Officers' fate still hangs on decision

Loudermill hearings held Friday, city's attorneys could have decision by week's end

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The fate of two Wayne police officers was still up in the air as of late Wednesday afternoon.

Both officers, Chief Lance Webster and Lt. Phil Shear, had closed-door Loudermill meetings with Johnson Friday at the city office. They met with Johnson and their attorneys to present the officers' side of the matter.

The two members of the local law enforcement agency have been on paid suspension since Feb. 17, when Johnson suspended them due to allegations of misconduct within the department.

On Wednesday afternoon, Johnson told The Wayne Herald that he and the city's attorneys working on this are trying to make sure they have all their bases covered before coming to a final decision.

"We've been reviewing what we're going to do from the meetings," he told the Herald. "We are proceeding really carefully here, and our attorneys are setting the pace and we probably won't have a decision in the next day or so."

The ongoing saga, which is well into its third month, has taken a number of twists and turns within the past several days.

At last week's City Council meeting, the local board was informed that Kate Lassila, a former police dispatcher, was intending to file a claim against the city regarding her termination by Webster last fall, which was upheld on appeal by Johnson. In the claim, Lassila is asking for more than $167,000 in damages, including lost wages, compensatory damages and legal fees.

Late last week, information was discovered that Lassila had filed a similar claim with the Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission, which was rejected by the NEOC.

Documents obtained by The Wayne Herald Thursday found that, on Oct. 6, 2010, the NEOC determined that allegations of discrimination made against the city by Lassila had no merit.

"The evidence fails to support the allegations of discrimination," the commission's determination, signed by Barbara Albers, stated.

An attachment to the decision noted that there was no reasonable cause of sex and disability discrimination, nor was there reasonable cause of retaliation.

"The evidence fails to show that the Complainant was discriminated against on the basis of sex or disability when she was allegedly subjected to harassment by co-workers and supervisors," the report stated. "While the alleged comments made to the Complainant may have been inappropriate, the evidence fails to show that the comments were sufficiently severe or pervasive to have created a hostile work environment based on sex or disability.

"Furthermore," the report added, "there is no evidence to support that Complainant complained of discrimination on the basis of sex or disability to her Supervisor or other officials."

In rejecting the retaliation claim, the report stated that there was no connection between a grievance she filed against Lt. Phil Shear less than 10 days before her termination, and the decision to terminate her.

"The evidence fails to show that the Complainant was retaliated against when she was discharged after filing a grievance against a Lieutenant to her direct Supervisor for comments the Lieutenant made about her mental state. While the evidence shows that the Complainant was terminated shortly after filing a grievance, there is no evidence to suggest a causal relationship between the Complainant's protected activity and termination.

Community urged to do their part to stop sexual assault crimes

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

One in four women under the age of 21, and one in six men under the age of 18, have been the victim of a sexual assault.

It's a problem in any community and one that we must take care of, according to a presenter during the 2011 Take Back The Night rally at Wayne State College.

A reporter-estimated 30 people took part in the program last Wednesday evening, and Hanner encouraged those in the audience to do their part to help others.

"This is a large problem, and everyone it has happened to matters to someone," she said. "We have to watch out for other people. We have a responsibility to watch out for other people on campus. It's not a choice anymore. It's a responsibility."

Michelle Meyer, a counselor and academic advisor at Wayne State College who served as the event's emcee, said students are dealing with the issue of sexual assault, and some bring past problems with them to campus.

"A lot of times, we have students who come to campus who have already experienced this, either in high school or as a child," she said. "I don't know if it's happening more, but my hope is people feel comfortable coming forward and getting assistance. There are services on campus and in the community, and it's about helping people so they don't have to have this experience or don't have to carry it around."

Hanner spoke about some of the approaches people can take to avoid or prevent sexual assault.

"If you're at a party and see someone drugging somebody's drink, you can play the drunken idiot and go over and 'accidentally' knock the drink over," she said. "It's illegal for them to even have that drug, so you could also call the cops."

She said that those involved in sexual assault cases are predominantly of a certain gender and race, but it is not limited to those generalizations.

"Eighty-six percent of the time, the person assaulted is a female, but that doesn't mean men can't be sexually assaulted," she told the gathering. "More than 95 percent of the time, it's a straight white male who is the perpetrator, but that doesn't mean females

A rural Dixon family lost their home in a fire Tuesday afternoon. Seven area departments battled the blaze.

Dixon family loses home in fire

A Dixon family lost their home and most of their possessions in a fire Tuesday afternoon northeast of town.

Dixon Fire Chief Jeff Hartung said firefighters from seven area communities responded to the call within 10 minutes, but the blaze had already engulfed the house by the time the first units were on the scene.

"We were on the scene within 10 minutes after we got the call, and it was already into the roof and burning out of control," he said.

"We had plenty of people show up, but it was too far gone by the time we got there."

Hartung said the call was put in by the grandparents of the home owners, Ray and Kama Stanley, who noticed smoke coming from the west side of the house. Firefighters from Dixon, Allen, Waterbury, Laurel, Wakefield, Martinsburg and Concord responded to the mutual aid call.

Hartung said the farm house and everything inside was lost in the fire.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

City Council Meetings
Regular City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

Tornado Season - When Do We Blow the Sirens?

Sirens are outdoor warning devices for public safety. Wayne has six Civil Defense sirens located throughout the city that can be heard outside on all properties but aren't heard inside some homes. All Wayne sirens have battery back-up power in case the power goes out before a tornado is spotted and the sirens are radio controlled from our police dispatch.

Wayne fire fighters send out trained storm spotters when weather conditions or the National Weather Service indicate a tornado watch. Our police dispatchers blow one long steady siren signal to notify citizens of a tornado warning if our local fire department spotters visually confirm a tornado or the National Weather Service in Valley notifies Wayne dispatch they have spotted one on their radar. We don't blow the sirens in the case of a "tornado watch".

Cable TV Alert:
Police dispatchers will also interrupt cable TV programming in Wayne when there is a tornado warning.

Nixle Cell Phone Alerts:
You can also sign up for free direct Nixle alerts from Wayne Police dispatch to your cell phone at local.nixle.com/register/

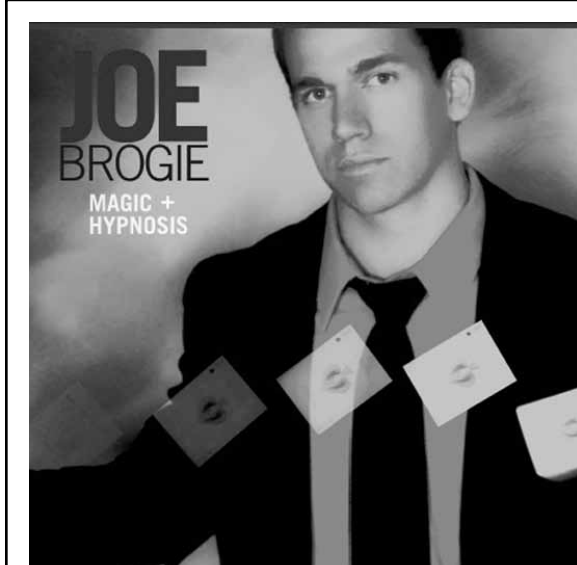

Weather Radios:
Weather radios can be purchased for home use that will be activated automatically by the National Weather Service in Valley in the event their radar indicates a tornado warning in Wayne County.

Internet Weather Sites:
American Broadband has live weather radar coverage of this area with real time maps.

Network TV:
Sioux City network TV stations carry intermittent area weather radar coverage and weather service advisories during threatening weather conditions.

Personal Responsibility:
Weather is never totally predictable. All of these help, but none of the above systems is perfect. Tornadoes don't always come on the ground from the southwest. They can form on top of us and drop down or back in from an unlikely direction. We have better warning systems than the pioneers but we still have to look out for ourselves.

Ammonia spill sends four to the hospital

The Dixon County Sheriff's Office received a 911 call at approximately 8:30 a.m. on Monday, reporting an anhydrous ammonia spill on the west side of Martinsburg.

An anhydrous ammonia tank came loose from a farm tractor, causing a hose to break. This, in turn, led to a release of ammonia.

Dixon County deputies responded to the scene to provide traffic control and town security. Fire and Rescue departments from Martinsburg, Allen, Newcastle, Ponca, Wakefield and the Dixon County Emergency Managers responded to and evacuated the town of Martinsburg.

The hazardous material team was contacted to evaluate the situation and insure safe return for the residents. An emergency shelter was set up by the Northeast Nebraska Red Cross chapter at the Ponca Fire Hall.

The residents of Martinsburg were given the all clear to return to their homes just before 1 p.m.

Celebrating Easter and Earth Day

Lou Wiltse, owner of the Plant Market, left, spoke at last week's Chamber Coffee. The event celebrated Earth Day and was complete with an Easter Egg Hunt for guests.

Officers

discussing Complainant's performance and documentation of Complainant's disciplinary probation to support the basis for her termination," the report added. "Additionally, a witness supports that the Complainant exhibited inappropriate work place behavior. Respondent has terminated other employees for the same or similar reasons as the Complainant."

