Council gives approval for business move

BY CLARA OSTEN

Due to an absence of three members of the Wayne City Council, a unanimous vote was needed to move forward on a plan to relocate Bomgaars from the east side of Wayne to a new location on West Highway 35.

Council members Kaki Ley, Jim VanDelden and Brian Frevert were absent from Tuesday's meeting of the council, and a majority of votes was needed to move forward on an ordinance allowing for the annexation of property north of Highway 35 and east of Pheasant Run.

City Planner Joel Hansen told the council during a public hearing that the Planning Commission had approved the annexation plan for the Western Ridge Third Addition and Western Ridge First Addition.

Glen Nichols, owner of Glen's Auto Body, which is located in the area proposed to be annexed, spoke against the annexation, noting that he already has his own sewage system and feels that the $6,000-$8,000 he would be required to pay to hook up to the city services is not fair.

"I am the only one having to pay for this service. Everyone else will be able to have these services paid for with TIF money. Because I have an existing business, I am not eligible. This is a hardship to me."

Council members debated what could be done to alleviate the hardship and whether the city was treating all areas of the city equally in regard to annexation.

Council member Dale Alexander questioned why the city was annexing the entire area and was told that when the area was first developed, it was agreed that when additional development was desired, the entire area would be developed.

The ordinance received first reading approval, and will be brought back at the next council meeting for a second reading. Also, council members noted that they would discuss possible options for lowering Nichols' financial burden during the upcoming budget work session.

Following that action, the council approved a memorandum of understanding with Bomgaars for a redevelopment plan that will use Tax Increment Financing for infrastructure for development in the Western Ridge III Addition.

In other action, the council listened to an update from Gene Hansen, electrical production superintendent, on work to be completed at the city power plant to comply with Reciprocating Internal Combustion Engines (RICE) rules that are being implemented.

Hansen said that silencers and catalytic converters will need to be installed to allow the city's generators to be used to produce electricity for Nebraska Public Power District. The cost for the project is estimated at $700,000. The city receives approximately $636,000 per year from NPPD to have the generators available.

The work will be done in 2012 to meet the compliance date of May of 2013.

The Council also approved the appointment of Tammy Evetovich to the Swimming Pool Renovation/Replacement committee.

The council will hold at budget work session on Tuesday, July 26 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers and meet in regular session on Tuesday, Aug. 2.

Snow in July?

When temperatures get over 100 degrees, some people will do anything to stay cool. In the case of Myron and Mary Peterson of Laurel, the cool thoughts associated with a snowman in the front lawn seemed like a good idea.

Two people were taken to nearby hospitals after this accident near Winside last week.

Two sent to hospitals after crash near Winside

A two-vehicle crash at approximately 10:30 a.m. on July 14 sent two persons to area hospitals.

At the Winside Spur on Highway 35, a northbound vehicle driven by Robert Penn of rural Wayne collided with another vehicle driven by Nicole Stueckrath of Hoskins.

The airbags of the Penn vehicle was deployed and both drivers were wearing their seatbelts. They were each alone in their respective vehicles.

Penn was taken to Providence Medical Center in Wayne and Stueckrath was taken to Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk. Both were transported to their respective hospitals by Winside Rescue Units and were both treated and released from those hospitals at the time.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Office was assisted at the scene by the Winside Fire and Rescue Units and the Carroll Fire Department. No citations were issued at the time and the crash is still under investigation.

School board breaks ground on addition

BY CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

Following Monday's regular meeting of the Wayne Community Schools' Board of Education, board members and administrators took a tour the high school to view work completed by school staff since May. The tour culminated in a ceremonial ground breaking on the construction site for the school addition project.

During the meeting, board members heard from superintendent Mark Lenihan on the status of the budget for the coming fiscal year.

Lenihan noted that tentative numbers have been put together for general fund expenditures, but final numbers will be determined after the district learns what land values have been set at for the agricultural land in the district.

"We have cut expenditures by approximately $800,000, in part because we know we will have $680,000 less in state aid," Lenihan said.

Also during Monday's meeting, Dr. Bob

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By LOWELL JOHNSON
City Administrator

City Council Budget Workshop

The first budget workshop is scheduled next Tuesday, July 26 at 5:30 p.m. in the council room. The second workshop will be after the Aug. 2 city council meeting. The mayor and council members are interested in your thoughts about taxes, spending. These are informal sessions open to the public.

City Council Meetings

Regular City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall at 3rd and Pearl Streets.

What is "TIF"?

"TIF" means Tax Increment Financing. Wayne and other communities use this economic development financing tool occasionally in the competition for jobs. Tax Increment Financing is a loan to an eligible business to help pay development costs including: 1) demolish or clean up deteriorated property, 2) buy land in an area of Wayne targeted for development assistance, 3) grade the site, 4) pave a parking lot, 5) build storm drainage, water and sewer systems.

The TIF loan and the business's development plan must be approved by the Planning Commission, the Wayne Community Development Agency and the City Council.

The financial terms of the loan are negotiated between the city council and the business developer. The developer must construct a new building in the area of the city selected for TIF development. If the city council approves the TIF loan, the business constructs the new building and the council authorizes the county treasurer to divert the new real estate taxes generated by the new building over the next 14 years to help pay off the TIF loan.

If the diverted property taxes don't pay off the loan the business owner is responsible to pay off the loan. After 14 years the property taxes from the new building go to the city, county and school.

Why do some businesses get TIF incentives and some do not?

A business has to develop a property in an area targeted for TIF assistance by the city council, it must construct a new building to generate new property taxes and it must present a business development plan that the Planning Commission, the Community Development Agency and the City Council believe is a benefit to the community.

Methodist youth take part in Mission Trip

Fifteen youth and four adults representing the Wayne and Carroll United Methodist Churches recently returned from a mission trip to the Woodland Park, Colo. area.

During their trip, held July 10-17, the group volunteered for the Coalition for the Upper South Platte (CUSP) performing environmental projects as part of the ongoing cleanup of the Hayman Fire of 2002 that destroyed over 138,000 acres of forest.

CUSP volunteers continue working to reduce erosion by controlling invasive weeds and replanting trees in fire damaged areas. Another important project involves clearing dead wood and brush that could fuel another fire.

The Methodist group spent time mitigating weeds at the cattle farm of an elderly couple, and caring for God's creation by clearing brush and then gathering dead trees to be used as firewood for the area's needy families. Mountain View United Methodist Church of Woodland Park hosted the group, as they do many other mission groups each summer.

In addition to all of their hard work, the group was able to enjoy some fun times. They visited Garden of the Gods, the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo, and took a white-water rafting trip on the Arkansas River. Evening Bible studies and game nights gave the group a chance to bond and explore their faith.

The high school students and recent graduates on the trip represented the communities of Carroll, Emerson, Hastings, Wakefield, Wayne, and Winside. Young people involved in the trip were Emma Carstens, Alex Davis, Katlyn Hurlbert, Hannah Kenny, Holly Kenny, Patrick Kielty, Jonathan Kubicka, Andrew Long, Hannah Lorenzen, Shaiyllynn Mundil, Riley Nichols, Emily Puls, Anya Roberts, Roman Roberts, and Varya Roberts.

Adult sponsors for the trip were Pastor Pete Phillips, Program Director Hannah Price, both of the Wayne and Carroll churches, and Wayne congregation members Jeff and Mary Carstens.

Resident complains of harassment by sheriff's office

By JAYCIE WOSLAGER
Of The Herald

Randy Pick expressed some concerns about the Wayne County Sheriff's Office during Tuesday's Wayne County Commissioners meeting.

Pick met with the board to go over some law enforcement concerns he has against the sheriff's department. Pick's main question for the commissioners was, "What's the policy on taking care of the problem, when you have a problem? I've just gotten out of jail because of their actions done to me. (The) deputy sheriff picked me up, read me my rights and handcuffed me."

Pick claims he was harassed, kicked out of an office and threatened by one of the sheriff's deputies. Pick has been arrested two times. He understands the first arrest, but does not believe he should've been arrested the second time.

"The second time, I was just driving on the road, not on the Pick property. My wife, grandson and I were going to Yankton for the weekend," he said. "It had to be less than 90 seconds. There's no possible way someone can call in make a complaint, call back out and then make an arrest that quick. I take it upon myself that there are personal phone calls going on."

"All I asked them to do was to check on my dog. I asked (Sheriff) LeRoy Janssen that, and he said yeah. I asked if he would feed and water it, and he said no. They went out there and the girl's brother had his dog out there, and they checked on him. It was the wrong dog, and it was this hot. That's cruelty."

Another problem Pick ran into with Janssen involved a stolen vehicle.

"I was renting a car to this kid. I went into get the paperwork, and it was gone," he said. "He had the keys. I went to LeRoy, and he wouldn't listen. He wouldn't even do an investigation, and I know for a fact that an officer has driven by that vehicle three times and did not pick him up. That's just rude. It makes me feel like they're not doing their job."

"I know you can't get rid of him. You'll have to go through the city to do that. But I advise you not to recommend him for anything. I have a tape and paperwork. I didn't bring it here because we're going to push this all the way. I'll come after them for the second arrest. This one puts me in jail for 10 years. I'm innocent," said Pick.

Pick also had a concern with the treatment from once someone is arrested until they're released.

"I would like them to be more respectful," he said. "They treat you like a criminal. The way the facility is run is embarrassing. Your one phone call, if it doesn't go through, you're done. You can't use your phone.

