County sees 30 percent primary turnout

Fischer wins Wayne County en route to upset; Bloomfield top vote-getter in Dist. 17 race

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

A total of 1,565 ballots were cast Tuesday in Wayne County as voters made their choices in Tuesday's Nebraska primary election. Probably the biggest surprise came in the Republican race for the U.S. Senate. Current State Sen. Deb Fischer of Valentine, who didn't begin campaigning in earnest until after the Legislature wrapped up its 2012 session in April, came out of nowhere to beat longtime front-runner Jon Bruning and Don Stenberg to earn the chance to face former Democrat Sen. Bob Kerrey in the November general election. Fischer also won Wayne County, gaining 473 votes to Bruning's 429 and Stenberg's 229.

Hoskins resident and District 17 State Sen. Dave Bloomfield will move on to the November general election as well, where he will face former South Sioux City school superintendent Van Phillips. Bloomfield had more than half of the votes cast at 52.8 percent, compared to Phillips at 28.9 percent. Ron Hartnett was a distant third at 14.2 percent, followed by Darrick Barclay at 4.1 percent.

In the Board of Regents District 3 race, Jim Pillen of Columbus and David Copple of Norfolk will move on to the November general election. Pillen has 51.8 percent of the vote, while Copple has 31.1 percent. Columbus businessman Tony Raimondo Jr. has 17.1 percent.

In the race for the Republican bid in the Third District of Congress in Nebraska, Bob Lingenfelter was the winner in Wayne County, but current Rep. Adrian Smith ran away with the Republican nomination, gaining 81.4 percent of the vote to Lingenfelter's 18.6 percent. Smith will face unopposed Democrat Mark Sullivan.

Voter turnout in Wayne County was at 30.1 percent, as 1,565 ing of canvassing board.

of 5,207 registered voters cast ballots. The Chapin/Hancock/Winside region had the highest voter turnout at 32.3 percent, while Wayne's Second Ward had the lowest turnout at 20.4 percent.

Graduation day

Saturday was a day full of high school graduations in the area, as four of the five area high schools said good-bye to the Class of 2012. Winside students celebrated by tossing their caps in the air outside the school after the ceremonies, while students at Wayne, Allen and Laurel-Concord/Coleridge also celebrated. Wakefield's graduation is set for this Sunday, May 20, at 2:30 p.m.

Sports on Council's agenda

By CLARA OSTEN Of the Herald

A shelter at the Wayne Summer Sports Complex, painting lines on the floor at around Hank Overin Field were among the agenda items that were a part of the Wayne City Council's agenda when they met in regular session on Tuesday.

Recreation services director Alex Koch told the council of a plan to construct a shelter on the north end of the Summer Sports Complex. It will be similar to the one on the south end of the complex, but constructed of wood, donated by Sand Creek Post and Beam.

the project, which will be paid for with do- funding available to do the painting. The nated funds.

Koch also spoke to the council on a request from the Wayne Basketball Association to paint basketball lines on the floor of the Wayne City Auditorium and parking the Wayne City Auditorium and install permanent basketball hoops there.

Koch said in recent years, more and more teams and sports activities are taking place within the community and a number of tournaments take place throughout the year. Several of the basketball courts at the Community Activity Center are required to be left open for those in the After School program and other Community Activity Center members.

Koch told the council that the Wayne The council gave unanimous approval for Basketball Association has nearly enough

He also explained the need to have permanent basketball hoops in the auditorium, as moving the portable ones currently at the auditorium is awkward and timeconsuming. Prices for basketball hoops could run as high at $6,000, depending on the type chosen.

Council members voted to move forward on the project and noted that it could be possible to put the cost of the basketball hoops into the next fiscal year's budget.

will participate in the Memorial Day Program held at Greenwood are going on Memorial Day and Cemetery, weather permitting, or the number of senior band memthe High School gym on Monday, May 28.

The students need to meet at the High School Band Room by 9:10 a.m. Varsity band/Cadet band members are asked to wear band uniforms (no hats or gloves). The group will then walk to the cemetery at 9:40 a.m. and get ready for the 10 a.m. Program.

"We need as many Varsity band and Cadet band members as possible to take part in this event. I realize school is out for the summer and many people leave town during this extended weekend. On the other hand, I do not want to display a band that does not sound or look acceptable. But most importantly we are honoring the Veterans who have made the USA a free country. If at all possible, I am asking your assistance and cooperation in order to make this event successful." said Brad Weber, director of the Wayne High band.

"Because of the students leaving on the Close-Up Trip to Wash-

County board to take look at radio bids from Cedar County

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

The Wayne County Commissioners are going to compare bids from Cedar County on new radio equipment before going ahead with any new purchase of a digital or narrowband radio system.

At Tuesday's meeting, the board discussed the issue of new radios with Wayne County Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz, who said the county needs to see what the best plan of attack is to replace outdated radio equipment that will become illegal to use by the start of 2013.

"We can put a new proposal together for 60 radios and see what kind of bid we can get," Kemnitz said. "But there are some different numbers out there and we need to get an inkling of what we're looking at."

Board member Kelvin Wurdeman said the county needs to look at what kind of price it can get for narrow-band radios as compared to digital radios. He said he is seeing information that the federal government may require all-digital radio equipment to be in use by fiscal year 2017-18.

"I hate to waste taxpayers' money, but what price do you put on somebody's life," he said, noting an incident during a winter snowstorm two years ago where he was lost while working to move snow off a county roadway.

The board also discussed whether or not to pay a radio company to program the radios or have Kemnitz do the work. Kemnitz noted that, as an example, Motorola charges $75 per radio to program them to compatible until they can afford to the county's channels. If the county replace the additional equipment. bought a full complement of 60 radios, it would cost the county an extra $4,500.

Drivers' Ed classes begin next week

this year's Driver's Education and the effects of drinking and itself in teaching basic driving classes offered by Wayne Community Schools, as well as the general public, are being invited to a presentation by Rob Reynolds on Tuesday, May 29.

Reynolds, who lost a child in an auto accident that involved texting, is part of the Alliance for Safer Teen Driving. His presenation is set for 10:45 a.m. at Gardner Hall on the Wayne State College campus.

"Statistics show that distracted drivers are the number one cause of death for young people," said Ron Carnes, who along with Matt Schaub, are the instructors for this year's classes.

Driver's Education classes this year will be held from May 23 through June 1. State law requires such classes to include a minimum of 20 hours of classroom instruction, as well as $5 \ 1/2$ hours of actual driving. The program is open to students who will be 14 years of age by Oct. 15 of this year.

The Wayne program includes a number of speakers who talk

Both Lenihan and Travis Meyer, head of maintenance at the school, spoke of summer plans for moving classrooms and consolidating the district into two buildings. Meyer said there has been "great support" from all those involved in the moving process.

Moving of seventh and eighth grade classrooms will begin next week to allow for summer cleaning before the fifth and sixth grade classrooms are moved to the third floor of current Middle School.

The high school administrative offices will also move to temporary locations beginning next week to allow for construction work to be done at the high school.

He presented information on the benefits of moving, even for a short period of time, on learning.

