Speaker's bill has city seeing red

LB1114 would cost Wayne almost $370,000 in lost revenue and force cuts, tax increases

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

A bill currently making its way through the Nebraska Legislature could have a significant impact on some of the services offered by the City of Wayne.

LB1114, which was introduced by the speaker of the Legislature, Sen. Mike Flood of Norfolk, would take away money the city receives from the municipal equalization fund (MEF), an administrative fund that is created from a percentage of local sales tax that cities collect and returns to first-class cities, including Wayne.

The MEF equalizes property tax levies for communities, like Wayne, that have smaller valuations and higher property taxes than bigger cities like Norfolk.

There are 32 first-class cities in Nebraska. According to an evaluation of funding those cities receive, Wayne would be one of 17 Nebraska cities that would lose money if the bill Flood has proposed were to pass in its original form.

In fact, of the 17 cities that would lose money, only Crete ($382,635.19), Hastings ($820,148.44), Lexington ($451,534.74) and South Sioux City ($472,175.43) would lose more than the $369,483.84 the city of Wayne would no longer receive, beginning in fiscal year 2012-13. By comparison, Flood's home city would benefit from passage of the bill and would receive $217,078.67 in additional funds that it does not now receive.

That would be a significant dent in the revenue the city receives and would force the city to go one of two directions, according to city finance director Nancy Braden.

"This hurts us big-time," she said. "There would either be cuts or tax increases to make up for the loss."

Braden said the state has already cut its funding to municipalities several times over the years. As a result, the city's tax asking eventually rose to one of the highest levels in the state early in the previous decade.

"If you cut services, where do you cut? What do you cut?"

— Nancy Braden
City finance director

"The state has cut the cigarette tax and they cut state aid several times before totally taking it out last year," Braden said. "We were one of the highest tax levies in the state in the early 2000's and have slowly worked that down. But if we take a $370,000 hit, we're going to have to do something."

Braden said that the city could make cuts in some of the services they provide, but Braden isn't sure the community would like to see those cuts come.

"We cut 20 percent of our staff a number of years ago, and that's a pretty good cut," she said. "We've deferred buying things, and the only department that hasn't gotten hit has been the police department, with the exception of delaying purchase of a new cruiser."

If LB1114 were to pass, the city would get back its share of the 3 percent fee the city takes from its city sales tax collection, which amounted to just $15,487.68 in fiscal year 2010-11. Braden said a combination of cuts, annexation and tax increases would need to be made to make up the remainder of almost $370,000 in MEF receipts that would be lost.

"If we increase our property tax rate to the max, that only makes up about $100,000," she said, noting that the city's levy, currently at 36.853 cents per $100 of valuation when the airport is included, can be maxed out at 45 cents.

"There's still another $270,000 to go after that," she added. "One thing we could do is ask for a half-cent

School construction picture improves

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

Progress is being made on the construction projects at Wayne High School and what will become Wayne Elementary School.

That was the message presented to board members during Monday's meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education meeting.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan outlined the work that has taken place in recent weeks and what is on schedule to happen in the coming weeks.

"The junior high addition at the high school is enclosed and concrete work is now finished. The concrete workers will now move to the elementary school and they will be followed by framers. In the junior high addition, now that the building is enclosed work will move forward quickly. I am confident that the building project will be finished and on time and we will be able to start the new school year in our new facilities," Lenihan said.

In other board business, presentations were given by each of the building principals on the policies in place in regard to anti-discrimination, anti-harassment and anti-retaliation.

Wayne High Principal Mark Hanson told the board that following a presentation last fall entitled "Stand for the Silent," work has been done to educate students, staff and parents on how to help each other in cases of bullying. He also spoke of dating violence/bullying education that takes place in all freshman physical education classes and the issue of cyber bullying and texting.

The board accepted, with regrets, the resignation of Ellen Imdieke, a fifth grade teacher, who has been a part of the Wayne Schools system for 23 years.

During the meeting Lenihan's recommendation of hiring Darlene Lilienkamp as an English Language Learner (ELL) teacher for the district.

Also discussed during Monday's meeting was the budget for playground equipment to be installed at the current Wayne Middle School after construction is completed.

Lenihan reported that the Wayne Community Schools Foundation has pledged $26,000 for the equipment; the Wayne Education Boosters, $5,000 and the Elementary grades account, $5,000 from various fundraisers conducted by elementary school students.

School board member Rod Garwood and superintendent Mark Lenihan look over progress in construction at the high school during a break in Monday's Board of Education meeting. Lenihan reported that progress has improved dramatically in recent weeks, and he is optimistic the new additions at the high school and middle school will be ready in time for the start of 2012-13 school year.

That leaves $14,000 to be paid by the district or through other fundraisers.

The Pamida Foundation presented a check to the school in the amount of $1,280 from a 'Back to School' Promotion at the store. Lenihan said the money will be put toward the playground project.

As part of the board's new business during the meeting, the Wayne Education Association was recognized as the exclusive bargaining agent for all certificate positions presently included in the district's negotiated agreement for the 2012-2013 and 2013-2014 contract years. It was noted that due to changes in timelines associated with negotiations, a two year contract "would be nice."

A draft of the 2012-2013 school calendar was presented and included a start date of Aug. 22, two weeks of Christmas break and a tentative last day of school on May 23, 2013.

The board will next meet in regular session on Monday, March 12 at 5 p.m. at the high school.

Wayne native Emily Kinney is making a name for herself, not only in theater and television, but in music as well. She has just released her first EP of songs, called "Blue Toothbrush."

From Wayne to stage

Kinney has part in 'The Walking Dead'

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Some people work in a job because they have to in order to make ends meet.

Emily Kinney's got it really good – she's working in a job because she loves it and is making a living out of it.

The daughter of Vaughn and Jean Kinney and a Wayne High graduate has made the journey from Wayne, America to New York City, and is making a name for herself as both an actor and a musician.

Kinney studied theater and music at Nebraska Wesleyan University before an opportunity to study in an exchange program at New York University led her to the stage and, eventually, the TV screen.

"It's something I've always been doing since I was really little," Kinney said by telephone earlier this week. "I was singing in talent shows when I was little, and I really just had this obsession with singing along on the radio or singing in church. I really just enjoyed doing it."

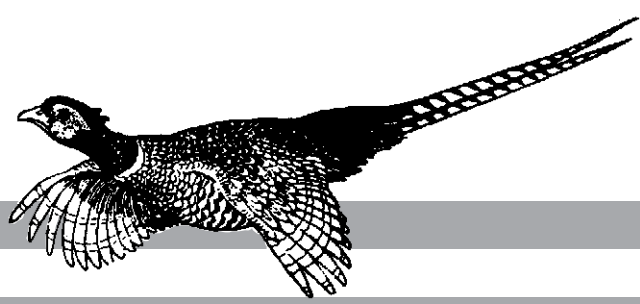

Over time, she discovered that it wasn't just the song that inspired her, but the story behind the song.

"As I got older, I started to realize that I loved music, but the thing I was really into was the story behind the music," she said. "I really wanted to pursue it professionally, and what an opportunity it is if you can

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By LOWELL JOHNSON
City Administrator

historic preservation in towns the size of Wayne generally show up less in revenue increases or building sale price increases. Two of the biggest problems for existing building owners are energy inefficiency of buildings and front window space and high cost to adapt to modern fire code and building codes.

Questions discussed
Should historic preservation of existing building fronts by required or incented in the design overlay district? The consensus was to propose incentives for historic preservation for the cost of historic restoration through financial assistance to the building owners and by providing design assistance from licensed architects to the building owners

What would be the standards for local approval of historic restoration plans? Discussed were the following but no consensus was reached:

- National Park Service Standards;
- Nebraska State Historic Preservation Standards
- Develop local standards.

What sources of funds are available for historic preservation cost share? State law provides for 10 years of abatement of real estate tax increases caused by historic renovations. The possibility of extending past Wayne building front renovation incentives through zero interest loans or grants was discussed using funds from LB840 or the Wayne revolving loan fund.

Would building fronts have to be restored to a certain time period in Wayne history? There was no committee interest in establishing a theme or time period, only to help restore each building front to the time it was built.

Design range criteria for renovation or construction of buildings in the design overlay district: The committee discussed the following for new and existing buildings:

- percentage of front window space
- Color range
- Signage style and color range
- Building material range
- Architectural style range

The committee asked for some examples of other Nebraska communities that have design standards for down town areas.

The next meeting is scheduled for Monday, Feb. 20 at noon in the city council room. All meetings are open to the public.

Questions or comments?
Call Lowell Johnson, City Administrator at 375-1733 or email me at cityadmin@cityofwayne.org.

There is a general discussion of the possible area of a potential design overlay district to see if there is any consensus on that. The other two main issues before the design committee will be the extent of any proposed design requirements and any requirement or incentive to include historic preservation for existing buildings.

Members have indicated that people they talked with want any down town design overlay district to include commercially zoned property only and limit it to south of 7th. An initial consensus was to match the downtown area zoned B-2. Additional options were: (1) to include only properties fronting Main Street between 7th and Clark. (2) include properties facing Main St. from 7th to Logan Creek Bridge, (3) include all properties from 7th to Clark fronting Main, Pearl and Logan and the side streets within, (4) include all commercial properties between 7th St. and Clark St. and between the west side of Logan St. and the east side of Pearl St.

Historic Preservation
The committee agreed there is value to historic preservation of existing buildings. In small communities that are net out-shopping retail, the value of historic preservation generally improves the "sense of place" and "quality of life" when families are looking at a place to live, students are checking which colleges to attend and when business and professional firms are considering new locations. ## Wayne State College expands Semester Abroad opportunities

Wayne State College will add a semester-long study abroad program in Asia starting in the Spring of 2013, according to President Curt Frye. The Asia program will serve as a companion to the current Semester Abroad in Greece that is now in its fourth year.

"It is a high priority at Wayne State College to offer students experiences in other countries and other cultures," Frye said. "The result is students have a broader world view, and these experiences stand out in the eyes of prospective employers. I am pleased that we are able to add Asia to our already stellar portfolio of travel abroad experiences."

Students in the Asia study abroad program will leave the United States in mid-March 2013 and return in late May after 10 weeks abroad. Their initial home base will be at Providence University, in Taichung, Taiwan, where they will study language and culture. Additional planned travel and experiences include visits to Taipei, Hong Kong, Guangzhou, Changsha, Hangzhou, Shanghai, Xian and Beijing.

"The remarkable thing about our semester abroad programs is the affordability," said Gerald Conway, director of international education at Wayne State College. "We have designed them so that if you can afford to attend Wayne State College for a semester, you can probably afford to include a study abroad experience. Since the programs are classified as full-time, semester long, students can use their scholarships, grants and financial aid just as if it were a regular semester. Also, with proper planning, the credits earned can fit right into the student's requirements for graduation regardless of their major."

A distinctive feature of the semester abroad experiences in Asia and Greece is that they are faculty-led by professors from Wayne State and they are open to students attending any college or university in the region.

"Asia seems like a long distance away, but Wayne State already has strong connections at our host institution, Providence University," added Michael Marek, the Wayne State faculty member who will lead the semester in Asia. "Our faculty and students have visited Providence in the past. We know our way around, and they have good Internet so that our traveling students can talk back home every day."

The curriculum for the Asian experience will include diverse experiences in Asian culture in areas such as art, history, music, martial arts and religion. Language instruction in Mandarin will also be featured.

Students interested in studying in Asia or Greece in 2013 will have the opportunity to ask questions at an open forum from 3:15-5 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 23, in Humanities, Room 301. Both programs are limited to 24 participants each semester.

'Soft' opening set for new coffee shop

By this time next week, Wayne's newest business, Miss Molly's Drive Thru, will be open for business.

The drive-through coffee shop, located at Seventh and Dearborn streets, across from Parnida, is owned by Molly Younts.

A 'soft' opening is planned for early next week for those who have been involved with the construction phase of the business.

"At the present time we are testing out our drinks and machinery and perfecting our menu," said Melodee Younts, who has also been involved with bringing the business to Wayne.

