Dave Vollbracht, co-owner of Mid States School Bus, Inc. and Dean Carroll, sales manager with the firm, were at the meeting to discuss reason for the approximately three percent increase for the upcoming year's contract. These include increased fuel costs and additional employee salaries. Discussion followed on several related items, including route structures, the number of routes currently used by the district and snow and safety issues for students using the buses. The board voted unanimously to approve a four-year contract with

Mid States Bus, Inc. beginning with the 2012-2013 school year. Superintendent Mark Lenihan told the board that information regard to having preschool services offered through the district.

"At the present time, one of our challenges is to provide a facility in which to offer preschool We are looking at ways to work with the preschools in the community and will look for ways to provide the opportunity for all children to attend preschool," Lenihan said. He noted that there are Early Childhood grants available to assist with the costs associated with running a preschool within

The topic will continue to be discussed at future board meet-

During a facilities report, Lenihan told the board that the construction project continues to move forward with steel going up at the high school this week and then move on to middle school. He estimates the project is 20 percent complete. Board members talked about the consequences of not having the project completed on time. It was recommended that the architect for the project communicate with the district and con-

Post office closings delayed as USPS, Congress work deal senators announced Tuesday that the United States Postal Service has agreed, at their request, to a five-month delay on closing 3,700 post offices nationwide, which will buy time for Congress to enact postal reform legislation.

The delay affects 90 post offices in Nebraska, including local offices in Dixon and Concord, as well as a mail processing center in Norfolk.

"Closing post offices before we try to fix the system is putting the cart before the horse, so today's decision to delay any closings until next May is good news," Nelson said. "With 90 rural post offices targeted for closure in Nebraska, we have to remember that the USPS was created to provide a

'Our local post offices play a special role in our communities, keeping us connected to our friends and families, and keeping businesses connected to their customers. They are an important part of our economy, serving every city, suburb and small town in Nebraska," Nelson added.

The Postal Service has been considering the elimination of overnight delivery and studying whether to close 3,700 mostly rural post offices to reduce expenses. Nelson and a number of colleagues have said that as the Postal Services works to turn around its tough financial condition, it should take into account the needs of rural communities.

Some of the 90 Nebraska post offices targeted for closing are the communities of Bee, Belden, Benedict, Bladen, Brownville, Carleton, Chapman, Comstock, See BUSING, Page 4A Davey, Dixon, Elk Creek, Endicott, Nebraska Sen. Ben Nelson and 11 other Ellsworth, Gresham, Hallam, Holstein, Malmo, Martell, Morse Bluff, Oakdale, Otoe, Prague, Riverton, Ruskin, St. Libory, Staplehurst, Stella, Unadilla, Waterbury, Whitman and Winslow.

> Nelson has heard from community and business leaders across Nebraska raising concerns about the impact of the possible post office closings

> During the moratorium, scheduled to end on May 15, 2012, the Postal Service will continue to study the impact of proposed closures on service and costs and to solicit community input.

> The announcement follows a meeting on Dec. 12 where several senators expressed concern to U.S. Postmaster General Patrick Donahoe and Postal Service Board of Governors Chairman Thurgood Marshall that the closings could reduce service and cause the loss of thousands of jobs.

> Last week, Nelson and 19 other senators sent a letter to Senate leadership requesting that Congress prevent the USPS from closing or consolidating rural post offices and mail processing facilities.

> "Rural post offices, the services they provide, and the people who provide them, have great value to communities across Nebraska. Congress needs to work with the Postal Service to fix the problems before deciding to reduce services to people who need them," Nelson said.

Business caters to music players

By MICHAEL CARNES

Of The Herald

If you like listening to music and want to pick up the new album from today's hot artist, you might go to Wal-Mart, Best Buy or download it off iTunes

But what if playing music is more your cup

Jane O'Leary has boxes upon boxes of old and new sheet music for music enthusiasts to enjoy at J and J Music, located across from the city office building on Pearl Street in Wayne.

One customer who saw the sign on the door recently came in expecting to shop for a CD. When he realized what kind of music store he had walked into, he asked if O'Leary had any banjo sheet music and came away purchasing music he could play on his banjo at home.

O'Leary said she used to work part-time at a music store in Sioux City, and when the owner of the store passed away last year, she heard the sheet music was going to be sold. "I hated to see all that sheet music go to auction, so my husband, Jay, and I bought it," she said. "I hated to see it dumped, because there was a lot of good music." Little did she know what she was getting

O'Leary said she is liquidating the sheet music that she has in inventory, and there is music available for about any instrument one can play. From trumpet and guitar to piano, banjo and even the recorder. There are books of music for marching, pep band and high school jazz ensembles, as well as 16-bar audition music for pop shows and more than 30 musicals. A number of boxes are opened and set on shelves for easier browsing.

O'Leary said she's happy to help people look for music to play, whether it's in their spare time or as part of a group or ensemble. "A lot of people like to play for their own enjoyment, so it makes it kind of interesting to go through some of this music," she said. It's not often that a music enthusiast walks out with just one piece of music. Some leave with a box full of music, which O'Leary says is something she enjoys helping people with. "A lot of people will come in looking for one thing, and will usually leave with several sheets of music," she said. "My brother enjoys playing tuba, and we even found some things for him that I was able to give to him for his birthday." herself into - there was enough sheet music through Amazon and Ebay. She packages a playing, to dive into.

> She said she isn't getting into the business of adding to what she already has available, and is more interested in helping people discover some good music that is out there for them to play and enjoy on their own.

> "A lot more people are buying things online and bookstores are becoming more and more rare, so it's nice for people to come in here and browse and discover things that they can enjoy playing," she said.

Tips shared to prevent the flu

There's only one direction flu activity will go and that's up according to the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). Only two cases have been reported to DHHS so far which means there's still time to get vaccinated, build immunity and stay one step ahead of the flu.

"Getting your flu vaccine is about more than protecting yourself," said Dr. Joann Schaefer, Nebraska's Chief Medical Officer and Director of Public Health for DHHS. "It protects friends and family members with certain health conditions who can't afford to get the flu."