Poehlman presented a school nutrition update. She talked about changes in government regulations in regard to foods that can and cannot be served through the school lunch program.

She also told the board she is excited to have a new kitchen for the coming year and noted that because of it, she will able to other additional choices, especially fruits and vegetables, to the students.

On a related note, the board will consider an increase in lunch prices at the June meeting.

Mark Hanson, high school principal, and Rocky Ruhl, junior high principal, presented information on the 7-12 student handbook that is currently being updated. Both noted that changes are being made to make enforcement of policies more effective.

The board also voted to move forward with an interlocal technology agreement for the issuance of bonds for the purchase of forms of technology. Board members were given the opportunity of having one to five years to repay the debt. It was determined that a two-year payoff would be in the district's best interest.

The Wayne Community Schools Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, June 11 at the high school.

Ikes' annual Open Gate Day set

The Wayne Izaak Walton League has invited everyone in the community to the third annual Open Gate Dav on Saturday, May 19.

The gate will be open from 9 a.m.-7:30 p.m. This day coincides with the Nebraska Game and Parks free fishing day so those taking part do not need a license. All are welcome to come out to the recreational area and see what the facility has to offer for outdoor activities.

While visiting the facility, everyone is welcome to fish, walk the nature trail or have a picnic. Fish are now catchable size. The Izaak Walton League currently observes catch and release on all fish at this time and state fishing regulations also apply to the area.

"By the end of July this year we are planning to remove some of the catch and release restrictions: however, all state regulations will still apply. Watch the newspaper for further updates," said Scott Brummond, a member of the organization.

"We encourage our members to enjoy the outdoors and use the area for fishing, camping, and picnicking. A 2012 Membership is $60 and is available at Doescher's Appliance," Brummond added.

Wayne athletes earn trips to state

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

PIERCE – There are always a few close calls when it comes time to qualifying athletes for the state track meet, but Wayne High coach Dale Hochstein is pretty happy with the dynamite dozen he's taking to Omaha. The Wayne High girls finished fourth and the boys placed sixth in the B-4 district track meet Thursday in Pierce. The two teams will have a combined 12 athletes competing in 11 events during the 2012 Nebraska State Track and Field Championships, and the Blue Devil mentor is excited to take this bunch down to the Omaha Burke sports complex.

"We had a fairly tough district in some of those events, but the kids were ready to compete," he said. "I thought the kids competed very well, and we had a number of girls that finished fourth, fifth or sixth that have some promise for the future."

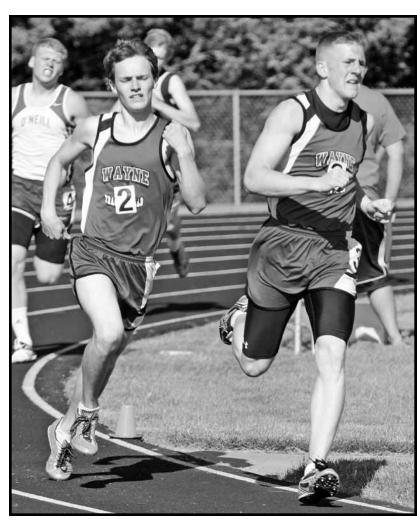

Classmate Caitlin Fehringer will be the busiest of the Blue Devil girls this weekend, as she helped the 400-meter relay team to a second-place finish and earned wild cards in both the 100 and 300-meter hurdles.

"Her times that she ran were good, solid times, and we had some excellent hurdlers in the district," Hochstein said, noting that Fehringer qualified despite finishing fifth in the 100 hurdles and fourth in the 300. "She ran well in a tough district, and that little bit made the difference."

Joining Fehringer and Fallesen on the 400-meter relay are Jalyn Zeiss, who ran on the team at state last year; and Cassie Heier, who is in for the first time.

Also making it to state is sophomore distance runner Angie Nelson, who overcame the disappointment of not qualifying in the 3,200 to come back and earn a trip with a third-place finish in the 1,600.

"We thought going in that Angie's best shot was in the 3,200, and when that didn't come through, she The Blue Devils got a pleasant surprise early in the went out in the 1,600 and competed really well and day in the high jump, qualifying a pair of athletes with was able to break away from the pack," Hochstein said. "She really left it all out on the track, so it was neat to see her do that.'

Ashton Schweers placing second and Sarah Maxson tying for third.

While Schweers has been a consistent scorer in the event this season and was in contention going into the event, doubling Wayne's pleasure with two qualifiers in the event was a nice addition to the state track docket.

"That's a moment you coach for," Hochstein said of Maxson's qualifying effort. "I don't think Sarah realized it at first until she saw she was one of the last three, and that was really neat for her. It's really nice to have her and Ashton competing in the high jump for us.

The Wayne High boys qualified in all five events in which they scored points on Thursday, winning the 3,200-meter relay and getting qualifying efforts in four more events on the track.

BLAIR - Wayne's boys golf team finished ninth Monday at the B-2 District Golf Tournament at River Wilds Golf Course.

Dave Hix's crew finished with a 362 team score in their final outing of the season. There were no Blue Devil qualifiers for next week's State Tournament in Kearney.

Omaha Skutt fired a 312 to win the district title. They will be joined at state by Blair (322) and Omaha Gross (329). Gretna, Elkhorn South, O'Neill, Omaha Roncalli and Pierce finished ahead of Wayne, with Elkhorn, Bennington and Mt. Michael placing in order behind them.

"We had a game plan but we just didn't execute," Hix said. "We knew we weren't going to out-talent too many with our strong district, so we needed to script out a plan. It worked for Tyler Schoh."

The sophomore fired a career-best 84 to lead the Blue Devils. Only the top 10 overall individuals earn a state tournament berth. Schoh finished just three strokes out of the field of qualifiers.

"Our district was unreal with the level of players that were in one area," Hix added. "The scores fell about where we expected. I stronglv feel next week's state champs in Class B will come from this district." Sean Gansebom closed out his high school career with an 89, while sophomore Kaje Maly carded a 93. Junior Ezra Brodersen was next

The Wayne mentor said his young squad has a lot of work to do over the summer months to get where they need to be to compete.

"I'd like to thank Terry Munson publicly for his assistance and expertise which helps our program," Hix added. "Thanks to the parents as well for the support they gave throughout the season in many different fashions.'

Individually, the medalist at districts was Ryan Rearick of Skutt with a 74 while Kelton Terry of Gretna, Ryan Drvol of Skutt and Brian Carmody of Skutt fired 77's. Blair had a pair of freshman that fired great scores with Vance Janssen notching a 77 and Travis Loudner, 78. Winside, Allen qualify several athletes for state track meet so I was leery that we could get

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

HARTINGTON – May has its many traditions, from high school graduations to the Kentucky Derby and the Indianapolis 500.

Another May tradition, at least in these parts, is an Allen 3,200-meter relay team competing in the Nebraska State High School Track and Field Championships. And this year – the Eagles are bringing two teams to the race.

Both the Allen boys and girls 3,200-meter relay teams qualified for this week's state track meet at Omaha Burke after competing in the D-3 district meet last week in Hartington.

