Federal, state local races aplenty for Election Day

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Voters in Wayne County and the surrounding area have a number of decisions to make when they go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 6 to vote in the general election.

In addition to the vote for President of the United States, there are a number of state, county and local elections taking place in the 2012 general election.

Here's a summary of some of the major races and elections taking place next week:

Federal

At the state level, voters will be choosing for a candidate to replace outgoing Democrat Ben Nelson in the U.S. Senate, as well as candidates for House of Representatives and four constitutional amendments.

The race for the U.S. Senate between former state Sen. Deb Fischer of Valentine and former governor and U.S. Senator Bob Kerrey of Omaha has been vicious at times, with both sides lobbing numerous accusations against the other while trying to sway voters. A Fischer win would give Nebraska an all-Republican Congressional delegation for the first time in more than three decades, while a Kerrey win would help maintain a majority in the U.S. Senate for Democrats.

In the District 3 House of Representatives race, incumbent Republican Adrian Smith is running against Democratic newcomer Mark Sullivan. Smith is looking for his fourth term in office, and has been considered the front-runner for retaining his position in the House of Representatives.

State

Voters in Nebraska will also consider four amendments to the Nebraska Constitution, all of which have drawn varying levels of interest in the weeks leading up to the election.

Amendment 1 would make it possible to impeach candidates for office who commit a misdemeanor while in pursuit of elected office. Current law allows for impeachment only for misdemeanors performed while in office. The issue was raised after former University of Nebraska Regent David Hergert violated campaign finance laws in 2004 while campaigning for the office. He was subsequently impeached and removed from office.

Amendment 2 protects the rights of hunters, trappers and fishermen to enjoy their sports and preserve the state's long heritage regarding wildlife management. Approval of this amendment

Ghoulish behavior

Ghosts, goblins, queens, mummies and even the dead have been out in full force this week as part of numerous Halloween celebrations. Above, more than 100 children and their parents took part in the annual Circle K Halloween party at the Majestic Theatre on Saturday. As attendees were leaving, they were greeted by a large crowd of zombies making their way down Main Street from Wayne State College (right).

Combined efforts keep students safe

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

A combined effort between area businesses, law enforcement and Wayne Public Schools is helping local youth make the right choices when it comes to safety in the home, at school and on the street.

Recent abduction attempts in northeast Nebraska and northwest Iowa led the school and police to remind parents and kids about "stranger danger" and making sure kids stay safe.

"The abductions were occurring around the time of (parent-teacher) conferences, so we sent flyers to teachers and asked them to talk in their classrooms about what to do and how they shouldn't talk to strangers, and we also made flyers available for parents to give them something to talk with their kids about," said Jill Pickinpaugh, elementary principal. "If the kids hear it at home and here at school, they will realize how important it is."

The safety flyer included a link to video clips on a recent "Dateline" television program regarding "stranger danger." The flyer also encouraged students to use crosswalks and look before crossing the street, along with news of future programs with representatives of the Wayne Police Department and a request for parents to drive safely around the school.

Chief Marlen Chinn said the Wayne Police Department had done safety programs in the past, with the focus on preschool and kindergartners, but felt the need to do more with kids in the lower elementary grades as well.

"It's important enough that we need to do as much as we can, so when the school brought it up, I agreed and said we need to do some safety education for the kids,"

Judge Robert B. Ensz spoke at an open house at the Wayne Public Library on the benefits to the court system of having on-line services available at the library.

Open house to honor Judge Robert Ensz

An open house will be held Friday, Nov. 2 from 3-5 p.m. at the Wayne County Courthouse to honor the Honorable Robert B. Ensz, District Judge.

Judge Ensz retired from the District Court, 7th Judicial District, effective Oct. 31 after having served 21 years. The Seventh Judicial District includes Antelope, Cuming, Knox, Madison, Pierce, Stanton and Wayne Counties.

In his resignation letter to the Governor, Judge Ensz noted, "I have been honored to serve the State of Nebraska as a District Judge during the past 21 years."

As his legacy, Ensz leaves the community with the Northeast Nebraska Adult Drug Court in Madison, which he helped establish in 2006. Ensz has served as judge of the drug court throughout the court's existence, and also served as presiding judge for the district on a rotating basis.

As a current member of the Executive Committee of the Nebraska District Court Judges Association, Ensz has helped to establish policy and direct projects of the district court judges' organization since he took the bench in 1991. He served as the association's president in 2008 and served seven years on the Judicial Ethics Advisory Committee which he chaired in 2011. Ensz has been asked to speak during several community and judges educational seminars throughout his time on the bench, most recently to Nebraska district judges on a 2009 Ethics Issues panel and in 2010 for a regional 'Through the Eyes of the Child Initiative' conference.

Prior to becoming a judge, Ensz practiced law in Wayne from 1977 until 1991 and served as the Wayne County Attorney from 1983 until 1991. He was also an adjunct instructor at Wayne State College from 1977-1983.

Ensz and his wife, Deb, are the parents of four children, Susan, David, Jeff and Marissa. They have been residents of Wayne since 1977 after living in Lincoln for several years.

A new look for Christmas on Main

Christmas on Main is the name given to the festival on Thursday, Nov. 29 that includes Parade of Lights, Fantasy Forest and several other activities.

The Main Street Wayne Holiday Parade of Lights is taking in a new look this year with a different parade route. The committee is hoping to make this year's parade and activities the biggest and best yet and they are encouraging all Wayne Community groups, churches, service clubs, and ag-related groups to get involved by having an entry in the parade. The committee wants to see if "Bigger is Better!"

The parade will be held Thursday, Nov. 29. It will begin at 6:30 p.m., with the official turning on of the Community Christmas Tree at Seventh and Main and the Downtown Christmas lights.

The parade itself will start at Sixth and Main streets and proceed south to Fairgrounds Avenue. Parade entries should line up on West Sixth Street. Pre-registration is encouraged but not required. Forms are available at the WAED office or online at waynetworks.org. Any creative and festive entry that will warm the hearts of the young and old watching the parade is welcome. The parade route is short and downhill, perfect for walkers as well as vehicles.

The parade will be led by Santa in Santa's sleigh and Santa and Mrs. Claus will be available at Jacob's Room for the children to visit and for pictures to be taken.

Musical groups are encouraged to join in the caroling at Third and Main streets, beginning at 6 p.m. Cider and hot chocolate will be available downtown, hosted by the Wayne Farmer's Market group.

Checking under the hood

It looked like the scene from the aftermath of a storm, but it was actually some construction work that is taking place at Casey's General Store in Wayne. A third pump and a new canopy are being installed at the convenience store on Seventh Street, and is expected to take 2-3 weeks to complete.

Dale Kay

Dale Kay, 90, of Wakefield, died Sunday, Oct. 28, 2012 at the Wakefield Health Care Center.

Services will be Friday, Nov. 2 at 2 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church in Wakefield with Pastor William Bertrand officiating. Burial will be in the Wakefield Cemetery. Visitation will be Thursday, Nov. 1 from 3-8 p.m. with a prayer service at 7 p.m. at Thompson Chapel Funeral Home in Wakefield.

Dale John Kay was born July 13, 1922 to John and Martha (Long) Kay at Wakefield. He attended the rural school and worked on the farm. He was married to Cora Martinson in the early 40's and the couple farmed until the family moved into Wakefield in 1955-56. Dale worked for various employers in Wakefield, including Connor Trucking, Salmon Well, and Milton G. Waldbaum Company. For many years Dale was a city police officer for Wakefield. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church. He enjoyed hunting and fishing. Many memories of deer hunts are shared among family members.

Survivors include three daughters, Patricia Biggerstaff, Sandra Geiger, and Jill and Joe Allvin, all of Wakefield; 16 grandchildren, 30 great-grandchildren and 11 great-great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Cora; brothers, Fred (Bud), Merle, and Short and sisters, Ollie, Mildred (Sis), Dorothy, and Vernetta and one great-granddaughter, Brenna.

Pallbearers will be grandsons Dennis Biggerstaff, Larry Jacobsen, Shane Jacobsen, Lance Jacobsen, Matt Peterson and Josh Peterson.

Thompson Chapel Funeral Home in Wakefield is in charge of arrangements.

Nebraska Hospital Association Recognizes Most 'Caring Kind'

The prestigious Nebraska Hospital Association's Caring Kind award has been honoring outstanding health care employees, who have demonstrated compassion for patients, cooperation with co-workers, and dedication to excellence in their job responsibilities, for nearly 30 years.

Hospitals across the state select one Caring Kind recipient from within their respective institutions to be recognized during the NHA Annual Convention.

Again this year, employees were honored at the Caring Kind awards luncheon held this past week at the Cornhusker Marriott hotel in Lincoln.

Providence Medical Center congratulates employee, Laura Gamble RN, Director of Nursing at PMC on her selection as PMC's Caring Kind recipient this year.

In nominating Laura for the award, it was noted that she is one of the most caring, compassionate and dedicated nurses that one could hope to meet in healthcare today. She daily demonstrates that compassion and commitment to her profession by demanding quality patient care and high standards on the part of her nurses, staff and administration. She is well known for demanding that patients be treated "just the way you would want to be treated if you were in their shoes."

"Laura Gamble has my respect and that of her coworkers by serving as a model of compassion and professionalism," said Thomas J. Lee FACHE, PMC Administrator. "She is an exceptional nurse and is most deserving of this year's Caring Kind Award."

Local paraoptometrics attend statewide convention recently

Sonja Hansen, Lisa Niemann, Brandy Saltzman, Cassandra Widner and Melia Hefti, recently attended the Nebraska Optometric Association Annual Fall Convention in Kearney, Sept. 21-23.

These paraoptometrics are employed by Dr. Larry Magnuson and Dr. Joshua Hopkins of Magnuson Hopkins Eyecare, PC.

Excellent educational opportunities were available to the more than 160 paraoptometrics who attended the conference. Classes included information on glaucoma, anatomy of the eye, aging eye, contact lenses, cataracts and more. Motivational speakers provided courses on teamwork, patient loyalty and excellent customer service.

Paraoptometrics are allied health professionals who assist optometrists in providing their highest level of vision care to patients. Front office procedures, chair-side assisting, pre-testing, contact lens instruction, frame styling and fitting, and vision therapy are just a few of the many duties paraoptometrics perform while working directly with an optometrist.

Nebraska Main Street Program awards presented

The Nebraska Main Street program has selected the best downtown revitalization projects of 2011-2012.

Each year, designated Heritage Nebraska Main Street Communities are invited to submit nominations for consideration in 18 categories. The spirit of these awards is to recognize downtown revitalization achievement across the state. A team of judges select the award recipients and awards are presented at special celebrations in each community.

"The efforts of these communities continue to amaze me," said Elizabeth Chase Director of the Nebraska Main Street program. "We congratulate the great volunteers and staff of each and every Main Street program in Nebraska for the hard work that they put in to make it happen."

The Nebraska Main Street program provides technical support and training to designated Main Street communities and Associate Members that have made the commitment to revitalizing their downtown commercial districts using a comprehensive strategy based on historic preservation and utilizing authentic community character for economic development.

Main Street communities include Alliance, Beatrice, Falls City, Fremont, Grand Island, Kearney, Nebraska City, Plattsmouth, Sidney, Wayne and York. Bassett, Elkhorn, Hastings, Lexington, McCook, Norfolk, and Schuyler participate in the Associate Member program.

The 2012 award recipients are: Monthly Reporting: The Main Street programs in Alliance, Beatrice, Falls City, Fremont, Kearney, Plattsmouth, Sidney, Wayne and York were recognized for consistently meeting the monthly reporting deadline.

National Main Street Accreditation: Main Street Beatrice, Main Street Falls City, Downtown Grand Island, Plattsmouth Main Street Association, Historic Downtown Sidney and Main Street Wayne were recognized for achieving National Accreditation from the National Trust Main Street Center.

Facade Improvement Under $10,000: Rustic Treasures in downtown Wayne was recognized with the Award of Excellence. Honored Recognition was given to Jan's Cleaners in downtown Beatrice.

Each Main Street program recognizes their outstanding volunteer of the year. This year's Awards of Excellence for Volunteer of the Year are: Trish Neely, Historic Main Street Alliance; Master Gardeners, Main Street Beatrice; Kevin & Leslie Main, Main Street of Fremont; Jim Kuhn, NCTC/Nebraska City Main Street; Harlan Seyfer, Plattsmouth Main Street Association; Donna Fraas, Historic Downtown Sidney; Heidi Claussen, Main Street Wayne and Kathy Larson, York Towne Centre Main Street.

Each Main Street program recognizes their outstanding business of the year. This year's Awards of Excellence for Business of the Year are: Jerry's Work & Western, Alliance; Sunrise Bakery, Beatrice; Hoot 'N' Annies, Falls City; The Keeping Room, Nebraska City; Mom's Café & Catering, Plattsmouth; Sidney Sun Telegraph, Sidney; Moments Portrait Boutique, Wayne and Wagner Decorating, York.

The Nebraska Main Street program is an accredited statewide coordinating program of the National Trust Main Street Center. It is dedicated to educating and supporting Nebraska communities in revitalizing historic commercial business districts through the Main Street Four Point Approach. The program operates through support from the Nebraska Arts Council and the Nebraska Cultural Endowment and in partnership with the Nebraska State Historical Society, Nebraska Department of Roads, Nebraska Department of Economic Development and University of Nebraska College of Architecture.

TeamMates challenge

DeMoine Adams, Post-Secondary Education Coordinator with the TeamMates Mentoring Program, was in Wayne recently to talk to all the Wayne Community School students involved with the TeamMates program, as well as a number of mentors. He challenged all the students to have a mentor to serve as their GPS for providing direction to their lives. The former Nebraska Cornhusker talked about what it took for him to get to college and where life has taken him since that time.

Doorlag completes basic training

PV2 Corey Doorlag graduated on Oct. 18 from Basic Combat Training (BCT) from the US Army Training Center in Fort Jackson, S.C.,

PV2 Doorlag was part of Fox Co. with the 2/60 Infantry Regiment and has been in training since Aug. 13. While in training he received a Marksman in Basic Rifle Marksmanship (BRM) and Expert in Grenade Launching.

Attending the graduation ceremony were his parents, Tom and Carol Doorlag of Wayne, and Brittney Peterson.

