Tomorrow's cheerleaders

City to have new EPA air quality goals by 2013

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

Air quality standards, cable television and economic development activity were among the agenda items at a relatively short Wayne City Council meeting on Tuesday.

Gene Hansen, electric production superintendent, presented an update to the council on Environmental Protection (EPA) Air Quality standards that will be implemented in 2013.

Hansen explained that the city currently owns eight diesel engines which are licensed to operate up to 950 hours per year. These engines are leased to Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) in a contract that is effective through 2022.

Upcoming RICE regulations will require the city to install approximately $600,000 in catalytic converters to meet the guidelines. Other requirements will be forthcoming.

"Without these upgrades, NPPD won't be able to use our generators, because the regulations will only allow for 15 hours of operation per year," Hansen said. He added that with the lease payments from NPPD, the city would receive payback on their investment in a short time.

Council members also listened to a report from Joe Jetensky, director of operations for American Broadband. He told the council that his company had made approximately $1 million in improvements to the cable system in Wayne in 2010. Additional improvements and changes will take place in 2011.

Following Jetensky's presentation, the council approved and waived the three readings of an ordinance that creates a non-exclusive franchise with HunTel Cable Vision, Inc. The agreement is for 15 years.

Wes Blecke, director of Wayne Area Economic Development, presented a report on LB840 activity in recent months.

He said there have been two applicants since the last report was presented to the council, and discussed the requirements and stipulations for obtaining LB840 money. He also talked about the matrix used by the LB840 committee to determine if a request was eligible for funding.

The council voted to make payment No. 5 in the amount of $851,015.94 to Eriksen Construction Co. for the wastewater treatment facility improvement project.

Mayor Ken Chamberlain appointed Dr. Jeff Carstens to the Planning Commission Board. He will replace Sharon Braun, whose term has expired. Mayor Chamberlain thanked Braun for the work she has done on the commission.

Council also approved a use by exception request from Dr. Rob Burrows to allow for a dental clinic to be built at 617 Pearl Street. The council had previously granted this request, but the time-line for completion had expired, making it necessary to be renewed by council vote. The approval does include the stipulation that a six-foot visual barrier fence be erected on the south property line of the property.

The Wayne City Council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Feb. 1 at 5:30 p.m. in Council Chambers. The annual strategic planning retreat will be held Friday at the fire hall from 5:30-9:30 p.m., and Saturday beginning at 8:30 a.m. This retreat is open to the public.

Linster re-elected to lead board

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Wayne Board of Education had a light agenda for its meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 12, which was pushed back two days due to a recent snowstorm.

The board decided to continue with its current leadership positions, with Dr. Carolyn Linster serving as president and

Dr. Jeryl Nelson as vice president. School secretary Ann Ruwe will continue in her capacity as the board's secretary.

During discussion of committees, the board talked about how the makeup of the negotiating committee should shape up.

Board member Ron Garwood said he would like to see the board's leadership fill two of the three spots on the committee, with the third member nominated by the board.

"I really, honestly believe the president and vice president should serve every year, along with one other board member."

Linster said that, while she should be kept updated, she didn't have a problem allowing others to participate on the committee, and she felt comfortable with Nelson continuing as the lead negotiator

Two arrested in Jan. 14 robbery

The Wayne Police Department arrested two men in connection with a robbery investigation that took place in the early morning hours of Jan. 14.

Police reports indicate 21-year old Taiino Herrera-Clark, Wayne, turned himself in to authorities Tuesday evening; and 21-year old Joseph Tyrone Foster, Omaha, turned himself in Wednesday morning. Both men were jailed and are awaiting the filing of formal charges in Wayne County Court.

A third person, 21-year-old Robin Nordquist, was cited and released for obstructing an officer in connection with this investigation

On Friday, Jan. 14, at approximately 1:30 a.m., a man flagged a Wayne police officer in the 300 Block of Main Street and reported that he had been assaulted by two men who had stolen his cell phone and approximately $25 in cash. The man was bleeding from his mouth and had clearly been knocked to the ground by the assailants.

An officer located a man in the 200 block of West Fourth Street that matched the description given by the victim of one of the suspects. When the officer attempted to stop the man, he fled into an apartment building, entering an apartment and locking the door. A tenant unlocked the door for the officer and it was found the suspect had fled out the back door. The victim's cell phone was found inside the apartment.

Man with quarters caught by police

At approximately 2:15 a.m. Monday, the Wayne Police Department received a report of a suspicious person in the 100 block of West 10th Street. The caller reported that it looked like someone was breaking into cars.

When the officer arrived, he located the suspect, who fled on foot. After a short foot pursuit, 20-year old William Hunt of Ainsworth, was taken into custody. Recovered at the scene was approximately $40 in quarters reportedly stolen from a pickup parked nearby.

Hunt was arrested for misdemeanor theft, resisting arrest, and Minor in Possession of Alcohol. He was jailed in the Thurston County Jail where he awaits the filing of formal charges in Wayne County Court.

In other weekend activity, James Fassler, age 51, was arrested for third-offense felony driving while intoxicated, careless driving, and flight to avoid arrest. Officers had responded to a report that someone had driven their pickup truck onto a yard in the 200 block of East Fourth Street. When an officer attempted to stop Fassler, he allegedly fled in his truck. Fassler was housed in the Thurston County Jail, where he awaits the filing of formal charges in Wayne County Court.

The police department also arrested 53-year old Marcella James, and 21-year old Henry Livingston, both of Wayne, for shoplifting in unrelated incidents at a local business. Both were cited and released.

Spaghetti benefit

The Wayne State athletic department is hosting a spaghetti benefit for Wildcat softball player Stephanie Schmidt on Sunday, Jan. 23 from 5-7 p.m. in the WSC Cafeteria, located in the Student Center. A junior from Columbus, Schmidt was diagnosed with acute myeloid leukemia on Dec. 1, and has been receiving treatments in Omaha. Proceeds will go to the Stephanie Schmidt Leukemia Fund to be used to help pay her medical expenses. Wayne State softball players are selling tickets for the event, and they will also be available at the door the day of the event. A free-will donation will be taken and a silent auction will be held.

Boy, 4, shoots mother in accidental shooting

The Dixon County Sheriff's office received a call at approximately 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, Jan. 13 of a shooting at 114 State Street in Emerson.

Through the investigation it was determined that a four-year-old boy had gotten a 30.06 rifle from a gun case that was located under a bed in one of the bedrooms in the house.

The boy was playing with the gun when it went off. The bullet penetrated a wall and a recliner located in another room and struck the boy's mother, Tohsia Houfek, in the right side. Houfek was flown to Mercy Medical Center by Mercy Air Care.

The shooting has been determined as accidental. The incident was investigated by the Dixon County Sheriff's Office, Emerson Police Department and the Nebraska State Patrol.

Honored by Optimists

The family of Christopher Johnson stands with the Officer of the Year award that was presented in Johnson's honor by the Nebraska Optimists during their regional meeting last weekend in Wayne. Johnson's mother, Lorraine, is holding the award while surrounded by family members, Platte County Sheriff Jon Zavodil (far left) Optimists state governor Russ Zeeb (next to Zavodil) and chaplain Mark Wetzler (far right). Johnson, a Wayne native, was killed in an accident on Aug. 29, 2009, while on his way to the scene of another accident.

County board goes over 1-6 year roads

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Wayne County Commissioners are expected to have more than 60 road projects on the one- and six-year road plan.

The board discussed the plan at Tuesday's meeting, but won't make a final decision on the road plan until its Feb. 15 meeting.

About 62 projects are currently on the list, 20 of which fall under the one-year schedule of road work to be done this year. Some projects have been on the list for some time, but board member Kelvin Wurdemann said the county keeps them on the list so they can continue to receive state funding.

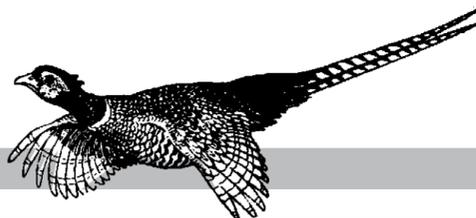

"Some projects have been sitting in there because the state will pull funding if we pull projects off the list," he said.

Each board member has his own list of projects for roads in his district. Dean Burbach, District 2 representative, has the most projects on his list with 28, the majority of which are on the six-year plan. District 3 representative James Rabe has half of his 19 projects on the one-year plan, while 13 of the 15 plans on Wurdemann's list for District 1 are on the six-year plan.

The board will look over the plan again and have a hearing to set the road plan during their meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 15.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By Lowell Johnson, City Administrator

City Council Meetings

Regular City Council meetings are held at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

Cut in state aid to cities, counties and NRDs?

The budget proposed last week proposed by the governor eliminates direct state aid to cities in an effort to balance the projected state revenues with the anticipated expenditures over the next two years.

How does this affect Wayne?

We receive about $46,000 per year in direct state aid that goes into our city General Fund. If the legislature doesn't change the governor's budget, we'll have $46,000 less per year during the two year state budget. After this coming two year biennium budget, it is unlikely that this form of direct state funding to cities will be restored. In 2003 during a severe state budget shortfall, Nebraska state aid to cities was cut substantially.

Wayne's state aid dropped from about $76,000 to the present level and remained there. We'll need a plan to live without it because it is likely to happen that way again.

Other State Aid to Wayne?

- Street Funds: In the past, Wayne has been allocated about $330,000 in gas tax funds each year from the state. That amount is dependent on the amount of gas sold. As we have seen in the news, Nebraska drivers are buying more efficient vehicles and driving them less. The result is declining gas tax revenues for state and county roads and city streets.
- STP Funding: In the past, Wayne has received an annual direct allocation of about $130,000 from the Nebraska Department of Roads for paving projects on major streets. That direct allocation has been permanently eliminated beginning this year. Future paving project funding for Wayne will need be applied for on a competitive basis with other state projects.

- Nebraska State Equalization Funding: In 1997, the legislature established an aid to cities program that allocates about $330,000 to Wayne per year from state occupation taxes collected on insurance premiums in Nebraska. Those revenues go to our General Fund to help operate the police department, library, activity center, senior center, parks, recreation programs, etc. Our total city revenues needed for us to operate all these departments each year is about $2.5 million. This State Equalization Funding allocation to cities is also subject to legislative changes each year.

Planning Retreat

The annual Strategic Planning Retreat is coming up Friday, Jan. 21 at the fire hall from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. and Saturday, Jan. 22 beginning at 8:30 a.m. This strategic planning retreat is the start of our budget process each year and is open to the public.

Winter driving tips offered to area drivers

Every year we see snow, ice, sleet, and slush on our streets and highways in Nebraska and we all know these can cause dangerous driving conditions. To avoid, or at least minimize this danger there are a few things we can do.

- Clean your car off completely — not just the patch of windshield in front of your face. When the weather causes limited visibility it is even more important that you can see out of your car. And, don't forget to clean off your headlights!
- Check your windshield wipers — make sure you have good, dependable windshield wipers, and keep you windshield washer fluid full
- Start Early — don't hit the snooze alarm, get up in time to clean off your car and drive slower to work or school. Running late on an icy or snow covered road is a recipe for disaster. Because you started early you can accelerate slower, brake slower, and take time to anticipate your turns and stops. When stopping on snow or ice it is a good idea to shift your car into neutral when you begin to slow down. Be careful; don't go too far and hit reverse! If you have a standard transmission just push in your clutch as you begin to slow for a stop.

- Keep you gas tank full or near full — this is especially true if you are going out of town. If you get stuck you can only stay warm if you don't run out of gas. If running your engine to keep warm, don't forget to crack a window on the downwind side to prevent carbon monoxide build up. If the snow is blowing make sure you get out and clear snow away from your tailpipe regularly.

- Carry extra supplies — keep an extra blanket or two, an extra coat and gloves, maybe a pair of old snow boots, in your car. You should keep some energy bars and water in there too. A copy of War and Peace can keep you occupied for hours and help add weight if you throw it in your trunk.
- Make sure you have good snow tires — driving on smooth, worn tires won't be much fun in bad weather.

Germ-free

Scrubby Bear and his friends came to Wayne Elementary School this week to share information with first and second graders on avoiding germs and proper ways to wash hands. Above, Scrubby puts a germ lotion on students' hands before a hand-washing lesson. At right, Regina and Wayne Korth use a black light to check to see that all the germs have been washed off. The event was a part of a science unit on germs.

Jaycees set to host volleyball tourney Feb. 5-6

The Wayne County Jaycees will be hosting a Super Bowl Weekend Let the Snow Fly Co-ed Volleyball Tournament at the Wayne Community Activity Center on Feb. 5-6.

The cost per team is $60 through Jan. 31. Registrations received after Jan. 31 will be charged a fee of $75. Six-person teams with subs are allowed, and each team is limited to three male players.

This is a double elimination tournament with a 40-team limit. Registration the day of the tournament will begin at 9 a.m., with tournament play beginning at 10 a.m. If necessary, tournament play will resume on Sunday, Feb. 6, at 1:30 p.m.

Concessions will be provided by volunteers of the Community Activity Center on the day of the tournament. Cash prizes will be awarded to the top four teams in the tournament. Some of the proceeds from this event will be used to help purchase equipment for the Community Activity Center, as well as finance other Jaycee activities throughout the year.

Teams are encouraged to sign up for the tournament by contacting Trisha Hansen at (402) 518-0675. Interested teams may also contact the Wayne County Jaycees via e-mail at waynecountyjaycees@yahoo.com.

Police chief is concerned about smoking herbal products

Wayne Police Chief Lance Webster is very concerned about recent reports of people in Wayne smoking herbal products with names like "K-2," "Spice," "Spice Silver," "Spice Gold" and other similar-sounding names.

These products are often sold in tobacco shops, "head" shops, or convenience stores, and are packaged and sold as incense with the warning "not for human consumption".

K-2, Spice, and similar products are a mixture of herbal/spice plant products sprayed with potent psychotropic drugs, and often contaminated with unidentified toxic substances.

"Users smoke K-2 or Spice as a 'legal' alternative to marijuana causing a 'high' similar to real marijuana because these drugs, synthetic cannabinoids, turn on the cannabinoid receptors found on many cells in the body," Webster said. "But this high may have unexpected side effects such as hallucinations, seizures/tremors, coma or unconsciousness, vomiting, increased respirations, and a dangerously elevated blood pressure."

