Sales tax numbers are higher

By MICHAEL CARNES

Wayne city sales tax figures for the first month of 2010-11 fiscal year show an increase over the previous year as monthly receipts went over the $50,000 mark for the second time in three months.

October's figures, which are based off receipts collected during the month of August, showed the city received $50,409.54 in revenue. That total is about $704 less than the $51,113.69 received during August, which was the city's highest monthly total since city sales tax revenue was first collected during fiscal year 2000-2001.

Last fiscal year, the city collected $521,105.15 in sales tax receipts, a 4.4 percent increase from the 2008-09 fiscal year, marking the seventh straight time the city's sales tax intake improved from the to say it's down, but as a community, no," previous fiscal year. Based on a projected Chamberlain said. "We have a unique 2 percent growth, the city is expecting to average $43,395.44 per month during fiscal year 2010-11, putting October's numbers just enough private industry. Seldom are almost 14 percent ahead of the city's projections.

Based on the city's projected 2 percent growth, the city should generate $520,745.28 in sales tax receipts for fiscal year 2010-11. cyclical and we've survived it before and With the first month's total, the city would be on pace to generate more than $604,000 in revenue, which would be an increase of financing (TIF) to draw new business and almost 14 percent from the 2009-10 fiscal

Candidates make last pitch

Wayne mayoral candidates discuss issues at Senior Center

Of The Herald

Although both mayoral candidates seem to agree on a lot of the major issues, the two people vying to become Wayne's next mayor have some differences.

During a mayoral forum held Wednesday, Oct. 20 at the Wayne Senior Center, former City Councilwoman Jane O'Leary made light of one glaring difference between she and her opponent, current Councilman Ken Chamberlain.

"He's male," she said, prompting a welcome moment of humor to the reporterestimated crowd of 50 local residents who gathered for the 70-minute forum.

Both candidates expressed similar views to the 15 questions that were asked during the candidate forum, which was moderated by Wayne State student and Wayne native Joe Witt.

O'Leary, a teacher at Wayne State College and a former business owner and 12-year member of the Wayne City Council, is running against Chamberlain, a manager at Heritage Industries and current City Council representative in the Fourth Ward, in the Tuesday, Nov. 2 mayoral election. The winner will assume the office currently held by Lois Shelton, who is stepping down at the end of her term.

Both candidates agreed that, while there has been some hiccups in private industry at the local level, the local economy is in pretty good shape.

"According to recent statistics, Wayne has done very well with tax receipts, so that would be an indicator that things aren't quite as bad as people are saying,"

"The private industry side of me wants situation with Wayne State College, with being an ag-based community, and having all three suffering at the same time. Wayne State is flourishing right now and the ag community is flourishing, and there is some struggling in private industry, but it's we'll survive it again."

Both agreed that using tax increment industry to town is a good option for the city to have, but it must be used cautiously.

"I agree that tax increment financing is very helpful, but this is one of those instances where we have to ensure that, at the end of the period, that it becomes something that adds to our tax base," O'Leary said. "It's important to have some kind of incentive, and this is one that is helpful to get new business started."

"I think tax increment financing is a wonderful tool when it is used properly," Chamberlain added. "I'm not a huge fan of (TIF), but I feel it's necessary in certain situations. The hotel project we have in town is one of those situations, and it's critical to have that option to attract business to our community."

Both felt the recent work to bring a wind turbine into the city's energy supply should be an inspiration for further green energy options the city should look into, which would potentially bring more business to the community.

"I think it's a great opportunity to expand our greenness in the state," Chamberlain said. "This give us an opportunity to be first in line to do something that will make us look attractive to a lot more green-energy businesses. It gives us another tool in our recruitment for business."

"Alternative energy is something this is being developed," O'Leary said. "I've been on the green team the last 1 1/2 years, and in my opinion this is a wonderful addition to the future of Wayne. It may not have great meaning to the tax base right now, but to have an alternative form of energy available is something that will be important in the future."

Both candidates complimented the work of current Mayor Lois Shelton to get the community involved in city government, most notably with the Youth Council and the green team. Both candidates said they would continue both entities if they are

"I think the green team has been very valuable, and I would like to see it expanded to include college students and the high school," O'Leary said. "I would also like to see the Youth Council expanded to include different age groups like the high school and college.

"I would absolutely keep those committees," Chamberlain said. "I think it's vital and extremely important to have that community involvement, and I'd like to add more age groups and reach out to them. Mayor Shelton has done a phenomenal job

Groundbreaking for alternative energy research project takes place

CONCORD – Rural Nebraska is well-suited for development of alternative energy sources, and a new federally funded project will support University of Nebraska-Lincoln research and outreach efforts in this area.

Groundbreaking for the project, titled Sustainable Energy Options for Rural Nebraska, was held Oct. 21 at the Haskell Agricultural Lab near Concord.

The project will be located on three acres of land in the northwest portion of Haskell Ag Lab property. It will include two wind turbines on 60-foot towers.

Rep. Jeff Fortenberry, along with several UNL officials, were on hand for the ceremony. Fortenberry was instrumental in getting $500,000 in funding for the project. Bill Kranz, UNL irrigation specialist and one of the researchers on the project, served as master of ceremonies for the ground-breaking, which was followed by a tour of the Haskell Ag Lab facilities.

In his remarks to those on hand for the ground-breaking ceremony, Fortenberry thanked those responsible for the project for their leadership, and said, "America needs a bold, new energy system."

"Nebraska has abundant wind, solar energy, and crops for fuel feedstocks; thus, energy independence should be a major goal for rural Nebraska," Kranz said.

The Haskell Ag Lab, where research will be conducted, is a diversified agricultural research station with about 480 acres of rain-fed and irrigated croplands. The other unique aspect of the laboratory is that it is home to a farm manager residence and an office building. as well as swine and beef production facilities. making it an excellent location to evaluate alternative energy production systems for on-farm use.

Kranz noted that Nebraska has about 93,000 active irrigation wells statewide that supply water to more than 8.2 million acres of crops, and already is the secondleading ethanol-producing state.

"The use of ethanol-fueled irrigation power units could greatly reduce the state's demand for fossil fuel and reduce greenhouse gas emissions," Kranz said.

"Well-designed projects demonstrating the cost-effectiveness of alternative energy technologies can support their utilization and growth of energy-related industries in Nebraska, enhancing the state's rural economy.'

The new federal funding will support research and outreach on several alternative energy options for rural Nebraska, with the long-term goal to integrate clean energy production into the existing energy-

Project brings college, younger students together By JOSHUA STUCHL

Of The Herald

Not only must education students learn to teach, but they must

This idea brought forth a Service Learning Project based on bringing college students – on track to becoming teachers - face-to-face with elementary and middle school students in an effort to give Wayne State students valuable experience and simultaneously to teach young students about the importance of being aware of potentially dangerous behaviors at school. Sherry Dorman, WSC instructor, hosted the Elementary Leadership conference with assistance from WSC staff member Brook Jech and her EDU 423 Developmental Social Studies class.

The conference was designed to encourage students to recognize and stop bullying in schools, specifically cyber bullying. Many activities were available for the children to engage in hands-on learning and create posters that discourage bullying in schools.

Rebecca Onderstal, with Preventative Education from Haven House, spoke to the students about building healthy relationships and what constitutes unhealthy behavior from peers and adults alike.

The children made care bags containing pajamas, clothing, school supplies and games for less fortunate children – those who become Haven House or shelter residents.

The Region 3 Principals Association also participated in the multi-session conference.

The conference included roleplaying for the children to help them better understand the difference between positive and negative comments and how some comments lead to bullying in school.

Dorman believes that "these conferences are vital to my students in helping them learn to teach younger students and engage them in critical thinking exercises." Also, the service-learning project allows her students to give back to the community by teaching others how to be better, more involved, citi-

What a difference a year makes

Area producers are benefitting from ideal harvest conditions this year. No precipitation, dry crops and higher than expected yields in many cases have resulted in many happy farmers. For many, harvest is complete or nearly so, considerably ahead of last year.

Pfaltzgraff and Pfriends set for Nov. 7

The "Pfaltzgraff and Pfriends" College consisting of Josh Calkin dents will perform. They include concert for fall, 2010 is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, Nov. 7 at

This concert will be held at "The Barn," located just three miles east and a half mile south of Wayne on Merle Ring's farm.

"It's a great performance venue and ideal for this concert of 'jazz music,'" said Phil Pfaltzgraff.

A combo from Wayne State

(trombone), David Bohnert (trumpet), Antoine Clark (saxophone), Lauren Calkin (marimba), Phil Pfaltzgraff (Piano), Wayne High School Band Director Brad Webber (drums) and WSC graduate Chad Jensen (bass guitar) will present some jazz ensemble music at this

In addition to that, a women's quartet of WSC faculty and stuCalyn Schramm, Erin Galvin, Katie Hansen and Dr. Elise Hepworth.

The "Pfaltzgraff and Pfriends" concerts are presented in the fall and the spring of the year and involve musicians in the area in programs of varying formats and content. This is the fifth in the series of concerts.

The public is invited to attend this event and admission is free.