Tentatively, the business will open at 6 a.m., Monday through Friday, and remain open through the morning. Plans include being open on Saturdays also, although the exact time frame has not been determined.

city sales tax increase for operations, which would require voter approval."

Still, that would not be enough to make up the difference, which means city services would have to be cut.

"If you cut services, where do you cut? What do you cut? Recreation is one of those things that's wonderful for a city to provide, but it's not a major function and we may have to look at having more volunteers doing things in recreation," she said.

The city could also annex the industrial park, but that would not bring in that much more revenue to alleviate the situation, Braden said.

Braden said city officials, including Mayor Ken Chamberlain, are communicating their opposition to the bill to Sen. Flood, District 17 Sen. Dave Bloomfield of Hoskins, and Nebraska Gov. Dave Heineman, and she encouraged local residents to contact those individuals as well.

"Any time the state looks for money, they look at things they have in place such as this," Braden said. "Gov. Heineman doesn't want to raise taxes on the state level, but it would force the local level to look pretty hard at doing something, and we're not happy about it."

Heartbeat still strong at Winside

It's state wrestling week, so here's some news and notes from the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— For some small towns in this country, the local school is the heartbeat of the community.

You can imagine the flutter that occurred last week in Winside when this column's topic of discussion was conference realignment with the possibility of a co-op arrangement between Winside and Stanton taking place.

I'm happy to report that there is nothing to the possibility of Wildcat athletics joining forces with anybody anytime soon.

I had a chat Tuesday with Winside superintendent and boys basketball coach Jeff Messersmith, and he said that not only is Winside NOT looking to co-op with Stanton, but they are looking at maintaining and strengthening the athletic programs they now offer.

"We've had no discussions with Stanton or anybody," Messersmith told me.

The district is currently in the beginning stages of a strategic analysis to see where the district's strengths and weaknesses are at and determine what they need to do to continue and improve the programs they now offer.

Winside's enrollment numbers are down right now, thanks to some smaller class sizes in the high school and middle school. Those numbers should turn around, however, with some bigger classes at the elementary level. The district is in good enough shape to continue with the sports programs they now have, and Messersmith is optimistic those numbers will turn upward in the years to come.

That's good news for Winside fans — and no doubt it will help to keep me busy for the foreseeable future.

— Because of my commitments for state wrestling, I won't be able to be at the home finale for the Wayne State basketball teams when they take on arch rival Augustana at Rice Auditorium.

Earlier this week, I had the pleasure of interviewing the five seniors on the third-ranked Wildcat women's basketball team that has won 89 percent of its home games and has led the team to 41 consecutive wins on their home floor.

Fortunately, we'll get to see them on the home floor at least one more time when they host a first-round game in the NSIC tournament in two weeks, and there's the possibility of as many as three more games if they secure the host site for regionals. Safe to say, however, that these are five outstanding young ladies who, I will bet, are going to be as big a success in life as they have been on the basketball floor. They've been a blast to watch these last four years, and I hope this team can extend this magical season all the way to the Elite Eight in San Antonio.

— Being your kid's parent is a tough enough job without also being that kid's coach.

It takes a special individual to be able to juggle those two jobs and do them both well. Joyce Hoskins has been able to balance her relationship with her daughter, Katie, as a mom and as her volleyball coach.

So it doesn't come as much of a surprise to me that she's decided to step aside now that Katie's volleyball-playing days are over (she has a basketball scholarship to Wayne State). She does have a son, Ben, who is in high school and a younger daughter, Mollie, who is still a few years away from potentially following in her big sister's footsteps, and it seemed like the right opportunity for mom to put away the whistle and spend more time being a mom.

Joyce did an outstanding job during her tenure as the Wayne High volleyball coach, and her role as a coach helped a lot of great athletes improve over the years. This decision, I'm sure, will help her do an even better job in the role that's of utmost importance in her kids' lives — as their mom.

Wayne High bowlers get hardware at state

LINCOLN — When it comes to bowling, Wayne High is on a roll.

The boys and girls club bowling teams nearly made it a clean sweep, as the two teams brought home a state championship and a runner-up trophy from the Nebraska High School Bowling Federation championships Sunday at Sun Valley Lanes in Lincoln.

The Wayne girls defeated Burwell/Ord three games to two in the Baker-format Class C finals. Wayne won the first two games 189-151 and 179-157 before Burwell/Ord tied the match with wins of 132-122 and 137-122. In the deciding game, Wayne outscored Burwell/Ord 185-167. It is the first state title for the Wayne girls team.

"It was very exciting," coach Mike Varley said. "I wish we could have got it done in three games, but it was a little nerve-racking and the girls held it together and did a great job."

The Wayne High girls were tied with Burwell/Ord for the top spot after the eight Class C teams rolled a four-game series to determine seeding for the best-of-five Baker-format playoff. Burwell/Ord won a one-ball roll-off to take the No. 1 seed, but that didn't seem to bother the Wayne girls.

In tournament play on Saturday, Wayne swept Ravenna in three sets (160-113, 163-116, 147-130), then took four games to dismiss Plainview (165-108, 127-157, 152-141, 178-116) to reach the finals.

It was looking like it might be an all-area final after Wakefield beat Chase County in four sets in the first round, but Burwell/Ord took care of Wakefield in four sets to set up a showdown of the top two teams for all the marbles.

Varley said he thought the girls were more nervous during the day on Saturday than they were for their finals match on Sunday.

"We lost in the first round last year and in the semis two years ago, so making it to the finals was a relief for them," he said. "We were probably more nervous on Saturday to get to the finals than we were in the finals, and Winside's Forrest Jones takes down Klint Conroy of Pender in the D-2 district finals at 160 pounds. Jones was the lone district champion among eight area state qualifiers.

Winside sends six to state, takes fourth in D-2 district

OAKLAND — Back in December, Winside wrestling coach Paul Sok knew his team would be low on numbers.

And while the Wildcat grapplers didn't have enough to field a full 14-man roster this season, they certainly made the most of what they had. As a result, the Wildcats will send six wrestlers to the State Wrestling Championships this week in Omaha after a solid fourth-place finish in the D-2 district wrestling meet.

Forrest Jones was the lone district champ for the Wildcats, taking the 160-pound title with a 6-2 decision over Klint Conroy of Pender. Brady Wurdeman (106) and 2011 state runner-up Coltin Brokaw (170) both earned runner-up honors, while Levi Lange (145), Caleb Lienemann (182) and Gatlin Jensen (195) all came back through the consolation bracket to punch their tickets to state.

When the season started, Sok said he was optimistic that he could get a half-dozen Wildcats to Omaha, and the team made his prophecy come true Saturday afternoon.

"That's what we were looking for at the beginning of the year," he said. "It was nice to see that we were able to do that, and all eight of the kids who wrestled won a match for us. A couple of more wins and we could have gotten third in the district, but I'm pretty happy with how

Wildcats continue winning ways at Rice Auditorium

Wayne State made a season-high 14 3-pointers on just 27 attempts and avenged an earlier loss to Mary with a convincing 80-63 win Friday at Rice Auditorium.

The visiting Marauders took an early 9-2 lead, but the third-ranked Wildcats responded with a 28-4 run over a 10-minute stretch to take a 30-13 advantage, and were never threatened after that.

Mary pulled within nine at 30-21 before WSC finished the first half with a 35-23 lead on a putback by Ashley Arlen for her only two points of the first half. The Wildcats sank 6-of-11 3-pointers to take the lead and used the hot shooting from beyond the arc in the second half to put the Marauders away.

Mary pulled within seven early in the second half at 35-28, but the Wildcats put the game out of reach by making five consecutive 3-pointers, including back-to-back bombs by Duwelius, to highlight a 17-2 run to extend their lead back up to 22 points at 52-30 lead with 16:48 left. Wayne State led by as many as 24 points and maintained a sizeable lead the rest of the way.

Senior All-American Ashley Arlen led four played in double figures with 16 points, moving her into fifth place on the all-time team scoring list with 1,520 points. Duwelius followed with 15 points, Ali Schwartzwald scored 14 and Ashton Yossi chipped in 11.

On Saturday, the Wildcats came out flat and had to use a late rally to down Northern State 55-50 for their 41st straight win at home, improving to 23-2 overall and maintaining their lead in the NSIC at 17-2.

majority of the game. Arlen sat the final 13:47 of the first half on the bench with foul problems, and Northern State took advantage to take a 26-18 lead into the locker room.

The visiting Wolves maintained their lead over the Wildcats for most of the second half until the Wildcats rallied in the final five minutes for the victory. Duwelius made back-to-back three pointers to fuel a 11-2 run and pulled the Wildcats within one at 30-29 with 16:24 left in the game. Duwelius' 3-pointer with 18:18 left made her the team's all-time leader in 3-point baskets, eclipsing the previous mark of 230

Hoskins decides to step down

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

For the past four years, Wayne High volleyball coach Joyce Hoskins has spent a lot of time watching her oldest daughter, Katie, play high school volleyball.

Unfortunately, that time working with one child has come at the expense of seeing her younger children participate in sports as well.

On Friday, Hoskins told Wayne Public Schools superintendent Mark Lenihan that she was stepping down after 19 years as head coach of the Blue Devils. The move will allow her to not only see her oldest daughter play basketball at Wayne State College, but will give her the chance to watch her younger children — son Ben and youngest daughter Mollie — play sports as well.

"It's been difficult with my kids, the ages that they are, to miss their activities," Hoskins told The Wayne Herald. "This year, I got to see my son run cross country twice because I was coaching in either a practice or a game. I saw Katie play one volleyball game in seventh grade and one in eighth grade, and with Mollie being in middle school, I thought it was more important in my life right now to be a mom than a coach."

Hoskins had a solid career as the Blue Devil mentor, posting a 338-207 mark in 19 seasons, the most wins by a volleyball coach in Wayne High history. She took the Blue Devils to state four times, won a pair of Mid-State Conference titles and has also coached in the Nebraska Coaches Association all-star game, which she will get to do this summer.

Lenihan, who said the school will begin a search for Hoskins' replacement in the near future, said he had a lot of respect for her work as a coach.

"She's developed a very strong volleyball program, and we appreciate all the years she has given to maintain Wayne High volleyball as a solid and competitive program, year in and year out," he said.

While Hoskins will continue teaching at Wayne Middle School and will help the new coach get things going, she will miss the chance to develop relationships like the ones she has had over the years with her players.

"I feel bad, but I know whoever comes next will be fine and I hope they can bring some new ideas," she said. "I'll definitely miss the kids and I'm very competitive and will miss the game, but I just think it was my time."

Martin is only Blue Devil going to state

BLAIR - Only one wrestler will represent Wayne High School at this week's state wrestling tournament, but the Blue Devils came away from the B-2 district tournament with some hope for next year.

Four wrestlers reached the consolation semifinals and were one match away from making it to state out of what is arguably the toughest wrestling district in the state. And while 170-pound senior Malcolm Martin is the only Blue Devil who will be on the floor at Century Link Center in Omaha, coach Anthony Lawrence saw some good things from the younger kids who were a match away from making it to state.

"Really, with these kids you can't hold your head down," he said. "Demetrius Alexander was a basketball player who came over to the team after Christmas and almost made it to state, and that's a testament to his perseverance. And Logan Reinke had a good freshman year for us, and I think he has a good chance to be a state qualifier."

Martin reached the semifinals at 170 pounds and lost to eventual district champion Will Schany of Blair. He bounced back to post an 11-8 decision over Justin Hansen of Gretna to earn the trip to state, then lost a 9-5 decision in the consolation finals to Phil Rasmussen of Omaha Skutt.

"Malcolm's a good wrestler," Lawrence said. "He ran into trouble with a defending state champion in the semis, but he bounced back and wrestled well in the heartbreak round and got in. He put on a performance and beat some good kids to get in, so he deserves it."

Reinke (145), Alexander (160) and Dylan Pflanz all reached the consolation semifinals and were one match away from state. Reinke and Pflanz were both pinned in the second period of their consolation semifinal matches, while Alexander was beaten on a major decision to fall a match short of qualifying.

"We had four kids that were a match away, and we faced some tough kids," Lawrence said. "We're still a young team. We only had three seniors this year and had some young kids who are just starting out, but we'll bounce back."

