all of the youth of Troop 174.

The following is a list of local students for the various colleges and locations.

 UNMC College of Pharmacy — Tori Cunningham of Laurel.

Don't overlook water safety particularly important during the summer months, when children play outside in yards, parks and playgrounds, and at camp or vacation grounds. It is recommended that children ages six and under be supervised at all times; older children also need supervision, especially when several children of differing ages may be playing in the same area. Parental supervision is particularly important in and near private (hotel and motel pools, for example) or residential pools, but should not be neglected at public pools. Without supervision, a child may drown before he or she is missed.

At what age should a child be allowed to go to the pool by his or herself? That can depend on a child's age, level of skill as a swimmer and maturity level. Pool rules and policies should be considered, too. Lifeguards at public pools should not be expected to fill the role of a babysitter.

Older children also can be at risk in public pools, especially during group play or activities. They usually are, however, more likely to drown in lakes and rivers; they also are more likely to suffer crippling injuries or death from a diving accident. Diving in open or unknown waters and in any area that may be less than nine-feet deep and not specifically designed for diving is unwise. Diving in such areas can result in a devastating head, neck or spinal injury.

For more information on families and safety issues, please contact the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension Office in your local county or visit the website at www.extension.unl.edu.

Special Fourth of July activities planned at Praise Assembly Church

Sunday, July 4 (Independence Day), at Praise Assembly of God will open with Sunday School, starting at 9:30 a.m.

Philip Pfaltzgraff, Staff Accompanist at Wayne State College, is teaching a series in the book of Psalms from the "Songs of Ascent" (Psalms 120-134). This week the group will start in Psalm 123. The lesson will deal with the subject of "Being rejected -- and looked on with contempt."

Morning worship begins at 10:30 a.m. The Rev. David Stitt will be preaching in the service.

As is the pattern at Praise Assembly, every service includes time to pray for the needs of people; there is no need too great or too small. Since it is the first Sunday of the month, communion will be served to all in attendance.

The evening plan is to have a Fourth of July picnic and festive gathering in the country.

More details will be available on Sunday morning at Praise Assembly of God, located at 1000 East 10th Street, just east of Providence Road in Wayne. The building is completely handicap-accessible.

PEO observes 100th anniversary

P.E.O., Chapter AZ, was honored for its 100th anniversary at the noon luncheon of the State Convention held in Norfolk on June 12.

Over 400 guests were in attendance. Anne Hoeman served as liaison for convention planning between Chapter AZ and the Norfolk chapters. Amy Bowers and Jill Sweetland organized an impressive display of archival items from the chapter scrapbooks, including a running video of pictures from the past. Lauren Walton, president, was the official delegate for Chapter AZ.

The Wayne chapter was in charge of the Friday evening banquet and many members were servers for the dinner.

Chapter AZ met for their regular meeting on June 15 at the home of Marie Mohr. Assisting hostesses were Rae Kugler, Marilyn Carhart, Joyce Reeg, and Carrie Walton. Lauren Walton reported on activities and discussions at the State Convention. This will be the last official meeting for the summer. A picnic social, with spouses invited, will be held at the home of Kris and Breck Giese, with the date yet to be determined.

Workers from First Presbyterian's Make a Difference project enjoy fellowship and lunch together after the service projects were completed.

First Presbyterian Church 'Made a Difference'

The crews with the orange t-shirts were out in force, making a difference in Wayne last Sunday.

On June 27, the First Presbyterian (FPC) congregation gathered for worship, featuring Will Perrigan, executive director of the Norfolk Rescue Mission. Pastor Will inspired the church about the need to live out our faith in Christ.

Then the congregation divided into work groups to complete mission projects in the community. One group weeded the flower beds at Wayne Middle School; another picked up trash and removed volunteer trees at the Wayne State College prairie; another group picked up litter along Highway 35; and the youngest members stayed inside and learned about local efforts against hunger.

"This was a great opportunity for us as a church to concentrate our efforts outward and be scattered to witness to our faith in concrete ways. The Bible says, 'Do not merely listen to the word, and so deceive yourselves. Do what it says.' (James 1:22) So we are taking that seriously," said Pastor Ray McCalla.

Flood recovery programs available from USDA's Farm Service Agency

"Flooding and excess moisture, as well as hail and wind, have damaged land and caused crop and livestock losses in many parts of Nebraska and the Midwest," noted Farm Service Agency State Executive Director Dan Steinkruger. "There are a number of actions under emergency programs that farmers, ranchers, and landowners should consider."

Programs and actions that may assist include:

- Notice of Loss, including failed and prevented planting, should be reported to crop insurance agents for insured crops.

- Producers should report all prevented planted or failed acreages to FSA. Prevented planted acres should be reported within 15 days of the final plant date and failed acres should be reported prior to disposition of the crop.