Hofeldt lives 'Ageless Dream'

Saturday, Oct. 9 was a beautiful fall day and was especially great, because Roy Hofeldt was able to experience what every farmer loves — the opportunity to move the combine through a bountiful sea of soybeans!

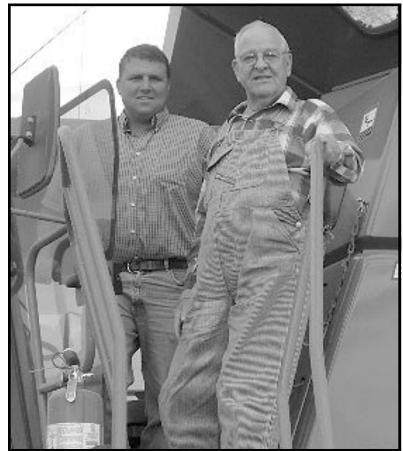

Hofeldt lives at The Oaks in Wayne. He owns farms in Thurston County. He tells of days past, when combining beans with a 14-foot head would take days to combine 200 acres and produce 25 bushel beans. The combine had one seat and only a small space for his daughter to sit on a five-gallon bucket beside him.

Now, things are different. The John Deere combine Hofeldt navigated that weekend, had a 35foot cutter head, and two cushioned seats. The yield was 60 bushels of beans per acre.

Hofeldt's "Ageless Dream" was created by his daughter and son-in-law, Maridee and Clay Malmberg.

"The amazing thing is that we didn't even need to touch a steering wheel and it went straight down the field," Hofeldt said.

Anyone wishing to help fulfill an Ageless Dream for a resident of The Oaks is asked to call (402) 375-1500.

Both candidates agreed that the city has done well with keeping costs down, which keeps the tax rate down, and both would look to a combination of budget cuts and growing new business to help maintain the city's services.

Both candidates also expressed an interest to not only continue working with Wayne State College, but to get in touch with the college students who may feel they are not welcome. Both want the college's student population to feel as if they are as much a part of the community as those who live here.

Initially, electrical generation systems powered by wind and solar energy will be installed at Haskell. Researchers will compare costs, management and energy output over time, including seasonal variations in wind and sunshine intensity.

UNL researchers also will track efficiency, output, costs and other factors associated with ethanol-fueled engines as irrigation power units. Finally, they will develop a Web-based system to help rural Nebraskans determine if alternative energy systems can meet their needs.

"By the time this project is completed, rural constituents will be able to make informed decisions about the feasibility of alternative energy systems based on technical, economic, and environmental considerations," said Twig Marston, director of the Northeast Research and Extension Center at Norfolk. Also, he added, UNI scientists will "expand capabilities for current and future studies on alternative energy technologies in rural settings, a test-bed for making improvements to existing renewable technologies and a micro-grid system capable of modeling smart-grid networks."

Diedra Artz sets up a kill for Wayne State during their threeset win over University of Mary on Saturday.

Wildcats back at No. 1, hosts Co-No. 1 Friday

Three weeks ago, the Wayne State volleyball team made school history by becoming the first team to earn a No. 1 ranking.

This week, the Wildcats found themselves back at No. 1, but with some company.

Fellow Northern Sun Conference counterpart Concordia-St. Paul is also ranked at the top spot this week, and the two teams will have a rare opportunity to do battle in a No. 1 vs. No. 1 matchup Friday at Rice Auditorium.

The Wildcats did their part this past week, picking up a pair of easy wins at home over the weekend and dispatching of the Central Region's No. 10 team, St. Cloud State, in straight sets on the road Tuesday.

"I feel like we're getting back in a flow and doing some nice things, both offensively and defensively," coach Scott Kneifl said of his team, who improved to 22-2 overall and 13-2 in the Northern Sun Conference. "Winning on the road is a big thing, and with St. Cloud being No. 10 in the region it was good to get out of there with a win."

The Wildcats downed the Huskies 25-23, 25-15, 25-18 to post a threegame sweep on the road Tuesday in St. Cloud, Minn. They fell behind 6-2 early in the first set, but went on a 6-1 run to regain the lead and were never in trouble after that.

Mindy Moody led the Wildcats with 13 kills, while four players -Jennifer Hefner, Tali Fredrickson, Lea Hartigan and Shelby Schultz had eight kills apiece. Diedra Artz finished with 37 set assists, and Leigh Connot led the defense with 16 digs.

fourth straight double-double of the the front of the pack and took the season with 16 kills and 17 digs to help the Wildcats make quick work of Northern State, winning 25-16, 28-26, 25-18.

The Wildcats had 16 kills and a .368 hitting percentage to take the first set. They survived two set points by Northern to take the second set, then jumped out to a 15-5 lead in the third set and cruise to the straight-set win.

Hefner had 14 kills in the win, while Lea Hartigan and Shelby Schultz each notched seven kills. Freshman McKenna Reagan led the Wildcats in digs with 18, while Connot added 16 digs. Artz recorded 45 assists and 12 digs.

On Saturday, Wayne State held University of Mary to a .081 hitting percentage and ran away with an easy win at Rice Auditorium, winning 25-16, 25-19, and 25-8.

Wayne girls take third in conference tourney

NORFOLK - After a third-place finish in the Mid-State Conference tournament, Wayne High volleyball coach Joyce Hoskins is feeling pretty good about where her team is heading into the postseason.

The 20-10 Blue Devils played well in their conference tournament, sweeping Battle Creek (27-25, 25-23, 25-22) and taking top-seeded West Point Central Catholic the distance (18-25, 19-25, 25-21, 29-27, 15-11) before sweeping Norfolk Catholic (25-23, 26-24, 25-12) for consolation honors.

"The thing we've talked about is playing with a lot of heart, and I think the girls have figured that out and are going out and leaving it all on the court," she said. "They're

Wayne boys finish fourth in Class C, girls take eighth

KEARNEY - As he came around the last turn, Quentin Jorgensen was leading the way.

The Wayne High junior was within striking distance of earning an individual gold medal at the State Cross Country Championships, but a taller runner with a longer stride caught him at the end.

Jorgensen battled Cole Wellnitz of Gordon-Rushville and James McKeag of Ogallala in a wild sprint to the finish, but the longer legs of Wellnitz carried him past the Blue Devils' lead runner, and Jorgensen settled for the silver medal to highlight the local area's day at the season-ending meet Friday at the Kearney Country Club.

Jorgensen highlighted a day that saw three individual runners from the area come home with medals. Teammate Seth Onderstal hustled home in 14th place to earn a medal in his final race, and Laurel-Concord/Coleridge senior Katie Jacobsen capped an impressive career with her fourth medal at the state meet.

The Wayne High boys followed through on their plan to ease into the race and pick off runners as the race continued toward the finish. Jorgensen, who ran the 5,000-meter On Friday, Fredrickson had her race in 16:40.4, made his way toward Thomsen was less than 20 yards from the finish line when his legs decided that they had enough. Thomsen crumbled to the grass at the Kearney Country Club, tried to get back to his feet several times, then somehow managed to stumble across the finish line.

Pulfer never made it to the finish line. Dizziness and blurred vision got the better of him late in the race, and he was unable to make it around the last corner to the straightaway.

Wayne High senior Seth Onderstal capped his high school

Laurel-Concord/Coleridge senior Katie Jacobsen finished

a fantastic high school career with her fourth state cross cross country career with a medal, finishing 14th.

Had Thomsen's legs not betrayed him 4,980 meters into the 5,000meter race, and Pulfer would have made his way home, Wayne very likely would have brought home a state runner-up trophy. Thomsen was just outside the top 15 and would have probably finished in the low 20's. As it was, he fell figuratively and literally - to 43rd place, and without Pulfer's usual placement as the fourth scoring runner, the Blue Devils went from potential state runners-up to fourth

I will occasionally hear football fans make fun of cross country runners. All they do is run around on golf courses, they opine. (Of course, these comments are usually made by those who, for the most part, say the ONLY way they'll be found traveling around a golf course is in a golf cart.)

If only it were that simple.

Unlike their spring counterparts in track and field, cross country runners must run longer distances, and do so on terrain that is neither round, nor flat. Up and down inclines, through tree branches and on grass that can thicken up and slow down even the fleetest of foot.

And it's more than just hitting the course running. You have to pace yourself and conserve your energy for the end of the race. While most runners are trying to get out in front early, the best runners will rein it in and save that extra energy for the last half of the race, when those who are in front early are most likely to start falling back as their energy is depleted.

Quentin Jorgensen, who was in the lead until the final 50 meters and finished second, could be found well back of the leaders early in the race. At last week's district meet, he was actually in last place early in the race and ran the first 1,600 meters in 5:20 before kicking into gear. When all was said and done. Jorgensen was way out in front, and the strategy worked again Friday as the junior nearly came away with an individual title before being outkicked by Cole Wellnitz of Gordon-Rushville.

Seth Onderstal finished out his career with a state medal, a testament to his solid running these past few years. Joey Dunklau and Aaron Bernal finished strong as well, with Bernal as the trailing runner actually coming in ahead of the fifth-place runners from the schools that finished ahead of The Blue Devils bounced back from deficits in each of the first two sets against Battle Creek Monday evening. They trailed 21-17 and 24-21 in the first set before rallying, then came back from a four-point deficit to take the second set on their way to the three-set sweep.