Martin will wrestle in the state tournament Thursday morning at the Century Link Center in Omaha. B-2 District at Blair Team Standings (Qualifiers)

Lots of heartbreaks for area wrestlers

NORFOLK - Wakefield and Laurel-Concord/Coleridge both experienced an unfortunate abundance of heartbreak during the consolation semifinals at the C-2 district wrestling tournament Saturday.

The consolation semifinals, known as the "heartbreak round" to wrestling fans, was particularly unkind to wrestlers from both teams as they battled for one of the four state-qualifying spots in their respective weight classes.

Wakefield had seven wrestlers who were a match away from state and the Bears had three in the hunt. When the dust had settled, though, only Wakefield freshman Nick Gonzalez was able to earn the opportunity to compete in this week's state tournament in Omaha after surviving his consolation semifinal match at 120 pounds.

"Nick beat a kid from Madison, and that was a huge win because he had lost to him earlier in the season," Wakefield coach Travis Volk said. "He wrestled extremely well for a freshman and showed a lot of confidence and composure on the mat."

Gonzalez lost both of his matches to eventual consolation champion Dalton Graybeal of Scribner-Snyder/Guardian Angels Central Catholic. In the second match, Graybeal was able to make two points enough as he hung on for a 2-0 decision over Gonzalez.

"When he faced (Graybeal) earlier this season, it was a lopsided loss so he wrestled extremely well against that kid," Volk said.

Gonzalez was the only Trojan wrestler at Norfolk Catholic High School to survive the heartbreak round, as teammates Irvin Ramirez (113), Alex Calderon (126), Daniel VanderVeen (145), Jacob Nelson (170), Steve Sarmiento (195) and Alan Lopez (285) all fell a match short of the round to qualify for state.

"We lost a couple of real close matches," Volk said. "One we lost in the last seconds of overtime, and another we lost by a point. It was probably the roughest day of wrestling we've had, and it's bad that it had to happen at districts."

The same could also be said for the LCC Bears, who had three in the heartbreak round and saw all three go down to defeat, as Drew Lunz (126), Austin Roach (152) and Chris Heydon (160) all lost in the consolation semis.

"It was disheartening, to say the least," LCC coach Don Maxwell said. "We had five kids going into the second day and got three to the consolation semifinals. We knew we had a couple of kids that would have tough matches, but losing Austin's was just heartbreaking."

Roach picked up a takedown with :10 left in his match to take a 5-4 lead, but his opponent was able to

Wayne girls' state hopes fall in subdistricts

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

NORFOLK - Wayne's outside offense had trouble figuring out the long 2-3 zone of the Pierce Lady Bluejays.

By the time the Blue Devils were able to figure it out, it was too late. Wayne rallied from a 15-point deficit and got as close as four points, but Pierce held on and came away with a 51-39 win in the semifinals of the C1-7 subdistrict Tuesday at Norfolk High School.

The loss was a tough one to take for the Blue Devils, who started the season out with a bang and weren't able to sustain that early momentum coming into Tuesday's sub-district matchup. "Unfortunately, there was going to be one really good team that was done playing, and this was not what we had anticipated," coach Nate Wall said. "I'm happy that the girls played until the final buzzer. It wasn't our best game tonight, and Pierce just played really well."

The Bluejays jumped out to a quick 7-0 lead before Marissa Fallesen hit a 3-pointer to get Wayne on the board three minutes into the game. Wayne trailed by six after one period, but Megan Hoffart came off the bench and hit a basket and a 3-pointer on consecutive trips down the floor to tie the game at 12-12.

Wayne had a difficult time dealing with Pierce's tall perimeter players and the 2-3 zone defense that made moving the ball difficult. Wayne had troubles hitting from the outside, and it took a high-arching, buzzer-beating 25-footer by Jaly Zeiss to get the Blue Devils back in the game at the half, trailing 23-20.

Pierce's zone defense continued to present problems for the Wayne offense. The Blue Devil defense was keeping them in the game, but it wasn't until Caitlin Fehringer hit two free throws in the final minute of the third period before Wayne got on the board in the second half.

"They're so long out of that zone, and it took a while for us to really find something that was going to work against it," Wall said.

Wayne trailed by as many as 15 points with 5:43 to go before Fehringer helped launch a fourth-quarter comeback. She scored four straight times, including a three-point play, to help spark an 11-0 rally over the course of a little more than 90 seconds that got the Blue Devils within four at 40-36.

"We finally found something in the fourth and were able to get back in the game, and Pierce made a nice adjustment to it," Wall said. "I knew we had one good run left in us, and I saw us coming back and taking the lead. You just knew our trict matchup.

Jones got the season off to a good start before running into a rough stretch that started, oddly enough, in the same gymnasium where he qualified for state.

"He lost his first match here, and then he lost to a couple of kids out in Ainsworth the following week, so he's been on a mission to get back into form," Sok said. "The Conroy kid from Pender is pretty tough, but Forrest is wrestling really solid right now."

Wurdeman ran into the top-ranked 106-pounder from Pender in the finals, while Brokaw was unable to come back in a matchup of highly-ranked 170-pounders. Still, those three seniors will have the experience of qualifying last year - Wurdeman and Brokaw both finished as medalists - and that will make them a contender for medals this weekend, Sok said.

"All three seniors are returning qualifiers," he said. "Forrest has a tough weight class, but if he stays focused he can go as far as he wants. Coltin is a returning state runner-up and his bracket could go either way, and Brady's also been down there before and knows what it takes."

That will be beneficial to the three newcomers to the big dance - Lienemann, Lange and Jensen.

"Caleb has been wrestling well for us, and when he gets over his awe of upperclassmen he's going to be a force," Sok said. "Levi and Gatlin both started the season 0-2 and have been working hard and just kept plugging away. We had seven guys finish with 20 or more wins this season, and those two just pushed and kept going and they deserve to be going to state."

The Wildcats will compete in Class D action Thursday afternoon, beginning at 4:30 at the Century Link Center in Omaha.

Lady Bears post wins, LCC boys get road split

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge girls closed out the regular season with a pair of road wins, taking care of Wisner-Pilger and Neligh-Oakdale.

On Thursday, the Lady Bears went to Wisner and took care of the Lady Gators in a 41-29 decision.

The game was a low-scoring battle, and the Lady Bears kept themselves in the game with some solid defensive play, putting the game out of reach in the fourth quarter by holding their hosts to a single free throw.

Mandy Nelson led a balanced Lady Bear attack with 15 points, Jade Cunningham added 11 and Katie Gubbels put in 10 points.

The following night, the Lady Bears hit the road again and came out on top against Neligh-Oakdale, posting a 53-44 win.

The Lady Bears got out to an eight-point lead at intermission and were able to maintain that advantage and head into the postseason on an upbeat note. Cunningham had a game-high 18 points to lead the Lady Bears, while Nelson added 15 and Gubbels scored 10.

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge boys picked up their second win of the season on Friday, posting a 50-40 win at Neligh-Oakdale.

The Bears jumped on the Warriors early and took a 30-16 halftime lead. That was more than enough for the LCC boys, as they were able to maintain a double-digit lead and come away with the win.

Daniel Hartnett paced the Bears at Neligh with 17 points, while Mitch Heikes added 10 and Brady Papenhausen put in six.

The Bears ran into a buzzsaw the previous night at Wisner-Pilger, as the host Gators jumped the Bears for 50 points in the first half on their way to an 81-32 win.

Heikes was the only Bear in double figures, finishing with 11 points. Aaron Calwell added six points.

do just enough to get a reversal with time running out, ending Roach's state hopes with a 6-5 decision.

"It was a really good match," Maxwell said. "Austin took the kid down with 10 seconds left, and the kid turned in on him and was sitting on his leg and Austin couldn't get his legs back out. That was a tough one to swallow."

As it stands, Gonzalez will get the experience, as a freshman, to compete in the state tournament that begins Thursday at the Century Link Center in Omaha.

"He's going to have a tough first-round match with an undefeated kid from Wood River who is being picked to win it all," Volk said. "But we're looking forward to getting down there and seeing how he reacts to the atmosphere. We're trying to prepare him for everything and get him the best experience down there that we can."

As for those wrestlers who fell a match short, both coaches have hopes that those kids will get a chance to take that next step and get to state next season.

"We're losing only two seniors on the varsity, so we'll have everybody else back and start planning for next year after state and see what we need to do to get to that next level," Volk said.

"Everybody is pretty much back for us next year and Austin will be our only senior starter," Maxwell said. "We had nine sophomores and one freshman along with a couple of juniors, and the kids have really raised the expectations of what to expect out of them, so we're looking forward to next year."

Wildcats

held by Tracy Williamson from 1999-2003.

Northern State came right back with a 10-2 run and pushed the lead back to nine points at 40-31 with 12:44 remaining when Wayne State made another rally. The Wildcats scored nine of the next 10 points and got within one at 41-40 on a jumper by Arlen.

Wayne State finally took the lead at 48-46 with 2:39 to play on a Duwelius layup. Northern State tied the game at 48-48 on a Sarah Hintz layup with 1:53 to play, but Duwelius drained a trey at the 1:37 mark to give the Wildcats the lead for good at 51-48.

Arlen finished the game with 19 points and moved into fourth place on the all-time scoring list with 1,539 points, surpassing Karen Hochstein's 1,530 points from 1999-2003. Duwelius added 14 points and was 4-of-6 from the arc, giving her a total of 233 career 3-pointers to pass the previous school record of 230 held by Tracy Williamson from 1999-2003.

Wayne State will be at home again Saturday hosting Augustana College in a 4 p.m. matchup of the top two teams in the Northern Sun Conference.

those first two games were probably two of the best they bowled as a team."

Wayne looked like they were on their way to a three-game sweep of Burwell/Ord, but could only must 122 pins in each of the next two games to set up the fifth-game showdown. Wayne put themselves in position, and when Burwell/Ord missed a single-pin spare attempt in the 10th frame, Wayne had the title wrapped up before Miranda Denklauf's first shot in the last frame.

The Wayne High fivesome of Aschoff, Burgandy Roberts, Rachel Waddington, Sara Aschoff and Megan Aschoff got together in a group hug after winning the title, which was a great moment for the coach to witness.

"I know the girls were all happy to win it," Varley said. "Burgandy went to state in golf, but the other girls haven't been to state so I was really happy for them."

The Wayne High boys were looking to match the girls' effort and appeared to be well on their way. In their four-game set to determine seeding, Wayne edged North Bend/

East Butler by five pins to take the top seed. They beat Norfolk Catholic in four games (169-127, 136-150, 192-162, 151-113) and knocked off Burwell/Ord in four (179-137, 151-150, 183-196, 169-140) to get to the all-district final against Hartington Cedar Catholic.

"The kids bowled well the whole way," coach Dusty Baker said. "Corey finished second in the singles to a kid from North Bend that averaged 205 during the season. Corey won state as a sophomore and darn near got his second, so he bowled really well."

It was the sixth time Wayne and Hartington Cedar Catholic had locked horns on the lanes this season, and all the matches had been close throughout the season, Baker said.

"We beat them in a roll-off in conference, and they beat us in districts," he said.

It was a rematch of the district finals in the Class C boys event, as Hartington Cedar Catholic edged Wayne in five games. Hartington won the first game 169-142 before Wayne tied it up with a 185-173 win. Hartington took a 2-1 lead with a 197-160 win, but Wayne forced a fifth match with an outstanding effort in a 202-142 drubbing. In the final game, Wayne came up short as they lost 205-170.

"It wasn't so much that we bowled bad, but they bowled a 205, which is pretty good for a Baker game," he said. "It was pretty even throughout the fifth game, but the last three or four frames they got some strikes and took off."

In individual competition, three Wayne bowlers finished among the top 10 in their respective divisions. In the boys division, Corey Doorlag finished as runner-up and Dillon Wieland finished sixth. In the girls division, Miranda Denklauf took a sixth-place finish.

Baker said the weekend showed what kind of bowlers Wayne has on the lanes.

"I think it showed that the Wayne bowling program is one of the best in the state," he said. "We've won three state titles in the last four years and have a state runner-up as well, and we have an individual champ in boys and girls, so it was very impressive what the kids did this year and what they've done the last few years."

