Elementary kids focus of concern over buildings

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

The possibility of combining the Wayne Elementary School students with several grades of Wayne Middle School students in the Middle School building has raised some concerns for Wayne Elementary School teachers.

Several of these teachers were on hand during Monday's regular meeting of the Wayne Board of Education.

Mike Jaixen and Jodi Lutt, teachers at Wayne Elementary, spoke of concerns with putting young students in the building, including crowded classrooms, the use of stairs and lunch room facilities.

Following the presentations, Wayne Schools Superintendent Mark Lenihan thanked the teachers for their input and encouraged additional dialogue between staff and administration.

The issue came about following a recent facility study that noted a number of deficiencies and issues at the Wayne Elementary School. A special Board of Education meeting on Aug. 23 included a tour of the elementary school and the presentation of four options for future building projects.

The availability of Build America Bonds to assist with the funding of projects was also discussed and a decision on whether or not to proceed with the issuance of bonds will take place at a future board meeting. If the board chooses to move forward, the necessary paperwork must be completed before the end of 2010.

Also on Monday's agenda was the discussion of the possibility of adding baseball to Wayne High School's list of sports was discussed.

Athletic Director Rocky Ruhl presented information on budgeting for the sport, scheduling and proportionality of boys and girls competing in sports at the high school for Title IX compliance.

Ruhl told board members that a decision would have to be made by Jan. 1 to allow Wayne High School to participate in baseball for the 2011 season.

During comments from the public, Jackie Zeiss, representing the Wayne Baseball Association, told the board that the association would be willing to provide uniforms for the team, eliminating one expense for the district.

Prior to the board meeting, a budget hearing and final tax request was held in regard to the 2010-2011 budget.

Superintendent Lenihan told the board that "we have put together a good budget. Our mill levy will be $1.18, which is nearly the same as last year's asking."

In reports from faculty and administration, Cheryl Suehl spoke on the Jump Start Summer School. She noted that this year's session was several hours longer each day and included extra days. In addition to this being a benefit for the students attending, the district should be reimbursed for some of the expenses associated with the school.

Mark Hanson, Wayne High School Principal, presented information on ACT test scores for Wayne High School students and talked about a community/school effort to provide treats to students at all three schools. He noted that overall, "there has been a nice start to the school year."

Daryl Schunk, Wayne Elementary Principal, explained the process for Parent/Teacher Conferences to be held Sept. 23-24. He also told the board, "people have been very generous to the schools in providing gifts to the schools. There are so many organizations and individuals too numerous to mention that step in whenever we have a need."

Misty Bear, Director of Special Education, presented information on a new, interactive computer program that allows for students to complete credit recovery to allow for on-time graduation. She will make a presentation on the program at the October meeting.

Rocky Ruhl, Middle School Principal and Athletic Director, told of the fall sports schedules and then described a program at the Middle School called "212" which is the boiling point of water. The goal is to encourage students to put forth extra effort to create "steam" to make an effort.

The board will meet Sunday, Sept. 26 at 6 p.m. in the high school library for a work session.

The next regular meeting for the Board of Education will be Monday, Oct. 11 at 5 p.m. at the high school.

Police warn of door-to-door vendors

The Wayne Police Department has received calls and emails reporting suspicious activity or suspicious persons who may be posing as door-to-door vendors.

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster said he isn't aware of any law enforcement reports in the area pertaining to this suspicious activity, but does urge people to use caution when strangers approach their homes or businesses.

"If a door-to-door vendor comes to your home or business, don't be afraid to ask questions. All out-of-town vendors are required to obtain a City Vendor Permit if they are vending in Wayne. Ask to see the permit. Ask for company identification. Responsible vendors won't be offended by these questions," Webster said.

"If you are home alone don't invite anyone you don't know into your home and report anything you feel is suspicious to law enforcement. Take some simple precautions and you can reduce your risks of becoming a victim," he added.

Anyone with information about this type of suspicious activity should call the Wayne Police Department at (402) 375-2626.

Hunters should be aware of deer diseases

LINCOLN – Nebraska hunters should be aware of the possibility of encountering the following deer diseases when afield this fall: chronic wasting disease (CWD), brain worm and deer lice. None of these diseases is known to be harmful to humans, according to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. CWD – This disease, discovered in western Nebraska in 2000, is always fatal to deer when contracted. Deer with CWD can range in appearance from healthy looking to thin and rough looking. Biologists last year sampled 2,983 deer from check stations during the November firearm season, with 43 new CWD positives confirmed. One positive was of unknown species and sex. Counties with positive deer included: Banner, two; Box Butte, five; Cherry, six; Dawes, five; Deuel, one; Keith, two; Kimball, one; Garden, five; Morrill, one; Scotts Bluff, seven; Sheridan, six;

and Sioux, two. An elk taken in Sioux County during the firearm season also tested positive for CWD. Biologists will be taking samples again this year to track the prevalence and distribution of the disease. Brain worm – This disease is caused by a parasitic worm that lives in the brain of white-tailed deer without harming them. When this worm is eaten by mule deer, it may make them sick and may lead to death. Mule deer with brain worm may be found walking in tight circles, unafraid of humans when approached, throwing their heads or displaying other neurological symptoms. This disease was suspected in the deaths of 133 mule deer in central Nebraska in 2009, where the mule deer and white-tailed deer populations overlap. Deer lice – These exotic lice have begun to infest mule deer in western Nebraska. There have been 10 confirmed cases from Box Butte, Dawson, Frontier, Garden, Grant, Knox, Lincoln, and Morrill counties since their discovery in 2008. These lice first were found in Oregon and Washington, presumably coming from exotic fallow deer. These chewing lice infest mule deer, creating an allergic reaction that leads to the deer scratching and rubbing to relieve itching. Deer with lice may rub hair off, creating a rough look to entire patches of hair missing. Deer eventually may become sick and die from hypothermia related to the loss of their hair coat. Deer sick with lice may appear lethargic, unafraid of humans when approached and in poor condition. Deer lice may be found in large numbers under the legs of infested animals. Hunters discovering deer with symptoms for brain worm or deer lice should report them to their local district Game and Parks office.

"As Mayor I am very pleased to hear that this grant from the Department of Commerce has been funded," said Wayne Mayor Lois Shelton. "Our public libraries are an important resource in any community and improving access to the world through these broadband and computer upgrades will aid all residents in their information search efforts. I applaud the efforts of the Nebraska Library Commission in their successful pursuit of these funds for Nebraska and extend thanks to the Gates Foundation for their role in enhancing the federal dollars. Congratulations to the Wayne Public Library for their part in this successful funding application."

Library computer center locations will serve as the delivery platform for educational programs, providing Nebraskans with access to audio and video webinar content and interactive computer-based training. Key project partners – such as Central Community College, Nebraska Department of Labor, Nebraska Court Administrator's Office, Nebraska Community Foundation, Center for Rural Affairs, Center for Rural Entrepreneurship, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension, University of Nebraska Medical Center, McGoogan Library of Medicine, and the National Network of Libraries of Medicine – will facilitate these programs.

An outreach and public awareness campaign will feature special promotional programs, such as "Public Computer Center Learning Nights," to encourage residents to explore the enhanced computer and broadband services available at the centers. This grant will enable Wayne Public Library to continue to provide critically important services and to expand the opportunities, education, and services that high-speed Internet can provide to the un-served and underserved in our community.

This grant project will increase connectivity in 45 of Nebraska's public library buildings, as well as deploy more than 600 new computer workstations and upgrade another 475 at 147 public library locations. With this increased capacity to deliver rich Internet content and provide computer literacy training at libraries across the state, the project will partner with other state agencies and organizations to provide services in education, workforce development, and E-Government to 13,300 weekly users at libraries. As many as 42,700 Nebraskans will benefit.

Don't miss out on WSC volleyball

The Bleacher Bum knew Wayne State's volleyball team was going to be good this season.

Evidently, the so-called experts in Div. II volleyball weren't given the lowdown before the season.

The Northern Sun coaches picked Wayne State to finish fourth in the conference this year. Last week, a 4-0 start for the Wildcats got them a two-spot demotion in the NCAA Div. II rankings.

This just in - Wayne State volleyball is a lot better than the so-called experts were thinking. And they proved it in a HUGE way over the weekend, knocking off three of the top 10 teams at the Div. II Challenge in Denver.

Wayne State dominated No. 6 St. Leo of Florida, took care of three-time defending national champion (and perennial NSIC power) Concordia-St. Paul in four sets, then spotted No. 10 Southwest Minnesota State the first set before finishing them off in four to take the tournament championship.

I've been itching to see this year's team in action, and fans get a great chance during the next few days with their NSIC openers (Winona State and Upper Iowa) and what should be a real head-knocker Tuesday when Nebraska-Kearney rolls into town.

Wayne State's volleyball team was ranked in the top 10 in attendance last year, and there is no good reason for them not to get a head start on another great season of attendance with a big crowd at all three games. Get off your duff and get to Rice Auditorium Friday (7 p.m.), Saturday (4 p.m.) and Tuesday (7 p.m.) and cheer this team on.