Wayne served well with 11 aces in the match, led by Erica Sebade's five and Hoskins' three. Rachel Gilliland also had a pair of ace Laura Muren directed the offense with 28 set assists and had 10 digs on defense. Cassie Harm led the Blue Devils with 12 digs, while Elisa Robinson added nine and Hoskins had eight.

In regular-season action, Wayne beat O'Neill 26-24, 25-20, and lost to Hartington Cedar Catholic 25-22, 25-22 in a triangular Friday at Hartington. Hoskins had 13 kills and Robinson added seven kills and 10 digs in the win over O'Neill. Against Hartington, Hoskins had 11 kills and Harm led the team in digs with eight.

Wayne looked to be in position for an upset of the top-seeded team in the tournament, taking the first two sets from West Point Central Catholic. The Bluejays won the third, then the two teams hooked up in a wild fourth set that went to the Bluejays. Wayne battled valiantly in the final set, but was unable to finish off the upset.

"I think we lost that heartbreaker to West Point, and it really could have gone either way," Hoskins said. "The girls came back ready to play Tuesday, though, and they went out and proved we're among the top teams in the conference."

Hoskins had 25 kills and Robinson added 21 in the five-set loss to WPCC. Muren had 46 set assists, Robinson had five blocks and Hoskins and Schramm each had three. Harm had 24 digs, Robinson added 18, Hoskins had 13 and Muren had 10.

On Tuesday, the Blue Devils took care of Norfolk Catholic in straight sets, winning 25-23, 26-24, 25-12. Hoskins led the attack with 17 kills, while Robinson added nine and Ehrisman had five. Muren had 29 set assists, and Robinson and Harm had 14 and 13 digs, respectively.

The Wayne High coach said the Blue Devils will likely draw Tekamah-Herman in the first round of subdistricts, which start Monday at Pender. Hoskins said the Blue Devils are capable of getting through a tough subdistrict that includes the Tigers and topseeded Wisner-Pilger.

"We beat Wisner earlier in the year, and I think it can go either way with them," she said. "Both Tekamah and Wisner have good middle hitters, so we can prepare for both of them the same way, but our focus is going to be on taking care of Tekamah first."

The Wayne State volleyball team is ranked first in the initial NCAA Div. II Central Region Rankings.

The rankings include the top 10 teams in the region with records through Monday, Oct. 18. The Wildcats are 18-2 overall and sport a 14-2 record against teams within the region. Minnesota Duluth, the No. 1 team in the country, was second in the Central Region rankings at 19-1 overall and a 12-1 record in the region. Southwest Minnesota State was third in the region, followed by Concordia-St. Paul and Minnesota State in the top five.

The NCAA Div. II Central Region rankings, with overall and in-region records, is as follows:

1. Wayne State (18-2,14-2)

2. Minnesota Duluth (19-1.12-1) 3. Southwest Minnesota State (17-3,14-3)

4. Concordia-St. Paul (17-4, 13-3) 5. Minnesota State (14-5, 9-5)

6. Nebraska-Kearney (19-3, 16-2)

"I went past them on the back stretch, and I thought I was going to have it, but the Gordon-Rushville kid ran me down toward the finish," Jorgensen said after the race. "I thought we were both going the same speed, but he's got those long legs and he just got me."

Onderstal's final race as a Blue Devil was a memorable one for him as well, as he edged out Matthew Koeppe of Pierce for 14th place, matching the medal his older brother, Sheldon, won a few years

"I tried to start out slow and pick it up at the mile mark, and I just gave it all I had," he said after the race. "With about 800 meters left I really had to get going, because guys here finish fast and I wanted to try and push it to the end."

With those two runners in the top 14, Wayne was in position to compete for either a state champion or runner-up trophy, but those hopes were dashed when senior Zach Thomsen's exhaustion got the best of him about 20 meters from the finish. He fell to the ground and tried to regain his feet several times before finally stumbling across the

Both he and Jacob Pulfer had been the team's third and fourth runners for much of the year, but Pulfer was unable to finish the race when exhaustion caught him in the final 800 meters. Thomsen, who was in the top 25 when he collapsed, eventually finished in 43rd place. Joey Dunklau's 55th place finish was scored as the Blue Devils' fourth scoring runner, which dropped them to fourth place with 76 points, finishing behind champion Ogallala (42), runner-up Milford (62) and third-place team Boys Town (69). Aaron Bernal also ran for the Blue Devils, finishing

"It's something that happens, and these guys put their heart and soul out on the line today," coach Rocky Ruhl said of the finish. "Those kids are like your kids when they're out there running, and they wanted it so bad. (Thomsen and Pulfer) have had a great season for us, and it's just too bad it happened."

The Wayne High girls came home with an eighth-place finish, led by freshman Angie Nelson, who just missed a medal for a top 15 finish and settled for 19th place with a time of 16:29.0.

this team's success this season, and with it being their last race, it's a pretty safe bet neither was going to leave anything left on the course at Kearney Country Club.

And when cross country runners' bodies are pushed past their limits, it becomes a heartbreaking scene in front of thousands of fans cheering everybody on at the finish. Thomsen's body went limp, and while it had nothing left to give to the race, the heart had enough to will him past those final 20 meters. While others might have given up and stopped running at that point, as heartbreaking as it was to witness, it was also inspiring to know that he was not going to give up the effort being so close to the goal. I'm sure Pulfer would have loved to experience the thrill of crossing the finish line as well, and while I'm sure he's disappointed that he could not finish the race, he shouldn't be disappointed with the effort he was willing to give.

Winside reaches L&C conference finals Winside is one match away from a conference title after taking care of Homer in the semifinals of the Lewis and Clark Conference tournament.

The second-seeded Wildcats overcame a rough third set and dispatched the third-seeded Knights in four sets, 25-20, 25-22, 15-25, 25-20, to earn a trip to the finals Friday against Bancroft-Rosalie. The fourth-seeded Panthers, who are the tournament host, upset top-seeded Wynot to earn a third matchup with the Wildcats, who have defeated Bancroft-Rosalie in both meetings earlier this year.

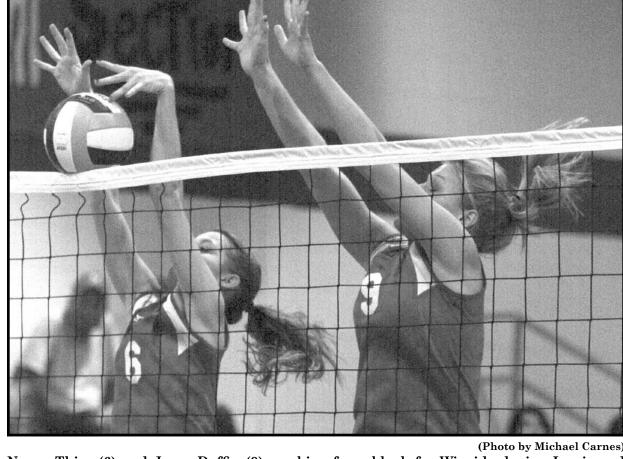

"The third set was a little rocky, but we had a couple of people really step up and come to play," coach Teresa Watters said of her team's win, which ran their record to 22-5 on the season.

Erin Gray has had a solid tournament for Winside, and she came up big in the semifinals with 21 kills and four blocks to lead a solid Wildcat net attack. Shelby Lienemann was also solid at the net with 16 kills and three blocks.

"Erin has really come on the last couple of games, and she and Shelby have really stepped up to the plate," Watters said. "Bridget (Gray) has also made huge improvements, and we're coming together at the right

Bridget Gray had 38 set assists and 11 digs in the match. Jerae Doffin had six kills and five blocks, Nazya Thies had 14 digs, Audrey Roberts had 18 digs and Lienemann and Erin Gray led the team defensively with 24 and 21 digs, respectively.

problem taking care of Bloomfield (25-21, 25-12, 25-14) and Hartington (25-11, 25-21, 25-11) in straight sets. Doffin had 10 kills and four blocks in the win over Bloomfield, while Erin Gray had seven ace serves and Lienemann added four. Against Hartington, Doffin had 12 kills, Gray added nine and Thies put down six. Doffin had four blocks, Roberts led the team with 18 digs and Bridget Gray had 28 set assists.

Winside will play Bancroft-Rosalie for the conference title Friday at 7 p.m., and Watters said her team is focused on achieving the goals they set at the start of the season, starting with the conference

"It's kind of a surprise that (Bancroft) upset Wynot, but we had our goals in mind at the beginning. and right now we're just taking it a game at a time," she said. "It doesn't matter who we play. We're focused on what we want to do as a team."

Winside will likely be the top seed for the D1-5 subdistrict tournament, which starts Monday

Wakfield beats Ponca, falls to Homer in L&C

The Wakefield volleyball team reached the quarterfinals of the Lewis and Clark Conference tournament before bowing out to third-seeded Homer Monday evening.