The chemicals that cause these symptoms were developed by Dr. John W. Huffman, a Clemson University professor, as part of research for the National Institute of Drug Abuse on endogenous cannabinoid receptors, but never tested on humans and not approved by the FDA.

"In terms of biological activity, these things are similar to THC, the active compound in cannabis," Huffman told WebMD. "Now the thing is, nobody knows anything about how these new compounds act in the human body. Anecdotal reports say they stick around in the body for quite a long time."

While Nebraska law currently does not regulate or prohibit the use or possession of products like K-2 and Spice, the Federal Drug Administration has invoked its emergency powers to make K-2, Spice, and other "legal high" herbal products Schedule I controlled substances - that is, illegal drugs with no permitted medical use. The emergency declaration will have the effect of law for at least a year.

Diane Roeber shares her cancer story during the "Hero of Hope" portion of this year's Relay For Life Kick-off.

Relay For Life kicks off 2011 Relay

A kick-off event was held Monday for the 2011 Wayne County Relay For Life.

Committee members, team captains and survivors met at First National Bank meeting room to discuss the upcoming event, scheduled for June 10-11 at Wayne State College's Memorial Stadium.

Team captains Sheryl Grone and Courtney Volk spoke to those in attendance, as did Tiffany Chapman, staff partner with the American Cancer Society.

This year's goal has been set at $70,000 with hopes of having 20 teams involved in the night-long event to honor cancer survivors, remember those who have been lost to the disease and fight for the cure.

During Monday's event, Diane Roeber, a cancer survivor, spoke of her journey with cancer as this year's Hero of Hope for the Wayne event.

Red Cross reporting increase in local house fires

The cold weather and winter conditions often brings an increase in home fires, as many people use alternate heating sources such as space heaters, fireplaces, or coal or wood stoves to stay warm. The Northeast Nebraska Chapter of the Red Cross has definitely seen its share of fires recently.

Locally, the Red Cross has seen a significant increase in home fires compared to this time last year. From October 2009 through January 2010, the NE Nebraska Chapter responded to nine fires, helping 39 people in the northeast Nebraska area. From October 2010 to Jan. 12, 2011, the chapter has responded to 15 fires in the area and helped more than 45 people.

"The dedication of Red Cross volunteers who respond to these home fires 24/7/365 never ceases to amaze me," said Shalle Wolff, executive director. "Our local volunteers are there for northeast Nebraska residents in their time of need, no matter what time of day it is or how cold it is outside. The Red Cross depends on the generous support of northeast Nebraska residents to respond to our neighbors who are affected by home fires. We ask for you to remember the Red Cross as you plan your annual giving."

All area residents can help the Red Cross continue to be ready to respond and help fire victims by making a financial contribution to the Northeast Nebraska Chapter. To make a financial donation, visit www.northeastnebraskarecross.org, call (402) 371-0393, or mail a check to P.O. Box 304, Norfolk, Neb. 68701.

The American Red Cross urges everyone to use caution when turning to different methods of keeping their home warm and offers the following safety tips on how to prevent fires:

- Keep all potential sources of fuel like paper, clothing, bedding, curtains or rugs at least three feet away from space heaters, stoves, or fireplaces.
- Portable heaters and fireplaces should never be left unattended. Turn off space heaters and make sure any embers in the fireplace are extinguished before going to bed or leaving home.
- If you must use a space heater, place it on a level, hard and non-flammable surface (such as ceramic tile floor), not on rugs or carpets or near bedding or drapes. Keep children and pets away from space heaters.

- When buying a space heater, look for models that shut off automatically if the heater falls over as another safety measure.

- Never use a cooking range or oven to heat your home.
- Keep fire in your fireplace by using a glass or metal fire screen large enough to catch sparks and rolling logs.
- Have wood and coal stoves, fireplaces, chimneys, and furnaces professionally inspected and cleaned once a year.

Fires related to heating are the second leading cause of home fires in this country, and fixed and portable space heaters are involved in 74 percent of fire-related deaths. Most people don't realize that home fires are the biggest disaster threat in this country, ahead of floods, hurricanes and tornadoes. The Red Cross responds to as many as 63,000 home fires every year. That's 170 fires a day, or one fire response every eight minutes.

Early childhood screening in Wayne set for Jan. 28

The Wayne Community Schools Special Education Department provides services to Nebraska children birth to five years. Children are assessed by professionals in the areas of growth, development, health and readiness for daycare, preschool and kindergarten.

An Early Childhood Screening is planned for Friday, Jan. 28. It will be held at Our Savior Lutheran Church, 421, Pearl Street in Wayne from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. and 1-4 p.m.

The team is comprised of an early childhood teacher, physical therapist, occupational therapist, speech and language pathologist, audiologist, teacher of the visually impaired, service coordinator, Spanish interpreter, and special education director.

The screen will include the areas of overall development, speech language, motor, hearing and health.

Those participating are asked to allow at least one hour for the screen. No appointment is necessary.

Anyone who has identified any children who have developmental, health or cognitive concerns and/or delays, is asked to contact the district.

This screening is sponsored by Wayne Community Schools, Educational Service Unit No. 1, Providence Physical Therapy and Goldenrod Hills Community Services.

Anyone with questions or concerns is asked to call (402) 375-2230.

New Mexico woman in jail on Internet scam charge

Authorities in Dixon County have arrested a 39-year-old New Mexico woman who allegedly scammed a resident via the Internet.

According to the Dixon County Sheriff's Office, Melissa Law-Turner of Las Vegas, N.M., was extradited on Dec. 21, 2010, on felony charges of theft by deception and issuing a no-account check. Both are Class II felonies.

Law-Turner has a preliminary hearing set for Tuesday, Jan. 25. She is in Dixon County Jail on a $60,000 bond and faces penalties of up to 20 years in prison, a $25,000 or both on each charge.

Two cited in school fight

A post-game fight in the hallway at Wakefield High School has resulted in two individuals receiving citations from the Dixon County Sheriff's Office.

According to Sheriff Dean Chase, Myra Bramila, 18, of Wakefield and a 15-year-old Wakefield girl were issued assault citations as the result of a fight they allegedly started with a teenage girl from Winside.

The fight took place in the hallway of Wakefield High School shortly after the boys-girls doubleheader between Wakefield and Winside. What started the fight is not known. Chase said two unknown individuals stepped in to break up the fight.

The victim was taken to a Sioux City hospital and later released.

and spokesman for the committee. Garwood agreed, adding, "Jeryl is very good at negotiating and very good with the numbers," he said.

The list of committees will be filled in the weeks ahead, and a report on the committee membership will be announced at a later time.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan informed the board that the Mid-State Conference, of which Wayne is a member, is looking to expand from its current eight-member group to as many as 12 schools.

Lenihan told the board that letters went out to about 16 schools in the area that would fit the conference from a competition and enrollment standpoint, and have heard back from five schools that are interested.

Lenihan said no decision has been made, but said he is in favor of expanding the conference's membership to 10 or 12 schools.

"It's harder to schedule games, and with more schools in the conference, this would make it easier," he said.

"Telling my grandson stories and hearing him laugh is something I wouldn't trade for the world."

Winch remembered fondly by Winside community

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

In the day-to-day challenges a teacher and coach deals with, it can be difficult to understand just what kind of impact they can have on a kid and the community they work in.

Jim Winch was the kind of teacher and coach whose impact spanned generations and influenced not only the kids that he taught and coached, but the teachers and coaches he worked alongside during more than three decades of work at Winside High School.

Winch, 69, passed away Jan. 8 in a Sioux City hospital after a short bout with cancer. He taught and coached for 41 years in a career that included stops in Belgrade and Palmer before his final destination at Winside High School.

Winch taught shop during the school day and influenced several of his students who are now, themselves, in the education field.

Mark Koch, former Winside football coach and current principal at Elmwood-Murdock, nominated him for an award during his college days at Kearney State College (now Nebraska-Kearney) as a teacher who influenced him to pursue a career in education.

"He was one of the teachers that, because that was the field I wanted to go into, he taught me a lot," he said. "I remember he made classes fun in high school and was always joking around with the kids, but he was tough when he had to be and the kids respected him."

"... he was a very good trainer and prepared me each day in practice ... which gave me confidence to know I could do it."

Remembering coach Jim Winch

Winch made a name for himself as coach of the track teams at Winside. He coached girls track from 1970 until his retirement in 2003, adding the boys head coaching duties in 1987.

One of his first champions was Jill Stenwall, who won back-to-back all-class gold medals in the shot put in 1975-76 and is now a special education teacher at Antioch High School in Nashville, Tenn.

Stenwall remembers that Winch was always quick to credit the athletes' efforts while staying out of the limelight.

"He was very laid back and didn't take credit for things," she said. "He didn't take credit for many things that he should have, but that was just Jim."

He also served as an adult influence on Stenwall when she was growing up in Winside.

"Jim and (his wife) Del were like my second family," she said. "They were both there when I went to the AAU track meets and took me and made me sure I got there, and it was the same in softball."

Stenwall's parents passed away before her induction into the UNK athletic hall of fame, but her "second family" made sure to congratulate her at the event.

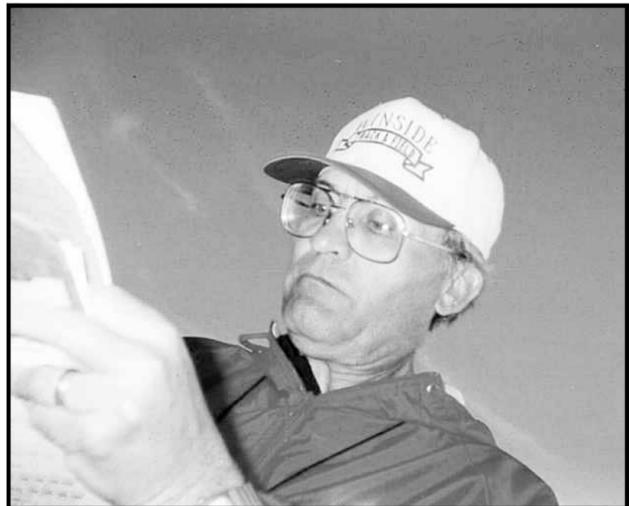

"It was very special, because I'd been out of school for a while and I'd kept in contact with Jim and Del over the years," she said. "Both of my parents had passed away by that time, and it was very special to have them there."

His imprint can also be found all over the hallway just outside the Winside High School gymnasium, where pictures of All-State, state medalists and state champion athletes cover the wall.

"The pictures looked great and it's something other teams remembered our school for," Jenny (Jacobsen) Kneifl said. "He took great pride in doing that right and made it inviting for alumni and visiting athletes, coaches and families."

Kneifl was one of the school's most decorated athletes, winning five gold medals and 12 overall at state track from 1989-92, and she said Winch took a lot of pride in the school as coach and athletic director, even down to how the football

Jim Winch, who spent most of his 41 years as a teacher and coach in Winside, passed away on Jan. 8 after a short bout with cancer. He coached the Winside girls track team to the 1992 Class D state title and coached a number of state champions and medalists during his long tenure at Winside High School.

Wild Saturday for Wildcats

No. 7 ranked Wildcats come back for victory

The seventh-ranked Wayne State Wildcats got knocked down early, but found a way to bounce back and deliver the knockout punch.

Wayne State used a second half scoring surge, fueled by a 20-point, 13-rebound effort by senior Mara Hjelle, to post a 73-69 comeback win over Augustana Saturday at Rice Auditorium.

The win kept the Wildcats perfect in the NSIC at the midway point in the season (11-0), and the Wildcats won their 13th straight game on the season.

But it wasn't easy. "It was a great college basketball game," coach Chris Kieseimeier said. "It was a gutsy performance by our entire team. We didn't necessarily play great, but we played well enough to win and it came down to our players' heart."

Augustana set the tone early in the game, jumping out to a 5-0 lead. The Vikings were solid throughout the first half, shooting 48.1 percent from the field, but the Wildcats rebounded from the slow start and made a game of it early.

Men come up short in 2-OT loss to Augie

For the fourth time this season, the Wayne State men worked a little overtime. And for the first time this season, it wasn't enough.

Augustana outlasted Wayne State 79-76 in a double-overtime dandy Saturday at Rice Auditorium. It was the fourth overtime game this season for the Wildcats and the second double overtime game in as many weekends, but they didn't have the last word in this one as they fell to 9-6 overall and 5-6 in the Northern Sun Conference.

The Wildcats had their opportunities to win in regulation and in the first overtime, but didn't have an answer at the end in the second extra session.

"We had a chance to get a stop at the end of regulation and they hit a big three, and we had shots at the end of regulation and in overtime and they were just off," coach Paul Combs said. "We were just worn down in the second overtime and they made the plays down the stretch."

Augustana jumped out to an 11-0 lead 3 1/2 minutes into the game, but the Wildcats bounced back and

Cowboys' athleticism is too much for Wayne in second half

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Visiting Boys Town took away Wayne's inside game, then wore the outside down in the second half.

A quick 7-0 run in the first 75 seconds of the second half helped the visiting Cowboys pull away and claim a 61-47 win over Wayne in an intriguing battle Saturday evening at Wayne High School.