Or miss them - and wish that you hadn't. Trust me - they're too good not to enjoy watching this season.

News flash - Bleacher Bum goes a perfect 10-0. In other news, sun rises in the west, dogs and cats live together in harmony and Democrats and Republicans work with balanced budgets, eliminate deficit and act in an ethical manner.

OK, so only one of those four news items is real, and this time it's my picks for the week. We'll try to improve on the overall record (16-4) with these gems:

Wayne High at Boone Central - Blue Devils get first road test. If offense adjusts, they'll be 3-0 going to Norfolk Catholic next week: Blue Devils 34, Boone Central 21.

LCC at Plainview - Bears get things righted against one NENAC foe last week, face another on the road: LCC 21, Plainview 20.

Wakefield at Lutheran High NE - A rare Saturday morning matchup as the Trojans try to bounce back from a tough loss at Crofton. Hate to say it, but the numbers aren't in Wakefield's favor right now. Keep working hard, boys: LHNE 42, Wakefield 20.

Winside at Omaha St. Peter Cleaver - Another Saturday game, this one at Omaha South Stadium. Wildcats looking good so far, so no reason to change anything here: Winside 50, SPC 12.

Allen at Winnebago - Eagles got the ship righted last week on the road: Allen 42, Winnebago 14.

Wayne State at Minnesota-Duluth - Wildcats looked great in home opener. They played well on the road to open the season, but Duluth is No. 2 in the nation. I'll be happy to go 9-1 and miss on this one: Duluth 38, Wayne State 35.

Nebraska at Washington - Huskers hit the road to visit hostile territory, and they'll need to shore things up after stumbling and stumbling against Idaho. Look for NU to get things going: Huskers 31, Washington 20.

Boise State at Wyoming - A potential trip-up game: Boise State 31, Wyoming 21.

Iowa at Arizona - I smell an upset: Arizona 28, Iowa 24.
New York Giants at Indianapolis - It's the Manning Bowl. Eli vs. Peyton. Should be a dandy: Colts 42, Giants 35.

Upsetting weekend in Colorado

Wayne State dominates three ranked teams to win Premier Challenge

At the start of the year, coaches in the Northern Sun Conference inexplicably picked the Wayne State volleyball team to finish fourth in the conference this season.

After the first week of the season, Wayne State dropped two spots in the polls in spite of a perfect 4-0 weekend to start the 2010 campaign.

After this past weekend's efforts, those who pontificate on rankings might want to start taking the Wildcats seriously.

Hefner

Wayne State College capped an incredible weekend of play Saturday night at the Colorado Premier Volleyball Challenge in Denver, beating 10th-ranked Southwest Minnesota State in the championship match by scores of 20-25, 25-21, 25-23 and 25-20.

That win came only hours after the Wildcats disposed of three-time defending national champion and defending NSIC champion Concordia-St. Paul in four sets, winning 25-22, 15-25, 25-17, 25-23.

It was an impressive weekend for the Wildcats, who also defeated No. 6 St. Leo of Florida Friday afternoon to raise their record to 8-0 on the season.

"It was a pretty exciting weekend for us," coach Scott Kneifl said. "This was the first time we were invited to this, and we felt going out there that our goal was to come back 4-0 and we just took it one game at a time and played pretty well."

The Wildcats got off to a slow start in the championship match against the Mustangs, hitting just .060 in the first set with seven hitting errors. They started turning things around in the second set, taking a 9-3 lead on the Mustangs. Southwest Minnesota State got as close as two at 18-16, but the Wildcats hung on to tie the match at one set apiece.

Wayne State scored six straight points to take a 16-9 lead in the third set. Southwest Minnesota State rallied to within 23-22 before Wayne State hung on for the win. The Wildcats came back from a 9-6 deficit in the fourth set, forcing the Mustangs into 11 hitting errors in the decisive fourth set to win the match.

Tali Fredrickson had a big match for the Wildcats, finishing with 15 kills and 15 digs. Jennifer Hefner had her own double-double with 13 kills and 12 blocks, and Cori Hobbs added 11 kills and six blocks. Setter Diedra Artz had 45 set assists while libero Leigh Connot recorded 21 digs.

"We had to sit for five hours after beating Concordia, but so did Southwest after they beat No. 2 Tampa," Kneifl said. "We came out a little slow that first set, but we still scored 20 points playing our worst set of the year, so that gave us some confidence and allowed us to know that we could control the game."

Wayne State handed Concordia-St. Paul its second loss of the season Saturday afternoon, beating the Golden Bears in four sets (25-22, 15-25, 25-17, 25-23), marking Wayne State's first-ever win over Concordia and marking the first time since 2007 that the Golden Bears lost a conference or non-conference match against an NSIC opponent.

Wayne State hit a modest .222 in the first game, but held the Concordia to a .170

'Cats leap 12 spots to highest-ever rank

Wayne State College jumped 12 spots from No. 19 to No. 7 in the latest American Volleyball Coaches Association Div. II Top 25 coaches poll.

The No. 7 national ranking is the highest ever in program history, and comes on the heels of a first-place finish at the Colorado Premier Challenge last weekend in Denver where Wayne State beat former No. 1 Concordia-St. Paul, former No. 6 Saint Leo of Florida and former No. 10 Southwest Minnesota State.

Wayne State received six first-place votes, the second most of any team in the poll. Despite owning wins over Southwest Minnesota State and Concordia-St. Paul, the Wildcats are ranked behind the two NSIC rivals. Southwest Minnesota State is ranked fifth and Concordia-St. Paul is sixth. Other Northern Sun teams in the top 25 include Minnesota Duluth at No. 4 and Minnesota State at No. 14.

Anthony Hale blocks a Minnesota Crookston punt during Wayne State's 68-6 blowout win Saturday. The punt was picked up by Richard Daniel and returned for the game's first touchdown.

Defense dominates for Wildcats in 68-6 blowout

Wayne State honored those who serve in the armed forces, then treated them to a dominating Northern Sun Conference home opener Saturday, routing Minnesota Crookston 68-6.

A crowd of 2,234 honored veterans and those serving in the military on Armed Services Appreciation Day at Bob Cunningham Field in Wayne with a nice pregame ceremony, and the 22nd-ranked Wildcats wasted little time setting the tone for Saturday's one-sided affair.

The Wildcats opened the scoring with a big play from special teams, as Anthony Hale blocked a Golden Eagles punt and Richard Daniel scooped up the loose ball for a seven-yard touchdown, putting Wayne State up 7-0 with 12:10 left in the first quarter.

It would only get worse for the visiting Golden Eagles. Moments later, a tipped pass led to an interception by sophomore linebacker Ben Perry at the Golden Eagles' 20-yard line. Two plays later, sophomore quarterback Cyle Schultz found Nick Pulscher on a 22-yard pass play to give the Wildcats a 14-0 lead less than five minutes into the game.

Wayne State wouldn't score again until the second play of the second quarter, but would add three more touchdowns to take a 35-0 lead at halftime and never look back. Senior Frederick Bruno hauled in scoring passes of 53 and 40 yards from Schultz to increase the lead to 28-0, and senior running back Eric Meyer closed out the scoring in the first half on a one-yard run to make it 35-0.

Pulscher turned the corner on a screen pass from Schultz and rambled 68 yards for a touchdown to make it 42-0 with 13:25 to go in the third, and redshirt freshman Nick Bell booted an 18-yard field goal to increase the lead to 45-0 after three quarters.

Minnesota, Crookston got on the board early in the fourth quarter as fullback Trent Nyhus found the end zone on a one-yard plunge, but the extra point snap was mishandled and Wayne State's Drew Molacek picked up the loose ball and raced the other way for a two-point conversion to make the score 47-6 with 13:56 to play.

On the ensuing kickoff, Bruno returned the kick 75 yards for a touchdown, giving Wayne State a 54-6 lead with 13:46 to play. On

Miller pitches perfect in tourney win

Wayne's pitching has been particularly stingy of late, highlighted by back-to-back no-hitters for the 15-1 Blue Devils.

Cassy Miller threw a three-inning no-hitter and a six-inning perfect game Saturday to help Wayne win the Omaha Mercy Invitational. The Blue Devils beat Omaha Mercy (13-3), David City (18-0) and North Bend (8-0) to easily take the tournament title.

Wayne opened the tournament with a 13-3 win over the host team, as Kristin Carroll tossed a three-hitter and struck out three.

Wayne jumped on Mercy early, scoring five runs in the first inning. They belted out 14 hits in the win, led by Caitlin Fehringer, who tripled, homered, scored twice and drove in three runs. Miller doubled, tripled and scored twice, Lindsay Frahm had a pair of doubles, and Emily Leeper and Sydney Harris each had two hits.

In the second game, Wayne scored an amazing 15 runs in the first inning and needed just three innings to dispatch David City. Miller struck out eight in three innings and got a lot of offensive support. Fehringer tripled, homered and drove in five runs while scoring three times. Jalyn Zeiss tripled and Sydney Harris had a two-run double and scored two runs.

In the finale, Miller faced 18 batters and set them

Wayne boys run six in top 10 to dominate invite

It's hard to beat a cross country team that runs in a pack.