While flu can make anyone sick, certain people are at greater risk for serious complications, and it's extremely important they receive _rA Quick Look-

Young children, older people, pregnant women and people with cancer, chronic lung disease (like asthma and COPD), diabetes (type 1 and 2), heart disease, HIV or AIDS, morbid obesity, neurologic conditions and certain other longterm health conditions

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommends flu vaccine for everyone six months

Flu vaccine is safe, effective and rigorously tested. Remember, it's a myth that you can get flu from the shot. The most common reaction is soreness and redness at the injection site. If you don't like needles, FluMist is a nasal spray available for healthy people 2-49 years old.

Jobs - Thinking Long Term

Northeast Nebraska is getting some press lately about new jobs and business growth. When a business owner makes a decision to start or expand a business, a lot of pieces need to fall into place to make it successful.

Wakefield capitalized on available land, infrastructure and a friendly business climate and is welcoming the new large Central Valley Ag facility. Those pieces were already in place and ready when the opportunity came.

Laurel has made major recent investments in land and infrastructure, has an attractive business climate and has welcomed several new companies including the recent composite manufacturer. They have the pieces in place for future growth. Laurel will capitalize on their railroad access also.

of Wayne have a long partnership in putting the pieces in place for future business opportunities so we are ready when they come.

People from Wakefield, Laurel and the Wayne Business and Industry Committee recently got together for a strategic planning meeting. Those communities that are spending the money and taking the risk to keep putting these pieces in place are creating an advantage for their kids and grandkids to live and work there in the future. It takes a lot of extra work.

Community Attitude Survey

Wayne utilizes a lot of grant funds to do projects. One of the requirements for state grants is to survey the community for citizen comments on community needs and government services. Please complete a survey on line at the City of Wayne Website, radio or newspaper website or pick up a paper copy at the city billing office.

Learning about germs

Wayne Head Start had a special visitor in the classroom. Erica Diediker visited the classroom from Wayne Mercy Medical. She stopped in to talk to the children about washing germs off their hands. Using a special lotion to represent germs she talked about how they are all over your hands. The children were able to see them with her black light and inspected her hands if she did a good job washing them off. Erica reminded the children to keep washing their hands to get rid of those germs that make them sick.

Local baseball association reorganizes its hierarchy

By MICHAEL CARNES

Getting all the teams equal representation within the community's baseball hierarchy was the focus behind the revamping of the Wayne Baseball Association earlier this year.

President Steve Lutt said the organization restructured and reorganized this past fall, forming a board of directors and electing officers. They currently have 10 of 11 board positions filled, and are seeking volunteers to fill the final position.

"We're hoping to get representation from all the teams in the Wayne Baseball Association," he said, noting that the group governs the local Little League, Pony and American Legion programs. "That was the driving force that got things going to get the group directors include Bob Keating, Cindy Sherman, John Sinniger, Rich Rethwisch, Steve Anderson and Terri Buck.

The organization has been holding monthly meetings at the Vets Club in downtown Wayne, and Lutt said the group will be using its website at www. waynelegionbaseball.com to keep parents updated on everything from game and practice schedules to registration dates.

Lutt said the organization is working with the Wayne Softball Association and the City of Wayne to make more improvements to the Wayne Sports Complex, and they are planning on several fundraisers, including their annual salt water softener fundraiser and a breakfast fundraiser planned for next March at the National Guard Armory.

The organization is also working with the Wayne American Legion, which helps get sponsors for Wayne baseball and recently put up sponsorship signs all along the fencing at Hank Overin Field. For more

Hitting the books, then the boards

Students at Wayne State College have been hitting the books pretty hard this week. So, in their honor, here's a hard-hitting trip through the "Bits and Pieces" file:

- The Wayne State women's basketball team has the chance to do something great this year.

Coach Chris Kielsmeier has been saying that to just about anybody who will listen to him. And as somebody who already has a national championship on his resume and has had a tremendous amount of success as a head coach, you've got to figure he knows what he's talking

It should be no surprise, then, that he has been so frustrated with his team's unwillingness to understand the importance of rebounding the basketball during the first part

This past weekend, the Wildcats gave up an alarming 94 rebounds in their first conference road trip of the season, 48 coming in the team's first loss of the season at University of Mary. Even two days after the fact, it was a topic Kielsmeier was not all that thrilled to have to talk about.

But it's a topic his team is going to have to address, and address quickly. Mary exposed what has been a glaring weakness for this talented team, and in the alwaystough Northern Sun Conference, the fewer weaknesses you have staring you in the face, the better your chances for success.

The Wildcat women do have a chance to go farther than any team in school history, but they don't have the luxury of letting a problem like this linger for too long, especially if they want to entertain the idea of hosting regionals in Rice Auditorium, where they haven't lost in more than two seasons.

- While it's great to see the Wayne High girls basketball team get off to such a dominating start, we need to put that 5-0 start in a little perspec-

Aside from the season-opening upset of perennial power South Sioux City, none of the teams the Blue Devils have played so far this season are going to be entertaining trips to the state basketball tournament (unless, of course, they buy tickets). Wayne has overpowered teams that are clearly not in their neighborhood, and likely won't see one until next week's matchup with Columbus Scotus and the Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout, when a likely matchup against Laurel-Concord/Coleridge and a potential championship game against Pender would await them.

After that, there's the January schedule that looms rather large. Quality teams like Pierce, Boone Central, Norfolk Catholic, Crofton, Guardian Angels Central Catholic and Crofton are on the docket after the first of the year.

The Blue Devils are off to a great start, and if they can carry that momentum through a challenging sixweek stretch, Wayne High may not have to worry about buying tickets to the state tournament, because theirs will already be punched for the first time since their only appearance way back in 1993.

- Winside's wrestlers are making the most of what little they have in the wrestling room this season.

The Wildcats only have about a dozen wrestlers out, which are very low numbers for the traditional wrestling powerhouse program. So far, though, they've done quite well in overcoming the quantity issue with some quality efforts at tough meets in Creighton and North Bend.

