Dr. Michael Kjelland grew up wanting to emulate the character made famous by Harrison Ford in the "Indiana Jones" movies of the 1980's and 1990's.

Although not an archeologist, he did get a real-world opportunity to do some serious paleontology work this past summer, thanks to a Labor Day journey to the Dakota Badlands that resulted in the unearthing of bones from a Triceratops dinosaur.

Kjelland, Interim Professor of Biology in the School of Natural and Social Sciences at Wayne State College, said he had a few days to head up to North Dakota and South Dakota to do some exploring and digging, and ran across part of the spinal column of a dinosaur that was somewhere between 65-75 million years old.

"I found several vertebrae sticking out of the ground, along with some rib pieces," he said while delicately displaying some pieces of the spine. "I only had a few days out there, so I didn't have time to do a lot of digging and will need to go back and do mostly by enterprising German immigrants who were good at what they did.

In the early 1900's the downtown commercial district was rebuilt from the old wooden buildings into durable brick buildings using profits from the operating businesses. These downtown buildings provide a sense of place. They were designed to reflect the ideals of stability and success that the immigrants brought with them. In the last 90 years, Wayne building owners have been careful to maintain most of the downtown historic brick buildings, plus the county courthouse and the former 1912 Wayne High School building. The State College System has also maintained the historic campus buildings. The total of these private and public efforts makes Wayne an architecturally interesting place to live and work.

In the last few years we've completed the Main Street paving and age sidewalk project and there have Immunization been significant private investments in new and existing Main

A community discussion has developed about how to maintain these public and private efforts into Wayne was settled and built the future. Do these efforts provide a quality of life and help attract students and new residents to Wayne? Is there a benefit to the group of building owners and the residents to develop guidelines for an adopted range of building colors, building materials, styles and signage for future building maintenance and new construction.

> One of the 2011 annual mayor and council retreat goals is to appoint a group to see what other communities are doing to maintain a downtown historic presence and discuss whether there is interest here in some level of guidelines for downtown Wayne. If anything develops of that group, it would operate under the Wayne Planning Commission and the Wayne City Council.

As an example, Bayer cited that an average daily workload of mail in Concord included about 300 first-class and standard letters, 70 magazines, 50 first-class flats (such as newspapers), three packages and three parcel post packages. That average workload for a post office employee amounts to about an hour of work a day.

By closing a post office, that work would be moved to another post office in the region, presumably Laurel or Wakefield. Even then, Bayer said, the USPS would still offer rural delivery in those

Wright recalls bike excursion

After just over two years and 6,000 miles, Trevor Wright is back in the United States.

The 2001 graduate of Wayne High School left the United States in June of 2009 to fulfill a dream of biking through South America. He was recently back in Wayne at the home of his parents, Gary and Peggy Wright, and spoke of his experiences at a recent meeting of the Wayne Kiwanis Club.

He began his trip in June of 2009 in Columbia, with no definite plan. He had saved money for several years prior to that and planned to bike until his money ran out.

"I went into this trip with not a lot of expectations. It was just a natural progression in my life experiences," Trevor said.

He said that while he had taken several Spanish classes, his studyabroad experiences were more helpful when it came time to communicating with those who spoke Spanish. While on his tour, he did learn to speak Portuguese.

He told his audience that South America has many modern areas where wireless technology is available and many very primitive rural Wright talked about different

He did have a water purifier with a UV light to kill bacteria to provide safe drinking water, although he noted amount of cash with him at all that the water in Brazil was safe to times and used an International be at least 30 feet long, 10 feet high and weighed in at somewhere between 6 and 12 tons. Kjelland estimated that about 82 vertebrae made up the spinal column of the dinosaur he ran across on his trip this past summer.

"There are still several vertebrae in the ground," he explained. "They're usually in pieces and you have to put them back together." Kjelland said he has always had an interest in fossil collecting and paleontology, and he has communicated with world-renowned paleontologist Dr. John "Jack" R. Horner – the inspiration for the Jurassic Park movie paleontologist character – and the study of bone marrow in dinosaur bones. "In well-preserved bones, you can drill and recover fossilized bone marrow and sometimes even protein components from soft tissue (also referring to molecular paleontologist Dr. Mary Schweitzer's work)," he said. "It's amazing how you can find things like this, and there is still a lot of room for research in this area."

The trip to the Dakota Badlands gives Kjelland an opportunity to expose his students to paleontology opportunities and some of the biological research that is inspired by finds such as his.

"Once I arm students with the biology vocabulary and some of the concepts, they can go on their own adventures and delve into other things like molecular biology, molecular paleontology, or paleobiology," he said. "There are a lot of opportunities out there, and I enjoy trying to foster an awareness of some of the possibilities that exist for students, ones that they can participate in if they so choose.

Part of the success of the dig site is to keep the exact location a secret until further excavations can begin Kjelland said. The advanced technologies available, and that he uses for dinosaur hunting, include GPS technology and satellite imagery, which can help guide him to other places where he might find more dinosaur

"Digs such as this must take place on private land, with permission from the land owner," Kjelland said. "It needs to be done on private land, otherwise you can run into trouble with ownership rights or legal problems if digging on Native American land or Government land without permission. You can get into trouble, and on top of that they will confiscate what you've found, so it's important to set up a dig on private land, unless you have secured the proper government permits."

As for the site where he made his latest discovery, he plans on returning, and hopes that he can bring some students along to share in the experience.

