UPSET OF NO. 1 CAUSE FOR CELEBRATION

The new scoreboard at Memorial Stadium (right) got quite the debut Saturday, as Wayne State upset defending Div. II champion and No. 1-ranked Minnesota Duluth. The win was cause for celebration on the Wayne State sideline (above) as players rushed the field to celebrate the Wildcats' first-ever win over Duluth. The win snapped the Bulldogs' 41-game conference winning streak.

Council moves toward selected 2 a.m. alcohol sales

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

First readings of two ordinances allowing for extended hours of alcohol sales until 2 a.m. received first reading approval during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Before the council were ordinances to extend the hours of the sale until 2 a.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 6, 7 and 8 and Saturday, Oct. 29.

Ken Jorgensen, owner of The Max, told the council that extending the hours could be "a win-win situation for everyone. These people would be more supervised in my establishment. There are more problems with house parties than with those in my establishment."

Jeff Carstens, representing Wayne State College, said that "the benefits (of the extra hour of alcohol sales) don't outweigh the costs. At Wayne State, we have to have extra staff on duty and the police department needs to have officers on duty. We (WSC) have to re-allocate our resources to handle this. I urge the council to oppose the passage of this ordinance."

Council member Brian Frevert said those he had spoken to said the change wouldn't make a difference to them.

Mayor Ken Chamberlain suggested to the council that "we try it out a few times and see what happens. I feel we should take baby steps in regard to this issue."

The council voted 5-0 to approve the ordinances on first reading. However, in the absence of three council members, there were not enough votes to waive the required three readings of the ordinances, and both will come before the council at the next meeting.

Two other requests for extended hours of alcohol sales, one for Wayne State graduation and one for New Year's Eve, were tabled until the council's first meeting in November.

In other action, the council approved memberships for Dean Brodersen and Chris Weddel to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.

The council also took action to establish a firefighter job description.

When firefighters respond to a page, they have the legal status of a city employee and as such, are covered under the city's worker's compensation insurance. Having a written description of expectations will clarify what those volunteers should and should not do.

City Administrator Lowell Johnson told the council that the job description for Wayne firefighters is nearly identical to that being used in Norfolk.

Ordinance 2011-23, which establishes new election wards, received first round approval at Tuesday's meeting. Based on the 2010 census, the boundaries of

Hubbard man faces homicide charges in WSC students' deaths

A Hubbard man is currently sitting in the Dixon County Jail on charges stemming from a car-motorcycle accident Sept. 9 that claimed the lives of two Wayne State students.

Robert Mahler was the driver of a car that was involved in an accident with a motorcycle driven by Christopher Oberg. Oberg, 20, of Mapleton, Iowa, and his passenger, Alexis Calfee, 19, of Bennet, were killed in the accident west of Emerson.

According to a complaint filed by Dixon County Attorney Leland K. Miner, lab tests showed Mahler's blood-alcohol content was .196 at the time of the accident, more than twice the legal limit. He has been charged with two counts of motor vehicle homicide and one count of second-offense driving under the influence.

Since Mahler has a previous conviction of DUI within the last 12 years, each charge of motor vehicle homicide carries a penalty of 1-50 years in prison. He is presently being held in the Dixon County Jail in Ponca. Bond was to be set sometime Wednesday by a judge of the Dixon County Court, at which time a court appearance date will be scheduled.

Battling a porch blaze

Wayne firefighters were called to the 1100 block of Main Street Tuesday afternoon when a fire started on the porch of a rental house across the street from Wayne State College. According to Wayne Fire Chief Tom Sievers, a cigarette or match was not put out properly, causing the flames to erupt. The porch was totaled and there was significant damage to the north side of the house, along with smoke damage in the interior. Nobody was home at the time of the fire.

Simpson remembered for charm, mentoring

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Dr. LeRoy Simpson had a unique Southern kind of charm about him that made him a great role model to the students and athletes he was around during his long career at Wayne State College.

Simpson, 76, died Friday at Memorial Hospital in Colorado Springs, Colo., after a year-and-a-half battle with leukemia. A memorial service was held in Colorado Tuesday, and a second memorial will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church in Wayne.

Wayne State College President Curt Frye fondly remembered the longtime teacher and coach for his sense of humor.

"Doc always had a quick wit about him and a great sense of humor, and he was always cracking wise," Frye said. "He would tell stories about growing up in Oklahoma that would crack you up."

Simpson was also quick to help out coaches and teachers who were just starting out, according to Mike Barry, associate director of athletics who came to Wayne State as a basketball coach in 1989.

Seminar in Norfolk to focus on bullying, school violence, consequences

A seminar will be conducted at Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk on Friday, Sept. 30.

The focus will be on Bullying, School Violence, Victimization, Crime, Warning signs and Consequences.

It will be a day-long event, beginning at 8 a.m. and running until 5 p.m.

Presenters include Lela McNinch, B.A., Emergency Response and Homeland Security Certification from University of Tel-Aviv, Keith Willis PhD and Sharon Yearous PhD, APRN, CPNP, NCSN

Funding for this project was made possible by grant number 1U79SM059176-01 from (SAMHSA), U.S. (HHS).

Over 115,000 students across the nation, including Nebraska choose not to attend school on a daily basis due to bullying, intimidation, threats and violence. Adults must be aware of the warning signs of bullying, violence and the risks of suicide and depression when children are in crisis. Those attending will learn about the types of victims and the consequences of allowing bad behavior from children to go unchecked.

A Chinese Proverb says "A child is like a piece of paper, on which every person leaves a mark" and the seminar will instruct attendees on how to leave a positive mark in children.

Teenscreen is a program from Columbia University to identify signs of possible mental illness and risk for suicide through screening. This program has been implemented in the schools, communities and primary care settings. In the US, one in five adolescents has a diagnosable mental disorder. If the disorder is left untreated, it will lead to school failure, drop out, involvement in the Juvenile Justice System and violence. Facilitators at the seminar will discuss how Teenscreen can help preventing these issues.

Presenters will also discuss the impact of co-occurring disorders (substance abuse and mental disorders) on the self-destructive thinking and actions of youth. Simple screening methods will be presented with options for intervention.

CEU's will be available. For registration, call (402) 644-7314, extension 6, or go online: //unl.qualtrics.com/SE/?SID=SV_cBcYl-WB0mmTSpBa.

Electronic recycling events prove successful

Twenty-two communities in northeast Nebraska, and one in South Dakota brought electronics in one form or another to the three-day event held Sept. 8-10 in the communities of Plainview, Verdigre, Hartington, Wynot and Hoskins.

The total collected was 17,484 pounds.

The Northeast Nebraska RC&D is grateful to Husker Ag. LLC, Northeast Nebraska News Co., Inc., Pierce Telephone Company for the added donations and advertising they did to help with this event, and for all the volunteer help with the unloading and loading of the computer equipment, TVs and other miscellaneous electronics brought in.

Electronic waste accounts for 70 percent of the overall toxic waste currently found in landfills, according to Global Futures Foundation. In addition to valuable metals like aluminum and copper, electronics often contain hazardous materials such as mercury and lead. When placed in a landfill, even in small doses, these materials can contaminate soil as well as drinking water.

Inspection of fracture-critical bridges in county to begin soon

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Fracture-critical bridges in Wayne County will be getting a closer look by an Omaha-based engineering firm to see how bad the bridges are and whether any need to be closed.

At Tuesday's Wayne County Commissioners meeting, Gregory Green of HGM Associates told the board that the company was set to begin inspection of 55 bridges in the county that are considered fracture-critical. The process should take 4-5 weeks to complete, depending on the weather.

Green told the board that he and his staff would start in the northwest part of the county and work its way around the county from there. A final report would be made to the county and the state 30 days after inspections are completed.

"If there are any immediate concerns that you have in your districts, we can take a look at those first," he said.

Board member Kelvin

Wurdemann said that the likelihood of any of the bridges being repaired was minimal. Costs for bridge repair run as high as $200,000, depending on the severity of the problem, and at this point, he said, the county is more likely to close a bridge than repair it.

"If the membrane breaks on the bridge, we have no choice but to close it," he said.

The board's next regular meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 4, at 9 a.m. in the county commissioners' room.

West Nile Virus a concern in area

The Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department is informing area residents of two health-related concerns involving mosquitoes and food handling that are of concern in the area.

Residents of Cedar, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne counties should be aware that mosquitoes from collection sites near Ponca and in Wayne have tested positive for West Nile Virus. No human cases have been reported in the four-county district, but people should use insect repellent with DEET according to the manufacturer's instructions, wear long sleeves and pants at dawn and dusk, and empty standing water so that mosquitoes' breeding is limited.

West Nile Virus symptoms include fever, headache, chills, tiredness, and sometimes a rash. Symptoms may appear from 2-15 days after a mosquito bite. Please see a doctor if you have symptoms. Test results of birds and mosquitoes for any state are found at: diseasemaps.usgs.gov/wnv, and more information on West Nile Virus is at www.cdc.gov/ncidod/dvbid/westnile.

A recent Health Alert Network announcement warns of cases of Listeria, an infectious disease carried by some foods and food handlers that has resulted in illness and some deaths in Colorado. Nebraska recently confirmed a case in Douglas County. The disease may have been contracted from cantaloupe, according to the State of Colorado's press release. Nebraska consumers should be aware of this outbreak, since it is very active in Nebraska's neighboring state.

Listeria is very dangerous for pregnant women, and can lead to miscarriages or stillbirths, even if the mother only has mild flu-like symptoms. Symptoms take about three weeks to appear after exposure to the source. Listeria symptoms include fever, muscle aches, nausea, and diarrhea. Please see a doctor if you have symptoms. More information can be found at www.cdc.gov/nczved/divisions/dfbmd/diseases/listeriosis.

Both Listeria and West Nile Virus can spread to the nervous system, which can be life threatening. For more information, please call the Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department at (800) 375-2260 or in Wayne at (402) 375-2200.

Wellhead protection discussed at open house

Representatives of the City of Wayne, the planning team and Wayne area property owners took part in a meeting last week to discuss the proposed Wellhead Protection Plan for the city.

The plan is part of a 2010 Wayne Source Water Protection Project that is being partially funded through a Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality Grant.

Adam Rupe, project manager with JEO, the consulting firm that has been working with the city to produce an ordinance, spoke on the work that has already been completed and what needs to be done.

The project kicked off in January of this year, and included a June public workshop and an updated wellhead protection area that was approved by the Nebraska

Department of Environmental Quality in June.

The city's north well field includes 3,337 acres, of which 88 percent is row crop. The south well field consists of 3,282 acres, of which 60 percent is row crop land, 15 percent is developed and 25 percent is made up of other vegetation.

Those in attendance discussed the fact that economic conditions have forced producers to put on only as much fertilizer and other chemicals as they take off when harvesting the crops. During the meeting, discussion was held on the overlapping jurisdiction of the various entities involved with the rural areas and different counties' zoning regulations.

Rupe put together a presentation that listed best management practices for both agricultural and urban areas. These include incentives for deep soil sampling, use of the Conservation Reserve Program (CPR) and irrigation management.

In urban areas, property owners would be encouraged to use native landscaping, conduct lawn soil sampling and increase household hazardous waste collection.

The next step in the process includes submitting a draft plan to the NDEQ for initial review, holding public hearings and adopting an ordinance by the city of Wayne.

