Board concerned about construction delay

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

Construction progress – or lack thereof – and the purchase of playground equipment to be installed at the current middle school were among items on the agenda for the first Wayne Board of Education meeting of 2012.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan presented the board with an update on the construction projects, both at the high school and middle school. He noted that during the past month, work has been completed but the contractor is still not on schedule, even with ideal construction weather this fall and early winter.

Board member Ken Jorgensen expressed his concern and frustration with the contractor.

"In the last five weeks, they (the contractor) have lost another week," he said. "It is time for them to be as nervous about this as we are. Not only have they ruined their reputation in this town, but they are affecting the education of our kids. If this project isn't completed on time, our kids won't have a place to go to school next fall. They have lied to us. Enough is enough and it is time they know there will be consequences, monetary or otherwise."

Mike Pieper, attorney for the district, told the board that the district has opened communication with the firm and expressed the urgency to get back on schedule with both the contractor and the architect for the project.

Board member Rod Garwood said he agreed with Jorgensen's concerns, but wasn't sure what the next step should be. He urged the board to write letters to the contractor, expressing concern and anxiety with the progress of the project.

Lenihan said he and the district's legal counsel will continue to be in contact with the contractor and express the need to move the project forward.

The board gave its approval to move forward with the purchase of additional playground equipment to be installed at the current middle school after the construction project is complete.

ground surfaces.

He also explained the options available with the rubber surfaces to be installed, the features of the equipment and the warranties associated with them.

Knippelmeyer told the board that the prices for the equipment would be going up after Jan. 31, and if the district was planning to purchase the equipment, the necessary documents would need to be signed by that time.

Board members spent a considerable amount of time discussing the funding for the new equipment, and noted that the

City administrator target of review

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Wayne's city administrator is the subject of an investigation regarding the recent firings of two Wayne Police Department officers.

The request for a review of Lowell Johnson's testimony in the Civil Service Commission hearings of the former officers, Chief Lance Webster and Lt. Phil Shear, was initially made to the Nebraska Attorney General's office by Webster and was forwarded to Wayne County Attorney Mike Pieper. The Attorney General's office has no action pending against the Wayne city administrator.

Pieper told the Herald that he has asked county court Judge Donna Farrell-Taylor to appoint a special prosecutor. Thurston County Attorney Tammy Maul-Bodlak said Wednesday that she has been appointed, but has yet to receive the information and will begin looking at that information sometime next week.

Johnson suspended and later terminated the two officers early in 2011 on a variety of allegations of misconduct. Webster's and Shear's terminations were upheld last month by the Wayne Civil Service Commission.

Both officers were expected to appeal the Dec. 15 decision by the commission. As of press time Wednesday, appeals had not been filed in Wayne County District Court, according to Deb Allemann-Dannelly, Clerk of the District Court.

Herald has new look this week

Don't adjust your bifocals – The Wayne Herald is unveiling a new look this week.

While the layout and design of the paper is pretty much the same, the flag at the front of the page has a fresher look, as do the page headers for the Sports, Lifestyle, Faith and other sections in the paper.

"Newspapers need to freshen up their layout and design on occasion, and I felt the Herald was overdue for an adjustment," managing editor Michael Carnes said. "There wasn't a need to reinvent the wheel, but after presenting the same design week in and week out for as long as we have, I felt it was time to freshen things up a bit."

The biggest change is the font on the flag at the top of the front page. The Century Schoolbook font, which is also used for the paper's headlines and news copy, has been replaced with the Cochin font. This font is also used on the page headers for the Sports, Lifestyle and other sections.

"Nothing has changed as far as the layout or design of the information presented in the newspaper," Carnes said. "Our readers are happy with the way we present the news each week, and we'll continue working toward that goal with our newer, fresher look."

Administration building project begins

The unsightly chain link fence surrounding Wayne State College's historic Hahn Administration Building marks an important step forward for the college and the services it provides to its students.

The fence, which has been the subject of speculation since it was put up by the construction company in early December, will keep pedestrians from wandering into an area that will soon be torn up to allow the drilling of 56 wells that will tap into the ground's latent heating and cooling properties.

The new heating and cooling system, which will utilize the earth's energy and storage capacity to efficiently condition the building, will be paired with a new building automation system that will further help energy savings by automatically adjusting to usage and occupancy of the building.

"We're excited to incorporate geothermal and the latest in building control technologies for this project," said Chad Altwine, director of facility services at Wayne State College. "The change will result in lower operational costs and improved building comfort."

Other energy saving measures include low water consumption plumbing fixtures, new windows, and energy-efficient LED and fluorescent lighting. Fire and life safety upgrades include a new electrical system for the aged facility, along with a new addressable fire alarm and sprinkler system

Fencing around the Hahn Administration building has been in place as the college continues work on a project that will allow for the college to tap into the ground's latent heating and cooling properties. A new heating and cooling system will be installed in the building.

ter, the ADDA certification test is a comprehensive exam on theories and principles consistently used in the profession. While the test does not cover CAD, it does cover basic descriptions of computer hardware, input devices, and products used in the design profession.

Optimist Club conducts regular meeting

Wayne Optimist met Tuesday Jan. 3 at The Coffee Shoppee.

The President Kim Dunlau welcomed two new members, Marlon and Jeanne Brink.

The speaker for the evening was Rita McLean, who shared information about the Library. Rita noted that the library goes back to 1902 when several local clubwomen felt a need for a library and in 1913 the Carnegie Library was built where Our Savior Lutheran Church Front Porch is now. In 1997 the present building was built to house both a Library and Senior Citizens Center. The Library employs a full time Librarian and seven part-time employees. It is financed by the City of Wayne. Lauren Lofgren, who is full time, spends a lot of time researching and writing up grants so that the Library is able to have the latest equipment and material. There were 54,000 people who went through the past year.

It was noted 3,500 patrons took part in activities and programs provided this past year. They provide computer classes when needed. They have all the past Wayne Herald on the computer as well as other archives. Approximately 1,200 audio tapes and magazine subscriptions are also available. They are very proud of their children's library and summer program as well as seasonal programs that are provided throughout the year. They do a community Calendar on cable TV as well.

Upcoming events that Optimist will be participating in include an Internet Safety event on Friday, Jan. 20 at Wayne Elementary School. Bill Price will do a presentation to the fourth graders on Internet safety.

Plans are being finalized to have a fund raising event for a local scholarship from the Optimist. The event will be held at the Oaks on Sunday, Feb. 12 from 2-4 p.m. It will be called a Taste of Chocolate, with local businesses offering their Chocolate delights for the event. Entertainment will also be provided. Anyone wanting to know more about the event may contact Lynette Krie (402) 375-5532.

Members were reminded to volunteer to help with the regional Science Bowl at Wayne State College Saturday, Jan. 28 for middle school students and Saturday, Feb. 4 for high school students.

Marlon Brink provided information for having a track meet at the college this spring for local youth. There seemed to be enough interest to pursue the project.

It was announced that the Optimist essay contest deadline will be Feb. 10. Students under the age of 18 on Dec. 31, 2011 are eligible to enter by composing a 700-800 word essay entitled: "How my Positive Outlook Benefits my Community" complete contest rules and entry forms are available from the Wayne Optimist Club or www.optimist.org/visitor/scholarships.cfm. 2012 Cornhusker Girls State program is set for June 3-9

What single event sponsored by your local American Legion Auxiliary (ALA) Unit can provide our young women, just completing their junior year of high school education, a seven-day mock government program where they learn about civics and American government in a fast-paced, interactive program of campaigning, debating, voting and electing mock local and state leaders? None other than the A.L.A. Cornhusker Girls State Program held on the city campus of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. The 2012 session will be held June 3-9.

This seven-day, once-in-a-lifetime experience will offer inspirational, educational, life-changing and fun hands-on involvement in our form of government. The young women selected on the local level to participate in the program will have a week of learning that is focused on responsible citizenship, love of God and country, the political process and raising the participants' awareness of the importance of service - not self, particularly to our Veterans, their families and their communities.

More than seeing and hearing we learn and remember by doing. That's one reason Cornhusker Girls State has such an impact. For a whole week young women are actively engaged in "doing" government. The two-party political system is brought to life through setting up and administering city, county and state governments. From campaigning, party rallies and debating to mock legislative sessions and parliamentary procedures the girls are immersed in experiential learning.

The results - many participants choose a career path involving politics or community service. Some familiar names include Janetropolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security and former Governor of Arizona; Jane Pauley, NBC broadcast journalist; Brig. General Michelle Johnson, first woman to serve as Wing Commander, United States Air Force; Ericka Dunlap, Miss America 2004 and reality star on "The Amazing Race;" and Ann Richards, former Governor of Texas.

All participants walk away at the end of a very busy week with knowledge about their responsibilities as United States citizens and memories and friendships that will last a lifetime.

Cornhusker Girls State is an all volunteer-sponsored program where many Auxiliary members across the state travel to Lincoln and give of their time, talent and experiences to ensure the participants receive the best we have to offer. Additionally, local Auxiliary Units cover the cost of delegates to attend this educational week. At times local Units may seek financial assistance from local businesses or organizations to help them sponsor a young woman and those asked have been generous in their support.

Local units will seek the names of young women from their local school systems and arrange to have a meet and greet session in school for those interested in being selected.

Criteria for selection includes: must have completed your junior year of high or equivalent, have an interest in government and current events, have strong leadership abilities, have an above-average scholastic standing and more. Information packets will be provided to area school counselors and the local American Legion Auxiliary Unit in January with selection of participants by March 1.

Parents and students are asked to work together on the process. It is known that the program runs for a whole week and if the students have summer jobs they must be able to attend the whole week so contact your employers now and let them know you are interested in this program and could they make arrangements for your absence should you be selected.

To learn more at this time go to www.cornhuskergirlsstate.org. Check in with your school counselor for information received at your school or contact your local American Legion Auxiliary Unit.

Majestic featuring free civil rights movie Sunday

The Majestic Theater and the Baha'is of Northeast Nebraska will host a special Martin Luther King Jr. Day celebration with a unique showing of Daisy Bates: First Lady of Little Rock.

This intriguing and little-known woman is the subject of the Majestic Theater's free Community Theater series of one-of-a-kind documentaries. It will play on Sunday, Jan. 15, at 7 p.m. Following will be refreshments and a short discussion, led by the Baha'is of Northeast Nebraska.

Daisy Bates was a complex, unconventional, and largely forgotten heroine of the Civil Rights movement of the early 1950s and 60s. She most famously led the effort to desegregate all-white Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., in 1957.

Bates thought she was the daughter of Orle and Susie Smith, but some neighborhood kids taunting her, leaked the town secret and told her that her mother had been sexually assaulted and murdered by three local White men. The crime went uninvestigated and unpunished, and haunted Daisy all her life. Daisy married L.C. Bates, a much older man, in 1947. They moved to Little Rock, where they acted on L.C.'s dream and started a Black newspaper, The Arkansas State Press. The paper started publishing stories about violations of the Supreme Court's desegregation rulings, and helped the Little Rock Nine as they attempted to enroll in Little Rock Central High School. It was Daisy's job to notify all the students and their families that they were delaying the enrollment a day, but she was unable to contact one girl whose family did not have a phone. She was the only one who arrived that day - alone - to enroll. Daisy said she felt guilty about that her whole life.

This intriguing and little-known woman is the subject of the Majestic Theater's free Community Theater series of one-of-a-kind documentaries. It will play this Sunday, Jan. 15, at 7 p.m. Following will be refreshments and a short discussion led by the Baha'is of Northeast Nebraska.