Last week, five of their seven varsity participants came away with medals, three of those first-place efforts. With a full lineup, the Wildcats would likely be a serious challenger for the Class D state title next February in Omaha. Coach Paul Sok said the numbers in the wrestling room are kind of thin right now, but he's hoping they will pick up with the younger classes that are coming down the road. If they do, watch out for the Wildcats. year, scoring 31 out of 43 points

Miles Anderson drives through the Columbus Lakeview defense for two points during the Blue Devils' 64-61 win over the Vikings Saturday at Wayne High School. The undefeated Blue Devils play host to Wisner-Pilger and O'Neill this weekend, followed by a Tuesday matchup with Columbus Scotus.

Free throws help Wayne outlast Lakeview, 64-61

By TRAVIS CORLEY Of The Herald

Solid free throw shooting down the stretch helped the Wayne High Blue Devils boys basketball team escape with a 64-61 victory over Columbus Lakeview Saturday night.

"Down the stretch we kept attacking at the end," said each Rocky Ruhl. "We wanted to get to the free throw line and get the ball inside for layups".

The Blue Devils opened the game with two 3-pointers from senior Gage Rethwisch. The Wayne High frontcourt was effective throughout the game, as sophomore Jalen Berry was able to penetrate and find Miles Anderson for a layup, followed by a Brady Soden effort that led to a free throw.

"Their efforts down low helped the team," said Ruhl. The Blue Devils led by four points, 14-10 after one quarter, but the Vikings opened the second quarter with a 3-pointer, cutting the Blue Devils lead to one. Barry added a 3-pointer early in the period as both teams fought aggressively for control of a close game.

Lakeview added a 3-pointer to take a two-point lead, but Rethwisch added a layup with 14.8 seconds left as the two teams went into halftime tied at 24-24.

Anderson opened the second half with seven points for the Blue Devils, but Lakeview took a 35-31 lead Schefflen 11.

midway through the third quarter. The Blue Devils avenged the Vikings' run and answered with three layups in a row to take a 40-35 lead.

Once again, the Vikings fought back into the game, cutting the Blue Devils lead to two points. However, Jordan Backer excited the home crowd, hitting a 3-pointer to end the period.

With a five-point lead heading into the fourth quarter, the pressure was on for both teams.

A Lakeview jump shot brought the Blue Devils lead down to three points. Backer hit another 3-pointer, but the Vikings shortly answered the Blue Devil score with their own 3-pointer.

In the closing moments, the Vikings were forced to foul Barry, and Barry gave the hosts a 63-59 advantage. Lakeview cut the lead to two with a pair of free throws, but Rethwisch hit some clutch shots down the stretch to help Wayne hang on.

"He has always been a shooter," Ruhl said of the senior guard. "When he has a great shot selection, he's

The loss came less than 24 hours after the Wildcats' best defensive effort of the season, as they limited Northern State to 23 percent shooting and ran away with a 60-38 win over the Wolves Friday in Aberdeen, S.D.

Coach Chris Kielsmeier said he and his coaching staff have preached the need to get better on the boards to his team, but those words seemed to be falling on deaf ears until Saturday's eye-opening experience in North Dakota.

"Mentioning the rebounding just frustrates and disappoints me," Kielsmeier during weekly coaches show on mywaynenews. "We've been able to overcome our

Of The Herald

The undefeated streak for the Wayne High girls basketball team continued, as the Blue Devils posted wins over Schuyler (69-27) and Columbus Lakeview (61-25).

In Saturday's win over Lakeview, senior Katie Hoskins opened the game for the Blue Devils with a quick basket, part of her team-high 14 points.

Despite Hoskins' solid play on the offensive end, the Blue Devils' defense was the main focus of the game. The Blue Devils held the Vikings scoreless until 3:50 remaining in the first quarter.

"That was our best defense all season," said coach Nathan Wall. "We executed our game plan and were able to get in their passing

Following a fast-break pass courtesy of Kristin Carroll, Narelle Naeve added a layup as time expired in the opening quarter to give the Blue Devils a 20-6 lead.

Area wrestlers fare well at Stanton Invite

STANTON - With two of the classifications dominating the field, Wakefield and Laurel-Concord/ Coleridge wrestlers were able to come away with some good efforts at Saturday's Stanton Invitational.

The Trojan grapplers had one finalist and seven medalists to finish in the middle of the 16-team field, while the Bears had a single medalist and finished 12th overall.

"We had a couple of kids that didn't wrestle because of ACT's, so we were lacking in depth a little, but overall I thought it was a good tournament for us," Wakefield coach Travis Volk said. "We had a number of ups and a few downs, but you're going to have that early in the season.

Steve Sarmiento was the lone Trojan to reach the final round, making it to the finals at 195 pounds before losing an 8-4 decision to Frank Mayo of Madison.

"Steve getting to the finals was a big thing," Volk said. "He beat a few good guys today and got in the finals against the Madison kid, and that's pretty good for a kid who is only in his second year of wrestling."

Rosbin Ravanales finished fourth at 106 pounds, Daniel Muller (220) and Alan Lopez (285) both earned fifths, and Irvin Ramirez (113), Nick Gonzalez (120) and Caleb Thomas (152) all came away with sixth-place medals for the Trojans, who finished with 100.5 points for

The Bears had just one medalist, top teams in the two smaller as Austin Roach bounced back from a semifinal loss to win his final two matches and earn consolation honors at 160 pounds.

> "I thought Austin wrestled very well today," coach Don Maxwell said. "He ran into a kid in the semis that got third in Class C last year. and he came back through and pinned his last two opponents, and I thought he wrestled very well."

Maxwell said the Bears had a couple chances to earn more hardware, but came up a little short for the day.

"We weren't wrestling where we were last week, and we still have some improving to do and it's going to take some time," he said.

In dual action Thursday, Wakefield held its own with Class A South Sioux City before falling in a 41-31 dual at South Sioux City.