Anyone desiring more information on the subject is encouraged to contact Rupe at (402) 435-3080 or arupe@jeo.com; or Garry Poutre, Superintendent of Utilities and Public Works at (402) 375-2896 or eldist@cityofwayne.org

Total down almost $21,000

City's '10-'11 sales tax receipts down slightly from FY '09-'10

For the first time in eight years, the City of Wayne took in less in local sales tax than it did the previous year.

While the numbers for the month of September – which are based on July's sales – were up from last year, city finance director Nancy Braden said the overall numbers for the 2010-11 fiscal year were down just over $20,000 from the previous fiscal year.

"For the year, they are down due to the one month when we had a refund for overpayment of city sales tax from prior years," she said.

That refund came during the month of July, when a refund was processed that drove that month's numbers down to about half the total from the same time in fiscal year 2009-10.

As a result, the city took in $500,768.37 for the fiscal year in local sales tax revenue, down about 3.9 percent from the previous year's total.

The last time revenue totals didn't improve over the previous fiscal year was in 2002-2003, when the city took in about $2,400 less than the previous fiscal year's total of more than $437,000.

Sales of motor vehicles in Wayne saw an increase of about 5.2 percent this past fiscal year, rising to $51,731.74.

Local McDonald's employee named semifinalist for singing contest

Kendall Titiml, 23, a McDonald's crew member at the Wayne McDonald's, is a United States semifinalist for the fourth Voice of McDonald's global singing contest.

Officials from the McDonald's corporation were in Wayne on Friday to surprise Titiml with the notice of his selection.

Beginning Friday, Oct. 7 through Tuesday, Nov. 1, the public can vote at www.voiceofmcdonalds.com to help decide who has what it takes to advance in the competition and move one step closer to becoming the next Voice of McDonald's.

"This is an incredible opportunity for me and I'm so honored to have been chosen as a semifinalist," said Titiml. "Working at McDonald's has given me a chance to grow on so many levels, both personally and professionally. I can't wait to share my passion for singing with a global audience."

Voice of McDonald's is a worldwide contest to discover, recognize and reward the most talented singers among the more than 1.6 million employees working in McDonald's restaurants across the globe. The fourth Voice of McDonald's competition is proving to be bigger and better than ever, with more U.S.

entries than the previous three programs.

"The Voice of McDonald's competition is truly a celebration of our employees, and it is exciting for all of us to see these talented young people perform," said Kevin Hall, owner/operator. "We are thrilled that Kendall made it to the semifinals this year, and we encourage everyone in Nebraska and the Midwest to show their support for him by casting a vote online."

All U.S. entrants were required to submit an initial performance video, which was judged in three areas during the first round of competition in August 2011: singing ability, creativity and on-camera/stage presence. Titiml's exceptional performance earned him a spot in the U.S. semifinals.

If Titiml is among the top three online vote-getters, he will be named a U.S. finalist on November 15 and win a trip to the McDonald's 2012 Worldwide Convention in Orlando, Fla., April 23-26 to compete for top honors, including the $25,000 grand prize.

the city's four voting wards were changed slightly to more evenly distribute the city's population. Each ward will have an average of 1,415 voters, up from 1,395 voters 10 years ago.

A bid was awarded to Penro Construction of Pender for the water and sewer improvement project in the Western Ridge Third Addition project. Construction is scheduled to begin Oct. 15, and is to be completed by the end of the year. The bid of $108,702.42 was the lowest of the three bids submitted.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Oct. 4 at 5:30 p.m. in the council chambers.

"Mike Brewen was the men's basketball coach here when I was just starting, and Doc befriended him and when (Brewen) went down to Missouri to coach, he had Lou Gehrig's Disease, and Doc spent a lot of time and money traveling down there to see him," Barry said. "He was a guy that really took the time and effort to help people out."

Simpson grew up in Oklahoma, went to school in Kansas and got his doctorate in Arkansas before coming to Wayne in 1968. He served as an assistant football coach for three seasons, was the school's athletic director from 1968-1977 and was the men's track coach, and he will always be remembered for starting the women's track program at the college in the 1970's.

Wayne dental clinic adds second doctor

Dr. Robert Burrows, DDS announced this week that Dr. Lesley Holloway, DDS will join his office on Sept. 19.

Dr. Holloway graduated from Creighton University in 2006 with a degree in Psychology. In 2010, she graduated with honors from Creighton University School of Dentistry. Upon graduation, she began working in a private practice in Omaha while her husband Keelan, completed Law School.

Dr. Holloway was raised in David City. She and her husband are both from rural communities and are thankful to have found such a vibrant area outside of the "big city." They have been married for five years, and spend their free time tackling home renovations, visiting family, and most of all, spoiling their two miniature schnauzers.

Dr. Holloway said she enjoys dentistry because, "It allows me to interact on a very personal level with my patients. I like to take time to explain what we are doing and why, which usually makes my patients more comfortable and more compliant. It is very important to me that my patients are able to make informed decisions that are most beneficial to them.

"I am excited to be working with Dr. Burrows and his staff. They are top notch and truly strive to deliver the best possible care to their patients," Dr. Holloway said.

"I look forward to private practice in Wayne. I am happily accepting patients of all ages and of all needs. I received a very well-rounded education at Creighton and enjoy dental procedures ranging from cleanings to root canals and extractions," she added.

The Holloways have purchased a home in Laurel, and are excited to be a part of northeast Nebraska.

"We're excited to have Dr. Holloway join our practice. She and her husband grew up in small towns, so I think they are a great fit for the area. It will be nice to have another dentist in our office to share ideas with and practice with. She is unique in that she has recently graduated dental school, but also has experienced private practice for a year. I look forward to working with her," Dr. Burrows said.

Cats bite 'Dogs

Defense, special teams leads to 7-0 upset of No. 1 ranked Duluth Saturday night

Wildcats' special teams were special

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

As it turns out, the big dog in Div. II was all bark and no bite.

The Wayne State football team pulled off what could arguably be called the biggest upset in Wildcat athletic history Saturday night, knocking off the No. 1-ranked Minnesota Duluth Bulldogs 7-0 on a misty evening at Memorial Stadium.

In our exclusive online interview on mywaynews.com last week, coach Dan McLaughlin said that special teams could play a role in the outcome of Saturday's matchup with a team that had not lost to a conference opponent in 31 games since rejoining the NSIC in 2008 (if you want to count the games before they left earlier in the last decade, it was 41 in a row), and were winners of their last 17 games.

And did they ever. Special teams not only scored the game's only touchdown - Kevin Paulsen took a kick blocked by Aaron Konicek and went 36 yards as time ran out in the third period - but it kept the Bulldog offense pinned at its own end of the field from start to finish.

Minnesota Duluth crossed the midfield stripe just three times in the game, never getting into the Wayne State red zone. And while the defense certainly should be credited for keeping the Bulldogs from burying a bone in the Wildcats' end zone, they were helped out by the foot of junior punter Randy Weich, who kept the Bulldogs starting deep in their own territory all night long. Weich punted eight times for a very impressive 47.4-yard average (even better than the 46-plus average he had in his first two games), and the Bulldogs never got a short field the whole night.

Weich's punting was especially significant during the fourth quarter, when the Bulldogs' average starting field position was their own 18-yard line. He pinned the Bulldogs deep with a 46-yard punt midway through the fourth quarter that forced Duluth to start at its own 4-yard line, and it seemed only logical that the junior from Pierce would be named the conference Special Teams Player of the Week for his efforts in ending a 41-game conference win streak that goes back to before the Bulldogs temporarily left the NSIC for the now-defunct North Central Conference about a decade ago.

This is the kind of game that will take the Wildcats in one of two directions, and we'll have a good idea which direction that is this weekend when they visit Aberdeen, S.D., to take on an improved Northern State squad.

As big a win as Saturday's shutout of the defending national champions was, it's still just one more notch in the win column. In the grand scheme of things, shutting out the defending conference champions at home is the same as beating the perennial NSIC doormat (Crookston) on the road.

It's also very easy to suffer the dreaded post-upset hangover the following week, as some teams have been known to do. If this team can avoid the nasty day-after effects of a big win and play a bad game the following week. It's way too early to discuss the playoffs, but Saturday's win could go a long way toward helping the Wildcats' cause, provided they avoid that letdown from here on out.

Two weeks from now, the Wayne High softball team will have a chance to punch their ticket to the state softball tournament.

First, however, there is a little business to take care of. At 21-0, the Blue Devils are sitting tall in the Class B wild card point standings. If the district tournament started today, they would be the top seed and would be in good position for a wild card if three-time defending champion Blair - who Wayne already owns a road win against -

See BLEACHERS, Page 2B

When you're trying to beat a team that has won 41 consecutive conference games, you sometimes need something a little special to get the job done.

Wayne State coach Dan McLaughlin turned to his special teams unit to provide that something special, and they came through in a big way to help the Wildcats pull off what is undoubtedly the upset of the year so far in college football.

A blocked punt by Aaron Konicek was scooped up by Kevin Paulsen, who raced 36 yards and scored the game's only touchdown on the final play of the third period. That score would stand up, thanks to a solid defensive effort and an outstanding kicking game, to help Wayne State knock off Minnesota Duluth 7-0 in front of more than 2,000 fans Saturday at Cunningham Field.

Wayne State was facing a Minnesota Duluth team that had never lost in 10 previous meetings with the Wildcats, and the Bulldogs were carrying a 31-game conference win string since rejoining the NSIC in 2008 - 41 games including games before Duluth left for the North Central Conference in 2003 - into Saturday night's matchup on a cool, drizzly night.

And while both teams' defenses came up with outstanding efforts, it was the work of Wayne State's special teams that ultimately determined the outcome of Saturday's matchup, giving the Wildcats a historic win.

"It was a lot of fun. It was a good atmosphere and the kids played well," McLaughlin said. "(Duluth) is an outstanding football team and had won something like 35 in a row, so this was a big win for our program. The kids worked hard and it was fun to get something like that going."

The Wildcats controlled the game throughout much of the first half and had a couple of golden opportunities to put points on their brand new scoreboard Saturday night.

The Wildcats had an Evan Johnson-to-Paulsen connection for a touchdown called back on a penalty, and the Bulldogs later blocked a field goal attempt to keep the game tied.

