Shelton looks back on 16 years

Outgoing mayor: This community is very special

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

When she was asked to run for the position of City Council member for the Third Ward of the city of Wayne in 1994, Lois Shelton had no political aspiration.

"Cheryl Lindau, who had decided to run for mayor, asked me to consider running for the council position she was giving up," Shelton said.

Sixteen years later, Shelton is giving up her political life after having served as a council member for 10 years and mayor for the past six years.

Shelton was born in New York and came to Nebraska with her husband, Dave, after he was offered a position with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1976.

"We came to Wayne in 1978. At that time I had an alteration business," Shelton said.

Her business career continued at Kuhn's Department Store and later the drapery business.

She later went back to college and earned a teaching degree in home economics and sociology. She worked for a brief time with Wayne Sporting Goods, and later the Rusty Nail in downtown Wayne.

"For 17 years I ran Lois' Silver Needle downtown before moving the business to my home in 2002," Shelton said.

In addition to city government, Shelton has been active with For the Love of Animals, a predecessor of the Northeast Nebraska Humane Society, and has been an active member of the Wayne Historical Society and Wayne Friends of the Museum.

As she looks back on her years involved with the governing of the city, Shelton recalls a number of projects that she has been involved with that have benefited the citizens of the community.

"I was part of the process when the new fire station was built, the Library/Senior Center and all the projects with the downtown revitalization," Shelton said.

She said one of the projects she is most proud of is the building of the new, state-of-the-art wastewater treatment facility.

New mayor, council is sworn in

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

A new mayor is at the helm of the Wayne City Council following swearing in ceremonies at Tuesday's meeting of the council.

Judge Robert Ensz conducted the ceremony, swearing in Ken Chamberlain as the new mayor of Wayne. Also taking the oath of office for their respective council seats were Kaki Ley, Dale Alexander and Jim Van Delden.

Prior to giving up her position, Mayor Lois Shelton presented her state of the city address to the council and those in attendance at the meeting. She noted a number of highlights of her time in public office, including the city moving forward with a state-of-the-art wastewater treatment facility and attempts to make the electric distribution facility more efficient.

Mayor Ken Chamberlain presented the former mayor with a plaque in honor of her years of dedicated service to the city. He noted that he "has big shoes to fill" in his new position as mayor.

The council declared a vacancy in Ward Four and authorized the city clerk to publish a vacancy notice for the position. Stephanie Hansen was the winner in the November election for the seat but has moved to Louisville, Ky., and sent notice to the city that she will not be able to serve as a council member. Mayor Chamberlain will review names of those interested in the position and bring his recommendation to the council for a vote at a future meeting.

Dave Bloomfield of Hoskins talks with reporters after being sworn in as the new District 17 representative in the Nebraska Legislature. The Hoskins farmer takes over for Bob Giese, who stepped down last week.

Bloomfield preparing for new role as senator

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

One day last week, Dave Bloomfield said he was sorting cattle on his farm near Hoskins.

The next day, he became a state senator.

Bloomfield was sworn in Thursday afternoon as the new District 17 representative in the Nebraska Legislature. He was selected by Gov. Dave Heineman to serve out the final two years of Bob Giese's term. Giese resigned his position Tuesday to take over as Dakota County Treasurer, a seat he was elected to in the general election one month ago.

Bloomfield was one of eight candidates who expressed interest in the position, and Heineman said Bloomfield's no-nonsense approach was what encouraged him to ask Bloomfield to take over the seat.

"We had eight very good people who applied for the position, and each had their strengths and qualities that I liked," Heineman said. "He's a very humble man, and he understands the challenge ahead of him."

Bloomfield, 64, has been a resident of the 17th district for most of his life. He is a graduate of South Sioux City High School and grew up as the youngest of five children on a farm north of Jackson. He lost his father when he was eight years old and was raised by his mother, who was named Ak-Sar-Ben Mother of the Year in 1967.

Bloomfield, who served as the chairman of the Wayne County Republican Party, gave up that position and his seat on the State Central Committee for the Republican Party to accept the position to the nonpartisan Legislature.

"I got the call the evening before it was announced," he said in a phone interview a few days after being sworn in. "I had some cattle sorting to do Thursday morning before I went down to Lincoln, then after I got sworn in I went up to meet with some of the new senators that were there for a pre-session meeting."

Heineman said Bloomfield's position within the Republican Party did not play any effect in his decision to choose Bloomfield to serve out Giese's last two years.

Movie theater opens doors Dec. 18

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

It has been more than a year in planning, fundraising, demolition and construction. Thousands of hours of volunteer time have been invested and thousands of community donations have been given.

The Majestic Theater is ready to open the doors on Saturday, Dec. 18 with a 7 and 9:45 p.m. showing opening weekend of TRON: Legacy by Disney.

Downtown Wayne Retailers, along with the Wayne Area Economic Development Corporation and Chamber of Commerce, are sponsoring the free children's movie, "Despicable Me" on Saturday, Dec. 18 at 1 and 4 p.m. The public is being asked to watch for more details in next week's shopper and on KTCH on how to obtain tickets.

"We are really excited about bringing the movie theater and this entertainment back to the Wayne area," commented Reggie Yates, steering committee member. "We are still finishing the fundraising efforts and have a number of grants applied for and there are still local individuals and businesses that are planning to support this project to finish the fundraising."

Movie licenses have been applied for and most granted to the Majestic from Fox, Warner Brothers, Disney, Paramount, Universal and Lionsgate.

Licenses are key or you can't show the movies," explained Melanie Loggins, theatre coordinator. Loggins said that each movie has a license fee and then a percentage of the ticket revenues go back to the distribution company. "That percentage ranges from 40 to 90 percent depending on the movie, how recent the movie is to release, and other factors."

Volunteers and other non-profit organizations can also benefit from the opening of the theater. Those organizations in the Wayne area who volunteer to work the concessions stand

Beer distributors remind adults: don't provide

On Thursday, Dec. 2, the Associated Beverage Distributors of Nebraska (ABDN), Nebraska First Lady Sally Ganem, and Executive Director of the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, Hobert Rupe, kicked off ABDN's Prevent Don't Provide statewide campaign to remind parents and other adults that it is illegal to buy alcohol for minors or provide it to them, no matter what the occasion.

Not allowing minors to drink alcohol or refusing to buy it for them and their friends should be non-negotiable.

Nebraska's Beer Distributors are committed to spreading this message statewide and in doing so, will offer point of sale display reminders to liquor, convenience and grocery stores in all of the distributor territories across Nebraska. Window signs, case cards, table talkers, corner clings and cooler stickers will be made available to Nebraska retailers for prominent display in an effort to remind adults that it is illegal to provide alcohol to minors.

The Nebraska Beer Distributors recognize the important role parents and other adults play in the fight against underage drinking. Providing alcohol to minors is illegal, unsafe, and irresponsible. ABDN President, Tony Gillick stated, "We wanted to do our part and remind adults that it is illegal to purchase or provide alcohol to minors."

First Lady Sally Ganem said, "Buying alcohol for young people sends a message that underage drinking is acceptable, and it reinforces the perception that drinking is a rite of passage, rather than a dangerous choice. Nationally, teens who drink say they are getting alcohol from adults. We need more people to set an example at home and to help young people make better, safer choices. Parents have an important role to play in changing the culture of underage drinking. Our children need to know without a doubt that underage drinking is not acceptable. Efforts like this help reinforce that message. I want to thank Nebraska distributors and retailers for being part of the effort to stem underage drinking in Nebraska."

Nebraska Executive Director of the Liquor Control Commission, Hobert Rupe, stated, "The Commission wishes to thank the Nebraska Beer Wholesalers and their retail partners in coming forward with this plan to address underage access to alcohol. We have long said that underage drinking is a multi-faceted problem that requires a multi-faceted approach. This program will serve as a reminder to both the retail seller of alcohol and the purchaser of the product that these products should only be used by those twenty-one years of age and older. This program shows that the responsible liquor licenses want to be part of the solution and not part of the problem."

The Associated Beverage Distributors of Nebraska would like to thank Mark Whitehead, President, Whitehead Oil, for hosting this event at the U-Stop at 2140 K Street, Lincoln, Neb.

Mayor

Shelton noted that no one takes the job of mayor in Wayne for financial gains, as the position pays $4,500 per year. She estimates she spent 15 hours per week on mayoral duties.

"I have also been able to do a lot of traveling, both to attend meetings and to represent the city. For example, I traveled to Seattle, Wash. to visit the Pacific Coast Feather facility and promote Wayne," Shelton said.

Shelton said that government is a lot more complicated than people realize, and that the mayor and council deal with a large budget.

"It is amazing where all the money comes from and the fact that property taxes are only a small part of the total budget," she said.

Shelton began her political career with Joe Salitros as city administrator, and was part of the council that had a part in hiring current administrator Lowell Johnson.

"Mayor Shelton's leadership has always focused on long-term results. She and the council have targeted strategies for long term school enrollment, job creation and business development, subdivision design and community sustainability and housing opportunities," Johnson said.

Shelton has been a member of the League of Nebraska Municipalities Board and, as such, has gotten the city extra exposure at the state level. She has been approached by the League to continue to be involved with the organization, but has not made a decision at this point.

Shelton has also worked to make the city as ecologically friendly as possible.

"She has continually challenged us to consider the lowest life cycle energy and maintenance costs for buildings and projects and not just the construction cost. Mayor Shelton has considered our employees to be a valuable resource for innovative ideas and getting the job done and we have enjoyed working with her," Johnson said.

Shelton said not all the decisions of her political career have been easy or non-controversial.

"There have been controversial issues throughout the years, but for the most part, the council gets along, and after some serious and sometimes lengthy debate, they have come out, in the end with amicable decisions," she said.

"The council is made of up eight individuals who all have opinions and constituents that they need to listen to. Every time there is a new council, there are new dynamics to deal with," she added.

Shelton has high praise for the city which she has called home for 32 years.

"This community is very special. People here pull together to make things happen. They want to keep the community growing and keep bringing in new people. It is really an amazing community," she said.