You can't call a lawyer. I'm innocent and look at the way I was treated. We're in a better society than this. I'm just talking for the innocent ones, not so much the guilty ones. The way it starts out is you are guilty until proven guilty when it should be you're innocent until proven guilty."

Overall, Pick stated, "I'm mad; I'm disappointed in the system. I'm going to try and work on the system. I don't want to drag anybody down. It's not you guys, it's the rules and regulations that are a little further up."

He would like to see one of the sheriffs let go, but he doesn't know what the commissioners can do about this problem.

"We'll have to get a hold of our county attorney, as far as I understand the public is the only one that can remove (police authority)," stated commissioner Kelvin Wurdeman.

Deb Scholten, of Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department, told the board that they don't receive much in the way of funding from the health department.

After Hurricane Katrina, they received an extra sum of money. This allowed them to finally hire a full-time nurse.

"In every state, a lot of contradictions between authority figures start to appear. The authority figures have the title but have little or no training," said Scholten.

What she would like to have is a new resolution that will bring about more uniformity to the public health department.

"Most counties across the state have approved this resolution; Cedar County has, but I still have Thurston County left," stated Scholten. The Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department gave their 2011-2012 budget to the board for approval.

Lauren Lofgren, of the Wayne County Library Association, came before the board representing all the libraries in the county.

She expressed her appreciation to the board for the funds they receive.

"At the Wayne Library, since Oct. 1, 2010 county residents have checked out close to 9,900 items, including 650 audiobooks and 2,000 DVDs," said Lofgren.

She also said they use the funds on purchasing materials from electronic format to online databases.

"We have stepped up our purchase of DVDs since Movie Gallery closed, and currently, DVDs are our largest circulation collection," stated Lofgren.

They've also had 26 county residents become patrons since Oct. 1, 2010.

"At the Wayne Library, county residents make up about 18 percent of our patron database, and county participants in the summer reading program make up 20 percent of the total 55 children," stated Lofgren.

The Wayne County Library Association gave their 2011-2012 budget to the board for approval.

Two members of the Wayne County Fair Board, Dave Jaeger and Kevin Davis, requested an increase in their budget for the next fiscal year.

"We appreciate everything you've done for us last year. In the future, we are thinking about taking the sidewalk from the office area and expanding it to all around the Leland Herman Memorial Arena and beef barns," said board president Jaeger.

The fair board is also thinking of reconstructing the schoolhouse. They were thinking of making the schoolhouse into place for young mothers and kids.

"We could put up a changing room, or a place for them to nurse, or even a place for little toddlers to crawl around," stated Jaeger. They also thought of cementing the handicapped parking lot for next year.

In other business, the county commissioners:

– accepted Caterpillar's bid on the motor grader.

– approved Jaron Heithold's application to place utility line in county road right-of-way.

– approved health insurance renewal.

– approved substitution of securities for First National Bank.

Sok journals recent summer travels to European destinations

(NOTE: Paul Sok keeps busy as a biology teacher and coach at Winside Public Schools. However, he often spends his summer traveling and helping others learn in an out-of-school setting. Below is a journal of his recent travels.)

"Just returned from Europe. Had a great trip in England and France. Two weeks with 45 fifth and sixth graders from the Lincoln, Omaha, and Des Moines areas along with four other group leaders. The trip was sponsored by People to People Student Ambassadors based in Spokane, Wash.

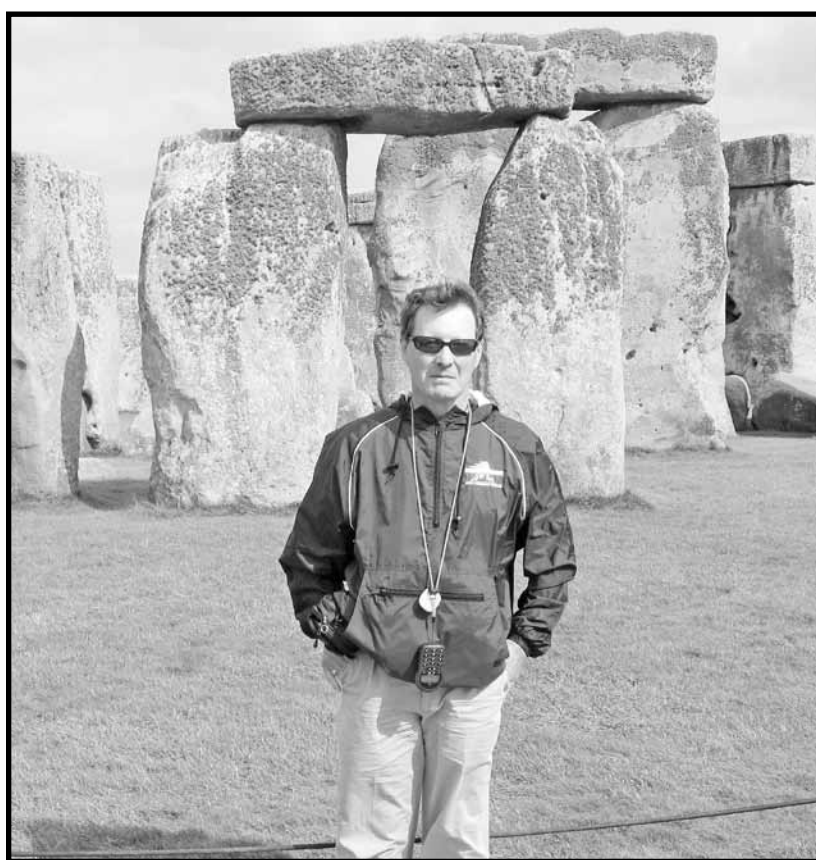

This is my fifth trip with the group. The organization was founded in the mid-1950's by Walt Disney and Dwight D. Eisenhower to promote peace and understanding through international travel with today's youth who will be tomorrow's leaders.

The trip started in Omaha on July 2 and extended to July 15. The first stop was in London. The group visited Windsor Castle a part time home to the royalty. This was followed by a whirlwind of events in England for the next seven days.

The students and instructors cruised the River Thames, rode the London Eye (second largest ferris wheel in the world), visited the Tower of London, Churchill's World War Two War Rooms and the British Museum of Natural History. The students had a chance to listen to and visit with a member of Parliament and later had lunch with a Henry VIII actor.

Everyone had a chance to see the ancient Roman hot springs at Bath, England, participate in an outdoor obstacle course and have a general tour of London with a viewing of the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham palace.

One evening was spent viewing the play "Wicked" and another traveling by ferry across the English Channel from Portsmouth to Caen, France. Just prior to the ferry ride the students and instructors "punted" on a branch of the Thames in Oxford, went through Shakespeare's home in Stratford upon Avon and hiked around Stonehenge.

When the group first arrived in France, we toured the Caen World War Two Museum, the National Cemetery, and hiked along Omaha and Utah beaches where the troops landed on D-Day.

Then it was off to Paris. Some of the major sites there included three cathedrals (Notre Dame, Sacre Coure, and St. Stephens), the Palace at Versailles, the Louvre, the artists district, the Arc de Triumph, Champs Elysses, and a perfume factory.

The conclusion of the journey involved a trip to the top of the Eiffel Tower and a day at Disneyland Paris."

The People to People trips involve students from grades 5-12 and run during the summers.

Anyone interested in the August meetings to participate in next year's trips is asked to contact Sok.

Take steps to conserve energy

Homeowners generally take a cool attitude toward higher summer energy bills.

While air conditioning is critical to the comfort of you and your family, the added costs can sometimes strain the family budget. This is compounded when you consider that most electric utilities have higher rates in the summer to offset their higher costs for generating and delivering electricity.

Before you get hot under the collar, there are actions you can take to conserve energy and improve the efficiency of your home. By following these steps, your home will be in better shape to handle those hot, humid days while helping to trim those summer energy costs.

Raise your thermostat to 78 degrees Fahrenheit. This is the number one way to conserve energy in the summer. Do not set your thermostat colder than normal when you turn on your air conditioning system. It will not cool your home any faster and could result in excessive cooling.

Consider installing a programmable thermostat. This is an excellent way to match the cooling needs of your home to your personal schedule. They typically offer savings of 10 percent to 15 percent without compromising personal comfort.

Have a professional, reputable contractor clean and inspect your air conditioning system before every cooling season begins. Check with your electric utility to see if you qualify for an EnergyWiseSM incentive to help pay for this service.

Replace your furnace air filter. Dirty filters restrict airflow and can cause the system to run longer increasing energy use. Check your filter every time you receive your utility bill and replace it, if necessary.

Keep the outside portion of your central air conditioning system clear of dried mud, debris, and grass clippings. Especially after an intense rain, mud can splatter onto the unit and block the air after the mud dries.

Make sure ceiling fans are blowing down. Most fans have a switch to change the fan direction.

Use the dishwasher and clothes washer later in the evening. When used during the day, these appliances produce additional heat causing your home's air conditioning system to run longer. Also, consider taking advantage of the season's warmer air and dry your laundry outside. Did you know that your dishwasher uses less water than washing dishes by hand? Turn off your dishwasher's heat-dry setting to allow your dishes to air-dry and save even more.

Whenever possible, use your microwave or countertop appliances for cooking. They too produce less heat than your oven or stove. Better yet, fire up the outdoor grill for cooking. What says summer better than burgers and hot dogs?