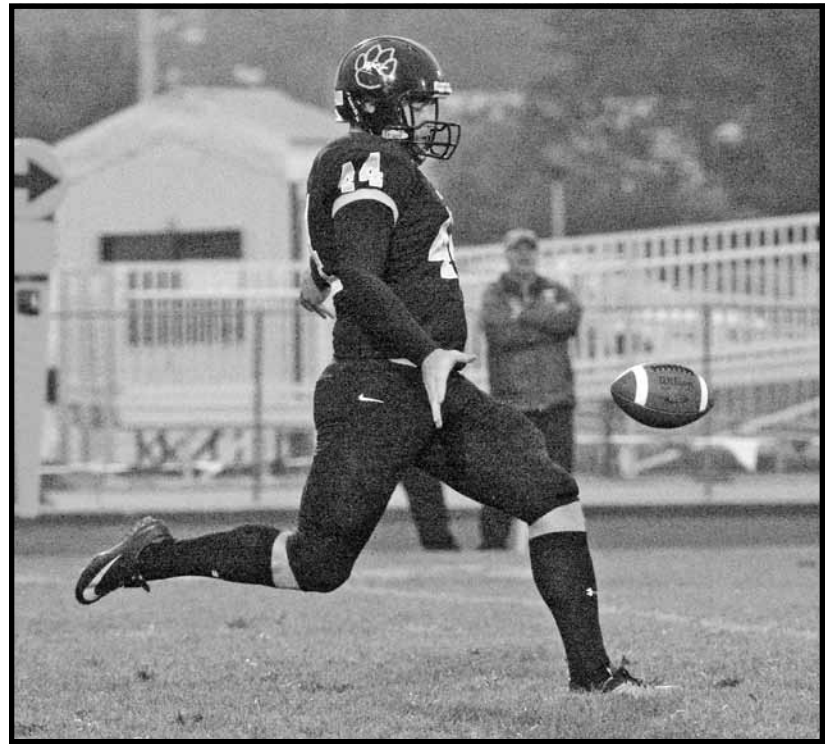

"We were able to get two nice drives that first quarter, and we had a touchdown called back and a field goal blocked because of a wet ball that messed up the timing," McLaughlin said. "We got down there again later and threw an interception, so we could have easily been up 10-0 or 14-0, but it was a good thing that we were at least tied with the No. 1 team in the country at halftime."

It turned into a defensive battle

Wayne High softball team earns another conference championship

ALBION - Chalk up another big win for the Wayne High softball team.

Cassy Miller put on a pitching clinic in the finals of the Mid State Conference softball tournament Tuesday night, striking out 16 batters and allowing just two hits to help Wayne shut out West Point Guardian Angels 4-0 and claim the conference championship for the third straight year.

Jalyn Zeiss doubled and scored a run to help spark the offense, helping Wayne improve to a perfect 21-0 on the season.

The Blue Devils opened conference play with a first-round bye, then outlasted O'Neill 1-0 to reach the finals.

Wayne got their run in the third inning when Jalyn Zeiss singled and stole a base before scoring on a dropped third strike. She had two hits in the game.

Miller doubled at the plate and threw a masterpiece in the circle, striking out 12 and allowing just two hits. Emily Leeper had Wayne's other hit in the semifinal win.

Blue Devils hang on, beat Knights in five

The Wayne High volleyball team got a big win Tuesday at home, fighting off a tough Norfolk Catholic team in a five-set thriller to come away with a 25-13, 17-25, 25-15, 21-25, 15-9 victory.

Coach Joyce Hoskins was all smiles after her team improved to 7-4 with the big win over their conference foes, and she was asked if she was relieved that her team came away with the victory.

"I don't know about relieved. I'm just so proud of the kids," she said. "I know they have it in them, and we see spurts of it. We're seeing more of those spurts last for longer periods of time, and that's what we're trying for."

The two teams traded blows in the first four sets. The final set was a hard-fought battle, as Wayne battled back to tie the match at 20-20 before losing a long volley that gave the Knights the lead for good, forcing a fifth and deciding set.

The visitors had the momentum, but Wayne High jumped out to a quick 4-1 lead behind the hitting of Elle Schramm, Ashton Schweers, Sydney Burke and Katie Hoskins, along with solid defense from players like Cassie Harm, Jessica Biermann and Laura Muren.

"We talked about the tough loss in the fourth set, and I just wanted us to go out and play hard," Hoskins said. "It was a good volleyball match all night and it went back and forth and could've gone either way."

Hoskins had 21 kills, 12 digs and three blocks for the Blue Devils. Schramm added nine kills and six blocks, Burke had eight kills, Schweers added three kills and four blocks and Sarah Maxson had two kills and two blocks.

Defensively, Harm led the team with 28 digs, while Laura Muren added 16 digs to her 38 set assists. Biermann was also in double figures in digs with 10.

Lady Bears take third at Stanton

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge volleyball team made easy work of Plainview in NENAC action Thursday at Laurel, and came away with consolation honors Saturday at the Stanton Invitational.

On Thursday, the Lady Bears had little trouble with the visiting Lady Pirates, as LCC came away with a 25-20, 25-3, 25-23 win.

Amy Pritchard had the hot hand at the net for LCC with 12 kills and two blocks. Jade Cunningham had nine kills, 13 assists, five ace serves and two blocks, while Mandy Nelson recorded seven kills and a team-best three blocks and 14 assists.

On Saturday, the Lady Bears opened with a three-set win over Clarkson/Leigh (22-25, 25-15, 25-18), then lost to Hartington Cedar Catholic (25-18, 25-17) before rebounding for a hard-fourth two-set win over Elkhorn Valley (25-19, 32-30).

In the Clarkson/Leigh match, Cunningham had 13 kills and 17 assists, Pritchard added 11 kills and Nelson had six kills and 16 assists. Pritchard and Audrey Kastrup paced the defense with six digs, while Kiley Thompson added five.

In the loss to the Trojans, Cunningham had 11 kills and Pritchard had seven as Hartington did a good job limiting LCC's offensive attack. Nelson had 13 assists, and Cunningham and Kastrup each had five digs.

In the Elkhorn Valley win, Cunningham had 17 kills and 13 assists, Pritchard added 11 kills and Nelson had 18 assists. Taylor Linn chipped in five kills, and Dani Huss added a pair of kills to the LCC effort.

Upset

after that, and time and again the Wildcat defense kept a potentially-explosive Duluth offense away from getting into a good position to score. The Bulldogs never got past the Wayne State 30-yard line and were constantly facing poor field position, thanks to an outstanding night of punting by junior Randy Weich.

Weich is one of the top four punters in NCAA Div. II, and lived up to his reputation with some outstanding kicks that put the Bulldogs deep in their own territory.

"Our kicking game all night was great," McLaughlin said. "Randy had a tremendous night as a punter, and Max (Martin's) two kickoffs kept them deep and our coverage units were outstanding."

And while that part of the Wildcats' special teams unit played well, it was on the other side of the ball where special teams came through with the play of the game.

Late in the third quarter, the Wildcats rushed the punter and Aaron Konicek sidestepped a blocker and stuffed the punt. Paulsen picked up the ball at the Bulldogs' 36 and raced toward the endzone, sidestepping one trailing defender before reaching the end zone on the final play of the period. The special teams touchdown created an eruption on the Wayne State side of the field and further fired up the defense for the fourth quarter.

"Aaron got the block, and early in the game we thought we might be able to get one," McLaughlin said. "Scott McLaughlin, our special teams coordinator, asked me if we could try and get it, and I thought it would be our only chance, so it was a great call by him and the kids executed it very well."

Paulsen was the fortunate individual to scoop up Konicek's block, and he said it was an area the special teams unit felt it could make a difference.

"Watching film, we knew they had weaknesses and we took advantage of those," he said after the game. "Aaron was able to get through and get the block, and I'm just happy that we got it done."

After that, it was up to the defense, and they came through with some tremendous plays. After Weich pinned the Bulldogs deep in their own territory twice in the final eight minutes, the Bulldogs tried a valiant comeback that was thwarted when Richard Daniel came across the field to pick off a pass with less than two minutes to go. Wayne State ran out the clock and celebrated what is arguably the biggest regular-season win in school history.

"The whole essence of the game is field position, and the fastest way to kill yourself is with a turnover, and we didn't turn the ball over. That allowed Randy to flip the field position with his punting. Our offense wasn't great, but it was solid and didn't make any mistakes."

"We played great team defense, and we improved so much from that first game in terms of pursuit," McLaughlin said, citing the play of kids like Austin Pomajzl, Jared Curry, Michael Bazata, Alex Marquez, James Worthen and Donny Baker.

The offense didn't have a spectacular night, as Duluth limited them to 169 yards in total offense. However, McLaughlin said the offense did two things well - move the ball enough to affect field position and avoid costly turnovers.

"The whole essence of the game is field position, and the fastest way to kill yourself is with a turnover, and we didn't turn the ball over," McLaughlin said. "That allowed Randy to flip the field position with his punting. Our offense wasn't great, but it was solid and didn't make any mistakes."

Now, the challenge for the 2-1 Wildcats is to avoid a letdown when they go on the road to face an improved Northern State squad Saturday in Aberdeen, S.D.

"There was a lot of excitement after the game, but we reminded them that it's just one game," McLaughlin said. "Beating Duluth is no different than beating Crookston, and if we go to Aberdeen and play poorly and lose, it's no different than any other game."

"The thing is, now we know we can play with good people, and I think there might have been some doubt about that after the first game," he added. "Now we see that when we play hard and play together, and don't shoot ourselves in the foot, that we can play with anybody. Now, we just have to build on that... we can't have a hangover from Duluth, and we have to go in with the right attitude and have a great week of practice."

to knock off the Blue Devils.

They have seven regular season games left on the schedule, all of which are winnable. The problem is, even though they play some decent Class C schools (including West Point Guardian Angels), all the games from here on out are must-win situations for the Blue Devils. Being a Class B school playing a Class C schedule, there is no room for error when it comes to wild card points. A loss to a Class C team will knock Wayne's wild card average down significantly, which would leave a district title as their only option for making state for the ninth time in the team's 10-year history.

That may seem like a lot of pressure to heap on a bunch of high school girls, but the good news is that this isn't the first rodeo for these young ladies. This is pretty much the entire team from last year that won 28 straight games, so they know what it's like to play under pressure. There is a ton of talent up and down the lineup, and they should be able to handle the challenge that awaits them.

The biggest challenge on the schedule will come next week, with home games against Logan View and Guardian Angels and a tough Saturday tournament at Yutan. If they come out of that unscathed and finish with what is, on paper, an easy finale at South Sioux City, they should be in fantastic shape for the postseason.

Blue Devils suffer 35-0 shutout at home

Speed kills in football and that's exactly what Boone Central did to Wayne High's hopes for a homecoming win Friday.

The Cardinals ran over, around and through the Blue Devil front line and came away with a decisive 35-0 win at Wayne State College, handing the Wayne gridders their second straight loss heading into this week's matchup with defending state champion and top-ranked Norfolk Catholic.

Coach Rich Rethwisch said he was disappointed with the outcome of Friday's matchup, but said his team did show some good things in spite of the one-sided outcome.

"We did play a good third quarter and did a good job adjusting at halftime," he said. "The kids worked hard and we're trying to work to get kids the ball, but it's not easy. We haven't been able to run the ball or find time to throw, and we haven't been able to shut anybody down."

The Cardinals got a pair of first-half touchdowns from Tanner Mazour and a 3-yard run by Blake Sliozski to take a 22-0 lead into the locker room.

The Blue Devils, meanwhile, struggled to get anything going offensively in the first half, as Boone Central's defense limited Wayne to less than 20 yards in total offense during the first two periods.

Quarterback Gage Rethwisch went down with an injury midway through the third quarter after being hassled for most of the night by a relentless Cardinal defense. Jalen Barry came on and was able to help move the ball somewhat, but it proved to be too much of a task against Boone Central's solid front line.

"They're a very good football team and very fast, and in football speed kills," Rethwisch said.

Luke Trenhaile led the Wayne offense with 25 yards on seven carries. Rethwisch was 8-of-16 for 80 yards before an injury ended his night early. Miles Anderson had 35 yards on three catches, while Brady Soden got 32 yards on two receptions.

Defensively, Soden and Jordan Backer led the way with nine and eight tackles, respectively. Brad Longe and Curtis Moeller each had six stops, and Malcolm Martin and Brandon Martian each had a quarterback sack.