The Trojans took care of Ponca in straight sets, winning 25-14, 25-22, 25-15, before losing to the host Knights in three sets, 29-27, 25-17,

The Allen volleyball team dropped a three-set decision to homer on Thursday, losing 25-20, 25-13, 25-

"We played fairly competitively in the match," coach Cheryl Greve said. "They have a large block, strong hitters and good defense. We have improved across the board, but there is still more to do.'

Brittany Sullivan had seven kills and Bentley Hingst added six kills and two blocks to the Allen net attack. Lindsey Jones, Hannah Finnegan and Vanessa Klug each had four kills, Jones had three blocks and Klug added two blocks. Finnegan had eight set assists and Jones added seven assists.

Allen lost in the first round of the Lewis and Clark Conference tournament Monday at Winside, falling to Hartington, 25-17, 25-15, 25-13. Hingst had five kills, Jones had four kills and eight assists, and Finnegan and Sullivan each had eight digs.

Allen will compete in the D1-5 subdistrict tournament Monday and Tuesday at Wausa High School.

against Ponca and played with real balance," coach Megan Nixon said. "We moved the ball around well and had a lot of girls hit the floor when we needed to. We were able to be pretty consistent all around."

Keri Lunz had 15 kills, Katie Weinrich added nine and Bailey Echtenkamp put down five in the win. Lunz and Weinrich each had eight digs to lead a balanced defensive effort, and Sydney Rose had 33 set assists.

Lunz had 14 kills and Weinrich the Trojans had trouble mounting a consistent attack. "We started out strong and added six in the loss to Homer, as played close that first set, but we got a little one-dimensional after that and had some hitting errors that we couldn't overcome," Nixon Rose had 25 set assists, Lauren Lehmkuhl had 13 digs and Lunz added 12 for the 14-16 Trojans.

In triangular action Thursday, Wakefield beat Winnebago 25-11, 25-11, and lost to Homer 25-22, 25-22 at Winnebago. Lunz had nine kills and Weinrich added eight in the win over the Indians. Lunz had five ace serves and Rose had 28 set assists. In the Homer match, Lunz had nine kills, Rose had 18 set assists and Weinrich and Lemkuhl led the defensive effort with nine and seven digs, respectively.

Wakefield will play Stanton in the opening round of C2-8 subdistrict play Monday at Norfolk Catholic.

Walker earns NSIC award

Emily Walker of Wayne State College was named the Northern Sun Conference Women's Soccer Defensive Player of the Week.

The 5-foot-6 senior goalkeeper posted back-to-back shutouts in goal over the weekend, helping Wayne State win at MSU Moorhead 2-0 and at Minnesota Crookston 3-0. Walker had three saves Saturday at Moorhead and two saves against Crookston Sunday.

For the season, Walker has four shutouts, ranking fourth in the NSIC, and is 7-5-4 with a 1.35 goals-against average.

Junior high grid teams in action

Wayne's junior high football teams were in action against Pierce and Hartington Cedar Catholic recently.

Against Pierce, the seventhgraders lost a 30-14 decision while the eighth-grade team lost 56-6. In the first game, Malik Knox scored two touchdowns, one coming on a 50-yard run, and Dylan Hurlbert Colby Kaiser, Schuyler Schweers, Wayne. Carroll and Grant Anderson the defense.

In the second game, Jackson Belt had a 60-yard touchdown run. Jakob Thompson recovered a fumble and Jameson Collier had a quarterback sack. In the Hartington CC matchups, the seventh-graders won 28-8 while the eighth-graders lost 50-16. In the first game, Knox had 150 yards and scored three times, while Drew Davie added a 35-yard run. Jason Davis, Thorin McBride and Jacob Daum led the effort on the line.

In the eighth-grade game, Zach Keating and Jackson Belt hooked up on one touchdown pass, while Brook Bowers caught a 60-yard pass from Ben Hoskins for another score. Logan Reinke added a two-point conversion. Brandon Beair, Austin Hammer and Wyatt Biggerstaff led the defense.

JV, frosh play football

The Wayne JV football team beat Schuyler, 14-6. Danny Melena and scored on the two-point conversion. Drew Carroll scored touchdowns for were the leaders on offense, while Bradley Longe had two punt blocks and Melena and Jalen Barry each had an interception on defense.

> In freshman action, Wayne droped a 28-6 decision to Columbus Lakeview and closed out the season with a 39-0 win over O'Neill. Barry scored on a pass from Payton Janke in the loss to Lakeview. In the O'Neill game, Jared Anderson threw for a touchdown and ran for another, while Barry, Grant Anderosn and Jose Vergara each scored touchdowns. Vergara and Janke both scored on interception returns.

> The JV team closed out its season with a 20-14 loss to Laurel-Concord/Coleridge. Demetrius Alexander scored on a touchdown run, and Barry hit Jared Anderson for a short touchdown pass. Luke Rethwisch scored on a two-point conversion. Austin Schmale, Keith Hobza and Bradley Longe led the defensive effort.

The JV team finished the season 4-3, while the freshmen were 3-2.

Bears get past Trojans

WAKEFIELD - Two area teams that have struggled this season ended their campaigns with an exciting finish Friday night.

Justin Saunders caught a 51-yard pass from Kyle Kardell in the fourth quarter to give the Laurel-Concord/ Coleridge Bears just enough space to withstand a fourth-quarter comeback by Wakefield, coming away with a 21-18 win to end the Bears season at 2-6.

"This was a good game to end on," coach Terry Beair said. "It was a game where we had to keep our heads in the game right up to the

The Trojans struck first when Brendan Nicholson took off on a 75yard run, one of two scoring runs on the night. He finished with a gamehigh 172 yards on 20 carries for a Wakefield offense that racked up more than 300 yards on the Bears. LCC answered Nicholson's run with a score of their own, as Mitch Heikes rolled in from six yards out to give the Bears a 7-6 edge. Saunders caught a 39-yard pass from Kardell in the second period to give the visitors a 14-6 halftime lead.

Wakefield could have answered the Bears' first score, but an untimely turnover gave the vistiors the short field.

The Trojans pulled within two points at 14-12 on Nicholson's second touchdown run of the night, a 12yard gallop. The point-after attempt was no good, and that would prove to be a problem for Wakefield down the road.

When Saunders caught a 51-yard scoring strike from Kardell in the fourth quarter, it made the game a two-possession game with the Bears leading 21-12. Nicholson caught a 43-yard pass from Brock Soderberg to pull the Trojans within three, but they weren't able to overcome the deficit and finished the season 0-8.

"The kids hung around and we moved the ball pretty well," Clay said of the Trojans' effort. "We were concerned with their passing game and just put six in the box, and coach Beair ran the ball and forced us to do some things different, then they got a couple of nice passes off on us. The kids played and practiced hard all season, and it just didn't work

Bluejays blast Blue Devils, 48-7

PIERCE – Wayne football coach Rich Rethwisch knew his team was up against a tall order in its regular-season finale at Pierce.

Taking on the second-ranked Bluejays on their home field was more a matter of managing the situation than anything else, so it shouldn't have been a surprise to see the Blue Devils open the game with an onside kick.

Wayne nearly recovered the opening kickoff, but the Bluejays took possession and used a screen pass that went for 52 yards and a touchdown to spark a 48-7 win over the Blue Devils Thursday.

"We just tried to do some different things and started with the onside, and it almost worked for us," he said. "Unfortunately, we couldn't stop them after that.

Rethwisch said the team worked on the screen pass, which Pierce likes to run often. Brock Schroeder caught a pass from Brandon Freeman and took it to the house, and that started a 28-point first-quarter eruption for the home

Wayne had its chances to move the ball down the field and score, but a couple of dropped passes stalled drives and put the Blue Devils further in the hole.

"You want to catch the ball if it's in the area, and we had a couple of big plays where the ball wasn't perfectly thrown, but it was catchable and we needed to make some big plays if we were going to compete with Pierce," Rethwisch said. "We have to do that every series, because every down is important for us.'

The Bluejays broke out to a 35-0 halftime lead and held the Wayne offense in check throughout the first half. The defense completely stopped Wayne's ground attack, limiting the Blue Devils to 24 yards on 17 carries, and forced three interceptions by quarterback Gage

The Blue Devils were able to move the ball later in the game and erased the shutout in the fourth quarter when Jacob Zeiss went over on a three-yard run. Zeiss finished with 32 yards on 10 carries to lead the Wayne offensive attack. Justin Anderson caught five passes for 45 yards.

The Blue Devils will have a district rematch to open the Class C1 playoffs, as they travel to Norfolk to take on Norfolk Catholic Thursday at 7 p.m.

Rethwisch said his team knows they face a tough task going up against a team that erupted for a 55-0 shutout earlier in the year against them, so he's going to bring a few wrinkles in to try and shake things up.

"We're actually going to dress and shower over at Lutheran High Northeast," he said. "It's the kids' game, so why not try to make it a fun memory. We're going to do some things different and change everything we possibly can to give these kids the best opportunity we can give them."

Winside comes back, saved the day for the Winside 6-2 on the season. Wildcats as they came from behind to post a 16-8 overtime win over Hartington on Friday at the Dakota

The Wildcats gave up a firstperiod touchdown and trailed 8-0 late in the game when Blaine Meyer hooked up with Anthony Nelson on a 60-yard touchdown pass. Nelson scored the tying points on the twopoint conversion, and Ethan Thies' second interception of the game kept the score tied heading into overtime.