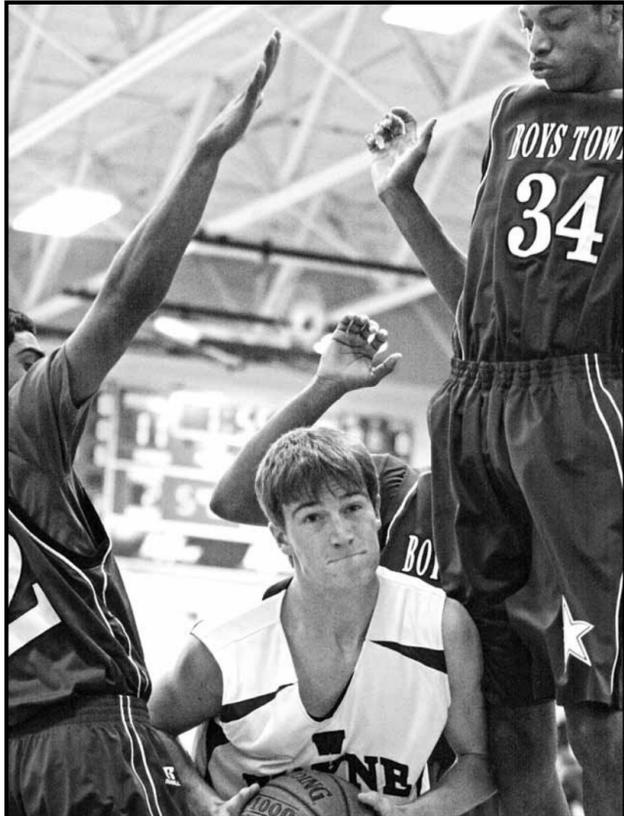

With Boys Town on the cusp of the Class B Top 10, and Wayne hanging around the leaders in Class C-1, fans were expecting a spirited, high-scoring matchup.

Instead, the Cowboys dominated the paint inside and forced Wayne to fire up more shots from outside than coach Rocky Ruhl was hoping for.

"We didn't look for a lot of shots inside, because their big guys can jump out of the gym, and that might have had something to do with that," he said. "We didn't shoot the ball well, and when you dribble down and shoot like we did, that plays into Boys Town's game and they were able to do more in transition."

The two teams played even for the first two periods. Three-pointers by Jacob Zeiss and Gage Rethwisch got the Blue Devils out to a quick 8-2 lead, but Boys Town answered with a basket and three-point play by Rasheed Fairley, and late baskets by Fairley and Devon Watts gave the visitors a 16-12 first-quarter lead.

Wayne came back with a good defensive effort in the second, and senior Seth Onderstal got hot from the outside and hit a pair of 3-pointers. Wayne took its last lead with :49 to go in the half on a nifty play that saw Jalen Barry whip a cross-court pass to Zeiss, who made a mid-air connection with Rethwisch for a 3-pointer to make it 26-24.

Boys Town got a late trifecta from Watts to take a one-point halftime lead, and that momentum carried over into the start of the second half, as Boys Town scored three quick buckets — the last a three-point play — to take a 34-26 advantage.

From there, Boys Town's quickness and athleticism proved to

Gallardo beats champ again, Winside third at Battle Creek

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

BATTLE CREEK — Like legendary baseball Hall of Famer Yogi Berra once said — it's like deja vu all over again.

For the second time in as many weeks, Wakefield 112-pounder Christian Gallardo was staring across the mat at Elkhorn Valley's Drew Smith. And for the second time in as many weeks, the two locked horns in an overtime thriller, this time at the Battle Creek Invitational.

The match was eerily similar to their first meeting a week earlier in Wisner, with a finish that was almost the same as last week. Gallardo scrambled and caught Smith at the edge of the mat in overtime, getting a takedown to earn a 4-2 win and take the first-place medal at Saturday's meet.

"It feels great," Gallardo said of his second straight win over a 2010 state champion. "I was able to come out with a win against him last week, and I got another one this week."

Gallardo said he was looking to make something happen in the extra period, and he took advantage of the opportunity.

"I was just looking for a shot, and I was able to come with it again," he said. "I feel like I'm in a good place, but we'll probably see him again in districts so we'll have to wait and see."

The match was one of the highlights for the three area teams that took part in the 17-team meet, won by the host Braves. Winside finished third in the tournament, while Wakefield was fifth and Laurel-Concord/Coleridge placed 13th.

Wayne girls on fire in win over LCC; boys run to 74-44 victory

LAUREL — The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge boys and girls basketball teams ran into a couple of hot shooting teams from down the road.

Wayne High's boys and girls lit up the gymnasium at Laurel-Concord High School Thursday, as the Blue Devil girls posted a 64-48 win while the boys ignited a 74-44 victory in nonconference action.

For the Lady Bears, it was a matter of trying to figure out how to cool off a hot-shooting Blue Devils team that finished the night hitting better than 60 percent from the field.

"When a team shoots that well, it's difficult to overcome," LCC coach Nate Sims said. "The kids hung in and did a nice job, but Wayne has a stingy defense and they kept bringing it the whole night." The Blue Devils and Lady Bears battled back and forth during the first period, but Wayne began to take control in the second period and took a 35-25 lead at the half.

"We played a really nice game," Wayne coach Nate Wall said. "It was a total team effort."

Wall said the Blue Devils needed to contain LCC senior Mandy Nelson, and he felt his team did a good job of frustrating her.

"Caitlin (Fehringer) really got us going on offense early on, and she did an outstanding job holding Mandy Nelson to only 10 points," he said.

Katie Hoskins had a big night with 19 points and nine rebounds. She also led the team in assists (7), steals (3) and blocks (2, co-leading with Cassie Harm). Fehringer also had a solid night, finishing with 17 points; and freshman Jalyn Zeiss had 11 points.

"I thought we played better than we have the last couple of games," Sims said of his team, which was led by Jade Cunningham's 17 points.

The Blue Devil boys proved to be too much for the Bears in the nightcap, as a 20-7 second-quarter run gave Wayne a 16-point halftime lead, and they pulled away from there in the second half.

"We wanted to make sure (Wayne) didn't get off to a quick start, and I was happy that we were able to stay with it," LCC coach Shannon Benson said. "We were able to attack their 1-3-1 defense pretty well, but they switched to a man defense and that gave us more trouble. They're a good team and really work hard."

The Blue Devils had a balanced attack, led by Justin Anderson's 15 points. he was joined in double figures by Jacob Zeiss with 14 and Gage Rethwisch with 10 points.

Kyle Kardell led the Bears with 10 points and eight each from Scott Pippitt and Matthew Maxon, and he felt his team played hard in the losing effort.

Wakefield girls answer challenge; boys nip Winside

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Wakefield coach Matt Brenn was not happy with his team's defensive effort Friday, and he let his team know it in the locker room.

The Trojans came out and silenced visiting Winside in the second half, limiting the Wildcats to five points and riding the outside shooting of Lauren Lehmkuhl to a 42-18 win in a Lewis and Clark Conference doubleheader at Wakefield High School.

It was a clean sweep for Wakefield on their home floor, as the boys broke a halftime tie and came away with a 36-29 victory.

The Trojan girls held a 17-13 edge at the break, but Brenn didn't like what he was seeing on the defensive side of the ball.

"We challenged the girls in the locker room and talked about their effort, and we questioned it a little bit," he said. "The girls responded to it pretty well, and I thought defensively we played a great second half."

Wakefield got back-to-back baskets in the final minute of the first period by Keri Lunz to take a 12-4 lead. Winside pulled to within four at 14-10 midway through the second period on baskets by Nazya Thies, and two free throws by Megan Leicy made it 14-13 in the closing minute of the first half.

That was when Lehmkuhl started heating up, as the freshman nailed a 3-pointer in the final 30 seconds of the first half to give Wakefield its four-point lead.

It was only the warm-up act for the freshman's main event. She came out on fire in the second half, hitting four trifectas and matching Winside's 18-point output.

"I wasn't really on the first half, but I stepped it up the second half and kept shooting, and it started to go," she said.

Which was a relief to Brenn. "Thank goodness, because we were struggling shooting the ball," he said. "We shot something like 15-for-58, and Lauren made six of those shots. She shot the ball well, and that was nice to see."

It was a different look on the other side of the court for a struggling Winside team that made just two baskets in the second half and had a difficult time handling the basketball.

"It looked like the beginning of the season for us," a disappointed coach Tara Groene said. "We only scored one point that third quarter. They stepped it up and had some good outside shooters that got hot, and that's what did it."

Lunz complemented Lehmkuhl's effort with 14 points for the Trojans. Leicy led Winside with six points, while Thies and Audrey Roberts each had four.

In the boys game, the two teams played a very even first half. Neither team led by more than four points through the first 16 minutes of action.

Winside broke the 15-15 tie with a basket by Tanner Woslager early in the second half, but Wakefield responded with a 9-1 run the last seven minutes of the period to take the lead for good.

Wayne's Caitlin Fehringer puts up two of her 17 points in the Blue Devils' win at Laurel-Concord/Coleridge.

Wayne girls go cold, lose at Norfolk Catholic

NORFOLK – After shooting the ball extremely well the night before, Wayne's offense went ice cold Friday against Norfolk Catholic.

Going almost nine minutes without a point, the Blue Devils' opportunity to get a win over Norfolk Catholic went by the boards, as the Knights came away with a 47-36 win in a Mid-State Conference matchup at Norfolk Catholic High School.

The Blue Devils shot 25 percent from the floor – a far cry from the better than 60-percent effort they put up the night before in a win over Laurel-Concord/Coleridge.

The defense also had its problems, particularly late in the first half.

"We were having a great game defensively until there was a minute left in the half, then we had some mental breakdowns that allowed Catholic to break the game open," coach Nate Wall said.

Still, even with the long scoring drought, Wayne was able to make a game of it. Trailing by as many as 19 points, Wayne was able to battle back and got as close as six points before the Knights iced the game with free throws down the stretch.

"I'm proud of our kids for not giving up, but we can't let ourselves get into that position again," Wall said.

Caitlin Fehringer scored a game-high 15 points to lead the Blue Devils in the losing effort. Katie Hoskins added nine points and had 14 rebounds and seven blocks.

McManus gets 100th, Devils finish second

PENDER – Riley McManus joined some fast company this past weekend, as he won his 100th career high school match during Saturday's Pender Duals Invitational.

The Blue Devil senior hit the century mark during Wayne's 42-36 win over Wisner-Pilger, part of a 5-0 day for him that helped the Blue Devils secure a runner-up finish to the host Pendragons.

"Riley wrestled really well for us and it was good for him to get his 100th win," coach Anthony Lawrence said. "He's still got some work to do to get some of the other goals he's set for this season, but it was a good day for him."

The Blue Devils beat Ponca (60-6), Creighton Prep JV (58-15), Omaha Bryan (63-6) and Wisner-Pilger, with the team's only loss coming to Pender (51-24).

"I thought, overall, we wrestled pretty well Saturday," Lawrence said. "Roman Roberts was 5-0 on the day and Drew Loberg went 4-1, so those kids had good days for us.

We're seeing some improvement, and we just need to keep working and building up for districts and state."

In the Ponca dual, Wayne got wins from Colin Webster, Aaron Svenson, Roberts, Austin McDonald, Jose Vergara, Aaron Bernal, McManus, Malcolm Martin, Drew Loberg, Dominic Reinke and Jason Trautman.

Against Creighton Prep JV, winners were Webster, Svenson, Roberts, McDonald, Vergara, McManus, Martin, Ian Webster, Loberg, Reinke and Trautman.

Winning matches in the Wisner-Pilger matchup were Roberts, McDonald, Bernal, McManus, Loberg, Reinke and Trautman.

Against Omaha Bryan, match winners included Webster, Svenson, Roberts, McDonald, Vergara, Bernal, McManus, Webster, Loberg, Reinke and Trautman.

In the Pender loss, Wayne winners were Roberts, Vergara, McManus and Trautman.

Winside wrestlers second at LHNE Duals

NORFOLK – The Winside wrestlers went 3-2 and had seven wrestlers earn all-dual honors at Friday's Lutheran High Northeast Duals Invite.

The Wildcats beat Fullerton (53-18), Grand Island Central Catholic (48-30) and Norfolk Catholic (54-18) while losing to Neligh-Oakdale (45-33) and the host Eagles (40-36).

Ethan Thies (145), Zach Brokaw (160), Coltin Brokaw (171) and David DeCock (285) all earned first-team all-dual honors, while Brady Wurdemann (103), Levi Lange (130) and Cody Wylie (152) were second-team selections.

In dual action Thursday, Winside doubled the score on Wisner-Pilger, claiming a 48-24 victory. Cody Wylie, Zach Brokaw and Coltin Brokaw all won matches in the dual win.

Allen's D.J. Kennelly drives by a Santee defender during Allen's first win of the season over the Warriors.

Allen boys pick up first win of season

The Allen boys basketball team found themselves on the winning side of the scoreboard for the first time this season, pounding out a 60-48 win over Santee in action Thursday at Allen High School.

It was a tightly-contested game throughout, but the Eagles were able to pull away down the stretch and enjoy their first win of the season and first win for interim coach Clayton Erwin.

"We played pretty well," he said. "They were more on our level from a size perspective, and we were more patient on offense and did a good job defensively of taking away what they wanted to do. We were able to slow them down and made sure they didn't get into an up-tempo game."

Three Eagles finished in double figures, led by D.J. Kennelly's 15 points.

"D.J. has had a good year and he's been our leader and leads by example, both on and off the court," Erwin said. "He's having some surgery and is going to be out a couple of weeks, so we'll need some other kids to step up."

Anthony Kennelly and Jacob Stewart both had 13 points in the win.

"We needed that," Erwin said. "We are encouraging them to shoot the ball more often, and they were able to knock some shots down."

On Friday, Bancroft-Rosalie used their size and speed to shut down the Eagles, limiting them to seven first-half points in an 87-23 rout.

"Their size and speed and ability to run the floor so well made it tough, and we couldn't stay with them," Erwin said.

Zach Crom had eight points, and Stewart and D.J. Kennelly each had four in the losing effort.

Crofton teams handle Blue Devil squads

By TRAVIS CORLEY
For the Herald

The Wayne Blue Devils hosted the Crofton Warriors in a Tuesday night game, and the Warriors seized control during the second half to claim a 49-40 victory.

The Blue Devils started off with a quick basket by senior Keegan Dorsey to fire up the home crowd. The Warriors made two baskets and held Wayne to its only basket in the first three minutes of play.

Wayne later respond with a deep 3-pointer by Seth Onderstal, who led the Blue Devils in scoring with 10 points. The first quarter belonged to the Blue Devils, as they held Crofton to six points to end the quarter.

At the start of the second quarter,

Crofton scored six points after three minutes of play. Wayne didn't score a basket until midway through the quarter on a 3-pointer by Gage Rethwisch, who finished with seven points. Following a Blue Devil timeout, Onderstal collected his second 3-pointer to give Wayne a one-point lead with three minutes left until halftime. The Warriors answered with a basket and foul, which put them up by two points.