"This is a great dig site, and hopefully next time I'll have some students come with me and participate," he said. "It's a perfect dig site to take students to, and it would be a great experience for them. It's a lot more than just memorizing facts, it is experiential learning."

Two minute warning on area topics

Time to play a new game here in The Bleacher Bum's regular space it's called "Two Minute Warning."

The object of the game – to get in as many quick thoughts on as many subjects as possible in two minutes (of course, to make this really work. you've got to be able to read fast, so stretch those eyeballs out and don't pull an orbital muscle).

- Yes, Wayne High can still be a playoff team, even after that disaster of a first quarter that led to a 62-28 beatdown at the hands of top-ranked Norfolk Catholic last Granted, Battle Creek and Central City are much better teams than they were a year ago, and Madison is an 0-4 team nobody wants to mess with, but the Blue Devils have the talent to win at least two of their next three games. Considering their strength of schedule, that should be enough to get them into the playoffs.

- If yours truly could play golf as well as some of the Wayne High girls – well, let's just say I'd give my boss a run for his money.

Right now, though, the girls are struggling a little. The good news is that they play in a weak district, and even if they don't have their "A" game, they should qualify next

This is a much better team than what they've shown recently, and there are a couple of girls that would do well to stop over-thinking the game, tune out the extra noise and get back to having fun on the golf course. If they do that, the end of the season is going to turn out pretty well for them.

- It's really too bad t numbers worked out the way they did for the Wayne High softball

Wayne wound up being three students above the cutoff for classification and wound up in the bigger-school division of Class B. With this team, they would have blitzed the Class C field and been an overwhelming favorite to win the title. As it stands, with Cassy Miller's arm, an outstanding defense and a loaded batting lineup, this team is primed to open up some eyes in Class B if they keep at their current pace.

- Talk about being in the right place at the right time: Brooke DeBolt inherited an outstanding volleyball team and, after a sluggish start, the Winside girls are playing quite well.

This year's team has a ton of talent and has all the tools to make a third straight trip to state. Their former coach, Teresa Watters, did a fantastic job of building this program, and DeBolt has an opportunity to add on to that. If they continue playing well, they could break that ceiling and win a first-round game at state, and if they do that, the sky's the limit.

 No team probably appreciates home-field advantage more than the Allen volleyball team.

Last year, a summer storm created some problems that delayed expansion of the school gymnasium, forcing the Lady Eagles to become season-long road warriors.

With a new gym, Allen is a young team that is enjoying the home cooking more than probably any other area team. They're playing improved volleyball this year, and I'm not sure I'd want to have them standing between me and a trip to state a month from now.

- No area team needs a wild card in their back pocket for the postseason more than the Laurel-Concord/Coleridge volleyball team, but the way they're playing right now, it's hard to imagine they'd actually need it. The Lady Bears beat a good field to win the Wisner September Classic last week. They've played solid all season and have an intriguing dual threat in Jade Cunningham and Mandy Nelson, who are both See BLEACHERS, Page 2B

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

WINSIDE - Winside couldn't get out of its own way on the opening

As it turns out, it was Allen who ended up getting run over, as the Wildcats overcame a turnover on the opening kickoff to overpower the Eagles 40-6 in Friday's D1-7 district  $\,$  straight win of the season. opener at Winside High School.

Allen coach Dave Uldrich said his team was trying to kick the ball low to give his coverage team a chance to make a play. As it turns out, the opening kickoff caromed off a Winside player on the front line and Allen was in business to start the game at their own 30.

"We were going to kick the ball low because we know they have some kids with some good speed back there, so we tried to keep it on the ground and get some coverage because our kickoff coverage was awful last week," Uldrich said. "It worked out great that we got that break, but we didn't take advantage

In fact, that advantage flipped two plays later when Zach Crom lost control of the football under a heavy rush. The loose ball was scooped up by Jesse Boschult, who raced 27 vards for the first score of the game.

"(The opening kickoff) hit a pilgrim that couldn't get out of the way, but then we got that big turnover and the momentum went right back to us," Winside coach Tim Manzer said of the play that got his team rolling toward its fourth

The Wildcats broke the game open later in the period when Caleb Lienemann scored on a fiveyard run and quarterback Blaine Mever broke loose on a 48-vard run. However, the big story for the Wildcats was the breakout performance of senior running back Tyler Jaeger, who galloped for 176 vards on 14 carries and scored a second-quarter touchdown that gave Winside a 28-0 lead. Touchdown runs by Lienemann and Meyer made it 40-0 at the intermission, helping the Wildcats rack up 388 yards in total offense.

"Tyler ran the ball exceptionally well for us tonight, and I was really happy with how he stepped up for us," Manzer said, adding that the team went without the services of starting back Forrest Jones, who

Wildcats sweep NSIC foes, drop five-setter to Augustana

Wayne State continued to play well on its first home serving." stand of the season, sweeping Northern State and University of Mary before losing a five-set thriller to Senior outside hitter Tali Fredrickson recorded her sixth double-double of the season Friday evening with 10 kills and 13 digs to lead the Wildcats to a 25-16, 25-23, 25-19 win over Northern State.

"We blocked the ball extremely well against Northern," coach Scott Kneifl said. "They did some nice things defensively to get us out of sync, but for the most part we handled business on our side of the net."

Wayne State set the tone in the first set by forcing Northern State into 10 attack errors. The second set saw the Wildcats rally from a 15-11 deficit, and they pulled away late in the third set to sweep the match.