Project

"This is an excellent project for the college," said Jean Dale, vice president for administration and finance. "It renews a solid historic building to usefulness for many years to come. The new energy-efficient windows will do much to restore the 'front door to the campus' appearance of the building, as they provide added daylight within the building for staff and students."

Use of the geothermal system and accompanying automatic controls will provide annual operational savings of about 40 cents per square foot. The geothermal system will capture approximately 60 tons of cooling capacity and 640 Mbh of heating capacity, sending nearly 70 tons of heating and cooling capacity back to the campus' central physical plant. The increased capacity could then be used to completely heat and cool an additional building on campus, or allow the college to add air conditioning to additional dorms in the future.

The project is being funded primarily by the LB309 Task Force, which assists with renewal of state buildings, with oversight provided by the Legislature's Committee on Building Maintenance. Task Force responsibilities involve deferred repair, which encompasses all elements of the building envelope, including roofs, walls, doors, and windows. It also includes building infrastructure, such as heating, ventilating and air conditioning systems, electrical systems, and plumbing.

The LB309 Task Force also funds projects that correct facility code deficiencies and protect the life or health of individuals within the facility, may fund corrective actions in accordance with the American Disabilities Act (ADA) accessibility guidelines to make state facilities accessible, and facilitates energy conservation by funding improvements for state facilities.

Work on the Hahn Administration Building began in the fall of 2011, and is expected to be complete by October.

Local prevention group changes name

The School Community Intervention Program has announced that it is formally changing its name to the School Community Intervention and Prevention (SCIP) Program. The purpose of the name change is to better reflect the program's dual purpose, intervention and prevention. SCIP is a program of the Lincoln Medical Education Partnership (LMEP).

"SCIP was designed to bring together families, school and the community to support student behavioral and emotional health. By training professionals in both public and private schools to intervene and offer support on behalf of students displaying behaviors of concern, our ultimate goal is the well-being of the student and the prevention of at-risk behaviors" stated Kelly Madcharo, Director of the Adolescent and Family Health Division of LMEP.

SCIP was originally developed in 1983 by community representatives and concerned educators to work with schools throughout Nebraska to provide tools and resources to address substance abuse issues in youth. Since 1987, the emphasis has expanded to include mental health issues as well. Currently, 114 schools across the state have SCIP teams, with 46 of these located in Lincoln and Lancaster County.

The program is currently in place at Wayne elementary, middle and high schools, and Winside Public Schools. These schools have chosen to implement the program to help the students and families they serve. SCIP also partners with four behavioral health agencies in Wayne that provide the service the program offers.

"SCIP recognizes that these can be difficult and confusing situations for parents and caregivers to address," said Sara Wolter, assistant director of SCIP. "Our goal is to be supportive by providing resources that people may not be aware of that can help them find assistance. We do this by collaborating with behavioral health agencies across the state of Nebraska who provide screenings and evaluations for students at no cost to their family in order to determine if further services would benefit the student involved. Community collaboration is key."

SCIP remains free to students and families due, in part, to the generous involvement of community agencies and to funding provided by Nebraska HHS, Division of Behavioral Health, United Way of Lincoln/Lancaster County, Region 4 Behavioral Health System, Region V Systems, and Lincoln Public Schools.

For more information on the School Community Intervention and Prevention Program, visit their web site at www.lmep.com, or call (402) 483.4581, ext. 267.

Board

Wayne Community Schools Foundation has targeted playground equipment as the recipient for funding as the result of this year's fundraising drive. In addition, the Wayne Education Boosters (WEB) has indicated they would assist in paying for the playground equipment.

Board members gave Lenihan authority to execute documents for the purchase of up to $80,000 worth of equipment, with the foundation, WEB and the district working together to pay the costs.

As part of the meeting, election of board president and vice-president, as well as appointment of the recording secretary was conducted. Carolyn Linster will continue as president of the board, Jeryl Nelson as vice president and Ann Ruwe as recording secretary for 2012.

In reports from administrators, Jill Pickinpaugh, Wayne Elementary principal, reported that more than $500 has been earned by the school through the Box Tops for Education program and encouraged everyone to continue to save them. Collection boxes are located at the school and local grocery stores.

Pickinpaugh also discussed a program entitled "Stewards of Children," a child sexual abuse prevention training, which will be offered at the Wayne Middle School commons on Tuesday, Jan. 17 at 6 p.m.

Lenihan presented information to the board on the possibility of having the district become accredited as a K-12 district. Additional discussion will be held at future meetings on the benefits of this type of accreditation. It was noted that accreditation is a continuous process of assessing, learning and improving throughout the district.

The board approved a number of policies on second reading.

The Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, Feb. 13 at 5 p.m. in the high school library.

Wayne's Gage Rethwisch makes an acrobatic move around Kyle Kardell of Laurel-Concord/Coleridge during action Tuesday at Wayne High School.

Fast start helps Wayne to victory

By STEVE MARIK
Of The Herald

A fast start in the paint helped propel Wayne past Laurel-Concord/Coleridge 66-33 Tuesday night at Wayne High School.

The Devils jumped to a 13-0 lead right out of the gate with an effort that featured strong post play by Brady Soden.

"We knew we had a definite advantage inside," Wayne coach Rocky Ruhl said. "He might not be our tallest post, but he's got pretty good moves inside."

Grant Anderson might have benefited most from the success inside. The 6-foot-4 junior sank three from 3-point land, mostly on kick-outs from the post.

"Grant is developing into a good player, Ruhl said. "He's grown four inches over the past year, so he's developing into an inside player more than an outside player."

The Blue Devils ended the first quarter on top 19-9, and didn't show signs of slowing down heading into the second quarter.

While Anderson and Soden fueled the team in the first quarter, others found their way into the scoring column.

Jordan Backer and Jared Anderson both came off the bench and pitched in on the offensive side of the ball, while defensively the Blue Devils made life tough for the visiting Bears.

The Blue Devils held the Bears to just nine points in three of the four quarters, while the Blue Devils scored 19 and 13 in the first two, ending the first half with a commanding 32-18 lead.

The third quarter turned out to be the same story, much to the dismay of Bears' coach Shannon Benson.

"Playing Wayne is always hard," Benson said. "Wayne is such a great team and great shooting team, they're super well-coached."

After Anderson scored a quick five points to start the third quarter, the Blue Devils led 45-18. See WAYNE, Page 3A

Blue Devil pressure too much as Wayne handles LCC, 51-36

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Wayne High's defense was creating the opportunities, but the offense wasn't finishing the job at the other end Tuesday night.

The Blue Devils outscored Laurel-Concord/Coleridge 11-3 in the final seven minutes of the first half on their way to a 51-36 win Tuesday night, but the Wayne High coach was frustrated with his team's inability to turn Lady Bear miscues into points in the first half.

The Blue Devils' pressure defense was creating a lot of problems for the Lady Bears offense, but finding the bottom of the basket was proving to be a frustrating situation for the fourth-year head coach.

"At halftime I let them know that if you want to get to that next level, you've got to convert those turnovers into points," he said after the game. "We forced 19 turnovers in the first half, and yet we were only up eight points. That's what is stopping us from being a really great team, and if we want to get there we need to finish at the basket and at the free throw line."

The Lady Bears were able to handle Wayne's pressure early and took a 16-14 lead early in the second period when Mandy Nelson drilled a

Wildcats' home streak at 37

A busy week of basketball proved to be profitable for the eighth-ranked Wayne State women, as they improved to 15-1 with another pair of conference home victories.

Wayne State ran its home winning streak to 37 games with a 60-49 win over Minnesota Duluth on Saturday and a 74-49 domination of Bemidji State on Sunday, improving their conference-leading record to 9-1.

The win over Bemidji State on Sunday was a solid effort for the Wildcats, who got out to a 9-0 lead early in the game and led by as many as 23 points in the first half.

The Beavers stayed in the neighborhood with some good shooting from the outside, cutting Wayne State's lead to 15 at the break.

"Our defensive intensity on the outside wasn't there the first half, and Bemidji can shoot the 3-ball great and we didn't pressure them the way we're used to," coach Chris Kielsmeier said. "We fixed that the second half and I think they went 1-for-10 from 3-point range, and that's a big reason why we won the game."

Senior All-American Ashley Arlen had an outstanding night on the floor, going 12-of-16 from the floor and finishing with a game-high 26 points. She was simply no match for the Beavers, whether it was down on the blocks or in transition.

"She had one of her best games of the season and was very efficient on offense and ran the floor well,"

Ashley Arlen gets hold of a loose ball during the Wildcats' win over Bemidji State on Sunday. The senior All-American had a game-high 26 points.

Kielsmeier said. "We played well in transition and got some easy layups, and we knew we could exploit their transition defense and if you don't double her up, that's the kind of game she can go for."

Freshman Ashton Yossi came off the bench and hit three 3-pointers while finishing with 13 points.

"She's been really consistent coming back from the break, and she understands the system very well for a freshman," Kielsmeier said. "She's a very smart defender and very good with the ball in her hands, and it's hard to believe she's only played 15-16 college games."

On Saturday, the Wildcats got Arlen's seventh double-double of the season, as the senior poured in 13 points and grabbed 14 rebounds, and fellow senior Alisha Brown came through with a solid nine-assist effort to help direct the offense.

"You look at her scoring, and you don't see a lot there, but she probably played her best game of the season (against Duluth) and had nine assists," Kielsmeier said. "She was able to create a lot of easy shots for her teammates and really handled Duluth's pressure on the ball very well and was able to get us into our offense and operate effectively."

Winside wrestlers take home invite

Bears have two winners, finish fifth in team race

WINSIDE - Winside doesn't have the depth of numbers to win most wrestling tournaments, but they certainly made the most of what they brought to the table Saturday.

The Wildcats had seven varsity wrestlers and came away with six individual titles to edge out Newman Grove/Lindsay Holy Family and win the Winside Invitational Saturday at Winside High School. The Wildcats finished with 209.5 points, pulling away late to beat the Bluejays' 157-point effort.

Six Wildcats finished pool competition at the top of their weight brackets, as Brady Wurdeman (106), Levi Lange (145), Brian Greunke (152), Forrest Jones (160), top-ranked Coltin Brokaw (170) and Gatlin Jensen (195) earned first-place medals. Caleb Lienemann was the only Wildcat not to make it to the top of the medal stand, but did come away with a runner-up effort at 182 pounds.

"For the most part the kids did really well," coach Paul Sok said. "We won with six of the seven varsity wrestlers, and I was pretty happy with how we wrestled. Our technique was pretty good and we just need to sharpen up a few things."

One of the top matches of the day came at 170 pounds, with Brokaw going up against Dylan Loberg of Randolph. Loberg, ranked sixth by the Nebraska Scholastic Wrestling Coaches Association, wrestled Brokaw tough for much of the match, but the top-ranked Brokaw was able to control the action and got a pin in the final second of their matchup.

"The people he wrestles the first time, he gets a little more cautious," Sok said. "I thought he had control for the most part, and he just needed to open it up a little more and I think he'll do that the next time."

The team race was close for much of the day. Going into the final round of action, the Wildcats led the Bluejays by just one-half of a point, but came through with several pins in the final round to pull away.

"We work in practice on getting the pin, and points come more at a premium that way so I was glad we were able to finish the way we did," Sok said.

weight issues to post a fourth-place finish, ending the day with two individual champions and a pair of runner-ups.

Griffin York (132) and Ethan Hirschman (285) both earned individual titles for the Bears, while Austin Roach finished as runner-up to the Wildcats' Jones at 160 pounds. Jones pinned roach early in the third period in their dual late in the day. Drew Lunz also earned runner-up honors, finishing second at 126 pounds.

