WAYNE COUNTY FAIR KICKS OFF THURSDAY

From American Idol to Wayne, America

Pickler to play at fair Saturday

Kellie Pickler is tough, and the singer whose new album sums up her state of mind will be the featured performer Saturday at this year's Wayne County Fair.

Pickler was born on June 28, 1986. The Albemarle, N.C. native is a country singer and songwriter whose early encounters with music include a George Strait tape and the first song she learned to sing, "My Bucket's Got a Hole In It," by Hank Williams Sr.

With school and pageants, her country dream was on hold until "American Idol" came along. She started in 2006 when she was on the hit reality TV show.

She auditioned for the show when she was 19 in Greensboro, N.C.

For the audition she sang, Kelly Clarkson's "Since U Been Gone" and Martina McBride's "A Broken Wing." The judges sent her on, and she advanced through the semifinal rounds in February. Then in March, she was welcomed into the Top 12. From week 12 down to week seven, Pickler was considered safe. However, she was eliminated in week six.

The elimination did not stop her determination to break into the music business. On July 17, 2006 she signed a record deal with 19 Recordings/ BNA Records. Pickler has had two albums released, "Small Town Girl" and "Kellie Pickler." She has been nominated twice for "Top New Female Vocalist" and "New Artist Of The Year" at the Academy Country Music (ACM) Awards.

Pickler is now working on her third album, titled "Tough." On May 23, 2011 her new single "Tough" off the new album was released to country radio and online. It is being produced by Frank Liddell, who has produced Miranda Lambert's albums.

On a personal level, Pickler is now getting reacquainted with her father, who was released from jail five years ago, right after her elimination off Idol. Her grandparents raised her while her dad was in jail and her mother left her at an early age. Pickler has not had any contact with her mother. Pickler was recently married this year to Kyle Jacobs. The two eloped on Jan. 1, 2011 in a small, intimate ceremony on a private island in the Caribbean.

Awards she has won are from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers for Songwriter award for the song "Best Days of Your Life" in 2010. In 2008 she won Breakthrough Video of the Year for her song "I Wonder" at the CMT Music Awards. Also, Pickler won Tearjerker Video of the Year for

"I Wonder," and she won Performance of the Year for "I Wonder" at the CMT Music Awards.

Pickler has toured with Rascal Flatts, Brad Paisley, Taylor Swift and Sugarland.

Some of her top singles are "Red High Heels," "I Wonder," "Things That Never Cross a Man's Mind," "Best Days of Your Life," "Makin' Me Fall In Love Again," "Don't You Know You're Beautiful," "Didn't You Know How Much I Loved You" and "Tough."

Pickler will be performing at the Wayne County Fair this Saturday night.

The Wayne County Fair Schedule and events can be found at thewaynecountyfair.com

Kellie Pickler, a finalist for American Idol in 2006, will be the featured performer at the Wayne County Fair this Saturday.

Concord, Dixon offices among 32,000 targeted

Of The Herald

The United States Postal Service is looking at scaling back the number of retail offices it has across the country, and is looking at replacing some post offices across the country, including two in our area.

In a release on their website, the USPS said that changes in customer habits has made the need to maintaining almost 32,000 retail offices has diminished.

"We are taking the next step in right-sizing our retail network by studying approximately 3,700 retail offices to determine customer needs," the release stated.

There are 90 Nebraska communities who post offices are being studied, including those in Concord and Dixon in Cedar County. The study will look at the effect a closing would have on the community served, workload, effect on employees, economic savings, service alternatives and other factors.

Brian Sperry, a regional spokesman for USPS in Denver, Colo., told the Herald that sites like the ones in Concord and Dixon are being looked at because they don't generate a lot of foot traffic or retail sales, and the workload at each office is less than two hours a day.

As an alternative, the Post Office is looking at a retail-replacement option called a Village Post Office. These would be operated by local businesses, such

Of The Herald

Class reunions are a common occurrence during the Wayne Chicken Show, and this year was no exception.

An all-school reunion was held for those who had attended Hahn Prep School, which was once located on the campus of Wayne State Teachers College.

Among those in attendance were 95-year old James Wallace (Wally) Hughs of Prescott, Ariz., his son, Jim Hughs, a 1957 graduate of Hahn Prep School; Jim's wife, Judy; Wally's grandson, Daniel Hughs; and Daniel's wife, Nikki, of Salem, Ore.

Following the reunion, Hughs and his family visited with former classmate Frances Nichols, who is a resident of The Oaks.

The elder Hughs started kindergarten at Hahn School in 1923.

"My father worked in the maintenance staff at Wayne State Teachers' College, shoveling coal. My family lived two blocks west of the college. Both of my younger brothers also went to Hahn," Wally said.

He noted that the students at Hahn had

Refund knocks city sales tax take to eight-year low

A refund request knocked receipts of city sales taxes for the City of Wayne down to its second-lowest monthly total since the tax was first collected 11 years ago.

The city's actual sales tax collected for July, which comes from sales during the month of May, was $45,938.19, according to city finance director Nancy Braden.

That number changed, though, when a company over-reported its sales tax collections and requested a refund of $23,374.40. That knocked the final tally for May down to $22,563.79, the lowest monthly intake since November of 2003, when the city received $20,917.63.

The city's average monthly receipts dipped below the projected average of $43,395.44 for fiscal year 2010-11. Currently, the city has received $413,926.85 in city sales tax revenue, a monthly average of $41,392.69.

Performers at the recent '5th Sunday Music Event' visit with those in the audience during Sunday's event, which was held at The Oaks Senior Living Community.

Sequel to senior adult musical held during 5th Sunday event

The Wayne community enjoyed the "5th Sunday Music Event" held July 24, one week earlier due to scheduling with the fair.

An audience of over 120 attended "Not Gone Yet #2: Still Marching!" - a sequel to last summer's first-ever senior adult musical by the name "Not Gone Yet". The Oaks of Wayne was the host site to this enjoyable time featuring 25 men and women in the "cast".

In addition to the songs, poems, and vignettes presented by the cast, the JayBirds (local clarinet ensemble) played the prelude for the program.

"Judging from the response of the crowd - and the enthusiasm of the cast - it looks like we might be able to expect "Not Gone Yet #3" sometime in the summer of 2012," said Phil Pfaltzgraff, organizer of the event.

The "5th Sunday Music Events" are gatherings (generally in churches) that occur on the Sunday nights in the month with five Sundays. The host site usually picks a theme and then the community is invited to enjoy it. Host sites in the past have been First Baptist Church, Concord E. Free, Calvary Bible Evangelical Covenant, Praise Assembly of God, First Presbyterian, Our Savior Lutheran Church.

The next 5th Sunday Music Event will be at St. Mary's Catholic Church on Sunday evening, Oct. 30 in their parish hall.

Reminiscing about Bethany Presbyterian Church following the final service were Corrine Morris of Carroll, Glenda Morris McDonald of Carroll, Mark Frans of Omaha, Nancy Morris Deck of Hoskins, Diane Morris Frans of Omaha, LuRee Jones Gubbels of Randolph and Ed Morris (standing). The group have all had long-time connections to the church.

Many emotions shared at rural church closing

Approximately 140 congregation members, former members, family and friends gathered at Bethany Presbyterian Church of rural Carroll on July 17 for a closing ceremony for the church.

Declining membership in recent years, due to decreasing numbers of farms and an aging population, resulted in the decision to close the 123-year-old congregation.

Those attending the final service came from Carroll, Lincoln, Grand Island, York, Stanton, Yankton S.D., Norfolk, Wayne, Allen, Thurston, Dodge, Randolph, Wakefield, Omaha, Newman Grove, Shelby, Wayne, Meadow Grove, Hoskins, Winside and Maryland. They included the parents who were members for years, their children and their grand children.

Dr. Richard Wyatt and Mrs. Wyatt came from Lincoln. Dr. Wyatt is head of the Presbytery for the church. Dr. Wyatt also spoke during the service and helped with communion.

The Rev. Gail Axen has been the minister at the church for 54 years it was his first church.

Flowers on altar were given by Session Of the Bethany Presbyterian Church, LeAnn Owens Beltz of Pierce, a former member, and Mrs. Milton Owens of Carroll, a current member.

The Norfolk Antique Car Club were in attendance as Rev. Axen is part of it and they did it as a surprise to him.