Senior middle hitter Mindy Moody had a teamhigh 11 kills and hit .476 in the match with just one attack error to go along with three blocks. Fredrickson contributed her sixth double-double of the season (10 kills, 13 digs) while Cori Hobbs accounted for nine kills and a team best five blocks.

"Mindy had a great weekend for us," Kneifl said. 'She's a smart player and doesn't make a lot of errors, and hopefully she can continue to play at that high

Senior libero Leigh Connot had 27 digs while sophomore setter Tatum Wroblewski handed out 41 set assists with 15 digs. Senior defensive specialist Nicole Brungardt added 14 digs in the win.

On Saturday, Wayne State served up 13 service aces and Moody had 11 kills with no attack errors to lead the Wildcats to an easy 25-13, 25-16, 25-9 win over the University of Mary.

The Wildcats had six service aces in the first set and, after trailing early, stormed back to win the first set and breeze to the three-game sweep.

"We really served aggressive," Kneifl said. "They struggled with serve receive and we were able to drive them out of system, and that's what we want with our contest at Bemidji State.

Wayne had 17 kills in the second set while holding Mary to a .000 attack percentage. Wayne State finished off the match with an easy 25-9 win in the third set to Moody led Wayne State with 11 kills and a stellar 579 attack percentage. Shelby Schultz and Hobbs each added seven kills. Connot had 12 digs and five service aces for the Wildcats, while Fredrickson chipped in with 11 digs and four service aces. Wroblewski was credited with 36 set assists and had two aces.

Tuesday's "Black Out Night" against Augustana proved to be a wild marathon, and the visiting Vikings managed to slip away with a 25-18, 25-19, 18-25, 21-25, 15-12 victory.

Augustana came out before a crowd of 1,096 fans with aggressive hitting and had a .385 attack percentage to win the first set. A match-high 19 kills in the second set by the Vikings produced a 25-19 win to go up 2-0.

Wayne State then mounted a rally before the boisterous crowd and won the third and fourth sets to force a fifth and deciding set. Augustana jumped out to an early 6-2 lead in the fifth set, but Wayne State rallied to tie the score at 9-9. The Vikings then regained momentum, scoring four straight points to help them finish off the match.

Schultz pounded out a career-high 17 kills to go with four blocks. Fredrickson added 16 kills and 20 digs, while Hobbs contributed 14 kills to the Wildcat attack. Connot had 25 digs, with McKenna Reagan and Brungardt credited for 15 and 13 respectively. Wroblewski had 47 assists with 10 digs.

The Wildcats, 10-4 overall (3-2 NSIC), hit the road this weekend for a pair of Northern Sun Conference contests, visiting unbeaten and No. 4-ranked Minnesota Duluth Friday at 7 p.m., followed by a 3 p.m. Saturday

Wildcats

The Eagles were unable to stop Winside's offensive attack, which was led by senior quarterback Blaine Meyer. The 180-pound senior rushed for two touchdowns and helped lead a defense that limited the Eagles to 57 yards in total offense.

"Blaine is like another coach on the field," Manzer said. "He does an excellent job, and if we had another quarterback, he'd probably carry the ball 30 times a game. But when vou're shorthanded, you've got to do what you can with what you've got."

The Wildcats may have been shorthanded, but certainly made the most of what they had by building a 40-point halftime advantage. The Eagles scored late in the fourth quarter on a seven-yard connection from Crom to Austin Connot.

"We came out sluggish the first half and didn't play well, and we challenged them to come out in the second half and play with some fire, and I thought we played a lot harder the second half," Uldrich said.

Offensively, Meyer had 77 yards on eight carries and Lienemann had 52 yards on 15 tries for the 4-0 Wildcats. Gatlin Jensen led the Wildcats' defense with 10 total tackles, and Gage Main added five

For the Eagles, Cole Stewart led the defense with 15 total tackles, Coty Reuter added 13 and Caleb Thomas had 12. Reuter led the Eagle ground game with 36 yards on nine carries.

The win put Winside among the leaders in the district after the first week, but even with the win over an area foe and an upcoming matchup at Randolph next on the docket, Manzer knows there are a lot of things that need to happen for Winside to be successful.

"We went out there tonight with out Forrest, and we lost Jesse (Boschult) to an injury early in the game, so we're concerned right now because we don't have a lot of numbers," he said. "We'll have to see how it goes, but we've got to stay injury-free."

As for the Eagles, they'll look to bounce back from their second straight loss against an alwaystough Hartington squad, and Uldrich hopes his team can step up their intensity.

"We're going to have to play harder and be in the right place on defense," he said. "We were in the wrong places tonight, and if you don't attack on defense you're going to get into trouble, so we need to get more aggressive."

If defense wins championships. Saturday for Wayne State's third Junior running back Nick Pulscher fumble recovery. Sophomore Ben straight Northern Sun Conference win.

The 3-1 Wildcats got off to a slow start, as a three-and-out and a shanked punt gave the Wolves great field position. They marched 40 yards in six plays to take a 7-0 lead with 11:42 to go in the opening "We challenged the kids before the game to start well, and obviously they paid attention to that," coach Dan McLaughlin said. "It was almost the worst possible scenario to start a football game."

But Wayne State's special teams helped to quickly right the ship, scoring for the fourth time in as many games this esason.