Wayne next offense possession led to a 3-pointer by freshman Jalen Berry who was a spark off the Blue Devil bench, adding eight points and two assists.

"He is usually a spark off the bench for us. He can handle the ball and shoot the 3-ball pretty good," coach Rocky Ruhl said.

Wayne trailed at the half, 20-19, but regained the lead early in the second half on a basket by Rethwisch with 6:55 left in the third. Crofton then took a seven-point lead with two minutes to go in the third as the Blue Devils defense collapsed.

"We were pretty flat on defense and on our heels the entire night," Ruhl said.

Wayne added five points in the last two minutes but the Warriors were steady and ended the third quarter leading 33-26.

The Blue Devils again struck first to chip away at the Warriors lead. Wayne committed three fouls after that basket and the Warriors went up six with five minutes left.

The Blue Devils had a combined 11 fouls in the final quarter as two starters fouled out.

The Crofton Lady Warriors, ranked number one in Class C-2, outplayed the Blue Devils most of the game and came away with a 43-24 win.

The Blue Devils recorded only 10 first-half points and went seven minutes without scoring.

"Our game plan was to play a slower pace game," said coach Nathan Wall. "Our biggest problem was getting in the lane and not finishing."

Marrissa Fallesen, who led Wayne with eight points, scored a basket to end an 8-0 run by the Warriors. A late foul allowed Bridget Adams to make two free throws, giving the Warriors a halftime lead of 21-10.

After being down as many as 17, the Blue Devils pulled to within 12, but could not get any closer.

Winside's Audrey Roberts shoots over Wakefield's Sydney Rose during action Friday at Wakefield.

Wildcats fall to Clarkson

Both Winside teams continued to struggle offensively, as the boys and girls both fell victim to Clarkson in action at Winside High School Tuesday night.

In the girls' game, the Wildcats were held scoreless in the first period and had a tough time getting things going on offense, with the Red Devils finishing off a 46-18 win over the Wildcats.

Shelby Lienemann led the way for Winside with six points, while Audrey Roberts and Nazya Thies each had four. Megan Leicy and Shay Mundil each tossed in a bucket.

The Clarkson boys were also tough on the Winside offense early in the game, limiting the Wildcats to three points in the opening stanza and pulling away with a 50-37 win. Winside's boys stayed in the game, pulling to within six at 25-19 at intermission. Clarkson held Winside's offense in check again at the start of the second half and Winside was unable to recover.

Tanner Woslager had a game-high 16 points to lead the Wildcats. Blaine Meyer added nine points.

Battle

The Wildcats battled through some tough injuries, including one to 160-pounder Zach Brokaw, who tweaked his knee in the semifinal round and was unable to finish the day.

"That hurt us, and we lost a couple of other kids, so we were kind of getting beat up," Winside coach Paul Sok said.

The Wildcats placed a total of four wrestlers in the championship round, one of which reaching the finals as a member of the Winside JV team. Unfortunately, Cody Wylie, who was clinging to a 1-0 lead against teammate Forrest Jones in the 152-pound final, was injured when Jones took him down near the edge of the mat in the final 10 seconds of the match, forcing Wylie to take an injury default.

Sok said that his team had a busy week, with a dual Thursday and a five-match dual tournament the night before the Battle Creek meet.

"We had some tough matches after wrestling five duals the night before, but I think the kids responded well," he said. "I think our younger kids are wrestling well, and overall I think we'll need to focus and continue to work hard the next few weeks."

Jones as joined at the top of the medal stand by Coltin Brokaw, who has come on for the Wildcats in recent weeks and picked up a third-period pin to win the 171-pound title.

"Coltin is steadily improving, and he's really put some pressure on some guys," Sok said. "He's an unorthodox wrestler and has a unique ability to catch people, and he's really come a long ways."

Brady Wurdemann was upset late in the finals at 103 pound to finish second for the Wildcats. The Winside varsity got a third-place medal from Ethan Thies (145), while Kelby Prince placed third at 189 as a member of the JV team.

Gallardo's overtime win highlighted the day for the Wakefield wrestlers, who came home with five medals on the day.

Coach Travis Volk said he's impressed with how Gallardo has developed on the mat this season.

"You can see a big difference in the way he's wrestling," he said. "He wrestles under control, and every big win like that really builds his confidence."

Irvin Ramirez brought home a third-place medal at 103 pounds, while Jacob Nelson did the same at 152. Danny VanderVeen (135) and Brendan Nicholson (171) both finished fourth.

"I thought we wrestled pretty good today," Volk said. "Brendan had a tough day and came back to get fourth at 171, and we got our freshman in at 103 for third, Isaac got in and Danny and Jacob both medaled."

It was a tough day for the Bears wrestlers, who ran into some tough competition and could only come away with fourth-place finishes by Griffin York (119) and Riley Lund (189).

"It was a rough day for us," coach Don Maxwell said. "We kind of came back down to reality after last week. It was a really tough tournament here and it kind of opened our eyes a little bit."

Lund, who has wrestled at 215 pounds so far this season, was able to get down to 189 and certify for that weight for the remainder of the season, which pleased Maxwell.

Lady Bears get back on winning track

Laurel-Concord/Coleridge seems to be getting their groove back after a pair of dominating wins.

On Friday, the Lady Bears jumped on the Bulldogs early on the road and blew out Creighton 67-32 in a NENAC battle. They followed that up Tuesday with a dominating effort, getting a game-high 30 points from Mandy Nelson in a 75-40 blowout.

On Friday, the Lady Bears stumbled out of the gate briefly, but quickly found their rhythm and jumped out to a 20-10 first-quarter lead. They dominated Creighton in the second period to take a 22-point halftime lead and cruise to the easy win.

"We didn't come out extremely well, but we got things turned around and the kids played hard and executed well," coach Nate Sims said.

Nelson had a game-high 22 points in the win and did a good job scoring in transition, Sims said.

"We got things going in transition and she had some easy baskets and did good job moving the ball around in the half court," Sims said. "It was a good overall game for her."

Jade Cunningham also played well, finishing with 17 points and 15 rebounds.

"Jade has done a great job on the boards for us," Sims said. "She had to play some extended minutes with Leanne (Gubbels) on the bench, and she did a nice job on the boards."

The Lady Bears moved to within a game of the .500 mark with another solid offensive effort, led by Nelson's 30 points, seven steals and six rebounds.

The Lady Bears only led by a point after one period, but went on a 27-10 blitzkrieg that gave them an 18-point halftime lead.

Cunningham had 14 points and Katie Gubbels put in six for the Lady Bears.

Wayne, Wakefield to host tournneys

American Legion baseball will be busy in the area this summer, as two area communities have been named host sites for Legion tournaments this coming season.

Wayne will play host to the Class B, Area 5 Seniors tournament in late July. Wakefield will host the Class C, Area 2 tournament.

The Wayne Juniors will compete in Class B, Area 5 tournament play at Aurora, while Hartington will play host to the Class C, Area 2 Juniors tournament.

Promotions are planned for WSC

Wayne State's athletic department will have some promotional events planned for this weekend's basketball doubleheaders with Winona State and Upper Iowa.

On Friday, the "Roll For Cash" promotion will be held at halftime of both the men's and women's games against Winona State. Contestants will roll over money with a chance to win cash.

On Saturday, one lucky fan at each game will have a chance to win a three-day, two-night trip to either Las Vegas or Lake Tahoe during halftime of the Upper Iowa games.

Wrestling parents night rescheduled

Parents night for the Wayne High wrestling team has been changed, due to a change in the team's schedule.

The night will be held prior to the Tuesday, Jan. 25 dual with Winside. Parents should be at the gym by 6:40 p.m.

JV girls roll to wins

The Wayne High JV girls basketball team posted wins over Laurel-Concord/Coleridge (45-33), Norfolk Catholic (50-45) and Crofton (40-30) to improve to 12-0 on the season.

In the win over Laurel, Sarah Maxson scored 15 points and Megan Hoffart added seven for the winners. Victoria Kranz and Sydney Harris each had five, Meagan Backer and Ashton Schweers had four apiece, Kristin Carroll put in three and Narelle Naeve had two.

Against Norfolk Catholic, Schweers and Backer were in double figures with 12 and 10 points, respectively. Hoffart and Carroll each had seven, Kranz put in six, Kelsey Ellis had four, Hannah Gamble had three and Naeve had one.

In the Crofton win, Maxson had nine and Backer had eight to lead the way. Carroll and Gamble each had six, Kranz and Hoffart both had four, Harris put in two and Lauren Gilliland had one.

Boys JV team wins two

The Wayne High boys JV basketball team lost at Laurel-Concord/Coleridge and beat to Boys Town and Crofton in recent action.

At Laurel, the Wayne boys dropped a 59-38 decision. Miles Anderson led the way with 10 points, Joey Lenihan had seven, Brady Soden and Jordan Backer each put in six, Grant Anderson had five and Drew Carroll and Joe Dunklau each had two.

Wayne defeated Boys Town 48-20, with Soden's eight points leading the way. Backer added seven, Miles Anderson and Chris Rogers each had six, Carroll and Grant Anderson both had five, Dunklau and Luke Trenhaile both had three, Bradley Longe and Steven Sherman each had two and Tony Sinnegar added one.

Wayne outlasted Crofton 46-36, led by Grant Anderson's 11 points. Also scoring were Danny Melena with nine, Miles Anderson with eight, Longe with six, Backer with five, Soden with four and Sinniger, Trenhaile and Dunklau with one each.

Junior high boys teams victorious

The Wayne junior high boys basketball teams both came away with wins over Battle Creek in recent action.

The seventh-graders posted a 27-21 win, with Malik Knox's 12 points leading the way. Dylan Hurlburt added 11 and Drew Davie scored four.

In the eighth-grade game, Wayne picked up a 44-36 win. Ben Hoskins had 11, Zach Keating put in 10, Jack Belt scored nine, Brook Bowers and Luke Pulfer each had six and Austin Hammer scored two.

The eighth-grade boys posted a 38-23 win over Pierce, while the seventh-graders dropped a 35-23 decision. In the eighth-grade game, Hoskins had 21, Keating put in 12, Pulfer and Hammer each had two and Jacob Thompson put in one. The seventh-graders were led by Knox with 11, with Hurlburt adding eight and Drew Davie and Micah Sprouls scoring three apiece.

Wayne sixth girls compete at York

The Wayne sixth-grade girls basketball team took part in the York Midstate Meltdown tournament, going 1-2 in their division with losses to the HSM Tigers (29-8), Twin River (34-21) and a win over the David City Breakers (20-6).

In the first game, Sierra Scardino, Marissa Munsell, Taylor Gamble and Kiara Hochstein each had two points. In the second game, Hochstein had eight, Gamble and Munsell each scored six and Scardino had a free throw. In the final game, Munsell had eight, Gamble scored six, Scardino had four and Megan Duncan put in two.

Wayne seventh 1-2 at tournament

The WBDA seventh-grade girls went 1-2 in their division of the York Meltdown Tournament over the weekend, beating Kearney DMilaco Dynamite (28-21) and losing to Seward (35-32) and York (23-22).

In the first game, Kayla Schrunk had 21 points and Tarah Stegemann, Jenessa Kardell and Katlin McAllister each had two points. Against Seward, Schrunk had 19, Danica Schaefer put in seven, Kardell had four and Stegemann had two. Schrunk led Wayne in the York game with 14, while Stegemann had five.

Softball registration set

Bears win one of two

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge boys picked up a conference win and dropped a non-conference affair to fall to 3-9 on the season.

On Friday, the Bears played a solid first half and managed a 64-54 win over Creighton in a NENAC showdown at Creighton.

"It was really nice to see them come back and play well after the Wayne game," coach Shannon Benson said. "I thought it would be a winnable game for us if we were able to come out and play well and execute on offense."

The Bears' offense was solid, with Michael Olesen leading three players in double figures with 22 points. The defense did its part, although the Bulldogs' Ryan Mitties finished with a game-high 24 points.

"I thought our defense would keep us in the game, and we came out real strong and ran the floor well," Benson said.

Joining Olesen in double figures was Kyle Kardell with 16 points and Matthew Maxon with 13 points.

"Michael had a lot of points early running the floor and hit a couple of threes," Benson said. "I thought he played probably his best all-around game of the season."

On Tuesday, the Bears went cold in the second and fourth quarters, and Hartington rode the hot shooting of Neil Kramer to the 16-point win.

Kramer hit 13-of-17 from the floor and came within two points of outscoring the Bears, who were led by Olesen's nine points and Kardell's eight. Hartington hit 20-of-39 from the floor.

Wakefield

"Winside played hard tonight, and both teams really battled," Wakefield coach Mike Clay said. "I was pleased with our rebounding. We did a better job boxing out and controlling the boards, and that was a huge key to the game."

Brock Soderberg had 12 points and Dusty Sherer added eight to a balanced attack that emphasized patience in the second half, Clay said.

"We kind of figured out how we wanted to attack their zone, and we were able to get some good looks inside," he said. "I wish we could have done a better job with our free throws than 8-for-20, but we hung around and found a way to win, and I'm proud of them for that."

It was a disappointing effort for a Wildcat squad that was hoping to earn its first win after coming up two points short a few nights earlier.

"We've done the things we need to do, but we just couldn't get the ball to go in the hole tonight," Winside coach Jeff Messersmith said. "We've played as hard as we can the last couple of games, and I'm not disappointed with what the kids have done. We just have to overcome some things, and we're going to get there."

field looked.

"Almost every day of the summer, you could find him at the field doing something to make that field great. He didn't do anything without giving 100 percent," she said.

And he was supportive of the kids, no matter what the situation, Kneifl said.

"During basketball season my junior year, I suffered a season-ending knee injury and was unable to compete in track that year," he said. "Mr. Winch found a way to keep me involved with the track team and was very supportive during my recovery and did what he could to help me with my rehabilitation."

Kneifl remembered her senior year in 1992, when Winside won the Class D state title.

