Gov. Dave Heineman is proposing a twoyear tuition freeze for the three state colleges in Nebraska, including state colleges at Chardon, Peru and Wayne; and the colleges in the University of Nebraska system. "This is a very good thing for our students at Wayne State College," Board of Trustees member Cap Peterson of Wayne said. "With this tuition freeze, students will save an estimated $1 million in just the first year." This proposal is not set in stone yet,

The governor's proposal is a work in progress, and would ask the Nebraska Legislature to increase funding to the Nebraska State College system to an approximate $4 million for fiscal year 2015. If passed, tuition for all three state colleges and the University of Nebraska would remain the same for school years 2013-2014 and 2014-

City Council approves city's insurance coverage

By CLARA OSTEN Of the Herald

Insurance coverage for the city and the installation of permanent basketball hoops at the Wayne City Auditorium were among the items greeting the Wayne City Council during the first meeting of 2013.

Cap Peterson, with Northeast Nebraska Insurance, presented information on the city's current coverage in the areas of property, liability and workers' compensation.

Peterson noted that costs to the city increased due to the changes at the wastewater treatment plant and the purchase of a new aerial fire truck for the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.

He also explained how the rates are set for workers' compensation coverage and noted that the city has worked aggressively to reduce the number of workers' compensation claims.

recommendation that the city increase its umbrella coverage to $5 million, the council voted to accept the package as presented by Peterson. This will result in an increase of over $22,000 in premiums.

Lee Stegemann, representing the Wayne Basketball Association, came before the

He told the council that in recent years, the association has hosted basketball tournaments, which have grown in popularity and numbers of participants. The new hoops would allow for the auditorium to be used for the tournaments, thus bringing in additional revenue for both the association and local businesses.

He noted that the funding for the basketball hoops would come from the association and private sources and not the city.

Discussion from the council centered on what type of hoops would work best and not deter from other events that are held in the auditorium.

Following Peterson's presentation and a nifer Sievers, Jill Brodersen and Cale Giese voting against, the council voted to move forward with the project. Those voting against expressed the desire to explore more options before making a final decision. The council also voted unanimously to start the 30-day review period for the Wellcouncil requesting permission to install two head Protection Plan and set a public hearpermanent basketball hoops in the Wayne ing date of Feb. 19 to discuss the plan.

Public Works Superintendent Garry Poutre explained to the council that the plan was developed more than a year ago and initial approval was given for the plan by the Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality.

A number of the members of the committee are local agricultural producers and have expressed concern with the plan.

Additional discussion will be held during the Feb. 19 public hearing. Council members approved a request from city staff to make a request to the LB840 Committee for funding for a sewer project along Highway 35 near Pac 'N' Save.

Brent Pick, owner of the land north of Highway 35 in the Western Ridge Third Addition, told the council there is a business prospect for the area, but the current sewer situation would not allow for the property to be divided into two lots.

Council members were told that giving approval to bring the request to the LB840 Committee was the first step in the process and after the committee reviews the request, the council will again get to vote on the committee's recommendation.

Future cheerleaders show their stuff

Wayne High School's cheerleaders of tomorrow got to shake their pom poms, kick up their heels and cheer on the Wayne High boys basketball team during halftime of Saturday's game with Boone Central/Newman Grove at Wayne High School. More than 35 elementary students spent the day at a cheerleadering camp put on by the Wayne High School cheerleaders. The girls learned a number of cheers and performed them before a spirited crowd that cheered along with them. In the photo above, Rylin Hall, Arianna Mulhair and Rylee Cawley get ready to do a cheer. At right, Katie Reynolds kicks and cheers for the crowd.

New Wayne Community Schools Foundation executive director Lindsay McLaughlin is looking forward to her new position. She is shown with high school principal Mark Hansen and facilities director Travis Meyer.

New foundation director excited about opportunity

By CLARA OSTEN Of the Herald

Noting that she has "a passion for education and is excited about building relationships," Lindsay McLaughlin is now serving as the first executive director of the Wayne

Community Schools Foundation. Lindsay began her duties late last fall and is working to "learn the ropes, lay the groundwork and create new opportunities for teachers and students."

McLaughlin earned her bachelor's degree from Chadron State College in 2005 in Sports Leadership with a minor in Sports Management. She played basketball while she was a student there. She then went on to earn her masters' degree in Sports Management at Wayne State College, while helping with the WSC basketball program.

She also worked in the athletic department at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln for two years before coming back to Wayne State, where she served as the Senior Women's Administration and Compliance Coordinator. It was during this time she met and married her husband, Scott, who is an assistant football coach at Wayne

DHHS payments, communicationsbeing handled electronically

Through the use of technology, the Nebraska Department of Health and Human Services is more efficiently serving people while saving money, according to Chief Operating Officer Matt Clough.

"Most noticeable are electronic payments made to public assistance clients and Nebraskans and companies serving them," Clough said Prior to electronic payments, the number of checks written had been as high as 34,400 a month. Since moving to electronic payments last year, the number of checks mailed has been reduced 93 percent.

"Electronic payments create considerable savings each month on postage costs, and represents time savings for employees," he said.

To the clients' advantage, the electronic deposit of funds is immediate and it's not necessary for recipients to travel to the bank to cash checks, which is less costly for them and saves time as well, Clough said.