The Lady Eagles got there the old-fashioned way, winning the district title with a time of 10:28. The Allen boys, on the other hand, took the long way to their eighth straight trip to state in the event, finishing third in the district but coming away with one of the five wild cards after competing in a very tough race at districts.

Winside, which was left out of the state track party last year, had a late bloomer and a gritty grinder come away with state qualifying efforts, as the Wildcats qualified in two events for this week's state meet.

For Allen, eight athletes will have a hand in three events, all taking place during Friday morning's first session.

The Lady Eagles' 3,200-meter relay of Candice Rastede, Vanessa Klug, Lindsey Jones and Olivia Schneiders will be the first race of the day, and coach Denise Hingst is thrilled that they were able to win their district and make the trip to state.

"It was an awesome race by the girls," she said. "We knew going in that Randolph had the same time as our best time, and we hadn't run our best since the first race of the year. We had one of those girls out and Olivia was battling tendonitis, what happens in his races," Hochstein said. "When you get everybody down there, it's a tough competition and you hope the pace feels good and he can go with people. It's a tough field with some quality distance runners, but he's been there before."

Jorgensen will be joined by Sawyer Jager, Tyler Ellis and Luke Trenhaile on the 3,200-meter relay team that opens the meet Friday morning, and Hochstein like that foursome's chances for a good medal

"I think with the experience we have in that race, the 3,200-meter relay team has a good chance of medaling," he said. "Class B is generally a tough field, and they'll have to have some good efforts."

Jager and Trenhaile will join Jorgensen on the track Saturday, as both seniors will open Saturday's agenda with the 800-meter run. Sophomore Demetrius Alexander will make his debut for the Blue Devils at state, competing in Friday afternoon's 200-meter preliminaries.

"Demetrius has had a good year for us, and he's really excited about going down there," Hochstein said.

Hochstein is optimistic that the Blue Devils can score some points at state.

"I think we have a nice combination of events going in, and if the kids have a great day, they have a good shot at bringing home some medals," he said.

Wayne High will compete in the B-D section of the state meet Friday morning, with action starting at 9 a.m. All four classes will begin competition Saturday at 8:30 a.m., with all the action scheduled to take

All four Allen runners finished in a similar manner, sprinting the final 100 yards toward the end of their legs, and the end result saw the Lady Eagles shave nine seconds off their best time to easily win the race

"The girls were determined and did an awesome job, and it was really great to watch," Hingst said.

The Allen boys continued their tradition of running in the meet's first race, marking the eighth straight year they've made it to

The Wildcats have one competitor in both the girls and boys competition in Class D Friday, as sophomore Jayd Roberts and senior Blaine Meyer will do battle.

Meyer was something of a surprise this season. After not competing in track as a sophomore and junior, he made a surprise appearance in the shot put ring and quickly became the Wildcats' lead thrower in that event, winning the district title with a 44 foot, 7 inch heave.

"He was lifting weights after school and just started coming out with the guys in the shot put ring and was throwing with them, and he just improved himself throughout the spring," coach Mark Tonniges said. "I thought he did an outstanding job making it to state."

tion of a good start in field events and some solid efforts on the track that helped them send five girls and four boys to the state meet in Omaha.

"We had a good day," coach Nate Sims said. "Our sprinters and hurdlers had some nice weather, and it gave them some confidence and we were able to get through the day a little better and had some good performances all around."

Senior leaper Amy Pritchard looks to be in the mix for another medal at state this year after dominating the triple jump with a best effort of 36 feet, 4 inches. She also qualified for state in the long jump, taking runner-up honors with a best effort of just over 16 feet.

"Amy's been there and done that at state, and she just needs to go out and do her thing," Sims said. "She had a tremendous day in the triple tion with Bodlak in the triple jump, feet, and she popped off a good one to win it. We're looking forward to seeing what she can do down there.' Audra Corbit and 2011 qualifier Erika Hochstein both were in the hunt for a trip to state in the high jump. Hochstein just missed out on the automatic qualifying height of 5 feet, but Corbit easily cleared the bar and went on to win the event with a best jump of 5 feet, 1 inch. "Both Audra and Erika, who got fourth, have been really close to that 5 foot mark all year, and that was the automatic qualifying mark to get in (to state)," Sims said. "Erika just missed on all three of her attempts, but Audra got hers on the second try and got 5-1 easily and just missed at 5-2. If she can repeat or improve on that, she has a chance to score for us." The Lady Bears also put two entries into the 100-meter hurdles for state. Kelsey Dietrich won the event with a time of 15.9 seconds, and while Kiley Thompson finished third, her effort of 16.3 seconds was good enough for a wild card spot in

Mitch Heikes and Justin Saunders will both compete in two events for the LCC boys. Both athletes will join Kyle Kardell and Brett Haisch in the 400-meter relay, and will compete individually in the 100 and 400, respectively.

"Mitch has done a great job sprinting throughout his high school career, and this was a tough district," Sims said. "First was 11.0 and second was 11.1, so there was a lot of speed in our district and Mitch was able to get in on the wild card.

"Justin has been nursing a sore toe," he added. "It really hasn't been healthy until now after he had surgery, and he's really turning the corner and getting to where we thought he could be. It's a nice reward to come off that surgery and make it to state.'

The Wildcats finished fourth in the 11-team conference meet and scored 94 points, finishing one point behind Augustana and going above and beyond what coach Marlon Brink was expecting.

"We thought going in that if they scored 70 points, it would be a pretty good meet," he said. "And we got to 94. It was an exceptional weekend for the women."

Wayne State's women set four school records and a conference meet record at last weekend's season finale, led by seniors Paige Pollard and Nicole Brungardt.

Pollard, who had already won the heptathlon, added a win in the 400-meter hurdles with a meet record time of 1:00.14. She also finished third in the long jump and seventh in the 100-meter hurdles.

Five Wildcats headed to Div. II national track meet

The field has been set for the NCAA Div. II Track and Field Championships May 24-26 in Pueblo, Colo., and several Wayne State athletes will compete for All-American honors and national titles during the three-day meet.

Senior Ross Bunchek is the only male representing the Wildcats, as he will compete in the hammer throw. His toss of 66.2 meters is second in the nation going into the meet, which will put him in contention for a national title.

In women's action, Paige Pollard and Carly Fehringer will both compete in two events. Pollard will compete in the 400-meter hurdles and the heptathlon, while Fehringer will throw in the shot put and hammer throw.

Also qualifying for Wayne State in women's action are Nicole Brungardt in the 100-meter dash and Emily Wells in the hammer throw.

Bunchek, Pollard honored as NSIC Athletes of the Year

Wayne State seniors Ross Bunchek and Paige Pollard were honored as the Northern Sun Conference Field Athletes of the Year by conference track and field coaches for 2012.

Bunchek, a senior from Valparaiso, Ind., set a new NSIC meet record ing the previous mark by 10 feet. This season, Bunchek was first in every meet except one, the Drake Relays, in the hammer throw. Competing against a stellar Division I field. Bunchek unleashed a career-best throw of 217 feet, 2 inches at the Drake Relays on April 28 to place second. The mark was also good for an Olympic Trials "B" qualifying mark. Bunchek currently ranks third in NCAA Div. II in the hammer throw.