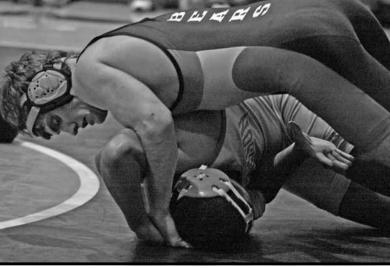

Wakefiled got wins from Gonzalez, Alex Calderon (126), Devn Anderson (138), Dan VanderVeen (145), Cody Plummer (160) and Jacob Nelson (170) to get a good lead before the Cardinals came back to win the final six matches and take the dual.

Megan Hoffart and Jalyn Zeiss both added 3-point baskets in the final two minutes to help Wayne continue to extend their lead.

"Our guards shot with confidence as they clicked on all cylinders," Wall said.

As time expired before the half, Hoskins half-court shot nearly fell in the front of the rim, but the Blue Devils settled for a 34-10 halftime lead on their way to the easy win.

It didn't take the Blue Devils long to find their rhythm in the second half. Caitlin Fehringer was able to jump-stop through the Vikings defense to find Hoskins for an easy two points. Later in the period, Hoskins stepped out behind the arc and nailed a 3-pointer to give the Blue Devils a comfortable 45-13 lead.

3-pointers and Hoffart contributed one in the final period as well as Wayne High dominated the Vikings from start to finish.

"This is the first time this season we played all 32 minutes strong," said Wall. "Our bench executed well for us tonight".

Hoskins was the only Blue Devil in double figures, but 11 players found their way into the scorebook. Marissa Fallesen had seven points, Hoffart, Fehringer and Maxson each had six, Angie Nelson had five, Carroll, Naeve and Ashton Schweers each had four. Zeiss scored three and Sydney Harris had

Wayne State men pick up first NSIC win

Wayne State men's basketball team found some comfort on the road in picking up their first conference win of the season last week.

Junior guard Amry Shelby scored a game-high 21 points and nailed a career-best six 3-pointers as Wayne State held off a second half rally to win 58-55 Saturday evening over the University of Mary in Bismarck, N.D.

"It was a big weekend for us," coach Paul Combs said. "I thought we played 60 minutes of good basketball. It was a tough second half against Northern, but we were able to bounce back and showed a lot of moxie in grinding one out against Mary."

The trip to Mary was especially enjoyable after a six-point halftime lead got away from the Wildcats in a 57-41 loss at Northern State on Friday. The Wildcats gave up 10-0 runs by the Wolves at the start of each half, which Combs said was the difference in the game.

"That's 20-0 right there, and I don't care who you play, if you give up 20 points like that it's and we just weren't able to capitalize on them."

Northern State came into Friday's game averaging 84.5 points per game, the second highest in the NSIC. Wayne State held the Wolves down and countered a game-opening 10-0 run with a 16-0 surge of their own, highlighted by a Vontrell Seroyer 3-pointer that led to a 28-22 Wildcat halftime advantage.

As they did in the first half, Northern State opened the second half with a 10-0 run, then used a 14-3 rally to take a 12-point lead with 7:32 to go. Seroyer, who finished with a gamehigh 22 points, hit a 3-pointer to cut the lead to nine, but that was as close as the Wildcats would

"Vontrell came off the bench, which was a different role for him, and he responded really well and played well both nights," Combs said. The Wildcats bounced back from Friday's loss with a solid effort on Saturday. Wayne State led by as many as 12 points in Crookston Sunday at 4 p.m.

After a disappointing weekend at home, the tough to come back," he said. "We missed seven the first half, keyed by Derrell Williams, who layups in that game, so we had some good shots finished with 11 points, and Shelby, who got hot from outside and hit six trifectas, a career best.

"When Amry shoots like that, we become a tough team to defend," Combs said. "We needed every one of those points, too, because Mary is a similar team to us and they continued to come back at us and I was proud of how we made plays down the stretch."

Mary overcame an eight-point halftime deficit with a 12-0 run early in the second half, but Wayne State regained their composure and retook the lead on a Seroyer trey and a Williams layup. The two teams exchanged leads until Wayne State took control with just over four Shelby's 21 points was complimented by Williams, who finished with 11, and Nick Wuebker, who scored 10 coming off the bench.

Wayne State, 2-6 overall and 1-3 in the NSIC, will be at home this weekend, hosting MSU Moorhead Saturday at 6 p.m. and Minnesota,

Winside offense struggles in home losses

Winside's offense has struggling as the Wildcat girls basketball team is still searching for its first win of the season.

Last Tuesday, Dec. 6, the Winside defense kept the team in the game, but the offense couldn't get enough put together as the Wildcats dropped a 28-20 decision at Lyons-

"We again struggled offensively," coach Marland Erbst said. "To be competitive, we need to become more aggressive on the offensive

Nazya Thies led the Wildcats with eight points and two blocks, while Shelby Lienemann added six points, four rebounds and five steals. Courtney Petzoldt and Shailynn Mundil each had two points, while Bianca Marino and Brittany Janke each had a free throw.

On Friday, the Wildcats' offense was shut down in the second half, as Winside scored just three points in the final two periods in a 43-16 loss to Bloomfield.

Winside trailed 25-13 at intermission, but was only able to get one shot off in the entire third quarter as Bloomfield's defense proved to be too much for the Wildcats.

"We had too many turnovers, and we stopped moving the ball the second half." Erbst said. "We still need to become more aggressive on

Meyer honored at Lipscomb

The Allen Arena playing court at Lipscomb University was recently named after former men's basketball coach and Wayne native Don Meyer in a ceremony held Saturday, Dec. 3. Meyer is the all-time winningest men's collegiate basketball coach with a record of 923-324 in 38 years as a head coach. He coached Lipscomb from 1975 to 1999 and directed the Bisons to the NAIA national championship in 1986. Over 300 former players, family members, and special guests attended the ceremony held at halftime of the men's basketball game against Kennesaw State. Meyer has been honored numerous times during a remarkable coaching career that ended in 2010 when he retired as men's basketball coach at Northern State University.