Fill up the refrigerator. Having lots of food and drinks in your refrigerator can help slow its interior from warming up when the door is open.

Use energy-efficient landscaping. Leafy trees and shrubs properly placed on the south and west side of your home can provide shade during the peak daytime heat. Plant trees or shrubs to shade the outdoor portion of your air-conditioning system but do not block the airflow around the unit. A unit operating in the shade uses as much as 10 percent less electricity than the same one operating in the sun.

Reduce heat buildup by keeping blinds and curtains closed on windows facing the sun. Unshaded windows can account for up to 40 percent of unwanted heat in your home.

Unplug or recycle that spare refrigerator in the garage if you don't really need it. This will save you up to $150 per year. Check with your electric utility to see if you qualify for the EnergyWise Refrigerator Recycling Program that pays you $35 for your old unit and provides free removal.

If you have a pool, turn off your filter overnight when the pool is not in use. Better yet, use a timer to cycle the pump and reduce its energy usage by 50 percent.

Summer should be a time for fun-in-the-sun and not a time spent worrying about high utility bills. Taking action now helps ensure that your enjoyment lasts right into autumn.

Farmland demand rises

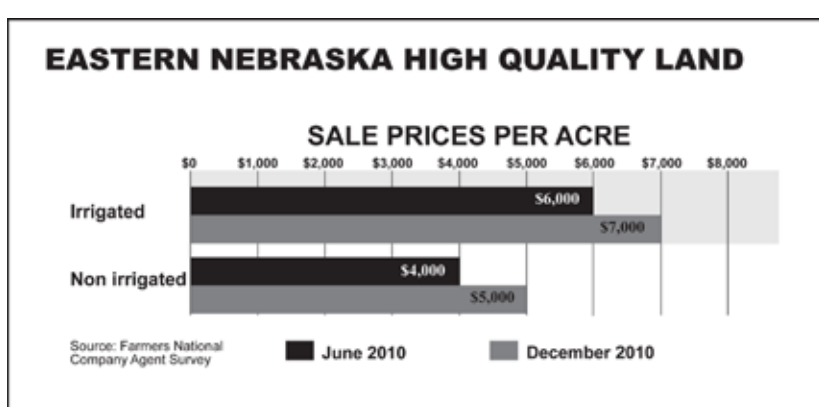

Demand for U.S. farmland is dramatically higher than a year ago, and everyone is watching closely for indicators of any market correction. Rising grain prices continue to make land a profitable investment. As a result, landowners are using profits to acquire land, and investors continue to take notice looking for opportunities.

"While 75 to 85 percent of land buyers continue to be farmers, interest among outside investors has risen," said Lee Vermeer, AFM, vice president of real estate operations at Farmers National Company. "Despite the robust demand driving sales activity levels, reports show that lenders are taking a relatively conservative approach to lending. Strong profits the past few years have provided cash for farmer buyers, while investors are taking cash from other sources to rebalance portfolios."

While commodity prices are keeping land values rising, supply of available land for sale is down 30 percent from historical numbers, according to Vermeer. High grain profits and high farm income are tied to the demand for farmland, driving prices up. Low interest rates are also working to keep prices increasing.

"The total crop from last year wasn't what was projected," said Vermeer. "The result was a limited supply which resulted in increased prices. We are looking ahead to continued strong commodity prices due to late spring planting. Early summer floods are reducing crop acres."

Prices are still up and supply down for farmland and ranchland in the western region of the farm belt, according to JD Maxson, area sales manager for Farmers National Company in Colorado, Kansas, South Dakota, central/western Nebraska and Wyoming. Farmland values have seen increases over the past year of over 10 percent in some parts of this area. Buyers see land as a safe investment and it's holding its value.

"Appreciation in land values, coupled with strong grain prices, has shielded farmers and ranchers from the economic downturn," said Maxson. "Landowners are experiencing positive cash flow and are in a strong financial position. Many farmers and ranchers are paying cash for land, reducing their debt to asset ratio."

Activity in the auction arena is a good indicator of land demand, according to Maxson. Land auctions held in the past six months have had very active bidding from farmers and investors. Prices in central and western Nebraska are ranging from $3,500 to $6,500 per acre compared to eastern Nebraska where prices range from $4,500 to $7,500 per acre for high quality tillable acres.

"Appreciation of land values and high cash rents contribute to a positive return on investment compared to other financial vehicles," said Maxson.

While some economists predict possible market corrections, Maxson sees it remaining strong for the coming future. "I look for the land market to remain strong throughout the balance of 2011 due to the short supply of land on the market, coupled with higher than ever demand for accumulated acres," he said.

Uhing, director of Educational Service Unit No. 1, spoke to the board on the services provided to area school districts. The service unit serves 25 schools in a six-county area. He noted that school districts are able to choose what services they need for the students in their particular districts.

In addition to direct services to students, the service unit is available to assist with various grants to individual schools.

The board acknowledged the gift of a hot water heater from Mr. and Mrs. Jeremy Wynia. The gift, as well as one from Ken Jorgensen, will mean that the district will not have to purchase a boiler for the Wayne Elementary School for the final year the school will be used by students.

The board approved membership costs for the Nebraska Rural Community Schools Association (NRCSA) and the Nebraska Association of School Board's Medicaid Consortium membership.

Dates for upcoming meetings prior to the start of the 2011-2012 school year were announced, as well as the first day of school, which is Wednesday, Aug. 17.

The board will next meet on Tuesday, Aug. 11 at 5 p.m.

Pie bakers

Recently, a group of Wayne County 4-Hers and family members helped prepare 100 pies for the 4-H Food Stand. The pies will be baked during the Wayne County Fair for fair goers to enjoy at the 4-H Food Stand. Choices this year will be apple, cherry, peach and strawberry/rhubarb.

Juniors' hopes for state dashed

Top seed upset by hosts, eliminated by Aurora in B-5 area

AURORA — Being the top seed in an area tournament isn't always a smooth road to the state tournament.

The Wayne American Legion Juniors found out the hard way that a few bumps along the way can steer a team's hopes for state off course and end in an unexpected crash.

The Wayne squad was the No. 1 seed in the six-team double-elimination bracket for the Class B, Area 5 tournament, but could not hold their position as they were eliminated Sunday with a 4-3 loss to Albion.

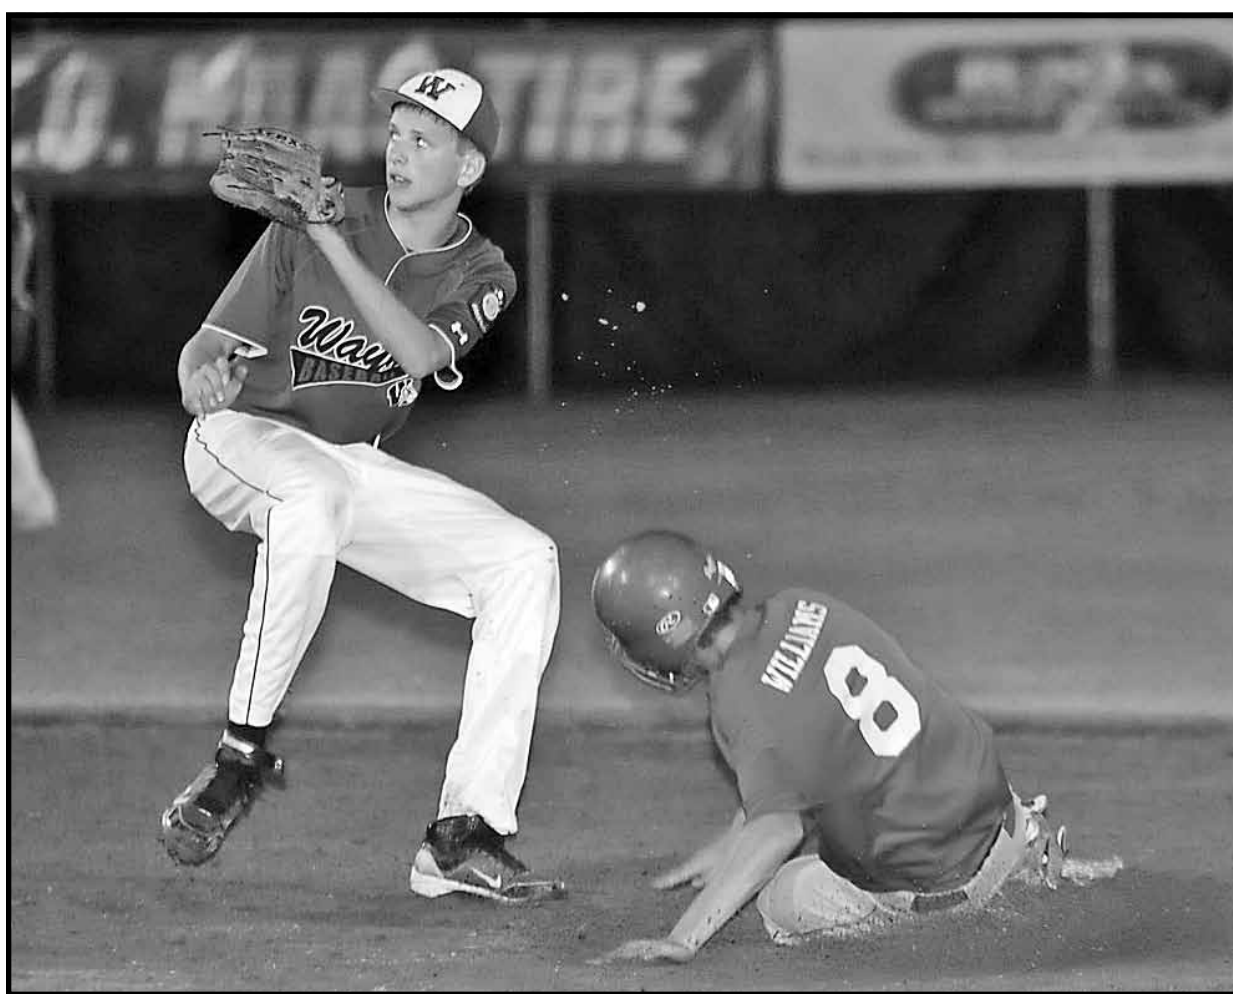

"It was a disappointing way to end the season," coach Jeff Zeiss said. "I felt we were a little tight and maybe felt some of the pressure in our two losses."

