Wayne to give back CDBG funding to state

Loss of local control noted with return of federal funds to DED this September

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The recently-opened Cobblestone Hotel and Suites in Wayne is a product of a federally-funded program that the city of Wayne will no longer be able to utilize.

In fact, if you drive around town, you'll find a number of businesses have benefitted in some way from the Community Development Block Grant program, as more than 40 businesses in town have taken advantage of federal funds since the program began here in 1988.

That option will soon be history, however, as the Nebraska Department of Economic Development (DED) is asking cities to return their CDBG funds to allow the state to better monitor the use of federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) funds the state receives.

Since first utilizing the funds, the city of Wayne has rolled its initial allotment of $575,000 into more than $2.3 million in loans. The city currently has a little more than $330,000 available and about $590,000 in current loans that will have to be returned to the state by early September.

There are about 80 communities in the state of Nebraska that make use of the CDBG funding, and those communities will have until Sept. 5 to return their money to the state. The cities recently got a 60-day extension after concerns were raised about the sudden announcement by the DED that the funds would need to be returned.

Wayne finance director Nancy Braden, however, knew the day was going to come when the state would ask for the money to be returned.

"They (the state) had been telling us for years that HUD might require states to better monitor these funds, so this wasn't anything I didn't already know," she said. "Some cities are saying this is new and they didn't know it, but if they went to any DED training sessions, this stuff was mentioned there."

The DED, noting more stringent federal regulations that were adopted earlier this year, has urged cities to end their revolving loan programs and send any unloaned money back to the states. The DED plans on transferring those funds to non-profit development organizations (NDO), such as Northeast Nebraska Economic Development District, for redistribution to communities in the state's eight NDO regions.

Ultimately, that decision to send the money back to the state will have to be made by the Wayne City Council, but Braden said the city really has no choice but to send the money back.

As for the outstanding loans, the city has some options, including having the state collect the payments or forgiving the loans altogether, Braden said.

"There are some legalities over what we would have to do with each option, and I won't speak for the Council as to what they will ultimately do," she said. "What they're going to do with the future payments will be the big question."

The loss of these CDBG funds doesn't mean the end of economic development in Wayne, however.

Community Development Block Grant funding has made projects like the recently-opened Cobblestone Inn and Suites Hotel possible in Wayne. The city is losing those funds thanks to a request from the state to return the federal funds.

Area Economic Development, said the options to receive the money are still available, and moving the money to a regional entity might actually make more money available for future business.

"The options will still be there, but we'll lose local control of the funds," he said. "On the other hand, the pool could be larger, so we may be able to request additional funding. But for now, it's hard to comment on it until we know the exact specifications of how funding will work."

In the past, accessing those funds was a fairly easy process for would-be business interests to move or expand operations in

Board gets update on construction projects, sets date for open house

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

Volunteers, teachers and the maintenance staff were praised for their work in moving the remodel/ building project forward at the Wayne Elementary School and Wayne Junior-Senior High School during Monday's regular meeting of the Wayne Community School's Board of Education.

Construction crews are continuing to install sheet rock in both buildings and plan to install carpet and flooring in the next two weeks. Due to the need to remove asbestos that was found in the administrative area of the high school, additional time may be needed to complete that portion of the project.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan told the board that a dedication ceremony has been set for Monday, Aug. 20 at 6 p.m. at the north entry to the high school. He noted that this was a week later than the tentative date set at last month's board meeting, but felt that because of a planned open house for parents and students at the schools that same time, the Aug. 20 date would be a good time to conduct the dedication ceremony.

Discussion was held on the requirements for hiring an executive director for the Wayne Community Schools Foundation. An Agenda Item Management (AIM) document was presented to board members for their review prior to taking action on the item at the Aug. 13 board meeting.

Board members discussed the substitute teacher pay for the 2012-2013 school year. Lenihan recommended the district maintain the current rate of $95 per day. Board member Rod Garwood suggested raising the amount to $100, stating, "These people are important to us. I believe this is a question of fairness."

Following discussion the board voted to maintain the current rate of $95 per day and re-visit the issue again next year.

The board will next meet in regular session on Monday, Aug. 13 at 5 p.m. at the high school. The exact location of the meeting at the school will be determined at a later date.

Historical book about church returns to Wayne

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

A "Pastor's Complete Handbook and Register" has made its way back to the First Baptist Church in Wayne.

While that might not seem like an unusual statement, the fact that this book belonged to Pastor J.F. Heilner, who was the pastor at the church from December of 1881 to May of 1884, makes the return somewhat more amazing.

Last fall, Holly Long of Lancaster, Penn., found a number of old books in a "free box" at a yard sale near her home.

Having an interest in old books, she chose several written in the 19th century.

While going through her treasurers, she discovered the pastor's handbook and, af-

Kutnink is honored

Peter Raun of the University of Nebraska at Omaha and Amber Kutnink of Wayne State College were both honored as national officers during the recent National Leadership Conference held in San Antonio, Texas. Raun was elected Mountain Plains Vice President, while Kutnink was appointed as the national parliamentarian based on having the highest score among national parliamentarian candidates. She is also the Nebraska Phi Beta Lambda chapter's state vice president of finance. The two will be among nine new officers who will train later this month in Reston, Va.

Grace Heithold chosen for Leadership Conference

Grace Heithold, a seventh grade student at Wayne Middle School, was one of over 250 outstanding middle school students from across the United States who was able to take part in a leadership conference in Washington, D.C.

Themed "Voices of Leadership: Reflecting on the Past to Create the Future," the Junior National Young Leaders Conference (Jr.NYLC) introduces young people to the rich tradition of leadership throughout American history, while helping them to develop their own leadership skills.

Grace was nominated by Joyce Hoskins, a teacher at Wayne Middle School. She was one of two Nebraska students who were a part of the group.

"I learned a lot during the trip. It was fun meeting people from all over the country," Grace said.

"I also learned about the things people in other parts of the country do differently than people do here in Nebraska," she added.

"The aim of the Junior National Young Leaders Conference is to inspire students to recognize their own leadership skills, measure their skills against those of current and former leaders and return home with new confidence in their ability to exercise positive influence within their communities," said Marguerite Regan, Ph.D., Dean of Academic Affairs for the Congressional Youth Leadership Council (CYLC) the organization that sponsors Jr.NYLC. "Young people are not only welcome in Washington, D.C. they actually keep this city and our country running."

During the six-day program, students take part in educational activities and presentations and explore relevant sites such as Harpers Ferry National Historical Park, West Virginia and Washington, D.C.'s museums and memorials.

In addition to examining notable U.S. leaders and historic figures, students study the impact of leadership throughout critical periods of American history, including the Civil War and Reconstruction,

World War II, the Great Depression and the Civil Rights Movement. Upon completion of Jr.NYLC, students will have gained a better sense of the role of individuals in American democracy, as well as the responsibilities of being a leader.

West Nile Virus noted in tests done in four Nebraska counties

Mosquitoes in Adams and Sheridan counties tested positive for West Nile Virus, and so have birds in Madison and Phelps counties, according to the Nebraska Health and Human Services (DHHS).

"The virus will show up in more parts of the state as summer progresses so it's important for people to avoid mosquito bites," said Dr. Joann Schaefer, the state's chief medical officer and director of public health for DHHS.

Schaefer suggested these tips for avoiding contact with mosquitos that might carry the West Nile Virus:

- Use mosquito repellent containing DEET, picaridin, oil of lemon eucalyptus, or IR3535.
- Dress in long-sleeved shirts, pants and socks when you're outside.
- Dusk and dawn are times when mosquitoes are most active. Limit outdoor activities.
- Drain standing water around your home. Standing water and warmth breeds mosquitoes.

