March Madness Invades Wayne

Angie Gothier, a bartender at White Dog Pub, adjusts the sign in front of the building in anticipation of what should be a busy weekend for downtown businesses. Wayne State College plays host to the NCAA Div. II Central Regional women's basketball tournament, which draws eight teams from Colorado, Minnesota, South Dakota and Nebraska to Wayne State College.

The orders were coming in at their normal brisk pace Wednesday afternoon for Doug Manz – but he's hoping tournament fever will pick things up a couple of notches.

Manz is one of the assistant managers at The Max sports bar and grill in downtown Wayne, one of several local businesses that are expecting big crowds this weekend when the NCAA Div. II Central Regional women's basketball tournament gets underway Friday afternoon at Wayne State Col-

"The people who will be here are going to be different from those who were here in 1999, and they'll be out here having a good time and spending money doing things here," said Randy Pederson, owner of Flowers and Wine in downtown Wayne. "The number of people who will be hanging out downtown here is going to be phenomenal, and it has to have a positive impact, particularly for the hotels, the convenience stores and the eating establishments.'

No. 1 ranking nice, but last one is what matters to Wildcats' Kielsmeier

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

For the first time in the program's history, the Wayne State women's basketball team is the No. 1 team in the country.

Heading into this weekend's NCAA Div. II tournament, the 29-2 Wildcats ascended to the top spot with their 62-59 win over Augustana in the finals of the Northern Sun Conference tournament. That win, coupled with a second loss by top-ranked UC-San Diego in their conference tournament, propelled the Wildcats to the top spot in the nation.

And while it's nice to be called the best team in the country by the nation's Div. II coaches, Wildcat coach Chris Kielsmeier wasted little time in putting that ranking in the proper perspective.

"It's a great day and it's a great honor for our program, and let's leave it at that," he said Tuesday afternoon after the poll was released. "You hate to be ranked as high as we've been and not be No. 1, but on the flip side, the only time that poll ever means anything is the last one, and that's the honest truth."

The Wildcats have been ranked in the top 10 the entire season, even after losses to Augustana and University of Mary midway through the season. Wayne State is on a 14-game winning streak and was ranked No. 3 for three weeks before moving up a spot after UC-San Diego and then-No. 2 Edinboro both lost. The Tritons maintained enough votes to stay ahead of Wayne State last week, but a second loss knocked them down to the No. 4 slot, with Ashland and Edinboro both moving in between Wayne State and UCSD at No. 2 and No. 3, respectively.

Kielsmeier said the No. 1 ranking is a testament to his team's ability to get better throughout the season.

"We've been highly ranked all year, but I don't know if we were necessarily that good at the beginning of the season," he said. "But this group has worked hard to get better and better and put is still 0-0 and we have to go out and make plays themselves into a position to do great things, and and prove that you're a great team, and that will you have to credit the girls for responding to that."

But don't spend any time worrying about successful on Friday night.'

Wayne State coach Chris Kielsmeier turns to the Wayne State fans in attendance after cutting down the nets following the Wildcats' 62-59 win over Augustana in the NSIC tournament finals. The win gave Wayne State the host bid for regionals and moved them up to No. 1 in the latest Div. II rankings.

Jareske maintains positive outlook while battling MS

Stating 'it is what it is," Candi Jareske hasn't let Multiple Sclerosis keep her from enjoying life to the fullest.

The Wayne mother of six children was first diagnosed 17 years ago, before she reached the age of 30.

"It was a long process to make the diagnosis. I was sent to a number of doctors and neurologists before it was determined that I had multiple sclerosis," Jareske said.

March has been designated as Multiple Sclerosis (MS) Education and Awareness Month, and Jareske said sharing her story will hopefully make people, both those who may be affected by the disease, and the general public, more aware and informed.

"MS is a weird disease. When I was first diagnosed, I had numbness and tingling in my hands and feet, but symptoms vary from person to person," Jareske said. Vision problems and memory issues are also common among those who have MS.

For many years, Jareske was not severely affected by the disease, but two years ago had a severe flare-up.

"At that time I became wheel-chair bound. Before that, I was working at the Wayne Greenhouse and really loved my job. I started getting very tired and could hardly walk. My neurologist in Omaha determined that I had secondary progressive MS, one of the four types. She suggested chemotherapy treatments to basically block my immune system and allow it to start

Luella Klima

Luella Klima, 87, of Pilger, died Wednesday, Feb. 29, 2012 in Norfolk. Memorial services will be on Friday, March 9, 2012 at 10:30 a.m. at St.

Peter's Lutheran Church in Pilger. Visitation will be on Thursday from 3 to 8 p.m., with the family present from 6 to 8 p.m., at the Minnick Funeral Home in Pilger and will continue on Friday from 9 a.m. until service time at the church.

Luella Wilhelmina (Wittler) Klima was born in Wayne County on June 7, 1924 to August and Edna (Ulrich) Wittler. She grew up on a farm near Wayne, and as a young woman began working for families near Wayne and Pilger. She married Joseph A. Klima of Pilger on May 18, 1946. She retired from Sherwood Medical after 25 years, and following her retirement provided child care in her home for another 10 years. Luella was a woman of great faith and a member of St. Peter's Lutheran Church. She loved little children, her family, and visiting with everyone she met. An avid gardener, she also enjoyed quilting and needlework, fishing, and spending time with her family, friends, and neighbors. She was a wonderful mother who put her children's needs ahead of her own. She loved her life and lived it to the fullest.

Survivors include her children, Susan Klima of Lincoln, Barbara Klima of St. Joseph, Mo., Shirley Teeslink of Ames, Jerry Klima and wife Mary Jo of Lincoln, Joseph Klima and wife Patricia of Norfolk; six grandchildren, four great-grandchildren; a sister, Fauneil Weible of Winside; nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Joseph, in 1974; her parents; brothers, Charles and August Wittler, Jr., and sister Lucille Baker.

John V. Addison

John Victor Addison, 82, of Wayne, died Friday, March 2, 2012 at his home in Wayne.

Services were held Tuesday, March 6 at the First United Methodist Church with Rosiland Woods offici-

John Victor Addison was born Nov. 16, 1929 in Wayne to Huber D. and Alma (Lammli) Addison. He attended schools in Wayne and Stanton, graduating from Stanton High School while residing with his grandfather, Victor, and cherished grandmother, Ida Lammli. He attended the University of Nebraska in Lincoln before enlisting in the Air Force, training as a fighter-bomber pilot and serving with distinction during the Korean War. He completed his law degree from UN-L in 1958 and practiced law in the Wayne area for more than five decades, serving as city attorney in Wayne and assistant county attorney in Stanton. John served in the Iowa Air Nation-

American Legion, Masonic Lodge and the First United Methodist Church. John loved reading novels, dancing to "good" music, skiing at Vail, flying airplanes, talking about flying airplanes, fishing for walleye, talking about fishing for walleye, being with family and friends, spending time with friends and family on Lake of the Woods in Canada, fishing and boating on the lake, greeting new campers at Paradise Point and making sure they had walleye to eat, taking strangers fishing, checking out the progress of baby eagles in their nests and watching sunsets with friends on the dock. He was curious, adventurous, nearly always cheerful and friendly, and only occasionally cranky. Every aspect of him will be missed.

Survivors include his beloved wife and companion, Selma; step-brother, Tom Addison of Ashland; three children, Robert (Julie) Addison of Wayne, Susan (Michael) Daws and John B. Addison, all of Parker, Colo.; two stepsons, Davin and Thor Flatmoe of Lincoln; four grandchildren; three stepgrandchildren; eight great-grandchildren, cousins and many friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents and grandparents. Memorials may be sent to the family for distribution at a later date.