Pollard wins second NSIC pentathlon, medals earned at Concordia Invite

Wayne State senior pentathlete Paige Pollard repeated as champion of the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference indoor women's pentathlon, held Sunday in Bemidji, Minnesota.

The senior from Newcastle was first out of 21 entries with a total of 3,506 points in the five-event competition. She finished first in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:14.08, was third in the shot put at 33 feet, 5 3/4 inches, and took fourth in the long jump with a leap of 17 feet, 5 1/2 inches. Wayne State won three men's events and had one first-place finish for the women Saturday at the Concordia Invitational Indoor Track and Field Meet held in Seward.

The Wildcat women's team was led by Wayne sophomore Carly Fehring, who won the weight throw at 55 feet, 8 1/2 inches, and was third in the shot put at 43 feet, 6 inches.

Senior Brianne Hofstetter also had a strong day, placing second in the triple jump at 36 feet, 9 1/2 inches, to go with a fourth-place finish in the long jump at 17 feet, 9 3/4 inches. Emily Wells took second in the weight throw at 55 feet, 3 1/2 inches, and Sidney Blum took seventh in the triple jump at 34 feet, 4 3/4 inches to round out the top-eight finishers for the Wildcats.

The Wayne State men's team had three event winners, as senior thrower Ross Bunchek captured the weight throw with a new meet record toss of 63 feet, 10 1/2 inches, senior Andrew Jansen crossed the line first in the 800-meter run (1:56.97) while Wayne freshman Zach Thomsen finished first in the 600-meter run in a time of 1:22.91.

Senior Alex Timperley was second in the triple jump at 45 feet, 2 1/2 inches, Matt Peter finished seventh in the shot put at 47 feet, 5 inches, and Greg Tracy was eighth in the 5,000-meter run at 16:27.20.

Wayne State will compete Friday at the Nebraska Tuneup Open in Lincoln.

Wakefield falls in subdistrict

By STEVE MARIK
Of The Herald

A late comeback fueled by Lauren Lehmkuhl wasn't enough for the Wakefield girls basketball team Monday, as they fell 40-29 to the Ponca Indians in C2-8 subdistrict action Monday at Wayne High School.

The Trojans got off to a sluggish start, going 0-for-7 from behind the arc in the opening minutes of the game.

"I think it (3-point misses) affected us a lot," Wakefield coach Matt Brenn said. "We forced them, and didn't look comfortable shooting them. And by the time you look at it, we dug ourselves a 10-point hole."

Ponca, on the other hand, found their scoring touch by finding passing lanes and taking advantage of wide open shots near the hoop.

Megan Pollard added six of the Indians' nine points in the first quarter, giving Ponca a 9-2 lead after the first eight minutes of play.

Fouls piled up for Wakefield in the second, proving to be the story of the first half. Ponca wasted no time capitalizing on the free throws, the Indians were 8-for-12 from the free throw line.

"Any time you shoot less free throws than your opponent, that's never a good thing," Brenn said. "They probably made more than we shot all together."

With the game seemingly turned into a foul-fest, the Trojans slowly, but surely crept back into the game thanks to the efforts of Lehmkuhl.

A 3-point make by Lehmkuhl sparked the crowd and the rest of her team just before the halftime buzzer sounded, putting Wakefield back in the game by a score of 14-11.

"That looked like it might have turned the tide," Brenn said. "But the rest of the night we just really couldn't pocket that momentum."

Lehmkuhl turned up the heat at the start of the second half, looking like an entirely new player.

After scoring another triple from long range and a jumper halfway through the quarter, teammate Emily Puls cut the deficit to three points off a layup with about :20 remaining in the third, 25-22.

But the Indians' Alexis Markworth had other plans. She snagged rebound after rebound and drove the length of the court, sinking layups on a number of occasions to quickly end any hope of a Trojan comeback. Markworth would end up with 16 points on the night.

"I think she sparks them and gets them going on the defensive end," Brenn said. "She's quick and handles the ball well. She's a tough player to beat."

Sealing the win with less than two minutes left to play, Markworth downed another breakaway layup to put the Indians on top 40-29.

Wildcats season comes to a close

PIERCE - Winside's defense played well enough, but the offense couldn't get going as the Wildcats' season came to an end Monday.

The Wildcats couldn't get things going in the second half as Niobrara-Verdigre came away with a 30-26 win in the first round of the D1-5 subdistrict at Pierce High School.

Coach Marland Erbst said his team played well enough to win on the defensive side of the ball, but just couldn't get things going on the offensive end.

"Defensively, I thought we played pretty well," he said. "It was a close game and the girls played hard, but we had a lot of turnovers and I think we were 0-for-10 shooting free throws in the first half. We were challenged offensively, and that's something we'll need to work on over the summer."

Courtney Petzoldt led a balanced attack for the Wildcats with six points, while Brittany Janke added five and Shaylinn Mundil and Shelby Lienemann each added four as Winside ended the season 2-19.

Erbst said the team will need to work on the offensive side of things in an effort to show some improvement next season.

"Hopefully we can work on that this summer and try and improve offensively," he said. "I thought we played good enough defensively this season, and our frustrations on offense would just carry over."

Wildcats overcomes loss, beats Northern

In a game that featured 11 ties and 10 lead changes, University of Mary squeaked out a 61-60 win over Wayne State Friday in NSIC action at Rice Auditorium.

Ryan Rolfzen had the hot hand on the night for the Wildcats, going 6-for-8 shooting from the three point line, but it was not enough as Wayne State lost a heartbreaker to the Marauders when Vontrell Seroyer's last-second shot missed.

Wayne State stayed close early, thanks to the outside shooting by Rolfzen. The sophomore was a perfect 4-for-4 behind the arc in the first 10 minutes of the contest, and Wayne State eventually went on a 10-0 run to take a 26-9 lead on Adol Aluong's 3-pointer with 6:10 to go in the first half.

Wayne State led by seven points, but Mary closed the half strong and trimmed the Wildcat advantage to two at halftime 32-30.

The visiting Marauders opened the second half strong and took their biggest lead on a Damon Smith free throw with 13:45 to play in the game to make it 42-37.

Wayne State came went on a 17-4 run over the next 7:12 and took their biggest lead of the evening at 54-46 with 6:33 left before Mary came back to regain the lead.

Wayne State got within one at 59-58 with 1:40 left as Williams sank one of two free throws, and Mary's Damon Smith sank two free throws with :22 to play giving the Marauders a three-point lead at 61-58.

Seroyer drove the lane and scored with :14 to play, and Wayne State pressured Mary in the backcourt and forced a turnover to get the ball back with :11 Seroyer missed a shot from the left side of the lane and Mary hung on for the win.

The Wildcats kept their NSIC tournament hopes alive in a back-and-forth game that featured seven lead changes and five ties with an 85-75 comeback win over Northern State Saturday evening.

The Wildcats used a 54-30 second-half scoring advantage and a game-high 30 points from Seroyer and 25 points from Shelby to overcome a 14-point halftime deficit in defeating the Wolves.

The Wolves led by as much as 16 in the first half and took a 14-point lead into the locker room at intermission after they shot an impressive 17-of-22 from the field.

The second half was a different story, though, as the Wildcats started the second half on a 9-0 run and used three pointers by Seroyer and Shelby to tie things up at 48-48 with 14:27 left in regulation.

Wayne State finished the second half on a 18-9 run as the Wildcats' defense tightened up and did not allow Northern State a field goal in the last 3:14 of the game. Clayfell Harris hit a layup and Shelby put the big nail in the coffin with a late 3-pointer to give Wayne State the 10-point win.

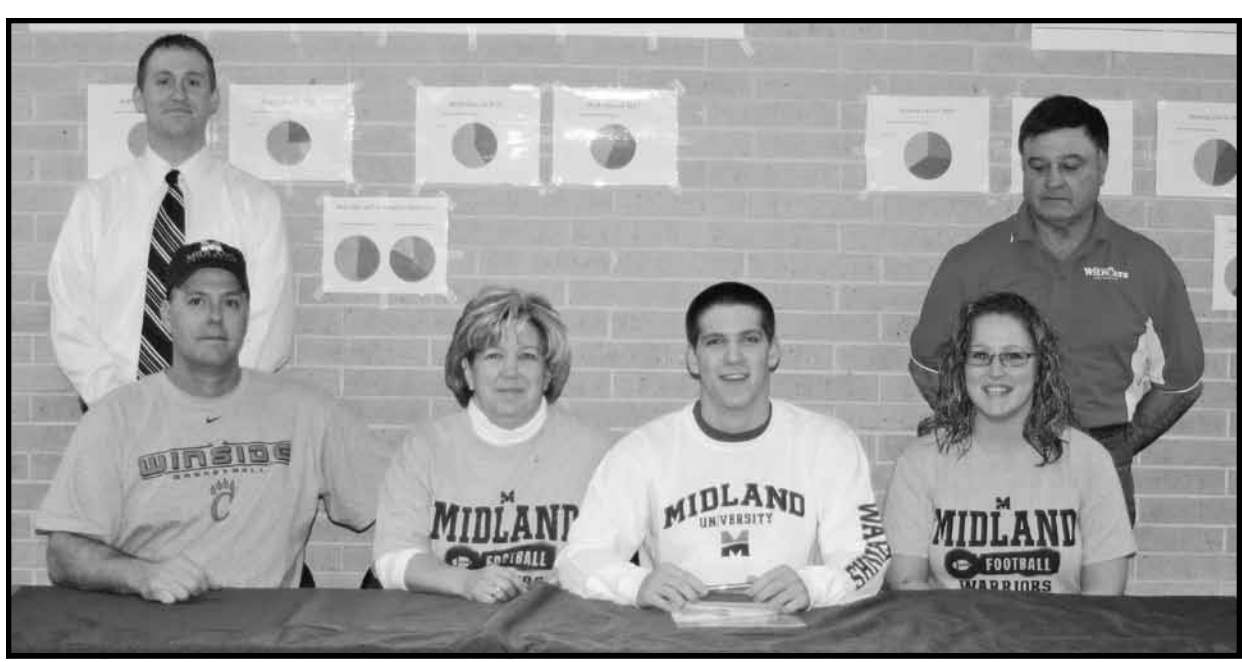

Seroyer, scored a game-high 30 points for the Wildcats, Shelby poured in 25 and Williams chipped in 12.

The Wildcats, 7-16 overall and 6-13 in the NSIC, will be at home Saturday hosting Augustana in a 6 p.m. contest.

Meyer signs with Midland

Winside senior Blaine Meyer signed a letter of intent recently to play football at Midland University. Meyer was recruited as a defensive back. On hand for the signing were (front) Larry Meyer, Kathy Meyer, Blaine Meyer and Shelby Meyer, (back) Midland offensive coordinator Eric Inama and Winside head coach Tim Manzer.

Lady Bears survive in C2-9

The Laurel-Concord girls basketball team did just enough to pull off a comeback win against Hartington CC, 45-44 Tuesday night in C2-9 subdistrict semifinal action at Wausa High School.

With both teams neck and neck the entire game, the Lady Bears held a slim two-point lead, 22-20, at halftime.

Jade Cunningham and good team free throw shooting were two bright spots for the Lady Bears late in the game. Cunningham would finish with 17 points in the game, while the team shot 70 percent from the charity stripe on their way to rallying past the Trojans in the final seconds.

The win advances LCC to the C2-9 subdistrict final against Crofton, Thursday at 7 p.m. at Wausa.

Wildcats come close, girls fall to Osmond

OSMOND - The Winside boys basketball team battled Osmond tough for three periods, but the Tigers held on at the end and posted a 57-49 win over the Wildcats in action here Thursday.

The Wildcats kept it close for much of the night. Osmond outscored the Wildcats 21-15 in the final eight minutes to come away with the win.

The Wildcats had a good night shooting from the floor, hitting on 38 percent of their shots. They also outscored Osmond 33-27, but 23 turnovers hurt the Wildcats' offense as they fell to 3-16 on the season.

Blaine Meyer scored 13 points and Alec Sindelar added 12 for Winside, who closes out the regular season at home Friday against Newcastle and Saturday at West Holt.