"We did pretty well for where we were at," coach Don Maxwell said. "We had some guys that didn't make weight, and that cost us some points. But we had some individuals come in and do well, and Austin got second place to a rated wrestler in the finals, so overall we did pretty well."

Maxwell said he had a couple of wrestlers who weren't able to make weight and had to move up a class. With people in the right classes, he thought his team would have scored WISNER - Wakefield got some solid individual efforts, while the Wayne wrestlers battled through injuries to earn two medals at Saturday's Wisner-Pilger Invitational.

The Blue Devils came away with a pair of consolation champions, as Malcolm Martin earned third place at 170 pounds and Dylan Pflanz was third at 220 pounds. The medal-winning efforts helped the Blue Devils to a 10th place finish in the 11-team tournament.

"It was a tough day," coach Tony Lawrence said. "We didn't wrestle like I thought we'd wrestle, but our two captains came through and got us medals."

The Blue Devils had several kids reach the consolation semifinals, but fell one match short of the medal stand.

"We've had some kids out with injuries, and our 113-pounder broke his nose today, so we've had to deal with injuries," he said. "But we're not making excuses. We need to find a way to get back to where we want to be and keep wrestling hard."

Martin lost to eventual champion Trevor Jenner of North Bend in the semifinals, but came back to pin Kyle Ebel of Scribner-Snyder/Guardian Angels early in the third period to earn his third-place medal.

Pflanz also bounced back from a semifinal loss, getting a consolation medal. See AREA, Page 4A

Lady Bears beat HCC, fall to EV

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge girls basketball team got a big win at home and dropped a road match-up of top 10 teams to highlight last week's play.

On Thursday, the Lady Bears beat Hartington Cedar Catholic for the second time in two weeks, hanging on for a 48-45 win over the Trojans at Laurel-Concord High School.

The Lady Bears trailed by eight points after one period, but put together a solid defensive effort to turn the tables and come away with the victory.

Jade Cunningham scored a game-high 18 points and Katie Gubbels added 11 to lead the Lady Bears.

The following night, the sixth-ranked Lady Bears hit the road to face Class D-2 top 10 powerhouse Elkhorn Valley, and the host Falcons pulled away in the fourth quarter to claim a 52-45 victory.

The Lady Bears trailed by three at intermission, but pulled even with the Falcons heading into the final period. Elkhorn Valley outscored the Lady Bears 14-7 in the final stanza to pick up the win.

Cunningham was the lone Lady Bear in double figures, finishing with 20 points. Kiley Thompson had nine points and Mandy Nelson grabbed 16 rebounds.

Winside's Alec Sindelar is looking for some help during the Wildcats' 72-59 loss to Winnebago on Thursday. Sindelar had a game-high 21 points for Winside in an overtime loss to Santee on Tuesday.

Wildcats battle in losing efforts

The Winside boys basketball team gave a solid effort on Thursday, battling a talented Winnebago team tough before the visiting Indians were able to pull away late for a 72-59 win.

The Wildcats came out on fire early on, hitting a number of shots from the outside and matching the Winnebago squad's fast-paced attack. Winnebago led by six at intermission, but the Wildcats were able to forge a tie early in the third period and keep things close until late in the game.

Winside looked like they would pull away, but the Wildcats made one last run and got the deficit down to seven points before the Indians hit several free throws down the stretch to claim the road win.

Tyler Jaeger scored 13 points to lead the Wildcat effort, while Tanner Wosalager and Blaine Meyer each had 12 points.

On Tuesday, the Wildcats got into a wild overtime game with visiting Santee, but again came up on the short end of the scoreboard, losing 72-67.

The Wildcats came back from a six-point first-quarter deficit and led by two going into the final period. Santee came back to tie the game and send it into the extra session before coming away with the victory.

Sindelar scored a game-high 21 points to lead four Wildcats in double figures. Wosalager had 12 points, Jaeger put in 11 and Ricky Wright had 10.

Winside will play host to Wakefield on Friday and travel to Clarkson on Tuesday.

Trojans finish third at Emerson

EMERSON - It was a tale of two games for the Wakefield boys at the Bob Clough Post-Holiday Tournament.

On Friday, the Trojans came out flat in the first half and were outscored by Homer 54-35 in the first round of the tournament. They came back and played well in the consolation game Saturday, posting a 51-36 win over the host Pirates.

"We just came out flat and really had a poor effort," coach Mike Clay said of his team's effort against the Knights.

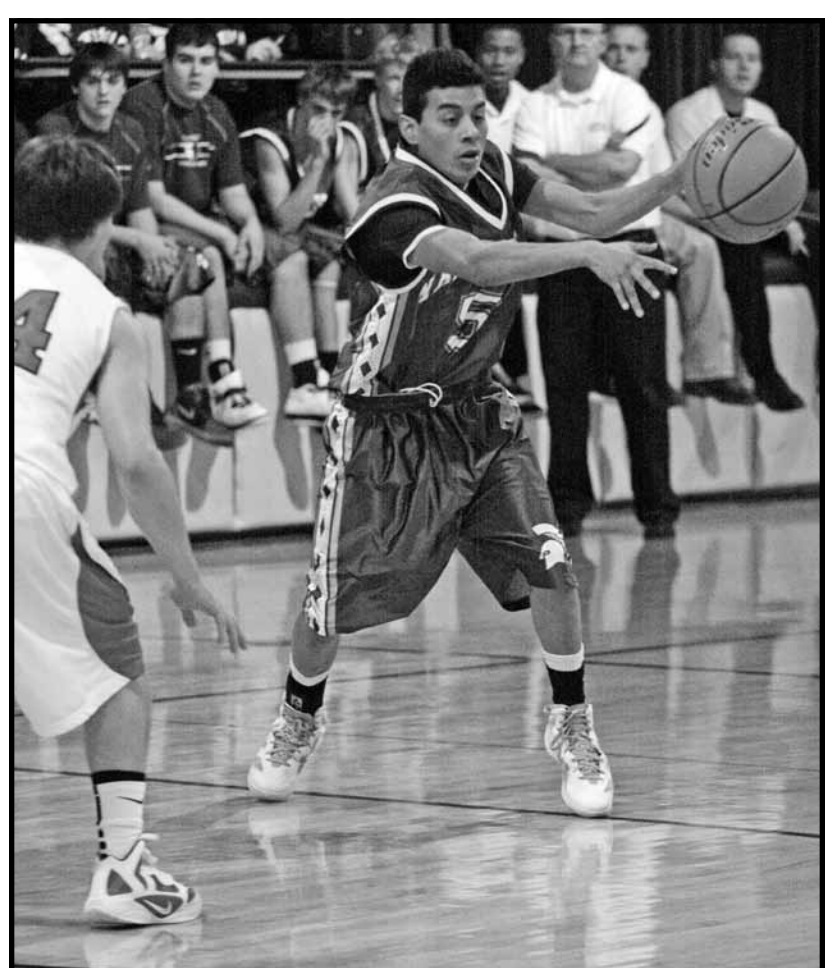

Wakefield played Homer tough for most of the first period, but Homer scored 19 consecutive points to turn a one-point game into a 20-point cushion.

Jacob Lunz had 16 points for the Trojans in the losing effort, while Josh Dolph added seven points and Tim Anderson had five.

The following night, the Trojans came through with what Clay called the team's "best performance of the year" in posting the 15-point win over the host squad.

Wakefield got out to a 13-3 lead and led by 11 at the break, then came out strong in the second half to extend their lead to 20 points before claiming the 15-point win.

Lunz, Dolph and Evan Nicholson all had 14 points apiece to lead the 2-9 Trojans to the win.

"We definitely rushed shots, and we didn't take the correct shots we needed to," Benson said. "It's easy to be open if you're out by the 3-point line, but that's not necessarily the way we want to play."

With Wayne's coaching staff mixing up the defenses, it turned out to be one of the major reasons the Bears had such an off night.

"We went to the 1-3-1 to see if we remembered how to play it," Ruhl said. "We haven't played it a lot, but

With a 45-24 lead at the start of the fourth, the Blue Devils rolled through the Bears, scoring 21 points in the final quarter.

Grant Anderson led all scorers with 20 while Kyle Kardell led the Bears with 11.

The Blue Devils improve to 10-2 while the Bears fall to 2-8 on the season.

3-point shot and Jade Cunningham followed with a basket.

"We were making shots early, and when you do that it's a lot easier to handle that pressure," LCC coach Nate Sims said. "When they get a couple of scores on you, you have to be able to battle through that mentally and continue to do what you've done, and there was a stretch there where we didn't do that and it hurt us tonight."

That stretch started on the Blue Devils' next possession after Cunningham's basket. Kristin Carroll scored to tie the game, and Marissa Fallesen sandwiched a pair of 3-pointers around a Nelson trifectas to make it 22-19, and Wayne never trailed after that.

Ashton Schweers converted a free throw, and Caitlin Fehringer and Katie Hoskins both scored to put Wayne up by eight points at the half, and Wall challenged his team to come out and play better offensively in the second half.

"I challenged the girls to step up, because we were playing without Jalyn (Zeiss) and this was a big opportunity to show how deep we are and what we're capable of doing," he said. "They answered the challenge as far as getting to the rim, and it's amazing how much things are better when we finish, because then we can get into our press and that's our strength."

Wayne came out and frustrated the Lady Bears in the second half. After LCC got within five midway through the third, Wayne went on a 14-2 run, highlighted by trifectas from Fallesen and Carroll, making it a 45-28 advantage after three periods.

"There were some things we needed to do better and more consistently, and we just weren't good enough tonight," Sims said. "We need to get more consistent to beat quality teams like Wayne, and we can get there."

Fehringer led all scorers with 17 points, while Hoskins added 10, Fallesen scored nine and Schweers had eight for the 10-3 Blue Devils. Nelson was the only Lady Bear in double figures, finishing with 14 points, while Katie Gubbels had

Blue Devils bounce back with win on road Saturday

The Wayne High boys basketball team bounced back from a loss at Norfolk Catholic to pick up an exciting win on the road at Boone Central.

On Thursday, the Blue Devils' offense fell apart in the fourth quarter, and Norfolk Catholic pulled away from a tight battle to post a 53-37 win in Mid-State Conference action at Norfolk Catholic High School.

The Blue Devils jumped out to a 24-17 halftime lead behind a solid defensive effort, but the Knights heated up in the second half and scored the last 18 points of the game, limiting the Blue Devils to just one basket in the final eight minutes.

"The first half was one of our better halves of the season, but Catholic adjusted their defense and were able to hit some threes and get back in it," Ruhl said. "In the fourth, we just didn't execute on offense and they did, and the game just got away from us."

Gage Rethwisch scored 14 points and Grant Anderson added 12 for the Blue Devils in the losing cause.

On Saturday, the Blue Devils battled through a physical matchup with the Cardinals and were able to make a defensive stop at the end after Grant Anderson hit a pair of free throws.

Anderson was going in for a layup when he was fouled with 6.8 seconds remaining. With the Blue Devils trailing by a point, he calmly hit both charity tosses to give Wayne the lead. Wayne was able to force a missed shot by Boone Central and close out the game with the one-point win.

"Grant had been 0-for-4 at the line and he did a good job and got some good looking free throws out there," Ruhl said. "It was a pretty physical game, and we were fortunate to have knocked down some free throws at the end to get the win. It's tough to play at Boone Central, and I'm happy to have gotten out of there with a win."

Rethwisch led a balanced attack with 11 points, while Brady Soden added nine and Anderson scored three.

Wayne girls beat Pierce on road, come up short at Boone Central

The Wayne High girls got a good win on the road and came up short against the top-ranked team in the state to highlight last week's play.

On Friday night, the Blue Devils outscored Pierce 10-0 the final four minutes to win a tough road battle, 41-30.

