Bullies are being put on notice by school officials

Bv MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

Bullies in the Wayne Public Schools system are being put on notice this year - their behavior will not be tolerated.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan said there has been a greater awareness made of the issue in recent years, and he is hoping the school's plans to be more proactive in dealing with bullies in the district will make for a safer and more comfortable environment for students.

For many years, school officials - including Wayne's - have been criticized by parents of children who were tortured and picked on by bullies while they were in school. The taunting and name-calling has a negative impact on those who are targets of bullies, and the impact of those attacks tend to stay with the victims long after their days of school are over.

Lenihan said he can't speak for those peoole, but feels the school district has the best interests of students in mind.

"I've been in three school districts in my 23 years in education, and I have not seen a staff that cares more about its students

Wurdeman is target of recall petition

A recall petition has been issued for Wayne County District 1 Commissioner Kelvin Wurdeman, the result of accusations of improper work habits regarding property removal.

Concerns about the removal of property from a landowner is the reason for the recall stated by principal circulator Kelly Hammer.

"Our District 1 County Commissioner is not being professional about his work habits," Hammer stated. "Kelvin Wurdeman has removed property from one landowner and moved it to another piece of property without talking to the landowner and getting permission. As a County Commissioner he should talk to all parties that are involved in any certain project that the county is working on."

Wurdeman defended his actions, stating, "I talked to the landowner in the spring. We backsloped in the fall. Dirt was removed from a field and put in the County right of way. I take pride in Wayne County and would not intentionally go against any landowners wishes. Since then, Dist. 1 has implemented a written policy for dirt work to avoid any furture misunderstandings."

A total of 250 valid signatures must be obtained to place the recall question on the ballot before the voters of District 1. This number is based on 35 percent of the total votes cast for the person receiving the most votes for that office in the 2010 general election

Signed petitions must be filed in the county clerk's office no later than Thursday, Sept. 20.

NPPD's cost per KWH for diesel generation?

Few people are probably aware of the cost differential between the power produced by NPPD's main generators and the small power plants like Wayne.

•At $3.27 per gallon for off-road diesel fuel and 14 1/2 KW per gallon, that would be 22.5 cents per KWH for fuel cost. Fixed costs of owning a diesel power plant are over 20 cents per KWH in addition (depending on the amount generated each year). That total is about 45 cents per KWH to generate with lection of $585,714 in outstanding diesel power. These engines are economic development loans and reused only for emergencies and peak bate that amount plus interest back load days in hot weather.

•The cost per KWH to

•The average cost of wind generation has been around 20 cents per KWH and dropping.

•The cost per KWH for power generated by hydro electric is about two cents per KWH.

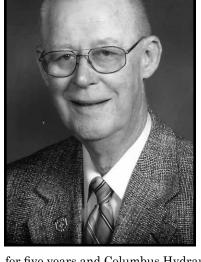

Wayne Revolving Loan Fund is now history

Since 1984, the heavily used Wayne Revolving Loan Fund operated by Wayne Industries has issued $2.3 million in loans to help create over 1,200 local jobs.

These funds came to Wayne from state loans to local business startups and expansions that were repaid and the funds re-loaned to other local businesses.

Federal Housing and Urban Development and Nebraska Department of Economic Development have begun enforcing program standards that no longer make it practical for local entities to operate these local revolving loan funds. Wayne has just closed out any future lending of these state economic development re-use funds and rebated $345,587 in loan fund cash back to the state. We will also finish colto the state.

It was great while it lasted Good ideas can come to anyone. Pav attention!

Council talks electricity, land purchase at Tuesday meeting

Bv CLARA OSTEN Of The Herald

Electricity was the main topic of discussion at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Electric production superintendent Gene Hansen spoke to the council on various topics related to electricity production in the city of Wayne, including a new megawatt peak set earlier this summer, the cooling tower project currently nearing completion and new catalytic converters that have been installed to comply with federal regulations.

Hansen told the council that the city currently has approximately 1,000 air conditioners on a load control system to help curb energy use, and even though this summer was unusually warm, received only one complaint from a customer.

He also shared data collection on the system on the hourly electricity usage and how to keep costs down. He noted that the electric rate charged to the city is based on the peak demand use, and noted that peaks this year were not set during daytime hours, but rather at night when irrigation systems were using the bulk of the electricity.