Winside third at North Bend as three grapplers get titles

The Winside wrestlers made the most of their limited manpower Saturday, earning five trips to the finals and placing third in Saturday's North Bend Invita-

The Wildcats brought home three gold medals, and coach Paul Sok was very happy with his team's performance.

"It was a very successful day finishing third out of 11 teams, going in with seven varsity wrestlers and having five in the finals and three champions," he said. "It was an outstanding team effort."

Brady Wurdeman pinned all three of his opponents, including a first-period pin in the finals to take the title at 106 pounds. He was joined by teammates Forrest Jones and Coltin Brokaw, who both earned gold-medal finishes by winning individual titles at 160 and 170 pounds, respectively.

"Brady breezed through his weight class, and definitely wrestled with more experience and confidence," Sok said. "Forrest dominated his weight class and almost had a major decision in the finals against another state qualifier, and Coltin had a hardfought victory in the finals."

Two other Winside wrestlers reached the finals, as Caleb Lienemann (182) and Gatlin Jensen (195) both settled for silver medals. Lienemann had to default out of the finals due to injury, while Jensen was pinned by a Malcolm wrestler that won all three of his matches by fall.

"Overall, I thought our technique was on par, but it still needs to be a little sharper," Sok said. "The biggest thing we need to work on is getting a little more foThere are some things there that need to be fine-tuned."

Allen boys drop home tilts to Knights, 'Cats

The Allen boys played with a ton of energy in the second half as visiting Hartington pulled away with a 64-35 win.

The Eagles matched the visiting Wildcats for much of the first half and led 18-14 before the visitors made a late surge, scoring the final eight points of the first half. They carried that momentum into the second half and outscored their hosts 42-17 in the final

Area schools score

The State of Nebraska began statewide reading assessments two years ago so that parents, citizens, school boards, superintendents, principals, teachers and elected officials could compare results from one district to another. This data can be very helpful in improving both student and school academic achievement performance.

In the spring of every year, students are tested in grades 3-8 and 11. The students who met or exceeded the reading assessment standards in all grades increased from 69 percent in 2010 to 72 percent this year. I would like to congratulate all of our schools that have excelled in reading assessment for 2011 and focus on our high school performance.

For purposes of comparison, the school districts are reported by their sports classification. Among the 27 Class A public high schools, the top five reading assessment scores were for 2011 were Millard West, Papillion-LaVista South, Lincoln East, Millard North and Papillion-

In Class B, the top five high schools were Norris, Elkhorn South, Bennington, Gretna and Aurora. There were eight schools that had significant improvement in their scores from 2010 to 2011. Those were Blair, Grand Island Northwest, Gretna, Hastings, Nebraska City, Norris, Sidney and York.

Since there are more high schools in Class C1 and C2 than in Class A or B, I have identified the top 10 high schools in C1 and C2. For C1, the top 10 reading assessment scores in 2011 were Arlington, Centennial, Wayne, Fillmore Central, Logan View, Syracuse, Ainsworth, Conestoga, Chadron and Milford.

The most improved C1 scores from 2010 to 2011 were Arlington, Conestoga, Cozad, Fairbury, Fillmore Central, Logan

In C2, the top10 reading assessment scores in 2011 were Hershey, Palmyra, Crofton, Elmwood-Murdock, Chase County, Ponca, Laurel-Concord, Ravenna, West Holt and Thayer Central.

The most improved C2 scores from 2010 to 2011 were Blue Hill, Chase County, Crofton, Dundy County, Humboldt-Table Rock, Morrill, Oakland-Craig, Plainview, Ponca, Ravenna, Southern Valley, Superior, Thayer Central, Twin River, Wakefield and Weeping

Among smaller schools, the top 10 reading assessment scores in 2011 were Bertrand, Bloomfield and Loomis with a 100 percent score. The next seven were Johnson-Cody-Kilgore, Maxwell, Kenesaw, Howells and Sterling.

Butler, Elm Creek, High Plains congressional gridlock. Community, Kenesaw, Loomis, Maxwell, Mead, Pawnee City, Pender, Shelby, Southwest and Battle Creek, Centennial, Centura, Sterling. For privacy concerns, federal law does not allow education data to be reported publicly if a high View, Madison, Syracuse and school class has 10 or less students.

well on reading tests Why can't politicians change?

By MARY KAY QUINLAN Bureau Chief Nebraska News Service

LINCOLN--RobertStevenson, the 19th century Scottish poet and author, is remembered for his lilting verses for children and his adventure tales like "Treasure Island" and "Kidnapped," not particularly for political commentary.

But he once wrote something that comes to mind in light of the latest round of complaints by critics of GOP presidential hopeful Mitt Romney that the former Massachusetts governor is a flipflopper for articulating different views on a number of issues.

"To hold the same views at 40 that we held at 20," Stevenson wrote, "is to have been stupefied for a score of years."

The Scottish writer, of course, was not running for public office in 21st century America, where politicians—and the people who advise them-seem to put a premium on never changing your mind. So much so, in fact, that politicians sometimes go to great lengths attempting to persuade voters that they haven't actually changed their minds when clearly

A case in point: Grover Norquist, president of Americans for Tax Reform, whose anti-tax pledge by one count was signed by all but six House Republicans. Many of Brock, High Plains Community, them appear to fear the damage at the polls Norquist and his merry band could cause if they back away The most improved small schools from that pledge, despite the fact scores were Anselmo-Merna, that in the views of many, their Bertrand, Cedar Bluffs, East intransigence is a major factor in to smack of political opportunism.

To be sure, voters aren't likely to be favorably impressed by the wishy-washy candidate who seems never to take a stand until the polling data are in to tell him what voters think. Nor are they likely to appreciate the candidate whose changes of heart on issues appear

Pat Paulsen, Snooki beats '12 GOP field

With all the holiday shopping I need to do, I only have time for some quick shots from the "Bits and Pieces" file:

- From the "Pot, meet kettle" department - Former Republican strategist Karl Rove was heard accusing Donald Trump of projecting a reality TV show-like atmosphere for a debate among GOP Presidential candidates that Trump was planning to moderate over the holidays (and has

Considering the quality of candidates the Republicans are trying to run against the sitting King Obama I, I actually think The Situation or Snooki from Jersey Shore has as much of a fighting chance of unseating the current President than any currently in the GOP field.