West Nile is transmitted to people through the bite of a mosquito that picked up the virus by feeding on an infected bird. So far this year, there are no human cases of West Nile Virus.

Most people who are infected by a mosquito have no symptoms or only mild flu-like symptoms. About one out of 150 people infected with West Nile Virus become severely ill. However, people over 50 and those with weakened immune systems are especially vulnerable to the disease and are more likely to experience serious consequences.

West Nile fever includes flu-like symptoms such as fever and muscle weakness. Symptoms of the more serious West Nile encephalitis include inflammation of the brain, disorientation, convulsions and paralysis.

DHHS tests mosquitoes and birds to determine the level of virus in the state. With the assistance of local health departments, DHHS is collecting and testing dead birds.

To report dead birds, contact your local health department. To find your department, go to dhhs.ne.gov/publichealth/Pages/wnv_contacts.aspx.

Community Theatre 'Spelling' out its summer production July 19-22

Wayne Community Theatre will present its summer musical, "The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee" July 19-22 at the Majestic Theatre on the Dr. Tom Cook Memorial Stage.

The play will be presented on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m. and on Sunday at 2 p.m. It includes music and lyrics by William Finn, based on the book by Rachel Sheinkin, conceived by Rebecca Feldman

"The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee" is a Tony-award-winning comedic musical about six young people in the throes of puberty, overseen by grown-ups who barely managed to escape childhood themselves. Throughout the course of the bee, they learn that winning isn't everything and that losing doesn't necessarily make you a loser," said Mollie Spieker, director of the show.

She also said she has been wanting to direct this show since she first read it years ago. "We wanted to put on something slightly edgy and different; something that would challenge our audiences and be fun, too. This summer we're hosting the Missoula Children's Theatre Caravan in August, which will provide a great opportunity for young actors here in Wayne to participate in a family-friendly show. 'Spelling Bee' is our offering for older audiences," Spieker said.

"Although there's nothing graphic or disturbing, there is a bit of adult language and some more mature themes. In any case, the show is a huge amount of fun and we've had a great time putting it together."

Mark Kanitz, music director of the show, has assembled a small pit orchestra that will play during the show.

A unique aspect of the show is that it relies upon four audience volunteers during each performance who participate as additional spellers in the bee for the first half of the show. The audience-spellers are guided by the actors and even participate in some of the songs.

"The audience volunteers don't have to do much . . . just get up there and be a little silly. They don't have to be great spellers to be part of the show," Spieker said.

Tickets for the evening performances can be purchased at State National and First National Banks. The Sunday matinee show will be for a freewill donation with only the first 180 people let in the doors. The show is funded in part by the Nebraska Arts Council and Wayne United Way.

ter doing some computer research, determined that the book belonged to the pastor that started the First Baptist Church in Wayne, Neb.

"I have no idea how the book got to Pennsylvania. My husband, Chris, and I have tried to research the pastor's name but haven't had a lot of luck finding anything about him," Holly said.

She did contact former mayor Lois Shelton and the Wayne County Museum and left a message with the church.

She then got in contact with Amy Riesberg, a member of First Baptist Church, who was slightly skeptical at first.

"I wasn't sure at first. I thought maybe she (Holly) wanted us to pay to get the book back. We are a small congregation and don't have a lot of money," Riesberg said.

However, Holly said she wanted nothing for the book, but instead wanted the church to have the book back.

"It's your book and your history. It belongs here," she said.

Holly and Chris then began making plans to travel to Wayne to see the church and visit with congregation members.

"We could have mailed it to Wayne, but instead we worked it out that so that we could come to Nebraska and meet with Amy. We have never been to Nebraska before, and are amazed by the countryside. We have nothing like this in our area of Pennsylvania," Chris said.

The records at First Baptist Church indicate that Pastor Heil-ner was an organizer of the church here in Wayne. This may have been his first pastoral assignment. Notes in the book the Longs brought to Wayne indicate he served at a congregation in Iowa after leaving Wayne.

The Longs spent several days visiting the community and with members of First Baptist Church before heading back to their home in Pennsylvania.

Wayne. The business and industry committee would hear the company's pitch, their approval would be sent to the City Council for approval and the city would follow up with the paperwork.

In the past, a business could come to the committee meeting, state its case and have an answer locally," Blecke said. "Now, we'll have to apply to a regional pool of funds, perhaps controlled by Northeast Nebraska Economic Development in Norfolk, and we'd have to apply to them for the funds. They are a great partner with us and we have a great relationship with them, but we would then be competing with other counties in the district for those funds."

At this point, though, Braden is skeptical of just how much of Wayne's money will be available to the city with the state redistributing the money to regional NDO's.

"It might end up in the state's coffers for other programs the state is administering," she said. "They're saying it will come back to the region, but until they have it in an action plan, there's no guarantee."

Not a job for just anybody

They're housewives and shop foremen. They're college students and bartenders. They're the big brother and the older sister. They're young adults who want to stay involved in the games they've played, and they're the older folk who can't remember the last summer they weren't at the ballpark six nights a week. And they coach your kid every summer. The Bleacher Bum has had the pleasure of being a Little League, softball and youth football coach during the course of his adult years. I've walked sidelines calling plays and flashed delayed steal signs from the third-base coaches box, so I have some first-hand knowledge of what the adults coaching your kids' teams are up to during the summer. It looks like an easy job - hit some batting practice, tell kids to run here or do this or that, and occasionally yell at the umpire when he makes a bad call (Oh, and there's juice and cookies after every game - you can't beat that deal).

Ahh, but there's more than what you see on the field every evening.

There's trying to organize practices and make sure a field is available. There's scheduling around families' vacations, communicating with other coaches in the league, organizing rides to the away games, trying to figure out who stays in which hotel room for the long tournament weekends, making sure all the equipment is in good shape . . . Oh, and they have to do all of this, and more, while working a full-time job. That means making sure business is taken care of, all the honey-do stuff is taken care of at home and the boss is OK with you taking an afternoon off every so often for that weekend trip to North Platte or Kansas City.

And let's be honest - what the coaches are getting paid isn't anywhere near the kind of money they're getting paid in the big leagues. In fact, for many coaches it's a volunteer thing where it actually costs them money for gas, travel, food and other expenses. The local rec organization might help out with some expenses, but odds are good the ol' checkbook gets a good workout during the months of June and July. So why do they do it? Simple - because they love the game, they love helping others, and they enjoy working with kids. You can't be a youth sports coach if you don't have those three things working in your favor. It's a job that almost anybody can do - but it's not a job for just anybody.

Wayne State President Curt Frye said he wasn't going to waste a lot of time hiring Eric Schoh's replacement as athletic director.

Boy, he wasn't kidding. It took a little more than a month from Schoh's last day on the job before the college announced the hiring Tuesday of Mike Powicki to take over the athletic department.

Unfortunately, I was on vacation while the four finalists for the position were in town two weeks ago. However, gauging from the comments I heard from people who talked with the candidates, Powicki stood out as the best of the bunch, and now he'll become the newest AD at Wayne State when he begins his work here on Monday, July 23. Hopefully, Powicki has a good sense of humor, as I'm sure he's going to get a little ribbing about his being a graduate of the University of Iowa (I will personally make every effort to avoid telling all my Iowa football jokes in his presence during his first season here). With his ties to Mankato and Upper Iowa, he has a strong grasp of what the Northern Sun Conference is about and shouldn't have any trouble getting used to our rivalries with schools like Augustana and his former employers in Mankato.

Powicki named new Wayne State AD

Powicki

Wayne State's new athletic director will follow the lead of his predecessor and move within the Northern Sun Conference to lead another school's athletic department.