"He had the ability to put people in events he knew they'd be successful at, even if they weren't thrilled to be doing them," she said. "The 400 was not a favorite of mine and I was never happy to see that I would be running the event at the meet, but he was a very good trainer and prepared me each day in practice to run it, which gave me confidence to know I could do it. He took a victory lap with our team after we won the state championship, and it was a very special memory for us."

Winch also had an influence on the teachers and coaches he worked with at the school.

Randy Geier was the head football and assistant track coach from 1987-99. Now the principal at Elm Creek High School, Geier said Winch was a mentor to him when he first started out as a teacher and coach.

"Jim was a true mentor to me as a young coach," he said. "He always tried to give me an understanding of the whole picture, and not get too high with the highs or too low with the lows. He taught me about being a good husband and a good father, and always said to never neglect your family, because your kids are only young once. He told me that a lot and I took that to heart."

Geier worked alongside Winch during track season, and he was impressed with how Winch worked on the program to make it one of the better track programs in the area.

"It wasn't just winning the state championship, but going to practice with him every day and spending those quality hours and learning about how the process of making the track program better from day to day and year to year," he said.

Geier said he learned a lot about coaching from Winch.

"I learned about delegating your coaching duties and letting your assistant coaches coach," he said. "That really helped me out as a head coach learning from him, and I credit him for a lot of the things I've done as a coach."

Longtime resident Lee Koch worked track meets from 1983 until Winch's retirement in 2003, and he remembered how organized Winch always was.

"He was very organized when it came to putting together track meets," he said. "For much of his career, he was the tournament director for all the Lewis and Clark Conference meets. He was very good at recognizing the athletes' strengths and weaknesses, and he was especially adept at organizing relay teams and making sure his runners were fundamentally sound in handing off and receiving the baton."

Koch said he was very supportive of his athletes, but wasn't afraid to chew them out when the situation called for it.

"There was little doubt in any of his athletes' mind when Jim was upset with their performance," he said. "He let them know in a hurry that he was displeased, and I think many of his former athletes remember him for that alone."

Even after his retirement, Winch was a fixture at Winside High sporting events. He could almost always be found in the stands with his wife, Del, or keeping stats on the sidelines during football games.

"He did my stats the last several years," the younger Koch said of his years as football coach. "He just liked being around the kids, and he'd always come to the home games and sit with my dad or ride with him to road games. He didn't miss too many games, either, even after he retired."

However, even with all the success his teams had - including a state runner-up finish, five district championships, six district runner-ups and four conference titles on the girls side, and two district titles and four runner-up trophies for the boys - it was always the kids who got all the credit, as far as Winch was concerned.

"We had some really outstanding athletes over the years," his wife of almost 49 years, Del, remembered. "There was a stretch of years where either the boys or the girls won the conference title, but he never took any of the credit. It was always the kids, and if you knew Jim, he was always able to keep his emotions in check."

Allen's Bentley Hingst (right) battles Stantee's Tia Whipple for a loose ball during the Lady Eagles' loss to the Warriors Thursday.

Lady Eagles drop close one at home, still seeking first victory

The Allen girls had a chance to pick up their first win of the season, but a cold-shooting fourth quarter allowed Santee to escape with a 44-40 win on Thursday at Allen High School.

"We were up two with 1:30 to go, and we didn't go with the game plan down the stretch," coach Logan McPhillips said. "We didn't take care of the ball the last part of the game, and they made their shots."

Part of Allen's problem was a cold night of shooting, as they hit just 15-of-65 from the field.

"What was disappointing was a number of those misses were layups or short shots," he said. "It shouldn't have been a game, but we couldn't make our bunnies and it let them stay in the game."

Brittany Sullivan scored 11 points to lead the Lady Eagles, while Hannah Finnegan and Mariah McCoy each had eight.

On Friday, host Bancroft-Rosalie was too much for the Lady Eagles, as they dropped a 73-34 setback.

"We actually played better against Bancroft," McPhillips said. "We moved the ball really well and did a lot of good things on offense.

We had trouble playing defense against a good team like that, but as far as moving the ball around and driving to the hoop, it was our best game of the year and hopefully it's something we can build on."

Lindsey Jones' 10 points led the way, while Sullivan had nine and Finnegan scored eight.

On Tuesday, the Lady Eagles' woes continued as they suffered a 76-31 loss at home to Wynot. The visitors raced to a 25-6 first-quarter lead and never looked back, dropping Allen to 0-12 on the season. Sullivan had 11 points and Finnegan put in six for Allen.

Wakefield girls win two of three

Wakefield's girls built a three-game winning streak that was snapped Tuesday night, but it required a little overtime for the opponent to end the rally.

The Trojans and Bancroft-Rosalie hooked up in a double-overtime thriller. Both teams had their chances to win in regulation and the first overtime, and a late three-point attempt just missed its mark to allow the visiting Lady Panthers to escape with a 63-60 win.

After regulation couldn't decide it, it looked like the Lady Panthers would win it in overtime, but the game needed a second extra session to determine the winner. Senior Keri Lunz, who scored a team-high 21 points, nailed a 3-pointer in the closing seconds to tie the game at 60-60, but Bancroft-Rosalie answered with a trey of their own to finish the win.

Lunz and Lauren Lehmkuhl both finished in double figures, with Lehmkuhl scoring 19 points. Katelyn Tuttle also hit double figures on the night, finishing with 12 points.

Tuesday was the middle game of a stretch of five games in eight days for the Trojans.

On Saturday, Wakefield doubled the score on visiting Lyons-Decatur, racing to a 31-9 halftime lead and cruising to a 51-25 win. Lehmkuhl led a balanced attack with 13 points, while Lunz added 12, Tuttle put in 11 and Mercedes Greve scored eight.

"Defensively, we played well for most of the night," coach Matt Brenn said. "We had a nice second quarter offensively and pulled away, and Katelyn Tuttle had a nice all-around game, as did several others."

On Monday, the Wakefield defense was solid once again, as they held Ponca in the first half and finished off a 57-31 win. Tuttle led the way with 13 points, while Lehmkuhl and Lunz each added 12.

"We played well defensively and shot the ball pretty well," Brenn said of the team's effort.

Trojan boys lose two

The Wakefield boys found the going tough in two recent games, as they fell at home to Lyons-Decatur and Bancroft-Rosalie.

On Saturday, the Trojans struggled offensively in the second half, allowing the visiting Cougars to come away with a 39-29 win.

Brock Soderberg led a balanced Wakefield effort with nine points, while Hugo Ortiz added seven and Dusty Sherer put in six.

On Tuesday, a fast start by Bancroft-Rosalie helped the Panthers outlast the Trojans in a 57-24 decision.

Soderberg once again led the Trojans with seven points, while Ortiz and Jon Bodlak each had six.

finished the half with a 19-5 run, capped by a layup and dunk by Derrell Williams, to take a 35-31 lead.

"I thought they came out of the gates with a lot of energy and played very well and were aggressive early," Combs said, of the Vikings. "It was a tough way for us to start the game against a talented team like that, but we showed some poise and made some plays defensively and were able to come back and take a small lead at the half."

Wayne State carried that momentum into the second half, and a Ryan Fudloff 3-pointer gave Wayne State its biggest lead at 42-33 with 17:20 to go.

"We became more aggressive and got to the rim more, and defensively we made some plays that got us some points," Combs said.

But the Vikings responded with a 13-3 run over the next five minutes to regain the lead at 46-45. Neither team led by more than four points after that.

Augustana led 57-53 with 1:50 to go in regulation, but Amry Shelby hit a bomb and a pair of free throws to put Wayne State up by one. Shelby hit two more free throws with :12 left in regulation, but the Vikings tied the game on a 3-pointer from the left wing by Yuriy Malashenko with :03 to go, sending the game into overtime.

Augustana led by as many as four in the first overtime, but Shelby hit a 3-point play to give the Wildcats a 67-66 advantage, and things looked good before a foul away from the ball allowed the Vikings to tie the game with a free throw. Wayne State could have won at the end of the first extra period, but Jason Jensen's 3-pointer hit off the back of the rim at the buzzer.

The Vikings scored on their first three possessions of the second extra period. Vontrell Seroyer hit a 3-pointer to get the Wildcats within three at 75-72, but the Vikings hit their free throws down the stretch and hung on for the win.

Shelby paced Wayne State with 25 points, highlighted by a perfect 11-for-11 night at the free throw line. Seroyer followed with a season-high 12 points while Jensen and Williams had 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The Wildcats are at home again this weekend, host No. 21 Winona State Friday at 8 p.m., and facing Upper Iowa Saturday at 6 p.m.

Wayne State struggled from the field in the first half and shot just 31.3 percent from the floor, allowing the visitors to take a 33-29 lead into the locker room.

Wayne State came out of the locker room with their usual style of aggressive play in the second half, and the Wildcats reclaimed the lead when Ali Schwartzwald hit a 3-pointer and scored off a steal to make it 46-41 with 13:32 to go.

Augustana would respond and reclaim the lead with 8:51 to go, but Wayne State regained the advantage and were able to hang on to the win. Ashley Arlen, who was limited to eight points, hit a key three-point play with 1:51 to go, and Alyssa Fischbach hit 3-of-4 foul shots in the final minute to seal the win.

Four players finished in double figures, with Hjelle's 20 leading the way. Fischbach and Renee Wood both had 12, and Alisha Brown tossed in 10.

"That's kind of been this team's recipe for success," Kielsmeier said of his team's balanced attack on offense. "We play good enough team defense and are finding enough plays from different people every night."

The Wildcats' win, coupled with a loss by Winona State last weekend, gives Wayne State a three-game advantage at the midway point in the season. And while being 11-0 and up by three games is impressive, Kielsmeier said he and the team have things in perspective.

"It's so important for us, as a program, to keep it about the next game and not get caught up in any kind of desire to try and win the conference championship this Friday," he said. "We'll play Friday and take it one game at a time. I know it's boring, but I've coached a lot of successful teams, and the ones that focus on the next task at hand are the ones that truly get it, and I think this is that team."

Wayne State is at home this weekend, hosting Winona State Friday at 6 p.m. and Upper Iowa Saturday at 4 p.m. in Rice Auditorium. Friday's game, especially, is big for the Wildcats in their pursuit of a lot of their team goals.

"It's an important game for both teams, and we're fortunate to be able to play at home and I hope we can get another great environment like we had here Saturday," he said. "I hope the entire community comes out and watches this team, and I challenge our student body to come out and watch both (the men's and women's) games Friday night."

5 Good Reasons Why It Pays To Shop Locally

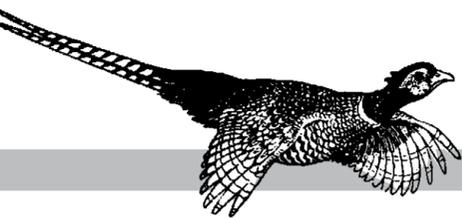

- 1 Your local merchants usually have the same merchandise as their big city counterparts, but maintain a lower overhead. These savings get passed on to you in the form of lower prices.
- 2 Gas, tolls and parking, may make that out-of-town bargain more than you bargained for.
- 3 Shopping locally makes returns and exchanges easier.
- 4 You'll save time and avoid large crowds.
- 5 Every dollar you spend in your hometown goes back into your local economy to help fund schools, roads, and other services where YOU live — not in some other town.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

On a quest for losing weight

You're going to be seeing less of me in 2011.

Now, before we go starting crazy rumors about me skipping town, or taking an early retirement or winning the Powerball and moving to a remote island, let's get one thing clear - it's not that I won't be out in public more, but that there will be less of me out in public.

For far too long, I've been carrying around what looks like an odd-shaped melon that I stuffed in my shirt on a recent trip to Pac-N-Save (the college girls at the checkout counter who keep wanting to weigh the package I'm hiding in my shirt is nice, but it's getting a tad embarrassing right now - for both of us). The fairly prodigious gut has been the source of great jocularity among friends, family members and even football players (one of whom, while coming off the field after scoring a touchdown, inquired as to the due date of my twins).

Yours truly is never at a loss for laughing at himself and is always quick with the self-deprecating humor. But all of that is changing.

For several years, weight loss has been on my list of goals (resolutions are not made in my world, for they are usually made in a drunken stupor as the ball gets ready to drop on the old year, and therefore are so easy to forget). I have made several half-hearted efforts to knock the weight off, and actually had a little success a few years ago before all the weight - and a few more pounds - returned.

This year - it will happen.

When I stepped on the scale on Jan. 2, the monitor flashed the number 186 (had it been a talking scale, it would have groaned and blurted out, "Mix in a salad, lard butt."). While I'm a long way from obese, I'm also a long way from the weight I should be carrying around.

Ideally, a guy of my vertical stature (5-foot-4, although - for some strange reason - everybody who reads this column thinks I'm 6-foot-4) should weigh somewhere in the 150-160 range. If you do the math (and I've already done it for you, so relax and put your shoes back on), that's 26-36 pounds that need to come off.

Now, it would be easy to dip the toe in the water and wade into this venture - but if I did that, I wouldn't be me. To use a poker phrase - I'm all in.

And I'm all in with a target date - the first Friday of the 2011 high school football season.

That's right, on Friday, Sept. 2, I plan to be less of who I am right now, physically speaking. I will be somewhere between 150 and 160 pounds and looking as good as I did the last time I was at that weight (don't ask me when that was - it was at some point during the time I was married, and the combination of time, alcohol and bad Wednesday night television sitcoms has erased most of that particular period of my life).

Now as you know - especially if you are up past midnight watching infomercials - there are a gazillion ways to go about losing the 26-36 pounds I will be dropping in the next eight months. Some people go on crazy diets (and did you ever realize that the first three letters of that word spell "DIE"?). Others eat only certain items, while swearing off things like sugar, carbohydrates or doughnuts in the office break room. There are those who try to run five miles a day, even though the most they've moved at one time in recent memory was the time they chased the mailman down to deliver a house payment that was already a week late.

Yours truly has a multi-pronged attack to knock the weight off. Exercise, changing what I eat, and creating a different mindset are all a part of the effort, and two of the three are going to be the toughest challenges for me.