Reynolds qualifies for state level of National Geographic Bee

Mason Reynolds, an eighth grader at Wayne Middle School, won the school-level competition of the National Geographic Bee on Jan. 11.

The preliminary and final rounds are tests made up of 36 questions about the geography of the United States as well as the geography of countries all over the world. Approximately 150 students participated in the preliminary round. Reynolds was in the top 16 qualifying students to compete in the final round at the school level.

School winners from all over the state then had to take a written test to qualify to compete at the state competition. Up to 100 of the top scorers on that test, including Reynolds, will compete at the state Bee on Friday, March 30 in Omaha.

The National Geographic Society will provide an all-expenses-paid trip to Washington, D.C. for the state champions to compete in the Bee national championship rounds May 22-24, 2012. Winners at the national level can win up to $25,000 in college scholarships.

The National Geographic Society is one of the world's largest nonprofit scientific and educational organizations. Founded in 1888 to "increase and diffuse geographic knowledge," the Society's mission is to inspire people to care about the planet. Everyone can test their geography knowledge with the GeoBee Challenge, an online geography quiz at www.national geographic.com/geobee.

County looks at radio, health exercise

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

Wayne County's communications system will need to be upgraded soon to comply with future federal regulations, and the Wayne County Commissioners spent about two hours Tuesday discussing their communication needs with a Sioux City communications consul-

Marty Delperdang, a consultant from Electronic Engineering of Sioux City, discussed the coming changes in federal regulations and efforts being made by the Federal Communications Commission to move from analog to digital communications.

"The FCC feels there are too many users within the scope of VHF and UHF frequencies, so they are squeezing that from a wide band to a narrow band of emissions that allows for many more users."

At the present time, the county's radio communications runs on a wide band of frequency, and they will need to get their radio license change to move to the narrow band by the end of the year. Delperdang encouraged the board to work quickly to change their license before the end of the year.

"I would advise that you get this done as soon as possible," he said. "Seeing that it takes 2-3 months for the Schultz said.

FCC to process these licenses because of the number that are coming in, it's going to take more time as we get down the line."

The county will then need to take a look at the 45 radios now in use by the county and do an inventory of those communication devices to determine which would need to be replaced. Outdated radios that are still in use after the first of

The board also talked with Kim Schultz about an upcoming public health exercise that will be held April 30-May 1 in the area.

Schultz went over a PowerPoint presentation discussing the government's responsibility and the procedures that would need to be put in place in the event of a public health emergency where a mass amount of vaccine, antibiotic or other medication would need to be distributed quickly to a large group of people.

A full-scale exercise will be held April 30-May 1.

This year's festivities will be held Friday through Sunday, July 13-15.

The theme and initial design were submitted by Jennifer Sievers. The design was finalized and shirts printed by Stadium Sports. They will soon be available at the Wayne Area Economic Development Office and

The black shirt features a hen sitting on a nest having nightmares of what could be happening to her eggs, including being made into omelets, involved in a spoon race and an egg toss.

The entertainment for this year's Chicken Show has also been booked.

The free concert on Friday night will feature Wayne native Dave Remer and his band from Omaha. The evening will be extended with a street dance in the 100 block of Main Street following the fireworks.

Remer's band will also perform Saturday at 12 p.m. in Bressler Park during the Chicken Feed.

Providing entertainment at the Saturday Night street dance will be the Adam Craig Band. This band is from Nashville, Tenn., and has a great local following, having played in Wayne several times previously. The four-man band's brand of country music is rooted in harmonies, musicianship, and high-energy stage

After 31 years, promotion materials for the Wayne Chicken Show are dated, deteriorated, inconsistent of design, and in need of replacement. The Chicken Show committee has designed a new generic logo that can be used in conjunction with the annual theme. The committee began using this new logo on souvenir items two years ago. The committee is working on developing new marketing materials for the event and finding funding for the updates.

The Chicken Show business sponsor program has been cracked and scrambled to allow businesses more flexibility in supporting this long standing event. Businesses will not be asked to necessarily sponsor any one event, but can provide various levels of support for the event. Each level provides certain opportunities for recognition of the sponsor.

The Chicken Show committee continues to welcome sponsor involvement in the festivities as event judges. participation ribbon and prize presenters, and contest organizers. Watch for more information coming soon on how your business can be a sponsor for the 32nd Annual Chicken Show.

Coming off a screen by Whitney Epp with 2.7 seconds left, the senior sharpshooter took a looping pass from Ellen Hansen, set her feet and fired over an Augustana defender. The ball ripped the net as time expired, allowing Wayne State to win Taylor Center over the rival Vikings, 62-59.

That the Wildcats even had a chance to run the play at the end of regulation came as a result of a coach's quick thinking and an opponent's ability to give them a sliver of a chance to make the play in the

During the last time out, Kielsmeier repeated the play that he wanted the girls to run. It didn't go exactly as he drew it up, but the end result proved to be of championship

Phone calls brought Ashley Arlen to WSC

Sometimes, the key to success isn't in what you know, or even who

More often than not, it's all about how fast you can dial a phone number using what you know to contact who you know.

It is in those personal connections that Ashley Arlen and Wayne State College found one another, which has helped to create a magical run of success that continues this weekend in Rice Auditorium.

Arlen came to Wayne State by way of Iowa State University. The 6-foot-2 senior forward from Cascade, Iowa, played 34 of 36 games for a Cyclones team that made it to the Elite Eight in Div. I in 2009, but decided that Ames wasn't the place for her to be.

Eventually, the speech communications major found a home in Wayne, Nebraska, thanks to a couple of phone calls.

The first was made by coach Chris Kielsmeier, who frantically picked up the phone after hearing that Arlen was leaving Iowa State and called Iowa State coach Bill Fennelly, who Kielsmeier worked for as an assistant coach early in his career

"Once I heard it was released in AAU teammate of Arlen's. the media and it became public, I called coach Fennelly and was able just told me to come up to Wayne to get a release in my possession to contact her before anybody else, and we moved on it immediately, See BLEACHERS, Page 5A Kielsmeier said.

Of The Herald

Fans of the Wayne State women's basketball team have been going out of their minds the last few days.

With the Wildcats beating Augustana 62-59 in the finals of the Northern Sun Conference tournament on a buzzer-beating 3-pointer by Clare Duwelius, combined with an upset loss by top-ranked UC-San Diego in their conference tournament, the Wildcats head into the NCAA Div. II national tournament not only as the top seed and host for the Central Regional tournament,

- the words "national championship" actually have some meaning to them. All of that is great for the coffee shop - but Wildcats coach Chris Kielsmeier will hear none of it. "It's something the fans and media like to speculate on, but we're focusing on the next game," he said during his weekly talk show on mywaynenews.com. "It's who our program is. We just really focus on the next task at hand and not worry about anything else."

Not even winning a national title?

Four ready for indoor nationals Last year, every Wayne State athlete who competed in the NCAA Div. II Indoor Track and Field

Championships came home with

All-American trophies. Coach Marlon Brink said it would be great to repeat that feat at this weekend's championships in Mankato, Minn., and the fact that the national meet is in a location where they've already competed is going to be a benefit for the four Wildcats who will compete this weekend. "Three of the four are returning All-Americans, and that goes a long wav toward creating a good comfort level," Brink said. "This is our third trip up there this season, so we're excited about heading up there."

Seniors Ross Bunchek, Paige Pollard and Nicole Brungardt are all looking to end their careers the same way they ended last season. Bunchek is in the men's weight throw, Pollard will run in the women's 800 and Brungardt will compete in the long jump.

"In both of their events, there is very little difference among those who are competing," Brink said. "It's really going to come down to which athlete performs the best Both are returning All-Americans and have their hopes set on doing better than what they did last year, and if they do what they did to get to nationals, they should have some good results."