A bad punt snap was recovered in the end zone by Richard Daniel, helping Wayne State cut the lead to 7-6. Another bad punt snap on the ensuing possession put the Wildcats in business, and thirdstring quarterback Nate Most found Sam Blake for the first of two connections. The seven-yard tossand-catch gave the Wildcats a 13-7

"I don't know how many colleges are playing with their third quarterback after four weeks, but we're very confident in Nathan," McLaughlin said. "He was over 50 percent in completions and I was very happy with his performance."

The Wildcat defense came up big on the next series, as Alex Marquez forced a fumble and Wildcat linebacker Nick Monzu recovered the ball at the Wolves' 18-yard line.

"We're so young on defense, but they're continuing to improve as the season goes on," McLaughlin said. "I was pleased with their effort and what they were able to get done." The lone score came late in the third quarter when Wayne State capitalized on another Northern State turnover. Wildcat linebacker Monzu sacked Wolves quarterback Nick Wanner, forcing a fumble that was recovered by Marquez to give Wayne State the ball at the Northern 44-yard line. An eightplay, 44-yard drive was capped by a 13-yard scoring pass from Most to Blake, their second scoring hookup of the game. Both teams made field goals in the fourth quarter to close out the scoring.

Pulscher led the way with lead that they would not relinquish. 108 yards on 20 carries and one touchdown, his second 100-yard effort of the season.

> Most completed 13-of-22 passes for 151 yards and three touchdowns. Seven different players had receptions, with Bryce Hawthorne making three catches for 27 yards and one score and Blake grabbing two catches, both for touchdowns.

Augustana's Mackenzie Trom scored on a penalty kick 1:45 into the second half for the game's lone goal as the Vikings edged Wayne State 1-0 in Northern Sun Conference soccer action Sunday at the Wayne State Soccer Complex.

"It was almost a carbon copy of last year," coach Molly Grisham said. "The call on the penalty kick was a good hard tackle in the box, and it was the right decision when we lost the girl in the box. We teach our defenders to be tough and make tough decisions.'

The first half was a scoreless battle between Wayne State and Augustana with the Vikings holding a 6-4 edge in shots after the first 45 minutes. Trom's penalty kick went past Wildcat goalkeeper Jessica Stringer, and that goal held up as Augustana outshot Wayne State 17-10 (7-1 shots on goal).

Devils sweep Madison, HSF in tournament

The Wavne High volleyball team rebounded from a close three-set loss to Laurel-Concord/Coleridge by sweeping Madison and Humphrey St. Francis to take fifth place in the Wisner September Classic on

The Blue Devils dropped a tight three-set match to the Lady Bears, 27-25, 20-25, 25-21, but came back to make quick work of the Dragons (25-11, 25-14) before taking care of Humphrey St. Francis in two sets,

"We played really well," coach Joyce Hoskins said of her team's tournament effort. "Laurel is a quality team, and they have some great hitters and they just oneupped us. We had some really nice digs and some good rallies, so it was a very competitive game that could've come out either way.'

While the Lady Bears have a pair of talented setters that can also attack well, Hoskins said her team struggled with the outside hitting of Amy Pritchard.

"We probably struggled more with her than anybody," she said. "She goes up and looks like she's going (down the) line and turns in the air, and we had some difficulties for her. I was happy with how we performed, though."

Katie Hoskins had 19 kills to lead Wayne in the loss to the Lady Bears. Ashton Schweers added seven kills, Elle Schramm had six and Sydney Burke put down five. Laura Muren had 37 assists, Cassie Harm had 17 digs and three ace serves and Meagan Backer had 10 digs.

The Blue Devils responded to the close loss by playing solid team volleyball in their final two games of the day. "I was happy with how we were able to come out and play aggressively, and that something we needed to do after a tough loss," she said. In the Madison game, Hoskins had 15 kills and two blocks, and Schramm recorded five kills. Muren had 14 digs and Jessica Biermann had two aces. Against the Flyers, Schweers and Hoskins both had nine kills and Muren had 21 assists for Wayne. Burke had five kills, Schramm added four, Harm had 16 digs and Backer added 10.

The Blue Devils ran their record to 10-5 on Tuesday with an easy win over West Point-Beemer, sweeping the visiting Lady Cadets 25-7, 25-9, 25-19.

Schweers had a solid night at the net, finishing with 12 kills and two blocks. Hoskins had nine kills and three aces, Schramm had six kills and three aces, Harm had 11 digs and Muren had 27 assists.

LCC goes to 3-1 with 40-7 victory

HOMER - The visiting Laurel-Concord/Coleridge Bears trampled over the Homer Knights Friday, winning 40-7.

The Knights cracked open the eyes of the Bears defenders with a 61-yard touchdown pass by Chase Smith to Joey Murphy, but LCC responded by scoring 40 unanswered points to run away with the victory.

Kyle Kardell's one-yard rushing touchdown tied the game at 7-7 after Daniel Harnett's kick. Mitch Heikes' 11-yard run gave the Bears the lead 13-6 after the first quarter.

In the second quarter, Kardell found Heikes on a six-yard pass, and Heikes' run was good to complete a two-point conversion to give the Bears a 21-7 lead.

Kardell was 8-of-17 for 118 yards in the air and a touchdown. He also rushed for 20 yards on six carries and a touchdown.

The Bears scored its final three touchdowns in the final period.

Austin Roach's 53-yard scamper gave the Bears a 21-point lead with nine minutes left. Kardell played outstanding defense, intercepting Smith for a 39-yard return for a touchdown. Heikes added six more points to the Bears score with a 30yard burst to the end zone.

