Distirct 17 candidates discuss issues in Wayne

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

The two candidates aiming for the District 17 seat in the Nebraska Legislature discussed everything from school financing to state's equalization formula that tends to favor the big-city schools gun control during their debate Wednesday at the Majestic The-after being appointed in 2010 by Gov. Dave Heineman to fill out the term of Bob Giese, who stepped down to become the Dakota County Clerk. He was joined by Lyons native and former South Sioux City school superintendent Van Phillips, as the candidates answered a number of questions from a reporter-estimated 50 voters who were in attendance.

Phillips said it is important for rural Nebraska to be able to attract people to the area, citing the recent expandepend on them to get us out of the mess we're in." sion by Thurston Manufacturing as an example of small businesses creating jobs in the rural parts of the state.

"Thurston Manufacturing has as many people working for them as live in the town of Thurston," he told the audience. "I don't say that with any degree of humor. I say that because those are the kind of things we're looking for in the revitalization and re-energizing of rural Nebraska. We're not going to attract a Tyson Foods, but we can attract those kinds of businesses that can employ people (in the rural area)."

The two candidates differed on funding education in Nebraska. Bloomfield said an overhaul of the Department of Education needs to be done, while Phillips said a closer look needs to be taken at the of Lincoln and Omaha.

"The Department of Education needs the same sort of overhaul Hoskins resident Dave Bloomfield is seeking a first full term we've started to give the Department of Health and Human Services," Bloomfield said. "We need to see where

Some voters not waiting for Nov. 6

Early voting is robust, County Clerk says

It's obvious that the 2012 election will be a very close race, and the residents of Wayne County are doing their part in having their voices heard.

voting ballots as of Wednesday morning.

To get more people involved in this year's election, Wayne County Clerk Debra Finn, visited the Wayne State College campus to get students to register to vote.

"We got 250 forms from six different states filled out for registration," Finn said. "And out of the 250, 11 voters became registered in Wayne County."

Finn wanted to give students the opportunity to vote in their county.

"It's important to get young people involved in the voting process early," Finn said. "If they get involved early, they are more likely to stay involved."

Voting early is a simple procedure. Any registered voter may vote an absentee ballot instead of voting at their designated polling place. The voter must mail or fax an early voting ballot application to the Wayne County Election Office at P.O. Box 248, Wayne, Neb., 68787, or fax it to (402) 375-4137. If you are using an agent to vote early, an absentee ballot may be picked up and/or delivered by an agent. The agent seas. is limited to assisting two voters per election. The agent must come to the election office at 510 Pearl Street in Wayne. Any registered voter may vote in person prior to Election Day. A voter may vote in person at the election office, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., excluding holidays.

> If you plan on voting early, there are deadlines.

Voters can make a request for an early voting ballot to be mailed until Oct. 31 by 4 p.m.," Finn said. "Those ballots that have been mailed out need to be returned on Nov. 6, by 7 p.m. to be counted."

For people in the military, the early voting process is very similar.

The UOCAVA (Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act) lets military personnel who are unable to vote in the U.S., get to vote wherever they are stationed at. Their ballots are either e-mailed, faxed or sent by regular mail.

"The difficult part of this process is actually getting the ballots to them. We send those ballots 45 days before the election,'

So far, 11 absentee ballots have been sent to Wayne County residents who are over-

Observing Disability Employment Awareness Month during October

By CLARA OSTEN Of the Herald

This October, Americans can observe National Disability Employment Awareness Month by paying tribute to the accomplishments of the men and women with disabilities whose work helps keep the nation's economy strong and by reaffirming their commitment to ensure equal opportunity for all citizens.

Throughout this month, Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) of Nebraska is highlighting the success stories of individuals who experience disabilities.

For Christine Brugger of Wayne, her connection with Vocational Rehabilitation in Norfolk began while she was a student at Northeast Community College in Norfolk.

An instructor there felt she could benefit from the services provided by VR. Brugger checked into the organization and found that indeed, she did qualify for assistance with paying for books and tuition while she attended college.

"I work with the State of Nebrasfor the services available at Voc Resaid. hab. They provide us with job seek-

Brugger said that one of the first VR is that a psychological evaluation is done to determine eligibility for the services provided.

Those receiving assistance from VR generally work one-on-one with staff from VR to look for jobs that would be of interest to a client and fit with skills.

Generally, those receiving assistance from VR who are students meet with VR staff quarterly, while those who are seeking jobs meet more often.

Brugger has been paired with Diane Down-Owens, Vocational Rehabilitation Counseling Specialist. After earning a bachelor's degree in education in 2001, Brugger has gone on in the field of education and is currently working toward an endorsement in special education. She then plans to work on a master's degree in counseling from Wayne State College.

"Vocational Rehabilitation is a very helpful agency. They are very friendly and will bend over backwards to assist their clients and ka and have clients who also qualify get them what they need," Brugger

PMC pharmacy improving patient safety during Pharmacy Week

Pharmacy staff at Providence Medical Center will use National Hospital and Health-System Pharmacy Week, Oct. 21-27, 2012, to underscore the many new and vital roles they now play in patient care.

The evolution has been especially dramatic in recent years as pharmacists have moved beyond compounding and dispensing medications, to become vital members of multidisciplinary patient-care teams.