Jennifer Petersen, an attorney with the Omaha law firm of Gross and Welch - Lassila's legal representation in the claim filed against the city - told the Herald last week her client has not authorized her to speak about the claim or the NEOC decision.

Attorneys for both officers refused multiple phone requests from The Wayne Herald for comment on the matter, but Phil Shear told a Sioux City television station that he is innocent of the charges brought forth by Johnson.

"I have nothing to hide, and I look forward to people being able to see exactly what is being alleged and exactly what occurred," he said.

Shear denied having an affair with a fellow staff member, but his attorney, Steven Delaney, would not allow further questioning on the issue.

Julia Shear, Shear's wife, said that a statement made by the dispatcher who was alleged to have had an affair with her husband indicated they "never had sex," according to a document in the investigation.

Attempts by The Wayne Herald to contact Webster were unsuccessful, but an e-mail obtained by the Herald, dated the day before Friday's hearing, showed Webster feels the information that has been released by the city as the reasons for the allegations against Webster and Shear is not consistent with the facts.

"One of the charges that Lowell Johnson has made against me is that I tried to fire an employee who was being sexually harassed," Webster said in the e-mail. "In the evidence provided no employee filed a complaint of sexual harassment, no employee reported being sexually harassed to me; or to my knowledge any other city official. This must be pretty important because the NEOC complaint . . . certainly appears to require such notification."

Webster added that an investigator hired by Johnson is not a licensed private investigator, and that her report shows a number of inconsistencies.

"Ms. Floth's report is rife with inaccuracies, and leaves out information that could reflect positively on either Lt. Shear or I," he said. "Everyone who has reviewed her report so far has indicated that it was tailor written for her paying client, Lowell Johnson. Don't forget, he is paying with your money!"

Webster said he is grateful for the support he has received in the community since news of his and Shear's suspension broke, and he is optimistic that a resolution to the issue will come soon.

"First and foremost I want to thank all of you who have been praying for me and my family, and the Shear family," he wrote. "Several of you have pulled me aside and offered words of support and encouragement and I cannot express how much that has meant to Peg and me. Right now the most important thing I ask each of you to do is continue to remember us in your prayers."

He also encouraged the community to contact their City Council representative to question them as to why they have not seen the evidence that has been documented so far.

"The second thing you can do is call your city council member and ask them if they have seen the 'evidence,'" he said. "According to at least one City Council member, they have not, but they should. They will tell you they can't do anything because there are lawyers involved. That's not true; as elected officials they certainly have the right to demand to see Lowell Johnson's evidence against Lt. Shear and me. In fact, the mayor has the authority to bring this entire process to a halt right now."

and people of other races can't. They can and they are. Anybody can be affected by sexual assault at any time."

The program included presentations by two members of the Peer Education Network, who used a female and male student to represent each side's thoughts in a situation where a female college student is sexually assaulted at a party. Another presentation by members of Tau Kappa Epsilon drove home the point about males respecting, not raping, women.

Megan Zoucha, program coordinator for Haven House in Wayne, felt the program went well.

"I think we went through a lot of material in a short amount of time, and we were also able to get the word out that our services are out there."

Zoucha said awareness of the problem has increased, and she said volunteers at the Haven House's three area sites have seen more clients come through the doors.

"I know there is more awareness out there, and we're getting more referrals and people are hearing about it more," she said.

Henner said she is happy with the response she has seen on college campuses across the state, particularly from the male population.

"I've been talking with more men's groups and a number of fraternities, and I've had a wonderful response from men who want to be involved and show that they're not 'those men,'" she said. "People are more aware of it now than they were, even a year ago. I love to see how the awareness is spreading."

Golf teams overcome wet spring

This spring has been just short of, well, spring.

I've been holding off on my donation to the Al Gore Oh My Gosh It's Global Warming/Retirement account. All area high school and college athletic teams have felt the pinch of cancelled contests because of Mother Nature and her continual grip on winter like conditions.

Of course one of these spring sports is my favorite and that's golf. First off, congratulations go out to the Wayne State men's golf team on a fantastic season. I know they didn't accomplish the goal they wanted, which was a trip to Regionals – especially since they had a grip on a berth in the exclusive tournament until about the final nine holes of the season.

However, you can't take away what this team did accomplish as they simply etched their names as the best college golf team in Wayne State history. Adam Fields will make his third appearance in the regional tournament. I will be doing a feature on him in the near future as the senior went out in style, posting a 10-under score at last week's Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference Meet in Phoenix, Ariz.

The squad of Fields, Tyler DeJonge, Jake Hirz, Tyler Thompson and Brett Shively had the Northern Sun and RMAC Conferences sitting up and taking notice. Congrats to Troy Harder for being named the Northern Sun Conference Coach of the Year, which is a solid bookend to a great season.

In high school golf, there seemed to be some speculation in the golf fraternity that Wayne High's return to baseball would spell doom for the golf team. NOT SO FAST! Dave Hix's team had a shaky start to the season but Monday in Albion the Blue Devils claimed championship honors in the Mid-States Conference Tournament – a feat they hadn't accomplished since 2003.

Collin Preston fired a 77 to share individual championship honors before falling in a sudden-death playoff on the second hole. What had to impress coaches Dave Hix and Terry Munson was the closeness in scoring for the Blue Devils, with four garnering all-conference honors with a top 10 finish.

Perhaps even more impressive is having three of those medal winners being underclassmen, with freshman Kaje Maly leading the way with a seventh-place medal. Ezra Brodersen, a sophomore, was eighth, and junior Sean Ganseboom finished 10th. Stretching a little further, there were 24 JV players in the division, with Wayne placing all three in the top 10 with two of those tying for runner-up honors. Two of those three are freshman and the other a sophomore.

Wayne's only two home events are next Monday and Thursday. If you love the game of golf come on our and support these guys, especially our two seniors, Collin Preston and Zach Rasmussen.

Jaycees event set for Sunday

The Wayne County Jaycees will host a free Aquafina Major League Baseball Pinch, Hit and Run competition on Sunday, May 1.

The event takes place at Hank Overin Field, with registration starting at 1:30 p.m. The skills competition is open to boys and girls, age 7-14. Winners advance to sectional competition.

For more information on the competition, contact Audra Farrington at (402) 369-1544.

Blue Devils win first MSC boys golf crown since 2003

By KEVIN PETERSON
Of the Herald

Dave Hix's Wayne golf team took part in the annual Mid-State Conference golf tournament Monday in Albion with the goal of continual improvement. Since the spring has been anything but spring-like, consistent scoring conditions have been virtually nonexistent.

One thing was certain, however – Wayne was not the pre-tournament favorite to win its first conference championship in eight years. The Blue Devils though, shrugged off mediocrity for five-and-a-half hours and cruised to a 15-stroke title over runner-up Battle Creek.

Wayne knocked 38 strokes off its best showing of the season with a 329. Hartington Cedar Catholic, most likely the favorite coming into the conference meet, settled for third at 348. Pierce was fourth with a 354 and West Point Central Catholic, fifth at 357 followed by Boone Central (382), Madison (390) and Norfolk Catholic (399).

"I'm very happy for the kids," Hix said. "This is what they are capable of doing. Coach Munson and I decided that we still had to introduce ourselves to the squad since we hadn't met this team yet."

Hix was quick to note, however, improvement is still needed.

"We showed we are on the right path but we have a ways to go," he added. "This was a true team effort for the varsity since our scoring came from a freshman, sophomore, junior and senior. We also had two freshmen and a sophomore on the JV scoring side."

Leading the Blue Devils was senior Collin Preston, who carded an even par 36 on the front nine and followed in the rain with a 41 to find himself in a playoff for individual championship honors. He fell to Battle Creek's Brad Lanman in a two-hole playoff.

Freshman Kaje Maly fired rounds of 42 and 41 for his career-best 83. He captured a seventh-place medal, while sophomore Ezra Brodersen finished eighth with an 84 on rounds of 43 and 41. Junior Sean Ganseboom was the fourth Blue Devil to earn a medal with a 10th place finish of 85 on rounds of 41 and 44.

"We had a 10-stroke lead at the turn and it started raining," Hix

Late Winside coach to be remembered at Winch Invite

The first Jim Winch Invitational track and field meet, hosted by Winside High School, will be held at the Laurel track complex on Thursday, May 5.

The meet, formerly known as the Winside Invitational, has been renamed in honor of Winch, who served as Wildcat girls track coach for 34 years from 1969 until his retirement in 2003. Winch also assumed the duties as the boys head coach in 1987.

During his tenure, the Winside girls won the Class D state runner-up trophy in 1990 and followed that up with the school's first state track championship in 1992.

Winch also coached five district championship teams, six district runner-up squads and four Lewis and Clark Conference titles on the girls side, and followed that up with two district titles and four runner-up finishes with the Wildcat boys.

The meet starts at 10 a.m. with field events, followed by a dedication ceremony at 12:30 p.m. prior to the start of the day's running events. The dedication ceremony will consist of a ceremonial cutting of the finish line tape by Del Winch, Jim's wife of 48 years, who will be assisted by former All-American Jill Stenwall, a member of the University of Nebraska-Kearney Hall of Fame.

