It's a scorcher - protect yourself, pets from heat-related illness

High temperatures combined with high humidity can be a dangerous combination according to the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS).

"The body normally cools itself by sweating. When humidity is high, sweat doesn't evaporate as fast. That prevents the body from releasing heat, causing its temperature control system to overload," said Dr. Joann Schaefer, Chief Medical Officer and Director of the Division of Public Health for DHHS.

The risk for heat-related illness and death is higher for infants and the elderly, whose internal thermostats do not regulate body temperature well. People with chronic medical conditions, outdoor workers and people who exercise outside are also at increased risk.

Stay cool and avoid heat-related illness

by following these tips:

- Drink plenty of water and don't wait until you are thirsty to drink.
- Avoid alcohol and limit drinks with caffeine.
- Wear loose, light-colored clothing and sunscreen.
- Never leave children or your pets in a parked car.
- Pets can suffer from heat-related illness too. If your pet spends its days outside, make sure it has plenty of fresh water and shade.
- If outdoors, slow your pace and take frequent rest breaks.
- Don't get too much sun. Sunburn reduces your body's ability to dissipate heat.
- Try to limit your outdoor activity to morning and evening hours.
- If you don't have air conditioning, go to a library or another public building where you can cool off.

• Check on elderly friends and neighbors. Make sure they're staying cool and hydrated.

Heat exhaustion can develop following exposure for several days to high temperatures. Symptoms include rapid heartbeat, cold, pale clammy skin, nausea, dizziness, weakness, and fatigue.

Heatstroke, the most serious heat-related illness, is a medical emergency characterized by a body temperature of 103 degrees F or greater. Symptoms include hot, red skin, rapid heartbeat, shallow breathing, disorientation, delirium, and coma.

Anyone suffering from these conditions should be moved into the shade or air conditioning. If heatstroke or serious heat exhaustion is suspected, get emergency medical assistance.

Journey Christian reaches out

By DAN KELLER
Of The Herald

Anyone who has lived in Wayne long enough, as part of the community or as a student at Wayne State College, has probably been reached out to by Journey Christian Church at some point.

Journey has been an important part of the Wayne community for almost a century, and as the community has grown, so too has the church's ministry.

After adding a worship center in 2006 to accommodate church growth, leadership at Journey began discussing what the church needed to continue to grow and expand its ministry. The primary focus of these discussions was the potential expansion of ministry geared toward youth and family outreach, ultimately reaching the conclusion that it was time to expand again.

After considerable and careful planning, the newly finished renovations started in September of last year and were finished earlier this month.

While the construction was largely professional, Senior Pastor Troy Reynolds said that volunteer work from his congregation as well as the Wayne community played a major role in turning church leadership's vision for expansion into a reality.

"The main volunteer portion of the construction was the roof," Reynolds said. "We did all the roofing ourselves."

Similar to the additions made six years ago, the newly renovated Journey Christian is designed to accommodate its growing congregation. The primary focus of these new renovations, however, is to increase Journey's capacity for specialized ministry, especially ministry geared toward children and families.

The highly acclaimed Adam Craig Band will be a part of this year's Chicken Show entertainment.

Chicken Show to include a second street dance

The 32nd Annual Wayne Chicken Show is set to have a little more jig in its step.

Why? This year's show will feature, not one, but two street dances and a performance by the highly acclaimed Adam Craig Band.

In recent years the Chicken Show was expanded to include a street dance, which took place on the Saturday night of the Chicken Show. This year, Friday, July 13 will not be the odd day out.

"The committee is always looking for ways to grow the Chicken Show. Friday night seems to have become a night where so many people return to Wayne to meet up with friends and family," Wayne Area Economic Development Assistant Director Irene Fletcher said. "Based on that and comments they had received about every place being filled to capacity on Friday night, the thought of a big block party started taking shape.

"Because on the success of the Wayne State College Back to School Bash, they wanted to try to provide that gathering place in the middle of Main Street. Using a band featuring local talent seemed to be a good fit, so Wayne High alumnus Dave Remer was asked to bring his band, The Fuse, up from Omaha."

The Fuse, which will perform at 8:30 p.m. and again at 10:30 p.m. Henoween night on First and Main and at noon on Saturday, July 14 in Bressler Park, is composed of Sam DiBaise (lead guitar/vocals), Wayne Brekke (drums), Jon Peters (bass/keys), Mark Weber (rhythm guitar/vocals) and Remer (lead vocals/guitar).

But the fun doesn't stop there. On Saturday night beginning at 8:30 p.m. in the Riley's/Final Touch parking lot on Main Street, the Adam Craig Band will fire up the final street dance of the Chicken Show.

Based out of Nashville, Adam Craig, Ryan Jones, Brian Smith and Jimi Hendrix of the Adam Craig Band are best known for their "infectious harmonies and stellar musicianship" in songs like "Stay," "Nothin' Wrong," "Pencil Marks" and "Four Square Miles."

Cactus Flats will open for the band Saturday night, and the street dance will have a $5 admission charge. A beer garden will also be provided by White Dog Pub.

For more information about the Wayne Chicken Show or band performances, visit www.chickenshow.com or contact Wayne Area Economic Development at (402) 375-2240.

Dave Remer (seated), a Wayne High alum, will bring the band The Fuse to Wayne July 13 and 14.

Home office energy efficiency encouraged

Ever wonder if turning your computer off at the end of the day or unplugging unused computer peripherals could save you money? Just ask AOL.

AOL decommissioned 9,484 servers in the last year, or about a quarter of its servers worldwide. Its savings included $1.65 million in energy bills, $2.2 million in OS licenses and $62,000 in maintenance costs. It also gained $1.2 million from scrap and resale, and reduced its carbon emissions by 20 million tons.

A lot of the servers AOL replaced were running applications and Web properties that had "outlived their useful life," the company said.

While you are not likely to have a few thousand computer servers sitting around your home, there are a number of things you can do to save energy with the home office equipment you have. Consider the following:

Activate power-management settings. Home office electronics have multiple power modes: active (or "on"), active standby ("on" but consuming less than 100 percent power), and passive standby (or "off"), according to the nonprofit American Council for an Energy Efficient

Economy (ACEEE), which promotes energy efficiency to consumers and government policy makers. You can instruct your computer to move into lower-consumption modes automatically when you've stopped using it temporarily — during a lunch hour or phone call, for instance — yet also wake up when you're ready to resume working. Such tactics can reduce your computer-related electricity costs by $25 to $75 per machine annually.

Use a power strip for your computer, printer, copier and other peripherals. If you plug office electronics into a power strip, you can switch all of them fully off (versus leaving them in "standby" mode) with one button. Power strips cost around $3 to $12. Assuming your home office equipment represents about four percent of your electricity bill, you could save up to $4 a year.

If you are investing in new computer equipment, look for Energy Star-rated computers, small servers, copiers, fax machines and adapters. Energy Star estimates that using these rated electronics in your home office can save $115 over the products' lifetimes.

Consider a laptop over a desktop. Laptops use one-third the power

Kathleen Mitchell earns outstanding teaching award

Kathleen Mitchell of Wayne, the Family and Consumer Sciences teacher at Wakefield Community Schools was chosen by the Association for Career and Technical Education of Nebraska (ACTEN) as the ACTEN 2012 outstanding Family and Consumer Science education teacher and received the ACTEN Outstanding Career and Technical Teacher Award.

The award was presented during the Nebraska Career Education Conference in Kearney.

ACTEN Outstanding Career and Technical Teacher - Divisional and ACTEN Teacher of the Year is chosen from Divisional Winners

The purpose of the award is to recognize teachers who are providing outstanding career and technical education programs for youth and/or adults in their respective fields and communities. Recipients of this award must have made significant contributions toward innovative, unique and novel programs that are serving to improve and promote career and technical education.

Mitchell has chosen the Personal Care pathway with the Wellness concentration as its major focus. In addition to teaching curriculum course and several other classes, she sponsors a 150-member drug-free youth group named TOTAD (Teens Opposed To Alcohol and Drugs). She also serves as the Wakefield Drug KatFree Curriculum coordinatin. She was trained as an ALLSTARS teacher for the curriculum and has used it successfully with the sixth, seventh and eighth grade FCS exploratory classes.

Students in Mitchell's classes gain first-hand knowledge about entrepreneurship by setting up small, short-term businesses.

Mitchell serves as Chapter Advisor for the Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) at Wakefield. Members are active at the local, district, state and national levels.

Mitchell also is serving on the FCCLA State Board of Directors as a non-voting member. She has chaired FCCLA STAR events at both the district and state level for the past 10 years. She has been a co-presenter for the district officer's session at the State Leadership Conference for the past five years.

(22 watts) of a typical desktop (68 watts) when in active mode, according to ACEEE. Annually, a laptop could save you about $19 compared with a desktop.