Coach Nate Wall said the Bluejays' height advantage made things a challenge for his team.

"Pierce has seven six-footers, and they always have three on the floor at the same time," he said. "So many times, we had one of our smaller guards guarding a six-footer out on the perimeter, so this was a tough matchup for us."

They battled throughout the game. Wayne led by a single point midway through the final period, but shut down the Pierce offense the final four minutes to pick up the hard-earned win.

"Our girls really fought hard, and I'm proud of how we overcame some early foul trouble," Wall said. "This was a huge road win for us."

Marissa Fallesen hit a trio of 3-pointers and finished with a game-high 15 points to pace the Blue Devils. Jalyn Zeiss added eight points and Caitlin Fehringer put in seven.

On Saturday, the Blue Devils got off to a slow start on the road at top-ranked Boone Central, and they couldn't quite get over the hump as they fell to the Cardinals, 54-48.

Wall said the team didn't come out of the gates very strong and had to play catch-up the entire night.

"We didn't get off the bus until late in the third quarter, and that's disappointing," he said. "When you are on the road against the No. 1 team in the state in a conference game, you need to be ready to play and we weren't."

The Blue Devils did make quite a comeback effort, busting an 18-point deficit down to a single point, but the Cardinals were able to respond and hang on for the win.

"We went on a 17-0 run to get within one, but you can't dig yourselves that kind of a hole," Wall said. "I'm still waiting for us to take that next step and be a great team, rather than a really good team."

Katie Hoskins scored her 1,000th career point with her team-leading 13-point effort, while Fallesen added 10 points and Sarah Maxson scored six coming off the bench.

Indians' pressure too much for Wildcats

It was a frustrating night for the Winside girls basketball team on Thursday, as Winnebago ran past them for a 74-27 win.

The Wildcats had trouble getting anything going offensively, as the Indians used full-court pressure defense to rush the Winside team, creating a number of turnovers that led to points for the visitors.

The Wildcats were led by Shelby Lienemann, who scored 14 of the team's 27 points. Nazya Thies and Tarrin Quinn both scored four points.

Lady Eagles play well in losing effort at home

The Allen girls played well for most of the game, but couldn't hang on as visiting Ponca left town Thursday with a 45-40 victory in Lewis and Clark Conference basketball action.

In spite of the loss, which dropped the Lady Eagles to 2-8, coach Zach Wemhoff was happy with the effort his team gave.

"Our effort was awesome Thursday night," he said. "We came out with a lot of fire and got out to an early lead, and it was like that for the whole game but we just couldn't quite finish in the end."

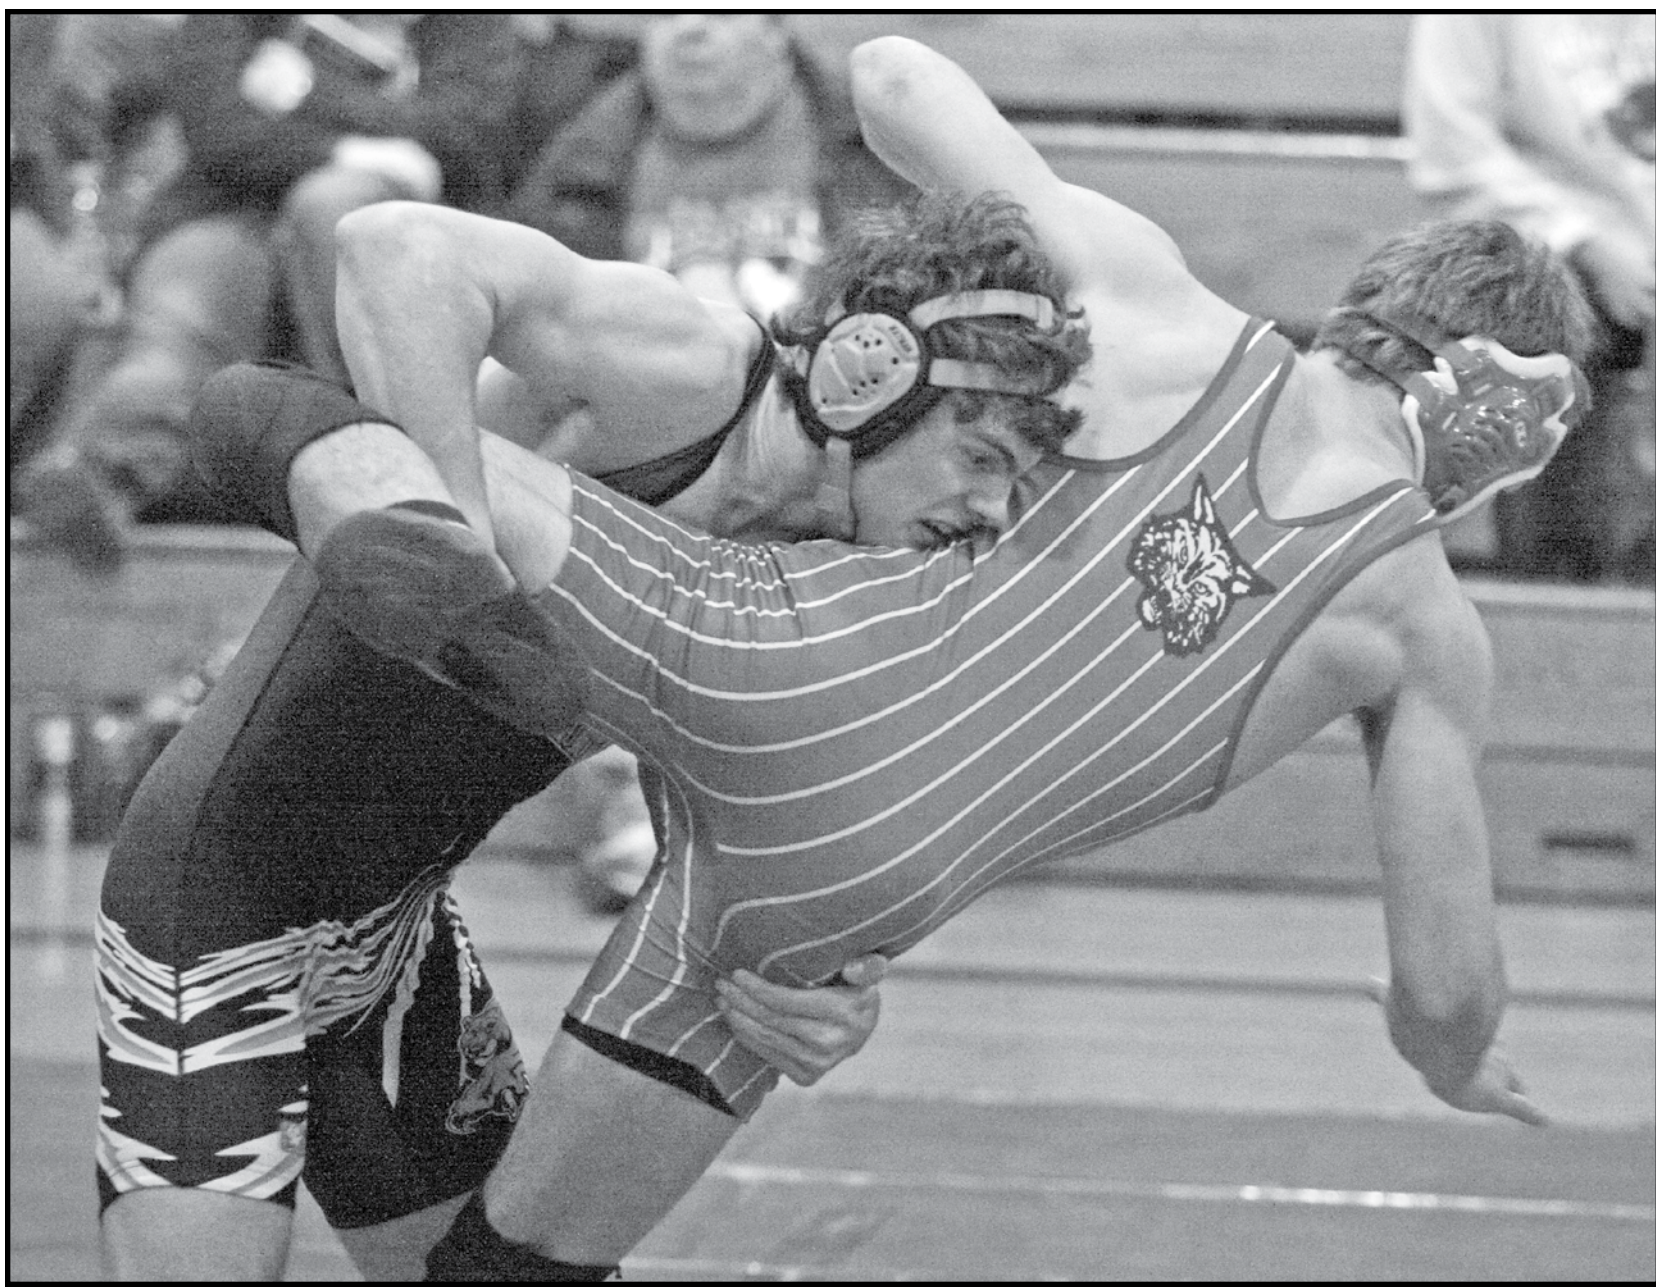

The Lady Eagles got out to a 15-7 lead after one period and still had a one-point advantage at halftime.

The two teams battled throughout much of the second half, but the Indians made some plays down the stretch and were able to hang on for the win.

"We had some opportunities that we didn't capitalize on, and Ponca was able to capitalize on theirs," Wemhoff said. "We just needed to take better care of the ball."

Brittany Sullivan had 12 points and Lindsay Sullivan added 11 to lead the Lady Eagles in the losing effort.

The Lady Eagles are back home Friday to face Bancroft-Rosalie, then face back-to-back road games Monday at Ewing and Tuesday at Wynot.

"Jacob wrestled a good tournament, and just got caught in the finals," coach Travis Volk said. "They're both the same style of wrestlers, and we'll probably see him again somewhere down the road and hopefully it will turn out a little different."

The Trojans did well in the consolation bracket, winning three of five matches to bring home six medals for the day. Juan Gonzalez (106), Irvin Ramirez (113) and Daniel VanderVeen (145) were consolation champions, while Devin Anderson (138) and Chinchilla Christian (160) finished fourth.

WSC drops pair of heartbreakers

Missed opportunities was the phrase of the day for the Wayne State men's basketball team after dropping a pair of tough conference road games last weekend.

On Saturday, Minnesota Duluth hit 22-of-25 free throws and held off a late rally to hand the Wildcats a 74-71 defeat at Rice Auditorium.

The Wildcats led 70-68 late in the game after an Amry Shelby jumper with :38 left, but the Bulldogs' Ryan Rasmussen was fouled on a 3-point shot and hit all three free throws to give the Bulldogs the lead. They added a late basket off a steal and were able to hang on for the three-point win.

"It was a game of missed opportunities," coach Paul Combs said. "We made a run and Amry put us up by two with a great shot, but we were 8-of-6 at the line and 1-of-8 from 3-point range in the second half, and when you shoot that poorly it puts a lot of emphasis on playing perfect on defense."

The game was back-and-forth throughout the game before a late run by the Wildcats, capped by a Ty Bauschek 3-pointer, gave the hosts a 42-32 halftime lead.

