No contest plea; recall ahead for Wurdeman

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Wayne County Commissioner Kelvin Wurdeman was facing a voter recall at the end of last week, and started this week off facing County Judge Donna Taylor.

The District 1 commissioner's status is up for question after enough signatures were gathered to force a recall election. County Clerk Deb Finn told The Wayne Herald late Friday that 273 signatures were confirmed in the effort to recall Wurdeman, who has served in his position since 1999. Only 250 signatures were required to secure a special election.

Concerns about the removal of property from a landowner was cited as the reason for the recall by principal circulator Kelly Hammer.

"Our District 1 County Commissioner is not being professional about his work habits," Hammer stated. "Kelvin Wurdeman has removed property from one landowner and moved it to another piece of property without talking to the landowner and getting permission. As a County Commissioner he should talk to all parties that are involved in any certain project that the county is working on."

Wurdeman, who has been a commissioner since 1999, defended his actions at the time, stating, "I talked to the landowner in the spring. We backslipped in the fall.

Dirt was removed from a field and put in the County right of way. I take pride in Wayne County and would not intentionally go against any landowners wishes. Since then, Dist. 1 has implemented a written policy for dirt work to avoid any future misunderstandings."

Wurdeman could avoid a special election by resigning a position where he is serving his fourth term, but has stated he has no plans of stepping down and will fight the recall effort.

The Wayne Herald called the county clerks' office Wednesday afternoon, and information about the special election will be discussed during the next meeting of the Wayne County Commissioners on Tuesday, Oct. 2. District 2 commissioner Dean Burbach said the election would be held sometime after the Nov. 6 general election, probably around the Thanksgiving holiday.

On Monday, Wurdeman was in Wayne County Court to answer to misdemeanor charges of theft by unlawful taking and official misconduct regarding the sale of scrap metal to a Norfolk company earlier in the year. The case was heard by Judge Taylor, with a special prosecutor from the Nebraska Attorney General's office prosecuting the case on behalf of Wayne County.

Wurdeman pled no contest to both charges, which came as the result of an early-February sale of county-owned scrap metal to Alter Metal Recycling in Norfolk.

According to prosecutors, on Feb. 2, 2012, Wurde-

"Wayne County has always had a county kitty, and scrap iron was always sold in that manner. I started working for the county in 1983, and we've always had a county kitty . . . None of the money was ever in my possession. It has always been on county property."

least the last 4-5 years. Prosecutors said the amount in question was between $200 and $500, and that restitution on the money has been made.

After pleading no contest to both charges, Wurdeman explained to Judge Taylor that the process he took to sell the scrap metal was a long-standing, unwritten county policy.

"Wayne County has always had a county kitty, and scrap iron was always sold in that manner," he said. "I started working for the county in 1983, and we've always had a county kitty. None of the money that was received ever left county property."

Wurdeman said that when he was advised by the county attorney's office to get rid of the county kitty, he said he dissolved his funds immediately and returned them to the county.

"None of the money was ever in my possession," he insisted. "It has always been on county property."

Judge Taylor asked Wurdeman if he was aware that, by pleading no contest, he could be put in jail for the charges, even though they are misdemeanors.

"Yes, ma'am," he said.

Taylor set a Monday, Nov. 5 date for sentencing for Wurdeman. He faces fines and possible jail time for each of the misdemeanor charges.

Attempts to contact Wurdeman for further comment were unsuccessful at press time.

Costa Rica program approved

The Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State College System approved an agreement between Wayne State College and the Costa Rica Spanish Institute (COSI) during their Sept. 6-7 meeting.

As a result, students will be allowed to pay Wayne State tuition and register for Spanish classes in Costa Rica next June through Wayne State College. Dr. Adolfo Cacheiro will lead students during the Costa Rica Program, June 2-3, 2013 in the capital city of San Jose and Manuel Antonio, an internationally famous resort area on the Pacific Coast of Costa Rica.

"Students will spend two weeks near Manuel Antonio National Park, a stunning combination of rainforests, beaches and coral reefs which is listed by Forbes magazine among the 12 most beautiful national parks in the world," Cacheiro said. "Study abroad has many benefits, such as increasing self-confidence and understanding of other cultures, but from the point of view of language students, the most obvious benefit is that it's the best way to learn a language. Living with middle-class families-carefully selected for their friendliness and support of North American students-and language classes that take place where the language is spoken, provide a total immersion experience."

The Costa Rica Program was established in 2002 and has led to a revival of interest in study abroad at Wayne State College. Cacheiro said Costa Rica is an ideal place to study abroad, including a safe, beautiful country that combines sustainable development with a booming economy.

Costa Rica is the best-scoring country on the Happy Planet Index, an index of human well-being and environmental impact developed by the New Economics Foundation.

Area schools work with Wayne State on substitute shortage

A collaboration between Wayne State College, Educational Service Unit No. 1 and nine northeast Nebraska school districts has resulted in classroom experience for more than 1,000 Wayne State education majors while helping to alleviate the substitute teacher shortage in the area.

More than 60 students are participating in this project. The Northeast Nebraska Teacher Academy (NENTA), in its 13th year, is the only program of its kind in the nation.

The NENTA school district consortium was awarded a $299,900 Education Innovation Fund grant over the three-year period of 2000-2003. Wayne College Professor of Education Tim Sharer serves as the NENTA Director, and Carol James is Secretary for the program. Sharer and Dr. Jean Blomenkamp, Interim Dean of the School of Education and Counseling, serve on the NENTA Advisory Council along with the superintendents from each of the participating P-12 school districts. The NENTA program has been financially self-supporting since 2003.

The goals of the Northeast Nebraska Teacher Academy are to increase the number of local substitute teachers, to improve availability and equitable use of substitute teachers, to enhance the quality of instruction delivered by a substitute teacher in the participating school districts, and to positively affect retention of teachers during their first five years in the profession.

The Wayne State College education majors who participate in the program have at least junior status, have exceeded the requirements for State of Nebraska Local Substitute Teacher Certification, and are enrolled in the Northeast Nebraska Teacher Academy Seminar that provides weekly opportunities throughout the year for support and review of, and discussion and reflection about actual on-the-job situations. NENTA substitutes are paid for substituting, and receive mileage reimbursements to offset the cost of driving to the area schools.

Prior to their first assignments as substitute teachers, the NENTA students complete one day of training by the NENTA Director and Coordinator focusing on the art of effective teaching. In addition, NENTA students complete five days of training by APL Associates of Camillus, N.Y. APL Associates is a nationally recognized organization specializing in teaching success workshops. Between them founding partners Jean Anastasio and Dave Perry possess over 70 years of teaching and administrative experience. Along with APL Teaching Associates John Zalonis and Tim Sharer, APL Associates conduct 250 teacher/administrator workshops annually.

The NENTA was developed to alleviate a serious substitute teacher shortage in northeast Nebraska as well as to enhance the quality of instruction by substitutes through substitute instructional work-

Food Bank receives $10,000 DuPont Pioneer grant

Food Bank for the Heartland is "thrilled" to be the recipient of a $10,000 DuPont Pioneer grant to support its Mobile Pantry program in rural communities.

"Every day at DuPont Pioneer we are working hard to develop seed technologies that will provide food for a safer and healthier world. We are proud to support local organizations who are addressing food accessibility issues with our neighbors across Nebraska. When it comes to meeting the food, fuel and fiber demands of the 150,000 people joining us on the planet each day, we are truly all in this together," said Steve Reno, Pioneer Western business unit director.

New data from the USDA reveals that 13 percent of Nebraskans and 12 percent of Iowans were food insecure in 2011. Food insecurity refers to the USDA's measure of lack of access, at times, to enough food for an active, healthy lifestyle for all household members and limited or uncertain availability of nutritious adequate foods. There has been little change regarding hunger in Food Bank for the Heartland's 93-county service area in Nebraska and western Iowa since 2010.

"We are grateful for the generous support of DuPont Pioneer, said

Food Bank President and CEO Susan Ogborn. "This grant will help us enhance our Mobile Pantry program and feed more individuals and families in need in our rural communities."

Pioneer makes contributions to community-based organizations on behalf of the business and employees. Consideration for community outreach grants are given to communities where Pioneer representatives, employees and customers live and work and that support quality-of-life initiatives to create an improved, sustainable lifestyle for people worldwide.

Food Bank for the Heartland is a private 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that acts as a central clearinghouse through which the food industry and community may donate surplus food to feed hungry individuals, families and children. Food is distributed to more than 325 member agencies in 77 counties in Nebraska and 16 counties in western Iowa. Food Bank for the Heartland distributed nearly 9 million pounds of product in fiscal year 2012 and served over 250,000 different people in need in the Heartland. Expand Your Horizon sessions planned at Wayne Public Library Librarians and staff members are always happy to answer questions or direct and guide people to books or experts who can answer questions.

"Glad You Asked" is the theme of the Wayne Public Library's fall program series, "Expand Your Horizon" (EYH). The programs have been scheduled for Monday nights, Oct. 8, 15 and 22, from 6:30 to 8:00 p.m. All sessions will be held at the Wayne Senior Center.

Brian Kesting will host the Oct. 8 session dealing with questions about computers. Brian is the City of Wayne's Technology Support Specialist and has been an employee for nine years. If you have questions about email, printing, internet, spam mail, software, and computer viruses, this is the session for you.

On Oct. 15, Darlus McWilliams, who has eight years experience in Human Resource Management and is an employee with the Nebraska Department of Labor, will present a walk through the "NE Works" website screens. She will demonstrate how an individual would register with NE Works, show how to build a resume, find labor market information, set up virtual recruiter, search for jobs, and how to apply for the positions. Library staff plans to have computers set up for attendees to visit the site themselves after the presentation. Please call the library at (402) 375-3135 to reserve a computer.

During the third session on Oct. 22, a panel will answer questions about Wayne city ordinances. Marlen Chinn from the Wayne Police Department and other city representatives will chair this session, fielding questions about parking issues, barking dogs, weeds, snow removal, etc.

Many city ordinances are complaint driven, and this question/answer program is designed to answer concerns the people of Wayne may have about these issues. This session is not meant to be a complaint forum, but a way for people to understand who to call and hear details on how complaints are resolved.

"This is the sixth year the library is offering the three-week series of evening programs," said Rita McLean, Adult Services Librarian. "We always look for topics that are timely and educational, as well as entertaining and enlightening." All the sessions are free and open to public.

Light refreshments will be served and there will be time for discussion, questions and answers each evening. For additional information call Rita, (402) 375-3135.

Winside High receives grant for EducationQuest

Winside High School is among 19 Nebraska high schools selected to receive an EducationQuest Foundation College Access Grant — a program designed to increase the number of students who go to college. The school will receive $2,500 a year for four years.

In total, EducationQuest will award $620,000 in grant funds to the 19 selected schools over the next four years. The amount each school receives is based on their enrollment.