"I am not opposed to irrigators using the electricity. I do feel, however, that they should pay their fair share for the fixed costs. Hopefully, we can make some changes in the way costs are distributed by next year," Hansen said.

The district looks at the act of bullying as a long-term, intentional act of name-calling, putting someone down or some other continuous pattern of mistreatment.

"It's tough to define sometimes," Lenihan said. "There are many ways to define any way kids treat other, and sometimes the kids don't realize they are bullying someone."

When an act of bullying is reported, Lenihan said the district tries to find out what's going on from both sides. Sometimes it's a situation where both sides are attacking each other, but the school tries to get as much information as possible so that it can make the proper decision, including whatever punishment may be required.

"If we know a person is being bullied by a student or group of students, we talk to them and find out what's going on, contact their parents and make sure they're aware of the situation, and then issue whatever punishment or consequence that might be required," he said. "We try to get as much information as we can and document it and make a determination as to what is going on.'

From The New Wayne coach looks forward to challenges

There is a lot of enthusiasm in camp this year for the Wayne High football team, with first-year head coach Terry Beair feeling optimistic Rating area about what lies ahead for this year's Blue Devil gridders.

"I think we have a bunch of kids that work well together, and we're expecting a lot of good things and I'm excited about being able to play a lot of people," he said during a preseason interview.

I can tell you that trying year, and will have some holes to fill to rank the best in the state, area or as they head into Friday's season even your neighborhood is an inexopener at Madison.

> Most notable among the question marks is at quarterback, as Beair will have to replace a three-year starter in Gage Rethwisch, who set school passing records before graduating this past spring.

"It's hard to replace a three-year starter, but right now, Jalen Barry and Zach Keating are our top two quarterbacks and I feel good about who we'll have in that position," Beair said. "Right now, Jalen looks like he's going to be our starter. He has good skills and a great knowledge of the game and does a nice job running the show."

The Blue Devils will have plenty of talent in the backfield and in the skill positions, Beair said. A trio of athletes are vying for the tailback spot, and senior Brady Soden is back at fullback and should give the offense a stabilizing force with his senior leadership.

One game – and a ton of injuries. The good news about last year's 7-4 season is that many of the players who, thanks to those injuries, saw more time on the field in 2011 are back for the 2012 campaign, and that makes for some pretty high expectations in the Wildcat camp McLaughlin.

.we had just about everything,

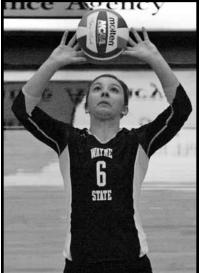

The silver lining to that cloud. though, was that it got some young players an opportunity to show what they've got, and that's made for some spirited competitions for starting spots heading into the sea-

"The thing with all those injuries is that it helped us build some depth," he said. "A lot of kids got to so there is some good competition for positions, and it will be a great opportunity for us to have a good football team." Although Most completed 50.2 percent of his passes for 1,455 yards and 12 touchdowns, the quarterback position is open this year, and McLaughlin is hoping to be able to stick with one guy the entire sea-"Cyle went down the first game and Evan Johnson went down the third game, so Nate was our thirdstringer and he did a great job," he said. "It was only fair to bring them all in this fall and let them compete with each other, and it's been a great battle and we're very comfortable with either of them as our quarterback." The Wildcats return several key skill players to the offense from last year, including running back Nick Pulscher (614 yards, 6 touchdowns) See TEAM, Page 3B

the last couple of years would be a grand understatement. With only one win in the last 25 games, the Trojans could use a lift, and they should get it with a very experienced group of returning starters. The Trojans have a lot of size up front and some good talent in the skilled positions, and they have a very favorable schedule that should see them do better than the last three seasons (0-8, 0-8, 1-7).

3. Allen – If the Eagles get through the season opener and aren't bringing a ton of kids home via ambulance, they have a chance to have a pretty decent season. That opener with Howells-Dodge (imagine the 70's Steelers and 80's 49ers joining forces – that's what the Howells-Dodge team looks like) will be a game to quickly forget, but the Eagles have some good returning talent and could be a playoff team. All of their home games are winnable, and a 4-4 mark should be good enough.