Bethany Presbyterian Church has been in existence since 1888 when the Rev. H. R. Williams and Elder Elias Hughes completed the organization which was started by the Rev. Richard Hughes. Prior to that, the Welsh Calvinistic Sunday School was started in 1884 by a group of settlers who had come to Nebraska from the farming district of Hilly Wales. Ministers came from Postville in Platte County to preach once a month.

In 1891 a small wooden church

Posing for a photo was a group who went to Sunday School, Bible School, and Confirmation together. They included (front) Alice Bethune Townsend of Grand Island, Sandra Glass of Yankton, S.D., Kay Griess Milow of Omaha, (back) Sandra Frink Atkins of Wayne, Sue Glass Topp of Winside and Merle Bethune of York.

was built and later replaced by the present brick church in 1917 at a cost of $20,000. The church remained Welsh Calvinistic Methodist until 1920, when the denomination voted to become part of the Presbyterian Church USA. The church became known as the Bethany Presbyterian Church of Carroll. During the early years, all services were conducted in the Welsh language. Later, it became bilingual with Welsh gradually disappearing.

The first resident pastor was the Rev. David Hughes in 1889. The Rev. James Griffes, who served the church from 1952-1956, was the last to live in the manse, which was located one-half mile north of the church.

In 1952, Rev. Griffes became pastor of Bethany Presbyterian and Zion Congregational Churches. Later the two churches combined services, alternating monthly. This arrangement continued until Zion Congregational Church closed in 1997.

In 1954, the Men's Fellowship was organized. Members raised "Church" calves for a money-making project. Some also donated the harvest from an acre of land.

The women's group, Ladies Aid, was organized in 1917, and has been very supportive of the church. Quilting, bazaars, church suppers, funeral dinners and lunches have been some of their activities, as well as bible Study and Mission work. Ladies Aid later became Presbyterian Women.

In 1930 Mrs. R.L. Williams organized the Westminister Guild which became an evening mission study group. In 1956 they combined with the United Presbyterian Women. This organization has been active since 1917.

As noted in the church's history, "as we come to the closing of our church, we are grateful for any blessing we have received from our Heavenly Father and the mission of His Church, which remains the same in every age, for "Jesus Christ is the same, yesterday, today and forever."

Breanna Chase worked with her parents and brother on volunteering in Joplin, Mo. She helped pick up many tree limbs that had fallen. In the background there is a tree that was uprooted.

Offering a helping hand at home

By JAYCIE WOSLAGER
Of the Herald

When Bill and Annette Chase of Wakefield, heard about the devastating tornado in Joplin, Mo., they couldn't hold back the feeling of not helping their fellow neighbors.

Both Bill and Annette went to college, got married and lived in Joplin from 1994-2002. In 2003, they moved to Wakefield. Bill Chase was from this area originally, and now resides as the priest for the Christian Church in Wakefield.

About a month ago, the Chase's made their journey to Joplin. Their children, Breanna and Ben, accompanied their mother and father on the trip. They were down there for three days helping in whatever ways they could.

"We picked up and sorted debris. Whatever was left of some homes had to be bulldozed, so we cleared the homes. There was different garbage all around; we picked up a lot of trees and metal," stated Annette Chase.

They helped people move in who found temporary homes. Bill Chase also offered his service for some construction work.

"We've been getting some updates on how things are going now. We saw pictures of what some of the town looked like right after the tornado and what they look like now. It's coming along," said Annette Chase.

When the Chase's were volunteering, the city of Joplin put a ban on building permits. Annette said this was because most of the debris had to be cleared before anyone started building. However, when the Chase's arrived home, they heard that some parts of the city were getting rid of the building permit ban. They were ready to build and the debris was gone.

"Churches stepped up to the plate. Volunteers came from all over the U.S. People will say 'we've had our days, but we're hanging in there.' They still need thoughts and prayers sent their way," said Annette.

CHIP kit available at County Fair

In cooperation with the State Troopers Association of Nebraska, Nebraska Sheriff's Association, Nebraska Dental Association, Nebraska Dental Hygienists' Association, Nebraska Dental Assistants' Association, the Nebraska Freemasons will present Child Identification Program (CHIP) at this year's Wayne County Fair.

On Saturday, July 30, from 10 a.m.-4 p.m., Wayne Masonic Lodge 120 will conduct a CHIP program in the Commercial Building on the Wayne County Fairgrounds. Children must have a parents or guardian with them to complete the service.

The CHIP addresses the alarming fact that over 1,000,000 children are reported missing in the United States each year. In Nebraska, over 5,000 children were reported missing in the year 2000.

The Masonic CHIP Kit is the most comprehensive service of its kind anywhere. CHIP is provided at no charge to the public, and all of the identifying items generated during CHIP are given to the family.

The kit includes the following:
VIDEOTAPE: A brief videotape interview is worth a thousand still photos. The CHIP interview captures the appearance, speech, mannerisms and other important personal characteristics of a child. It can be quickly distributed via the media to reach a huge audience. It is the cornerstone of CHIP.

FINGERPRINTING: Fingerprinting is a well-known means of identification. Everyone's prints are unique. Resourceful parents keep fingerprints available should the need arise.

TOOTHPRINTS: Bite impression is quick and easy. Teeth, like fingerprints, are unique. Even in a child who is losing and gaining teeth, a dental imprint gives both accurate and important information for identification purposes. Saliva on the Toothprint also serves as a DNA sample for at least three years, but more importantly, serves as a scent tracer for recovery bloodhound dogs that can easily track saliva scent.

DNA CHEEK SWAB: The cheek swab provides DNA material for both mitochondrial and nuclear DNA matching for more than 20 years when properly frozen in a home freezer.

DIGITAL STILL PHOTOGRAPHY: A digital still photo is printed for use in The Amber Alert System or, if needed, by other proper authorities. Only the parent or guardian receives the print. No photos or files are retained by the Freemasons or other sponsoring organizations.

For more information about CHIP, contact The Grand Lodge of Masons in Nebraska, P.O. Box 81852, Lincoln, Neb. 68501-1852, phone (800) 558-8029, website www.glnet.org.

"We had very good teachers who had high academic expectations for us. We got new practice teachers every nine weeks," he said.

There were an average of 15 students in each class and both the students and their teachers were graded. Hughs recalls his principal being a male, but nearly all of his teachers were female.

Following his graduation, Wally attended two years of college and later served in the U.S. Navy. He said he helped with the building addition to Connell Hall, worked for the state of Nebraska building Highway 15 and the highway between Jackson and Winnebago before becoming employed with Brandsteter Implement for 16 years.

In 1963 Hughs and his wife, Ruth, left when Ruth accepted employment in the Bainebridge, Wash. area.

Following Ruth's death, Wally moved to Arizona to be closer to his son. He now lives in a retirement village in Prescott.

Jim and his wife have returned to Wayne a number of times for class reunions, but this year's reunion was only the second time Wally has been able to attend.

After graduating from Hahn, Jim earned a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering and had a career in the space industry.

Grandson Daniel and his wife Nikki found out 'Grandpa' wanted to attend the reunion, and due to Wally's failing kidneys and health concerns that Jim is facing, decided to cash in frequent flyer miles and take part in the trip.

The family was also able to visit other family members in Nebraska during the trip back.

During his visit with Frances (Lutt) Nichols, the two former classmates reminisced about their high school days and the changes that have taken place on the campus in the last 75 years.

They remember ice skating on the "pond" that has since become the Willow Bowl and said the Hahn Administration Building is the only building that is was part of the campus when they were students that is still there today.

Nichols, who will be 94 years old in November, said she started at Hahn School in sixth grade after the country school near her home southeast of Wayne closed.

She has kept a memory book with names and notes from teachers and fellow students, as well as newspaper clippings and programs from many of the plays and other activities she was a part of during her school days.

Following graduation, Nichols went to summer school for several summers and taught in a rural school for three years prior to her marriage.

She said that, while teaching and after her marriage, she helped care for her grandmother who had earlier helped raise her after her mother died when she was just a year old.

Her husband was involved in the plumbing and heating business, and the couple lived in Wayne for a number of years before Frances' father asked them to move to his farm. They lived there for 20 years before turning the farm over to son, Larry.

Frances also has a daughter, Connie, and another son, Glen. She has nine grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

She noted that health concerns kept her from attending this year's reunion, but, "I have gone to all of the other reunions of Hahn School."