The high schools use the grants to fund programs and activities such as college visits, financial aid sessions, scholarship searches, career exploration, ACT test preparation, and completion of college applications. The grant program also promotes involvement with families and businesses to help ensure the program's success.

Eric Drumheller, EducationQuest Director of Grants and Scholarships, said the recipient high schools have set goals to increase their college-going rates by approximately 10 percentage points over the next four years.

EducationQuest awards College Access Grants to Nebraska high schools every two years. Fifty-nine grants have been awarded since the program began in 2006.

Harvest time

Due this year's drought, the lines at the local grain elevators are not nearly as long as in the past. Reports of yields from zero to 60 bushels per acre have been reported on dry-land corn already harvested. Yields for soybeans vary from 15 to 25 bushels per acre for dryland and up to 55 bushels per acre for irrigated land. Moisture tests for the soybeans have been as low as eight percent, which according to producers is "really dry." It is estimated that nearly 50 percent of the soybeans have been harvested and nearly one-third of the corn.

shops, direct on-site mentoring by teachers and administrators and the use of a standardized lesson planning format all of which positively impacts student learning in the participating districts. Wayne State students are used to augment the regular substitute teaching force, not replace it. Having additional substitutes available provides regular teachers opportunities to take advantage of staff development specifically for curriculum, instruction and assessment as well as other professional topics of interest such as those sponsored by Educational Service Unit No. 1 in Wakefield. Meeting school improvement goals enables partner school districts to enhance the quality of the teaching/learning experience for all stakeholders.

An additional outcome of the project is to enhance the retention of entry-level teachers in the profession. Futuristically, retaining highly qualified teachers positively impacts the quality and degree of student learning through the increased competence of beginning teachers leading to greater classroom success for P-12 students. This outcome is achieved through several strategies such as learning and using APL Level I Instructional and Organizational Skills, opportunities to interpret and deliver lessons, making "real-time" instructional and managerial decisions, and developing and using a Reflective Teaching Model as a one of the program's evaluative pieces. NENTA substitutes receive support and training during the weekly on-campus seminar conducted by Wayne

State College faculty.

To date, the Northeast Nebraska Teacher Academy has completed successfully nearly 4,000 substitute teaching days assisting in providing improved classroom instruction for seven thousand northeast Nebraska P-12 students annually. These improvements are due to an increase in the numbers of highly trained local and area substitutes available to substitute for the regular classroom teachers resulting in easier access to staff development and other opportunities for teachers.

"NENTA substitutes complement the existing pool of highly-trained, qualified substitutes, all of whom can facilitate ongoing instruction in the absence of the regular teacher," said Sharer.

School districts participating in the Northeast Nebraska Teacher Academy are Allen, Coleridge, Homer, Laurel-Concord, Leigh, South Sioux City, Wakefield, Wayne, and Winside.

Parents: Keep it in perspective

A friend of mine on Facebook recently told me of an experience he had as a youth football coach that prompted him to write a letter to a parent who, in all honesty, is part of the problem we have in youth sports.

The letter begins by complimenting the parent for his dedication to his child's growth as an athlete, but reminds him that his son is not the only player on the team, and that the parents of the other kids on the team share the same enthusiasm for their child's growth as he does with his.

These aren't paid professionals or college kids with full-ride scholarships that we're talking about here — these are young boys who are not all that far-removed from diapers, playing with Fisher Price toys and watching Toy Story 3. At this point in their lives, it's a toss-up whether they will be the next Joe Montana or the next Joe The Plumber, and recreational football (key word: RECREATIONAL) is an opportunity for these young boys to experience something that may, or may not, become a part of their still-developing lives.

The coach went on to point out that he and the other dads who coach the team do so as volunteers, and their job is not to build a Super Bowl champion program, but to teach things like fundamentals, sportsmanship, teamwork and leadership skills. The coaches want ALL the players on the team to experience what it is like to compete against another team, and have little regard for who wins or loses in comparison to making sure EVERY kid on the team gets a chance to play.

There are no college coaches with a scholarship offer in their back pocket who will attend these games, the letter concludes. The only people with any interest in the teams involved are the kids, their coaches and the families who are there to cheer them on, win or lose.

That a coach of a youth sports team has to pen such a note is, to say the least, disappointing.

I've spent the better part of 30 years in the newspaper business covering everything from Pee Wee baseball to high school sports, and it never ceases to amaze me how some otherwise-intelligent adults tend to act like childish brats when it comes to their kids' sports activities.

Now don't get me wrong -- we should all take an active interest in our kids' pursuits, whether it's playing in the marching band or being on the football team. The kids should know that mom and dad are there to support them and cheer them on, win or lose, and encourage them to give their best and be ready to contribute to the cause, whether they are a starter or a benchwarmer.

Nowhere is this more important than at the youth level, where kids learn the basics of the game and develop the fundamentals that will help them succeed when they move up to middle school, high school and beyond. Mom and dad should encourage them to listen to their coaches and always play hard, and little attention should be paid to the scoreboard, because wins and losses are of equal importance at this level.

Why is it, then, that some parents treat this level of sports as if it were the Super Bowl, NBA Finals or the World Series?

When we're talking varsity high school and college sports, the best players should get the bulk of the playing time and those athletes who aren't playing should be prepared to step up and fill in when called upon. Every team is working to win a state or national title, and it's up to the coaches to continue to provide life lessons while, at the same time, build a program that can compete at a championship level.

It's a much different priority at the youth level, and that's where

Wildcat offense sputters in 24-19 loss

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Wayne State's defense got more of a workout Saturday than a football coach likes to see his team experience.

St. Cloud State held possession of the football for more than two-thirds of the game and took advantage of four Wayne State turnovers to hang on for a 24-19 win in a Northern Sun Conference showdown at Bob Cunningham Field.

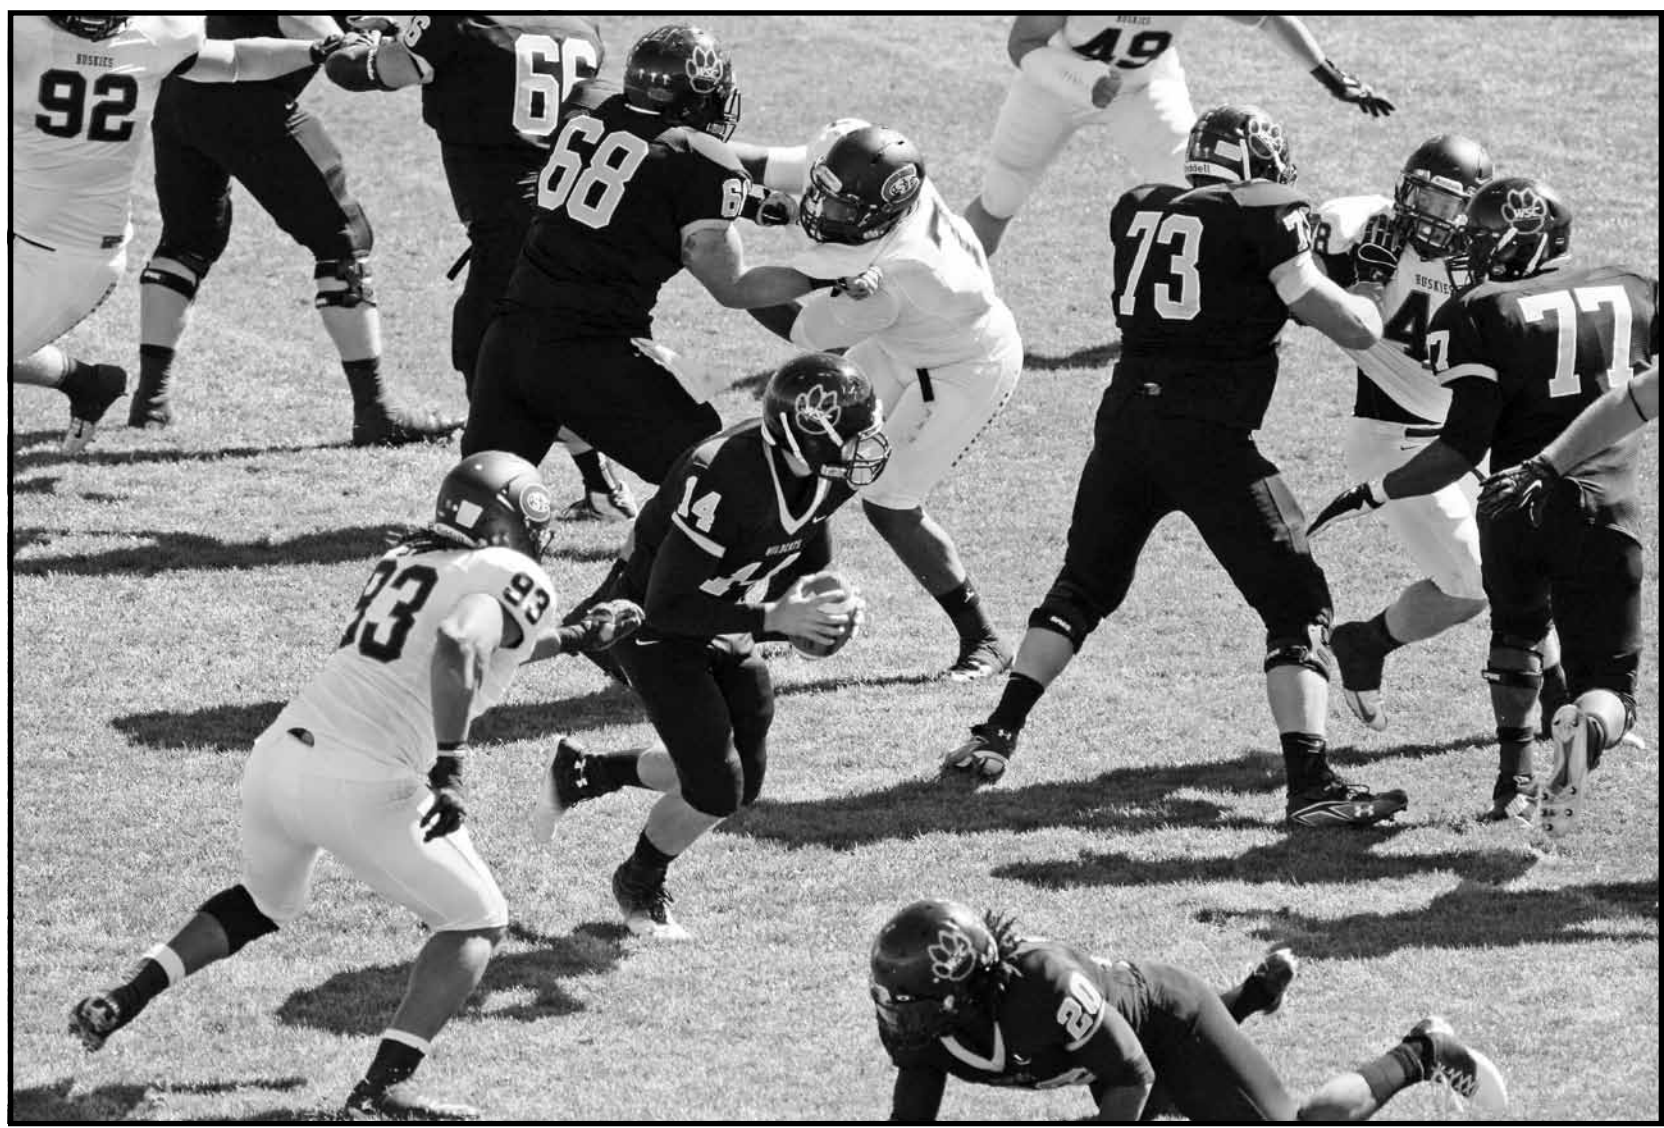

The loss was the Wildcats' first of the season after a 3-0 start, and it was rough sledding from the get-go for the offense, according to coach Dan McLaughlin.