Opt for a flat-panel versus a CRT monitor. A cathode-ray tube monitor consumes about 70 watts of power, while an LCD or flat-panel uses only 27 watts, according to ACEEE data. That's about $1 in savings over a year.

For other ideas on how you can become more EnergyWise, visit with your local electric utility or go to www.nppd.com/save-energy.

Rotary celebrates 25 years in Wayne

Submitted by Elise Hepworth, President 2011-2012; 2012-2013

As the Wayne Rotary Club looks back at the past year and ahead to another exciting year in Rotary service, we celebrate our accomplishments as well as strive to improve our club and our service to the greatest humanitarian organization in the world.

Rotary International (also known as the Rotary Club) is an international service club whose stated purpose is to bring together business and professional leaders in order to provide humanitarian services, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations, and help build goodwill and peace in the world. It is a secular organization open to all persons regardless of race, color, creed, gender, or political preference.

There are 34,282 clubs and over 1.2 million members worldwide. The members of Rotary Clubs are known as Rotarians. Members usually meet weekly for breakfast, lunch or dinner (the Wayne Club meets at 7 a.m. every Wednesday at Tacos and More on Dearborn Street), which is a social event as well as an opportunity to organize work on their service goals. Rotary's primary motto is "Service above Self"; an earlier motto was "One profits most who serves best".

The first Rotary Club was formed when attorney Paul P. Harris called together a meeting of three business acquaintances in downtown Chicago, at Harris' friend Sylvester Schiele's office in the Unity Building on Dearborn Street on Feb. 23, 1905. In addition to Harris and Schiele (a coal merchant), Gustave E. Loehr (mines engineer), and Hiram E. Shorey (tailor) were the other two who attended this first meeting. The members chose the name Rotary because initially they rotated subsequent weekly club meetings to each other's offices, although within a year, the Chicago club became so large it became necessary to adopt the now-common practice of a regular meeting place.

Like most clubs, the Wayne Rotary Club is working on improving membership. This includes gaining new members and revitalizing current members. New members are only drawn to the passion and excitement in a club; people want to be a part of an organization which is exciting and which uses their time wisely. Our community has taken notice to our vitality, excitement and passion. Keeping Rotary at the forefront of our minds has empowered our members to invite prospective Rotarians to our group. Educating/refreshing our current membership is a priority of our membership co-chairs as well as our president.

Membership is on every board meeting agenda, and we speak of membership weekly. Having a new member orientation has equipped our members to understand and relate to Rotary's ideals. Holding a semi-annual Prospective Member Tea makes joining a special and important event. Awarding and recognizing current members encourages loyalty and refreshes their purpose within the club.

By employing these strategies, membership has grown by 121 percent. We aim to meet and exceed this year's growth and retain our current members by fostering and encouraging their own personal development in Rotary.

Another goal the Wayne Rotary Club has for the 2012-2013 year is the health and well being of the club. We are celebrating our 25th anniversary this year, and to motivate our club members, we are implementing newer and exciting club projects to keep our membership refreshed and revitalized.

Below is a list of service commitments for the year.

"Obviously there's been growth in our attendance but even more so in the number of children that we have," Reynolds said. "Having this facility will enable us to do more than just Sunday morning; we'll have the space to do more family-type events where multi-generational families can learn together, pray together and grow together."

In addition to expanding and specializing the ministry within its own growing congregation, the additions at Journey will further its ability to reach out to the Wayne community. Journey Christian's mission statement is "to impact Wayne county and beyond by bringing people to salvation in Christ, equipping them for service to others, and sending them out to make a difference in their world, so that God will be praised."

The expanded facilities, according to Reynolds, should help the church to do just that.

"Obviously it helps all of our current ministries to continue to expand, it will help our youth and college ministry to continue to be able to expand," Reynolds said. "But the extra space will also be able to help other organizations who want to have meetings here throughout the week."

Wayne sluggers shut down Wakefield

By Kevin Peterson
For the Herald

The Wayne Junior and Senior Legion baseball teams played several contests over the past week, highlighted by Tuesday's contest with visiting Wakefield where both teams wore pink jerseys to show support for the on-going fight against cancer.

In junior play, Wayne downed Wakefield, 7-5 as Jake Lutt earned the pitching victory. In fact, Lutt pitched the first six innings before being relieved in the seventh. Lutt left the game with his team leading 7-1 but returned to the mound after Wakefield scored four times. Lutt for the most part saved his own win. Wayne was paced on offense by Dylan Sokol with a four-hit performance. Wayne improved to 10-7.

Last Friday in Battle Creek the Juniors garnered a 3-1 win as Grant Anderson earned the pitching victory after striking out five and throwing 5 1/3 innings before being relieved by Jake Lutt. Kaje Maly pounded out a pair of base hits to lead Wayne with Grant Anderson notching a double. Curtis Moeller, Dylan Sokol and Brook Bowers each had base hits.

Wayne shut out Waterloo Valley last Saturday at Hank Overin field, 12-0 as Curtis Moeller pitched a complete game allowing just one hit. He struck out five. Jack Belt smacked a pair of doubles for the winners with Kaje Maly also doubling. Moeller, Dylan Sokol, Jake Lutt and Joe Burrows each had a single. Wyatt Biggerstaff recorded two rbi while drawing three walks.

On Sunday Wayne fell to Columbus Blues, 8-6. Dylan Sokol was tagged with the loss. The offense pounded out nine hits as Curtis Moeller, Dylan Sokol, Kaje Maly and Jack Belt each had two base hits while Jake Lutt singled once. Wyatt Biggerstaff reached base three times via a walk.

The Wayne Seniors improved to 17-4 on Tuesday night after a 3-1 win over Paul Eaton's Wakefield squad while improving the league record to 9-2. Joey Lenihan pitched a complete game allowing just two hits while striking out 13 and walking three. Wayne broke a 1-1 game in the bottom of the sixth inning with a pair of runs. Tony Sinniger paced the offense with a double and single while Gage Rethwisch doubled. Drew Carroll and Trent Beza each reached base with singles.

The win over Wakefield took a little of the sting out of Monday's upset at the hands of Ponca, 4-2 at Hank Overin Field. Wayne left 11 runners stranded in the contest as they failed to get the timely hits with runners in scoring position. Drew Carroll took the loss from the mound, pitching 5 2/3 innings and giving up three runs on five hits while striking out seven and walking six.

Wayne also had five hits as Frank Bernal led the way with three singles while Brad Longe doubled. Gage Rethwisch and Danny Melena each had singles. Wayne led 2-1 until the fifth inning when Ponca scored three times.

Last Saturday Wayne defeated

Waterloo Valley, 11-0 as Corey Doorlag pitched a complete game shutout after allowing just two hits. The host teams' offense was potent with 11 hits led by Drew Carroll with three singles while Brad Longe, Tony Sinniger and Trent Beza had two base hits each. Frank Bernal and Danny Melena also had base hits.

The night before Wayne defeated Battle Creek on the road, 19-0 as Joey Lenihan earned the win from the mound. Brad Longe and Danny Melena also saw pitching action and the trio of hurlers allowed just one hit combined. Wayne pounded out 16 hits but it was Lenihan aiding his own pitching cause with an impressive five-hit performance which included four doubles and a single in a park that was quite familiar to him. Drew Carroll had two doubles and a single with Brad Longe belting a double and two singles. Corey Doorlag had two base hits with Gage Rethwisch, Steven Sherman and Danny Melena each notching one base hit.

Last Thursday the 21st saw the Wayne squad defeating Chadron, 2-0 as Gage Rethwisch went the distance on the mound, allowing just two hits while striking out six and walking just one. The winners scored both runs in the fourth inning. Tony Sinniger led Wayne's seven-hit attack with two singles while Corey Doorlag and Drew Carroll each doubled. Trent Beza, Joey Lenihan and Anderson each singled.

14-under win title; 10-under get runner-up

League tourneys dominate softball play

By Kevin Peterson
Of the Herald

Wayne's girls fast pitch softball teams were in full swing during the past week as the season winds to a close with districts on the horizon. In the 10-under division Wayne placed second in the league tournament held in Oakland. Dallas Dorey's team played six games in the tournament which started with a 7-0 win over West Point. Tori Kniesche was the winning pitcher as she tossed a no-hitter with 10 strikeouts. Avianna Doring, Sidney Biggerstaff, Erin O'Reilly and Grace Lindsay each had hits for the winners.

Wayne defeated Arlington, 9-1 as Kniesche scattered two hits in the process while striking out 10. Doring, Kniesche, Biggerstaff and Elyssa Tuttle each had hits to lead the winners. Wayne downed Wisner in game three, 9-2. Once again it was Kniesche providing the defense with 11 strikeouts and just two hits allowed. Erin O'Reilly led the winners with three hits with Kniesche and Biggerstaff each garnering two hits.

Wayne fell to Tekamah Purple, 2-1 in game four. Tori Kniesche scattered seven hits and struck out 15 but was tagged with the pitching setback. Tuttle and Lindsay each had hits for Wayne.

