Fired officer denies surveillance accusations

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Wayne police officer recently terminated by City Administrator Lowell Johnson was fired after evidence of her running surveillance on the city administrator and two fellow police officers was discovered in a city vehicle.

Documents obtained by The Wayne Herald indicate that the April 27 termination of officer Jessica Bolles was recommended in an 18-page report, signed April 17 by interim police chief Marlen Chinn, who determined that Bolles committed actions that were deemed inappropriate, unethical and injurious to the public service, and willfully failed to properly conduct herself as a member of the Wayne Police Department. Chinn accused Bolles of lying about surveillance notes she had taken during 2011 regarding the actions of Johnson, Chinn and officer Rick Haase. A subpoena for those notes had been issued, and Bolles said no writings existed.

In the investigation, copies of a notebook found by Haase in a Wayne police cruiser were sent to a forensic examiner, who determined that the handwriting matched that of Bolles. The investigation began after concerns about Bolles' testimony in last year's hearings over the termination of Chief Lance Webster and Lt. Phil Shear were raised by the city attorney's office.

In February, Chinn and city attorney Amy Miller met with Bolles and her attorney, Sean Brennan, after Bolles had been placed on administrative leave. When asked if she had been requested to, or conducted any surveillance of the three city employees, she initially responded that she had not been requested to. When asked a second time whether or not she had conducted any surveillance, she responded that she had not.

When asked why she was taking notes, Bolles stated that she felt she was being investigated by Coleen Floth, who was interviewing officers regarding the Webster and Shear cases. She was encouraged by her attorney at the time, David Copple, to document any possible hostility or discrimination she might encounter after she returned to work from maternity leave.

In her appeal to the Wayne Civil Service Commission, also obtained by The Wayne Herald, Bolles said that Johnson directed the complaint against her, and based on a review of his own accusations, said that those accusations required the termination of the police officer.

The appeal states that the evidence is not competent and not sufficient to prove Chinn's claims, and that Johnson's decision did not specify the particular violation or violations that were committed by Bolles, based on the evidence relied on by Johnson.

Black hole sun

A very rare cosmic event took place over the skies of Wayne, America on Monday evening, as the planet Venus orbited between the Earth and the sun. In the final hour or two, the planet could be seen in the sky as a silhouette in the upper-right quadrant of the setting sun, leaving a view that made it appear as a tiny hole had developed in the sun. Venus passing between Earth and the sun is an even more rare occurrence than Halley's Comet, transiting twice in an eight-year period. The last time Venus passing through in a manner visible to those of us on Earth came in 2004, and if you missed Monday's event, you'll have a slightly longer wait for the next time it happens - in December of 2117.

Council wants more information on city wellhead protection plan

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

After nearly two hours of discussion, the Wayne City Council decided to table any action on the implementing of a wellhead protection plan for the city of Wayne.

A large number of farmers who own and farm land in the current wellhead protection area were present at the meeting to voice disapproval for the plan.

Garry Poutre, public works superintendent, outlined the history of the plan, noting that in the summer of 2010 the council gave its support and approval to move forward with a grant application to update the city's wellhead protection plan.

Poutre then put together a committee, including several of the farmers whose land is located within the wellhead protection area, to prepare a plan. Several committee meetings were held and educational activities, including a recent "Test Your Well Night" were conducted.

Poutre noted that the information and guidelines in the plan were based on the latest and best information available. He also said that the committee has tried to identify any hazards within the wellhead protection area.

"We (the city of Wayne) have gone through all the steps for Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) certification. It is the DEQ that designates the area that is the wellhead protection area and are encouraging us to have a plan," Poutre said.

Scott Sievers, who lives in the south wellhead protection area, told the council he had a lot of questions in regard to the plan and noted that his farming operation is already heavily regulated by DEQ.

"I feel this is just regulation on top of regulation. This (the plan) makes it look like we are not able to do the right thing on our own. We do the best job we can to protect the land and water. This plan will just open up to the door to more regulation," Sievers said.

Doug Nelson, who is a member of the committee selected to create the plan, talked about the need for nitrates in human nutrition, the fact that three feet of soil is enough to filter out sewage from the water and in this area there is 144 feet of soil be-

Judge Robert Ensz will step down from bench

Judge of the District Court, Seventh Judicial District, Robert Ensz, is retiring effective Oct. 31 after two decades of service on the district court bench in Wayne and surrounding areas.

In his resignation letter to the Governor Judge Ensz noted, "I have been honored to serve the State of Nebraska as a District Judge during the past 21 years."

As his legacy, Ensz leaves the community with the Northeast Nebraska Adult Drug Court in Madison, which he helped establish in 2006. Ensz has served as a judge of the drug court throughout the court's exist-tence, and also served as presiding judge for the district on a rotating basis.

As a current member of the Executive Committee of the Nebraska District Court Judges Association, Ensz has helped to establish policy and direct projects of the district court judges' organization since he took the bench in 1991. He served as the association's president in 2008 and served seven years on the Judicial Ethics Advisory Committee which he chaired in 2011. Ensz has been asked to speak during several community and judges educational

WSC student data may be affected by cybercrime at UNL

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

A recent breach of the computer records system at the University of Nebraska put some Wayne State College student information at risk, according to information from the Nebraska State College System.

The State College System and the University of Nebraska began using a shared student information system, known as NeSIS, in 2009. That system was believed to have been breached on May 23 by a University of Nebraska undergraduate student who, as of Monday morning, had not been charged. The database was shut down within 16 hours, and officials do not believe any data from the Nebraska State College System was transferred.

The NeSIS system contains information on current students at the three state colleges in Wayne, Peru, Chadron, and also includes students who have graduated from Wayne State since 1972. That data includes addresses, course grades, Social Security numbers, financial aid, housing and other information. Bank information is not included in the data, as the NSCS uses a third-party vendor on a separate computer system. Employee bank information is also not part of NeSIS.

NSCS Chancellor Stan Carpenter said he was notified May 30 that the ongoing investigation by NeSIS staff, a third party computer forensics firm, and local and federal law enforcement agencies revealed the breach also included data for the NSCS's three institutions, Chadron State, Peru State and Wayne State Colleges.

"Since being notified of the breach, others within the Nebraska State College System and I have been working to obtain accurate information to relay to those who may have been affected," Carpenter said. "College employees were notified this afternoon of the breach and the NSCS has established a website about the breach that can be accessed from the colleges' websites as well as from the NSCS website."

"Once a suspect was identified, law enforcement investigators confiscated computers and related equipment from the suspect to begin the process of a forensic analysis," Carpenter said. "As the investigation con-

County board busy with loaded agenda

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The Wayne County Commissioners had a lot on their agenda Tuesday, including the conversion of older legal documents to a digital format and laying the legal groundwork for work on Rubek Road.