Senator

"When you look at appointing someone for higher office, it doesn't matter if they are the local county chair," he said. "We need citizens who are active in both political parties. This is an individual who understands his district and is refreshingly honest, and you know where he stands when it comes to taxes and spending."

Bloomfield actually ran for the seat six years ago, losing to Pat Engle in the general election. He said he was interested in the seat because he wanted to do his part to help the state hold the line on taxes and spending.

"I think I can have some input on property taxes and holding spending in line," he said. "I think the big thing right now is to keep taxes and spending from going up, and hopefully someday we'll be able to cut taxes."

The next session of the Legislature begins Jan. 5, 2011, and Bloomfield said he is ready to hit the ground running.

"I'm on a learning curve, and I hope to get up to speed before the session starts," he said. "I'm looking forward to getting to know people and get out and talk with people in the district."

The council also heard an update on the city's response to Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission discrimination claim brought by Lieutenant Phil Shear and Police Chief Lance Webster.

Randy Goyette, an attorney hired by the city's insurance carrier, Employers Mutual, spoke to the council on the process of the cases. He noted that the issue is just in the preliminary stages and updates will be presented as the case moves through the legal system.

He also assured the council that should it become necessary in the future, items may be discussed in executive session of the council with decisions made during regular session.

Council members listened to a presentation by zoning administrator Joel Hansen on a proposal to convert the city map system from a CAD system to an ESRI in GIS system at a cost of $36,500.

According to Hansen, the current CAD system "is very cumbersome and not user-friendly."

Council members talked about the benefits of the new system and what needs to be done in terms of entering data into the system.

Following debate, the council voted 6-1 to approve the proposal and move forward with the conversion. Council member Brian Frevert voted against the proposal.

The council approved payments to M.E. Collins Contracting Co., Inc. for work done with the 2010 Downtown Sidewalk Replacement project and Eriksen Construction Co. for the 2009-10 Wastewater Treatment Facility improvements, phase I.

As a Community Development Agency, the council elected Jon Haase as chair and approved CDA Resolution 2010-4, which approves an amended Windom Ridge Redevelopment Project and starts the clock on TIF financing for the project.

Prior to swearing in the new mayor, the council approved a claim submitted by Matthew and Melissa Eischeid for $1,311.25 for additional costs incurred for work on a lot they purchased in Fairway Estates Subdivision.

Council members denied a claim for $1,651.33 from Timothy Krupicka for damage sustained in a traffic accident earlier this year.

Public Works Superintendent Garry Poutre explained the details of the accident and said EMC, the city's insurance carrier has denied the claim, citing joint responsibility for the accident.

The council will meet for the last regular meeting of 2010 on Tuesday, Dec. 21 at 5:30 p.m. in the council chambers.

Wayne MS students get involved in gift program

As part of the attempt to be motivated to give and be selfless, students at Wayne Middle School are taking part in the "Gifts for Kids" project this year.

As part of the Middle School 212 program, students are being invited to choose a tag off the Gifts for Kids tree at Pamida and purchase gifts for those less fortunate in the area.

"We are encouraging students to give gifts to purchase gifts for those less fortunate instead of traditional teacher gifts. We (teachers) are very blessed and would like to see others receive gifts," said Joyce Hoskins, a teacher at the Middle School who is helping coordinate the project. She said that the idea came from the students in the 212 classes. The concept of the 212 program is to put forth the extra effort it takes to be concerned about others.

The gifts need to be turned in by Friday, Dec. 17 and they will then be presented to Kathy Berry, who coordinates the Gifts for Kids Program.

Congeniality award

Brianna Twohig received the Congeniality Award for the third quarter by the Wayne Area Chamber of Commerce. Twohig is a Wayne State College student who works part-time for Geno's Steakhouse. According to the nomination, she is very outgoing, and it is unbelievable how she can remember your name (and what you drink) even if she only sees you once a month. She will begin student teaching in Wakefield this January. Twohig is majoring in secondary social sciences education with an ESL endorsement. She will graduate with her Bachelor's degree this May. Twohig is very involved on campus and is a member of several different education fraternities, including Pi Gamma Mu, Phi Alpha Theta and Gamma Theta Epsilon. She was presented the award by Corby Schweers.

"It has been a year of progress. This entire project could not have been completed without the support of the Wayne area," commented Yates. "We are looking forward to opening night, and as part of our grand opening we will be open each night through the holidays. We hope everyone, at some point, can come and join us for a movie."

From The Bleachers

Michael Carnes

Say good riddance to the Big XII

Just 15 shopping days left. Time to get down to what's most important — another cleansing of the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— The Bleacher Bum has tried to avoid wasting a lot of ink on the Big 12 Conference. After all, don't the Omaha and Lincoln papers waste enough ink on it already?

However, after watching what has been done in the aftermath of Nebraska's departure from the conference to the Big Ten next season, I've got to say this about the Big 12 Conference: good riddance.

Between the utter buffoonery of the commissioner (whose leadership makes me question whether he's even qualified to run a youth basketball league) to the absolutely pathetic officiating and the final nail in the coffin with the bowl scenario, I think it's safe to say that leaving that joke of a conference couldn't happen fast enough.

There's an interesting coincidence building here, however. Texas' greed killed the Southwest Conference two decades ago, setting the stage for the merger of the SWC with the old Big Eight. Now that they have all the power AND all the money, what's the over-under on the number of years before the Big 12 implodes and the rest of the teams are left scurrying for cover under the Mountain West, SEC or Conference USA?

Nebraska will find plenty of opportunities — athletic, financial and educational — in the Big Ten Conference that will be sorely lacking in their former conference home. After this season, the Big 12 won't have the Nebraska football program to kick around anymore.

— If you didn't follow them on the road, you'll get your first look at the Wayne State women's basketball team this weekend.

The 13th ranked Wildcats spent the first four weekends of the season outside of our state border, so you'll have to forgive them if they have a little trouble adjusting to friendly confines, sleeping in their own bed Thursday and Friday nights, eating their own food . . . you know, things teams do when they play on their home floor.

— Allen High School's basketball teams will get to christen a brand new gym floor this Saturday when the Eagles host Wakefield.

The gym floor, which wasn't originally a part of the renovation plans, became an issue when storms brought water into the gym, causing the floor to warp and creating some havoc for the Allen volleyball and basketball teams.

The volleyball team could practice, but were unable to host any games this season. The basketball teams have been practicing in gyms in Wakefield, Coleridge, Emerson and Concord (they couldn't get Madison Square Garden? I thought athletic director Dave Uldrich had some pull around these parts) to get ready for the season, and they'll finally enjoy home-court advantage this weekend.

— From the "steel sharpens steel" department: count me in favor of the decision by Wayne High wrestling coach Tony Lawrence to have the Blue Devils travel to Cozad for their first tournament of the year.

Yes, it's a long road trip to the west-central part of the state, but as somebody who knows a little about wrestling tournaments in the state, I can tell you that this is the best Class B tournament of the first weekend of the season.

In order to be the best, you have to beat the best. And with all due respect to some of the teams on the schedule, Wayne High's docket in recent years hasn't exactly been as challenging as it should be for them to compete in what is arguably the state's toughest class.

Lawrence is making an effort to revamp Wayne's schedule and put it in some more challenging tourneys in the future. In the end, a road trip like last weekend's journey out west is one that will be worth the investment.

Wayne High girls still a work in progress

Blue Devils knock off Logan View

A nine-point run in the third and fourth quarters helped the Wayne girls pull away and win its home opener, defeating Logan View 64-38 in action Monday at Wayne High School.

The Blue Devils only trailed once during the game, falling behind 2-1 early in the contest, but couldn't really put the visiting Raiders away until Sarah Maxson and Marissa Fallesen combined to hit a trio of 3-point shots that turned a 10-point advantage into a 19-point cushion.

"That's the way we're capable of playing and shooting the ball," coach Nate Wall said after the game. "We're shooting the ball well late in games, which is a good sign, but we need to shoot like that for four quarters."

Wayne got out to a 14-8 lead after the first quarter and led by seven at halftime, thanks to the play inside by Katie Hoskins, who scored 14 of her game-high 16 points in the first two periods.

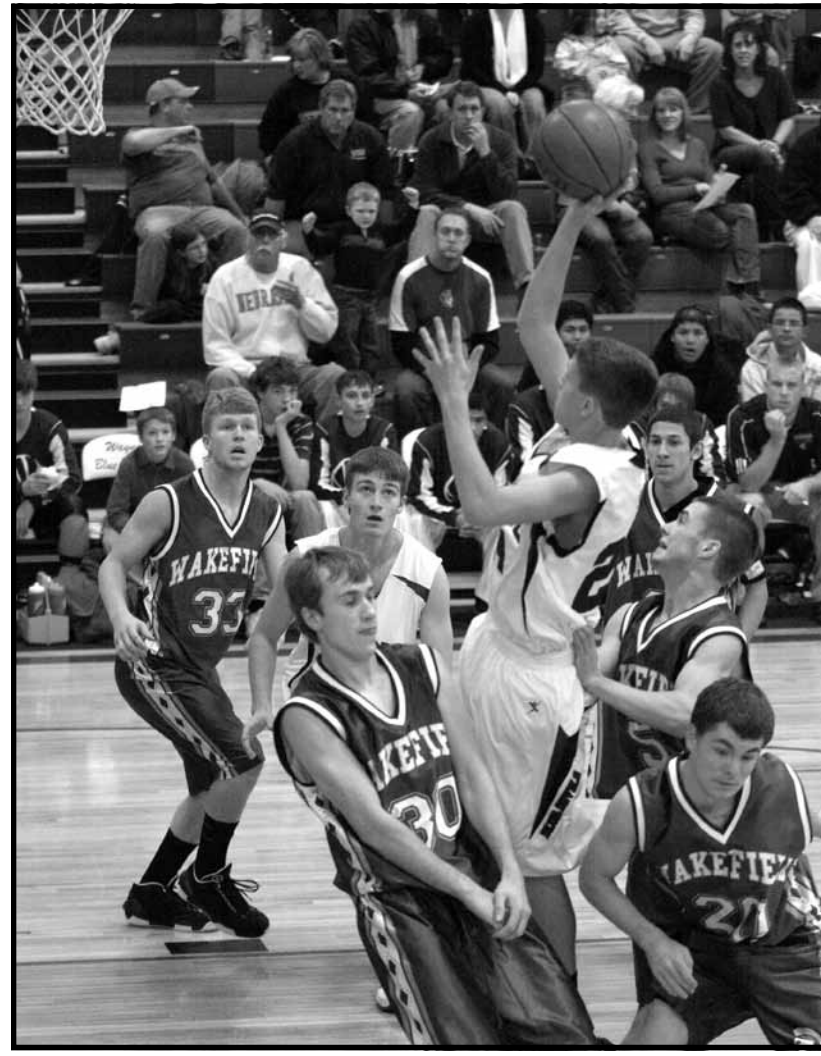

Wayne led by as many as 13 points in the first half, but Logan View got six points from Abby Stollberg to help them cut the deficit to 27-20 at intermission. Stollberg hit a 3-pointer early in the third period to get the Raiders within four at 31-27, but Fallesen and Jalyn Zeiss both hit from long range to get the Wakefield's Michal Bodlak (30) tries to take a charge as Wayne's Seth Onderstal drives for the hoop during the Blue Devils' 87-27 win on Saturday. Also trying to defend are Wakefield's Brock Soderberg (5) and Michael Eaton (20).