Exercise, for me, has been a lost art. I used to work out, jog and play ball in my younger days. These days, I'm more inclined to watch people do it instead (part of the reason I'm such a good sports writer). In the past, I usually hit a treadmill or elliptical machine when I was experiencing a lot of stress. Now, I'll be hitting it a lot more often with a different purpose in mind.

Eating is the toughest hurdle I'll have to overcome. Because of my odd work schedule, I eat at strange times of the day and night. It's not uncommon for me to have dinner at 4 p.m. one night, then 11:30 p.m. the next. Breakfast might happen at 6 a.m., or 10 a.m. And let's not get me started on snacking, which seems to be a 24-7 event at times. I am making some changes, though. Usually, a Saturday road trip to cover a wrestling meet means a stop at Subway (or McDonald's if I feel like blowing things for a day). Last week, I loaded up a container full of - get this - celery, broccoli and radishes. It made for an interesting eating experience on the trip, but isn't going to kick me in the butt when it comes time to step on the scale.

The nice thing about this effort is that I have the mindset to reach this goal. This is due to a change in thinking that has been taking place over the last few years in my personal life. A lot of the positive things that have come into my life in the past two years has been because of this escape from the "stinking thinking" that muddled the works in my life for far too long (and is part of the reason why I weigh what I did).

While the positive reinforcement from friends, family and those who read this column is always welcome, the bottom line is that we're on a quest for success these next few months. I'll update my progress here in the weeks ahead, and when all is said and done, you're going to be seeing a lot less of me by the time next fall rolls around.

And believe me - that will be a good thing for all of us.

Capitol View 'Sleeper' bills in Legislature

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - In the world of street racing a "sleeper" is a car that doesn't look like much sitting still but can really burn you when it gets the green light.

In the Legislature some bills are the equivalent of sleepers. That's why lobbyists who are worth their retainers go through virtually every bill that is introduced to make sure their clients won't get burned if any particular measure is enacted.

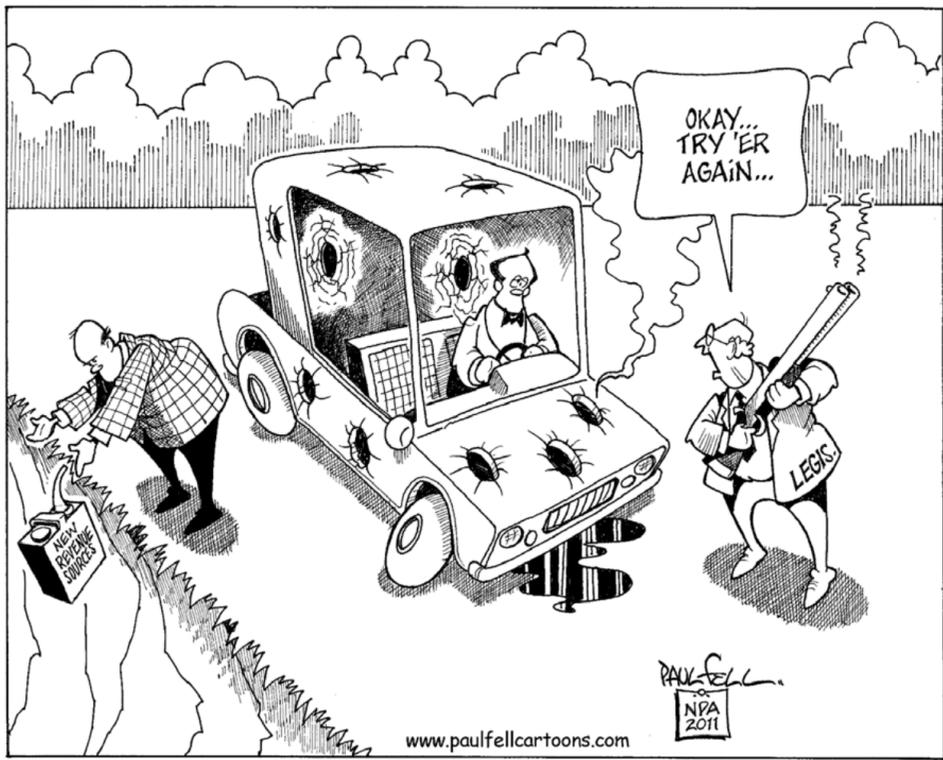

There is no guarantee that every little thing that a proposed change in law will make is going to be noticed, even if it gets past a committee hearing and goes before the full Legislature.

Once upon a time the one-line description contained on the front of a bill simply said it would add one additional judge to the then-Court of Industrial Relations. In the bowels of the bill some sections were stricken and a few words were added. Closer examination showed that the one judge was being added to the court because the measure would have expanded workers' compensation coverage to thousands more workers.

It's particularly important to watch for bills that contain a single sentence which simply states: "Sec. (4) of thus-and-such statute is repealed." Someone could lose a tax exemption or worse (if there is anything worse) if no one is awake and on duty when bills advance.

The Big Ones Are Carefully Observed

Naturally, attention is focused especially on major proposals of central importance to major issues of the day. And the 2011 Legislature has plenty of those to study. None loom as large as the potential revenue shortfall of some $1 billion for the coming two-year budget period.

Although Gov. Dave Heineman and most lawmakers have made clear their opposition to even the thought of higher taxes, there also needs to be consideration of proposals that could reduce tax revenues for state or local governments.

One example: A measure (LB33) sponsored by Sen. LeRoy Loudon, a Sandhills cattle rancher, would enhance the property tax breaks provided for agricultural and horticultural land. It would reduce the percentage of valuation on the land subject to taxation.

Local governments are understandably sensitive to any action by the Legislature that might reduce local tax revenues. That could be especially true at a time when lawmakers will consider reducing the amount of state dollars sent to school districts - dollars intended, in part, to help hold down increases in local property taxes.

Two pending measures would substantially reduce state aid to schools. Offered by Sen. Greg Adams of York, chairman of the Education Committee: LB235 would reduce state aid for the 2011-12 school year to some $840 million; LB236 would reduce it to $800 million.

Compare that to the $950 million in state aid going to schools this year. Also note that the state's share of that figure is just $810 million. The other $140 million reflects a portion of Nebraska's benefit from the federal stimulus package.

Legislative Update Bills being introduced in Legislature

The second week of the legislative session has ended, and most of our time was spent introducing bills. As of last Friday, 473 bills have been introduced this year. I have not introduced any bills to date, but will have at least one bill for the Legislature to consider this year. I am still gathering information on the proposal, and will explain it in detail next week. Generally speaking, bills are only introduced during the first ten days of the legislative session.

Gov. Dave Heineman gave his State of the State speech to the Legislature last week. The governor proposed a two-year budget for the senators to consider. The Appropriations Committee will spend the next four months reviewing this budget and holding hearings with all state agencies. A compromise budget will then be presented to the entire Legislature at the end of April. My colleagues and I have spent the last few days reviewing the materials from Governor Heineman, and attending meetings to discuss the ramifications of the various budget proposals.

As many of you know, I am a Veteran and my son, Mark, is currently serving in Afghanistan. With that in mind, I want our young men and women serving in the Armed Forces of the United States to know that District 17 fully supports them and their families. To that end, I would like to create an active resource of all members of the Armed Forces from Dakota, Dixon and Wayne Counties currently serving on active duty stateside or abroad. Data I would like to include in this active resource is each person's name, rank, branch of service, current mailing address and also their home address of their parents and/or spouse.

My intent is to make contact with each member and express our appreciation for their service to America and to let each know that we in District 17 are ready and willing to assist them in any way we reasonably can. If at all possible a wallet-sized photo of your loved one in uniform would be welcomed to create a "Heroes Wall" in our office.

To avoid any conflict, I am asking families to provide the above information to our office only after you have verified through your loved one that he/she grants permission that our office may have their contact information. It is imperative that the general public, in District 17, serve as the eyes and ears of this office and relay the needs, concerns and interests of its citizens to our office.

December Character Counts Students of the Month at Wayne Elementary School pose with their certificates following a recent assembly.

Character students recognized at Wayne Elementary School

Wayne Elementary School celebrated December birthdays and Students of the Month in the monthly assembly on Dec. 21.

The Character Connections word for December and January is CARING. Ms. Sudmann, Counselor, and Mr. Schrunck, Principal, noted that the students show caring in many ways each day.

Students in first grade sponsored a "sock drive" to collect socks for the less fortunate in the community. All grades participated with the Wayne State College Early Childhood Association drive to collect spare change and items needed for Haven House clients.

Students at Wayne Elementary show a lot of caring every day. Students are frequently observed helping a classmate pick up when a pencil box is dropped or offering to help a teacher carry things. Recently, a kindergartner was crying on the bus and an older student was very sympathetic and helped the younger student to get to the office where the problem could be resolved.

"This is the kind of caring that Wayne Elementary students demonstrate and it makes our school a wonderful place to be," Ms. Sudmann said.

Character Connections Students of the Month for December include:

Kindergarten: Rockhill — Brogan Foote; Meyer — Matthew Ladely; Heikes — Ella Leseberg.

First grade: Thomas — Kaden Kratke; Maas — Maddox Miller; Ostrand — Leanne Westphal.

Second grade: Suehl — Edwin Vahlkamp; Jodi Lutt — Kaytin Markvicka; Jaixen — Nolan Hunke.

Third grade: Garvin — Gunnar Jorgenson; Wendte — Autumn Avery; Hansen — Makayla Heithold

Fourth grade: Hix — Maysn Dorey; Janke — Courtney Klug; Wall — Marrison Lutt.

Faith Regional receives accreditation with commendation for cancer services

The Commission on Cancer (CoC), a consortium of the American College of Surgeons (ACoS), has granted a Three-Year Accreditation with Commendation to Faith Regional Health Services for its cancer services.

The facility received the accreditation following an on-site evaluation by a physician surveyor during which Faith Regional demonstrated a Commendation level of compliance with one or more standards that represent the full scope of the cancer program (cancer committee leadership, cancer data management, clinical services, research, community outreach, and quality improvement). In addition, Faith Regional received a compliance rating for all other standards.

"Faith Regional Health Services is very proud to receive this accreditation, especially to have received five commendations which are awarded to less than half of all surveyed programs," stated Matthew Steen, interim director of the Carson Cancer Center. "This accreditation not only validates that Faith Regional provides top-tier oncology services but also gives us a partner going forward to ensure we are always on the forefront of cancer care."

The Accreditation Program, a component of the CoC, sets quality-of-care standards for cancer programs and reviews the programs to ensure they conform to those standards. Accreditation by the CoC is given only to those facilities that have voluntarily committed to providing the highest level of quality cancer care and that undergo a rigorous evaluation process and review of their performance. To maintain accreditation, facilities with CoC-accredited cancer programs must undergo an on-site review every three years.

There are currently around 1,400 CoC-accredited cancer programs in the US and Puerto Rico, representing close to 25 percent of all hospitals.

"As Cancer Physician Liaison, my main goals are to keep the CoC approval by continuously improving the quality of cancer care, promulgating the CoC initiatives at the local levels and strengthening relationships with the American Cancer Society to reduce the burden of cancer in the community," commented Dr. Rabih Fahed, an oncologist from Norfolk Oncology Consultants who provides medical oncology services at the Carson Cancer Center and serves as the Cancer Physician Liaison to Faith Regional's Cancer Committee.

Receiving care at a CoC-accredited cancer program ensures that a patient will have access to:

- Comprehensive care, including a range of state-of-the-art services and equipment.

- A multispecialty, team approach to coordinate the best treatment options.

- Information about ongoing clinical trials and new treatment options.

- Access to cancer-related education and support.

- A cancer registry that collects data on type and stage of cancers and treatment results and offers lifelong patient follow-up.

- Ongoing monitoring and improvement of care.

- Quality care close to home.

"A limited number of hospitals are accredited nationwide," added Dr. Fahed. "Faith Regional's accreditation is a big asset to Madison County and other surrounding counties in Northeast Nebraska."

A number of departments and physicians at Faith Regional are dedicated to improving survival rates and quality of life for cancer patients. For more information about the cancer services provided at Faith Regional, visit www.frhs.org.

Optimist Club learns about theater project during regular meeting

The Wayne Optimist Club met Jan. 11 at the Coffee Shoppe.

Kim Dunklau opened the meeting by introducing Reggie Yates, who spoke to the group about the formation of the new movie theater Majestic.

Some interesting facts were that the theater has only had three names. It was built in 1929 and named Gay Theater. In 1985 it was renovated to have two movie theaters and called the Twin Theater. In 2008 the Wayne Area Economic Development purchased the theater from Jack March the owner, completely renovated it and on Dec. 18, 2010 it opened its doors as the Majestic.

Reggie shared how many volunteer hours went into completely gutting the theater and putting all new walls, ceiling and insulation as well as new movie equipment, chairs and concession stand. They are proud of the acoustics and sound system. Without the help of Wayne Area Economic Development funds, grants and the many local people who donated funds for this project, it wouldn't be possible.

Because this is a nonprofit project, movie goers only are charged $4 or $6 if it is 3D. Any group wishing to raise money is welcome to have access to the concession stand, which will cut down on personnel.

Wayne State College donated funds to the project, indicates that they are working closely with the community for this to be a successful venture.

Wayne Community Theater plans to make use of the facility as well by providing performances about four times a year at the theater. Dinner theater activities will also be available. Any group wishing to have an event is welcome, but they will need to provide their own catering.

It was reported that the Krafts For Kids was a project worthy to continue another year and that the fund raising soup supper before the Christmas Parade of Lights was also a success.

Members were reminded of the District Optimist meeting at WSC which will be Jan. 14 - 15. The Coffee Shoppe will be the meeting place with soup and sandwiches Friday evening. There will be games for those interested provided by Scot Saul and Mike Varley. The meeting will take place at the Frey Conference Room from 7:30 a.m. to 7 pm. on Saturday.

Jessica VonFange reported that a JOOI group has been formed at Wayne High School and it will be begin this month. She will report to the group at a later date how it is progressing. JOOI stands for Junior Optimist Octagon International and is a service-learning organization. It is an all-inclusive youth organization that embraces the positive values of optimism, respect for self and others.

Plans are being formulated for a Valentines Bingo party using sixth grade classes at The Oaks and Careage.