The board spoke with Mark Mainelli of Mainelli Wagner and Associates regarding updates to county road and bridge projects, and one of the items on the list was Rubek Road, an issue which the county hopes to resolve soon.

Plans have been drawn up and need to be checked by County Surveyor Terry Schulz, who must check the footages to make sure all legal descriptions are correct. After that is complete, the county must hire an appraiser to determine what kind of offer they can make to buy land from the Rubucks. Once that offer is made, the family will have 45 days to respond to the offer.

The county approved a $6,500 payment to Multi Informational Programming Systems/Fountain Microfilming of Lincoln to convert old Register of Deeds documents to a digital format. County Clerk Deb Finn told the board that images on microfilm of documents from 1975 through 2002 were being lost, and the conversion of this microfilm to a digital format will save those images.

The board also discussed the possibility of discontinuing the county's Noxious Weed Control Board. Three of the five members are up for re-election this November, and the board discussed whether or not to continue the board. County board member

Governor helps christen new hotel

Governor Dave Heineman was on hand for the ribbon cutting ceremony marking the official opening of Wayne's newest business, the Cobblestone Inn and Suites. Ken Kwapnoiski (with scissors), with the Wayne Hospitality group, welcomed those in attendance and spoke of what it took to get the hotel completed. Gov. Heineman told those in the audience that the community of Wayne should be proud, not only of the new hotel, but all that has been done to keep the community prospering. Brian Wogernese with the Wisconsin Hotel Group, the firm responsible for construction of the $2.8 million, 44-room hotel, noted that the Wayne Cobblestone Inn was the first built in Nebraska.

President's Awards for Educational Excellence presented

The President's Award for Educational Excellence was presented to 17 eighth grade students at the Wayne Middle School Spring Concert on May 8.

This prestigious honor is awarded to eighth graders and seniors in Wayne Community Schools, according to national criteria, which include a cumulative grade-point average of 3.5 or above. Recognizing the students for their educational achievements were K-8 counselor Joan Sudmann and middle school principal Rocky Ruhl.

Recipients of the President's Award for Educational Excellence received a certificate, a pin with the presidential seal and a letter from President Barack Obama. In his letter, President Obama told the honorees, "By earning this honor, you have shown a commitment to working hard in the classroom and to meeting the highest academic standards. Students like you will chart the course of our country's unwritten history, and I commend you for setting a powerful example for all young Americans."

Students earning the award included:

Wayne Public Library to host Nebraska author

Wayne Public Library and Wayne Senior Center will be hosting an evening dinner and guest speaker on Tuesday, June 26.

Joe Starita is the author of "I am a man: Chief Standing Bear's journey for justice." This book was chosen as the One Read One Nebraska state wide reading program selection for 2012. Starita's 2009 book highlights the courageous court battle of the Ponca chief to gain equality for his people under the law.

"The Book Club at the library chose I am a man for their June reading selection, and we were fortunate to be able to invite Mr. Starita to speak here through the Nebraska Humanities Council Speakers Bureau," said Rita McLean, Adult Services Librarian.

In 1877, Chief Standing Bear's Ponca Indian tribe was forcibly removed from their Nebraska homeland and marched to what was then known as Indian Territory (now Oklahoma), in what became the tribe's own Trail of Tears. "I Am a Man" chronicles what happened when Standing Bear set off on a 600-mile walk to return the body of his only son to their traditional burial ground.

Along the way, it examines the complex relationship between the United States government and the small, peaceful tribe and the legal consequences of land swaps and broken treaties, while never losing sight of the heartbreaking journey the Ponca endured. It is a story of survival - of a people left for dead who arose from the ashes of injustice, disease, neglect, starvation, humiliation, and termination.

On another level, it is a story of life and death, despair and fortitude, freedom and patriotism. A story of Christian kindness and bureaucratic evil. And it is a story of hope - of a people still among us today, painstakingly preserving a cultural identity that had sustained them for centuries before their encounter with Lewis and Clark in the fall of 1804.

Mr. Starita's well-researched and insightful account reads like historical fiction as his careful characterizations and vivid descriptions bring this piece of American history brilliantly to life. Starita is an Associate Professor, College of Journalism and Mass Communications at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The event will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a dinner at the Senior Center. Reservations for the dinner are required. Please call (402) 375-1460 to reserve your spot by Thursday, June 21. The dinner menu will be Sloppy Joe sandwiches, mexi-corn, fresh fruit, brownie, coffee and milk. Cost will be $3.55 for participants over age 60 and $6.30 for everyone else.

The talk and discussion by Mr. Starita are free and open to the public. No reservations are required to attend the program part which begins at 6:30 p.m. There will be a time for questions from the audience. Starita will also have copies of his book available for purchase.

For more information call the library (402) 375-3135.

Honoring a fallen soldier

Jon Holland, Garret Schmitz and Chad White were in Wayne to honor fellow Air Force soldier, Matt Meyer. Holland and Schmitz flew the plane in the background, a T-6 Texan II to Wayne from Vance Air Force Base in Enid, Okla. where Matt was stationed. The plane was one that is a primary trainer for undergraduate pilot training. The plane bore Captain Matt Meyer's name on the side. A large number of Meyer's fellow soldiers attended the funeral services held at the Wayne Municipal Airport.

More than $48,000 is raised during Relay For Life event

Hundreds of cancer survivors, caregivers, family and friends were on hand to take the opening laps of the 2012 Wayne County Relay For Life on Friday night.

A number of them were still at the Wayne State College Rec Center Track to take the final lap, which was actually the first lap for the 2013 Relay, at 6 a.m. Saturday morning.

The threat of rain caused organizers to move the event indoors, but all other details of the event went on as scheduled.

Survivor and Caregiver laps kicked off the evening.

Food provided by a number of businesses and groups, including steak sandwiches prepared by the Nebraska Cattlemen, was plentiful throughout the evening.

A variety of games for all ages kept Relay participants awake and entertained throughout the 11-hour event.

A midnight Fight Back presentation by cancer survivor Diane Roebler stressed the importance of regular check-ups and knowing the signs your body is giving you.

Co-chairs Pam Albin and Courtney Volk concluded this year's event by thanking those involved for their hard work and efforts to raise funds to find a cure for cancer.

More than $48,000 was raised as part of the 2012 Relay For Life. This included the purchase of more than 950 luminaries that lined the track in honor of cancer survivors and in memory of those who lost the battle against cancer.