Sperry said these Village Post Offices would be located in existing businesses, town halls or government centers in those communities, and those entities would be contracted with the USPS to offer those services.

"The Postal Service will reach out to those communities and work with them and see if it's possible, in addition to rural carrier service," he said. "We think businesses in these communities might welcome them to help drive traffic into the store, which would also serve customers in the community."

Sperry said the USPS will seek public input before making a final decision on the targeted post offices.

"A community public hearing will be held in each location to discuss the process and answer questions, and communities will be notified via letter and will be sent a questionnaire," he said.

Golfing with the Governor

The 24th annual Wayne Vendor Day Golf Outing was another success, as local businesses brought in many of their respective vendors for an 18-hole scramble.

As always, the attendance was good with more than 170 people taking part on the links. A special salute to those businesses that fielded multiple teams like Great Dane, who had nine, four-person teams, while Concord Components fielded three teams. Providence Medical Center, Northeast Equipment, Wayne State College, Pac N Save and State National Bank each had two teams in the slate of 43 total teams.

What has become a yearly tradition, Nebraska Governor Dave Heinemann arrived to play in what he says is one of his favorite events of the year – and for good reason, as his teams have traditionally posted some of the lowest scores. This year's cast of characters comprising his squad included Wayne native Jess Zeiss, along with David Cota and, as always, the host Bill Dickey of First National Bank.

The Wayne Herald has been visible in more than 20 of the 24 Vendor Day outings and this year it was our turn to play with the governor. The Herald comprised of the author, Doug Rose of Tom's Body Shop, Steve Muir of First National Insurance Agency and Lowell Heggemeyer from the City of Wayne.

There was the usual introductory pleasantries as we began our round, with the Governor and his first tee shot on the par-five No. 2 hole went – you guessed it – to the right. After the first three holes, team Herald was up on Team Gov. by one stroke. Following an eagle on the No. 5 hole, which is a par four, the teams played pretty even and it remained that way until the final four holes. The Gov's team eventually took down the Herald team by a single stroke.

In all seriousness, Governor Heinemann is a pretty good player. At one point I recalled saying that when I'm his age I hope I can hit the ball as well. He doubled over in laughter and quickly explained that I don't hit the ball as well as he does now. Ouch. On hole 11, Nebraska's top man found the water on his tee shot. Jokingly he told his bodyguard to go retrieve the ball. Moments later, Lowell Heggemeyer found the same water on his tee shot. Without missing a beat, he turned to the Governor and said, "When you go in after your ball, get mine as well, it's got a blue dot on it."

I received a full day's worth of barbs from the Governor, his team and – well – my team as well. I guess I'm just lucky that way. Heck, you take the bodyguard out of the equation and playing with the Governor is just like playing a normal Saturday afternoon game. It might be why he is a popular governor.

Several minutes after we had finished our round and before we were sitting down for a steak dinner, we found out the Governor's team was defeated by three strokes by team Raintree, with multiple men's club champ Joey Baldwin at the helm along with his wife, Kari (a former women's club champ) and some of his vendors from Omaha.

In fact, Joey won the chance to hit a shot for $1 million on hole No. 1. To his and to the Governor's dismay, he pulled the shot – left.

As a committee member for the annual Vendor Day Outing, I would like to thank all the teams that took part. Along with the 23 teams already mentioned, thanks also

Wayne comes up short in area final

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

It's not often that an opposing pitcher comes to Hank Overin Field and takes over the facility.

That's exactly what Aurora righthander Kaleb Shively did Tuesday in the finals of the Class B, Area 5 tournament, as he silenced Wayne's bats through six no-hit innings before an opposite-field bleeder by Frank Bernal broke up the gem with one out in the seventh.

Wayne's inability to find any holes in Shively's pitching, or the Aurora defense, gave the visitors a 4-0 win in the championship game and the area's bid in the Class B Seniors state tournament, which begins Saturday in Central City.

It was a result that had coach Jeff Zeiss trying to find the words to describe it.

"Wow, I'm just flabbergasted the way we came out," he said. "I really expected us to be playing another game. There was no question in my mind, and the kids thought that too, and we just didn't play well."

An early error on a ground ball by Tony Sinniger gave Aurora an early 1-0 lead in the first, and they extended that to 3-0 with a two-run double by Austin Smith off Wayne starter Gage Rethwisch, who settled down after the rocky start and pitched well in the last four innings, allowing four hits and striking out seven.

"I thought Gage pitched well tonight," Zeiss said. "We just didn't play very well behind him, and you can't give a good team like that extra outs."

Wayne's offense offered no counter to the Aurora effort at the plate. And while Shively only struck out two batters – both in the fifth inning – he made the Wayne batters put the ball in play and they managed to hit a lot of routine fly balls and playable grounders to prevent any real scoring threat.