"Our department's objective is to continue to be more efficient and streamlined so that we can better serve Nebraskans in line with our mission to help people live better lives," said DHHS CEO Kerry Win-

DHHS will complete the electronic submission of claims processing for child care providers Feb. 1. Before this change, communications were mailed to the 3,000 child care providers and 31,000 public assistance clients. Going forward, all child care providers will submit claims and DHHS will make payments electronically.

After that, Clough's Operations Division will take aim at the Employment First program, which provides temporary training, education and employment-related support to prepare families transitioning to self-sufficiency. The program provides services to 3,200-4,000 clients a month, he said, including support for gas, rent, clothing, training and other expenses.

"Program-by-program,we're making progress in serving Nebraskans better," Clough said. "That includes clients and citizens as we become more efficient and save taxpayers dollars."

Ford Night Out

Reasons shared for being part of Relay For Life

In preparation for this year's Wayne County Relay For Life for the American Cancer Society, team members and committee members have taken time to explain why Relay For Life is important to them and their reasons for relaying.

Each person present at team captain and committee meetings has shared information about themselves and in coming weeks a number these individuals will be featured. This year's Relay For Life event in Wayne will be held Friday and Saturday, June 7-8 at Wayne State

Penny Fehringer, an employee at BankFirst, has been involved with Relay For Life for at least five years and works with the corporate sponsorship committee. She says she Relays for "friends and family."

Liz Hadcock serves as the team captain for the Providence Medical Center team. This is her third year of involvement with the event.

"I feel good about community service. This is the best obviously visible 'feel good' service," she said about her reasons for being involved.

Lisa Karel, an employee of the First National Omaha Service Center, has been part of the Relay for 10 years. She is currently co-chair of the Luminara committee. Her reasons for Relaying include:

"In memory of my Dad; in honor of my Mom and for my kids - so they never have to deal with cancer."

Anyone wishing to be a part of this year's event or desiring to make a monetary contribution may be do so by contacting Faye Lilienkamp, chairperson of this year's event at (402) 518-0853.

Free early childhood screening offered by Wayne Public Schools

Early screening can help parents and educators provide the best educational opportunities for their children and students as they enter the school system.

Wayne Public Schools is hosting a free early childhood screening program on Friday, Jan. 25, which will help the school and parents begin the communication process, according to Misty Beair, director of special education for Wayne Public Schools.

"We run kids through a bunch of different screenings," she said. "If there is anything kids may have that may come up as a red flag, we'll sit down with their parents and talk and see if the parents want to do more esting."

The screening, which takes about an hour, includes areas of overall development, speech language, motor skills, hearing and health. Once screenings are completed, the school can work with the family and put them in touch with physical therapists, occupational therapists, speech language pathologists and a variety of other professionals who can help with their child's development as they enter their school years.

Translators will also be available at the screening, which runs from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. and 1-4 p.m. at Wayne Elementary School. The screening is sponsored by Wayne Community Schools, ESU No. 1, Providence Physical Therapy and Goldenrod Hills Community Services.

Russian National Ballet to perform at Wayne State

Performance is Jan. 27 at Ramsey Theatre

Wayne State will present a rare opportunity to witness classical ballet at its finest as the college's 2012-13 Black and Gold performing arts series continues Sunday, Jan. 27, with a special performance of "Sleeping Beauty" by the Russian National Ballet Theatre.

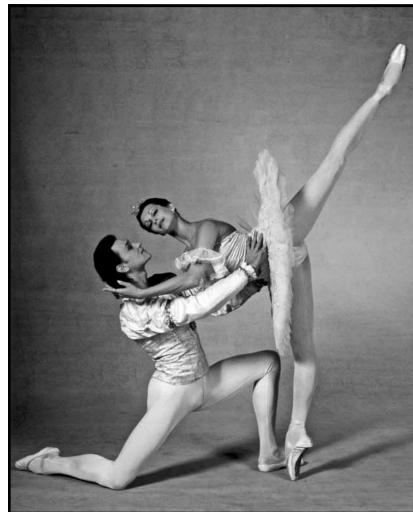

The performance will take place at 2 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre on the WSC campus.

Described as "a cut above" and "the real thing" (Washington Post), "a masterwork to behold" (Toledo Free Press), and "thrilling" (San Diego Arts), the Russian National Ballet Theatre was founded in Moscow during the transitional period of Perestroika in the late 1980s. Beginning its productions at a time when many of the great dancers and choreographers of the Soviet Union were exercising new-found creative freedom, the Russian National Ballet Theatre sought and continues to present the timeless tradition of classical Russian ballet while carefully including new developments in dance from around the world.

The Wayne State College performance of "Sleeping Beauty" will feature a company of nearly 60 danc-

The story of "Sleeping Beauty' takes place in a magical fairy kingdom, where a princess named Aurora is born to a wonderful King and Queen. On her 16th birthday, Aurora pricks her finger on a spindle given to her by a mysterious guest, and the whole court falls into a deep and eternal sleep. Inspired by a vision given to him by a fairy many years later, a prince named Desire becomes victorious in battle against the evil keeper of the sleeping court. After the battle, he kisses the sleeping princess, upon which everyone awakes and a joyous wedding ceremony takes place.

Titled the Soviet National Ballet upon its founding, the company incorporated graduates from the renowned Russian choreographic and Perm. The principal dancers of the company came from the upper ranks of the great ballet companies and academies of Russia, and the saw. # No fantasy about an amazing run

"Turn out the lights, the party's over, they say that all good things  $must\ end;$

Let's call it a night the party's over, and tomorrow starts the same old thing again."