Also participating in the dedication will be Jenny (Jacobsen) Kneifl and Melinda (Mohr) Oliver. Mohr lettered in both cross country and track at the University of Nebraska. Jacobsen and Mohr combined for nine gold medals and 24 overall in three years at the Nebraska State Track Meet.

Wildcats keep winning at home with sweeps

By TRAVIS CORLEY
Of The Herald

The Wayne State softball team ran its home winning streak to 24 games as it defeated Minnesota Crookston 7-0 and 5-4 in a doubleheader Saturday at the Pete Chapman Complex.

Katie Goetzinger struck out 13 batters and gave up only three hits in the first game.

The Wildcats first runs came in third inning after Dani Sandel doubled and scored on Blaire Kuhl's sacrifice fly.

The Wildcats increased their lead in the fifth inning after Kuhl walked and advanced the runners to bring Sandel in for another score. Samantha Earleywine was the other scorer for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats added four runs in the sixth inning. Sloan Masters was the pinch hitter for Kassie Nurton and Masters was walked. Kristen Martinson pinch-hit for Aeriell Earleywine and singled to right field, and Earleywine re-entered the game. She and Masters advanced after Natalie Rechuel pinch-hit for Sandel and recorded a hit. Sam Earleywine then singled up the middle and both runners scored, and Jennifer Radley doubled down the infield line to score Sam Earleywine.

Kuhl singled and Radley advanced to third. Crookston's pitching didn't improve, as Kuhl advanced on a throwing error and Radley scored. The final run of the game.

During the break, the Wildcats honored six seniors and their success at Wayne State. The 2011 senior class includes Kuhl, left fielder Hannah Engelkamp, Samantha Earleywine, shortstop Sarah Gottschalk, Goetzinger and Radley.

In the second game, the Wildcats were under some pressure as Crookston regrouped and put up a fight.

The Wildcats posted a three-run lead in the second inning. Radley's solo home run gave Wayne State an early 1-0 lead.

Kuhl doubled to center and later scored after Brittany Greenwood reached base on fielder's choice advancing Kuhl. After Greenwood stole a base, Nurton singled and advanced to second on a throwing error as Kuhl and Greenwood both scored.

The Wildcats were up three runs, but Crookston fought back to tie the game going into the bottom of the third. Sandel singled to left field and reached second after Sam Earleywine's sacrifice bunt. Radley was walked and advanced to second base on a passed ball. Sandel scored the Wildcats fourth run after Kuhl sacrifice fly ball.

Wildcats sweep NSIC golf honors

The Wayne State men's golf team swept Northern Sun Conference postseason awards announced by the league office.

Senior Adam Fields was named NSIC Men's Golfer of the Year, while head coach Troy Harder was selected as the league's Coach of the Year.

Fields, a senior from Sioux City, led the NSIC with a scoring average of 72.9 and was individual medalist at this year's 90-hole NSIC Tournament with a one-over par score of 356. He was selected NSIC Men's Golfer of the Week twice this season, and is coming off a 54-hole school record score of 206 after firing rounds of 68-69-69 at the RMAC Men's Spring Championships in Litchfield Park, Ariz.

It's the third straight season that Fields has been named to the NSIC All-Conference Men's Golf Team. He was also announced Friday afternoon as an individual qualifier for the NCAA Div. II Central/West Regional in Albuquerque, N.M., marking the third straight season that Fields has qualified for the NCAA Div. II national tournament.

Harder was selected by fellow coaches as the NSIC Men's Golf Coach of the Year after leading the Wildcats to a second-place finish at this year's conference tournament, marking the best-ever finish for a Wildcat men's golf team at the said. "We felt that would be to our advantage. Our rain gear (thanks to the Booster Club) kept us pretty dry and if you are not prepared it can be miserable trying to play."

Hix was also pleased with the play of his young junior varsity team. There were three JV players that composed the squad, with the fourth score coming from the varsity's number five scorer on this meet.

Senior Zach Rasmussen finished with a 91 from the varsity side, so his score led the JV team. He finished with rounds of 45 and 46. Wayne won the JV division by 19 strokes after carding a 375. Sophomore Ryan Grosz fired scores of 45 and 48 for a 93 which tied freshman Jared Peterson who carded a 43 and 50. Freshman Tyler Schoh finished with a 98 with rounds of 50 and 48. Pierce finished behind Wayne with a 394 while Battle Creek netted a 404 and Cedar Catholic, 415. Boone Central followed at 421 and West Point Central Catholic netted a 438 while Norfolk Catholic finished with a 460 and Madison, 544.

"We were the only team to not have at least one of our eight players in triple digits," Hix said.

Wayne's varsity will compete at the Lakeview Invite at Columbus' Elks Country Club on Thursday before competing at the Oakland-Craig Invite on Saturday, while the JV's play at the Pierce varsity meet on Saturday. Wayne will then host a triangular on Monday before hosting the annual Maciejewski Invite on Thursday, May 5.

Last Thursday, the Wayne JV's played at the Lutheran High Northeast Varsity meet at Norfolk Country Club in very cold and damp conditions.

Assistant coach Terry Munson was pleased with the showing of a young squad that featured three freshman and two sophomores.

"I was pleased with our overall results in these guys' first varsity meet," Munson said. "Norfolk Country Club is a tough and demanding golf course, and then you add in frigid temperatures, it is even tougher."

Wayne finished with a team score of 406 to place sixth out of the 10-team field.

"I thought our guys stayed focused and patient on the day and kept penalty strokes off the card, goals which we had set for the day. I felt our putting was suspect though with too many three-putts on the card. We hope to improve on this as we prepare for the Pierce Invite this

Alex O'Neill of Ponca was the medalist with an 83. Wayne was led by Kody Frahm with a 100 while Jared Peterson and Ryan Grosz carded 101's and Tyler Schoh, 104.

Eric Schoh also competed but his score was not included in the team total.

Wildcats optimistic after spring scrimmage

By TRAVIS CORLEY
Of The Herald

Wayne State's annual spring football game Saturday was different compared to previous years.

The spring football game usually is held on the practice field, but this year coach Dan McLaughlin took his team's talent to Bob Cunningham Field, where the Wildcats scrimmaged for two hours in front of nearly 300 people.

After a 6-5 overall record and 5-5 Northern Sun Conference mark in 2010, the Wildcats are re-energized and getting ready for the 2011 campaign.

Notable players for the Wildcats are wide receivers Mitch Montgomery and Kevin Paulsen, running back Nick Pulscher, middle linebacker Ben Perry, defensive end Richard Daniel, and defensive back Javal Jones.

"I'm very confident in the talent and the depth of this year's team," said Montgomery. "Defensively, we have a lot of talent and guys with experience."

The Wildcats football program has made a few changes for the fall season, with the addition of new offensive coordinator, John McMenamin and transfer students. McMenamin joined the Wildcats in December after spending the last two seasons at Midland University in Fremont.

"I'm excited. I couldn't pass up the opportunity," said McMenamin. "I've had family attend Wayne State, and Coach McLaughlin's passion makes it fun and I'm here to help raise this program a higher level from last season."

The Wildcats are looking to pushing the program to new heights this upcoming season.

"I'm excited. We have many goals and we are planning on being one of the best teams in Wayne State history," said Montgomery.

WHS baseball falls

WEST POINT – It's been two weeks since the Wayne High baseball team had been on the field, so one might be able to excuse the team if they were a little rusty on the road Tuesday.

The Blue Devils did play better defensively than in their previous outing, but couldn't come up with the key hits down the stretch as they dropped their sixth straight game in a 5-2 loss at West Point Central Catholic/Scribner-Snyder/Dodge.

"The kids played hard and aggressive and played better than what we showed at Pender," co-coach Jeff Zeiss said after the game. "We ran into a good pitcher from West Point again tonight and the kids battled."

Wayne trailed 1-0 in the third when Tony Sinniger's RBI double brought home Drew Carroll to tie the game at 1-1. West Point added two in the fourth to take the lead for good, but Wayne got within a run in the fifth when Keegan Dorcey singled and later scored on an errant pickoff throw. West Point scored two in the sixth to put the game out of reach.

Joey Lenihan, who had been out with an illness, went three innings and allowed two runs in his first action since the second game of the season. Gage Rethwisch pitched well in relief, striking out nine and allowing just one earned run in four innings of work.

Offensively, Sinniger had two of Wayne's four hits, while Dorcey and Carroll recorded the other safeties for the 2-6 Blue Devils.

Senior Jake Hirz was also honored by the league office receiving honorable mention All-Northern Sun Conference recognition. He was named to the NSIC Men's Golf All-Tournament Team after finishing in a tie for third place in the tournament.

WSC women ninth in NSIC

The Wayne State women's golf team placed ninth with a team score of 1492 at the Northern Sun Conference Women's Golf Championship that concluded last weekend at the Brandon Golf Course in Brandon, S.D.

The first 36 holes of the tournament were played last fall at Hillcrest Golf Course in St. Paul, Minnesota before the final rounds were held Friday and Saturday.

Wayne State's top scorer was Katie Isom, who shot a final-round 85 Saturday to finish with a 72-hole score of 363 to place 37th overall. Right behind was junior Paige Barry, who shot rounds of 88 and 89 to finish at 364, good for 39th overall.