Bunchek

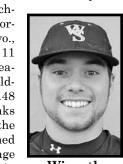

Pollard, a senior from Newcastle, was the high point scorer at the NSIC Outdoor Championships. She won the heptathlon with a new school record mark of points, 4,923which ranks 11th in NCAA Div. II. Pollard also captured first place in the Pollard 400-meter hurand total bases (104) and 10th in runs scored. Bisenius earned firstteam All-NSIC honors for a second straight season and received his first NSIC Gold Glove honor after making just two errors from his right field position this season.

Wisroth, a 6-foot-2 190-pound senior pitcher from Torrington. Wvo.. was 6-2 in 11 starts this season for the Wildcats with a 2.48 ERA. He ranks sixth in the NSIC in earned average run and is sixth in fewest runs allowed (22) by an NSIC pitcher this season while giving up just three home runs. Wisroth fired three complete games this season with two shutouts, and had 55 strikeouts in 69 innings pitched allowing 65 hits and 22 runs (19 earned). He was a second-team All-NSIC selection this season and was first-team All-NSIC and secondteam Daktronics All-Central Region as a sophomore. He finished his Wildcat career ranking third in career strikeouts with 247, fourth in career innings pitched at 254 and is tied for fifth all-time in wins with 25.

Area players, coaches named to all-star squads

Four athletes and one coach from the area will be involved in the 29th annual Northeast Nebraska All-Star Classic basketball games on Friday, June 8.

Area players involved in the contest include Katie Hoskins and Gage Rethwisch of Wayne High and Man. dy Nelson and Jade Cunningham of Laurel-Concord/Coleridge. LCC girls coach Nate Sims will coach Nelson, Cunningham and Hoskins on the Light Team. Rethwisch will play on the Boys Dark team.

Wildcats baseball hopes come up short

MANKATO, Minn. - Win and where it stands." ou're in

It was a rather simple formula for the Wayne State baseball team, which sat on the bubble as the No.5 team in the Central Region baseball rankings heading into last week's Northern Sun Conference tournament. A win over a Winona State team it had split with, and was ranked a spot ahead, would all but seal a trip the NCAA Div. II tournament for the Wildcat baseball team.

Unfortunately, the Wildcats came up on the short end of a pitcher's duel against the Warriors in the first round Wednesday, then followed it up with a comeback effort that fell short against eventual conference champion Minnesota State, ending the Wildcats' 32-18 season and, with it, its hopes of making the NCAA tournament.

"We hurt ourselves by not winning, and Regis came in and won the RMAC, so with that automatic bid we got knocked out," coach Brian Disch said. "It was close be-

In the tournament opener, the Wildcats' Austen Wisroth pitched well in a losing effort, striking out seven and walking none. Unfortunately it was the one pitch that got the fourth when Mike Bisenius sinaway that ultimately led the Warriors to a 2-1 win over the Wildcats, as a two-run homer by Lucas War- in the fifth and four more in the sevren proved to be the difference in the game.

"Austen pitched really well and their guy pitched well," Disch said. 'We've struggled to give Austen runs this year, and it was one of those things where we needed to find a way to score a couple more runs. Austen made one bad pitch, and I wish we could have scored more runs for him."

The Wildcats did get a run home in the fifth when Braulio Acosta drove in Brett Keim with a single to left. However, the Warriors' Kodey Simon threw a complete game, limiting the Wildcats to four hits and striking out eight in the contest.

The loss forced the Wildcats into tween us and Winona, but they beat a matchup with the regular-season. In the ninth, Wayne State got a run us two out of three games, so that's conference champion Mavericks, when Keim scored on a Bisenius who jumped out to a 7-1 lead and held off a furious Wildcat rally to post a 7-5 win Thursday, ending the Wildcats' tournament hopes.

Wayne State forged a 1-1 tie in gled and scored on a wild pitch, but the Mavericks responded with a run enth, chasing Wildcat starter Tom Doran.

"It was 3-1 in the seventh and we had a double play ball that we couldn't get taken care of, and they got a few hits after that to go up 7-1." Disch said.

The Wildcats weren't going down quietly, however. After an inningending double play got the Mavericks out of a bases-loaded jam in the seventh, Wayne State loaded the bases again in the eighth and ninth innings, scoring twice in each frame.

In the eighth, Kevin Anderson singled and scored on a Bisenius groundout, and Acosta scored on a Jake Ritzdorf single to make it 7-3.

sacrifice fly, and Travis Parsons singled home Acosta with another run. The Wildcats had the tying run in scoring position and the go-ahead run on first, but could not get the runs home. "We had the bases loaded in the eighth and ninth and had chances to score more runs, but we stranded the bases loaded and that's how the season ended," Disch said.

Parsons was 2-for-4 and Ritzdorf was 2-for-5 in the losing effort for the Wildcats. Acosta singled and scored twice, while Bisenius had a hit and two RBI's.

It was a frustrating way to end the season for Disch and the Wildcats, who ended up being the first team out in the regional for the second straight year.

"It's not a good feeling to have, and I feel bad for our seniors because I thought we had a good enough team to play in the NCAA tournament," he said. "We're losing some good seniors, but for the most part we have our pitching staff back, and if we pitch well and play good defense, we'll be fine."

Meth labs, Senate upset and the Net

Today (Thursday) is the 17th anniversary of my 29th birthday.

I always celebrate my 29th birthday every year, because from what my longtime friends tell me, I had one whale of a birthday party that year. I don't seem to remember any of the details, but some friends claim to have pictures documenting what a good time that was had by all (including me, I presume . . . remembering yesterday is enough of a challenge for me right now).

Since it's my birthday, here's some more evidence of how watered down the gene pool is, straight from the "Bits and Pieces" file:

- And now, ladies and gentlemen, your front-runner for my annual "Moron of the Year" award: an Oklahoma man tried to run away from a state trooper during a traffic stop, only to have his portable meth lab blow up.

You say this guy isn't a contender? How about I tell you exactly where said lab was located at the time of the explosion – in his pants.

Folks, I don't make these stories up . . . I just report 'em as the idiots make 'em for me.

- Do you remember the old photo of Harry S. Truman holding up the "Dewey Defeats Truman" newspaper shortly after beating his opponent in the race for President more than a half-century ago?

Nebraska has found its equivalent this week. Valentine farmer Deb Fischer came out of nowhere (and if you've been out to Valentine, you know it's SURROUNDED by nowhere) to beat front-runner Jon Bruning and hanger-on Don Stenberg to win the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Now, Fischer has to deal with another guy who came out of nowhere well, he actually came from New York to set up "residence" here so he could run for the Democrat nomination, but let's not get technical here . .

If Fischer follows up her unlikely win over Bruning and defeats Bob Kerrey this November, it might be the best double-play combination since Tinkers to Evers to Chance (or at least Russell to Lopes to Garvey).

- The Mayans say the world will end in mid-December. My money is on Legislative Update it happening a little sooner, like right around the time this summer when the FBI kills off some websites that were part of an effort to take down an international hacker ring.