Zeiss said the team had dominated several opponents in recent weeks, which may have taken some of the edge off the team.

"The kids still battled and competed well until the final out," he added.

Wayne's offense sputtered in the first game of the tournament Friday, as the host team from Aurora was able to piece together single runs in the fourth and seventh innings to break a 1-1 tie and move on with a 3-1 victory.

Two singles and a passed ball helped the host team score the first run, but Wayne responded in the bottom of the inning when Drew Carroll walked and came home on an error, as the Aurora shortstop misplayed Bradley Longe's grounder.

Wayne had a chance to do some damage in the fourth and sixth innings, but stranded runners in both frames. Wayne left the bases loaded in the fourth after singles by Luke Rethwisch and Tyler Robinson and Carroll reached on an error, but were unable to get a run home. In the sixth, Steve Sherman reached base with a single, but three straight groundouts kept him from coming home.

Thoughts on changes in NSIC

Boy, the dog days of summer are really barking at our doors, aren't they?

Time to cool off with an ice cold drink and a dip in the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— It looks like the Wayne State volleyball team will get a chance to defend a title down the road.

The Northern Sun Conference announced this week that it will once again have a postseason conference tournament for volleyball when Minot State and University of Sioux Falls joins the NSIC in the fall of 2012.

The NSIC had a volleyball conference tournament until 2012, when the league expanded to its current 14-school group. The last tournament was held in 2007, and your champions were none other than the Wayne State Wildcats.

If things hold to form, the NSIC postseason tournament will arguably be the second toughest postseason tournament in Div. II volleyball, second only to the Central Region tournament, which will most likely be the monster tournament at the end of the season with the new regional setup coming into play.

— There is one decision the NSIC made on its postseason tournaments that I'm not all that excited about.

In past years, you had to earn your way into the conference tournament, which made every conference game — especially the home games — a huge game and brought a level of urgency to the months of January and February with only eight of the 14 teams qualifying for the conference tournament.

Beginning with the 2013 NSIC tournament, a lot of that excitement will be lost when the conference expands to a 16-team bracket, prolonging the agony of a long, dreadful season for traditional cellar-dwellers like Minnesota Crookston and Upper Iowa, while leaving top-tier teams open to the possibility of a first-round upset.

In addition, the conference

NSIC changes tourney formats for 2012-13 season

The Northern Sun Conference will change some of their tournament formats when University of Sioux Falls and Minot State join the league in 2012-13.

The conference announced that men's and women's basketball tournaments in 2013 will include all 16 schools and be a two-week format. The first-round matchups will be held at the home sites of the top eight teams on Wednesday, Feb. 27, with the highest-seeded teams hosting quarterfinal games on Saturday, March 2. The semifinals and finals will be hosted by the highest remaining seed, or at a pre-determined neutral site, on Friday and Saturday, March 8-9.

The conference will continue with its 22-game conference format and will split into two eight-team divisions. Teams will play home-and-home with opponents within division, while playing each team in the other division once.

The Northern Sun will continue its current format for the 2011-12 season, with the top eight teams making the postseason tournament.

Volleyball will once again have an eight-team postseason tournament for the first time since Wayne State won the last title in 2007. The top eight teams will play in the 2012 postseason tournament, which will be held Nov. 16-17 at the home site of the top-seeded team.

The conference will also expand its conference tournaments for baseball and softball, beginning in the spring of 2013. Baseball will expand to an eight-team double-elimination tournament, while softball will be a 10-team, double-elimination tournament.

Fleischmann goes to Super Combine

Joshua Fleischmann of Osceola recently participated in the Blue-Grey National Super Combine at the NFL Hall of Fame Stadium in Canton, Ohio.

Fleischmann, a junior linebacker and offensive lineman, was among the top 5 percent of players who participated in the Great Lakes Combine, held at the Chicago Bears' training site in May. He was eligible to join other top prospects in the combine in Ohio.

The Super Combine featured athletes from 36 states, and serves as a pool for players who will be selected to take part in the first Blue-Grey National All Star Game, set for Jan. 14, 2012 in Tampa, Fla.

The 6-foot, 215-pounder had the second-best performance in the bench press and was at or near the top of his group in the 40-yard dash, 20-yard shuttle, broad jump and vertical jump.

losing effort, striking out 10 and allowing five hits and a walk.

Wayne dropped to the losers bracket on Saturday, but faced a familiar foe in Pierce that they had dominated in two previous meetings. The theme held true in the elimination game, as Wayne scored in every inning on their way to a 19-3 beating in five innings to end Pierce's season.

Wayne took advantage of Pierce's miscues to get on the board in the first, as Doorlag, Danny Melena and Joe Burrows - pinch-running for Brady Soden - all scored on errors. Two more errors led to three more runs in the second, and Wayne sent 10 to the plate in a five-run fifth, highlighted by a two-run single from Melena and an RBI safety by Rethwisch.

Wayne opened the flood gates in the fourth, sending 13 batters to the plate and scoring eight runs. Jordan Backer had an RBI double and Longe added an RBI single to highlight the big inning.

Longe went the distance for Wayne in the win, striking out five and allowing five hits and three walks.

Sunday's matchup with Albion was a back-and-forth affair, as Wayne came from behind twice to tie the game, only to lose the lead each time.

In the third, Doorlag brought Carroll home with a triple, then came home on a dropped fly ball to tie the game at 2-2. Albion scored a run in the fourth, but Wayne came back to tie it again in the fifth when Doorlag doubled and scored on a Soden single.

Albion came through in the clutch in the sixth, piecing together three straight singles to score the go-ahead run. Wayne had a chance to tie the game in the seventh, as Doorlag singled and stole second with two out. Their comeback hopes were dashed, though, when Albion's pitcher lured Soden into a fly ball to left to end the game and end Wayne's 20-3 season.

Soden took the loss in the finale despite striking out six and allowing no walks and nine hits.

Although the team was unable to make it to state, Zeiss said the outstanding regular season, which included winning the regular-season and tournament titles in the Ralph Bishop League, are something the team can take pride in.

"We're all very disappointed in the outcome, but we're proud of the accomplishments the team had this season," he said. "I really do appreciate their efforts, both on and off the field, and I look forward to the future with the number of good players we have returning next season."

tournament will drag out an extra week, with the first two rounds being played at higher seeds' home gyms the first week and the "final four" taking place at a neutral site.

I do like the divisional format that will come into play, with home-and-home matchups within the division and one game against non-division opponents. It's too bad the conference messed with a good thing by rendering those conference regular-season battles a little less important than they now are.

- I believe my title as "busiest member of the sports media in Wayne County" might be in jeopardy this season.

Wayne State College will have its games broadcast on local stations KTCH-AM/KCTY-FM this coming school year, and the station's sports director, Bill Seifert, will be handling the play-by-play duties.

Tackling Wildcat football, volleyball and men's and women's basketball is a challenge of its own. However, throw in his usual excellent work in describing area high school football, volleyball, boys and girls basketball and baseball into the mix, and I'm wondering if ol' Bill can do all of that and keep his sanity intact.

- Not to be outdone, the Wayne Herald has some plans for covering Wildcat sports during the 2011-12 season, and you'll want to check the paper and our Web site (www.mywaynenews.com) for more details.

- It's hard to believe that we are now 25 days away from the start of two-a-day practices for the 2011 high school football season.

Praise Assembly sermon set

"Praise Assembly of God Church at 1000 East 10th Street in Wayne, is a church that believes that good, strong families can be built with a commitment to the Lord and to a good, strong church and local church that takes the Bible seriously," said Rev. Dennis Preston.

With that in mind, there are a number of opportunities for Bible Study, worship and prayer each week at the church.

The mid-week Bible Study returns to a meeting time on Wednesday evenings at the church at 7 p.m. in the Fireside Room. The current study is on the books in the New Testament that are one chapter in length. This week's study is on third John and is entitled "A Reputation that Precedes You."

A Saturday evening "Hour of Prayer" will take place at 7 p.m. in the Sanctuary. This is an opportunity to come to the church and spend some time waiting on the Lord as well as praying for the needs of your own household as well as for those of the community.

Sunday morning Sunday School starts at 9:30 a.m. with a class beginning a study of the book of Acts in the New Testament entitled "What did they have?" The study will consider specifically what the early church (the church in Acts) possessed that made it such a powerful force in shaping not only the Middle East, but also the entire world.