The locals bounced back to win game five, 2-1 over Oakland/Lyons. Kniesche was the winning pitcher with 16 strikeouts while scattering a pair of hits. Sidney Biggerstaff belted a two-run single in the third inning which proved to be the game-winner. Maysn Dorey, Kniesche and O'Reilly also had hits for Wayne which put them in the championship game with Tekamah Purple.

Once again however, it was Tekamah notching the win, 7-3. Kniesche allowed eight hits and struck out six. Erin O'Reilly led the offensive effort with a pair of hits while Dorey, Doring, Kniesche, Tuttle and Biggerstaff had one hit each.

The 12-under team played a pair of games last week with a 12-2 win over Wisner as Ashten Gibson struck out 10 and allowed just one hit. Wayne pounded out 13 hits led by Kennedy Maly with two doubles and a single while Taylor Gamble and Jamie Gamble each doubled and singled. Katelyn Grone had two base hits while Gibson belted a triple. Kiara Hochstein doubled and Abby Ankeny along with Jenna Trenhaile each singled.

Wayne also defeated West Point, 9-4 as Ashten Gibson struck out seven and allowed two hits to post the win from the mound. Offensively, Wayne was led by its pitcher as Gibson doubled while base hits were recorded by Taylor Gamble, Kiara Hochstein, Jamie Gamble, Jenna Trenhaile and Josie Thompson.

Wayne's 14-under squad won its league tournament, coming all the way back from the losers bracket to claim the title. Alesha Finkeys' troops opened play with a 3-2 win over Wisner as Hannah Belt went eight innings, allowed just two runs while striking out 18. Belt aided her pitching cause with a double and single while Sierra Scardino had two base hits and Kortney Keller, a triple.

Wayne lost 4-3 to Tekamah Gold in game two with Hannah Belt taking the loss, scattering six hits while striking out six. Kortney Keller paced the locals with a triple and single while Natalie Muren had a base hit.

Wayne won all five games on Sunday en route to the championship. It began with a 7-3 win over Tekamah Purple. Belt struck out 10 and scattered three hits in the process. Hannah Belt, Rylee Bessmer, Danica Schaefer, Kortney Keller, Nicole Craft and Natalie Muren each recorded hits.

Wayne shutout West Point, 4-0 in game four as Belt struck out 13 and allowed just one hit. Belt, Danica Schaefer and Kortney Keller each had two hits with Rylee Bessmer smacking a double.

Wayne downed Arlington, 6-2 in game five as Belt struck out eight and allowed just three hits. Nicole Craft led Wayne with two base hits while Danica Schaefer had one base hit and three rbi.

Wayne then had to play Tekamah Gold in a rematch with Wayne posting a 3-0 win as Belt struck out 10 and allowed just one hit. Rylee Bessmer and Danica Schaefer each had single to lead the winners. The win forced a second straight game with Tekamah Gold with Wayne coming out on top of a 8-1 score. Belt struck out eight and scattered four hits.

Wayne pounded out nine hits led by Danica Schaefer with a triple and two singles while Kortney Keller doubled and singled. Rylee Bessmer and Sierra Scardino each had two base hits.

Tuesday night in Wayne the 14-under defeated Bancroft, 13-1 as Belt notched another pitching victory. Danica Schaefer had two triples to lead the offense with Sierra Scardino had two base hits. Kortney Keller and Nicole Craft also had hits for the winners. Wayne also downed Wisner, 7-3 in triangular play as Belt posted the win from the mound. Schaefer and Craft each pounded out three hits with Belt and Rylee Bessmer each garnering two hits while Natalie Muren laced a single.

In the 18-under action this week Wayne defeated Kellys of Norfolk in a twinbill, 12-1 and 2-0. In the opener Kristin Carroll pitched six innings with eight strikeouts and two hits allowed. Kendall Gamble came in for relief in the final inning. Hannah Gamble led the offense with a double and two singles while Carroll doubled and singled. Jalyne Zeiss had a pair of singles.

In the second game McKenna Gibson pitched a complete game shutout, striking out seven and scattering three hits. Sydney Harris had two base hits for Wayne with Victoria Kranz notching one base hit.

Runnin' in the family

Kris Loberg (far right) made it a family affair recently at the Lincoln Marathon, as her three daughters ran with her that day. Lutter ran the full marathon, finishing in under four hours, while the other three took part in the half-marathon.

WSC athletes earn Academic All-American

Four Wayne State athletes were named Capital One Academic All-Americans in track and field recently.

The athletes were honored in voting by the College Sports Information Directors of America, and they are the first Wayne State track and field athletes to be honored in more than a decade.

Nicole Brungardt and Paige Pollard were both named in women's track and field. Brungardt was named to the second team, while Pollard was a third-team selection. They are the first Wayne State track athletes to be honored since Marsha Krienke in 2000.

Brungardt had a 3.7 grade-point average majoring in mid-level education. She earned All-American honors in the 100-meter dash and was a two-time NSIC champion in the 100 and 200. She also holds school records in the 100, 200 and as part of the 800-meter relay.

Pollard earned a 3.77 GPA majoring in exercise science. She is a six-time national qualifier and two-time All-American. She won the NSIC outdoor pentathlon and 400-meter hurdles, qualifying for the national meet in both events.

On the men's side, Alex Timperley and Mickey Doerr were third-team selections, marking the first time a Wayne State male track athlete was honored since James McGown in 1998.

Timperley competed in the 100, 200, long jump and triple jump and maintained a 3.89 GPA majoring in sociology. He broke a 44-year old school record in the 200-meter dash this season and was fourth in the NSIC meet in the triple jump.

Doerr has a 4.0 GPA in history and science education while competing in the 200 and 400 for the Wildcats. He also ran legs on the 1,600 and 400-meter relays for Wayne State at the NSIC outdoor meet.

Gale urges flags to be flown on the Fourth of July

Nebraska Secretary of State John Gale encouraged Nebraskans to fly the U.S. flag during the Fourth of July holiday to show their pride in America.

Gale said displaying the flag can help people reflect on the benefits and responsibilities of being an American. "The U.S. flag beautifully serves as the symbol of American values of freedom, liberty and democracy," he said.

The flag also serves as a reminder of the vital contributions and sacrifices of the American military in protecting our country, Gale said. "Independence Day is a time to reflect on the heroic efforts of our military personnel from the time of the Revolutionary War to the present," he said.

Don't get me started

Kardashian like the Virgin Mary?

I have a pretty cool story to tell, but I can't tell it right now. Bear with me until next week and enjoy a few strategically-placed tidbits from the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— Today's indication that the gene pool is hopelessly diluted: Kim Kardashian thinks she's on the same level as the Virgin Mary.

"I think if I'm 40, and I don't have any kids, and I'm not married, I would have a baby artificially inseminated," she said on her family's reality show recently. "I would feel like Mary, like Jesus is my baby."

I may be wrong on this, but if one of your claims to fame is starring in your own graphic sex tape with a no-name "singer" — I think you've disqualified yourself from being compared with anything having to do with virginity.

— From the "everybody's an art critic" department: A woman in Colorado pled guilty recently to felony criminal mischief after causing an estimated $10,000 worth of damage to a painting in a Denver, Colo. museum.

This woman went out of her way to try and destroy the painting, too — she reportedly punched and scratched the painting by abstract expressionist Clyfford Still, then to make sure she really left her mark, she slid her fanny across the artwork.

The woman has been sentenced to two years probation and must undergo mental health treatment. I sure hope the psychiatrist she visits doesn't try that "word association using ink blots" trick on her . . . she might beat the crap out of him.

— This lady could be the Republican nominee for President in 2016: a woman in Phoenix was recently arrested after authorities found her one-month-old boy alone in a car seat in the middle of an intersection.

The little tyke went on some kind of joy ride, as momma put him on the roof of her car and forgot about him when it came time to depart from a late-night pot smoking session with a friend.

The whole thing started when the baby's daddy was arrested for aggravated DUI after the family went on an 11 p.m. beer run. The woman was upset, and calmed her nerves by smoking a couple of bowls of marijuana with friends before going to get the baby. She put the baby on the roof, got in the car and drove off, not realizing her mistake until she got home and found the baby missing.

— From the "In my house, my sister would just run upstairs and complain to mom" department: If you remember last week's shootout over Kool-Aid story, here's another one for you — two guys in New York City got into a fight over what they were watching on TV in a Staten Island pizzeria.

A man was watching a TV station that played classic music videos (kids — music videos were things MTV used to show when the "M" stood for "music" instead of "moron") when another man switched the TV to ESPN. The two men began arguing and a fight ensued, ending when the first man bit off a chunk of the other guy's ear.

No word as to whether or not the guy watching ESPN was checking out an old Mike Tyson fight.

— It's obvious this lady was auditioning for the new season of "Cops": A Georgia woman went all-out in her efforts to shoplift from a Piggly Wiggly grocery store recently.