4. Wayne – A new coach, some new faces in key positions and a mother of a schedule are going to make this year's Blue Devil team interesting to watch. The Blue Devils have some very good athletes in camp this year and should have the talent to be competitive, but the schedule is a monster, particularly at the end of the year. Wayne faces three teams that are preseasonranked and 2-3 more who were playoff teams last year. The ending trifecta (Pierce, at David City, Norfolk Catholic) will be a beast. If Wayne is 4-2 heading into that stretch, they could make the playoffs

5. Winside – Winside has one major concern: its depth. With only 16 players on the roster (counting freshmen), there will be little margin for error, particularly in the health department (getting the job done in the classroom will also be important). If Winside stays healthy, they play a schedule that could make them a playoff team in Class D-2 and possibly make the Sweet 16. A couple of key injuries, though, and it will be a long season in the land of the 'Cats.

It's no different in 2012 - the Wildcats lost five key players from a team that went 23-8, finished fourth in the killer Northern Sun Conference and was ranked 10th in NCAA Div. II.

Is Kneifl worried? He doesn't appear to be.

"We're really excited about this year," he said during his team's pre-season media day recently. "We have some good returning starters and a great group of freshmen that are really mixing in well and doing some good things. Junior college transfer Katie Beiermann of Columbus could be a force at middle blocker, and Lutheran High Northeast standout Elizabeth Gebhardt brings her 6-foot-2 hitting talents to the Wildcats and could make an impact early.

Courtney VanGronigen redshirted last year and looks to be the leading contender at the libero position, junior Lexi Malm transferred from Creighton and could see time at middle hitter, and outside hitter and defensive specialist Jennifer Nakata is in the mix as well. "There's some work to be done between now and then, but I think we've got a shot."

> The injury bug bit early and often for the Wildcats last year, starting with the third offensive play from scrimmage in last year's season opener against Nebraska-Kearney when starting quarterback Cyle Schultz went down with a seasonending dislocated hip.

> Wayne State was hit hard at quarterback, as Evan Johnson battled through some injuries, leaving most of the heavy lifting to be done by third-stringer Nate Most, who won seven games last year.

son Thursday with a 4-0 loss to Class B powerhouse Blair at the Wayne Softball Complex.

Wayne had its chances to score in the game, putting runners in scoring position in the third and fourth innings.

In the third, Harris hit a two-out single and stole second, and Jalyn Zeiss was hit by a pitch to put two runners on before Blair got out of trouble. In the fourth, Abbie Hix moved from first to third on a McKenna Gibson single to right, but both runners were left on base.

Blair broke the ice in the fifth with a two-out single, then scored three in the sixth, highlighted by a two-run homer to come away with the win.

Hix, Gibson, Harris and Hannah Gamble all had hits for Wayne. Gibson struck out six and walked one in a losing effort.

On Tuesday, the Blue Devils split an exciting doubleheader with O'Neill, coming from behind to win the opener 6-5 before the Eagles returned the favor with an 8-6 win in eight innings.

In the opener, Wayne trailed 5-4 in the bottom of the seventh when Abbie Hix laid down a one-out suicide squeeze, scoring Jalyn Zeiss with the winning run. Zeiss drove home Sydney Harris with the gametying single to set up the winning play.

In the nightcap, Wayne was cruising and held a 5-0 lead before O'Neill started its rally with two runs in the fifth. Hix hit a solo homer to make it 6-2 after five, but the Eagles scored a run in the sixth and got a three-run homer with two out in the top of the seventh to tie the Daniel was a first-team All-NSIC selection the last two years and leads an outstanding defense. Sophomore linebacker Nick Monzu was the team's leading tackler lsat year (83 tackles), while junior strong safety Austan Pomajzl was second with 81 tackles.

McLaughlin is also excited about the return of senior All-American punter Randy Weich, who had the highest net punting average in all of college football last year and was a game-changer on several occasions the past two seasons.

Wildcat soccer team looking to score

Most soccer teams that give up less than 1 1/2 goals a game find themselves on the winning side of the ledger more often than not.

That wasn't the case for the Wayne State women's soccer team last year. The Wildcats had one of the stingiest defenses in the Northern Sun Conference last year, but their offensive struggles ultimately led to a 5-11-2 campaign in 2011.

Fourth-year head coach Molly Grisham is hoping to change that this season, bringing 12 players back from a team that finished 12th n the NSIC last season.

The Wildcats did a fantastic job limiting opposing teams' chances last season. Wayne State set a team record for goals allowed, giving up ust 25 in 18 games in 2011.