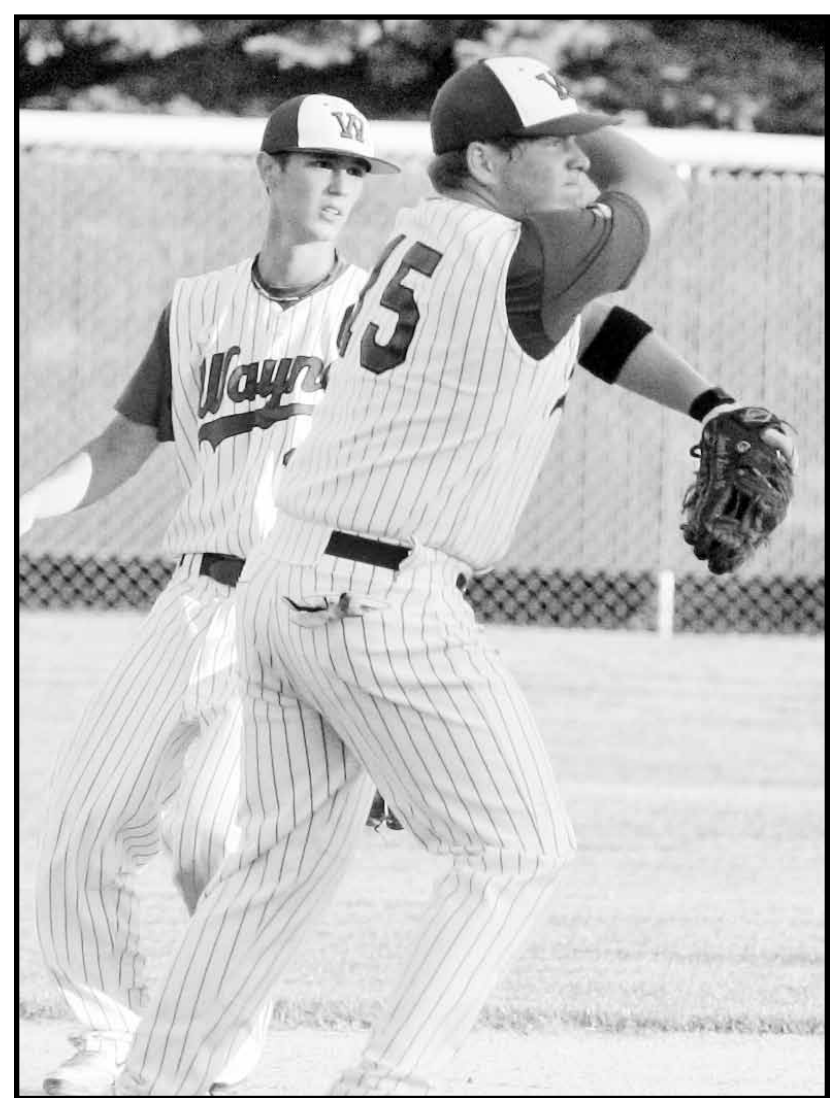

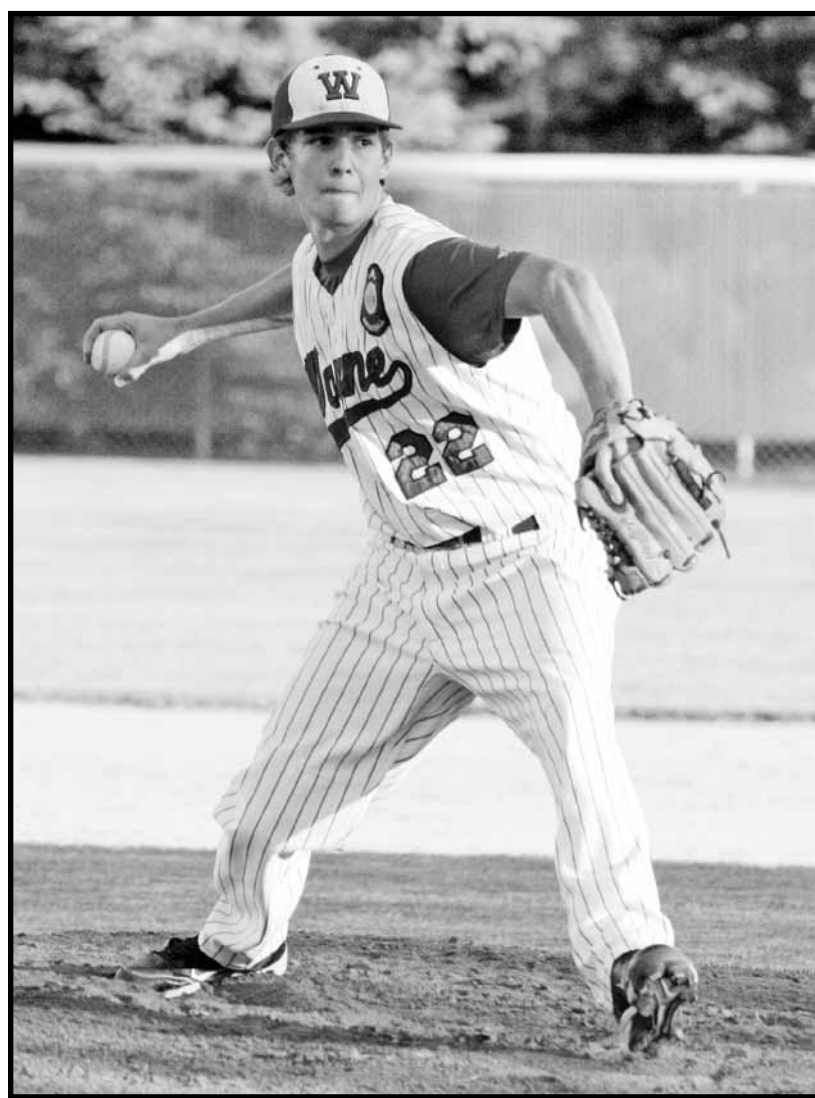

"You have to give Aurora credit," Zeiss said. "Their pitcher threw the ball well and they had baserunners every inning, and you can't give a team like that extra outs."

Wayne threatened in the top of the first when Rethwisch walked and moved to second on a Sinniger sacrifice. They would only have three baserunners get past first base after that, two coming in the seventh when Taylor Carroll walked and went to third on Bernal's single. Bernal was put out on a force play, but Miles Anderson, who reached on the fielder's choice, stole second to give Wayne its only opportunity with two runners in scoring position.

The Wayne Seniors reached the finals by beating Central City twice. They opened the tournament Friday with a 4-0 win over the state tournament hosts, then followed up with a 5-1 win in Monday's final elimination game.

In the first game, Wayne racked up four runs in the first inning and turned the game over to Rethwisch, who struck out 11 and scattered

Michael Eaton pitched a solid opening game for the Wakefield Seniors, who were to play Pender Wednesday in the finals of the Class C, Area 2 tournament in Wakefield.

Wakefield reaches C-2 area title game

Host team needs to defeat Pender twice to earn state bid

Wakefield reached the finals of the Class C, Area 2 tournament at Eaton Field Tuesday with a 7-6 win over Wisner-Pilger-Beemer.

The game had the makings of a high-scoring battle, as Wakefield offset W-P-B's three-run effort in the top of the first with four of their own and never trailed after that. Wakefield broke a 5-5 tie with two in the fifth and hung on to advance to the finals.

Adam Drieling picked up the win on the mound for Wakefield and helped his own cause with a double to highlight a seven-hit effort. A.J. Bormann also had a double for Wakefield.

Wakefield opened the tournament Saturday with an easy 11-1 win over Ponca.

The host team and No. 2 seed in the six-team, double-elimination tournament took the lead for good with two runs in the second inning, then added three in the fourth, two in the fifth and four in the sixth to close out the game on the 10-run rule.

Adam Drieling was one of three Wakefield batters with two hits, as he was 2-for-3 with an RBI. Jake Nelsen had two hits and scored three times, while Michael Eaton had two hits, two RBI's and scored two runs. Brendan Nicholson scored three times in the win.

Eaton got the win in the tournament opener for Wakefield, allowing just one hit while striking out eight in six innings.

On Monday, Wakefield dropped a 7-0 decision to Pender in a battle of the top two teams in the tournament.

Pender rode the solid pitching of Jalen Flock, who struck out 11 and limited Wakefield to three hits in the game. Evan Nicholson had a triple in the game, while Drieling and Brendan Nicholson added singles.

Wakefield must beat Pender twice on Wednesday to advance to the state tournament. The two teams play at 5:30 p.m., with a second game to follow 30 minutes after the first game if Wakefield wins.

Seniors

four hits to get the complete-game shutout.

On Sunday, Trent Beza gave a tremendous performance on the mound, as his variety of offspeed pitches silenced Aurora's bats for four innings before they finally broke through in the sixth. With Wayne leading 1-0 on an RBI triple by Sinniger that scored Anderson, Aurora battled back with two in the sixth to take a 2-1 advantage. They were one strike away from ending the game when Zeiss reached into his bag of tricks to help Wayne tie the game.

With Bernal on third, Anderson took off for second before Aurora pitcher Cody Schacht started his windup. As he began his delivery, Anderson stopped and jerked as if he was going back to first, which caught Schacht's attention and made him break his delivery. The balk moved Anderson to second and sent Bernal home to tie the game.

"Tony was down in the count 0-and-2, and we had two good baserunners on and had a play designed for it and they executed it very well," Zeiss said.

Aurora had one last chance after Zeiss brought on Joey Lenihan in relief of Beza, who struck out nine and allowed just three hits.

Aurora got back in the game when Andrew Bergmann's double to left scored Tyler Dubas, who was walked by Beza, to tie the game. Aurora eventually loaded the bases and Connor Strong worked a bases-loaded walk off Lenihan to send Aurora to the championship round. Monday's rematch with Central City was a near carbon copy of their first matchup. Wayne got all the runs they would need in the first inning, thanks to an RBI single by Jacob Zeiss and a two-run error on a missed fly ball.

Zeiss pitched four solid innings, getting out of a bases-loaded jam in the fourth to maintain Wayne's three-run lead. Sinniger pitched three strong innings in relief to send Wayne to the championship game.

"We talked about getting on it early and having guys step up, and Jake threw four good innings and Tony came in after that and gave us a bunch of options to work with for Tuesday," Zeiss said.

The Seniors finished the season with a 23-5 record, and Tuesday was the final game for six seniors, including Alex Onnen, Mason Wren, Taylor Carroll, Jacob Zeiss and twin brothers Trent and Trevor Beza.

"It's been fun with those kids," Zeiss said. "The contributions from these kids have been endless. They've all been in a lot of state tournaments, won some league championships, and they're always going to be a part of Wayne baseball and we'll miss them."

Zeiss became emotional when he mentioned his son, as father and son shared their last American Legion game together on Tuesday.

"It will be tough not seeing No. 15 out there," the elder Zeiss said as he held back tears. "I'm probably going to coach a couple more years and hand it over to Adam (Hoffman), but we've got to move on and I'm excited for (Jacob) moving on to the next level."

Wildcats tops in academics

The Wayne State volleyball team has received the American Volleyball Coaches Association Team Academic Award for the 2010-11 season. It was the sixth straight season and seventh time in the last nine years that the Wildcats have earned the honor. Head coach Scott Kneiff's team posted an impressive 3.63 team grade-point average in the 2010-11 school year. Wayne State was among 57 schools in NCAA Div. II and one of four Northern Sun Conference institutions to receive the honor. The award, initiated in the 1992-93 academic year, honors collegiate and high school volleyball teams that displayed excellence in the classroom during the school year by maintaining at least a 3.30 team cumulative grade-point average on a 4.0 scale. Other Northern Sun Conference schools earning the team academic honor included Concordia-St. Paul, Southwest Minnesota State and Winona State.

Wayne team ties for fifth in state PGA pro-am event

A foursome representing the Wayne Country Club came away with a top-five finish in a pro-am event Monday at the Fremont Country Club.