Family Day was observed on Oct. 17 and they spent the day visiting the base. Doorlag was allowed to go off base after graduation.

PV2 Doorlag is now at Advanced Individual Training (AIT) at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. Following AIT, he will return to Wayne. He will attend Wayne State College for the spring semester in 2013.

PV2 is with the Nebraska National Guard, enlisted with the 189th Transportation Company as a Motor Transport Operator.

His address is PV2 Doorlag, Corey E., A CO 58 Trans Class 04T, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. 65473.

Radiology department to be noted during X-Ray Discovery Day, Nov. 8

Providence Medical Center announces that Radiologic Technology Week is Nov. 4-10, and X-ray Discovery Day is observed on Nov. 8. Medical imaging has grown by leaps and bounds since the X-ray was first discovered in 1895.

According to Terri McCraney, PMC radiology director, the lasting impression the X-ray has had on patient care holds far-reaching significance.

"Most people know that the X-ray is used to produce images of the skeletal system," she said. "What people don't know is that X-rays are used in highly sophisticated radiology systems that perform a variety of advanced medical tests, as well as interventional and therapeutic treatments."

Providence Medical Center Radiology Department performs approximately 4,500 X-ray exams annually, using advanced radiology systems, including mammograms, ultrasounds, CT scans, MRIs and general diagnostic radiology.

The radiology staff and years of employment includes: Terri McCraney, Supervisor (17 years); Kristi Magnuson (one year) . Debby (front) Stacey Hawkins, Christina Spethman, (back) Kristi Magnuson, Terri McCraney and Debby Gross.

Gross (eight years), Stacey Hawkins (five years), Christina Spethman (seven years), Sandy Knobbe (10 years), and Nadine Bjorklund (nine years).

Patient outcomes are dependent on the high quality imaging provided by the PMC Radiology Department.

"Imaging improves our ability to provide quality care, allowing doctors to quickly and accurately detect, diagnose and treat injury, illness and disease," McCraney said.

School to host Veterans Day program

Everyone in the community is invited to join the students at Wayne Community Schools for a Veterans Day program on Monday, Nov. 12 at 9 a.m. at the high school gym.

Area veterans are especially encouraged to be a part of this year's program, which will include the reading of the President's Veterans Day Proclamation and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," led by the high school choir.

The high school Optimist-sponsored group, JOOI, will present thank you banners to veterans that will be signed by students.

The Wayne High School band will present a medley of songs representing the various branches of the military. Taps will be played by Dillon Wieland and Colin Webster.

This year's color guard will be made up of a group of veterans from the community. The program is expected to last approximately 45 minutes and is being organized by Wayne Elementary School Principal Jill Pickenpaugh.

Chinn said. "They're probably going to see us up there quite a bit."

The presence of the police department around the school, Chinn hopes, will also serve as a deterrent for any potential abduction problems, adding that the police department is working to take a proactive approach to dealing with the issue.

"We're fortunate that we haven't had it happen here, but it can happen anywhere at any time, as we've seen in smaller towns like Tilden, so it's better to be prepared than to react after it's happened," he said.

The school, police department and business community are also collaborating on some materials that students are receiving to help them understand and learn about staying safe and being a good citizen.

The police department is working with Community Safety Net, who is seeking local sponsorship of materials they will present to kids from kindergarten through third grade. The materials are available at no cost to the city, Chinn said, and officer Rick Haase will be doing presentations with the kids on a weekly basis for the foreseeable future.

Kids in grades 4-6 will be able to watch a DVD at home that is interactive, Chinn said. The kids watch the DVD with their parents, which gives them tips on safety. At the end of the DVD is a quiz kids can take. If they pass the quiz, they receive a password that allows them to go online and register for a free laptop computer.

The younger elementary students are receiving materials that are already sponsored by local businesses, including a traffic safety coloring and activity book sponsored by State Farm Insurance agent Rusty Parker.

Fourth graders are receiving copies of a book called "The Way To Go" that focuses on such things as making choices, TV watching habits, friendship, honesty and values. The book is sponsored by a number of local businesses, including State National Bank and Trust, Pac 'N Save, Networking Plus, TWJ Feeds, USave Pharmacy, Tom's Body and Paint Shop and Drs. Burrows and Holloway Family Dentistry, Pickenpaugh said.

"There are good things in here for kids to think about and talk about with their parents," she said.

would protect Nebraskans' rights to hunt, fish or trap in the state as a wildlife management tool.

Amendment 3 would extend the term limits for state senators to three four-year terms, one more than the two that were adopted by voters in 2000. A resolution to put the third term before voters was approved in the Nebraska Legislature earlier this year. If voters approve the amendment, state senators would be able to serve a maximum of 12 consecutive years in the Legislature, rather than eight.

Amendment 4 also pertains to the Legislature, which would give state senators an increase in pay for the first time since 1988. For many years, state senators received a $4,000 annual salary until voters approved an increase to $12,000 in 1988. Approval of this amendment would increase state senators' salaries to $22,500 annually.

Voters in the area will also have some district elections to consider, including the District 17 seat in the Nebraska Legislature.

Hoskins resident Dave Bloomfield was appointed by Gov. Dave Heineman to serve the term vacated by Bob Giese of South Sioux City, and he is running against another South Sioux City resident, Van Phillips. Bloomfield is a retired farmer who is seeking his first full term in the Legislature, while Phillips is a retired school superintendent who spent his entire career in the education field as a teacher, coach and administrator.

In the University of Nebraska Board of Regents race for District 3, Norfolk lawyer David Copple is running against Columbus businessman Jim Pillen. The District 3 State Board of Education race includes two Norfolks, Tom Schommer and Rachel Wise.

County/Local

In Wayne County, two offices are under consideration, with current incumbents all running unopposed.

In the race for District 2 County Commissioner, incumbent Republican Dean Burbach will likely represent western Wayne County for a second four-year term, as he is running unopposed. He won a write-in campaign for election in 2008.

The three members of the Wayne County Weed Board who are up for re-election also have no challengers, as Louis Lutt, Randy Kleensang and Richard Woslager are up for re-election.

In Wayne, two of the four seats for the Wayne City Council will be contested, while two other current council members are expected to receive another term on the city's governing body.

Incumbents Kathryn Berry and Brian Frevert both face challengers in their bids for re-election to the City Council. Berry will face Jennifer Sievers in the Ward 2 race, while Frervert is up against Cale Giese in Ward 3. Jon Haase is up for re-election in Ward 4, while Doug Sturm is running unopposed in Ward 1, but will be stepping down from the position since he has taken a job with the City of Wayne as a police dis-

All three incumbent members of the Wayne Board of Education are expected to retain their seats, as Rod Garwood, Wendy Consoli and Ken Jorgensen are running unopposed.

You can cast your ballot before Election Day through the mail or at the courthouse.

Requests for receiving ballots by mail were due into the Wayne County Clerk's office by 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 31. You can also vote at the courthouse through Monday, Nov. 5 at 5 p.m. An agent can also pick up ballots for you at the courthouse through Tuesday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m.

If you have any questions, call the County Clerk's office at (402) 375-2288.

A complete listing of all the races on the Nov. 6 general election are available in this week's edition, with sample ballots printed on pages 10-11 in the "C" section.

AREA TEAMS BATTLE IN STATE PLAYOFFS

Trojans' playoff return cut short

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

WAKEFIELD – Wakefield's return to the playoffs after a three-year hiatus turned out to be a short one, thanks to a stingy Weeping Water defense.

The Indians frustrated the Wakefield ground attack for much of the night, and the Indians were able to come away with a 19-0 win Thursday at Eaton Field, ending the Trojans' 6-3 season.

Coach Mike Hassler said the Indians' play on the front line made it difficult for the Trojan offense to gain a foothold and put the ball in the end zone.

"We had a hard time sustaining drives," he said. "Weeping Water really loaded the line of scrimmage and dared us to throw the ball, which we did pretty successfully. But we had some breakdowns and really bad penalties that killed a couple of drives, and as the game wore on, I felt we pressed more to get a score and that affected our execution."

Weeping Water got on the board late in the first quarter on a 13-yard by Colton Nissen, then used a 68-yard gallop by Jon Dehne to take a 13-0 halftime lead.

The Trojans were able to move the ball well at times. Quarterback Evan Nicholson found Jacob Lunz on a couple of good pass plays, and Josh Dolph was able to gain some yards running the ball, but the Indians seemed to come up with the key play on defense to keep Wakefield out of the end zone.

Curtis Moeller runs for daylight while being chased by Fort Calhoun defenders during the Blue Devils' 14-12 loss to the Pioneers in the first round of the state playoffs.

Blue Devils' upset hopes fall short in 14-12 playoff defeat

FORT CALHOUN – Wayne came in to the Class C-1 state playoffs with the worst win-loss record in the state.

They sure didn't play like it.

The Blue Devils frustrated the Fort Calhoun offense from start to finish, and the fourth-seeded Pioneers couldn't rest until a late field goal fell just short, allowing Fort Calhoun to escape with a 14-12 win Thursday evening.

"It was an exciting game," coach Terry Bear said. "It was a great opportunity for the kids to experience the playoff atmosphere, and it was a game that could have went either way and was a real defensive battle."

The first score of the game did not come without its share of controversy. A fumbled punt return that was initially believed to be a dead ball situation gave the Pioneers great field position inside the Blue Devils' 20-yard line.

There was concern that the punter had been downed before losing the ball, but Bear said the right call was made on the play.

"The returner tried to create something, and it looked initially like the ball was down, but it was knocked loose," he said. "It was a tough situation for us and they scored in three plays, but the kids were able to bounce back after that."

Wayne's offense, which had been shut out in each of its three previous games, came to life in the second period. A big screen pass to Curtis Moeller helped set up a one-yard touchdown run by quarterback Jalen Barry to cut the deficit to 8-6. Later in the second period, Demetrius Alexander broke loose and scampered 53 yards for a touchdown, giving Wayne a 12-8 advantage at intermission.

"Our offense was due after being shut out the last three games, and we got some things clicking," Bear said. "the offensive line did a great job blocking and doing their assignments, and Curtis had a great night at fullback for us."

Bear said the Blue Devils found a lot of tendencies in the Fort Calhoun system in watching film of their 35-26 loss to the Pioneers earlier in the season, and they exploited that and turned to a two-platoon system.

Blue Devils roll to district title game

PENDER – It's too early to end the season. That must have been the state of mind the Wayne High volleyball team carried into Tuesday's C1-7 subdistrict final, as the Blue Devils played a solid match and came away with a 25-15, 25-13, 16-25, 25-21 win over Ponca to advance to the district championship.

The top-seeded Blue Devils seemed a bit tentative in Monday's 25-23, 25-19, 11-25, 25-20 win over Logan View, but had a much different attitude 24 hours later, coach Traci Krusemark said.

"I thought we came out a little bit loser tonight and the girls were having fun out there," she said. "I don't think they were ready for this to be over yet, and it was a good team effort."

The Blue Devils played solid volleyball and took care of Ponca easily in the first two sets. Ponca rebounded and were able to avoid elimination in the third game. The Blue Devils regained control in the final set, and although Ponca was able to close within two points late in the match, the Blue Devils were able to hang on and move on to Friday's district final against Norfolk Catholic.

"We really came out on fire those first two games and passed the ball well and didn't make too many errors," Krusemark said. "I think we kind of let our guard down in the third set, but I was proud of how the girls were able to come back late in that set and continue that momentum into the fourth."

In the win over Ponca, Sydney Burke had 16 kills and Madison Frevert added 12 to lead the net attack, while Sarah Maxson put down seven kills. Sydney McCorkindale had 23 assists and Emma Evetovich cranked out 19. Maxson and Meagan Backer each had five ace serves and Burke added four.

Defensively, Jessica Biermann had 23 assists, Backer added 18, Burke had 16 and Maxson picked up 11.

Lady Eagles rebound, win subdistrict crown

Allen spotted top-seeded Hartington the first set, then rolled to a four-set win over the Wildcats to claim the D1-6 subdistrict title with a 21-25, 25-16, 25-23, 25-14 Tuesday at Wayne High School.

The 19-12 Lady Eagles got a balanced effort at the net with three hitters in double figures, and coach Cheryl Greve was happy to see her team play well against a solid Wildcat squad.

"The girls battled for every point tonight," she said. "They stayed focused and intense. This was definitely a team effort."

After losing the first set, the Lady Eagles came back and had a solid effort at the net, both offensively and defensively. Lindsey Jones led the defensive effort at the net with three blocks, and Brittany Sullivan had a block and assisted on two more.

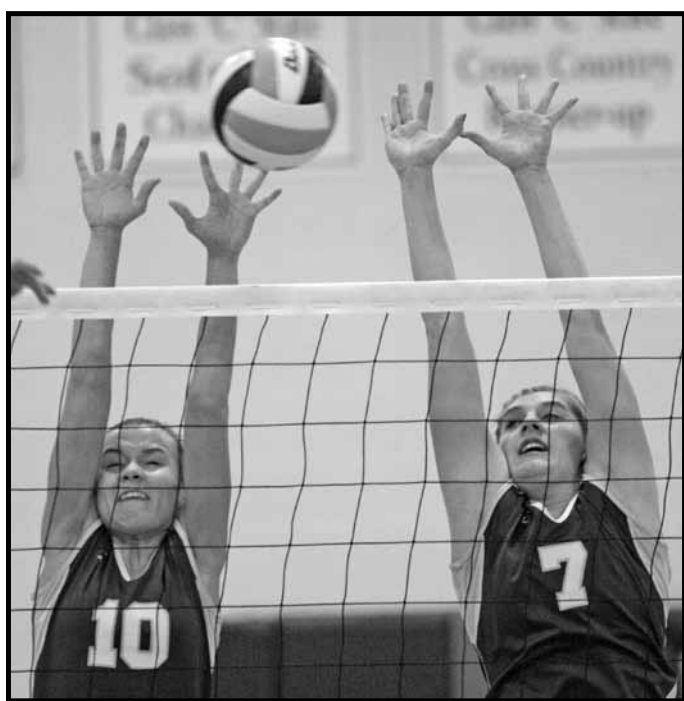

Sullivan was also solid on the attack, recording 15 kills, while Vanessa Klug had 10 kills and a .348 attack percentage. Jones added 10 kills at the net.