In doing so, the FBI set up a virtual safety net for computers that may have been infected by viruses that showed up when people clicked on certain online ads. The servers those virtual safety nets are located on are scheduled to come down this summer and, with it, could possibly render some infected computers useless for Internet usage.

Oh, the horror that will come about if some of you aren't able to update your Facebook and Twitter accounts four times an hour. I don't know about you . . . but I think I might end up having a nervous breakdown if that happens to my laptop.

LINCOLN - Perhaps murderer Michael Ryan feels blessed.

Attorney General Jon Bruning might feel jinxed. At the least, he's very upset and, as is his custom, he has given voice to his discontent.

Ryan, 63, has been on death row since 1985. The story of how the one-time leader of a religious, antigovernment cult, came to be convicted of two shockingly brutal torture/murders made national news.

More than 26 years later Ryan still sits on death row, maybe believing that God is on his side. He said as much in years past:

"I know I haven't done anything in his eyes wrong, because man's laws are the laws of Satan.'

"I ain't answering to them [other people]. I'll answer to Yahweh when get there and if I've been wrong then I have an eternity for hell."

Bruning, in contrast, has a figurative death grip on a supply of one of three drugs the state would use to kill Ryan – sodium thiopental – and he wants to fight a federal court order, and a subsequent order from the federal Food and Drug Administration, to turn the stuff over to the FDA

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the owners of Quality Foods and all the employees for purchasing and wearing their Stand For The Silent T-shirts all day a couple of weeks ago. I received many phone calls throughout the day telling me of this awesome gesture they were making.

It is great to see community members taking the stand along with our group. If we work and stand together we can make a change and we can be the difference. Thank you for your support.

great deal of the time studying child welfare issues in Nebraska, but focused more on privatization efforts, foster care, case management, etc. LR578 will look specifically at the State of Nebraska's compliance with the Indian Child Welfare Act regarding: (1) coordination between the State of Nebraska and tribes; (2) outcome measures; (3) percentage of Native American children placed in Nebraska's child welfare system; (4) percentage of Native American children placed with native American foster parents; (5) percentage of Native American children placed with relatives; (6) number of Native gov.

The Health Committee members will also be studying the following issues this fall: (1) the entry of children into the child welfare system; (2) how Nebraska's system for screening, assessing, and investigating reports of child abuse and neglect contributes to Nebraska's rates of out-of-home care; (3) review and assess the implementation and sustainability of the Nebraska Health Care Funding Act; (4) determine the range of investment returns on the Nebraska Health Care Cash fund over the next ten years and the actual demands upon the current recipients of the funds over the next ten years; and (5) examine issues surrounding the moratorium on long-term beds under the Nebraska health Care Certificate of Need Act.

Most, if not all, of the Legislature's committees will schedule and hold interim hearings late this summer or fall. You can check for the hearing schedules at the following website: www.nebraskalegislature.

Youth selected to attend Junior Law Cadet Program

American Legion, District 3 Com- dling, gangs and many issues facing mander Ken Watkins held the 2012 Jr. Law Cadet interview process at the Emerson-Hubbard High School. on April 15.

The district is normally allowed to send two boys and two girls as primary candidates and lists two alternates in case of openings, to the Nebraska State Patrol Academy in Grand Island in June.

The American Legion Junior Law Cadet Program provides young adults the opportunity to drive a State Patrol car, learn to fire a service weapon under expert guidance, learn self-defense, pressure point control tactics and assault prevention measures, interact with law enforcement officers and other young adults while learning the different roles agencies play in the criminal justice system, both in Nebraska and across the United States and methods of patrolling, K-9 han-law enforcement today.

During the interviews, the American Legion has an interview board consisting of at least two police officers and one Legion member. This vear, the Nebraska State Patrol and Dixon County Sheriff's Office provided an officer for the interview board, along with one Legion member, William Wiseman from Homer Post 97.

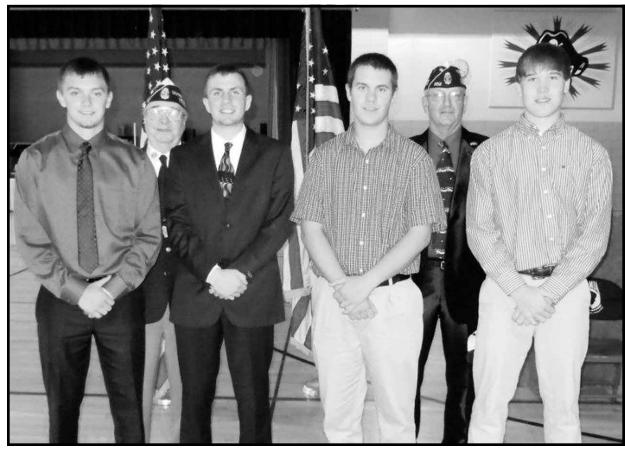

The board interviewed seven applicants for the boys and four girls and had to list all the applicants in ranking order. District 3 will be sending three candidates this year to the boy's session as another District did not have enough applicants to fill their quota.

The primary candidates are Jacob Oswald, Zeb Kunzie and Tanner Boyle. The first alternate selected was Jacob Stenka. The district study drug enforcement, proper is hoping and waiting for another phone call to send the alternate.

The girls were listed as primary candidates are: Josie Bruning and Shailynn Mundil. The first alternate is Diedre Owen and second alternate was Kimberly Zuniga. At this time, all the girls that interviewed will be attending their session in June as several openings have become available.

There were eight members of The American Legion and one member of the Sons of The American Legion in attendance to assist with program this year.

The District 3 officers would like to Thank everyone in attendance who helped to make this program a success. We will have another session like this next year. Natasha Jensen Winside senior earns WSC scholarship Natasha Jensen of Winside has been awarded a Dr. Archie L. and Margaret P. McPherran Scholarship valued at $485 to continue her education at Wayne State College.

Natasha, the daughter of Kenneth and Deanna Jensen will graduate from Winside in May of 2012.

While in high school she was active in band, the school play, softball, cross country, track, National Honor Society, Letterman's Club, Youth Leadership Council, Health Career Club, Yearbook and the Methodist Youth Group.

Edward Jones also received high marks in the "Account Information" category, an important factor in the study.

"Hearing that we did particularly well in the account information factor is especially meaningful as we strive to help our clients make sense of investing," Weddle said.

Edward Jones' overall score climbed 15 points over last year, highest among the 14 largest firms rated, as well as 28 points above the industry average.

Edward Jones ranked highest in investor satisfaction by J.D. Power and Associates in 2010 and 2009, from 2005 through 2007, and in a tie in 2002, when the study began. Edward Jones in Canada ranked highest in the J.D. Power and Associates Canadian Full Service Investor Satisfaction Study in 2006 through 2008.

The 2012 Full Service Investor Satisfaction Study is based on responses from 4,378 investors who primarily invest with one of the 14 firms included in the study. The study was fielded in February 2012.

Edward Jones provides financial services for individual investors in the United States and, through its affiliate, in Canada. Every aspect of the firm's business, from the types of investment options offered to the location of branch offices, is de-tirement - and create long-term investment solutions that emphasize and-hold strategy. Edward Jones embraces the importance of building long-term, face-to-face relationships with clients, helping them to understand and make sense of the investment options available today.