Other Wayne State finishers included Kaylee Faltys at 386 after scores of 90 and 89 Friday and Saturday. Tabitha Evans shot a 108 Saturday to finish with a 72 hole score of 435. Emily Dillon carded scores of 96 and 93.

the fourth to tie the game, but the Wildcats' final run was scored by Sandel after a Radley double.

The Wildcats improved their record to 29-12 and 17-3 in the NSIC conference.

On Friday, Kuhl went 6-for-6 with four RBI's and four runs scored as Wayne State swept MSU Moorhead 12-1 and 10-2.

Wayne State scored four runs in the bottom of the second inning, highlighted by Aeriell Earleywine's grand slam homer. They added three more in the third on a Sam Earleywine homer, a sacrifice fly by Goetzinger and an RBI double by Greenwood.

Wayne State finished off the first game on the eight-run rule after putting up five more in the fifth, led by Kuhl's two-run single and another RBI double by Greenwood.

Goetzinger struck out eight and allowed one hit in four innings to get the win. Kuhl was 3-for-3 with three runs scored, while Sam Earleywine and Greenwood each had two hits.

Radley homered twice and Kuhl went 3-for-3 in the second straight game.

Wayne State opened the scoring in the first inning on a two-run homer from Radley. Moorhead countered with a two-run homer in the top of the second by Amanda Moore to tie the score, but Wayne came right back in the third inning with four runs to grab a 6-2 lead. Radley produced another two-run homer while Brittany Greenwood had a two-run single to fuel the inning and the Wildcats cruised from there.

Goetzinger got her 20th win of the year, going four innings with three strikeouts and two runs on three hits.

Wayne High tracksters show improvement

Cool and breezy conditions were the norm for the Wayne High track and field athletes last week, as they split up to compete in meets at Schuyler and Pierce.

Most of the varsity competitors were in Schuyler for the Schuyler Central Invitational, with the boys finishing third and the girls fifth in the eight-team meet at Schuyler High School.

"It was cool and breezy, but we finally got a day in to run," coach Dale Hochstein said. "The season is heading toward the final stretch, and we had some solid times and finishes for the conditions we've had to run in so far."

Zach Thomsen had a solid day for the Blue Devils, winning the 400 and 800, placing second in the 200 and helping the 3,200-meter relay team to victory.

Wayne was once again solid all around in the distance events. Thomsen was joined by Luke Trenhaile (second) and Seth Onderstal (fourth) on the medal stand in the 800; Onderstal finished right behind the third-place effort of Quentin Jorgensen in the 1,600, and Jorgensen was the runner-up in the 3,200.

Justin Anderson had a hand in three medals, placing fifth in the long jump, sixth in the triple jump and joining Trenhaile, Payton Janke and Trevor Pecena in a sixth-place effort in the 1,600-meter relay.

On the girls' side, Caitlin Fehringer earned four medals on the day, winning the 100-meter hurdles, placing sixth in the 100-meter dash and 300 hurdles, and joining Meagan Backer, Marissa Fallesen and Jalyn Zeiss in a third-place effort in the 400-meter relay.

Backer earned two individual medals to go with her relay token, placing second in both the 100 and 200. Sydney Burke and Megan Stalling were double-medalists as part of the 1,600-meter and 3,200-meter relay teams.

At Pierce, Jaci Jenkins won two individual medals and was a part of two relay teams that earned medals. Jessica Biermann, Chantel Martin and McKenna Frevert all earned multiple medals in relay events as well as the Wayne girls finished seventh. The 1,600 sprint medley and the 400-meter throwers relay teams both finished second to account for the bulk of Wayne's points.

On the boys' side, Sheldon Pickering and Sawyer Jager both earned individual and relay medals. Pickering medaled in the 110-meter hurdles, Jager took fourth in the 800 and the pair joined Demetrius Alexander and Parker Janke on the runner-up finish in the 1,600 sprint medley.

Wildcat bats come alive on the road

The Wayne State offense came alive over the weekend, giving an overworked pitching staff some much-needed support and sparking a three-day, six-game road sweep to get the Wildcats back over the .500 mark.

On Saturday, The Wildcats got a season-high 19 hits in the opener and a complete-game win from Eric Schwiager in the finale to sweep Concordia-St. Paul, 16-6 and 6-3.

Junior shortstop Braulio Acosta went 5-for-5 with four RBI's and the Wildcats rallied from a 6-4 deficit after five innings in the first game.

Trailing 2-0, the Wildcats scored three runs on five hits, as Pat Burkhart, Justin Beranek and Mike Bisenius each produced run-scoring singles. The Golden Bears evened the score at 3-3 with a single run in the bottom of the second, but Wayne State countered when Burkhart singled and scored on an error.

Concordia-St. Paul regained the lead with three runs in the fifth, but Wayne State sent 12 to the plate in the sixth, scoring eight runs. Bisenius hit a solo homer and a two-run double in the inning. Beranek added an RBI double, while Acosta and Luke Farrar added RBI singles. Wayne State added four more in the seventh, highlighted by Acosta's three-run homer.

Bisenius was a perfect 3-for-3 with four RBI's, while Farrar and Burkhart each had three hits. Senior Reid Lancaster earned the win, allowing six runs on 11 hits over five innings.

The second game saw sophomore lefthander Eric Schwiager pitch his third complete game of the season, shutting down the Golden Bears.

The game was scoreless until the fourth, when the Wildcats took a 2-0 lead with a two-out rally. Bisenius singled and scored on a Nick Bidroski double with Bidroski coming in on a Slade Bolles single.

The Wildcats pushed the lead to 4-0 in the fifth when Farrar's single scored Jake Ritzdorf, with Farrar later scoring on a Beranek groundout.

Concordia-St. Paul got back into the game in the bottom of the fifth with three runs, but Wayne State responded with two in the eighth to put the game out of reach.

Bisenius, Bidroski and Bolles each went 2-for-4, with Bidroski and Bolles both recording doubles and two RBI's. Bisenius had two singles and scored two runs. Schwiager improved to 2-3 on the season with the complete-game win.

Wayne State swept Concordia-St. Paul on Friday, winning 7-3 and 6-4.

Burkhart went 4-for-5 with two RBI's, while junior starter Austen Wisroth fired a complete game in the opener. Ritzdorf and Acosta each added two hits.

In the second game, the Wildcats rallied with a four-run seventh inning to support the complete-game effort from sophomore lefthander Tadd Johansen.

On Thursday, Wayne State used an extra inning game-winning homer to win the first game, then scored a season-high 17 runs in the second game to sweep Upper Iowa 8-5 and 17-1 in Fayette, Iowa.

In the first game, Wayne State rallied from a 5-1 deficit after five innings and used a three-run homer from Parsons in the ninth.

In the finale, Wayne State parlayed a seven-run first inning to take control early and complete the sweep. The Wildcats used seven hits, highlighted by a three-run double from Ritzdorf, an RBI double by Acosta and run-scoring singles from Parsons, Bisenius and Patrick Burkhart.

Freshman Taylor Simmonds earned his first collegiate win for the Wildcats, throwing 5 1/3 solid innings.

Brungardt wins three at Wildcat Classic

Nicole Brungardt won three events and the Wayne State men had six first-place efforts to highlight Tuesday's Wildcat Classic at Cunningham Field.

The Wildcat women's squad had five first place finishes with one NCAA provisional qualifying mark while the WSC men's squad recorded six first-place finishes.

Brungardt won three events and reached an NCAA provisional qualifying mark to highlight the day. She won the 100-meter dash in 12.33 seconds, the 200-meter dash in 25.65 seconds and achieved an outdoor best mark of 18 feet, 10 1/2 inches in the long jump to take first while also reaching an NCAA provisional qualifying mark.

Lachel Milander and Wayne freshman Carly Fehringer each recorded first- and second-place finishes in a pair of field events. Milander won the hammer throw with a top heave of 158 feet and was second in the shot put at 39 feet, 1/2 inch; while Fehringer was first in the shot put at 42 feet, 7 inches and was second in the hammer throw at 156 feet, 11 inches.

Brianne Hofstetter took second in the triple jump at and was sixth in the long jump. Freshman Samantha Garrison placed second in the pole vault, was sixth in the 200 and seventh in the 100.

The Wildcat men's team had six first-place finishes coming from five different individuals along with one relay.

Senior distance runner John Kern won the mile run with a time of 4:16.65, just 45 hundredths of a second shy of the school record held by Merle McGee (4:16.2) that dates back to 1959. Kern also took fifth in the 800 in a time of 1:56.82. Junior thrower Ross Bunchek easily won the hammer throw with a top mark of 199 feet, 10 inches, the second-best throw in his career.

Other first-place finishes included Brad Wright winning the discus (148' 9"), Tyler DeWit taking first in the shot put (46' 10 1/4") and Garang Lual in the 3,000-meter run (9:30.92). The 1,600-meter relay team of Aaron Garza, Mickey Doerr, Alex Timperley and Andrew Jansen also took first with a time of 3:28.65.

On Friday, the Wayne State track and field teams competed at the Nebraska Wesleyan Invitational in Lincoln. The meet featured team scoring, as the Wildcat women finished fourth with 91 points while the men's squad also placed fourth with 47 points.