Lindsey Sullivan ran the offense well, recording 36 assists on the night, and added a pair of service aces and 17 digs on defense. Rachel Finnegan added 13 digs, Jones picked up 10 and Lexi Oswald had nine.

In the subdistrict semifinals on Monday, the Lady Eagles hooked up with rival Emerson-Hubbard, and Allen was able to come from six points back at set point in the fourth set to post the win, 25-19, 25-20, 21-25, 26-24.

The Lady Eagles won the first two sets to take control of the match, but Emerson-Hubbard fought back and took the third set, then looked like they would force a

Wildcats get key split in home tilts

It was a tale of two games for the Wayne State volleyball team this past week.

On Friday, the Wildcats ran into a buzzsaw in the form of five-time defending champion and second-ranked Concordia-St. Paul. The Golden Bears hit for a .368 clip and never let the Wildcats get into a flow as they recorded an easy three-set win, 25-20, 25-18, 25-14 at Rice Auditorium.

The following day, the 18th-ranked Wildcats came out with a vengeance, riding the attack of senior Alex Armes to a 25-22, 25-20, 25-13 sweep of No. 14-ranked Minnesota State, keeping them in the upper half of the race for the Northern Sun Conference tournament.

"We knew the competition would be there," coach Scott Kneiff said. "A split was not what we were looking for, but after you lose the first one, a split is always good."

Concordia-St. Paul showed why they are the reigning queens of Div. II volleyball, assaulting the net with 49 attacks and hitting at a very solid .368 rate to make quick work of the Wildcats.

"They really played well," Kneiff said of the Golden Bears. "They were efficient and didn't make mistakes, and I thought for the first time in about a month, our girls played really tight."

"I told them that playing safe against a team like this doesn't work," he added. "We hit for a pretty high clip against them and would win most games at that percentage, but against that powerful an offense you have to play extremely well and

Feedback positive on criticism

In honor of the Charlotte Bobcats being mathematically eliminated from NBA playoff contention on the first night of the 2012-13 season, here's a quick run-through of the sports section via the "Bits and Pieces" file:

– I've received some unexpected feedback regarding last week's column criticizing the NSAA's playoff system.

What was expected was misguided criticism that I was singling out the hometown team as an example of what's wrong with the system. Instead, there was universal support – even from Wayne High coach Terry Bear – that any system that allows teams with losing records to compete in a "playoff" needs to be changed.

Amazingly, there are a number of coaches and athletic directors who think the 32-team system in Class C and D is perfect and needs no adjustments. I guess those coaches and AD's also like to give everybody participation ribbons and would be just fine if no score was kept at all and we all hugged and shared cookies and juice boxes after every game.

This week is the "round of 16" for the small-school divisions, which would be the start of the playoffs in a format that actually rewarded success on the field, rather than the current mess that, many agree, makes mediocrity the standard for high school football in Nebraska.

– From the "Liars may figure, but figures don't lie" department: In Wayne State's four losses this season, the Wildcats have committed 14 turnovers.

Five of those miscues resulted in four scores for fifth-ranked Minnesota State in Saturday's 42-35 loss, not including a mishandled punt snap that also led to a score. Take those miscues away, and Wayne State very likely has another upset over a highly-ranked opponent for the second straight year.

Coaches talk time and again about the importance of not giving teams opportunities to beat you, and nowhere is that more true than with the Wildcats. Take away half of those turnovers, and this team is likely in the playoff hunt right now.

– Speaking of Wayne State football . . . it's very likely those who attended Saturday's game saw the last Wildcat game on natural grass on Cunningham Field.

In our Wayne State Coaches Show video on mywaynews.com, athletic director Mike Powicki spoke of an upcoming fundraising effort that will result in a new Field Turf setup for the football team, hopefully in time for the 2013 season opener.

In addition, the soccer field to the east will undergo a major facelift of its own. Dirt will be moved in to widen the field on the east side, taking out the hill and creating a regulation-size field for the Wildcats to play on. The bleachers will also be moved to the opposite side of the field, leaving the two teams and the press box on the west side.

The college has done a number of additions to its athletic facilities in the past decade, and these upcoming changes will continue to enhance the athletic offerings of the school.

– Wrestling fans in this area may be wondering what it's going to take for Wayne State to reinstate the sport to varsity status after hearing that Doane College in Crete will bring back the sport, beginning in 2013-14.

Even with the controversial and insane dumping of the sport at Nebraska-Omaha, wrestling is on the grow at the college level here in Nebraska. Midland University added the sport two years ago (bringing in the now-closed Dana College program), Hastings and Concordia brought the sport back recently, and now another in-state school is joining in the fun with Doane set to add the sport next year.

While The Bleacher Bum would jump for joy at seeing the Wildcats compete alongside some of the top Cori Hobbs paced Wayne State with a team-high 13 kills, followed by Katie Hughes with six. tem for the offensive and defensive lines, with Cody Frahm the only player on the front line who played on both sides of the ball.

"We really worked the plan well this week and had one of our most efficient weeks of practice, and it was good to see things work for us," Bear said. "Our coaches really honed in and got inside their offensive coordinator's head, and the kids were able to use their reads and guess right and we hit them pretty hard."

Fort Calhoun scored late in the third quarter for what would be the game-winning touchdown, but the Blue Devils put themselves in position to win the game late.

Wayne drove down to the Fort Calhoun 14-yard line and lined up for a 31-yard field goal attempt by Luke Rethwisch. A bad snap made for a difficult hold that forced Rethwisch to check up before he could kick. His attempt fell just short of the crossbar, and Fort Calhoun ran out the clock to advance to the next round, ending Wayne's 2-8 season.

"We thought about going for it on fourth down there, but we didn't have any timeouts and Jalen had gotten dinged up a bit, so we made the decision (to kick) in the split second we had," Bear said. "We knew it was in Luke's range, and Danny fought hard to get it on the tee after the low snap. Luke had to check up, but he still almost got it."

Although it wasn't much of a season in the win-loss department, Bear said his first Wayne High team showed signs of improvement and left a lot of optimism for next year.

"The kids played hard and fought hard and didn't point any fingers, which would have been easy to do," he said. "I was very proud of them. We gave Fort Calhoun a dogfight and there are a lot of kids coming back next year who were able to get a taste of the playoffs."

was regionally and in conference," Kneifl said. "It's not easy to bounce back like that, and the girls were able to do that and it was a good win for us."

Things didn't start out so well for the Wildcats. They trailed 9-4 in the first set, then got down 6-1 in the second when Kneifl called a timeout and, in pleasant terms, adjusted the team's collective attitude with a "pep talk."

"I don't know if they'd call it a pep talk, but it was definitely a talk," he said. "It was nice to see them respond, and this is a team with a lot of young players and you sometimes don't know how they'll react, but something needed to happen and it was good to see them respond to it."

The Wildcats did respond in a big way, coming out of the break with an 11-point run to take over the set and, ultimately come away with the three-set win to improve to 19-7 overall and 11-5 in the NSIC.

enough, Hassler thought, to keep them in the game if they could find a way to get the offense on track.

"With the exception of a couple of plays, I felt defensively we played really well," he said. "We've given up about 17 points a game this season, so giving up 19, I felt, that should give us an opportunity to win. The boys fought all the way to the end and I was proud that they never gave up, but Weeping Water was just the better team and you have to take your hats off to them."

Nicholson was 8-of-13 passing for 91 yards and had one interception on the night. Dolph led the ground game with 58 yards on 18 carries, and Lunz was the top receiver with 64 yards on four catches. Defensively, Heath Greve had a big night with 20 total tackles, including 12 solos, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery; Lunz added 18 tackles, Dolph had 14 and Daniel Muller had seven total tackles.

Although it ended too soon for the Wakefield faithful, the 2012 season was a great comeback season for a Trojan team that had experienced a rough stretch the last three years.

"The loss doesn't take away from what this group of young men accomplished," Hassler said. "To finish 6-3 and district champs is pretty special, and I was happy these seniors got to go out like this. These kids proved that hard work pays off, and they made the decision last spring to put in the work to be successful. These seniors set an example for all the groups to follow."

Hassler hopes that example is followed and the Trojans can be back in the playoffs in 2013.

"We will be back in the weight room this spring, four days a week, getting stronger," he said. "We have a nice core of players coming back next year and have 6-7 kids with extensive varsity experience, so it's definitely something to build off."

wrestling in Div. II in this part of the United States, the fact is that wrestling is not going to be in the mix anytime soon, particularly with the school still waiting to hear back from the Office of Civil Rights regarding a Title IX investigation that is now almost two years old.

The school is looking very hard at adding women's sports (rugby and tennis appear to be the likely additions) and is working to address its gender inequalities to make sure both male and female athletes are given equal opportunity to compete in the sport of their choosing.

For now, the school's wrestling club will have to do, and they are getting ready to compete this winter. Their continued presence on the club scene, like that of rugby, will put them on the front burner when the time comes for Wayne State College to add another men's sport.

- As of Wednesday morning, two of the five area high schools were still in the hunt for the state volleyball tournament, but the odds of either getting a trip to state didn't look good.

Allen's win over Hartington was a small surprise, considering the Wildcats were a contender for the latest rankings in the Lincoln Journal-Star. However, the Lady Eagles play with a tremendous amount of energy and really test opponents with their scrappy play so don't be surprised to see them give No. 2-ranked Howells-Dodge a tough tussle in the district finals.

Wayne High is also in the mix and have already faced Norfolk Catholic once this season. They will get another crack at the Knights in the district finals on Friday, and we hope they can come away with the win and punch a ticket to the state tournament that starts next week in Grand Island.

Shelby

The game was close early as Wayne State held a 16-14 lead at the midway point of the first half. The Wildcats then closed the half strong with a 19-4 run to build a 35-18 lead at intermission with Shelby scoring 19 of his 29 points in the first half. Midland never got closer than 15 points in the second half as Wayne State held the Warriors to just 31.3 percent shooting in the game.

Wayne State finished the contest making 23-of-43 shots from the field for 53.5 percent. The Wildcats were 9-of-18 behind the three point line and 9-of-15 at the charity stripe. Shelby was the lone Wildcat in double figures with 29 points, making 10-of-14 shots from the field, 5-of-7 behind the 3-point line, and 4-for-4 at the free throw line. Derrell Williams and Ty Bauschek each added eight points while Williams hauled in a game-high eight boards for WSC.

Wayne State will face Morning-side College in an exhibition game on Tuesday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m.

Blue Devils earn All-State honors

Four members of the Wayne High softball team were named to the All-State team by the Omaha World-Herald over the weekend.

Senior outfielder Hannah Gamble was named to the All-Class C first team, while second-team nominations went to senior outfielder Sydney Harris and shortstop Jalyn Zeiss. Senior pitcher McKenna Gibson earned honorable mention honors.

Volleyball moves up in AVCA poll

Wayne State moved up two spots to No. 16 in this week's AVCA Div. II coaches poll.

The Wildcats lost to No. 2 Concordia-St. Paul before bouncing back to sweep Minnesota State, who dropped from 14th to 20th in this week's poll.

The top six teams in this week's poll come from the Central Region, with Southwest Minnesota State, Concordia-St. Paul, Washburn, Nebraska-Kearney, Minnesota Duluth and Central Missouri leading the way. Truman State is ranked one spot ahead of the Wildcats at No. 15.

WSC women's hoops are No. 16

The Wayne State women's basketball team is ranked No. 16 in the USA Today/ESPN Div. II preseason coaches poll.

The Wildcats are coming off a breakthrough season that saw them go 32-3, win the Northern Sun Conference regular-season and tournament titles, and claim the Central Regional title and the school's first-ever Elite Eight appearance.

Wayne State, which was ranked No. 1 prior to the Elite Eight before falling to Bentley College, returns one starter from last year's team. They are joined by No. 18 Augustana as the only teams from the Northern Sun Conference in the preseason top 25. Other NSIC schools receiving votes include Minnesota Duluth, Concordia-St. Paul and University of Mary.

Women picked third in NSIC

The Wayne State women's basketball team was picked to finish third overall and third in the South Division in the 2012 Northern Sun Conference preseason women's basketball coaches poll.

Augustana was a unanimous choice to win the Northern Sun Conference this season, receiving all 15 first-place votes (coaches cannot vote for their own team). Minnesota Duluth was second with Wayne State, the two-time defending NSIC regular season champions, in third.

Junior forward Ellen Hansen was listed as the Wildcats' player to watch in the league this season. The Ames, Iowa graduate is the lone returning starter from last year's team that went 32-3 and won the NSIC regular season and post-season tournament titles, along with the school's first-ever Central Region crown which resulted in a trip to the Elite Eight.

Last season, Hansen averaged 6.7 points and 6.4 rebounds per game, shooting team-highs of 50.3 percent from the field and 81.7 percent at the free throw line. She ranked 12th in the NSIC last season in rebounds per game and was eighth in defensive rebounds per game at 4.80.

The Wildcats play one home exhibition game before opening the regular season, hosting Simpson College on Thursday, Nov. 8 at 7 p.m. Wayne State opens the regular season on Tuesday, Nov. 13 hosting York College in a 7 p.m. game at Rice Auditorium.

True earns NSIC defensive honor

Wayne State freshman goalkeeper Courtney True was named Northern Sun Conference Soccer Defensive Player of the Week.

The freshman closed out the 2012 season with a pair of shutouts in goal. She stopped six shots in the Wildcats' 2-0 win at University of Sioux Falls, then stopped 10 shots in a 2-0 home win over Southwest Minnesota State.

Rachel Wise

✓ Trusted Educator

✓ Proven Leader

From a World-Herald editorial, October 19, 2012:

Her vision for Nebraska children, Wise said, includes access to high-quality early childhood programs, closing the achievement gap, improving graduation rates and seeing that all students are college- or career ready.

She said her educational background has allowed her to understand many educational issues, such as the relationship between state and local policy and how Federal programs such as No Child Left Behind impact schools. Wise supports the state's accountability testing system and said she wants to look at ideas for teacher preparation and certification.

Wise stresses testing and accountability, topics that are high on the state school board agenda. The board needs people who understand these and other issues and who will work hard for Nebraska's children. A vote for Rachel Wise would add such a member to the board.