While Fehringer is a newcomer in the indoor nationals, she did qualify for outdoor nationals as a freshman last year, and Brink said that experience will help her in her first in-

"She made outdoor nationals last year, and it'll be a good setting for her to handle," he said. "She had a good throw and hit her mark at the conference meet, so she'll be comfortable in that ring and she'll go in with a lot of confidence and compete

BEMIDJI, Minn. - For a mo- the Wildcats, ending Wayne State's took its first lead since early in the seniors Seroyer, Clayfell Harris and ment, it looked like Wayne State would pull off the first big upset of the postseason in the Northern Sun Conference tournament.

The eighth-seeded Wildcats created a stir on the campus of Bemidji State University Wednesday evening when Amry Shelby's steal and layup with :58 left gave Wayne State a 51-50 lead over top-seeded Bemidji State.

The Beavers responded, however, with a late 3-pointer and a dunk to come away with a 57-53 win over 10-17 season.

The Wildcats overcame a sluggish start offensively and put themselves in position to win the game and extend their season, only to see the regular-season NSIC champions make a pair of big-time plays in the closing seconds to hang on and "It was a heck of a ball game and was a lot of fun to be a part of," coach Paul Combs said. "We really struggled offensively early on, and that was a credit to how they defended us. We had some missed opportunities the first half, but this team showed a lot of resolve and did some good things down the stretch. (Bemidji) just had two seniors come through with some big-time plays when they needed them."

It was a low-scoring affair as the two teams struggled to get anything going. Bemidji State led by as many as 10 points with 6:12 to go in the first half, but Wayne State chipped away and pulled to within six at the break, 21-15.

Johansen named Pitcher of the Week

Tadd Johansen of Wayne State was named the Northern Sun Conference Baseball Pitcher of the Week following his play over the weekend in the Wildcats' road win over Flagler (Fla.).

A 6-foot-3, 170-pound junior lefthander from Elkhorn, Johansen pitched seven shutout innings while improving his season mark to 2-0 in Saturday's 7-1 win. Johansen allowed just four hits with game, ranks 10th in scoring with three strikeouts and one walk in the outing, lowering his season ERA to 0.69 in two starts for the Wildcats.

Wildcat softball debuts with 6-0 start in Florida

The Wayne State softball team kicked off the season Slone Masters to give WSC a 6-2 lead. on the right foot, going 6-0 in its first six games at the National Training Center Spring Games in Clermont,

The Wildcats got off on the right foot Saturday, beating Gannon University of Pennsylvania 6-4 and St. Anselm of New Hampshire 2-0.

After Gannon opened the scoring in the top of the first with one run, Wayne State answered in the bottom of the inning as junior outfielder Aeriell Earleywine led off the inning with a home run. The score stayed tied until the bottom of the sixth, when the Wildcats erupted for five runs. The Wildcats had just two hits in the inning, singles by Kaiti Williams and Earleywine, but took advantage of two Gannon errors to score the five Earleywine was 2-for-4 with a solo homer and RBI single to lead the Wildcats at the plate, while freshman first baseman Kaiti Williams was 2-for-3 with a pair of singles and one run scored. Senior Stephanie Schmidt earned the pitching win in relief of starter Jordan Har-

In the second game Saturday, freshman pitcher Sara Scheffert fired a one-hit shutout in her Wildcat debut to lead Wayne State in a 2-0 win over St. Anselm of

A two-run first inning and Scheffert's standout pitching were the two deciding factors in the contest. Earleywine led off the bottom of the first with a walk and later scored on Dani Sandel's double to left field. Sandel then scored on Megan Hagemann's single down the left field line for a 2-0 advantage.

That would be all the support Scheffert needed. The lone hit she gave up was a single in the sixth inning as St. Anselm used two walks earlier in the inning to load the bases with one out before she shut the door on St. Anselm. She struck out six and walked five in recording the shutout win.

Brittany Greenwood was 2-for-2 with a double and single in the win. Sandel doubled while Kaiti Williams and Hagemann each singled.

Wayne State stayed unbeaten Sunday with a pair of wins, beating Southern New Hampshire, 8-5 and UNC

The Wildcats got two hits each from Jordan King, Dani Sandel and Kaiti Williams in the first game The Wildcats took advantage of four Southern New Hampshire errors in the fourth, then added another run in the fifth inning as Jordan King, Dani Sandel and Vicki Nielsen singled followed by a bases-loaded walk to five.

Southern New Hampshire pulled within one in the top of the sixth, but Wayne State added two insurance runs in the bottom of the sixth to seal the win. Sandel had an RBI single while Kristen Martinson added

Wayne State had eight hits in the game as King, Sandel and Williams each recorded two hits. Harris earned the win, allowing one unearned run on two hits over four innings.

Vicki Nielsen's three-run pinch hit triple highlighted a six-run sixth inning as the Wayne State College softball team rallied for a 6-1 win over UNC-Pembroke.

UNC Pembroke took a 1-0 lead in the fourth, but Wayne State rallied with six runs in the sixth. Nielsen's three-run pinch-hit triple with two outs in the sixth gave Wayne State a 3-1 lead. Greenwood followed with an RBI double, then Nurton singled and both Greenwood and Nurton came across home plate on an Earleywine double to cap the six-run outburst.

Sandel was 2-for-4 with a run scored to lead a balanced attack at the plate. Schmidt improved to 2-0 on the season with three scoreless innings of relief, allowing four hits with two strikeouts and one walk.

On Monday, Wayne State pounded out 14 hits in a 12-2 win over Concordia College of New York, then beat St. Joseph's College of Indiana 3-0.

The Wildcats were down 2-0 when they came back with a five-run third inning to take the lead for good. Vicki Nielsen's two-run double, a two-run single from Greenwood and RBI single by Masters were key hits in the inning. Wayne State put the game away with six runs in the seventh, capped by a bases-loaded double by Earleywine and RBI singles by Sandel and Sandel was a perfect 3-for-3 with two RBI's and two runs scored, Earleywine had two hits and three RBI's and Nielsen and Masters both had two hits.

Scheffert and Schmidt teamed up on a shutout while Earleywine went 3-for-4 with an RBI to lead the Wayne State softball team in a 3-0 win over St. Joseph's Col-

Wayne State got two runs in the second as Greenwood and Earleywine recorded RBI singles. The Wildcats added another run in the third inning when Sandel singled and scored on Nielsen's single. Earleywine finished 3-for-4 at the plate while Greenwood and Megan Hagemann each were 2-for-3. Scheffert improve to 2-0 on the season, allowing eight hits and striking out

Baseball 2-2 so far on spring trip

The Wayne State baseball team ror in the third to make it 6-0. started its spring break trip to Georgia and Florida with a 2-2 effort.

Tadd Johansen fired seven scoreless innings and Wayne State broke open a close game with six runs in two more runs in the bottom of the the eighth to record a 7-1 win over Flagler College of Florida.

The game was a pitcher's duel between Johansen and Flagler's single and Travis Parsons had a two-run triple, while Jake Ritzdorf added another two-run single.

Parsons finished 2-for-4 with a triple and two RBI's while Acosta was 2-for-5 with two RBI's to lead the Wildcats at the plate. Johansen gave up four hits over seven scoreless innings with three strikeouts and one walk.

Wayne State used a balanced offensive attack with eight extra-base hits as the Wildcats posted a 14-4 win over Urbana University of Ohio.

The Wildcats took control of the game early with a four-run first inning. Justin Beranek's two-run double and a C.J. Nolen RBI double were key hits in the inning. Mike Bisenius's double scored Pat Burkhart to make it 5-0 in the second, and Beranek doubled and scored when Luke Abkes reached on an er-run scoring double from Bisenius while Mike Bisenius finished 2-for-On Saturday, junior lefthander and RBI singles by Parsons and 5. Acosta were key hits in a four-run fifth inning. Wayne State added eighth on a Beranek RBI single and RBI groundout from Mike Frericks.