School board hears good news on facility construction

By CLARA OSTEN
of the Herald

Glowing reports on the progress of combining the three school buildings into two were given during Monday's meeting of the Wayne Community Schools' Board of Education.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan and head of maintenance Travis Meyer told board members of the work that has been completed in recent weeks and what is in store for the coming weeks.

Lenihan noted that painting is currently being conducted at the elementary building. He said that a number of the elementary teachers are painting their new rooms, on their own time, without pay.

Furnishings for the new junior high building were transported to the high school by students during the last week of school and are waiting to be placed in the new classrooms.

"I am thrilled and excited by the work that the teachers are doing. We are way ahead of where I thought we would be at this time and may not need the volunteers that were originally planned to help with the move," Meyer said.

In other action, the board discussed the possibility of hiring an executive director of the Wayne Foundation.

Discussed was the pay for this position, where the funding would come from and some of the duties the director would be responsible for completing.

The item will be placed on the board's July agenda for further discussion.

Lunch prices will be going up slightly for the 2012-2013 school year. A five-cent increase was approved in each category. Cost for an elementary school lunch will be $2.15 per day or $10.75 per week. Cost for high school and junior high student lunch will be $2.20 per day or $11.25 per week.

On a related note, Lenihan told the board that after the school year begins and the lunch staff has time to adjust to the new surroundings and equipment, the possibility of offering breakfast will be explored.

Thank-yous were extended to a number of individuals and groups for their work and support with the remodeling/renovation project. They included:

– Amy Jackson for helping select paint for the new rooms,

– The Wayne Optimist Club and Scott and Mary Kay Hasemann for money for playground equipment, – Pac 'N' Save for the donation of $800 through sales receipts, – Natalie Endicott and Diana Smith for the donation of time in a recent pottery fundraising project, – Fauneil Bennett and Nancy Jo Powers for assistance with the move of the elementary library materials, – the 2012 Alumni Basketball group for a donation of $3,500 for the athletic program at the school.

A dedication ceremony for the new buildings was tentatively set for Monday, Aug. 13 in conjunction with the Board of Education's regular monthly meeting.

The board will next meet in regular session on Monday, July 14 at 5 p.m. at Wayne High School.

Touring hot rods

If you are a hot rod enthusiast and happened to be anywhere near Highway 35 Saturday afternoon, you no doubt were entranced by the parade of hot rods that made their way through town as part of the 20th annual Nebraska Rod and Custom Association's 600-mile tour through northeast and central Nebraska. The tour traveled through 30 towns across the state and took about 20 minutes to make its way through town. The tour began in Norfolk and ended Sunday in York.

fore the aquifer is reached. "This plan will just open the door for future regulation. We (farmers) have it covered. It's okay," he said in reference to the fact that there is no need for this plan.

Mayor Ken Chamberlain told those in attendance that the city is not adding regulations to farmers by implementing the plan.

"This plan recognizes the work that has already been done to identify what is in this area. We have done what is best for the community to ensure that we have safe water," Chamberlain said.

Doug Temme questioned the part of the plan that included the setting of 'best management' practices and said that the DEQ and Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) don't generally get along in terms of determining what is acceptable.

Joel Hansen, city planner/inspector, who is also a member of the Natural Resources District (NRD), said the NRD is "in charge of best management practices based on science."

Brian Bruckner, another member of the committee which put together the plan, told the council he supported the plan as his job with groundwater management is to ensure safe, plentiful drinking water for residents of northeast Nebraska. He also stated that he had worked with the city of Norfolk several years ago to develop a similar plan.

In other action, interim police chief Sgt. Marlen Chinn introduced three new officers on the Police Department. Cory Moeller has previously worked for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and part-time for the Wayne Police Department. Josh Jacobi is a certified police officer and comes to Wayne from North Platte. Dylan Jensen will attend police training in the near future before becoming an active member of the department.

An application for a liquor license for the Cobblestone Hotel was granted. The hotel plans to have available four kinds of beer and wine for guests and those using the meeting room at the facility.

Second-reading approval was given to extending the hours for the sale of alcoholic liquor for the weekend of the Wayne Chicken Show.

Ordinances that would change the city code in regard to allowing boarding buildings in several residential zoning districts were tabled.

Council members requested more time to gather information and determine how parking would be regulated for these buildings.

Acting as the Community Development Agency (CDA) council members voted to accept an offer with the same terms as an original offer from Wayne NG Cars, LLC.

Dan Rose and Lou Benscoter spoke to the council on the status of bringing the natural gas car manufacturing facility to Wayne. They noted that the process has slowed for several reasons, but Wayne is still on target to manufacture the first cars for the company.

However, the original purchase agreement for land in the Wayne Industrial Park had expired and a second offer for the purchase of the land has been received by the city.

After considerable discussion, the council voted to accept an offer from the natural gas car company, the same as the previous offer, and work with Robert Woehler & Sons Construction, who had also submitted a bid for the property, in finding available land.

Randy Lutt was appointed to the Wayne Housing Authority and Darrell Miller was reappointed to the Sales Tax Advisory Committee.

The council will next meet on Tuesday, June 19 at 5:30 p.m. tinued, the breach into the NSCS database was discovered." It was shut down within 16 hours of its discovery. The Chancellor indicated that it does not appear, at this time, that any of Nebraska State College System's data was transferred.

Carpenter said that, although the investigations are ongoing, the portion of the NeSIS serving the schools of the Nebraska State College System does not house students' bank account information. In addition, the NSCS uses a third-party vendor to process credit card transactions, making it highly unlikely that any credit card data is involved in this incident. Employees and students are encouraged, however, to be vigilant about reviewing their personal information.

"The evidence demonstrates that Mr. Johnson has an inherent bias and should have granted Officer Bolles' request that the pre-disciplinary review be conducted by an impartial person. Refusing to grant Officer Bolles' request for an impartial tribunal to review the evidence was a denial of due process. For that reason, the (Civil Service) Commission should reject Mr. Johnson's decision to discharge Officer Bolles.

A date for a hearing on the Bolles appeal has tentatively been set for Aug. 20-22.

Michael Carnes

What kind of example are you?

Are you one of "those" parents? You know the one I'm talking about – always berating the official or the umpire, making demands of your coach that Johnny or Jenny get more playing time because he or she is the "best player on the team" or otherwise acting as if it's your world and everybody else is late on their rent payment?

If you are, do yourself and the rest of civilization a favor – stay home and shut up.

I've always hoped that, during the summer months, I wouldn't have to put up with witnessing these acts of parental stupidity. And it seems a sports season doesn't go by without me having to sit through yet another exhibition of pig-headed behavior on the part of some adult member of the population who, by grace of God, has been allowed to procreate and, potentially, perpetuate the rancid behavior that comes from those who choose to act like the back end of a mule.