The regular-season finale for the Winside girls basketball team was not a good one, as Osmond dominated the Wildcats in a 54-12 win Thursday.

Osmond held Winside scoreless in the first period and took a 27-6 lead at halftime. They put the game out of reach with a 21-4 third-quarter run on their way to the easy win.

Six girls each scored a basket for the Wildcats, as Nazya Thies, Shaylinn Mundil, Mallory Stubbs, Carly Thies and Bianca Marino each scored two points.

Blue Devil teams take care of Madison

Chris Rogers goes up for two points for the Wayne High boys in their 57-29 win over Madison Friday at Wayne High School.

By STEVE MARIK
Of The Herald

The final home game for the Wayne girls turned out to be an easy one Friday as the Blue Devils cruised past Madison, 66-19.

With all five seniors starting, Wayne overwhelmed the Dragons in the early part of the first quarter, as Marissa Fallesen drained two 3-pointers.

The Blue Devils ended that quarter with strong play from Caitlin Fehringer, who scored the last six points of the period, helping give Wayne a commanding 16-4 lead.

Defensively, Wayne had the Dragons reeling, only allowing four points, all by Alayna Daberkow, in the first quarter.

"Our plan was to limit (Alayna) Daberkow's touches, and Caitlin (Fehringer) did a great job," coach Nathan Wall said. "She (Daberkow) had all four of their points in that quarter, but she really had to work hard for them."

It didn't get much better for the visitors in the second period, as the Blue Devils turned the game into a track meet by snaring rebounds and throwing outlet passes down the court to players like Katie Hoskins, Jalyn Zeiss and Fehringer, scoring layups at will.

"It's always in the game plan," Wall said. "That's always what we are trying to do, run people to death."

Wayne held Madison scoreless for nearly 11 minutes, hitting the lockers at halftime with a comfortable 36-6 lead.

After Hoskins ballooned the lead 42-6, Wall yanked his senior starters, who played their last home game of the season.

"I wanted all five of them to start together, and all five to leave the game together," Wall said. "They mean so much to me and they played great. I just wanted them to have the respect they deserved."

Megan Hoffart wasted no time taking advantage of the extra playing time, as she scored a quick five points off a sideline jumper and a corner triple, helping propel Wayne to the easy win.

THE BLUE DEVIL BOYS GOT over a shaky first quarter to dominate the visiting Dragons 57-29 in the nightcap.

The Wayne boys found themselves in a dogfight early in the game. With Madison committing six fouls and the Blue Devils committing four, it was difficult for the game to get a good flow in the first.

Senior Gage Rethwisch came to the rescue, as he provided his team with enough scoring to keep it close in the first by scoring four points when they needed it the most.

But basketball is a team sport, and the quarter ended on a sour note, as Eric Pfeifer sank a layup for the Dragons as time expired, putting the hometown Blue Devils in a 10-9 hole to start the second quarter.

Drew Carroll entered the game for the first time and nailed two shots from beyond the arc, helping Wayne go on a 12-0 run right out of the gate in the second. Chris Rogers raised the lead to 20 points for Wayne after he converted both a contested layup under the hoop and the free throw after a foul. The Blue Devils cruised through the remainder of the half on a 24-2 run, entering halftime leading 33-12.

The third quarter was evenly matched, as the top scorer for Wayne was Rethwisch with five, featuring an acrobatic layup while getting fouled. Rethwisch would end up converting on the free throw, giving the Blue Devils a 44-18 lead heading into the final quarter of play.

Rogers used his size and strength to score four points right off the bat in the fourth, helping Wayne close out the 28-point win.

On Saturday night, the Blue Devil boys came out sluggish against Guradian Angels Central Catholic and came up on the short end of a 53-45 decision in West Point.

Grant Anderson led the Blue Devils with 15 points, while Brady Soden and Jordan Backer each added nine.

Corn and soybean growers share on-farm research at Mead gathering

Corn and soybean growers are invited to attend the Nebraska Soybean and Feed Grains Profitability Project on-farm research update March 13 at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Agricultural Research and Development Center near Mead.

The 9 a.m.-3 p.m. program will be at the August N. Christenson Research and Education Building.

Producers will obtain valuable crop production-related information from on-farm research projects conducted on Nebraska farms by Nebraska farmers.

The Nebraska Soybean and Feed Grains Profitability Project is an on-farm research project designed to provide farm operators with an understanding of how to conduct crop research on their farms using their own machinery. Comparisons are scientifically designed, statistically analyzed and conducted for three years to assure reliable, useful information.

"The Seven Wonders of High Yield Corn Management" will be presented via interactive video conference by the luncheon speaker, Fred Below, University of Illinois.

Below is a professor of plant physiology with the University of Illinois and has spent over 25 years researching what it takes to reach the 300 bushel yield goal. Through his innovative research, he has determined the seven most important factors to achieve the highest possible corn yields. His research focuses on understanding factors limiting crop productivity.

Registration is $50 for non-NSF-GPP members. This includes a copy of the annual on-farm research report, refreshments and noon luncheon. Pre-registration is encouraged by March 8.

Both Allen teams fall on road at Bloomfield

The Allen girls played well in their final regular-season game on Thursday, but came up short in a 56-47 loss at Bloomfield.

The Lady Eagles battled the Bees throughout the first half and trailed by a single point at intermission. The Queen Bees outscored the Lady Eagles 17-9 in the third period, and that was enough for Bloomfield to come away with the win.

Lindsey Jones led three Lady Eagles in double figures with 13 points, while Oliva Schneiders added 12 points and Brittany Sullivan put in 10.

The Allen Eagles ran into a fast-paced offense on the road Thursday, as Bloomfield dominated the Eagles in a 71-28 decision.

The Bees stung Allen early with its pressure defense and jumped out to a 25-7 first-quarter lead. Allen's offense recovered a little in the second period, but couldn't get anything going in the second half as Bloomfield walked away with the one-sided win.

Jake Stewart scored 13 points and Zach Crom put in 10 to lead the Eagles, who close out the regular season at home Friday against Winnebago.

LB1114 will force cuts in services

Do you like your activity center here in Wayne? Is it nice being able to drop the kids off at the local swimming pool? Do you appreciate the services that are being offered by the City of Wayne on everything from parks to snow removal?

If the speaker of the Nebraska Legislature has his way, you may not be seeing much of those services in the near future.

Wayne residents should be absolutely livid with State Sen. Mike Flood of Norfolk and the bill he has before the Nebraska Legislature that would, in effect, slash 10 percent of the city's budget and leave the possibility of a gaping hole in services that the city offers, many of which are of a tremendous benefit to the people who call Wayne, America home.

LB1114 would change the way money is distributed to first-class cities through the Municipal Equalization Fund, a state aid distribution mechanism where the state tax commissioner charges a 3 percent administrative fee to collect and return local sales taxes around the state. These funds go into a MEF, and money from that fund is sent to cities throughout the state with higher property taxes.

Currently, Wayne receives about $370,000 in MEF dollars from the state, which accounts for about 10 percent of the city's budget. This money helps offset property taxes, which the city has worked very hard, in the past decade, to bring down.

If Sen. Flood's bill passes as it stands, Wayne's budget take a significant hit, to the tune of $369,483.84. Coincidentally, Flood's home town, Norfolk, would stand to gain more than $217,000 a year that it could, in turn, use to reduce already-low property taxes.

The city of Norfolk already gets a tremendous economic benefit from the sales taxes it generates as a regional hub. In fact, it is not at all a stretch to say that Norfolk benefits from communities like Wayne and other surrounding first- and second-class cities, whose residents work and shop in their community. The $7 million in annual sales tax revenue the city of Norfolk brings in helps keep property taxes in that community low, thereby negating that city's need for MEF dollars that they put into the fund each year.

Those MEF funds are dollars that are put to good use by communities like Wayne. That funding helps the city hire quality people to run the Community Activity Center. It helps keep the community swimming pool operational every summer. It also helps pay for such things as law enforcement and other services offered by the city.

So what happens if LB1114 passes and our city suddenly loses 10 percent of our budget? One of two things – significant cuts in city services, or significantly higher property taxes.

No thank you, Mr. Speaker.

This community is experiencing an economic thrust that has been flying in the face of the bad news we read and hear on the national news. Wayne is growing, and a lot of that is due to the opportunities and the services that are made available through a city government that is in no way bloated and has worked very hard to bring down property tax levels that were once among the highest in the state for a community this size.

There aren't a lot of options the city has available to offset $370,000 in lost revenue that LB1114 would force upon the city for fiscal year 2012-13 and beyond. Even if the city were to annex the industrial park, increase the property tax levy to the maximum and increase the city sales tax by a half-percent (which would require voter approval), that would not make up the lost funding that is used to keep property tax rates down and provide the kind of services that have helped to make Wayne so fantastic a draw for new business that it gets publicized by the Omaha World-Herald.

Why should Wayne and other smaller first-class cities be penalized because regional hubs like Norfolk don't benefit from MEF funding? Who's decision was it to rely on city sales taxes to keep its property tax levy at 17 cents, as Norfolk has? Sen. Flood's hometown already benefits tremendously from generating the kind of sales tax revenue that puts it among the top six cities in the state, and it's because of that sales tax revenue – generated in no small part by people from area communities who would be impacted by LB1114 – that his community helps support smaller communities, like Wayne, that ultimately help generate the relief in property taxes that they now enjoy.

Flood recently told the Norfolk Daily News that he is drafting an amendment to include cities like Wayne in the bill, saying "The bill that I put in is not the one I want to pass." Then why put it in at all, Mr. Speaker?

In a letter to L. Lynn Rex, executive director of the League of Nebraska Municipalities, Flood said, "Living in Norfolk, I understand and appreciate the complicated fiscal situation of smaller communities whose residents often shop and work in larger hub cities."

What Flood is trying not to say here is this – it's not enough that the residents of Wayne and other communities of its size brings sales tax revenue into our communities that help keep our property taxes down. We (Norfolk) now want to take away the economic benefit for you (Wayne) that is gained from the collection of those sales taxes that are generated by those who come into our city so that we can continue to benefit while, at the same time, forcing you to cut services and provide less to your community.

Contact Sen. Flood at (402) 471-2929, our state Sen. Dave Bloomfield (402) 471-2716, and Gov. Dave Heineman (402) 471-2424 and let it be known that the community of Wayne can not afford, nor will it stand for, the passage of LB1114.

Dems have viable candidates?

By ED HOWARD

LINCOLN – Retiring U.S. Sen. Ben Nelson spoke up when former Democratic lawmaker Bob Kerrey said he would stay out of the 2012 Senate race.

Not to worry, Nelson said, the Dems have viable potential candidates.

He was making it up. For Nebraska Democrats, the bright side will be in the short term – watching Don Stenberg and Jon Bruning savage each other.

Big horn government
Forty-one big horn sheep are moving from Canada to Nebraska, giving our home state another beautiful herd.

In the past, Nebraska has auctioned one-time permits to shoot the big critters.

Next question: How long before someone starts yowling for a cougar season to protect the big horns?

Not as long as you think, probably.

Remember when elite was a good thing?

Having had the privilege of conversing with a few of America's "elite" over the years has always seemed a very nice thing.

But it's apparently something that would not appeal to Boobus Americanus.

We revel in our athletic elite. In our military elite.

Our intellectual elite? We scoff at and degrade it.

Even those who establish their own power in politics via academia and publishing mount the mud wagon to denigrate the other guy.

He who laughs last . . .

It was good to see some Nebraskans in the Super Bowl.

Never mind win or lose.

Think of Danny Woodhead. And his touchdown catch. And the Chadron State Eagle's fine NFL season

Now think of Bill "the kid's too small to play" Callahan.

Oh, my. Some laughter really is better than some other laughter.

Legislative Update

Family planning services on the agenda

More money for family planning services was the topic of the day on Monday and Tuesday in the Nebraska Legislature.

LB540 was the bill up for discussion. It would increase the number of women who are eligible for family planning services through Medicaid. LB540 was written, according to its sponsors, to provide more women with preventive health care, which could hopefully result in fewer unintended pregnancies, fewer abortions and cost savings to the State.