The Trojans have worked very hard in the weight room in the offseason, and the 28 players on the roster are bringing a lot of experience back from the past couple of seasons.

Offensive linemen Daniel Muller, Alan Lopez and Steve Sarmiento give the Trojans a great base to build on in the trenches. Muller and Lopez are four-year starters and Sarmiento had an outstanding summer of work, winning the Outstanding Offensive Lineman award at Doane's lineman camp.

The Wayne Herald – Thursday, August 23, 2012 Rose wins seventh Club title

By KEVIN PETERSON Of the Herald

Wayne Country Club hosted their annual Men's and Women's Club Championships on Sunday, with Doug Rose and Amber Gamble capturing the title of top man and woman in this year's chapter.

It was Gamble's first time winning the club title, while for Rose, the win was his seventh, but first since 2006.

The men's race was tight throughout the 27-hole tournament with Rose and three-time defending champion Joey Baldwin tied for the lead at two-over par 74 after the first 18 holes. The lead was slim however, as Mike Varley and Rob Sweetland were just one stroke back.

Rose was steady over the final nine holes with seven pars and two birdies on holes four and seven. Baldwin also had a pair of birdies on holes two and four but a bogey on hole six proved to be the difference. Sweetland had five pars, two bogeys and two birdies on holes six and nine for an even par round of 36. Varley got off to a slow start with a double bogey on one and a bogey on two but quickly settled in and birdie hole four before finishing with an eagle on hole nine for an even par 36.

When the dust had settled Rose had finished the 27-hole event with an even par tally of 108 with Baldwin at 109. Varley edged Sweetland by scorecard playoff as each carded 111's. That same foursome of Rose, Baldwin, Varley and Sweetland incidentally, have won the last 10 club championships and 15 of the past 20. Besides this year Rose has claimed top honors in 2006, 2003, 1998, 1996, 1995 and 1992. Baldwin was champion in 2009, 2010 and 2011 while Varley claimed top honors in 2007 and 2008. Sweetland was crowned champion in 2000, was also close throughout much of the day as Gamble and defending champ Kari Baldwin were tied after the first nine holes at 40. They were still tied after 14 with Gamble taking a one-shot lead after the 15th hole. Gamble then punched back-toback birdies on holes 16 and 17 and parred the 18th to fire a 76. Baldwin finished second with an 82 and Molly Schroeder was third with a 93

In the second flight it was Denise Erb edging her sister Diane Magnuson for the win, 102-109, while in flight three it was Jill Belt claiming top honors with a 112. Stacey Alexander was second with a 127.

In the men's division, the first flight was won by Doug Christensen with an 80 while Chad Metzler carded an 81 and Reggie Yates, 82. John Fuelberth was fourth, also with an 82. Tim Fertig won his first club flight championship with a 79 in flight two with John Wren placing second with an 81. Joel Ankeny was third with an 85 and Steve Meyer, fourth at 86. > The fourth flight was won by veteran Phil Griess with an 83 while Gene Claussen was runner-up at 89. Bill Sharpe was third with a 90 and Marion Arneson, 91. Dale Alexander claimed his first club flight championship with an 85 in the fifth flight. Max Kathol followed with an 87 and Craig Walling fired an 89 for third. Josh Swanson finished fourth at 92.

Paul Combs also claimed his first club flight championship with an 85 in the sixth flight with Ken Loberg posting a 97 for second. Donovan Doescher was third with a 98 and Brad Jones was fourth, also with a 98. The final flight was captured by Don Endicott with a 99. The flight was settled by net score because of a wide variance of handicap. Randy Belt was second at 111 with Curt Jeffries, third at 101. John Dorman

Bullying needs to stop in Wayne

After reading the article on bullying that was printed in the Aug. 16 edition of The wayne Herald, I would like to make a few comments.

I was born and raised in rural Wayne County and attended Wayne Public Schools. I graduated in 1973 and felt I had a great, well-rounded experience in the public school. After graduating from college in 1977, I moved away for my first job, got married and started a family. In the summer of 1990, we moved back to Wayne and our three children attended the public school system.

I was fortunate to never experience the pain of being bullied as a student in Wayne. I wish I could say the same for my children, but I can't. Our son was bullied from third grade through high school. Our youngest daughter was bullied from third grade through middle school, at which time we removed her from the Wayne school system. Enough was enough. The bullying even continued in Wayne when she was no longer a student in the school system. The police would do nothing, either.