The Wayne boys and Norfolk Catholic girls did just that Tuesday afternoon at the Wayne Country Club, as the two teams came away with the team trophies in the Wayne Invitational.

All six of Wayne's varsity runners earned medals for a top 15 individual finish, helping the Blue Devils to an easy 18-31 win over defending Class C champion Norfolk Catholic. Norfolk Catholic was about as close to running in a pack as you can possibly get, as all six runners rounded out the top 10 of the girls race to take the team title by 12 points, 22-34, over Wayne.

Coach Rocky Ruhl said the going was tough on a hot and humid afternoon, but he was hoping his boys could run as a group and stay close together near the top.

"It was a great day for them and I thought they did an excellent job of running," he said. "We were hoping to (run in a group) and the kids wanted to try and do that at their meet."

Quentin Jorgensen led the way for the Wayne boys, breaking the tape first with a time of 17:32 to win the race by 15 seconds.

It was a great rebound from a lackluster performance at Saturday's Lincoln Pius Invitational, Ruhl said.

"Quentin looked kind of scared Saturday at Pius, but he had that swagger back today and did a good job taking care of the race," he said.

"He ran a great race, and he looked determined."

All four of Wayne's scoring runners finished in the top 10. Following Jorgensen was Seth Onderstal (fourth), Jacob Pulfer (sixth) and Zach Thomsen (seventh). Joey Dunklau finished 10th and Riley McManus placed 12th.

On the girls' side, Angie Nelson and Tia Jech both finished in the top four, but they were followed by the entire Norfolk Catholic varsity squad as the visiting Lady Knights took the title.

"Angie and Tia are both getting better, and Emily (Nelson) is going to be a solid No. 5 runner for us when we get Martha (Mitiku) and Megan (Stalling) back off injury," Ruhl said. "We have a good bunch of girls, and we just need to get a little better each meet."

Emily Nelson was the only other Wayne runner to medal, finishing 12th in the race.

Two area girls came away with medals at Tuesday's meet, including Laurel-Concord/Coleridge senior Katie Jacobsen and Winside runner Natasha Jensen.

LCC coach Megan Meyer said Jacobsen ran a good race, but she was impressed by the efforts of Pierce's Briana Adams, who overtook Jacobsen late in the race to take top honors.

"(Adams) has really come out of her shell this year, but that's good for Katie because that girl will push her. We'll see her at Crofton later, and Katie will be able to work on some things to get ready for that."

Meyer said her boys team, which Golfers compete in two invites

By KEVIN PETERSON
Of the Herald

The Wayne girls golf team took part in a pair of invitationals last Thursday and Saturday and despite finishing fourth in each event, coach Josh Johnson's team had very different performances between the two days.

Wayne competed in the Columbus Lakeview Invite last Thursday at Quail Run, a course they hope to become quite familiar with as it is the host site of this year's State Tournament.

The 12-team field was captured by Grand Island Northwest with a 376 while Columbus Scotus placed second at 390. Following close behind was Boone Central at 393 and Wayne at 395. It was the first sub-400 round of golf for the Blue Devils in several years.

Aurora was fifth at 419 followed in order by Central City, Lakeview, Lakeview Reserves, Elkhorn Valley, West Point Beemer and Schuyler.

Scotus' Jacy Gasper was medalist with an 80 followed by Crofton's Molly Zavadil at 82. Boone Central's Amy Ahlers was third with an 86 while teammate Brooke Bohlin won a tie-breaker from Wayne's Brittney Peterson to place fourth at 88. Megan Jenneman of Northwest was sixth at 89 followed by Abbie Hunke of West Point, 91. Brooke Caravan of Northwest was eighth with a 93 and Nicole Gasper of Scotus followed at 93, edging Sarah Phinney of Northwest.

"The girls played great golf," Johnson said. "They surpassed our team goal for the day and I was very proud of their effort and results." Taylor Burke and Hannah McCorkindale both fired 103's which allowed Wayne to shoot its sub-400 round. Alexis Reinert carded a 115.

Saturday at the Pierce Invite the Blue Devils struggled, notching a team score of 421. Boone Central led the team chase with a 402 while Norfolk Catholic was second at 409 followed by Crofton, 414. Plainview finished behind Wayne in fifth with a 435 while Wakefield carded a 446 and O'Neill, 465. Pierce, Battle Creek, West Point-Beemer/Scribner-Snyder and Elkhorn Valley rounded out the team scoring.

"We struggled some," Johnson said. "We did keep battling which I was pleased with but we need to get back to work."

Pierce handed out 20 medals, with Molly Zavadil winning top honors with a 78 while Brooke Bohlin of Boone Central placed second at 81. Boone Central's Brittany Seda was third at 85 and Abbie Hunke of West Point-Beemer-Scribner-Snyder was fourth at 87. Allison Depko of O'Neill placed fifth at 90 with Alex Wiemers of Battle Creek, sixth at 91. Paige Marsden of Norfolk Catholic was seventh at 91.

Peterson finished eighth at 92. Burke and McCorkindale also earned medals at the meet, with Burke edging her teammate by way of tiebreaker after each carded a 109. Roberts finished with a 111 and Reinert, 123.

Wayne will host a triangular on Thursday with Hartington Cedar Catholic and Pierce before traveling to compete in the Boone Central Invite on Saturday in Albion.

hitting percentage. Concordia-St. Paul kept Wayne State in check in game two, but Wayne State regained control of the match in the third set, hitting.343. In the fourth set, the Wildcats found themselves down 17-14, but ran off five straight points to take the lead for good and beat the three-time defending national champions.

"Our serve is a lot more aggressive than it's been, and we were able to drive them out of their system and create some opportunities for our offense," Kneiff said. "Concordia tried to slow down our middles, but that allowed Shelby (Schultz) and Tali (Frederickson) to have great games, so it was a total team effort."

The Wildcats were led by Schultz and Hefner, who each had 12 kills on the afternoon. Schultz hit a team high .440. Artz had 41 set assists in the match with six digs. Connot led Wayne State defensively with 18 digs. Frederickson added 16 digs and 11 kills and Hobbs had nine kills.

Wayne State opened the tournament Friday with an eye-opening three-set sweep of No. 6 Saint Leo of Florida, winning 25-22, 25-14, 25-13.

After hitting just .226 in the first game, the Wildcats stepped up their play, hitting .440 in the second game with 12 kills and just one error in 25 attacks. In the third set, they hit .640 with 16 kills and no errors in 25 attacks.

Wear black, support Wayne State volleyballers vs. Nebraska-Kearney

The fifth annual Pack the House Night is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 21, at Rice Auditorium in Wayne when the seventh-ranked Wildcats host 12th-ranked Nebraska-Kearney.

Wayne State is 8-0 on the season after beating three top 10-ranked teams, including three-time defending national champion Concordia-St. Paul, at the Colorado Premier Challenge in Denver, Colo. The Wildcats leaped from No. 19 to No. 7 in this week's American Volleyball Coaches Association's Div. II rankings, the highest-ever ranking for a Wayne State volleyball team.

Fans are encouraged to wear black and help create "The Black Hole" and set a new single game volleyball attendance record at Rice Auditorium. Wayne State set a new single game attendance mark of 1,382 when the Wildcats topped the Lopers on Oct. 18, 2006.

The Wildcats were balanced at the net with Frederickson accounting for 10 kills. Hobbs had a stellar match with eight kills and a .457 hitting percentage with just one error in 15 attacks. Hefner and Schultz each contributed seven kills in the win. Connot paced the Wildcats on defense with nine digs with Artz recording 30 set assists.

In the second match of the day, Wayne State College held off a late rally to defeat host Regis University, 25-16, 25-17, 23-25 and 27-25.

Wayne State opens Northern Sun Conference play Friday, hosting Winona State in their home opener at 7 p.m. at Rice Auditorium in Wayne. They will play Upper Iowa on Saturday at 4 p.m.

Blue Devils shut out North Bend to move to 2-0

In its season opener, the Wayne High football team moved the ball up and down the field, almost at will.

Friday night – not so much. The Blue Devils' offense was limited to 163 yards in total offense, but the defense more than held up their end of the bargain in helping Wayne to a 23-0 whitewashing of North Bend Friday at Wayne State College.

The win put the Blue Devils at 2-0 on the season, but it was not a quality win in the eyes of coach Rich Rethwisch.

"You know the old saying, defense wins championships," he said. "Our defense played great and kept us in the game. The kids played hard (on offense), but with this finesse offense, it's not something that just shows up every night. You have to focus and earn it, and we did some things that aren't characteristic of these kids."

One problem the Blue Devils had was with dropped balls. Wayne's usually sure-handed receivers dropped at least a half-dozen passes, including a couple of sure touchdowns.

Wayne's offensive struggles began after a bad punt snap gave the Blue Devils the ball at the North Bend 1-yard line. After three running plays couldn't punch it in, Gage Rethwisch went to the air on fourth down and found Keegan Dorcey for a two-yard strike and a 7-0 lead.

In the second period, Justin Anderson caught a 20-yard pass to make it 14-0 at the half. Wayne would get a safety after a bad punt snap was kicked through the end zone, and Drew Carroll scored on a 15-yard run after a North Bend turnover to account for the final points of the night.