As she attempted to pilfer beer, bacon, cheese and chicken wings, she fended off would-be store workers-turned-security guards by hitting them with a blast of pepper spray. She also punched and spit at an employee.

But it doesn't end there — as she was being carted away by cops, she asked police officers to make their report, and I quote, "more interesting so that her arrest would make" the department's more notable incidents report for the local media.

I don't know about you, but I think there are better ways to go about getting your 15 minutes of fame than having a glorified rap sheet.

— This guy's student loan debt has got to be through the roof: a 71-year-old Kalamazoo, Mich., man just graduated from college.

This isn't his first rodeo, either — the man just recently earned his 29th college degree, and told reporters he's going after No. 30.

The man told ABC News that he took menial jobs to pay for his education, and started going to school full-time after he retired. "Otherwise, things would be pretty dull," he said.

The man has degrees in such things as educational leadership, library science, school psychology, health education, home economics and law enforcement.

I sure hope the guy doesn't try to go out and find a job after he gets his next degree. With all those honors, the guy is overqualified for everything but nuclear scientist and newspaper sports editor.

— Proof that you can literally get ANYTHING at your nearest Walmart: an Ohio man was arrested recently for, believe it or not, attempting to make methamphetamine in the bathroom of a local Walmart store.

The man was spotted placing ingredients in his shopping cart that are used in the production of meth. He was caught in the men's room shaking a salt shaker he had taken off a store shelf.

And just so you don't think it's a one-time thing, this incident comes days after a woman was caught shoplifting at a Walmart in St. Louis. While she was in the holding cell awaiting the cops, she was found attempting to cook meth in a 20-ounce soda bottle, forcing officials to immediately evacuate the store in the event of an explosion.

Like Ron White once said: you can't fix stupid.

State senator says community will pull together in wake of tragedy

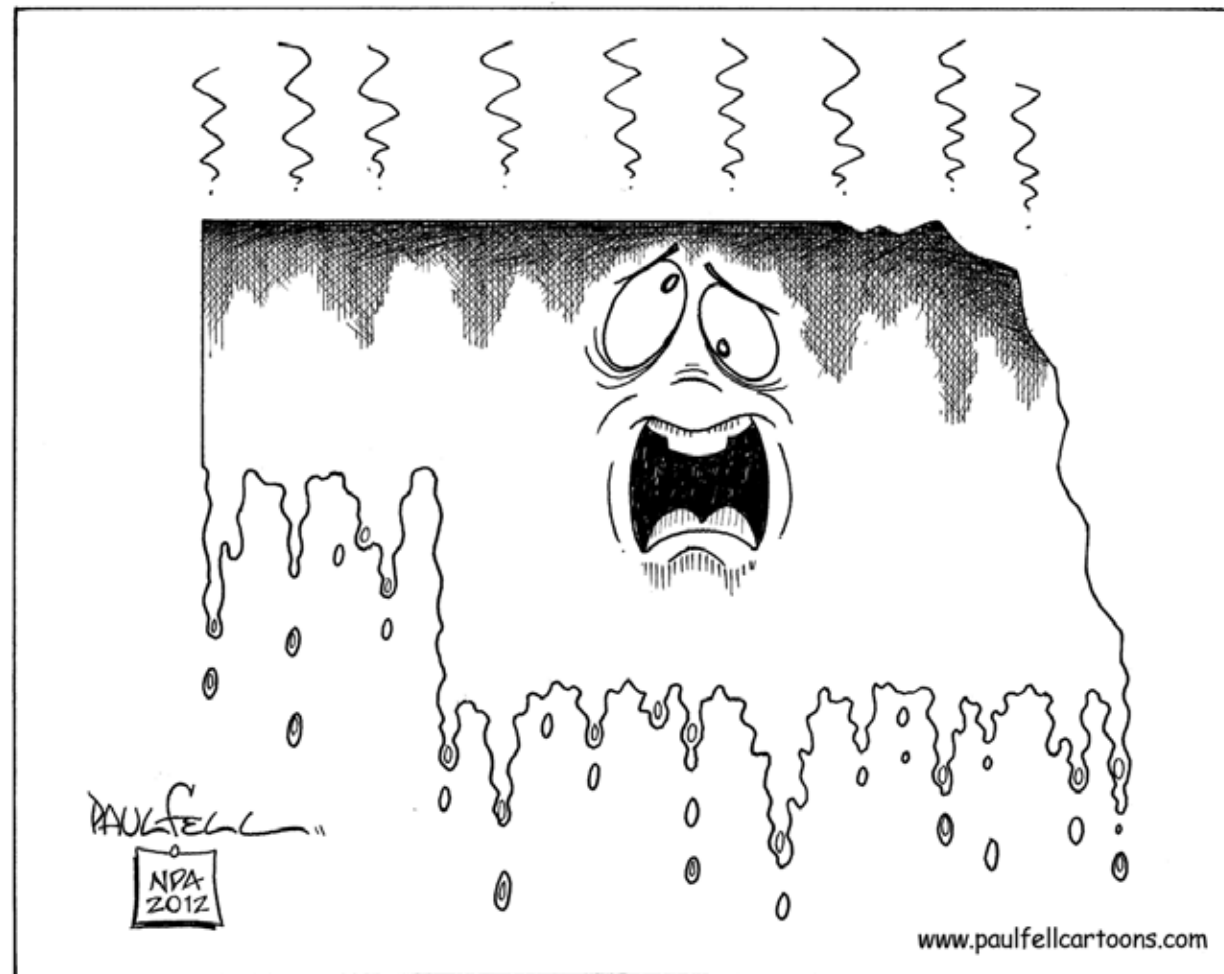

By J.L. Schmidt
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The recent hostage situation in a downtown Alliance business begs the question of where people who are otherwise unaccustomed to such violent activity can turn for some help and understanding that will lead to healing.

This Panhandle community of 9,000 people, better known nationally for its quirky tourist attraction of Carhenge and its sprawling Burlington Northern coal train switching yards, was thrust into the national spotlight on June 12 when an armed young man entered a local pharmacy in the heart of downtown and demanded drugs from the pharmacist who has long been a business leader. A police officer summoned by a silent alarm from the store was shot and wounded when he confronted the robber and a day-long standoff that crippled the community began.

Employees of the combined Chamber of Commerce, Main Street program and economic development group watched as events unfolded across the street and called businesses urging them to lock their doors and stay inside as more police converged on the scene. Reports of the incident filtered out from various shopkeepers, some of whom kept media updated with telephone reports. A State Patrol SWAT team soon became the controlling agency and ended the ordeal several hours after the hostage pharmacist fled the building and was wounded.

In the end, SWAT members stormed the business and the armed young man was killed. The popular pharmacy and gift shop became a crime scene and the cordoned-off downtown slowly returned to what could be extracted of normal sometime the next day as business owners and residents alike worked through their disbelief and shock of the daylong event that drew national headlines.

State Sen. Ken Schilz of Ogallala, who represents Alliance, said he shares what most people are thinking, that this was "a senseless tragedy."

As for the resources available to help smaller communities in these situations, it is a relevant question.

"The biggest issue for a community such as Alliance would be how to pay for the investigation and the damage caused by the standoff. As for individuals involved, I would suspect that they will be able to find the support they need. They may need to travel for this, but we in rural Nebraska are used to traveling for many things," Schilz said.

"Nebraskans pull together in times of need," he said. "I am confident in the ability of the good folks of Alliance to weather this storm and get back to a more normal life-style."

Legislative Update

Senators available to assist with constituent issues

Even though we are not in session, there is still activity in your legislative body.

We receive phone calls and e-mails asking for help working through government "red tape," seeking advice on programs and expressing frustration with how things work or fail to work. The requests range from needing a contact to address a particular issue, to "perhaps you could say a good word and get things moving along," or a host of other levels of requests. We want to share with you some of the results.

The Dakota City Fire Department contacted our office wanting to know if we could provide some guidance in seeking access to light bars for some of their equipment. They were of the understanding that these items might be available through the State when law enforcement vehicles are replaced. After a couple calls/emails, we were able to connect the State Office with the Fire Department and they did in fact obtain the light bars they were seeking in a timely manner.

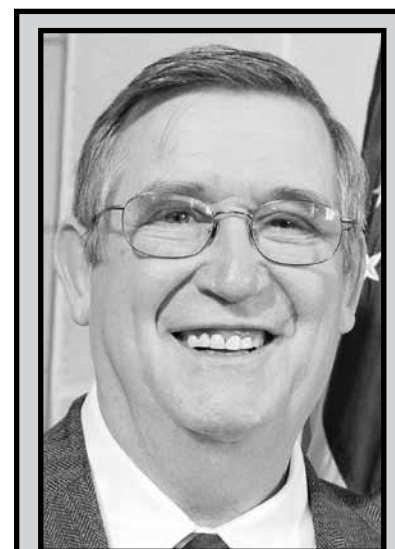

Another contact wanted to know if we could determine whether or not a portion of child support funds could be given directly to a dependent child, who would be a college freshman, in order to help defray the cost of higher education. Having contacted the Department of Health and Human Services Office in Lincoln, we were able to get a reply, again in a timely manner, but not necessarily the answer the caller had hoped for.