Like the two young ladies interviewed for the article, our pleas fell on deaf ears. The administrators and teachers at the time did nothing. They also commented, "We just don't see that happening." Of course you didn't. But trust me. it was occurring. Kids are not going to do anything in front of an administrator or teacher. They are way too smart for that. But believe me, it happens in the hallways, locker rooms, playgrounds and anywhere an authority figure is not present.

If a student comes to you and tells you they are being bullied, 99.9 percent of the time it's the truth, whether you see it or not. Get out of your offices and classrooms and lounges and be visible. Don't be afraid to get involved. Don't be afraid to hurt the popular kids' feelings or their parents' feelings. These bullied kids need our support NOW before a disaster happens.

To the parents forming an antiknow they are loved and that they

Answering concerns about fire trucks

As always, the members of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department strive to serve all of our community By J.L. SCHMIDT members in the safest and most efficient ways possible. Our members spend many unpaid hours away from their families and work in training or on actual calls.

It has recently come to our attention that some in the community have voiced concern with, and opinions about, the practices of the department. I can assure those concerned, and all in the community, that citizen, in-town and highway traffic safety and common sense are at the forefront of our actions. It is also a priority of all equipment drivers to follow traffic regulations and rules to the best of their abilities. At the same time, we often ask public traffic to yield to fire and rescue vehicles without a guarantee of safety to proceed. It is important that motorists in every community be aware that emergency vehicles ask for right-of-way as they proceed to a scene. Our department considers every call worthy of our quickest, safest and best efforts possible.

Recently, one of our rural equipment trucks experienced mechanical trouble during a call. This resulted in the driver having to choose to pull to the right and signal the proceeding trucks forward to expedite travel to the scene, which was a further 9 1/2 miles out of town. At no time were any members of the department taking lightly the fact that they had to pass that disabled truck to the left, and they proceeded cautiously on that part of the highway.

If any member of the community has a question or a concern about your Wayne Volunteer Fire Department or its actions, please contact us directly so we can address your needs with facts and truth.

As in many rural fire departments in America, ours has equipment that is in constant need of repair or replacement. Our volunteers do the best we can with the equipment that we have because we are dedicated to serving the safety of both our rural and in-town citizens. bullying support group, I applaud Our volunteers and their families your efforts. Statehouse Correspondence The Nebraska Press Association

There's no argument that patriotism in post 9-11 America remains at a fever pitch, as well it should in light of the continuing loss of American soldiers' lives in a handful of battles in far away places.

Capitol View

So it comes as no surprise that the State Board of Education has unanimously approved a change to Rule 10 (accreditation standards tied to state aid) that would require schools to set aside time for students and faculty to recite a longstanding patriotic icon, The Pledge of Allegiance. Generations of Nebraska students have participated in the ritual – usually at the start of each new school day - without any apparent ill effects.

This, in spite of the fact that Nebraska is one of seven states, the District of Columbia and two territories that do not have a law that addresses the pledge. Lincoln businessman Richard Zierke, a Marine, stumbled on the "no law" fact and approached state Sen. Tony Fulton of Lincoln during the last legislative session to address the matter. Fulton's bill died in committee.

Omaha attorney Mark Quandahl, a former state senator who is now vice president of the State education board, suggested the rule change. Board President Jim Scheer deemed the matter important enough that "it should come from the state level." The board agreed and adopted the rule change August 10.

The attorney general and the governor must still give their approval. If they do, the change could become effective sometime this school year. Teachers say many classes already say the pledge daily in the presence of a flag. Students can opt to stand or sit silently as long as they respect those who wish to participate.

Opponents say that school districts should not be told what to do, that it's a local decision. State Board member Bob Evnen, a Lincoln attorney, said the rule was written to comply with the U.S. Constitution, hence the individual's option to NOT recite the pledge.

ACLU of Nebraska legal director, Amy Miller, said she is disappointed by the board's decision to to not recite the pledge. change the rule, but said it's appar-

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes Managing Editor

Let me be brief...

A few quick thoughts this week:

– So Augusta National has brought women into its club. Very nice – call me when the people they invite as members are average Joes, instead of the super-wealthy and super-connected.

And this note to Martha Burk of the National Council of Woman's Organizations: you didn't "win" anything. Your perceived victory is similar to comparing a Super Bowl-winning NFL team to a Pop Warner squad.