An amendment, which I supported, was adopted during the first round of debate to hopefully ensure that none of the family planning money would go to organizations that perform or promote elective abortions or affiliates with one that does. Due to the fact that part of this money could find its way to those who choose to support taking the life of the unborn, I voted against the bill.

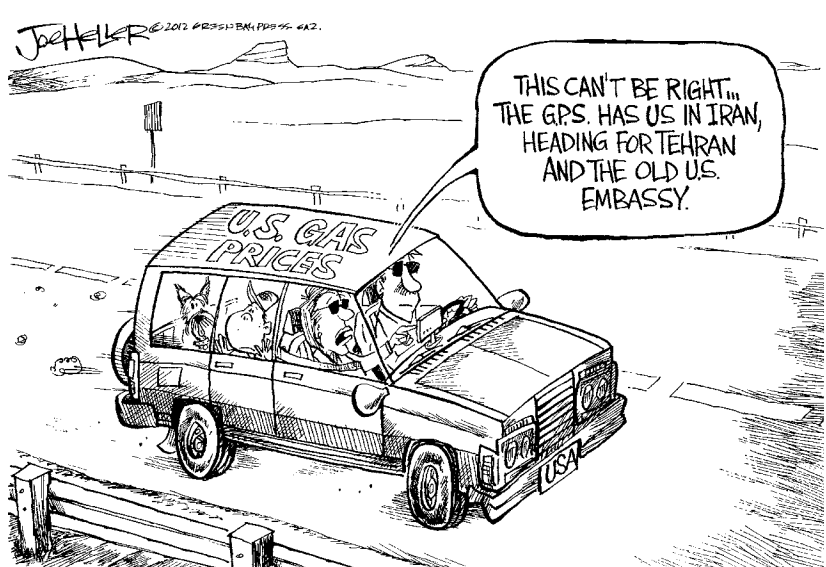

I voted against LB540 when it was in the Health Committee, where it survived on a 4-to-3 vote. I voted against its advancement on the legislative floor. I will continue to oppose this bill and any other "back door" attempts to fund abortion with your money! The bill must survive two more rounds of debate before it would pass and move over to the Governor for his signature or veto.

I had two bills up for hearings in the Health and Human Services Committee on Thursday, February 9.

LB1083 would clarify that licensed nurses would be able to stay at home and take care of family members and receive payment for those services instead of hiring a nurse from outside of the home.

My office was made aware of a situation concerning a private duty nurse who takes care of her son in her home. She has been receiving compensation for these services for the past five years, then changes in her son's program, not his needs, took place. She has continued to care for her son, who requires nurse provided care 24 hours a day, for the last five months without pay, and I think that is a disgrace. The State should applaud and assist family members who have the credentials, the ability, and the desire to provide medical care for family members in their homes, especially when it saves the state money.

Legislative Update

By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

The second bill of mine before the Health Committee is LB1122. The bill was drafted in response to the Director of the State's Medicaid division proposing cuts to home health care services. The bill would direct the Department of Health and Human Services to make cuts in all other areas of Medicaid before looking for cuts in home health care services provided by private duty nurses.

There was testimony given on both of these bills about two very unique family situations. Both households have children over the age of 21 who can not live around other people for a variety of medical reasons. Home health services are sometimes the only way in which we can keep some of our most vulnerable citizens alive. It is my intent, with this bill, to demonstrate the Legislature's support for funding home health care and the many dedicated nurses who provide medical care for these very special patients. I will remind you it is cheaper, in most cases, for the state to keep these folks in their homes than it would be to put them in institutions.

We are quickly approaching the half-way point of this year's legislative session. State senators and legislative committees must choose priority bills prior to adjournment (around noon) on Thursday, Feb. 16. I have several possibilities in mind, and will let you know of my final decision in the next newsletter.

Wayne State College welcomed schools for 2012 state science competition

The Wayne State College campus hosted the ninth Annual Nebraska Middle School Science Bowl on Jan. 28 and the 18th Annual Nebraska High School Science Bowl on Feb. 4.

Each team of competitors was made up of four students, one alternate and a teacher serving as coach. Teams have to be quick and have a vast knowledge of astronomy, biology, computer science, physics, chemistry, math and earth sciences.

Wayne High School's A team earned second place. Team members included Sawyer Jager, Andrew Pulfer, Luke Trenhaile, Luke Pulfer and Quentin Jorgensen. They are coached Jeanne Brink.

Wayne's B team included Jason Holt, Max Morris, Jacob Reynolds, Dalton Dunklau and Joe Burrows. They placed fourth in the competition.

Wayne State College and the Natural Resources Conservation Service sponsored both events. The winning team at each level earned an all-expense paid trip to the National Science Bowl in Washington D. C. later in 2012.

Organizations sponsoring the Nebraska Science Bowl events include: Lower Platte South Natural Resources District, Lower Platte North Natural Resources District, Nebraska Department of Education, NRCS National Soil Survey Center, NRCS Soil Mechanics Center, NRCS State Office, Papio-Missouri River Natural Resources District, Soil and Water Conservation Society, U.S. Department of Energy, USDA Forest Service-Agroforestry Center and Wayne State College.

The goal of the Nebraska Science Bowl as well as the National Science Bowl is to encourage students to excel in science and mathematics. Many of these students will continue their education beyond high school and will have a career in an area of science or mathematics.

Area Lions are represented at Midwinter Convention

A Lions Midwinter Convention for District 38-O and District 38-N was held Feb. 10-11 at the Nebraska York Country Club; with 15 clubs present in District O.

Lions Dick and Judy Carlson, Lion Mike Nesbit and Leos from Laurel, from Wayne Lions Hilbert and Kathleen Johs attended.

The Laurel club received a clock for traveling 147 miles to attend the convention with the theme: "There is so much to Learn, so Little Time." Friday evening a dinner was hosted by the York Country Club. Clubs were asked to bring their favorite dessert to share in a dessert tasting contest. The winning dessert named was 'cream cheese cupcakes' and the baker received an hour glass for bringing tasty efforts.

After this event, a talent—no talent contest with six entries was the entertainment for the evening, along with socializing. The talent ranged from magic, acrobats, solo, skit, to readings. All participants were given specially made medals, and the top two performers received watches.

Douglas X. Alexander, International Director from Brooklyn, N.Y., was the guest speaker for the convention on Saturday. Director Alexander is a retired vice president for J. P. Morgan Chase Bank. Alexander's address stressed involving youth by starting Leos clubs, sharing the vision, "To Serve" with world hunger, and protecting the environment—go green and save trees.

Past International President and Director William Biggs, was a guest. Lions membership needs to be increased was a comment made by Biggs. Membership in Lions includes women, and at the present time 23-25 percent women in 208 countries are counted in the 1,358,385 membership.

Saturday morning was spent by attending five sessions on topics such as conflict resolution, effective meetings, history orientation, structure at the International, how to move up from member to International director, environmental projects, and club excellence process. The game of Poker Run was in cooperation into the 10 Lionism sessions. A beautiful dome clock was awarded for the best hand of poker drawn.

District Governor Robert Rood of district O, and District Governor Stephanie Boring for district N conducted the cabinet meetings. Lions Clubs International offers a Lions Family Cub Program; contact a Lion member for more details.

Some future events of the organization are the Lions State Convention to be held June 1-3 in Kearney with cabinet meetings held on June 2; International Lions Convention with a whale of a time awaits Lions in Busan, Korea June 22-26; the 2017 Lions International Convention will be held in Chicago to commemorate the LIONS 100th anniversary.

Cast, crew and musicians included (front) Kristin Gotschall of O'Neill; Grant Litz of O'Neill; Noelle St. Pierre of Papillion; Sergio Orozco of Wisner; Kristen Halvorson of Omaha; (second row) Danielle Polt of Norfolk; Hugh Hinton, pianist; William Bates, Jr., Kansas City, Mo.; Michael Parola, percussion; Tahirah Whittington, cellist; Kaiti Williams of Papillion; Adolfo Cacheiro, event organizer and Wayne State College professor; and Vicki Nielsen of Fremont.

'Tres Vidas' performed at Wayne State

The Core Ensemble performed "Tres Vidas," a production of music and theatre recently in Ramsey Theater at Wayne State College.

Written for a singing actress and trio of musicians, the theatrical work is based on the lives of three remarkable Latin American women – Mexican painter Frida Kahlo, Salvadoran peasant activist Rufina Amaya and Argentinean poet Alfonsina Storni.

"This exciting and moving work, written by Marjorie Agosin and performed in English and Spanish, has powerful political, social and gender implications," said Adolfo Cacheiro, Wayne State College professor of Spanish and organizer of the event. "It appeals to anyone interested in women's studies, Latin American studies, Spanish, music or theatre."

Chamber Music Theatre is a unique performance format developed by the Core Ensemble featuring theatrical narrative combined with a chamber music performance. Roseanne Almanzar portrays multiple characters while interacting with the onstage musical trio of cello piano and percussion.

Storylines include Frida Kahlo's dramatic and passionate relationship with painter Diego Rivera, Rufina Amaya's astounding singular survival of the massacre at El Mozote and Alfonsina Storni's life-long challenges as Argentina's first great feminist poet. "Tres Vidas" presents dramatic situations timeless in their emotional appeal and connection to audiences across all gender and ethnic spectrums.

Chilean poet and author of "Tres Vidas," Marjorie Agosin includes traditional Mexican folk and Argentinean popular songs. Agosin adds tango songs made famous by Mercedes Sosa and Carlos Gardel within the work.

Since 1993, the Core Ensemble has toured nationally to every region of the United States and internationally to England, Russia, the Ukraine, Australia and the British Virgin Islands. The Ensemble was the recipient of the 2000 Eugene McDermott Award for Excellence in the Arts awarded by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and has received support from the State of Florida Department of Cultural Affairs, New England Foundation for the Arts, Palm Beach County Cultural Council, the Aaron Copland Fund for Music and the Virgil Thomson Foundation.

Wayne State Concert Choir performs "Alzheimer's Stories" on Feb. 27

Wayne State College Concert Choir members will perform "Alzheimer's Stories," a work by American composer Robert Cohen in Ramsey Theatre on Feb. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

"This will be only the third performance of the music," said Ron Lofgren, Director of Choral Activities. "Although not its premiere, we are giving the work its first performance in the region. Despite its serious subject matter, the piece has moments of humor and ends with an uplifting and hopeful text. The piece has moments of breathtaking beauty, and I think that everyone who hears it will be thankful they came to the concert."

For this performance, most of the orchestra will be made up of WSC Music faculty. Dr. Elise Hepworth of the WSC music faculty and Wayne Mitchell of South Dakota will be the featured soloists.

"Alzheimer's Stories" was commissioned by the Susquehanna Valley Chorale, Lewisburg, Pa., which gave the work its first performance in 2009. The work is in three movements. The first movement is titled "The Numbers," and traces the progression from the first patient diagnosed with the disease in 1901 to the fact that now one in 85 people worldwide suffers from the disease.

The second movement is "The Stories." Herschel Garfein, librettist, explains the text in a note at the beginning of the score. Much of the text of the work is derived from first-hand accounts of the disease offered by members of the Susquehanna Valley Chorale, which commissioned the work. The members of the Chorale submitted Website narratives to a concerning the experiences of those they love who had suffered through Alzheimer's or were suffering still. Their accounts form a most moving testimonial to all that is best in human beings' qualities of compassion, love, tirelessness, humor; and an inspiring resilience in confronting what is, as of this writing, an incurable and untreatable disease.

The third movement is "For the Caregivers." It continues to combine the first-hand accounts of the singers with words of encouragement. The piece ends on a hopeful and triumphant note.

"I think this is an important and powerful work," said Dr. Lofgren. "I hope we have a large turnout for what promises to be a memorable evening."

The piece is scored for Mezzo

Soprano and Baritone soloists, Chorus, and a chamber orchestra made up of clarinet, violin, cello, two horns, two trumpets, trombone, tuba, piano, and a large percussion battery that includes marimba and vibraphone.

Rounding out the program will be pieces recently performed on the Wayne State College High School Honor Choir concert. "Veni Jesu" by Cherubini is a very easy but beautiful work and shows elements of the early Classical style.