The Knights were clueless on how to stop Heikes, who rushed for 138 yards on 18 carries and caught three passes for 22 yards and a touchdown. The Bears defense grabbed three interceptions and a fumble recovery from the Knights.

The Bears are back on the road this Friday, facing Ponca in a key district matchup.

Winside sweeps Newcastle, takes five-set thriller on road

The Winside volleyball team picked up a big win on Newman Grove that bumped their record to 14-4.

The Wildcats came out sluggish in the first set, but "Shelby is a great all-around player, and she and rallied behind a solid all-around hitting performance to edge the Bluejays in a 2010 district finals rematch, 12-25, 25-23, 21-25, 25-20, 15-12.

"It was a very good effort by the girls," coach Brooke DeBolt said after the match. "After the first set, there was really nowhere to go but up. We had a very rocky first set, but after that we really stepped up our game."

Winside got behind 14-5 in the first set and never really got on track, but took advantage of some Newman Grove miscues and rode the hitting of Erin Gray, Shelby Lienemann and Nazya Thies to tie up the

"Jerae was dominant at the net," DeBolt said. "Her blocking was amazing, and it seemed like she got a piece of everything they hit."

In the fourth set, it was the hitting of Gray and Tuesday, going on the road to win a five-set thriller at Lienemann that helped force a deciding fifth set. The two seniors each had 10 kills to lead the Winside attack.

> Erin played well at the net and were also very solid in the back row and got a lot of touches on some hard hits," DeBolt said.

Winside trailed 3-1 in the final set before rallying behind the hitting of Gray and Doffin. Jerae and Shannon Gray, who had 17 assists, combined on a block to break a 5-5 tie and give Winside the lead for good.

First-quarter explosion sends Blue Devils to 62-28 defeat

By TRAVIS CORLEY Of The Herald

Early turnovers for the Wayne High Blue Devils helped the topranked Norfolk Catholic Knights cruise to a 62-28 victory Friday at Wayne State College.

The Blue Devils shut themselves out of a game early, as the Knights took advantage of several turnovers - two of which were returned for scores - and a punt return for a touchdown to jump out to a big early lead.

"We came out passive, and it cost us," said coach Rich Rethwisch.

In the first quarter, the Blue Devils' offense wasn't comfortable, as a number of turnovers were converted into scores to help Norfolk Catholic build a 49-0 first-quarter lead. Gage Rethwisch threw three early interceptions, which led to the Knights' fast start.

The Knights added a touchdown to its first-quarter lead, and the Blue Devils found themselves behind 56-0 at halftime.

Ruggers post home wins

The Wayne State rugby teams both rolled to big wins over Doane College in action Saturday at the House Of Pain.

The Wayne State women dominated Doane in a 76-0 win. Combined with last week's 83-0 steamrolling of South Dakota State, the ninth-ranked Wayne State women's team has outscored their last two opponents 159-0.

The women's team used a solid ball-control attack, as great shortyardage play with the scrum players kept the ball tight. Scrum halfers Rochelle Rienke and Ashley Belmer took over the backline to give the team's run-and-gun offense numerous opportunities to eat up big chunks of yardage. Belmer and Sam Earleywine each scored four tries for the Wayne State women, while Janae Desharme scored three times and Kathrine Lukes scored twice. Rienke, Maggie Warrick, Hailey Write, Alesha Rosberg and Amber Kutnick also found the try zone.

The fourth-ranked Wayne State men played one half against Doane and racked up a 42-0 lead before the younger players played a half, with Wayne State winning 38-10.

Dave Synott, who recently returned from a family wedding in England and spent time working with his kicking coach, nailed five field goals in the game to keep Doane's defense honest.

"Many times, teams get a bit dirty and cheat once a team is inside the 30-yard line to avoid giving up a touchdown and test the kickers," coach Darrin Barner said. "David can kick up to 65 yards, so teams simply have to play honest, which opens up our backline and shortvardage plays."

Taylor Foster scored three touchdowns, including a 35-yarder and a 30-yarder, and Evan Danning, Seth Reeve, Luisa Magana, Jerred Clausen and Kory Blatchford also found the try zone.

"Their speed killed us early on," said Rethwisch.

In the second half, the Blue Devils didn't shy away. Rethwisch kept hope in the hearts of his Blue Devil players throughout the game.

"We are proud of our kids, they never quit," Rethwisch said.

The Blue Devils managed to outscore the Knights in the second half with four touchdowns.

Rethwisch found Miles Anderson on a 20-yard completion and Luke Trenhaile's three-yard run accounted for the Blue Devils' third quarter scores. Rethwisch has seven touchdowns on the season. In the final period, Joey Lenihan scored on a 21-yard reception, and as time was expiring, Jalen Barry put together a nice drive and threw a 26-yard pass to Jared Anderson. The Blue Devils will visit the

On Monday, the Blue Devil runners got a taste of what the course for the state cross country meet will be like by running in the UNK Invitational. The boys finished fifth out of 19 full teams in the Class C division, while the girls were seventh out of 17 teams.

"It was a big field with 199 guys and 139 girls," coach Rocky Ruhl said. "It was a good experience for them and gave them a feel for what the state course will be like."

Ruhl said the boys didn't run as solid early on as he had hoped.

"It was a really slow first mile, and we wanted to try and stay back and work our way up," he said. "We competed well in terms of running the race. Quentin was about 30 seconds behind the leaders and put himself in position with a halfmile to go, but he didn't have quite enough to catch the last three."