- A member of the U.S. House of Representatives from Missouri, Todd Akin, who is running for the U.S. Senate, claims that if a woman is being raped, her body can prevent a pregnancy from taking place.

Ladies and gentlemen, we have a new leader in the clubhouse for "Moron of the Year."

- Would it be considered breaking news if I told everybody that I actually have a living, breathing girlfriend? And that she likes sports, Husker football, poker and classic rock? More on that story as it develops . . .

ture took action intent on bringing greater awareness to concussions. LB260, the Nebraska Concussion Awareness Act, was introduced by Omaha Sen. Steve Lathrop. The bill was signed into law in April and took effect July 1, 2012. The bill affects schools having student athletes who are 19 years old or younger, club sports, any sports organization which includes youth leagues and any organization that sponsors a sporting activity where recognize the symptoms of a concussion and how to seek medical treatment.

Once an athlete shows signs of a possible concussion or is suspected of having a concussion, they are to be removed from participation and not allowed to participate again until they have been evaluated by a licensed health care professional.

If an athlete has their "bell rung" during a game, they will more than likely have the symptoms of a concussion and will need to be pulled from the game. Coaches will no longer be able to simply ask, "Are you okay to play?" as a method of as- 471-2716, or e-mail dbloomfield@ sessing the condition of the athlete. leg.ne.gov.

On another note, on Friday, Aug. 10, the State Board of Education voted 8-0 to approve an addition to the Regulations and Procedures for the Accreditation of Schools, which will require the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance. Once enacted, a school would have to set aside time to recite the pledge every day. Any school that does not comply with the rule could lose its accreditation. The rule will apply to all grades, kindergarten through high school, but it will not apply to private schools. There is an opt-out option for those who, for some reason or another, do not choose to recite the pledge. Due to the process required to change or modify rules, we may not see it being implement. ed until the 2013-2014 school year. Just last year, I, with a lot of help from Sen. Bob Krist of Omaha and Sen. Tony Fulton of Lincoln, was able to "encourage" the Legislature to recite the "Pledge" for the first time. It only happens once a week, but it is, like the school regulation, a step in the right direction.

SMOKING AND ORAL HEALTH: ANOTHER REASON TO COMMIT TO QUIT

The oral changes from smoking range from harmless soft tissue changes to life-threatening oral cancer. Your dentist is trained to perform an oral examination to detect these conditions. Some of the more common of these are primarily in the floor of the mouth (under the tongue), the sides and underside of the tongue, and the soft palate (the back part of the roof of the mouth). The most important key to surviving oral cancer is early detection. The tissue changes in early cancer can be subtle and it is essentia for your dentist to perform a thorough soft tissue examination to detect cancer at an early stage. A sample of these tissues may be taken for a biopsy for diagnosis. This is the only way to make a confirmed diagnosis of oral cancer, and helps in determining your long-term outlook. Another benefit to quitting tobacco is that as soon as an individual quits smoking, the risk for oral cancer and other conditions related to smoking such as lung cancer and heart disease begins to decrease. It is generally acknowledged that within 15 years of your last cigarette your health risks are similar to those of a non-tobacco user.

Smoker's Melanosis - Smoker's Melanosis is increased darkening of the gums, due to irritation from tobacco smoke. The amount of pigmentation increases with greater tobacco use. There is no treatment for smoker's melanosis, but within 6 to 36 months of quitting smoking the tissues typically return to normal color.

Periodontal Disease - There is evidence that smoking contributes to periodontal disease and that continued smoking results in a reduced response to periodontal treatment. There is a greater amount of bone loss around teeth in smokers and individuals who smoke are more likely to lose teeth than non-smokers. It is reported that more than half of advanced periodontal disease can be linked to tobacco use because the carcinogens in smoke decrease the ability to heal and can cause loss of tissues supporting the teeth. Oral Cancer - Use of tobacco products is clearly linked to development of oral cancer. Oral cancers are found

Busy week includes friends

It's been a FULL week; more so than most have been lately.

My old friend and former pen pal, Marilyn, who lives in Phoenix, was helping her daughter, Cindy, with a family Young Life camp in Colorado Springs the week of the 6th. They decided that since they were just a day's drive from Lincoln, they would come see us. They arrived on Sunday eve, and we had runza casserole and watermelon for supper. I converted these people to runzas long ago. In fact, they took fifteen frozen ones along home. Oh, and we had peach cobbler for dessert.