President Curt Frye announced Tuesday afternoon that Mike Powicki will be the new director of athletics at Wayne State College, replacing Eric Schoh, who resigned two months ago to take a similar position at Winona State University.

Powicki comes to Wayne State from Minnesota State University in Mankato, where he has been assistant director of athletics since 2008. He was assistant athletic director for marketing and cooperate partnerships from 2008-2010, and has since served as assistant director of athletics for development and strategic partnerships.

"Mike Powicki is an impressive young man who brings a good deal of experience to the department," Frye said. "His past experiences as well as his performance in them made him a great candidate."

Powicki is excited about the new challenge that awaits him at Wayne State.

"My family and I are extremely excited about the opportunity to join Wayne State College and the Wildcat Athletics family," said Powicki. "The college and athletic department have excellent staff in place in a supportive community and I am looking forward to getting to work and being a part of the great things that are going on at Wayne State."

While at Mankato, Powicki was responsible for successfully developing and executing the annual athletics department revenue generation plan for $1.7 million, providing overall leadership and management of the revenue generation, development and marketing operations and budget, supervised athletic department marketing and revenue generation staff and worked with local and regional media groups to purchase and produce marketing and advertising for the athletic department.

Prior to his duties at Mankato, Powicki was the associate director of athletics for external affairs at Upper Iowa from 2004-2008.

Powicki, who begins his duties at Wayne State on Monday, July 23, is a graduate of the University of Iowa with a degree in exercise science. He earned his masters degree in exercise and sport science/sport administration from Wisconsin-La-Crosse in 2004.

Powicki and his wife, Liesel, have two daughters, Faith and Elle. An open house to welcome the family will be held sometime in August.

Bradley Longe gets the offense rolling for the Wayne Seniors during the championship game of the Ralph Bishop League tournament Sunday at Hank Overin Field.

Seniors fall in RBL finals

The Wayne American Legion Seniors reached the finals in defense of last year's Ralph Bishop League championship, but it was not meant to be this summer.

West Point took advantage of three early errors, then held off a late rally to claim the league's tournament title with a 7-3 win over Wayne Sunday evening at Hank Overin Field.

The top-seeded Wayne squad won their way into the finals with an 11-0 shutout of Wakefield and a 12-4 win over Pierce in the division finals before losing to drop to 21-6 on the season.

In action Thursday at Wisner,

Gage Rethwisch tossed a no-hitter, striking out 10 to help Wayne to the easy win.

Wayne pounded Wakefield early in the game, scoring three in the first and breaking the game open with a six-run second inning. That was more than enough for the senior right-hander, who faced only three beyond the minimum with a walk and two hit batters.

Offensively, Rethwisch had three of the team's 10 hits, while Trent Beza and Miles Anderson each had two hits. Bradley Longe, Joey Lenihan and Danny Melena also added hits, and Anderson had four RBI's in the win.

Wayne advanced to the conference finals in convincing fashion Saturday at Hank Overin Field, pounding Pierce for seven runs in the first frame and adding three more in the fourth to put the game out of reach.

The Wayne Seniors had nine hits in the game, highlighted by two-hit efforts from Longe and Rethwisch. Drew Carroll had a double, Corey Doorlag scored three times and Lenihan and Rethwisch both scored twice.

Lenihan pitched five solid innings for the Wayne Seniors, scattering four hits and three walks. See SENIORS, Page 2B

Juniors suffer first-round upset in RBL tourney

WISNER - The Wayne American Legion Juniors fell victim to the upset bug in the quarterfinals of the Ralph Bishop League tournament last week, dropping a 5-4 decision to Wisner in a Thursday afternoon matchup.

The Wayne Juniors staked themselves to a 3-0 lead in the third inning, but Wisner bounced back and scored three runs in the top of the sixth to take a 4-3 lead, then broke a 4-4 tie with a run in the seventh to send the top-seeded Wayne team down to defeat.

Wayne got on the board in the bottom of the second when Grant Anderson reached on an infield steal, stole second and advanced to third on an error. He scored when he and Ramsey Jorgensen executed a double steal, giving Wayne the 1-0 advantage.

Wayne would make it 3-0 in the third when Anderson slashed a single down the left field line, scoring Dylan Sokol. Jake Belt later came home on a groundout by Wyatt Biggerstaff to plate Wayne's second run of the inning.

Wisner got a run in the top of the fourth before Anderson pitched out of a bases-loaded situation, and the score stayed 3-1 until the sixth, when Wisner got an unearned run and took the lead with a two-run double for a three-run outburst that gave them a 4-3 advantage.

Wayne came back to tie the game when Biggerstaff reached on a fielder's choice and eventually came around to score on an error. Wayne had a chance to take the lead in the bottom of the sixth, but were unable to plate the go-ahead run.

In the top of the seventh, Wisner got a pair of key two-out hits, turning a double and a single into the winning run, sending Wayne into the consolation bracket.

On Friday, early errors allowed Wakefield to take the lead early, and they would go on to post an 8-2 win over the Wayne Juniors. Anderson had three hits in the losing effort and Belt worked the first three innings to take the loss.

The Wayne Juniors are 12-10 heading into postseason play. They will compete in the Class B, Area 5 tournament that gets under way this weekend in Albion.

The Juniors start tournament play on Friday at 8 p.m., facing Pierce in first-round action in the double-elimination tournament. A win puts them into a Saturday evening matchup against top-seeded Albion, while a loss sends them to a losers bracket matchup on Sunday evening.

18-under Devils finish fifth at state tourney

NORTH PLATTE - The Wayne Dirt Devils 18-under team capped off an exciting summer of action with a fifth-place finish in the Nebraska Softball Association Class B state tournament.

The Devils opened the tournament Friday with a 4-3 win over the Nebraska Gators. The Devils made the most of their offensive opportunities, highlighted by a Caitlin Fehringer home run. Victoria Kranz had a double and a triple and scored two runs with an RBI, Emily Leeper had two singles and a run scored, along with an RBI; and Lauren Gilliard had an RBI single. Kristin Carroll got the win in the pitcher's circle.

On Saturday, Wayne posted a 5-2 win over Arlington, as Carroll again did the job in the pitcher's circle.

She got offensive support from Fehringer, who was 3-for-3 with a homer. McKenna Gibson had two hits, including a double, and Abbie Hix had a pair of doubles.

The Devils lost a heartbreaker to the Seward Starz later in the day, dropping a 6-5 decision in eight innings. Fehringer was 2-for-4 in the game, while Jalyn Zeiss added a triple in a losing effort.

On Sunday, the Devils ended their tournament title hopes with a 13-3 loss to the Nebraska Gators.

While they were unable to finish as state champs, the Devils had an outstanding summer, winning tournaments in Wayne and Vermillion and winning the South Dakota USSSA state tournament. They also placed third in a tournament at Norfolk.

Didgets White team wins Wisner tourney

The Wayne 10-under White Didgets team took first-place honors in a tournament at Wisner recently.

The Didgets beat Fremont to open the tournament. Jacob Kneiff pitched well and struck out six in five innings before Josh Lutt came on to close the game with two strikeouts. Reid Korth threw out three baserunners at catcher. Kneiff had two hits and Kallen Herman added two hits.

In the next game, Wayne beat Wisner behind a good pitching effort from Trevor DeBoer, who struck out six. Isaac Braun had three hits, including a triple. Herman hit a two-run homer and Gunnar Jorgensen had a double and a triple.