Where, oh where, is Pat Paulsen when you really need him?

- Remember the days when Hollywood bubbleheads like Paris Hilton and Pamela Anderson had their "privacy" violated with the release of sex capes made by their significant others? Remember when it was such a big deal when these tapes were released by the adult entertainment industry, and how people were so concerned with keeping the private lives of famous people, you know, private?

Now comes word the Lindsay Lohan's Playboy spread found its way on to the Internet before the magazine's planned release date . . . and nobody state have pretty well consumed the summer. I do think that before the next session ends, we will have made good progress toward improving the system. I certainly do hope so.

On Wednesday, I returned to Lincoln not only to tidy up some paper work, but also for a very special event.

I share a legislative office with Sen. Bob Krist of Omaha. One of Sen. Krist's staff members is Rodney Krogh, formerly of South Sioux City. On Oct. 27, Rod was severely injured in a car accident in Lincoln. He has been recovering both at Lincoln's Bryan West Hospital and Madonna Rehabilitation Center. On Wednesday, Rod was allowed to come back to the Capitol for a brief time. He is looking forward to returning to the job he loves and helping Sen. Krist prepare for the upcoming legislative session. Rod and his family are also planning for his return home before Christmas.

Rod's recovery has been nothing short of fantastic. The Good Lord has allowed Rod to live and to improve rapidly. Rod's strong desire to get better and return home to his wife, Dawn, and son, David, have been very inspiring. For those who know Rod and his family, there is a website that reports on his progress: http://www.caringbridge. org/visit/rodkrogh.

I am proud to know Rod. I have known and respected the Krogh family since childhood when Rod's grandfather, Erv ran the Coast to Coast store on Dakota Ave. in South Sioux city. Rod's father, Gordon, later took over and ran the store.

It was an honor and a privilege to see Rod walk into the State Capitol Office last Wednesday and continue the process of healing and moving forward after a terrible accident. The work of the medical staff, and the blessings of a gracious God, are truly a miracle.

Optimist Club conducts ays in jail. St. of Neb., pltf., vs. Dylan monthly meeting Dec. 6

Wayne Optimist met Dec. 6 at Wayne Coffee Shoppe.

The meeting opened with Kim Dunklau the president who welcomed the new members present at the meeting. New members recognized were Ray and Carol Novak, Jason Claussen, Katie Mann and Doug Mohl. Since Oct. 1 the club has gained 10 new members. Sponsors for these new members were Bob Wriedt, Lynettte Krie and Kim Dunklau.

The guest for the evening was Dr. Todd Young from Wayne State College. He shared information on the National Science Bowl in 2012. He noted that the regional Science Bowl will be at Wayne State College on Jan. 28 for Middle School students and Feb. 4 for High School students. After giving a very interesting presentation he challenged members to eight minutes of a team contest among ourselves to get a taste of what the bowl contest was about. Anyone wanting to know more about the Bowl may get on the website - http://science.energy.gov/ nsb. Todd then shared information Creed. as to how we could help with this event. He noted that their would be 40 teams in the community and that this event would need help in many areas and any community support would be appreciated. The club committed themselves to help ers but a definite date has not been

Jan Kristjanson reported that Krafts for Kids will be Saturday, Dec. 17 from 9:30-11 a.m. at Our Savior Lutheran Front Porch. This is an opportunity for parents to shop and leave their children of with close supervision and make a few crafts to take home. This is free and is open to young children able to do simple crafts. Juice and a snack will also be provided. Lynette Krie reminded members to bring their desserts and check their times to serve for the Soup Supper fund raiser event Dec. 8.

Cindy VonFange noted that she needed to have a monetary amount before she advertised the Essay and Oratorical Contests. The club came up with $250 as the prize money for first place for each.

The meeting closed with the Club

Anyone wanting to know more about the Optimist group may contact any club member or Kim Dunklau (402) 369-1696. The Optimist Club operates on the motto, "Bringing out the Best in Kids!"

It is hard to believe that the serve old routines and traditions corner. Holidays can establish traditions, strengthen family ties, and set milestones in the passage of time. holiday season is right around the (we've always met at our house on Thanksgiving and yours for Christmas Eve), even while realizing that new patterns would be better for you and your family (gathering the week before at your daughter's would mean less meal preparation for you and less travel with toddlers for her). Letting go and making changes can be difficult. To manage the hassle and strengthen family ties, consider these ideas. Talk about feelings. Many families don't really talk about their feelings; they only suppose they know what the other party must be thinking. Have a family discussion by phone, mail, or in person to decide what's important in your holiday traditions. Talk about why some traditions are especially important to each of you.

Cooperate. Consider new ways to keep the traditions that mean the most to everyone. A newly married couple may love having a chance to entertain the family at a holiday dinner. Teenagers might organize a family gift exchange drawing.

Pass on a special tradition as a gift such as a family making copies of all the stories, poems, and songs that were part of their family's holiday history for the next generation to continue the traditions.

Create new ways to share old traditions. Consider visits at a ing up years. Give a small heirloom with a written history as a gift. Choose a few old photos and accompany them with a story about the events and people shown.

Give the gift of caring; it keeps on giving year round. To have a caring family holiday, consider the changing needs of family members. Keep the best of the old while you build new family history.

announces Return of MarketPlace Conference

Center for Rural Affairs

The Center for Rural Affairs announced that the sixth annual MarketPlace rural entrepreneur-Wednesday, Feb. 22, 2012 at the Ramada Inn and Conference Center

"Entrepreneurship and small businesses are the economic backbone of Nebraska's rural economy and especially important during times of economic hardship," said Chuck Hassebrook, executive director of the Center for Rural Affairs and the conference's luncheon keynote. "MarketPlace is focused on creating jobs and building the rural economy and anyone who is committed to creating their own opportunities and shaping their own destiny through entrepreneurship should attend."