While the thought of playing Norfolk Catholic seems daunting, Rethwisch said his team isn't about to back down from the challenge.

"Right now, our focus is on trying to get better, and we're going to come out and do some different things and not just go through the motions (against Catholic)," Rethwisch said. "Everybody who has played Norfolk Catholic will not play them. It's not easy preparing for the No. 1 team in the state, a team that's averaging more than 50 points a game. It's a tremendous challenge, and just have to work hard and try to change the culture."

Wildcats finally at home, sweep Sioux Falls

Finally – some home cooking for the Wayne State volleyball team.

After playing their first 10 games on the road, the Wildcats experienced their first home crowd of the season, and 719 fans cheered them on to a 25-15, 25-13, 26-24 sweep of University of Sioux Falls Tuesday at Rice Auditorium.

The Wildcats dominated the Cougars during the first two sets, but the visitors showed a lot of moxie in coming back from an early third-set deficit. They had a chance to win the third set before the Wildcats rallied with three straight points to take their home opener and improve to 8-3 on the season.

"It was nice to get back home, but it was almost like we had a little bus lag that third set," coach Scott Kneifl said. "We did some good things early and opened up some holes, but we got a little sloppy at the end. It's not the way we wanted to end it, but we'll take a sweep any way we can get it."

The Wildcats had a balanced attack at the net, with seniors Mindy Moody and Tali Fredrickson and sophomore Cori Hobbs leading the way. Moody had 10 kills in the match, Hobbs had nine and Fredrickson had eight and a team-high 14 digs.

After the game, Fredrickson was more concerned with the team's finish.

"It was so nice to be home, but I wish we could've played a little bit better," she said. "We did not play up to our standards tonight, and we're going to have some tough practices the next few days. We've got a lot to work on."

The win Tuesday came on the heels of a split in the Wildcats' first conference games of the season. Wayne State dropped a five-set decision at Winona State on Friday (26-24, 22-25, 23-25, 26-24, 15-6), but came back the following afternoon to earn a tough win at Upper Iowa (25-22, 25-22, 25-19).

"A split is never what we're hoping for," Kneifl said. "You have to show up every night on the road, and had some people get a little nervous playing in that atmosphere and we struggled a little bit. It was a tough weekend, no doubt about it."

Girls golf teams win two road triangulars

The Wayne High girls golf team had some success in gearing up for Thursday's Metteer Invite, winning two triangulars and taking a runner-up finish in tournament play.

On Thursday, the Blue Devils shot a team score of 199 to defeat Pierce and Hartington Cedar Catholic in a triangular at Hartington. Cedar shot 252 for second place, while Pierce did not field a full team.

Leading the way in the win was senior Brittney Peterson, who shot a 45. Katlin Potter and Hannah McCorkindale both shot rounds of 51, while Burgandy Roberts and Taylor Burke each shot a 52.

In JV play, Aspen Pflanz shot 53 to lead Wayne, while Cassidy Wiese shot 58, Sadie Miller carded a 62 and Emma Loberg and Marissa Wiese both shot 63. Holly Grosz shot 64 and Brittany Cudaback shot 82.

Hoskins said she was proud her team was able to come out with a win against an always-tough Norfolk Catholic squad. "It's a great win for us," she said. "They're a great team, and Gail Borgmann is a great coach and I have a lot of respect for her and her team. Any time you can play good volleyball and come out with a win against them, you've got to be

Wayne State had a chance to win in the first set, but the host team bounced back and eventually stole the first set, setting up the five-set thriller.

"It's kind of heartbreaking, because we had set point and we let a sweep turn into a loss on the road, but that's the way the ball bounces," he said.

Fredrickson joined some elite company in school history, becoming the sixth player to notch 1,000 kills and 1,000 digs in her career at Wayne State. her 14-kill, 30-dig effort against the Warriors put her at 1,007 career kills to go along with 1,249 digs.

"She's having a great start to her senior season, and she's turned into a really nice leader," Kneifl said. "A lot of people questioned why we recruited her, because she's a 5-foot-7 outside hitter, but we saw something in her that a lot of people didn't, and I'm glad we took a chance on her. It's no surprise to me, the player she's turned into."

The Wildcats did salvage a sweep in a tough environment on Saturday.

"I think Upper Iowa is probably better than Winona, and we were kind of walking on cracked ice early getting down 8-2, but I was really proud with how the kids bounced back," Kneifl said. "A split isn't what you're looking for on the road, but after you lose the first one, a split is OK."

Wayne State had good balance against the Peahens, with Cori Hobbs recording 15 kills and Mindy Moody adding 13 kills and five blocks.

Wayne cross country boys finish strong

COLUMBUS – If Thursday's effort at the Columbus Scotus Invitational is any indication, the Wayne High boys cross country team is very close with the No. 1 team in Class C.

Quentin Jorgensen earned medalist honors once again, and the Blue Devil boys showed they can run with the state's best by finishing three points behind the top-ranked Shamrocks Thursday afternoon.

"The boys' times were awesome," coach Rocky Ruhl said. "We were three points behind the No. 1 team in the state and we're right there, so I'm pretty happy with where we're at. Hopefully we'll have another shot at them, and we're close enough that I feel we can get them."

Although Tyler Ellis was the only other Blue Devil in the top 10, the Wayne boys had all six runners finish in the top 20. Joe Dunklau was 11th, freshman Ben Hoskins was 14th, Aaron Bernal was 17th and Sawyer Jager finished 19th.

While the boys looked solid, the Wayne girls seemed to regress a little after winning their home meet last Tuesday, settling for a seventh-place finish that saw three district teams finish ahead of them.

"We need to compete better with the girls," Ruhl said. "We're just not competing as well as we need to be, and we need to start picking things up and catching some of these people."

"The girls' times were good," Ruhl added, "but the points weren't where we wanted to be and we finished behind Boone Central and Norfolk Catholic, and we have to finish ahead of them if we want to get to state. We need to catch some of these people and use that strategy to make us better when conference, districts and state roll around."

Angie Nelson and Tia Jech were the only Blue Devils to finish in the top 20, placing 14th and 17th, respectively. Wayne's other two scoring runners, Megan Stalling and Martha Mitiku, placed 31st and 36th overall.

Wayne High will be at the Crofton Invitational on Friday and the UNK Classic on Monday.

Soccer drops NSIC debuts

On the surface, two shutout losses on the road might not seem like a good weekend for a soccer team.

Coach Molly Grisham saw some good things in her team's weekend losses to open Northern Sun Conference play over the weekend, as Wayne State lost at University of Mary (3-0) Saturday and dropped a 2-0 decision at Northern State on Sunday.

"I don't know if disappointing is the right word," she said of her team's two losses. "Mary is a top-five team in the conference, and we played well against them and the goals we gave up are fixable. Against Northern, we outshot them 20-7, and sometimes that happens where you outshoot someone and can't put the ball on frame."

Wayne State gave up a goal in the first half when the Wildcats couldn't clear a goal out of the box, and the Marauders used a pair of corner kicks in the second half to find the net a second and third time.

"Mary is a big, strong, physical team, and it was an adjustment for us," Grisham said. "I thought Ryan (Wells) did well in goal. The corner kicks she gave up are tough for young goalkeepers, and it's something we'll have to work on as a team. She did have some good saves for us."

The Wildcats seemed to be more in control on Sunday, but Northern scored twice in a 12-minute time span early in the second half to take the win, dropping Wayne State to 2-3-1 overall and 0-2 in the NSIC.

"We took good shots and dominated possession and had the momentum, and we let a couple in that we could get back," she said. "I think we'd be OK playing either team down the road."

The soccer team hosts Simpson College on Thursday and Augustana on Sunday at the Wayne State Soccer Complex.

Bears handle Pirates, 28-7

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge Bears took control of the Plainview Pirates in a 28-7 win Friday night.

The Bears scored two touchdowns late in the first quarter. Austin Roach hauled in a 20-yard pass from Kyle Kardell, and Roach's second score came on a nine-yard run with 2:00 left in the period.

Daniel Hartnett connected on a 23 yard field goal in the second quarter which extended the Bears lead to 15-0 at the half.

In the second half, with three minutes left in the third quarter, Kardell found Roach on a six-yard touchdown pass.

Late in the third quarter, Kardell hooked up with Justin Saunders for a 25-yard touchdown pass. Kardell finished the game 16-of-26 for 218 yards and three touchdowns.

Mitch Heikes was the Bears leading rusher with 83 yards on 17 carries and Saunders led in receiving with 90 yards on five catches. Roach added five receptions for 46 yards and two touchdowns.

 Allen's Lindsey Sullivan goes high to set the ball for an attack during the Lady Eagles' straight-set win over Emerson-Hubbard on Thursday.

Lady Eagles on a roll, get straight-set wins

ALLEN – The Allen volleyball team is gaining some confidence after winning its last three games.

The Lady Eagles swept Winebago (25-13, 25-13) and Ponca (25-20, 25-17) and continued its dominance at home with a three-game sweep of Emerson-Hubbard (25-18, 25-11, 25-7).

"They played really well together," coach Cheryl Greve said of the team's success last week. "They showed very good teamwork on the floor. They are just working hard together, and it doesn't matter who's on the floor. They're playing very well and doing their best."

In the Winebago win, Brittany Sullivan led a balanced net attack with eight kills, and also paced the defense with seven digs. Rachel Finnegan and Vanessa Klug each had four kills, and Klug, Lindsey Jones and Hannah Finnegan each had two blocks. Hannah Finnegan had 13 assists to direct the offense.

In the win over Ponca, Sullivan had six kills and Jones added three kills and two blocks. Hannah Finnegan had six assists and Jones had four. Sullivan led the team with seven digs, while Rachel Finnegan had six.

Against the Lady Pirates, Sullivan had 12 kills and Jones put down 10 and added three blocks. Sullivan had 21 digs and Rachel Finnegan picked up 16. Hannah Finnegan had 25 set assists.

Greve said the team is showing improvement, and she hopes that continues through what will be a more challenging portion of the team's schedule, beginning with Tuesday's game at Newcastle.

"I wasn't sure we'd be as far as we are right now, and we'll see where we're at as we play more teams," she said. "Right now, though, they're fairly cohesive and we're running our plays. We aren't running them as well as I'd like, but we're doing it more often and I thought we might see at this point. I'm very happy with their improvement."

On Tuesday, Allen made it four in a row with a straight-set win over Newcastle, winning 25-17, 25-9, 25-11. Jones had 13 kills, Sullivan had 12 digs and Hannah Finnegan had 15 set assists for the 8-4 Lady Eagles, who play at the Scribner-Snyder Invite on Saturday.

Winside netters get sweeps

The Winside volleyball team bounced back from last week's loss in the finals of their own tournament to dominate two Lewis and Clark Conference opponents.

On Thursday, the Wildcats got a balanced attack and took the sting out of Bloomfield, sweeping the Queen Bees in three sets, 25-14, 25-20, 25-12.

Four of Winside's five attackers had at least five kills apiece on the night, led by Erin Gray's 10 kills. Jerae Doffin added nine kills and two blocks, Shelby Lienemann had seven kills and four aces, and Nazy Thies had five kills and four blocks. Lienemann and Bridget Gray each had 10 digs, and Shannon Gray had 22 set assists.