I understand the behavior you're exhibiting – I've played the game of the jerk at the local ball field or gymnasium before. In fact, were I given the opportunity to do it, I could do it bigger, badder, louder and meaner than you could ever dream of doing it – because I've got plenty of examples to build off of.

I can't begin to tell you the number of occasions where I've seen something as wholesome and enjoyable as youth sports be overshadowed by the bad sportsmanship and heavy-handed behavior exhibited by parents who can't be bothered with actually participating in the process of coaching youth sports, but seem to have no problem telling their kid how to do it, in spite of the fact the coach wants him or her to do it another way.

I still remember the summer I coached a girls softball team and had some numskull in the stands yelling at me about failing to send a runner – a runner that was the slowest on the team and was on first base in a situation where the team had a rally going. I actually stopped the game and offered the guy with the verbal diarrhea to either get off his lazy backside and help coach or sit down and shut up (it was the first time I've ever received a standing ovation in my career in sports, a proud moment in my life, if I do say so myself).

On another occasion, I coached a local Pee Wee baseball team and had an opportunity to put together an all-star team for a regional tournament, using players from the four teams in our local league. One of my players, I felt, was one of the 12 best kids in town – but he didn't get to play. Why? Because his mother was still incensed that I once substituted him late in a game for a younger, less experienced player – even though our team was comfortably ahead and would go on to win the league title.

The coaches who work with our younger kids have enough challenges to face in teaching the players the fundamentals and encouraging them to play hard and have fun – it's difficult, if not impossible, for a kid to concentrate on what the coach is trying to get out of him when mom and/or dad are sitting in the stands, acting as if they are either the defending champion or a finalist for the National Sports Jerk Of The Year Award (presented this year by NASCAR racing brothers Kyle and Kurt Busch).

And what about the officials who make sure both teams play by the rules? Sure, they might be getting paid to call the game – but they're not getting paid near enough for having to deal with all the crap they're getting from the other side of the fence. And what's funny is, 99 times out of 100, they not only have a better view of the action, but have a better understanding of the rules than you could hope of having.

Johnson takes in Brazilian culture

By DEB LAMMERS HAMM
Special To The Herald

At times in our lives, we have to travel long distances, to realize what value our upbringing carries for us.

Halfway around the world, in a culture very different from her own, former Wayne State soccer player Christie Johnson learned that the smallest act of kindness creates the greatest amount of pleasure.

"I learned that all throughout my life I have been looking at what everyone else around me has, and that I don't appreciate the things that I have," Johnson said.

Johnson, an international business major, traveled to Brazil last summer and spent three months engaging in a lifestyle that has forever changed her life.

Projects Abroad was her home away from home. Her responsibilities included volunteering at two different projects. Daytime hours found Johnson working with 12- to 18-year-old soccer players in a project called Gerson, and evening hours she spent playing with teams on a Brazilian beach.

"My most important responsibility was to work with the kids – gaining their trust while understanding their culture," said Johnson.

Two elements of Brazilian soccer challenged Johnson on a daily basis. One – the language, the other – the sand.

"Learning the language was overwhelming at first, but we did find a lot of humor in using hand signals and interpreting our languages differently," Johnson said.

Growing up in Colorado, Johnson had little experience with playing soccer on anything but American Midwest ground.

"The sand was the best defender and I had to incorporate the sand with the speed of play that these players were accustomed to," Johnson said.

Johnson's greatest rewards came when she realized that while worldly possessions hold value, the true worth is sharing those possessions

Dirt Devils sweep tourney titles

Hey, it's their tournament, so it only seems to make sense that they take home the biggest trophies.

The Wayne Dirt Devil softball program had an almost perfect weekend at their annual Dirt Devil Invitational, winning all four of the tournaments they had teams entered in and going a combined 19-1 for the weekend.

The Dirt Devils kept the first-place trophies home in the 10-under, 12-under, 14-under and 18-under divisions. The only division Wayne did not win a trophy was the 16-under division – a division where the Dirt Devils do not field a team this summer.

The only hiccup of the weekend came during the final pool play game Saturday for the 18-under squad, as they dropped a 6-2 decision to the Yankton Diamonds Black. The 18-under Devils bounced back the following day, beating the Norfolk Golden Girls and Yankton Spitfire to win the title in their division.

Devil 14's perfect 5-0 in division

The Wayne Dirt Devils 14-under softball team were a perfect 5-0-5 on the weekend to keep the Dirt Devils Invitational first-place trophy at home at the Wayne Softball Complex.

The 14-under squad went 3-0 in pool play Friday and Saturday, beating the Norfolk Golden Girls (5-2), Scribner-Snyder Red Rippers (5-4) and O'Neill Mean Green (8-6). On Sunday, the Devils edged Columbus Lakeview 2-1 and posted a 6-4 win over the Yankton Yellow Jackets to win the tournament title.

In Friday's win over the Golden Girls, the Devils scored three times in the second inning and held off a late comeback by the Norfolk team to earn the win. Emily Matthes was 2-for-3 at the plate, Danica Schaefer had an RBI single, Sierra Scardino singled and scored a run and Courtney Melena also had a base hit. Hannah Belt got the win in the circle, allowing three hits and two walks while striking out five.

In action Saturday, Wayne scored three in the first and two more in the third and held off a Rippers rally to improve to 2-0 in the tournament.

"This was a big win for the girls,"

Devil 18's bounce back from loss to take first

The Wayne Dirt Devils 18-under team bounced back from a loss in pool play on Saturday to claim top honors in their age division at this past weekend's Dirt Devil Invitational.

Wayne went 2-1 in pool play Friday and Saturday, beating North Bend (7-1) and O'Neill (8-4) before dropping a 6-2 decision to the Yankton Diamonds Black team.

The 18-under Devils came back the following day and won both tournament bracket games, beating Norfolk Golden Girls 5-1 in the semifinals and hanging on for a 4-1 win over the Yankton Spitfire to claim the first-place trophy in the oldest division of the five bracket, 34-team tournament at the Wayne Softball Complex.

Ashten Gibson threw a pair of no-hitters and also hit a home run during the Dirt Devil 12-under team's 5-0 run through their bracket.

Pitching leads 12's to top finish

The 12-under Wayne Dirt Devils were a perfect 5-0 on the weekend, taking first-place honors in their division of the Dirt Devil Invitational.

"It was a complete team effort, with every player executing in the situations they were placed in," coach Kristin Hochstein said. "The girls showed good composure and improvement throughout the tournament."

Wayne opened pool play Friday with a dominating effort against the Norfolk Golden Girls, pounding the visitors in a 19-1 decision.

The Dirt Devils had four players with at least two hits, led by Abby Ankeny's 3-for-3 performance that included a triple. Taylor Gamble had a double and a triple.