The Sunday morning service begins at 10:30 a.m., in the sanctuary with a time of praise and worship as well as prayer for the needs of people. The morning sermon by church pastor Rev. Dennis Preston will be on the subject of "Do good people need the gospel" with the text from Romans 2:1-16. This is a continuation of the pastor's sermon series on the book of Acts.

Sunday evening the congregation will gather at The Oaks in Wayne at 7 p.m.

Winside girls go 1-2 at state tourney

NORTH PLATTE – The Winside 18-under softball team went 1-2 in the Class C 18-under softball tournament held July 8-10.

Winside opened the tournament with a 5-4 win over the Nebraska Flames, breaking a 3-3 tie with two runs in the third inning.

Winside trailed 2-0 before a passed ball got Winside on the board. They tied the game later in the inning when Bianca Marino sent a hit over the wall for a home run.

The two teams traded runs in the second to make it 3-3, and Destiny Nelson broke the tie in the third when her groundout scored Deserah Janke. Winside added another run in the inning when another run scored on a wild pitch.

Wayne Blue wins league title game

The Wayne Little League Blue squad won their league tournament over the weekend, avenging an earlier loss to go 3-1 and win the title.

They opened the tournament with a 12-3 win over Wakefield, breaking the game open with four runs in the second inning, then adding three more in the third and fourth innings. Payten Gamble had three hits in the game, including a triple. Caden Korth added a pair of hits and Lucas Longe added a triple. Korth went the distance, allowing one hit and striking out four.

Wayne's only loss in the tournament was a tough 7-6 decision to the Norfolk Titans, as Norfolk scored a run in the bottom of the seventh to win the back-and-forth game. Tyler Lutt had two hits, including a double, and Tyler Pecena homered for Wayne. Gamble pitched all seven innings in the losing effort, striking out 10 and allowing just four hits.

Wayne bounced back to beat Wakefield for the second time, taking a 7-2 decision. Gamble had three hits, while Pecena had a double and Lucas Longe and Tucker Nichols both had hits. Korth and Lutt combined in the win on the mound, giving up five hits and striking out six between them.

In the championship, Wayne jumped out to an early 3-0 lead and pulled away for a 9-3 win over the Titans. Pecena and Gamble both had two hits, with Gamble hitting a home run. Longe, Tanner DeBoer and Adam Bentjen all had hits. Gamble struck out eight in three innings to get the win, while Lutt struck out two in relief.

On Saturday, Winside dropped a 6-2 decision to Central City. Winside fell behind 6-0 early in the game and tried to mount a comeback. Natasha Jensen had a two-run double in the bottom of the fifth, but she was called out when she was tagged after her momentum pulled her off second base.

Winside's tournament run ended later that day with a 7-5 loss to Johnson-Brock. Shelby Lienemann had a two-run double to highlight Winside's effort in the game.

Wakefield Juniors end season at C-2 area tourney

HARTINGTON – The Wakefield Juniors battled back after an opening-round loss in the Class C, Area 2 tournament, but were unable to come back as their season came to an end Monday.

Wakefield opened the tournament Friday with an 11-1 loss to the host team, who was also the No. 1 seed in the tournament. Hartington limited Wakefield to just three hits in the game, and broke the game open in the fourth with six runs.

Wakefield bounced back in a big way on Saturday, dominating Ponca in a 17-5 win. Wakefield pounded out 14 hits, with six going for extra bases. Adam Dreiling and Alan Lopez both had a double and a triple, while Cleo Sarmento and Julio Perez added doubles. Perez pitched well and got the win for Wakefield.

Facing elimination in an exciting pitchers duel, Wakefield came through in extra innings on Sunday to edge Battle Creek 2-1. Battle Creek scored a run in the fourth, but Wakefield forced extra innings after tying the game in the sixth. In the bottom of the eighth, Lopez came through with a walk-off single to score the winning run and keep Wakefield's state tournament hopes alive.

Those hopes were dashed on Monday, however, as Pender broke open a close game to pull away with a 10-4 win. Wakefield led 3-0 in the third, but Pender scored six runs to take the momentum and eliminate Wakefield. Evan Nicholson's double highlighted a seven-hit effort for the Wakefield Juniors.

Exchange students share time with Rotary Club

This month marks the culmination of an international youth exchange between Northeast Nebraska and Germany but the social and cultural links created by the two teens involved in the year-long program may never be broken.

The community of Laurel gave Lucas Geitner a celebratory send-off on July 19 as he heads back to his home and school in Germany after spending a year as a Rotary exchange student at Laurel High School. His going away party will undoubtedly be similar to the one that Laurel student Emma Engebretsen got when she finished her year abroad in Lucas's home country.

Barb Engebretsen, Emma's mother who is a member of the Wayne Rotary Club. Barb, a professor at Wayne State College, became a Wayne Rotary Club member after she and Emma began researching youth exchange program opportunities a couple years ago.

The Rotary exchange program was the best fit because its goals and values more closely matched what Emma was interested in - a safe and secure fellowship exchange with the ultimate goal of fostering world understanding and peace. It was such a good fit, Dr. Engebretsen decided to join the international service club as well.

Involvement in the exchange has not just been for the students. Besides club members sharing through live video feeds and in-person gatherings, parents of both Lucas and Emma have traveled to visit their children and meet their host families during their time abroad.

Laurelites Barb and Bill Engebretsen visited Emma in Germany in February and Lucas' mom is currently in Laurel meeting his host parents and sharing in the send-off.

"It was a wonderful year," Emma told the Wayne Rotarians. "I really feel like I have family and friends there now. I will definitely go back." Lucas was no less enthralled with the idea of keeping connections alive.

He said he especially liked the reduced stress level of education in the United States schools compared to the intensity of high school in Germany. He will return to two more years of study before 3-5 years of vocational training. "I will be coming back and visiting in the future," he promised. "Life seems more enjoyable here."

Emma Engebretsen of Laurel and Lucas Geitner from Germany shared their experiences and insights with Wayne Rotary Club members recently as their participation in the Rotary International Youth Exchange program nears an end.

Summer is a great time to connect with the fairs and festivals held across our state. Nebraska's county fairs offer an outstanding opportunity to showcase the best of our state and highlight the agricultural heritage, achievements and talents of Nebraska producers, youth and hobbyists.

Nebraska is home to 90 unique county fairs that offer a variety of experiences and traditions for families to enjoy. Box Butte, Dodge, Franklin and Madison Counties just concluded county fairs that featured livestock show competitions, demolition derbies and championship rodeo competitions. Cedar, Fillmore, Frontier, Jefferson, Kearney, Platte, and Webster Counties all have county fairs beginning this weekend.

These and dozens of other county events will be held through mid-August and into September in several parts of the state.

During my time as Governor, I have had the opportunity to personally visit many county fairs across our great state. The thing that stands out about the county fairs I have attended is the participation from our 4-H and FFA youth.

The 4-H organization empowers young people to reach their full potential by working and learning in partnership with caring adults. The FFA makes a difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education. These missions are on display at our county fairs.

I continue to be impressed with the young people of our state. For those participating in county fair events, their determination, dedication and drive learned through fair projects is superb. Young people work on and share projects in a wide range of interests, from rocketry, technology, wildlife, photography, woodworking, and more. Thousands of others invest significant time and energy in learning to care for livestock. More than 135,000 youth participate in the 4-H program. More than 6,500 youth participate in FFA programs. County fairs offer our young people the opportunity to showcase their achievements of the past year, while also offering fairgoers an opportunity to experience family friendly entertainment — from rodeos and tractor pulls, to pie-baking contests, concerts and musical performances.

If it's your first visit to a fair, or whether you are a regular participant, I encourage you and your family to visit one of Nebraska's county fairs this year. A complete listing is available online from the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers at www.nebraskafairs.org.

The more than one million people who attend Nebraska's fairs and festivals each year can attest to the quality of life Nebraska has to offer. Our county fairs and festivals are an opportunity to experience the traditions and culture that make Nebraska a great place to live.

Capitol View Concerns over Keystone pipeline

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — Maybe the U.S. Department of State will see it as something of a state's rights issue and give the Nebraska Legislature a break when it comes to giving the go-ahead on the controversial Keystone XL oil pipeline.

Maybe not. A new, independent study by a highly-qualified prof at the University of Nebraska says would-be pipeline builders flagrantly and grossly underestimated damages that could result if the pipeline leaked. Particularly if it leaked into the Ogallala Aquifer.

Several lawmakers wrote to the State Department a few months ago, asking that any building permit decision be delayed until after the 2012 Unicameral session.

Such a delay would give Nebraska policymakers a chance to take action. After all, a report from the feds says individual states have authority to determine the route of any oil pipeline.