Fast starts propel Wayne to victories

The Wayne High boys basketball team wasted little time in putting a couple of notches in the winning column to start the 2010 season.

The Blue Devils raced out to big first-quarter leads in both of their two matchups last week, cruising to an easy win at Battle Creek on Friday (71-42) and racking up a blowout win at home over Wakefield (87-27) on Saturday.

"Our kids came out and played well together," Wayne High coach Rocky Ruhl said. "The kids played good pressing defense and got some easy shots, and I was really happy with the way we distributed the ball. They found the open guy and hit the open shot."

Gage Rethwisch scored the first five points of the season and started a 10-0 run to get the Blue Devils off on the right foot in Battle Creek. The Wayne defense flustered the Braves and made it difficult for them to get anything going, helping the Blue Devils to a 24-6 first-quarter lead.

Wayne came out in the second half and took it to Battle Creek again, outscoring the Braves 18-2 in the third period to take a 54-20 lead into the final period. "We got started really well, and when you jump on people like that and play the passing lanes and put pressure on them, the kids are aggressive enough that they are going to come up with some steals and make it tough on an opposing offense."

Justin Anderson led the way with 16 points and Rethwisch added 12 for the Blue Devils in Friday's win.

Things were really tough on the visiting Trojans on Saturday afternoon, as Wayne's 1-3-1 halfcourt zone press gave Wakefield fits for much of the first half.

Wayne got out to a 23-4 lead after one period and led 40-12 at the break, going deep into the roster and watching 10 of the 13 players who suited up get in the scorebook.

"When you can go that deep in the bench, it gives you more depth and gives everybody a lot of playing time," Ruhl said. "I know that zone press has caused us problems in the past, and I wanted to see if we could use it to cause problems, and I think it did."

Wayne State women open NSIC play with road wins

Now that the Wayne State women's basketball team is done with its six-game, four-state, season-opening road trip, the 5-1 Wildcats will get to do something they have yet to do this season.

Play a game at home. The Wildcats capped their opening road swing with a sweep of their first two Northern Sun Conference matchups of the year, dominating Minnesota State 80-49 on Friday and defeating Southwest Minnesota State 60-44 on Saturday.

Coach Chris Kielsmeier said Friday's win in Mankato was the kind of game he's been looking for out of his team.

"We just played a great game on Friday, a complete game on both ends of the floor," he said. "We shot the ball well and Ashley (Arlen) got going, and defensively we got back to playing as hard as we could. I knew we could do better than what we've shown, and our defense the entire weekend was outstanding."

The 13th ranked Wildcats jumped on the Mavericks early on Friday, sprinting to a 12-0 lead and leading by as many as 16 points in the first half. Arlen had 12 of her game-high 26 points in the first 10 minutes of the game as Wayne State raced to a 36-20 lead.

The Wildcats dominated on the boards, with a 43-25 advantage highlighted by Arlen's 12 rebounds. Mara Hjelle added seven boards and was one of four Wildcats in double figures, finishing with 10 points. Clare Duwelius and Julie Ann Wagner had 15 and 11 points, respectively.

"Everybody shot the ball well, and Julie and Claire sparked us from outside," Kielsmeier said. "When you have an inside-outside game going and you have that kind of balance, you'll be a difficult team to defend."

That defensive dominance continued the following evening in Marshall, Minn., as Wayne State limited the host Mustangs to 20 points and saw Hjelle join the 1,000-point club, becoming the 14th Wildcat to achieve the honor.

Hjelle finished with a game-high 25 points, hitting 8-of-12 from the field and 9-of-12 from the free throw line, pushing her career total to 1,002 points.

"She's meant so much to this program," Kielsmeier said. "She's a better person and leader than she is a player, and she's a pretty darn good player."

Hjelle's jumper late in the first half capped a 10-1 run for the Wildcats that gave them a 10-point lead.

Jose Vergara looks to the bench for support as he tries to pin Wisner-Pilger's Devon Dixon during a dual Thursday in Wisner. Vergara's pin helped the Blue Devils earn the team win.

Wayne High wrestlers hit the mats

Wayne High's wrestlers opened the season with a dual win and a good showing in a very tough tournament out west.

On Thursday, the Blue Devils took advantage of six open weights by Wisner-Pilger and outscored the Gators 42-31 in a dual at Wisner-Pilger High School.

On the mat, the Gators had the upper hand in winning five of six matches, but coach Tony Lawrence said a number of those kids were younger wrestlers facing a more-experienced opponent.

"Everybody who wrestled for us was a first-year starter or a freshman, and we didn't match up too well in a number of those matches," he said. "The younger kids made some simple mistakes, and we can get those fixed."

Jose Vergara was the only Blue Devil wrestler to earn a win on the mat, getting a late first-period pin over the Gators' Devon Dixon at 140 pounds.

On Saturday, the Blue Devils made the long road trip west to Cozad, taking part in a 16-team invitational that could almost serve as a mini-state tournament.

Several top-level Class B teams, including Aurora, Seward and McCook, locked horns with the Wayne wrestlers, and the Blue Devils were able to come away with three individual medals and a 12th place finish in

Wayne State club wrestlers win

It's been almost 30 years since a wrestling team from Wayne State College won a dual.

On Saturday, the Wayne State club wrestling team came away with a victory, coming from behind to beat Northwest Missouri State 29-21 in action at Maryville, Mo.

It was the first win since the varsity program was discontinued in 1981, and coach Greg VanderWeil was still excited for his team Monday morning.

"It was a really big win for the program, and I'm so proud of the kids and happy for them," he said. "It was the first dual win for the club, and that's just huge."

The Wildcats got a decision from Matt Bates (197) and a pin by heavyweight Jon Mullen to tie the dual at 9-9. VanderWeil said the win at heavyweight was an important one to keep the dual close.

After a Northwest forfeit, the Wildcats came up on the short end of a pair of decisions, which tied the match at 15-15. Matthew Peter got a major decision at 149 pounds, but a forfeit by the Wildcats gave Northwest a 21-19 edge.

The match of the night came at 165 pounds, where Allyn Gonsor got involved in a wild match with Dan Hedrick before pinning the Northwest wrestler early in the third period to give the Wildcats a four-point edge.

"That was such a big win," VanderWeil said. "Allyn has been ahead so many times and keeps getting caught, and that was just a big win for us because now we have a four-point lead, and with two national qualifiers going head-to-head in the final match, I figured we were OK with Tahner (Thiem) because I knew he wasn't going to get pinned or majored."

In fact, Thiem closed out the dual at 174 pounds with a dominating effort, overcoming an early takedown to finish with a 15-6 major decision.

"We'll take our beatings against varsity teams and in big open tournaments, but seeing that kind of competition is great because when we get to wrestle in club action like this, we'll be more competitive," VanderWeil said.

The bleacher seats are ready to be installed as the final touches are put on the new gymnasium at Allen High School. The gym is expected to be ready for Saturday's home opener against Wakefield.

Allen gym is almost ready to go

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Things are about to get a little less cozy in the Allen High School gymnasium.

With the final touches being put on an expansion project for the high school's athletic facilities, Allen High's basketball teams are scheduled to christen the new floor Saturday when Wakefield comes to town for a boys-girls basketball doubleheader.

The new gym floor was an unexpected addition after summer storms created a water leakage issue that ruined the school's old gym floor.

The gymnasium expansion was expected to be finished in time for the fall sports season, allowing the Allen High volleyball team to use the gym for practices and games. While they were able to use the facility for practice, the construction delays caused by the water damage forced the Lady Eagles to play all their home matches away from home.

The problems arose in mid-July, according to Steph Sullivan, an administrative assistant at the school. The roof to the new gym was not completed when a wind storm blew through, bringing water into the old part of the gymnasium. That water found its way to the old floor, causing construction delays that forced some creative adjustments in the school's gymnasium use.

"The volleyball girls practiced the majority of the time when the stabilization wall was up, but they weren't able to play any home games," she said.

Once the walls were finished, the new floor was put into place. Now the bleachers are the final touch to the facility, which is expected to undergo a final state inspection Friday.

"It's long overdue," athletic director Dave Uldrich said. "There's been a definite need over the last several years, and they've been talking about it for a long time."

The old gym was a space crunch, with fans literally sitting on top of the teams and the scorer's table. Now, teams and the scorer's table are on the south side of the gym near the expanded locker rooms, which were built where the old weight room once stood. The new weight room has been moved near the trophy case.

"It's great, because we can be a subdistrict host site now and put each team in a locker room, and we'll be able to host some of our conference tournaments," Uldrich said. "It's kind of the topping on the cake."

The gymnasium expansion was not part of the school's new building that was built eight years ago, but the new renovations are the crown jewel, according to Uldrich, for the facility.

A dedication ceremony for the new gym will take place Saturday at 2 p.m. Basketball games will begin at 4 p.m.