According to Hassebrook, the conference offers a space to share ideas and learn from other attendees and it features strong, hands-on learning opportunities for potential and existing farm, ranch, home-based and Main Street business owners as well as community leaders and young people interested in entrepreneurship.

"Entrepreneurs who attend MarketPlace tell us it is making a difference. Fifty two percent of small business participants have started, expanded, or made changes to their business because of the conferences; and nearly 88 percent of small businesses who made changes or expanded their business as a result of Marketplace sought financing to do so," explained Hassebrook. "They borrowed money from banks, USDA Rural Development and often from personal resources like saving and credit cards were the most common sources of capital. And 79 percent of attending small businesses reported using new resources because of their participation in MarketPlace and their networking there."

The bottom line is that MarketPlace has produced dramatic results for those rural entrepreneurs who have been able to attend, and it just keeps getting better, declared Hassebrook.

Joanne Steele, CEO/Owner of the Rural Tourism Marketing Group in Dunsmuir, Calif., will kick off the conference as the opening keynote speaker. She will start off the day sharing the kind of knowledge and enthusiasm each up-and-coming entrepreneur, as well as established entrepreneurs, needs to succeed.

Steele, has worked for over 15 and community development techniques that utilize local resources. She worked as Director of Tourism ship conference will be held on for a rural California county for 10 years utilizing a small operating budget to generate over $4 million equivalent press coverage for rural businesses.

> Through workshops, sentations and her blog. RuralTourismMarketing.com, she teaches state of the art marketing strategies retooled for the small local business owner. Her dedication to rural culture and values has helped her work effectively with small towns and locally owned businesses, assisting them in building and marketing a tourism industry that serves their needs while welcoming visitors. She has worked with rural development organizations in Oregon, Kansas, California and Arkansas and consults through her blog with rural development specialists throughout the U.S.

> "For rural based businesses the road to success involves creating and nurturing relationships to help you get what you need to be successful, from your town, your support organizations and even yourself," said Steele.

"When you decide to start a new business in a small town, you have a whole community pulling for you. Knowing how to access and use all that local good will could mean the difference between success and failure," Steele added.

The addition of Steele rounds out the impressive lineup for the full day event which includes high quality educational sessions and exhibitor booths with abundant networking opportunities. The dynamic combination of expert presenters, essential service providers, individuals already engaged in entrepreneurial activities, and day-long opportunities for all to mix and share ideas and solutions have proven very successful in assisting Nebraska's up and coming entrepreneurs to innovate and develop.

Businesses and organizations have a chance to tap into many outstanding marketing opportunities by having an exhibit booth or through a sponsorship to MarketPlace. The diverse sponsorship levels offer opportunities for organizations and businesses to choose the level which best fits their marketing budget. In favor of Random Acts of Kindness

More than a year ago, a young Lincoln man was killed in an awful car accident while returning from a concert in Kansas. His friends in the car were spared; the other driver had been drinking.

When I get letters asking for donations to MADD, Mothers Against Drunk Driving, I always think of how devastating it would be to lose a child, especially to a drunk driver. And frequently, I have cited that organization as a positive response to an awful trag-

Well, that young man's name was Cameron, and his birthday was on Dec. 7. Of course, we remember that date for an another reason, but his parents decided last year to make that date a day of forgiveness and charity, and they call it the Cameron Effect. Instead of wasting their time in anger and bitterness, which would only be human, they asked their friends to do a kindness, a "random act", a donation, or something else that would memorialize their son in a very special way. And many did. We read about some in the paper; others were done anonymously.

There are even clubs called Random Act of Kindness Clubs. Usually, it's just a group of friends, about a dozen, who meet monthly and put $20 into a pot and decide together where they will surprise someone with that money. Again, we usually never hear about those people, but those friends know they have blessed someone that day.

called The Christmas Jar. It's a wonderful story about a family who decided in January to put all their change into a jar on the cupboard, and then give it to someone who appeared to be in need. This idea took off, just like the Cameron Effect. Anyway you look at it, and however you choose to do it, it's a heart warmer.

This year, on Dec. 7, Union Bank gave 100 of its employees each a one hundred dollar bill. Their instructions were to pass it on to whoever crossed their paths and looked as if they could use it. They did not call the paper to report their good deed, but some of the remember it, too.

Last year, Kay gave me a book recipients did! There were reports of tears, hugs, laughter, and disbe-

> There really is something to the spirit that overtakes us at this time of year; and more and more, those of us with enough are finding ways to help those who need an extra lift. Coats are collected, as are socks and underwear. There are two trees in our church, one at each entrance, featuring tags with names and what that person can use. The office of our business manager and that of our associate pastor are filled, and they will all be delivered tomorrow to the City

It really is more blessed to give than to receive; try it and you will see what I mean! We received a wonderful free Christmas concert this afternoon, by the Lincoln Continentals, the city's Barbershoppers. Hearing the familiar songs sung in that close harmony, by all male voices, with lots of interesting arrangements, was such a wonderful gift. We even got to sing along on a couple of numbers. There were Scripture readings, and we learned that the familiar Coventry Carol was composed in the sixteenth century to commemorate the first martyrs, those baby boys who were slain by Herod's men after he had word that a new King had been born.

All in all, the program reminded us of the real "reason for the season". I hope you take time to

Crop production clinics planned in January

Pesticide resistance, crop production updates, and what's new in pest management will be among the topics presented at this year's Crop Production Clinics. The clinics, which will be held at nine sites across the state in January, also include provisions for pesticide applicator recertification.

Other topics being presented by Extension specialists and educators include: soil fertility; soil water and irrigation management; ag business management and policy; pesticide safety; and disease, insect and weed pest management.

The nearest locations for our area are Norfolk on Wednesday, Jan. 18 at the Lifelong Learning Center and at Fremont on Thursday, Jan. 19 at the Midland Event Center. Go to the website http://cpc.unl. edu for specific presentation titles at each site. Program topics are tailored to meet the needs of cropping systems in different parts of the state, and vary by location.