"Tia ran pretty well, and I think the girls know they can run better," Ruhl said. "We'll need to get a stronger effort, but I'm happy with the way they competed."

On Friday, the teams competed in the Crofton Invitational. The boys edged South Sioux City by three points for the team title, while the girls finished third out of 10 teams Jorgensen, Ellis and Joe Dunklau all finished in the top 10 to lead the Wayne boys, and Aaron Bernal was 14th. Sawyer Jager and Ben Hoskins also earned medals, finishing 15th and 16th, respectively.

In the girls' race, Jech and Angie Nelson were 11th and 15th, respectively, to lead the Wayne High girls, while Hannah Kenny finished just outside the top 20 in 21st place.

Who's to blame? It's we the people

up things to think about (ummm . .

- LZ Granderson wrote a wonderful piece on CNN's website this week about our poor excuse of a federal government, and he essentially placed the blame squarely on the shoulders of where, in all honesty, it should be placed:

That's right – our government is our fault. And you know why it's our fault? Because we continually elect the same representatives from the same two parties and, somehow, expect different results.

Granderson uses several good including former Washington D.C. mayor (and current City Councilman) Marion Barry, who has somehow convinced his constituents that the video of him smoking crack in a hotel can be blamed on white people (feel free to put down the paper and allow that sudden spinning sensation to subside before going further).

Newt Gingrich is being touted as a religious conservative, in spite of the fact he is a known adulterer and is the only Speaker of the House to be disciplined for ethics violations. Oh, and then there's another candidate, Michele Bachmann, who insists that HPV vaccinations cause mental retardation (although the evidence in Bachmann's statement would clearly indicate that politics is more likely to cause mental retardation than a vaccination to prevent sexually-transmitted diseases).

The bottom line is this – as long as you continue to vote for a Republican OR a Democrat in subsequent elections, you are going to continue to get the same garbage coming out of Washington as you

- Oh, and just so you don't think I'm one of these disgruntled crackpots, I've got some data to back my lack of faith in the current two-party system.

A recent national CNN/ORC International Poll released this week found that Americans have no faith in either party's ability to move the nation forward. Of those surveyed, 56 percent said the Republicans are moving us in the wrong direction, while 53 percent said the Democrats's policies do the

And for those who think the tea party movement is the answer to the problem – the same poll gives the movement a favorable rating of just 28 percent, with 53 percent having an unfavorable view of the tea party (If ever there was an opportunity for Mickey Mouse to run for President, with Goofy as his VP, now would be the time. Of course, the only difference between the current regime and a Mickey/ Goofy ticket is that we'd already know the candidate for President is a hopeless optimist and the VP candidate is a clueless airhead.).

With yet another standoff taking place in Washington at the present

Here's a few things I've been time, there is little reason to believe thinking about while trying to think anything is going to change between now and November 2012.

> Speaking of politics, it's getting to be that time of year again when candidates for the House and Senate begin making their freeloading tour of newspapers around the state, expecting some free publicity that they cleverly disguise as news.

> Whenever a candidate for House or Senate makes the effort to visit communities they likely will never see again once they are elected, they will almost always stop by the local newspaper and "introduce" themselves, saying they just happened to be in the neighborhood and will be stopping by the neighborhood coffee shop to talk with local residents.

That's all well and good - but when you talk to these same candidates about buying advertising in the local newspaper to promote their candidacy for the House and Senate (and this applies to candidates for state office as well), they suddenly seem to forget that the local paper exists in that community.

It's a well-known fact that the two political parties dump billions of dollars into television advertising campaigns. They spend tens of thousands of dollars on a 30-second ad that, most likely, will be turned off by the vast majority of viewers (I don't know about you, but the moment I see a political ad, I'm searching for ANY channel that doesn't run a political ad, and I'm down to ESPN and the adult NDEQ's permitting; compliance, of wastes are being managed, entertainment channels, the latter of which - from what I hear - has more honest actors than those vying for a seat, or currently representing us, in Washington).

As managing editor, I don't think much of politicians who want to waste my staff's time and resources for what they believe is "news" if they aren't going to advertise in our newspaper. If they want to get our readers' attention - and make the best use of our resources - their best bet is to advertise in the local

Busy families can still share healthy dinners

As the school year starts up again, parents will be picking one kid up from daycare only to drop another off at football practice, and in between they are expected to keep everyone happy and healthy by serving a delicious meal. When everyone is on the go, how can families sit down and enjoy a meal together?

One secret is to prepare a "first course" the night before for the family to eat while the main course sale, who watches over it if I move away? It is the responsibility of the seller to take care of the property up to and including the day of closing.

That being said, your listing agent can be a huge help in this area, simply by keeping a close eye on the property and updating the seller during regular conversations. For example, if the listing agent is aware that a storm has occurred, the agent can notify the seller. This gives the seller a chance to inspect the property to determine if there has been any damage.

Also, the listing agent can be beneficial during the sale process when the seller is out of town and inspectors need access to the property. The agent can be there to let the inspectors in and to provide key feedback to the seller, which might not otherwise be available. These inspections and appraisals can take up quite a bit of time for sellers who have to drive a long distance to the property.

While the seller is ultimately responsible for his or her property until closing, it is nice to know that a really good listing agent can make a huge difference to a seller who finds themselves unavailable for parts of the sales process.