When we look into things there are no guarantees that the answer will be what the constituent wanted. Under current law, child support payments go to the custodial parent or guardian.

We received a call seeking information about financial assistance for our older population and this resulted in immediate connections with state agencies to this constituent and one-on-one assistance with filing the paperwork. Assistance is being provided to the caller and is well pleased with how efficient the process has been.

Catherine Lang, Commissioner, Nebraska Department of Labor (NDOL) and Director of Economic Development, shared the following release to constituents. This will be a direct quote from Ms. Lang's release; this is an NDOL program and I am simply passing along information to the few people in Nebraska who might be affected. "The Nebraska Department of Labor (NDOL) has announced several key dates in the 'phasing out' of the federally-funded (2008 recession) Emergency Unemployment Compensation (EUC) program. The week of June 17 through June 23, 2012 will be the last week in which claimants can exhaust ECU Tier 1 and establish eligibility for EUC Tier 2 benefits. Any EUC Tier 1 exhaustees after week ending June 23, 2012 will not be eligible to file a new EUC 2 claim, but claimants with any remaining balance payable in EUC Tier 2 after June 23, 2012 will be eligible for any remaining payment through the week ending Dec. 29, 2012. Effective the benefit week beginning Sept. 2, 2012, any new EUC Tier 1 claim will have a maximum number of weeks reduced from up to 20 weeks, to no greater than 14 weeks. EUC Tier 1 may be filed with an effective date of Dec. 23, 2012 but no benefits will be payable after Dec. 31, 2012." Commissioner Lang advised there are between 200 and 250 Nebraskans per week qualified in this program.

I was back in Lincoln on June 19 for a Health and Human Services (HHS) Committee meeting on the applications received for the Foster Care Advisory Committee which was established under Legislative action this past session.

With the warmer weather, there will be younger children out and about in your neighborhoods who may not take the utmost caution to avoid darting into streets, jumping into swimming pools, or climbing playground equipment. Please keep your eyes alert as these youngsters can move so fast. Take time, slow down and make this an enjoyable and safe summer in District 17.

Visit the Norfolk Arts Center

Dear Editor,
Have you ever noticed that striking building with the blue roof on North Fifth Street in Norfolk, about a block away from the post office? That is the Norfolk Arts Center. If you have never visited it, now would be a good time!

The featured exhibit, entitled "Watered Down," is the work of two artists: Susan Knight of Omaha, NE, and Suzan Shutan, from New Haven, CT. It is an amazing assemblage of colorful, shimmering art created from "repurposed, recyclable and natural materials."

The special gift of this collaborative artistic duo is that they have taken their concern about groundwater in Nebraska, infused it with scientific knowledge and transformed it into an artistic achievement that informs, involves and inspires.

There are no "Do Not Touch" signs in this exhibit. Children will enjoy walking under and through the 3-dimensional art. I thought it was a lot of fun to sweep my hand through hundreds of multi-colored, bobbing pompoms, representing water wells, festooned on a large map of Nebraska.

Also featured in the atrium of the Arts Center are selections from the 2011 Wayne State College Juried Student Show. These are works created by undergraduate students that have been selected by the WSC Art & Design faculty.

"Watered Down" will be at the Norfolk Arts Center through July 3. It is located at 305 N. 5th Street. The hours are: Tuesday – Friday, 9 – 5, and Saturday, 12 – 5. Next time you are over that way, be sure to check it out!! We are fortunate to have this wonderful little gem right in our own backyard!

Attendees will have the privilege of Jean Jensen telling the story of her Grandfather Doctor James P. Graham's life. He was a doctor in Allen, starting in 1905 and stayed 35 years. Also, the Allen Eastview Cemetery is celebrating its 130 years. Brad Kellogg will be telling the history of the Allen Cemetery from the time it began and up until today. Records have been kept all of the 130 years.

Allen Community Club

The Allen Community Club met June 18 at the gas station. Pres. Dean Chase called the meeting to order.

Members have been appointed for the digital sign committee. The end-of-summer potluck picnic will be Monday, Aug. 20 at 6:30 p.m. with the Community Club providing the paper products and drinks.

Senator Tyson Larson will be the guest speaker and will give an update of current legislation and answer questions. Everyone in the community is invited to the picnic. An evergreen tree will be moved to the northwest corner of the caboose.

Plans are for the Day Care to reopen and a clean-up day is being planned for volunteers to come and help clean. Further notice of that day will be publicized.

Northeast cultural exchanges lead to travel for students, visitors

As two Chinese visitors were unpacking in Burkhardt Hall at Northeast Community College recently, 12 Northeast students and three staff were packing for overseas travel.

International exchange programs are part of Northeast's Strategic Plan. Northeast President Michael R. Chippis, Ph.D., recently included global educational opportunities as one of Northeast's top eight priorities.

The two Chinese visitors from the Beijing Vocational College of Agriculture (BVCA) studied Nebraska water issues and the Northeast students visited London and Paris as an international study trip.

Faculty members Yang Shengmin and Su Chunhong, Ph.D., joined a Northeast Crops and Irrigation class taught by Michael Lechner. They spent nearly three weeks in Nebraska.

Lechner said Northeast's relationship with the Beijing Vocational College of Agriculture is important as China is a large consumer of agricultural goods produced in America. He said 25 percent of all soybeans produced in the country are bought by the Chinese.

Through an interpreter, Shengmin and Dr. Chunhong taught four lessons in Lechner's class on Chinese water quality and issues. They told the students that China does not have abundant water resources.

Lindsay Manufacturing, Lindsay; Tyson Foods, Madison; Central Valley Ag, Monroe; Producers Hybrids, Battle Creek; Laredo Ridge Wind Farm, Petersburg, Maricle Farms, Albion, and Roth Farms, Wisner, were among the places they visited. They also visited the Norfolk Waste Water Treatment facility because waste water treatment in China is challenging due to its large population.

Shengmin and Dr. Chunhong also attended a Norfolk church service and were dinner guests at the home of several present and past Northeast staff members. "They were fascinated with our American grills," Lechner said, "and really liked the food cooked on grill."

In a farewell letter to Dr. Chippis, Shengmin noted that in their visit of over 20 factories and farms, "they learned a lot, that the teaching process was rigorous, and teaching content very rich." She also noted, "the air here is fresh and people warm and hospitable."

Make your family time count

The key to family growth is for family members to spend time together talking, but in the past few years, research shows that the number of household conversations has decreased by 90 percent.

Staying connected may be as simple as just eating one meal a day together. However, the number of family meals have decreased by 33 percent. Instead of sitting down at the dinner table and talking about their days, family members now grab a quick bite to eat as they head off to soccer practice or one of the many activities that now seem to rule people's time.

That is why it is important to have positive, substantial conversation to help keep a family connected. Leave conversations about grocery shopping and bad test grades for another time. Instead, ask family members how their days were.

Families could even have a jar that members could put questions or topics in that they want to talk about during the meal; for example, maybe mom wants to know more about her daughter's new job. Pick a topic from the jar to start off the meal and then let the conversation go from there.

Sitting down for a full meal every day at home may not be possible, but having even a few minutes of substantial conversation will help bring a family closer together. Instead of rushing home from school, stop to get ice cream and share five minutes together.

While sharing a meal is important, families should try to find other time to spend together. As technology grows and vies for more of people's time, family members often disappear into different rooms after dinner to play video games or surf the Internet. Instead of going separate ways, get family members together in the same room and maybe play that video game together.

Technology can bring family members together instead of pulling them apart. The important thing is not what the family is doing but that the family is together, talking and having fun.

This was a regular meeting with election and installation of officers.

The opening prayer was given by President Beverly Etter, which was followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. The unit citation preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion Auxiliary was recited.

The minutes were read and approved. Treasurer Eveline Thompson gave the treasurer's report.

A letter from the American Legion Auxiliary indicated that the 92nd annual Convention will be held in Kearney June 28 - July 1 at the Ramada Inn. A children and youth luncheon will be held Friday, June 29 at 11:30 a.m.

The group updated the unit constitution by-laws and mailed them to department headquarters.

A letter was read from Andrea Lindner with her 2012 membership dues.

The next item of business was the election of officers for the 2012-2013 year. Members voted to keep the same officers for the coming year.

The installing officer was the Past District 3 President. She installed officers for the coming year.

VFW Auxiliary stresses Americanism

The Llewellyn B. Whitmore Post #5291 Ladies Auxiliary met June 11 at the Sunnyview Community Room.

President Glennadine Barker called the meeting to order. It was a regular meeting.