Rethwisch did praise his team's defensive effort, which forced three turnovers on the night – two coming on Anderson interceptions – and kept North Bend from mounting any serious charge at the Wayne end zone.

"I thought our linebackers played really well," Rethwisch said. "I thought our outside backers did a great job of holding their ground, and when you hold any team to zero, that's a big deal."

The Blue Devils hit the road Friday for the first time, heading south to take on a tough Boone Central team.

"We were running against Class C kids, but Isaac (Haahr) has been running pretty good, and Billy, Adam and Tyler improved their times and were pushing themselves a lot more," she said. "Hopefully, this is our turnaround and they know where they are and what they need to do."

Winside coach Jennifer Kesting was happy with the efforts of Jensen and John Hansen, who led the Winside boys to a fourth-place finish.

"John's been trying hard to place at all the meets this year and just missed out here, but both he and Natasha ran a really good race today," she said. "I think all our kids gave a pretty good effort and were able to finish the race."

It was a particularly big night for senior Anthony Nelson and backup quarterback Blaine Meyer, as the duo combined to have a hand in most of the 423 yards in total offense for the 2-0 Wildcats.

Nelson had 111 of his 232 yards rushing in the first quarter, 17 of them coming on a touchdown run that gave the Wildcats an early 6-0 lead. He would finish the night with 232 yards on 22 carries with three touchdowns.

The visiting Trojans scored a pair of touchdowns to take a 12-6 lead after one quarter, but Meyer came in at quarterback and threw an 18-yard pass to Ethan Thies to tie the game at 12-12 at intermission.

Both teams scored in the third period, but Meyer's 23-yard strike to Zach Brokaw, followed by the two-point conversion run by Meyer, put the host Wildcats in front to stay. They would add three more touchdowns in the final period, with Nelson scoring on runs of 5 and 50 yards and Meyer scampering 24 yards to paydirt, to finish off the Trojans.

Winside's defense bent often, but Scribner-Snyder could only pick up 231 yards in total offense on the night. And while the Wildcats' offense was racking up some big numbers, they also turned the ball over six times on the night.

Winside will play a rare Saturday game in Omaha, as they play Omaha St. Peter Clavier at Omaha South Stadium, located at 20th and L streets in Omaha. Kickoff is set for 4 p.m.

 Laura Muren drops to a knee to make a set as the West Point Central Catholic watches her during Tuesday's five-set matchup at Wayne High School.

Wayne High volleyball falls in five sets in home opener

The Wayne High volleyball team appears to be on a rollercoaster ride after a back-and-forth game slipped away from them Tuesday.

In their home opener at Wayne High School, the Blue Devils came out on fire against West Point Central Catholic. The visiting Bluejays, however, managed to battle back and won a close fourth set, then used that momentum to come away with a win over Wayne, taking the match with a 12-25, 25-13, 15-25, 25-23, 15-5 win.

The loss dropped the Blue Devils to 5-5 on the season, and coach Joyce Hoskins said she needed to figure out how to keep her team from bouncing between the highs and lows of emotions.

"We're very spunky where we'll play well for a while, and then play down some," she said after the match. "We're trying to keep things at a high level that we know we can do and be consistent with that."

The Blue Devils looked like a team that would be in control early in the match. Led by Ellie Ehrisman, Erica Sebade and Elisa Robinson - who returned to the lineup after missing the first part of the season due to a broken finger - Wayne raced out to a big lead in the first set and cruised to the easy win.

West Point Central Catholic returned the favor, though, exploding to a 10-1 lead in the first set and never letting Wayne get back into the set.

Wayne looked to be in command in the third set and carried that through to the early part of the fourth set, but the visiting Bluejays battled back and made a game of it, then won some key points down the stretch to force the fifth set. The visitors got up 6-2 early in the final set and never let Wayne get a rhythm going, finishing off the five-set win.

"When we're fired up like we were in the first set, we can play with anybody," Hoskins said. "But we need to be able to maintain that."

Katie Hoskins led the Blue Devils with 11 kills and two blocks, while Ehrisman added nine kills and three blocks, and Sebade and Robinson each had eight kills. Laura Muren had 30 set assists to lead the way defensively, while Hoskins had 17 digs and Robinson and Muren each had 12.

In JV action, West Point Central Catholic won in three sets, 23-25, 25-16, 15-7, while the Wayne freshmen were successful in straight sets, 25-15, 25-22.

On Saturday, the Blue Devils stumbled out of the gate at the Boone Central Invitational, but rebounded and won their final two sets to take fifth place.

In the first game, Wayne fell to Columbus Lakeview 25-19, 25-14. Hoskins had seven kills and Sebade added three. Elle Schramm had three blocks and Ashton Schweers added two. Laura Muren had seven assists.

In consolation action, Wayne beat the host Cardinal 25-15, 25-18. Hoskins had 12 kills, Ehrisman added six and Sebade and Schramm each had three. Rachel Gilliland recorded five ace serves and Sebade had four. Muren directed the offense with 17 set assists.

In the final game, coach Hoskins picked up her 300th career win as Wayne dominated Central City 25-12, 25-14. Katie Hoskins had 10 kills, three ace serves and seven digs for the Blue Devils. Schramm and Ehrisman each had seven kills. Muren had 15 set assists and Jessica Biermann added 10. Hoskins, Gilliland and Cassie Harm each had seven digs.

Wayne returns to action Tuesday at Norfolk Catholic.

Allen boys win on road, 42-6

WALTHILL - Allen piled up 400 yards in total offense and easily defeated Walthill 42-6 in football action here Friday night.

Austin Roeber and Alex Langseth each scored three touchdowns for the 1-1 Eagles, as they jumped out to a 22-6 halftime lead and pulled away in the second half.

"We played really lethargic early," coach Dave Uldrich said. "It also felt like Walthill was taking a minute between every play. We increased the tempo and things started happening, and that's what we have to do if we want to continue to improve."

Roeber had runs of 2 and 31 yards in the first half, then scored on a 2-yard run in the third quarter. Langseth got his first touchdown on a 32-yard run, then scored on a 5-yard surge in the third and a 14-yard run in the final period. He finished the night with 143 yards on 17 carries, while Roeber had 98 yards on 13 tries. Brandon Sullivan also ran the ball well, finishing with 78 yards on 13 attempts.

Wayne State senior Jennifer Hefner was named Monday afternoon as the Northern Sun Conference Volleyball Defensive Player of the Week following her play over the weekend for the Wildcats at the Colorado Premier Challenge in Denver, Colo.

A 6-foot-1 senior middle hitter from Archer, Neb., Hefner had 44 kills and 24 blocks while hitting .300 against some of the nation's top NCAA Div. II teams Friday and Saturday. Hefner's top match was Saturday night in the title game against No. 10 Southwest Minnesota State, recording 13 kills and 12 blocks in a 3-1 win over the Mustangs. She also had 12 kills and five blocks in Friday's 3-1 win over Regis. She was joined by Tali Fredrickson and Diedra Artz on the 2010 Premier All-Tournament Team.

In four games so far this season Dias has five goals, surpassing her season total of four from last season. Dias leads the NSIC in goals (5) and points (11) scored.

Bears handle Crofton in four sets Bears get rolling in 39-6 win

Laurel-Concord/Coleridge's volleyball team improved their record to 6-2 on the season with a four-set win against Crofton Tuesday night.

Coach Patti Cunningham said the team has had to deal with some injuries of late, but did a good job of battling through their injury problems to get the win.

"This was a plus in the win column and in confidence," she said. "The athletes first had to overcome the loss of a starter due to injury in the previous game, and then the loss of another starter injured early in the first set of this game."

Amy Pritchard had a big night for the Lady Bears, recording 22 kills. As a team, LCC had 54 kills on the night, including seven from Audrey Kastrup, six by Taylor Linn and five by Jade Cunningham.

An End to Bully Politics

Mike Meister

When a bully threatens your children, what do you do? What is your solution? D a v e Heineman has threatened education groups, teachers, students and parents with a vindictive cut in education funding if they don't support his health care agenda. He sent his threat in a letter to education groups stating that if they don't support repeal of health care reform, "...I am going to assume that your lack of action is tacit support for in-creased Medicaid funding and the likely reduction in funding for education."

Again, Dave Heineman is threatening to take money from education if he doesn't get their support for his health care politics.

This kind of threat may fly in Chicago, but Nebraskans won't tolerate it. It's time we end bully politics in Neb-raska.

We need to elect a new governor so Dave Heineman won't get the chance to follow through on his threat.

Government is about helping people, not making them bow to your will.

Vote Mike Meister for Governor and I will end bully politics in Nebraska.

Inaugural Summit planned for Young Nebraskans

Nebraska's young citizens have a chance to develop personally, professionally and civically this fall with the first annual Young Nebraskans summit.

The Connecting Young Nebraskans (CYN) summit is planned for Oct. 28 - 29 at the Heartland Events Center, in Grand Island. The event will kick off with a 6 p.m. CST networking event on Thursday, Oct. 28.