Brungardt won two events, placed second in another and broke a 27-year old school record to lead the Wildcat women's team. Brungardt won the 100 with a time of 12.07 seconds in the finals, but her time of 12.06 in the prelims broke the school record of 12.10 seconds held by Missy Stoltenberg in the 1984 season. The Norfolk Catholic graduate also won the 200 in 25.45 seconds and finished second in the long jump.

The Wildcat women's team also had three NCAA provisional marks, as Fehringer was second in the shot put at 45 feet, 2 1/2 inches and third in the hammer throw at 165 feet, 5 inches. Milander had the other NCAA provisional mark with a second place in the hammer throw at 168 feet, 8 inches.

Other top finishers for the Wildcats included Erin Klein taking second in the 400 meter dash, Hofstetter was third in the triple jump and Casey Buskirk took fourth in the hammer throw.

The lone first-place finish for the Wayne State men was by Bunchek, who surpassed the 200-foot mark in the hammer throw with a new school record and NCAA provisional qualifying mark of 202 feet, 2 inches.

Another highlight for the men's team came when senior distance runner John Kern won the 10,000-meter run at the Kansas Relays in Lawrence, Kan., with a time of 30:22.16. Also competing in the event were senior York Thomas (32:31.93, 28th) and freshman Garang Lual (32:48.98, 32nd).

Other top finishers for the Wildcat men included Greg Tracy taking second in the 10,000 meter run, Aaron Garza was third in the 800, Brad Wright took third in the discus, Michael King was fourth in the 100 and Jeff Mills took fourth in the pole vault.

Wayne State will compete at the Northern State Invitational on Saturday in Aberdeen, S.D.

Earth Day observance

Marcella and Kevin Jurotich of Wayne, Dr. Barbara Engebretsen (organizer) and Dr. Joe Blankenau of Wayne State College embark on the bike ride on the community bike trail April 21 as part of Wayne State College's celebration of Earth Day. Consumers urged to beware of con artists

By VIVIANNE CHAUMONT
Department of HHS

Senior citizens can be particularly vulnerable to pressure from con artists.

Some live on fixed incomes and are open to suggestions on ways to extend their limited dollars. They're inclined to be polite to strangers who are friendly, and often have difficulty saying 'no' or hanging up on persistent callers. They may not want to tell anyone they've been scammed because they fear their family will think they can't handle their own affairs any more.

Volunteers with Nebraska's Senior Medicare Patrol (SMP) in the Department of Health and Human Services visit senior centers, retirement communities and other organizations to educate seniors on how to recognize and ward off 'con artists.'

There are simple steps you can take to protect yourself.

- Never give out your bank account or credit card numbers.
- Get two or three written estimates for any home repairs.
- Don't be pressured into sending money for a 'free' prize or signing a contract.
- Never allow door-to-door salespeople into your home.
- Deal with reputable companies and check with your Better Business Bureaus before buying something.
- Know that some people who call about a promotion are untrustworthy.

Remember that if something sounds too good to be true, it usually is. If you or someone you know thinks they've been scammed, or to get information on being a SMP volunteer, call (800) 942-7830 or go to www.dhhs.ne.gov/smp.

Friends of library thank volunteers

Friends of the Wayne Public Library would like to thank the Wayne State football players and students from the Pi Gamma Mu honor society who volunteered en masse to help members of the Friends of the Library set up and tear down their annual book sale at the City Auditorium.

If that sounds minor, it isn't. Hundreds of boxes, books in the thousands, setting up tables, sorting, and more sorting of books, all to benefit the public library. So many students volunteered their time and energy the sale was set up four hours earlier than normal. FOL couldn't be more grateful or more proud of this town-gown community spirit.

FOL is also thankful to the City of Wayne for allowing the organization to use the Auditorium for the sale, and to Gene Hansen and his crew for helping FOL to resolve its recycling issue this year. The sale keeps growing, year after year, and Friends couldn't continue to sponsor it without the helping hands of its partners. Thank you.

County Government Day is a success

I would like to thank the following for making our annual County Government Day, a big success.

The activities for the day were organized by the Veterans Service Officer, Brad Wieland. Thank you for your hard work in planning a day filled with many learning opportunities for the senior government students of Wayne and Winside.

A thank you to Judge Donna Farrell Taylor for speaking to the classes during a 20-minute break about the county court proceedings that they had observed in her courtroom. She also presented them a gavel.

I want to thank the National Guard for providing the lunch and a place to serve it for the students, county officials, and guests. National Guard Recruiter, SFC Dale Alexander gave a presentation and visited with the students.

A heartwarming thank you goes to Beau Bryca, who was willing to share his life story about poor decisions that he has made in his life when he had his car accident. May God bless you as you tell your story to others about the consequences of a person's actions when they are driving when they have been drinking.

The American Legion Families and the AmVets want to thank the county officials for giving of their time to have the students visit their offices and explain their duties.

Bill could remove Wickersham

By ED HOWARD Statehouse Correspondence The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — When Bob Wickersham was a state senator from the hinterlands of upstream Nebraska he was known as a thoroughly capable, intelligent, diligent and gentlemanly member of the Legislature.

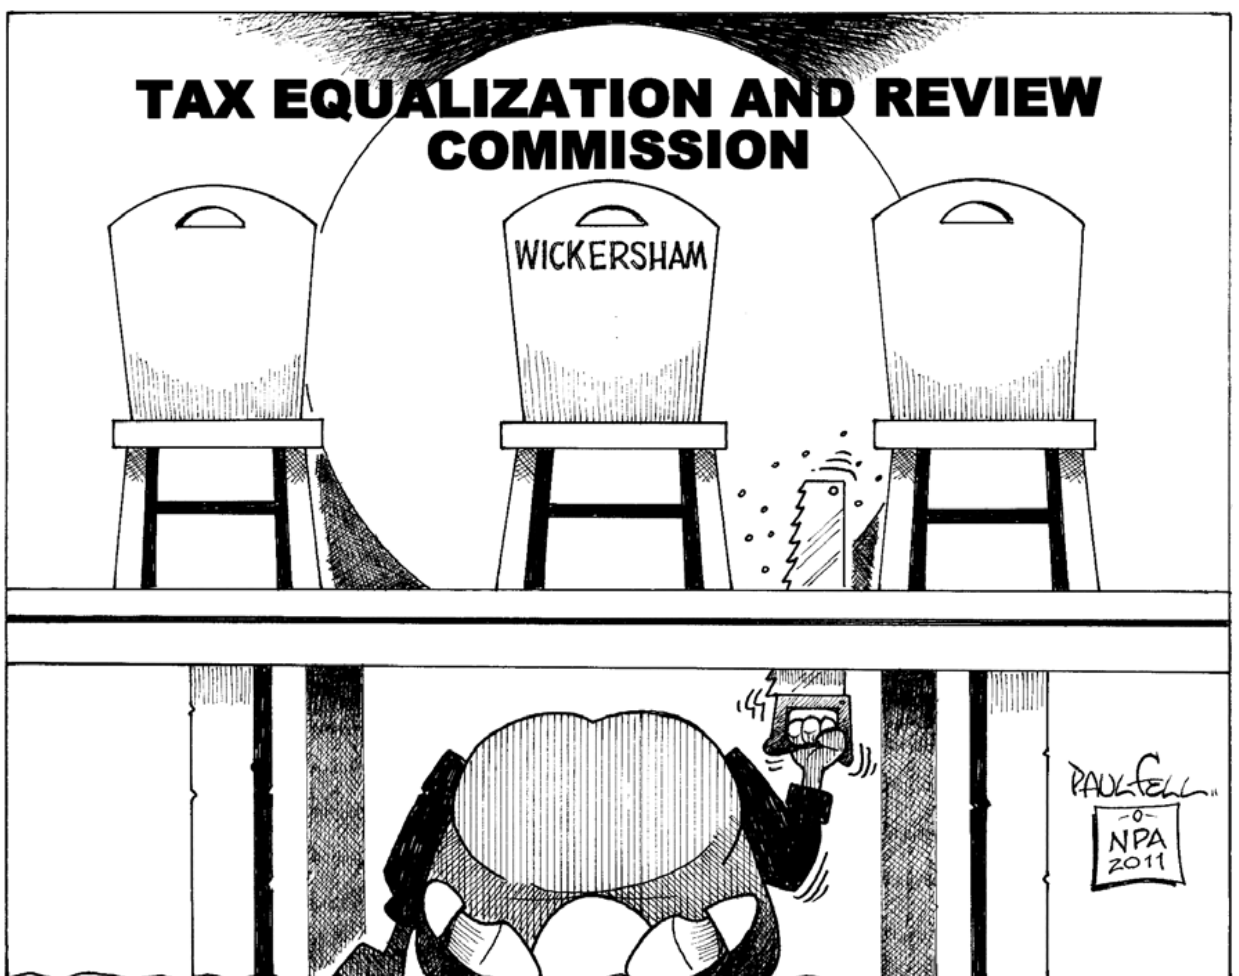

Although he carried the stocky build you'd expect on a fellow from the ranch country which makes up the greater Harrison metropolitan area, Wickersham has the face of a kindly school teacher or college professor. The glasses. The understanding smile. Always well dressed, and with a dignified demeanor. We're talking about a guy straight out of central casting.