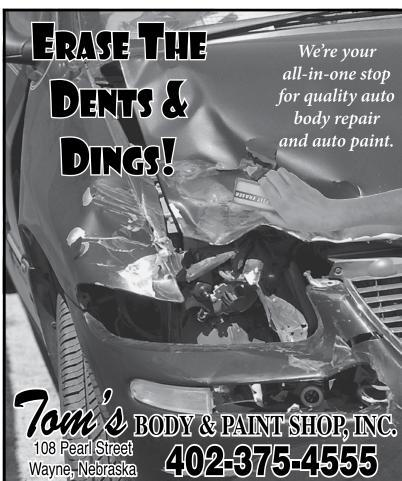

For commercial and noncommercial pesticide applicator, this will be the primary venue for you to renew your license in any of the following categories: Ag Plant (01); Regulatory (REG); Demonstration/ Research (D/R).

For private pesticide applicators the Crop Production Clinics will serve as a venue to renew vour license. Representatives from the Nebraska Department of Agriculture will be present to verify attendance Certified Crop Advisors may earn CEUs in the following categories: Integrated Pest Management (6 CEUs); Soil and Water (2 CEUs); Nutrient Management (1 CEU); and Crop Production (3 CEUs).

Attendees can earn six CEUs at a location. Certified Crop Advisors are required to bring their CCA number to apply for CEU credits.

Men's basketball team gives back to community with visits to Tower School

Wayne State College men's basketball involved in a number of other activities to players can be found at the ESU No. 1 benefit the community, including picking Tower School in Wayne on a regular basis

WSC men's basketball coach Paul Combs wanted an opportunity for his athletes to "give back" to the community in some way and through a series of conversations, was put in contact with Chantelle Hoffman, Head Behavior teacher at the

The basketball players were then introduced to the 19 students in Hoffman's class and have spent a considerable amount of time interacting with and mentoring the Tower School students.

"The basketball team has been wonderful. Our kids look forward to their visits each week. We worked together for Jump Rope for Heart and we are working on plans for them (basketball players) to be a part of Hoops for Heart next semester," Hoffman said.

The students recently completed their Jump Rope for Heart event and netted $884 for the American Heart Association. A total of 14 of the Tower School students collected money for the event with Thomas Jensen ($160), Haley McElwain ($93) and Emma Matthies ($91) as the top fundraisers.

Godfather's treated the students to a pizza party after the Jump Rope event.

up trash on several occasions, recycling within the school, and assembling quarterly newsletters for Haven House.

In addition, the students are responsible for daily chores at the school and have other responsibilities throughout the building.

"Our focus with these students is to teach appropriate responses to situations students encounter on a daily basis. We do this by teaching and modeling the Boys Town social skills and using positive reinforcement. We use field trips as a method of providing different contexts to reinforce the skills we teach daily in the classroom," Hoffman said

Students at the Tower School come from throughout the ESU No. 1's 22-county region as well as from other parts of Nebraska. They arrive at the school for a variety of reasons and the goal is to have the students return to their 'home' school once they complete the program.

"Students can complete the program here at our school in as little as nine weeks. Others may stay for a longer time. Our ultimate goal is to teach our students social skills that allow them to experience Students at the school have been success on all levels," Hoffman said.

(above) the students in Chantelle Hoffman's class pose with their Wayne State College men's basketball friends. The group has been meeting with the students on a regular basis this semester and have completed a number of activities together, including the American Heart Association's Jump Rope for Heart. Top fundraisers (right) include Thomas Jensen, first place; Haley McElwain, second place; and Emma Matthies, third place. Additional activities are being planned for the next semester.

December 6, 2011 The Wavne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:15 a.m. on Tuesday,

December 6, 2011 in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse. Roll call was answered by Chairman Rabe, Members Wurdeman and Burbach, and Clerk Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on November 24, 2011. A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to

The minutes of the November 15, 2011, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record. Emergency Manager Kemnitz encouraged the board to attend a radio communications training session on February 7. The workshop covers how existing systems operate, compatibility with interoperable communications, and sustainability requirements Snow removal on the courthouse terraces was discussed. Correspondence will be sent to surrounding residents requesting vehicles be removed from the terraces during snow removal. County -owned vehicles will be parked next to the garage.

office and staff to the court services building. A second estimate is expected within a day or two. Janssen was authorized to proceed with the purchase of furniture. County Court Clerk Magistrate Hansen presented an estimate for sanding and refinishing the oak steps and one landing located in the three main stairwells of the courthouse, and a second estimate for refinishing the steps leading to the attic. New stair treads will be installed when the refinishing is complete. Wurdeman expressed his concern that the county was spending money on having the wood refinished, only to cover part of the steps with tread. He asked if the bid could be amended to varnish only the area not covered by tread. Wurdeman also questioned contracting with someone that lived so far away. Hansen reported difficulty finding someone local to do the project, and that this individual came highly recommended. Motion by Burbach, second by Wurdeman to approve the quote of $4570 submitted by Rotherham Custom Woods of Neligh for sanding and refinishing the three main stairwells and landing. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-nav. Rabe-ave: motion carried.

Hansen asked the board to consider permitting the county employees to use their ½ day Christmas Eve holiday on Friday, Dec 23, rather than reducing the number of paid holidays for 2011. An option would be to carry the half-day over to 2012 and use it on Christmas Eve morning, which falls on a Monday. The board agreed to consider the suggestions.

Thurston County Supervisor Leonard Peters stated Thurston County is considering a 30-bed lease-to-own jail facility in Pender. It would be located close to the new hospital and would include work-release prisoners housed in a dormitory type situation. Thurston County would like to have prisoner-housing commitments from Stanton, Cuming, Burt and Wayne counties, as well as the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The commitment requested from Wayne County is about $50,000 per year in prisoner housing for a five-year period. Peters will be visiting with Burt and Cuming counties and the BIA in the near future.