Workshops, round table discussions, networking and more will take place from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. CST on Friday, Oct. 29. The summit will be moved to a different location in 2011, so more Young Nebraskans can become involved.

The summit includes opportunities for Young Nebraskans to network and grow with fun interactive speakers, peer interaction, engaging round table discussions and professional, civic and personal development.

The keynote speakers are entrepreneur Paul Eurek and his son, attorney Nick Eurek. This father/son duo have globally grown their software technology company, Xpanxion, using an innovative "cross sourcing" business strategy. Paul is the founder/chairman of Xpanxion and recently converted the old Loup City Carnegie library into a profitable new enterprise and a community technology resource center. Nick spearheaded the 2006 formation and launch of the Xpanxion Quality Assurance branch in Kearney. Paul and Nick will discuss how and why they have expanded their operations in rural Nebraska resulting in the creation of over 43 professional technical jobs in a competitive industry.

"The CYN Summit will give Young Nebraskans an opportunity to develop their ideas further by speaking up and gathering feedback from other Young Nebraskans," said coordinator Kayla Schnuelle of the University of Nebraska Rural Initiative. "The summit is going to include unique and creative ways to allow Young Nebraskans to network and develop their vision for the future of Nebraska."

CYN was developed by the University of Nebraska Rural Initiative and is a network of citizens under 40 who live in Nebraska. This network strives to provide a forward looking organization with opportunities to shape the state's future by sharing knowledge, insights and desires while learning about topics related to personal, professional and civic development. Contact us if you would like to join this group or would like to help make the Network a success.

National RC&D Week activities planned

Northeast Nebraska RC&D Council is part of National RC&D Week, which will be observed Sept. 19 - 25.

This is being recognized around the country by the 375 RC&D Councils. Governor Dave Heineman declared a statewide proclamation in honor of the week for Nebraska's twelve Councils.

In celebration of this special week at the Northeast RC&D, there will be a free "meet the artist" event on Friday, Sept. 24 from 1 - 5 p.m. at the office. Four talented artists will be demonstrating their skills for the public. Featured guests include Morris Anderson, Wayne and Keith Bartling of Coleridge who are both members of the Coleridge Carvers, a wood carving organization. Dixon County Cemetery Tour coming soon

Get on board the bus for a Dixon County Cemetery Tour sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation & Development (RC&D) Council and the Dixon County Historical Society.

Saturday, Oct. 2 will be a great day to enjoy the fall scenery along the Missouri River Bluffs.

Step-on guides Brad Kellogg and Gloria Oberg, and grave witching expert Pat Nygren, will take participants on a visit to the quaint cemeteries of northern Dixon County. Be prepared for stories at the grave of a Confederate Soldier who served under Robert E. Lee. Listen to the history of the Stoneman Post and meet the great-granddaughter of Sheriff Mason DeWitt to hear his story. Some of these cemeteries, abandoned and left only to the song birds and wildlife to enjoy, or on private property, may make this a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

The fee for the tour includes coffee and rolls, lunch, afternoon break, transportation, and education. Pick-up is at 7:45 a.m. at the Crofton City Park or 8:30 a.m. at the Senior Citizens Center in Ponca. Pre-registration is required, as seating is limited. Registration deadline is Sept. 23. Contact the RC&D office at 402-582-4866 or see www.nenercd.org for more information.

The tour is funded in part by a grant from the Dixon County Convention & Visitors Bureau. This is an opportunity to get out in the country and experience the local history.

Small Steps to Health and Wealth™ online challenge begins soon

UNL Extension is supporting a new online Small Steps to Health and Wealth™ (SSHW) Challenge event called "SSHW Fall 2010 Challenge."

This free six-week program, open to anyone who enrolls online, will be held from Sunday, Oct. 3, through Saturday, Nov. 13. Prizes will be awarded for participants who report the highest point totals.

To sign up for the SSHW Challenge, follow the "Challenges" link on the Small Steps to Health and Wealth™ Web site at www.smallsteps.unl.edu. After going to the national challenge you will need to set up a user name and password and download a simple one-page user's guide with instructions about how to proceed. Enroll in the Challenge titled "SSHW Fall 2010 Challenge."

The SSHW Challenge is part of SmallSteps to Health and Wealth™, a national Cooperative Extension program developed to motivate Americans to take action to simultaneously improve their health and personal finances. SSHW was built around a framework of 25 research-based behavior change strategies.

It has been well documented that, when people monitor their behavior and measure their how they're doing, they are often inspired to do better and achieve positive results.

Participants in a SSHW Challenge are "on their honor" to report their activities accurately. If they "cheat" on reporting their points, they are only cheating themselves by not following the recommended daily practices. Participants have seven days from a specific date during the Challenge to enter their points (e.g., by Oct. 10 for health and financial activities performed on Oct. 3).

The SSHW Challenge is based on the performance of 10 recommended practices on a daily basis: five that involve health and nutrition and five that involve financial management.

Ten points are given for performing each one for a maximum of 700 points per week and 3,500 points for the five-week challenge. "The Challenge is a great way to convert personal health and financial goals, like losing weight and saving money, into daily action steps," noted Barbara O'Neill, Extension Specialist in Financial Resource Management for Rutgers Cooperative Extension.

The five daily health and nutrition practices are: eat at least 4 cups of fruits and vegetables; get at least 30 minutes of exercise; drink water or unsweetened beverages instead of sugar-sweetened beverages; walk 10,000 or more steps with a pedometer; and learn something new about health and nutrition.

The five daily financial management practices included in the SSHW Challenge are: save a $1 bill (or more) and/or pocket change; invest $5 or more per day (including automated retirement savings plan deposits); track money spent throughout the day; eat lunch prepared at home; and learn something new about personal finance. The latter activity, for both health and personal finances, can be accomplished by visiting Web sites, attending seminars, or by reading, listening to, or viewing media reports.

As participants enter their personal data, they will see their point totals for each day of the week and for each of the 10 activities described above.

They'll also see a bar graph that compares their personal progress to the average scores of everyone else participating in the Challenge.

Daily motivational messages will also be provided to participants. Paper tracking forms can be downloaded to keep track of daily activities until they are entered online.

Doing even one of the 10 recommended daily practices is a great way to get started on the path to better health and improved financial security. The more SSHW Challenge activities that are performed by participants, the better. To enroll in "SSHW Fall 2010 Challenge," visit the Nebraska site at www.smallsteps.unl.edu or <http://njaes.rutgers.edu/sshw/>.

Northeast Community College board approves 2010-2011 budgets

The Northeast Community College Board of Governors has approved the institution's 2010-2011 budgets following a budget hearing on the Northeast campus in Norfolk.

According to Lynne Koski, vice president of administrative services at Northeast Community College, the total levy for 2010-2011 is $.09850. Koski said the owner of a home in Northeast's 20-county service area with a taxable value of $100,000 would pay $98.50 per year to support Northeast Community College, compared to $93.54 last year.

The 2009-2010 tax levy for Northeast's 20-county district was $.09354.

The Board approved four different budgets for fiscal 2010-2011 at its meeting Thursday afternoon. The General Operating Budget was set at $34,934,094, Capital Improvement Budget at $4,115,751, ADA/Hazardous Material Budget at $26,679, and Other Funds Budget at $37,867,376.

Koski said the total for all budgets for 2010-2011 is $76,943,900, compared to $84,242,327 last year. She noted that funding for these budgets comes from property taxes, student tuition and fees, state aid, and other sources.

"As anticipated, the large decrease in our total budget came in the Other Funds budget. That budget has a $6,835,081 decrease from last year," she said.

Funds from the Other Funds budget are restricted, non-tax-supported dollars that come from the capital campaigns for new building projects and proceeds from revenue bonds issued by the Facilities Corporation. In the past year, Northeast Community College has opened the College Welcome Center built with revenue bonds issued by the Facilities Corporation, to be repaid with student fees, the J. Paul and Eleanor McIntosh College of Nursing, financed with an $11.9 million capital campaign, and the Industrial Training Building in South Sioux City. Approximately 50 percent of the funds for the Industrial Training Building project were federal funds from the U.S. Department of Commerce, Economic Development Administration.

The College Center of South Sioux City will open this winter. A portion of the cost of that project was also raised in a capital campaign.

"With the completion of these construction projects," Koski said, "our Other Funds budget shows a sizeable decrease for 2010-2011."

Koski said that the minimal levy increase of $.00496, coupled with the increase in valuations, equates to the approximate $2 million increase in tax asking over last year's budget. "This year, we will be asking our taxpayers for an additional $290,461 for our General Operating Budget with the remainder of that budget increase coming from tuition and fees and other sources," she said.

"The General Operating Budget pays for the day-to-day operational expenses of this college," she said. "Keeping the taxpayer in mind, we feel that that $290,461 increase is a barebones request when one considers the size of this institution, the size of its staff, increased academic programming, and different requests in the annual budgeting process."

She also noted that the additional tax asking of $1,690,630 is for the capital improvement budget.

"With our 20-county property valuations and Northeast's ability to levy not more than $.0100 for capital construction, it takes approximately four years to amass enough funds for a new construction project," she said. "Future construction needs are considered in our budgeting process too."