"Defensively, I thought we played really well the whole game, but our offense struggled and we had to throw the ball and were able to hit a pass and Anthony broke a tackle for the touchdown," coach Ryan

The Hartington defense did a good job holding the Winside offense in check. Nelson, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards in Winside's first five games, has been held in check of late and was limited to 91 yards on 24 carries.

"It's a combination of things," Olander said of Winside's offensive struggles. "They're keying on (Nelson) a lot and we need him to run hard all the way through, and we need to shore up some blocking on the line."

The Wildcats will host 4-4 Omaha Christian in the first round of the Class D1 playoffs Thursday evening. Olander is optimistic his team can win at home and earn a possible rematch with an Osmond team they were pounded by earlier in the season. "I'm not sure what we're going to get from them, but if we come out and take care of business we can move on to the second round." he said. "I don't feel like we gave Osmond our best showing, so it would be nice to get a second chance

Lady Bears back in NENAC finals

It will be quite a matchup Friday when two top teams meet for the NENAC title at Crofton High

Laurel-Concord/Coleridge, the No. 2 seed in the tournament, went the distance with Elkhorn Valley Tuesday, hanging on for a 22-25, 22-25, 25-21, 25-20, 15-13 win to earn a matchup against top seeded and fellow top 10-ranked West Holt in Friday's conference championship match.

"There are wins, and there are defining wins," coach Patti Cunningham said. "both teams played extremely hard, and it took great courage for the girls to overcome a two-set deficit, turn the momentum their way and then sustain a lead in the fifth. This comeback win was special."

Amy Pritchard had an amazing night at the net, finishing with 29 kills. Jade Cunningham had 16 kills and 33 assists, while Mandy Nelsen had 13 kills and 20 assists. Ashley Lunz had four ace serves and Audrey Kastrup led the defense with 17 digs.

On Monday, the Lady Bears made quick work of Neligh-Oakdale in the opening round with a 25-9, 25-21, 25-19 win. Cunningham had 13 kills, Pritchard added 10 and Nelsen had 12 set assists. Audrey Kastrup had eight assists and eight digs, while Ashley Lunz added seven digs.

The Lady Bears will take part in the C2-8 subdistrict tournament, starting Monday at Norfolk

Creighton pounds Allen to end season

VERMILLION, S.D. - Ending the regular season against the topranked team in your class is never an easy way to finish things.

The Allen Eagles were simply no match for the top-ranked Creighton Bulldogs, as they pounded the Eagles for 68 points in the first half on their way to an 80-12 win in the season finale for the Eagles Friday at the Dakota Dome.

Creighton raced to a 36-0 lead after one period and racked up 497 yards in total offense to put the game away early.

Uldrich said the team had a difficult task this year, trying to work around inexperience and injuries while playing a schedule that included five playoff teams, all in their district.

"We definitely had our problems over the season with injuries, inexperienced people playing, and just not being as physical as we have over the past few seasons,' he said. "We had a lot of support from our fans and parents, and the seniors should be congratulated for their effort. We'll try to regroup and get back on track in 2011.'

Mavericks defense shuts down Wildcats Saturday

Defense carried the day Saturday, and Minnesota State's was a little more dominant than their host's.

The Mavericks limited Wayne State to a season-low 176 yards in total offenes and came away with a 13-3 win Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

The Wildcats were unable to get anything going for much of the day against a physical Minnesota State defense, setting up what would become a battle of defensive wills as the Wildcats limited the Mavericks to 266 total yards.

The Mavericks got on the board first late in the first quarter, as quarterback Will Brogran found halfback Josh Rauser wide open for a 25-yard touchdown pass, making it 7-0 with 2:54 to go in the first quarter.

Wayne State had a chance to cut into the lead, but Max Martin missed just to the right on a 51yard field goal late in the period, leaving the score at 7-0.

Minnesota State put together a 16-play drive that used up almost half of the second period, finishing it off with a 33-yard field goal by Sam Brokshus. The Mavericks took a 10-0 lead into the locker room, limiting Wayne State to 51 yards in total offense.

Wayne State's defense got the team a break when Anthony Hale intercepted a pass as the Wildcats' 49-yard line. The Wildcats drove deep into Mustangs' territory and settled on a 32-yard field goal by Nick Bell to make it 10-3.

the game after putting together a solid drive, going from their own 27vard line to inside the Mavericks' 15 before a fumble in the end zone by Andre McIntyre after catching a pass from Evan Johnson turned the ball over to the Mavericks.

Minnesota State closed out the scoring late in the fourth quarter when Brockshus made his second field goal of the game, ending Wayne State's hopes.

Nick Pulscher was the top rusher for Wayne State with 45 yards on 11 carries, while Eric Meyer had 38 yards on six rushes. Evan Johnson completed 10-of-26 passes with one interception for 63 yards. Eric Meyer had three catches for six yards while Pulscher had two grabs for 23 yards.

Defensively, Cole Fischer finished with eight tackles, while Mark Janssen had six stops, a forced fumble and a quarterback hurry Defensive end Richard Daniel added six stops with two tackles for

Soccer team wins two on road

Wayne State's women's soccer team had one of its better weekends in recent memory, sweeping a pair of conference matchups on the road last weekend.

On Saturday, Tiffani Kellerman scored a goal for the third straight match to help lead the Wildcats in a 2-0 win at MSU Moorhead in Northern Sun Conference women's soccer Saturday afternoon.

The Wildcats got on the board in the 18th minute when Kellerman scored her third goal of the season on an assist by Megan Dias. Wayne State added another goal early in the second half when Liz Israelsen scored her fifth goal of the season in the 48th minute.

Wayne State outshot the Dragons 10-4 in the match. Emily Walker turned away three shots to earn the shutout.

On Sunday, Dias had two goals a 3-0 win at Minnesota, Crookston. It marked the first time since Sept. 16-17, 2006 that the Wildcats swept a conference road trip in women's September 30, 2010, State National Bank has passed $100,000,000 in assets!

That makes us the largest, most trusted, and most used locally-owned bank in Wayne County.

Thank you Wayne and our surrounding area!

We could not have done it over the last 100+ years without the support of the communities we serve, our employees, and our unique midwest economy. Further showing our commitment to the community is the fact that our bank has been family owned for five generations. Less than 1% of banks in the country have this level of continuity. Our commitment to the community - especially in recent years has helped lead State National Bank to our current success.

Winside grad to be part of Mount Marty presentation

Mount Marty College Theatre will present "Almost, Maine," a story of love and laughter written by John Cariani, on Thusday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 4-5-6 in Marian Auditorium.

The stage creates a magical, crisp night in a mythical smalltown located in northern Maine. Nineteen characters experience the ups and downs of love, with the brilliance of the northern lights underlining the magical moments that will change their lives forever.

The cast of "Almost, Maine" includes Sally Schwedhlem of Winside.

The production is under the direction of Andy Henrickson; Scenic and Lighting Design by Stephen English, Sound Design by Nicholas C. Rokahr, and Costume Design by Keryl Brady.

Seats may be reserved by calling 605-668-1234 Monday through Friday between noon and 5 p.m., or tickets may be purchases at the Box Office located in the Roncalli Student Center on the Yankton campus. A highlight of Mount Marty College's Family Weekend events. the performances begin at 7:30 each evening. Entered as an Associate Production to the Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival (KCACTF), a formal response by Mr. Chris Guyotte of SDSU will follow Friday evening's performance. and the public is invited to attend.

Investment vs. Cost: The Future of Nebraska (Mike Meister's Vision... Continued from last week)

I see Nebraska as a leader in tourism and understand that by focusing on our natu-

and our urban centers as destination locations, that we will be able to export our tax burdens in a way similar to South Dakota and Florida.

I see a strong urban

Nebraska economy based on small business growth and innovation. I see a Nebraska with an infrastructure of roads that allow all Nebraskans to get their products to market in as economical a way as possible. I see a fair and equitable tax system that allows us to care for the most vulnerable and making all of Nebraska stronger.

I believe in fiscal responsibility, local control and that state government should be there to offer a helping hand, not tell you what to do.

I believe in looking at the positive side of what the state does for its citizens. We must start investing in ourselves again.

If you believe, like I do, that Nebraska's greatest years lie before us, I would appreciate your vote on November 2.

Vote

on your daily agenda. This Tuesday, though, there should be one thing that tops your to-do list, and it can be summed up with one simple four-letter word: vote. It is a privilege that many have

You may have a number of items fought and died for. Millions of people have gone to war in an effort to keep us free. From the Revolutionary War to our modernday wars overseas, America's freedom has been on the line and those who have fought for those rights have made it possible for you

You have the right to vote for the candidate of your choice. We have two citizens who want to be Wayne's next mayor. Both candidates – Jane O'Leary and Ken Chamberlain – have their strengths and weaknesses. It is not this newspaper's policy to endorse one candidate over another, but I would hope that you have had the opportunity to hear each candidate's pitch for the job.