In January 2012, for the 13th year, Edward Jones was named one of the best companies to work for by FORTUNE Magazine in its annual listing. The firm ranked No. 5 overall and No. 3 in Large Size Companies. These 13 FORTUNE rankings include top 10 finishes for nine years, consecutive No. 1 rankings in 2002 and 2003, and consecutive No. 2 rankings in 2009 and 2010. FOR-TUNE and Time Inc. are not affiliated with and do not endorse products or services of Edward Jones.

Eighth graders are named UNL Big Red Stars

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln recognized Nebraska eighth graders for their academic excellence, leadership and perseverance May 10 at the 2012 Big Red Stars Recognition Ceremony.

Area students selected as Big Red Stars include: Mariah Keiser and Alexis Oswald of Allen; Dustin Showen of Dixon; Morgan Hansen of Laurel; Drew Davie and Jenessa Kardell of Wayne and Tyler Anson and Marquis Granville of Winside.

Big Red Stars is a program designed to recognize outstanding eighth-grade students in Nebraska. These talented students were nominated by school principals as students who showcase strong leadership skills and academic promise.

The award ceremony was sponsored by UNL and EducationQuest at the Lied Center for Performing Arts. Highlights of the event included individual recognition and awards for the 2012 Big Red Stars Nominees and special remarks from First Lady of Nebraska Sally Ganem.

Chosen to be a part of the Junior Law Cadet program are (front) Kimberly M. Zuinga, Wayne, Diedre K. Owen, South Sioux City, Shailynn Mundil, Winside, and Josie Bruning, Bancroft. (back) District 3 Commander Ken Watkins, Ponca, District 3 Activities Director Bud Neel, Wayne.

All adults should avoid inactivity. It's recommended that adults age 18 to 64 exercise for 150 minutes each week at a moderate-intensity or 75 minutes a week at a vigorousintensity. Aerobic activity is activity done in episodes of at least 10 minutes. Adults can increase their amount of activity to 300 minutes of moderate activity and 150 minutes of vigorous activity for more extensive benefits. For two or more days during the week, part of an adult's exercise should include musclestrengthening activities using all major muscle groups.

Older adults, age 65 and up, should follow the adult guidelines, but if they are unable to meet those guidelines, they should remain as physically active as possible. People above age 65 should determine their physical activity effort level relative to their fitness level. They should include exercises that will help maintain or improve their balance to reduce the risk of falling. Also, if older adults have chronic conditions, they should understand whether those condition affect their ability to exercise safely and how those conditions affect that activity. Maycrowning

Several of the second grade students who received the sacrament of First Holy Communion this year led the May Crowning procession at St. Mary's Catholic Church recently. They included, left to right, Noah Reinke. Sydney Redden and Drew Sharpe. Father Mark Beran, pastor at the church, conducted the ceremony and led the congregation in a blessing and prayer. The ceremony is traditionally held the first Sunday in May.

Grace Lutheran Evening Circle gathers

Grace Lutheran LWML Evening Circle met an Church in Winisde. May 8. President Mary Lou Erxleben opened the meeting with a Christian Growth devotion entitled "Devotions from the Heart," based on Proverbs 31:26 and a prayer.

Roll callled seven members and Pastor Carl Lilienkamp present. Secretary Lanora Sorensen read the minutes from the Feb. 14 meeting. Treasurer Lee Larsen gave the treasurer's report, which was approved and filed for audit.

President Erxleben read the Borchard prayer letter of their Lutheran Bible translator work in Papua, New Guinea in the Ipili language. The New Testament of the Bible, in the Ipili language, is selling well. Now the Lutheran translators have finished the first 10 chapters of Genesis in the Bible in the Ipili language.

On April 24 five Evening Circle ladies attended the Wayne LWML Zone Spring Workshop, 'Walking In Green Pastures" at St. Paul Luther-

BISPHOSPHONATE THERAPY AND THE ORAL CAVITY

What are bisphosphonates?

Bisphosphonates are a class of drugs that are used to prevent bone loss and weakening. Some of these drugs can be taken by mouth, while others must be given intravenously at a hospital or clinic Are there side effects to my mouth from taking these drugs?

Yes, there is an important but rare side effect you should know about. Less than five years ago, doctors began reporting cases of individuals having difficulty healing after undergoing tooth extraction or other invasive dental procedures, a phenomenon called osteonecrosis of the jaw. The only common factor in these patients was that they were taking bisphosphonate drugs. As a result, most doctors agree that there is an association between osteonecrosis of the jaw and bisphosphonates. What can I do to avoid this condition if I am taking bisphosphonates?

You should discuss with your dentist ways to minimize the risk of needing invasive procedures (extractions and oral surgery).

Frequent professional cleanings, attention to home care, and careful observation of any changes in your mouth are a good start. It is best to attempt to preserve teeth, rather than extract them. The best scenario is one where dental work is planned and executed before therapy with bisphosphonates is started.

Should I stop taking my bisphosphonates before dental procedures?

No. Not without the advice or instruction by your physician. These drugs have been shown to be stored within the bones and slowly released over time. It is believed that, even when not taking the medications, the drugs can persist in the bone. There is no evidence that stopping the medication will reduce the risk of developing osteonecrosis of the jaw.

of agriculture and rural America."

Anniversary of USDA being observed farm boy, on May 15, 1862, President Abraham Lincoln signed legislation to create the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Over the next two months, in the midst of the Civil War, he signed additional legislation that expanded and transformed American farming, including the Homestead Act and the establishment of the Land Grant agricultural university system under the Morrill Act.

In his first annual message to Congress on Dec. 3, 1861, Lincoln said: "Agriculture, confessedly the largest interest of the nation, has not a department nor a bureau, but a clerkship only, assigned to it in the Government. While it is fortunate that this great interest is so independent in its nature as to not have demanded and extorted more from the Government, I respectfully ask Congress to consider whether something more cannot be given voluntarily with general advantage . . . While I make no suggestions as to details, I venture the opinion that an agricultural and statistical bureau might profitably be organized." Instead of a bureau, Congress established a Department to be headed by a Commissioner. The act was so broadly conceived that is has remained the basic authority for the Department to the present time.

On May 15, 1862, Abraham Lincoln signed into law an act of Congress establishing "at the seat of Government of the United States a Department of Agriculture." Two and one-half years later, in what was to be his last annual message to the Congress, Lincoln said: "The Agricultural Department, under the supervision of its present energetic and faithful head, is rapidly commending itself to the great and vital interest it was created to advance. It is precisely the people's Department, in which they feel more directly concerned that in any other. I commend it to the continued attention and fostering care of Congress.'

At that time, about half of all Americans lived on farms, compared with about two percent today.

Lincoln's own background was the pioneer farming and rural life typical of the outer edge of America's westward-moving frontier. His early years were spent on farms characterized by pioneer exploitation rather than by settled cultivation. The 300-acre tract in central Kentucky on which his log-hut birthplace stood was too poor to be called a farm. As a boy, he lived on

True to his roots as a frontier a 30-acre farm. Because of hills and began life for himself. gullies only 14 acres could be cultivated.