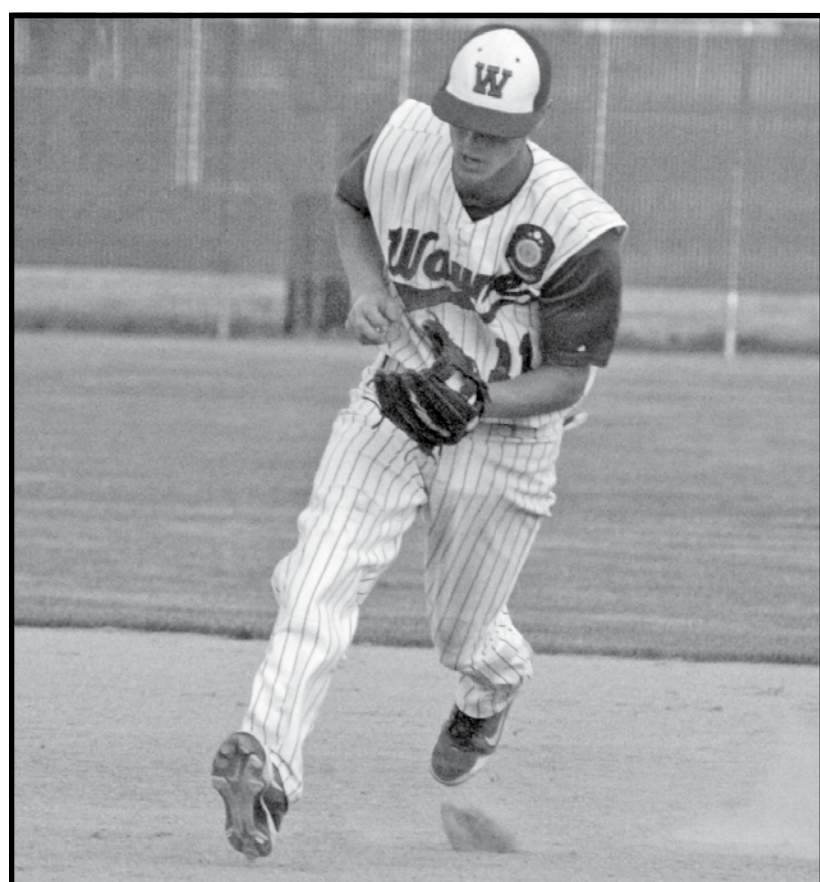

Wayne beat Oakland 4-3 in the championship game. Josh Lutt struck out nine before Kneiff came on in relief and pitched the final inning. Wayne trailed 3-2 before a two-run triple by Jonah Brodersen scored the winning runs.

In league tournament action, Wayne beat the Oakland Royals 17-0. Brodersen and Korth combined to strike out nine in the shutout. Korth also threw out three baserunners while playing catcher.

On Tuesday, the Didgets dominated West Point Royals in a 15-1 win. Korth and Jorgensen both hit home runs, with Lutt and Trevor DeBoer each recording three hits. Lutt struck out nine and Nolan Hunke added five strikeouts.

Fish salvage extended

The portion of the Platte River open to fish salvage has been extended upstream. It now includes the river from U.S. Highway 183 near Elm Creek downstream to its confluence with the Loup River below the U.S. Highway 81 bridge south of Columbus. That portion of the river is experiencing a fish die-off due to low water flows and high water temperatures. Several species of fish have been found dead and dying.

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission will allow the harvest of stranded fish of all species in the designated area by any method, except electricity, explosives, poisons, chemicals, other fish toxicants, firearms, and seines or nets other than legal baitfish seines, dip, or landing nets through July 31.

Other legal methods of fishing include snagging, hand fishing, spearing and archery. All daily bag limits will be maintained, but length limits will be rescinded for this area.

Seniors

Wayne couldn't get things going early on in the finals Sunday, and West Point took advantage of some defensive miscues to score four runs in the third and take control of the game.

Wayne made a stand in the sixth, scoring three runs. Rethwisch broke the ice with a run-scoring single with the bases loaded, and Melena followed with a two-run single to give the locals some hope.

Lenihan had two of Wayne's seven hits in the game. Doorlag was roughed up for five runs, three of them earned, in three innings of work before Beza came on in relief.

The 21-6 Seniors close out the regular season with a nine-inning game at South Sioux City on Friday before competing in Class B, Area 5 tournament action next week in Central City.

Don't get me started

Watch out for loaded bratwurst

It's Chicken Days weekend here in our little corner of the world, so it seems only fitting that we pluck some oddball items and crack a few rotten eggs in a little thing I like to call the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— From the "Careful, pal, this bratwurst could go off at any time" department: a Massachusetts man was charged with armed robbery after he attacked another man with a wrench and stolen sausage links.

The armed attacker took another man's bike, swinging the sausages at his attacker before hitting him with the wrench.

The thief was later found by authorities with the bike and the wrench, but the wieners were nowhere to be found. There's no word on whether the guy was able to post bail in time for the recent National Hot Dog-Eating Contest.

— A group of teenage girls at a private school in Canada were members of the audience in an end-of-school-year program featuring a young hypnotist who unwittingly put them in a trance he couldn't get them out of.

School authorities brought the girls into the media center, turned on "Jersey Shore" reruns for an hour or two, and it woke the girls right up. Of course, they're all acting like Snooki, but at least they're awake.

— Health officials will tell you that McDonald's french fries are bad for you. As it turns out — they're also a potential lethal weapon.

A man in Massachusetts was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon after an altercation with his wife in a McDonald's restaurant. His stepdaughter tried to break up the argument, and he threw an order of hot french fries in her face.

According to Massachusetts law, a weapon is "an instrument of offensive or defensive combat; . . . anything used, or designed to be used, in destroying, defeating or injuring an enemy."

I guess this means, from here on out, I stop carrying a concealed handgun and keep a Big Mac stashed in my back pocket.

— A New Jersey man has been arrested for threatening to shoot his neighbor after he allegedly, ahem, broke wind outside the man's house.

Evidently, the man could hear the gastric expulsion from inside his apartment and was eventually charged with a number of allegations, including making terroristic threats.

My question is — considering the guy lives in one of the foulest-smelling parts of the world, how would he know his neighbor actually passed gas?

— Our leader in the clubhouse for "Dumb Criminal of the Month" goes to a Massachusetts man who tried to conduct a midnight raid on a store, only to get his head stuck — under a garage door.

The man was stuck there for nine hours before being discovered by a store manager. He was treated at a hospital for a large bruise on the back of his head — then arrested for not using what was inside it.

— From the "It's a good thing Doug Sturm had his license renewed" department: a man in Philadelphia was stabbed by another man for the ungodly crime of — brace yourselves — not being a barber.

A man was giving his 6-year-old son a haircut when a stranger entered his home. The stranger asked the man if he was a barber, to which he replied he was not. The stranger left, but returned five minutes later and asked for a haircut. When the man refused, a fight ensued with the stranger pulling a gun and a knife, stabbing the victim six times.

— From the "What's next: a tax on 12-packs of Miller Lite to fund DWI arrests?" department: the Houston City Council has passed an ordinance requiring strip clubs to pay a $5 per visitor fee. The money raised from the tax would help pay for the analysis of biological evidence collected from rape victims in hopes of identifying their attackers.

Evidently, the mayor believes such establishments can cultivate unhealthy attitudes toward women that can lead to sexual assaults.

If that's the case, then there should be a $10-per-viewer fee charged to MTV for every "Jersey Shore" and "16 and Pregnant" show that airs on the channel.

— From the "I've got a loaded plate of shrimp scampi and I'm not afraid to use it" department: a man on death row in Connecticut tried to kill himself by — get this — eating oysters.