We also have a race for governor and several state and federal positions that are up for election. Hopefully, you have had the chance to check out each candidate's background and positions on the issues that matter to you, and you will make an informed decision when you make your selection for these offices.

There are people running for a variety of local and county positions as well. Many are running unopposed, but that does not make your vote any less important. Your vote still matters, even if the candidate is running without Voting is a privilege that, more and more, seems to be taken for granted. The 2008 election marked one of the most active in recent memory for voter participation. And yet, even with all that activity, less than half of those in this country who are eligible to vote actually took the time to cast their ballots.

That's disgusting - especially when you hear those same people, who didn't feel it was worth their time to cast a ballot, are usually the first to gripe and complain about the politicians that represent them, whether it's here at home, in Lincoln or in Washington, D.C. They had an opportunity to let their voice be heard, and chose not to take that opportunity.

These are important times that we live in. With the challenges we face at the local, county, state and federal level, we must make sure the best, brightest and most intelligent people are representing us in public office. With all of that in mind, you have but one must-do item on your list this Tuesday:

Capitol View

Corruption in state legislatures?

Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - A big shot in the U.S. Department of justice has signaled that the feds are investigating corruption in some state legislatures. Presumably, prosecutions will result in the not-too-distant

Wherever and whenever the feds eventually announce alleged corruption has been uncovered there will be lots of headlines, but little surprise among the electorate - and that is not surprising. If there is even one state legislature which is popular with its public, it would be news in and of itself. People in every state pretty much figure their lawmakers must be the nation's worst.

But regardless of how you measure, or how you feel, take some small comfort in the knowledge that, to date, there is no evidence that Nebraska is home to any of the worst of America's lawmakers. Not even close. Not when it comes to the kind of corruption infecting too many other states. Admittedly, this might be low-grade comfort if you otherwise hold lawmakers in such low regard as to make Quisling seem a hero, but it's nonetheless real.

In Nebraska, eyebrows are no more than slightly raised if a state senator gets a dandy job as some sort of administrator with a big company; but it's not illegal and it's a matter of public record. Voters can react, or not.

As for any other niceties, how do you think the cliché "Rank has its privilege" became a cliché? Because it so often was, and is, proven true. And obviously we aren't talking about military rank. Jobs, and "conferences" that don't involve a lot of sweat, and parties and golf outings and fishing trips and what have you may come with the territory when you're a policymaker. A lawmaker can take them or leave them, as they see fit.

But the sort of corruption that makes national news usually involves the outrageous spectacle of cash money changing hands. It's usually on camera, in black and white, and very conclusive. That's why it's almost as funny as it is stupid when the crook who's been caught insists the video and audio were misinterpreted, or misunderstood. Similarly, corruption might involve lucrative business deals.

How is corruption exposed?

Occasionally by the press. However, the media is more likely to report on the uncovering of Wayne County among those added

The former is usually the domain of what have become known as whistle blowers. And they usually go to the cops, not to reporters.

A useful purpose is no doubt served when, as with ABC News recently, the public is treated to reports of salacious conduct, such as film of a half-snockered lawmaker trying to smooth and grope a reporter at a national conference. And lawmakers playing golf and going to horse races.

The view from here: All of the above, all of it, usually falls into the category of small stuff when it comes to how powerful interests have their way with your governcriminal behavior than to reveal it. ment. The big issue is big money that goes into electing politicians. It doesn't matter if the money is given directly or indirectly. The real power is in the power to elect and to re-elect.

Everyone loves to loathe a lobbyist, but a lobbyist is only an employee of an interest group or business. Champagne and sex and golf and fine food only entertain policymakers - YOU elected them. And your choice at the ballot box is often influenced by how much money a candidate was able to spend to influence you during the campaign. A thousand glasses of champagne will never be as important as a few thousand dollars in the campaign till.

Vets office needs full-timer

This is written in regards to the article concerning the Wayne County Veterans Service Officer.

counties have full-time Veterans Service Officers with full benefits. They are Stanton, Madison, Dakota, Thurston, Cuming, Knox and Antelope. These counties view this as a very important full-time position for veterans services. Shouldn't Wayne County offer an equal position?

Dakota County also has a parttime assistant who works two days a week. Madison also has a fulltime secretary. The article states Madison County shares a Veterans officer, but they replied by phone that they do not. Three counties also transport veterans to Veterans' medical facilities.

Commissioner Wurdeman states in the article that he wants to save money with a part-time position. Is Commissioner Wurdeman willing to work part-time to save the county money? Is he willing to give up his full benefit package to save the county money?

Do taxpayers want county offices at the courthouse to be open only part-time? It is the duty of the commissioners to spend tax dollars wisely while not short-changing the public in providing the services

The many area veterans deserve to have somebody available for them, just as the other county offices are available full-time to the taxpayer. Wayne County has many veteran taxpayers, as attested by the many names on the Veterans Memorial, with more names being added every day.

Don't taxpayers want to attract a who will serve the veteran with pride? It states in the article that Dear Fellow Nebraskans: all the records need to be put on the computer in order to bring the emergency personnel and officials office into the modern age. This is with the Nebraska Public Power quite an undertaking. It will be a District (NPPD) to mark the very time-consuming job, but a completion of the third phase of a necessary one.

Does Commissioner Wurdeman built in our state. want this to be a part-time position to be filled by a candidate of his own project involves numerous state choice? This is not how the process public safety agencies and NPPD,

By Nebraska state statute, it is the responsibility of the committee to make decisions regarding spring an additional section of the this position, not the county network was completed, uniting commissioners.

According to the article, the installation of 135 new radios committee stated this is a very in State Patrol vehicles, and 25 important position that deserves new radios in State Fire Marshal to be full-time with a full benefit package to serve the many area veterans. With the ongoing wars, in 30 counties, including: Adams, won't there be more veterans, not Antelope, Boone, Boyd, Buffalo, less, needing services?

The committee has it right. Let Greeley, Hall, Hamilton, Holt, them do their job.

Wheeler, and York Counties. With the completion of Phase III, the network is now available in 68 of Nebraska's 93 counties, with approximately 75 percent of State Patrol personnel using the network, along with 35 State Fire Marshal personnel and two-thirds of all NPPD utility crews communicating on the same network.

This is an effort that dates back to 2004 when we outlined a plan to achieve interoperable communications for state and local first responders and emergency managers. It called for building a new wireless radio network for state agency personnel that would serve as a backbone that connects the eight regional communications networks used by county and local officials.

became involved two years ago when leaders began to consider options for replacing the utility's aging communications system. We welcomed NPPD as a partner on this project. Rather than the state and NPPD paying to build two separate systems, we collaborated on a network that will be jointly owned and operated, which provides an additional layer of redundancy and security.

however Most important was the opportunity to build a better network. Nebraska law enforcement and first responders. emergency managers and utility providers work closely year round to respond to natural disasters. We also coordinate planning and training for wide scale disaster scenarios.

The network will have increased capacity and broader reach because of the partnerships we've formed. When complete, it will connect public safety personnel from seven state agencies and NPPD. It will allow for communication with local first responders, county emergency management personnel and some federal personnel in Nebraska. Installations for the final phase are underway and are expected to be complete in the next few months.

I want to acknowledge the leadership of several people who have played an essential role in making this network a reality. including: Lt. Governor Rick Sheehy. director of homeland security for our state. State Patrol Col. Bryan Tuma, Chief Information Officer Brenda Decker, Al Berndt with the Nebraska Emergency Management Agency, Dave Webb with NPPD. State Fire Marshal John Falgione, Ted Blume with the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, Monty Fredrickson, Director of the Nebraska Department of Roads and Rod Bates with Nebraska

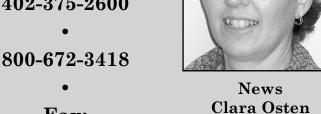

Educational Telecommunications. While there are hundreds of state and local agencies contributing to this effort, I want to acknowledge the leadership of Pete Peterson. who chairs the Nebraska Council of Regions, and Owen Yardley who chairs the Nebraska Wireless Interoperable Network, which will oversee the network once completed.

Their work has kept Nebraska focused on achieving statewide interoperability.

A Salute To Those Who Served

Let us help you honor those men and women who have served or are now serving in the Armed Forces in defense of our country. We want them to know how proud we are of them!

On November 11, the Wayne Herald will publish a special feature to pay tribute to our Veterans. These men and women have given their time, effort and sometimes even their lives to serve our country.

Mail or bring in a short biography and photo of your special veteran before November 8. Please include $18 per biography to help cover printing costs. Each photo should be labeled on the back with the veteran's name, your name, address and phone number. Also include a self-addressed stamped envelope and we will return your photos to you. This column is the third in a series that will benefit anyone getting ready to sell or buy real estate. I feel very 'close to home' in my career and would like to share some great information to help you in your next move.

5 ways to make sure your house is ready for buyers to look at it this fall.

1. Clean out the summer's dried up flowers and trim any overgrown bushes. What may have looked wonderful this summer may need some attention

2. Decorations can be fun, but don't overdo it if you are selling your house. Some buyers can't see past a lot of goblins and even Christmas decorations can be overwhelming.