The Wildcats went on the road Tuesday and had no problems with Wausa, sinking the Viqueens' ship in straight sets with a 25-8, 25-17, 25-16 triumph to improve to 12-4 on the season.

Winside raced out to an early 8-0 lead in the first set, thanks to a trio of kills from Erin Gray and three ace serves by Lienemann. They dominated Wausa in the first set on their way to the easy victory.

Erin Gray had 12 kills, Lienemann added 11 and Thies had nine for the Winside girls. Bridget Gray added six kills, Lienemann had six ace serves and Shannon Gray put up 29 set assists.

WSC runners at UNL meet

LINCOLN – The Wayne State cross country teams competed Saturday at the UNL/Woody Greeno Invitational.

was 192nd, Jared Balady was 234th place and Nathan Boggess placed 246th.

Leading the way for the Wildcat women was Tatiana DeLosSantos, who finished 218th out of 283 runners in a time of 26:52. Skyler Lippman took 227th, Holli Erickson was 236th and Laura Camacho finished 254th.

Winside steamrolls past Cedar Bluffs

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

WINSIDE – For most of the first quarter, Winside football coach Tim Manzer didn't like what he was seeing out of his team.

The Wildcats committed eight penalties in the first period, but once they righted the ship, it was clear sailing as they steamrolled an outmanned Cedar Bluffs squad 66-6 in a rare Friday afternoon game at Winside High School.

The Wildcats seemed to be tripping over themselves throughout much of the first 12 minutes, in spite of building a 24-0 lead as three separate Wildcats found the end zone in the game's first eight minutes.

"That first quarter, the kids should have paid to get in," Manzer joked after the game. "But after that, we played Winside football. We ran some different offenses and spread the ball around to some different running backs and were able to do what we wanted to do."

Winside took the opening kickoff and marched 56 yards in seven plays, the last 39 coming on a pass from Blaine Meyer to a wide open Coltin Brokaw. Meyer ran in the two-point conversion to make it 8-0.

After holding the visiting Wildcats on their first series, Winside again marched the ball down the field, needing eight plays before Meyer took it the last 13 yards.

Caleb Lienemann scored on a nine-yard run late in the period after a long interception return by Forrest Jones, and the host Wildcats were in command at 24-0 after one period.

Winside broke the game wide open in the second period, wearing down the overmatched Cedar Bluffs team. The hosts found the end zone four times in the second period, and no drive lasted longer than five plays as three different players found the end zone.

"The nice thing about a game like this is that it gives us an opportunity to get a lot of kids in and build some depth," Manzer said.

Seven different Winside players made their way into the end zone in Friday's blowout. Lienemann and Tyler Jaeger both scored twice, and Gage Main, Forrest Jones and Dylan Tweedy also found paydirt to help the Wildcats improve to 3-0 on the season.

Winside had a balanced rushing attack, finishing with 198 yards on 36 carries. Lienemann led the Wildcat offense with 59 yards on seven tries, and Meyer was a very impressive 8-of-9 for 120 yards and three scores in the passing department.

Defensively, Levi Lange and Brian Greunke each had six tackles and Lienemann added five stops for Winside.

Trojans improve, but still seeking first win

WAKEFIELD – On paper, it's not looking like a good season so far for the Wakefield Trojans.

The Trojans fell to 0-3 on the season with a 50-13 home loss to Lutheran High Northeast, and while the improvement may not be found in the win-loss ledger, coach Mike Hassler said the team is showing signs of getting back on track.

"If you look at the scores of our last three games, a lot of people would think we weren't improving much, but in fact we've made some outstanding strides," he said. "If we could take out about an eight-minute stretch where we turned the ball over four times, it could have been a completely different ball game. That's just one of the areas we still need to improve on if we plan on winning some games."

For the first time this season, the Trojans' offense started moving the ball well. They put up 273 yards in total offense and found the end zone twice, something they had been unable to do in season-opening losses to No. 9 Stanton and No. 4 Crofton.

Jose Calderon found the end zone first, scoring on a 12-yard run. Later in the fourth quarter, Evan Nicholson hooked up with Jacob Lunz on a 43-yard pass that showed the team is improving on the offensive side of the ball.

"The offense is really coming around," Hassler said. "We were only about 50 yards in total offense behind Northeast, and the line is really starting to gell as a group. Our backs have been running a lot harder, and when we execute well, we're hard to stop. We just need to work on consistency."

Changes on defense this year have created some problems, but Hassler is hoping that will improve.

"When you have one or two guys out of place, it makes it hard to stop anyone," he said. "That's something we need to get cleaned up, and we'll continue to focus on that in practice. The biggest key is having confidence in knowing what to do, and if you know your assignments you can be aggressive."

Heath Greve led the offense with 52 yards on nine carries, while Nicholson was 7-of-12 for 123 yards and two scores. Lunz had 68 yards on four catches and Danny VanderVeen added 32 yards on two receptions.

Rugby teams dominate SDSU

The Wayne State rugby teams got a pair of big wins over South Dakota State on Saturday in Brookings, S.D.

The Wayne State women dominated the Jackrabbits 84-0 behind a drift-and-blitz defense that limited the play of SDSU's Jacie Vonada, who played for the USA international team.

Haily Wright scored five touchdowns and Rochelle Reinke added three tries for the Wayne State ruggers. Samantha Earlywine scored two times, one coming on a 50-yard run off a 4-on, 4-out to the left side of the field, and Maggie Warrick, Amber Kutnink and Kaylee Freese also found the end zone.

The Wayne State men found the going a little tougher, but still came away with a 22-0 win against a physical SDSU squad.

Wayne State's speed helped open up the back line, and Jared Klassen scored in the first half to give Wayne State a 7-0 lead. Taylor Foster found the try zone three times in the second half to help the Wildcat ruggers pull away.

Wayne State will play its first home game of the season on Saturday, hosting Doane College in men's and women's action beginning at 1 p.m. at the "House of Pain" in Wayne.

of my runners, as they all clocked their best times of the season."

Chris Heydon led the LCC boys to an eighth-place finish with a 35th-place effort, while Adam Haahr was 40th. Tyler Schnidler (44th) and Gabe Abts (48th) also placed in the top 50, and Aaron Colwell was 55th.

Cassy Miller will keep her pitching talents close to home, verbally committing to attend college at Wayne State.

Miller to stay home, pitch at Wayne State

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Cassy Miller's softball season won't end anytime soon, and she won't have to go far to continue her career once her playing days are done at Wayne High School.

The senior fireballer announced recently that she has verbally committed to play Div. II softball for Wayne State College, which would give the Wildcat softball program a welcome shot in the arm, literally, beginning in the 2012-13 school year.

"It's a good program and I was recruited by coach (Krista) Unger," Miller said. "She's a great coach and has made the program so much better. Wayne State has great academics as well, so it was a good fit."

Although she checks in at 5-foot-4, Miller's fastball has been an intimidating force in between the lines for the Blue Devils the past couple of years.

This year, she's been all but untouchable, having recently thrown a perfect game and allowing just 34 hits in a little more than 80 innings of work this season. She has struck out 155 batters, an average of just under two per inning, and has racked up a 14-0 record in helping the Blue Devils to an 18-0 start.

With all the pitching she has done, both at the high school and club levels, it's a wonder her arm doesn't fly off on its own.

"I try to take care of it," the daughter of Angela and Dan Miller said. "I ice it after every game and do some exercises and just take care of it."

Miller has also been lethal at the plate, sporing an average of better than .550 with two home runs and 22 RBI's so far this season for a team that has been as dominating at the plate as Miller has in the circle, averaging almost 10 runs a game heading into this week's Mid-State Conference tournament.

And while she and her Blue Devil teammates will end their season sometime next month – hopefully at the state tournament – it won't be the end of the season for Miller. She is a member of the Nebraska Gold, an Omaha-based club team, and will pitch in a number of fall and early-winter tournaments in warmer regions of the country.

"The week after state, I play in a tournament in Kansas and a tournament in St. Louis after that, and we're supposed to play in a tournament in Las Vegas, southern California and Oklahoma, so there's going to be a lot of traveling," she said.

Special ed career conference is Oct. 21

More than 1,744 students in the northeast region of the state are served by special education services in high school.

NorthStar Services is helping them plan for life after graduation with the second annual "Holy Cow! What Now?" — a career-planning conference for students who use special education services, their families and teachers in the 22 counties that make up Nebraska Educational Service Units in the northeast region.

The event will be Friday, Oct. 21 from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. at Northeast Community College's Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk. Participants will be able to attend educational sessions, roundtable discussions and a vendor fair to learn more about available options and how to plan for work or school.

This is the second year the Nebraska Department of Education has awarded NorthStar Services a grant to fund the conference, and CEO Alan Zavodny said the organization is excited to be building on last year's success.

"At NorthStar we believe employment in the community is possible for everyone and "Holy Cow! What Now?" will give high school graduates resources they need to explore employment opportunities in our communities," Zavodny said.

The keynote speaker will be Ryan

Moore, a graduate of South Sioux City High School, who will share his trials and triumphs navigating higher education and employment with a disability.

A teacher/parent track will feature the following: roundtable session with school transitions coordinators; an information session about the social security administration's work incentive programs; and a panel of parents and family members will discuss their experiences supporting their children through and after graduation.

Students will have opportunities to attend sessions that cover issues such as "Students for APSE" and "Dress for success" and NorthStar Job Club members will be on hand to share their employment success stories.

There will also be a vendor fair with many community programs, resources, opportunities and ideas. A continental breakfast, lunch and snack will be provided.

The conference is free to participants, but pre-registration is required. Registration information is available at www.northstarservices.net or by contacting Veronica Jaqua or Angie Ortmeier at NorthStar Services at (402) 375-4884, or Pete Biaggio with the Nebraska Department of Education at (402) 471-2471.

Celiac Disease (CD) is the condition that causes 1 out of 133 people to be unable to digest the wheat related protein known as gluten. Wheat gluten is found in most baked products, processed foods, cosmetics, and beverages, and greatly limits the foods those with CD may eat.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Jason Wiese, DC, BS, of Life Source Chiropractic, Omaha. Dr.

Wiese will speak on "Autism and the Brain/Body Connection." Also speaking will be Kyle Dahl, MS, JD and Spring Dahl, MS, PhD, food regulatory consultants from Wayne and parents of a celiac toddler. The Dahl's topic will be "Gluten Free (GF): A Mom and Dad's Personal and Professional Perspectives".

Other speakers will be Shelly Asplin, MA, RD, LMNT, nutritional program coordinator for the national organization, Celiac Sprue Association (CSA). Ms. Asplin's topic will be "Gluten Free in the Schools". Certified Diabetes Educator, Julie Kamphaus, RN, MSN, will also discuss "Celiac Sprue and Diabetes; is there a relationship?"

Additional Expo Highlights will include opportunities to visit with health and nutrition professionals, vendors tables featuring gluten-free products to sample and purchase, and health information. Free coffee and gluten-free treats provided by Kristens will be available at registration and throughout the morning. Noon lunch is not provided.

Attendees will learn more about CD, its symptoms, how to test for CD, and other conditions that are related to CD. For more information about this event and the gluten-free lifestyle, visit www.kristyskitchen.com.

Don't get me started

Is watching Irish bad for your heart?