It was announced that a family get together will be held Sunday, Jan. 23 at Bob Wriedt home at 5:30 p.m. Members are encouraged to bring one hot dish and one other dish (salad or dessert). Wriedts will furnish place settings and beverages.

Planetarium to show 'The Enchanted Reef'

The Wayne State College planetarium is hosting "The Enchanted Reef" (KALUOKA'HINA) on Sundays Jan. 23, Feb. 6 and Feb. 20 at 3:30 p.m.

This planetarium show includes a story and animated characters suitable for audiences with ages, 0 to 10 years. The vastness of the planet's oceans guards unimaginable secrets. One of its most precious is "Kaluoka'hina," the enchanted reef whose magic protects it against humans finding it.

Kaluoka'hina's colorful inhabitants have lived in peace until the volcano erupts. The young sawfish, Jake, and his paranoid pal, Shorty, work to restore the magic of Kaluoka'hina. Their only lead is an ancient legend that tells of touching the moon. "How is a fish supposed to touch the moon?" is just one of the intriguing puzzles that Jake and Shorty must solve on their exciting adventure to save their beloved reef.

The planetarium has 10 full-dome shows for adults and children. Please find information on these shows and future shows at: www.wsc.edu/planetarium/

For more information, contact Dr. Todd Young at (402) 375-7471.

The meeting closed with the Optimist Creed. The next meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 8 at the Coffee Shoppe at 6 p.m. Optimists are always open for ways to serve our youth in the community and welcome input as to what we can do to fill this need by bringing out the best in Kids. Anyone wanting to know more about Optimist may contact the President Kim Dunklau at (402) 369-1696 or Board member Bob Wriedt at (402) 375-2569.

Jessica Schenck, Sarah Wibben, Mikey Reyes and Dakota Schenck are experimenting with their newly created pencil tops at the Wayne Public Library program on Jan 15.

Library hosts Saturday, Wednesday programs

The Wayne Public Library's Wednesday and Saturday programs for children have begun. Wednesday morning's language development classes are for infants, toddlers, parents and caregivers. Each week at 10:30 a.m. library staff focuses on different themes, using rhymes, song rhythm and movement, ending with a simple craft, or focal item. This week will be beginning sounds using the letter "P" and popcorn.

The Saturday programs are for preschool and school age children focusing on broader topics. Programs from Jan. 15 - March 19 theme lessons will be: inventions, hugs, dragon tea, teeth, kazoo, glad hats, sunglasses, carnival days, teeny tiny tales, GIANT adventures and gumdrops.

In addition, each week those in attendance will learn a new way to use the library. There will also be activities all day on National Puzzle Day, Jan. 29, Valentine crafts from 2-4 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 10 and in March and April special events to celebrate Read Across America Day, Mardi Gras and Easter.

For more information on any of these programs you may call 402-375-3135, or visit the library under departments on the City of Wayne's website www.cityofwayne.org

Champions

Deb Allen and Ryan Wheeler were the winners of the Wayne Eagles Club Mid Season Pool League Tournament. Finishing in second place were Kasey Otte and Heath Dewald; third place finishers were Kevin Potter and Larry Luders and fourth place went to Tom Hattig and Robbie Allen.

Lots of hair

Twelve year old Danica Schaefer recently made her third donation to Locks of Love. She had 14 inches of hair cut by Wendy Ping at the Undercut. The Wayne Middle School seventh grader generally lets her hair grow long enough to make the donation. Donated hair is used to help disadvantaged children suffering from long-term hair loss medical conditions.

Free throw experts

'In Tune with Food and Fitness' to be offered

For those who have tried every diet around without success, a new approach is available. "In Tune with Food & Fitness," a class offered by UNL Extension, is designed to help participants get back in touch with skills they need for healthy living. "This class is not a diet class nor is it an exercise class," explained Extension Educator Becky Versch, one of the coordinators. "It's about slowing down and getting back in touch with the cues our bodies send to help us monitor both our eating and our exercise."

Registration began Dec. 15 and the class begins Feb. 3. Nebraskans can participate in the weekly sessions from their home computers or, in some areas, at their local Extension office. We will be hosting a class at the Haskell Ag Lab in Concord for those that would like group support along with the on-line class. The Hartington office is sponsoring one as well. This web site also has a list of locations where individuals or groups can take part in the program, if they would rather participate with a group. You can also form your own group in your neighborhood or workplace.

In Tune with Food and Fitness will consist of weekly webinars each Thursday from 12-1 p.m. for six weeks (Feb. 3 through March 10). Archived sessions will be available for those who want to watch it later at their convenience.

In either case, a web browser, such as Internet Explorer or Mozilla Firefox, is the only software needed. The on-line sessions make use of the UNL Blackboard system, where participants can have interactive discussions with other class members and extension personnel.

Registration runs through Jan. 25, 2011, after which the registration fee increases by $5. Online registration is available at go.unl.edu/intune. Credit cards are accepted. Registration forms also can be downloaded from the same website. These forms can be printed, filled out, and mailed in with payment.

The $25 registration fee includes a wellness kit (a fitness DVD, exercise stretch bands, and a journal) and postage to reinforce lessons.

The class will help individuals learn attitudes and skills they need for healthy, pleasurable living. The focus will truly be on a health-centered approach, rather than being just on weight control. The class will examine eating styles and how eating styles affect eating habits. Participants will explore ways to cope with emotions without using food and they'll learn to "honor hunger" by monitoring portion sizes and recognizing when they're hungry and full.

"Understanding and recognizing the difference between being content, full and stuffed is an important tool," said Extension Nutrition Specialist Lisa Franzen-Castle, "and In Tune can help people truly honor their hunger and fullness." The series also will address the importance of physical activity.

"Physical activity should be something you enjoy doing, and In Tune will help people discover and explore activities that will help get them excited and motivated to be more active," Franzen-Castle said.

If you have questions, give us a call at the Extension Office in Dixon County (402) 584-2234 or you can go to the online registration go.unl.edu/intune.

Pellatz - Haisch married in December ceremony

Amy Pellatz and Robert Haisch, both of Lincoln, were married Dec. 12, 2010 at St. Ludger's Catholic Church in Creighton.

Father Walter Nolte officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Doug and Ann Pellatz of Plainview and Irvin and Paula Haisch of Concord.

Music was provided by organist Mardene Dalton and vocalists DeAnna Mungaard and Delane Dalton. Musical selections included "Ave Maria" and "Our Father."

Stephanie Moorberg was candle-lighter and Bud Josnoch, great-uncle, served as lector.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore an asymmetrical ivory pick-up gown of stain and tulle. It featured a pleated surplice bodice, beaded metallic embroidered lace and chapel train. She wore a veil of ivory tulle with meaded metallic embroidered lace and carried a bouquet of gold roses with gold and purple tiger lilies.

Matron of Honor was Amanda Baird of Norfolk, friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Dana Hedrick of Omaha, Traci Kruid, friends of the bride; Megan Jensen of Lincoln, friend of the couple; and Kim Ocampo of Laurel, sister of the groom.

The women wore lapis colored satin, strapless ball gowns with a sparking brooch and side-drape skirt. They carried bouquets of gold roses and gold and purple tiger lilies.

Alina Gourney of San Francisco, Calif., cousin of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a gown of ivory satin with an empire waist and carried an ivory flower basket with purple petals.

Best Man was Matthew Hoebelheimrich of Lincoln, friend of the groom.

Groomsmen were Jared Schmadeke and Aaron Schaad of Lincoln, friends of the groom and Doug Pellatz, Jr. and Ethan Pellatz of Lincoln, brothers of the bride.

The groom wore a black pinstripe tuxedo with white tie and pocket square. The groomsmen wore black pinstripe tuxedos with purple ties, vests and pocket squares.

Taven Ocampo of Laurel, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer. Ushers were Bill Haisch of Omaha, brother of the groom; and Adam Schieffer of Lincoln.

A reception was held at Drover's Steakhouse in Creighton.

Host couples were Bill and Bev Mourbers and Randy and Gayle Pelletz, aunts and uncles of the bride.

Cassie Smutny and Jennifer Martens were in charge of the guest book.

Sue Kallhoff, Diana Borer and Rhonda Pollock cut and served cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Haisch

The bride is a graduate of Plainview High School and the University of Nebraska. She will earn a Master's degree in Speech Language Pathology from UNL in May of 2011. She is currently student teaching at Wahoo Public School.

The groom is a graduate of Laurel-Concord High School and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He is a production engineer for Nebreaka Educational Television.

The couple is currently at home in Lincoln and will take a honeymoon cruise next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kvols

Dugan - Kvols wed in Laurel ceremony

Cassandra Dugan and Tyler Kvols were married Sept. 4, 2010 at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel.

Pastor William Engelbretsen officiated at the 4:30 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Norma Dugan and Rod and Susan Kvols.

The bride wore an A-line satin gown with a chiffon overlay. Flowers for the wedding were Hydrangeas in the bride's chosen colors of purple and baby blue.

Maid of Honor was Chrysta Dugan, sister of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Courtney Hastings, sister of the bride; Corinna Justice, sister of the bride; and Shana Del Toro, friend of the bride.

Best Man was Ryan Kvols, brother of the groom.

Groomsmen were Jared Kvols, brother of the groom; Greg Kvols, cousin of the groom; and Brandon Dugan, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the Wayne Auditorium following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Junck

Juncks to note 65th anniversary

Arnold and Ivy (Hesemann) Junck of Wayne, formerly of the Carroll community, will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Feb. 1.

A card shower in their honor has been requested by the family.

The couple was married Feb. 1, 1946 at Wayne.

Their children include Jerry and Sharon Junck of Wayne and Mesa, Ariz.; Dennis and Nancy Junck of Carroll and Kathy and Chuck Rutenbeck of Wayne. They have nine grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and one great-great grandchild.

Cards may be sent to the couple at Apt. 306, Box 21, 1500 Vintage Hill Drive, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

Close to Home

Wendy Vawser Residential Sales

Selling your existing house; should you buy the next one, or sell the existing house first? Your decision should be based on the current market conditions. In today's market, buyers have a stronger position than sellers simply because of the number of properties moving. In this type of market it is more financially safe to sell your existing house before buying the next one.

Advantages of selling first:

1. You have cash ready to purchase the next house. This makes you a very strong buyer.
2. You do not have to worry about being pressured to take less for your house because you are in a hurry to sell.
3. As a seller you can ask for a longer closing period to give you more time to find a new home.

Disadvantage of selling first:

1. If your home sells, you may need to find a place to stay while you are looking for your next home. But remember you have the power to determine how quickly your home sells!

So while there are many things to consider, think about the market and who holds the power. Since you will be both buyer and seller at some point, you want to make yourself as strong as possible in the weakest area. The stronger position will take care of itself.

I would love to hear your thoughts on this column and future requests.

Catholic Schools Week to be observed in Wayne

Catholic Schools Week is being observed throughout the nation from Jan. 30 through Feb. 5, using the theme, "A+ for America Catholic Schools."

According to Mark Evotivich, head teacher at St. Mary's Catholic School in Wayne, "St. Mary's School of Wayne strives to provide the best education in the best environment. We have been teaching and living our Christian faith and Catholic heritage for over 50 years. Our teachers and staff are dedicated to providing children with a faith-filled education."

Special activities are being planned throughout the week at

Praise Assembly of God schedules weekend events

Praise Assembly of God Church in Wayne will be holding Adult Sunday School Class on Sunday, Jan. 23, at the 9:30 a.m. The class will be studying Psalm 128 — another in the "Songs of Ascents" series. The Psalm concentrates on the blessing that follows the one who "fears the Lord."

In the morning worship service, which begins at 10:30 a.m. with Praise and worship, will be the final service when the "interim pastor" and his wife, Rev. David and Dee Stitt from Hastings will be with the congregation.

He will be preaching a message which is appropriate for this special Sunday in the life of the church, and then there will be a time of prayer for all who attend.

A fellowship dinner will follow the service, at which time Pastor Dave and his wife will be honored in some appropriate ways by the congregation.

Pastor Dave will leave early in February for a two-month Missions trip in the Orient.

The evening service at 6:30 p.m. will open with a time of Praise and Worship. Phil and Sherry Pfaltzgraff will be in charge of this service.

The community is invited to attend Praise Assembly of God Church, a Pentecostal Church affiliated with the Assemblies of God, headquarters in Springfield, Mo. The church is located at 1000 East 10th Street in Wayne.

Free concert scheduled at Wayne State

Cross Rock Ministries, in partnership with Campus Crusade, has announced a free concert open to all ages.

This free event will be held on Thursday, Jan. 27 at 9 p.m. in Ramsey Theater at Wayne State College.

It will feature the band "The Radiance Effect" and special guest Sean Lea from Springfield, Mo. Lee will be kicking off the night with some acoustic music, and The Radiance Effect will turn up the heat and end the night in a rocking fashion.

Those planning to attend the concert can come a little earlier and enjoy the regular Campus Crusade for Christ meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the same location. The Radiance Effect will be playing some songs during that time as well. Refreshments will be available, provided by The Oasis Coffeehouse (www.oasiscoffeehouse.webs.com)

For more information, you can go online to www.crossrocklive.com or call (502) 649-1924.

Manage cattle in cold weather this winter

Bitter cold temperatures and extremes in wind chills likely will continue this winter in the High Plains and upper Midwest regions

Mr. and Mrs. Cull

Culls to note golden anniversary Jan. 28

Leigh and Dorothy (Lentz) will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Friday, Jan. 28.

Their family has requested a card shower in honor of the occasion.

Leigh is a retired school administrator, starting his career in 1956 in Page before moving to Belden, Leigh, Gretna, Stanton and retiring in Morrill in 1992. Dorothy enjoys quilting and visiting at the care center.

They have three sons, Paul and Ginny of Scottsbluff, Daniel and Barb of Omaha and Clark of Council Bluffs, Iowa and two grandchildren.

Cards may be sent to the honorees at 509 Crescent Drive, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

of the U.S.

These conditions are particularly stressful for groups of cattle that have not adequately acclimated to such conditions, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln beef specialist said.