"The first half wasn't really shiny for us," he said. "We threw a pick-six on the third play of the game, and it was kind of an uphill battle the rest of the way. Our defense and special teams played well, but we just couldn't get anything going offensively."

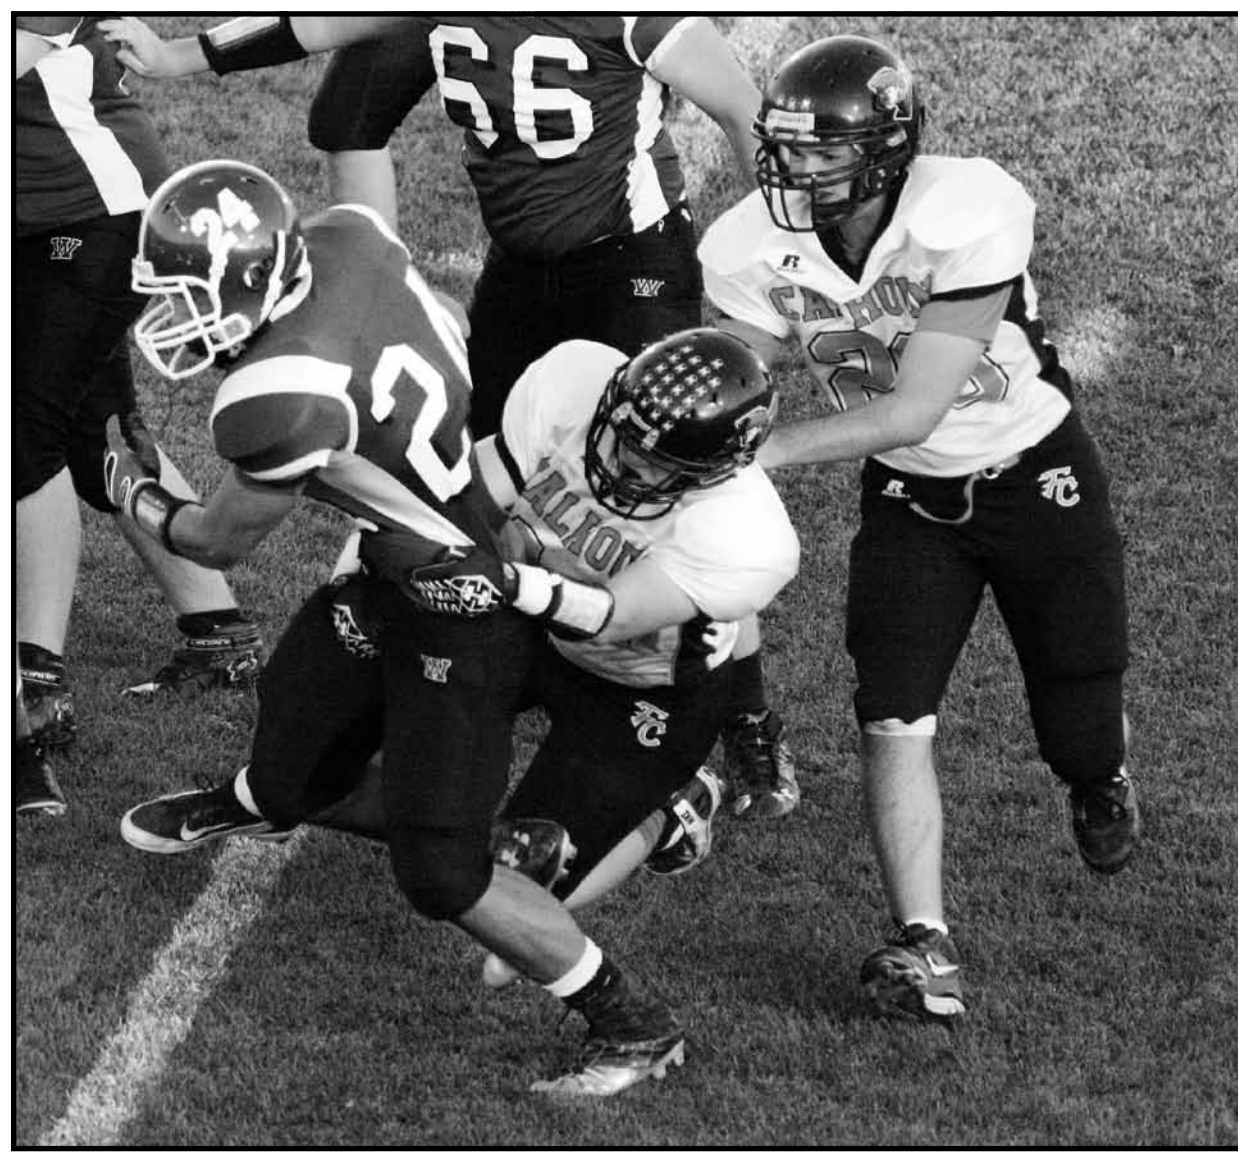

The Wildcats stumbled out of the gate early, and the visiting Huskies took advantage on the third play from scrimmage when Jack Moro stepped in front of a Nate Most pass and took it 17 yards for a touchdown, giving the Huskies a 7-0 advantage less than a minute into the game.

Wayne State appeared to have the ship righted on their next possession, but an interception by Jordan Sefon at the Huskies' 5-yard line stopped a potential Wildcat an-

Pioneers' fourth quarter comeback nets 35-26 win

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

The big play proved to be the undoing of the Wayne High football team on their homecoming night Friday.

Fort Calhoun broke some big plays in the first half and scored a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to come from behind and post a 35-26 win over the Blue Devils, sending Wayne to its fourth straight loss.

Pioneers' quarterback Jordan Kann threw a pair of touchdown passes to Jaden Boudle in the first half, then called his own number on a pair of fourth-quarter touchdown runs that helped Fort Calhoun come back from a 26-21 deficit going into the final period.

"We had a few big plays get away from us, and some missed tackles which led to some scores," coach Terry Bear said.

The Blue Devils seemed to be the aggressor for much of the first half, scoring first in the opening period when Luke Rethwisch hauled in a 13-yard touchdown pass from Jalen

Wildcats sweep two on the road

The 20th-ranked Wayne State volleyball team cracked the 10-win plateau with a trio of wins.

On Friday, the Wildcats made easy work of Minnesota, Crookston, riding the match-high 12 kills of senior Alex Armes to a 25-21, 25-19, 25-16 victory.

Wayne State committed just one attack error in the first set, but forced the Golden Eagles in to 24 attack errors overall to post the three-game sweep.

"Crookston is a much-improved program, and it was nice to go in there and get a win on their homecoming weekend," coach Scott Kneifl said.

Armes had a solid night at the net, recording 12 kills and four blocks while hitting at a .500 clip.

"Alex has really stepped up and done some positive things for us,"

Kneifl said. "Right now, she's really concentrating on keeping the ball in play when it has to be, and putting the ball away when the set is there, and we're excited to see her excel."

Cori Hobbs and Lauren Sieckmann each added eight kills at the net. Leisa McClintock had 38 assists and Courtney VanGronigen posted 18 digs to lead the defense.

It was another three-game sweep on the road Saturday, as Sieckmann posted 21 kills in a 25-18, 25-16, 25-20 win at Bemidji State.

"Lauren does a lot of good things on the outside, and when things get rolling she's fun to watch," Kneifl said. "Their defense didn't have an answer for her, and when somebody's hot, you have to keep feeding the monster and she was the monster that night."

Blue Devil golfers get ready for postseason

By MICHAEL CARNES

For a young team that is trying to show improvement each time out, Wayne girls golf coach Josh Johnson feels things are starting to come together.

The Blue Devils posted a sixth-place finish in the 16-team Metteer Invitational on Thursday at the Wayne Country Club, as Cassidy Wiese led the Blue Devils with a top-five finish.

"The girls are really coming together nicely," Johnson said after the tournament. "I've been im-

Gray fourth at Boone Central Comeback

ALBION – Mackenzie Gray continues to run well for the Winside cross country team, posting another strong finish Friday at the Boone Central Invitational.

Gray came home in fourth place, posting a time of 16:21. Her effort helped the Winside girls finish ninth in the team race, scoring 129 points. Breanna Lemke-Elzic was 54th in 20:12. Victoria Doffin was 70th at 22:07, while Brienna Wurdemann finished 84th at 24:34.

In the boys race, Colin Hansen led a trio of Winside runners with a 46th place time of 19:01. Alex Davis finished 87th at 20:26, while David Greunke was 127th at 24:18.

Barry.

Barry, who was 16-of-27 for 157 yards, called his own number on a second-quarter scoring run to give Wayne a 14-6 advantage, and made it 20-14 at intermission when he and Rethwisch connected for the second time on a five-yard touch-down pass.

“As a whole, we moved the ball well, both in the air and on the ground, although we had some penalties that slowed our drives,” Bear said. “I thought we did a good job offensively, but we struggled against their run game on defense.”

That run game kept the Pioneers in it. Boudle scored on a four-yard run to give Fort Calhoun a 21-20 lead, but Peyton Janke answered with a three-yard plunge to give the Blue Devils a 26-21 lead going to the final period.

Fort Calhoun took the lead for good on a three-yard dive by Kann. It looked like Wayne would once again answer the visitors’ challenge, but Fort Calhoun’s defense came up with a stop and Kann scored again on a 35-yard gallop to put the game out of reach.

Soden rushed for 36 yards on three carries before leaving the game with an injury. Barry added 31 yards on 13 tries. Rethwisch was the top receiver with 46 yards on four catches, while Drew Carroll had 35 yards on three catches.

The 1-4 Blue Devils will be on the road this week, looking to end a four-game losing streak with a district matchup at West Point-Beemer.

some parents seem to lose sight of what's really important.