The man is in prison for his role in a home invasion in which a mother was raped, her two girls were tied to their beds and their house was set on fire. He later boasted that he killed 17 other people, but later tried to claim he made up the stories.

He was hoping he could convince authorities that a serial killer was still on the loose, and he would provide details for them in exchange for food, including a dozen oysters with hot sauce.

Since he's deathly allergic to shell food, his hope was that he would be able to eat the oysters and be found dead in his cell the following morning. Authorities figured out the guy's plan and told him to, uh, clam up.

— Annnnnnd finally . . . a clean bowel is a healthy bowel — unless it gets you thrown in the clink.

A Florida man was charged with misdemeanor assault after threatening a neighbor, but not before offering a small disclaimer.

"When I get done (going to the bathroom), I am going to kick your (expletive)," he reportedly told his neighbor.

Unfortunately for the man, the threat was made as authorities were talking to the neighbor about an earlier altercation between the two. There was no word on whether or not the man, uh, took care of business before he was hauled away by authorities.

Downtown efforts get support

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Good news for Nebraska's downtown revitalization efforts. The state Department of Economic Development has announced another round of Community Development Block Grants aimed at addressing the traditional "Mom and Pop" economy that exists in nearly every city.

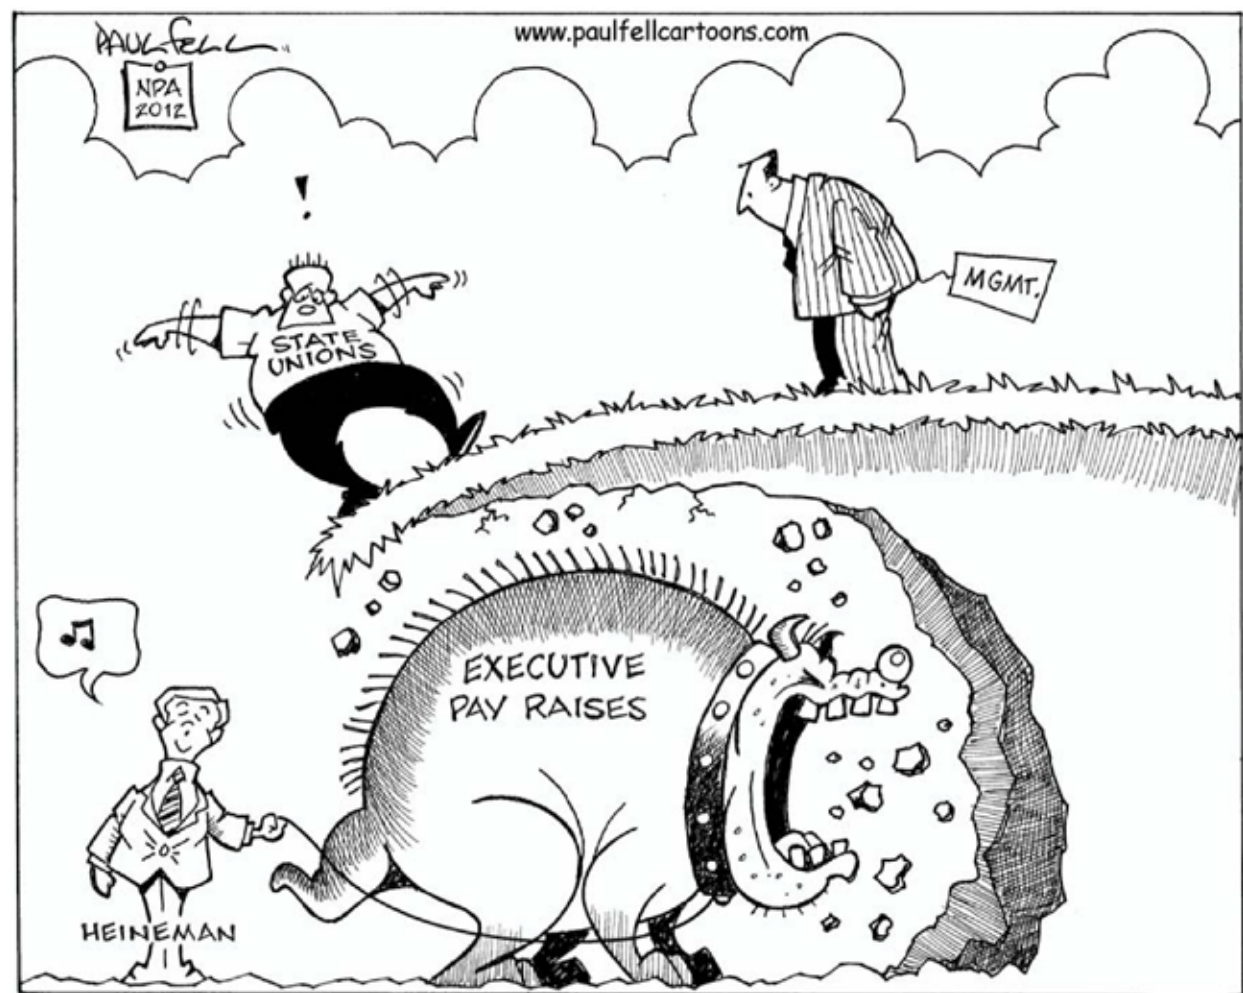

"Downtowns represent the heart of a community, a vital source and generator of economic and cultural wealth, something that is evident and very much alive and surrounding us," said Lt. Gov. Rick Sheehy on the first leg of a state-wide fly-around to announce the new grants and track progress of older ones.

Sheehy, a former Mayor of Hastings who has long said he'd like to live downtown, is no stranger to downtown revitalization efforts. He has toured in years past with staff of the Nebraska Main Street program and visited with countless business and building owners. The state program is part of the National Trust for Historic Preservation's 32-year-old National Main Street Center network.

He joined Nebraska Department of Economic Development head Catherine Lang and a team of DED staffers in downtown Plattsmouth at the start of the daylong tour. It was in Plattsmouth in 1994 that then-Gov. Ben Nelson announced the start of the state Main Street program as a partnership with several state agencies and the Lied Charitable Foundation. Matching state money has helped finance the program since.

With subsequent stops in Hastings, Sidney and Scottsbluff, Sheehy and Lang sang the praises of each community's "dedicated efforts to encourage people to come and see for themselves the fine examples that have been set, ones that can be replicated elsewhere and should be," they said.

Since 2008, DED has invested just over $7.5 million CDBG in 26

Nebraska communities. Coupled with local matches, the total investment has topped $10 million to date, the Department said in a news release.

Communities receive the funds in two phases with the first step a planning process and the second, usually a year later, implementation. Communities must have earned designations as Economic Development or Leadership Development Certified Communities and already have comprehensive plans, as well as zoning and subdivision ordinances.

Nebraska Main Street Director Elizabeth Chase joined the group in Plattsmouth where the local Main Street association told Sheehy and others that their Phase I planning in October 2009 indicated a need for community rehabilitation downtown. Chase said that the Phase II funds helped the river city establish a rehab grant/loan program for facades and historic preservation. As a result, downtown occupancy is at an all-time high and creation of a public gathering space has become a positive asset for the whole community.

Hastings, just selected for Phase I planning, has a 20-year-old community redevelopment authority with extensive experience in acquiring and redeveloping buildings using Tax Increment Financing and revolving loan funds for business and facade improvement grants.

Sidney was the inaugural community for the downtown development grants program in 2008. The Phase I master plan directed the Panhandle community to make things more inviting for potential businesses and pedestrian traffic. The result was Hickory Street Square, a public plaza with canopy structures that host farmers markets and other events on otherwise under-utilized land near the Union Pacific Railroad main line.