Rugby team back in Elite 8 after dominating 60-10 win

The Wayne State women's rugby team reached the Elite Eight for the second straight year after a dominating 60-10 win over South Dakota State in NSCRO regional action Sunday at the Wayne Rugby Club. Wayne State used the wind to its fullest advantage in the first half, racking up a 43-0 halftime lead that was never challenged in the second half.

Tiff Randall scored the first try of the match, running in from 20 yards out early in the game. Haley Wright scored off the base of a ruck from about seven yards out to make it 14-0. It would stay that way until late in the half when Kylie Freeze helped pin the Jackrabbits deep in their own end with some solid kicks that helped set up a run of five tries in the last 19 minutes. Kelsey Meyer, Charlie Caniglia, Jasmine Kovacs, Emily Atkinson and Alexis Vega all found the try zone to help Wayne

State to the 43-point halftime edge. "There was a 25 mile-per-hour wind at our backs, so it was critical for us to get a big lead by halftime and we did," coach Darin Barner said. Wayne State added three more scores in the second half, highlighted by a 60-yard interception return by Jasmine Kovacs and a powerful 38-yard run by Maggie Warrick, and the effort helped Wayne State advance to the regional finals.

Wayne State will travel to St. John's University in Collegeville, Minn., to take on Bemidji State in the regional championship game on Sunday at 1 p.m. Barner said the Wildcats' run-and-gun style of play will make them tough to beat this weekend.

"We're going to have to face a very strong scrum from Bemidji, but if we can get the ball out wide to our backs with a quick and wide ball, we have a good chance of a win. However if it is a short-yardage game with the scrum, we are going to have our hands full. Their scrum will have the upper advantage."

Turnovers doom upset hopes for Wayne State

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Turnovers are a major part of any football game, but when you're dominating the No. 7 team in the country, mistakes can literally be the tipping point between victory and defeat.

Wayne State dominated one of the top defenses in Div. II, but gave Minnesota State's offense the short field far too many times, allowing the visiting Mavericks to escape Cunningham Field Saturday with an exciting 42-35 victory in the 24th annual Egg Bowl.

"It's kind of been the story of the season," coach Dan McLaughlin said in his Wayne State Coaches Show interview on mywaynenews.com. "In our four losses, we've had 14 turnovers, and it's almost impossible to win when you turn the ball over like that. It's difficult when you're playing the No. 5 team in the country and give them the ball six times."

Wayne State committed five turnovers and had a punt snap deep in their own territory go awry, and Minnesota State took advantage early on to jump out to a big lead.

Each of Wayne State's first three possessions ended in disaster, and the Mavericks capitalized on all three to put the Wildcats in a 21-0 deficit heading into the second quarter.

The Wildcats took Minnesota State's best punches in the first period and got up off the canvas in the second.

Brian Kent scored on a short run early in the second period, and after a Minnesota State fumble, Charlie Davidson scored the first of his two touchdowns on a four-yard gallop to make it 21-14 with 8:52 left before the half.

After a Mankato punt, the Wildcats struck again, with Kent reversing field on an option to run 38 yards for a touchdown to even the game at 21-21 with 3:09 left in the half.

"It's a testament to our kids, because they continued to fight and got it to 21-all with less than a minute to go," McLaughlin said.

But the half didn't end well for Wayne State. Mankato drove down the field and scored with :44 to go before halftime. Wayne State had a chance to punch one in themselves, but an errant tip pass off a screen from Kent to Davidson was picked off and returned 60 yards on the last play of the half. What could have been a 28-28 tie wound up being a 35-21 halftime advantage for the Mavericks.

Still, after all that had transpired, McLaughlin said he felt his team was still in position to pull off the upset.

"The whole first half, I felt we dominated everywhere but the scoreboard, and I told the kids I was convinced we could win the game," he said. "I said that if we were behind 14 or less going to the fourth, we were going to win the game."

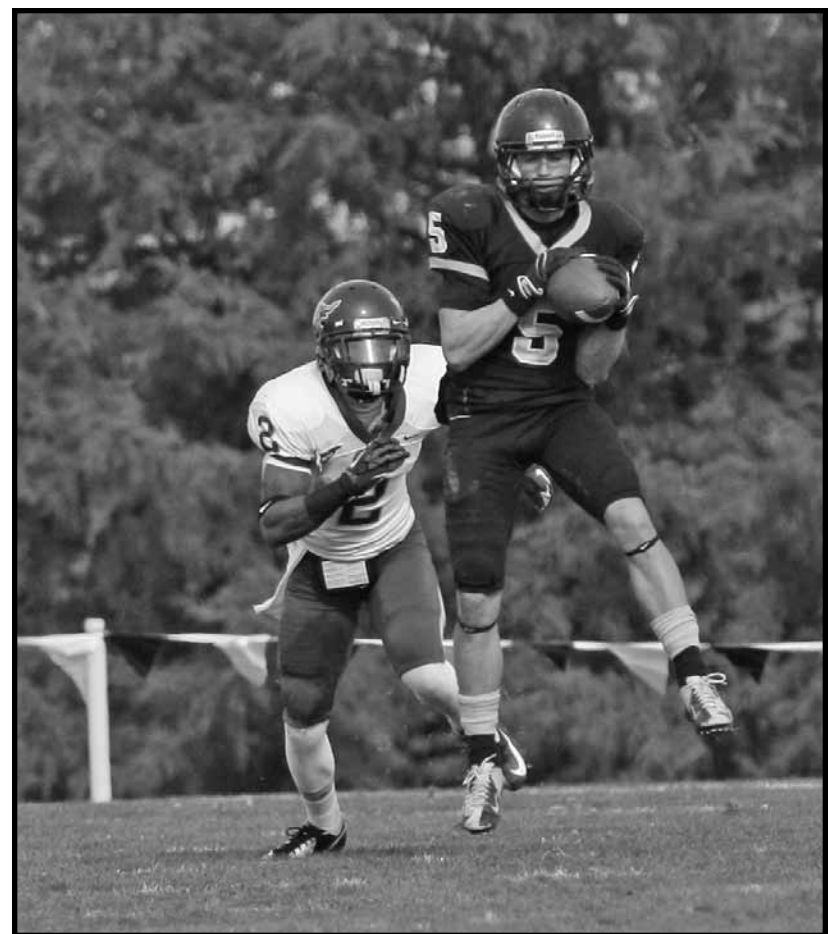

Things were looking good for that halftime prediction, as the Wildcats kept the deficit at 14 and scored with 10:54 left on a five-yard run by Davidson to make it 35-28.

Minnesota State scored again with less than seven minutes to go, but Nate Most connected with Grant Otten for a 10-yard pass to make it 42-35 with 1:18 to play.

Wayne State got one last chance with :53 left, moving the ball to the Mavericks' 47-yard line. They tried a hail mary pass, but the ball fell incomplete to give the visitors the win.

"We just ran out of time," McLaughlin said. "They didn't stop us, but we just stopped ourselves."

The Wildcats had a 455-366 advantage in total yards, highlighted by Davidson's 146 yards on two carries, good to be selected as the Egg Bowl MVP along with Minnesota State quarterback Jon Wolf, who threw for 198 yards and two touchdowns.

Most was 20-of-32 for 235 yards with one touchdown and four interceptions for the 5-4 Wildcats. Kevin Paulsen was the top receiver with 141 yards on 12 catches.

Defensively for Wayne State, redshirt freshman linebacker Nathan Scott and sophomore linebacker Nick Monzu had seven tackles apiece followed by Austan Pomajzl with six.

It was the final home game for 16 seniors, a group of kids that McLaughlin praised.

"They're great kids and good students who are going to graduate, and they were a lot of fun to watch," he said. "I feel bad for them that we lost our last home game, but it was a credit to the kids to continue to keep fighting back."

The Wildcats play at Upper Iowa on Saturday at 1 p.m.

Winside falls in D2-4 finale

WISNER - The Winside Wildcats were shooting for a fourth straight trip to the state volleyball tournament, but fell short of their mark in the D2-4 subdistrict finals.

The Wildcats had come from two sets back to beat Wynot earlier in the year, but couldn't pull the trick off a second time as the top-seeded Blue Devils made quick work with a 25-15, 25-22, 25-18 win Tuesday at Wisner-Pilger High School.

After trading shots back and forth, Wynot took control of the match midway through the first set and were in control for most of the rest of the contest. Winside battled tough in the second set and had some opportunities to extend the match, but were unable to get the key points as their season came to an end.

Nazya Thies led the Wildcats with 14 kills and three blocks, while Carly Thies had 10 kills and Bridget Gray added five. Shannon Gray had 26 assists.

Brittany Janke and Carly Thies both had two blocks, Jayd Roberts had two ace serves and 10 digs, and Nazya Thies and Carly Schwager led the team with 14 digs defensively. Bridget Gray had 13 digs and Shannon Gray added 12.

The Winside girls reached the subdistrict finals with an exciting three-set win over Bancroft-Rosalie, sandwiching 25-19 wins around a marathon 34-32 second set that saw both teams fight off numerous set points before Winside came away with the win.

Nazya Thies and Janke had 16 and 12 kills, respectively, to lead the Wildcats. Schwager had six kills, Bridget Gray had five and Dana Doffin had four. Shannon Gray had 38 assists and three ace serves, while Roberts had four aces to lead the team.

Defensively, Nazya Thies had 12 blocks and Doffin added eight. Thies finished a triple-double with 25 digs, second to Schwager's 26. Bridget Gray had 19 digs, Roberts added 12 and Morgan Jensen had 10.

The Wildcats end the season 16-13.

Winter practices are set to begin

With the fall high school sports season wrapping up, it won't be long before the start of the winter sports season in Nebraska.

The Nebraska School Activities Association has designated Monday, Nov. 12 as the first day for winter sports practices to officially begin.

Basketball teams can play "jamboree" exhibition games between Nov. 19-27. The first official day for winter sports contests is Thursday, Nov. 29.

Hunters and nonhunters may make cash donations to help fund the program, which uses no permit or tax dollars. They may make a donation while purchasing a deer permit over the counter at a Game and Parks permitting office or at OutdoorNebraska.org. They also may mail a check made out to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, with Hunters Helping the Hungry in the memo field. The checks should be sent to Hunt-

Soccer closes season with shutouts

The Wayne State women's soccer team closed out the 2012 season on a positive note.

The Wildcats picked up a pair of 2-0 shutout wins to end the season with a 3-14-1 (3-11-1 NSIC) record and put them on a positive step heading into next season.

"It was a good way to end our season," coach Molly Grisham said. "We were able to put all the pieces to the puzzle together at the end."

McKenna Adams had one goal and one assist while freshman Josie Brown scored her first collegiate goal to lead Wayne State in their win at University of Sioux Falls Friday evening.

The Wildcats scored in the 29th minute when Adams scored on a Rachel Mabrey assist, then added their second goal midway through the second half when Adams returned the favor, assisting Brown on her first college goal.

Freshman goalkeeper Courtney True continued her solid play in the nets, recording six saves for her second shutout of the season.

On Sunday, the Wildcats got another shutout as True recorded 10 saves against the Mustangs.

"She's been fantastic for us all season and has really developed, and it will be fun to see how she and the other young players compete next year," Grisham said.

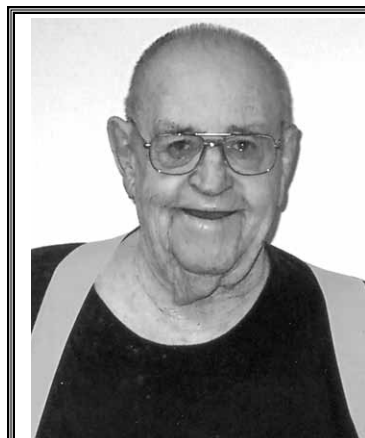

Wayne State scored in the 12th minute when Jordan Hobza connected with Kali Hopper for the first score of the game. Wayne State added an insurance goal eight minutes into the second half when a Mallory Hoyt corner kick found the head of Kelly Voigt, who buried the ball in the back of the net.

While it was a rough year in the win-loss column, the Wildcats will return all 24 players from this year's roster, which included eight juniors and twice as many freshmen and sophomores.

"With the players we have back and ones have coming in, it's going to be fun," Grisham said. "No other team in the conference has chance to bring everybody back and we've gotten better every day, so I'm looking forward to next season."

Lady Bears end season with subdistrict defeat

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge volleyball team saw its season come to an end in the C2-7 subdistrict tournament Monday at Ponca.

The Lady Bears took Homer to four sets in the first game of the night, coming away with a 25-27, 25-17, 27-25, 25-17 victory.

"We recorded a lot of aggressive plays to score points, but we also had too many breakdowns in our play that allowed the opponent to score strings of points against us," coach Patti Cunningham said.

The Lady Bears had a balanced net attack with four players recording double figures in kills. Kiley Thompson led the team with 16 kills, Audra Corbit had 13, Ellie Arduser notched 12 and Kelsey Dietrich added 11. Erin Gubbels accounted for five kills. Cameron Eddie had 54 assists.

Defensively, Dietrich had eight digs and three blocks to lead LCC, Arduser had seven kills, Brittany Wolfgram had six, Thompson had five and Gubbels had four. Arduser matched Dietrich's three blocks at the net. Eddie had four ace serves and Thompson added three.

The Lady Bears ran out of gas against top-seeded Hartington Cedar Catholic in the second game of the evening, falling to the Lady Trojans 25-21, 25-13, 25-14 to end their season at 10-20.

"The girls did some really good things in each set against Cedar, who is a very experienced and solid team," Cunningham said.

Corbit and Dietrich had five kills apiece and Gubbels and Thompson each had four. Eddie had 20 assists.

Gubbels led the defense with eight digs, while Thompson had seven and Dietrich recorded five.

On Friday, the Lady Bears finished the NENAC tournament with a three-set loss to Neligh-Oakdale in the consolation game, losing 25-14, 25-12, 25-16. Corbit had seven kills and Thompson and Dietrich each had three. Thompson had eight digs, Arduser added seven and Gubbels and Dietrich each had six. Eddie had 12 assists.