The most susceptible animals are newborn calves in cow-calf operations and new cattle arriving in feedlots, said Terry Mader, UNL beef cattle specialist at the Haskell Agricultural Laboratory near Concord. Cattle that lack body condition for insulation also may be at risk from cold weather.

"Most cattle can easily handle cold weather conditions if they are dry and maintain dry hair coats, even if temperatures are sub-zero," Mader said. "The most adverse conditions occur around freezing (32 degrees) when cattle get wet and the pens turn sloppy and muddy. The presence of moisture or mud on the animal draws heat from the animal's body at a much faster rate than when the animal is drier in extreme cold temperatures."

One plus for cattle producers and feeders, Mader said, is that since cold temperatures and some snow have been around for several weeks, most cattle are generally already acclimated to current conditions.

Mader said the ideal wintertime temperatures for feedlot cattle are around 20 degrees. At these temperatures, the snowfall that does occur is normally drier and will blow off the animal. Feedlot surfaces also remain firm and allow cattle easier access to feed bunks.

"Most cattle by this time in the winter have developed their winter coats and are able to withstand wind chills well below zero," Mader said.

Healthy, dry, well-conditioned and well-fed cattle can handle wind chills of minus-40 degrees Fahrenheit, but tissue damage may start to occur when wind chills drop to around minus-60 degrees Fahrenheit.

There are a number of things that can be done in feedyards and other cattle holding areas both before and after major weather events.

Mader recommends that managers smooth or knock down rough frozen pen surfaces with a blade or harrow. Sharp edges that form when cattle tracks freeze can cause bruising of the feet which can lead to foot injury.

"When pen surfaces are rough, cattle don't make their way to feed or water often enough, which can cause decreased performance," he said.

Bedding such as wheat straw, corn cobs, or corn stalks also can be used to help insulate cattle from the cold ground during severe cold outbreaks.

Mader said these are better for bedding than hay-like materials because they are less palatable. Cattle will be less likely to eat the bedding and more likely to stay on the ration provided in the bunks.

In feed yards, apply bedding after feeding to minimize bedding consumption.

Accumulation of snow in the pens can cause cattle bunching or piling on, which can lead to increased death losses. Therefore, when heavy snowfall or drifting snow does occur, Mader recommends removing the snow from the pens before the next storm arrives.

It is important to keep feedlot animals from going off feed during even the worst of weather conditions, Mader said. Erratic feed intake can result in digestive problems and loss of performance, possibly even death in severe cases.

Cattle that are within 30 to 45 days of slaughter are particularly prone to go off feed and can be difficult to get back on feed. Moving cattle to a higher roughage, storm ration may be advisable to keep the cattle on feed, even though UNL studies have shown that more energy in the form of grain is needed to maintain performance.

Depending on shelter provided, it may be better to sacrifice a little performance initially to prevent the entire pen from going off feed.

Finally, current feed cost suggest that it is cheaper to keep an animal dry, through good maintenance of pens and use of bedding, versus trying to feed the animal extra feed that will be required for maintenance if the animal has a wet or partial wet hair coat.

For more information, contact Mader at (402) 584-3812.

Several factors influencing forecast, keep track of soil moisture this spring

While dry conditions resulted in an early harvest last year, it's important farmers monitor soil moisture this spring as dry weather could spell trouble for the 2011 planting season, the University of Nebraska-Lincoln state climatologist said.

While Al Dutcher, state climatologist at UNL, said he isn't predicting the state will fall back into a drought, people should be aware of the potential.

The state is already about two inches below normal on average precipitation this fall and winter.

"With December, January and February only representing seven percent of the state's total precipitation, it may be difficult to make this up," Dutcher said.

However, one piece of good news — the reservoir situation is excellent.

"With winter storm activity across the western U.S., we've seen some very encouraging snowfall totals, including north central Colorado and within the Platte River Valley of south central Wyoming," he said.

The Seminole Reservoir within the Platte River Valley basin system in Wyoming is at 83 percent of capacity. Other reservoirs in the system are Pathfinder at just under 77 percent full and Glendo at just under 70 percent full.

"This leaves right around 500,000 acre feet of room available for runoff, and a normal runoff year would fill those up, and we would expect to see some downstream releases into Lake McConaughy," Dutcher said.

Lake McConaughy is at 84 percent of capacity, and it needs to be kept below 90 percent of capacity.

"So, depending on how this winter goes and if the central and northern Rockies keep getting these storms, we'll see above normal snow pack in the basin and would expect to see above normal inflows and releases on water," he said. "We should expect to see high flows into the spring season downstream from Lake McConaughy regardless of what happens in terms of precipitation."

In addition, even though conditions have been dry the last 90 to 180 days, the state could still see flooding problems this spring.

This will depend largely on winter and spring temperatures, ice and freeze/thaw cycles.

A major contributor to this winter's forecast is La Nina. This will enhance the northern jet stream pattern. In addition, there is a persistent blocking of the high pressure system over the north Atlantic, called north Atlantic oscillation.

"That high pressure system is exceptionally strong this winter and as it strengthens it creates a blocking pattern for any piece of energy moving into the eastern U.S.," he said. That is why there has been such large trough patterns in the eastern U.S., and why that region has been cold during the last 30-day period.

This, coupled with a robust La Nina, means current patterns may continue this winter.

Dutcher said the good news is that conditions should not be similar to last year's heavy snowfall.

"While there is always a chance we'll have a good snow storm here, it should be nothing like last year," he said.

Dutcher said the forecasts also will vary depending on if the La Nina event continues through summer and into next year.

Half of La Nina events are multi-year, but it will take a couple more months of watching the current event to see if it will continue or have any residual effects.

If the state doesn't experience heavy spring rains, it may not be able to make soil moisture up. Dutcher said March is important. If March is dry, the state will need exceptional moisture to develop into April and have that carry through to summer.

"Of course, anytime we talk about excess spring moisture, we talk planting delays," Dutcher said. However, planting delays shouldn't be a problem this year as the La Nina system typically brings cool and dry conditions during February through late April.

"If we are dry during May and June, it doesn't bode well for dryland farmers and will require irrigators to put on more water," he said. However, Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District indicated in October that a full allocation of 18 inches of available water is planned for its irrigation users.

Producers should try to get a good handle on their soil moisture conditions by taking soil moisture measurements across their fields. It also may be a good idea for dryland producers to adequately protect themselves with crop insurance.

Pageant winner makes writer proud

You know, as we get older, we seem to cry less, but at different things. I find myself with tears in my eyes at the silliest things sometimes. I experienced it last Saturday night, when Miss Nebraska was crowned Miss America.

I don't have much use for these pageants, especially when they start with little girls. Remember the little gal from Colorado, whose murder has never been solved? I found the pictures and videos of her in makeup, performing at pageants, rather sad.

I'm afraid I'm in the club with the feminists who say they are focusing on all the wrong things for women. I'm put off by all the hair coloring, makeup, barely there swim suits, and some of the revealing evening gowns.

But the Miss America pageant does seem to have a better reputation. And our own Kelly Meierhenry was in it as Miss Florida several years ago, which made us all proud. The son of a nurse classmate manages the state pageant in North Platte every year, so we pay attention to it.

Mike usually tunes into it. He and Ann used to try to pick the

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

final five during the talent division. And they got pretty good at it. Last Saturday evening, I was in my recliner, reading, as usual, when he hollered that Miss Nebraska was in the top ten. Well, that doesn't happen very often, so I joined him in front of the TV.

She played a wicked version of Chop Sticks, looked glamorous in a white gown, gave an answer I would have to agree with regarding WikiLeaks, and then she was in the final five. I kept thinking, "she's only 17 years old, for Pete's sake!"

Of course, they dragged the final announcements out for dramatic effect, and it came down to our little gal from Gering and the ventriloquist from Arkansas. As Mike Kelly says in today's World Herald, when they announced that the new Miss America was - Miss Nebraska, we yelled just as if we had made the winning touchdown. And I had those tears, just a few, but they were there. In fact, I have them now, as I relive the moment.

After the volleyball team didn't make it to the Final Four, and the football team bombed in the bowl game, and the basketball team almost, but just almost, beat Kansas, we had something to cheer about. And we wish her the best, feeling fairly confident that she will reach her goals of being an attorney and on the Supreme Court someday. After all, Judith Meierhenry is the first female on the South Dakota state Supreme Court. It can happen!

Livestock Market Report

The Nebraska Livestock Market conducted a fat cattle sale on Friday.

The market was steady on all classes. There were 200 head sold. Strictly choice fed steers, $102 to $105. Good and choice steers, $100 to $102. Medium and good steers, $98 to $102. Standard steers, $78 to $82. Strictly choice fed heifers, $102 to $105. Good and choice heifers, $100 to $102. Medium and good heifers, $98 to $100. Standard heifers, $70 to $80.

Beef cows, $57 to $60. Utility cows, $60 to $67 Canner and cutters, $50 to $57. Bologna bulls, $70 to $77.

The fed cattle sale was held on Thursday at the Nebraska Livestock Market in Norfolk.

The market was higher on the 1,050 head sold.

Know firewood facts before purchasing

Just a reminder that the first local private pesticide applicator training in the area will be at the Pender Fire Hall with two trainings on Monday, Jan. 24 at 1:30 and 6:30 p.m. Contact your local extension office for more dates or go to nerec.unl.edu for these and other meeting schedules.

The old saying is "there's no fool like an old fool" which could easily apply to me, but there is "no fuel like an old fuel". Relaxing around a warm, crackling fireplace is an enjoyable way to spend a cold winter evening. As Nebraskans begin stoking their fireplaces, however, they should keep a few wood burning tips in mind to get the most for their money. Forester Dennis Adams supplies these tips.

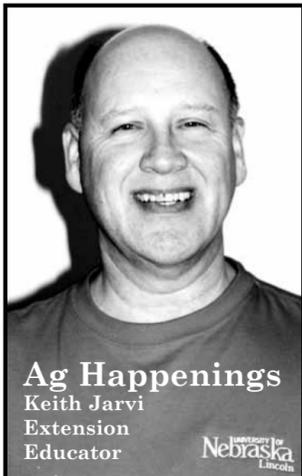

Firewood can vary widely in measurement units and quality. The standard unit of measure for firewood is the cord, a stack 4 feet by 4 feet by 8 feet, or 128 cubic feet of wood, bark and air space. Depending on how logs are stacked, only 60 to 110 cubic feet may be solid wood.

Other common units of volume when selling wood include face-cord, rick and pickup load, but they may be deceiving. A face-cord or rick usually is considered a stack of wood 8 feet long and 4 feet high, but the width can vary from between 12 to 30 inches.

A pickup load can mean almost anything, depending on the size of the pickup's bed and the height to which the wood is stacked. To compare prices, use cubic foot volume as the basis.

To get the most wood for your money, look for round, un-split wood. Round wood has more solid wood content per cord than split wood. Split wood that is loosely stacked or contains crooked pieces may contain about one third less than a tight cord of round wood. An average diameter of 6 inches is satisfactory for most uses.

Remember that green (wet) wood

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator

shrinks when it dries. This shrinkage can reduce the volume of a cord by 8 to 10 percent. When you buy green wood, you are paying for an extra 10 to 13 cubic feet of airspace. Green wood produces only about 60 percent as much heat as dry wood because a great amount of heat energy is required to evaporate water from green wood. Green wood should be allowed to air-dry for 6 to 12 months to reach moisture content (15-20 percent) suitable for adequate burning.

Stack stove or fireplace wood outside and away from the house to prevent any insects in it from entering the house. Place two logs on the ground so that the first row is safely off the ground. For long pieces (up to 2 feet or so), stack up to 6 feet high. For shorter pieces, four feet should be the maximum. Prevent the ends of the stack from falling away by driving a post into the ground at each end of the stack and possibly bracing it with an angled board.

Tree species primarily influence quality. Each species burns differently. Hard, heavy woods such as hickory and oak burn slowly and produce short flames. Soft, light woods such as cottonwood, willow and pine produce large flames and burn rapidly. Generally, the hard heavy woods are considered better firewood because they produce more heat per unit of volume than the lighter woods.

Whether firewood is purchased or cut, be sure the wood is dry when burned. Due to high energy costs, many homeowners have rediscovered wood as a fuel. One cord of heavy wood produces about the same amount of heat as one ton of coal, 165-200 gallons of fuel or 24,000 cubic feet of natural gas. Firewood has certain distinct advantages: It burns clean, starts easily, gives quick heat and has low ash content.

The major problem with burning wood for fuel lies in the heating unit. The efficiency of a common fireplace is very low, with typically only 5-20 percent of the potential heat released into the home.

Air-tight wood burning stoves or furnaces are much more efficient in radiating heat. Modern, well-designed wood burning stoves may have a heating efficiency of 65-75 percent, with is comparable with most oil and gas burning heating units.

The amount of firewood required for the winter season depends on the size of the house, amount of insulation, climatic conditions and purpose. For occasional fireplace use, only about one-half cord of firewood per year is consumed. For constant stove or furnace use, 4 1/2 to 7 cords per year may be required.

As with most consumer goods, the price of firewood has risen in recent years. Firewood prices are also quite variable. Price often depends on species, whether it is green or dry, quantity purchased and whether it is delivered. In general, the market price for a cord of air-dry firewood, delivered, ranges from $75 to $100.

ESSAY WINNERS

The American Legion Auxiliary committee was picked to choose this year's Americanism Essay winners. The topic for the essays was "How Can I Encourage My Friends to Show Pride in Being An American."

According to the committee, all the essays were written very well and they had a hard time picking the top three. This year's winners were: First - Isabell Kumm; Second - Austin Klug, and Third - Kaylee Gill.

Kumm's first place essay will be sent on to the next level in Lincoln in March. If it is picked in Lincoln, it will go onto Grand Island.

HONOR BAND

Twenty members of the Allen Band, along with director Richard Lacy will be a part of the Wayne State College Honor Band on Saturday, Jan. 22.

The Allen band members will come together with band members from other area schools for a full day of rehearsals, ending with a late afternoon concert at 5 p.m. Students are selected by their submitted taped audition and given the opportunity to work with guest clinicians. The Allen School has won the audience attendance record for the last five years, and they would like to make it the sixth year. The concert is at 5 p.m. at Ramsey Theater at Wayne State College.