Parsons finished 4-for-5 with an RBI while Beranek ended 3-for-Jack Charleston until the Wild- 4 with four RBI's and three runs cats erupted for six runs in the scored. Bisenius was 2-for-3 with eighth inning, doing so on just three three RBI's while Nolen and Acosta hits. Braulio Acosta had a two-run both had two hits. Senior Austen Wisroth moved to 2-0 on the season with six strong innings on the mound, allowing two runs on six hits with five strikeouts and one

The Wildcats team suffered their first two losses of the season Tuesday. No. 14 LeMoyne (N.Y.) handed Wayne State its first loss of the season by a 6-3 score as the Wildcats left 14 runners on base.

LeMoyne used a four-run second inning to take an early 4-0 lead, but game winning run in the bottom of Wayne State chipped away at the the ninth. Wayne State University Dolphin lead with single runs in the fourth and sixth innings to make the score 4-2. Brett Keim's double er walk to load the bases with one scored Kevin Andersen with the out. Arlen earns national honor

Wayne State senior Ashley Arlen was named the Women's Division II Bulletin Player of the Month for February.

A native of Cascade, Iowa, the Wildcat forward averaged 21.4 points per game, 8.8 rebounds per game and 2.25 assists in eight games throughout the month. Arlen shot 48.1 percent (50-104) from the field, 44.8 percent (13-29) from behind the arc and 90.6 percent (58-64) from the free throw line in Feb-

In the final week of the regular season, Arlen averaged 28.5 points and 7.5 rebounds per game to help Wayne State clinch the Northern Sun Conference regular-season title. She scored 19 points and grabbed six rebounds at Minnesota, Crookston for a 79-67 victory, and in the season finale at MSU Moorhead. she netted a career-high 38 points and snared nine rebounds for a 77-73 win.

While scoring her career-high 38 points, Arlen climbed to third on Wayne State's all-time scoring list with 1,615 points to pass Lisa Chamberlin's 1,586 points from 1990-94. During the month, Arlen notched three double-double games and also was NSIC Player of the Week for the third time this season.

> And while the Wildcats' 29th win of the year will be remembered for Duwelius' title-clinching heroics, the play of two Wildcat freshmen -Epp and Yossi - played a key role Sunday in putting Wayne State in position to sweep the NSIC titles for 2011-12.

"Both of those two played great, and certainly they'll remember this day and build on it," Kielsmeier said of Epp and Yossi, who led the team with 14 and 13 points, respectively. "Ashton has made plays for us all year and plays as well as any freshman I've ever coached, and Whitney has worked hard to develop her game and build her confidence on offense, and she was able to hit some shots and build that confidence up."

Duwelius and Arlen both had 11 points, and Arlen added 11 rebounds for her 13th double-double of the year to give Wayne State a sweep of the NSIC titles and the top seed for the Central Regional tournament that begins Friday at Rice Auditorium. Arlen was named the tournament MVP and was named along with teammates Yossi and Schwartzwald to the all-tournament team.

Wildcats open with win

Wayne State opened the NSIC tournament at Rice Auditorium on Feb. 29, posting an easy 74-42 win over Northern State for their 43rd consecutive win at home.

Yossi scored a career-high 20 points and helped Wayne State go 10-of-16 from 3-point range. Wayne State shot 44.6 percent from the Trailing 7-4, Wayne State went on a 14-0 run to take the lead for good, going into the locker room with a 35-16 halftime lead.

Defense dominates in semis

On Saturday, Wayne State set a new school record with its 28th win and did so in dominating fashion, holding Minnesota State to a dismal 19 percent shooting from the field in a 58-35 blowout in Rochester, Minn.

Both teams struggled in the first half as Wayne State held a 22-17 halftime lead. The Wildcats came out hot in the second half, starting the half with an 18-3 run that helped them build a 40-20 lead midway through the second half.

Arlen had 13 points and 12 rebounds, Duwelius put in 11 points and Hansen had 10 rebounds.

in Div. I or go Div. II, and after I visited here, I just said that was it and I was going to go here.'

It's a decision that Wildcat fans have no doubt cherished these last three seasons.

Upon arrival, Arlen quickly established herself as an offensive force for a Wayne State team that, heading into this weekend's Central Region tournament, has won 81 of its last 92 games, claimed a Northern Sun Conference tournament or regular-season title each season and has been to three straight NCAA Div. II tournaments.

Still, even after those two phone calls and a positive visit, Kielsmeier wasn't sure if he was going to get Arlen to come to Wayne.

"She had a relationship with Clare and played AAU ball with her, and she had an absolutely great visit and we talked to her about how we envisioned her future, and she left that morning and said she was going to think about it," Kielsmeier remembered.

On the way home, Arlen decided that Wayne State was the place for her to be.

"After I visited, I just decided I wanted to be here and I called Coach K on my way home and told him I wanted to be a Wildcat," Arlen said.

Kielsmeier said he got the call about 4 p.m. that day, but waited nervously until the paperwork was faxed to the Wayne State office.

"Mark Henninger was the admissions rep over athletics at the time, and he and I stood by the fax machine for what seemed like hours and passed the time until we got it,"

Arlen has led a Wayne State program that is among the contenders for a national title this season, and her presence in the program has been a huge factor in the team's success, Kielsmeier said.

"There's no question that she's raised the overall standard of everything we wanted to do," he said. "All you want is a shot to win a national title, and the last three years we've had a shot and she's just helped move the process along. She's a great leader and wants to be successful and pushes herself to a higher level, and when you see that behind the scenes on a day-to-day basis, it's something that everyone wants to follow."

She has been a solid force on offense for the Wildcats, averaging 19.3 points as a sophomore, 16.4 last year and 18.3 this season, all team highs. She has averaged more than nine rebounds a game this season and has been equally effective inside and out, shooting 49.1 percent overall from the floor and 33.3 from 3-point range.

Kielsmeier saw right away that Arlen had the talent to hit from the perimeter, but he wanted her to be a force on the inside.

"I quickly learned she's a tremendous talent on the perimeter, but I wanted to change that and my goal was to turn her into a physical presence on the block and beat people up there and let the offense go through her on the block."

She began to establish herself on the inside in tandem with Mara Hjelle on the post last year, and this season has been able to be a dominant force at both ends of the floor on the inside.

A left-handed shooter, Arlen has also developed a pretty nice touch with her right hand as well.

"She's gotten better with the right hand, and the last few weeks she's gone to the right and scored making some difficult shots, and that's a huge area for her to improve on," he said. "She's upped her level of play on the defensive end as well, and that wasn't always the case when she was younger. She has gotten better in every aspect of the game."

That improvement has made Arlen a target for physical play by opposing defenses. It's not uncommon to see Arlen facing double- and triple-teams night in and night out, and she's just fine with that.

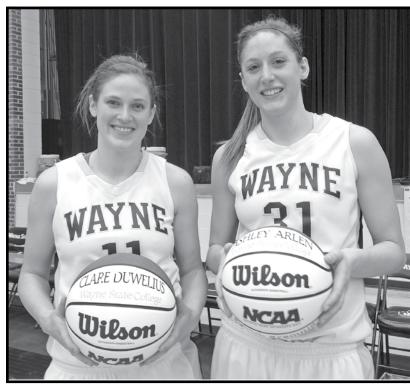

"Actually, I love it because if they're doubling me, that means one of these girls is open and I have the utmost confidence that somebody is going to hit the open shot,"

And while she's tough in the paint, she can also step out and hurt you from beyond the arc with her quick release and high-arcing

"She can score on the block with her back to the basket, but when she's out on the perimeter she can be a force from 3-point range," Kielsmeier said. "She doesn't have the consistency of a pure shooter, but she has a quick trigger finger and can shoot those step-backs from the outside and is skilled on the pe-

"The standard Ashley has helped set here, our players walk into that gvm and expect to be good and they have that confidence in themselves, coming to a close, the impact those and she's helped to develop that attwo phone calls have had on the titude," he said. "The foundation Wayne State program, Kielsmeier of this program has been laid, and said, are going to be felt for some Ashley had a big part of that.'

to San Antonio, Texas – and win the national title.