The foursome of Troy Harder, Joey Baldwin, Tyler DeJong and Mike Varley shot a 14-under scored of 128 in the 36-hole event, finishing five shots behind a team of golfers from the Two Rivers Golf Club in Dakota City.

The foursome shot a 66 during the first 18 holes, then came back to shot a 62 the second time around to finish with a 128.

Harder, the club professional at Wayne Country Club, also competed in the professional division of the tournament. He shot an 80 for the round to tie for 18th in the pro division of the tournament.

Competing in the Masters division, Olson claimed gold in the 100-meter hurdles, 100-meter dash, 200-meter dash and 50-meter dash for men age 50-54.

Christian Heppner of Hoskins and Bob Ensz of Wayne also earned gold medals at this year's State Games.

Devils 12-U is 1-2 at state

The Dirt Devils 12-under softball team competed in the Class B state softball tournament held earlier this month in Lincoln.

Wayne opened their first game with a 5-4 win over the Lincoln Lightning Silver. The game went to extra innings before Wayne broke the tie. Hannah Belt was the winning pitcher.

In their second game, Wayne lost a tough game to the York Fusion Gold, 9-3. The team struggled as it was playing back-to-back games, and the offense had trouble scoring runs.

In their first losers' bracket game, Wayne came out with a solid effort and dominated the Kearney Katz in a 15-0 victory. Ashton Gibson was the winning pitcher for the Dirt Devils, as she was able to shut down the Kearney offense.

The Devils' final game was a heartbreaker that went 12 innings, as they lost to the McCook Rebels 5-4.

Optimist Club discusses upcoming local events

Wayne Optimist met at The Coffee Shoppe on July 13.

The meeting was called to order by President Kim Dunklau. Past months' projects were reviewed.

The Henoween Pork Loin sandwich fundraiser was a great success. Distributing money to two cancer individuals for travel expenses was a fundraising project that was completed.

It was noted that the classroom Internet presentation was more attended than meeting with the parents.

The JOOI and Optimist members worked a weekend at the Majestic Theatre and may be a project to do again together. The next project will be a stand welcoming back the college students Aug. 21 at the Willow Bowl from 5-7 p.m.

Bob Wriedt and Cindy Von Fange reported on the national convention in Baltimore, Md. and Jessica Von Fange reported on the JOOI group that met there also. The district convention will be Saturday, Aug. 6 in Lincoln at the SE Community College.

Plans were made to have the annual banquet at Kim Dunlau's lakefront home at Pilger on Sunday, Oct. 2. It will be a family event.

The next scheduled meeting will be Tuesday, Aug. 23 at 5:30 p.m. at The Coffee Shoppe.

Anyone interested in joining Optimist may contact any of the members - president Kim Dunklau at (402) 369-1696, vice president Cindy VonFange at (402) 375-2569 or secretary Phyllis Rahn at (402) 375-1667. Optimist's purpose is to "Bring out the best in Kids."

Poutre among UNK intern students

Nearly 80 University of Nebraska at Kearney industrial technology students are spending their summer interning with companies throughout the nation.

Students are interning in 16 states ranging from Washington to Florida. All but one of the students are being paid for their 12-week internships, with salaries ranging from $8.50-$28.50 per hour.

Among those involved in the internships is Benjamin Poutre of Wayne, an industrial distribution major, who is interning at ABC Supply Company, Omaha.

"Ninety percent of interns consider their internship company for future employment, and 50 percent return to their internship company for full-time employment after graduation," said Brenda Jochum, internship director for the UNK Department of Industrial Technology.

Students apply for the internships using contacts made through the program career fairs, company showcases, faculty and internship director connections, and their own network of contacts.

"Industrial distribution and construction management career fairs, which bring companies to UNK from across the country, were instrumental in securing positions," Jochum said. "In tough economic times, we diligently work to make new connections and follow-up with our network of industry professionals."

A summer internship is required after a student's junior year in the three industrial technology programs - construction management, industrial distribution and telecommunications management. The internship requirements are based on the student's area of study, and must provide diverse experience that complements the degree program objectives and a learning environment where professionals are willing to mentor students.

"The primary purpose of an internship is to gain practical experience and network with knowledgeable professionals," Jochum said. "While doing so, interns learn about themselves and the industry."

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

Flood waters fill up Huskers' home

There is a lot to talk about this week – labor peace in the NFL, Presidential campaigns run amok and the Pittsburgh Pirates are in contention for a playoff spot in late July – but let's get to the serious stuff, found only in this week's purging of the "Bits and Pieces" file:

– From the "So this is what it feels like to be on the opposing sideline on Husker gameday" department: according to the Lincoln Journal Star, runoff into the Missouri River Basin above Sioux City during the month of June was the highest since the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers began keeping records in 1898.

Runoff above Sioux City during June was 13.8 million acre feet, a total greater than the record number of 13.2 million acre feet set in April of 1952.

To put that amount of water in perspective, the Journal Star noted, it is the equivalent of filling Memorial Stadium 9,700 times, or once every five minutes for the entire month.

Hopefully, this will give Iowa fans an idea of what their experience will most likely feel like when they come to Lincoln this November.

– I'm all about making people feel good about life, so this is sure to bring a lot of relief to those of you keeping an eye on the ongoing mess in Washington.

According to the Fox News Channel (motto: don't hide anything from us – we know the password to your phone message system), an unexpected increase in tax revenue during the second half of this month means that the United States won't run out of money on Tuesday, as is being reported.

Nope – now that we've got all this money coming in, we've got until next Wednesday, Aug. 10, before the United States defaults on its $14.5 trillion debt load.

I don't know about you, but this makes me want to run to the nearest shopping mall and max out all my credit cards. The way I see it, if the government can rack up debt and not worry about paying it off, why should we?

– Can you get fired for cussing at work?

(Expletive) yes you can.

According to CareerBuilder.com, some companies actually have policies against foul language in the workplace. Companies with customer service positions, such as retail outlets or call centers, don't want their employees dropping F-bombs on customers who might call in and complain about a product or service.

During the course of my career, I've had people call and complain about something I've done in the paper, whether it's a misspelled name or a disagreement over an opinion I've written. Over the years, I've learned that, in the event of a mistake in the paper, it's easier to own up to it, apologize and try to bring down the level of frustration that the caller is experiencing, rather than to escalate the situation and letting four-letter words fly in response.

As far as my opinions go – if you don't like 'em, you can (bleepity bleep) . . . (And, for Heaven's sake, please note the light-hearted nature of that last sentence.)

– From the "At last, the long national nightmare is over . . . or is it?" department: Labor peace was finally reached between owners and players in the National Football League lockout that put the 2011 season in jeopardy.

Only one preseason game was lost to the 18-week lockout, and employees from teams who were laid off are being hired back. This is good news, because if you were to believe Baltimore Ravens linebacker Ray Lewis, crime would have skyrocketed if there were no NFL season because of the lockout.

I wholeheartedly agree with Lewis. The potential for complete mayhem in this country could have manifested itself without football on Sundays in the fall. Unemployed beer vendors would be robbing banks. Sports writers would commit carjackings in mall parking lots. And, God forbid, Brett Favre wouldn't be able to come out of retirement for the 47th time.

Thank God the NFL is back – I'm not sure I could have been held accountable for my actions if I didn't have 12 hours of analysis, predictions and highlights to watch on fall Sundays. I may have had to resort to extreme measures – like going to church.

– And finally, if you're buying Viagra off the Internet, you might want to be careful where you're buying your little blue pills.

Viagra is the most counterfeited drug in the world, and fake pills are being shipped by some websites that claim to be located in Canada, but are actually overseas.

According to a report on CNN.com, the fake tablets have the drug, but are compounded with brick powder, flour or drywall to make them look like the real thing. A lot of the fake pills are being made in Hong Kong and shipped across the world before being sold to customers who think they're getting the real thing on the cheap, but might be getting more than they – or their partner – had bargained for.

Capitol View

Lawmakers feeling pressure

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN – State lawmakers could begin to feel pressure next year from folks who count greatly on Social Security benefits.

We're talking about the next year, which also is an election year.

They might call it something else, but there is a real possibility that Congress will reduce Social Security retirement benefits through the back door.