The opening ceremonies were conducted according to ritual. Chaplain Janet Fuoss was absent. In her absence, Darlene Elaine Draghu acted as pro-tem chaplain and gave the opening prayer.

Minutes were read and approved. Treasurer Elaine Thompson gave the treasurer's report.

Excerpts from "The Connection" indicated that the National Convention will be held in Reno, Nev. July 21-25. The Department School of Instruction will be held in Lincoln Aug. 11 at the Downtown Holiday Inn. There will also be a treasurer's training at the time to discuss all of the changes for the next year.

The auxiliaries are being encouraged to promote the Americanism program at every opportunity they can. Members are asked to continue to show patriotism for the United States of America. One of the most important ways to show patriotism is to fly the American flag on the following days: Flag Day (June 14), Independence Day (July 4) and Labor Day (Sept. 7). All were encouraged to fly the flag every day, not only on special occasions.

On Wednesday, July 25 the auxiliary will have a bingo and birthday party at the Norfolk Veterans Home at 2 p.m.

Closing ceremonies were conducted according to ritual. Chaplain Pro-tem Darlene Elaine Draghu gave the closing prayer.

The next meeting will be Monday, July 9 at the Sunnyview Community Room at 2 p.m. It will include a salad luncheon and all members are asked to bring a salad.

Glennadine Barker served lunch following the meeting.

COULD TMD BE CAUSING YOUR HEADACHE OR JAW PAIN?

TMD stands for temporomandibular disorder, or temporomandibular joint dysfunction. It is the medical term used for issues and a variety of problems caused by the TMJ. TMJ is shorthand for temporomandibular joint which is the ball-and-socket joint that connects the jaw to the skull just in front of the ear. TMD appears to be caused by a variety of different problems, including arthritis, trauma to the jaw, jaw clenching or stress, poor alignment of the teeth, and night time grinding of the teeth known as bruxism.

TMD can produce many symptoms, including:

- Pain or tenderness over the joint, especially when chewing, speaking, or opening the mouth wide, or the sensation that the jaw cannot move, open, or shut
- Clicking, popping, or cracking sounds when you chew or move the jaw
- Muscle spasms
- A sense that the teeth aren't in alignment
- Headaches and migraines

People suffering from TMD symptoms should see their dentist. Changes in diet and chewing habits, treatment of stress, correction of dental problems, and use of pain relievers and muscle relaxants can all be helpful. In certain cases a referral to a specialist may be given if the need arises for a more advanced method of treatment. We may also recommend an occlusal, or bruxism guard to help relieve the tension placed on the teeth during sleep at night. It is a plastic piece that fits over several or all of the teeth on the top or bottom and prevents the damage to the teeth and the stress on the muscles caused the grinding and clenching of the teeth. If you are having symptoms associated with TMD give us a call today! Our team is ready to help you.

FSA offers low interest farm storage facility loans

Nebraska Farm Service Agency (FSA) announced that producers considering expanding their farm storage should look into the FSA Farm Storage Facility Loan (FSFL) Program. FSA administers the program on behalf of the USDA Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC).

"Now that the 2012 crop is planted and growing, farmers may want to consider using USDA's Farm Service Agency facility loan program to build or improve their farm storage and handling facilities," noted FSA State Director Dan Steinkruger. "The facility loan program offers excellent terms and interest rates for those farmers wanting to make improvements to their farm operations."

The FSFL program provides low-interest financing for producers of eligible commodities to build or upgrade farm storage and handling facilities. The maximum loan amount is $500,000. Participants are required to provide a down payment of 15 percent, with CCC providing a loan for the remaining 85 percent of the net cost of the eligible storage facility and permanent drying and handling equipment. Loan terms of seven, 10 or 12 years are available depending on the amount of the loan. Interest rates for each loan term may be different and are based on the rate which CCC borrows from the Treasury Department. Seven year loans approved in June 2012 will have an interest rate of 1.25 percent.

The following commodities are eligible for farm storage facility loans:

- Corn, grain sorghum, rice, soybeans, oats, peanuts, wheat, barley or minor oilseeds harvested as whole grain;
- Corn, grain sorghum, wheat, oats or barley harvested as other-than-whole grain;
- Pulse crops - lentils, dry beans, small chickpeas and dry peas;
- Hay;
- Renewable biomass;
- Fruits (including nuts) and vegetables - cold storage facilities;
- Honey.

Applications can be obtained from the local FSA office. A facility loan must be approved before any site preparation or construction can begin. There is a $100 nonrefundable application fee per borrower.

Steinkruger added, "With the strong agriculture economy, building farm facilities compliments our ethanol industries, aids our international export policies and strengthens our overall economy."

Farmers with questions on facility loans should contact their local FSA office.

Additional information on the program is available at www.fsa.usda.gov.

Agriculture

Eating beef, watching baseball

It's Sunday eve, and we've just had a supper of meat loaf, mashed potatoes, cole slaw, and fruit cobbler. I work Monday and Tuesday this week, so need to have some leftovers that can be warmed up in a hurry. In the frig is a kettle of potato soup and some pork chops with potatoes that are also leftovers. Or, as I like to say "smorgasbord"!

In rereading last week's blurb, I see I kind of got on a roll there, about meat. I have an article on my desk from the Farm Bureau newsletter last fall that has more to say on the subject. (I know, why is it lying on my desk if it's six months old?) Well, I thought I might use it some day. Today's the day!

This particular article pushes back against something called "meatless Mondays". It says it's not a grassroots effort to celebrate healthy eating, but a well-funded radical campaign to promote false claims about animal agriculture.

It quotes something called Livestrong.com (isn't that Lance Armstrong's foundation?) in saying "A healthy diet includes a variety of meat and vegetables; both provide essential nutrients to support health and prevent illness."

From USA Today: new research shows you'll feel full longer and may get less hungry throughout the day if your first meal has protein rich foods such as eggs, Greek yogurt, low-fat dairy products or lean meat.

And from Women's Health magazine: Beef is the perfect muscle food because it's packed with protein and creatine, both of which build muscle, which acts like bubble wrap around tendons and joints. I've never heard it put that way before, but I like it!

Well, the College World Series will soon be history. We are rooting for the Gamecocks, mainly because brother Jim says we have to. We have actually been to the University of Arizona to watch baseball, several years ago. Mike has a cousin there whose grandson played shortstop for them. He's now coaching in the AAA league. I understand they have a new ball field since we were there; there was nothing wrong with the old one that I could see.

It sounds like our new ball park has been getting rave reviews, which is good, because it cost a lot of money. Amazingly, the Olympic swim trials begin in Omaha tomorrow. Today's paper illustrates how the pools are put together; I wish I could see it for real. It must be a lot of work.

Since both baseball teams and most of the swimmers and their entourage are staying at the Hilton, I hope they have better luck at getting into their rooms than I did a few years ago. I was there to start a convention, and the ball players had checked out that morning. It was 5 p.m. when I finally got into a clean room, and I missed the opening ceremony of the convention. And I wasn't the only one!

Anyway, I bet ALL the athletes are eating meat!

Deadlines near for 4-H information

The Wayne County Extension Office has issued a reminder to Wayne County 4-Hers.

The following information is due the UNL Extension Office in Wayne County by 5 p.m. on Tuesday, July 3:

- All Entries for Contest Day and Fair, except Floriculture and Horticulture;
- Favorite Foods Contest Entries;
- Presentation Contest Entries;
- Bonus Auction Forms;
- Bucket Calf Records;
- Shopping in Style & Attention Shoppers Fashion Show Records;
- Stall Reservations;
- Vaccination Records for cats and dogs

Anyone with questions in regard to these deadlines is asked to contact the Wayne County Extension Office at (402) 375-3310.

Upcoming deadline to report crops

Deadlines to report 2012 crop acreage to the Farm Service Agency (FSA) are nearing, according to Dan Steinkruger, Nebraska State Executive Director. Reporting acreage is critical to maintaining eligibility for multiple program benefits, including the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program (DCP), the Average Crop Revenue Election (ACRE), and the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP). Acreage reporting also establishes a record of cropping history for possible future program application.

June 30 is the final date to report small grains, including wheat, oats and rye. All other crops must be reported by July 15, 2012.

This includes CRP acres. Late-filed reports may be subject to the assessment of fees, and must be verified by field visit, or other acceptable documentation. It's important to accurately report the number of acres, crop type, intended use, irrigation practice, producer shares and planting date, as later revisions to this information may be restricted. Prevented planted acres should be reported within 15 days of the final planting date, and failed acres should be reported before disposition of the crop.

Producers are also advised that for 2013 and future years, November 15, 2012 will be the new deadline to report all fall-seeded small grains, forage crops (including pasture and rangeland), and apiculture.

Contact your local FSA county office for more information, or to make an appointment to certify 2012 acreage.

Hot weather affects corn

I have copied most of this from an article in CropWatch, (cropwatch.unl.edu) the University of Nebraska's online crop newsletter. The article was written by Tom Hoegemeyer, with Gary Zoubek, and Chuck Burr.