Scottsbluff received funding in 2010 for mini grants for downtown facade and signage improvements. The community also improved the downtown location of its farmers market, which is built on the site of a former hospital and is frequently used as a gathering place for events. A public restroom is also being added to the site.

Sheehy and Lang also announced new implementation grants for Columbus, Elwood, Fremont, Kearney and Tecumseh. Planning grants were revealed for Grand Island, Holdrege and McCook.

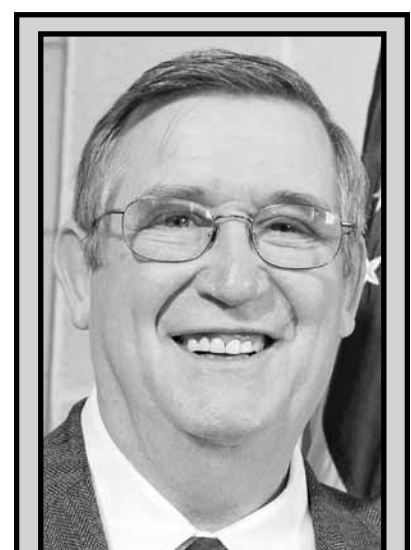

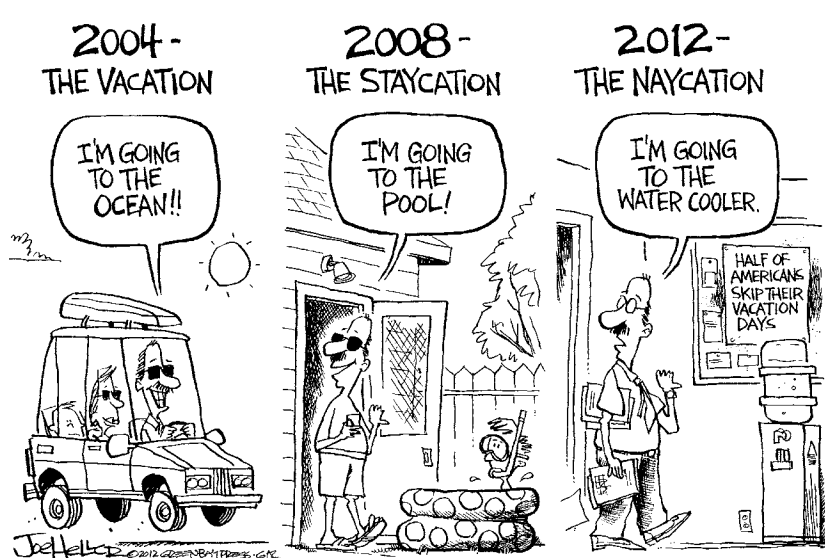

Legislative Update

A lot going on in the area this month

I have said it before and I will repeat it again and again, "IT IS GOOD TO LIVE IN NEBRASKA." Contrary to the old rumor that "there is nothing to do in Nebraska," there is so much going on that a person cannot get to it all.

The rodeo at Ponca has come and gone, but Ponca State Park is still there and is a great place to go just to "get away." The Fourth of July has passed, but if you like celebrations there are many more available. Madison County Fair July 10-15; "Chicken Days" will be going on in Wayne July 13-15; Cornhusker State Games at Lincoln July 20-29; Carroll Truck & Tractor Pull July 21; Dakota/Thurston County Fair will be at Atokad Park in South Sioux City July 15-22; Cedar County Fair at Hartington & Pierce County Fair at Pierce both July 18-22; the Wayne County Fair will be going on at the west edge of Wayne

By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

July 26-29; the Winnebago Pow Wow Homecoming celebration taking place July 26-29; "Cottonwood Days" will be new this year in Dakota City July 27-29; Dixon County Fair at Concord July 28-Aug. 1; "Cardinal Days" in South Sioux City will be Aug. 3-4 and will also be the Q125 celebration for South Sioux City; Nifty 50's Celebration at Ponca Aug. 4-5; 125th annual Stanton County Fair at Stanton Aug. 15-19; Thunder by the River Truck & Tractor Pull at Wisner Aug. 17-18; Nebraska State Fair at Grand Island Aug. 24-Sept. 3 (Veterans Day at the Fair on Sept. 3 with Veterans getting in free); "Watermelon Days" at Thurston Sept. 7-9; Husker Harvest Days near Wood River Sept. 11-13.

Do not forget we are not that far from Gavins Point Dam at Yankton,

S.D. and there is no flooding this year. Take time to get out and visit other communities for great family time. There is always something to do in and around Nebraska.

While we enjoy summertime living, it is not without its problems. Fifty-five counties across Nebraska have been declared to be in a state of emergency due to the lack of rain. While we puny humans strut around and boast about all that mankind has done, it is still only God that can make the water fall from the sky to nourish the land that we depend on. Sure we can irrigate some of the land some of the time, but only a good rain from God above can soak our crops, pastures, timbers and refill lakes and reservoirs. We better spend a little time asking our Creator for a little rain, too.

The Health and Human Services (HHS) Committee is beginning to create a calendar for hearings on at least 15 interim studies between August and December 2012. Being a member of that committee, I will be involved and will share what's happening in this newsletter as we progress.

County fairs will soon be making headline and our youth who participate in 4-H, FFA and other agricultural programs will be busy on their projects and hoping for the best outcome. Please try to attend your local county fair. Besides the entertainment, it is a good way to show support for our youth in agriculture. Look at the projects, enjoy the animals and talk to the "kids," they are our future in Nebraska.

Reduce costs by cutting expenses

Reducing the cost of housing and utilities is one way to save money on bills during tough times, but don't forget that saving money from telephone, home furnishing and cleaning supply costs help too.

Telephone

- Contact a phone company before missing a payment to see if an alternative payment plan can be worked out.

- Contact the Public Service Commission to try to qualify for the Nebraska Telephone Assistance Program.

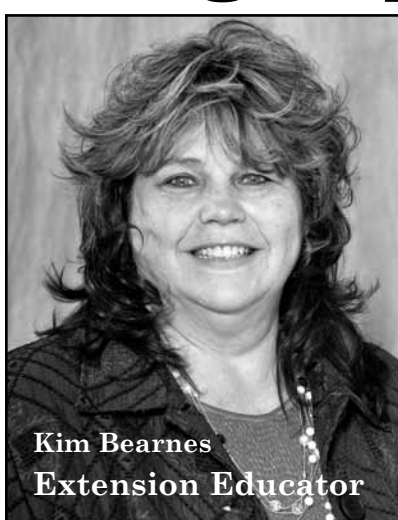

- If paying for calls by length of call, make a list of what needs to be discussed before calling and keep within a time limit.

- Ask both landline and cell phone companies for hints on reducing a bill.

- Make all long distance calls when rates are lowest, or with "free" long distance on a cell phone.

- Dial numbers directly. Don't use a long distance operator unless absolutely necessary.

- When using long distance phone cards, be sure to know the rules associated with each card. Not all cards are alike.

- Consider if both a cell phone and landline is necessary.

Home Furnishings

- Make do with current items. Get furniture inexpensively at auctions, warehouses, thrift stores, discount stores and from family and friends who have discards, yard sales and other recycling alternatives.

- Keep carpets and upholstered furniture vacuumed and clean to prevent wear of fibers by soil particles. This extends the life of home furnishings.

- Buy unfinished furniture to paint or finish.

- Create a new look by rearranging furniture or moving pictures and accessories to a different room. Re-upholster or slipcover furniture instead of buying it new.

- Rent or share cleaning equipment that is used infrequently.

- Paint a room as an inexpensive way to give the home a new look without costly redecorating.