I realized just how busy I have been recently when I tripped over these items falling out of the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— From the "But would a Nebraska fan respond in a similar manner with a Iowa fan when his team is down by 17 in the fourth quarter?" department: A Notre Dame fan who was sitting with a crowd of Michigan fans suffered a heart attack during a recent game between the Wolverines and the Fighting Irish.

When the man's heart stopped during the second quarter of the game, a Michigan fan immediately performed CPR and others called a medical team, who brought in an automated defibrillator to shock the 69-year-old man back to life.

The Notre Dame fan was taken to the University of Michigan Health System's Cardiovascular Center for treatment, where he was able to watch the final quarter of Michigan's come-from-behind 35-31 win over the Fighting Irish from the ICU unit.

There was no word on whether or not Notre Dame's blowing a 17-point lead, or their last-second choke job, finished the guy off.

— From the "But they expect kids to write a 500-word essay on the social relevance of a "Jersey Shore" episode" department: The Idaho Board of Education has shut down a charter school for the unthinkable act of using religious texts, including the Bible, to teach history to its students.

The Supreme Court has ruled that it is not a violation of the separation of church and state to use the Bible for an objective teaching of history or comparative literature. The teacher, Isaac Moffett, has taken the Idaho Board of Education to federal court on the matter, calling it a blatant violation of the U.S. Constitution.

One wonders what the Idaho Board of Education would have thought if this teacher used the latest edition of Playboy magazine to teach about art and journalism. The guess here is that they would have gladly given its blessing to using pornography as an educational tool.

— Just a word of warning . . . if a guy by the name of Kweku Adoboli calls to offer you investment advice, hang up the phone. Immediately.

Adoboli was arrested recently in London for his involvement in a rogue trading scheme that cost Swiss banking giant UBS a staggering $2 billion in unauthorized trades. It's the biggest trading scam in Switzerland's bank history and is comparable to a French trader who was convicted last year for blowing more than $6.7 billion in a fraud scheme that had global impact in the financial industry several years ago.

And you think you have problems balancing your checkbook every month.

— From the "But what will happen to Pokey?" department: The San Diego, Calif., Crime Stoppers were offering a $1,000 reward recently for information leading to the arrest and conviction of, believe it or not, Gumbly.

Actually, they're more interested in the guy wearing the Gumbly costume who walked into a 7-Eleven and tried to rob the convenience store. The cartoon criminal only made off with some loose change and was eventually arrested.

There is still plenty of time to determine our "Dumb Criminal of the Year" award — but this guy is definitely in the running right now.

— From the "Why didn't we think of this during the Cold War?" department: An adult film company is in the process of completing an underground bunker that will allow about 1,500 people to "ride out the 2012 apocalypse in style."

Supposedly, Dec. 21, 2012 is when the whole world comes to an end (which, if you think about the possibility of a second King Obama regime, doesn't sound too farfetched right now), and this company is making sure those who are invited to the bunker are taken care of.

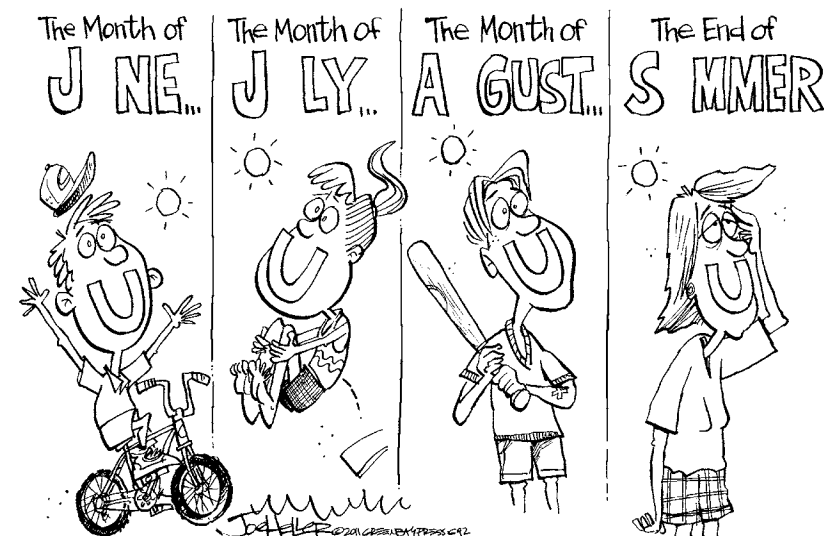

While we can't go into too much detail on what will be available (this IS a family newspaper, you know), we can tell you that there will be plenty of booze, babes and, um, entertainment on hand. And if you're interested in knowing where the bunker is located — unfortunately, that's a closer-guarded secret than about 90 percent of the stuff the Chinese have already stolen from the Pentagon.

I wonder if anybody will want to come out of the bunker on Dec. 13 if the prediction of the end of time is off by a day or two . . . thousand.

— Annnnnnnnnnd finally . . . this just in from the "Who says there's nothing educational on TV anymore?" department: A British TV station is going to show live coverage of (wait for it . . . waaaaait for it . . .) a corpse being mummified.

The program will show how the ancient Egyptians managed to preserve the bodies of their pharaohs more than 3,000 years ago, and how ancient priests managed to stop decomposition almost entirely.

I'm not for sure on this, but I don't think this is a program you want to watch during dinner. It sounds fascinating — and potentially nauseating.

Capitol View

State lousy with child welfare

By ED HOWARD
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — There is something of a story within a story when it comes to the story about the state doing a lousy job implementing change in the child welfare system.

It was mentioned in passing when details of an audit of the Department of Health and Human Services were recently reported. The audit showed department ineptitude had cost the state millions and millions and millions of dollars.

Gov. Dave Heineman growled at State Auditor Mike Foley, saying Foley could have been more helpful if he had discussed the audit with the administration before releasing it to the press.

Now, imagine the look on Heineman's face when Foley shot back that he had provided the thing to Heineman's director of HHS some six weeks earlier.

Now, imagine the look on the face of department CEO Kerry Winterer when Heineman, or someone, asked for an explanation.

Guess whose face turned purple. Guess whose face turned pale.

The situation has some political entertainment value in it, if you're the sort who follows this sort of thing.

When Heineman was a top state GOP operative he was known as a hard hitter. His criticism of Democrats was usually as subtle as a brick going through a plate glass window.

Those who remember the governor, back in his "civilian" days, should have no trouble imagining how he would handle things if the current governor were a Democrat.

Heineman would almost certainly have called for an investigation by the attorney general. And, depending on his mood, he might have said lawmakers should consider impeachment.

Political acies like Heineman know there are no rules of evidence in the court of public opinion.

Nebraska's earnest but weakly Democratic Party hasn't had anyone who could carry off an old-fashioned political vaudeville show — Heineman style — since the passing of the late Jim Exon.

At Husker Harvest Days in Grand

Island, Gov. Heineman declared September to be Renewable Fuels Month in Nebraska.

Heineman might be more popular among environmental interests, at least for now, than President Barack Obama.

The governor opposes the proposed path of the TransCanada XL pipeline, which would transport tar sand oil through a portion of the Sandhills, and over the Ogallala Aquifer. Heineman doesn't have anything against the pipeline per se, but he recently joined the call to reroute the thing.

The odds favor Obama's approval of the pipeline. His secretary of energy virtually endorsed the thing not long ago.

Opponents of the pipeline say it shouldn't be built, period, because it represents environmental threats of all sorts.

Proponents say it is safe, will contribute to America's energy independence efforts and will create thousands of jobs, jobs, jobs.

Jobs. A very important and popular word these days.

Legislative Update

Busy schedule with events in the area

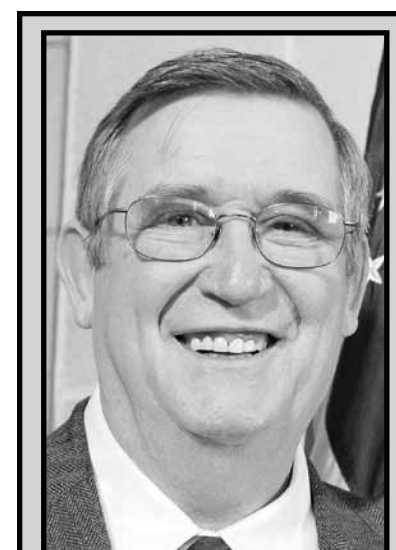

Friday, Sept. 9, my wife, Dee, and I were in Thurston to attend the fish fry sponsored by the local American Legion Family in conjunction with the annual Watermelon Days. We met a number of Thurston County constituents and fellow Legionnaires and their families.

Sunday, Sept. 11, we were again among veterans and their families at the Winside American Legion Home as they were host to their annual picnic. The highlight of the evening to me was when I was honored to present "Old Glory" to Don Leighton, retired superintendent at Winside Public School; and Ray Jacobsen, fellow Legionnaire and a great volunteer. The flags had been flown over my son, Mark's base while he was in Afghanistan. (Mark is currently at Fort Riley, Kan., and was unable to attend.) It was also an honor to welcome some of the veterans from the Norfolk Veterans Home to Winside.

Monday, Sept. 12, we were able to visit one on Nebraska's "best kept open secrets" as we toured the uranium mine near Crawford. It seems that not a lot of people know that we are the only state in the union that produces the uranium used in our own nuclear plants. Due to environmental regulations, we must ship it to Canada to be processed before shipping it back to be used in our plants. The "mine" is a great asset to Nebraska and is open for tours, and yes, it is safe, very safe. This is one of the many things in Nebraska that is undiscovered by many of her residents, and that is too bad.

Tuesday, Sept. 13, I attended the Health and Human Services (HHS) Committee hearings held at Western Community College at Scottsbluff. The morning was open to the public with invited testimony and anyone else who wanted to present information to the Committee on aspects of the child welfare program. The afternoon session was closed to the public. We heard further testimony, and visited with people involved in the program. There are still many questions to ask and problems to be solved. I think as we continue to "peel this onion," we are not likely to find a rose in the center of it.

Legislative Update
By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

Wednesday, Sept. 14, I was able to briefly attend one of the premier agriculture related events in the nation: Nebraska Husker Harvest Days in Grand Island. We wrapped up our day at Pender with the 2011 Thurston County Farm Bureau annual meeting.

Thursday, Sept. 15, we, along with several other Senators from around the state, representatives from Congressmen Smith and Fortenberry's offices, South Sioux City city administrator Lance Hedquist and other "guests" toured the Siouxland Ethanol Production Plant, Gill's Landfill and Methane Plant at Jackson and Ponca State Park.

I should point out here that the ethanol plant in Jackson is the first in the nation to be partially fueled by methane gas captured from a landfill (another of those little known secrets found in Nebraska).

Sites at Ponca included the new conference center, a new cabin, and the overlook of the Missouri River where we could see firsthand a few of the effects of the Flood of 2011 on the shores of the Missouri River in Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska. We had a bird's eye view of all three states. Ponca park is a truly a great place to visit, and the cabins are very nice. Unfortunately, (in my mind) we also saw the barge and back-hoe which is being used to rebuild the artificial sand bars for that darn bird (Piping Plover). We as humans, supposedly the most intelligent species on earth, it seems are very slow to learn. (I think Plover stew sounds good.)

Friday, Sept. 16, I was in Lincoln for interim study hearings as a member of the General Affairs Committee and we addressed liquor issues for Nebraska, including issues at White Clay. It is my position that we need to be very careful when dealing with how free citizens choose to spend their money. My Administrative Assistant, Beverly Neel, attended the Wayne Chamber Coffee at Arnie's Ford in Wayne in celebration of their 33rd anniversary. Congratulations!