"Writing this year's budget was a challenge," said Northeast Community College President Dr. Bill R. Path. "We continue with uncertainties as the Nebraska community college chief executive officers re-write a funding formula draft that must be submitted to the Legislature by Dec. 1. We are working with many unknowns and it is imperative to us that we develop a budget that will meet our needs without asking too much of our taxpayers."

"The budget writing process at Northeast is perhaps one of the most difficult things we do all year," he continued. "Unfortunately, after many meetings and countless discussions, we have to turn down millions in funding requests from our faculty and staff for the upcoming year. These are not frivolous requests . . . they are all reasonable requests but many millions get turned down every year."

"We do that because of our concern for our students and taxpayers," he said. "We want Northeast Community College to be the very best it can be without putting too great a financial strain on the students and taxpayers. It is a fine line we walk but we feel we offer an excellent education at a very reasonable cost to both our students and taxpayers."

Larry Poesnecker of Atkinson, chairperson of the Board of Governors, said he and the Board are always concerned about increasing property taxes. "I have said this before and will say it again: As a Board, we take very seriously our role to be responsible custodians of public funds," he said. "We know the financial uncertainties that our constituents face. Whether they are farmers or ranchers or business people on Main Street, everyone is concerned about rising taxes."

"I continue to believe, however," he said, "that the authors of this budget have done their very best to keep requests of our taxpayers to a bare minimum."

Steve Anderson, Concord, chair of the Finance Committee, concurred with Poesnecker. "The Board always finds it a challenging balancing act not to place too great a burden on our students. I, too, am confident that this budget was written with a keen eye toward the student and taxpayer," he said. "With that ever in mind, we take a close look at our expenses every year and craft a budget that will ask for a nominal funding increase from the taxpayer as we maintain our standards of excellence for our students."

Children at last week's Saturday morning activities at the Wayne Public Library decorated letters and post cards.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes

Blessed to have a great daughter

For some of you, the cold and flu season is right around the corner. For me, it's another week's worth of random tidbits from the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— Allow me a moment's indulgence to put on my proud papa hat.

My daughter, Kylie, is in her second year as a member of the flag line in the Cornhusker Marching Band, and the picture you see here was taken by a friend at Saturday's halftime show during the Nebraska-Idaho game.

When it comes to having an abundance of good fortune in being blessed with such a wonderful child, I think I've got the market cornered. She is totally passionate about what she is doing with her life. She wants to teach elementary education and would do backflips if her old high school called her to coach the flag line in the marching band when she gets her teaching degree.

She also seems to have a sixth sense about her and knows just when her daddy is operating at a little below 100 percent in the happiness department. Whether it's a random phone call or a message on Facebook, she has a knack for lifting my spirits up at just the right moment.

Never does a day go by that I don't acknowledge my good fortune in having such an awesome young lady call me "daddy." I am abundantly blessed.

— The Wayne Herald does not make it a policy to endorse candidates for political office. Yours truly feels that it is your civic duty to vote for the candidate of your choice in any and every election to make sure your voice is heard at the ballot box.

Having said that, I'm going to ask you a question: are you insane?

I believe it was Albert Einstein who said that the definition of insanity is to do the same thing over and over again while expecting a different result. This upcoming election will help illustrate why the need for true change is way overdue in our representative government, particularly at the federal level.

In 2008, the Democrats operated under a theme of "Change We Can Believe In." And yet, in less than two years, we have had everything BUT change. The only change we've seen is which side of the aisle is running up our national debt to unprecedented numbers.

In fact, the only change that has taken place in the last half-century is which side of the aisle is running the asylum. It doesn't matter if the President was a Republican like Reagan or the Bush families, or if our leader represented the Democrats, like Obama, Clinton or Carter.

The same goes for the halls of Congress. For many years, the Democrats had control until the Republicans' "Contract With America" led to a turnover in the mid 90's. Evidently, that contract was broken a decade later when the loony left, led by Nancy Pelosi and Harry Reid, reclaimed the House and Senate for the Democrats.

The light in my life - Kylie is in her second year on the flag line of the Cornhusker Marching Band.

The point I'm trying to make is this - if you want REAL change when you go to the ballot box this November, and you vote for a Republican or Democrat in any House or Senate race (Nebraska doesn't have a Senate race this time around, but one between Ben Nelson and our alleged governor, Dave Heineman, is imminent in 2012), you are doing nothing more than perpetuating the insanity that is taking place in Washington.

There is a prevailing theme in what ails our federal government, and that theme is this - it's not one party, or the other, that is screwing up this nation . . . it is the combination of the two that is sending us into the proverbial rabbit hole of bankruptcy.

Some say that voting for a third-party candidate - or writing in a random name - is a wasted vote. I disagree. Voting for a Republican, or a Democrat, in this upcoming election does nothing more than perpetuate the garbage we are now dealing with in Washington D.C. The only "wasted" votes are made by those who vote for either party. The only thing worse than voting for either party is to not vote at all.

If you want TRUE change this November, avoid insanity when you go to the polls.

— Physicist Stephen Hawking said we must continue exploring space, but said there are some limitations.

For instance, he believes robots are good for gathering data, but they shouldn't entirely replace people in space.

Could we at least try them out in Congress first and see if they can balance a budget and eliminate $14 trillion in debt before we turn them loose in outer space? The way I see it, if they can do that job, they can handle anything.

Capitol View

A Big 10 legislative resolution?

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - It wouldn't seem unreasonable if the Legislature were to consider a resolution early in the 2011 session concerning Nebraska joining the Big 10.

Have you seen the football schedule the Huskers were handed for their freshman year in the conference? If Little Orphan Annie had been an NU fan she would certainly have let go with a wide-eyed "Land o'goshen!"

The Unicameral would need only a very few observations in the "Whereas" department. And even fewer words for the "Be it resolved" declaration. How about:

WHEREAS the University of Nebraska has joined the Big Ten and

WHEREAS the Big Ten has announced NU's 2011 football schedule and

WHEREAS the Nebraska Legislature has seen the schedule

THEREFORE be it resolved:

"That was rude!"

The upside (?) of the deal: No one will try to use the "strength of schedule" argument against Nebraska.

Beer and Liquor At McConaughy

Activity at Lake McConaughy will be closely observed if Gov. Dave Heineman approves a new policy authorizing consumption of beer and booze at state parks. Critics of the policy, which has been approved by the Game and Parks Commission, fear a possible return of the bad old days when Big Mac was overrun by drunken rowdies.

A lot of people were injured and a lot of families felt virtually chased away from the state's largest recreation lake in those days. The commission's ban on alcohol in state parks was enacted in 1995 mostly because of gawd-awful and often dangerous behavior at McConaughy.

The new policy will take effect Jan. 1 if Heineman approves. The governor said he'll announce his decision prior to this November's election.

Remembrance of things past: The late Gene Mahoney led a team of law enforcement officers confronting a significant batch of bikers at McConaughy one July Fourth. The former state senator/Omaha cop told the motorcycle mob face-to-face the required fee for each vehicle. The bikers refused with less than good manners. Mahoney's response was to promise that his well-armed posse would load all the bikes on trucks and haul them away. The tough guys paid, although their manners were again less than gracious.

Following The Feds

What policy changes might Congress finagle when it comes to Social Security, and how might they affect Nebraskans? We don't know. But we very much recommend denizens of the realm pay close attention to the goings on - and most especially the goings on of the so-called Catfood Commission. Does anyone remember the voices of those in Congress who, decades ago, warned that if the feds started "borrowing" from the Social Security fund there would be no end to it? Obviously there were those who thought it meant there would be no end to the fund!

The Eyes Of Nebraska Are On Texas

The first of the annual letters inquiring about our access to Husker football tickets have arrived. And we herein offer our annual announcement: We ain't got none!

Nebraska Diplomats work to grow state

I want to highlight an organization that plays an important role in our business recruitment efforts here in Nebraska. The Nebraska Diplomats is the largest economic development organization in Nebraska with more than 375 business and community leaders from across the state.

For more than 40 years, members of the Nebraska Diplomats have worked to grow Nebraska by promoting opportunities for business and industry to locate in our state. Their mission is to help build the state's economy by supporting the business recruitment efforts of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development and working to improve Nebraska's business climate and competitiveness.

Diplomats have a unique perspective on what our state has to offer businesses. Its members are executives and business leaders who live and work in Nebraska. The current class of Nebraska Diplomats represents nearly 50 communities and Diplomats presidents in recent years have come from Alliance, Aurora, Columbus, Crete, Grand Island, Lincoln, Norfolk, Omaha, and Scottsbluff. They are leaders of a variety of industries based in Nebraska, including energy and hospitality companies, manufacturers, and transportation and logistics companies.

As part of the program, a Diplomats member commits to making contact with several business leaders in other states in an effort to interest new companies in doing business in Nebraska. As business leaders who know firsthand the benefits of doing businesses in Nebraska, they add credibility to the efforts of the professional economic developers who work for the state and local communities. Diplomats host business prospects and special guests visiting the state and help local leaders prepare for visits from prospective companies.