"Many consumers are not aware that pharmacists play a critical role in preventing medication errors, advising prescribers on the best drug choices, and working directly with patients to ensure they understand how to use their medications safely and effectively," said Kimberly Bentjen, PharmD. "Pharmacy Week is a great way to educate the public about how pharmacists can help them get the most benefit from their medicine.'

Hospital and health-system pharmacists have been able to take on enhanced patient-care roles because of a number of factors, including the deployment of highly trained, certified technicians and new technologies. City Council candidates (from left) Kathy Berry, Jennifer Sievers and Cale Giese were on hand for a forum Monday in Wayne. Sievers is running against the incumbent Berry in Ward Three, while Giese is running against incumbent Brian Frevert in Ward Two.

Council candidates discuss issues during forum Monday evening

By CLARA OSTEN Of The Herald

Three of the four candidates running for the offices of City Council in the city of Wayne gathered Monday to answer questions and discuss issues related to city government.

Incumbent Kathy Berry and challenger Jennifer Sievers in Ward Two and challenger Cale Giese in Ward Three were part of the forum. Incumbent Brian Frevert in Ward Three was unable to be present.

Topics discussed included a new swimming pool, parking, hours of serving alcohol at local businesses and business recruitment and re-

In regard to a new swimming pool, all three candidates felt a swimming pool is a "great asset to the community" and options should be considered to benefit the commu-

Sievers said she would like to see an indoor pool, connected to the Community Activity Center and ADA standards would be beneficial. Berry noted that there currently is a group looking into options for a new pool. She said that along with a pool, she feels there needs to be more emphasis on marketing the community of Wayne, especially with social activities available to Discussion also included the possibility of working with Wayne State College to construct one pool for both the community and college.

Parking was another area addressed during the forum. All three candidates indicated that "parking will always be an issue," but noted that progress has been made in recent years. Sievers said the city's police department is cooperative when permission is needed to park on a street over-Berry told the audience that she

During final comments from the candidates, Giese told the audience he has "lots of energy and time, and I am very passionate about this town. I want to learn all about local government that I can."

Sievers said that when she was asked why she entered the race, she noted "this is an exciting time to get involved in politics. Since entering the race, I have met lots of people in my ward. I also have had the support of my family, especially my husband. I really want to encourage everyone to vote on Nov. 6."

Berry said that the four years that she has served on the City Council have been " a learning experience. I want to apply what I have learned so history doesn't repeat itself. I have lots of good ideas and I want to work to push these through.'

The event was hosted by the mittee.

Issues

are so many good things about rural communities that we need to salvage, but there has to be something for them to do."

"Anything we can do to keep K-12 schools in our smaller towns is vital," Bloomfield added. "My kids all graduated from Winside, and it's a struggle to keep that school open so they don't end up merging with Wayne. Wayne has a fine school system, but I don't think we need to affects his or her employment may be hauling kids there from Winside. The idea of one school per county is foreign to me, and I think we get a better education when the kids are educated close to home."

> Bloomfield suggested that more agriculture-related studies be offered, particularly in the bigger cities, after something he heard during a recent hearing in Lincoln.

> 'We had a hearing on whether or not we were teaching enough agriculture in the schools, and come to find out some of the kids in the city seem to think that eggs come from cows, because (eggs) are found in the dairy section of the grocery store," he said.

Energy was a topic that both candidates found common ground, particularly on questions regarding 'green" energy and the controversial Keytsone pipeline.

When asked if the Legislature should determine the amount of 'green" energy that public power entities must provide residents in the state, both candidates agreed that the state should stay out of the way of public power.

"I don't think the state should be involved in supplementing everybody who comes along with an idea for a green energy program," Bloomfield said. "We've seen it at the federal level with them throwing money at ideas that have cost taxpayers billions of dollars. Public power should get the cheapest energy conceivable and pass (the savings) on to us.'

"I agree with Dave," Phillips added. "If it's viable, they will figure out a way to make it profitable. As soon as the state starts putting all kinds of regulations on it, it simply raises the price of energy."

Regarding the Keystone pipeline, both candidates said the state needs to take an active role in working with the federal government on the building of the pipeline.

"They have gotten it re-routed around the (Ogallala) Aquifer, so it would be insane not to put it in and have the benefit of those jobs that it will create and allow those counties that will reap the property taxes to have those extra dollars," Phillips

"It's a political football that has been kicked around way too long,' Bloomfield added. "It's asinine that we have let (environmentalists) tie it up like that. It should be built, and would be a boon to Nebraska

Voter registration deadline Friday

Area voters who have not yet registered to vote have until the end of the business day Friday to get registered.

The voter registration deadline for the Nov. 6 general election is Friday, Oct. 26. The Wayne County Clerk's office will be open until 6 p.m. on Friday for those individuals needing to register in Wayne County, as well as those needing to update their registration. Individuals that have moved within the county are encouraged to update their voter registration on or before Friday in order to save time when they go to the polls.

when it is built."

With people driving more fuel-efficient vehicles, both candidates expressed concern on continued funding of rural highways.