Seniors go to Seward, finish 1-2

Bounce back win Monday vs. W.Pt.

The Wayne American Legion Seniors used a five-run sixth to edge West Point 7-5 and improve to 3-0 in league play on Monday night.

Wayne's four hits for the game were enough to overcome a 4-1 deficit heading into the sixth, as the defense held strong and starting pitcher Corey Doorlag was able to go the distance. Doorlag gave up five runs on five hits, striking out five and walking three in the win. Frank Bernal scored twice and Miles Anderson doubled to highlight a four-hit effort for the Seniors.

The Seniors went 1-2 in tournament play last weekend in Seward, losing 6-0 to the tournament hosts and beating Bennington 2-0 on Saturday, and losing 9-6 to Waverly on Sunday.

On Saturday, Wayne had success producing base runners, registering 10 hits and seven walks in the two games, but was only able to plate two runs, leaving a considerable amount of pressure on their pitching.

While Wayne pitching was not enough to overcome the lack of run support in the first game against Seward – the senior staff surrendered 10 hits and walked seven batters – Gage Rethwisch was more than up to the task in game two. Rethwisch pitched the full seven innings, striking out eight and walking two in the four-hit shutout. The pitching performance held up as Wayne took the 2-0 win.

"When Gage is on, he's tough. Bennington is a good, quality opponent and he pitched very well," coach Jeff Zeiss said. "That was a shot in the arm for us, when Gage gets going on the mound, so do we."

If offense was a problem in the first two games, it was anything but in Sunday's loss to Waverly. The seniors plated six runs off 14 hits including a pair of triples by Joey Lenihan and Frank Bernal. The six runs on Sunday were not enough, however, to hold up as Wayne pitching uncharacteristically struggled.

"We played well enough that we should have won all three games," Zeiss said. "You have 14 hits, you should have more than six runs."

Unearned runs ultimately cost Wayne their final game of the weekend tournament. The three Wayne pitchers who saw time at the mound walked seven and hit four batters en route to six unearned runs for Waverly, who had five fewer hits than Wayne.

"We went 1-2 which was disappointing, but the kids played well," Zeiss said. "The kids responded well [Monday] night and we had some energy, we got the win and West Point is a good team."

The Wayne Seniors, 4-2 overall and 3-0 in league play, host the Marty Summerfield Tournament this weekend at Hank Overin Field.

with those who need them more. "I watched kids playing soccer in the streets, on the dirt, in alleys, no matter what the surface these kids were playing soccer, not because they were getting paid, but because they had an unbelievable passion for the game," Johnson said.

Johnson, a transfer from Ottawa University, who played her high school days at Mountain Vista High School in Highlands Ranch, Colo., completed her junior and senior seasons as a Wildcat.

"I am proud that Christie had the courage to step out of her comfort-zone this past summer," said Molly Grisham, Wayne State soccer coach. "She returned as a person with a new perspective on what really matters. She is a tremendous player who benefited greatly by spending the summer in a culture that plays a very different style of soccer than we do in the United States. I am excited to see where soccer and life will take her."

What does the future hold for her?

"I plan to pursue soccer internationally. I have considered an option in the Peace Corps, so I am keeping many options open for more volunteer work overseas," Johnson said.

One thing is for sure for Johnson. Her life has changed.

"I was blind to my own strength because I hadn't been looking at the qualities I possess, but rather what I was suppose to possess in America," Johnson said.

Former Wayne State soccer standout Christy Johnson got a lot from her experience in Brazil last year, and said the trip to South America opened her eyes to a new world.

yourself, "I wonder if he's talking about me" - the answer is probably yes.)

And what kind of example are you setting with your bad behavior? Kids these days have enough negative influences to deal with between the crap they see on TV and the Internet - watching mom and/or dad go off like somebody just spit chewing tobacco in their cup of Mountain Dew is exactly the kind of behavior they don't need to be emulating. The apple rarely falls far from the tree when it comes to how people behave - and you shouldn't be the least bit surprised, years from now, when Junior or Missy is expressing his or her rage at a coach or official when your grandkids are out there learning how to play the game (and if you are, somebody needs to break the board of common sense over your head - although it would probably be a waste of good wood).

With very few exceptions, the boys and girls playing ball in summer recreation leagues and select teams aren't going to play the game much beyond high school or college. In fact, some kids burn out on sports, and while they might tell you otherwise, it's not because they're tired of playing - it's because they're tired of being embarrassed by your bad behavior.

If you can't support your kids, encourage them to play their best and offer a pat on the back to the adults who are involved in your kids' athletic endeavors, do yourself - and the rest of us a favor. Shut up or stay home.

Solid pitching helps Juniors to 4-1 victory

The Wayne Juniors American Legion baseball team improved to 3-1 on the season with a 4-1 win at West Point Monday night.

The Juniors got a solid pitching performance from Jacob Lutt, who threw a complete-game two-hitter and struck out six batters to get the win in the Juniors' only game of the week.

"He was really hitting his spots well," coach Joe Wendte said. "He kept West Point's batters off balance with his change-up, and he really spotted his fastball well."

Lutt also helped his cause with an RBI single, and Curtis Moeller stole three bases and scored three runs.

"The kids played well," Wendte said. "We committed an error on the first play of the game, but it was smooth sailing after that."

The Juniors were at home Wednesday against Hooper and play at home again Thursday against Columbus Blues. They will take part in the Wakefield Tournament this weekend.

Doerr, a sprinter from Bloomfield, holds a 4.0 GPA in history/science education. He competed in the 200 and 400 and ran legs on the fourth-place 1,600- and seventh place 400-meter relay teams at the NSIC Outdoor Championships.

Nicole Brungardt, Brianne Hofstetter and Paige Pollard were selected to the women's team.

Brungardt, a senior from Norfolk, maintains a 3.7 GPA majoring in mid-level education. She earned All-American honors in the 100 with an eighth-place finish and new school record time of 11.70 seconds. She was a two-time NSIC Champion in the 100 and 200 and also holds school records in the 200 and 800-meter relay.

Hofstetter, a senior from Daykin, placed in two events at the NSIC Outdoor Championships, setting a new school record in the triple jump at 38 feet, 2 1/4 inches to finish fourth, and was sixth in the javelin. She earned All-NSIC honors at the Indoor Championships, placing second in the triple jump. Hofstetter excels in the classroom with a 3.82 GPA majoring in science education, and received the prestigious NSIC Myles Brand Academic with Distinction Award.