Cleaning Supplies

- Chlorine bleach is a good disinfectant and toilet bowl cleaner. Baking soda also works well as a bowl cleaner.

- To clean windows and mirrors, fill a spray bottle with windshield washer solution, vinegar and water, or ammonia and water solution and spray on surface and wipe.

- Baking soda removes baked-on grease spots on the range.

- Wash walls this year instead of repainting.

- Reduce how often disposable products, such as paper towels, paper plates and paper napkins, are used.

BUILD AMERICA BONDS
Taxable Municipal Bonds

3.33% to 5.79%

When you buy a Build America Bond (BAB), you're lending money to municipalities to fund new capital programs, such as roads, schools and hospitals.

Let BABs provide you with the opportunity to diversify your taxable income.

Yield effective 07/05/2012, subject to availability and price change. Yield and market value may fluctuate if sold prior to maturity, and the amount received from the sale of these securities may be less than the amount originally invested. Before investing in Build America Bonds, you should understand the risks involved, including interest rate risk, credit risk and market risk. Bond investments are subject to interest rate risk such that when interest rates rise, the prices of bonds can decrease and the investor can lose principal value. Lower-rated bonds are subject to greater fluctuations in value and risk of loss of income and principal. The value of bonds fluctuates, and you may lose some or all of your principal. Any bonds called prior to maturity result in reinvestment risk for the bond owner.

The Build America Bond program is a product of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act 2009. The payment of principal and interest to bondholders is the obligation of the issuer and not an obligation of the U.S. government. Build America Bonds are subject to federal taxation, and state taxation is determined by the individual state.

Lutheran women attend district convention

Over 300 women and men arrived in Norfolk to celebrate Nebraska North District Lutheran Women's Missionary League's (LWML) 70th anniversary at their 36th biennial convention.

The convention theme was "Beautiful Feet - Sharing Good News," based on scripture verses Isaiah 52:7 and Romans 10:15. The convention was held June 29-30 at Lutheran High Northeast in Norfolk.

Friday night, after a day of business, the convention goes were entertained with special music by Janice Bolling on the accordion and Johanna Leckband on the violin, accompanied by her mother, Kristi Leckband. Following the music, a style show was held reviewing the past of the Nebraska North District and fashion.

Business conducted including selecting officers for the next biennium: Vice President of Christian Life, Peg Kumm of Wausa; Vice President of Human Care, Pam Williams of Madison; Vice President of Communication, Lisa Stirz of Gretna; Recording Secretary, Peggy McAllister of Atkinson; Financial Secretary, Karla Koehler of Wausa; Nominating Committee, Glenna Gutz of Plainview, chair, Marilyn Boling of Fremont, Janelle Feddern of Norfolk, Helen Oldenkamp of Omaha, Nancy Hasenkamp of West Point and Pastoral Counselor, Pastor John Nelson, Jr. of Norfolk.

Mission Grant goal for the next biennium was established at $85,000 with $28,000 to go to scholarships and $57,000 for Mission Grant projects of Operation Barnabas, $7,000, elementary/ high school scholarship (Nebraska District LC-MS, $8,000); Library for Timothy Lutheran School and School Books for 24 Lutheran schools in Papua, New Guinea, $9,000; Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, Food Bank, $6,000; At Ease (Lutheran Family Services, $10,000); Tuition Assistance for Jesus, Our Savior Lutheran students, $3,000; Shepherds for

DENTURE CARE:

As a family dental practice we see patients of all ages. Some of our patients have either full dentures or a removable partial denture. In many cases we recommend and place implants to stabilize the denture, or even replace missing teeth. In cases where we can't and for our patients that prefer dentures we recommend these guidelines for care.

- Wash dentures in cold or warm, not hot, water. Be careful not to drop dentures on a hard surface, as they break easily. A good idea is to clean them over a sink full of water or towel.
- Wash dentures daily with denture cleaner, hand soap, or dish soap. NO abrasive cleaners.
- Clean all denture surfaces by scrubbing thoroughly with a special denture brush.
- After the adjustment phase, take your dentures out when you sleep to relieve pressure on your gums. If you cannot be without your dentures overnight, take them out for at least a couple of hours every day. Let them soak in a cleaning solution and don't let them dry out.
- Continue to brush your mouth (including your gums, palate, and tongue) with a soft-bristled toothbrush every morning before you insert your dentures.
- Minor irritation and soreness should subside as you grow accustomed to your dentures. Call your dentist if discomfort persists. NEVER try to adjust or repair your dentures on your own.
- Full dentures have an average life span of 5 to 10 years. The fit of your dentures will change over time. When your dentures get too loose, your dentist can add a layer of material to the underside of the base so that they conform better to your mouth. This is called relining. The fit can also be corrected by making a new base. If the chewing surfaces become worn, your dentist can attach new teeth to the existing base. It's easy to keep your dentures looking good and fitting well for a long time by taking proper care of them. Our team is here to help you!!

Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen and emergency manager Nic Kemnitz recently completed training offered by the Center for Domestic Preparedness in Anniston, Ala.

Emergency responders attend national training

Emergency Responders LeRoy Janssen, from the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, and Nic Kemnitz of the Wayne County Emergency Management Office, recently completed training offered by the Center for Domestic Preparedness (CDP), in Anniston, Ala.

The CDP is operated by the United States Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency and is the only federally-chartered Weapons of Mass Destruction (WMD) training facility in the nation.

Janssen and Kemnitz said that, they were selected to attend Incident Command training that is second to none in the country. Training at the CDP campus is federally funded at no cost to state, local and tribal emergency response professionals and their agencies. The CDP develops and delivers advanced training to government officials of all levels.

The CDP's more than 50 courses focus on incident management, mass casualty response, and emergency response to a catastrophic natural disaster or terrorist act. Responders participating in CDP training gain critical skills and confidence to respond effectively to those local incidents or potential WMD events.

The hands-on training also enables responders to prevent, respond to, and recover from real-world events involving acts of terrorism or local catastrophic releases of any other hazardous materials.

Paying tribute to a friend

I have a greeting card that quotes Robert Louis Stevenson saying, "We are all travelers in the wilderness of this world, and the best we can find in our travels is an honest friend."

Yvonne Wittler was a friend in the truest sense of the word. You may have noticed her obituary in last week's paper, accompanied by a beautiful smiling photo.

Two weeks ago, when I was in Norfolk for the LWML convention, the last thing I did before leaving town was to visit Yvonne at the nursing home. She did not know I was there, and she died six hours later.

It ended a four-year battle against that cursed stuff, cancer! As her son pointed out at her funeral, those four years gave her much joy as she watched the nine grandchildren mature, graduate, get married, etc.

At the lunch, we reminisced about her, and laughed, just as you are supposed to do at the lunch. But she will be sorely missed. The son pointed out that he had never paid a tailor until that week; and his daughter and her friends had had many a dress altered. I know she made all the bridesmaid dresses for the granddaughter's wedding. And she and her sister created a beautiful quilt. That was in addition to 300 baptism banners, and all the quilts she worked on at the church.

Most of you who have been involved in 4-H 20 years ago will remember her as one of the leaders of the Spring Branch Club. Yvonne and Harold gave many hours to the club and to the fair.

Most of you who have been involved in 4-H 20 years ago will remember her as one of the leaders of the Spring Branch Club. Yvonne and Harold gave many hours to the club and to the fair.

We had long talks, especially these last two years. She got a cell phone and had lots of minutes, so she would call and we would discuss world affairs. As they mentioned in the service, Yvonne had a passionate sense of justice. This included social justice, which I sometimes am not so excited about. I will miss her take on things, and her sense of humor, and her honesty. (See the quote above.)