"The passing of LB84 is bringing funding in, and we'll be able to start using that money in 2014 if we can keep people out of that fund," Bloomfield said. "The idea that we can fund all our road repairs with a fuel tax, when cars are getting 30 miles to the gallon instead of 13, I don't believe is going to fly anymore. The answer doesn't all lay in the sales tax, but I think it moves us in the right direction."

"We have to have a good infrastructure to attract those businesses, and I would like to see how the Department of Roads allocates money to those various projects,'

Phillips said. "The less fuel we us, the less road use tax we're going to get, so we have to take a look at that and see how we can build that up without breaking the bank."

One point of contention between the two candidates came up during a question on gun control.

Bloomfield, a staunch advocate of the Second Amendment, said his problem is not with assault rifles that can shoot 20 or 40 rounds of ammunition in a clip, but with those who illegally use the weapons.

"If such a gun is used improperly, I have a problem with the individual that did it, not with the gun,"

Phillips, who also supports the Second Amendment, said he was concerned that semiautomatic weapons are not meant for hunting, trapshooting or target practice and wondered what someone would have use of such a weapon for.

"I understand that if you stop those kinds of weapons, it's the beginning of doing away with others, but there has to be some way we can stop (the use of assault rifles) and still keep the original intent of the guns we use to hunt, trapshoot and target practice with," he said.

Playoffs are a joke in Nebraska

Before I go forward with this week's column, I want to offer the following disclaimer – what you are about to read is not intended as a knock on members of the Wayne High football team, its coaches or the school's athletic department.

Now, having said that, allow me to explain why it is a joke for any high school football team in Nebraska with a losing record to be allowed to call themselves a "playoff" team.

When you think of a playoff in high school sports, the concept of it is to determine a state champion. It is a series of games designed to put the best of the best through a winner-take-all format to decide who can call themselves the best of all the teams in a particular division or

Many years ago, it was a challenge to make it to the playoffs in Nebraska. There are very few schools in the state who haven't had a year where their football team was good, but not quite good enough to make the playoffs.

Those days are long gone.

Several years ago, the Nebraska School Activities Association figured out that they could make more money by adding another tier of playoffs to the six high school football divisions. By adding an extra round, not only would the NSAA add a little extra to its bank account, but more schools would be able to call themselves "playoff qualifiers" at season's end.

As a result, the idea of making it into the playoffs has been watered down to a YMCA-like mentality where every kid gets a trophy and gets to call themselves a champion, regardless of how hard they played or how well they competed against one another. Happy happy, joy joy.

In the two smaller classes, twothirds of the teams qualify for the 32-team playoff format. The percentage is a little less in Class A, where 16 of 28 schools make it: and Class B, where half of the 32 schools qualify. In the end, more than 63 percent of the 252 high school football teams in Nebraska are allowed to compete in the NSAA-sanctioned state playoffs to determine six state champions.

Before reclassification was done in the mid-1990's, you had to be RE-ALLY good to make it to the playoffs. In Class A, only eight of the 32 teams made the playoffs - some good 7-2 teams missed the postseason, and Class A's playoffs were literal slobberknockers that left little doubt as to who the state's best 11man team was.

Today, it is entirely possible for a team to win a state title AND .500 mark. In 2004, Millard North limped into the playoffs with a 3-6 record, won three in a row and finished as state runners-up – with a 6-7 record.

Although not likely, it is possible for Wayne High to run the table in Class C-1 and win a state title with a .500 record. Of the 234 state champions listed on the NSAA website, only three (Lincoln Southeast in 1991, Grant in 1985 and Norfolk Catholic in 1983), have lost more than two games in a season, and only a little more than 10 percent of the teams who have played in those championship games have entered the game with two or more regularseason losses.

Two years ago, we nearly saw a first in Nebraska high school football – a playoff team with zero wins.

In 2010, Madison was saddled with what could be politely said as a tough schedule by the NSAA. I am pretty sure that no team in the state of Nebraska that year had a schedule where every team they played wound up in the playoffs. The Dragons faced everybody from C-1 powerhouses Norfolk Catholic and Pierce to teams like Ord, Stanton and Wayne, who they almost KEARNEY – Area runners came away with a pair of individual medals during the 2012 Nebraska State Cross Country Championships.

Running under gorgeous fall conditions, Wayne's Cassie Heier and Winside's Mackenzie Gray both finished in the top 10 of their respective races to highlight the effort of seven area runners Friday at the Kearney Country Club.

Heier made her first trip to the Kearney course a memorable one in more ways than one, overcoming an unusual injury during a band performance earlier in the week to post a 10th place finish in the Class C girls race.

"She dropped a cymbal on her toe earlier in the week at a band performance, and she didn't run Thursday and was able to get back and ran a great race," coach Rocky Ruhl said. "It was her first time on the course, and she had some tightness in her legs after the first mile. She was up in seventh place for a good part of the race, and was able to hang on and get 10th and did an awesome

Heier was joined by junior Angie Nelson, who made her third appearance in the meet and finished just outside the top third, placing 31st.

"We had a goal of getting her around the top 30 based on her finishing 14th at districts, and I thought she did a heck of a job,' Ruhl said. "We talked after Cassie got her medal about getting one for Angie next year, and hopefully we can get her on the medal stand."