Game and Parks Commission approves fishing regulations

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commissioners on Oct. 26 approved fishing regulations that will be valid Jan. 1, 2013 through Dec. 31, 2014:

- All possession limits corresponding to special daily bag and length limits are deleted so only one statewide possession limit exists for each species. That possession limit is at least equal to the highest daily bag limit allowed for the species.
- "Statewide" now refers to inland waters and waters of the Missouri River with regard to limits.
- Only one daily bag limit may be taken by all legal methods combined.

Trout - The Sutherland Supply Canal below Lake Ogallala to Sutherland Reservoir is an exception to the statewide restriction limiting the daily bag limit to one trout longer than 16 inches. Anglers may harvest five trout of any size from the canal; the statewide possession limit is increased to 12.

Black Bass - The statewide daily bag and possession limits are standardized to five and 10, respectively; the following are added to the list of waters with 21-inch minimum length limits: Archway Lakes, Central City Lake, Arnold Lake, CenturyLink Lake, Crystal Lake, Lake Helen and Victoria Springs Lake.

Striped Bass, White Bass and Wiper - Only one fish longer than 16 inches may be allowed in the daily bag limit statewide; Zorinsky Lake no longer is catch-and-release.

Channel Catfish - The daily bag limit is increased to 10 for rivers, streams and canals, and remains at five for standing water; statewide possession limit is increased to 20.

Flathead Catfish - Fort Kearny State Recreation Area (SRA) Lake No. 2, Two Rivers SRA Lake Nos. 3 and 4, Wildwood Wildlife Management Area (WMA) Lake and Windmill SRA Lake No. 3 are catch-and-release.

Blue Catfish - Fort Kearny SRA Lake No. 2, Two Rivers SRA Lake Nos. 3 and 4, Wildwood WMA Lake and Windmill SRA Lake No. 3 are catch-and-release.

Walleye, Sauger and Saugeye - The protected slot limit of 18-24 inches at Elwood Reservoir is rescinded; Elwood is added to the list of waters where the daily bag limit may include one fish 15-18 inches in length and three longer than 18 inches or four longer than 18 inches, with no more than one fish 22 inches or longer.

Northern Pike - Lake Wanahoo and Glenn Cunningham Lake are catch-and-release.

Snapping Turtles - Daily bag and possession limits decreased to five and 10, respectively; snapping turtles may not be sold, offered for sale, traded or bartered; legal traps may be used on private property.

Bow and Arrow Fishing and Snagging - The application period for paddlefish archers and snaggers is decreased to two weeks; archers and snaggers may process harvested paddlefish down to two whole fillets upon leaving the Missouri River. The closed paddlefish tag and paddlefish permit must remain with the fillets.

Underwater Spearfishing - Fishing for game fish runs from June 1-Dec. 31 in private lakes; spear guns may be attached to a float or buoy using any length of line.

Set Lines, Limb Lines and Ice Fishing - Replace "float lines" with "jug lines" to avoid confusion with underwater spearfishing float lines.

Special Areas - Possession and use of live baitfish is not allowed at Arnold Lake, Iron Horse Trail Lake, North Platte I-80 Lake and Victoria Springs Lake.

Antlerless deer permits to be cut by G&P

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commissioners approved staff recommendations to reduce 2012 antlerless deer hunting permits at their Oct. 26 meeting in North Platte.

The action was taken to reduce harvest pressure in areas with substantial losses from epizootic hemorrhagic disease (EHD).

Permit reductions of 20 to 50 percent were approved for 18 antlerless-only units. The River Antlerless permit quota also changed from "unlimited" to 4,500 permits. Changes became effective immediately following the meeting.

EHD is a viral disease spread by biting midges and usually does not persist much beyond the first frost. The total effect of the disease on the deer population will be known following the deer seasons.

The board also:

- approved a recommendation to not authorize any bighorn sheep hunting permits for 2013. A bighorn status report revealed that too few mature rams were available to allow hunting.

- Amended a fee schedule for visitor services at state park areas.
- Created three- and five-year hunt, fish and hunt-fish combination licenses, as well as three- and five-year habitat and Nebraska migratory waterfowl stamps.

- Amended boating regulations to reclassify waters, remove redundancies and consolidate language. All waters in Nebraska are considered open; however, only the ones with restrictions now are listed in the regulations. That includes Branched Oak Lake, which now has a 5 mile-per-hour/no wake restriction from sundown to sunrise.

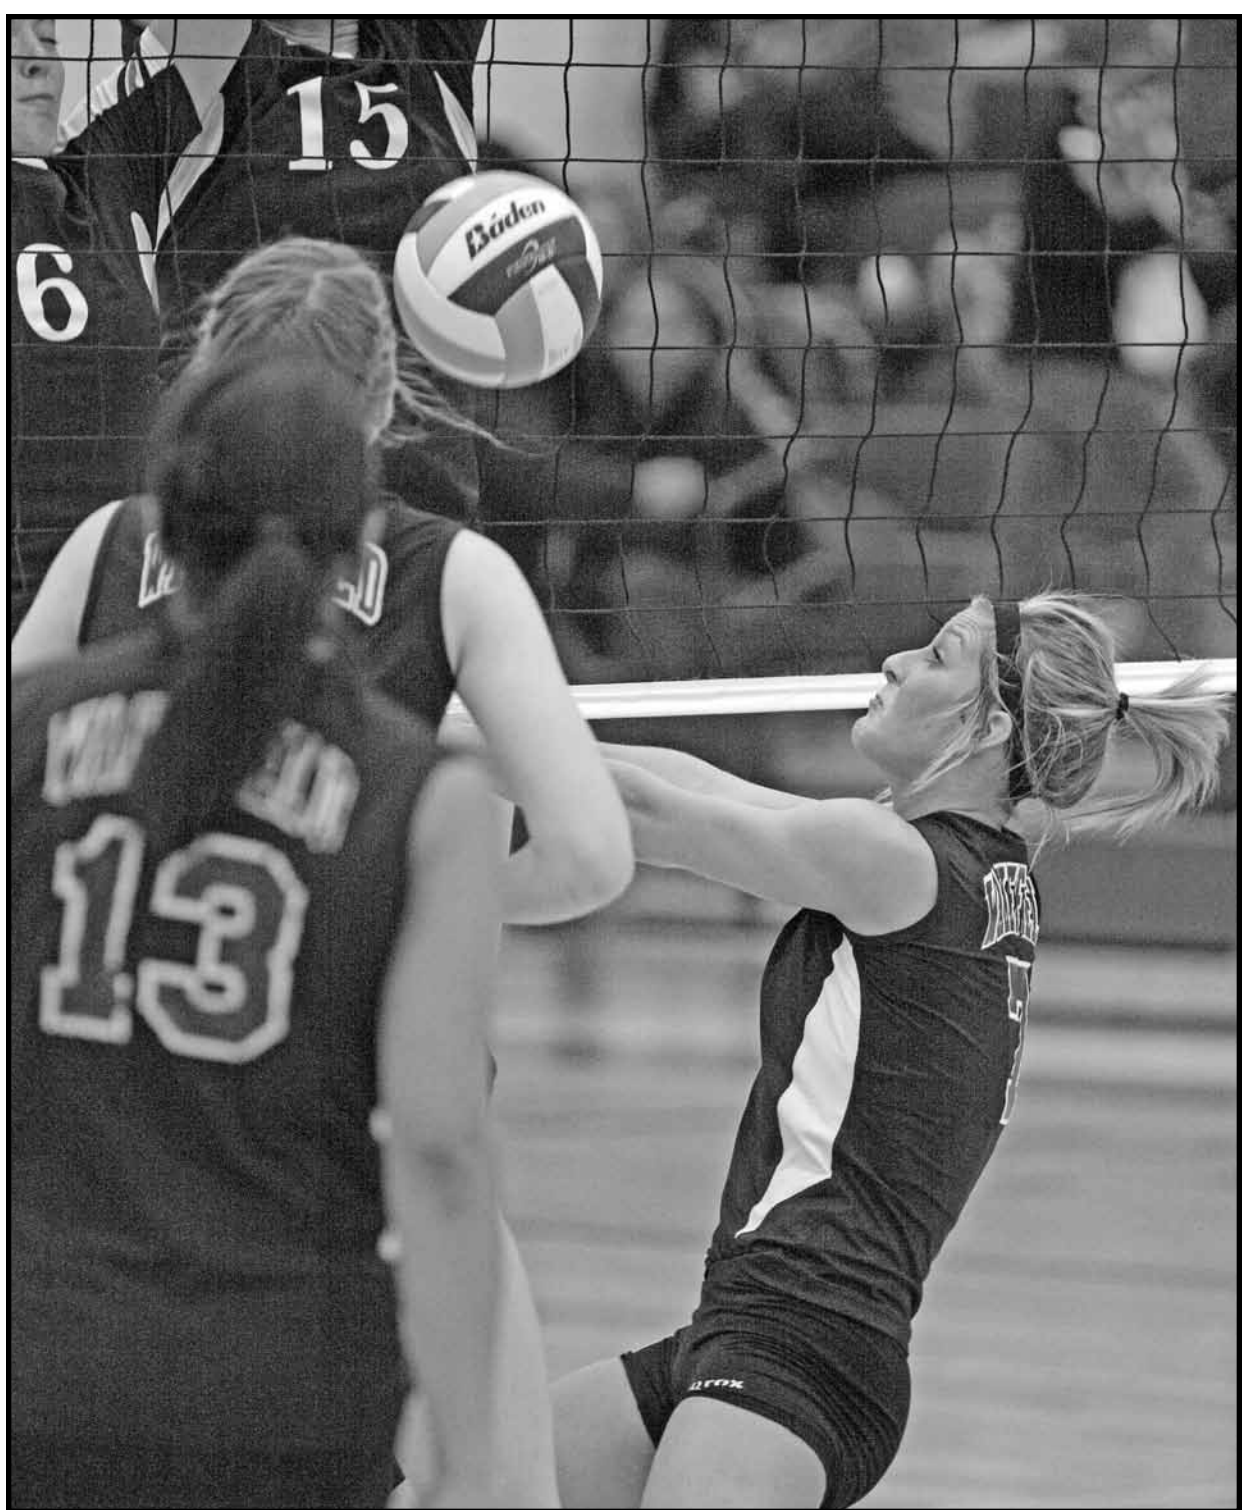

- Approved sport fishing regulations for 2013-2014.

- Amended wildlife regulation language for "body-gripping" traps used for fur harvesting.

- Amended wildlife regulations to allow more flexibility on how turkey carcasses may be cleaned before transport.

- Amended wildlife regulations regarding keeping wild animals in captivity to remove redundancies from language.

- Amended wildlife regulations for the use and construction of waterfowl and hunting blinds.

Wakefield's Sydney Rose tries to play an errant pass off the net for Wakefield during their subdistrict win over Crofton on Monday.

Wakefield falls to fifth-ranked Trojans in subdistrict final

PONCA - The Wakefield volleyball team finished the season 23-10 after falling in four sets to Hartington Cedar Catholic Tuesday in the finals of the C-2 subdistrict tournament.

The Trojans made things interesting in a losing effort, dropping the first two sets before winning the third and making a strong showing before Cedar Catholic came away with the win, 25-17, 25-21, 26-28, 25-19.

"Our defense was really scrappy and able to keep balls alive," coach Timarie Hansen said. "We didn't do as well as we need to on our blocking to slow their attack down, but overall I was pleased with the effort."

This was the third time the two Trojans teams have met this season, and Hansen said it was difficult for her young team to match the quicker, more-experienced Cedar Catholic attack.

"We're a younger and inexperienced team, and when they run a fast-paced offense like that, it's difficult for a team like us," she said. "We had a plan for what we needed to do, but it's hard to come from behind against a team like Cedar."

The Trojans were led by Lauren Lehmkuhl, who finished with 24 kills, in the losing effort. Emily Puls had 10 kills and Sydney Rose directed the offense with 33 assists.

Defensively, Lehmkuhl and Rose each had two blocks. Whitney Echtenkamp led the defense with 20 digs, Lehmkuhl added 15, Rose had 12 and Tianna Gnat recorded 11 to go with three ace serves.

On Monday, the Trojans got off to fast starts in each of the first two sets and dispatched Crofton in a four-set match, winning 25-14, 25-18, 17-25, 25-21.

In each of the first two matches, Wakefield got out to a big lead early and cruised to easy wins. They scored the first 11 points of the opening set, led by solid net play from Lemkuhl; then went on a 9-0 run to start the second game.

Lehmkuhl was a monster at the net for Wakefield, recording a match-high 31 kills and three blocks, along with 13 digs on defense. Puls had four kills, Rose had 34 assists and a team-best 16 digs, and Gnat had 12 digs.

"I didn't know what to expect with this being my first year as head coach, but these girls played well and seven of their losses were to top-five teams, so hopefully we can do some good things next year," Hansen said.

Regional rankings come out this week

If the latest coaches poll is any indication, the first NCAA Division II Central Regional volleyball rankings should be very interesting.

All of the top six teams in the latest AVCA Div. II coaches poll are from the Central Region, while three other teams in this week's ranking are from schools within the region.

Five Northern Sun Conference schools are among the top 20 teams in the country in this week's coaches poll. Southwest Minnesota State leads the rankings, with Concordia-St. Paul second, Minnesota Duluth fifth, Wayne State 16th and Minnesota State in 20th.

Four teams from the MIAA are in this week's coaches poll, including No. 3 Washburn, No. 4 Nebraska-Kearney, No. 6 Central Missouri and No. 15 Truman State.

The NCAA considers overall record and strength of schedule in determining its regional rankings. Wayne State has defeated then-No. 1 Kearney and has a win over Minnesota State, to go with two wins against a very good Augustana team that may be in the top 10 in the regional rankings that came out after press time Wednesday.

The top eight teams in the final regional rankings will play in the Central Region tournament Nov. 22-24 at the site of the top team in the region. The winner moves on to the Elite Eight the following weekend.

Vote FOR Amendment 3

State Senator Tom Carlson:

On November 6th, you will have the opportunity to vote FOR Amendment 3, to extend Legislative term limits from two four-year-terms to three four-year-terms.

Many of us appreciate a coach, teacher, doctor and many other individuals who provide valuable services for us. It's unlikely we would consider limiting the time they could serve our state or communities to 8 years.

A third term does not guarantee re-election. The voters still decide if their state senator deserves another term. Amendment 3 provides for this, but preserves term limits.

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

Get your license renewed Tuesday

Your license is up for renewal this Tuesday.