In all but replanted, and very late planted fields, we have already determined the number of kernel rows. (This usually occurs at about the 6- to 8-leaf stage). This year most areas had sufficient moisture, although in some parts of variable fields, you see corn plants "rolling" and looking gray in the afternoon. These stressed plants will likely produce ears with 12-14 rows, while the same hybrid with better moisture will produce 16-20 rows—a yield constraint by the time it is knee high.

Most fields are now at the 12-16 leaf stage and 10 or so days to tasseling emergence. The plants in these fields are in the process of determining number of kernels per row, and/or ear length. The more stress the plants feel, the fewer florets (potential seeds) will form lengthwise on the ear, resulting in fewer kernels. What happens to the developing florets now and until 10 days after pollination is absolutely critical to yield. Photosynthesis (sugar production) and making that sugar available to the florets of the ears at this stage will keep potential kernels from aborting. Drought stress will dramatically slow or even shut down photosynthesis. If you see severe leaf rolling, those leaves are not contributing to sugar production.

Ag Happenings

Because of the heat, the plants are growing extremely rapidly, and that rapid growth, along with high winds, is using an amazing amount of water, if it is available. (Many areas of the state, including northeast Nebraska, didn't accumulate much subsoil moisture over the winter/spring.) You can see daily estimates of crop water use, including estimates for the previous three and future three days, at <http://cropwatch.unl.edu/web/cropwatch/gdd-etdata>.

On extreme days, we will be using 0.4 to 0.5 inches per day in many locations. While we seldom have many consecutive days of extreme water use, we may have three to four extreme days before temperatures and wind speeds decrease, bringing ET rates back to more normal levels.

Remember that as the plants grow above the ground, the root system is expanding below the soil. When corn is at the 16-leaf stage, we recommend using a rooting depth of 2.5 ft to schedule irrigations. At the silk stage, use a rooting depth of 3 ft and at the blister stage, use 3.5 ft. With varying stored soil moisture, varying growth stages, and varying ET rates across the state, it is imperative to monitor soil moisture to schedule your irrigations.

When figuring your well's capacity, a good conversion factor to remember is that 450 gallons per minute applies 1 acre-inch of water every hour. If your well pumps 900 gpm, you are applying 2 acre-inches every hour. This equates to 144 acre-inches every three days. For a 133-acre pivot, you can apply about 1.1 inches of water every three days. Calculate your application capacity and keep in mind how much stored soil moisture you have when scheduling your next irrigation. In northeast Nebraska, we have plenty of room to store some water.

On dryland acres in Nebraska, we are already seeing crop damage in areas that missed out on the rains last week. Corn in these areas is showing reduced growth, both in height and leaf area. The worst spots are already turning brown and dying. Even if we get significant rain soon, we already have yield loss accumulating. If we see rains in these areas by tasseling, we can still get good silk emergence and yields. If not, yields will deteriorate rapidly. "Head high" corn can make over 150 bushels per acre if rainfall occurs before pollen shed. Total losses have been seen where it doesn't.

The "drought tolerant" hybrids may prove their worth, and all the breeding and improvement in silking vigor and pollen-silk interval apparent in most corn hybrids (compared to those available 20 years ago) will be invaluable this year.

No-till and minimum tillage techniques save a couple of inches of water, and may make the difference between a crop and no crop in these areas. In most areas of Nebraska it has been several years since we've had this level of stress. Moisture conservation practices, residue, crop rotation, weed control, and good long-term soil management may really pay off this year, IF it starts to rain again.

Nebraska's NRDs Celebrate 40 Years of Protecting Natural Resources

July 2012 marks 40 years of protecting lives, property and the future of natural resources for Nebraska's 23 Natural Resources Districts (NRDs).

Throughout 2012, the NRDs will be celebrating the success of projects and programs that help protect Nebraska's natural resources. NRDs are unique because they are governed by locally elected boards and Nebraska is the only state to have this system. A handful of board members, managers and staff have been a part of the system since the NRD creation in 1972.

Senator Maurice Kremer introduced and the Nebraska Legislature enacted Legislative Bill (LB) 1357 in 1969 to combine Nebraska's 154 special purpose entities into 24 Natural Resources Districts by July 1972. The original 24 NRDs' boundaries were organized based on Nebraska's major river basins which allows for better management practices to be applied to similar topography. In 1989, the Middle Missouri NRD and the Papio NRD were merged into one, becoming the Papio-Missouri River NRD which resulted in the current 23-NRD system.

"For the last 40 years, the 23 NRDs across the state have been addressing natural resources issues and concerns with local solutions," said Ron Bishop, who has been the manager for the Central Platte NRD in Grand Island since 1972. "Natural Resources Districts were created to solve flood control, soil erosion, irrigation run-off, and groundwater quantity and quality issues," Bishop added.

Nebraska's NRDs are involved in a wide variety of projects and programs to conserve and protect the state's natural resources. NRDs are charged under state law with 12 areas of responsibility including flood control, soil erosion, and groundwater management. "While all NRDs share the 12 main responsibilities, each district sets its own priorities and develops its own programs to best serve local needs and to protect Nebraska's natural resources for future generations" said Stan Staab, general manager for the Lower Elkhorn NRD in Norfolk.

NRDs are local government entities with broad responsibilities to protect our natural resources. Major Nebraska river basins form the boundaries of the 23 NRDs, enabling districts to respond best to local conservation and resource management needs. To learn more about Nebraska's NRDs visit www.nrdnet.org or the local NRD website at www.lenrd.org.

Wayne, Nebraska June 19, 2012

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:15 a.m. on Tuesday, June 19, 2012 in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse. Roll call was answered by Chairman Rabe, Members Wurdeman and Burbach, and Clerk Finn. Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on June 7, 2012. A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public. The agenda was approved. The minutes of the June 5, 2012, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record.

Bid specifications for the purchase of up to 50 two-way radios that meet the year 2013 federal regulations were reviewed with Emergency Manager Nic Kernnitz. Bids will be accepted until Tuesday, August 7 at 9:00 a.m. The use of county equipment at two recent fires was questioned. The county's LEOP (Local Emergency Operations Plan) states the county will support emergency responders when requested. The request must be made through the emergency manager, and only individuals with NIMS (National Incident Management System) training can be dispatched. County equipment was requested at the fires in question and assistance was dispatched. Rabe reported he is still waiting for verification of the legal description used on the plans for Winside South, a grading project in Section 23, Township 25N, Range 2E (the Rubeck road). The location of the road in comparison to the section line was discussed with Rubek's daughter, Linda Kirsch. Kirsch said the county has no right-of-way in the trees, and requested the survey records at the state depository be checked. She also advised the board that no demolition could take place because the location is on a Nebraska State Historical Site map.

Bids for Project C-90(573), Road 853 between 569 and 570 Avenue, and Project C-90(585) Road 858 between 576 and 577 Avenue, were received from Midwest Service and Sales Co., Contech Engineered Solutions, and B's Enterprises, Inc. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to accept the bid of $55,279.72 submitted by B's Enterprises, Inc. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried. Flood Plain Permit applications were signed for both projects. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to approve Resolution No. 12-08, requesting a design exception for Project C-90(572), Winside Southeast, Road 850 between 573 and 574 Avenue. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.

Resolution No. 12-08: WHEREAS, Wayne County intends to construct project C-90(572), Winside Southeast, which includes the replacement of a deficient bridge and roadway grading on 850 Road, between 573 Avenue and 574 Avenue, approximately 5.3 miles east and 2 miles south of Winside, Nebraska, and; WHEREAS, 850 Road, from State Highway 35 to State Highway 15, has a State Functional Classification "Collector" and has an estimated average daily traffic of less than 50 vehicles a day, and; WHEREAS, The Nebraska Board of Public Roads Classifications and Standards Minimum Design Standards requires a Rural Collector 3 (RC-3) Design Number which requires a minimum design speed of 40 mph, and; WHEREAS, The Nebraska Board of Public Roads Classifications and Standards requires a design exception if the minimum design requirements cannot be met, and; WHEREAS, To design for these standards would require a significant increase in grading, Right-of-Way and culvert expenses to achieve a design speed of 40 mph and would result in unnecessary hardship to the County and adjoining landowners and additional costs; NOW, therefore be it resolved, that the County Board of Commissioners of Wayne County, Nebraska: Hereby respectfully request the Board of Public Roads Classification and Standards grant a "Relaxation of Minimum Design Standards" for design speed from the required standard of 40 mph to 35 mph for the sag vertical curve at this project location.