> WAKEFIELD - In Hollywood, the sequel to a cinematic classic rarely lives up to the original.

> Wakefield and Allen hooked up in a five-set regular-season thriller five weeks ago in Allen, and the two teams repeated their matchup in the quarterfinals of the Lewis and Clark Conference tournament with a sequel that was every bit the cliffhanger of the first matchup.

> The third-seeded Trojans fought off five set points in a marathon third set, overcame a disappointing fourth-set defeat and hung on for dear life to outlast the sixth-seeded Lady Eagles in a two-hour, heartstopping classic, winning 25-20, 16-25, 30-28, 26-28, 15-11.

> It was one of those volleyball matches played by two scrappy, athletic teams that you hate to see anyone lose.

> Wakefield coach Timarie Hansen was relieved the sequel at Wakefield High School ended the same as the regular-season matchup in Allen a month ago.

Wakefield's defense rose to the occasion, as Puls and McKenzie Rusk both came up with some monster blocks on attacks by Sullivan to give the Trojans the 2-1 match ad-

"Brittany was catching fire and they started to key on her, and we just needed to throw the ball the other way a little more so they couldn't key on her," Allen coach Cheryl Greve said. "We have a young setter (Lindsey Sullivan), and it's something we can work on with her."

Hansen was happy with the play of Rusk and Puls at the net.

After the emotionally-draining third set, Allen showed it wasn't ready to cash it in. They jumped out to a quick 3-0 lead in the fourth set, and the two teams battled back and forth throughout before Wakefield once again avoided multiple set points to tie the set at 24-24.

The two teams traded points in the extra session of the set, but a pair of Wakefield kills that went out of bounds tied the match and sent it kills and Brittany Sullivan added to a decisive fifth set.

Allen played extremely well in the losing effort, and Greve said the team needs to finish the close matches.

"They're a really good group of kids, and if can just finish the match, that would be great," she said. "We lacked a little killer instinct at the end tonight."

For Wakefield, Lehmkuhl had 26 kills and Puls and Gnat each added nine. Sydney Rose directed the offense with 48 assists and had 17 digs. Gnat led the defense with 21 digs, while Lehmkuhl and Echtenkamp each had 19.

beaten the Blue Devils on that night and qualified for the state playoffs – with a record of 1-7. I don't have the final numbers in front of me, but the 0-8 Dragons were, in fact, one of the first teams out when the final field of 32 was determined that year.

No team with a record that bad should even need to think about the playoffs. Wayne's record this season isn't much better – their only two wins are against 1-7 Madison and 3-5 West Point-Beemer, neither of whom will be in the playoffs, and one of their losses is to a David City team that has a better record (3-5), but is turning in their helmets and shoulder pads this week after finishing out their regular season.

If the NSAA were to return to the idea of making the playoffs a reward for a good season, Wayne would be joining David City in putting up the gear until next fall. The Blue Devils, however, are going to the playoffs at 2-7 thanks to a tough schedule that includes six playoff teams (five of whom are either 6-2 or 7-1, the sixth being 6-3 Class B South Sioux City, a game that was added on to Wayne's schedule to give the Cardinals a ninth game), and a soft playoff format that encourages mediocrity by allowing teams with losing records to be led to the first-round playoff slaughterhouse to be bludgeoned into submission by significantly better teams who risk their own players' safety by playing in what could easily be referred to as "the blowout round."

Although it likely won't happen until the next scheduling rotation in 2014 at the earliest, the Nebraska School Activities Association needs to trash the current playoff format and return the high school football postseason to the big deal that it once was, where only the best of the best played into November and you had the top teams battling it out for a state title. Nothing is gained in the present almost-everybody-gets-in format, outside of the bank balance in the NSAA accounting

Playoff brackets in Class A and Class B should be reduced to eight-team brackets. Five district champions (six in Class B) plus whatever wild cards fill out the bracket. In the four smaller-school classes, there are two options - reduce the bracket to 16 teams with the 10 district champions and six wild cards, or keep the 32-team format and merge C-1 and C-2 and D-1 and D-2 into two classes (which would effectively eliminate the possibility of smaller schools in those classes from being in contention for state titles because of the disparity in roster numbers between the bigger and smaller schools in each class).

Does all of this mean Wayne High does not deserve to be in the 2012 playoffs? Definitely not - under the present system, the Blue Devils have played a demanding schedule and have done enough to qualify to be one of the 32 teams in Class C-1 to compete for a state title.

But I think we can all agree on one thing - the standards for being considered a playoff team in Nebraska are abysmal. Teams with substandard records should not be considered in the same league as teams who have dominated their opponents throughout the bulk of the season. Those are the teams that should be competing in a real playoff format, and until the NSAA comes to its senses and reconfigures its playoff format we will continue to see teams with losing records qualify as "playoff" teams.

Eagles close out season with exciting 36-32 victory

ALLEN - The drought ended, gles a 22-6 halftime lead. both literally and figuratively, in Allen on Friday night.

The Eagles battled through the rain and wind to end a five-game losing streak, closing out the season with a 36-32 win over Winnebago on a mud-soaked night at Allen Field.