Thanks for all the questions and comments. Please email me at: wendy@mwlco.net.

is cooking. This could be a salad or just vegetables with low-fat dip. Whole fruits and raw vegetables are great snacks for keeping hunger at bay without spoiling appetites. Unlike cookies and chips, these healthy foods cannot be quickly eaten in one or two bites. Family members will spend more time chewing and less time filling up on junk food. Low-fat or non-fat yogurt, pieces of cheese and a glass of milk help fulfill the daily dairy requirement and can keep families satisfied while dinner is cooking.

Having everyone help with dinner is another great strategy. Not only will family members be spending time together, but children's minds will be kept off their hungry stomachs and dinner will be ready sooner. Some preparation time also can be eliminated by setting the dinner table in the morning.

For days that are going to be especially busy, parents can prepare a quick meal, like a readyto-heat casserole, the night before. Add a salad, bread and milk and families can quickly sit down for a full meal. Even if this meal lasts only a few minutes, at least everyone will be eating healthy and on the Internet are full of ideas for quick meal recipes. If a family likes certain recipes, they can follow the example of many food service institutions and set up a meal cycle. Maybe a family can repeat meals about every 10 days. Knowing what will be cooked can help eliminate preparation time. invited to be a part of "an exceptionally warm church family at any of the weekly services when we gather for worship, prayer, teaching, Bible Study and fellowship."

Each Wednesday evening from 7-8 p.m. in the Fireside Room, there is a Bible Study entitled "Let's Trust Genesis." This is intended to be a study that encourages both seekers and Christians to seriously consider as well as to depend on the Biblical account of creation – as well as the years that followed – from the first chapters of the first book of the Bible. # Don't wait any longer to begin bat exclusion

Bats typically are considered a frightening animal, perfect for Halloween displays, but the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's wildlife damage project coordinator said now is a good time to get rid of Bats can accidentally enter homes when they are looking for shelter in high, hot areas during the evening. In homes, these conditions are found in attics.

Nebraskans may have experienced some bat problems in their homes during the summer months, but Stephen Vantassel, coordinator for UNL's Internet Center for Wildlife Damage Management, said waiting until after August to get them out is important. He said people shouldn't wait too much longer, though. "You can probably go all the way through October," Vantassel said. 'Bats don't move when the temperature is 50 degrees Fahrenheit or lower. Bats don't move when there aren't any bugs. If you see bugs outside, chances are you'll be able to do your exclusion; otherwise you'll have to wait until next spring."

Bats can't make their own holes to get inside homes. They get in through pre-existing holes of at least 1/4 inch in diameter. Vantassel said it's important for homeowners to identify every opening bats can use to fly in and out either by watching them fly through at dusk or finding grease smudges around holes when looking on a ladder. Once exit holes are identified, Vantassel suggests installing a one-way door over them and sealing all other potential exits. Bats will be looking for a way to get out, and the one-way door provides a way for them to get out and sealing unused holes prevents their ability to get back in. He said the key is to seal your home while still providing the bats a way of escape. "Make sure that you never trap the bats inside of the house because they will come into the living space." Vantassel said. Homeowners run the risk of a potential rabies exposure if that happens, according to Vantassel, in which case everyone needs to be interviewed to ensure there was no contact with the bat. He said to assume there was contact unless proven otherwise, especially if peo-

Vantassel suggests capturing hats and then contacting medical professionals to determine what should be done with them. "If they decide the bat should be released, take it outside and release it," Vantassel said. "Otherwise, if they think the bat should be tested, you have the animal there to get it tested in the lab. If it turns up negative, no one needs rabies shots and it saves people a lot of money and a lot of pain." Additional information can be of Music" first came out in the theaters. I remember being totally enchanted by it. I can also remember taking Sue and Jon to see it at the Norfolk Community Theater in the auditorium. I think Carmen Thornton was Maria; it was won-

Enjoying 'Sound of Music'

Of course, we've seen it on television since. More than 20 years ago, we saw the Yankton Community Theater production outdoors, which made an interesting venue. And, as you well know, I finally got to portray one of the nuns at the Lofte Theater three years ago.

Our oldest granddaughter, Randa, has loved the movie since she was a little girl; I can remember her watching my video a long time ago. She's now a senior at Norris High, and they did "Sound of Music" last week. Randa was Maria! That was so exciting.

The music director at Norris is a gentleman named Wes Hansmeyer, a pleasant fellow with a sweet smile who loves the students and they love him back. You've heard me rave on before about the show choir there.

Well, the annual musical is a big production, too. Last year, in "The Wizard of Oz," they actually had flying monkeys and the witch on her bicycle was up in the air, also!

When I went for my therapy, I saw a flyer advertising the show and I could announce to all around me,"My granddaughter is Maria!"

It's been 45 years since "Sound" When I stood in line for the rest beautiful harmony. room at intermission, I could say to those in line with me, "Maria is my granddaughter!" Even Sue says she overheard two ladies discussing what a great performer she was and was able to tell them she was

So, naturally, all week I've been singing I've got confidence in confidence alone; besides which, you see, I have confidence in me! Or, the hills are alive with the sound

During the performance, it was really hard not to sing along with the nuns. That Latin stuff made happy, thank goodness.

It's just a wonderful story. I get all shivery when the Nazi soldiers start pounding around, looking for the Von Trapps. I shudder when they are raising their arms and saluting Heil! It definitely brings back memories for the older adults in the audience.