Whatever you do, though, don't mention anything to Coach K.

In fact, even the utterance of the word Texas – a state where he won a Div. III national title while head coach at Howard Payne University – in his presence will result in that "We aren't going to talk about this again, are we?" smile that precedes his usual "one game at a time" song and dance that drives most sports media types up the wall. If that's all you want to talk about, it's going to be a short conversation – trust me.

Fans and us sports media types like to focus on the end result. When we talk about the NFL, we're not talking about what our favorite team has to do to win its next game we're more interested in fantasizing about that team's Super Bowl

Here's the thing – it's getting to think this is a team that can go NCAA tournament in recent years that isn't measured in a big-picture the job done. They aren't 29-2 and all the way - from Wayne, America and have had some success - and the memory of the men's basketball team reaching the regional finals in 2000 and being regional host in 1999 under Greg McDermott is still a fond memory for many – we've yet to see a Wayne State team come close to reaching that ultimate destination in college sports.

This year's women's basketball team, though, is playing like a team that can turn that fantasy into a reality – but it's a fantasy Kielsmeier wants no part in right now.

You want to talk about this team's success? It's not in what you see on the stat sheet -81-11 the last three seasons, two regular-season and two tournament conference titles, etc., etc. – it's what takes place away from the frenzy and fanaticism that envelopes Rice Auditorium and every other facility in the NSIC this team has invaded this season. Kielsmeier is the first to admit that the one-game-at-a-time schtick is boring, especially for those of us who want to talk about crazy things No. 1 in the nation for nothing – having the talent is one thing, but for that talent to have a collective mindset where the focus is so narrow and laser-like that you can't get them to look past the next game on the agenda takes a special bunch of people working in concert with one another . . . and this team is as in tune with each other as the loudest rock band in the world.

Hopefully, sometime late in the evening on Friday, March 23, Chris and I will be able to talk about Wayne State winning a national championship. That conversation, however, will come only when this team has successfully completed the series of tasks that would lead them to that point where they win that night in San Antonio, Texas.

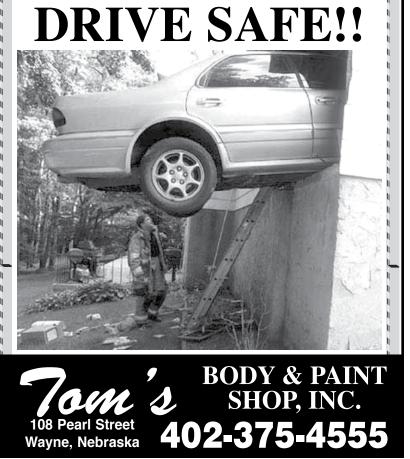

Until then, you can talk about this year's Cubs, or ask what more his team can do to beat Minnesota State for the fourth time this season on Friday night. Anything beyond that, though - and you should expect nothing more than a knowing smile from Chris Kielsmeier.

BOB KERREY IS COMING!!

BOB KERREY IS COMING!!

It's the destination, not the journey

I had the privilege of spending last weekend in beautiful Rochester, Minn. I know when most hear the name Rochester, thoughts go straight to Mayo Clinic. Last weekend however, it was all about hoops . . Wayne State women's hoops.

Often times, folks will say its not the destination, it's the journey. I'm here to tell you, this journey has been quite exciting as Chris Kielsmeier and staff have done a bangup job with the 2011-2012 Wildcat program. The other journey I refer to, is the trip to Rochester.

As a passenger, my only job was to navigate and make sure we were on the right path to the coveted Taylor Center. Those that know me know the word navigator isn't often associated with my sense of direction – or lack thereof. However, I felt up to the challenge, right up until we were faced with a detour sign.

were very generous with an invitation to go with them to the games, didn't think twice about a split-second decision on which road to take - and with my blessing, it was the wrong one.

My friends (McCorkindales) who

All's well that ends well, and we got to see a whole lot of fields and barns and pretty much everything except people and towns for the better part of an hour. We did, however, find our way to the interstate easily made it to the Taylor Center with 30 minutes to spare. The games were very good, especially the championship on Sunday with Clare Dewilius sinking a 3-pointer as the buzzer was going off to give Wayne State its record-setting 29th win of the season against just two losses. It was only fitting that Dewilius hit the shot, since she's the all-time 3-point record holder for the 'Cats.

Following the championship win over Augustana, the gals received their trophy and began cutting down the net. The final clipping of the net was done by coach Kielsmeier, and as he turned to the crowd with his arms up, he repeated time and time again, thanks for your support. Don't thank us coach, we thank you.

Speaking of Wayne State fans, there was a nice contingent of people that made the five-hour (or in some cases a little longer) trek to Minnesota. Kudos to all of you for finding time to support these young women as they continue their mark into the record books.

As already mentioned, the city of Rochester is beautiful with a number of underground subways and walkways so you never have to be out in the Minnesota elements if you choose not to. On weekends, they have free parking in the garages and ramps. It's always good however, to put the correct ticket in the parking meter in the right order. If you don't know which one that is, it's always good to ask. Steve Muir found that out and he did the right thing by asking which one of the tickets is to be used first, to which his wife Trudy quickly replied, the one that says first.

The other unique thing I learned is you can order a hamburger at a location in Rochester that has peanut butter and bacon on it - Hannah called it a high protein lunch.

John Melena will be sorely missed for a myriad of reasons. Talk about visible – the guy was everywhere and if I had a nickel for every hand he ever shook, I would be writing this piece from a sunny beach near

John was very active in a number of boards and committees in Wayne, as well as his church, and served on each one with passion as well as compassion. You see, John was one of those rare types that could share an opinion but also listen to someone else's.

The retired telephone man from Northwestern Bell/U.S. West was also hardly seen without a smile on his face. Simply put, he loved Wayne and it showed. He will be missed. At a most difficult time in the life of his family, we pause and remember them including his wife Margie, sons John, Pat and Bill, as well as daughters Terri and Molly, and their respective families.

John took one last call on Feb. 26 it was a call to come home.

Economic development is key

Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN - The wheels of government, unlike those of justice, don't necessarily grind slowly, especially when the prospect of landing a lucrative bit of economic development is at stake.

Lawmakers have moved quickly of late to sweeten Nebraska's business-tax-break package in hopes of giving Kearney an advantage over a town in Iowa in a competition to host a $1 billion data center. The name of the company looking for a home for the new center hadn't been released at this writing, but the proposed center - which the company would like to start building in May is called Project Edge.

If things work out, the expanded tax breaks could be worth hundreds of millions of dollars to the businesses involved.

Another data center project is being sought for Omaha. It's smaller, and the Legislature acted pronto to reduce the investment requirement for such outfits to qualify for myriad tax benefits.

The tax programs now at work sprung from the 1980s and the administration of Republican Gov.

Bob Kerrey guaranteed that his quirky personality will be part of the debate as he campaigns for the Democratic nomination for what would be his third term as a United States senator from Nebraska.

tion, and truancy are three topics discussed during the first week of all day session.

With the advancement of five bills dealing with child welfare, the Legislature is putting into place the major changes recommended by the Health and Human Services Committee after its year-long study. A very brief summary of the bills is as

- LB821 creates a state agency to oversee all programs providing services to children and creates the Nebraska Children's Commission.