- Willie Nelson, 1967

When I was a kid growing up, I had this fantasy about playing on a professional basketball team that rarely lost, and NEVER lost at

(For you younger folk, this was what you did because we didn't have iPods, the Internet, video games or 800 cartoon channels on TV – you actually had to MAKE your own fun, rather than have it digitally shoved into your eye sockets . . . but Obviously - since it was MY fantasy world – I was the team's leading scorer and go-to guy whenever a big shot needed to be made (sometimes, it had to be attempted 7-8 times, but there always seemed to be one second left on the clock when I let the winner go). One time, I allowed myself to consider the vision of my unbeatable team losing on the home floor. It was like the Titanic, Pearl Harbor and Kennedy Assassination all rolled into one – it was a devastating moment in my team's season.

I'm into my fourth year at The Wayne Herald, and the Wayne State women's basketball team has been as dependable as that fantasy team on my "home court" driveway. Sure, there were some tense moments (does the first round of last year's regionals against Minnesota State ring a bell?), but there were also some wonderful blowouts (the following night against Augustana, for example) and some amazing moments watching the Wildcat women rack up one mark after another in the win column at Rice Auditorium.

As Concordia-St. Paul made its second-half run to take the lead for good, the vision of the inevitable comeback was still dominant. However, as time ticked off and one Wildcat shot after another went anywhere but the bottom of the basket, that vision was clouded over by the unthinkable thought that they might lose.

Three minutes became two, then one, and then the tenths of a second spun down, and then the vision that I never thought I'd witness finally reared its ugly head:

Wayne State lost – at home.

Cue Don Meredith: "Turn out the liiiiights . . ."

- the old streak ended up being just like me running outdoors the next afternoon, red-white-and-blue basketball in hand, to go out and kick the crap out of my fantasy league tude happen with greater irregularity in this day and age. Most teams generally will win the majority of their home games, but what we were able to witness, over the course of the last 3 1/2 seasons, was something that, in all likelihood, may never be seen again.

Winning streaks of any magni-

Winning as often as Wayne State's women have done over the last few years is, in and of itself, an impressive feat. But when you look at how tough it is to win a game anywhere in the Northern Sun Conference – whether it's Wayne, Bismarck, Bemidji or anywhere else the fact that this program was able to have that kind of success, in one place, for that extended period of time is simply amazing. Last year's seniors finished off a three-year run where they did not lose a single game at Rice Auditorium. They were 46-0 in that time span. Forty-six? Consecutive? Without a loss? How many athletes who

For the better part of four years, the only three constants in Wayne, America have been death, taxes and the Wayne State women's basketball team winning at Rice Audito-

While most of those in attendance Friday would have much rather seen one – or both – of the first two come to an end, it was the Wildcats' 52-game winning streak on the friendly hardwood of their home floor that bit the dust, as a cold second half of shooting helped visiting Concordia-St. Paul post a 56-46 win.

Not since Southwest Minnesota State defeated the Wildcats 67-62 in Wayne State's 2008-2009 home finale on Feb. 25, 2009 had the Wayne State women come up on the short end of the scoreboard.

However, as legendary sports broadcaster Don Meredith once sang, all good things – including 3 1/2-year home winning streaks must come to an end.

"It's one of those things, when you have time to look back and reflect on it, it's something special and historic, and I don't know if it will ever happen again," coach Chris Kielsmeier said. "Usually, a team has something like this happen at some point, but to go 3 1/2 years without it happening really says something. It was a pretty special thing, and it's something that will mean a lot to our players and it was sad to see it come to an end.'

The Winside girls basketball team found their way into the win column for the first time this season after winning on the road Tuesday at Santee.

The Wildcats got out to an eightpoint lead in the first period, and were able to expand on that advantage and come away with a 42-22 win to break an 11-game losing streak.

The Wildcats led 13-5 after one period, and extended that lead to 15 points at the half to take control of the game, finishing with two players in double figures.

The Wildcats faced an uphill battle in both games at the Hartington Classic, coming up on the short side of the scoreboard in both matchups.

On Thursday, the Wildcats hung with top 10-ranked Wynot for one period, but the Blue Devils broke the game open with a 20-0 secondquarter surge on their way to a 52-21 victory.

Thies led a balanced attack for the Wildcats with five points, while Jayd Roberts and Morgan Jensen each had four, Mallory Stubbs had three and Courtney Petzoldt added a free throw.

On Friday, the Wildcats battled the host Hartington squad for a half, but couldn't keep pace in the second half as the hosts came away with a 52-21 win.

Wayne State women's soccer team honored with Team Ethics Award

The Wayne State women's soccer team received the National Soccer Coaches Association of America Team Ethics Award for the third straight year.

The NSCAA Team Ethics Award recognizes teams that exhibit fair play, sporting behavior and adherence to the laws of the game as reflected by the number of yellow caution cards or red ejection cards they are shown by referees throughout the season. Wayne State had just four yellow cards during the season and was one of nine Div. II schools to receive the award, along with fellow Northern Sun Conference team Minnesota State.

"I am proud that for the third year in a row we have been recognized by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America with the Ethics Award," Wayne State soccer coach molly Grisham said. "This award is a reflection of our ability to play quality soccer with discipline and respect for the game. We are honored to be one of just nine NCAA Division II schools nationally who were honored with this award."

The Wildcats earned their first double-digit lead of the weekend midway through the first half when Ellen Hansen nailed a trifecta to make it 21-9. Minnesota State got within five points, but Yossi heated up for the outside, scoring the last six points of the half for Wayne State to build a 35-27 advantage.