As the letter writer stated, there won't be any college scouts at a Pee Wee baseball, youth football or city recreation basketball game. Your kid isn't going to get an endorsement deal from Nike, American Express or Bob's Tire and Hair Care Emporium based on how much playing time he gets on Saturday morning. All the kids who have suited up should get a chance to play, experience success and failure and learn from the experience. And all the kids involved should have an opportunity to learn the game and decide whether or not it's something they want to continue to play as they get older.

I've had the opportunity to coach youth football and baseball teams over the years, and did everything I possibly could to not only teach the game to the kids, but give them an equal opportunity to experience the sport and learn from whatever happened on the field. We won a lot and lost a few, and learned from every experience. Some of those kids went on to play sports in high school and college, and every so often they'll contact me and call me "Coach." It's an honor to have those young men and women call me that, and is a sign that I had a positive impact on their lives.

I've also witnessed, and been subjected to, parents who have any variety of personal agendas that make them think their kid is superior to anybody else on the team. Not only does that manner of parenting run counter to the ideal of youth sports, it is an utter embarrassment to the kid who has to witness his (or her) parent act like a complete fool.

Parents of kids involved in youth sports have two options – you can follow the lead of the writer of the aforementioned note and give of your time and talents to coach the boys and girls, or you can stand on the sidelines and cheer on your child and his teammates as they learn the game and the life lessons that come with it.

As for those of you who have an agenda regarding your kid's playing time and inevitable (in your mind, anyway) rise to worldwide superstardom, might I suggest two other options – leave the personal agenda at home, or don't bother getting involved.

The Wildcats had 45 kills on the night and hit a .371 clip in the win, highlighted by Sieckmann's third 20-plus kill effort of the season. Hobbs had 10 kills on the night, while Armes and Lexi Malm each had four blocks. McClintock had 38 assists and VanGronigen had 15 digs.

On Tuesday, the Wildcats had a difficult time disposing of a pesky Chadron State squad at Rice Auditorium, but the Wildcats came away with a 25-18, 18-25, 25-18, 25-20 win to improve to 11-3 on the season.

The Wildcats handled the Eagles in the first set, but the visitors returned the favor and frustrated the Wildcats at the net to take the second set. Wayne State regained the momentum in the third set, then held off a Chadron State comeback in the final set to take the match.

Sieckmann and Hobbs had 13 and 12 kills, respectively, to lead the Wildcats. Armes had nine kills and six blocks, McClintock had 36 assists, 11 digs and four blocks, VanGronigen had 21 digs and Katie Hughes added 13 digs.

Danica Schaefer fires a pitch to first during Wayne's 6-0 win over Wisner-Pilger on Thursday.

Softballers post shutouts

The Wayne High softball team improved to 18-3 on the season with a 6-0 shutout of Logan View/Scribner-Snyder in a matchup Tuesday in Uehling.

McKenna Gibson threw a two-hit shutout in the win, striking out six. Wayne scored two runs in the second to take the lead for good, then added two in the third and two in the seventh as they outthit the Raiders 11-2.

Megan Hoffart led the offensive effort with a 3-for-4 night at the plate, posting two doubles, two RBI's and a run scored. Sydney Harris had two hits and scored twice, Jalyn Zeiss recorded two hits and Emily Leeper had a two-run double in the second inning.

On Thursday, the Blue Devils got a two-hit pitching effort from Gibson and a two-run homer by Zeiss to post a 6-0 shutout of Wisner-Pilger on Parents Night at the Wayne Softball Complex.

Wayne scored three runs in the first inning on a bunt single by Hannah Gamble, scoring Zeiss. Leeper came home on a dropped third strike and Gamble scored on a passed ball.

Harris scored on a Hoffart single in the fifth, and after Danica Schaefer singled to open the bottom of the sixth, Zeiss launched her second over-the-fence homer of the year to straightaway center.

Zeiss was 2-for-4, while Gamble and Harris both added two hits to lead Wayne's 10-hit attack. That was more than enough for Gibson, who struck out seven and walked one while throwing a two-hit shutout for her 12th win of the year.

The Blue Devils play at Guardian Angels Central Catholic on Thursday and will play in the Yutan Invitational on Saturday.

Wakefield battles, falls at Battle Creek

BATTLE CREEK - The Wakefield football team gave another solid effort on Friday, but didn't have enough in the second half as Battle Creek came away with a 28-6 win.

Despite dropping their second straight game against a solid area opponent, coach Mike Hassler was happy with how his team competed. "I was proud of our effort," he said. "I thought we stood toe to toe with them for four quarters. Battle Creek is just an extremely fast, athletic football team from top to bottom, and when you have 52 kids on your roster you have the luxury of rotating a lot of players and keeping kids fresh. They just brought fresh kids at us in waves, and over the course of the game it took its toll and wore us down."

The Trojans battled the Braves throughout the first half. Battle Creek scored first on a nine-yard run by Nate Gray, but Wakefield countered when Evan Nicholson found Josh Dolph on a 34-yard pass. The point-after attempt failed, leaving Wakefield a point down at 7-6 at intermission.

"I was especially pleased with our defensive effort, the boys took it to them that first quarter and showed Battle Creek that we came to play," Hassler said. "Offensively we just need to get some consistency. After watching film there will several plays where we were one block away from having a much bigger play. If you want to compete with the best in C-2 you have to make those plays, and I know we can."

Hassler was happy with how the team responded to Battle Creek's early score midway through the second period.

"For us to turn around and respond with an eight minute touchdown drive of our own was tremendous. It really tells you a lot about the character of these boys this year and how far they have come since last year," he said. "I know these guys have a lot of pride in being able to piece together long drives like that, they kind of hang their hats on that. Not a lot of high school football teams can show the discipline or patience to put together a long drive without having a break down or shooting themselves in the foot. If we can continue to control the ball like that for the rest of the season, we'll be in every ball game."

Battle Creek's depth wore down the Trojans in the second half, and they were able to score twice in the third period to put the game out of reach.

"It was kind of a perfect storm of things and once Battle Creek got rolling we had a hard time stopping them," Hassler said. "Defensively fatigue really set in. On tape we had kids still making correct reads but we were just a step slower getting there then we were in the first half, and when you go up against a team as fast as Battle Creek, a step can mean a big play. The kids never gave up, and I think that was what I was most proud of."

Nicholson was 6-of-13 for 78 yards in the passing department, with Jacob Lunz hauling in half those completions for 37 yards. In the ground attack, Dolph had 65 yards on 17 tries and Justin Dorcey added 53 yards on 15 attempts.

Defensively, Lunz led the effort with 18 total tackles, including 14 unassisted stops. Daniel Muller had nine total tackles and a forced fumble, and Alex Conley had eight tackles and a fumble recovery.

The 2-2 Trojans will look to end their two-game slide on the road Friday, as they face Laurel-Concord/Coleridge in a key district matchup.

"They have a lot of experience at their skill positions," Hassler said. "(Kyle) Kardell and (Justin) Saunders are both very athletic players that, if you don't play responsibility football, they will make you pay. Laurel always gives us their best effort, and they'll be fighting for their playoff lives on Friday night. I expect nothing less than their best effort, and I know our boys will be ready to respond."

swer to the early St. Cloud score.

McLaughlin shook the offense up with a switch to redshirt freshman Brian Kent at quarterback, and the move seemed to ignite the offense somewhat. Kent used his quickness to find some holes in the Husky defense and led Wayne State to its first score of the game, a Max Martin field goal from 46 yards out with 8:24 to go in the first half.

Wayne State's special teams helped spark things further after they were able to sack the St. Cloud punter after a bad punt snap put the ball at the Huskies' 35-yard line. Three players later, Kent found a seam, scampered through a hole and ran 22 yards for a score, sending the teams to the locker room tied up at 10-10.

"Nate struggled all day, and we brought in Brian to try and shake things up, and he did with his ability to run the ball," McLaughlin said.

St. Cloud State came out in the second half and put together a pair of impressive scoring drives. They went 79 yards in 10 plays, and after a three-and-out by the Wildcat offense, marched 80 yards in 12 plays. Michael Walker capped both drives with a pair of one-yard runs to give the Huskies a 24-10 advantage.

Wayne State threw another interception deep in Husky territory after another bad punt snap, but the Wildcats continued to battle and were able to make things interesting at the end.

After the Huskies conceded a safety with 1:52 to play, they kicked off to Kevin Paulsen, who nearly went the distance before returning the kick 77 yards to the Huskies 8-yard line. He caught a pass from Most to make it 24-19, but an on-side kick was recovered by the Huskies to end the Wildcats' comeback hopes.

"We were down two scores with two minutes to play, and a minute later had a chance to win it, and that says something about our kids," McLaughlin said. "They never gave up and kept fighting."

McLaughlin was frustrated, however, with an offense that produced a season-low 165 yards in total offense and was 0-for-9 on third-down conversions in the contest.

"We were very anemic on offense," he said. "We didn't get anything going on first down, and that put us in a lot of long third-down situations."

That put a lot of pressure on a Wayne State defense that was on the field for more than 40 minutes and saw more than twice as many plays (94) as their counterparts on offense (44).

"They had the ball the whole game because we kept giving the ball back to them," McLaughlin said. "Our defense and special teams played well Saturday, but we just couldn't get anything going offensively."

Defensively, senior linebacker Benjamin Perry recorded a game-high 14 tackles with three sacks to lead the Wildcat defense, while Jeff Pokorny notched 11 tackles.

Wayne State will be at home again next Saturday as the Wildcats host Augustana in the annual Homecoming/Hall of Fame Game at 1 p.m. at Bob Cunningham Field in Wayne.

Vikings shut down Winside, win 50-6

WINSIDE – A week off didn't help the Winside football team on the scoreboard last week, as top-ranked Wausa handed the Wildcats a 50-6 setback in a rare afternoon game Friday at Jim Winch Memorial Field.

The Wildcats held their own with the Vikings for much of the first half. Wausa scored twice in the opening period to take a 12-0 lead, but Winside was able to slow down the Vikings offense for much of the first half.

Vikings' quarterback Marcus Claussen heated up late in the first half. He called his own number on a five-yard run midway through the second quarter, then hit Austin Conn on a 46-yard pass, the second of four he would throw in the game, to give Wausa a 26-0 halftime advantage. Claussen would throw a pair of long touchdown passes in the third quarter and run for another score in the fourth to put the game out of reach. Gage Main helped the Wildcats avoid a shutout with a late six-yard scoring run.

Winside accounted for all of its 223 yards in total offense on the ground, led by Main's 89 yards on 17 carries and Caleb Lienemann's 88 yards on 24 tries. Dylan Tweedy added 57 yards on 14 carries.

Defensively, Lienemann led the Wildcats with 10 total tackles, while Gatlin Jensen had 6.5 stops and Brian Greunke added 4.5 tackles.