3. Make sure your rooms are well lit. It's getting darker sooner and it will be well worth it to have some extra lights on. Dark rooms do not show well. Be sure to buy "warm" bulbs instead of "cool" types. 4. Change out the summer pillows for a quick "Warmth" update. Pillows and throws can change the look of a room fast without a lot of expense. Also you can take these with you!

5. Update your home's photo! Nothing says "I've been on the market for too long" like a photo taken two seasons ago with spring flowers blooming in November or snow in July. Keep your photos as current to the season as possible.

What other real estate topics do you want to know more about? Requests can be emailed to: Wendy@mwlco.net.

One of the favorite times of year for children is fast approaching: Halloween.

Parents may see Halloween as a time of year where possible dentist bills go up due to children eating their Halloween candy stash that may be the size of an extra large pumpkin. Here are some ideas on helping parents keep Halloween fun, but a little more healthy.

First, children should know their parents are in charge of Halloween. That doesn't mean the fun gets taken away, but that the parents need to remind their children that healthy decisions are important.

Interests in City Government:

1. Business Retention--I would like to build on the businesses we currently have. They are the undation of further growth

2. Support Main Street and the 7th Street Corridor-Strong commercial corridors benefit 3. Complete the trail system--This promotes our healthy lifestyles and makes us more

4. Keep a close relationship with Wayne State College.—The College makes this town ique and supplies so many educational opportunities for traditional and non-traditional students a nd also provides employment opportunitie

5. Continue to support a strong Medical community--We have many seniors living in ayne, including my Mother, and they deserve the best medical care.

6. Continue to promote good attitudes about our unique community--I am a neerleader for this town. I love it! I want it to be as nice a community for my grandkids, who live

7. Accomplish all of this by keeping costs down--I strive to be fiscally responsible.

Approach kids differently during Halloween

To do so, parents should stress the fun of dressing up and trick-ortreating on Halloween instead of getting candy. One way parents can shift the focus away from receiving candy is by giving away candy alternatives in their own home. Pass out stickers, Halloween or other stick-on tattoos, pens, coins,

Parents also can limit the amount of candy their child receives by limiting the time for trick-or-treating. When the child comes home, have a healthy yet Halloween-themed snack like cut up fruit made to look like a ghoul, or vegetable slices put together to look like spiders - broccoli as the body, strips of peppers for the legs, olives for the head,

Parents should teach children that candy is fine if it is eaten moderately. Sugar and candy can cause tooth decay, leave children wanting more sugar instead of healthy food and also cause children to get sick if they eat too much candy at one time.

Sort candy with children once they get home from trick-or-treating. Help them pick out questionable candy and ripped wrappers, allow them to eat a couple of pieces of candy and also allow them to trade with friends or siblings if they so desire.

After sorting is done, put the rest of the candy away where the kids can't get to it by themselves.

Let children choose one or two pieces of candy each day at snack time. Then after Halloween has been over for about one or two weeks, think about getting rid of candy that may have hardened or gotten sticky.

Food Processing Center offers seminar for food business entrepreneurs

Food manufacturing businesses continue to develop throughout the country. The Food Processing Center at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln provides the nationally recognized Food Entrepreneur Assistance Program, which is specifically designed to assist individuals who want to start a food busi-

The program consists of two phases. The first phase is the Recipe to Reality seminar, which helps attendees understand how the food industry works, the challenges they will encounter and the decisions they should make prior to starting a business. Following the seminar attendees may choose to enter the second phase, Product to Profit. During this phase attendees receive individualized assistance through all the steps of starting their food business.

Wanda Bethke is one of the many entrepreneurs who have used the program to start a business. Bethke, of Raymond, S.D., produces a variety of baking mixes made from flax seed as well as packaged whole and ground flax seed. Flax seed offers many health benefits and these products make it easier for consumers to incorporate flax into their diets. Wanda and her husband, Gene Bethke, grow and process the flax seed on their farm.

The seminar is offered many times throughout the year. The next seminar will be held on Jan. 15, 2011 in Lincoln. To register for an upcoming seminar or to receive Food Entrepreneur Assistance Program information, contact Jill Gifford at: Food Processing Center, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, 143 Filley phone (402) 472-2819; e-mail jgiffpc.unl.edu/entrepreneur.

Nebraska Wind Power 2010 Conference Scheduled for Kearney November 9-10

The agenda has been finalized and speakers announced for the Wind Power 2010 Conference to be held in Kearney at the new Younes Conference Centre Nov. 9-10. This year's conference will include three separate tracks, 27 sessions and presentations, and 70 wind expert speakers who will provide the latest information on a wide range of wind related topics.

The Tuesday noon luncheon keynote speaker will be James A. Walker, Vice Chairman of the enXco Board of Directors and Past President of the American Wind Energy Association Board. Wednesday's noon luncheon keynote speaker will be Lt. Governor Rick Sheehy. In addition, nationally recognized experts will present on wind transmission issues, wind incentives in other states, different kinds of farmer and community owned wind structures, as well as panels of state senators, wind developers, and small wind dealers on how to move Nebraska wind development forward.

On Tuesday, one program track will feature small wind issues highlighting R. Nolan Clark of Amarillo, Texas, a retired USDA wind specialist who is recognized as one of the nation's wind industry giants for his pioneering research on wind energy. On Wednesday, one track will feature Nebraska's rapidly expanding wind education and training opportunities, including the "Wind for Schools" program, which now includes 20 schools using small wind turbines to propel wind related curriculum and student interest in wind related careers.

Included in the 27 different sessions will be a report on the 300 Megawatts of Nebraska wind energy projects currently in some stage of project construction, an update on the now completed NE Power Association and National Renewable Energy Laboratory Wind Integration Task Force report, a session with a top official from the Southwest Power Pool (SPP), landowner associations, landowner wind contracts, net metering, large and small wind planning and zoning issues, large and small wind siting considerations, wildlife issues, wind technician training, transmission, state and federal policies, and roundtable discussions with wind developers and state senators on ways to move wind energy forward.

The event is sponsored by the NE Wind Working Group (NWWG), a state and federal partnership funded by the National Renewable Energy Laboratory and the U.S. Department of Energy's Wind Powering America to help develop the state's wind resources. The NWWG has three Co-Chairs: Senator Cap Dierks of Ewing, Dan McGuire, National Renewable Energy Laboratory/Department of Energy's Nebraska Wind for Schools Facilitator, and John Hansen, Nebraska Farmers Union

"This Conference has it all, great commercial exhibitors, experts on small, medium, and large wind energy issues, wind education, wind careers, wind based economic and community development, and at a very affordable cost," said Sen. Dierks. "This year's conference has a lot of new wind energy development and state wind policy progress to report on. Yet. Nebraska is just starting to tap the vast amount of wind energy based potential for our state, which is now ranked 4th nationally in wind energy resources. This event brings together all the Nebraska wind energy stakeholders, has an impressive set of speakers, commercial exhibitors, and wind experts, and at an outstanding new convention facility," said Dan McGuire.

Livestock Market Report

Random thoughts in random places

If Iowa State beats Texas, and Missouri beats Oklahoma, does this mean the sky is falling? I'm afraid it means Nebraska will have a tough game this Saturday.

Game, what game? I came to see the band! That's the phrase I saw on a lot of shirts at the State Bandmaster's Competition last Saturday. It was again at Seacrest Field, so I could walk over. This time, I was helping with the grilled burgers and hot dogs. But we had a lull between 3 and 4, so I got to see the bands that performed

Ashland-Greenwood made me cry! Their entry was called Echoes of the Civil War. It began with a familiar melody from that time, then went into Aura Lee. Then came a battle song, with the band splitting in half and aiming their instruments at each other, with a lot of drum sound. Eventually, they were all on the ground, save for one trumpeter, who played Taps. Then, they all stood up and finished with The Battle Hymn of the Republic. It was awesome!

I also got to see Wayne, and their lines were so perfect! Afterward, I visited with Mrs. Metteer, who also lives in Lincoln now. I even said hello to Mr. Metteer.

You can tell what season we are in with the proliferation of yard signs; only one more week before the elections. We are getting very tired of the robo calls.

Farmer's Wife

By: Pat Meierhenry

I try to ignore the signs and focus on the trees and the mums. Last evening, I drove around the south side of Holmes Lake. I had no idea it was so big. There is a pier, and people were fishing, and boating. When I participate in walks there, we go on the north side and across the dam, effectively blocking off a major part of the water.

It's Clergy Appreciation month, and I got ours a gift card, in spite of the fact that he is from Texas and actually went to the game in Texas garb! Of course, he didn't have much to say about football this Sunday; it was all about the Rangers beating the Yankees in the baseball playoffs. We could be happy with him; doesn't everyone like to beat the Yanks?