Yossi, who finished with a gamehigh 23 points, continued to shoot well in the second half, going 7-of-12 from the floor one night after a disappointing effort. She, Hansen (18 points, 12 rebounds) and Spencer (15 points) helped carry the Wildcats to the easy win.

"The three players that carried us Saturday are the three players that need to carry us all year," Kielsmeier said. "It's a lot of pressure on young players, and none of these three have had to play great every single night for us to be a great team and they're learning that role.

"We had three of four win there in the consolation finals, and we wrestled well at the end," coach David Wragge said. "We had some kids bounce back and wrestle well, so I was happy to see that."

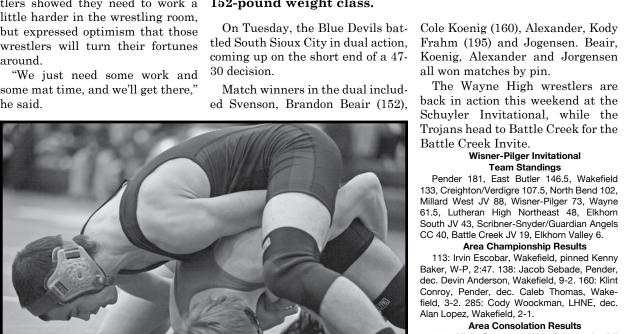

Aaron Svenson (126), Logan Reinke (152) and Demetrius Alexander (170) all overcame semifinal losses to earn consolation honors in their respective weight classes. Senior heavyweight Ramsey Jorgensen came up a few seconds short of a late takedown in his consolation match, settling for fourth place at 285 pounds.

Although they didn't medal, Wragge was also impressed with the work of 195-pound freshman Schuyler Schweers and first-year 220-pounder Austin Keiser, both of whom battled through tough weight brackets before coming up one win away from a medal.

Blue Devils go 1-2, lose Zeiss to injury

The Wayne High girls basketball team went 1-2 in action this past week, losing a key playmaker in the process of posting their lone win of the week.

Late in the first quarter of Saturday's 47-39 win over Boone Central/ Newman Grove, junior guard Jalyn Zeiss went down with a knee injury that left the team and coach Nate Wall concerned about her future

Losing a key cog in the team, Wall said he was proud of how the rest of the team picked up the pieces and were able to come away with the home win at Wayne High School.

"Injuries are nothing new to us," he said. "It seems like we've had a lot, but we look at it as an opportunity to build and for other kids to show up and see what they can do, and I couldn't be prouder of our

With players like Tarah Stegemann, Megan Hoffart, Danica Schaefer and Peyton Roach providing relief out at the top of the offense, the Blue Devils were able to take a 23-14 halftime lead and never let the Cardinals get closer than four points in the second half.

"We had to be creative about who we put in, because of the quarters the younger players had in the JV game, but we had a lot of people come up huge for us," Wall said.

Senior Sarah Maxson scored a team-best 13 points in the win, while Meagan Backer added seven points and Angie Nelson and Rachel Rauner each had six.

The win came one day after a hard-fought loss to undefeated Pierce Friday night, as the Bluejays escaped with a 38-32 win.

Wayne went toe-to-toe with the rated Bluejays and led 29-25 going into the final period, but Pierce used its height advantage and outscored the Blue Devils 13-3 in the final stanza for the win.

"Friday, it was right there for us and we did about everything we needed to do except grow taller," Wall said. "Their height was a big advantage for them, and we fought hard and took them down to the

Area wrestlers finish strong at Winside Invite

WINSIDE - Winside and Laurel- Lange (152), Brian Greunke (160), Concord/Coleridge wrestling coaches both saw some good performances from their grapplers Saturday at the Winside Invitational.

The Wildcats finished as runnerup and the Bears placed third in the seven-team tournament, and both coaches said their kids performed well in their first action of 2013.

"We had a real good day for the most part," Winside coach Paul Sok said. "It was enjoyable to have five kids win their weight classes. Overall, we had seven individuals win matches and we were a little rusty coming off the break, but it looked that way for most of the other teams in the meet."

The Wildcats finished the day with five individual champions in the round-robin format. First-place honors for the Wildcats were earned by Marcos Escalera (126), Levi

"Those five pretty much dominated their weight classes," Sok said. "Colby (Erickson) and Zach (Jones) both ran into a couple of back-andforth matches and just missed out on a few more wins for us."

Sok also noted the efforts of Sam Wolfe (182) and Zane Jensen (285), both of whom are competing as undersized wrestlers in their respective classes.

"Sam's giving up 10 pounds each time he goes out on the mat, and Zand was giving up 60 pounds moving up to heavyweight and was able to get a third, so those guys get the courage awards for the day," Sok

Wildcats come back in win, Winside boys continue to struggle, finishing 0-2 in Hartington Classic

The struggles continued for the Winside boys basketball team last week, as they went 0-2 in the Hartington Classic last week at Hartington High School.

The Wildcats were overrun by a fast-paced Wynot team in the first round on Thursday, dropping a 76-12 decision. The Blue Devils led 40-6 at halftime and were able to come away with an easy win over Win-

Garrett Watters and Colin Hansen both scored four points for the Wildcats, while Bryce Meis and Keith Mundil each had two points.

The Wildcats were better able to keep pace with Bloomfield in Friday's consolation game, but the Bees hit Winside with a 19-2 run in the third quarter to put the game out of reach, winning 64-29.