Logan View cut the deficit back to 10 points at 40-30, but Maxson hit two triples in the final 36 seconds, the second coming with :03 left in the period, to give Wayne the momentum with a 46-30 lead going into the final period. Fallesen hit from long range 90 seconds into the final period, and the game was never in doubt after that.

The Blue Devils had a chance to extend their lead in the first half, but their inability to hit free throws helped keep Logan View in the game. Wayne was 2-of-11 from the charity stripe in the first half and finished the game 5-of-15.

Free throws weren't the only problem, Wall added.

"It wasn't just about free throws, but we missed some layups as well," he said. "We did a nice job the last 5-6 minutes, but right now we've got a ton of work to do."

Zeiss and Caitlin Fehringer each finished with nine points in the win, while Fallesen had eight.

The Blue Devils opened the season Friday with a 46-40 win at Battle Creek, outscoring the Bravettes 22-14 in the final period to come away with the win.

"We got off to a real rough start," Wall said of the opener. "We missed a lot of bunnies that would have allowed us to pull away earlier, but as a result, we allowed them to hang around and they took a lead into the fourth quarter."

Harm hit a pair of 3-pointers to fuel Wayne's fourth-quarter rally. Hoskins had 16 points and eight rebounds, and Zeiss added 11 points to help the Blue Devils to the win.

"We have a lot of young kids who got their first chance to play in a tight varsity game, and they responded pretty well," Wall said.

On Saturday, the Blue Devils ran into a second-half buzzsaw against Concordia in Omaha, and finished on the short end of a 62-38 decision.

"We couldn't find a way to attack their 2-3 matchup in a way that would have been successful," Wall said. "We tipped off in the morning at 10 a.m., and we didn't really have fresh legs, which is probably why we shot so poorly."

Fehringer led the Blue Devils with 11 points, while Kristin Carroll added five and Hoskins and Meagan Backer each had four.

The effort left an impression on Wakefield coach Mike Clay, who said he knew coming in that his team would be challenged.

"Wayne's a very athletic team and has a nice ball club, and we knew we were going to have some problems with them," he said. "We've got a lot of inexperience and did some fundamental things in the face of pressure that we'll go back and try to work on."

Wakefield's leading scorer, Hugo Ortiz, battled a shoulder injury for much of the game, leaving the offense to senior Brock Soderberg, who finished with a team-high 10 points.

"Brock hasn't played the point before, but he's one of the most experienced guys out there and he plays hard, so we trust him with it and he does a nice job," Clay said.

Unfortunately for the visiting Trojans, it wasn't enough to survive the fast and furious play taking place at the other end. Wayne finished with five players in double figures, led by Grant Anderson's 14 points. Rethwisch, Justin Anderson and freshman Jalen Barry each had 12 points, while Seth Onderstal finished with 10.

Wayne dominated the boards with a 32-9 edge, led by six rebounds from Brady Soden. Onderstal had five steals as the Blue Devils forced 27 turnovers.

The 2-0 Blue Devils face a key subdistrict matchup Thursday as they play host to Logan View.

"They have three brothers who play together and are pretty tough, and all three can shoot the ball well," Ruhl said. "They're a pretty good team, so we'll find out Thursday what they're all about."

Trojans come up short in 67-58 loss

PENDER – The Wakefield boys basketball team kicked off the season on the road and saw a fourth-quarter comeback fall short in a 67-58 loss to Pender on Thursday night.

The Trojans got down 20-5 early in the game, but battled back to stay close with Pender. They were down by as many as 18 points in the second half, but would not go away.

“We had a couple of nice runs there,” coach Mike Clay said. “We got down big early and were really struggling, but we went on a run in the first half to cut the lead down. Then, we were down 18 in the second half and were able to cut it to four with four minutes left. We had a turnover that could have cut it to two, but they came back and hit a 3-pointer and we never really quite got back in it after that.”

Wakefield faced a taller team in the Pendragons, who boasted three players over 6-foot-3.

“They have some good size, and I hoped we could have attacked their guards a little better,” he said.

Hugo Ortiz had 19 points to lead the Trojans, while Josh Dolph added 18 and Dusty Sherer put in eight.

LCC teams defeated at Crofton

CROFTON – The season opener for the Laurel-Concord/Coleridge basketball teams was not a good one, as both teams came up on the short end of a NENAC matchup at Crofton on Friday night.

In the girls' game, the Lady Bears battled Crofton tough for three quarters, but the host Lady Warriors had too much down the stretch as they were able to hold off a LCC comeback and come away with a 70-59 victory.

The Lady Bears had a pretty good night from the field, hitting 21-of-48 (43.8 percent) from the floor, including 6-for-12 from 3-point range. The Lady Bears had trouble with turnovers, though, committing 25 miscues on the night.

Jade Cunningham led the Lady Bears with 23 points, while Mandy Nelson added 15 points. Leann Gubbels added nine points and a team-high six rebounds, while Morgan Arduser had six points and a team-best five assists.

The LCC boys had a slow start in their matchup with Crofton, and could never quite overcome that early deficit as Crofton came away with a 52-34 triumph.

Crofton got out to a 16-6 lead after one quarter, but the Bears made a game of it by halftime, pulling within seven at 27-20. Crofton used a solid third quarter, outscoring LCC 14-5, to put the game out of reach.

Wayne State men drop two on road

The first 20 minutes of Wayne State's first road trip of the season looked pretty good – it was the last 60 minutes that left coach Paul Combs concerned.

A second-half comeback by defending conference champion Minnesota State and a cold-shooting nightcap left the Wildcats with their first two losses of the season, as the Wayne State men fell to the defending champion Mavericks (74-63) and Southwest Minnesota State (73-43) in the team's first Northern Sun Conference matchups of the season.

“We just need to play better basketball than we did last weekend and get back to playing sound, fundamental basketball,” Combs said of his team's losing weekend. “We got away from that at times last weekend, and it showed.”

For the first half Friday, the Wildcats played well and carried a nine-point lead into the locker room, shooting 67 percent from the floor to take a 39-30 halftime edge in Mankato.

Mankato came out on fire in the second half, using a 9-0 run to tie the game. Wayne State regained the lead briefly, but a 7-0 run by the Mavericks put them ahead to stay.

“We came out with a lot of energy and shot the ball at a really high level and did a good job defensively,” Combs said. “(Mankato) made some sound adjustments and played us all zone the second half and took away some of our perimeter opportunities and really stymied our offense.”

Mankato switched to a 1-2-2 zone in the second half, which forced the Wildcats out of their offensive rhythm, Combs said.

“It was very effective, because we struggled and tried to force some issues offensively,” he said.

Amry Shelby tied his career high with 26 points, while Brad Starken and Vontrell Seroyer each added eight points.

The Wildcats were ice cold on Saturday, hitting just 22 percent from the floor in the first half and 28 percent for the game in a 73-43 drubbing at the hands of Southwest Minnesota State in Marshall, Minn.

“It was a frustrating night,” Combs said. “They got after us and played with a ton of energy and got on us right out of the gate. We were still sluggish on offense and had a difficult time with their post players, and it just got out of hand.”

Combs said he tried to simulate back-to-back games by holding tough practices after games earlier in the year, so he didn't think playing on consecutive nights for the first time was an issue.

“It's difficult on the road in the Northern Sun, and I think it was just that we got beat by two teams that played better than us,” he said. “They played well and we're still trying to find our identity, and we need to come back and have a good week of practice to get ready for Northern and Mary.”

The Wildcats will face Northern State on Friday and University of Mary on Saturday in their first home conference battles of the weekend.

Wakefield wrestlers fourth at Howells, pick up eight medals

HOWELLS – The Wakefield wrestlers came away with a pair of individual champions and posted an impressive fourth-place finish Saturday at the Howells Invitational.

Christian Gallardo (112) and Brendan Nicholson (171) both finished the day with first-place medals, while Isaac Ramirez (119) and Jacob Nelson (152) earned runner-up honors as part of an eight-medal haul for the Trojans.

“It was a great effort by our wrestlers,” coach Travis Volk said. “The team came through in some big matches and really did a good job.”

Volk was complimentary of both his gold-medal kids.

“Christian wrestled well and pinned all of his opponents, and Brendan wrestled with confidence and earned his first first-place finish of his career,” he said. “Both wrestlers achieved their goals of getting the first takedown in all of their matches.”

Nelson, who earned the team's Wrestler of the Week award, and Ramirez were both credited with a solid performance. Nelson pinned a returning state qualifier in Collier Miller of Lutheran High Northeast on his way to a runner-up finish.

lead. Wayne State led by 11 at the break, but went on a 15-4 run to start the second half and put the game out of reach.

“We have an experienced starting lineup, and we always talk to that group about starting the game and the second half at a high level,” he said. “We've struggled with that a little bit, but we didn't struggle with that this weekend.”

About the only concern Kielsmeier had was in the turnover department. Wayne State had 20 turnovers in the win over Southwest, a number he is not very happy with.

“Our rebounding was outstanding, but we have to cut down the turnovers,” he said. “We're on a negative turnover margin for the season right now, and that's not what we're about. That's something we need to get fixed.”

The Wildcats will have the opportunity to do that in the friendly confines of Rice Auditorium, as the Wayne State women will play their first home games of the season when they meet Northern State Friday at 6 p.m. and University of Mary on Saturday at 4 p.m.

“They're really excited about it,” Kielsmeier said. “We knew we were going to have this difficult stretch to start things, and how we handled the travel was going to dictate what kind of start we'd get off to. To be sitting 5-1 right now is a good feeling.”

The Wildcats are one of three teams that are 2-0 in Northern Sun Conference play, and one of those teams will face the Wildcats when Northern State comes to town Friday.

“It's a big weekend, and we need to win these home conference games because it's difficult to win on the road,” he said. “Any time you're in first place and playing a team that is tied for first, it brings added incentive to the game so it will be an important week for us.”

the 16-team tournament.

"We wrestled some tough competition," Lawrence said. "It was a tough tournament, but I'm happy that we got some experience there. The kids had some tough matches, and I'm a believer that you need to have that tough competition and I hope we learn from that."

Riley McManus reached the finals at 152 pounds, but lost to Jake Johnson of Adams Central in a 4-0 decision.