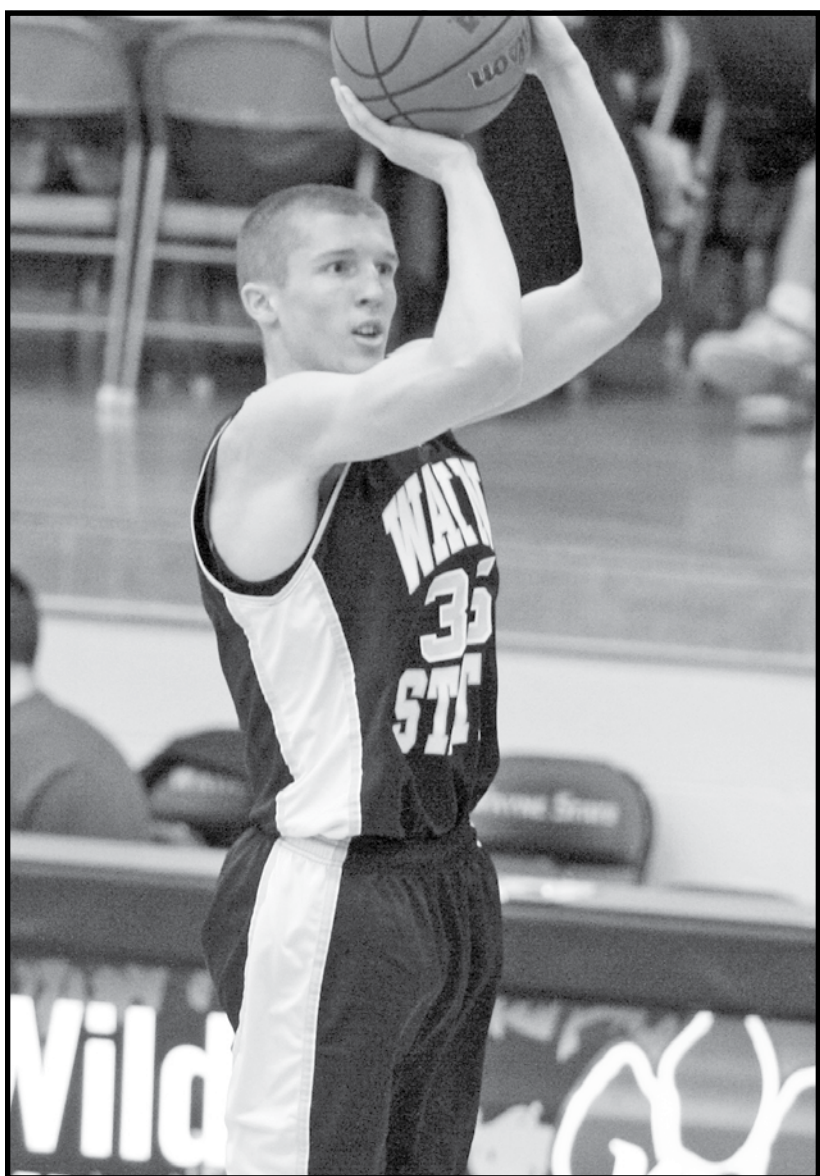

Duluth went on a 13-2 run over a six-minute stretch early in the second half to take a 51-48 lead, and led by as many as eight points with 5:37 to go before the Wildcats mounted a comeback.

Wayne State went on a 10-2 run, capped by Shelby's jumper with :38 to go to make it a 70-68 game. Rasmussen was fouled while attempting a trifecta, and calmly hit all three free throws to put Duluth back in front.

Shelby missed a jumper on the Wildcats' next possession. Nick Wuebker got the rebound, but his pass was stolen by Rasmussen to make it 73-70. Shelby made the back end of a two-shot foul, and Duluth hit one last free throw with four-tenths of a second remaining to get the win.

Shelby cracked the 20-point plateau for the fifth time this season, finishing with a game-high 24 points. Derrell Williams had 19 points and 12 rebounds.

On Sunday, the Wildcats saw visiting Bemidji State get hot in the second half, as the Beavers came away with a 67-61 win.

Bemidji State shot 64.7 percent from the field in the second half and answered every run the Wildcats threw at them in the final 20 minutes.

"They got some back-door baskets and putbacks, and we made a run down the stretch and just couldn't get the stop when we needed one," Combs said. "We had some opportunities to make some shots and we couldn't knock them down."

Bemidji State got out to a quick 8-2 lead before the Wildcats came back to tie the game at 8-8. The game would be tied again at 11-11, but Bemidji State went on a 10-0 run over a five-minute stretch to take the lead for good.

Wayne State was able to cut the margin to 61-60 on a Vontrell Seroyer layup with 1:37 to go, but Bemidji State scored on their next possession and iced it with free throws, dropping Wayne State to 4-10 overall and 3-7 in the NSIC.

Shelby and Seroyer each scored 12 points to lead Wayne State in scoring, with Seroyer's points all coming in the second half.

Possession is up for grabs as Allen's Brian Boese (10), Brandon Sullivan (23) and Shelby Jacobsen battle Ponca's Nathan Gill for a loose ball during Thursday's matchup in Allen.

Slow start dooms Eagles in 69-34 loss

A rough first half was too much for the Allen boys basketball team to overcome, as Ponca ran away with a 69-34 win Friday in Lewis and Clark Conference boys basketball action.

The Indians got the Eagles out of their offensive scheme early in the game, racing to a 15-2 first-period lead and extending that to 37-6 at intermission.

"The bottom line was that we let their pressure speed us up," coach

Brett Spiker said. "We've got to learn to play our speed and execute our offense, and not let their pressure drive us crazy."

Allen did a much better job of getting the ball inside to junior Jake Stewart, who finished with a team-high 15 points. Brandon Sullivan also shot well on the outside and finished with 11 points for the 3-6 Eagles.

"We were finding Brandon one-on-one more often in the second half, and I'll take that any day," Spiker said. "We couldn't get it to him the first half and we really got beat up on the glass, and that hurt us. We were able to make some changes in the second half and I was happy with our effort there."

The Eagles are back home Friday to face Bancroft-Rosalie, then go on the road Monday and Tuesday for games against Ewing and Wynot.

JV girls lose pair of games

Against Boone Central, Wayne was led by Ashton Schweers with 10 points, Hoffart had eight, Kranz scored six, Rauner had four, Maxson had three, Nelson had two and Sydney Harris had one.

In the Boone Central game, Rethwisch had 12 and Hoskins had 10 to lead the way. Schoh and Keiser each had six, Anderson had five, Steven Sherman had four, Melena had three and Layne Hochstein added a free throw.

Freshman girls win two matchups

The Wayne freshman girls won a pair of games last week, beating Pierce (23-11) and Wisner-Pilger (47-19).

Against Wisner-Pilger, Gamble and Rauner both had 12 points, Rusk had nine points, Hix and Alyssa Schmale each had six and Sydney McCorkindale had two.

Freshman boys fall in overtime

The Wayne freshman boys dropped an overtime decision to Wisner-Pilger, losing 38-33. They came back from a four-point deficit in the final :20 to force the extra period, but were outscored 7-2 in the extra session.

Zach Keating scored 13, Ben Hoskins had 10, and Brooke Bowers and Jackson Belt finished with five each for the Blue Devil frosh.

Wildcats move up to No. 6 in Div. II

Wayne State is ranked No. 6 in the latest USA Today/ESPN Top 25 Div. II women's basketball coaches poll.

The Wildcats moved up two spots after wins over Minnesota Duluth and Bemidji State over the weekend improved their record to 15-1. They moved ahead of Metro State and Bentley (Mass.) University, both of whom lost last week.

Wayne State is the second highest-ranked team among teams in the Central Region, trailing only fourth-ranked Fort Lewis of Colorado.

The top 25 is as follows:

1. Arkansas Tech, 2. California-San Diego, 3. Clayton State (Ga.), 4. Fort Lewis (Colo.), 5. Edinboro (Pa.), 6. Wayne State (Neb.), 7. Metro State

(Colo.), 8. Alaska-Anchorage, 9. Bentley Univ. (Mass.), 10. Pittsburg State (Kan.)

11. Rollins College (Fla.), 12. Northeastern State (Okla.), 13. South Carolina-Aiken, 14. Grand Canyon (Ariz.), 15. Ashland (Ohio),

16. Cal. State Poly Pomona, 17. Washburn (Kan.), 18. Emporia State (Kan.), 19. Michigan Tech, 20. Assumption College (Mass.), 21. (tie) Gannon (Pa.) and Indiana (Pa.), 23. Wisconsin-Parkside, 24. (tie) Cal. State-Monterey Bay and Missouri S & T.

ish and carried a 12-point lead into the locker room, limiting the Bulldogs to 21.6 percent shooting from the floor.

Four players finished in double figures for Wayne State. Following Arlen were Yossi with 12 points and Clare Duwelius and Ellen Hansen with 11 points apiece.

"Ashley's going to get her shots, but when you're consistent across the board like that and get a lot of players who can score, it's a great strength for our program," Kielsmeier said. "Duluth defends very well and they're one of the best in the conference, and we needed players to step up and make plays and we had a lot of players make some tough shots."

The Wildcats will spend the next two weekends on the road, starting with Saturday's key 4 p.m. Northern Sun Conference matchup at Augustana.

The Vikings and University of Mary - the only team to beat Wayne State so far this season - are both one game behind the Wildcats in the conference standings, and a win Saturday would go a long way toward helping the Wildcats establish their dominance in the conference as they look to defend last year's regular-season championship.

"Augie is playing as good as anybody in the league right now, and it's always a battle when we play and it will be a fun one," Kielsmeier said. "They shoot the 3's well and shoot from deep, so we have to make sure our perimeter defense is outstanding and we need to continue doing a better job of rebounding. We need to play at a high level, and it's going to be a competitive game."

Trojans stumble at tournament, make solid effort in loss at Ponca

The Wakefield girls didn't play up to their capabilities in the consolation game of the Clough Post-Holiday tournament, losing to host Emerson-Hubbard in Saturday's third-place game, 34-14.

The Lady Pirates held Wakefield scoreless in a 12-0 first quarter, and coach Matt Brenn said his team didn't play well.

"We played a very poor game," he said. "We didn't execute at all, and the scoreboard showed it. We have to get back to playing as a team and sharing the load."

Lauren Lehmkuhl led the Trojans with six points, while Mercedes Greve added five.

In the opener, Wakefield hung tough for a half against Homer, but the Lady Knights' pressure defense was too much in the second half as they were able to pull away for a 76-31 win over the Trojans.

"We played a nice first half," Brenn said. "We hit some shots and played well defensively. In the second half, we didn't handle Homer's pressure and that forced us into a number of turnovers that led to points for them."

Lehmkuhl led the 5-6 Trojans with 14 points, while Greve added 13.

On Tuesday night, the Trojans gave a good battle on the road, but a fourth-quarter comeback fell short as Ponca hung on for a 43-37 win.

"The girls played extremely hard tonight," Brenn said after the game. "Katie (Weinrich) did a great job posting up and finishing in the post. We fought back in the fourth, and that was great to see. Every girl really competed and stepped up to the challenge."

Greve led a balanced attack with 15 points, while Weinrich added eight and Emily Puls put in six. Wakefield, 4-8, is on the road Friday at Winside.

Bears play hard, drop two games

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge boys basketball team gave a good effort in a NENAC matchup at Elkhorn Valley on Friday, but came up short in a 60-52 decision.

The Bears played the Falcons tough for three quarters, but seemed to run out of gas in the final period as the host team was able to come away with the win.

"The guys played hard and played well," coach Shannon Benson said. "The game turned into a game of runs, we'd make one and they'd make one. They were able to make the last one, but our guys never quit playing and it was a good game to watch."

Zach Shear and Mitch Heikes each had 16 points to lead the Bears in the losing effort, while Daniel Hartnett and Brady Papenhausen both had six points.