Pollard, a senior from Newcastle, carries a 3.77 GPA majoring in exercise science. She is a six-time national qualifier and a two-time All-American in track and field. Pollard was the NSIC high-points scorer at the NSIC Outdoor Championships, winning the 400 hurdles and heptathlon while placing third in the long jump and seventh in the 100 hurdles. She was an outdoor national qualifier in the 400 hurdles and heptathlon.

All five athletes received first-team honors and now advance to the Div. II Academic All-American ballot.

WSC athletes earn academic honors

Five Wayne State athletes were honored for their academic efforts by being named to the Capital One Academic All-District 7 track and cross country teams.

Alex Timperley and Mickey Doerr were selected on the men's side Timperley, a Norfolk native, competes in the 100, 200, long jump and triple jump for the Wildcats. He maintains a 3.89 grade-point average majoring in sociology. Timperley was fourth at the NSIC Championships in the triple jump and also placed 11th at the NSIC Championships in the 100. He also broke a 44-year-old school record in the 200 meter dash at the Nebraska Invite in Lincoln on May 5 with a time of 21.52 seconds.

win over North bend, scoring three in the first and two in the second to take command of the game early.

Emily Leeper stroked a two-run double to highlight Wayne's big opening inning, and Victoria Kranz came through with a two-run single in the second to get Wayne the big lead.

Kranz led the hit parade with a 3-for-4 effort, while Leeper, Caitlin Fehringer, Sydney Harris and Abbie Hix each had two hits.

Kristin Carroll had a solid game in the circle, allowing just three hits and striking out three.

On Saturday, Wayne improved to 2-0 in pool play with an 8-4 win over O'Neill. The visitors led 2-1 in the second, but Wayne scored four in the third and three more in the sixth to go on to the win.

The third inning was highlighted by RBI singles by Hix and McKenna Gibson, and an RBI sacrifice fly by Lauren Gilliland.

In the sixth, consecutive RBI doubles by Kranz, Harris and Hix helped Wayne pull away with the win. Carroll struck out seven and walked four to get the win in the circle.

Wayne's only loss came in their final pool play game, as Yankton scored four runs in the first and went on to a 6-2 win.

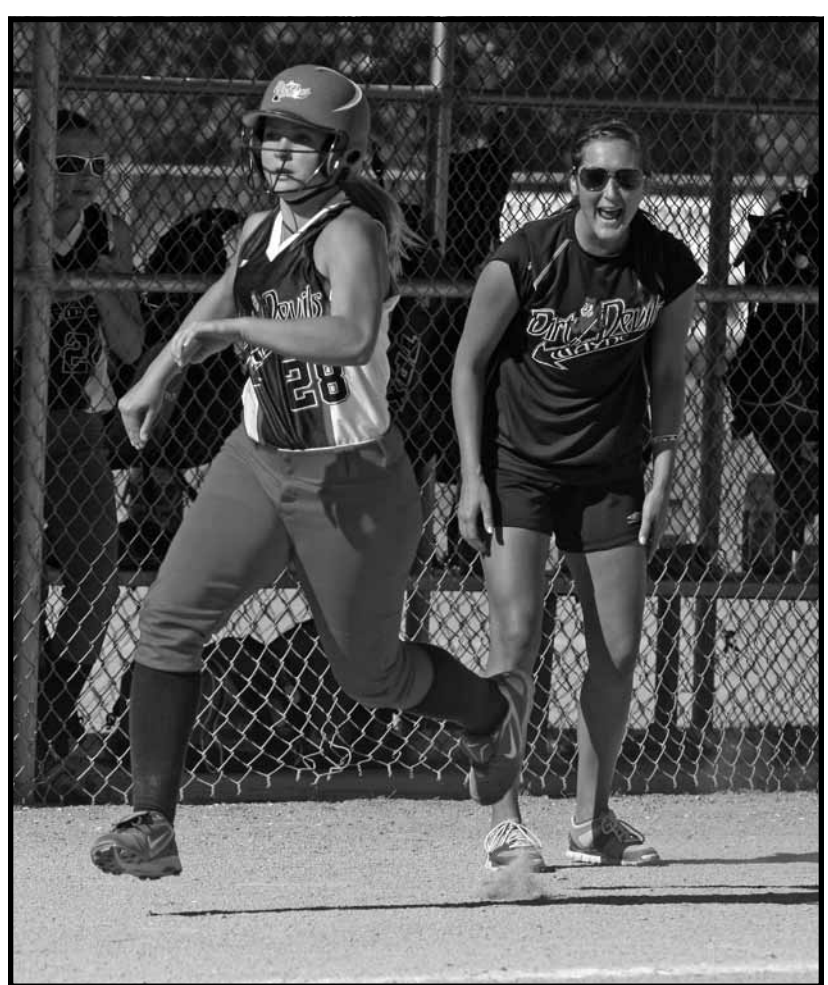

Wayne trailed 4-0 after a half-inning, but cut the deficit in half with RBI singles by Fehringer and Harris. Yankton got those two runs back in the next inning and shut down Wayne's offense from there. Jalyn Zeiss was 2-for-3 with a run scored to highlight the Devils' effort.

Moving on to Sunday's tournament play, the Dirt Devils got back on track with a 5-1 win over the Norfolk Golden Girls.

The Devils broke open the game with three runs in the third inning, two of them coming on a Hix double that scored Kranz and Fehringer. Zeiss also scored in the inning, one of two runs she had in the game.

Fehringer and Hix both had two hits, and Carroll struck out six and gave up three hits to advance Wayne to the championship game.

Wayne got two runs in the first inning off the Spitfire pitcher, and that would hold up as Wayne went on to a 4-1 win.

coach Alesha Finkey said. "This is the first time the girls have beaten the Red Rippers, so it was a huge success for them. They played a great game."

Rylee Bessmer, Kortney Keller and Nicole Craft each had a double in the game, Schaefer scored twice and Bessmer and Keller both added runs. Belt got the win in the circle, striking out 10 and scattering four hits, four walks and four runs.

In their final pool play game, the Devils won a wild-scoring affair, getting five runs in the second inning to take the lead for good.

Scardino was 2-for-2 with two runs scored, Craft doubled and scored a run, Schaefer and Bessmer both singled and scored and Keller added a double. Belt struck out six, walked two and allowed four hits to help Wayne to the win.

In tournament play Sunday, Wayne's bats struggled, but the defense and pitching picked up as Belt struck out 11 and allowed just four hits.

Bessmer and Emily Matthes both scored runs for Wayne, and Bessmer and Keller had the team's only two hits of the game.

Wayne's bats came to life in the championship game. An RBI triple by Schaefer got the Devils rolling, and Wayne knocked out 10 hits to post the win over Yankton.