- Emergency Livestock Assistance Program (ELAP). Flood victims that have met risk management crop insurance requirements or obtained NAP coverage may be eligible for the ELAP program. The ELAP will cover losses of purchased or mechanically harvested feedstuffs or forage intended for eligible livestock that was destroyed in the flood. The program will also cover grazing losses for up to 90 days. A producer should contact their local FSA office to file a notice of loss within 30 days of becoming aware of the loss to be eligible.

- Livestock Indemnity Program (LIP). Eligible livestock owners that lost livestock due to flooding will be eligible to file applications for reimbursement under the LIP program. The LIP pays producers 75 percent of the value for the livestock losses that exceed normal mortality. A notice of loss must be filed at the county FSA office within 30 days of when the loss is apparent to be eligible. The producer would then have until Jan. 30, 2011 to complete the application for payment.

- Emergency Loans. Upon receiving a disaster declaration for physical losses, FSA can make emergency physical loss loans for the repair or replacement of disaster related damaged chattels or real estate essential to the farming operation, household items that must be repaired or replaced, damage to harvested or stored crops or to perennial crops. Livestock death losses which are related to the disaster are considered a physical loss. Emergency Actual Loss loans have an interest rate of 3.75 percent.

- Emergency Conservation Program (ECP) - This program assists producers to rehabilitate farmland and conservation facilities damaged by flooding, tornado, etc., where the damage is of such magnitude that it would be too costly for the producer to rehabilitate without federal assistance. Producers may be eligible to receive 75 percent of the eligible cost of restoration not to exceed $200,000 per natural disaster occurrence. Eligible practices include debris removal, grading, shaping, re-leveling or similar measures; restoring permanent fences, restoring conservation structures, and field windbreaks and farmstead shelterbelts emergency measures.

- Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) - This program was designed to reduce financial losses that occur when natural disasters cause a catastrophic loss of production or prevented planting of an eligible crop by providing coverage equivalent to Catastrophic Crop Insurance (CAT). Eligibility based on damaging weather can include, but is not limited to hail, excessive moisture, excessive wind, flood or any combination of these losses. It is important that if you carry the NAP coverage that you report any losses, as they occur to the crops, within 15 calendar days after the disaster occurrence, or by the final planting date for prevented planting. A notice of loss must be filed for each weather related event or adverse natural occurrence that causes damage to or loss of the specific crop or commodity.

- The Supplemental Revenue Assistance Payments Program (SURE) provides benefits for 2008 to 2011 crop year farm losses due to natural disasters. A SURE "farm" is eligible when either of the following occurs: a portion of the farm is located in a county covered by a qualifying natural disaster declaration (USDA Secretarial Designations only) or contiguous county; or the actual production is less than 50 percent of the normal production. In order to be eligible for the SURE program there is a Risk Management Purchase Requirement (RMPR).

A producer must have obtained a policy or plan of insurance for all crops through either the Federal Crop Insurance Act or FSA's Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP). There are limited exceptions to this rule, and SURE does not require coverage for forage crops intended for grazing.

Steinkruger added, "Farmers, ranchers, and landowners can contact their local FSA office to get more information on FSA programs."

Crop flood information and mosquitoes are popular topics

With all the rain that has occurred over the last couple of weeks, there will be questions on how the excess rainfall will affect crops. This is a big topic and there are lots of resources available for information.

I recommend that you go to the University of Nebraska's Crop Watch web page for information on how to cope with the changes brought by the unusual weather. The site to go to is cropwatch.unl.edu.

From this site you can select any article that is listed on the page, or if you have a question for a specific crop you can select that crop and go from there. The greatest impact will probably be on corn.

For example, your corn is yellow and you want to make a decision on whether you should add more nitrogen or follow some other course. Once you go to cropwatch.unl.edu you can go to the left column and select corn. On that page there are many articles dealing with nitrogen losses, along with insurance, weed control, etc. If you want information on other crops just go back to the main page and select the crop you want information about.

Once you step outside, particularly in the morning or evening, you without a doubt have noticed the abundance of mosquitoes brought on by the heavy rainfall. We have gotten off pretty easily over the last few years as May-June rainfall hasn't produced as many mosquitoes. Well, Mother Nature usually evens things up and we are getting several years' worth of mosquitoes all at once. The key to reducing populations of these blood-suckers is elimination of breeding areas.

We can write a lot about mosquitoes but most people know that they need standing water to complete their life cycle. The heavy rains produce way more breeding areas in places you don't suspect, such as old tires, cans, pool covers, plugged or uneven rain gutters, among others. Most municipalities will treat sewage lagoons with blocks of larvicide that prevent mosquitoes from completing their life cycle. In an "outbreak" year many of the pests come from homeowner areas.