On Thursday, the Bears found the going tough against a hot-shooting Hartington Cedar Catholic squad. The Trojans jumped out to a 16-point lead early in the game and were able to cruise to a 61-37 win over the Bears in Laurel.

The Trojans led 22-6 after the first period and weren't threatened after that, as the Bears offense had trouble handling Cedar's full-court defense.

Hartnett had 13 points and Nathan Schmitt added 12 for the Bears.

WISNER - Winside won more matches, but gave up more open weights in a 39-36 dual wrestling loss at Wisner-Pilger on Tuesday.

The Wildcats won three matches on the night, led by pair of quick first-period pins by Brian Greunke (152) and top-ranked Coltin Brokaw (170). Caleb Lienemann also earned a pin at 182 pounds.

Winside had six open weights, compared to the Gators' three, and that proved to be the difference in the final team score.

Trojans fall at Ponca

Turnovers hurt Wakefield's boys on Tuesday as they dropped a 71-38 decision at Ponca.

The Trojans turned the ball over 24 times, which helped the Indians get out to a 46-16 halftime lead and cruise to the 33-point win.

Evan Nicholson scored 12 points for the 2-10 Trojans, while Jacob Lutz had eight and Alfredo Fergoso put in six.

Don't get me started

Note to Democrats: Senate race started

Here we are, in an even-numbered year, and you know what that means — another year's worth of political gobbledygook.

This year, we get to elect a President, three House of Representatives and a U.S. Senator, along with our usual choosings of state senators, city and county representatives, mayors, school board officials and members of the local airport authority.

Has somebody informed the Nebraska Democrats that an election is taking place this year? Judging by their list of candidates for the U.S. Senate, one has to wonder if the party even exists in this state anymore.

Based on the fact that — as of this writing — there are no actual candidates for the seat being vacated by Sen. Ben Nelson (who, evidently, is the only Democrat still alive within our state's borders), one has to wonder if those who consider themselves Democrats and actually pay dues to the state's party are going to ask for their money back anytime soon.

In recent years, the Democrats in this state seem to be about as organized as a drunken Chinese fire drill. In the last election for governor, they threw an unknown into the race, only to have to replace him midway through the process when he lied about his campaign's financial status. The guy they replaced was another unknown from western Nebraska — a nice guy with some good ideas, but with absolutely no shot as he was playing against a stacked deck of an incumbent governor with name recognition and organized party backing.

Now, with Nelson deciding he didn't want to run again, the Democrats have taken disorganization to a whole new level. Rather than having a candidate waiting in the wings as an alternate to Nelson's moderate liberalism, they've got — brace yourselves — nobody.

Oh sure, there's talk of Bob Kerrey coming back from his cozy New York gig to "rescue" the state from the clutches of conservative curmudgeony, but shouldn't that have been in the works a long time ago? Shouldn't another candidate have been looking at a campaign before Nelson made his decision? It was pretty well-known that Nelson was on the fence in the months leading up to his decision — one would think that a Plan B would have been put in place before Nelson announced his decision.

But this is the Nebraska Democrat Party, an organization that could actually lose a school board election to a mentally-challenged poodle. Liberals in this state are good at organizing protest movements and using the mainstream media to bash the GOP at every possible opportunity, but when it comes to organizing a campaign for a Senate, House or governor's race, they seem to be about as clueless as an atheist in a Baptist bible study.

Mind you — this isn't any kind of endorsement of the Republican candidates. The only viable candidates for the Senate race on their side of the aisle are nothing more than the same old song-and-dance, old guard conservatives who aren't going to offer anything new or innovative when (not if) their nominee gets elected this November.

But wouldn't it be nice for Nebraskans to have an actual choice when it comes time to elect our representative to the U.S. Senate? If only there were an independent candidate who could bring the best of all worlds to the race — one that could share the values and beliefs of the vast majority of Nebraskans, regardless of their political affiliation.

That day may soon be coming, not only in Nebraska but nationwide. A recent USA Today analysis showed that registered Democrats declined in 25 of the 28 states that register voters by party, while Republican membership is down in 21 states. Conversely, those who are registered as independents increased in 18 states.

But who knows — if an independent candidate doesn't catch fire in the next few months, maybe the Nebraska Democrats can come up with a big name who actually lives within the state's borders and has the combination of charisma, vision and the ability to fight the conservative establishment to give Nebraskans a real candidate to compare to what, for now, looks like a lead-pipe cinch for the state's GOP candidate for Senate.

It could happen — but considering the Nebraska Democrats' recent history, I wouldn't bet on it.

Thanks for help on crane event

The staff at Wayne Public Library would like to thank everyone who took part in our "12 Days of Christmas" activities this past December and first week of January. We had a fun time planning the events.

We would especially like to thank everyone who took part in the Origami Activity on Dec. 28. We are sending the paper cranes that were made to CRANESTORM "Wishes In Flight" Project. The goal of Cranestorm is to fold 36,000 origami cranes, one for every Nebraskan living with a disability due to brain injury. We are happy to send 30 paper cranes that were made in conjunction with the origami day at the library. A special thank you to Heather Headley and her family who folded paper cranes as a part of their family Christmas.

If anyone is interested in sending origami cranes to this project the address is Brain Injury Association of Nebraska, CRANESTORM, 2301 NW 50th St., Lincoln, Neb., 68524. The deadline to send in paper cranes is Feb. 28.

Happy New Year from the staff at the library.

Capitol View

Some voices louder than others

By MARY KAY QUINLAN
Bureau Chief
Nebraska News Service

LINCOLN—The Nebraska Unicameral is back in town for its 60-day legislative session, creating new opportunities for citizens to influence the men and women who make decisions about how our state government will function.

But some citizens have louder voices than others.

That's because they're able to hire lobbyists to promote their interests at the Capitol.

To be sure, you don't need to be connected to a high-priced lobbyist to make your case. The recent special session, it could be argued, was a victory for grassroots interests who got the ball rolling on efforts to keep the proposed Keystone XL pipeline out of the Sandhills.

But the importance of lobbyists is a given to many interests in the state, including, it would appear, the City of Omaha, whose city council recently voted to hire a prominent Lincoln lobbying firm to augment the voice of its existing full-time lobbyist.

Supporters of the proposal argued that an additional paid voice for the state's largest city was necessary because of anti-Omaha sentiment in the statehouse. The mayor's office also reportedly argued that the state's urban areas needed strong representation in Lincoln.

Hmmm.

Let's see now. Douglas County alone has 14 state senators. That's nearly 29 percent of the Legislature's 49 seats.

Throw in Sarpy County's five senators, and the proportion comes to nearly 39 percent.

Lancaster County, Lincoln's home, has nine lawmakers, or 18 percent of the total seats.

When you add it all up, the state's two major urban areas hold 57 percent of the votes in this traditionally rural state's one-house Legislature. That's because roughly 57 percent of the population now lives in those two major urban areas.

To be sure, those 28 urban districts are hardly monolithic. Much of Lancaster and Sarpy counties and western stretches of Douglas County have significant farmland and related agricultural concerns.

And, of course, even in the urban core of Omaha and Lincoln, lawmakers—like the people they represent — are seldom unanimous in their views of anything, except perhaps agreeing that the sun rises in the East.

Nonetheless, it would appear that the one-man-one-vote principle has assured that the state's urban areas already have strong representation at the Capitol. Were they of a mind to do so, lawmakers from just three of the state's 93 counties could steamroller any proposal that came their way.

Fortunately, it would be difficult to argue that people in urban and rural areas of this or any other state have mutually exclusive interests. In fact, it can be argued that the economic health and vitality of the state's urban areas relies considerably on the health of rural Nebraska.

But to suggest that somehow the state's urban interests are under-represented in Lincoln is just plain silly.

Legislative Update

Bills introduced as session kicks off

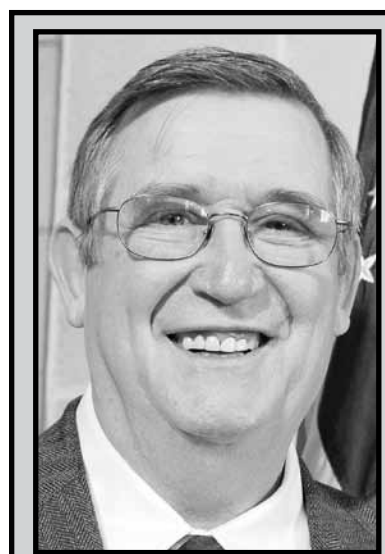

The Nebraska Legislature is back in session. Forty-eight (Senator Uter's untimely death leaves not only a vacant chair, but also a huge hole in the heart of your legislature) state senators met in Lincoln on Wednesday, Jan. 4, to introduce bills, and prepare for legislative hearings and floor debate.

During the first three days of the session, 173 bills were introduced. All of these bills will be assigned to legislative committees and each will be given a public hearing. Committees than have the option of (1) advancing a bill to the floor for further debate, (2) killing a bill, or (3) taking no action on a bill and holding it in committee.

I have introduced one bill so far. The Nebraska Department of Health asked me to introduce a bill on their behalf. Their bill, LB723, alters the Nebraska Safe Drinking Water Act by changing a definition of small (water) system. The federal government no longer uses the words "small system" for water systems serving fewer than 10,000 people. The Environmental Protection Act (EPA) calls such systems "public water systems."

LB723, if passed, would put Nebraska statutes back in line with

Legislative Update

By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

federal law by using the same terminology for the same water systems. I do not anticipate much, if any, controversy over this bill. I am not a big believer in introducing bills just to say that I introduced one. I have always thought that there were too many bills introduced each year. I haven't seen anything yet to change my mind.

The legislative process is important because it affects everyone's life through the bills that are passed and become laws. I encourage each of you to watch floor debate when possible, either on-line at www.net-nebraska.org/publicmedia/capitol.html or through Nebraska Educational Television. Committee hearings, which occur in the afternoons during the first half of the session, are also broadcast at the on-line site.

After one full year as your representative in the Nebraska Legislature, I can tell you that it is a steep learning curve to understand the way in which an idea becomes a bill and then moves from the committee hearing to the floor, and through three rounds of debate before passage. Information on legislative bills can be found at www.nebraskalegislature.gov. I welcome your thoughts on proposals as they first move to the various committees. I only have a vote on the following three committees on which I am a member: General Affairs, Agriculture, and Health and Human Services.

My contact information includes e-mail, dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov, and my phone number, (402) 471-1450. My mailing address is: Senator Dave Bloomfield, District 17, State Capitol, P.O. Box 94604, Lincoln, Neb., 68509-4604. I look forward to hearing from you.

Wayne Optimist Club to sponsor essay contest for area students

The Wayne Optimist Club is encouraging area students to contemplate the phrase "How my positive outlook benefits my community" as part of the Optimist International Essay Contest for 2012.

The Optimist Club will judge the area students' essays, based on the theme of "How my positive outlook benefits my community" and determine the top three essays. Each participant will receive a certificate of participation with the top three writers receiving gold, silver and bronze medallions. The student who writes the winning essay will also receive a $250 college scholarship and advance to the district level of competition to compete for a $2,500 scholarship.

Wayne Optimist Club essay chair Cindy Von Fange said, "I look forward to reading the essays each year because students today have so many ideas about the world and how they can make a difference in the future."

Club president Kim Dunklau said that, "As Optimists, it is our goal to encourage young people and to do everything that we can to bring out the best in each of them. The essay contest provides students with the opportunity to tap into their creativity, express the views, and pursue college scholarships all at the same time."

The Wayne Optimist Club has been participating in the Optimist International Essay Contest since the club was chartered in 1998. This is the first year that the local club will be awarding a scholarship to the club level essay contest winner.