Watters had 13 points and Hansen added 11 for the Wildcats.

Winside had its best offensive effort of the season on Tuesday, but it wasn't enough as host Santee came away with a 72-53 win to drop the Wildcats to 0-11.

Three Wildcats finished in double figures on the night. Watters had a career-high 25 points, Meis added 11 and Hansen put in 10. Also scoring were Keith Mundil with five and Brock Carlson with two.

Winside will host Walthill on Thursday before a cross-county trip to Wakefield on Friday.

Spencer tabbed NSIC Player of the Week

Wayne State sophomore Jordan Spencer was selected the Northern Sun Conference Women's Basketball Player of the Week last week.

Spencer recorded her fourth double-double of the season with 23 points and 11 rebounds in Monday's 85-47 win over Chadron State at Rice Auditorium, for the Wildcats' 52nd straight win at home. She was 9-of-16 from the field and 5-of-8 at the free throw line in the win

It's the first time the 5-foot-11 sophomore forward from Millard West High School earned NSIC Player of the Week honors.

Wildcats fall to No. 22 in rankings

The Wayne State College women's basketball team is ranked No. 22 in the latest USA Today Sports Div. II Top 25 coaches poll.

The Wildcats dropped three spots from the previous poll released Dec. 18 after losing their first home game in more than three years this past week.

The Wildcats went 2-1 last week, defeating Chadron State 85-47, losing to Concordia-St. Paul 56-46 and beating Minnesota State 78-56. The loss on Friday to Concordia-St. Paul snapped a 52-game home win streak at Rice Auditorium for the Wildcats, the longest home court win streak in NCAA women's basketball at the time.

Summer softball registration is set

Registrations for players age 9-18 will be taken Saturday, Jan. 19 from 9:30-11:30 a.m., and Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 22-23, from 5-7 p.m.

The program is sponsored by the Wayne Softball Association.

JV girls win three, improve to 9-2 overall

The Wayne High JV Lady Devils won a thriller against Pierce Friday night, 35-33.

Wayne outscored Pierce 15-8 in the final stanza to claim the victory. Abbie Hix hit a 3-pointer with 2.1 seconds to give Wayne its only lead of the game.

Leading the way for Wayne was Rachel Rauner with nine points. Also contributing for Wayne was Tarah Stegemann with eight, Hix with seven, Peyton Roach with six and Danica Schaeffer with five.

On Saturday, Wayne defeated Boone Central 41-29. Schaefer led the way with 13 points, Hix scored 10, Rauner had six, Stegemann had five, Cienna Stegemann added four and Roach scored three.

On Tuesday, Wayne improved to 9-2 with a 37-19 win at Laurel-Concord/Coleridge. Rauner and Schaefer each had 11 points, Hix added seven, Tarah Stegemann had six and Mandy Stabler scored two.

JV boys improve to 10-1 with three wins

The Wayne High JV boys basketball team won a pair of games at home and one on the road to improve to 10-1 on the season.

On Thursday, Wayne came back from a 10-point halftime deficit, outscoring Norfolk Catholic 17-3 in the third period to finish with a 42-37 win.

Luko Bothwisch was the lone

Luke Rethwisch was the lone Blue Devil in double figures, finishing with 14 points. Trevor Pecena and Colby Keiser both had six, Kaje Maly scored five, Zach Keating had four, Jack Belt had three and Brook Bowers and Drew Davie each had two.

On Saturday, Wayne held on for a 44-37 win over Boone Central, as Rethwisch again led the way with 14 points. Keating and Keiser both had 11, Pecena had seven and Maly added a free throw.

In action Tuesday, Wayne dominated Laurel-Concord/Coleridge with a 42-14 triump. The Blue Devils were led by Belt with 10 points, Pecena added seven, Keating had six, Maly scored five, Bowers, Rethwisch and Davie each had four and Keiser put in two.

Baseball camps set at Wayne State

The Wayne State College baseball program will conduct two baseball camps in the month of January.

A Total Skills Camp will be held on Sunday, Jan. 13, with a Hitting/ Pitching Intensity Camp scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 20. Both camps will take place in the Wayne State College Recreation Center and are open to baseball players ages 8-18. Players will be grouped according to age with the average group size of four players to ensure quality fundamentals and instruction.

Both camps will run from 9 a.m. 12 p.m. in the Wayne State College Recreation Center, with registration starting at 8:30 a.m. Players are asked to bring their glove, but and gym shoes. The fee for one camp is $50 or $90 for both and includes a camp T-shirt.

For more information on the camps or for registration information, e-mail Wayne State head baseball coach Brian Disch at brdisch1@wsc.edu or phone the baseball office at (402) 375-7012 or (800) 228-9972 ext. 7012. Additional information and registration forms can be found on the WSC baseball website at www.wscbaseballcamps.com.

In Iowa, being too hot can get you fired

Here's something to cure your New Year's hangover (and if you're still feeling the effects of a little too much Auld Lang Syne while reading this, you really should cut back) – a post-holiday purging of the "Bits and Piec-

- Breaking news from the "Only in I.O.W.A." bureau: The Iowa Supreme Court has upheld the termination of a dental assistant who was reportedly fired for being - get this - too attractive for the dentist who employed her. The 32-year-old woman had worked for the 53-year-old dentist for 10 years, but the man's wife felt she was a threat to her marriage because the assistant was, evidently, more attractive than she was. The dental assistant, who is married, only wore standard scrubs to work and had never been flirtatious with her boss, yet was evidently too much of a sexual turn-on for her boss to focus on his work.