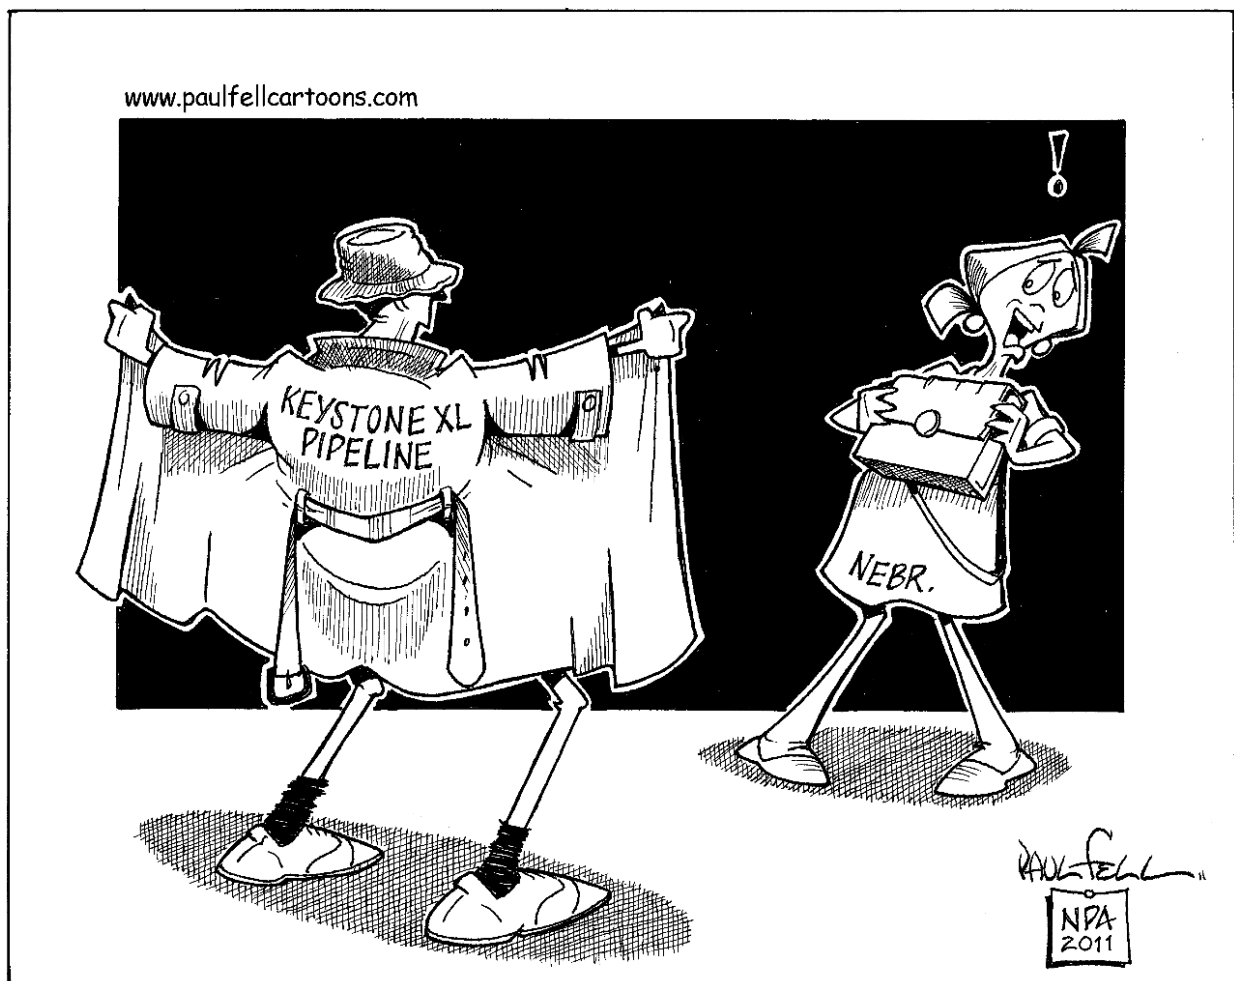

The pipeline would transmit a corrosive sand tar oil mixture from Alberta, Canada to the American Gulf Coast.

Increased Tax Revenues Could Soften Budget Cuts

The state's net income from taxes has been better than expected of late.

Sen. Lavon Heidemann of Elk Creek says maybe, but only maybe, those higher tax receipts could be used to soften some of the budget cuts made by the 2011 Legislature. Heidemann chairs the Appropriations Committee.

Lawmakers came into the session facing a possible budget gap of up to $1 billion. Legislators made the spending reductions needed to close that gap.

Heidemann and Gov. Dave Heinemann each took care to note that the national economy is still in flux. Thus, any thoughts of using higher-than-anticipated revenues for budget modifications are optimistic, and dependent upon a great many factors.

Told you so! It was noted in this space months ago that policymakers would hear the roar of the electorate if they came within striking distance of allowing Social Security payments to be delayed.

It was a no-brainer forecast. Constituents and Wall Street weren't going to let it happen. We aren't passing judgment on the wisdom of the "close it down" position; just saying it wasn't going to happen.

A question of interest: Were some Congressional officeholders unaware of those guaranteed reactions? That would put them among those who think tickets will be available at the box office when Ohio State plays Nebraska. Seriously.

One other thing. Senate majority leader Mitch McConnell has said he could go for a deal that would "authorize the president" to approve increasing the national debt ceiling. That gambit is understandable, and obviously in hopes of laying any political fallout on the doorstep of Democrats and President Obama when the debt ceiling is raised.

Guaranteed counter: Those against increasing the debt ceiling — and those who favor it — will argue that voting for the presidential option was literally the same as voting to increase the ceiling.

Now, how will Nebraska U.S. Sens. Ben Nelson and Mike Johanns vote on whatever actions are proposed to the Senate? Nelson is a Democrat. Johanns is a Republican.

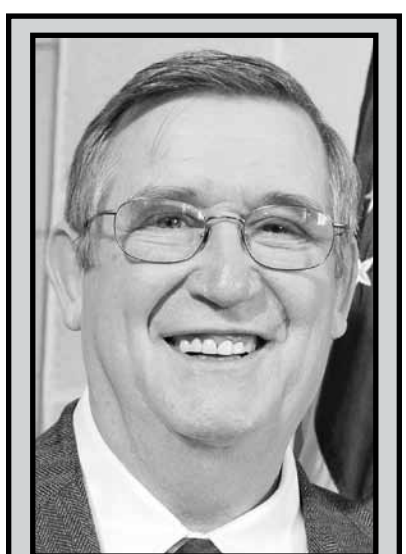

The flooding situation made the news several times this last week. The Corps of Engineers said that they will soon begin to reduce the amount of water being released from Gavins Point Dam. The Corps will begin lowering the water released from the current 160,000 cubic feet per second (cfs) to 150,000 cfs by Aug. 1. Unfortunately, the flooding is expected to last at least through August, and the Corps must be careful at this point that the actions taken do not weaken the already stressed levees.

There was more news from the federal government on the flooding situation affecting our area. U.S. Sen. Mike Johanns introduced legislation to help people whose flood insurance policies were declared useless by a Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) ruling. Senator Johanns' legislation is similar to legislation introduced in the House of Representatives by Omaha Congressman Lee Terry. FEMA has ruled that the Missouri River flooding began on June 1, which meant flood insurance policies had to be in effect before the June 1 date before policy owners could collect damages. Since there is a required 30-day period before the policy takes effect, many people were not eligible for assistance because of the ruling. Sen. Johanns' bill would allow people who purchased flood insurance after May 1 to claim any damages caused by the massive flooding. While I am in favor of almost anything that could help the folks affected by this disaster, I cannot make myself real comfortable with the idea of making private insurance companies cover folks who had no intention of having insurance until after they KNEW the water was coming. It smells a little to me like buying health insurance after you are sick, or auto insurance after an accident. This may not be popular, but it is the way I feel.

The newly created Missouri River Working Group, which is made up of the 14 U.S. Senators who represent states affected by the Missouri River Flooding, met this last week. (Those states include Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota.) This group questioned officials from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and shared the importance of prioritizing flood control in the future. It seems to me a little like shutting the barn door after the horse is gone, but maybe we will learn that flood control is more important than recreation and that people are more important than some supposedly endangered animal.

U.S. Sen. Nelson attended a meeting in Blair with citizens affected by the flooding as well. I think all of the people representing Nebraska in Washington D.C. have visited the flood area. I am relatively pleased with our congressional delegation and the attention they are giving to this crisis. It remains to be seen if Congress follows through,

Legislative Update
By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

and what action will be taken. In Washington, DC, talk is still cheap, good whiskey (and action to solve this problem) still costs money.

Gov. Heineman has submitted a new request for a major disaster declaration for 29 Nebraska counties affected by flooding, tornadoes and severe storms. The Nebraska Emergency Management Agency has estimated that Nebraska has experienced approximately $14 million in damages to its public infrastructure, and expects that number to increase as the flood waters decline. President Obama has already declared an emergency disaster declaration for 18 Nebraska Counties affected by flooding from both the Missouri and Platte rivers. The summer of 2011 will be one that people affected by the floods will remember for many years.

I had the opportunity Wednesday to tour the dike system protecting South Sioux City. The Nebraska National Guard took me over the system and explained what was going on. They are efficient, courteous, and helpful. While we may have questions about what, why, or how the Corps of Engineers acted, we can and should be very proud of the Guard and the work they are doing.

I also took an opportunity to meet with folks in Ponca, Jackson, South Sioux, Walthill, Wayne, Winslow and Pender. Thanks to all, I hope to see many of you at the upcoming county fairs.