Matthes, Belt, Craft and Courtney Melena each had two hits in the game, while Bessmer and Craft both scored two runs. Belt struck out five, walked two and gave up five hits to finish off a weekend where she pitched all 21 innings and came away with five wins in the circle.

Carroll, who won her fourth game of the tournament, worked out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning and scattered four hits while striking out four.

Kranz and Harris had RBI singles to drive in Carroll and Kranz in the first inning. The Dirt Devils added two more in the fourth on a two-run single by Carroll, scoring Zeiss and Megan Hoffart.

In league action Thursday, Wayne split a doubleheader against the Golden Girls at Norfolk, taking the opener 7-3 and dropping the nightcap 8-4.

In the first game, Wayne scored three runs in the first, highlighted by a Hix two-run single that scored Kranz and Harris. Kranz had brought Fehringer home on a base hit after Fehringer doubled.

In the third, Wayne added two more runs when Fehringer came home on an error and Carroll brought home Zeiss with a sacrifice. The Devils added runs in the fifth and sixth to put the first game on ice.

Fehringer had a 3-for-4 effort at the plate, needing only a home run for the cycle. Leeper had two hits and Carroll struck out four and gave up two hits in the circle.

In the nightcap, Wayne held a 4-3 lead before the hosts scored five runs in the sixth inning to come away with the split. Zeiss was 3-for-4 and Hix was 2-for-3 in a losing effort.

The Dirt Devils are back in action this weekend at the Golden Girls Tournament in Norfolk.

Devil 10's perfect 5-0 on the weekend

The 10-under Wayne Dirt Devils rolled to a perfect 5-0 weekend and took top honors in their age division at last weekend's Dirt Devil Invitational.

The Devils opened pool play Friday with a 10-2 win over the Norfolk Golden Girls, scoring three in the first and five more in the fourth to put the game out of reach.

Sydney Biggerstaff and Erin O'Reilly both had hot bats, as they both went 3-for-3. Biggerstaff had three RBI's and Maysn Dorey had two RBI's to lead the offensive effort.

Tori Kniesche pitched well for the Devils, striking out 13 and walking six while giving up two hits.

On Saturday, the Dirt Devils beat Norfolk Kelly's 10-3, overcoming an early 3-0 deficit. Biggerstaff and Kniesche each had two hits and four other players added hits. Kniesche struck out nine in the circle to get the win.

In their final pool play game, Wayne beat the O'Neill Shamrocks 10-3. Wayne led 4-0 after one inning, but the Shamrocks scored three in the top of the second before Wayne responded with six unanswered runs to get the win.

Kniesche and Biggerstaff each had two RBI's in the win, and Kniesche struck out 11 O'Neill batters.

In Sunday's semifinals, Wayne outlasted the Scribner-Snyder Red Rippers 7-1. O'Reilly was 3-for-3 in the game, while Elyssa Tuttle went 2-for-3 at the plate as Wayne broke out to a 4-0 lead and scored three more in the fourth to put the game away. Kniesche struck out 11 batters in the win.

In the finals, Wayne held off a late rally by the Yankton Shamrocks to claim a 5-4 win and take the first-place trophy. Biggerstaff had two hits, including a triple, to highlight a six-hit attack. Kniesche struck out 11 and allowed two hits and a walk.

In league action Wednesday, the 10-under Devils were 8-1 winners over Bancroft.

Kniesche got out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning, and the offense responded with a five-run effort in the bottom of the first to take control of the game early.

Biggerstaff and Kniesche each had triples and O'Reilly had a two-run single. Kniesche struck out 11, walked five and gave up two hits.

Thomas supports Devils

Marci Thomas has been very generous to the Wayne Dirt Devils softball teams over the years. She donated funds that were used to purchase the two flags that were out at the Wayne Softball Complex for the Dirt Devil Invite, and glass cases by the concession stand to house tournament schedules, tournament brackets and practice schedules. The Dirt Devils Softball teams are very appreciative of her generosity. Pictured are (front) Sidney Biggerstaff, Tori Kniesche, (back) Jenna Trenhaile, Marci Thomas, Ashten Gibson and Jamie Gamble.

ple, while Jamie Gamble and Ashten Gibson both had a single and a triple.

Gibson pitched well in the circle for the Dirt Devils, striking out nine and allowing just two hits.

Wayne continued the hot bats on Saturday, posting a 12-0 whitewashing of the O'Neill Heat. Gibson cooled off the O'Neill bats with a no-hitter, striking out three in the game. Gamble and Kiara Hochstein each had two hits to lead a 10-hit attack.

In their final pool play game Saturday, Gibson homered, doubled and threw another no-hitter to help Wayne to a 5-1 win.

Gibson's inside-the-park homer came with two out in the first inning, and she added a double later in the game to account for two of Wayne's three hits. Kennedy Maly added a double.

Gibson's second no-no of the day was two walks short of a perfect game, as she struck out nine in the contest.

In bracket play Sunday, Wayne advanced to the finals with an 8-1 win over the Blair Flames, cranking out 12 hits while limiting their opponents to just one hit.

Gibson led the 12-hit attack with a double and a triple, while Maly and Jamie Gamble each had a double and a single. Gibson struck out six and walked one in posting the one-hit win.

In the championship game, Wayne won a wild, high-scoring affair, coming back from a 6-0 deficit to post a 10-8 win over the Scribner-Snyder Red Rippers to take the 12-under team title.

Wayne committed four errors in the first two innings and were down big early, but bounced back quickly with an eight-run, seven-hit explosion that helped them rebound and get the win.

Wayne had nine hits in the game, led by Maly's two-double effort. Jenna Trenhaile had a single and a triple. Gibson picked up her fifth win of the tournament, striking out three and allowing five hits.

In league action Wednesday, the Dirt Devils knocked off Bancroft in a 14-7 decision at the Wayne Softball Complex. Maly was 3-for-3 with a double and Gamble and Gibson both had two hits. Gibson got the win in the circle, striking out four and allowing three hits and three walks.

The 12-under Devils are 10-3 overall, and get back in action with tournament play this weekend in Norfolk.

Diane Roeber, this year's Hero of Hope, told of her cancer story and her reasons to relay. She told her audience she has been a part of the Wayne County Relay since its beginning.

Survivors of all ages lined up to take the first lap in this year's Wayne County Relay For Life. Many of those in attendance have been cancer-free for a number of years.

Miranda Fehringer was one of two people to get haircuts and donate hair to Locks of Love. Marci Kudrna works to cut off Miranda's hair.

Members of the Providence Medical Center Relay team took time out of their walking schedule to cheer on the other walkers. They helped promote this year's theme, "Game On."

Among those having a vital part in making this year's Relay a success were Stephanie Fritz, Tammy Meier, Courtney Volk, Pam Albin and Lisa Karel.