Cherubini's music was admired by no less a critic than Beethoven. Also on the program will be the lovely "Laudate Dominum" from the Mozart Solemn Vespers. It features an opening soprano solo followed by a repetition of the music which is sung by the choir to the text of the Gloria Patri. "Just a Closer Walk with Thee," arranged by Howard Best, is a complete change of style.

WSC staff accompanist Phil Pfalzgraff plays the role of the entire Dixieland band on this arrangement of the traditional gospel hymn. The concert will close with the exciting "Gloria" from Masque of Angels by the Minnesota composer Dominick Argento.

Deadline approaching for Daffodil Days orders

The February 20 deadline to purchase daffodils to support the American Cancer Society's Daffodil Days program is fast approaching. By offering daffodils to donors in appreciation of their contributions, this long-standing program celebrates the Society's mission to fight for everyone touched by cancer and to help create a world with less cancer and more birthdays.

"Nebraska is making a difference in the fight against cancer, one daffodil at a time," said Stephanie Stephenson, community manager for the American Cancer Society. "Thanks to the overwhelming support we have received for Daffodil Days, the American Cancer Society is saving lives by helping people stay well, by helping them get well, by finding cures and by fighting back against the disease. We are sharing hope and making progress against cancer."

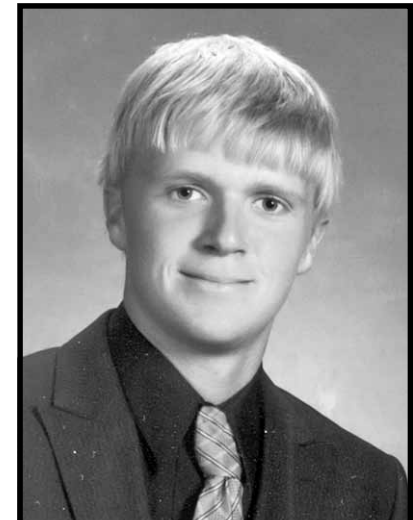

An important part of Daffodil Days is the Gift of Hope – a bouquet of 10 daffodil stems in a vase, delivered anonymously to cancer patient within the community. The Gift of Hope helps brighten a patient's day and fosters a relationship, ensuring the patient's and caregiver's knowledge that the Society is helping them get well by being in their corner around the clock to guide them through every step of their cancer experience.

A special part of this year's Daffodil Day, Shar N. Hope, is a limited-edition Boyds by Enesco bear designed exclusively for the American Cancer Society Daffodil Days Bear and a Bunch. She is available for a donation of $25 and comes with a bouquet of 10 daffodil stems.

Anyone wishing to order daffodils should call their nearest American Cancer Society office no later than February 20. For a donation of $10, supporters will receive a bouquet of fresh-cut daffodils and, more importantly, the knowledge that they are helping fight cancer. The flowers will arrive and may be picked up in mid-March.

Dollars raised through Daffodil Days provide the Society with much-needed funds to save lives by helping people stay well by preventing cancer or detecting it early; helping people get well by being there for them during and after a cancer diagnosis; by finding cures through investment in groundbreaking discovery; and by fighting back by rallying lawmakers to pass laws to defeat cancer and by rallying communities worldwide to join the fight.

For more information about Daffodil Days, or to place an order, contact one of the following American Cancer Society offices: Omaha – (402) 393-5803; Lincoln – (402) 423-4893 or Kearney – (308) 237-1631.

Engaging everyone solves situations

Communication in the family is important. Families should be able to offer a friendly and nourishing environment for communication.

If there are issues concerning the family, it is important that everyone gets to participate.

It is common for parents to try to solve family issues without children but at the very least they should open the issues up for discussion. Don't call a family meeting because that will give the situation a negative connotation but simply talk with the other members of the family when everyone is present. Car rides and right after meals present the best opportunities to do this. Remember the human body has two ears, but only one mouth. Try to listen twice as much.

During these times try to avoid placing blame on any individual. If the meeting deals with people forgetting responsibilities avoid singling anyone out. Phrase things in a way to show frustration but not anger. Use "I" statements and not "You" statements. Using "you" statements is like pointing a finger at the person. "I" statements tell feelings first and then explain the feelings.

An example of an "I" statement is, "I feel hurt when you don't get the chores done that I ask you to do". A "you" statement would be, "You are so irresponsible and don't get your chores done". "I" statements will come with repeated practice.

Stay calm. Yelling is just not heard the same way as a calm voice is heard. Communication will not happen if everyone is angry with one another. Also, as a parent try not to dominate the situation. Remember no idea is a bad idea. Engage everyone. Young children should participate too. Even if the child cannot fully understand, just being part of the situation encourages them as a member of the family.

Try to explain the situation to the child in simple terms. Ask if he or she has any ideas. Encourage

Do kitchens really sell a home?
The simple answer is yes, most of the time. However I would like to clarify a few points.

Does this mean that you go out and spend a ton to remodel the kitchen without much thought? No, sellers should be aware that some updates can actually lower the value of the kitchen. For example, putting in new cabinets that are arranged poorly will not increase buyer's appreciation for the kitchen or the home. When the cabinet layout is not workable, it is much better to reconfigure the cabinets even if some of the bells and whistles have to be left out in order to afford the new layout.

If the cabinet layout is good, but the doors look slightly dated, try using some new hardware on the cabinets. Depending on the style of the kitchen, you may be surprised how much better the cabinets look with different hardware.

Also, lighting is important in the kitchen. Having adequate lighting is a must when showing. Lighting that is too dim, may cause buyers to say no thanks. At the same time, many people don't realize lights that are too bright will put off buyers as well.

Have your real estate agent walk through the kitchen and talk about specifics including lighting, cabinet layout, and other items that can attract or scare off buyers. Real estate agents know what trends buyers are looking for in kitchens today.

If you are considering selling your home, call (402-375-3385) or email me at wendy@mvlco.net and ask about our spring listing deal!

Minerva Club names new officers

Donna Hansen hosted the Feb. 13 Minerva Club at the Wayne Senior Center. Thirteen members answered roll call by telling of a favorite moment of surprise.

The group erupted in laughter as President MaryAnn DeNaeyer and Connie Glassmeyer shared humorous readings that only women could appreciate.

Minutes were read and approved. Donna Hansen gave the treasurer's report. Historian Hollis Frese read minutes from the Oct. 15 and Nov. 8, 1937 minutes. At that time, a member received a gift of a baby spoon costing $1.50 from Mines Jewelry and another member received a plant which costs 75 cents. Being in the era before TV and computers, it was determined that members only had use of magazines and newspapers for their program information.

New business was the election of officers. Vice President Connie Glassmeyer will move up to president. Donna Hansen will continue as treasurer and Hollis Frese will remain as historian. The offices of vice president and secretary will need to be filled. President DeNaeyer will appoint a nominating committee later.

Donna Hansen presented a book review as her program topic. She reviewed the book "The Girl With the Dragon Tattoo" by Steve Larssen. Sweden was the setting for this fiction book. Rapt attention was given as she weaved the characters through the intriguing story. Donna also gave the history of the Palmer Candy Company in Sioux City, Iowa as a way of highlighting Valentine's Day.

The next meeting will be Monday, Feb. 27 at 2 p.m. at the home of Connie Glassmeyer.

Rev. Dennis Preston, interim pastor at Praise Assembly of God, spoke on Sunday morning about the miracles at the crucifixion of Jesus that verify the truth that salvation is in Jesus alone.

The four miracles that cited in his message were:

- the miracle of the light (the sun) that went dark early in the day as Jesus was on the cross;

- the miracle of the veil of the temple, torn from top to bottom (this huge tapestry had been hanging in place for 1,500 years, separating the Holy of Holies from the rest of the worship complex);

- the miracles of the "stones" (Jesus had said that if people are silent, the very stones will cry out in declaration of Who Jesus is; and at the time of the crucifixion, there was an earthquake, and a number of graves that were open -- with people raised from the dead, appearing to many people);

- the miracle of victory over disbelief (the Roman soldier on duty -- after watching the spectacle of the crucifixion all day -- said "Surely this was the Son of God").

Praise Assembly of God, located at 1000 East 10th Street, is a Pentecostal Church, and welcomes all in the community to attend several worship and study opportunities each week. Wednesday evening (in the Fireside Room) is an hour-long study (from 7-8 p.m. of the first 11 chapters in the Bible; the study is entitled "Let's Trust Genesis." On Saturday evening (7-8 p.m. in the Sanctuary) is the "Hour of Prayer" in the Sanctuary of the Church. On Sunday morning, a fellowship time at 9:15 a.m. opens the day, with Sunday School for all ages at 9:30 a.m. The Morning Worship Service in the Sanctuary begins at 10:30 a.m. And the Sunday evening Bible Study begins in the Fireside room at 6:30 p.m.

If you're looking for a gathering of Christian believers that is true to the Bible, nurtures families, eagerly prays for the needs of people, loves to worship, and sacrificially gives to the cause of Missions (locally and world-wide), then there is a place for you at Praise Assembly of God.

MarketPlace brings jobs, growth and recovery to rural Nebraska

The Center for Rural Affairs urged Nebraskans, especially rural Nebraska's farmers, ranchers and small town residents, to finalize their plans to attend MarketPlace, Nebraska's premier entrepreneurship event.

According to several Center for Rural Affairs reports, past surveys of entrepreneurs and rural small business owners who have attend MarketPlace find that one of the top rated experiences at past MarketPlace events was participation in sessions focused on marketing and business success strategies. Sessions on these topics will continue to be featured at this year's MarketPlace on Wednesday, Feb. 22 at the Ramada Inn and Convention Center in Kearney.

"Marketplace gave me the tools and encouragement to expand my business," said Melissa Graham, owner of Missa Sue's Salon & Spa in Laurel. "Since attending MarketPlace, I have added one part-time employee, a receptionist, which makes me better able to serve my customers."

Graham attended MarketPlace 2011 and gained valuable knowledge and insight on running a small business.

"I was blown away and impressed by the organization of the event and the variety of speakers and subjects that were presented," she said. "The marketing sessions were great! I networked with people that will be an asset to my future needs."

"I definitely plan on attending MarketPlace 2012. I'm thankful to the Center for Rural Affairs for providing small businesses with such a wonderful opportunity," added Graham.

According to a survey conducted in 2010 by the Center for Rural Affairs, Graham is not alone in her experience. Since the inception of MarketPlace in 2007, a total of 342 jobs (full-time, part-time or seasonal) have been created each year with the help of MarketPlace attendance and participation.

The survey also found that 52 percent of small business participants have started, expanded, or made changes to their business because of the conferences; and nearly 88 percent of small businesses who made changes or expanded their business as a result of MarketPlace sought financing to do so. They borrowed money from banks, USDA Rural Development and often from personal resources like savings and credit cards, which were the most common sources of capital. And 79 percent of attending small businesses reported using new resources because of their participation in MarketPlace and their networking there.

About 20 percent of small business respondents of the survey indicated that their business revenue has been positively affected by MarketPlace participation.

Other MarketPlace sessions will feature innovation, business development, finance, and social media. Moreover, the exhibit hall will be filled with successful small business men and women, service providers and other valuable resources. Attendees will be able to meet with these folks throughout the day to ask questions, gather information, make connections, and network and gain exposure to key customers and unique businesses.

Registration includes a meal featuring Nebraska-raised meat, tomatoes and cucumbers, plus refreshments; a binder of proceedings, and a tremendous number of resources and expertise in one location. (A fish entree will also be available.)

For more information on MarketPlace and a look at this year's program or to register, go to www.cfra.org/marketplace/ne-12.

Becoming dependent on the internet

The column this week began by saying that I was missing an Internet connection, and how dependent I've become on that for communication.

On Sunday evening, all of a sudden, I had a screen that said I had to verify something before I could use the Net. It was getting close to my bedtime and I just shut down and, like Scarlett, said I would deal with it tomorrow.

On Monday, I worked because one of the full time gals has jury duty this week; what a pain! Because you don't know from day to day if she will be available. I picked up chili at the nearby Runza and got home at 6:30 p.m.