– LB1160 provides for legislative oversight of the Nebraska child welfare system through an improved data collection system that integrates child welfare information into one system to more effectively manage, track, and share information, especially in case manage-– LB949 requires the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) to describe the main purpose or purposes of each program within the division and provide performance measures, benchmarks and time-frames for meeting them.

- LB820 would require the Department of Health and Human Services to apply for a federal funds under Title IV-E of the Federal So-

Child welfare, voter identifica- cial Security Act, as amended, to invest in services to improve child safety and family stability as they move from foster care to safe, permanent homes.

> - LB961 requires case management to be provided by DHHS. This bill was amended during round one to allow Nebraska Families Collaborative to provide case management in the Omaha area. More information on these bills (and all proposed legislation) can be found at www. nebraskalegislature.gov.

> Any and all of these proposed changes in the above child welfare bills must survive the legislative process. They have come out of the committee process unanimously and have survived the first round of debate "on the floor." Some will have amendments attached and will be modified, others will still need to pass the remaining two rounds of debate. It is possible that some could face a challenge from the governor and a possible veto. There has been a lot of effort put into what we believe will set us on the right path forward with state wards and the foster children of Nebraska. I think we will see significant progress in the next few years toward correcting problems that have plagued the State for decades.

A voter identification bill was also discussed this week. LB239 would require voters to provide "government-issued" ID at a polling place before they are allowed to vote. Proponents of the bill say Nebraska is one of only 19 states that does not require any proof of identity at the polling place. This bill is designed to ensure the "integrity and reliability" of the voting process in Nebraska. Opponents believe the bill will discourage the poor, elderly, disabled and minorities - groups less likely to have driver's licenses or approved identification – from voting. Opponents also argue that voter fraud has not been a problem cials. I would like to thank my colin Nebraska to date, and LB239 is leagues for attending.

not needed. I am a cosigner of this bill, and believe voting is a right that men and women have fought and died to protect. I do not believe it is asking too much of voters to prove they are who they say they are when they exercise this right and responsibility.

A compromise on the issue of school truancy was a big step forward on a divisive issue in the Legislature. Last year, a bill was passed that required students to be reported to the county attorney's office after missing more than 20 days of school for any reason. It is up to county attorneys to decide how to handle the reports. LB933 was introduced and amended to read that schools are no longer required to report students who miss more than 20 days of school because of illness or other excused absences. (Schools are still required to report students who miss more than 20 days and have at least one unexcused absence.) This is a major change and a good change to a law that was well-intentioned but went too far. We must focus our attention and resources on at-risk children with unexcused absences. There may still be more amendments added to this bill as it works its way through "the

"Don't be thinking about winning a national championship or going to San Antonio or anything," he added. 'We're well aware that's a possibility, but there are 64 teams that have that possibility right now. Everybody's good right now, and you're going to have to play good basketball every night to extend your season.

For the Wildcats, that means the focus right now is not on a national title, a trip to the Elite Eight or even a regional title. To a player, they have one thing on their mind, and ONLY one thing - Friday's 6 p.m. regional take it one game at a time." opener against Minnesota State-Mankato.

The fourth matchup of the season between the topranked Wildcats and Minnesota State will be the third of four games on the docket for the first day of the regional tournament at Rice Auditorium. Third-seeded Fort Lewis College (25-4) opens play Friday against sixth seed University of Mary (19-9) at 1 p.m., followed by No. 2 seed Metro State (25-3) and No. 7 Minnesota Duluth (18-9) at 3 p.m. The Wildcats and Mavericks square off at 6 p.m. with fourth-seeded Augustana (23-6) facing No. 5 Colorado State-Pueblo (21-6) in the finale at 8 p.m. Semifinals are Saturday at 5 and 7 p.m., with the championship set for 7 p.m.

The Wildcats come into the regional tournament on a tsunami of momentum. Wayne State is not only riding a 14-game winning streak, but is playing on its home court, where they have won 43 consecutive games over the last three seasons.

And there is something to be said about sleeping in your own bed at tournament time.

"It feels great," senior Ali Schwartzwald said. "You don't have to travel, and we feel very comfortable and very confident to play here."

"We couldn't be more comfortable in this environment, and we've had great support from our fans so we're super-excited to be the host team," fellow senior Clare Duwelius added.

And while there are plenty of potential distractions to deal with, Kielsmeier said this team has done a phenomenal job of keeping its focus on the task at hand. In this case, that task is a Minnesota State team they beat by 23 in the NSIC semifinals and manhandled by 18 and 38 points during the regular season.

"It's who our program is," Kielsmeier said. "We just really focus on the next task at hand and not worry about anything else. Our players have fully bought into that and they prepare so hard for that next game, and when you prepare so hard you put yourself in position to be successful."

The Wildcats have stumbled only twice this season, losing to fellow regional foes Augustana and Mary in mid-season. In both cases, Schwartzwald said, the team lost that focus that Kielsmeier and his coaching staff have worked hard to burn into their collective

"We can't get too far ahead of ourselves, because it we do that, we'll lose focus," she said. "Last year, we got ahead of ourselves, and this year we're prepared to just

It's a process that has served this year's team quite well and helped it develop from a team that had potential to one that is now the No. 1 team in the nation heading into the NCAA Div. II tournament.

"We've been ranked in the top 10 from the preseason to this point, but in my opinion we weren't a top 10 team in November and we've developed into a very good team," Kielsmeier said. "You have to give these girls credit for the hard work they've put in, and to see them come together and develop the way they have is a powerful thing."

So powerful, in fact, that you can't even get freshman

Ashton Yossi to think beyond Friday night. "It's very easy to look ahead, but when you focus on one game at a time you know you have to play your best against that one team, because if you don't you're not going to make it into the future." Nor will you shake the senior All-American, Ashley

"We love playing in Rice and I hope we'll have a really good crowd, but right now it's one at a time," she

Duwelius, another senior, admitted the national title is a dream for any athlete – but she's toeing the party line as well.

"Honestly, it's about the game against Mankato and we're going to take it one step at a time and keep doing our thing," she said.

Kielsmeier admitted that he hopes this season doesn't end anytime soon, leaving some hope that there may be thoughts about what could happen next. "But the most important thing right now is the opportunity to play, and nothing about Friday is going to be easy," he added. "We have to be ready to go out and play well." And once that's done, they'll be able to focus on the next task at hand – and leave the big picture to those Wildcat-crazy fans watching from the bleachers.

HEALTH SMART FROM HEALTH MART

Monitoring High Blood Pressure at Home

Has your doctor recommended keeping closer tabs on your blood pressure? One convenient way to do this is by monitoring your blood pressure at home, in between doctor visits. You can do this

But first, a refresher. What is blood pressure and what do the numbers mean? Blood pressure is the force of blood pushing against the walls of your arteries. Blood pressure is actually the measure of two numbers. Systolic pressure is the force on artery walls when your heart beats. Diastolic pressure is the force on your arteries between beats – when your heart is relaxed. Blood pressure is Home monitors can help in many ways. You can use them to spot high blood pressure (hypertension) early, especially if you have another condition that puts you at higher risk. The American Heart Association suggests that anyone with high blood pressure - that's one-third of American adults² – keeps monitoring it at home. Home monitors are a way to see if your medication and lifestyle changes are keeping your blood pressure within a safe range. All in all, home monitors can help you take control of your health while cutting health care costs. 3

You can buy a home monitor right here in our store without a prescription. If you need help finding the right one for you, let me know. But here is some information to get your started. Home monitors have these parts: 1. An inflatable cuff or strap. An inner layer fills with air and squeezes your arm. An out layer holds the cuff in place. You inflate the cuff manually by pumping a bulb. Or, this occurs at the touch of a button using a digital device. This depends upon the type you buy. 2. A gauge. This is either a digital readout or a dial that points to the blood pressure number.