On Tuesday evening, the brother of the girl playing Liesl was behind me and I heard him ask his mother, "So, what's the story of 'Sound of Music,' anyway?" I turned around with an amazed expression and his mother told me, "He was a deprived child." I guess!

I admit it was startling to see Randa in a wedding dress; fortunately, that was a very small segment. As fast as time has been flying lately, that will probably happen WAY before we are ready for it. For now, we are basking in the radiance, and being thankful for grandkids who can sing, and play softball, and football, and volleyball, and trumpet, and run computers and dance! What a blessing!

On Saturday, while the Big Farmer helped the volleyball team win another game, I sneaked in a performance of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat" at Wesleyan. So, it was a musical weekend; which, coupled with the great weather and another football victory, made it almost perfect. It doesn't take much to keep me

Home invaders prevalent this time of year Let's visit a little bit about Asian may be advisable to spray those as lady beetles, crickets and other crawly things that become pests by entering houses in the fall. These insects are a critical part of our ecosystem. Crickets feed on a lot of different plants, decaying organic matter and even other dead insects. They are also a valuable food source for other animals such as spiders, birds, and snakes. Millipedes are thin, hard shelled worm-like arthropods with many legs. They feed on organic matter and are efficient recyclers of plant material. The most common invader are now the Asian lady beetles, which are beneficial for much of the year since they feed on soybean aphids and other harmful insects. However, at this time of the year, these critters begin to enter buildings. Asian lady beetles have become my least favorite insect. They will congregate in large numbers and if you have a nice overwintering site, they will enter by the hundreds or even thousands. They bite when they land on you, have a disagreeable odor and can stain areas when you crush them.

If you happen to have a cricket sneak into your house and start chirping in the middle of the night it can drive you crazy. Millipedes are less annoying but still will enter your house and dry up into a hard shell for you to clean up. Some area farm owners report thousands of them gathering under lights at Any cool snap will begin to drive these bugs into looking for better quarters, so now is the time to prepare for these annoyances. Look for any gaps in windows, doors, cracks in foundations, and any other openings which will give easy access.

Fill the gaps with foam sealant or any other method that will prevent entry. Outside, if you have heavy mulch, boards and wood piles around the foundation, these make excellent hiding places and areas where these critters can stage up for a home invasion. Remove these hiding areas if you can.

An insecticide "barrier" may be created by spraying the exterior of structures along the foundation with a wide band of about 4-5 feet. Spray about 2 feet up into the foundation as well. Make sure you spray the product to the point where you can see the material running down the foundation to give you extra residual. Keep pets and children away from the area until the surface dries Once they get into your house, the best way to be rid of them is to vacuum them up. Sticky traps in hidden places also work for crickets, spiders, and millipedes.

You can purchase sticky traps and barrier insecticides at your local hardware store. Many of the so-called "Home Defense" type products are good choices for a bar-

Time to tune up your home's heating system

Though it may not feel like it today, "Old Man Winter" is just around the corner.

Probably the last thing on your mind is whether your furnace or other heating systems are ready to keep you warm and toasty without draining your wallet. But it's never too early to start planning for a comfortable winter (and save money in the process).

In our neck of the woods, a heating system can run for over 1,500 hours. That is equal to running your car at 50 mph for 75,000 miles. Would you drive your car that far without changing the oil, rotating tires, or checking other critical systems? Your heating system requires the same kind of scheduled maintenance in order to run efficiently and last its normal lifetime.

So what are benefits of having a certified technician performing a heating system tune up?

- Peace of mind knowing your heating equipment is safe, especially if your home has natural gas. A carbon monoxide leak can be fatal.

Keep your equipment at peak operating condition. This allows your system to operate less in providing the heat you need. - Improve heating capacity. On the coldest days, it is good to know your system has the capability to keep you warm. Avoid an expensive breakdown by testing for weak components. It never fails that systems fail at the most inconvenient times. - Extend the life of your equipment. Your heating system cost a lot of money. You want to get as many years of efficient operation out of it as you can. What sorts of things should you expect a certified technician to do?

 Clean and vacuum the heat - Inspect heat exchanger for cracks and holes; - Tighten all wiring connections for safety;

Lubricate all moving parts;

 Clean blower housing and remove all debris: - Check and replace furnace fil-

- Test fan and furnace limit for proper safety; - Clean outside unit coils (airsource heat pumps only).

If you use natural gas, propane, or heating oil to heat your home, a certified technician may also do the following:

- Inspect thermocouple/ igniter for proper burn;

 Inspect for dangerous combustible material;

- Test gas valve to reduce delayed ignition;

- Remove and wash burners for more efficient operation;

- Remove and clean vent pipe;

Check for natural gas leaks to prevent fires; - Test for proper gas pressure.

Do not let a broken down heating system catch you by surprise this winter. Have your system checked today and enjoy knowing you will not be at the bottom of the list your certified technician has of "no heat"

Northeast Nebraska Telephone Company Customer Notice

For the 4th Quarter of 2011 the Federal Universal Service Charge (FUSC) contribution factor will increase from 14.4% to 15.3%. This will result in an increase in the charge that appears on your monthly telephone bill. The factor is applied to services designated as interstate by the FCC and changes from time-totime based on the needs of the federal universal service fund. The federal universal service fund was established and is maintained to ensure that all consumers, regardless of location, have access to essentially the same telecommunications services at affordable prices. The fund also provides schools, libraries, low-income consumers and rural health care providers with assistance in obtaining telecommunications services.