Don't miss out on the opportunity to update it – because the next four years may not be pleasant for you if you do.

It's your license to complain about local, state and national politics, and it's something that millions of Americans have fought and died for over the course of our nation's 236-year history.

There's not a laminated card that you'll receive (although a nice little old lady might place an "I voted today" sticker on your lapel), and there won't be any prizes for those who go to the polls (although some places might offer free cookies and coffee). However, regardless of who you vote for next week, going to the polls and casting your ballot will give you a license to complain about the state of politics in our country for the next four years.

Of course, the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution gives us the unquestioned right to express ourselves in whatever manner we so choose, so you still have the right to complain about Congress, the Legislature or your local city council regardless of whether you vote or not. The relevance of your argument, however, will lose its punch if you don't take the 10-15 minutes that it requires to go to your designated polling place, register and fill out your ballot.

This is the opportunity you have, every two and four years, to select who you feel should represent your town, your county, your state and your nation. It is a freedom that we, as Americans, have taken for granted for far too long (a fact easily noted by some of the yahoos currently "representing" us in Congress). Our forefathers fought and died for this freedom to select our representatives, a freedom that is the cornerstone of who we are as citizens of the United States of America.

There is a growing apathy regarding our government at all levels, one that is seen in the lower percentage of voter turnout at all levels. And there are a plethora of excuses for those who choose not to vote, most notable being that their vote doesn't matter.

But there is a long list of elections that have happened over the course of our history where one vote, literally, was the difference in the outcome. One of the first elections I covered saw a race between two candidates for the Nebraska Legislature separated by just 30 votes. A re-count confirmed the vote differential, which was ultimately challenged by the loser of the election. The final total was upheld, but you have to wonder if there were 31 voters in the district who could have made the difference for the losing candidate, had they taken the time to exercise their constitutional right.

Several elections in the United States have been close enough where those who chose not to vote could have made the difference one way or the other. The 2000 Presidential election came down to the state of Florida, where George W. Bush defeated Al Gore by 537 votes. Where would our nation be today if it were Gore who were President on Sept. 11, 2001 instead of Bush?

In 1960, John F. Kennedy's election over Richard Nixon wasn't decided until the following day, and the margin of victory was one-tenth of 1 percent. How much different would our nation and our world be today if Nixon had been President a decade earlier than he actually held the office?

And don't get me started on whether or not your vote matters – because it does. And it doesn't matter who you vote for, so long as you vote for the candidate you believe will do the best job of representing your ideas and wishes.

Many single-minded fools (many of whom serve as bubble-headed clowns known as "political analysts" on the various "news" networks) believe that there are only two candidates to vote for in the race for President. In their narrow view, you can either choose incumbent Barack Obama or challenger Mitt Romney – a vote for any other candidate is, in their mind, a wasted vote.

That's hogwash – the only time a vote is wasted is when it is not cast. You waste your vote when you fail to go to the polls and make your selections on candidates running for positions ranging from the local school board to the President of the United States. My grandpa once told me, "What's popular isn't always right, and what's right isn't always popular." Nowhere is that more true than at the ballot box – and only you can determine which candidate is the right one, in your mind, to represent you in the halls of government.

If you've read this column long enough, you know of my open disdain for the Republican and Democrat parties, so you have a pretty good idea of who I will be voting for this Tuesday. But that is MY choice for the upcoming election – it is up to you to have taken the time to understand each candidate's views and hopes for what they will accomplish if they are elected, and make your own choice based on what you understand.

Go get your license renewed this Tuesday – your license to complain about the state of politics in America is only good as long as you go to the polls and vote.

Don't let your license lapse.

One for Senators and the voters

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The major obstacle to Nebraska lawmakers receiving a larger salary is a basic misunderstanding of just how hard they work for the $12,000 that has been the going rate since 1988.

There's a misperception that state senators only work 90 days one year and 60 days the next year of the two-year legislative session. Those 90 days start in January and often drag through mid-May in the "long session" and at least into early April in the "short session." But the work of being a state senator carries on all year.

On the official list of senatorial responsibilities are interim studies which fill in the "off-season" and require travel to Lincoln or other areas of the state for those interim hearings which help senators get the information they need for issues and proposals with which they might deal during regular session. They receive a per diem for travel and living expenses . . . but have you bought a tank of gas lately? The money doesn't go as far as it did.

Unofficially, lawmakers have to deal with constituent concerns. Many have advisory groups with which they meet regularly in their districts. Then there's the host of social events and speaking engagements ranging from ribbon cuttings to Eagle Scout recognitions and a number of "required attendance events" in-between.

Bottom line: Low pay has greatly limited the pool of Nebraskans who can afford to serve: The wealthy; independent business owners and farmers and ranchers who can afford to be away from work; some retired people. It IS hard work and a

www.paulfellcartoons.com

FULL TIME job. The pay increase to $22,500 isn't enough, but it's a step in the right direction.

Then comes the idea of term limits, on the books since 2006 after Nebraskans bought into the idea that this would be a great way to "get rid" of certain senators with whom they had become disgruntled. Supporters say they were simply breaking down the "good ol' boy" network and all of its secret deals and back-room negotiations. I am not sure which Nebraska Legislature has all that going on . . . but, again, perception is reality for some folks.

Opponents argue that limiting senators to two terms hamstring the process and gives the power to the lobbyists and special interests. In some cases, a senator's office may be staffed by someone with more experience in the legislative process than the person who has been elected to represent the people and push the red or green voting button.

It takes at least one term to understand the system, establish a rhythm – to be a player, if you will. That leaves four years for a senator to accomplish anything if they get re-elected. Expanding term limits to three terms (12 years) makes more sense. Abolishing term limits altogether makes the most sense.

When did the will of a few people, the supporters of term limits, replace the will of the majority of the electorate who simply want to go to the ballot box and exercise term limits by voting for the legislative candidate of their choice?

Legislative Update

Collegebound Nebraska is launched

This past week, the University of Nebraska launched a week long program drawing attention to Collegebound Nebraska, a program that offers students an opportunity to attend any one of the University of Nebraska campuses and pay no tuition.

The program is open to any Nebraska undergraduate who qualifies for a federal Pell Grant and meets the requirements for admission – Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) applications must be filled out by April 1 of each year. Once in the program the student needs to maintain a 2.5 grade-point average. Collegebound Nebraska will cover up to 30 credit hours a year that are not covered by Pell Grants or scholarships.

While we are talking about college funding, it is a good time to think ahead to end-of-the-year tax deductions. Nebraska offers up to a $5,000 state income tax deduction for individuals who contribute to a 529 plan in Nebraska.

In Nebraska, the 529 plans are often referred to as the College Savings Fund, and the state offers four options. Three of the four plans offered in Nebraska just received a Morningstar rating of "neutral" – meaning that while they are not flawed, Morningstar feels, they are unlikely to perform any better than the markets. These plans allow for tax-free investments and qualified withdrawals for expenses related to higher education are federal and state income-tax free. If you have any questions about these plans I would encourage you to visit the Nebraska State Treasurer's website at www.treasurer.org.

Beverly Neel, my administrative assistant, who has been out of the office since the end of July with a broken ankle, is planning to return to work on Wednesday, Nov. 7. It will be good to have her back.

I would like to remind all of you to get out and vote on Tuesday, Nov. 6. The candidates that you elect, from town board to President of the United States, will affect your future for years to come. YOU have a decision to make, and remember, you cannot (or at least should not) complain about your elected officials if you do not take the time to vote and voice your opinion.

Another important day coming up is Veterans Day on Sunday, Nov. 11. I will have additional comments on this much overlooked holiday next week.

As always, if we can be of any assistance, contact our office at (402) 471-2716 or e-mail dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov.

WSC Computer Science student selected for prestigious National Cyberinfrastructure Program

Jeff Sladky, a junior computer science major from Oxford, says that if the class sizes at Wayne State were larger, then he most likely would have been just another student in another class to his professors and likely would have been passed over for opportunities outside of his normal studies.

But Sladky, like most Wayne State students, benefits from the personal interactions and hands-on learning opportunities that are built into many of the college's programs. The result: Sladky has been selected for the 2012 National Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research (EPSCoR) Cyberinfrastructure Student Engagement Program.

Students selected for this prestigious opportunity participate in a year-long program that deals with cyberinfrastructure, high throughput computing, grid computing, data management, data mining, visualization, networking, cloud services, and other high performance computing topics. Students in the program receive full financial support for travel and participation in the program.

"At first, I thought I wasn't prepared for this at all," Sladky said. "But after the initial speaker, I realized that I was ahead and had a better understanding than most of the other students in the program, some of whom even have doctorate degrees."

Sladky attended the national kick-off and orientation meeting for the program during the past spring semester at Clemson University. He has since participated in a series of regularly scheduled online training programs in each of the relevant topic areas. At the completion of the program, students will be invited to attend and directly participate in the SC12 supercomputing conference in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Students who complete the program are encouraged to return to their institutions and communities to become leaders in cyberinfrastructure discussions and policy development.

Dr. Lourdes Herling, a computer science faculty member at Wayne State College and Sladky's advisor and mentor, has been instrumental in identifying this opportunity, encouraging his application, and supporting his involvement in the program.

"When I learned of this opportunity through my connections with Shodor (a national resource for computational science education) and the National Computational Science Institute (NCSI) I encouraged him to apply," Herling said. "He had already decided his honors colloquium topic was going to be parallel programming, and through the program he has been given access to computing time on multiple national computing grids including the Extreme Science and Engineering Discovery Environment (XSEDE), we are hoping to take advantage of this in the completion of his colloquium this fall."

Sladky serves as one of two excellent peer tutors for students in computing academic programs at Wayne State College. The peer tutor program is under the direction of Dorothy Weber of the Holland Academic Success Center at Wayne State College. In addition to his major in computer science, Sladky is pursuing a minor in Spanish.

"The program through Clemson and the University of Kentucky in which Jeff is participating provides him with an excellent networking opportunity as well as an excellent addition to his resume should he choose to continue on to graduate school," Herling said.

EPSCoR, the Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research, is a program that assists the National Science Foundation (NSF) in advancing science, computing, and engineering by providing programs that allow for discovery, innovation, and overall knowledge-based prosperity. In addition, it provides strategic programs and opportunities for participants that stimulate sustainable improvements in competitiveness and research and development capacity.

"With our increasingly interconnected world and dependence upon the cyberinfrastructure that ties it all together, it is important to develop future leaders in this area who can respond to the challenges and also effectively convey the importance of key issues to the general public," said Dr. Tim Garvin, chair of the Computer Technology and Information Systems (CTIS) Department at Wayne State College. "Jeff is an excellent example of how talented computing students at Wayne State College are positioning themselves to be the architects and administrators of our digital future."

CTIS at Wayne State offers a full range of computing degree programs in computer science and computer information systems, including concentrations in computer information systems of programmer/analyst, networking, web analyst, and e-commerce. The CTIS Department also offers minors in computer science, computer information systems, and management information systems to undergraduate students, as well as offering the information technology supplemental endorsement for educators at the undergraduate and graduate levels and the masters of science in organizational management - information technology management concentration to graduate students.

"It is common for a portion of our students to perform at such a high level," Garvin said. "Jeff Sladky is a good example. Many of our other students exhibit quiet excellence in cooperative education experiences, projects, and also in their careers beyond their degree programs."

Advice offered for tree care during drought

By Steven D. Rasmussen, CF
NFS Northeast District Forester

Although the unprecedented heat of the summer of 2012 has abated and recently we have received some cool and wet weather, the drought that we have been experiencing continues.

If we do not receive moisture before the ground freezes, tree and shrub roots will be killed and that will cause many of our plants to die over the winter. Two actions, watering and mulching, can be done this fall to help the trees and woody plantings in your landscape make it through the upcoming winter season.

First, the watering and soaking the soil profile around trees is still the most important thing you can do to keep the root systems healthy. This is especially important for younger trees (less than five years planted) that are just getting their roots established in their new surroundings. Most water and nutrient absorbing tree roots are in the upper 18-24 inches of soil. Slow watering at the location of the edge of the planting hole for newly planted trees or at outer edge of the tree branches for larger trees will allow the water to work down through the soil profile.

Do not water at the very base of the tree. During a rain event the tree sheds the water out to the edge of the branches and the majority of the water falls at this "drip line". Naturally, the tree will have the majority of the water absorbing roots growing in this location. Watering at the edge of the planting hole or drip line will be most efficient. Use a soaker hose or the inexpensive, small, round type sprinkler that puts out a 3-5 foot diameter fountain. I move this around the drip line of the tree after 20-30 minutes of soaking. This provides for a slow penetrating type watering. Root feeders can be used also, but they do not need to be put in too deep. Inserting the water feeder 12-18 inches into the soil is sufficient and do not fertilize trees during stress.

The second simple project you can do is to mulch the area around the tree with organic material. Mulching a 3-4 inch depth out to the drip line of smaller trees or a 4-5 foot radius on larger trees is the recommended technique. The organic mulch (like wood chips) helps insulate the soil from quick changing temperature extremes; decomposes nutrients into the soil and creates a better growing environment for the tree roots and the beneficial microorganisms in the soil.

Do not heap the mulch around the base of the tree. This traps moisture for rot organisms and may increase rodent damage.

Emerald ash borer has not been found in Nebraska yet but was recently found in Kansas this summer near Kansas City. It has now been confirmed in three adjacent states to Nebraska: Iowa, Missouri and Kansas and has now been found in 18 states since first being identified in Detroit, Mich., in 2002.

Pine Wilt has become more established in northeast Nebraska with many larger and older Scotch pines dieing from the nematode that gets introduced into the tree. There is no good preventative or combative type treatment for this pest and trees will need to be cut down and burned.

The Nebraska Forest Service and Nebraska Statewide Arboretum have been working with nurseries in Nebraska to start using better growing containers compared to the traditional plastic, smooth sided containers that cause girdling roots and poor developing root systems. Semi-porous cloth bags and containers that air prune the roots have shown that these types of containers help develop much improved root systems which lead to healthier trees.

A recent grant project that provided free trees during Nebraska ReTree Week encouraged the use of those growing methods.

Izaak Walton League of rural Wayne and the Northeast Arboretum near Concord were local groups that participated in this grant project for free landscape trees. In addition, Wayne State College Arboretum has been purchasing trees with these containers for their landscaping projects.