Then, I tried to help our Husker women beat Minnesota, and, even though they came from way behind with several threes, that darned ball would not go into that hoop for nothing in the last few minutes. ALL my teams have been getting beat lately! And I don't like it one bit.

Anyway, then I sat down in front of the computer, went to Word, and composed a column. But, when

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

I tried to send it, I got the same screen. So, I called tech support. After six messages and that many numbers pushed, I got a live voice, a nice young woman who guided me through a process that involved a pin hole that needed resetting on the bottom of the Windstream modem, which was sitting on the floor under my desk. Nothing happened; she finally gave up and said they would send a new one.

I asked when I would get it, and she said in two or three days! I asked if I couldn't go into the local store, and, after looking up Lincoln, Nebraska, on her list, she said that would be fine. I hung up in disgust and looked down at that little old thing that had three green lights where there were supposed to be four.

I wondered if I could even figure out how to unplug the thingies and get it to the store, so, with nothing to lose, I unplugged them. Then, out of curiosity, I replugged them. Behold! I had four green lights, and even the fifth, that is marked activity, was blinking. I had an internet connection again, and I do not have to take the thing clear down to Pine Lake Road in the morning!

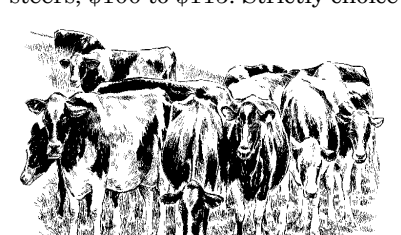

I'm guessing I kicked something last night and loosened something, who knows? I just know that I will never be smarter than the equipment I've come to rely on, but here goes this week's column, by e-mail, to Wayne!

Information shared on producing lesser grown fruits

Another great website to go to is acreage.unl.edu. Lots of information is available for lawns, gardens and things about owning acreages.

Here is information on some lesser grown fruits. These bush-type fruits are recommended by Vaughn Hammond, UNL Extension Educator for specialty crops.

These include Nanking cherry, western sand cherry and honeyberry. Nanking and western sand cherry were commonly grown in Nebraska in the past. Honeyberry is a newer fruit just beginning to be planted for fruit production. As smaller shrubs whose flowers are self fertile, these fruits are a good fit for smaller lots and landscapes. Bush-type plants require much less space when compared to apples, where at least two trees are needed for good fruit production.

Nanking cherry, Prunus tomentosa, is also known as Korean cherry, mountain cherry, Chinese bush cherry, and Hansen's bush cherry. The fruit can be used in juice, jams, jellies, wine, pies and pastries. The bushy shrub is cold hardy, drought tolerant and thrives in a variety of soils. At four to eight feet tall, Nanking cherry makes a nice addition to edible landscapes. It is beautiful in spring when covered with an abundance of white to pink flowers. The flowers are self fertile meaning they do not need a separate pollinator for fruit set to occur. Hammond describes the fruit as similar in size and taste to 'Montmorency' tart cherries.

Western sand cherry, Prunus besseyi, is a native plant that was part of the early settler's daily lives. Also known as American cherry or beach plum, sand cherry fruits are highly prized for making jellies and syrups as well as for fresh consumption. Western sand cherry is hardy and well adapted to sandy soils. When planted in fertile, well drained soil this four to five foot tall shrub can produce an abundance of growth and fruits. It is very drought tolerant and prefers less frequent, deep watering rather than regular watering.

Extension Educator

The plant is relatively short lived, rarely reaching 20 years of age. In late spring, sand cherry branches are covered with white one-half inch flowers that are insect pollinated. The one-fourth inch, cherry-like fruits change from reddish to purplish and then black and contain one fairly large seed or stone. These seeds are dispersed by birds and animals and readily sprout where dropped.

Honeyberry, Lonicera caerulea, is an edible form of honeysuckle, also known as sweetberry honeysuckle. The fruits have been described as tasting like a combination of blueberry and raspberry. It can be substituted for blueberries in recipes or made into jams, jellies, juices and syrups and added to baked goods. Be aware each berry contains up to 20 small seeds.

Honeyberry plants require full sun to part shade and average moisture. It will not tolerate long term wet soils, but is tolerant of a wide range of soil types and will flourish in soils. The cold hardy shrub grows five to six feet tall and blooms in early spring with tiny cream-colored flowers. The bluish fruit ripen in July or August and are just under one-half inch in size.

Private pesticide applicator class to be held locally

Private pesticide applicators whose licenses expire in 2012 and those seeking first-time certification can find information on pesticide safety education programs at their local University of Nebraska Extension offices.

Licensing as a private applicator allows farmers to purchase and use pesticides classified as restricted use by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in their own farming operations.

Extension provides the educational program, while the agriculture department is responsible for licensing. The training fee is $30. An applicator may also certify by self-study for a $60 training fee.

In 2001, the Nebraska Legislature created a state pesticide license fee of $25 for private applicators. The fee covers a three-year license period.

A training is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 21 at 1 p.m. at the Legion Hall in Winside.

For additional sites contact the UNL Extension Office-Wayne County at (402) 375-3310 or check online at pestid.unl.edu, where you will find training sites listed by county.

This conference was one of four opportunities each year for county weed superintendents to obtain the required 20 hours of continuing education annually.

Speakers and topics for the conference included: Jerry Volesky, Grassland Recovery and Response After Wildfire; Steve Rolfmeier of the CSC Herbarium, Native/Non-Native Plants; Kelly Sharp, Missouri River Watershed Coalition/ Wild Dakota/Public Relations; Jim Stubbendieck, Nebraska's Dynamic Vegetation; Jim Gray, 2,4-D Task Force, Rod Stolpart, Websites used for Job Enhancement; Brian Baxter, Union Pacific Bailey Yards; Karie Decker, EDDmaps; Bill Whitney, Prairie Plains Resource Institute; Scott Marsh, Kansas Dept. of Ag; and Michelle Koch, Endangered and Threatened Species Review.

Acme Club meets at Senior Center

Acme club members met at the Senior Center for lunch on Feb. 6 with Bonnadell Koch as the hostess. President Joanne Temme presided at the meeting. Seven members answered roll call by telling if they missed not having much snow this winter. Ruth Victor gave the Thought for the Day, "Art of Living" by Grace E. Easley:

"There is a special art to living, And you need a frame of mind That can overlook the showers, Til the sun begins to shine. To develop to the fullest That things don't always function In the way that they were planned.

There's a special art to living, And the challenge must be met, but the longer that you try it, Why the better you will get. Don't waste your time in waiting For the world to come to you You have to climb the mountains To appreciate the view."

Valentine cards were signed to be sent to honorary members Mary Doescher and Marjorie Summers. Verdelle Reeg told about the Valentine favors she made and took to the hospital.

It was decided to donate to the Candace Jareske benefit.

Bonnadell Koch had the program about three birds. The Osprey is a superb fisher and eats little else as their diet consists of some 99 percent of fish, so they live near ponds, rivers, lakes and coastal waterways around the world. Osprey are sometimes confused with bald eagles. Eagles and osprey sometimes battle for food. Eagles will force the osprey to drop fish they have caught and steal them in midair. Ospreys build larger stick and sod nests on telephone poles and other such locations. Populations of the osprey became endangered in the 1950's due to chemical pollutants such as DDT, which tinned their egg shells, but have rebounded in recent decades. Most ospreys migrate, breeding in the north and migrating south in winter.

The Great Horned Owl lives all around North America. The beautiful bird is about two feet tall and can have a wing span that goes up to five feet in diameter. They are light and weigh only about three pounds. Great Horned Owls consume a variety of food. One living in the desert may eat more lizards than one living in the Arctic. They lay one or two eggs a year. The female owl keeps the baby with her for several months until the next mating season begins.

The great Blue Heron is a large bird found in many places throughout the world but mostly in North America. It is a tall, slender bird with a long neck and bulkier lower body. Most of its body feathers are a mix of dull gray and gummetol blue, giving it its name. The heron is around 35-55 inches from head to tail with a wing span measuring between 66-79 inches and weighing about 4.5 lbs. They inhabit wetlands and still, shallow waters and eat fish turtles and frogs that pass by them in the water. They do not chew their food, but swallow it whole. Because of this they have been known to choke on items too big for them to swallow.

Hérons are colony breeders. Dozens or even hundreds will find a place to build nests together; sometimes up to 500 individual nests with females laying four to six eggs. The male and female parents both feed the babies from partially digested food the parents have eaten.

The next meeting of the Acme Club will be held at the Wayne Senior Center on Monday, Feb. 20 with Betty Wittig as hostess.

Throughout the four-day program, students will build a working "toolkit" of strategies to help them successfully dream, create and implement plans that will change how they view their roles as leaders in their communities.

WSC Hosts Body Image Awareness Feb. 20-24

The Wayne State College Counseling Center will host Body Image Awareness during the 25th annual National Eating Disorders Awareness Week in an effort to bring public attention to the critical need to raise awareness and funding to battle eating disorders in the U.S.

Linda Wetzel will give a Body Image Presentation on Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 4 p.m. in the Student Center food court. This program is free and open to the public.

During NEDA awareness week, thousands of people come together in communities across the country, hosting events to raise awareness about body image and bring national attention to the severity of eating disorders, which are mental illnesses (not lifestyle choices) with devastating, often life-threatening, consequences. While there is hope and recovery is possible – particularly with early intervention – many people suffer from long-term effects of these illnesses.

Themed "Everybody Knows Somebody" in 2012, some of the many events planned for the week include presentations and health fairs in schools and on college campuses; screenings of informational films; fashion shows featuring men and women of all body types; art shows; The Great Jeans Giveaway; and NEDA Walk fundraisers.

NEDA encourages individuals to get the conversation started in every community by pledging to do just one thing to raise awareness and provide critical information on eating disorders and related issues. Everyone can participate by planning and/or getting involved in local NEDA awareness week events and activities; providing information and resources; and by encouraging community members to model acceptance and celebration of diversity in body shapes and sizes.

For information on how to get involved during NEDA awareness week: www.myneda.org

U.S. Statistics on Eating Disorders indicate that as many as 10 million females and 1 million males in the U.S. battle anorexia or bulimia. And as many as 13 million more struggle with binge eating disorder.

Millions practice disordered eating due to an obsession with dieting. Four out of 10 Americans either suffered or have known someone who has suffered from an eating disorder.

For females between 15- and 24-years-old who suffer from anorexia nervosa, the mortality rate associated with the illness is 12 times higher than the death rate of all other causes of death. Forty percent of newly identified cases of anorexia are in girls 15-19 years old.

There was a significant increase in incidence of anorexia from 1935 to 1989, especially among young women 15-24. There has been a rise in incidence of anorexia in young women 15-19 in each decade since 1930.

Over one-half of teenage girls and nearly one-third of teenage boys use unhealthy weight control behaviors such as skipping meals, fasting, smoking cigarettes, vomiting and taking laxatives.

Girls who diet frequently are 12 times as likely to binge as girls who don't diet. 42 percent of first-third grade girls want to be thinner. 81 percent of 10-year-olds are afraid of being fat. The average American woman is 5 feet, 4 inches tall and weighs 140 pounds. The average American model is 5 feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 117 pounds. Most fashion models are thinner than 98 percent of American women. 46 percent of 9-11 year-olds are "sometimes" or "very often" on diets and 82 percent of their families are "sometimes" or "very often" on diets.

The Wayne State College Counseling Center serves WSC students. Confidential counseling is available to all enrolled students. Linda Wetzel, RD, is a Licensed Medical Nutrition Therapist. Ms. Wetzel is available to WSC students one day each week. Students can stop by room 103 in the Student Center or call 402-375-7321 for more information.

The National Eating Disorders Association (NEDA), headquartered in New York City, is the leading U.S. non-profit organization supporting individuals and families affected by eating disorders. NEDA serves as a catalyst for prevention, cures and access to quality care.

Each year, NEDA helps millions of people across the country find information and appropriate treatment resources through its toll-free, live helpline, its many outreach programs and website. NEDA advocates for advancements in the field and envisions a world without eating disorders. For more information, visit www.NationalEatingDisorders.org