The Wayne Optimist Club meets at 6 p.m. on the first Tuesday of the month at The Coffee Shoppe on Main and participates in at least one youth or community service project/event each month.

Some upcoming projects to watch for include the 2012 Souper Bowl of Caring sponsored by the Wayne Blue Devils Octagon Optimist Club (an Optimist Club for high school students), the ninth annual Celebration of the Arts featuring Native American Dancers from The Many Moccasins Dance Troupe and a brand new fundraiser to provide a college scholarship for a Wayne High School senior called "A Taste of Chocolate" on Sunday, Feb. 12.

Students wishing to participate in the Optimist International Essay Contest can find out more about the local contest by contacting Von Fange at (402) 518-0720 or e-mail innoptimist@yahoo.com.

How to be healthier this new year

Did you have a New Year's Resolution to be healthier?

It is a common resolution. But sometimes we are not sure where to begin. Then you might want to consider these commonly recommended strategies for improving health with some basic Health Action Steps.

– Be physically active. Buy a pedometer and track the number of steps walked per day. The recommended goal is 10,000 steps (approximately 5 miles), but many people fall far short of this mark. Any gradual increases (e.g., walking 250 steps more each week) are steps in the right direction (pun intended). The 2005 Dietary Guidelines For Americans recommends a minimum of 30 minutes of moderate-intensity exercise (e.g., brisk walking) per day and 60 to 90 minutes for those who want to lose weight or sustain weight loss.

– Read the nutrition fact labels on foods and use them to meet your daily caloric intake. Use a "pocket calorie counter book" for unlabeled items and restaurant meals. Give yourself a daily calorie "budget" and try not to exceed it. If one meal is particularly high in calories, compensate by eating less at the others. To lose about 10 pounds per year, eat 100 fewer calories per day or spend 100 extra calories in daily physical activity.

– Make smart menu substitutions a permanent habit. For example, replace whole milk with 1% or skim milk, tuna packed in oil with tuna packed in water, regular salad dressing with low-fat, low-calorie dressing, and potato chip and nacho snacks with unbuttered popcorn, baked potato chips, or carrot sticks.

– Decrease the number of calories consumed by reducing the amount eaten at meals and as snacks. A good way to start is to simply decrease current portion sizes by one-third or one-half. Save the leftovers for another meal.

– Calculate your body mass index (BMI), which is a ratio of height to weight (see the calculator at www.consumer.gov/weightloss/bmi.htm). If your BMI is 25 or over, follow the steps described above to gradually lower it to between 18.5 and 24.9, which is considered a normal BMI range.

Minevera Club meets

Phyllis Rahn hosted the Jan. 9, Minerva Club meeting at the Wayne Senior Center. In keeping with Phyllis' program theme, 11 members answered roll call by reading words to live by based on expressing thank you.

Chuckles abounded when President MaryAnn DeNaeyer read "My Seat In Church" and "They Share Everything". Minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given.

Historian Hollis Frese told about the various resources for recalling the club's history: minutes, scrapbook and the narrative history of the club. Appreciation was expressed for the former club members who kept such complete records as has Hollis over the last 20 plus years. Hollis shared a meatball recipe that was a standard recipe used years ago when food was taken to member's home on the occasion of bereavement.

Phyllis Rahn gave the program based on January as National Thank You Month. She shared two books written about expressing gratitude, "Richest Man In Town, Marty" by V.J. Smith and "365 Thank Yous: by John Kralik. She had the group share their personal stories about thanks you they have received which warmed the heart.

Lois Youngerman will host the Monday, Jan. 23 meeting at the Wayne Senior Center.

BABY BOTTLE TOOTH DECAY CAN DESTROY THE TEETH OF AN INFANT OR YOUNG CHILD

The teeth most likely to be damaged are the upper front teeth, but others may also be affected. These teeth are critical to your child's smile. The decay is caused by frequent and long exposure of a child's teeth to liquids containing sugars. Milk, formula, fruit juices, and other liquids create this problem. The sugar in these liquids is used as an energy source by the bacteria in plaque. In the decay process, the bacteria produce acids which attack tooth enamel. The length of time these liquids are in contact with the teeth is critical. Longer and more frequent exposures allow greater damage to occur. Allowing your child to fall asleep with a bottle during naps or at night can cause serious harm and damage to their teeth. During sleep, the flow of saliva decreases. This allows the liquids in the bottle to pool around your child's teeth for long periods of time. Teeth are susceptible to decay as soon as they appear in the mouth and by the time decay is noticed, it may be too late to save the teeth. You can prevent this from happening to your child's teeth by learning how to protect them:

- *After each feeding, wipe the child's teeth and gums with a damp washcloth or gauze pad, to remove plaque.
- *Never allow your child to fall asleep with a bottle containing milk, formula, fruit juices or sweetened liquid.
- *Always use a clean pacifier recommended by your dentist or pediatrician.
- *Make sure your child gets the fluoride needed for decay-resistant teeth. If you are not sure that your local water supply contains the right amount of fluoride, ask your dentist about fluoride supplements.
- *Remember to start dental visits between six and twelve months of age and make appointments regularly.
- *Most importantly, if you suspect that your child has a dental problem, see a dentist as soon as possible.

Winside Post 252 got its start in 1920

By BRADLEY WIELAND
Wayne County
Veterans Service Officer

The next three articles are going to talk about the history of the Veterans Club from Winside, Carroll and Wayne.

The clubs are all similar in ways, but unique in how each Post started. The first of the series will feature American Legion Roy Reed Post 252.

A petition was circulated on April 26, 1920 by 15 men who were later known as the charter members to form Winside Post 252. The names of the men were: Edwin W. Damme, Frank Krause, W.M. Rhudy, Jesse Witte, Chester B. Wylie, Howard Porter, Frederick Hansen, Henry Nelsen Jr., Clinton J. Perrin, Louie G. Heyer, Roy A. Carter, Fritz Swanson, V.L. Siman, Frank Wilson and F.J. Dimmel.

The charter was official on Aug. 10, 1920, and was named Winside American Legion Post 252. The Post was renamed in April of 1937 to Roy Reed post 252 to honor Sgt. Roy Reed, who died from wounds received in action in 1918.

The Post has sponsored many events since their beginning, including boxing matches, rodeos, bucking Ford car, talent shows and dances. A big dance was held in July of 1940, and a 1940 Ford V-8 Tudor sedan was given away. How many of you out there even know what a Tudor sedan looks like. I admit that I have no idea, but I will look it up on the computer as soon as I finish this article.

The Post also sponsors a young man and a young lady to attend Boys and Girls State. The Post has sent 67 boys to this event since 1938. One of the biggest honors the Post performs is at funerals, when military rites are given to our fallen comrades. The ceremony includes folding the flag, Veterans Prayer, Color Guard and the playing of taps. The Winside Public School has provided us students to play taps the last several years.

The club is also heavily involved with two holidays dedicated to honor our veterans, including Memorial Day and Veterans Day. The Post covers seven cemeteries on Memorial Day, and participates in the Veterans Day program at the high school. The Post would not be able to cover all of these programs without the help of the Auxiliary and Sons of Legion members. The Auxiliary has been a vital part of the club since 1925, and the Sons of Legion members since 2004.

The Post is also heavily involved in fundraisers to support local and national programs. The fundraisers include omelet feeds, soup suppers, fish fries, biscuit and gravy feeds, five-point pitch tournaments and raffles. The Club members also venture to the VA Home twice a year to serve pancakes and sausage, and also on a root beer float day.

The Post is always looking for new members with new ideas to join and help out with all the activities which the Post sponsors. You can stop in on the first Tuesday of the month and talk to the SAL at 7 p.m., or the Legion at 8 p.m., if you are interested in joining.

If you're a veteran age 64 and older, you can get your annual fishing and hunting permit for $5. Stop by my office for more details.

Acme Club learns about owls, cranes

Ruth Victor was hostess of Acme Club on Jan. 3 at the Senior Center with seven members present.

Joann Temme presided at the meeting following lunch. Ruth Victor gave the thought for the day, "Let the new year motivate you to improvement, set yourself up for success in activities that improve your lifestyle. Be grateful every day, give thanks, get involved, forgive, put activity into your life, seek happiness, be realistic and honest. Be one that makes a difference."

For roll call, members were to tell if they had up away their Christmas decorations. A thank you was received from the Nebraska Children's Home for the monetary Christmas gift. Gifts were also given to honorary members Marjorie Summers and Mary Doescher. Ruth Victor made the Christmas tray favors and delivered them to the hospital.

Ruth Victor gave the program about the barn owl and the Sandhills Crane.

Barn owls are found on all continents, except Antarctica, as well as on many islands. They are raptors, a nocturnal bird of prey, like other owls. They get their name because they like to live in barns.

All raptors have strong grasping talons for killing prey and a hooked upper beak for tearing meat. Rodents are what barn owls like best and can locate and get a rodent in the dark, thanks to a keen set of eyes and an even keener pair of ears.

A barn owl is about the size of a small cat, but only weighs a pound. His huge 42-inch wing span accommodates slow silent flight, which makes it easy for him to catch an unsuspecting rodent. Barn owls lay 3-10 eggs. An adult barn owl can gulp down 2-3 rodents a night.

The growing family can make that number 10, which totals up to over 3,000 rodents per year. Few adult barn owls live over 3-4 years with high mortality the first year.

The Sandhills Crane is a large crane of North America. The Platte River on the edge of Nebraska's Sandhills in the American Midwest is the most important stop over for the crane, with up to 450,000 of the birds migrating through annually. Wildlife enthusiasts from all over the world come each spring to witness the sights and sounds of the migration spectacular. Sandhill crane adults are gray with a red forehead, white cheeks and a long dark pointed bill. It's wing span is 5.4-6.9 feet. The long, dark legs trail behind in flight and the long neck is kept straight in flight.

The crane frequently gives a loud trumpeting call and can be heard from a long distance. Mated pairs engage in "unison calling." The cranes stand close together. The female makes two calls for every single call of the male.

The Sandhill Crane flies south for the winter. In their wintering areas they form flocks of more than 10,000. An individual crane spends about 29 days along the Platte River. It will put on up to a pound of fat, which provides the energy necessary to complete the migration and initiate nesting. About 90 percent of their diet consists of corn. It has been estimated that the cranes consume nearly 1,600 tons of corn during their stay. Fortunately, this is waste grain left over from fall harvest and provides a service to local farmers by removing what would become volunteer corn in next year's crop. At dusk, the cranes gather along the Platte to roost for the night. They prefer to stand in the water about six inches deep. Sandhill Cranes are long-lived; some have been known to live more than 25 years in the wild.

Cranes lay two eggs, although it is rare that both live to the 10 weeks-to-flight stage.

The family group stays together through the following spring. After the cranes leave the Platte, the family ties are severed and the young are on their own.

The Acme Club's next meeting will be at 2 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 16 in the Conference Room at the Senior Center. It will be "Game Day" with everyone bringing something for a tailgate party.

Reynolds art work on display in Hartington

Vic Reynolds of Wayne will display a collection of mixed media artwork in the Wirth Art Gallery located in the upper level of Hartington Public Library, during the months of January and February

Reynolds has recently retired from the art department at Wayne State College after teaching there since 1988. Before coming to Nebraska, Reynolds taught graphic design at The University of Alabama and watercolor and drawing at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. He has participated in numerous art shows and competitions including The Tallahassee National at Florida State University in Tallahassee, Florida, The University of Evansville National Computer Art Exhibition in Evansville, Indiana, and Juried Competition at the Sioux City Art Center in Sioux City, Iowa.