"Riley lost to a state placer in the finals, but I felt he might have been the better wrestler," Lawrence said.

Drew Loberg finished fifth at 189 pounds, while Aaron Svenson picked up his first varsity medal with a sixth-place finish at 119 pounds.

"Drew wrestled well for us and got fifth, and Aaron has never placed in a tournament before so hopefully he can build on that success."

The Blue Devils outscored Norfolk Catholic 45-21 in a dual Tuesday at Wayne High School. Results of the match were not available at press time.

The Wayne High wrestlers will compete in the Nebraska Duals, set for Friday and Saturday in Columbus.

Wildcats get two champions, Bears pick up one medal at Creighton Invitational

By LEE KOCH
For The Herald

CREIGHTON — Winside finished in the middle of the pack of the 16 team Creighton/Verdigre Invitational Saturday behind the efforts of Zach Brokaw (160) and Cody Wylie (152), as the Wildcats earned an eighth-place finish in the traditionally strong season-opening tournament of the mat season.

Parkston, a Class B team in South Dakota's two-class system, won the invitational going away over Nebraska powers Battle Creek, Plainview, Pender, Stanton and Winside, all rated in their respective preseason class ratings by the Nebraska Scholastic Wrestling Coaches Association.

"Zach Brokaw did an outstanding job at 160 and walked right through his weight class," Wildcat coach Paul Sok said. "Cody Wylie wrestled very well through the day and met up with the defending state runner-up (Teran Boyer of Plainview) in the finals. Teran is one of the best wrestlers in the state at 152 and Cody was able to score on him in a few situations."

The Wildcats earned five individual weight class medals including Seniors Ethan Thies (145), Brady Wurdemann (103) and Junior Coltin Brokaw (171) in addition to the finishes by Brokaw and Wylie.

"Saturday was about a 50/50 split between working well on the mat and needing to improve on a few skills," Sok said. "Overall, I feel that our conditioning needs to be stepped up a notch and we need to work a little harder on our timing in certain situations. A lot of the guys were hesitating before shooting and were not exploding off the whistle when they were in the referees' position."

"I feel pretty good about our lineup at this time, but I also know that there are definitely things we need to work on. A lot of it is mental at this time but you also have to have the conditioning to excel by the end of a tough match."

Laurel-Concord/Coleridge also put 10 wrestlers on the mat. The Bears, who field a relatively young and inexperienced mat squad, had a single medal winner in freshman Griffin York, who placed sixth in the 119-pound weight class.

Austin Roach (171), Jon Jacot (189) and Riley Lund (215) finished the day with a pair of wins. This Bears threesome looked as though they may be capable of putting together an individual successful season.

"Griffin did well for us," coach Don Maxwell said. "He met some really tough kids, but he wrestled pretty well. Austin wrestled at 171 this week, but he's going back to 160. He went 2-2 and lost in the match to get in for a medal."

Maxwell said that Jon Jacot would also drop from 189 to 171 after coming up a match short at Creighton. Riley Lund, who lost in an overtime decision in the heartbreak round, suffered a knee injury and is likely out until after the holidays.

"He's going to have it looked at and we'll know more then," Maxwell said. "He's been working very hard and was bound and determined to get to Omaha this year, so hopefully it's not very serious."

Winside travels to North Bend Central Saturday while Laurel-Concord will compete in the Stanton Invitational.

Wildcats give coach first career win

The Winside girls basketball team got coach Tara Groener her first win as a varsity head coach Tuesday, coming from behind to edge Lyons-Decatur 35-29 at Winside High School.

The win came after the Wildcats opened the season with a pair of losses during the first weekend of the season, losing at Wynot (65-25) Friday and Plainview (38-23) Saturday.

"The girls really needed (the win) to boost their confidence," she said after the game. "We've been working hard in practice, and the first couple of games were tough so it felt really good to finally get a win. The girls are determined to get some wins this season and really worked hard and hustled tonight."

The two teams played a close game throughout. Lyons-Decatur had a 20-18 lead in the third period when freshman Mallory Stubbs drilled a pair of 3-point shots to spur the Wildcats to a 26-23 lead going into the final period.

"That was a freshman stepping up for us," Groener said. "She's got a really good shot, and that changed the momentum and got the girls pumped up."

Senior Audrey Roberts and junior Shelby Lienemann each scored four points in the final period to help the Wildcats hang on for the win. Winside's defense held the Cougars to 12 points in the second half. "We had an awesome defensive game, and that's something we're trying to improve on in practice," Groener said. "The girls really communicated well and went after the loose balls and did a good job on that end of the floor."

Winside got behind early against an aggressive and deep Wynot team in Friday's opener. Nazya Thies and Megan Leicy scored seven points apiece to lead Winside.

It was a defensive struggle in Plainview, and the host Pirates came alive in the second half to frustrate the Winside effort. Roberts had 12 points and Lienemann added seven.

Winside boys let home lead get away

The Winside boys basketball team was hoping the third time would be the charm at home.

The Wildcats raced out to a 17-point lead in the first half and looked to be in position to put a notch in the win column Tuesday. But Lyons-Decatur battled back and got a strong second half from Reese Walker, who scored 21 of his game-high 26 points in the final two periods to help the Cougars escape with a 69-64 win.

Winside started out slow against the Cougars, but used an aggressive full-court defense to get back in the game, and they turned a 21-16 first-quarter deficit into a big lead with a 24-2 run that gave Winside a 40-23 edge late in the first half.

Michael Lage, the shortest player on the floor at 5-foot-6, had a big hand in Winside's second-quarter surge. He hit four 3-point shots and scored 16 of his team-high 25 points during the Wildcat rally.

Lyons-Decatur began to shift the momentum late in the first half, cutting Winside's lead to nine at 40-31. They were able to eventually tie the game at 44-44, thanks to the efforts of Walker, who scored 13 of his 21 second-half points in the third quarter.

Lyons-Decatur trailed 51-50 going into the final period, but took the lead for good early in the fourth quarter and held off several Winside comeback attempts to claim the win, dropping Winside's record to 0-3 on the season.

Lage finished with 25 points to lead the Wildcats, while Tanner Woslager added 14 points and Jesse Boschult put in eight.

Coach Jeff Messersmith did not speak to reporters after the game.

On Friday, the Wildcats opened with a 74-47 loss to Wynot, as the visiting Blue Devils jumped out to a 34-25 halftime lead and pulled away in the second half. Blaine Meyer led the Wildcats with 12 points, while Lage added eight and Tyler Jaeger put in six.

On Saturday, the Wildcats battled visiting Plainview tough for three quarters, but the Pirates outscored Winside 19-8 in the final period to come from behind and post a 56-49 victory. Boschult had 18 points and Woslager added 17 to lead the way for Winside.

Wakefield girls fall short at Pender

PENDER – The Wakefield girls basketball team showed some good things to coach Matt Brenn, although they came up on the short end of a 56-39 decision in their season opener Thursday at Pender.

"We played really well in stretches," Brenn said. "We were down seven with six minutes left in the third, and we had a little turnover spell that really hurt us and allowed them to separate from us."

Keri Lunz had 12 points and Mercedes Greve added 11 to lead the Trojan girls in the losing effort. Katelyn Tuttle added nine points. The Trojans made six 3-point shots in the losing effort.

Lady Eagles lose opener at Winnebago

WINNEBAGO – The Allen girls basketball team kicked off the season Tuesday with a 58-38 loss at Winnebago.

Coach Logan McPhillips said his young team ran into an aggressive defense that they were unable to overcome.

"We didn't handle the pressure very well," he said. "When we handled it, though, we looked pretty good. Turnovers just hurt us and we had trouble with that because of their pressure."

Freshman Lindsey Jones had 16 points to lead the Lady Eagles in the losing effort. Other statistics were not available at press time.

Record hunt for deer in Nebraska

Nebraska's November firearm deer harvest set a record this fall, rising 18 percent over last year, according to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

The 2010 November firearm deer harvest was 63,300, compared to 53,767 in 2009. Most of the increase is from antlerless white-tailed deer harvest, as 21,000 bonus antlerless white-tailed deer tags were added this year.

Good weather benefited hunters and farmers as the corn harvest was nearly complete at the start of the November firearm season, compared to 2009 when more than half of the crop was still in the field at the start of the season.

The following are harvest figures for each region of the state, with the percentage increase from 2009:

Panhandle (District I) – 6,580, 9 percent; north-central (District II) – 11,885, 13 percent; northeast (District III) – 13,791, 32 percent; southwest (District IV) – 7,042, 20 percent; southeast (District V) – 13,709, 11 percent; and south-central (District VI) – 10,325, 13 percent.

"This is a good step toward our goal of a 25-percent reduction in the deer herd in eastern Nebraska over the next 3 years," said Kit Hams, big game program manager for Game and Parks. "The use of Earn-a-Buck rules on Elkhorn and Wahoo permits and the October firearm antlerless season (3,000 deer harvested) in 2010 have both been successful in increasing doe harvest."

Earn-a-Buck rules required hunters to check in an antlerless deer before or at the same time they checked a buck.

Assuming normal harvest rates during archery, muzzleloader and January antlerless seasons, hunters should harvest about 90,000 deer in Nebraska for the 2010 seasons, compared to the previous record of 80,400 in 2008 and 78,000 last year.

Nebraska has enjoyed excellent deer hunting the past three years, with record harvest numbers and record deer. A state record nontypical white-tailed deer was taken last year in Richardson County.

Hello Clean Hands. Goodbye Germs — Dec. 5-11 is National Handwashing Awareness Week

Viruses and bacteria are out there, lurking on lots of things we touch. Did you grab the doorknob? Answer the phone? Type on a keyboard? Pick up a pen? Flush the toilet? Turn on the sink? Shake a hand? Dirty hands can make people sick. And dirty hands mean germs can be transmitted every time you touch your eyes, nose or mouth.

of the best ways to prevent the spread of the flu and other diseases. Good hygiene habits lead to better health so say hello to clean hands and goodbye to germs," said Dr. Joann Schaefer, the state's Chief Medical Officer and Director of Public Health for the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services.

How does your handwashing technique stack up?