In 1816, the Lincoln family moved to southern Indiana to 160 acres of marshy land. After seven years, Lincoln's father had 10 acres of corn, 5 of wheat, and 2 of oats in cultivation. The young boy was hired out to do general farm work, to split rails, and to work on a ferry boat. In 1830, the family moved to land along the Sangamon River in Illinois. Soon afterward, Lincoln left the family and USDA because he recognized the potential of America's farmers to find new ways to cultivate the land and that with advances in research and technology, America's farmers and ranchers could provide a safe, ample food supply for our nation and the world. Today, America's farmers and ranchers are responand strength of this nation.

riculture, economic development, President Lincoln established science, natural resource conservation and a host of issues, USDA still fulfills President Lincoln's vision as "The People's Department" - touching the lives of every American, every day," said Secretary of Agriculture Tom Vilsack. students from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Journalism and Mass Communications took home first place in the District 9 American Advertising Federation's National Student Advertising Competition April 20 in Kansas City, Mo.

Among those having a part in the project was Maddie Jager of Wayne, who served as art director.

Nebraska will compete for the national title in Austin, Texas, June

Interest Rates

For the fourth year in a row, 2-5 during the annual AAF conference. The ninth district represents advertising clubs and American Advertising Federations in Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

"UNL's team keeps on winning. In just eight years of competing in NSAC, UNL has won first place four times," said Ruth Brown, advertising and public relations sequence head. "That speaks volumes about the students' - and advisers' - passion, knowledge, capability and motivation."

This is the 39th year the competition has provided college students with real-world advertising experience by requiring a strategic advertising/marketing/media campaign for a corporate sponsor.

The competition challenged AAF college chapter teams to focus on the Nissan brand as it relates to multicultural audiences, expanding upon Nissan's innovation theme. Brown called it the "most complex, formidable challenge ever issued for the NSAC."

The competition required AAF college chapter members to develop a 32-page marketing campaign and 20-minute presentation in response to a case study co-authored by Nissan Americas and the AAF Academ. ic Division.

Phil Willet, an assistant professor of advertising, said, "The judges called UNL's campaign 'brilliant and 'genius." The judges awarded UNL a perfect score on the presentation and named team member Hans Christensen of Johnson as the best male presenter. Willet is the adviser and instructor for the project.

This is the eighth consecutive year that UNL has entered what is considered the premier college advertising competition. Nationwide more than 150 colleges and universities take on the challenge in district competitions at 15 locations nationwide.

Nebraska will compete for the national title against winning teams from Penn State University, Syracuse University, Texas A&M University-College Station, Texas Christian University, University of Virginia, University of Miami, Ohio University, Butler University, Grand Valley State University, University of Alabama, Southwest University of Visual Arts-Albuquerque and the University of Califor-

Carson special brings back memories

Nebraska ETV had a two-hour special on Johnny Carson last night, and we watched the whole thing, and chuckled a lot.

It did not pull any punches; I had never heard that he struggled to gain his mother's approval, for instance. Plus, he was apparently a womanizer and had a problem with alcohol. I guess we could have guessed the woman part: anyone who has four wives must have some kind of problem. And, they brought out the fact that, being from the Midwest, he felt he had to marry the girl; how quaint! (That's another whole column!)

There were a lot of clips of the Tonight show, all funny, except for the last one, when Bette Midler sings "One More for the Road" to him. It still brought tears. It also touched on the Foundation and its generosity to Nebraska.

I have a copy of the program in 1982 when he comes back to Norfolk and is greeted with his parent's old car, restored and ready to drive, which he does. He visits the house on 13th Street. He and some of his former classmates have a writing lesson by Faye Gordon, their teacher. (He surprised her on her 100th birthday by coming back to the retirement facility where she was living then.)

My friend was in the upstairs of the old King's Ballroom when his high school class had its reunion. There were peep holes in the floor, so they could watch the action. Actually, there wasn't much, as he did not come for the meal, but did stop in and shake hands all around.

The producers of the show emphasized that he was basically very shy and discovered magic tricks as a way to entertain without being himself. There is an old program in the Lincoln General nursing school museum that shows Johnny Carson entertaining at an early alumni banquet.

The 1982 show ends with celebrating his birthday at a Norfolk-Columbus football game. His brother and sister and third wife join him. He says "you really can go home again."

ny is when he came back to help or and sitting at the Lincoln Cendedicate the Carson Radiation Cen- ter with the Clintons when the NU ter at Norfolk. When the hospital marching band comes in, playing board decided to build it, they hired a firm to scout out the community to He has tears, and so do I. Sure enough, we got to half the goal and could not scrounge anymore. I was in the Home Health office at the hospital when his secretary called to say that he would be sending a check for the other half; I have no idea why that call was routed to us, but we were the first to know! I have a copy of the check, too. It was a Godsend.

And I always remember, too, that when John was introduced to Governor Orr and her husband, Bill, he said, "You are the guy who is writing the cookbook." Bill Orr had called John's secretary and asked for a recipe; she replied that Mr. Carson did not do that sort of thing. Later that year, when she called Bill and asked him to be on the program, he took great pleasure in assuring her he did not do that sort of thing! (But he did, of course.) And I have a copy of that cookbook; it's a fun read and there are a few good recipes in it, including one from Johnny Carson that calls for opening a can of tuna!

UNL Extension Tractor Safety Course to be offered

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension Tractor Safety/Hazardous Occupations Courses will be offered at seven locations this year.

To standardize the training, courses were moved to centralized locations across the state. One of the locations for 2012 is the Haskell Ag Lab (HAL) at Concord. The dates for training are May 31-June 1.

Federal law prohibits vouth under 16 years of age from working on a farm other than their parents'. Course completion grants an exemption to the law, allowing 14and 15-year-olds to drive a tractor and to do field work with mechanized equipment. The most common cause of death in agriculture accidents in Nebraska is overturn from tractors and all-terrain-vehicles (ATV). Tractor and ATV overturn prevention are featured in the class work.

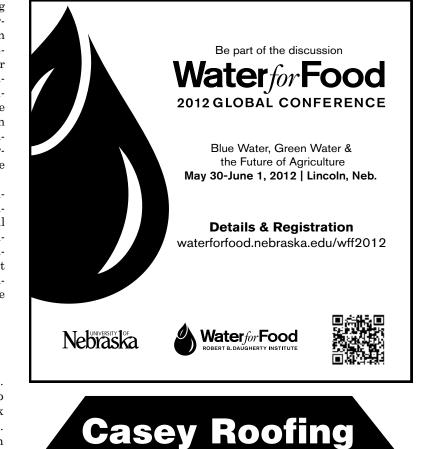

Classes consist of two days of instruction, plus homework assignments. The first day of class will consist of intensive classroom instruction with hands-on demonstrations, concluding with a written test that must be completed satisfactorily before the student may continue driving tests the next day.

over-irrigated fescue lawns. Too much water will suffocate the roots which need oxygen as much as they need water. As a rule, maintain a consistently moist soil 8-12 inches deep and be sure to moisten the soil outside of the root ball. The amount of water and frequency of watering needed to do this depends on the type of nursery stock selected, soil texture, species planted, and weather conditions.