Some politicians on the Potomac want to fiddle with how benefits are calculated, so as to have the same effect as reductions. For the purposes of sound bites they will be called "formula adjustments" or "calculation reforms," or anything but what they are intended to be.

How could Gov. Dave Heineman and the Legislature provide some relief?

Nebraska is one of only 14 states that collect income tax on Social Security benefits.

Obviously the Legislature could eliminate or reduce the state tax that oldsters and others pay on those benefits.

The highly regarded Kiplinger Newsletter publishes a list of state Tax Heavens and Tax Hells for retirees.

Nebraska is on the Tax Hell list. A key reason is the state's policy of taxing Social Security income.

Lieutenant Governor Will Seek Top Job

Who is Nebraska's lieutenant governor? Hardly anyone who isn't a follower of state politics can tell you. And it's that way in virtually every state – voters very seldom keep track of their lieutenant governors.

That usually only changes when a lieutenant governor announces a bid for the top job when the incumbent is going to leave office.

Nebraska Lieutenant Governor Rick Sheehy, 51, has announced he'll seek the GOP nomination to be the state's next chief executive.

Regardless of incumbency, a lieutenant governor seldom has significant name recognition among the electorate.

What Sheehy does have is the endorsement of Gov. Dave Heineman, accompanying party connections, and the connections and experience that come with having been a two-term mayor of Hastings, as well as a city councilman.

Might a Tea Party type emerge to challenge Sheehy in the primary? Stay tuned.

Bruning Leads GOP Senate Fundraising

Attorney General Jon Bruning leads the field of Republicans seeking the 2012 nomination for the U.S. Senate. At last report, Bruning had some $1.3 million on hand. State Treasurer Don Stenberg and state Sen. Deb Fischer are nowhere near that level.

The national Republican Party has made incumbent Democratic Sen. Ben Nelson the No. 1 target for 2012. That means whoever wins the GOP nod will likely be able to count on plenty of bucks for the general election.

Meanwhile, Nelson has raised nearly $3 million as he prepares for an expected effort to win a third term.

Heineman Endorses Amendment To Constitution

Gov. Dave Heineman has endorsed the call for an amendment to the U.S. Constitution to require a balanced federal budget except in times of war or national emergencies.

It's a philosophical stand that touts a political mindset. Such an amendment is extremely unlikely to happen in your lifetime, even if you were born yesterday and live to be 120. And you'd have to be born yesterday to think Congress would offer the states a constitutional change that couldn't be circumvented about as easily as a campaign promise.

Legislative Update

Fairs, flooding news are on the agenda

It has been a great week to be in District 17, despite the hot weather.

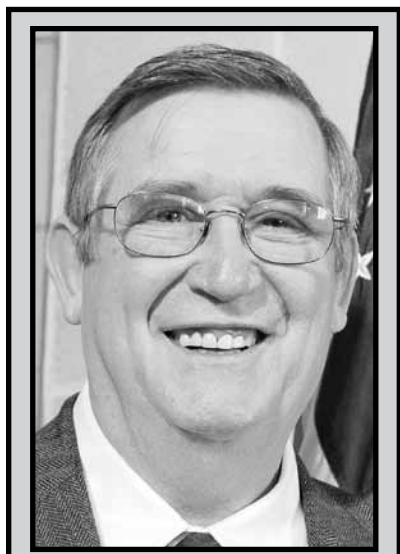

Walthill held their parade and rodeo, and I was pleased to spend some time with the residents of Walthill. The Dakota-Thurston County Fair began on July 21. I was unable to join in the parade and barbeque on Thursday night, due to family events that took place on Thursday. My administrative assistant, Beverly Neel, and her husband, Bud, attended in my place. I plan on spending time at the fair near South Sioux City on Friday and Saturday. This week, the Wayne County Fair will take place. I plan on spending as much time as I can in Wayne during that event. I hope to meet many of you at these two events.

On Thursday, I was proud and pleased to attend the "welcome home" ceremony for the "Delta Dawgs" of the Iowa National Guard, based in Sioux City. While this fine unit is Iowa-based, it includes soldiers from other states, including South Dakota and Nebraska. One of these is my son, Mark, from Wayne. While I know I will sleep a little better with Mark being home again, I ask that you keep thousands of other fine men and women still in harm's way in your prayers.

Immediately after the "welcome home" we drove to Blair where my first daughter, Christina, was united in marriage with Gunnar Spethman in an evening ceremony. It is a good day in any father's life when two monumental events like these can take place within four hours and nearly 100 miles apart, and he is able to attend both.

I was also pleased to attend the 2011 North American Manure Expo at Northeast Community College near Norfolk. It was interesting to see the number of exhibits and the large number of people (1,300 attendees) at this event. This was the first time Nebraska has ever hosted an international event on

By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

the handling of what too many people consider a waste product. The Expo, which has been "in the works" for a long time, was clearly very successful and an economic boost for our area of the state. This success is a clear example of forward thinking by the livestock producers in Nebraska.

There are two updates on the 2011 flooding situation this week to bring to your attention. Gov.

Dave Heineman has invited fellow Missouri River governors and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers officials to attend a meeting on flood control issues on August 19 in Omaha. It is uncertain at this time how many governors will be able to attend, and the agenda is still being developed. It is certainly a move in the right direction for these governors to hold such meetings, and we should be proud of our governor for getting this meeting organized.

U.S. Sen. Ben Nelson introduced legislation this week to exempt roads, bridges and infrastructure from federal environmental reviews when these projects need to be repaired or replaced because of flood damage. Sen. Nelson has been in contact with the Nebraska Department of Roads about dozens of projects waiting for repairs from last year's floods. With the damage that is sure to have occurred with the 2011 floods, such legislation would certainly be helpful to District 17 and Northeastern Nebraska. It is well to remember, though, that just because legislation is introduced in Washington D.C., it does not mean that anything will take place that will help us in Nebraska. It is a long, long road, between introduction and something actually being put into effect.

County Fair week is a busy time for 4-H families

If you know a 4-H family, then you are aware of the fact that they are involved in the preparation of the county fair.

If you visit with them about a project that they are currently working on, you may know that if their animal will cooperate, if their bread will rise, or if the humidity will keep their polyurethane from drying on their woodwork project. They may also mention the fact that they do not know if they are going to have time to get all of the projects completed or ready for the fair.

The fair is portrayed as the "main event," when actually there are numerous educational events and accomplishments that happen throughout the year. Nebraska 4-H works hand and hand with hundreds of volunteers to make this happen.

The 4-Hers may participate in a local workshop learning a new skill, take part in a 4-H day camp, by being a camper or teen counselor, give a 4-H speech on something that they have learned in 4-H, or give a club presentation sharing a skill that they have acquired by working with a 4-H leader, parent, or adult volunteer. Some 4-Hers may focus on things other than the fair like completing record books that will help them apply for college scholarships or give them various opportunities to participate in leadership events. They may also use what they have learned to advance beyond the county level.

Each year, I am reminded of why they do it. Some of you may recall me sharing this poem about five years ago, but I think it speaks loud and clear, I know that is why I do it. We have talented youth in our community who are investing in themselves and others, learning by doing. We also have caring adults who assist in this educational process, and it is because of that combination in an involved community that we can display our learnings at the fair.

*And trophies grow old,
Money's soon spent
And fame soon grows cold."*

*"The important things, son,
Are not ribbons or pins,
And sometimes it's really
The loser who wins:
Now here are the things
Most important, it's true
Your 4-H experience
Has accomplished for you."*

Bob Hank

Hank to observe 80th birthday

Bob Hank of Carroll will celebrate his 80th birthday with an open house Saturday, Aug. 6 from 3:30-5 p.m. at The Max in Wayne.

Hosting the celebration will be his family, Darrell and Deb Hank and Mike and Peggy Hank, all of Carroll, Larry and Kris Hank of Columbus and Patty and Mark Claussen of Springfield, Mo. He has eight grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Bob's actual birthday is Monday, Aug. 1. The honoree requests cards only, no gifts. Cards may be sent to P.O. Box 24, Carroll, Neb. 68723.