A Message from YOUR State Senator

I tend to be a "common sense" legislator, I don't think we need exotic solutions to Nebraska problems. Let me explain:

I believe we already have too many rules, regulations, guidelines, laws and controls imposed on Nebraska citizens. Common sense rule: DON'T REGULATE WHAT SHOULD BE LEFT ALONE.

I don't attend many city council meetings, county commissioner meetings, school board meetings or other local meetings unless I am invited, or have received numerous constituent complaints. I believe local control is still the best answer. Common sense rule: "IF IT AIN'T BROKE, DON'T FIX IT."

Nebraska has an amendment to our Constitution that requires a "balanced budget". This has kept us from the temptation of "deficit spending". This is a great idea that I think should be expanded to the federal budget (when we get one). Common sense rule: "IF YOU DON'T HAVE IT, DON'T SPEND IT."

There have over the years, been many attempts to regulate the private ownership of fire arms, or as we have all come to know it, "gun control". I, as a private citizen, as an N.R.A. member and as your state senator, will continue to work to preserve and strengthen our 2nd Amendment rights. Two common sense rules apply here: "WHAT'S RIGHT, IS RIGHT" and "KEEP YOUR GRUBBY MITTS OFF OF MY GUNS."

Wildcat ruggers get 25-12 win Saturday

The Wayne State women's rugby team improved to 4-0 on the season with a 25-12 win over Nebraska Saturday at Wayne Rugby Park.

The Wildcats took a 15-0 lead into the locker room, as Kayle Freeze scored a pair of touchdowns and Maggie Warrick added another on a 20-yard run down the far sideline. Freeze's first score came after some excellent passing by the Wildcats, with the back line doing several off-loading passes for 45 yards with six Wildcats touching the ball and passing to the outside.

The Wildcats would improve their advantage to 20-0 midway through the second half on a score by freshman Alexis Vega. Nebraska got on the board soon after, but Amber Kutnick took advantage of a hard ruck set by senior Kelsey Meyer to score the Wildcats' final try of the day. Nebraska scored during stoppage time, taking advantage of some poor tackling by the Wildcats to account for the final tally of the day.

Both the men's and women's rugby teams face matchups this weekend with potential playoff implications. The Wayne State teams take on South Dakota State at the Wayne Rugby Park in a battle of the top two teams in both divisions of the Great Plains Conference. The women play at 3:30 p.m., with the men to follow at 5 p.m.

Wildcats fall to S-S in four Winside and Scribner-Snyder hooked up in an exciting volleyball match on Tuesday, with the visiting Trojans coming away with a four-set win over the Wildcats, 26-24, 20-25, 29-27, 25-18.

The match was back and forth throughout the night. Winside battled back from a seven-point deficit in the third set to tie the match at 18-18, and fought off four set points before Scribner-Snyder was finally able to put Winside away and take a 2-1 advantage in the match. The Trojans went on to close out the match in the fourth set and drop the Wildcats to 9-8 on the season.

Nazyza Thies had a triple-double for the Wildcats, finishing with 21 kills, 10 blocks and 21 digs. Dana Doffin added seven kills and 12 blocks, Carly Thies had five kills, Britany Janke had four kills and three blocks, Shannon Gray put down four kills and two blocks and Bridget Gray had three kills.

Shannon Gray recorded 34 assists and 14 digs, while Jayd Roberts had six assists and 13 digs. Bridget Gray led the team with 24 digs, Carly Schwager added 13 and Morgan Jensen picked up 11.

Having More Retirement Accounts Is Not The Same As Having More Money.

When it comes to the number of retirement accounts you have, the saying "more is better" is not necessarily true. In fact, if you hold multiple accounts with various brokers, it can be difficult to keep track of your investments and to see if you're properly diversified.* At the very least, multiple accounts usually mean multiple fees.

Bringing your accounts to Edward Jones could help solve all that. Plus, one statement can make it easier to see if you're moving toward your goals.

*Diversification does not guarantee a profit or protect against loss.

To learn why consolidating your retirement accounts to Edward Jones makes sense, call your local financial advisor today.

Turnovers hurt Allen in 43-8 home loss

ALLEN – When it rains, it pours . . . and the Allen Eagles got swept up in a tsunami.

Three second-quarter turnovers were converted into scores as visiting Hartington ran up 35 points in the second quarter on their way to a 43-8 thrashing of the Eagles Saturday afternoon at Allen Stadium.

The Eagles let things get out of hand in the first half with some sloppy ball-handling, which frustrated coach Dave Uldrich.

“Our line play was inconsistent on offense, and our backs and ends were sloppy with the ball,” he said. “It was really frustrating to see those turnovers occur, and penalties that are also occurring as we’re trying to move the ball just adds to the frustration.”

Hartington used a pair of long drives to score their first two touchdowns. Turnovers gave the Wildcats a short field for three of their next four scores, while the fourth was brought home by the defense when an Allen fumble was returned 37 yards for a score.

Allen had a chance to score in the third quarter before the Wildcats held the Eagles at the one-yard line. Allen finally found the end zone in the final period when Cole Stewart scored on an eight-yard run. Zach Crom found Austin Connot for the two-point conversion pass to round out the scoring.

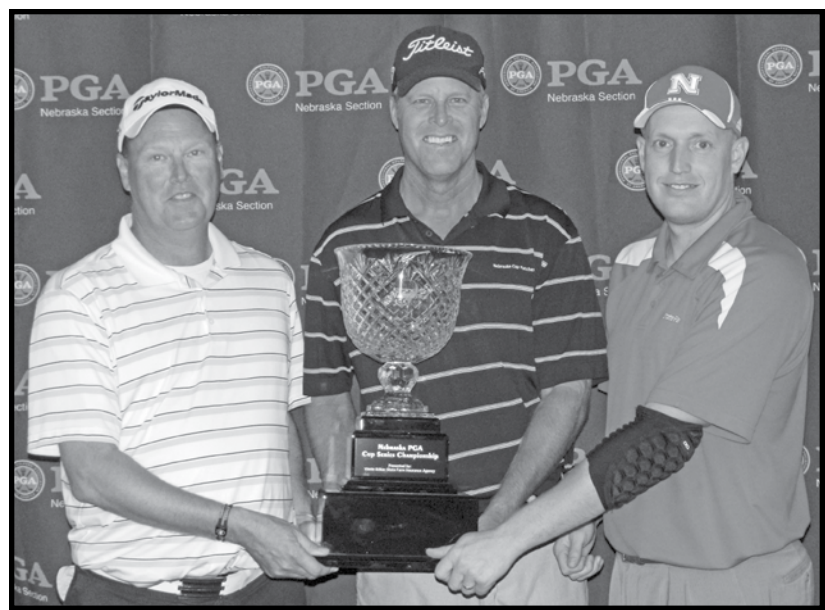

Overall, the Eagles were limited to 187 yards in total offense. Brian Boese accounted for 58 yards on 18 carries, and Crom was 6-of-16 for 120 yards with two interceptions.

Connot caught four balls for 73 yards.

Defensively, Crom led the way with 15 total tackles, and Shelby Jacobsen added 14 stops. Connot and Caleb Thomas each added 10 tackles.

“Shelby played a very good game defensively for us with 14 tackles and a fumble recovery from the defensive end position,” Uldrich said.

The Eagles will be back home Friday to face Randolph in another key district matchup.

Indians score early, often in 59-8 victory over Bears Friday

PONCA – The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge Bears have faced a pretty rough schedule in the month of September, as evidenced by a 59-8 setback at Class C2 contender Ponca on Friday.

The Indians scored early and often on the LCC squad in the first half, using an interception return and a long touchdown run to help build a 44-8 halftime edge. Michael Walsh scored on a pair of touchdown runs in the first half to help Ponca pull away early.

The Bears were able to get on the board late in the first half, thanks to a three-yard scoring gallop by Dillan Wolfgram. Kyle Kardell found Nathan Schmitt with a two-point conversion pass to account for the Bears’ only points of the night.

Kardell finished the night with 218 yards passing on 14-of-27 attempts with two interceptions. Justin Saunders caught six passes for 76 yards, while Schmitt had two catches for 66 yards. Zach Shear brought in two passes for 38 yards. Brett Haisch had 24 yards on two catches and Wolfgram had 14 yards on two receptions.

In the rushing department, the Bears were limited to minus-5 yards on the ground. Wolfgram had 21 yards on three carries as the only Bear back to gain in double digits.

Defensively, Calvin Casey led the LCC attack with eight total tackles, six of them solo. Wolfgram had six solo tackles, and Haisch added five.

The Bears will be back home on Friday to take on an improved Wakefield squad in a 7 p.m. kickoff.

Wildcat soccer team tastes first victory with Crookston win

Getting a win any time is a good thing – especially when it comes in unfamiliar territory.

The Wayne State women’s soccer team ended a seven-match losing streak Sunday with a 1-0 win over Minnesota, Crookston in an NSIC road matchup to improve to 1-7 overall and 1-4 in conference action.

Junior Kayli Hopper scored at the 64:09 mark for the lone goal of the contest, and it was a relief to coach Molly Grisham to get her team on the plus side of the ledger.

“Any time you can walk away with a split on the road, it’s a good weekend, and it was good to play well and get the win,” she said. “We really asked our defense to step up on Sunday and fix the things we saw on Saturday, and the girls were very persistent about getting that done and we were able to get the win.”

Defense was the rule of the day Sunday as each team managed just two shots apiece. The Wildcats finally broke the scoreless tie in the 64th minute when McKenna Adams’ cross found the foot of Hopper, who scored her second goal of the season.

Courtney True got her first career win in goal for the Wildcats, making one save on the day. Hopper had three of the Wildcats’ six shots on goal.

The win came 24 hours after a disappointing 4-0 loss at Bemidji State in a game where the Beavers scored in the first minute and peppered the Wildcat goal with 21 shots in the contest.

Bemidji scored 37 seconds into the game and added another goal late in the half to take a 2-0 lead. They would score twice more in the second half as True was hit hard in a losing effort, making five saves before Ryan Wells came on in relief and recorded one save.

The Wildcats come home this weekend for battles with St. Cloud State on Saturday and Duluth on Sunday.

Bauer takes 10th at Husky Classic

Sophomore Blake Bauer tied for 10th place overall to highlight the efforts of the Wayne State men’s golf team at the Husky Classic in St. Cloud, Minn.

Bauer shot rounds of 74 and 75 to finish with a 149, finishing five shots away from the top spot as four players tied for medalist honors with a 144.

Bauer’s efforts helped the Wildcats to a 15th place finish with a two-day total of 655, shooting rounds of 334 and 321 for the 36-hole tournament.

Also scoring for Wayne State were Jack Peterson with a 164, Spencer Shadden with a 169, Jeff Greenwood with a 174 and Garret Kuhl with a 177.