An attorney for the now-unemployed assistant said the message sent with the Supreme Court's decision is that Iowa men can't be held responsible for their sexual desires. This should be of concern not only to women in Iowa, but to farm animals as well.

- From the "There's no such thing as 'big enough' in Texas" department: If you've seen the overhead video board in the new Cowboys Stadium in Dallas, you know that it's gargantuan, stretching out more than 60 yards over the field.

Here's the hilarious part - it's about to become the THIRD biggest scoreooard in Texas

The Houston Texans recently announced plans to construct two massive video boards at each end of Reliant Stadium, both of which will be bigger than the behemoth floating over the field in Dallas. Both scoreboards will be more than 277 feet wide and almost 52 1/2 feet high. By comparison, the video board in the north end zone of Memorial Stadium in Lincoln measures a little more than 117-by-33.

The new video boards cost a cool $16 million, and may be the tipping point for Houston to land the host bid for Super Bowl LI five years from

The over-under for the number of months before Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones replaces his old video board with a roof made up entirely of video screens has now been set at 10 1/2 – bet heavy on the under.

- I'm not sure if this is a sign of how good the player is, or how bad the basketball team is, but the Downey (Fla.) Christian School's high school basketball team has a starting point guard who is - get this - a fifth-

Julian Newman is 4-foot-5 and recently was moved up to the high school level after scoring 91 points in a middle school game. A YouTube video of the kid handling two basketballs better than most any member of the Harlem Globetrotters is mesmerizing to watch.

If Rocky Ruhl is looking for a point guard at Wayne High School a couple of years from now, he might want to recruit this kid - he's averaging 12 2013, HAPPY NEW YEAR! Last points, 11 assists and four steals a game in his first three starts.

- If you're looking to cut down the driving time from Wayne to Sioux and what that could mean for all of City, this may not be as good an idea as it sounds: three gas stations in us. As I write this newsletter, Con-New Jersey had to be temporarily closed after they mistakenly received a shipment of aviation jet fuel in their underground tanks.

A handful of customers actually pumped the jet fuel into their tanks, avoiding a plunge off of the fiscal which caused the cars to stall. Each of the affected stations had to empty cliff. their tanks and clean the lines and filters before resuming service.

State officials are investigating how the fuel was mistakenly delivered, but reports that jets leaving Newark are getting an extra 10 miles per gallon by using ethanol.

- From the "And you thought you were working in a hostile environment" department: A Maryland man working for the Social Security Administration was formally reprimanded for creating an intolerable and hostile work environment. What, exactly, was this man doing to create such an uncomfortable experience for his co-workers? It's simple, really – he was passing too much

In a letter to the man, his supervisor noted 60 specific instances over a 17-day period in which he, shall we say, let 'er rip. Included were nine "instances" of flatulence that happened between 9:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on Sept. 19. He also terrorized his co-workers with three "gas attacks" on My guess is that his present at the office Christmas party included several bottles of Fabreze and a box of activated charcoal tablets.

- Annnnnd finally, here's a gem from the "Always think twice before a buddy calls in prison to ask you for a favor" department: Authorities in Vermont arrested a man who was headed to New York to kill pop sensation Justin Bieber after a concert at Madison Square Garden.

The man was encouraged by a friend who is serving two life sentences in a New Mexico prison for raping and killing a girl in Vermont in 2000. He gave his buddy and an accomplice strict orders to strangle Bieber with a paisley-colored tie, the kind the killer used in his killings, while the other guy was in charge of castrating the superstar.

The would-be assassins drove from Albuquerque to Vermont to take out two former acquaintances before dealing with Bieber, but were caught by authorities before anybody could be killed. Authorities got a tip on the duo's duties from – wait for it . . . waiiiiit for it . . . the prisoner who cooked up the plot to begin with.

Nebraska's future: forged or forced?

By J.L. SCHMIDT Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association Nebraska is one of those mostly square states out west that most people couldn't find on an unmarked map . . . and we like it that way. I've said that before to colleagues from the densely populated and pseudo sophisticated East and from the "we're the only ones here" South. I am Nebraska born and reared and have spent my entire life in the state, save for a seven-year stint in Illinois. I love this place, but I am also realistic about Nebraska's So, it was with a great deal of enthusiasm that I watched a project promoted by the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce evolve. "Forging Nebraska's Future for the NExt Generation" was kicked off with a great deal of enthusiasm. Former Nebraska Department of Economic Development Director Richard Baier was hand-picked to be the head cheerleader.

Great idea. Catchy name. Internet accessibility. Attractive to the NExt Generation of Nebraskans.

Now it's over. The polls are closed. No more comments being accepted. There have been 549 ideas submitted in nine categories. Baier is pumped that there were more than 5,800 active users of the site. "There was a lot of dialogue on the site, and suggestions," he said.

I know. I watched it on a weekly basis and duly noted how often the ideas and the dialogue was generated by the Administrator of the site. That's a great way to fan the flames, fuel the fire, keep the idea hot. But is that "forging" or "forcing" the path? Is that honestly seeking grassroots ideas or just a way of legitimizing an already established agenda? Growing the state and its workforce, modernizing govern- the Central Nebraska suggestion to tax climate and commercial environment that lets businesses be successful. Those were stated goals of the project.