I told the kids a story about her willingness to help. It was the summer of 1970, and I was pregnant, and not feeling the best. In a weak moment, I had invited a childless couple visiting in Hoskins to come for supper. I was bemoaning a dirty house on the phone to Yvonne, wondering how I was going to get it cleaned up and a meal cooked in the next twenty four hours. The next thing I knew, she was at my door, scrub bucket in hand! Now, that's a true friend!

For 25 years, she was a ward clerk at the hospital, the first one we ever had. We had some nurses who didn't think a ward clerk was necessary, but they soon changed their minds! She changed their minds!

All in all, I've been blessed with her friendship for 52 years, and I know I will miss her - a lot! Cherish your friends, they are precious.

Hot, dry conditions are favorable for spider mites

The lack of rain and hot temperatures has made conditions favorable for spider mites in corn and soybeans.

We have seen some in our soybean fields at the Haskell Ag Lab in Concord, so there have to be more in the area. Growers and field scouts should keep a close eye on fields, especially those that have been treated with insecticides.

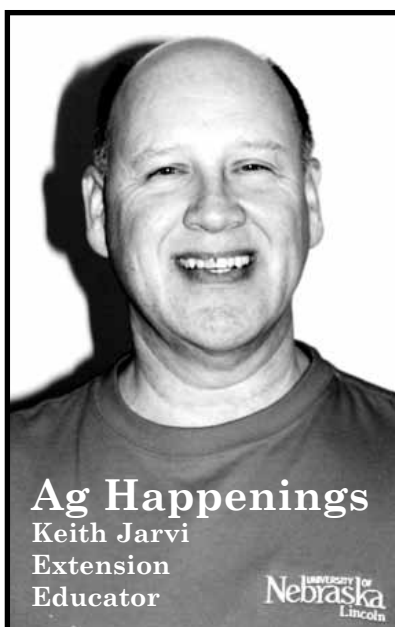

A recent practice that has become all too common in soybeans is the tendency to want to "clean up" a field with an insecticide mixed in with the last application of glyphosate, just to kill whatever may be there.

Usually, this backfires because beneficial insects like lady beetles, pirate bugs, and other predators are removed, allowing insects like soybean aphids and spider mites that migrate into crops easy access.

Since we have already seen them in soybeans, here is the soybean spider mite information. Be aware that corn is also a target.

Interestingly, in my over 30 years of looking at insect and mite problems, spider mites tend to be a problem in corn on the sandier soils west of Highway 81, and they tend to be a problem on soybeans east of there. However, don't relax; spider mites can be a problem in corn and soybeans anywhere.

Two species of spider mites are pests of crops; the Banks grass mite and two-spotted spider mite. Banks grass mites feed almost exclusively on grasses, including corn and sorghum. Two-spotted spider mites not only feed on many species of grasses, but also on soybeans, fruit trees and a variety of vegetables and ornamental plants. In soybeans we deal almost exclusively with the two-spotted mite.

Ag Happenings

Extension Educator
Nebraska Lincoln

The first evidence of mite feeding, which can usually be seen on the top of the leaf, is a yellow or whitish spotting of the leaf tissues in areas where the mites are feeding on the lower leaf surface. Because many other things can cause similar discoloration, it is important to check leaves closely to make sure mites are actually causing the damage. Leaf discoloration caused by mite feeding can be easily identified by checking the undersurface of leaves for the presence of mites, eggs and webbing. Both Bank's grass mites and two-spotted spider mites produce webbing, and a fine network of silken webs will likely be associated with mite colonies. A magnifying glass or 10X hand lens is helpful in examining plants for mites.

No research has been conducted that would allow calculation of an economic injury level for two-spotted spider mites on soybeans. Midwest entomologists suggest that control may be warranted when infested plants have substantial spotting or leaf yellowing and live mites, but before mites cause browning and leaf drop. Damage from mites may be confused with that caused by drought and several foliar diseases, so be sure to base treatment decisions on the presence of mites, rather than just apparent injury symptoms.

Fields may be spot treated if the infestation is localized, but check other areas for mites (especially downwind of infestation) and extend treatments into these areas if large numbers of mites are found. Although late season infestations may accelerate soybean senescence and increase pod shattering, use caution when evaluating whether to treat with pesticides because many of the pesticides used for mite control have 18-30 day preharvest intervals. Products available to use in soybeans include dimethoate (several formulations), bifenthrin (Brigade, Fanfare), Cobalt, and chlorpyrifos (Lorsban, Nufos, and other trade names) See the entomology.unl.edu web site or product labels for specific rates and restrictions. Use the higher rates for longer residual. Spider mites have a tendency to resurface since the insecticides registered do not control eggs, and the residuals are usually cut shorter in a hot, dry year.

Dr. Melissa Dobbins is honored at recent graduation recognition

Graduation Recognition for Family Medicine Residents & Post-Graduate Year 1 Pharmacy Residents by Siouland Medical Education Foundation, Mercy Medical Center and St. Luke's Regional Medical Center was held June 29 at Sioux City Country Club.

Dr. Melissa Dobbins attended her graduation recognition and received awards that included the Crittenton Center Resident of the Year, as well as the Resident Teacher Award.

Dr. Dobbins was Co-Chief Resident for the past year in the program and felt "very honored to be a part of this." She is an alumni of Wakefield High, class of 2000, and recently moved to Wayne, with her husband Adam and their children Boden, 4, and Kamden, 2, where she began practicing July 9.

Melissa is daughter of Dale and Sue Hansen of rural Wakefield. She received her degree from Kansas City University of Medicine and Biosciences, College of Osteopathic Medicine in May 2009, then spent the past three years in Sioulands Medical Education Residency program.

"I would like to extend great gratitude to my family, friends, and people of the community who have supported me throughout my education and I am looking forward to practicing in the Wayne and Wakefield Clinics," Dr. Dobbins said.

Sharp Shooters compete at Nationals

Seven members of the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club of Wayne County competed in the 47th annual Daisy National BB Gun Championship Match held in Rogers, Ark. on July 2-3.

The Sharp Shooters were one of three teams representing Nebraska in the 53 team field from 20 states.

The other two teams were from Mullen and Beatrice.

The Sharp Shooters team consisted of Kate Schultz, daughter of Kim Schultz of Wayne; Dylan Brogren, son of Matt and Lori Brogren of Winside; Zach Schenk, son of Bill and Stacy Schenk of Wayne; Ky Kenny, son of Joe and Kelly Kenny of Carroll; and Landon Boysen, son of Scott and Kim Boysen of Laurel. Shooting as alternates were Kecia Schenk, daughter of Bill and Stacy Schenk and Connor Boysen, son of Scott and Kim Boysen.

"I am really proud of our shooters," said Darin Greunke, leader and coach of the Sharp Shooters. "We had a young team go down this year. Four of the seven are first year competitors. The other two are second year members. To finish 43rd out of 53 teams, I felt the kids did well."

The format for the National Shoot is similar to the State shoot as the competitors fire 10 shots for score in each position; prone, standing, sitting and kneeling. Each competitor also takes a written exam over firearm safety and the rules of the competition. The two main differences are each team is assigned one shooting lane with each shooter from our team rotating through, shooting one position at a time and the shoot is spread out over two days.

Greunke continued, "With such a young team, we set out to learn and to do the best we could do. I am happy to say that six of our shooters shot a personal best score."

This was the second year in a row the Sharp Shooters sent a team to compete at Nationals.

The kids not only learn, but have lots of fun and make friends from other teams.

This goes for the coaches and parents too.

For more information about the Sharp Shooter 4-H Club and the 4-H Shooting Sports program contact Darin Greunke at (402) 286-4895 or the local County Extension Office.