On Monday, I showed them the sights of Lincoln and we ended up downtown at the Station. This is the exact spot where I first met Marilyn when she rode the train from Chicago to Lincoln and spent a week on our farm. The tracks have been moved to accommodate the new arena, but the brick streets are original

That night, we met a couple from Omaha for flat iron steaks at the local restaurant. The gent had

After they left on Tuesday, I washed the sheets and went back to bed. But that didn't last long, as I had to visit my Mom at the nursing

On Wednesday, I worked for Hospice. Thursday, after Bible study, the women in our association had lunch at the Egg and I in the Clock tower at 70th and A.

On Friday, I worked again. Then, Mike and I went to Murdock for the visitation of the father of an old neighbor. Back in Lincoln, I attended a visitation for the uncle of a friend who lives in California and then called her to let her know how her aunt was holding up. It happened that both of these gentlemen were WWII vets, and the grandson of one played Taps at the cemetery. On Saturday, I went back to Murdock for the funeral because I knew I would be seeing lots of old friends and neighbors. Then, it was back to the nursing home.

And that evening, to Madonna happens, he's from Norfolk. He kind to check on an old friend who was moved there for therapy. Today, Monday, I worked and we had an annual association meeting preceded by a pot luck. You know what, I'm getting too old for that kind of schedule! And we still do not have any rain, but welcome the cooler

USDA Secretary Vilsack Appoints New Farm Service Agency (FSA) Committee Member

William (Bill) Armbrust of Elkhorn was recently appointed to fill a vacancy on the Nebraska Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Committee by USDA Secretary Tom Vilsack.

Bill will join four current Committee members to serve on the FSA State Committee (STC). The Committee evaluates Nebraska federal farm program and farm loan program policies. They hear appeals from farmers and ranchers under USDA's administrative appeals process. They also oversee FSA's administrative operations for County Committees and field office operations.

Bill Armbrust has farmed since graduating from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln with a Bachelor of Science degree in Agronomy in 1979. He farms 800 acres in Douglas County raising corn, soybeans, alfalfa and cattle. He has also partnered with a young cattle rancher in Burwell, Nebraska, to run 400 cows year round. He has been active in promoting both conservation and research in Nebraska agriculture. Working closely with the Douglas-Sarpy County FSA and the local Natural Resources District, Bill has utilized no-till practices since 1994. He also provides on-farm demonstrations and tours to promote rotational grazing and no-till farming.

Armbrust will serve in a vital role at USDA's Farm Service Agency in overseeing drought response and implementation of the new Farm Bill.

PUBLIC NOTICE IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR DRINKING WATER

accordance with the National Primary Drinking Water Regulations, the City of Wayne, NE3118104, public water supply system in WAYNE County, is hereby making public notice of the violation of drinking water microbiological standards. The violation consists of two (2) total coliform samples testing positive during the month of August, 2012. The standard is that no more than one (1) sample per month may be positive for total coliforms for systems that collect fewer than 40 samples per month. What should I do?

You do not need to boil your water or take other corrective actions. However, if you have specific health concerns, consult your doctor.

People with severely compromised immune systems, infants and some elderly may be at increased risk. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. General guidelines on ways to lessen the risk of infection by microbes are available from EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791. What does this mean?

This is not an emergency. If it had been, you would have been notified immediately Coliform bacteria are generally not harmful themselves. Coliforms are bacteria which are naturally present in the environment and are used as an indicator that other potentiallyharmful bacteria may be present. Coliforms were found in more samples than allowed and this was a warning of potential problems.

What happened? What is being done? Usually, coliforms are a sign that there could be a problem with our treatment or distribution system pipes. Whenever we detect coliform bacteria in any sample, we do follow-up testing to see if other bacteria of greater concern, such as fecal coliform or E.coli are present. We did not find fecal coliform or E.coli present.

The City of Wayne public water supply system is continuing to test and is working with the Drinking Water Program to identify the source of the problem and to return the water supply system to compliance. For additional information regarding this notice, nterested persons may contact:

JEFFREY J. BRADY Phone # (402) 375-5250 OR Cell # (402) 375-9129 Please share this information with all the other people who drink this water, especially those who may not have received this notice directly (for example, people in apartments, nursing homes, schools, and businesses). You can do this by posting this notice in a public place or distributing copies by hand or mail.