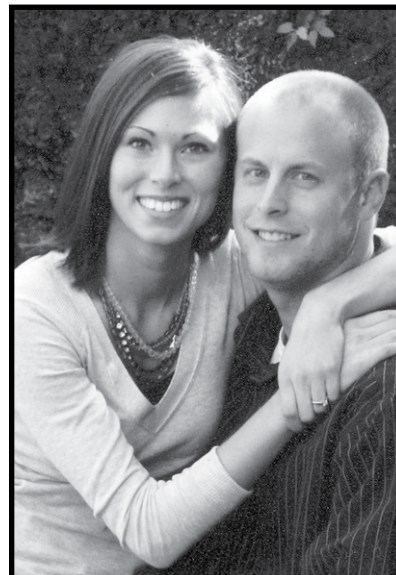

*There once was a boy
Who won ribbons, mostly blue
Came home from the fair
With a big trophy too.
With a voice glad and proud
He said to his dad,
"Tis the very best year
That I've ever had."*

*Said his very wise Dad,
"Son, I'd like to hear,
Why you think that this was Such a very fine year."
Why, dad you well know
All the prizes I've won;
How I've come out on top
In most things I've done."*

*"Just look at the ribbons
Than hang on my wall,
And think of the money
I've made since last fall.
From Premium checks
And a big auction price
You can't help but think Cash and ribbons are nice."*

*But the man said, "My son
You're not thinking right,
Blue ribbons, tis true
Are better than white;
But ribbons will fade*

A total of 47 kids were involved in the first Yeshua Ministries Kid's Crusade that was held recently in Bressler Park. Squirt guns, water balloons and stories from the Bible were part of the four-day festival.

Yeshua Ministries holds first Kid's Crusade

Yeshua Ministries headed over to Bressler Park on July 18-21 to put on the first Kid's Crusade.

Armed with squirt guns, water balloons, skits, songs, snacks, and water stories from the Bible, those attending had a "splashing good time."

Families from the surrounding areas and churches of Carroll, Sioux City, Wakefield and Wayne all joined together to participate. There were a total of 47 children in attendance.

The crusade leaders were Holly Torres and Carol Fuoss of Wayne. Junior leaders were Sammy, Elisabeth and Andrea Torres, Belen and Daniel Muro and Brienna Kahlhoff.

On Monday, the water story was about water being God's gift to us, and how God created water. On Tuesday, the group talked about Noah being saved through the water and how we can be saved through the blood Jesus shed for us. On Wednesday, children learned through Jonah how disobedience doesn't only hurt us, but it hurts others as well. They also learned that the Ten Commandments can be put into two rules: 1-Love, respect, and honor God and 2- Love, respect, and honor others. On Thursday, leaders talked about how Peter walked on water, and how when he took his eyes off of Jesus, he began to sink. We need to keep our eyes on Jesus!

Leaders were very excited to see 13 children give their hearts to Jesus. Sam Torres, pastor of Yeshua Ministries, grilled hot dogs and hamburgers for everyone to end the four-day Splish Splash Kid's crusade.

Organizers thanked everyone who helped to make the crusade a success. They will be sharing the crusade next month in Clearwater.

Yeshua Ministries is a bilingual church in Wayne. They meet for praise and prayer on Saturday evenings at 7 p.m., and Sunday afternoons at 2 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church in Wayne. Wednesday evenings there is Bible study in Bressler Park at 7 p.m. during the summer.

Journey Christian Church ground-breaking ceremony set for July 31

Journey Christian Church in Wayne will hold a ground-breaking ceremony for their new Ministry Wing on Sunday, July 31 at 10 a.m. "Our theme for this project has been 'Building Faith, Shaping Generations.' We chose that theme because we want to continue to minister to people of all generations while making sure that we train the upcoming generation to love and serve God," said Troy Reynolds, pastor at Journey Christian Church.

The 8,000-square foot addition will allow the congregation's children and student ministries to continue to grow and expand. There will also be new offices and space for adult discipleship.

"We are excited about what God is doing in and through our church," said Pastor Reynolds. "We want Journey to be a place where everyone, regardless of who they are or what they have done, can come and experience the life-changing power of God's grace."

Journey Christian Church offers worship services with a staffed nursery at 9 and 10:30 a.m. each Sunday. Sunday school for all ages is offered at 9 a.m., while children's church is offered during the 10:30 service.

Laurel businessman to host Sunday School class

On Sunday morning, July 31, Praise Assembly of God is "happy to extend an invitation to you and your family to join for worship and fellowship at 1000 East 10th Street here in Wayne," according to church leaders.

At 9:30 a.m. Tim Hansen, a Laurel businessman, will be teaching the morning Sunday School class in the "Fireside Room." At 10:30 a.m. the morning worship service begins in the sanctuary. Rev. Dennis Preston, pastor of the church, will preach a message entitled "The Wonder of Jesus."

The evening service will be canceled this week only. There are other times when the church also invites you to join in activities for prayer and Bible Study. On Saturday evenings at 7 p.m. is the "Hour of Prayer" meeting, held this weekend in the Fireside Room. "This is a great time to gather and wait on the Lord as well as to pray for the needs of people in the community," said Rev. Preston.

The mid-week Bible Study on Wednesday evenings has been finishing up a series called "Little Books with Major Themes". Colleen Heinemann will be the guest teacher on Wednesday, Aug. 3. That study time is also held in the Fireside Room.

Recycle your used toner and ink jet cartridges, fusers and cell phones.

Why Recycle?

- Did you know? Over 350 million cartridges are thrown into our landfills annually. That's over 29 million cartridges a month.
- Each discarded laser cartridge adds approximately 3.4 pounds of metal and plastic waste to our landfills - waste that will take as long as 1,000 years to decompose.
- More than 3 quarts of oil are used to produce each laser cartridge. The plastic used in each printer cartridge takes more than 10 centuries (that's 1000 years!) to decompose.

Be patient, cautious when dealing with 2011 flood

Nebraskans dealing with the 2011 flood along the Missouri River have come to realize this is not a typical flood.

The amount of water and the length of time makes this flood different, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension educator said.

"First and foremost when dealing with this flood, people have to be patient and stay away until authorities have deemed areas safe to enter," said Carroll Welte, UNL Extension educator in Burt County. "My advice is to err on the side of caution rather than on the side of carelessness."

Welte said when property and homeowners do return, before entering the home, it is important that all electric power has been disconnected from the electrical grid. As a precaution, shut off the power at the meter pole outside the home if it is safe to do so. No one should be standing in water or on damp surfaces using any electrical equipment.

"People don't want to go back to their homes and be working on cleaning up water and then all of a sudden have the electricity come back on. That would be very dangerous, especially if there are appliances in standing water or other electrical hazards," she said. "With this particular flood situation, it might be good to communicate with the power company as to when you plan to re-enter your property."

Welte said it also is important to inspect for structural damage from the outside to determine if the property is safe to enter.

Once inside, people should watch for settled or bulging floors or cracked walls, particularly in basements. These are signs of structural damage.

In addition, before any cleanup happens, according to a University of Missouri Extension "Resources for Your Flooded Home Publication", it's also important for people to:

- Watch for electrical shorts and live wires.
- Turn off outside gas lines.
- Wear sturdy shoes, rubber gloves and eye protection.
- If mold is present, wear a respirator that can filter mold spores.
- Never mix bleach with ammonia or vinegar.

It's also important to contact an insurance agent immediately, take pictures of the damage before cleaning up and keep accurate records of all cleanup and repair bills.

It's also been recommended by the Centers for Disease Control that children not enter flooded areas. Children are especially vulnerable as they are in a critical period of development when toxic exposures can have profound negative effects, and their exploratory behavior often places them in direct contact with materials that adults would avoid, according to the American Academy of Pediatrics.

For more information about children returning to flooded areas, visit www.aoc.org/documents/positions/Hurricane_recs_AAP_PEHSU.pdf.

While the above information is just the tip of the iceberg when it comes to resources available for a flooded home or property, Welte recommends consulting the University of Missouri Extension publication, "Resources for Your Flooded Home", for additional information. This publication includes a step-by-step guide on how to clean flood damaged homes and information about financial recovery, children, re-entering the home, cleaning basements, salvaging water-damaged belongings, avoiding mold and reducing bacteria in clothing and textiles. It is available at extension.missouri.edu/explorpdf/miscpubs/mp0904.pdf.

COUNTRY CLASSICS 4-H CLUB

The July meeting of the Country Classics 4-H Club was called to order at 7 p.m. on July 14.

Prior to the meeting, the annual potluck was held. Items that were discussed at the meeting were the theme booth, Contest Day, and fair clean-up.

Jodi Pulfer, club leader, handed fair passes out. The meeting was adjourned at 8 p.m.