Baier said he and the rest of the group rating the suggestions to prepare "The 100 Great NExt Generation Ideas" by February 7 are trying to find some really strong, handson solutions. On Tuesday, New Year's Day, the House voted to pass the Senate bill, but since nothing had been sent to the President before the New Year the deal will be retroactive. While some progress is being made the big picture long-term issues are still waiting to be addressed. # Shopko Foundation awards nearly $1 million in grants

nounced that it awarded grants totaling $981,000 during fiscal year

The funds were awarded through the Foundation's four grant programs - Community Charitable Grants, Green Bay Area Grants, Teammate Community Service Grants and Teammate and Family Scholarships. The Shopko Foundation is proud to have awarded grants totaling approximately $26 million in the last 33 years in the communities where Shopko does

"Shopko views each community where we serve our customers as our 'hometown'," said Mike Bettiga, Shopko Interim CEO, Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer. "We appreciate the opportunity to serve these communities and strive to strengthen them through the Shopko Foundation's support of charitable groups and activities that are important to the people who live and work there. We are committed to promoting healthy lifestyles and educational opportunities for our neighbors in all the communities where we serve and strive to make an impact through the Shopko Foundation."

Through its Community Charitable Grant and Green Bay Area Grant Programs, the Shopko Foundation awards funds during communities.

The Shopko Foundation has an- the year to accredited schools and 501(c)(3) programs which promote the education and health of Shopko teammates and customers. The Community Charitable Grant Program awards funds to organizations or accredited schools in all communities where Shopko stores are located. The focus of the Foundation's Green Bay Area Grant Program is to strengthen the community where it was founded and where the company maintains its corporate head-The Teammate and Family Scholarship Program annually awards post-secondary scholarships Shopko employees and their dependent children. The $2,500 scholarships are awarded through a competitive process based on the students' academic record, leadership, community activities, honors and goals. Recipients are determined by an independent selection committee comprised of Wisconsin

The Shopko Foundation is also proud to award funds to various 501(c)(3) charitable groups through the Teammate Community Service Grant Program. the upcoming growing season, the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) reminds farmers and ranchers that now is the time to sign up for the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP). Those interested in EQIP are encouraged to sign up before Feb. 15, 2013. EQIP is a voluntary conservation program available to private landowners and operators. Through EQIP, farmers and ranchers may receive financial and technical help with conservation practices on agricultural land. According to Craig Derickson, NRCS State Conservationist, there are several options available to producers through EQIP. "EQIP is one our most versatile programs. It offers cost share and technical assistance to apply conservation measures on cropland, rangeland, as well as for animal feeding operations and establishing or enhancing wildlife habitat. There are special initiatives to help conserve water in the Ogallala Aquifer, help producers conserve energy on the farm or ranch, and provide assistance to convert to organic agriculture. There are many, many opportunities available, and NRCS staff can help landowners and operators sort out their EQIP options," Derickson said.

EQIP has become the most wide-

> "EQIP provides a good option for working lands. These contracts protect natural resources on land still in production and generating income. That's a win-win situation for all Nebraskans," Derickson said.

> Individuals interested in entering into an EQIP agreement may file an application at any time, but the ranking of applications on hand to receive funding will begin Feb. 15, 2013. Producers are encouraged to sign up soon since all funding for EQIP in Nebraska could potentially be obligated by April 1, 2013. ### Retirement May Be Far Off, But the April 15 Deadline for IRA Contributions Isn't.

You have only so many years to prepare for retirement. That's why contributing to your Individual Retirement Account (IRA) is so important. Fortunately, you still have time to maximize your 2012 IRA contribution before the April 15 deadline.

By contributing now, your retirement savings can have more opportunity to grow. Even if you already have an IRA elsewhere, it's easy to transfer it to an Edward Jones IRA and begin receiving the face-to-face guidance you deserve.

To learn more about the advantages of an Edward Jones IRA, call or visit today.

WSC grad raises $5,000 for Special Olympics

$Final\ contribution$ pushes total over mark for Wiese

Wayne State College 2007 graduate and Omaha police officer Kevin Wiese agreed to be caged in the cold as part of a Special Olympics charity event to meet his $5,000 fund-

The Omaha Police Department announced that Officer Wiese raised $5,000 after receiving one final, $489 contribution. Last year, Wiese raised about $4,300.

Wiese is a Creighton High School graduate from Creighton, Neb.

The "Cage a Cop" fundraiser is associated with the Law Enforcement Torch Run Organization, which raises money for the Special Olympics. In 2011, officers raised more than $42 million on an international level, and Nebraska law enforcement officers raised $238,000 for Special Olympics Nebraska.

Holding the torch are (from left) Law enforcement officers Dustin Newman of Oregon and Roy Forrest of North Carolina; Wayne State 2007 graduate Kevin Wiese and Dr. Jason Karsky, Wayne State College faculty member. Wiese and Karsky helped with details prior to the run on July 12, 2010. Wiese helped coordinate details and Karsky served on the planning committee for the Final Leg tradition for law enforcement officers and Special Olympics athletes, representing their state and Torch Run/Special Olympics Program, to act as Guardians of the Flame and carry the Special Olympics torch and flame to the Opening Ceremonies of the Special Olympics USA National Games.

WHITENING: IS IT RIGHT FOR ME?