Not all home monitors have stethoscopes, but if yours does, you can listen to the sounds your blood makes as it flows through an artery in the crook of your elbow. Digital cuffs record this

Just getting started? Give yourself some time to learn how to use your home monitor. Measure your blood pressure twice daily to start, but not right when you first wake up. Avoid food, caffeine, alcohol, and tobacco for at least 30 minutes beforehand. Empty your bladder and sit still for at least three to five minutes before beginning. Raise your arm to heart level and don't talk while testing.3

Activities scheduled at Praise Assembly of God Church

Praise Assembly of God in is a "great family church, committed to strengthening families in the Wayne community by providing good Bible teaching and good opportunities for fellowship and prayer."

The interim pastor of the church, Rev. Dennis Preston and his wife, Martha, drive from Omaha each weekend to participate in the teaching ministry at the church. This weekend (March 11), Pastor Preston will be teaching the Adult Sunday School Class as well as preaching in the Sunday morning service at 10:30 a.m. and the Sunday evening Bible Study at 6:30 p.m. Tom and Julie Green from Victory Assembly of God in Norfolk will be leading the Praise and Worship in the morning service and Sherie Lundahl will be leading on Sunday evening.

This past Sunday, Rev. Preston spoke on the subject of "The Church Is On the Move." It was a message of challenge as well as encouragement for the congregation as he spoke of the Church (capital "C") as being under the control and leading of Jesus Christ - the head of the Church. He cited a number of examples of churches around the world that are "on the move" in fulfilling the call of Christ to spread the gospel to every corner of the world, and indicated that "a large part of our reason for being is for the cause of evange-

The pastor reported that there are missionaries from all over the world going to preach and share the gospel to other locations all over the world. The most important factors for effective evangelistic ministry include Faith, Passion and Prayer.

"If we are interested in soul-winning, then heaven is interested in us" was a comment related from world-renown evangelist, Reinhard Bohnke. As he concluded his sermon, the pastor asked the question: "How many people will each of us be responsible for winning - even with our giving to the cause of missions so that missionaries can be sent, so that churches can be planted, and so that individuals can hear the gos-

Praise Assembly of God is a group of believers in Jesus Christ who are committed to 1) faithful prayer, 2) sincere and heartfelt worship of God, 3) honest teaching of the Bible, and 4) regular opportunities for fellowship and missions outreach.

DENTAL SEALANTS

Why are dental sealants placed on teeth? The chewing surfaces of the molar and premolar teeth have grooves or "fissures" that make them vulnerable to decay. These fissures can be deep and narrow which makes them difficult to clean. Plaque accumulates in these areas, and the acid from bacteria in the plaque attacks the enamel and cavities can develop. Fluoride helps prevent decay and helps protect all the surfaces of the teeth. Dental sealants provide extra protection for the grooved and pitted areas by providing a smooth surface for easier brushing. Many studies have shown that they are effective in helping to prevent decay on chewing surfaces When are dental sealants placed? The first dental sealant to be placed is usually on the first permanent molar around age six or once the chewing surface of the tooth has erupted completely beyond the gum. Except for the wisdom teeth or third molars, which come through much later, the molars and premolars continue to erupt until about thirteen years of age. The chewing surfaces premolars) to help protect them from of these teeth can be sealed after they have erupted beyond the gum.

Can dental sealants be placed on the teeth of adults?

Yes, dental sealants are recommended for adults at risk for cavities or decay. The can be placed on teeth that have deep grooves, and that do not already have fillings or dental sealants.

How long does a dental sealant last? Dental sealants can last many years. If necessary, it is also possible to place a new dental sealant on the tooth. For more information on dental sealant treatments, please consult with your dentist or ecutive Director Dan Steinkruger recently unveiled a new Land Coneral other tools designed to help farmers and ranchers build the foundation for a successful career in agriculture.

New FSA Help for Beginning Farmers and Ranchers

"New farmers face many challenges, like obtaining land for example, "said Steinkruger. "FSA is going to provide new options to help them to work through this challenging start-up issue." Peak land values, tight commercial credit, minimal credit history and less collateral make it difficult for new and smaller farmers in Nebraska to get a commercial business loan right

The Land Contract Guarantee for landowners willing to sell and USDA Farm Service Agency Ex- finance a land purchase to a beginning or socially disadvantaged farmer. The national program oftract Guaranteed Program and sev- fers two options, one that guarantees up to three annual installment payments on the contract and another that guarantees 90 percent of the unpaid principal of the contract. Guarantees can be used in the purchase of land for up to $500,000.

"Nebraska farmers represent all walks of life, a wide variety of ethic backgrounds, and all different ages," notes Steinkruger. "This new program will work well for beginning and minority growers in our state and we encourage producers to visit with us to see if they qualify and how it could fit their needs," he said. Find FSA loan information, disaster assistance programs and Program provides a new approach other helpful programs at www.fsa.

Another new change to the agency's lending rules for new producers is to allow more flexibility in the the high level of minority and new minimum experience requirement. Under the new rule, FSA loan officers are now allowed to consider all prior farming experience, including on-the-job training and formal education when determining eligibility for FSA Farm Operating and Ownership Loans. To qualify for the Beginning Farmer and Rancher Loan Program, applicants must have a minimum level of agricultural experience, but not more than 10 years operating a farm or ranch. Steinkruger also recommends that people considering a farming career should visit a new USDA website www. start2farm.gov to learn more about USDA and FSA programs for beginning farmers and ranchers. Nebraska FSA's support for Beginning and Socially Disadvantaged Farmers and Ranchers is evident in farmer participation generated through staff outreach into the community. In 2011, 63.7 percent of all FSA farm loans in Nebraska were made to socially disadvantaged and beginning farmers and ranchers.

For more information about these and other USDA programs, you can always call or visit your nearest USDA Farm Service Agency office: Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights Office of the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 1400 Independence Avenue, S.W., Stop 9410, Washington, DC 20250-9410, or call toll-free at (866) 632-9992 (English) or (800) 877-8339 (TDD) or (866) 377-8642 (English Federal-relay) or (800) 845-6136 (Spanish Federal-relay).

'Food, Fun and Reading 'promotes healthy life

Food, Fun, and Reading is a school enrichment program for preschool to early elementary students that combines literacy and the importance of eating a variety of foods to help live a healthy life.

For four weeks at each location, students in the kindergarten classroom at St. Mary's in Wayne, and the kindergarten and first grade classrooms at Winside Public Schools, learned the importance of eating food from each of the food groups by learning about Choose MyPlate.

The first session focused on grains and the importance of eating half of our grains each day from whole grains. The book "If You Give A Moose a Muffin" by Joeffe Numeroff was read. A trail mix was made for snack.

The second session involved fruits and vegetables and the books "Oliver's Fruit Salad" by Vivian French, and "Tops and Bottoms" by Janet Stevens. Students sampled apples, broccoli and carrots. The message for session two is trying to make half of our plate be fruits and vegetables.

Session three included the dairy group. The book "Kiss the Cow" by Phyllis Root was read and string cheese and pudding were enjoyed. The final session on proteins focused on the importance of protein for a strong body. "Gregory, the Terrible Eater" by Mitchell Sharmat was read and the students made peanut butter and raisin wraps.

seeking candidates for Board of Directors

Nebraska Beef Council

(NBC) will hold Board of Director Elections in five districts in 2012.

This opportunity is open to Nebraska beef producers who are at least 21 years of age, a resident and registered voter of a county in the district that he or she will represent, have been actively engaged as a producer in Nebraska for at least the previous five years and is in compliance with all checkoff laws for the 12 months prior to the call for candidates.