The Wayne State women’s golf team improved 19 shots on the second day with a 398, finishing 17th at the Mustang Invitational in Marshall, Minn., with a two-day total of 815.

Wildcats move up to No. 20 in poll

Wayne State moved up one spot to No. 20 in this week’s American Volleyball Coaches Association Div. II Top 25 coaches poll.

The Wildcats won three games last week to improve to 10-3 on the season. They are one of five Northern Sun Conference schools in this week’s rankings and the lowest of eight Central Region teams in the top 25.

Nebraska-Kearney continues to hold down the top spot, while five-time defending champion Concordia-St. Paul dropped from No. 2 to No. 4, with Southwest Minnesota State and Washburn moving ahead of them. Minnesota Duluth dropped from No. 3 to No. 6, allowing West Texas A&M to move into the No. 5 spot as the only non-Central Region team in the top five.

Other Central Region teams in the poll includes No. 8 Central Missouri and No. 10 Minnesota State.

The A squad pulled away with a straight-set win, 21-7, 21-18. Lindy Sandoz led the team with seven service points, followed by Kortney Keller with six. Coach Jenn Thomas was very excited with the tremendous effort put forth by this team of girls.

The B and C teams fell short of the wins, but both teams had positive things happen during their games as well. Maria Lenihan put five service points on the board for the B team, while Felicity Jech led the C team with five service points and Claire Barnes scoring four.

Junior high football teams earn wins

Wayne defeated Hartington Cedar Catholic 28-6 in eighth grade football action.

Tyler Pecena raced 60 yards for the first score, then Christian Rogers scored twice, with the longest on a 65-yard reverse. Lucas Longe completed the scoring with a 10 yard touchdown run. Tucker Nichols passed to Ty Grone twice

In seventh grade action, Wayne ran their record to 2-1 with a 22-0 shutout of Hartington Cedar Catholic.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

Froot Loops and Jesus Kardashian?

There are more than 6 billion people on this planet. As proof of my theory that a good weeding of the gene pool is long overdue, here are some tidbits of evidence from the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— From the "In the right place at the right time with the wrong payment method" department: police in Florida arrested a homeless man at a bar for using a stolen credit card to buy himself a beer.

Authorities were called after the bartender took a look at the name on the credit card and discovered that it was his card the patron was using. The thief was charged with credit card fraud and theft and awaits a court hearing — and a likely beating the next time he goes to that particular bar.

— As kids, my sister and I used to argue over who got the last serving of macaroni and cheese. However, it never got as bad as what happened between two family members in north Omaha recently.

A 42-year-old man and his 50-year-old mother-in-law got into a fight that resulted in the man being pushed down a flight of stairs — after they got into a fight over a bowl of Froot Loops cereal.

The man was not injured in the incident — outside of the wounded pride that came with having to tell his buddies that his mother-in-law, eight years his senior, shoved him into the basement.

— Monica Lewinsky is writing a tell-all book about her affair with then-President Bill Clinton, including love letters and Clinton's extreme interests in, shall we say, multiple-person trusts. The book may also include love letters that are so intimate that she never sent them to Clinton, as well as reports that Clinton described his wife, Hillary, to Lewinsky as a "cold fish."

A book deal has yet to be confirmed, but reports are that she could get as much as $12 million for writing a tell-all about her shenanigans with the former president in the Oval Office, the Lincoln Bedroom, the Nixon Closet, The Taft Kitchen or whatever other rooms they deflowered in the White House.

— From the "Too dense to see the forest from the trees" department: Reality starlet Kim Kardashian told an Australian news reporter who she would like to be for one day. Her choice? Jesus.

"I think it would be pretty fascinating to see the power that he had," she said in explaining her choice.

What — the fact that you're famous for doing nothing isn't proof enough? — Boy, you think Luke Skywalker had it bad when he found out his true relationship to his nemesis, Darth Vader? He's got nothing on an Ohio woman who recently found out the husband that she buried several years ago was, in fact, her father.

You think that's bad — she also found out that her father was actually her grandfather and a person who was identified as a family friend was, in fact, her mother. She found out about this from her sister-in-law, who is actually her cousin that is married to her brother, who is actually her great-grandfather's uncle's brother's step-sister.

— From the "Man's best friend? I think not" department: a man in Utah went on a hunting trip with his hunting dog recently and was shot in the butt. The guilty would-be assassin? His dog.

The man took his pup on a duck-hunting expedition recently and had put his gun down for the moment to check on something when the dog stepped on the gun, accidentally triggering the blast that caught his owner in the tush.

The man was treated and released at a hospital — the dog probably got whacked on the nose with a rolled-up newspaper.

— Annnnnnd finally, from the "Sir, that's not a banana in your pocket, is it?" department: a man in India was arrested after attempting to board a flight with an endangered monkey in his pants.

The man was en route to New Delhi when airport security frisked the guy and found a small loris, which is an endangered species native to India and southeast Asia.

Letters

Time to use another "R" word

On Sept. 8, my friend Brian Mizner attended the Wayne State-Minot State football game.

I found out from him, via his post on Facebook, that while he was at the game a student from Wayne called him the "R" word. This made me very upset. Most of you know Brian. During basketball games, he will run along the student section and help get the wave going.

He is part of the food service staff at morning and lunch. Why do we do this to this man or any person that is a little different?

I am writing this to let people know that you may think that words don't hurt, but they actually do. I am passionate about this because it happened to me growing up in Genoa.

When Brian was called the "R" word, he did not cuss the person out, he politely said, "Could you please refrain from saying that word?"

All I ask is please think about what you say, so this doesn't happen again. I want to thank Coach Paul Combs who was there to calm Brian down and talk to him. We need to learn another "R" word and this respect. Brian is so proud to work for Wayne State College and to cheer for the 'Cats.

Capitol View

It's not your routine election

By J. L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

Beyond the highly publicized race between Republican Deb Fischer and Democrat Bob Kerrey for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Ben Nelson is a whole 'nother election.

Term limits took a bite out of the Nebraska Unicameral leaving nine fairly popular incumbents ineligible to run. This is the year for the odd-numbered of the 49 state legislative districts to be on the ballot. Those 25 races are joined by a contest in one even-numbered, District 2, where the appointed incumbent Paul Lambert must be elected to the seat he received when Sen. David Pankonin of Louisville stepped down in 2011. Lambert, the former Mayor of Plattsmouth, faces a challenge from sales and marketing researcher Bill Kintner of Papillion.

Of the 15 incumbents running for re-election, none has received more recent publicity than Omaha's Brenda Council, an attorney who was elected in 2008 to the District 11 seat held for nearly 40 years by Ernie Chambers, an early victim of term limits. In fact, it has been widely believed that Chambers was the official target of the term limits law, the passage of which took many a casual observer of the legislative process by surprise.

Chambers beat Council in the primary by 149 votes and all was quiet in the inner city district until a few weeks ago when Attorney General Jon Bruning announced charges of campaign finance violations against Council.

Bruning alleged that Council misappropriated $63,000 in campaign funds, which she spent on gambling at casinos in Kansas, and falsified campaign finance documents to cover it up. She recently pleaded guilty to two misdemeanor counts and paid a $500 fine.

Legislative Update

Legislative activities starting to pick up

The first thing in the "newsletter" this week is to wish Sen. John Wightman of Lexington a speedy recovery. On Sunday, Sen. Wightman suffered a stroke at his home in Lexington and he is now in a Lincoln hospital for treatment and evaluation. Sen. Wightman is one of the most respected leaders in our Legislature. He is able to accomplish a great deal without being loud, flashy or overbearing, a quiet man that just gets things done. Please include him in your thoughts and prayers.

It is the time of year when legislative activities start to pick up. Senators start looking toward the upcoming session and legislation that they may want to introduce and committees become very active holding hearings on interim studies. This does require me to be in Lincoln more since I serve on the Agriculture Committee, General Affairs Committee, and the Health and Human Services Committee and all three of these committees are holding hearings in the upcoming weeks. Being in Lincoln for committee hearings so I can stay better informed on the issues we will be dealing in January, unfortunately, requires me to be out of the district and therefore unable to attend a number of events which I would like to attend. There will also probably be events that you would like me to be at, that I will not be able to attend, I ask your indulgence.

We are fortunate to have the Health and Human Services Committee coming to our district for an aforementioned hearing that is being held at the Nebraska Indian Community College auditorium in Macy, at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 25. The hearing is being held on LR578 which is a resolution that I introduced. The purpose of this resolution is to look into and review Nebraska's compliance with the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 and the Nebraska Indian Child Welfare Act. There are four Native American tribes that can be found in our part of the state; the Ponca, Omaha, Santee Sioux, and the Winnebago tribes and all four they apparently aren't going to see fur fly in the most-watched legislative race. But, seasoned observers know that if the venerable veteran Chambers is taking the high road, anything can and will happen.

Oh, by the way, there are some other interesting legislative races out there. Not unlike Plattsmouth's Lambert, Hastings Attorney Les Seiler is seeking election to the District 33 seat to which he was appointed earlier this year following the death of incumbent Sen. Dennis Utter. He is being challenged by businessman Marvin Butch Hughes who has been in the race before.

Two ranchers, Al Davis of Hyannis and John W. Ravenscroft of Nenzel, are running for the seat in District 43 from which Fischer was term-limited. For the first time in many years, there are no farmers or ranchers running for the District 49 seat, which was once held by the term-limited Sen. LeRoy Loudon of Ellsworth. The seat is no longer assigned to the Sandhills-Panhandle district. Thanks to redistricting and a shifting population base, the number is now assigned to the Gretna area of eastern Nebraska where John Murante faces Frank C. Wellenstein.

With the general election a little more than a month away, stay tuned. It will be anything but routine.

There are four Native American tribes that can be found in our part of the state; the Ponca, Omaha, Santee Sioux, and the Winnebago tribes and all four

My office has been working with Nebraska Commission on Indian Affairs, Nebraska Applesseed, and the Health and Human Services Committee to prepare for this hearing. It seems that when federal and or tribal laws and issues intermingle with state laws and issues, there is frequently confusion. Hopefully we can all come away with a better understanding of what is expected and needed. This hearing is open to public and I would encourage you to attend.

We had hearings two days last week, I was in Lincoln today Friday for a General Affairs Committee hearing, and on Oct. 5 I will be back in Lincoln for more hearings. In the morning the Health and Human Services Committee will have a joint hearing with the Judiciary Committee to discuss LR529 and LR525. LR529, brought by Sen. Kathy Campbell, is to provide a review and assessment and make recommendations relating to the entry of children into the child welfare system. Sen. Colby Coash introduced LR525 which is a study to examine how Nebraska's system for screening, assessing, and investigating reports of child abuse and neglect contributes to Nebraska's rates of out-of-home care. The afternoon will be spent in a joint Agriculture and Education Committee hearing to discuss an interim study brought by Sen. Kate Sullivan to examine Nebraska's kindergarten through twelfth grade education standards and curriculum to determine whether or not agriculture is incorporated to the extent it should be as an essential component in our education system.