Deadline extended for well assistance program

Did your domestic or livestock well go dry this summer?

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) can help. The LENRD is providing 50 percent cost-share, up to $1,500, to anyone within the 15-county district whose domestic or livestock well has gone dry, due to the current drought. Interested landowners can sign-up for financial assistance at their local USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) office. The deadline to apply has been extended to Thursday, Nov. 15.

LENRD Assistant General Manager, Ken Berney, said, "We have extended the deadline to apply for the cost-share because we are still getting calls from people who are interested in the program. Those interested should apply by the Nov. 15 deadline, and the work must be completed by Dec. 31."

Berney added, "The drought really brought about some situations that we have never seen before, and we want to help those affected as best we can."

Contact the local NRCS office or the LENRD for more information.

Girl Scouts honor volunteers

Girl Scouts is the premiere leadership development program in the country and volunteers are at the heart of the organization.

On Oct. 20, Girl Scouts Spirit of Nebraska held a ceremony to recognize and honor the accomplishments of its adult volunteers in the Columbus area. Each individual, organization or business was nominated by their peers for exceptional service, significant contributions and for being role models to the young women who benefit from the Girl Scout Leadership Experience.

Among those earning honors were Peg Paustian of Hoskins, Heather Hall of Laurel and Judy Kruger of Wayne, Service Unit 516

"Our volunteers are extremely valuable to the organization and this is one way that we show our appreciation for their meaningful contributions," said Fran Marshall, Chief Executive Officer, Girl Scouts Spirit of Nebraska. "Without volunteers, we could not fulfill our mission of building girls of courage, confidence and character, who make the world a better place."

Wayne State to present Terry Rosenberg paintings Nov. 7-29 at Nordstrand

Wayne State College will present the exhibition, "Terry Rosenberg, Presidents."

Paintings will be on display from Nov. 7-29. An opening reception will be Nov. 7, from 4:30-6 p.m., in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery, Wayne State College.

The exhibition consists of a selection of recent paintings (2011-2012) that appropriate the names of American presidents as a primary motif. Rosenberg lives and works in New York City and in Omaha. He was formerly an artist in residence at the Bemis Center for Contemporary Arts.

His work is in the permanent collections of the Brooklyn Museum, Smithsonian American Art Museum, Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco, Walker Art Center and the Sheldon Museum of Art.

The gallery is located in the U.S. Conn Library and is open concurrently with the library. Please call (402) 375-7570 for current library hours.

Center Circle members gather in Winside

The Center Circle Club met Oct. 18 at Jensen's AK Cafe with Irene Fork as hostess.

Mrs. Fork called the meeting to order. Claire Brogren, acting as secretary, took roll call of nine members present and read the secretary's report.

Gloria Evans gave the treasurer's report. Secret Pals were revealed but it was decided to postpone drawing new ones until next month. The group voted to amend By Law #4. A memorial gift and card was signed for member Shirley Bowers and family.

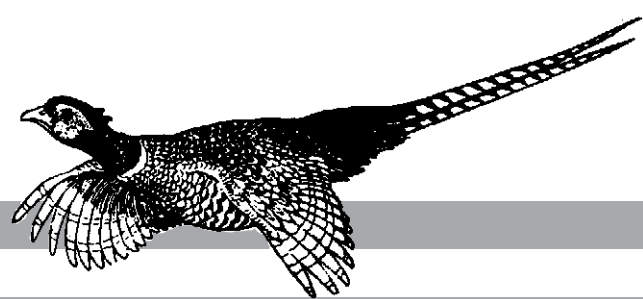

The December Christmas party was discussed and Sharon and Claire will check into places and report next month.

The group voted to have each member donate $5 to the Red Cross instead of exchanging gifts.

For fun, the group played 13-point pitch. The next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 15 at the home of Claire Brogren. Roll call will be: "What you are most thankful for."

Stop mulching, but keep watering

Freezing night temperatures and colder day temperatures have gardeners thinking about cutting plants back, stopping irrigation and protecting plants for winter.

It is important not to put mulch blankets on too early and to avoid cutting plants back too soon. It is equally important to continue watering plants during fall.

Winter mulch should not be put into place until plants are fully dormant and soil begins to freeze or night temperatures are consistently falling into the lower 20s. This is usually after the middle of November and most often after Thanksgiving.

This year soil temperatures are warmer than average. As of last Friday, they ranged in the 49 to 58 degree range across the state. It will likely be Thanksgiving or later before soils become cold enough to cover plants with mulch. See the soil link at www.byf.unl.edu for soil temperatures.

The purpose of winter mulch is to keep the soil cold to prevent freezing and thawing of the ground and to protect plants from temperature extremes. More plants are winter killed by freeze thaw cycles than by cold temperatures.

If mulch is applied too early it will keep soil temperatures too warm. This delays a plants natural dormancy and the plant is susceptible to cold temperature injury. Dormancy protects plants from cold temperatures much more than mulch.

Plants that need winter protection in Nebraska include bush roses like hybrid teas, strawberries, chrysanthemums, any perennial that is hardy to zone 5 or above, and plants that were planted or transplanted this fall.

Once soil temperatures are near freezing or have frozen, a good method to use for winter mulch is to place a wire cage like a tomato cage over the plant. Fill the cage with coarse mulch such as large tree leaves or shredded wood mulch.

With soil temperatures still fairly warm and plants recovering from drought stress, do not overlook watering plants well into fall. Some people think water needs to be withheld at this time of year for plants to go dormant. This is not true.

While no plant should be over-watered and frequency of watering and amounts applied will be reduced during fall, water should not be withheld if soils are dry. Keep the soil moist but not wet. Winter desiccation can lead to winter kill too.

Another killer of perennial plants during winter are wet soils. While plants should not go into winter with dry soils; neither should they go into winter with saturated soils. Moderation is the key.

As for cutting plants back at this time of year, herbaceous perennials are best cut back after the tops are killed by frost. This can be done from now until early spring. Some perennials like showy sedum and ornamental grasses have winter interest and the tops are left until early spring.

Other perennials may have had a disease or insect issue this past summer. These are best cut back now to reduce overwintering pests. For perennials that are half hardy, like Chrysanthemum, studies have shown that leaving the tops over winter can increase winter survival.

Program helps diabetics with meal planning

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension and Franciscan Care Services anyone affected by diabetes and their family members to participate in a diabetes educational program, which will be offered on Wednesday, Nov. 28, from 1:30-4 p.m. at Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department in Wayne.

Participants will learn about current issues related to diabetes from educators with over 24 years of team-teaching experience with the in-depth Living with Diabetes series.

Meal planning can be the most difficult part of managing diabetes. It is hard to work to eat certain foods in measured amounts and at regular times - everyday, 365 days a year. That just does not fit with today's fast-paced lifestyle. When you make slow and steady changes, in the end, you will have mastered healthy eating habits.

Meal planning is one of the three sides of the diabetes "balancing act" or triangle. The others are physical activity and diabetes medications (for some people). Your blood glucose monitoring results will let you know whether you are in or out of balance.

Stacie Petersen will help participants learn how to take the mysteries out of monitoring blood sugar levels. Looking over your blood sugar records, you and your health care team can work to make changes to reduce your risks by bringing your blood sugar levels into tighter control. Deborah Wilcox will help you make diabetes meal planning easier in your hectic life with hints on how to put "MyPyramid" to work with your busy lifestyle.

Fitting diabetes into your lifestyle is the key message today. Diabetes does not have to dictate how you live. If it has been a year or more since you last participated in a diabetes education session, now is the time to make it a priority to update your knowledge and skills so you can care for yourself and your family.

The program is offered free-of-charge. To pre-register, call UNL Extension in Wayne County at (402) 375-3310. Please register by Monday, Nov. 26, so the proper number of handouts may be prepared. Nebraska School Food Service Association has approved this session for two hours of continuing education credits for food service staff.

What would Barbie wear?

Students in Wayne High School's Fashion Design and Apparel class recently completed the "Barbie" project. Each student wrote a research paper on a designer, drew a flat pattern for the dress garment parts and then constructed the garment in fabric replicating the design. "This project involves problem solving and thinking in three dimensions. The students go through some frustrating days before it all comes together. In the end, they are always amazed at what they were able to create," said instructor Karen Schardt. Pictured with their designer replications are Miriam Casillas, Rochelle Sukup, Jocelyne Castro, Irmak Tuncay (Rotary exchange student from Turkey), Lauren Mecseji, Siera Brugger and Chantel Martin.

Winside accelerated readers

The Winside Elementary celebrated the first quarter Accelerated Reader accomplishments. Superintendent/Elementary Principal Jeff Messersmith marked the occasion by dressing up and dancing in a tutu. All students pictured doubled their goals, except for Kati Topp, who tripled her reading goal; and Dax Behmer, who quadrupled his goal. ## Special program for youth at Praise AOG

Praise Assembly of God, located at 1000 East 10th Street in Wayne, has a special program on Wednesday evening for children in grades kindergarten through sixth grade from 6:30-7:45 p.m. each week. "Kids' Praise" is a ministry that features weekly activities and teaching that is designed for school-age children. Jane Pickering and her husband (Rev. Jason Pickering) and their staff, including Hiedi Labs of Wisner and Colleen Heinemann of Wayne, provide an energetic 75-minute evening that provides children with a lot to think about and a lot to smile about. For additional information, contact the church at (402) 375-3430. This Sunday (don't forget to set your clocks back an hour), the morning fellowship time begins at 9:15 a.m. with Sunday School for all ages starting at 9:30 a.m. Cindy Staub teaches the class for the children and Phil Pfaltzgraff teaches the adult class. The morning worship service (which will include Communion this Sunday) starts at 10:30 a.m. Praise and Worship begins each service at Praise Assembly, and there is always time taken to pray for people with needs. Rev. Pickering will be preaching his seventh in a series of sermons entitled "Jesus Is Coming Soon!" This week's message will continue the series as he speaks about the "Churches of the Book of Revelation." It is an important Bible Study at a time when we can all see how tumultuous our world situation is coming to be. Those attending will find the teaching both "thought-pro-

Grace Evening Circle gathers

Grace LWML Evening Circle held their third meeting for 2012 recently with six members and Pastor Mike Feldman present.

President Mary Lou Erxleben called the meeting to order and shared from Mustard Seed Devotions. In the absence of Secretary Lanora Sorenson, Marilyn Rethwisch read the May 8 minutes. Treasurer Lee Larsen gave the current treasury balance.

Correspondence included a letter from the Barchards, regarding their translation of Genesis into the Ipi language of Papua, New Guinea.

Teresa Tiedtke sent a letter to thank the Evening Circle for selecting her to attend the LWML Convention North District in Norfolk in June. There were 317 ladies and guests in attendance at the convention and 39 quilts and blankets made, as well as many items for the "Gifts from the Heart" for women in shelters in the Norfolk area. The Grace Ladies Aid sent a thank you for Mites for Missions which Grace Evening Circle sent in honor of the Ladies Aid's 85th anniversary.

President Erxleben read the minutes from the summer Wayne Zone Executive Board meeting. The Fall Wayne Zone Rally was scheduled for Oct. 16 at St. John's in Wakefield. The theme of the rally will be from John 8:12, "I Am the Light of the World."

The Wayne Zone will host the 2014 Convention Nebraska North District.

Project Chair Lee Larsen reported no boxed cards needed to be ordered now.

LWML Sunday was scheduled for Oct. 7 with Evening Circle sharing the cost of special bulletins with the Ladies Aid. The two large Mite boxes will be available to congregation members at both services on Oct. 7 with donations sent to Mites for Missions from Grace Evening Circle and Grace Ladies Aid.

Mites For Missions were collected prior to Pastor Feldman leading the Bible Study "Living on the Edge" from the Summer Quarterly.

The fourth meeting of 2012 is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Winside UMC to host dinner

Winside United Methodist Church will be holding its annual fall roast beef dinner on Sunday Nov. 11 at the church from 11 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

Along with tender roast beef, mashed potatoes/gravy, vegetable, salad, dessert and beverage will be served.

The event is open to the general public. Worship services that day will be held at 9:30 a.m. instead of the usual time, and there will be no any Sunday School that day.

Money raised through the dinner will be used for Mission Funds.

A Message from your State Senator
SENATOR DAVE BLOOMFIELD
LEGISLATURE 17TH DISTRICT
WHAT DO THE CANDIDATES HAVE TO OFFER DISTRICT 17??
Senator Bloomfield has 2 years of seniority and experience in the Legislature, this is important and makes a difference in committee and leadership positions.
Dave Bloomfield provides much needed stability for District 17. Should the challenger win, he would be our 4th Senator in just over 4 years.
Senator Bloomfield will and has passed legislation protecting the unborn (LB 521). Dave is endorsed by Nebraska Right to Life.
Senator Bloomfield will continue to protect your right to keep and bear arms. Dave is endorsed by the National Rifle Association.
Dave Bloomfield has military experience (Viet Nam) and understands our veterans. His son has been fighting the "red tape" ever since returning from Afghanistan.
Sen. Bloomfield has and will continue to fight for lower taxes (helped pass L.B. 970 lowering our income tax burden while most states were raising taxes) and will to work to lessen government regulations and overreach (L.B. 907).
Dave Bloomfield will not simply throw more money at the education system problems that exist in Nebraska! We must find a better (cost effective) way to operate our schools without adding to the out of control property tax situation. We need to take a look inside the Department of Education. We did this in DHHS and have made real progress there, though it took up a lot of time.
Senator Bloomfield has lived in District 17 for 60 years. Dave was raised and educated in Dakota County (South Sioux City High School Class of 64). He moved his family to Wayne County in 1983. He knows the District.
If you think my opponent is better on these issues and you agree more with him than you do me, then you should support him. If you think he agrees with me on these issues, why is he running? If you think that I am closer to right, then I ask for your prayers and your vote.

Banquet provides column topic

I was complaining to a friend last week that it's getting harder and harder to write this every week, as our life has gotten just a wee bit boring! You know, when this started, we were on a busy farm, with a growing family, and lots of animals, and all kinds of weather to deal with; there were always things to complain about, at least.

Then, at the Bed and Breakfast, there were all these interesting guests. And the job changed from the miles in northeast Nebraska to the country roads in the southeast corner of the state.