Suicide Prevention group to host seminar

The Northeast Nebraska Coalition for Suicide Prevention and Education is sponsoring a clergy prevention seminar at Faith Regional Health Services East Campus (Prairie Room) on Thursday, July 28 from 8:45 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

This seminar will focus on youth suicide prevention. In Nebraska, the second leading cause of death in youth is suicide. Several tools will be provided to the clergy staff who provides spiritual help and guidance to those in difficult times. The goal is to have as many members of the clergy from Northeast Nebraska. No cost for this training and to register please call (402) 841-3834 or register online unln. qualtrics.com.

What is QPR?
QPR stands for Question, Persuade, and Refer - three simple steps that anyone can learn to help save a life from suicide. Just as people trained in CPR and the Heimlich Maneuver help save thousands of lives each year, people trained in QPR learn how to recognize the warning signs of a suicide crisis and how to question, persuade, and refer someone to help.

Each year thousands of Americans are saving the life of a friend, colleague, sibling, or neighbor. QPR is an emergency mental health intervention for suicidal persons created by Paul Quinnett, and first described in 1995 in a number of presentations and publications by the QPR Institute.

With QPR, the following Chain of Survival elements must also be in place:

- Early recognition of suicide warning signs. The sooner warning signs are detected and help sought, the better the outcome of a suicide crisis will be.

- Early QPR. Asking someone about the presence of suicidal thoughts and feelings opens up a conversation that may lead to a referral for help.

- Early intervention and referral. Referral to local resources or calling (800) SUICIDE for evaluation and possible referral is critical, as most people thinking about suicide are suffering from an undiagnosed and/or untreated mental illness or substance abuse disorder for which excellent treatments exist. Also, the offering of hope and social and spiritual support can often avert a suicide attempt.

- Early professional assessment and treatment. As with any illness, early detection and treatment results in better outcomes and fewer lives lost to suicide.

A well-executed, strong and positive response to the early warning signs of a pending suicide event may render subsequent links in the Chain of Survival unnecessary. Just as the prompt recognition of the scream of a smoke detector can eliminate the need to suppress a raging fire, so can the early recognition of suicide warning signs, confirming their presence, and opening a supporting dialogue with a suicidal person - while securing a consultation from (800) SUICIDE and/or a professional - may prevent the need for an emergency room visit or inpatient psychiatric hospitalization.

At the end of 2009, an estimated one million American citizens have been trained in QPR by Certified QPR Instructors.

Tips and tricks for safe grilling this summer Engagements

Most Americans can't wait to fire up the grill and kick off the peak outdoor cooking season igniting. However, to enjoy your summer, there are some checkpoints for safe grilling.

Shopping

When shopping, choose meat and poultry last, and don't put them in the trunk. The temperature is too hot and bacteria will grow rapidly. Meat and poultry should not be out of refrigeration more than two hours or one hour in warm weather above ninety degrees Fahrenheit.

Refrigerate meat and poultry at forty degrees Fahrenheit immediately upon arriving home from shopping. Raw meat and poultry should be stored below other foods to prevent cross-contamination.

Purchase ground meat or poultry no more than a day or two before you plan to grill it, otherwise freeze them. Grill larger cuts of meats within four days of purchase.

Preparation

Completely thaw meat and poultry in the refrigerator or just prior to cooking in a microwave. Frozen foods do not grill evenly. Never thaw on the counter - bacteria will begin to grow. It takes 24 hours to thaw five pounds of meat in the refrigerator.

Clean up juice spills immediately with a paper towel or clean dishcloth so a raw product does not get on a cooked product.

Marinate meat and poultry in the refrigerator. Sauces can be brushed on while cooking, but never use the same sauce that has touched the raw meat.

Make ground beef patties about 1/2-inch thick by 4 inches in diameter. This helps assure they cook thoroughly and evenly. The National Cattleman's Beef

Jackie Steffen Cedar County

Association advises patties this size will take 11 to 13 minutes to cook to a safe temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit based on beef that has been removed directly from the refrigerator; cooked over medium, ash-covered coals and grilled uncovered.

Transporting

Transport meat and poultry to a picnic site in a cooler kept cold with ice or with frozen gel packets.

Avoid frequently opening the cooler.

Keep cooler in an air-conditioned vehicle for transporting and then keep cooler in the shade or shelter at the picnic site. Keep raw meat and poultry wrapped separately from cooked foods.

Grilling

Cooking is key to meat and poultry safety. Heat the grill to kill microorganisms before placing the meat or poultry on it.

The only way to accurately determine doneness is with a food thermometer. The color alone cannot be used to assure a hamburger has been properly cooked.

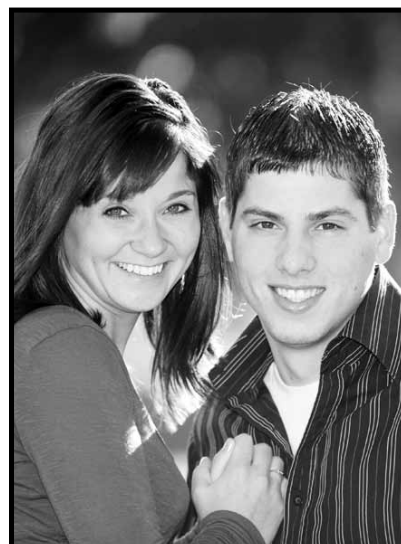

Adding sauces or spices to meat may make them look brown before they are done.

Use a separate clean tong or spatula for removing meat or poultry from the grill and place on a clean plate to avoid cross-contamination with uncooked meat.

Discard any food left out for more than two hours or one hour if the temperature is above ninety degrees Fahrenheit. When in doubt, throw it out!

Follow these simple tips and your sure to have a GREAT cookout this summer!

As always, UNL helps you Know How and Know Now.

Wendy Vawser Residential Sales

"Client" or "customer", do you know what these mean?

In real estate these terms are not interchangeable. They have very different meanings. So it is quite important that whether you are the buyer or the seller, you are familiar with these terms.

1. Client: Someone who is represented by a particular agent. This could be by written contract as a seller would be a client to the listing agent who is representing only the seller. This could also be a buyer who has contracted with an agent to help them by being a buyer's agent. In this case the agent represents only the buyer.

2. Customer: Someone who is not represented by an agent. An example of this would be a buyer who is looking at a property that is listed with an agent. The agent is representing only the seller and therefore the buyer (Customer) is unrepresented.

Knowing whether you are the client or the customer can change a situation dramatically. It is in your best interests to know the difference in these terms, so you can be prepared when going into negotiations.

LWML executive board has meeting

The Wayne Zone LWML Executive Board meeting was held at Grace Lutheran Church social room at Wayne on July 11.

President Janice Anderson opened the meeting with a reading entitled "UPS-Yes". Substituting for Pastor Steckling, Pastor Lilienkamp gave a devotion from the book "Where in the World is God?"

Roll Call was answered by 11 members, Pastor Lilienkamp and three guests.

Sharon Owens and her two children gave a presentation about Sharon's missionary work in Macau, Hong Kong, and China. Sharon is from Lincoln and has taken the call to be director of ESL Outreach in Macau. She is at the Concordia English Center and provides leadership, vision, and direction to the ESL program. She serves as the leader for small group Bible studies and will train people in Macau to learn English by using the Bible as their study guide.

She explained about the short-term mission trips that are available to people of all ages. She also answered questions regarding the mission work there and the impact it has on the people. The children gave small gifts to all.

Minutes of the Jan. 17, 2011 board meeting were read and approved as read. The treasurer's report was presented by Bev Ruwe.

Old Business - A bill was presented for delegate convention expense. Fauneil Bennett went as the delegate. Nila Schuttler reported that the retreat will be Sept. 17 at Camp Luther. Registration deadline is Sept. 1. Details and registration are in the Leaguer. Members are to bring flip flops for Orphan Grain Train. Those in attendance will be decorating them. Jessica Feldmann from Grace Lutheran Church will be the speaker. Each society will bring goodies for the ride home. Nila wanted to know if anyone had a "bedazzler" to put rhinestones on the flip flops. Let her know if you have one.

New Business - The Fall Rally will be Oct. 18 at Immanuel Wakefield. The theme will be "Are You Living Your Faith?" based on Ephesians 2:8-9 "For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith - and this not from yourselves, it is the gift of God - not by works, so that no one can boast." The group voted that for "Gifts of the Heart" we have a money tree for Mission Central designated to be given to Missionary Sharon Owens. Janice Anderson will contact Gary Thies about having a missionary come and be our speaker. Tellers will be from Grace Evening Wayne, First Trinity Altona, and St. Paul Concord. Societies on the financial review will be Immanuel Laurel, St. John Wakefield and Hope South Sioux City.

Names are needed on the ballot for Secretary, Vice President, and Pastoral Counselor. Please let Monica Ebmeier know if you have someone in mind or if you would be willing to be on the ballot.

The next board meeting will be Jan. 16, 2012 at 1:30 p.m. at Grace Lutheran social hall. Serving lunch will be Nila Schuttler and Patti Mattes.

Pastor Lilienkamp brought to the attention of the group the need of baked goods for the "Cup of Grace" coffee house. He explained the purpose of the coffee house. It is a place for college students to come and relax and also be involved in Bible Studies. He was asking societies and churches if they would be willing to bring baked goods enough to last for two weeks. These items could be frozen. Any society that is interested is asked to contact Pastor Lilienkamp and Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and the Table Prayer. Lunch was served by Bev Ruwe and Janice Anderson.