Wickersham is also an attorney and a fellow who knows a great, great deal about Nebraska's property tax system. He once chaired the Legislature's Revenue Committee, having served in the Unicameral from Jan. 9, 1991 to April 30, 2002. A Democrat, he was appointed by then-Republican Gov. Mike Johanns as the first at-large member of the Tax Equalization and Review Commission. He was reappointed by Gov. Dave Heineman for a term ending January 1, 2014.

The TERC is where people can appeal rulings from county assessors and county boards. It's more informal than a court.

Now, a bill is moving through the Legislature which — regardless of any denials from anyone — is solely intended to remove Wickersham from the board this October.

Why? Some say it is because he had a falling out with Heineman's state property tax administrator, Ruth Sorensen. Wickersham was suspicious about how she reported ag land sales. An outside review concluded her methods were "misguided." Sorensen stood her ground. Heineman stood by Sorensen — and wants to dump Wickersham.

During uncounted numbers of Revenue Committee hearings in his legislative days, Wickersham was never heard to raise his voice. He did, however, have a real addiction to facts. And arithmetic. He was always annoying lobbyists or other parties with facts, and arithmetic. As in: 'I did the arithmetic and the numbers you provided the committee ... I won't say they don't add up, but they don't add up to the conclusion you gave us. Can you help me with that?'

Wickersham was determined to create a clear record, so the what and how and why of what the committee did could be understood.

He's been that way at the TERC. But his insistence on clear explanations and documentation — from assessors, county boards and taxpayers — has offended some of them.

In a recent interview, Wickersham said the commission's record in a case needs to be clear and documented because it can be taken to the Nebraska Court of Appeals.

Heineman recently told a reporter "I don't think the entire board was as customer-friendly as it needs to be. Taxpayers feel like they're being grilled as if they're in a courtroom — that they're guilty until proven innocent. It shouldn't be that way."

Perhaps that's the way his property tax administrator felt when Wickersham questioned how she did business.

Heineman's original bill simply called for removal of the at-large commission member. The revised version would remove all four members — then allow Heineman to reappoint three of them.

The view from here: The bill is likely to pass, and Wickersham will get the boot. However, the at-large seat was created because the three-member TERC was overwhelmed by its volume of cases. After Wickersham is gone for a spell, it wouldn't be a surprise to see the issue revisited and the at-large seat re-established.

Alcopops promote underage drinking

Alcopops are sweet-tasting malt liquors that are found, in studies, to be the drink of choice among eighth-grade girls. The older people are, the less likely it is their favorite drink.

An April 6 Omaha World-Herald article noted the Partnership at Drugfree.org study that teens don't see downing five or more alcoholic drinks a day to be a problem.

A 2003 study of 114 alcopops found 103 contained over 76 percent distilled spirits and less than 25 percent beer. On July 21, 2006, the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission ruled that alcopops be classified as beer.

In Nebraska, distilled spirits are taxed 12 times as much as beer. Also, due to licensing, sales are limited mainly to liquor stores and bars, limiting underage access.

On Feb. 14, 2011, Nebraska District Judge John Colborn ruled against the Liquor Control Commission's 2006 ruling, stating they had "exceeded the authority granted (to the LCC) under the Liquor Control Act . . . As the law currently stands, FAB's (alcopops) are clearly spirits and must be taxed as such."

On Feb. 22, Nebraska Attorney General Jon Bruning filed an appeal of the ruling on behalf of the Liquor Control Commission. If you feel this appeal is an outrageous use of taxpayers' money to try to lose more tax revenue and facilitate more underage dinking, call Bruning's office in the State Capitol at (402) 471-2682. You might give him the estimated costs of our 2009 alcohol-related teen highway accidents, which includes 18 deaths, 93 injuries and more than $32 million in property damage (according to the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety).

New College Center is first of its kind

Visits with constituents were the highlights of the week for me. First of all, many students are visiting the State Capitol during the months of April and May.

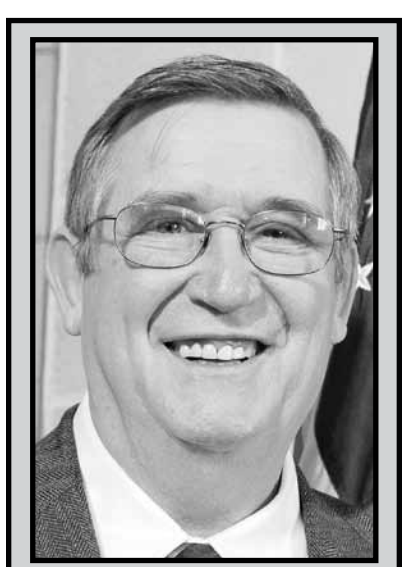

We have recently seen students from Dakota City and Wayne. Winside students are scheduled to visit in May. Many fourth graders visit the Capitol white studying Nebraska State history, and are introduced as guests when they visit the Nebraska Legislature.

Last Monday, members of the South Sioux City Area Chamber of Commerce, City of South Sioux City, City of Dakota City, Dakota County, and South Sioux City Community Schools came to Lincoln for the 32nd Annual Governor's Day. Community and business leaders toured the State Capitol, and met with representatives from several governmental departments. At noon, they held a luncheon for State Senators with Governor Heineman as the featured speaker. Several senators were in attendance, and the day seemed to be a great success.

On Wednesday, April 20, I was able to fly with Gov. Dave Heineman to South Sioux City for a ribbon-cutting event.

The new College Center held its grand opening. The Center is the first of its kind in the state and the country. It is a partnership between Northeast Community College and Wayne State College. Students will be allowed to pursue a variety of educational programs, including a certification for a job, two-year, four-year and even on to a graduate degree at the College Center.

Dean Pam Miller summed it up best when she said, "It is a one-stop shop. This is where you can come for a good quality education, figure out what it is you want and you've got tons of opportunities." It was a privilege to attend this event, and an honor for Legislative District 17 that we have such an innovative model for education in our community.

A bill that will affect road construction advanced to Final Reading this week. LB84 will, if signed by the Governor, designate a quarter cent of existing state sales tax receipts for road construction beginning in 2013. This will amount to about $70 million a year for twenty years. The bill is a way of restructuring the way we pay for road and expressway construction.

User fees, such as the fuel tax, have not provided the necessary money to pay for needed repairs and future construction needs. Speaker Mike Flood designated LB84 as a major speaker proposal, which gave him the ability to place motions and amendments in his preferred order. After eight hours of debate, a motion was made to stop debate and advance the bill. I joined thirty-five other legislators in supporting the bill; twelve members voted against LB84.

Twenty-four former legislators were welcomed in Lincoln on Wednesday afternoon. Every year, former legislators are invited to visit the Legislature and be introduced during a brief ceremony at the State Capitol. The former members also hold a reception and dinner. Former Senators Pat Engel and Bob Dickey stopped by my office while they were in Lincoln.

Parents being first teachers: Key in child development

The years from birth to age five are important times in a child's learning ability because the brain is developing at a faster pace than it does at any other point in a child's life. Parents play an important role in their child's life, and it's crucial to be there and be engaged during this developmental stage.

It's important for parents and others working with children to allow the kids to play, investigate and have the freedom to do their own thing within a safe, structured environment. Parents should take the time to play with their kids to help them learn, concentrating on teaching children how to read, learning numbers and letters at a preschool age, they are skipping the steps young children really need: learning by playing.

Relationships are an important factor because children need security and nurturing in order to grow. They need to be secure in their environment. Families should give children lots of hugs and spend time with them to let their children know they can be depended on. This builds trust in children. When they have a sense of safety and self-assurance, they can learn. This trust in relationships needs to happen before kids get into a more structured learning environment.

Another important factor is emotional development. Children need to feel good about themselves despite frustrations and failures. Encouragement from the parents helps with good self-worth so they can go on by saying "It's okay that didn't work out the first time, but I'm going to keep trying." Instead of constantly yelling "No" or "Don't do that," parents should help their children understand why they shouldn't do that particular thing or why they should move on. That helps develop trust and understanding.

Children are very social. Some of the first things they learn are "hi" and "bye." They are watching everything around them, and it's important for them to learn social concepts from their parents. If a stranger comes and wants to hold the child, parents should talk to the person and have the person interact with the child. After the child becomes more comfortable with this stranger, then the stranger can hold the child. The child needs to trust this person before he or she invades the child's space. Parents can help the child with social skills by helping them meet new people.

Families are a child's first teacher and the home is the first classroom. Many parents think a child will learn when he gets to school, but that's not true. Social relationships, language and every day things are vitally important for parents to share with their children and teach their children before they get to school.

The home is the perfect place for kids to be educationally stimulated. Toys can be great, but the simple things like measuring cups in the kitchen, fruit or other things in the environment are important for kids to play with. They need time to feel the dirt outside and experience things around them when in a safe environment.

Parents should also be mindful that every child grows at his or her own pace. Some parents think there's a problem if their child isn't developing in one area to the level they have read about for that age or they are not at the same level as a neighbor child the same age. They think something is wrong because the child is very developed in a different area, but not in another.

Children sense their parents' worry. Parents need to remember they work with their child to build social skills, trust and create a learning environment, but their child may not be the textbook child. There is give and take on all developmental areas.