The Eagles put forth a solid team effort to end the season 2-6, giving the Allen seniors a memory to close out their high school careers.

"The kids went out and got this with hard work, focus and execution," coach Dave Uldrich said. "These finishes are moments that will live with the boys for a long

A district title was on the line on a cold, wet and windy Thursday night at Eaton Field, and Wakefield coach Mike Hassler offered that one piece of advice as they prepared to take on Ponca. The Trojans scored early, withstood a Ponca comeback and got a late touchdown to secure their first trip to the playoffs in four years with a 20-14 win that gave them the C2-3 district championship and an automatic bid in the 32-team playoff field.

Hassler said he knew the weather conditions were going to be as big a challenge as the opponent his team was facing, so he encouraged his troops to savor the opportunity.

"As the day wore on and it was evident we were going to play in some nasty weather, I put the challenge out to the boys before the game to embrace the circumstances," he said. "I told them that if they went out there in that miserable weather, took it to Ponca for four quarters and won a district title, it would be Ponca tied the game was even more a night they would never forget."

Trojans increased their lead to 14-0 when Heath Greve scored on an eight-yard run and Evan Nicholson hit Jacob Lunz for the two-point conversion. "When you have a driving rain and 50 mile-per-hour wind gusts, it makes you pretty one-dimensional," Hassler said. "We did a good job of staying patient and kept plugging away, even though Ponca had nine or 10 guys in the box." Ponca made a comeback in the second half to tie the game. They scored late in the third period, then tied the game with a touchdown run and two-point conversion with 5:57

Wakefield saved its best for last, however, and when Nicholson took off on a 37-yard keeper for the winning score with 1:54 to play, the 6-2 Trojans came out on top as district champions.

> The ball was a slippery one with all the rain and wind, and Wakefield's defense did a good job of creating opportunities to force turnovers that slowed down Ponca's high-scoring offense.

"We had five or six boys getting in on the tackle almost all night, and when the ball squirted out, that put us in position to come up with the

> It has been quite a turnaround season for the Trojans, who had won only one game the previous three seasons.

> "I couldn't be happier for these boys," Hassler said. "To go through what we've gone through the previous three years, I thought this group showed a lot of character getting this program headed back in the right direction. The wins didn't always come easy, but in the end these guys found a way to win all year long.'

The Trojans will face Weeping Water in the first round of the playoffs Thursday at Eaton Field, and Hassler said the Trojans will be facing a tough bunch of Indians when they come to town.

"They're a good football team and have a good, quick, tough running back and a very athletic quarterback," he said. "We'll have to continue to tackle well defensively, and if we play responsibility football to the whistle, we'll be fine. I think we'll have a size advantage up front on offense, and hopefully we can run right at them and control the clock. We'll just have to do what we've done all year, and that's play

Trojans play well in triangulars

The Wakefield volleyball team played well in their final regularseason games, winning three of their last four to take a 20-9 record into conference play.

Last Tuesday, the Trojans split a triangular at Hartington Cedar Catholic, beating Emerson-Hubbard (25-19, 25-20) before falling to the host Trojans (25-13, 20-25, 25-

Wildcats end with 74-6 win

WINSIDE - Winside was able to avoid a winless season in convincing fashion on Thursday, jumping on Newcastle early and running away with a 74-6 win in the season finale for both teams at Jim Winch Memorial Field.

The Wildcats scored on their first possession and converted two Red Raider turnovers into touchdowns in building a 32-0 first-quarter advantage. The Wildcats extended their lead to 48 points at intermission and never looked back, finishing the season with a 1-7 record.

Winside's defense was particularly stingy on the night, as the Wildcats limited Newcastle to just 17 yards in total offense. The Wildcats' run defense was especially dominant, as they held Newcastle to minus-52 yards on the ground in 46 attempts.

Both Gage Main and Dylan Tweedy eclipsed the 100-yard plateau on the ground as Winside racked up 375 yards in total offense. Main finished the night with 133 yards on 15 carries with four touchdowns, while Tweedy had 120 yards on 10 carries.

Caled Lienemann recorded both defensive touchdowns and scored four times in the win.

Defensively, Tweedy had 6.5 tackles and Levi Lange added five stops. Main and Brian Greunke each had interceptions as part of five turnovers the Wildcats forced against the Red Raiders.

Date set for the Ducks Unlimited Fundraiser

The Wayne area committee of Ducks Unlimited (DU) will host its eighth annual auction and banquet at the National Guard Armory in Wayne on Friday Nov. 16.

The social part of the evening starts at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m. with the auction to follow that.

"We are looking forward to a great crowd at this year's banquet, and celebration of 75 years of wetlands conservation", said committee chairman Rob Bose of Emerson. "Everyone is welcome at the banquet, which will feature raffles of wildlife and sporting arts as well as goods and services donated by area businesses. Proceeds from the event will go to the support of DU's wetlands and waterfowl habitat conservation efforts in Nebraska, the U.S. and Canada, and Mexico.'

Ducks Unlimited was formed to provide for the life cycle needs of North American's migratory waterfowl by protecting, restoring, enhancing, and managing important wetlands and associated uplands. DU is the world's largest private sector waterfowl, wetlands and wildlife conservation organization, with one million supporters and members in the U.S. since its incep-

- Today's proof that some people will do ANYTHING, short of writing a weekly column, to get their name in the newspaper – a Texas cheerleader has just broke the Guinness world record for consecutive handsprings, doing 35 during halftime at a recent football game.