Through face-to-face meetings and personal connections, Nebraska Diplomats help expand the number of contacts the State of Nebraska can make in a given year, which is particularly helpful in pursuing opportunities overseas. Many Diplomats represent companies with business interests in international markets. As part of their regular business visits, Diplomats commit some of their time to build relationships on behalf of Nebraska.

During one weekend each fall, the Nebraska Diplomats invite guests and prospects from across the country and around the world to visit the state and attend events including roundtable discussions with CEOs and business consultants, tours of Nebraska businesses and communities, and a tailgate hosted at the Governor's Residence followed by a Husker game at Memorial Stadium.

Many of the special guests that attend the Passport to Nebraska Weekend are corporate headquarter CEOs from around the country that have businesses in Nebraska. We thank them for spending time in Nebraska, and we will work with them when they are thinking about expanding their business, or if they decide to move their headquarters to Nebraska.

While other states have partnerships with business leaders, few have as coordinated effort as the Nebraska Diplomats. Another visitor shared this comment: "We were impressed with the depth of support from the Nebraska Diplomats. It is the most effective organization of its kind we are aware of in the U.S."

Having business executives and business recruiters work together gives Nebraska an edge in selling our state to prospective companies. I appreciate the outreach efforts of the Nebraska Diplomats. They play an essential role in letting other companies know that Nebraska is the right place to pursue new opportunities.

Suggestions offered for safely freezing tomatoes

Extra summer tomatoes can be quickly frozen without blanching whether their skins are on or off, whether they are whole, sliced, chopped or pureed.

First, be sure to select firm, ripe tomatoes to freeze. Discard any tomatoes that are spoiled.

Like all produce, tomatoes need to be properly washed before freezing. Wet tomatoes with water, rub the surfaces, rinse them with running water and dry them with a paper towel. Do not wash tomatoes in a sink filled with water because contaminated water can be absorbed through tomatoes' stem scars. Using soap or detergent is not recommended with fruits and vegetables because they can absorb detergent residues.

Peel the washed tomatoes by dipping them into boiling water for about one minute, or until the skin splits. The skin can then be easily removed. To freeze tomatoes with their skins, wash the tomatoes and then cut away their stem scars and the surrounding areas.

Wait to season tomatoes until after they have been defrosted and are about to be served. Freezing could possibly weaken or strengthen herbs and seasonings.

For freezing tomatoes, with or without skins, place them on a cookie sheet and freeze them. Once the tomatoes are frozen, transfer them to bags or containers.

For best results, use containers meant for freezing and make sure they are tightly sealed. Use a freezer with a temperature at or below zero degrees Fahrenheit. It is recommended that all frozen vegetables be eaten within eight months.

To use the frozen tomatoes, remove them and run them under warm water in a sink. This will help defrost them and any tomato skins will slip off easily.

Thawed tomatoes can be used in recipes calling for cooked tomatoes. However, freezing gives tomatoes a mushy texture, so do not substitute them for raw tomatoes.

For more information on freezing tomatoes and food safety, visit <http://lancaster.unl.edu/food/ciq.shtml>.

See You at the Pole to be held Sept. 22

"REVEAL" (Matthew 6:9-13) is the theme for See You at the Pole (SYATP) 2010, the Annual Global Day of Student Prayer. SYATP is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 22, at schools across the United States and in many other countries.

In Wayne, the event will take place at the High School at 6:45 a.m., Middle School at 7, Elementary School at 7:15 and at Wayne State College at 7 a.m.

SYATP is a student-led event, although faculty, staff, administration, and parents, as well as the general public, are invited and encouraged to attend.

This is the 20th anniversary for See You at the Pole, a student-initiated and student-led movement that started in the Fort Worth suburb of Burleson, Texas, in 1990.

SYATP brings students to their school flagpoles to pray for their leaders, schools, and families, asking God to bring moral and spiritual awakening to their schools, communities and countries.

Paul Fleischmann, president of the National Network of Youth Ministries, commented, "For 20 years, we have seen this day serve as a springboard for unity for teenagers on their secondary and college campuses. See You at the Pole unites students in prayer at the beginning of the school year. Challenging youth to take leadership on their campus is always a good idea. Every year, it offers a fresh challenge for them to minister to their friends." More information about See You at the Pole can be found at www.syatp.com.

'Responding to God's Call' topic of presentation

Jeanne Kocher, a member of Sinai Lutheran Church of Fremont, who has spent the past school year teaching in Tanzania will be sharing her experiences at the Sunday morning worship services at Our Savior, Wayne on Sunday, Sept. 26.

The worship services will be at 8 and 10:30 a.m.

Jeanne has been serving in Tanzania as a college lecturer at a private Lutheran University called Stefano Moshi Memorial University College. Named in honor of the first Tanzania Lutheran Bishop, the college is rooted in a traditional Lutheran higher education model. This model of education affirms the importance of diversity and the need to dialogue with multiple points of view within a context of academic freedom and Christian presence. Instruction in English is critical to this developing nation.

Tanzania's schools have a dire need for teachers fluent in English. Jeannetaught Basic Communication Skills to first-year students. While English in Tanzania serves as the medium of instruction for secondary schools, most students are still not fluent.

With the help from congregations of the Nebraska Synod, Jeanne will continue her service for another year. Prior to her going to Tanzania last fall, she taught writing courses at Midland Lutheran College and headed up the College's Writing Center.

Since 1999 Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne has shared a relationship with Kotela Lutheran Parish on the lower slopes of Mount Kilimanjaro in the Eastern African country of Tanzania. In early 1999 Pastor Samwel KIWELU spent time in Wayne with the congregation and members of Our Savior. Since that time several members of Our Savior have traveled to Tanzania with the Nebraska Synod sponsored Vision Trips.

All are welcome to come and hear Jeanne tell her story of responding to God's call and of the experiences she had while teaching in Tanzania this past year. Our Savior is located at the corner of Fifth and Main Streets in Wayne. For additional information, please call the church office (402) 375-2899.

Activities continue at Praise Assembly

Sunday activities at Praise Assembly of God Church in Wayne begin at 9:30 a.m. with Sunday School.

The Bible Study during this hour is taught by Phil Pfaltzgraff (WSC Staff Accompanist in the Music Department) and is an energetic study of the "Songs of Ascents", Psalms 120-134 in the Bible. The class is currently in Psalm 126, which deals with the subject of "deliverance" from captivity and our response to being set free by God.

The morning worship service begins in the sanctuary of the church at 10:30 a.m. with a time of Praise and Worship. During this service Pastor David Stitt is continuing in a sermon series on the Book of Nehemiah - a book in the Bible which deals with the rebuilding of the walls of Jerusalem after the nation of Judah returns from captivity in Babylon (later conquered by Persia).

This is a valuable study for all to hear - especially for those who have experienced tragedy or reversal in life and for whom the walls of your life seem to have been knocked down and need to be rebuilt. God makes this possible.

The evening service at Praise Assembly of God begins at 6:30 p.m. This service includes a time of praise and worship, a Bible Study, and (as is always the pattern at the church) a time of prayer for people who have needs and who want prayer for God to intervene in their situations.

Grace Ladies Aid holds September meeting

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid meeting was called to order by Vice President Beverly Hansen. Beverly read a devotion entitled "Lighting Up". The meeting closed by singing "I've got the Joy, Joy, Joy, Joy, Down in my Heart."

Pastor Lilienkamp gave the Bible study entitled "Unplugging: Real Rest for the 21st Century." We learned that it is important to take time to rest in our busy lives.

Roll Call was taken with 15 members and Pastor Lilienkamp present. The minutes from the last meeting were read and approved as read. A thank you was read from Bonnadell Koch. Treasurer's report was read and will be filed for financial review.

Two donations were received for the use of the kitchen.

Committee reports were as follows:

Mission Service: Joann Temme reported that she had gifts for the confirmands and prayer partners for them.

Sewing: Esther Brader reported that they will start sewing on Sept. 23. She invited everyone to come and help.

Care Center: Ellen Heinemann stated they will be going this month.

Visiting: Melvy Meyer reported that they have been sending cards to the members and they plan on doing visiting this month.

Seminary Student: No letter was received from the student. Esther Baker will write this month.

Old Business: Ellen Heinemann explained the two estimates that were received for restoring the balcony floor. She reported that the committee chose Rotherham Custom Wood Floor from Neligh. Fauneil Bennett has contacted him and has tentatively set a date for November.

New Business: Beverly Hansen reminded everyone of the LWML Fall Rally that will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 19 at Hope, South Sioux City. She explained that the inservice will be snack supplies for "Jesus our Savior School" in Winnebago. Snack supplies would be Ritz & graham crackers, goldfish and animal crackers, peanut butter, small Dixie cups, paper plates, small cans of macaroni cheese, ravioli, ramen noodles and cup of noodles.

The group voted to ask the congregation to help collect snack supplies for the inservice. There will be baskets at both doors. Mrs. Hansen asked for volunteers to make a dessert for LWML Sunday and the fish boil on Oct. 3.

Rhonda Sebade, Esther Brader, Melvy Meyer, and Beverly Hansen will make desserts.