Saturday, Sept. 17, we attended the wedding of our granddaughter in Norfolk.

Our (actually it is your office, you pay for it) office made contact with the Nebraska Department of Roads with concerns from constituents at Homer, Dakota City, Winnebago, and Winside. We had quick and informative response to our inquiries and as we speak modifications are being done in each of these areas where attention to detail of road repair, road signs, or slowing down traffic where children cross are being implemented. The Dept. of Roads has been very easy to work with concerning any issues we have. Whatever the issue, we appreciate hearing from our constituents and bringing concerns to our attention as we cannot be in all places at all times. Please keep in touch with our office with your concerns.

The Northeast Nebraska Health Department in Wayne says mosquitoes in the area have tested positive for West Nile virus. Mosquitoes collected from sites near Ponca and Wayne have tested positive for the virus. West Nile virus is transmitted to humans through the bite of a mosquito that has picked up the virus by feeding on an infected bird.

The health department is asking people in Cedar, Dixon, Thurston and Wayne counties to be aware that the virus is present in the area and to take precautions. Those include using insect repellent and wearing long sleeves and pants at dawn and dusk, as well as draining standing water where mosquitoes breed. (I wonder if the Piping Plover eats mosquitoes.)

The Winside Education Association, along with the Winside Board of Education and administration, are pleased to announce that all organizations have met and approved an Educators Health Alliance premium 'holiday' for the month of December 2011 for the district's health insurance. The WEA and Winside Board of Education accepted this opportunity in order for the Winside Public School District to save approximately $37,000 in premiums for the month of December. Infant and toddler needs are focus of October conference

Based on the latest brain research and attachment theory, the upcoming "Caring Connections" Conference will be held on Saturday, Oct. 15 at the Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk.

The fifth-annual Infant Mental Health Conference will provide specific information on how adults can better care for our youngest children and provide a healthy foundation for development. Focusing on the four essential qualities of relationships, this conference will bring research to practice as each participant will receive strategies as well as a book of activities.

Presenters for the conference include: Kelly Vanness, Columbus; Susan Strahm, Pender; Tonya Hood, Atkinson; and Cara Small, Hickman. The conference will be held from 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m., and certificates of attendance will be provided.

"The Caring Connections approach is very powerful and highly effective. Often, nothing more is needed to eliminate almost all challenging behaviors than to adopt this approach," said Susan Strahm, Early Learning Connections Coordinator at ESU No. 1.

The Caring Connections program was developed by Relationship Roots, and presenters were trained by faculty from that organization this summer. Early childhood caregivers and teachers, families, parents, foster parents, child advocates and service providers should attend this event.

To register for the conference, go to www.esu1.org and click on the Don't Miss the Bus link to download the registration form. For questions on the conference, call Strahm at (402) 287-2061.

Do your homework to better understand changes in today's financial situation

In the last 35 years, changes in finance have made it necessary for people to learn different ways of handling for retirement, health care, banking and so on.

People today need to be more knowledgeable and disciplined in saving for their own retirement and for health care. For example, employers could offer more than one retirement option, so you need to know how to choose the option that's best for you.

Back in the 1970s, a lot more employers were providing pensions for their employees. In those days the goal was to work for an employer as long as you could so that you could increase the pension you were going to get. Today, employers seldom offer those traditional retirement pensions; there are accounts such as 401(k)s and 403(b)s instead. It's an alphabet soup that people must understand to be able to plan for their retirement.

The same thing goes for health care. Not only have costs gone up from 35 years ago, the proportion of a family's budget for health care has increased. More of the insurance cost has been pushed to the insured rather than the insurance companies. It's important to find out available plans and select the best one for yourself or family.

Another area of change is banking. With the advent of technology, online banking has been made possible and people don't often have to go to a brick and mortar bank anymore. Credit cards and debit cards are also more widely used than a few decades ago. Smart cards have emerged and they are capable of tracking multiple accounts. In the future, there might even be a card that combines all these functions.

Know the difference between those cards and understand their terms of use. Learn how to use online banking to track spending. People need to keep up with these changes so they can manage their money properly because in the end, they're responsible for their own financial future.

Developing IV skills

Sandy Adkins, National Registered Paramedic and state-certified instructor, conducted an IV Administration class recently at Winside. It is a 20-hour class, and everyone taking the class was volunteering his or her time for their respective departments. Participants are required to have 12 successful IVs and also go out in the rescue unit and do IVs while it is moving, as the protocol is not to delay transport to start an IV. Those taking part included (front) Sandy Atkins and Lisa Doffin, Winside Rescue; (back) Matt Conley, Wakefield Rescue; Kyle Skokan and Jeff Farran II, Winside Rescue; Scott Ellenwood, Norfolk Ambulance and Woodland Park Rescue; and Mike Nordyke, Norfolk Ambulance.

Praise Assembly announces upcoming events

The congregation at Praise Assembly of God Church, located in Wayne at 1000 East 10th St., is once again inviting everyone in the community to attend any of its weekly ministry services.

On Wednesdays at 7 p.m. in the Fireside Room, a weekly Bible study is progressing in the early chapters of the Old Testament in a study entitled "Let's Trust Genesis". This is a class that will encourage believers in the pursuit of their own strong, Biblically-based core beliefs, specifically in those truths about the origin of the world as recorded in Genesis.

This week on Thursday evening, Sept. 22, is the monthly meeting of the leadership group called The Advisory Team.

Saturday evenings from 7-8 p.m. is the "Hour of Prayer". This is an open gathering for prayer and waiting on the Lord.

On Sunday mornings, Sunday School for children and adults begins at 9:30 a.m. There is a teaching staff available for the younger children, and a nursery for those parents with small children. The adult Sunday School class is working through the book of Acts in a study entitled "What Did They Have?" This study considers the miraculous growth and passion of the early church, just after the Day of Pentecost. The group is currently in Acts, Chapter 3.

The morning worship begins in the Sanctuary at 10:30 a.m. with a time of Praise and Worship. This Sunday morning is the time of the monthly "Missions Offering and Missions Report."

The congregation is preparing for the First Annual "Missions Convention" being held at the church on the weekend of Nov. 20 when the special guest will be a newly-appointed Missionary from this area of Michigan, Trista Jaeger. She will be the keynote speaker on the morning of Nov. 20. Following the morning service will be a "Missions Banquet" with Trista as the guest of honor.

On the evening before, the musicians of Praise Assembly of God will present a musical entitled "Here Am I, Send Me!"

The interim pastor at Praise Assembly of God is Rev. Dennis Preston. He and his wife, Martha, come each week from Omaha to preach at the church. Pastor Dennis preaches in the 10:30 a.m. service as well as in the 6:30 p.m. service.

This past Sunday morning, he delivered a motivating sermon about the need for the church of Jesus Christ to believe ardently that the message of salvation is important for all people to hear. Our call is to go and preach and believe that the Lord will do His work to draw people to Himself. The Sunday evening message dealt with issues of end-time prophecy, specifically with the teaching of the "Rapture of the Church" and the sequence of events as recorded in 1st Corinthians.

"Remember, there is a place for you at Praise Assembly of God Church," Pastor Preston said.

Grace Ladies Aid updated on committees at Sept. meeting

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid met Sept. 14. President Fauneil Bennett opened the meeting with the LWML Pledge. Ellen Heinemann gave a devotion about Holy Cross Day which was Sept. 14. This was based on 1 Cor. 1:18.

Mites were collected. President Bennett requested members focus on the Mission Grant of Lutheran Social Services extending spiritual care to children and youth who have been in disasters in Texas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma.

Roll call was answered by 18 members and Pastor Feldmann and Pastor Lilienkamp. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as read. A thank you was read from Fritz and Joann Temme. The treasurer's report was given and will be filed for financial review.

Committee reports are as follows: Mission Service: Joann Temme will have letters for the new confirmations. Prayer partners are now in place.

Sewing: The ladies will be tying quilts on Sept. 22. All are welcome to come and help.

Historian: Esther Baker reported she put pictures of the National convention that Mrs. Bennett gave her in the history book.

Visiting: Barb Greve reported sending many cards and did some visiting. Bev Hansen also visited. New committee members will include Kimberly Hansen and Ellen Heinemann.

Oh, my aching joints!

With middle age often comes an all too familiar visitor. Marked by the gradual loss of cartilage, osteoarthritis can show up in many joints - from keyboard-typing fingers to tennis-twisting knees. Over time, it can cause swollen, aching, gnarled joints - and put a major crimp in your style!

For mild pain that comes and goes, rest - and maybe cold or heat - may be all you need. Then, over-the-counter (OTC) acetaminophen (such as Tylenol or Excedrin) or aspirin every four hours may relieve the kind of pain that shows up after an ambitious spring-cleaning or daylong tug o' war with some particularly stubborn weeds.

When pain lasts longer, OTC nonsteroidal anti-inflammatories other than aspirin may do the trick. These work by not only decreasing pain, but also inflammation. Examples include ibuprofen such as Motrin or Advil, or naproxen such as Aleve or Naprosyn. Check the package for dosing instructions.

For quick relief affecting just a few joints, topical medications may be the way to go. These are absorbed through the skin. They come as sprays, or creams or gels you rub in, or patches that stick to the skin. They're most effective for joints that are close to the skin's surface.

You may be most familiar with topical medications containing salicylates, which is found in aspirin - think BENGAY, Aspercreme, or Flexall. Sometimes products with menthol (ArthriCare, Icy Hot, Therapeutic Mineral Ice) also work to override pain sensations with heat or cold. But, did you know that capsaicin, a substance found in chili peppers, is also sometimes used for arthritis pain? It works by depleting a chemical in nerve cells, thereby interrupting pain messages. Products include Zostrix and Capzasin-P2.3

Do these products work? Well, some people say they help, but scientists note that the research only reports a mild benefit. Might be worth a try. Do take a few precautions, however. For example, be sure to wash your hands after applying capsaicin and avoid touching your eyes. Also avoid using any of these products on broken or irritated skin, or with a heating pad or bandage. If you know you're allergic to aspirin or you're taking blood thinners, check with your doctor before using products containing salicylates.

NSAID pills can be tough on the stomach, so you might want to give topical creams or gels a try.

If these steps don't manage your symptoms, or if you find yourself using OTC medications very often, be sure to have a talk with your doctor. Then, feel free to stop by with any questions you have for me.

Definition

One of the oldest, and most common types of arthritis. It is characterized by the breakdown of the joint's cartilage. Cartilage is the part of the joint that cushions the ends of bones. Cartilage breakdown causes bones to rub against each other, causing pain and loss of movement. Most commonly affecting middle-aged and older people, osteoarthritis can range from very mild to very severe. It affects hands and weight-bearing joints such as knees, hips, feet and the back.

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY & HEALTH WEEK SEPTEMBER 18-24

National Farm Safety and Health Week ...

Reminds us to continue to keep our farms safe with these important and helpful safety tips

Nebraska Corn Board urges farmers to be safety-minded during harvest

Agriculture remains one of the more dangerous occupations in North America, but exercising caution, getting rest and being safety-minded can go a long way toward making it safer for everyone involved, the Nebraska Corn Board said in noting that Sept. 18-24 is National Farm Safety and Health Week.