Last year, 16-year-old Miranda Ferguson did 20 handsprings during a game, and was encouraged by friends to go for the world record of 32 flips (isn't this usually how most redneck-related deaths start???). Ferguson practiced and pulled off the stunt, using up 70 yards of the football field to nail the 35 handsprings.

I don't know about you, but the thought of doing more than one handspring is making my equilibrium spin counterclockwise right about now.

Turnback tax in news again

By J. L. SCHMIDT Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

City fathers in Lincoln hope to use some state sales tax proceeds to help pay off the Pinnacle Bank Arena that is being built in the historic Haymarket area downtown.

Under provisions of the Nebraska Convention Center Facility Financing Assistance Act, a state panel will be asked to allow the city to use 70 percent of the state sales tax from the arena and surrounding hotels for up to 25 years. The measure will likely be approved because the precedent has been set more than a decade ago by allowing the arena then known as the Qwest Center to use a similar financing arrangement. And a couple years ago, lawmakers changed the wording of the act to allow Ralston to construct and begin to pay for an indoor ice rink that is also used for other events.

The Convention Center Facility Financing Assistance Act provides a mechanism for using sales tax revenue to fund the construction or enhancement of certain facilities. Sales tax revenue generated by a qualifying facility - and by retailers within a specified vicinity - is "turned back" to assist in paying down the debt incurred to develop and build the facility.

Retailers located within 600 yards of an eligible facility will be subject to the turnback formula. Any increase in sales tax revenue from retailers that existed 24 months prior to the facility's completion and all sales tax revenue collected by retailers that began operation up to 24 months prior to, or 24 months after completion of the facility, can be used for the turnback provision.

So why should folks in Greater Nebraska care? The Local, Civic, Cultural and Convention Center Funding Act was offered by state senators from Omaha as a perk to rural lawmakers to get them to support construction of the facility in Nebraska's largest city. The remaining 30 percent of the funds nity center in Arnold (in Nebraska's Sand Hills). The leftover 30 percent from Lincoln will also go into the pool of statewide funds.

More than 30 projects, including improvements to the Gering Civic Center (in Nebraska's Panhandle), have been funded since 2004 from that 30 percent cut from funds generated by the Qwest (now Century Link) Center and the nearby hotels. With that facility paid off, the 70 percent share in Omaha is used for other Omaha projects with a stipulation that at least 10 percent go for programs or facilities in high poverty and high crime rate areas of the State Sen. Brad Ashford of Omaha helped fashion the original turnback tax law a decade ago after vis-community centers along with helping the Qwest Center pay its debts.

Ashford says it means a lot that his colleagues in the Legislature from Omaha and the rest of the state are tied together through this 30 percent fund. He says it was a real effort to capture the spirit of what made Nebraska "Nebraska." The state Department of Revenue says that in Omaha, the turnback tax generates about $3 million a year; in Lincoln it's expected to bring in about $1.5 million annually, which would be used to make payments on about $24 million in debt issued by the city. Omaha voters approved a $198 million bond to build the Qwest Center.

Legislative Update By Dave Bloomfield State Senator, District 17

would provide that any misdemeanor while in pursuit of office is grounds for impeachment of a civil officer. Currently, the constitution provides that civil officers may be impeached for any misdemeanor while in office. If passed, this amendment would change Article IV, Section 5 of the Nebraska Constitution. This deals with elected officials in the executive and judicial branches only. Article III, Section 10 of the Nebraska Constitution deals with the expulsion of members in the legislative branch. This proposed amendment was triggered by an event that took place in 2004 concerning campaign finance laws. This involved the election of a member to the University Board of Regents. I have no strong feeling either way on this amendment to our constitution. A vote for this proposed amendment would change the constitution, a vote against would leave the constitution as it

Proposed Amendment No. 2, which has generated the most inquiries, would establish the right to hunt, to fish and to harvest wildlife as a right afforded to us and protected by our state constitution. This proposed amendment would not change any of the current state laws regarding hunting, fishing, trapping or liability laws covering those activities. Presently, there are 13 states that guarantee the right to hunt and fish in their constitutions. Two states protect the right to fish but not to hunt. This November, three states in addition to us - Idaho, Kentucky, and Wyoming will vote on adding these rights to their constitutions. While this is something that may seem unnecessary, it is something we should not overlook or take for granted. Well organized animal rights organizations have led to hunter advocacy groups seeking constitutional protections for these rights in many states. What this amendment does not do is give hunters a right to trespass on private property. A "no hunting" sign will still mean NO HUNTING. I support this amendment not only to protect our sportsmen, but also as a partial roadblock to the animal rights zealots who wish nothing more than to destroy animal agriculture as we know it. A vote for this amendment will help protect hunting and agriculture, a vote against will leave the constitution as it now stands. I will be voting for Amendment 2. Proposed Amendment No. 3 would change legislative term limits to three consecutive four year terms. I oppose this change. In 2000, voters, thru Initiative 415, decided to change the constitution. This change, brought forth by the people, limited the number of consecutive terms that a senator could serve to two. Those in power at the time (most of you will recall), squealed like a pig caught under a gate. You the people maintained the pressure and prevailed. Well, it appears that See ISSUES, Page 10B

The LWML is the official women's auxiliary of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. For 70 years the LWML has focused on affirming each woman's relationship with Christ, encouraging and equipping women to live out their Christian lives in active mission ministries

Revelation focus of Sunday sermon

God Church in Wayne, completed his fifth in a series of sermons on "Jesus Is Coming Soon" this past Sunday. He continues the series this weekend, speaking of the "Seven Churches of the Book of Revelation."