As always, if we can be of any assistance, contact our office at (402) 472-2716 or e-mail dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov.

Wayne State College professor to perform Renaissance lute music

Dr. Ronald Lofgren will perform on an eight-course Renaissance lute during a recital in Ley Theatre on the Wayne State College campus on Tuesday, Oct. 9 at 7:30 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Lute was the premiere solo instrument during the Middle Ages and Renaissance periods. Composers continued writing music for lute throughout the Baroque era, before it fell out of use after 1800.

The Wayne State College Madrigal Singers began to use the lute several years ago. Dr. Ronald Lofgren, Director of Choral Activities, took up the challenge of learning to play the instrument and was granted a sabbatical during the spring semester of 2009 to take lessons from Gail Gillispie, a member of the Venere Lute Quartet.

Lofgren has played for many events, including the Sioux City Riverssance Renaissance Faire and at the annual Elizabethan Christmas Feastes given by the WSC Madrigals. Last fall he gave his first recital on the instrument and has purchased his own lute, which will be featured during the Oct. 9 recital.

"The lute is a very soothing instrument," said Dr. Lofgren, "Some of the music to be performed was written by anonymous composers, which is typical for the time period. A variety of dances will be included in the program, written by composers from all across Europe, and taken from sources in Germany, Italy, France, England, and what is now the Netherlands. Some notable composers whose music will be represented on the program include Adrian Le Roy, William Byrd, and John Dowland."

A few of the selections include "The Earl of Oxford's March" by William Byrd; "O What It Is To Love" by Dallis; "Passe Velours" by Adrian Le Roy and "Orlando Sleepeth" by John Dowland.

For more information, call (402) 375-7359.

President Joann Temme conducted the meeting. Yearbooks for the new year were passed out and dues were collected.

Ruth Victor gave the Thought for the day about sharing, "Share your life with those around you, especially those people who might not have anyone else. Those people are feeling a loss and need someone to communicate with. When you have a bad day yourself, think of those who helped and thought of you at other times. One of the most valuable things I have learned is how much someone can mean to someone else."

It was voted to give a donation to the Wayne County Museum Friends fundraising for the painting and repairs to the museum.

Programs for the year will be

The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 1 at 2 p.m. with Delores Utecht as hostess.

Dixon County History

Articles taken from first few editions of Allen, NE News – Dated 1890 1. The Parties that purchased the first lots in Allen:

W.A. Hickman has the contract on No. 1 - Wilson Brothers, No. 2; C. O. Snyder & Co. Lots 3, 4 and 5. Frank Surber built the first Hotel in Allen. It was opened to the public September 1, 1890. The new 4 room school 32 X 50 two story was built at a cost of $2000.00.

The First Methodist church was built. It was 32 X 50 and erected at a cost of $1,500. Rev. W. A. Davies was the first minister. The next was a Newspaper, the first edition was July, 3 1890 and edited by Warner Starr.

The water problems were a serious drawback to the new Allen town, the first few years as water had to be hauled in barrels to supply the needs of the households until cisterns were constructed with filters which was depended upon for culinary purposes. The purity of the water that flows down that valley into South Creek from numerous springs nearby in Rose Addition is all the saved the town from serious epidemics. Healthy is the man who can partake of purest of water of life freely.

Wayne State College hosts Zombie Walk

"The zombies are coming!"

There are books, movies, and a strong pop-culture movement (based on a prolific subgenre of apocalyptic fiction in countless zombie-related media) that embraces the concept of a "Zombie Apocalypse," an event leading to the breakdown of society as a result of an initial zombie outbreak which spreads. The CDC and Homeland Security/FEMA firmly denies the existence of zombies even though they have used the concept of Zombie Apocalypse Preparedness as a vehicle to promote disaster preparedness. Surely the government knows what they are talking about. don't they?

Maybe not. The zombies are coming to Wayne America! The inaugural Zombie Walk is rising for the apocalypse on Saturday, Oct. 27. The undead outbreak will be born in the Atrium of the Wayne State College Student Center in preparation for a total citywide takeover. Participants of the Zombie Walk will gather from 2:30-4:30 p.m., playing games and having their makeup done. At approximately 5 p.m., the zombies will line up for a slow-paced shuffle through the WSC campus and then make their way to downtown Wayne. After the walk concludes zombies, victims, and bystanders will retire to the back room of the Max for a social gathering and a contest (categories and prizes to be announced) in the back room of the Max.

Participants can arrive dressed as zombies (or perhaps zombie hunters) or take advantage of the $5 per person "Zombifying Stations" provided by the WSC Sci Fi & Fantasy Club to be made up as a zombie. The Zombie Walk is family friendly event, so if you're not walking be sure to bring your loved ones to participate as spectators. There is no admission fee and all interested in being a Zombie are welcome.

For additional event information, please visit wildcat.wsc.edu/clubs/sfclub/zombie.

Lifestyle

The Wayne Herald

Set aside time to reconnect at meals

The school year has begun and with jam-packed schedules, families may find it hard to make time for family meals at the dinner table. Still, it is important for families to go through their schedules and find a time to sit down at the dinner table in order to continue developing good family relationships.

Research has proven that family meals benefit everyone, especially children, in various ways. From a nutritional standpoint, when families eat together at home, children usually eat more vegetables, fruits and whole grains.

Preparing a meal also is a great way to enhance family relationships. Get the children involved in the preparation process. Younger kids can set the table. Older kids can help wash the produce, mix or stir the meal or even cook for the night while the parent becomes the kitchen helper.

Family meals also promote healthy dialogue by providing a way for parents and their children to reconnect and practice good communication skills, focusing on the quality of conversation. With family members being busy and pulled in different directions, it is important to get together and share what is going on in each other's lives.

So how do families find the time to have quality mealtime together? Well, there is no rule that says the family meal has to be for dinner. Every family is different and so is each family's schedule, so the family meal can be for breakfast or lunch if that works best. Also, to ensure family meals occur even during extremely busy times, families can prepare meals on the weekends or double the amount of food they make so they can freeze half of it and bring it out on a busy night.

Once the mealtime is determined, families need to minimize distractions during that time to ensure it is quality time. Turn off the TV, cell phones and other electronic devices and just spend that hour or so together, connecting with each other without those distractions.

'Kids' Praise' program added to events at Praise Assembly

The congregation of Praise Assembly of God has recently added an event to the Wednesday evening "Family Night" that runs from 6:30-7:45 p.m. each week.

It is called "Kids' Praise" – and it is designed for children in grades kindergarten through sixth. The Adult Bible Study (in a continuing study called "Let's Trust Genesis") also meets during that time.

Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. is the monthly "Dessert with the Pastor" gathering in the fellowship hall of the church. This is a time of fellowship for the church family with the pastor and his family.

The Women's Ministry of the church invites the women of the community to a special "Chocolate and Friends" gathering for the ladies on Sunday, Oct. 7, at 12 p.m., in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

You can call the church at (402) 375-3430 or send an e-mail and ask "Jane" for information (praiseassemblywayne@gmail.com). Lunch will be provided.

Rev. Jason Pickering, the pastor of Praise Assembly, has begun a sermon series that will be featured in the Sunday morning service at 10:30 a.m. dealing with the soon-return of Jesus.

There isn't a lot of talk these days about the return of Christ to the earth – except at times like those in which we live that are full of uncertainty and extreme challenge. This past Sunday morning, Rev. Pickering chose his Bible text from Matthew 21, the story of the 10 virgins who were awaiting the arrival of the bridegroom.

In the story, the bridegroom did not arrive when the ladies were expecting and five of them (called "unwise") ran out of oil in their lamps. However, the other five (the "wise" virgins) were ready, not only for the delay but also to welcome the bridegroom when he arrived. In his message, the pastor reminded the congregation that Jesus will return at a time when no one is expecting His return. And in that instant, all things will change. The Bible speaks of a "Rapture" of believers in Christ who will be gathered in the air to be with the Lord forever. Change is imminent. And we need to be ready for Jesus' return. At the conclusion of his message, the pastor reminded the congregation that there is security in this: "when I know His heart (His heart of love), then He knows my name."

Everyone is invited to come and hear more this weekend.

Dean Jacobs

'All Things Amazon' set for Oct. 17

The Wayne State College Explorers Club presents "All Things Amazon," a presentation by Dean Jacobs, Wayne State College 2011 Alumni of the Year, in the Student Center, Frey Conference Suite on Wednesday, Oct. 17 at 4 p.m.

His presentation highlights discoveries and challenges of a six-month journey exploring the Amazon River of South America from source to mouth. His audience will learn about the amazing plants, animals and people of the region.

Since 2001, Dean Jacobs has spent 4 1/2 years traversing across the globe exploring over 51 countries on a low-budget adventure, propelled by a desire to understand the world we share.

Jacobs was born in Wahoo. After living on a farm, his family moved to Fremont. He graduated from Wayne State College, earning a degree in biology, with minors in earth science and art. After graduating, he worked in the administration of Wayne State College as the assistant to the president, before moving on to Purina Mills. Eventually, this path led him to Pfizer Pharmaceuticals, where he was employed in sales and marketing for 10 years. After a great deal of soul searching, Jacobs left the security of corporate America and decided to pursue other dreams. This was the beginning of a process that would lead to a travelling adventure that would span 22 months and cover 28 countries. Taking photos became a natural expression of the journey for Jacobs, as he documented and verified the common ground of our humanity. Jacobs also works as a contributing newspaper columnist, photojournalist, children's book author and keynote presenter across the country.

Jacobs recently completed a six-month journey of exploring the Amazon River and rain forest of South America.

For more information, visit www.deanjacobs.org or contact Jacobs at (402) 719-7083 or e-mail deanjacobs.org.

New acreage reporting dates for 2013

Producers of perennial forage and fall-seeded small grains must submit their 2013 acreage report for those crops to the Farm Service Agency, and to their crop insurance agent, by Nov. 15, 2012.

In prior years, reports for these crops were not due to FSA until late June or early July.

"This change is part of an initiative at the national level to align acreage reporting dates between FSA and the Risk Management Agency (RMA), and reduce the crop reporting burden on producers", announced Dan Steinkruger, Nebraska FSA State Executive Director.

Crop acreage reports are essential to maintaining eligibility for multiple FSA program benefits, and establishing a record of historical cropping. Currently proposed Farm Bill legislation continues the crop reporting requirement. "Timely acreage reporting not only maintains a producer's eligibility for traditional conservation, price support and production program benefits, but is also a requirement for critical disaster program assistance," noted Steinkruger.