Hostesses for the Wednesday, Oct. 13 meeting will be Esther Brader and Melvy Meyer.

Mites were collected. The birthday song was sung for Adeline Sieger, Delores Utecht, Mary Doescher, Beverly Hansen, and Ellen Heinemann. Melvy Meyer presented each with a lighted cupcake. The ladies closed by singing "Lutheran Women, One and All."

The meeting closed by saying The Lord's Prayer and the Table Prayer in unison. Lunch was served by Betty Wittig and Delores Utecht.

Joy Circle learns of Texas mission work

Dorthy Wert of the Women of ELCA at Our Savior Lutheran Church (OSL) opened the Joy Circle with announcements and recognized birthday and anniversaries of those present.

Mrs. Wert then handed the program over to Rodella Wacker, who introduced Rowan Wiltse who shared with the women information about the work he and Twila have done with the people of Meadowlark Mission near McAllen, Texas.

New Arrivals

SEDAGHAT — Ahmad and Jennifer Sedaghat of Greeley, Colo., a son, Kambiz Ali, 8 lbs., 13 oz., 22 1/2 inches, born Aug. 23, 2010. He is welcomed home by sisters, Ellie, 4, and Abbie, 2. Grandparents are Jon and Dianne Wilson of Greeley, Colo. and Hossein and Soghra Sedaghat of Tehran, Iran. Great-grandparents are Les and Pearl Youngmeyer of Wayne.

The sewing women at OSL have donated some laprobes (used as baby quilts) and quilts they have made for this Mission. When Wiltse goes to Texas for the winter, they take the items with them. Rowan and Twila are part of a group at their winter church home that hosts a meal, hands out blankets, health kits and other items in and around Christmas time.

Rowan thanked the women and the congregation for their support. He noted that the money from OSLC door offering for a month for this Mission is also appreciated. Pictures of this project are on display in the Narthax.

Following the presentation, Rodella had a short devotion and then 15 women cut out blocks for more quilts and tied a quilt that will go to the Mission this year. Dorthy Wert and Gena Puls served lunch following the program. Joy Circle will meet Wednesday, Oct. 13 with Phyllis Rahn presenting a program on Mary and Martha and Evie Schock and Rodella Wacker will be hostesses.

Milestones worth a celebration

It's Tuesday morning and the sun is out, there's no wind and it's very cool. No evidence of the sultry, stuffy weather yesterday afternoon that preceded storms. The rain poured, there were high winds and there are trees down in north Lincoln. Plus, they tracked a tornado near our old address in Murdock.

My computer is apparently infected. Any e-mails I sent were repeated up to a dozen times. I ran a virus scan, which was negative, a maintenance and a clean up. That helped for a few hours. Finally, I just hauled it to the geek store. And, even though it's another chore, I miss it when it's not available.

For instance, I'm hand writing this and will fax it in a few minutes; meaning someone at the Herald will have to "set it up."

I mentioned that the Big Farmer is observing an eightieth birthday this month. So did an old teacher friend, and we were guests of his daughter last Friday evening at quite a party.

Marv Maurer graduated from

By: Pat Meierhenry

Kearney State Teacher's College and went right into the Air Force. His very first teaching position was at Waco High. And he swears there was a hitching post on the street then.

He ended his career as superintendent at Grand Island and bought a town house here in Lincoln. He frequently shows up at our high school reunions, so we keep in touch.

This was an interesting crowd. His former exchange student from Finland was there, with her husband. His old college roommate came. My friend, Marlyce, from Orlando, surprised him and he told everyone we were his "star pupils," at least for the night.

He was presented a plaque signed by the governor that made him an admiral in the Navy, and another one signed by the mayor that summarized his accomplishment, including attendance at every NU home game for forty-four years!

There were many hugs, lots of laughs, and fond memories. And I informed Mike he can expect a lot of those, but we had neglected to obtain any of the awards.

He's made a list of 25 things he never expected to do when he was a kid, and I believe he can look back with satisfaction. We are blessed to still have him, and Mr. Maurer, and these milestones are important to celebrate.

Re-Tree Nebraska being celebrated

With ReTree Nebraska Week set for the week of Sept. 19, we are going to cover a few topics of interest for planting trees.

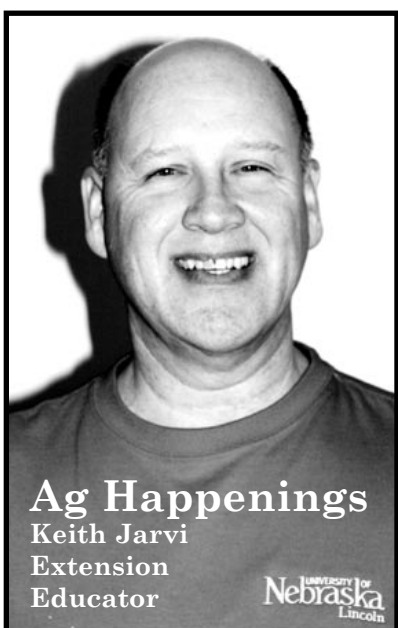

Most of us think of planting trees in the spring but fall planning has its advantages. A lot of the information in this article is provided by Kelly Feehan, Extension Educator from Columbus. If you like websites, go to retreenebraska.unl.edu.

In the fall warm soil, cooler air temperatures and adequate moisture promotes root growth well into November. This gives plants time to establish new roots before having to support new spring growth. Fall planting also avoids the stress of summer heat.

The greatest concern with fall planting is if an extremely cold winter follows. Many trees sold are tagged with the hardiness zones on them; often a range of zones are given. Hardiness zones are based on low temperature averages. The zones are 2-9 in the continental United States with the cooler zones having lower numbers.

In this area we are right in the middle of Zone 5. For very hardy trees, those hardy to USDA cold hardiness Zones 4 or lower; fall planting is usually not a problem. Spring planting is recommended for trees hardy to Zone 5. Trees hardy only to Zones 6 or higher are not recommended for planting in our area.

Trees need to be planted early enough to allow adequate root growth to support trees over winter. Roots stop growing when soil temperatures drop to 40 degrees Fahrenheit. Ideally, shade trees are planted at least four weeks before this happens, which is usually sometime in November. For Nebraska in general, September into about the third week of October is a good time to plant most container grown and balled and burlapped shade trees that already have developed roots. These trees will establish new roots into surrounding soil up until soil temperatures become too cold for root growth. Since we are in northern Nebraska, I would feel better if we could get trees planted before mid-October.

If large trees are to be transplanted, moved from one location to another with a tree spade, it is best to wait until just after the first freeze when leaves are no longer transpiring and losing moisture. When large trees are transplanted, 80 percent or more of the roots are lost. By waiting until after the first freeze, the demand for water from roots is reduced.

Fall planting of evergreens is more of a risk because evergreens continue to lose moisture from green needles throughout winter.

Evergreen conifers, such as pine and spruce, also prefer warmer soil temperatures of around 60 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit for root growth. These are best planted in September to allow for adequate root growth and water uptake to cover the loss of water from needles during winter.

Some trees do not adapt well to fall planting. Over the years, the list Kelly has compiled includes Magnolia, dogwood, tuliptree, red maple, birch, hawthorn, poplars, cherries, plum, ginkgo, willow, many oaks, bald cypress, fir and yews. While these trees are best saved for spring planting, if an exceptional bargain is found, go ahead and try to fall plant these trees.

What are the best trees are to plant? A better question may be what not to plant. We have a good idea from experience that some trees have chronic problems and don't function well in this area. Do not plant pin oak, silver maple, European white birch, green ash and Scotch (Scots is the proper name of this tree and may be on the tag). Avoid planting Austrees, 'Autumn Blaze' maple, Siberian elm, poplars, sawtooth oak, aspen, black locust and royal paulonia.

Kelly's personal list of "good to great" trees for this area (this is not a complete list) includes ginkgo, white oak, hybrid elms, silver linden, bur oak, Kentucky coffee tree, Norway maple, Ohio buckeye, Japanese tree lilac and star Magnolia.

Okay to good trees (mainly because they tend to be over-planted, untried, or have issues such as disease) include river birch, northern catalpa, hackberry, thornless honeylocust, American and littleleaf linden, northern pin oak, American sycamore, black walnut, black cherry, hedge maple, black alder, and European mountain-ash.

Good evergreens include ponderosa pine and jack pine on sandy soils; Norway spruce, Serbian spruce, Black Hills spruce, concolor fir, balsam fir, and white pine in protected locations. It's okay to plant Colorado blue spruce and Austrian pine, but these do have many disease problems. It showed this year as many of my calls in the Dixon/Dakota/Thurston Co. area involved problems with these two trees. Lots of these problems occur when trees are planted too close; as they grow they crowd each other and become more prone to disease. Remember your spacing when planting rows of trees; you may have to thin them out later if you are planting seedlings.

Do not plant Scotch (Scots) pine because pine wilt is near and they will soon be attacked. Green ash is under threat from the emerald ash borer so be aware of this potential problem. Planting this tree should be avoided.

For more information, go to retreenebraska.unl.edu and join in the goal of planting 1,000,000 new trees in our state by 2017.