There really is no standard an- deep but no deeper. swer such as water once a week with a certain amount of water. This might be too much on a clay soil or for a red oak tree, but too little on a sandy soil or for a river birch. As a general recommendation, the Nebraska Forest Service recommends watering trees immediately after planting and again the next day. Then water three days later and again three days after that. From then on, the key is to monitor the soil around the tree and irrigate as needed. During dry summer spells, balled and burlapped (B&B) trees should be watered about once every seven to ten days if planted in clay soils and once a week if planted in sandy soils. Sprinkler systems may provide sufficient water until the hottest part of the summer. However, during the hottest, driest and usually for the first year after part of summer, a newly planted tree is likely to require additional water. Container-grown trees will drv out faster than B&B trees. Monitor trees and soil moisture closely. Mulch protects tree roots from trees die from too much water than extreme temperatures, eliminates weed and grass competition, conserves soil moisture, and keeps lawn equipment away from tree trunks. However, too much mulch can trap moisture at the base of the trunk and negatively impact root growth. When mulching, use organic mulch like shredded wood. Mulch the tree at least out to the trees drip-line (ends of the branches). Next to the trunk, keep the mulch only one inch thick. Outward, toward the edge of the root ball or at the trees dripline, mulch can be up to four inches

Once the right tree is selected for the location and planted at the correct depth, the next steps are proper watering, mulching and staking. Practices to avoid at planting planting are fertilizing with nitrogen and pruning. In fact, most trees never require fertilization.

Water is critical to root establishment. Even so, more newly planted from not enough. This is especially common in heavy clay soils or in that are tall and leggy and in high wind areas. Keep in mind trees are staked to anchor the root ball, not to eliminate movement of the stem or tree canopy (branches and leaves). The goal is to prevent the root ball from rocking and breaking new roots. When staking, use materials that will not rub against the trunk and create wounds. Do not stake too high on the tree and only stake a tree for one year after planting. If large trees are moved with a tree spade, they may require staking for two years.

May 20-26 is National EMS Week Emergency Medical Services – A Vital Link in Saving Lives

Nebraska's Emergency Medical parents. That's why we've made Services personnel provide critical care when seconds count. They're Dean Cole, DHHS EMS Program only a phone call away any time of Administrator. day and are the medical safety net within communities.

Nebraska has 7,469 licensed EMS workers across the state. More than 80 percent of them are volunteers.

"This is stress at its highest. They're on the frontlines and the actions they take can mean the difference between life and death," said Dr. Joann Schaefer, the state's Chief Medical Officer and Director of Public Health for the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). "It takes a special type of person who can go through the elation of saving a life and the sadness of losing one and come back and start all over again the next day. These folks care about the people in their communities and we thank them for their dedication."

Nebraska EMS personnel responded to 164,733 calls last year. More than 13,000 calls involved children.

When there's a child in distress, it's important for first responders to have the proper equipment and training to handle the situation. Dealing with children is a little different than dealing with adults. Children are smaller and many times there's actually more than one victim, the child plus his/her pediatric education a priority," said

DHHS provides life-like mannequins so EMS workers have hands-on training for child-related emergencies. Pediatric training workshops on child emergencies and trauma are offered across Nebraska. DHHS is also working with Children's Hospital in Omaha on specialized pediatric training for both basic and advanced life support

In addition to pediatric training, DHHS' EMS program continues to help train EMS personnel statewide. DHHS provided funding for 459 training sessions last year on scenarios like ATV accidents, sports injuries, farm emergencies, traumatic brain injuries, school bus accidents, and hoarders (confined space rescue). More than 7,500 people attended.

Cycling for Warriors to raise $15,000 and awareness for veterans

The American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Nebraska, has set the date for its second Ride 2 Recovery (R2R) event in support of our wounded warriors.

So grab the kids, air up the tires, wear your helmet and come enjoy a Saturday at Hickman NE as you join cyclists and walkers across Nebraska in the second annual Ride 2 Recovery (R2R) Honor Ride cycling/walking event to raise awareness and funds for our wounded warriors across America. The American Legion Family Post No. 105 at 106 Locust Street, Hickman NE is hosting the event on Saturday, June 9, with registration check-in at 7 - 8:15 a.m., the ride/walk to begin at 8:30 a.m.

R2R is not a race, nor a competition. Honor Rides are held to raise awareness that members of the Armed Forces have experienced lifechanging events/injuries such as PTSD, traumatic brain injuries, amputations, to name a few, while serving in America's fight for Freedom. Through the R2R events our wounded warriors are the benefactors of funds raised by local communities through pledges and active participation. R2R is an avenue by which the general public can share their time, talents and resources in support of the rehabilitative, mental and physical, treatment received by our warriors to give them a new start at home – in our own communities – after the sacrifices they have made on the battlefield.

Piano recitals

Headley Music Studio students presented two recitals on May 6 at the Ley Theatre on the Wayne State College campus. Those taking part in the first recital (top) were (front) Ava Elliott, Courtney Brink, Cade Johnson, Ella Leseberg (second row) Brianna Nissen, Couy Johnson, Mia Nelsen, Emily Eilers, Savannah Leseberg, (back) Anna Casey, Grace Heithold, Hana Nelsen, Maura Loberg and Heather Headley. Students taking part in the second recital (bottom) included, (front) Annika Wachter, Karlee Janke, Joseph Woerdemann, Liam Wachter, (second) Kayli Naeve, Christopher Woerdemann, Alyssa Chinn, Paige Milliken, Josie Thompson, (back) Heather Headley, Caitlin Janke, Rachel Johnson, Halie Chinn and Lauren Pick. Not pictured are Jonathan Worner, Kiara Krusemark and Natalie Bentjen.

R2R events are open to every level of cycling/walking and pledges can be received from every imaginable source such as cycling clubs, veterans organizations including Legion and Patriot Riders, civic organizations, corporate/private entrepreneurs, school kids, piggy banks, you and me. You need not be an active cyclist in the event, but your presence along the path will be a plus as well.

Go online at www.raceregister.net or www.angrycowardventures. com to pre-register and make pledge commitments. Persons of contact Betty Snyder, A.L.A. Department event coordinator 402 874 0490 or genesnyder007@live.com at 1942 South 42nd Road, Talmage Neb. 68448; Jim Craig 402 432 3622 is the ride coordinator, and Linda Varejecka 402 792 2144 or 402 380 2549 jfvarejcka@windstream.net is the Hickman A.L.A. coordinator at 450 Conestoga Avenue, Hickman NE 68372. Your pledges may be sent to either Betty or Linda. Make checks payable to: A.L.A. R2R

The American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Nebraska, has a goal to raise $15,000 with 100 percent of the funds going to the R2R program to purchase specialty bicycles ranging in cost from $2,000 to $8,000 for our wounded warriors, provide technical equipment, clinics and outings to improve the health and morale of our wounded warriors and their families. Many participants are wounded veterans from our communities. Hope to see you there. Make it a day of support and service to America's finest - Her Veterans!