"If you have been curious about what the writer of Revelation was speaking about, this would be a great time to join in the sanctuary service at 10:30 a.m.," pastor and his family as the congregation of Praise Pastor Pickering said. "God has something specific Assembly honored them with surprises as a part of to say to the "Church" (Capital "C" - meaning the "Pastor Appreciation Sunday." The Wayne congrega-"whole Church") in these days."

Rev. Jason Pickering, pastor at Praise Assembly of and is followed by the morning worship service. This Sunday evening is the monthly last-Sunday-of-themonth event called "Dessert with the Pastor."

On Wednesday, Oct. 31 from 5-7:30 p.m. in the parking lot at 1000 East 10th Street, everyone is invited to bring the family and get candy.

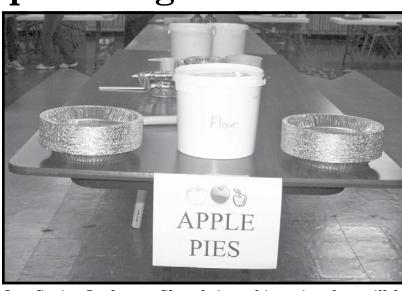

This past Sunday morning was a surprise for the tion joined with congregations everywhere who have Sunday School for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m., honored their pastors during the month of October.

Our Savior planning 'Pies 4 U'

Once again Our Savior Lutheran Church will help everyone in the community with Thanksgiving plans by making a pie or two.

Charity Circle, Caring Cooks and the youth will work together with the rest of the congregation to make apple, peach, cherry and rhubarb pies for your convenience to have on hand in your freezer to bake for any occasion. Pies this year will be $10.

Orders may be made until Sunday, Oct. 28. Stop at Our Savior Lutheran Church office (421 N. Pearl Street in Wayne) to pick up an order blank. Pies can be picked up at the church on Saturday, Nov. 10 from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. For more information, call Phyllis Rahn at (402) 375-1667, Kim Dunklau at (402) 369-1696 or the church office at (402) 375-2899.

Our Savior Lutheran Church is making pies that will be available in early November.

recuperating from surgery

My goal this week is to graduate from the walker to the cane - wonder how that will go.

I've had a lot of time to read, of course, and I'm running out of stuff. I've already re-read some of my favorites. Plus, someone gave me 'Killing Kennedy" by Bill O'Reilly and an historian named Dugan. I found it fascinating, especially since this was the 50th anniversary of the Cuban Missile Crisis.

I have to confess again that in the 1960s, I was too busy with babies and feeding farmers to really be totally aware of what was going on. I remember the Cuban blockade, but I did not realize just how close we seemed to be to war.

Anyway, now I want to get the book, "Killing Lincoln," by the same authors. Plus, the choice for One Lincoln, One Book is about the assassination of President Garfield. I guess he lived for three months with all kinds of experimental stuff by what was common medical practice in that day. Makes me shiver!

My neighbor keeps giving me her copies of Newsweek. It's too liberal in the world is that important to say??? I have not had a call on my cell phone for weeks, which proves that I really only need it when I'm working. And that has come to an abrupt end. I had an e-mail from HR last week, reminding me that my new license was due the end of October.

I wrote back to say I was not renewing, causing all kinds of surprise in that department, I guess. But the hospice people knew it, so that is all that matters. After 53 years, it is kind of sad. Here's some more information from Kelly Feehan, UNL Horticulture Educator

Recent winds damaged trees by breaking branches and even toppling a tree to two. This leads to concerns by property owners about damaged tree and about other trees. It naturally leaves people wondering if a nearby tree might have a defect that is now a safety risk. A publication that can provide some assistance is our Tree Hazard Awareness NebGuide. This resource was written to help property owners and managers become aware of possible defects on their Monday, Nov. 5 in Dakota City at trees. It also provides information 11 a.m. and again on Wednesday, about how to obtain professional as-Nov. 7 at the Pender Fire Hall at sistance to determine the appropriate course of action. Using this NebGuide does not guarantee that a tree is free of potential hazards or weaknesses or that it will not be damaged by fucash rents. Landlords are trying to ture storm events. Even the soundest tree can sustain storm damage under the right conditions. And trees that show no outward signs of defects can still have issues.

The Tree Hazard Awareness NebGuide is a starting point to assist property owners in determining if a professional needs to be called to assess the tree. The publication provides pictures that show the top seven signs property owners should look for. If one or more of these signs are found on a tree, the next step is to call a professional to do

> For trees that suffered broken branches this past week, cleanup has most likely taken place so here are a few reminders about tree pruning. First, the only pruning that should be done at this time of year is to remove broken branches. Otherwise, wait until trees are fully dormant to prune. December through March is the ideal time to prune most shade trees.