Be vigilant around your house. Eliminate any containers that can hold water for over a week. Replace bird bath water a couple of times a week. Clean rain gutters that may drain slowly but are holding water. Mosquito larvae and pupae are tiny, wiggly creatures that react if you approach them by scooting lower in the water. Just a gallon of water can produce hundreds of mosquitoes.

If you want to spray for mosquitoes, do it during the hot part of the day. They usually hide in trees, flower gardens, or shrubs and sometimes even in the grass waiting for the cooler part of the day to attack. Some species will bite in the daytime also, but treating vegetation with an insecticide in the daytime will knock out a fair number. Bug lights do not attract mosquitoes so they are of no use. Use repellents with DEET when you need to venture outside. Some cosmetic products are said to work in repelling mosquitoes, but it will vary with individuals. When trying these products myself, I got nice soft skin but a lot of mosquito bites. Use what works for you.

Variety of activities take place in June

My goodness, where did this month go? And what an unusual one for weather! Tornadoes in Montana and Connecticut?

I closed last week's column with a prayer request for our troops in the Middle East; I will open this week with a special prayer request for General Petraus. The way I read it, he's between a rock and a hard place! He needs all the help he can get.

I was in Omaha at the Hilton for a meeting on Saturday and that hotel was the dorm for Texas Christian University. That team accomplished a lot just by beating Texas in their regional, and then got to the semi-finals on Saturday. But, that day, they, and the American soccer team, got beat; as did the Royals, who beat the Cardinals on Friday. It gives fans all kinds of things to talk about, and to distract from things like oil spills, wars, floods, hurricanes, and summit meetings!

I met a nice lady from Wayne who was selling T-shirts. I simply asked her daughter where she went to school and she said, "In Wayne, which is two hours from here." I assured her that I knew where Wayne was.

By: Pat Meierhenry

A couple of months ago, I was at a Nebraska Brass concert and got to chatting with the gal seated next to me. She was also from Wayne! A music student here in Lincoln, and seemed surprised to meet someone who knew where it was.

I also read that Wayne is on the list for one of the wackiest celebrations in the United States, and you know what that is: Chicken Days!

This morning, I have an appointment to meet someone from the post office at my Mom's house to plan for a mail box at her door instead of the kiosk down the street. Her balance is poor, and we are afraid she will fall getting her mail. Last winter, her neighbor got it for her. I would prefer that she got it inside of one of our nice retirement facilities here in town, but she insists she is not ready for that yet. She was 94 in April!

Whenever I visit one of these places and read the menu and the activity calendar, I'm ready to move in! A lot of companies, and people, spend a lot of time and energy making these places as homelike and pleasant as possible. I think it's a shame when someone won't take advantage of them. But it isn't my decision; my mother is still her own person, even if the memory bank isn't working as well.

As I deal with her, though, I try to make mental notes to myself! I'm learning that there is a fine line between an independent spirit and just plain stubbornness!

Area 4-H Horticulture Plant Identification Contest conducted

In spite of the recent rainy and windy weather, it was a pleasingly warm and quiet evening for the fifth annual 4-H Horticulture Plant Identification Contest, held June 16 at the farm of Donald and Dorrine Liedman.

Ten 4-H members from Madison, Pierce, Stanton, and Wayne counties were in attendance. They identified 30 vegetables, flowers, and trees. Rachel Sorensen and Nicole Sorensen of Pierce County were first and second place winners, respectively, for identifying the most plants.

The three Wayne County 4-Hers, Laura Greunke, Grace Heithold and Sylvia Jager, tied for third place. It took three tie breakers to get the winner, which went to Sylvia Jager. Garden perennials were given to the top three winners.

The 4-Hers, accompanied by Master Gardener Jim Laycock, toured the gardens to review the plants that were identified.

Twenty-one Master Gardeners and friends were present and 10 took part identifying 15 plants by name. After a two-way tie between Master Gardeners, Pearl Laycock and Teresa Roche, a flip of the coin determined Teresa the winner of a garden perennial plant.

Following the horticulture competition, Master Gardener Karen Zierke gave a demonstration on how to properly prepare root crops for entry to the county fair. The 4-Hers worked together in cutting the roots and stalks, then chose the correct number needed that met the requirements. Zierke also demonstrated the proper preparations to exhibit flowers. She showed the 4-Hers a book that is available at the Extension offices on the preparation of vegetables and fruit at the county fair.

To close the evening, snacks were provided by the Extension offices.

Wayne Ohnesorg, Wayne and Pierce County Extension Educator, Jim Laycock, and Donald Liedman were in charge of preparing and carrying out the contest.

Something you're born to do

Everybody has something that they do best. It's something you're born to do. Farming is like that. It's not easy and it's not for everybody.

Some years right at the very last minute a storm comes through, takes a would be bumper crop and flattens it like a pancake. It takes courage to face those odds every year. You have to believe in agriculture to do that.

We believe in it, too. Ag banking...it's what we do best. If you're in agriculture, we would like to be your bank.