There are many resources for parents with questions on development and also tips for talking to their children, how children respond, how children are feeling at each month of their age and more. Through UNL Extension, parents can go to the Building Better Children Facebook page and get weekly information about young children and also ask questions about their child's development (www.facebook.com/home.php#!/pages/Building-Better-Children/115011145207914) or www.extension.unl.edu/child-youth.

Negotiating offers with buyers, 4 benefits to having a real estate agent.

Wendy Vawser
Residential Sales

When you are negotiating with a buyer, your goal is to keep the negotiations going until all parties are satisfied. Here are 4 key benefits that a real estate agent can provide.

1. Know what comparable houses in your area are selling for. The buyer will know what comparable houses in your area are selling for. Your real estate agent will have this information and will help you present a stronger value for your house.

2. Keep emotions out of the equation by having your real estate agent present offers to you. Getting upset about a particular offer in front of a buyer can do more damage than good. Letting emotions guide your decisions, may very well cost you a potential sale.

3. Your real estate agent will help prepare you for all offers. They will organize all paperwork and details. This includes all information necessary before, during and after the offer is accepted.

4. Remember the goal is to sell your home! Your real estate agent has your interests in mind and knows when an offer is fair. Negotiating just to win, can leave your home on the market much longer than it needs too. Call me today for more information. Check out our new website at: www.midwestlandhomes.com

CHIROPRACTORS TREAT CARPAL TUNNEL?

Carpal Tunnel Syndrome is the compression of the median nerve at the wrist, which may result in numbness, tingling, or weakness in the hand and fingers often due to repetitive motion activities.

These problems can be caused by misalignments at the wrist and elbow or at the vertebrae in the neck and upperback where the nerves for the hands originate from the spine. Chiropractic care works on correcting symptoms and relieving pain associated with carpal tunnel syndrome.

Acme Club members learn of grandsons' trips

The Acme Club met April 18 with six members and three guests present. Cleo Lynch of Ames, Iowa was visiting her sister, Ruth Victor.

Parker and Cade Bolte were guests of their grandmother, Betty Wittig, and provided entertainment for the afternoon. In the absence of President Delores Utecht, Vice President Joann Temme conducted the meeting.

The thought for the day was a poem entitled "A Smile for You:" "Smiling is infectious; you catch it like the flu.

When someone smiled at me today, I started smiling too. I passed around the corner and someone saw my grin.

When he smiled, I realized I'd passed it on to him.

I thought about that smile, then I realized its worth.

A single smile just like mine, could travel 'round the earth.

So if you feel a smile begin, don't leave it undetected.

Let's start an epidemic, quick and get the world infected."

It was reported that Delores made Easter favors for the hospital.

A thank you was read from the Children's Home for the Easter donation. Easter cards were signed for honorary members Zita Jenkins, Mary Doescher and Marjorie Summers.

Roll call was "Have you been to Washington, DC.?"

Parker Bolte gave a presentation showing pictures and telling about a recent trip to Washington, D.C. on a five-day tour with about 55 students from the junior and senior classes at Logan-Magnolia High School where he attends school.

Places the students toured included the World War II Memorial which honors the 16 million Americans that served in the military, along with more than 400,000 who lost their lives in that war.

They learned about the Statue of Freedom that is on the dome of the Capitol building. It is bronze, stands 19 feet, 6 inches tall and weighs approximately 15,000 pounds.

The Washington Monument was built to honor our country's first President, George Washington. It took 36 years to complete and was made of sandstone, granite and marble.

At the Natural History Museum they saw the Blue Hope Diamond, which is about 45.52 karats in size and worth $300 to $350 million.

At Arlington National Cemetery they saw the changing of the guard which occurs every hour. Former President John F. Kennedy is buried there. Memorials visited were the Iwo Jima Memorial, which depicts the flag raising; the Korean Wall Memorial, which is in the shape of a triangle; the Vietnam Memorial, made of two granite walls, 246 feet long and stands 10 feet high. About 3 million people visit each year.

Across the street from the Vietnam Memorial is the Albert Einstein Memorial with its 21-foot bronze statue. The Ford Theatre, where President Lincoln was shot by John Wilkes Booth on April 14, 1865. At the National Cathedral, they saw the many stained glass windows, ranging in size from just a few inches to 26 feet. A unique space window from 1974 contains a moon rock donated by the crew of Apollo 11.

Cade Bolte told about his trip to Arizona for the Fiesta Bowl this past New Year's. He is a freshman at Logan Magnolia and plays alto sax. After tryouts, he was chosen to be in a 200-member high school band to represent southwestern Iowa in the parade, which was held two days before the game. Only two other students from his school were selected.

Before the game, the band unfurled the large flag on the field. To prepare to be in the band, the students attended a four-day camp at Red Oak, Iowa and had practiced from 7-10 a.m. each morning while in Arizona. Although they were only in Arizona for four days, they were able to go to several tourist attractions.

One of these was Organ Stop Pizza where an organist came out of the floor and played a very large pipe organ.

At Castles and Coasters they were able to ride a roller coaster.

New Year's Eve was spent from 6 p.m.-1 a.m. at the Raw Hide Wild West Town.

The program presented by these young men was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

Sharp Shooters BB Gun Team qualifies for international event

Fifteen members of the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club competed at the Nebraska State 4-H BB Gun and Air Rifle Championships held in Seward April 9-10.

Fourteen of the members participated in the BB Gun portion of the competition on Saturday. The BB Gun portion is comprised of shooting 10 shots for score in the prone, standing, sitting and kneeling positions and a written test on firearm safety and knowledge.

Club members shooting BB Gun included Austin Arens and Noah Arens, sons of Kelly and Jenny Arens of Laurel; Connor Boysen and Landen Boysen, sons of Scott and Kim Boysen of Laurel; Myles Flores, son of Santos and Patti Flores of Allen; David Greunke and Josh Greunke, sons of Darin and Staci Greunke of Winside; Cameron Muhs and Isaiah Muhs, sons of Brock and Jamie Muhs of Carroll; Dylan Roland, son of Rich and Donna Roland of Allen; Kate Schultz, daughter of Kim Schultz of Wayne; Andrew Simpson and James Simpson, sons of Jeff and Colleen Simpson of Wayne; Hunter VanHouten, son of Dereck and Candance VanHouten of Winside.

Landon Kraft, son of Roger and Donna Kraft of Allen competed in the Air Rifle event only.

The BB Gun team of Andrew Simpson, David Greunke, Dylan Roland, Myles Flores and James Simpson earned a second place overall team score of 2170, and achieved the first place for test only with a score of 440. Andrew Simpson and James Simpson earned first place for test only in their respective divisions.

This placing has earned them one of the three coveted spots representing the Sharp Shooters Club and the state of Nebraska at the International BB Gun Competition Match (IBBGCM) held in Rogers, Ark. the weekend of July 4. The event is sponsored by Daisy BB Gun.

In the Air Rifle match, club members shot a three position (prone, standing, and kneeling) 20 shots in each position for score.

Myles Flores, David Greunke, Landon Kraft, Andrew Simpson, James Simpson and Hunter VanHouten were the members competing in the Sporter Air Rifle Division. The Wayne County team consisting of Andrew Simpson, Landon Kraft, David Greunke, and Myles Flores earned a team score of 1779 placing fourth out of six teams competing.

Andrew Simpson and David Greunke also competed in the Precision Air Rifle competition (standing position only for 40 shots). Andrew Simpson captured the second place position for the 13-14 years old age bracket and placed third in the state overall.

"The entire club did really well at state. I am very proud of how all the members and their coaches practiced in preparation for state," said Darin Greunke at a club meeting this week. Head Coach Greunke indicated that the practicing is not finished. "Now we get ready for the international competition at Rogers, Ark."

The 2012 Nebraska 4-H BB Gun and Air Rifle Competition will be co-hosted by Wayne County and Pierce County 4-H Shooting Sports Clubs at Wayne in April of 2012.

Anyone interested in the 4-H shooting sports program or in helping the club get to Rogers, Ark., for the IBBGCM should contact Darin Greunke at (402) 286-4895.

Over $1 million available for organic agriculture in Nebraska

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) has announced a sign-up deadline of May 20 for a conservation initiative available specifically to organic farmers.

Through the Organic Initiative, NRCS will provide funding to help organic producers and those transitioning to organic production implement natural resource conservation practices on their agricultural operations. Interested participants may sign-up at any time, but applications received after May 20th will be considered in the next funding allocation.

Funding for the Organic Initiative is being made available by NRCS as part of the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP). EQIP offers financial and technical assistance to help eligible producers install or implement conservation practices on eligible agricultural land.

This is the third year of the Organic Initiative. In 2010, NRCS obligated $24 million nationally with nearly $1 million going to Nebraska producers.

For this current sign-up, $1.5 million is available for Nebraska producers to plan and implement conservation practices that address natural resource concerns in ways that are consistent with organic production. Organic producers may use the funding to plant cover crops, establish integrated pest management plans, or implement nutrient management systems. Several additional conservation practice options are available. NRCS employees will work with producers to design a conservation plan that will work best for their operation.