Team members, cancer survivors and friends all took turns walking laps at the Wayne State Rec Center.

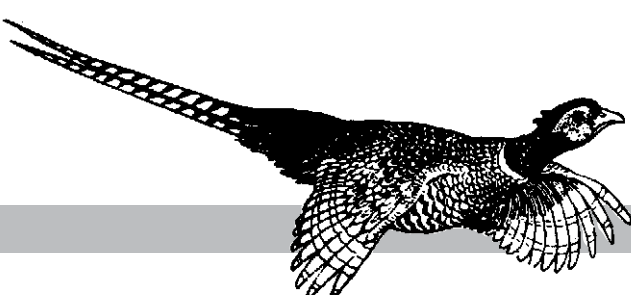

Those businesses, organizations and individuals who contributed to this year's Relay For Life at the Corporate level posed for a photo during this year's Relay.

Northeast Nebraska Cattlemen and Pizza Hut provided food for those taking part in the Relay, as well as members of the community, to kick off this year's event.

Old T-shirts find new life as diapers, thanks to group's work

The LWML ladies in our church are always up to something! By that I mean, they are always engaged in worthwhile projects and we are invited to help, by means of a notice in the bulletin.

Often, it's food items for the Food Bank. Every summer, it's stuff to give out as bingo prizes at Tabitha. Last winter, it was pillow cases to make dresses with. I saw a picture of some of those dresses, they are really nice.

Last month, they announced they needed T-shirts; they are going to make diapers for Orphan Grain Train. Now, I can envision how the pillow case dresses were made; but I have a little trouble with the diapers from T-shirts.

Anyway, we got into a discussion about diapers at the church daycare center the other day. I maintain that it does not do much good to ban plastic grocery bags as long as there are disposable diapers. In fact, I recycle my grocery bags at the daycare as a baggy for the diapers.

A very pregnant mom announced that she was not going to give up the disposable diapers. And this was after another lady said she had made cloth diapers for her daughter. They even talked about someone having had a diaper service! To me, that would be the epitome of laziness.

I smiled and asked if they would like to hear my sad story; they didn't have a choice! I had two kids in diapers, 19 months apart, and NO washer and dryer! There was an old wringer washer on the porch of the house on the farm, and there were clothes lines in the empty room upstairs. Of course, the whole mess necessitated a diaper pail, and thank goodness, we did have indoor plumbing!

I knew a gal in our church in Hoskins who had four kids in a house without plumbing. That made my story sound positively well off! Anyway, I think we convinced anyone present that I had had it pretty tough.

And yet, my Mom did not have indoor plumbing until the third child came along. And, she had to heat the water to wash clothes. At least, I had a hot water heater. Somehow, we all survived. Mike's mother heated water on a cookstove! And carried it to that wringer washer on the porch. Of course, the washer necessitated two rinse tubs, and they needed water, too.

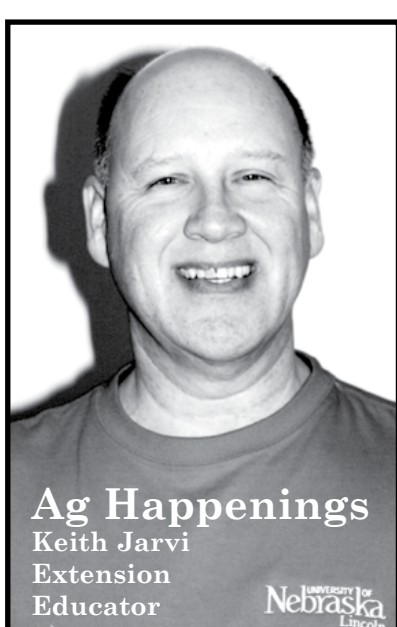

Well, I got rid of several T shirts. Somehow, they seem to multiply. I kept the ones that say Sound of Music, and Dave's Angels, and Old Navy. But I gave the ladies a bunch of shirts from various causes, including Joint Camp when I had my knee replaced, and Cornhusker State Games when I was first aid. The problem with T-shirts is that you never know what size large will be! I think you all know what I mean. I was happy to donate to a good cause. And I say "good for you" to all those women who are going to sew diapers from them!

Producers urged to check for bean leaf beetles

About the only thing to watch for in the next couple of weeks are bean leaf beetles feeding on emerging soybeans.

These small beetles chew holes in the cotyledons and leaves of seedling soybeans. Bean leaf beetles have two generations a year in Nebraska; however, since they overwinter as adults, three periods of beetle activity are seen in the growing season: Overwintering colonizers, F1 generation (offspring of the colonizers, the true first generation) and the F2 generation.

Bean leaf beetles overwinter as adults in leaf litter (woodlots) and soybean residue. They become active fairly early in the year (April-May), and often can be found in alfalfa prior to soybean emergence. As soybeans emerge, the beetles quickly move to the seedling plants. These overwintered beetles, called colonizers, mate and begin laying eggs. Females live about 40 days and lay from 125 to 250 eggs. After egg laying is complete the colonizing population dwindles as the bee-tlies die. A new generation of beetles (F1) will begin to emerge in late June to early July. The F1 beetles mate and produce a second generation of beetles (F2) that begin to emerge in mid to late August.

The beetles are yellowish-tan to reddish in color and about 1/4 inch long. They commonly have two black spots and a black border on the outside of each wing cover. These spots may be missing, but in all cases there is a small black triangle at the base of the wings near the thorax.

Because they move to soybean fields so soon after seedling emergence, early-planted fields will usually have more beetles and suffer the most injury, particularly if they are the only beans up and available for the beetles to move into. This has become more of a problem in recent years because planting dates seem to be getting earlier each year. Although the defoliation the beetles

Pork Quality Assurance Webinar offered July 19, webinars seen at area locations

In June, pork producers and their employees can gain certification in the Pork Quality Assurance Plus Program through webinar sessions across Nebraska.

Duane Reese, UNL Extension swine specialist, and PQA Plus advisers will conduct the webinar sessions, which are sponsored by the Nebraska Pork Producers Association and University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension.

"Producers are required to be certified in PQA Plus to market their pigs," Reese said. The webinar is for producers seeking initial certification, which is valid for three years, or for those who need to be recertified.

The webinars will cover PQA Plus good production practices to help producers comply with the National Pork Board's We Care initiative, which aims to educate producers on industry ethical principles and animal well-being practices.

The sessions will be shown simultaneously at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, June 19 at 10 locations across the state. Area locations include:

Holiday Inn Express, 524 E. 23rd St., Columbus, Facilitator: Alan Vynalek.

Haskell Ag Lab, 57905 866 Road, Concord, Facilitator: Keith Jarvi.