Fair-weather friend

Bob Hansen, right, was at the swine building on Monday during the pre-fair clean up, an area he has become very familiar with during the last half-century. According to Hansen, this is his 55th year of involvement with the Wayne County Fair, both as a competitor and as the superintendent of the swine portion of the fair. Hansen said the number of swine entered in this year's fair is down slightly, in part he feels, because of high corn prices. Hansen was joined in the clean-up of the swine area by a number of 4-H'ers, parents and grandparents in an effort to be ready for this year's fair, which runs through Sunday, July 31.

Poem addresses aging issues

We've been cleaning out my mother's house this month. She was definitely not what I would call a "pack rat", and she got rid of a lot of things when she moved into this townhouse.

But, just the same, we are finding some "golden oldies", like a first aid book that was printed in 1957. Today, I ran across a poem that was read at her eightieth birthday party. No credit is given, but since the Big Farmer has now turned 80, along with Warren Buffett and Clint Eastwood, we understand better the ambivalence displayed.

In fact, I have often seen the same emotions when admitting someone to Hospice; the desire to be allowed to stop all the treatments and doctor visits, but the longing to see one more grandchild born, or another one's wedding, or another one's graduation. I believe these are truly normal and human emotions.

So, as you read the attached jingle, put yourself in the writer's shoes, and smile!

"Today, dear Lord, I'm 80, and there's much I haven't done. I hope, dear Lord, you'll let me live until I'm 81.

By: Pat Meierhenry

But then, if I haven't finished all I want to do, Would You, please, let me live awhile, until I'm 82?

So many places I want to go, so very much to see,

Do you think that You could manage to make it 83?

The world is changing very fast, there is so much in store,

I'd like it very much to live until I'm 84.

And, if by then, I'm still alive, I'd like to stay till 85.

More planes will be up in the air, so I'd really like to stick

And see what happens to the work when I turn 86.

I know, dear Lord, It's much to ask, (and it must be nice in heaven) But I'd really like to stay until I'm 87.

I know, by then, I won't be fast, and sometimes will be late,

But I'd really be so pleasant to be around at 88.

So, I'm sure I'd be willing to leave at the age of 89---maybe,

Just one more thing I'd like to say, dear Lord, I thank you kindly

But, if it's okay with You, I'd like to live past 90."

Thanks to all the fair volunteers

The Dakota-Thurston County fair is over and I'd like to thank all the volunteers, sponsors, and 4-H leaders who contributed their time and money to making the fair a great event. It is often said that 20 percent of the people do 80 percent of the work and, unfortunately, I think that is a fairly accurate statement.

If you can volunteer at your fair either in clean-up, judging, attending food stands, or in any other capacity, please do so.

This week the Wayne County Fair will begin with entry day on July 27 and run through the 31st. The Dixon County fair will follow right after the Wayne fair with entry of Ag Hall exhibits and 4-H interview judging on Saturday, July 30, and the fair continuing through Wednesday, Aug. 3. There are a lot of fun things to see and do, so try to make both fairs if you can.

Crop progress is moving along with all of the corn tasseling in about a week's time thanks to the heat and a very narrow window of planting time this spring. Irrigated corn is now using almost one third of an inch of water per day, so many irrigation systems are running in areas that did not receive rain the past week.

Crop maturity is very close to average for the year. If your crop is not under water, things look very good up to this point. There are some areas where it looked like the corn was under some nitrogen deficiency but that has become harder to see now that the corn has tasseled. The beans are flowering with most setting on pods.

As far as crop pests go, we have seen a few bean leaf beetles in soybeans. Soybean aphids are still at very low numbers and no fields are near threshold levels to treat. This is good news since the further we get into the crop season the less yield potential is affected and we will be able to control the aphids with one treatment if it is necessary.

Soybean aphids still have the potential to build into damaging populations in mid-August, although it looks as if we won't have widespread problems.

Keep listening and we'll keep you updated on the soybean aphid situation.

Northeast Nebraska RC&D Council accepts grant award

The Northeast Nebraska RC&D was awarded a grant in the amount of $12,166 from the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality's Waste Reduction and Recycling Incentive Grants Program.

Altogether, the state received 45 eligible grant applications with requests totaling $2,446,958 for integrated solid waste management facilities projects. $1,140,883 was awarded for 27 projects throughout Nebraska.

The grant program provides funds annually for integrated waste management activities in Nebraska. The funds awarded to Northeast Nebraska RC&D will be used for recycling computer equipment and TV's from three different sites in our six county area.

Site locations, dates and time of pickup will be determined soon.

According to grant officials, "Northeast Nebraska RC&D is to be commended for their continued efforts to improve Nebraska's environment through responsible solid waste management activities."

NORFOLK NRD NEBRASKA

Construction Begins on the Wau-Col Regional Water System

June 23 marked the first day of construction on the Wau-Col Regional Water System that will serve customers in the communities of Belden, Magnet and McLean as well as 16 rural customers. The first phase of the project is construction of a pipeline from Coleridge to Belden. Carstensen Contracting, Inc. of Pipestone, MN is installing the pipeline. It is projected that customers in Belden will be able to receive water from the new regional system beginning this fall. The Coleridge water tower will provide storage to supply this portion of the regional system.

The second phase of the project is to install a pipeline from Wausa to Magnet and McLean. Work will begin on this portion of the pipeline following completion of the first phase from Coleridge to Belden. A new storage tank will be required to boost the Wausa water supply to provide sufficient water for customers in Magnet and McLean. Maguire Iron, Inc. of Sioux Falls, S.D. will begin construction of the water storage tank on the east side of Wausa in October. Projected completion of this phase is summer 2012.

The name "Wau-Col" is derived from Wausa-Coleridge. The system goes across three county lines — Knox, Cedar, and Pierce Counties.

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) is the administrative agency for the system. JEO Consulting Group, Inc. and Bartlett & West, Inc. are the design and construction engineers, they will be overseeing the construction and installation of the water supply system and the water storage tank. The bid price for pipeline construction is $1,298,961. Bid price for tank construction is $587,000. The $3.1 million project was made possible by low interest loans and a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture — Rural Development (an equal opportunity provider and employer), and area sponsors including the LENRD and the Lewis & Clark Natural Resources District (LCNRD).

Tom Moser, General Manager of the LCNRD, a contributing agency to the project, said "The two NRDs and representatives from each community have worked together for the past five years as an advisory committee for this project. We are pleased to see the villages will soon reach their goals of providing good quality water to their communities."

Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on July 7, 2011.

A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

The agenda was approved.

The minutes of the July 5, 2011, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record.

The county will not be applying for an EMPG grant as the Emergency Manager position in Wayne County is, and will continue to be part-time.

Randy Pick asked what the policy is when the Sheriff and a Deputy do not conduct business the way it should be done. Pick also felt the Pierce jail treats first-time prisoners like criminals rather than someone whom is accused but not yet proven guilty.

Deb Scholten of Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department presented an overview of the projects they have been involved in during the past year. A resolution approving the adoption of rules and regulations to prevent the spread of communicable disease was presented for the board's consideration. The county attorney will be asked to review the resolution.

As a representative of the Wayne County Library Association, Lauren Lofgren thanked the board for their financial support. The Winside library is using the funds for children's books and programs, the Carroll library is using the funds for large-print books, the Wayne library is using the funds for purchasing materials in electronic format, access to online databases and programs, and to purchase DVD's. A preliminary budget request for 2011/12 was submitted.

Dave Jaeger and Kevin Davis presented the Wayne County Agricultural Society preliminary budget request for 2011/12. Projects considered for next year include more pavement and a roof for the grandstand.

Wakefield church hosts Sweet Corn Sunday

Congregation members found a shady spot to husk the sweetcorn prior to the event.

Congregation members, friends, relatives and former ministers were on hand to celebrate the ninth Sweet Corn Sunday at Immanuel Lutheran Church of rural Wakefield on July 24.

Members of the congregation and others gathered on July 23 to husk dozens of ears of sweetcorn, put up the tent, and perform other tasks to prepare for the event.

Sunday's festivities began with worship, led by Pastor Willie Bertrand. Several others took part in the service.

Following the service, those in attendance, as well as others who came for the dinner, enjoyed a meal of "Church Lady" fried chicken, mashed potatoes, sweetcorn and pie.

Additional homemade pies, as well as other items were then auctioned off as a fundraising effort for the church.