"We're expecting another good crop this year, and it looks like farmers will enjoy good prices, too. Yet none of it is worth injury or fatality that could have been prevented by taking appropriate precautions or simply taking time," said Alan Tiemann of the Nebraska Corn Board. "While we all recognize the excitement and enjoyment of harvest, staying focused and resting regularly can help a lot in keep things safe around the farm for everyone, including family members helping to bring the crop in."

Since first proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944, National Farm Safety and Health Week has been an annual proclamation by every sitting U.S. President.

This year's theme is "Safety Counts - Your Community Depends On It." The National Education Center for Agricultural Safety, which promotes National Farm Safety and Health Week, said there were more than 50 grain bin incidents, auger related injuries, power take offs (PTO) incidents and more than two dozen fatalities in the U.S. last year.

"Grain production and handling continues to be one of the most dangerous aspects of crop production," Tiemann said. "With more than 1 billion bushels of on-farm storage capacity across Nebraska, grain bins and associated equipment are common on farms and deserve extra attention."

Tiemann also cautioned motorists driving on rural roads during harvest. Such roads see additional traffic during harvest, which increases the chances for accidents to occur between slower moving farm equipment and vehicles moving at highway speeds. In addition, rural intersections will have heavier-than-normal travel and dusty conditions may limit visibility, as can sun glare in the morning and evening. Standing crops in the field may also block a clear view of oncoming traffic.

The Nebraska Corn Board encourages farmers to pay special attention to the safety features of their equipment, and encourages everyone to keep an eye toward safety on the highways and byways this harvest and year round.

Some things to consider for farmers and farm workers while on the farm this fall:

- Ensure that trained family members and employees are operating powerful equipment.
- Develop a set of safety rules that everyone should follow - and enforce them. Also consider developing an emergency plan so everyone is on the same page.
- Check that PTOs are well protected to avoid contact with clothing or people during operation.

•Check to make sure safety shields are in place on all equipment everyday - they are there for a reason.

•Always be aware of power lines that can come in contact with moving equipment and augers around grain bins.

•Grain bins deserve special attention and caution when grain is being loaded and removed. Safety measures should be put in place to avoid any risk of entrapment and suffocation.

•Take periodic breaks to help avoid fatigue. Take a rest break for a few minutes, go for a short walk or check in with family members.

•Use extra caution when backing equipment. It is easy to overlook something or more importantly, someone, especially a child.

•Protective eye and ear wear is important in many situations. Equip tractors and combines with a fire extinguisher, as dry crop residue is fuel for a fire.

•Remind family members and workers that safe practices come before expedience.

"Harvest and fall field work is truly a thrill, with all the sights, sounds and beauty of this time of year," Tiemann said.

"So please be careful, as we'd like to see all the farmers and their families out in the fields again come springtime, when cold weather gives way to the excitement of getting the crop in the ground."

Appreciating the ability to be mobile

Wow! We certainly were not ready for the big change in the weather; in the car, it was AC one day, and heat the next. You would think I'd be used to it, having lived in Nebraska all my life. This week seems much better; jeans and T-shirt weather.

I'm just back from a therapy session at Madonna Pro Active, a mammoth facility in south central Lincoln that offers water, track, all kinds of exercise equipment, massage, a spa, and a cafe. I had not been in it before, even though I even have a coupon for a free session. It's not on my particular beaten path, and it looks expensive.

However, my back has been giving me fits all year. I've had PT, chiropractic, and massage, with some relief only. Finally, the orthopedic doc sent me to the spine clinic. Here, I've had two cortisone injections that have helped. Now, they have sent me to aquatherapy. Last week, I had an evaluation by a therapist; today was my first session in the therapy pool. I was happy to see that my muscles tested out stronger than I thought they might, thanks to the sessions at Curves, (much as I like to procrastinate about going there.)

By: Pat Meierhenry

But, it's obvious I need more work on the "core". I've heard therapists talking about the core for years. Now, I have to strengthen mine. Believe me, it's a workout. Granted, the water makes it easier, but I know I've been exercising.

Chris, the therapist, had several of us old folks going at once; I don't know how he keeps us all straight. I also think he must look like a prune at the end of the day. He's an UNMC grad, and Tammy Brudigan Roehrs was one of his instructors. I always hear great things about Tammy when I meet former students of hers.

We "cherubs" come in all sizes, and ages. There was one fellow on the "therapy track" whom I'm guessing was 90 years young, and still working. I heard a man and a woman discussing how happy they are to be still walking and driving.

I had not thought about those two things much; taking them still for granted.

So, it's another reminder NOT to take health and mobility for granted. I've had a new appreciation for people who are experiencing chronic pain. I have a new motivation to continue being faithful at Curves. And I'm going to be grateful to still be in my own home and driving wherever I want to go.

However, I still think living in a retirement facility where they serve meals, clean your apartment, and plan entertainment would be okay. Eventually! There's the rub: we all think we can postpone that move as long as possible. So, in the meantime, I will take my Celebrex and do my exercises! Now, I have to figure out what we are having for lunch; and then, there is laundry to do! Back to reality.

Enjoy this weather!

Now is the time to test nitrate levels

By Keith Jarvi, Extension Educator

Taking time this fall to conduct a stalk nitrate test can help you "grade" your current nitrogen application rate and provides key information on which to base any changes for next spring.

Taking corn stalk samples now can help determine if the corn was under, adequately, or over fertilized with nitrogen. If the nitrogen applied this year was greater than that recommended by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and this fall's stalk nitrate samples indicated excess nitrogen, consider reducing nitrogen rates for next season.

Use the corn stalk nitrate test in irrigated fields where moisture was not limiting. Fields that tend to have high stalk nitrate tests are those where manure or excess nitrogen was applied and fields following alfalfa.

The results of the corn stalk nitrate test indicate whether the corn was over fertilized during the season. The test shows low, optimal and excess stalk nitrate values (see graphic).

Low values indicate nitrogen may have been deficient. Excess values indicate that there was more nitrogen than the plant needed to produce grain. The scientific basis for this test is the fact that corn will continue to accumulate nitrogen past the level at which grain yield is increased. Since corn does not show visible symptoms of excess nitrogen, analysis of the stalk tissue can determine when this occurs. This test is probably best used for finding excess nitrogen since deficiencies can be spotted visually by leaf yellowing.

Take corn stalk samples up to

Interpretation of the test results

Plant nitrogen status	Stalk nitrate (ppM)	Management suggestions
Low	0-250	Increase nitrogen
Marginal	250-700	Increase nitrogen
Optimal	700-2000	Yields are not limited by nitrogen stress
Excess	Greater than 2000	Plant nitrogen greater than needed three weeks after black layer formation in 80 percent of the kernels. Newly published information indicates that the stalk test can be taken as early as when the milk line is one-fourth of the way down the kernel.

To take the test, remove an 8-inch segment from 6 inches to 14 inches above the ground.

Remove the sheaths. Don't take diseased stalks or stalks damaged by hail or insects. Take 15 stalks per sample, keep them cool and send to the laboratory immediately. Samples should be sent in paper wrapping and not plastic since plastic wrapped samples may mold. Have the samples analyzed for nitrates.

THANK YOU

The Duaine Jacobsen family wishes to thank everyone for their prayers, cards and memorials. We were deeply touched by the volume of kind words, food, heartfelt visits, great stories, wonderful memories and beautiful flowers/plants.

Thank you to the Immanuel Lutheran Church Ladies Aid for serving lunch and Vels Bakery for catering. A special thank you to Rev. Willie Bertrand for his home visits and wonderful memorial service.

Donna Jacobsen, Lisa Jacobsen, Lori & Patrick Swick

Before our hearts even had the chance to finish breaking over the sudden and tragic death of our beloved Chris, YOU were there picking up the pieces and taking care of us so that we could take care of Chris. If we thanked a hundred people, we would be leaving out hundreds of others. YOU mowed our lawn, washed our cars, and gave board to out of town family, YOU brought meals, snacks, drinks, words of encouragement and solace. YOU sent plants and flowers and memorials to let us know we were in your thoughts and prayers. YOU shared with us your special memories of Chris and let us see him in a different light. YOU grieved, shed tears and reminded us that we are not the only ones who lost Chris. So many people touched the lives of our son, brother, and grandson and helped make him into the man he became. Although his passing has brought us much grief and sorrow, the response from our friends, family and neighbors has touched our hearts at absolutely the precise time they needed a loving and caring touch. For that we will be forever grateful and humbled. Thank YOU all. Steve, Sue, and Jaime Oberg, Dave and Anne Sextro, Robert and Gloria Oberg.

The family of Jackie Nissen would like to send out a big thank you for all the expressions of sympathy received since her passing. We would also like to thank the staff at Careage and Providence Medical Center for their care of Jackie and the many acts of kindness to her and the family. Thanks also to Pastor Pete and the ladies at the Methodist church and to Scott and the staff at Hasemann's for the nice service and lunch. Thanks to all. Your love and support will always be remembered. God bless.

Wayne, Scott, Aaron, Alan, Stuart and Kevrin Nissen & families

The family of Rita (Munson) Watkins would like to thank everyone for the expressions of sympathy at the time of her illness and death. A special thanks to Dr. Recob and Gary West, nursing staff, Hospice Care and the volunteers at Providence Medical Center and Heritage of Bel-Air in Norfolk for the excellent care that Mom was given. A special thanks to Hasemann Funeral Home and staff for the service, Pastor Peter Phillips and Chaplain Rosalind Woods for the prayers and service. We also want to thank all our relatives, friends and neighbors for the flowers, memorial funds, food, phone calls, hugs and expressions of sympathy during this difficult time.

Plant it Forward to Celebrate ReTree Week Sept. 18-24

Across Nebraska, there are approximately 470,000 acres of community forests. These trees were planted by previous generations who understood the long-term benefits they would provide.

ReTree Nebraska urges Nebraskans to plant it forward this fall in celebration of ReTree Week Sept. 18-24.

Jessica Kelling, ReTree Nebraska coordinator, said that fall's cooler temperatures and reduced humidity mean newly planted trees can focus on establishing their root system and getting a jump start on spring growth.

Collectively, Nebraska's community forests contain almost 13.3 million trees that provide $9.7 billion in environmental, social and economic benefits to Nebraskans.

But the picture isn't all rosy. "In the last 30 years, we've lost nearly half our state's community forest resources," Kelling said. "Planting a tree - or trees - is a simple act, but it's our chance to do something really big for our state and for future generations."

"Beyond the simple need to plant trees, ReTree Nebraska also strives to teach people about the important benefits trees provide and how to plant trees properly and in the right location," said Eric Berg, Nebraska Forest Service community forestry and sustainable landscapes program leader. "Long-term social, environmental and economic benefits can only be fully realized by properly planting the right tree, in the right place, in the right way."

ReTree Nebraska is a 10-year cooperative initiative to promote the proper planting and care of 1 million trees in communities across Nebraska by 2017.

Trees planted on public and private property within city limits, as well as trees planted in certain rural areas, can count toward ReTree Nebraska's 1 million tree goal.

ReTree Nebraska organizers work closely with a volunteer network of more than 200 ReTree ambassadors in 80 communities across Nebraska. These ambassadors lend local energy to the initiative by organizing and promoting tree planting and tree-related educational activities within their communities.