An Interlocal Agreement between Wayne County and Dixon County for Project C-90(585) Wayne North, between Sec. 6-T26N-R4E and Sec. 31-T27N-R4E was reviewed. The preliminary engineering and materials costs will be split equally; Wayne County is responsible for 100% of construction costs. Motion by Burbach, second by Wurdeman to approve the agreement; roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried. Solicitation of paving bids for C-90(548) Wakefield East paving project was authorized on motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried. Bids will be opened on August 7 at 9:30 a.m. Continuance of the Noxious Weed Board was discussed. Burbach reported talking to the Weed Board during their June meeting, and three of the four members present said it was okay to place the dissolution question on the ballot. The fourth member was concerned if the commissioners could handle the additional tasks, and if they would actively pursue weed issues. A resolution that places the weed board dissolution question on the general election ballot will be considered during the July 3 commissioner meeting. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to reappoint Milton Owens to serve a five-year term on the Veterans Service Committee. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried. A request from the state patrol to open a satellite office in the old sheriff's office was discussed. Demolition of the office space has started, but it is not known when renovation will be complete. Sheriff Janssen has offered to provide a temporary location for the patrol. County

Attorney Mike Pieper will be asked to draft an agreement for the patrol's consideration.

Two liquor consumption area permit applications were received from the Wayne County Ag Society. A permit for a consumption area north of the grandstand during the tractor pull, bull riding, and demolition derby; and a permit for the mud drag consumption area during the mud drags were approved on motion by Burbach, second by Wurdeman. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to approve Resolution No. 12-09, to permit County Commissioners to perform services for the county in addition to their commissioner duties. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried. Resolution No. 12-09: WHEREAS, the Nebraska Legislature has enacted and the Governor has signed legislation relative to the interest of County officers in public contracts, and WHEREAS, members of the County Board of Commissioners on occasion engage in work for the County beyond their duties and responsibilities as County Commissioners for which they will receive a direct pecuniary fee or commission as a result of such work, and WHEREAS, members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners wish to enter into a contract with Wayne County to provide such services for the 2012-13 fiscal year. NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners that:

- 1. Any board member may enter into a contract with Wayne County during the 2012-13 fiscal year for the furnishing of services beyond the statutory responsibilities and duties as County Commissioner. 2. Such commissioner entering into such agreement shall comply with the statutes relating to interest in public contracts, Section 49-14, 103.01, et seq. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to approve commissioner employment contracts at an hourly rate of $8.00, not to exceed $3,000.00 during the fiscal year. Concentrated Animal Feeding Operation.

Wurdeman will check in to quotes for replacing the roof on the Health & Human Services building, and quotes for renovation of the old Sheriff's office. Refinishing of the steps in the primary stairwells of the courthouse is complete. After visiting with Bob Rotherham of Rotherham Custom Woods and Employers Mutual Insurance Company the board decided not to install stair treads. The board agreed to a year-end transfer of unexpended funds from County Road and Bridge functions 705, 706 & 707 to Snow Removal and Equipment Fund. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to adopt Resolution No. 12-10; roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried. Resolution No. 12-10: WHEREAS, on June 5, 1990 the Wayne County Board of Commissioners created and established the Snow Removal and Equipment Fund; and WHEREAS, said Board on said date provided that the revenues of the Snow Removal and Equipment Fund should consist of cash transfers of unexpended funds from the County Road and Bridge Fund; and WHEREAS, this is the last Commissioners meeting for the 2011-12 fiscal year and unexpended funds in the County Road and Bridge Fund exist, NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners that the following amounts be transferred from the County Road and Bridge Fund to the Snow Removal and Equipment Fund: District #1 - $144,334.45; District #2 - $87,534.21; District #3 - $205,132.06. GUIDE TO THE 4th

Be safe with fireworks this season

Fireworks look beautiful in the night sky, but have the potential to be dangerous.

Fireworks are synonymous with summer. They mark special occasions, festivals and warm-weather holidays like Independence Day. When handled by professionals, fireworks can be quite the spectacle. However, if lit by amateurs, fireworks can be very risky.

Though they offer awe-inspiring views, fireworks can be dangerous. According to data collected in 2008 by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, an estimated 7,000 people in the United States were treated in emergency rooms for injuries sustained from fireworks during the period of June 20 to July 20, 2008. Nearly half of all people injured were children under the age of 15. Most injuries occurred to young people under the age of 20.

The Canadian Hospitals Injury Reporting and Prevention Program states that fireworks injuries often occur around the injured patients' homes. and fireworks injuries require hospitalization far more often than injuries that do not involve fireworks.

All types of fireworks have inherent danger, even sparklers. Sparklers burn at more than 1,000 F and can ignite clothing very quickly. Those who take an active roll in the lighting and shooting of fireworks are more prone to injury. The most common injuries include burns, injuries to the eyes from cuts and foreign objects lodged in the eyes.

Although fireworks injuries are common, they also are largely preventable. The following are a few safety tips aimed at helping people avoid injury when enjoying fireworks displays.

- Keep your distance. It is important for all people watching fireworks to keep their distance from the explosives. Even the best-made fireworks can sometimes veer off course and fly into spectators. The further the distance away, the better chance for safety.
- Avoid amateurs. Professional fireworks companies know the ins and outs of fireworks and often have safety procedures in place. Fireworks may be ignited remotely by a computer or an electronic fuse device, keeping people away from ground zero. An amateur may not have the dexterity or skills to get away from the lit firework in time. When enjoying fireworks, just make sure the person putting on the show is a professional.
- Exercise caution around fireworks. Some people construct their own fireworks from spare parts or try to up the ante by adding an accelerant to achieve a bigger boom. These practices are dangerous and can lead to highly unpredictable explosions. It's never good to make your own fireworks show, but if you find yourself at a party where someone is experimenting with fireworks, exercise extreme caution.

Fireworks can be a fun spectacle when handled by professionals in a safe manner. Families can consider watching a city- or town-sponsored fireworks display instead of risking injury with at-home pyrotechnics.

Immunization clinic to be held in Wayne

Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership (NENCAP), formerly known as Goldenrod Hills Community Action will hold the Wayne Immunization Clinic on Tuesday, July 3.

The Immunization Clinic hours will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. United Methodist Church, 516 N. Main Street in Wayne.

For an appointment please call (402) 385-6300.

NENCAP's Health Services Program will provide lead screening to children 12 months to 5 years of age at the Immunization Clinics for a fee of $10. Children may get lead poisoning from paint of homes built before 1978, tap water, food, pottery, dirt, dust and even from the air we breathe. Elevated blood levels can cause irreversible damage to the brain and nervous system; it can harm the kidneys and digestive system; and because lead reduces the ability for the body to produce red blood cells, it can cause anemia. Children with elevated blood levels of 10 or higher may suffer dulled hearing, stunted growth, reduced eye-hand coordination, behavioral problems and delayed learning skills.

The Immunization Clinic is open to the public, and there are no income guidelines. Each child should be accompanied by the parent or guardian. Past immunization records are required. Proxy forms are needed when a parent or legal guardian is unable to accompany the child to clinic. Proxy forms may be obtained by contacting the Pender office at (402) 385-6300. A suggested donation of $20 per child would be appreciated to help defray administrative costs. If a child only receives one immunization, then the suggested donation is $13.50. No one will be denied immunizations for inability to make a donation.

Immunizations are needed at ages: 2 months, 4 months, 6 months, 12-15 months, and 4-6 years. This project is supported in part by Federal Immunization Program Funds awarded to Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership by the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services. The Immunization Program is also partially funded by the Pfizer Foundation.

Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership, in conjunction with the Nebraska Health & Human Services Vaccines for Children

Program, offers Menactra (meningitis) for 11-18 year olds, Tdap (tetanus with pertussis) for 7-18 year olds, Hepatitis A for 12 months to 18 year olds, RotaTeq (rotavirus) for infants, and Gardasil for VFC eligible 11-18 year olds, as well as other recommended childhood vaccines. The Influenza vaccine is now available for VFC eligible children 6 month-18 years.

Adult vaccine (MMR, Hepatitis A, Hepatitis B, Tdap, TB testing) is available to the public for a mandatory fee at all immunization clinics to anyone 19 years or older. These fees cover the cost of the vaccine. Call the Pender office at (402) 385-6300 for more information.

Operation Great Start (OGS) information will be available at the Immunization Clinic this program provides education and resources to expecting mothers and mothers with children up to 12 months old. OGS works to provide services to families and children in Northeast Nebraska to ensure and strengthen their well being.

Entrepreneurs

Each year the school age children at Rainbow World have a hot dog/Sloppy Joe fundraiser as part of their Entrepreneur Week. With the money they receive, they make a donation to another non-profit organization in the community and use the rest for summer activities. This year the school-agers have decided to make a donation to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.

Cheering them on

Children in Kristine Niemann's daycare took time last week to cheer on the bike riders in the Tour de Nebraska group as they came up Highway 15 into Wayne. The children took lawn chairs out to the edge of the yard and cheered each person and group of riders as they passed. They even got a response from a group of guys wearing tiger striped shirts with black pants. "Cheerleaders" included Korrina and Lindsay Niemann, Skylar and Sierra Mutchler and Brogan Foote.