> If wind-damaged branches were removed from a tree, check to be sure branch stubs were not left on the tree. Branch stubs can lead to decay in trees and safety issues down the road. If branch stubs remain, they need to be removed by cutting just outside the branch collar. The branch collar is a slightly swollen area found where a branch attaches to the trunk and another branch. Consider hiring a professional to make final pruning cuts, especially on large trees.

> When a branch is pruned at the correct location, which is not too close to the trunk or so a branch stub remains, the tree is better able to chemically prevent decay and close the wound. As always, do not treat pruning wounds with any kind of paint or wound dressing. These interfere with a trees natural response to wounds and can increase the risk of decay.

Forestry Incentive Grant deadline approaching

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) is taking applications for the Forestry Incentive for Public Facilities Grant. Application packets were mailed out in September to private organizations that own and operate a public facility. The purpose of the grant is to help with new tree establishment.

"In order to qualify for the grant, the project must be sponsored by a private entity or group that owns and also operates land that is open to the public and is not connected with a government entity. Some examples are public golf courses, public cemeteries, and museums not associated with government funds," said Pam Bergstrom, LENRD Forester. "The grant will offer up to 50% of the local project cost up to $2,500. The land where the project will be implemented must be within the LENRD boundaries."

Some of the eligible project components available for cost share include: preparing the site for planting; purchase of trees and shrubs; tree installations including planting of new trees, purchasing organic mulch, and putting down the organic mulch; and project planning and design services by professional landscape architects or designers.

If your private organization that owns and operates a public facility did not receive an application and you are within the LENRD boundaries, please contact the LENRD office in Norfolk at (402) 371-7313 and ask for Linda or Pam, to obtain your application form. Applications are due Oct. 31, 2012.

AMENDMENT 1 Candidates for office who commit a misdemeanor in pursuit of the elected position would be subject to impeachment if voters adopt this proposed amendment to the Nebraska Constitution. Lawmakers approved LR19CA to bring this matter to the voters in the aftermath of a highly controversial University of Nebraska Board of Regents race eight years ago. Current law allows for the impeachment of an elected official only for misdemeanors performed while in office. After newly elected Regent David Hergert was seated in 2004, it was discovered that he violated campaign finance laws by not reporting his spending in time to trigger automatic public funding for his opponent, incumbent Don Blank of McCook. A vote for this amendment would allow for impeachment for acts committed in pursuit of the office. A vote against would not authorize such impeachment.

AMENDMENT 2

Hunting, fishing and trapping would become protected rights for Nebraskans if voters approve this proposed amendment to the state Constitution The Legislature passed LR40CA to place the matter on the ballot. Proponents said it would help preserve the heritage of such activity for Nebraskans and serve as a viable means of managing and controlling wildlife. To answer critics, they pointed out that the measure would not modify any provisions of law dealing with property rights or trespass and would also be subject to other restrictions as prescribed by existing law. A vote for Proposed Amendment 2 would set forth a constitutional right to hunt, to fish and to harvest wildlife as a management tool. A vote against the proposal would result in the activities not being recognized in the Constitution of Nebraska.

AMENDMENT 3 State Senators would be allowed to serve three terms instead of two if voters approve this proposed amendment to the Nebraska Constitution. Term limits were adopted under Initiative 415 in 2000, a move that limited senators to two terms in office. Proponents of that measure clearly indicated a desire to remove controversial Omaha Senator Ernie Chambers who served longer than any other state senator (38 years) In the 2012 session, lawmakers ap proved LR358CA to allow for the third term to be added. This is the same Legislature that saw five committee chairs and a popular Speaker of the Legislature ineligible to run again under the current two-term limit. A vote for Proposed Amendment 3 would change the number of terms a member of the Legislature may serve from two to three. A vote against the amendment would leave the limit at two consecutive four-year terms.

AMENDMENT 4

The last time voters agreed to increase the salary of Nebraska State Senators was 24 years ago. That was 1988, and lawmakers saw their salary increase to $1,000 a month, or $12,000 a year with the beginning of the legislative session in 1989. That increase tripled the $4,000 annual salary that senators had received for years. Proponents of the new measure say that nearly a quarter century of economic change is long enough and senators should receive a raise The Legislature passed LR373CA to increase the salary to $22,500 a year beginning January 9, 2013, if voters approve. Sponsors of the bill had sought a $32,000 annual salary, but a committee amendment lowered the amount and lawmakers approved A vote for the amendment would increase the salary for members of the Legislature. A vote against the constitutional amendment would result in no change in the salary.

> The speaker for the evening was Les Giddens from Game Time Cunningham Recreation. After reviewing the present park equipment, he brought it to the group's attention that the present park and playground equipment does not meet the Americans with Disabilities Act requirements or basic safety measures. He showed catalogs with his company's products and reviewed the various types of acceptable ground cover available. Sandy Chase and Greta Kraemer volunteered to form a committee to do further research into this project. Anyone wishing to help on this committee can contact Sandy at (402) 635-2104.