Catholic radio station gets matching $140,000 gift

A major expansion effort for the Spirit Catholic Radio Network (SCRN) became reality July 19 after Spirit 88.3 FM KOLB went on the air. The 100,000 watt signal, which covers more than 3,200 square miles, broadcasts programming from Spirit Catholic Radio based in Omaha.

Over the last year, more than $140,000 was raised by supporters in the northeast part of the state, which was matched by an anonymous donor to purchase equipment and build a broadcast tower in Osmond. The Federal Communications Commission has established Hartington as the city of license for the signal.

"After all the hard work and effort that was put into this project, it's hard to believe it's finally on the air," said SCRN Development Director Bernie Schaefer, a native of Menominee. "It's very gratifying to see the support this non-profit radio ministry has gotten. Many families, parishes and Catholic organizations in northeast Nebraska came together to make the signal a reality." The signal call letters KOLB, honor St. Maximilian Kolbe, the patron saint of radio.

Spirit Catholic Radio first went on the air in Omaha in 1999 on a small, 500 watt signal. In 2009, the station boosted its reach with the 50,000 watt Spirit 102.7 FM signal, and now more than a million potential listeners in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa, have access to the broadcast. In addition, over a year ago Spirit 91.5 FM went on the air in central Nebraska (Grand Island). That signal will be upgraded this week to reach more of that part of the state. These signals are all part of the network based in Omaha at KVSS (VSS stands for Veni, Sancte Spiritus - Come, Holy Spirit).

"We will soon be reaching close to 75 percent of Nebraska's population," said SCRN executive director Jim Carroll. "The signal also reaches listeners in South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas, and Missouri."

Local volunteers and priests in the northeast Nebraska coverage area will continue to build awareness of the new signal. "These awareness activities, many of them supported by the Knights of Columbus, Foresters and other organizations, are critical to helping to grow the Spirit Catholic Radio family," explained Schaefer, who said families from 40 different towns pledged their support in the fundraising effort.

The public is invited to join Omaha Archbishop George J. Lucas for a 6:30 p.m. Mass and tower christening on Tuesday, Aug. 2 in Osmond at Saint Mary of the Seven Dolores Catholic Church.

The SCRN can also be heard on the Internet at www.KVSS.com.

CHIROPRACTORS

TREAT SCIATICA?

Sciatica is defined as pain that radiates from the lower back into the buttocks and down the back of one or both legs, caused by the irritation of the sciatic nerves. If the vertebrae or bones in the lower back are misaligned or out of place they can put pressure on the nearby nerves. This can cause tremendous pain and normal daily activities become almost impossible. Chiropractic care works on correcting misaligned or out of place vertebrae and can remove the pressure placed on the sciatic nerve, reducing pain and improving flexibility and function.

 Fifty-six women from the Nebraska District North rode a bus to Peoria for the Convention. Some of the area towns represented were Bloomfield, Columbus, Creston, Fremont, Hooper, Humphrey, Norfolk, Omaha, Osmond, Scribner, Tilden, Wayne, Winside and Wisner. Other ladies elected to drive to Peoria for the convention. The two Young Women Representatives were Lindsay Bartling and Stacey Coffey.

sion goal of $1.825 million for the 2011-2013 biennium. The funds raised over the next two years by the organization's 250,000 members nationwide will be used to support mission grants, the top five being:
 1. Support for Lutheran Orphanages - Haiti $70,000
 2. Lutheran Braille Workers Plate Embossing Device $100,000

 The LWML is the official women's auxiliary of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod (LCMS), the second-largest Lutheran denomination in North America.
 The theme of the convention was "Living with Jesus - Living on the Edge" based on the Scripture passage: And they realized they had been with Jesus. "For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard" (Acts 4:13b & 20 NKJV).

In her keynote address, Deb Burma, acclaimed speaker and author, inspired and motivated convention attendees to live out the convention theme.
 LWML President Janice Wendorf reflected on her four years as president. She encouraged attendees to continue to be in the Word, of the Word and walk with the Lord. She thanked the LWML for giving her the opportunity to serve as president.
 The 585 voting delegates elected Kay Kreklau of Draton, N.D. as the 17th President of the LWML.

Reminiscing about an old church

I just heard from the owner of a backyard pool that it's too hot to swim; the water is like a bath! Worse, cattle in Texas are dying, either from too little water, or too much! This is some year for weather, and the Newsweek magazine says it's going to stay this way. Every day, I give thanks for being out of the flood zone.

Yesterday, we went to Waco for the funeral of my aunt, and found all the corn already tasseled. Center pivots were busy. And a lot of us did not go to the cemetery after the service, but chose to stay in the air-conditioned comfort of the parish hall.

This church, in the country south of Waco, is about 140 years old. I can still remember that when I attended with my grandparents, the men sat on one side and the women and children on the other. Also, I can remember them kneeling at the pew for confession. No kneeling benches, just get down on knees and turn to the pew. The organ had to be pumped, by hand, for sound.

Many of the founding fathers had last names of Naber, Staehr, and Stuhr, and Pieper. My high school classmate who was ushering informed me there are no Staehrs, one Stuhr, and one Pieper left. The number of worshippers has dropped drastically, also. Yet, they struggle to stay open because "I was baptized, confirmed, and married there, and I intend to be buried there." As in many of these country churches, the cemetery is next to the church.

Going to Minnesota over the Fourth, we realized why all the jokes are about Minnesota Lutherans. There is a Lutheran church on every other corner, and a bunch are still out in the country there. Something else there was an abundance of was wind farms.

By: Pat Meierhenry

Acres and acres of those electrical windmills. I began to understand why an informative TV program had guys going to school to learn to maintain these tall structures. I understand we will soon see some south of Winside.

Anyway, I have enjoyed a book called Growing Up Lutheran, by two Minnesota Lutheran gals, and I plan this weekend to take in the musical Church Basement Ladies downtown in the Howell theater. I saw one episode at Iowa Western Tech and laughed heartily; I'm expecting to do the same here.

According to the review, this one centers on the fact that young Signe has gone away to the cities and comes back home to marry a (gasp) Catholic boy. I can imagine all kinds of witty remarks based on that situation. And I can also recall the days when that prompted all kinds of remarks! Bet you can, too.

Anyway, I secretly hope that St. John's can find a way to stay open. The parish hall was built a few years ago with mostly donated labor, and it is such a wonderful addition. No basement! No steps. And those church basement ladies are just as available in their modern new kitchen, providing the funeral lunch! Guess what? I'm now a funeral lunch lady; somebody has to do it!

Other causes for lodging possible

Time for rootworm evaluation in your fields

This is the time of year when corn rootworm feeding on corn roots reaches its maximum.

We have been receiving calls about heavy pressure in the northern counties and if you have some corn lodging, you may want to check for corn rootworm larvae. Some farmers with transgenic corn fields are also reporting problems. Continuous corn gets the brunt of the activity but you may want to check your rotated corn as well.

Feeding by rootworm larvae on corn roots can result in serious losses to corn yields due to several factors. Pruning of roots by the larvae can reduce water and nutrient movement through the plant and results in lower physiological yield.

One common effect of root pruning is lodging of the corn due to damaged root structure. Roots can be damaged and yield can be affected without lodging. However, in Nebraska, we often have severe thunderstorms accompanied by strong winds, and the softening of the soil by the rain along with the wind produces the lodged corn effect.

With the introduction of Bt rootworm corn, producers are sometimes puzzled by the appearance of lodged corn in fields protected by this new biotech trait. While the Bt rootworm corn is not as deadly to corn rootworm larvae as the Bt corn borer corn is to European corn borers, it usually provides outstanding protection to corn roots in our trials at the Haskell Ag Lab. As a matter of fact, most of the insecticides we use in our trials also give adequate root protection.

Based on our past experience of reviewing lodged corn problems, we find that approximately 50 percent of the time lodged corn is not caused by rootworms but by other factors. The most common cause of non-rootworm lodged corn is shallow planting. Farmers can get into a bind sometimes with spring rains or cool soils and may intentionally plant shallow to try to plant the seed into warmer soil for faster germination. We often find old kernels less than an inch below the soil surface. This depth will not allow good root formation and even without rootworm feeding, lodged corn can occur with the right weather conditions.

Ag Happenings

Extension Educator

Rootworm feeding can be recognized by pruning of the roots and black tissue where feeding has occurred. Often "tracks" of black can be seen along the root where rootworm feeding has taken place without pruning. Rootworm feeding is considered potentially serious when a quarter or more of the roots on one node have been pruned.

USDA announces application timeframes for housing programs

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Rural Development published NOTICE in the July 13, Vol. 76 No. 134 Federal Register announcing the timeframes and guidelines for applications to be submitted under the agency's Section 515 or Purchase and Rehabilitation of Existing Rural Multi-Family Properties. include individuals, corporations, associations, partnerships, limited partnerships, state or local public agencies, nonprofit organizations, and Indian tribes. Minimal Rural Development rental assistance will be available and will be based upon demonstrated need.

Only rural rental housing proposals located in the state's designated places will be accepted for review. Designated places were selected based upon certain demographic data that indicated a possible need for additional affordable rental units.

Local Fiscal Year 2011 Nebraska designated places are Wakefield, and Wayne.

Applications are to be delivered by 5 p.m. Central Time on Aug. 29, 2011 to USDA Rural Development, Rm. 152 Federal Building; 100 Centennial Mall North; Lincoln, Nebraska 68508-3888.