Finally, our goal to end up in Lincoln was accomplished, and we are really retired. But, I have to stir up some interesting stuff to write about.

Sometime last month, I got an invitation to the annual Hall of Fame banquet for the Nebraska Press Association. It seemed that an old friend, Dick Lindberg, was being inducted. Plus, the son of old friends, Kent Warnecke. Here would be something to see. So, I sent my reservation, hoping I would be able by the 26th of October to be out and about.

Well, I was, but I called Juli Burney for a ride, knowing that her mom was an even older friend of the Lindbergs. So, Joan and I were taken downtown in style and dropped off at a tall bank building where the elevator took us to the 20th floor. The view from there is terrific, you can imagine.

I had a lot of fun recognizing folks from either their name tags or the faces in a newspaper. For instance, I never dreamed that Les Mann was so tall. So is Emil Reutzel, who spent many years at the Norfolk Daily.

Master of ceremonies was Allen Beerman, and one of the guests was Governor Heinemann. He entertained us by telling us about the pains in governing this fair state. Last week, with 8 minutes left in the football game, his phone rang and an irate Cornhusker wanted to know what he was going to do about the football coach! I'm pretty sure there is absolutely nothing he can do about that.

Anyway, the food was good, the company excellent, the speeches were short, and three very special people were inducted into a Hall of Fame that includes Willa Cather and William Jennings Bryan. (The third was Jim Seacrest of the North Platte, Scottsbluff papers.) Each is deserving, I'm sure, and each was accompanied by friends and family. In fact, we were told it was a record crowd.

It was certainly an event I've never attended before, and it gave me something new to write about this week. Have a safe Halloween.

Livestock Market Report

Beef cows, $67 to $71. Utility cows, $70 to $78. Canners and cutters, $62 to $67. Bologna bulls, $80 to $90.

Nebraska Ag Classic set for Dec. 11-12 in Grand Island

The eighth annual Nebraska Ag Classic will be held at the Holiday Inn Midtown in Grand Island, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 11-12.

Association meetings will start the afternoon of Dec. 11 and continue on the morning of Dec. 12 with activities kicking off at the joint luncheon that day.

Educational and entertaining speakers fill the program which concludes after a banquet and entertainment the evening of Wednesday, Dec. 12.

Included on the agenda will be the latest marketing updates from Alan Brugler, President of Brugler Marketing and Management, LLC, a Nebraska based marketing advisory and consulting service. Previously Brugler was the Senior Analyst and then Director of Analysis and Product Research for DTN.

Brugler has been writing market commentary and speaking to farm industry audiences on economics and marketing for more than 35 years. He has been a contributor to Successful Farming, Farm Journal and other farm magazines over the past several years, and is a regular on PBS-TV's Market to Market, the US Farm Report Show and on Farm Journal Media's AgWeb.

Aaron Davis, a member of the 1994 National Championship Nebraska football team, will give the closing presentation during the evening banquet on Dec. 12. Davis is the president of his own consulting firm, Aaron Davis Presentations, Inc, the Chief Operations Officer of the Thomas Group and the co-founder of several other profitable business ventures. He will motivate and encourage Nebraska Ag Classic attendees, leaving them with a renewed sense of accomplishment in the agriculture industry.

Visit www.neagclassic.org for the complete conference schedule. Sponsorship opportunities are available. Contact Craig Buescher at (402) 469-8390 for sponsorship information.

The Nebraska Ag Classic is a joint effort of the Nebraska Corn Board and Growers Assn, the Nebraska Grain Sorghum Board and Producers Assn, the Nebraska Soybean Board and Assn, the Nebraska Wheat Board and Growers Assn, Nebraska Farm Business, Inc, the Nebraska LEAD Alumni, the Nebraska Grain and Feed Assn and the Nebraska AgRelations Council.

Dates for Cash Lease Workshops are near

Here it is again, we are coming close to a very important workshop next week in Wayne on renting and leasing farmland.

If you rent or lease farmland you should be interested in coming to this free workshop hosted by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in three locations in the first week of November. This workshop will help landlords and tenants establish and maintain a positive farm leasing relationship. It is being sponsored by the Nebraska Soybean Board and the North Central Risk Management Education Center. The first workshop will be on Monday, Nov. 5 at the Dakota City USDA Service Center at 11 a.m. On Wednesday Nov. 7 we will be at two locations - the Pender Fire Hall at 11 a.m. and Wednesday afternoon at the Wayne Fire Hall at 5:30 p.m. Handout materials, a meal, and refreshments are provided.

The purpose of the meeting is to help producers and landowners deal with the volatility of their cash rents. Landlords are trying to be loyal to their tenants, yet want a fair return for the land asset. Tenants want to be sure to stay in business, yet feel the pressure of bidding to keep the land base that they have been farming. It is very helpful if both the tenant and landlord can attend together.

Topics for discussion include: expectations from the lease, including goal setting for the rental property; lease communication; determining appropriate information sharing for both the tenant and landlord; tips for farm leases that include relatives; irrigation system questions as they pertain to setting lease rates; alternative cash lease arrangements; and flexible provision considerations for your situation. Other topics like grain bin rental will be covered as time allows.

A team of UNL Extension Educators will be on hand to discuss these topics and provide common sense tips during the presentation. Managing the 2012 drought and implications for 2013 will also be discussed. Again, this workshop is free and handouts and a meal are provided, but registration is required to reserve a meal. Please register as soon as you read this by calling the Wayne, Thurston, or Dakota Co. extension office depending on which location you wish to attend.

Freezing night temperatures and colder day temperatures have gardeners thinking about cutting plants back, stopping irrigation and protecting plants for winter. It is important not to put mulch blankets on too early and to avoid cutting plants back too soon. It is equally important to continue watering plants during fall. Winter mulch should not be put into place until plants are fully dormant and soil begins to freeze or night temperatures are consistently falling into the lower 20s. This is usually after the middle of November and most often after Thanksgiving.

This year soil temperatures are warmer than average. As of last Friday, they ranged in the 49 to 58-degree range across the state. It will likely be Thanksgiving or later before soils become cold enough to cover plants with mulch. See the soil link at www.byf.unl.edu for soil temperatures. The purpose of winter mulch is to keep the soil cold to prevent freezing and thawing of the ground and to protect plants from temperature extremes. More plants are winter killed by freeze thaw cycles than by cold temperatures. If mulch is applied too early it will keep soil temperatures too warm. This delays a plants natural dormancy and the plant is susceptible to cold temperature injury. Dormancy protects plants from cold temperatures much more than mulch.

Plants that need winter protection in Nebraska include bush roses like hybrid teas, strawberries, chrysanthemums, any perennial that is hardy to zone 5 or above, and plants that were planted or transplanted this fall. Once soil temperatures are near freezing or have frozen, a good method to use for winter mulch is to place a wire cage like a tomato cage over the plant. Fill the cage with coarse mulch such as large tree leaves or shredded wood mulch.

With soil temperatures still fairly warm and plants recovering from drought stress, do not overlook watering plants well into fall. Some people think water needs to be withheld at this time of year for plants to go dormant. This is not true. Keep the soil moist but not wet, because another killer of perennial plants during winter are wet soils. Moderation is the key.

As for cutting plants back at this time of year, herbaceous perennials are best cut back after the tops are killed by frost. This can be done from now until early spring. Some perennials like showy sedum and ornamental grasses have winter interest and the tops are left until early spring. Other perennials may have had a disease or insect issue this past summer. These are best cut back now to reduce overwintering pests. For perennials that are half hardy, like Chrysanthemum, studies have shown that leaving the tops over winter can increase winter survival.

Student exchange program seeking volunteers, host families

ASSE International Student Exchange Programs (ASSE) is seeking volunteers to serve as Area Representatives in the area.

ASSE provides academic year and semester exchange programs in the United States for high school students from over 40 countries including: Germany, France, Japan, Norway and Italy. ASSE Students are 15-18 years of age, have met academic and character requirements and are awaiting an opportunity to embark on their American adventure.

ASSE Area Representatives recruit host families, interview students to study abroad and supervising ASSE exchange students in their community. ASSE is seeking dynamic, energetic people who are socially active in their communities. ASSE Area Representatives are rewarded based on the number of students and host families they recruit.

ASSE's mission is to promote a world of understanding through cross-cultural educational programs. The best way to truly become involved in the culture of a foreign country is to live among its people as a member of a family. ASSE's Area Representatives are the cornerstone of the ASSE organization, making all of this possible!

For more information about becoming an ASSE Area Representative or host family, please call Connie Frisby-Griffin, Nebraska, North and South Dakota Area Coordinator at (402) 332-7425, e-mail asseusamidwest@asse.com or go to www.facebook.com/asseusa.

Immunization clinic set for Nov. 6

Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership (NENCAP), formerly known as Goldenrod Hills Community Action will hold the Wayne Immunization Clinic on Tuesday, Nov. 6.

The Immunization Clinic hours will be from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. at the United Methodist Church located on 516 N. Main Street in Wayne. For an appointment please call (402) 385-6300.

NENCAP's Health Services Program will provide lead screening to children 12 months to 5 years of age at the Immunization Clinics for a fee of $10. Children may get lead poisoning from paint of homes built before 1978, tap water, food, pottery, dirt, dust and even from the air we breathe. Elevated blood levels can cause irreversible damage to the brain and nervous system; it can harm the kidneys and digestive system; and because lead reduces the ability for the body to produce red blood cells, it can cause anemia. Children with elevated blood levels of 10 or higher may suffer dulled hearing, stunted growth, reduced eye-hand coordination, behavioral problems and delayed learning skills. The Immunization Clinic is open to the public, and there are no income guidelines. Each child should be accompanied by the parent or guardian. Past immunization records are required. Proxy forms are needed when a parent or legal guardian is unable to accompany the child to clinic. Proxy forms may be obtained by contacting the Pender office at (402) 385-6300. A suggested donation of $20 per child would be appreciated to help defray administrative costs. If a child only receives one immunization, then the suggested donation is $13.50. No one will be denied immunizations for inability to make a donation. Immunizations are needed at ages: 2 months, 4 months, 6 months, 12-15 months, and 4-6 years. This project is supported in part by Federal Immunization Program Funds awarded to Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership by the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services. The Immunization Program is also partially funded by the Pfizer Foundation.

Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership, in conjunction with the Nebraska Health & Human Services Vaccines for Children Program, offers Menactra (meningitis) for 11-18 year olds, Tdap (tetanus with pertussis) for 7-18 year olds, Hepatitis A for 12 months to 18 year olds, RotaTeq (rotavirus) for infants, and Gardasil for VFC eligible 11-18 year olds, as well as other recommended childhood vaccines. The Influenza vaccine is now available for VFC eligible children 6 months - 18 years.

Adult vaccine (MMR, Hepatitis A, Hepatitis B, Tdap, TB testing) is available to the public for a mandatory fee at all immunization clinics to anyone 19 years or older. These fees cover the cost of the vaccine. Call the Pender office at (402) 385-6300 for more information.

Operation Great Start (OGS) information will be available at the Immunization Clinic this program provides education and resources to expecting mothers and mothers with children up to 12 months old. OGS works to provide services to families and children in Northeast Nebraska to ensure and strengthen their well being.

Internet safety program in Stanton

Protecting one's privacy in the information age gets more complicated by the day, as unscrupulous people figure out new ways to capture sensitive information from digital devices like computers, tablets and cell phones. As children become more social online, they also become more at risk for cyber bullying and identity theft.

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension in Stanton County will be offering a program about Internet safety for youth on Thursday, Nov. 15 beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Community Building in Stanton located at 300 Sixth Street.

Although the program targets parents with teenagers and children in middle school, Internet users of all ages will come away with new and useful information.

Darci Lindgren will be the presenter. Ms. Lindgren has been leading Internet safety trainings for Lindsay Holy Family and Nebraska teachers since 2001. She will present the Common Sense Media's parent workshop, which provides an overview of kids' digital lives. Family Agreements for computer, cell phone, video game, and other media use will be provided. The Federal Trade Commission's publications, Living Life Online and Avoid Identity Theft will also be shared.

The program is part of an effort to determine the current and future use of the Internet by people in northeast Nebraska. Participants will be asked to complete a short questionnaire; the data from which will be aggregated and used to develop a broadband plan for the region.

Everyone is invited to come and hear Ms. Lindgren's real life experiences dealing with teen and preteen social networking and cell phone use.

For more information contact UNL Extension Educator, Kim Burnes at (402) 439-2231 or e-mail Carroll Welte at cwelte1@unl.edu. Ms. Welte is an Extension Educator based in Burt County (Tekamah). She is the northeast Nebraska coach for the Connecting Nebraska Broadband Project and coordinator for the Internet safety program.

Successful blood donation tips offered

Donating blood is safe, simple and it saves lives. Blood donors have a unique opportunity to contribute to their community by making a life-saving blood donation. Everyone who registers to donate blood goes through four simple steps during the donation process: registration, donor history screening, donating blood and enjoying snacks.

New blood donors who are not familiar with the blood donation process are encouraged to ask questions before, during and after their blood donation.

Here are a few tips for ensuring a successful blood donation:

If you are 16 or 17 years old and you've never donated blood with LifeServe Blood Center, be sure to get a signed Parental/Guardian Permission Form, available online at www.bloodcenterofiowa.org/support/pdf/release-for-minor-donor.pdf.

Get a good night's sleep before your blood donation.

Eat a good meal before donating blood. Do not donate on an empty stomach.

Drink plenty of fluids.

Bring a photo ID or Blood Donor ID card.

"You can make a difference by making a life-saving blood donation blood at the next Grace Lutheran Church Blood Drive," said Lori Ann Morehead, LifeServe Blood Center Territory Representative.

The blood drive will take place on Tuesday, Nov. 13 from 2-6 p.m. in the Community Room at Grace Lutheran Church, 904 Logan Street.

For more information or to schedule an appointment to donate, please contact LifeServe Blood Center at (800) 287-4903 or visit www.lifeservebloodcenter.org.

The Blood Center of Iowa joined operations with Siouxland Community Blood Bank in April, 2010 to become LifeServe Blood Center. As one of the 15th largest blood centers in the country, LifeServe Blood Center provides blood and blood products to more than 90 hospitals located across Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.