Tips for proper handwashing:
• Wet your hands with warm, running water and lather well with soap.
• Rub your hands vigorously together for 20 seconds (singing the Happy Birthday song twice is long enough).
• Scrub all surfaces, including the backs of your hands, wrists, between your fingers and under your fingernails.

• Rinse well.
• Dry your hands with a paper towel or air dryer.
• Use a paper towel to turn off faucet if possible.
Always wash your hands:
• After using the restroom;
• After changing a diaper—wash the diaper-wearer's hands, too;
• After touching animals or animal waste;
• Before and after preparing food;

• After blowing your nose;
• After coughing or sneezing into your hands;
• Before and after treating wounds or cuts;
• Before and after touching a sick person;
• After handling garbage;
• Before inserting or removing contact lenses
Alcohol-based hand sanitizers are an alternative to handwashing when soap and water aren't available.

To use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer:
• Apply about 1/2 teaspoon of the product to the palm of your hands.
• Rub your hands together, covering all surfaces of your hands, until they're dry.

Alumni Achievement Award

Carole and Dr. Dwain Petersen are the recipients of the Wayne State Foundation Alumni Achievement Award. Dwain received a Wayne State Service Award and graduated cum laude with one of the college's first bachelor of music education degrees in 1955. Carole completed her teaching credential at Wayne State in 1954 and started her teaching career in nearby Pierce. Dwain and Carole were married in 1955. They accepted teaching positions in Tilden, where Carole was first-grade teacher and Dwain was band director and led the boys' glee club.

Dwain joined the Naval Reserve in 1952. Upon receiving his draft notice in 1956, he and Carole moved to Newport, R.I., where Dwain was commissioned an ensign in the Navy. After aviation training at Jacksonville, Florida Naval Air Station (NAS) and electronics education at Glenview, Illinois NAS, they transferred to Barbers Point, Territory of Hawaii NAS in 1957. Dwain served for two and a half years on the Distant Early Warning barrier, flying 100 14-hour missions between Midway Island and Adak, Alaska NAS. Upon release from active duty he remained in the Naval Reserve as an air intelligence officer, serving 28 years and attaining the rank of commander.

Dwain earned a doctorate at the University of Nebraska in educational psychology. The family of five moved to Mankato, Minn., in 1964, where he became an assistant professor at Mankato State University. He served as director of institutional research, director of the Center for Cultural and Behavioral Education, professor and president of the faculty, retiring in 1997. Carole completed her bachelor's degree in 1974 and master's degree in 1979 in sociology at Mankato. She served as assistant director of the International Student Office at Mankato for 20 years.

Dwain and Carole have provided leadership and service to the Boy Scouts of America as den mother, den leader coach, Cubmaster, Scoutmaster and president of the Twin Valley Council. Carole also worked with 4-H. Twenty-three Eagle Scouts were nurtured by their devotion.

Carole and Dwain have been active in Kiwanis International for 42 and 20 years respectively at the local, regional and international level. They have served as presidents, lieutenant governor and administrators of Aktion Clubs for developmentally delayed adults. They spearheaded acceptance of women as full members of Kiwanis International.

Carole and Dwain have served the United Methodist Church at state, regional and world levels. They have been on three mission trips in the Caribbean assisting in repairing damage from hurricanes. They have assisted Dr. Ron Holt, a 1989 WSC graduate, with his work on Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual and Transgender issues at WSC. They have funded endowed scholarships at WSC for music education students and at MSU. The Petersens have been trustees of the Wayne State Foundation since 2005.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

Got plans for May 21, 2011? Forget about it: Jesus is coming

Don't look now, but there's been too much unintentionally funny stuff in the news lately. Time to turn it all loose with a purging of the "Bits and Pieces" file:

- Got anything planned for May 22, 2011? Go ahead and cancel them - the world will be over by then.

That's what some billboards that are going up around Omaha are telling us. The have proclaimed that the second coming of Jesus Christ will take place on May 21, 2011.

The Web site WeCanKnow.com is making this proclamation and is buying billboard space in several American cities. The folks at Family Radio seem to be on board with this as well, as Tom Evans, a spokesman for Family Radio, was quoted in the Omaha World-Herald as saying, "This is not a joke. We take it very seriously."

The date was determined based on calculations made by Harold Camping, the founder of Family Radio. He came up with the date using information he claims to have gleaned from the Bible.

It should be noted this is the same guy who, in 1992, published the book "1994?" that laid out the, ahem, fact that our Lord and Savior would make his return in September 1994.

According to this latest, uh, revelation, the Rapture and Day of Judgment will take place on May 21. Those remaining on Earth (presumably, those who have not already accepted Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior), will have until Oct. 21, "when the entire universe will be rolled up like a scroll and completely destroyed."

I'm a firm believer that the Second Coming will happen one day. Let's just say that I'm a healthy skeptic of anyone who thinks they have the actual date nailed down, and if there's anybody out there who buys into this kook's notion, please give me a call because I've got a great deal on a bridge that I've got for sale, and you can take possession any time - after May 21st.

- It would appear that researchers at the University of Florida have discovered the secret to sexual orientation in a particular species of bird. And the secret is: pollution.

An ecologist at the institution of higher learning found that male American white ibises that consumed methylmercury - the most toxic and easily digested form of mercury in the environment - were more likely to pair up with other males of the same species. In the wild, with no mercury exposure, this same-sex pairing is non-existent.

And to think, for all this time, I thought this sort of thing was caused by watching reruns of "Dancing With The Stars."

- It's human nature for people to deflect blame for their shortcomings on outside forces. Call it "The Devil Made Me Do It" syndrome.

Evidently, when it comes to sexual promiscuity, it's all in your genes... literally.

Research published in PloS One, an online open-access journal, found that a particular version of a dopamine receptor gene is linked toward a person's tendency toward both infidelity and uncommitted one-night stands. This report indicates this gene is also linked to alcoholism, gambling addiction, a love of horror films and political liberalism.

So there you have it - genetic proof that liberals sleep around and conservatives are prudes.

- This week's proof that even Mother Nature is unhappy with America: a crosswalk signal in Spokane, Wash., gave pedestrians a rather unusual gesture recently.

Snow that was embedded in the sign left pedestrians with the universal single-finger salute, rather than the traditional five-finger "Don't Walk" signal, on one street corner in the city.

Normally, this is the salute you'd see in New York City, or if Dan Beebe actually had the courage to visit Lincoln to present a Big 12 trophy to the Husker football team.

- And, finally, there's this from the "How do we continue electing these idiots?" folder: Efforts by an 18-member deficit commission to propose ways to cut wasteful spending from the federal budget did not receive enough support to have the proposal sent to Congress, drawing the ire of a former senator.

Co-chairman Alan Simpson was frustrated with the final outcome, and decided this was the perfect opportunity to insert foot in mouth when he said, "Democracy's in deep trouble when the two most disgusting bodies in America are politicians and journalists."

That's strange - I have yet to run across somebody who was disgusted with a journalist who has whored out his (or her) ethics and integrity to special interests, lobbyists or anyone who might fluff up their re-election financial war chest. In fact, I know of no journalist who has actually lowered himself to the level of integrity most politicians in Washington have had the dubious distinction of achieving.

On an unrelated note, the cartoon pictured at right is drawn by syndicated cartoonist Joe Heller, who draws on subjects more of a national interest.

Let me know what you think of the two editorial cartoons we have. Send an e-mail to sports@wayneherald.com.

Capitol View Buffett irks high-income gang

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - Millions upon millions of people listen carefully when Warren Buffett talks, writes, muses, tells a joke or says he likes a particular kind of ice cream.

They read the Nebraskan's books. They try to see or read interviews with him.

The Oracle of Omaha is a multi-multi-multi-billionaire, and then some.

It only makes sense that a great many of those millions and millions of people who cast admiring eyes at Buffett are millionaires and billionaires. They admire him and often heed his advice and adhere to his views.

Recently, however, Buffett's popularity has fallen off just a bit among some in the very high-income crowd.

It's because The Oracle has observed the economy and concluded, as he put it in one recent interview:

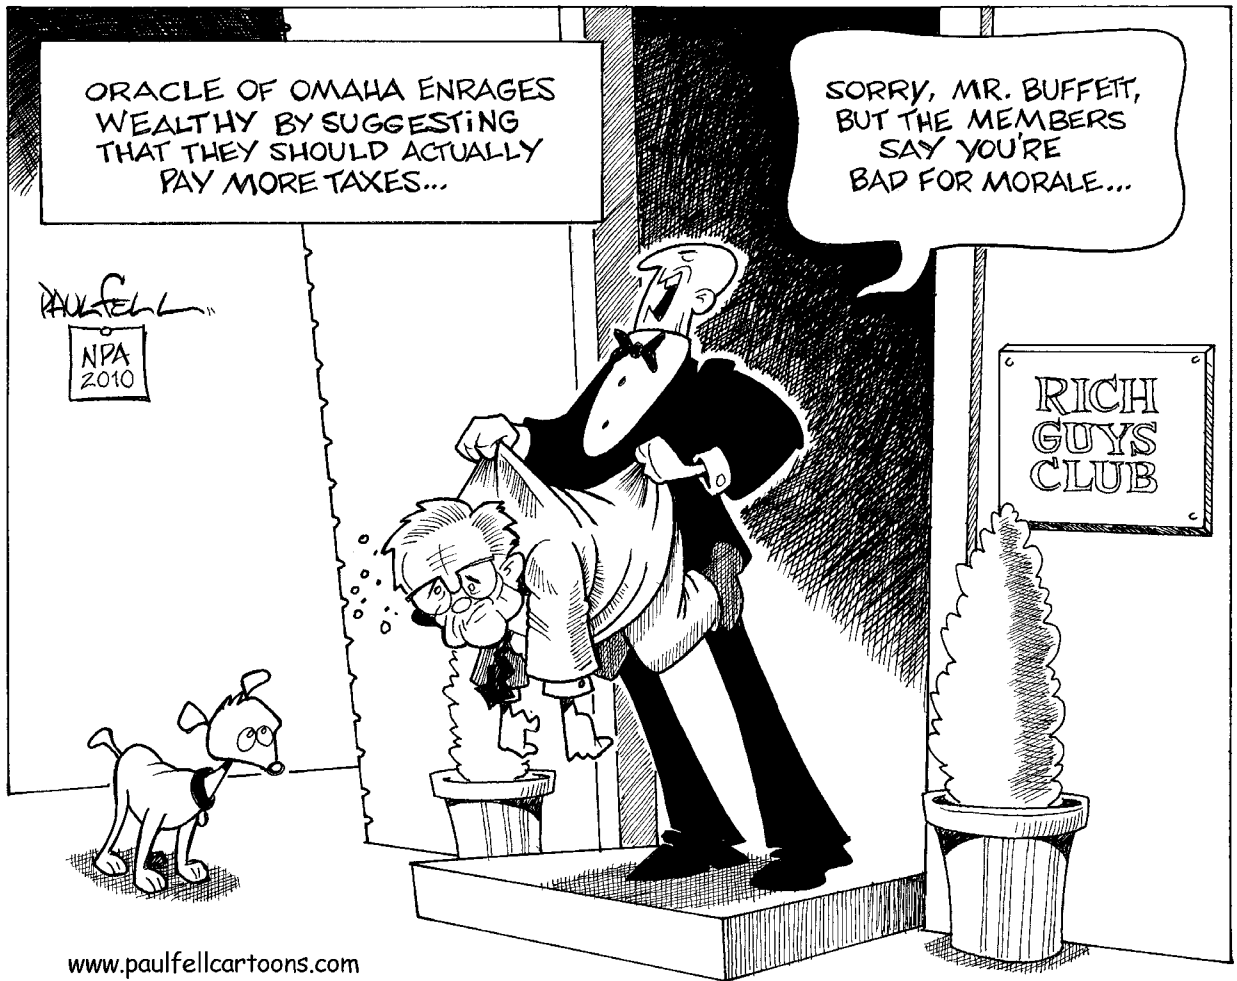

"I think that people at the high end, people like myself, should be paying a lot more in taxes. We have it better than we've ever had it..."

"The rich are always gonna say, 'Just give us more money, we'll spend more and it will all trickle down to the rest of you,' but that has not worked in the last 10 years."

Buffett has for some time been pointing out some other things having to do with taxes and the economy.

The gist: If lower-income and middle class Americans get to keep more money they will energize the economy because, out of necessity, they will spend that money. When the very rich get to keep more money they are less likely to put it back into the economy in anything approaching the same vigor. Hardly a trickle in comparison.

And then there is Buffett's noting that, comparatively, the middle class gets hammered harder by taxes. A favorite Buffett example is to note that secretaries, such as his, are taxed at a higher rate than their bosses.

There is also the reality that America is criticized because some of its corporate tax rates are high - but the other side of the coin is that corporations with accountants who aren't morons appropriately take advantage of provisions, which ensure that virtually no one pays taxes at those rates.

The view from here: Among the most interesting elements of the Buffett-on-taxes debate is that huge numbers of "ordinary" people - meaning those not within sight of their first billion - apparently disagree with Buffett, simply on principle.

Buffett absolutely insists that the "Bush tax cuts for the rich" should be allowed to expire, thus requiring the wealthiest among us to (probably) pay more in taxes. Republicans in the U.S. Senate, accompanied by Democrats such as Nebraska's Ben Nelson, want none of it.

It seems two irreconcilable points of view are at the center of things.

One is that the government will lose $750 billion or so by sticking with the current tax rates on the rich, and thus that sum adds to the astronomical deficit. The other side argues that this is not a good time to increase taxes on the rich, or anyone. Period.

GOP Numbers Remain Overwhelming In Legislature

As previously noted in this space, there was never a question about Republicans in the Legislature having enough power to control the redrawing of boundaries for political offices next spring.

The Legislature is officially nonpartisan. However, of the 49 members of the Unicameral, 34 are registered Republicans and 15 are Democrats.

The Omaha-dominated 2nd Congressional District will have to lose approximately 38,000 people, and they likely will be put into the Lincoln-dominated 1st District. It sounds simple, but Republicans would like to accomplish it without giving up any GOP voter strongholds in the 2nd District.

A lot of complex arguments will be heard once the squabble begins, but of one thing there is no doubt: The drawing of political districts for the Legislature, congressional districts and a host of statewide offices will ultimately be decided by the GOP majority. And if anyone doesn't like the results, they will have to take their complaints to the courts.

Sounds of the season

Members of Wayne Community Theatre sang Christmas carols to greet those attending the annual Rotary Club's Soup and Pie supper last week. The event attracted hundreds of people and included a Bake Sale by St. Mary's Church and music by several groups.

NET Television celebrates the season with holiday programming

As we begin the season of family time and traditions, NET Television celebrates with a special selection of holiday programming on NET1 and NET-HD.

The festivities begin Monday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m. CT with "Christmas at Concordia: Journey to Bethlehem." The new holiday program combines the pageantry of opera, the grandeur of choral orchestral masterworks and the intimacy of delicate solos and duets. At 9 p.m. CT, Chicago's celebrated Music of the Baroque Chorus and Brass celebrates the soaring sounds of the holiday season on "Renaissance Christmas." Then at 10 p.m. CT, join country recording legend Brenda Lee for a musical journey to Tennessee on "Christmas at Belmont."

Grammy Award-winner Natalie Cole and Pulitzer Prize-winner David McCullough join the world-renowned Mormon Tabernacle Choir for a Christmas celebration featuring some of the season's most beloved songs in a production airing Wednesday, Dec. 15, at 7 p.m. CT. Following at 8 p.m. CT, enjoy the charming story, dazzling choreography and magnificent Tchaikovsky score as the San Francisco Ballet presents a holiday tradition on "Dance in America: San Francisco Ballet's Nutcracker." The production is followed at 10 p.m. CT by "Christmas Concert Special with Jessica Simpson and Special Guests" which transforms the historic Roseland Ballroom in New York City into a glamorous winter wonderland.

On Thursday, Dec. 16, at 7 p.m. CT, "National Christmas Tree Lighting 2010" includes appearances and performances by some of the most recognizable names in entertainment. The evening's festivities are capped off with the ceremonial lighting of the National Christmas Tree, which is traditionally handled by the President and First Family.

Big Band Leader Lawrence Welk charms a whole new generation of music-lovers with his distinctive arrangements this season. Airing at 6 p.m. CT on Saturday, Dec. 18, this 1985 reunion special features Welk's last appearance with his orchestra. It opens with "Ring Those Christmas Bells" and features other classics such as "White Christmas" and "Let There Be Peace on Earth." Then, enjoy British comedy with a seasonal flair as Hyacinth hobnobs with a better class of people on a cruise in the "Keeping Up Appearances 1993 Christmas Special," airing at 9 p.m. CT.

NET1 and NET-HD continue the holiday programming on Sunday, Dec. 19, with two holiday episodes of "Are You Being Served?," including "Christmas Crackers" from 1975 at 1:30 p.m. CT, and "The Father Christmas Affair" from 1976 at 2 p.m. CT. Then at 2:30 p.m. CT, enjoy the "Keeping Up Appearances 1993 Christmas Special." Later that afternoon at 4 p.m. CT, "Live from Lincoln Center" presents "Baroque Holiday with the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center," as the Chamber Society of Lincoln Center greets the season by combining the warmth and style of great Baroque masters with the intimacy and skill of the Society's artists.

At 6 p.m. CT, on Sunday, Dec. 19, the cartoon fairy ballerina Prima Princessa takes a group of pre-school children on a magical Christmas journey to see a live performance of "The Nutcracker" in this Parents Choice Award-winning program. Prima Princessa delightfully and simply narrates the beloved story and between acts children can learn simple ballet steps, cookie and gingerbread house decorating and Christmas crafting. Then at 7 p.m. CT, the "Nature" series captures the visual beauty of the season on "Christmas in Yellowstone."

Monday, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m. CT, "Naughty or Nice," a special edition of "Antiques Roadshow," makes a list and checks it twice. Enlivening the year-end holiday season, this lineup of favorite appraisals from past seasons will satisfy everyone's wish list.

Repeat broadcasts of "National Christmas Tree Lighting 2010" air Tuesday, Dec. 21, at 11 p.m. CT, and Wednesday, Dec. 22, at 10 p.m. CT. The special includes music and entertainment, plus the ceremonial lighting of the National Christmas Tree.

Thursday, Dec. 23, at 9 p.m. CT, "L.A. Holiday Celebration 2010" airs, featuring highlights of the Los Angeles County Holiday Celebration that was held Christmas Eve.

On Christmas Eve Day, Friday, Dec. 24, children's programming on NET1 and NET-HD takes a holiday twist with special episodes of "Cat in the Hat Knows A Lot About That," "Super Why," "Dinosaur Train," "Sid the Science Kid," "Word World," "Barney and Friends," "Cailou," and "Word Girl." Later that evening at 7 and 10 p.m. CT, "Holiday Harmonies" showcases choirs from Nebraska colleges. "Holiday Harmonies" repeats at 8 p.m. CT on NET1 and NET-HD on Saturday, Dec. 25.

Give your green-thumbed friend something to remember, use this Christmas

Having trouble coming up with that perfect gift for the friend who loves to garden? Consider some horticultural gift ideas.

Good garden tools are always needed. Consider giving smaller tools for those with smaller hands or electric tools for easier handling. Good garden gloves include those made from goatskin, for finer tasks and sensitive skin, and longer sleeves for working in thorny shrubs. If the gardener tends to lose gloves often, give many pairs of inexpensive gloves. Tool belts for the waist or a five-gallon bucket are a good gift to help organize and carry tools neatly.

Other good ideas include:

- collapsible compost and weed carriers, which are similar to buckets that fold flat for storage;
- plant stakes that can be linked or taken apart for storage;

Close to Home

Should I buy or re-model?

Wendy Vawser Residential Sales

Buying versus re-modeling is a decision many people struggle with. It doesn't have to be a difficult decision if you take the time to consider what's important to you.

I ask my clients to decide which is more important the location or the home itself.

Sometimes there is an area where you have always wanted to live, by all means you should try to buy in that area if your finances allow.

However, you may have a sentimental attachment to your home, and then a re-model may be in your future. You may be able to work wonders with your existing home.