Eligible producers include those certified through USDA's National Organic Program, transitioning to certified organic production, and those who meet organic standards but are exempt from certification because their gross annual organic sales are less than $5,000.

Under Organic Initiative contracts, producers are paid a portion of the cost for the organic conservation measures they implement. Beginning, limited resource, and socially disadvantaged producers are paid a higher rate. The program provides up to $20,000 per year per person or legal entity, with a maximum total of $80,000 over six years.

Producers interested in applying for Organic Initiative funding should visit their local NRCS Service Center. More information is available at http://www.ne.nrcs.usda.gov/programs/EQIP_Organic_Initiative.html.

Hospice director very deserving of award

You certainly cannot tell it's Spring around here! And I understand there was measurable snow in Wayne county last week. Just watch, it will suddenly be 90 degrees one of these days!

Every year, in the week before Easter, Nebraska Hospice Association sponsors an End of Life conference here in Lincoln, at the Embassy Suites. Actually, way back when, it was an annual meeting followed by a banquet with a speaker. Then, there was an all day thing on East Campus at the Union. I remember hearing Ira Byock, a nationally known author, at one of these. I also recall standing around outside for part of the day because of a fire alarm.

Eight years ago, the conference was moved to the Embassy, and it became two days, sometimes even preceded by pre-conference workshops. Now, I understand, it has such a good reputation that attendees are even coming from out of state.

Also, at the annual banquet, we began the custom of honoring our wonderful hospice volunteers. And, there are now Spirit of Hospice awards for those who have been exceptionally involved in Hospice and have accomplished great things in it. There is a Shining Star award for those individuals who have done something noteworthy, also. Almost anyone can nominate folks for these, but, of course, the general public usually does not even know about them.

This year, there were three honorees. One of the Spirit awards went to your own Terri Munter, who is director of Home Health and Hospice in Wayne and the surrounding area. There were actually seven letters of nomination, and some were from families of former patients.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Terri's family, including her mother, was present at the banquet. I am so proud of her. When I was director in Norfolk, Wayne was a satellite of ours. Eventually, they took off on their own and have done very well by the community. You should be very proud of Terri, and of her staff.

Certificates were given to 31 volunteers. Every year, there are more of these; and some are couples. Being a hospice volunteer is one of the most special things you can do.

Our entertainment featured a young man who worked as a juggler/comedian. Ten years ago, he was diagnosed with a bone cancer, the same one that necessitated the amputation of the leg of one of Ted Kennedy's sons. Scott did not have to have an amputation, but did have a femur transplant. He utilizes his humor in a healthy way now; in fact, his high energy just wore me out! But what an inspiration. As were all the men and women who were honored last week. It tells me again how far we have come in the Nebraska Hospice mission that says we will make it available to any citizen in our state who desires it.. that's a real challenge!

If you see Terri Munter, congratulate her, and thank her. And keep up the good work!

Tips shared for proper tree planting this spring

The cool, wet weather has delayed some of our tree planting, but there is still plenty of time. Here is some information from Sarah Browning, Extension Educator in Horticulture.

As spring arrives, the planting season gets underway. When planting trees and shrubs, spring is the second best time of year; second only to fall, with its long period of moderate temperatures allowing more time for root development before the plant is tested by a hot Nebraska summer.

Gardeners wanting to plant trees and shrubs this spring have a window of time from approximately April 1 through June 30 when soil is workable and temperatures are favorable for new plant establishment. Avoid planting trees and shrubs in the middle of summer, from July 1 through August 20, when conditions are very hot and dry.

Bare root plants, such as fruit trees, small fruits and roses, are normally planted earliest in the spring while they are still in a dormant state and before their buds begin to swell. Ideally, bare root plants should be planted the same day they arrive. However, this is not always possible. Plants may need to be stored until planting conditions improve. Careful handling before planting occurs will determine success or failure. Bare root plants have had the soil washed or shaken from their roots after digging from the field. Since bare root plants lack a rooting media that supplies water to the plant, they must be stored in a dormant state with temperatures slightly above or below freezing and high humidity levels around 95 percent. However, do not allow them to freeze.

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator

When bare root plants are shipped from a nursery, their roots are usually wrapped in damp sphagnum moss or newspaper. The plants are then placed in a plastic bag and packaged in a wax-coated or cardboard box. After receiving the plants, inspect them briefly to ensure they are healthy, undamaged and that the packing material is still moist. Re-wet the packing material if necessary and then store the plants in their packaged state, under cold temperatures, until they can be planted. It is helpful to re-hydrate the plants by soaking them in a bucket of water for a couple hours right before planting. However, do not store the plants with their roots in water overnight.

Container plants have a longer window of time when they can be successfully planted. That time approximately is from late April through the end of June. Be careful with plants that have been protected in a greenhouse when planting them outside before the last spring frost date. Providing protection may be necessary if heavy frost is predicted to avoid leaf damage. To minimize stress on the plants, try to plant on a calm or cloudy day, and keep the plants moist during the planting process.

With wood plants, like trees and shrubs, it is best to plant them directly into the native soil, without any soil amendments. New roots will tend to stay within the area of amended soil instead of spreading out and providing good support for the tree. Eliminating soil amendments actually results in a more extensive root system.

When planting any tree or shrub, one of the most important considerations is making sure it is planted at the correct depth. Roots need oxygen from soil to properly grow. If a plant is planted too deep, the root system doesn't develop as well because it doesn't receive enough oxygen. As a result, the plant can be stunted, have low vigor and be more susceptible to insects and diseases throughout its life.

To determine the proper planting depth, find the first main root at the top of the root system and plant it just below the soil surface. If the plant is in a container, remove it from the container, then pull the soil away from the top of the rootball until the first root or the "root flare" is located. The root flare can be found on all trees at the base of the trunk where the trunk widens before differentiating into the root system. When planted properly, the tree's root flare should be visible at the soil surface after planting.

When ready to plant, don't dig the hole any deeper or loosen the soil at the bottom of the planting hole any more than necessary. If the soil is too loose, it will settle after the plant has been in the ground for awhile, causing the plant to sink. Dig a shallow, wide hole and loosened soil around the sides. Roughing up the edges of the hole will avoid "glazing" from the back of the shovel that can make it difficult for the root to penetrate through the soil as the tree begins to grow.

Remove any burlap, ropes, strapping materials, plastic containers, wire baskets, plant tags or any other type of labeling attached to the plant before putting the plant in the planting hole. Once the proper planting depth has been checked, backfill with soil, gently firming the soil around the base of the roots. When the hole is filled, apply water and soak the planting hole, allowing water to eliminate any remaining air pockets. Finally, apply a two to three inch layer of organic mulch, such as wood chips.

Staking trees is not recommended unless the plant is in a very high wind location. Also, don't fertilize new trees and plants for the first two to three years after planting. The same goes for pruning and shaping. Limit pruning to broken branches only during the first few years.

Visit the Nebraska Forest Service site at nfs.unl.edu/retreenebraska.asp for suggestions on great plants for Nebraska landscapes. ReTree Nebraska's "Eleven for 2011" lists 11 great plants that are well-adapted to Nebraska conditions and should be used more widely across the state. Also, for more information on good techniques for planting trees and shrubs, visit the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum website at arboretum.unl.edu/plantinfo.html

Wayne, Nebraska
April 19, 2011

The Wayne County Board of Equalization did not convene -- no items needing action.

Wayne, Nebraska
April 19, 2011

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:15 a.m. on Tuesday, April 19, 2011, in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse.

Roll call was answered by Chairman Rabe, Members Wurdeman and Burbach, and Clerk Finn.

Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on April 7, 2011.

A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

The agenda was approved.

The minutes of the April 5, 2011, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record.

Safety Committee representative, KimBery Hansen revisited safety concerns presented to the board during their Feb 1st meeting:

- Security lighting on the top floor - During the winter months the lights have been left on in the stairwell; the board did not take any additional action.
- Handrails on both sides of stairwells - Due to the availability of an elevator the board questioned the necessity of handrails on both sides of a stairwell; after further discussion the board agreed to install handrails.
- Broken stair treads - No action had been taken; additional treads are on hand and will be installed.

Motion by Burbach, second by Wurdeman to recess the meeting at 9:55 a.m. and to open the public hearing. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.

Retail Liquor License Hearing

A hearing on the retail liquor license application of Wayne County Ag Society dba Wayne County Ag Society convened at 10:00 a.m.

Those in attendance included Chairman Rabe, Members Wurdeman and Burbach, Clerk Finn, John Williams and Kevin Davis of the Wayne County Ag Society, and Mike Carnes of The Wayne Herald. Sheriff Janssen joined the hearing at 10:11 a.m.

The purpose of the hearing was to receive public input in support of, or in protest against, the issuance of a retail liquor license. Williams and Davis answered questions regarding their decision to apply for a retail license vs. a special license. It was noted that the commercial building is not being designated as an area for sale or consumption. Williams requested the commissioners reduce the occupation tax assessed to the Ag Society as they were a non-profit entity, and the license would receive little use other than during the fair.

Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to close the hearing at 10:35 a.m. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.

The commissioner meeting reconvened. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to approve the retail liquor license application for Wayne County Ag Society subject to an occupation tax of $25 for 2011; with a schedule for future occupation taxes to be determined. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.