Nov. 15 is also the crop insurance sales closing date for forage production in Nebraska. "Given the 2012 drought across the state, farmers and ranchers should consider their insurance options including the new Pasture, Rangeland and Forage (PRF) Rainfall Index program to cover pasture drought losses," said Steinkruger.

Producers are reminded of the importance of accurately reporting the crop, crop acreage, intended use, irrigation practice, planting date and producer shares. Prevented planted acres must be reported within 15 days of the final planting date. Failed acres must be reported to FSA within 15 days of when the loss becomes apparent for non-insurable crops, or otherwise prior to disposition of the crop.

Contact your local FSA office with questions or to schedule an acreage certification appointment.

State 4-H Camp Trail Ride to be held Oct. 12-14 near Halsey

Do you enjoy riding your horse through breathtaking scenery? Look no further - the State 4-H Camp Trail Ride is set for Oct. 12-14 at the U.S. National Forest near Halsey.

"What's more enjoyable than a trail ride? A trail ride that directly benefits the State 4-H Camp," said Dewey Teel, co-chair of the 2012 ride. All proceeds will benefit the 4-H Camp.

Early bird registrations are due Sept. 28. A discount will be given to 4-H clubs who bring five or more riders. Registration includes four trail rides, Saturday night steak dinner, and Sunday breakfast. Riders may also sign up for extras: cabins, sack lunches, "make your own" horse craft item, or wagon rides for the non-horseback riders.

Certified weed free hay and pens are available for the horses as early as Friday, Oct. 12. After the horses are bedded down, the riders will have hot dogs and s'mores available that evening.

Saturday registration begins at 8 a.m. Central Time. Two trail rides will travel the hills as the trees change into their fall colors. New York strip steaks and fixings will satisfy the hunger of any weary riders that evening. Everyone is welcome to attend the steak supper, auction, and entertainment. Kids (12 years and under) will receive half a steak for at a reduced cost.

The Goose Creek Band will provide boot stomping music and the auction will directly benefit the 4-H Camp. Breakfast and inspirational time will welcome in Sunday morning. A trail ride will be held that morning. Following lunch, participants are welcome to attend an optional trail ride that afternoon.

Contact Connie Cox at the State 4-H Camp at (308) 533-2224 or e-mail cox5@unl.edu for more information. Registration forms and more information can be found at centralsandhills.unl.edu/trailride or from the local UNL Extension Office. Payment can be made with check or credit card.

Motorists urged to use extra caution this harvest season

The Nebraska State Patrol is reminding motorists to use extra caution and pay special attention as harvest season continues.

Drivers can expect to see an increase in agricultural equipment on state roadways. In addition to farm implements, motorists are encouraged to watch for deer often scared from the fields by the increased activity.

"It is often easy to become complacent in our daily travels," said Col. David Sankey, Superintendent of the Nebraska State Patrol. "By issuing this reminder, we hope to draw attention to the need for everyone to be even more attentive on our roads during this very busy time of year."

Combines, grain carts, tractors and other agricultural implements typically travel at slower speeds. Due to their dimensions and loads, operator visibility is often reduced. Motorists are urged to be cautious when approaching, following or attempting to pass farm vehicles.

Operators of agricultural implements are reminded they may travel upon the shoulder of the roadway when available. They are also reminded of the need for SMV warning triangles and to utilize their flashing yellow caution lights whenever they are on the road. When turning left from a roadway into a field or far entrance, operators are cautioned to be aware of vehicles attempting to pass them. If an occupant restraint system is available in the implement they are driving, operators are encouraged to buckle-up.

"Help us wind up this year's harvest season safely. Remember to always buckle-up and watch out for each other," Sankey said.

Drought, local eateries noted

On Saturday, the first day of Autumn, I turned on the furnace for the first time. Actually, we are thoroughly enjoying this chilly weather. And we hope it lasts until Christmas, and then warms up!

I guess that's not really accurate, as I read a statement this week that said we paid for our unusually mild winter last year with that unusually warm summer! Plus, a lot of us believe drought doesn't just last one year. Someone else reminded me yesterday that in the 30's, it started in Texas, too, and rolled north.

Bill Nye, the science guy, was at the Homestead Monument near Beatrice on Sunday and talked at length about the amount of carbon dioxide that has been released into the atmosphere in the last thirty years. He makes sense.

And one of the aides at my Mom's nursing home remarked last night that we should not be worrying so much about lawns and more about having potable water to drink! Amen to that. Although I don't think I want to go to the extreme of having an all rock lawn like the one that's been getting publicity lately.

All through the recent recession

By: Pat Meierhenry

and still today, I notice that the parking lots around the local restaurants are usually full, especially in the evenings. I really do not believe that anyone cooks at home anymore.

I still enjoy hearing the three little words, "let's eat out", as much as any woman. But, I'm having more and more trouble with the offerings. We drove clear across town last week to a new place in Fallbrook that our kids have been raving about. Supposedly, the Reubens were especially good, and we like Reubens.

They were stacked so high with corned beef and sauerkraut, we could hardly get them in our mouths. The Big Farmer, with his one hand, also had difficulty getting it picked up; it really required two hands. We each only ate a half, and we had left overs for lunch the next day, pried apart and warmed in the microwave.

I notice in the photos with the restaurant reviews, it seems to be a contest as to how much you can pile on one bun. I don't get it; don't the flavors get lost? And so many add a poached egg; what's with that? Karen Campbell, our British friend, says that's a British thing. It does add protein, but most of the time, protein is not needed, due to all the meat and cheese. Anyway, I guess I'm doomed to keep cooking at home; we can get the stuff in our mouths that way!

Look out for those little critters invading this winter

This next Thursday, Oct. 4, many volunteers in Wayne will be "locked up" for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. If you know a friend who needs to be "bailed out" or prefer them to be "kept in" please contribute to this worthy cause. I will be one of the "prisoners", so if you wish to contribute, send checks made out to MDA at my address at 2209 Highview Drive, Wayne, Neb. 68787, or go to the MDA website Wayne 2012 Lockup and search for a volunteer to contribute to. Thanks.

What do crickets, millipedes, Asian lady beetles, box elder bugs, wolf spiders, and other creepy crawlies all have in common this time of the year? You have probably figured it out: they are looking for a cozy place to hole up for the winter.

Let's visit a little bit about crickets and some of the other insects that become pests by entering houses in the fall. Crickets are a critical part of our ecosystem. They feed on a lot of different plants, decaying organic matter and even other dead insects. They are also a valuable food source for other animals such as spiders, birds, and snakes.

Millipedes are thin, hard-shelled worm-like arthropods with many legs. They feed on organic matter and are efficient recyclers of plant material. Millipedes are less annoying but still will enter your house and dry up into a hard shell for you to clean up. The next most common invader is the Asian lady beetle, which are beneficial for much of the year since they feed on soybean aphids and other harmful insects.

However, at this time of the year, these critters begin to enter buildings, and if you happen to have a cricket sneak into your house and start chirping in the middle of the night, it can drive you crazy. Asian lady beetles will congregate in large numbers and if you have a nice overwintering site, they will enter by the hundreds or even thousands. They have a disagreeable odor and can stain areas when you crush them.

The only good news that I can think of from this incredibly dry weather is that it has kept cricket, millipede, and other insect numbers way lower than normal in most areas. Soybean aphid numbers were very low and this will limit lady beetle populations, as well.

Any cool snap will begin to drive these bugs into looking for better quarters, so now is the time to prepare for these annoyances. Look for any gaps in windows, doors, cracks in foundations, and any other openings which will give easy access. Fill the gaps with foam sealant or any other method that will prevent entry. Outside, if you have heavy mulch, boards, and wood piles around the foundation, these make excellent hiding places and areas where these critters can stage up for a home invasion. Remove these hiding areas if you can.

An insecticide "barrier" may be created by spraying the exterior of structures along the foundation with a wide band of about 4-5 feet. Spray about 2 feet up into the foundation as well. Make sure you spray the product to the point where you can see the material running down the foundation to give you extra residual. Keep pets and children away from the area until the surface dries.

You can purchase these barrier insecticides at your local hardware store. Many of the so-called "Home Defense" type products are good choices for a barrier spray. I don't normally like to single out a product but Tempo is now available for homeowners and is an excellent barrier spray. If you have ornamental beds and lawns adjacent to the foundation, it may be advisable to treat those as well. One last comment; these products don't last for one year like the advertisements may say. Depending on weather conditions, you may have to spray every 2-4 weeks until we get a hard freeze.

Good luck on the "home front."

ATTENTION ALL WAYNE COUNTY 4-H EXHIBITOR FAMILIES:

Alternative Farming Tour

To introduce the region to alternative farming practices, the Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation & Development (RC&D) Council wants to invite the public to a bus tour that will visit local farms that approach agriculture and business from a different angle.

This no-fee tour is Wednesday, Oct. 10. To reserve one of the 40 spots on this no-fee tour, call the RC&D office at 402-582-4866 or e-mail northeastrcd@plwvtelco.net by Friday, Oct. 5.

The bus is scheduled to depart from the RC&D office, located on east Highway 20 in Plainview at 8 a.m. The first stop (tentatively) will be to view and discuss grass-fed beef production. With higher costs for grain, this farmer has invested in practices and genetics that not only produce fat cattle without grain, but also produce a product for an emerging market where demand is currently outstripping supply. The grass-fed beef program uses less energy, builds soil fertility and causes less pollution.

The next stop will be to an organic farm near Orchard to see and hear how one farmer is introducing practices to increase his soil carbon level on the farm, one of the best ways to make the soil more resilient in the face of climate disruption.

Tour participants will also hear about a new concept of bio-fuel heating and cooking. This World Stove uses a total combustion system, with low or no polluting gases and produces a substance called bio-char that can be added to the soil to drastically increase long-term soil fertility without the need for expensive fertilizer.

Lunch will be at the Ponca Tribe of Nebraska's Pow-Wow grounds featuring buffalo burgers. One of the tribe's herds is located there on their organic grazing lands so time will be allowed to observe buffalo in their natural environment and learn about the health benefits of eating buffalo meat. The Ponca Tribe manages the animals for disease, parasites and general health, practices that can be easily adapted to cattle production as well.

The last stop will be to a Cedar County farm to view and discuss a new 8,000 watt photovoltaic facility. This net-metered array is expected to replace about half this farmer's electricity bill, and actually pay for itself in less than 10 years. This ground-mounted equipment is adjustable to accommodate the seasonal angle of the sun, thereby increasing the efficiency by 12%. Because of scheduled increases in energy costs, this product will gain in value in the future.

The tour will be back in Plainview by 5 p.m. This event is part of the RC&D's Statewide Organic Farming project which is partially funded through a grant from the Nebraska Environmental Trust. The Trust is funded by proceeds from the Nebraska Lottery and has awarded more than $178 million to conservation projects in Nebraska since 1994.

Seating is limited - first come, first served.