When re-modeling always remember, "Never put more money into the home than you can get out of it when selling". A great real estate agent can help you decide how much is too much for certain rooms and what is the right move for your individual situation.

So when deciding whether to buy or re-model, ask yourself "which is more important, the location or the home itself"? The answer is dependent on you and your situation but you don't have to do it alone.

Kids who would like to give a gardening gift but don't have money to spend can offer to oil and sharpen tools if they have that skill or give an IOU for an hour or two of work in the garden. Children can make labels or plant stakes using popsicle sticks and pictures from catalogs.

Children who receive garden gifts, including interesting items such as bug houses, often become more interested in other aspects of the outdoor world and enjoy learning while digging.

This will be the group's Christmas Dance with Dave Riley calling. The host for the evening will be Bob and Peggy Krueger and Jim and Rachel Rabe. Connie Kirkpatrick will furnish beverages.

Black & Gold Series Presents President's Holiday Gala Dec. 12

The Wayne State College Black and Gold performing arts series will open the 2010-11 season Dec. 12 with the 11th annual President's Holiday Gala Concert. The concert will be at 2 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus, and will be followed by a dessert reception hosted by WSC Interim President Curt Frye.

The popular program is designed as a fast-paced concert presented in a collage-like atmosphere, highlighting some of the select performing organizations from Wayne State College. Assembled for an audience of diverse backgrounds and tastes, the concert will include festive works and holiday music performed by the Madrigal Singers, Concert Choir, Jazz Ensemble, WSC Chorale, and Wind Ensemble, and faculty and staff performers including Dr. David Bohnert, Dr. Elise Gutshall, Dr. Linda Christensen, Dr. Antoine Clark, and staff accompanist Philip Pfaltzgraff.

Musical selections will include holiday favorites by Leroy Anderson, Ralph Vaughn Williams, Felix Mendelssohn, and Manheim Steamroller as well as festive selections from Celtic culture and American gospel music.

Performances by the WSC Wind Ensemble have been featured at the Nebraska and Iowa Music Educators' Conventions, and the WSC Concert Choir has appeared on the Emmy-nominated Nebraska Public Television special, Holiday Harmonies, as well as in performances with the Sioux City Symphony Orchestra.

As the most select vocal ensemble at WSC, the Madrigal Singers continue a 39-year tradition of presenting annual Elizabethan Christmasse Feastes on campus and throughout the region. This group has also performed for the Niobrara Center and K-MEG Television Christmas special, and at a major opening at the Joslyn Art Museum in Omaha. The instrumental and vocal groups toured the Republic of Ireland in 2004, and northern Italy and Austria in 2008.

For more than 50 years the Wayne State College Black and Gold performing arts series has presented cultural programming to serve the northeast Nebraska region. The 2010-11 series will continue April 17 with a special engagement by Imago Theatre.

The President's Holiday Gala Concert is free and open to the public.

For more information, contact the WSC Department of Music, (402) 375-7359.

Activities scheduled at Praise Assembly

Sunday, December 12, continues as the 3rd Sunday in Advent, which is celebrated the four Sundays prior to Christmas Day.

In Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. at Praise Assembly of God Church during Advent, Phil Pfaltzgraff, the class teacher and staff accompanist at WSC, is taking the class through a study of several subjects relating to Christmas: 1) the chronology of the Christmas story events; 2) the Old Testament prophecies fulfilled by the arrival of Jesus; 3) the genealogy of Jesus (according to Matthew and Luke) and 4) some special people in the Christmas story.

The Rev. David Stitt, pastor of Praise Assembly of God Church, preaches in the 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. services at the church. In the morning services, his sermon series - now in its 10th week - from the book of Nehemiah (in the Old Testament) continues as he shares some profound truths about the "Rebuilding of the Walls" of our lives individually, as families, and as churches.

In both the Sunday morning and evening services, Pastor David also calls for prayer time for people with needs.

This past Sunday morning, following a worship service which included Communion, the church family gathered for a "Fellowship Dinner" followed by a few hours of church decorating before the evening service in which Pastor David preached and the praise and worship were led by Zach Fuoss, Josh Sievers and Ernest Bratcher.

'Cram the Van' raises awareness of hunger and homelessness

Wayne State College students worked with the local community for the annual "Cram the Van" community collection drive that helps the Wayne Food Pantry and Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency provide food and goods to needy families in the area, Nov. 17 and 18.

Wayne State College Students in Dr. Todd Greene's Social Welfare class participated in service-learning projects to inform the public about National Hunger and Homelessness Awareness Week, Nov. 14-20. Social Welfare class students will also conduct a campus food drive for the WSC Food Pantry.

Coincidentally, one of those making a donation to the project was JeanKarlen, who previously led the drive.

This is the sixth year for the "Cram the Van" campaign. Tiffany Olson, Family Services Coordinator for Goldenrod Hills in Wayne helped with the event.

Institutional funding provides support for Service-Learning at Wayne State College.

TAX-FREE INCOME FOR YOUR RETIREMENT

Tax-free income is the best gift you can give yourself at retirement. Converting to a Roth IRA from a traditional IRA allows for tax-free accumulation as well as tax-free withdrawals in retirement — which means you don't have to worry as much about what income tax rates will be in the future.

There are tax considerations and other factors that determine whether converting to a Roth IRA is right for you. And changes set for 2010 will eliminate the $100,000 modified adjusted gross income (MAGI) limit, which means anyone can convert to a Roth IRA.

Call today to schedule an appointment to learn more. We'll discuss your retirement goals to help determine if a Roth IRA makes sense for you.

Advent season full of activities

Today, Sunday, is the birthday of friend Marlyce in Orlando, and they are going to Epcot for the Christmas parade; doesn't that sound fun? She says it's cold, though, so she's wearing her Nebraska scarf and mittens; even if we lost last night. So did Florida State.

I'm glad I had a fiftieth birthday party to go to after church last night; I really didn't see much of the game. It was certainly disappointing, but hardly surprising, given our history with the Sooners. They usually pull it out, somehow.

There was a gathering of the neighborhood this afternoon, and consensus was that the freshman quarterback still makes mistakes, and that the offensive coordinator still doesn't call 'em right. Of course, it's easy to point these things out the next day, in the comfort of a lovely living room.

This couple has a collection of nutcrackers that takes over the top of the piano, and one of Santas on the buffet. Every year, they turn their home into a Winter Wonderland and entertain. And they do it so well. It's a lovely tradition, and other than the annual association meeting in August, the only other time we see each other, unless we meet at the mailbox.

By: Pat Meierhenry

The Heritage League of Lincoln also has a tradition, of having a display of different decorated trees from various organizations in town. It's in a hall at one of the larger churches, and this year, the BryanLGH alumni agreed to do one. It's a fund raiser for various organizations; the penguins at the Children's Zoo were the recipients this year.

So, one of our members volunteered to bring penguin decorations, as she collects them.

I actually have two pre-lit trees, courtesy of friend and family, and really only need one. So, I took the tree over on Wednesday morning, and she brought the penguins! I have never seen so many penguins! The tree was loaded, and there were a dozen stuffed ones sitting around it.

Now, that tree is sitting in the basement family room, waiting for someone to put the angel decorations on it, and the other tree is in the living room, also waiting for decorations. I need some kids around!

The other thing taking up time this week is the choir's Christmas cantata. It's full of different rhythms, which folks over seventy don't do very well. Our rehearsal yesterday morning didn't go very well, and we still have to get together with the orchestra. I'll kind of be glad when it's over.

All in all, it's a typical Advent season, and at least, we don't have to contend with snow or ice, yet. I'm trying hard to focus on the real "reason for the season", and not get too caught up in the extracurricular stuff. A worthy goal, sometimes hard to achieve.

Beef meeting, Farm Transition/ Estate Planning meeting scheduled

Here's a reminder that the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension in Madison County is sponsoring a Farm Transition/ Estate Planning meeting on Monday Dec. 13. It will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the LifeLong Learning Center on the campus of Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

Cost is only $15 to attend per couple, with each additional person costing $10. Lunch and handouts are provided. Registration is required by Dec. 10 and space will be limited to the first 40 participants. Call the Madison County Extension Office at 402-370-4040 to register.

Thinking about how you plan to transition the farm is a key part of the morning discussion. How are you going to phase out of farming?

Will you have a farm sale, pass the farm to the next generation, or will you consider helping a new farmer/non family member get started?

Options for estate planning will be the focus of the afternoon part of the program. Knowing how each option works, especially when considering tax consequences, is important. Real-life examples will be used in this training session.

On Thursday, Dec. 16, also at the Learning Center in Norfolk, there will be a Beef Production and Profitability Workshop for grass-fed and grain-fed beef producers. This meeting will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The cost for this meeting is $25 per person and it covers materials and lunch as well.

The objective for this meeting is to help beef producers to make effective production decisions that result in increased profits, improved animal performance, and greater efficiency in operations resource use. Topics include feeding corn co-products to beef cows and backgrounding operations, minimizing storage and feeding losses of round bale hay, the power of stock density, and using flexible provisions in cash pasture leases to manage risk and make money.

For more information on the beef profitability meeting call 402-370-4061. Preregistration is required.

UNL's Master Gardener Program available across Nebraska

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension's Master Gardener Training is available throughout the state.

The Nebraska Master Gardener program is a horticulture-related volunteer training program based in many counties and has been part of UNL Extension since 1976.

Master Gardener volunteers are trained by UNL Extension faculty and staff. They contribute time as volunteers working through their local Extension office to provide horticulture-related information to their community. More specifically, they provide education about sustainable horticultural practices.

Participants are required to complete 40 hours of training and 40 hours of volunteer service during the initial year of their involvement in the program.

Master Gardener volunteers retain their certification through annual training and volunteering. Some of the topics that could be covered are: plant functions and the growing environment; insect identification and management; turfgrass management; plant diseases and management; weed identification and management; trees, shrubs, and herbaceous plant selection and management; wildlife management; landscape design and management; water conservation and management and many more.

Class time, location and cost vary across the state, but generally classes are offered from February thru May.

Check with your local UNL Extension office for complete details on a Master Gardener Program near you.