Yards are also filled with ghosts and goblins and pumpkins. Halloween continues to be my least favorite holiday, and I really don't get into it. Although I do like pumpkin; I even had pumpkin spice coffee today. And they say Zesto is serving pumpkin ice cream, so I will have to get over there yet this

I just don't understand the fascination with vampires, zombies, screams, and blood. Do you suppose it's because I've seen enough of the real stuff? Anyway, have a good one, however you choose to

Test for soybean cyst nematode

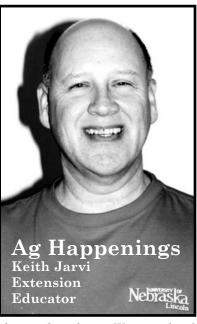

This is a topic that you are going to continue to hear about as we try to increase the awareness of area growers to a serious pest of soybeans, the soybean cyst nematode (SCN). We are going to be relentless until we get all area fields tested for the presence of this "stealth pest." In our meetings with growers and consultants over the last several years, we have often heard the comment that some area soybean fields are not yielding as well as they have in the past, or that they have not reached yield expectations relative to the type of soil and varieties planted. While many different causes can reduce soybean yields, recent discoveries suggest that you should consider looking into the soybean cyst nematode as a potential yield-robbing problem. The soybean cyst nematode

(SCN) is the most serious pest of soybeans in the United States, causing farmers millions of dollars in losses each year. It is a "stealth" pest in that often SCN will reveal no specific symptoms and its effects are often not dramatic. Many farmers do not know their fields are infested with SCN until a severe problem develops. Up to 30 percent yield losses can occur without obvious symptoms.

All counties in northeast Nebraska now have at least some fields with proven SCN infestations. This fall would be a good time to check your fields for soybean cyst nematodes, particularly if you have a field that has been dragging in yield recently. SCN is field specific, not all fields in an area will be infested. Most infestations occur when soil from an infested field is carried to a new field by equipment, flooding, or wildlife.

If you decide to take a soil sample for soybean cyst nematode, this can be done at any time of the year, but populations will be highest at harvest. Often people take soil samples after harvest when things slow down. We are ahead of schedule with harvest so this would be a good year to sample. The test is free and is covered by the Soybean Board. Local exten- office for more information.

nematode will never go away. The key to keeping soybean fields at high production levels is to keep the population of soybean cyst nematode low by crop rotation and the use of resistant varieties. If the nematodes are not detected soon enough and numbers become high, fields will need to be rotated to a non-host crop for several years. Most seed companies have SCN resistant soybeans available in Nebraska. In fields found positive for soybean cyst nematode, plan to monitor the population every few years. Populations can and do change.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank everyone in the community that was a part of Jordan's benefit, from baking goods to the Silent Auction and everything in between. Everything was greatly appreciated. Jordan and Cassandra Widner

It is with grateful hearts that we acknowledge all the guests, the cards, the hugs and the good wishes for our anniversary celebration and Mike's 80th birthday. You are all very special to us, and we thank you very much.

> Mike & Pat Meierhenry

The family of Edward Baker 🖫 would like to thank everyone for the many expressions of sympathy extended to us at the loss of our husband, father and grandfather. Thank you to Pastor Lilienkamp for looking after Edward spiritually and for the beautiful service after his passing. Thanks also to Bonnie Hansen for providing music, to Grace Ladies Aid for the lunch and to Hasemann Funeral Home. Your kindness and thoughtfulness during this difficult time was greatly appreciated.

TEXT OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER 1

THE MEMBERS OF THE ONE HUNDRED FIRST LEGISLA-TURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION,

RESOLVE THAT: Section 1. At the general election in November 2010 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection:

provision in the Constitution, the Legislature may authorize any county or incorporated city or village, including cities operating under home rule charters, to acquire, own, develop, and lease real and personal property suitable for use by manufacturing or industrial enterprises and to issue revenue bonds for the purpose of defraying the cost of acquiring and developing such property by construction, purchase, or otherwise. The Legislature may also authorize such county, city, or village to acquire, own, develop, and lease real and personal property suitable for use by enterprises as determined by law if such property is located in blighted areas as determined by law and to issue revenue bonds for the purpose of defraying the cost of acquiring and developing or financing such property by construction, purchase, or otherwise. Such bonds shall not become general obligation bonds of the governmental subdivision by which such bonds are issued. Any real or personal property acquired, owned, developed, or used by any such county, city, or village pursuant to this section shall be subject to taxation to the same extent as private property during the time it is leased to or held by private interests, notwithstanding the provisions of Article VIII, section 2, of the Constitution. The acquiring, owning, developing, and leasing of such property shall be deemed for a public purpose, but the governmental subdivision shall not have the right to acquire such property by condemnation. The principal of and interest on any bonds issued may mortgage upon such property. No such governmental subdivision shall have the power to operate any such be secured by a pledge of the lease and the revenue therefrom and by property as a business or in any manner except as the lessor thereof. Notwithstanding any other provision in the Constitution, the Legislature may also authorize any incorporated city or village, including cities operating under home rule charters, to appropriate from local sources of revenue such funds as may be deemed necessary for an economic or industrial development project or program subject to approval by a vote of a majority of the registered voters of such city or village voting upon the question. For purposes of this provision, funds from local sources of revenue shall mean funds raised from general taxes levied by the city or village and shall not include any funds received by the city or village which are derived from state or federal sources. Subject to such vote, funds may be derived from property tax, local option sales tax, or any other general tax levied by the city or village or generated from mudonations, or state and federal funds received by the city or village subject to any restrictions of the grantor, donor, or state or federal law.

Sec. 2. The proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language: A constitutional amenment

THE MEMBERS OF THE ONE HUNDRED FIRST LEGISLA-TURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION, RESOLVE THAT: Section 1. At the general election in November 2010 the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska for approval or rejection: To amend Article IV, sections 1 and 3:

IV-1 The executive officers of the state shall be the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, State Treasurer, Attorney General, and the heads of such other executive departments as set forth herein or as may be established by law. The Legislature may provide for the placing of the above named officers as heads over such departments of government as it may by law establish. The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State.

and Auditor of Public Accounts, and at the general election held in November 1974, and in each alternate even-numbered year thereafter, for a term of four years and until their successors shall be elected and qualified.

Each candidate for Governor shall select a person to be the candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the general election ballot. In the general election one vote shall be cast jointly for the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor. The Governor shall be ineligible to the office of Governor for four years next after the expiration of two consecutive terms for which he or she was elected.

The records, books, and papers of all executive officers shall be kept at the seat of government. Executive officers shall reside within the State of Nebraska during their respective terms of office. Officers in the executive department of the state shall perform such duties as may be provided by law.

The heads of all executive departments established by law, other than those to be elected as provided herein, shall be appointed by the Governor, with the consent of a majority of all members elected to the Legislature, but officers so appointed may be removed by the Governor. Subject to the provisions of this Constitution, the heads of the various executive or civil departments shall have power to appoint and remove all subordinate employees in their respective departments.

IV-3 The treasurer shall be ineligible to the office of treasurer, for two years next after the expiration of two consecutive terms for which he was elected.

The term of office of the State Treasurer elected at the general election at which this constitutional amendment passes shall end on January 8, 2015, at which time the office shall be abolished.

Sec. 2. The proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language:

A constitutional amendment to abolish the office of the State Treasurer on January 8, 2015. $\quad \text{For} \quad$ Against.

ELECTION PREVIEW

Nebraskans will be voting on two issues when they go to the General Election polls on November 2. So that voters can better understand these important proposed changes to the state Constitution, the Nebraska Press Association in cooperation with this newspaper has prepared this report. This report briefly defines each issue, explaining its purpose

Amendment 1

Voters have a chance to allow the use of state and federal funds for local economic and industrial development projects, and to take some of the burden for those projects off their local property taxes and other levies.

If adopted at the general election, Proposed Amendment Number 1 would change the state constitution so the Legislature could give that option to voters in cities and villages. Lawmakers voted 47-0 to put the choice to a statewide vote. It was endorsed by the League of Nebraska Municipalities.

The constitution currently requires such projects to be financed only with money generated by local taxes.

Amendment 2

The size of state government will be reduced if voters adopt Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 2 at the November general election. The measure would eliminate the office of State Treasurer as of Jan. 8, 2015. The Treasurer's office now costs taxpayers $26.5 million. The Treasurer receives an annual salary of $117,000.

Proponents of the change note the Legislature would assign the current duties of the Treasurer's office to other state agencies. Critics contend it would be better to continue the practice of electing a State Treasurer.

The Treasurer's office has three duties: It receives and disburses most money that comes into state government; manages unclaimed property; and administers the child support enforcement and college savings

Wayne native writes new book about his life

Wayne and whose father worked at the old Graham Creamery in Wayne, has published a new book called "The Christian Professor in the Secular University: Singing and Soaring on Paths of Joy."

Keilstrup says that his book is the story of "how God led him on paths of joy in Nebraska, Texas, and South Africa and opened ways for making a difference in the academic community and beyond."

He shares some funny stories and poetic images about his life growing up in Wayne and vicinity and writes touchingly about what he calls his "heroic Nebraska-Danish family heritage."

"My father and paternal grandparents," says Keilstrup, "arrived at Ellis Island in New York with a grand total of $38 to start a new life in Nebraska."

Having earned a Ph.D. from the University of Nebraska, Keilstrup recently retired as Professor Emeritus from The University of Texas at Arlington after 37 years. He reveals the joy he experienced in learning, teaching, and living and tells how "God made amazing things possible in order to enable