Professionally, Reynolds was a sign designer for Young Electric Sign Company, AdArt Sign Company and Loedwick Sign Company in Las Vegas Nevada. He worked as a package designer for Crown Zellerbach Corporation in Portland Oregon, and was an illustrator for the Alaska State Housing Authority in Anchorage Alaska. Recently while teaching at Wayne State College he has designed a series of wine labels for Cuthills Vineyards in Pierce, Nebraska

While serving a tour in Vietnam (U.S. Army 116th Combat Engineers), Reynolds was selected to join the U.S. Army Combat Art Team VIII www.vicreynolds.com/about/combat_art_team/ which was assigned by the Army Historian in Washington D.C. to depict and create impressions of the Vietnam War. All of the work created by the combat art team is part of the Smithsonian's Permanent War Art Memorial Collection in Washington D.C. Reynolds' painting "Soldier in Vietnam" was put on the cover of The Washington Post to depict the tragedy of war. Reynolds' painting "Riding Back From Patrol" was published in the book Forgotten Warriors Combat Art in Vietnam published in 1992.

The public is invited to stop by and view this exhibit during the library's regular hours; Monday-Thursday 9 a.m.-7 p.m., Friday 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m.-4 p.m. An artist reception is scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 14 from 10 a.m.-12 p.m. at the Hartington Public Library, located at 106 S. Broadway in Hartington.

UNL Extension to provide statewide health class

UNL Extension in Cedar, Dixon, Wayne counties have announced plans to join forces with offices across the state in hosting the "Creating Balance with Food & Fitness" program which will be held weekly beginning Tuesday, Feb. 7.

The seven-week course runs through March 20.

This is a great opportunity for everyone to get up-to-date on the latest guidelines on both nutrition and physical activity. UNL's Food, Nutrition and Health Action Team has been working for months to make sure that this program contains the most current information available. It's based on the most recent release of the Dietary Guidelines for Americans so it will give a good overview of which foods to increase in the diet and which to reduce. It also will provide ideas for building more physical activity into every day.

The program will be delivered 'live' by computer over the noon hour so participants can take the class from the convenience of their home or office. Each session will also be recorded and a 'link' to the archived version will be e-mailed to participants soon afterwards so those who cannot attend on Tuesdays can view the program later at their convenience. But, if they prefer, local residents can also attend the sessions being held in Cedar, Dixon, and Wayne Counties (among other counties.)

This is an innovative way to make sure that everybody in Nebraska has access to this program regardless of where they live. Instructors from all over the state will be online so our participants can listen, ask questions and even interact with others at the different locations.

Interested residents are encouraged to enroll right away. A fee is being charged for the program and registrations are due by Jan. 24. Registrations received after the deadline will be assessed an additional fee. A wellness kit is part of the registration fee. For more complete details or to enroll in the series, visit www.food.unl.edu/web/fnh/food_fitness.

Information about the program is also available from UNL Extension office in Cedar County at (402) 254-6821, Dixon County at (402) 584-2234, or Wayne County at (402) 375-3310.

2012 Nebraska Master Gardener training sessions will be offered

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension is offering several lawn and garden programs this spring that are open to the public and part of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension Master Gardener training program.

Feb. 14 - Vegetables: Growing and Pest Control - Learn about the growth and production of various vegetable crops in the garden, while comparing various pest control measures for effective control. This class will discuss how plant selection, growing environment, production levels, and pest control are dependent on each other throughout the growing season. (Presented by Sarah Browning, Lancaster County Extension Educator).

Feb. 21 - Plant I.D. and Plant Diagnostics - What is that "mystery" plant? What is wrong with this plant? Participants will learn basic skills to properly identify plant material, and plant problems. Resources will be shared to help participants build plant identification and diagnostic skills. (Presented by Kelly Feehan, Platte County Extension Educator, and Natalia Bjorklund, Dodge County Extension Educator).

Feb. 28 - Tree Problems: Environmental and Pests - Tree problems can be caused from environmental, mechanical, disease and/or insect issues. Learn how these factors impact the health and quality of trees in the landscape and how to manage them. Examples of various problems will be shared and discussed in this class. (Presented by Graham Herbst, Community Forest Specialist, Nebraska Forest Service).

March 6 - Herbaceous Perennial Management - Expand your plant pallet by correctly choosing, utilizing and growing herbaceous perennial plants as a returning feature of landscapes. Integrate site selection, soil preparation, plant selection, fertility needs, plant division, and pest management skills to further utilize these wonderful plants in a variety of landscape conditions. (Presented by Kim Todd, Landscape Design Professor and Specialist, UNL).

March 13 - Soils and Soil Management - Soil properties and their characteristics greatly influence the success of plant growth and vigor in the landscape. Participants will learn about the characteristics of soil properties, textures, water retention, and nutrient binding to better understand how to prepare and amend soil for optimum plant material growth. (Presented by Brad Jakubowski, Environmental and Earth Sciences adjunct faculty, Doane College).

March 20 - Weed Management Basics - Weed management and control is a constant chore in the landscape. Learn about various types of weeds in the landscape, their growing habits, and how to integrate cultural, mechanical and chemical control measures. (Presented by Lowell Sandell, Extension Educator, Department of Agronomy and Horticulture, UNL).

These six training sessions will run from 6:30-9 p.m. at the Lifelong Learning Center, 601 E. Benjamin Ave., in Norfolk. Individuals interested in the Master Gardener program are those who want to learn more about gardening and horticulture and share their knowledge with others.

Those wishing to become Master Gardeners will need to pay a one-time initial training fee of $100. Individuals will receive The Master Gardener Handbook. Those attending training sessions without intending to become a Master Gardener do not need to pay the initial training fee.

For non-Master Gardeners, there will be a charge of $5 per person for each training session attended. All six training sessions can be attended for $25. For more information and to pre-register, please contact the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension offices in Madison County (402) 370-4040, or Wayne County (402) 375-3310.

Pre-registration is requested, but participants are also welcome to register at the door.

Enjoying the success of grandchildren

I learned something tonight; there is one thing better than being present when a grandchild does something to make you proud. That is having some of your old friends there when it happens!

Randa has been singing since junior high. I mean, singing in musical productions at her school. Her grandpa keeps saying he can't believe this is the same little girl who got so nervous at her piano recitals. But, it's true; she can really sing, and she can perform. As I tell my friends, I can sing, but I can't act! She can do both, and her singing is way beyond anything I've ever done. I mean, she can sing in Italian!

Which she did, tonight, at Doane College, in the auditorium, in front of all the other high school kids who were there for the music festival, and their parents, and their teachers.

She's been in the All State choir three years in a row, so her getting into an honor choir is kind of getting to be old hat, but they have a solo audition at this one. I was at the nursing home with Mom when the Big Farmer called to say that Kristi had called and said that Randa had won a solo spot in the concert.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

I didn't even change clothes! I warmed up some pizza for Mike, and left for Crete. Thankfully, I had sung in a choir there a couple of years ago, so kind of knew where to go. When I got there, I think I took the last empty seat.

I figured we were talking about a solo with the choir. But no, there were five soloists who sang before the choir, and she was one! Something by Puccini, in Italian, and it sounded rather tricky to me.

You may or may not know that the Director of Choral/Vocal Activities at Doane College is our very own Kurt Runestad. Yes, Dr. Cornell's son is also a Dr. and a director of choirs. Today, he was the festival choir conductor, and Randa tells me they all enjoyed him very much.

Anyway, friends from Waco were there to hear their grandson in the choir and they got to hear our granddaughter. Plus, later, I ran into Rene Albin, a doctor in Norfolk whose father was Dr. Joe David, who also had a daughter in the choir.

There was a girl from Elmwood-Murdock who was one of the nuns with me in Sound of Music, a girl from Bennington whose dad played basketball with Jon at Nebraska Wesleyan, a boy from Norfolk whose dad is the head of surgery at the hospital, and another boy from Norfolk whose father is music director at the high school. And, last but not least, a boy from Creighton whose mom is a long time nurse friend.

It was so fun! And well worth a quick trip to Crete. So glad the roads are good, and the weather is, too. Aren't grandchildren grand??

Tips shared for dealing with trees in winter

Our winter has been warm and dry, prompting questions about winter watering and about trees and shrubs that appear to be budding. Kelly Feehan has some information that may help.

If feasible, it is OK to water during winter. If established broadleaf and evergreen plants were well watered during summer and fall, most should be fine since they are dormant and temperatures are cool. If we do not get much winter moisture, early spring watering will be important.

Young evergreens or evergreens growing in windy locations or along the south sides of homes are an exception. These should be watered if possible, given how warm and dry it has been. It would be a good idea to water trees, shrubs and perennials too if they were planted last fall, even if they are not evergreen.

There are some precautions to winter watering. Only water when

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator
Nebraska Lincoln

the soil is not frozen and when air temperatures are around 45 degrees Fahrenheit or higher. Water early enough in the day for water to soak into the soil so it does not pool and freeze around plants overnight. Ice forming on or around plant crowns can cause damage.

If you decide to water, keep in mind plants are dormant and not using much, if any, water so while it is a good idea to moisten the soil six to eight inches deep, heavy or frequent watering is not needed.

If plants may not take up much water during winter, then what is the benefit of winter watering? Protecting small, fibrous roots from drying out, having moisture available for plants to take up when soil temperatures are warm enough, and preventing soil cracks and cold temperature injury to roots are the main benefits.

Small fibrous roots and root hairs, which do most of the work of taking up water and nutrients, can still dry out and die in dry soil. While most plants readily grow new fibrous roots once conditions allow for it, the loss of these roots will lead to stress, especially for young plants without established roots.

What will happen to trees or shrubs whose buds appear to be swelling? If the buds are leaf buds, most trees will be just fine. Hardy, deciduous trees (those that drop leaves during fall) have the ability to produce a second set of leaf buds and even a third set if needed.

If flower buds break dormancy and swell, these will most likely be killed by cold temperatures and the plant will have fewer flowers this spring. On fruit trees, it could mean lower yields, but only if the majority of flower buds swell and are then killed.

The nearest Crop Production Clinic will be held at the Lifelong Learning Center in Norfolk on Wednesday, Jan. 18. Many new topics will be covered. You can be re-certified by attending this clinic, as well.

Planned grazing systems workshop scheduled

The 11th Annual Planned Grazing Systems Educational Workshop will be held Tuesday, Feb. 7 from 9:15 a.m.-3:30 p.m., at the Lifelong Learning Center, located on the Northeast Community College Campus in Norfolk.

This workshop will provide the opportunity for livestock producers to hear first hand and ask questions concerning pasture insect management, cover crops, grazing cover crops in cash grain systems, economics of establishing and grazing irrigated pasture, changes in the 2012 Farm Service Agency Programs and available cost-share programs to help producers reach their conservation goals.

Featured speakers will include Wayne Ohnesorg, Extension Educator for Madison, Pierce, Stanton and Wayne counties, specializing in entomology, will be presenting "Pasture Insect Management".

Jim Schneider, Extension Educator for Hamilton County, specializes in cover crops, will be presenting "Cover Crop use on the Great Plains". Dan Gillespie, NRCS No-Till Specialist and Madison Co. long time No-Till Farmer, will discuss "Grazing Cover Crops in Cash Grain Systems". Brian Strauch, Extension Educator for Red Willow County, specializing in Beef Cow Economics, will present "Economics of Establishing and Grazing Irrigated Pasture". Shanna Waterman, Pierce County FSA, CED, will share with you the 2012 Farm Service Agency Farm Bill Programs and Sabrina Negus, NRCS Information and Education Specialist, will cover the "Available Cost-Share Programs".

The workshop is free to the public. Those attending are free to bring along anyone else that may be interested in attending.