Nebraska Beef Council directors volunteer their time to represent beef producers' checkoff collections and investments on the state, national and international level. The Board's major responsibility is to oversee checkoff expenditures by determining promotion, research and education programs for checkoff investments. The term is four years and will begin on Jan. 2, 2013.

Producers interested in becoming a beef council director are encouraged to visit with current and past directors to learn more about this valuable experience and its commitment. In addition, all candidates are encouraged to attend an information session prior to receiving an 421-5326.

Basketball games consume week

Well, the extra day last week was very welcome, but I'm not sure I accomplished any more because of it. I'll tell you one thing, when you move to town from the country, from a huge two story house to a townhouse, you get kind of lazy.

We actually had guests for the state basketball tournament, and I found it very hard to get out of bed early and fix breakfast; I can't believe I did that for 12 years. Our usual is shredded wheat and O.J., with plenty of coffee, while reading the morning paper.

I've been working a day or two a week, which kind of puts a crimp in that plan. It's surprising, too, how much I think I could use a little nap about 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

We kind of overdosed on basketball last week, or, at least, the Big Farmer did. He still watches the NU guys, even if they don't seem to ever win a game. Then, there was the girls' Big Ten tournament, with Nebraska seeded sixth and making it to the finals. Wasn't that excit-

On Saturday, the state championship games were on NET, so we tuned in there right away at 9 a.m. We were pretty sure Seward would take class B for the fourth time in a row, but Beatrice gave them a good battle. Why is it there are days when the ball refuses to go through that hoop???

In between the state high school games and the Big Ten, there was the Missouri Valley conference. It's so fun to watch Doug McDermott and his teammates; remembering that his dad coached at Wayne State not too long ago. They needed an overtime to do it, but they are the conference champs.

Now, we have to gear up for the Ten guys, and soon, the NCAA tournament. Thank goodness for televi- holds out!

Tonight, we were at Norris High for the vocal concert preceding district contest. And, track season is already starting. No wonder teenagers are always tired. I get tired just listening to their schedules.

Of course, it's also tax time! Mike has already gone through my checkbook register. We have had separate checking accounts for a very long time; it was necessary to preserve the marriage! His balances to the penny; mine gets "rounded up". Sometimes, my notes as to what the check was for confuse him a bit, and he has a hard time figuring out what is deductible. If the truth be known, sometimes, I can't figure it out, either!

I gave up chocolate for Lent, and it's been more difficult than I imagined it would be. I love chocolate chip cookies, and tonight, we were in the cafeteria at Madonna Rehab Hospital, and I picked up the chocolate mousse for dessert! I put it back just in time, and settled for vanilla pudding. Thank goodness, all the chocolate we received for Christmas has been eaten, but there is still a lot of hot cocoa mix around. It's easy to forget and give in to temptation.

Tomorrow is one of those days for boys' high school games, the Big me to work, so I'll wrap this up and send it to Clara; hope this weather

Siouxland Garden Show, chemigation, cow nutrition topics for discussion

The Siouxland Garden Show is coming up March 16-17 at the Marina Center in South Sioux City.

Over 50 exhibitors will showcase innovative products and services, 12 education seminars will be presented by regional experts and 18 "How To" sessions will be held. Topics include Landscape Lighting, Straw Bale Gardening, Water Gardening, Rain Water Harvesting, Attracting Birds to Your Yard, Drying Fruits and Vegetables, Vertical Gardening, and more.

There are plenty of activities for all ages. This event is co-sponsored by the University of Nebraska Extension and Iowa State University Extension. Check the website for more information at www.extension.iastate.edu/woodbury/news/ gardenshow.htm. The cost to attend the event is $5 for one day or $9 for Those who need to get certified or re-certified to apply fertilizers and/ or chemicals through an irrigation system can attend the chemigation training session Tuesday, March 13 at 9 a.m. at the Learning Center in Norfolk. There will also be training on Monday, March 19 at the Haskell Ag Lab at 1:30 pm. These sessions lasts approximately 2 1/2 to 3 hours and will certify you for the next four years. Unlike the pesticide applica-both days. Kids under 12 can attend need to pass an exam at the end of the training.

Bruce Anderson, Extension Forage Specialist, reminds us that good cow nutrition is crucial following calving to get cows rebred. Cows need good feed after calving. Each cow experiences much stress after calving because she is producing milk for her calf and she is preparing her reproductive system to rebreed. As a result, nutrient demands are high. Energy requirements increase about 30 percent tor trainings, there is no fee for this and protein needs nearly double after calving. Underfeeding reduces the amount of milk she provides her calf, and it can delay or even prevent rebreeding. And if it gets cold, wet, or icy again, nutrient demands can skyrocket.

Winter grass, corn stalks, and other crop residues are low quality right now because these feeds are weathered and have been pretty well picked over. So it is critical that the hay or silage you feed will provide the extra nutrients your cows need. Not just any hay or silage will do. Your cow needs 10 to 12 percent crude protein and 60 to 65 percent TDN in her total diet. If she is grazing poor quality feeds, your forage and supplements must make up any deficiencies.

Make sure your forage has adequate nutrients; if you haven't done so, get it tested now for protein and energy content. Also determine the nutrient requirements of your cows. Then feed your cows a ration that will meet their requirements. But don't overfeed, either. That is wasteful and expensive. In summary, avoid underfeeding after calving; it can delay rebreeding and slow down calf growth. Use good quality forages to provide adequate nutrition. Your cows will milk well, rebreed on time, and produce healthy calves year after year.

THANK YOU

Memories of the one we've loved 'Still case their gentle glow To grace our days and light our paths Wherever we may go

Words are not adequate to express our gratitude to all who have walked with us in our time of need. The Wakefield Health Care Center staff for care and love, Pastor Charity Potter for being there when we needed spiritual guidance and for her uplifting message, to Jane and Jay O'Leary for their ministry in $ar{eta}$ music to Darrel and Nancy for their loving care and support, $ar{m{\mu}}$ to those who sent food, cards, flowers and memorials, and to \bigcap John Huss Presbyterian Church for their many acts of kindness. With sad and grateful hearts we say God bless you all.

The Family of Faye Peck

Dad was a special person. He would talk with anyone. He was a great husband. He was an understanding father. He was a caring grandfather. He was an excellent great grandfather. He loved his children, grandchildren, and he adored his great grandchildren. You are never ready for a time like this but with the help of so many it does ease some of the heartache.

The family of John R. Anderson would like to graciously thank Dr. Benjamin Martin, Providence Medical Center, Providence Hospice, Terri Munter, Mercy Medical of Sioux City, and the Wakefield Care Center. We only wish we could have been there longer. We would also like to express our sincere gratitude to Pastor Pete for his comforting words and a wonderful service honoring Dad's life. Thank you to the ladies of the United Methodist Church for serving lunch. Also, thank you to Scott Hasemann for his sincere help in something no one wants to do.

Finally, to all our friends and neighbors who stopped by to visit, sent memorials, brought food or a special memory about Dad. Your graciousness will not go unnoticed. Again thank you.

proposed amendment. The Board hereby provides notice pursuant to the Nebraska Administrative Procedure Act, that in the event of a contested hearing, if any party requests that the Board be bound by the formal rules of evidence, all costs of the hearing shall be paid by the party or parties against whom a final decision is rendered. Pursuant to the Board's Rules o Practice and Procedure set out in Nebraska Administrative Code, Title 285, Chapter 3 section 29.04, if for some reason there is no final decision in which a party requested that the Board be bound by the formal rules of evidence, the costs of the hearing will be borne by the parties to the hearing in a proportionate share according to their respective contribution to the record, unless otherwise ordered by the Board. Individuals requiring special accommodations should contact the Board at the address below prior to the time of the hearing.

Requests for additional information of questions should be directed to Timothy Texel Executive Director and General Counsel Nebraska Power Review Board, at the above address or by calling (402) 471-2301