Whitening products fall into two main categories: those that contain peroxide, which actually changes the natural color of the teeth, and others, such as whitening toothpastes, which remove surface stains using polishing agents and mild don't change the color of teeth, their effects are more subtle than bleaches. Whitening, or bleaching of the teeth using peroxides, are available both through your dentist and in several types of over-thecounter products. The American Dental Association recommends you consult with your dentist before using a whitening product, even an over-the-counter one. That's because whitening can be uncomfortable for people with sensitive teeth or an exposed root. Because most products only whiten natural teeth, if you have tooth-colored fillings, crowns, veneers, or partials, whitening may leave some areas lighter than others. Your natural teeth may then appear whiter than areas where work has been done. Your dentist can also evaluate whether whitening is right for your teeth since different kinds of discoloration respond differently to whitening. It is very important to realize that while whitening products do contain derivatives of peroxides it is never advised to use straight hydrogen peroxide or bleach on your teeth. This can cause significant damage to your teeth and vnitening is not permanen so it may be necessary to repeat the whitening process. How long a whitening treatment lasts depends on how well you take care of your teeth, whether you smoke, and what you eat and drink. At Bright Smiles Family Dental we can help you achieve a healthy and beautiful smile. Give us a call today!

UNL Extension offers agriculture workshops are scheduled in February

University of Nebraska-Lincoln ing every five years, and farm per-Extension workshops at eight extension offices across the state in February will provide livestock and crop farmers with information on how to turn manure nutrients into better crop yields while protecting the environment.

Re-certification will be during the first two hours of the day-long Land Application Training. Dates, times and locations include:

Feb. 4-9 a.m., Courthouse, 200 S. Lincoln St., West Point

Feb. 8 - 9 a.m., UNL Haskell Ag

lab, 57905 866 Rd., Concord Feb. 12 – 9 a.m., UNL Extension Office, 466 Road 10, Schuyler

Livestock producers with livestock waste control facility permits received or renewed since April 1998 must be certified. A farm must complete an approved trainsonnel responsible for land application of manure are also encouraged to attend.

The workshops will help livestock producers put to use the nutrient management planning requirements of Nebraska's Department of Environmental Quality regulations and increase the economic value of manure, said Leslie Johnson, UNL AMM coordinator. Participants who attend the day-long event will receive NDEQ Land Application Training Certification.

This in-depth, one-day class targets newly permitted livestock operations. Operations that have already attended this initial training, but will need re-certification, may attend the morning portion of the training.

Attendance during the morn-

Training workshops will fulfill NDEQ requirements for re-certification of producers who have completed the initial land application training five or more years ago.

This portion of the workshops will consist of a two-hour program including updates on changing regulations and emerging manure management topics, such as winter manure application, managing liquid storages, how the 2012 drought impacts nutrient management and the manure value calculator spreadsheet that was released in 2012. Farm staff responsible for implementing the farm's nutrient plan are also encouraged to attend.

Pre-registration is required for all workshops. A $50 fee per farm (includes one farm representative) will be charged for the day-long ing of one of the Land Application Land Application Training work shops plus a $10 fee for each additional participant to cover local costs including lunch.

The Land Application Training Re-certification portion of the workshop is $10 for each participant.

These workshops are sponsored by the UNL Extension AMM Team which is dedicated to helping livestock and crop producers better utilize our states manure resources for agronomic and environmental benefits.

For additional information on these workshops and other resources for managing manure nutrients, visit manure.unl.edu, or contact Johnson at (402) 584-3818, or email ljohnson13@unl.edu.

Canned foods school is April 8-10

A three-day school in April will give participants a better understanding of safety issues surrounding acidified canned foods.

The University of Nebraska Food Processing Center's Better Process Control School for Acidified Foods is scheduled April 8-10 in Lincoln. This school is suitable for anyone requiring certification; however, it has been designed specifically for individuals with little or no food science or food safety background, small processors and those selling products at farmers' markets and other local events. The school includes hands-on basic training as well as testing and certification. The FDA defines acidified foods as products with a high acidity level, or a pH level below 4.6, and a high level of moisture, or a wa-include beans, cucumbers, cabbage, artichokes, cauliflower, peppers, salsas, some sauces and fish, singly or in any combination. Exempted from FDA regulations are acid foods, repacked acidified foods, fermented foods, carbonated beverages, jams, jellies, preserves and refrigerated foods. The Better Process Control School equips attendees with a scientific understanding of strategies of pathogen control, especially clostridium botulinum. Food companies that are uncertain if their products fall into this category can contact the FPC or their local health inspector. By law, each processor of these types of foods must operate with a trained supervisor on hand at all times. The Food Processing Center ter activity above 0.85. These foods is certified by the FDA to teach this school.

All processors of these types of foods must complete a Better Process Control School training program. These regulations apply to any size processor, including those that sell products through farmers markets, on-line and to local stores.

Upon successful completion of the school, participants become certified and their names are submitted to the FDA. The school is taught by faculty and staff experts from the Food Processing Center and is offered two times per year. Class size is limited and pre-registration is required.

Cow/Calf College set for Jan. 22 with a 9:50 a.m. welcome by John

The annual Farmers and Ranchers Cow/Calf College "Partners in Progress - Beef Seminar" will be Jan. 22 at the U.S. Meat Animal Research Center and Great Plains Veterinary Education Center near Clay Center.

Registration will be from 9-9:50 a.m. with coffee and donuts. The program will start at 9:50 a.m. and conclude around 3:45 p.m. This year's theme will center on recovering from the 2012 drought and preparing for the potential of a 2013 drought. This program is sponsored by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension's Farmers and Ranch ers College and will feature several outstanding speakers discussing issues and management strategies that can affect the profitability of all beef producers, said Dewey Lienemann, UNL Extension educator in Webster County.

Pollak, director of the USMARC. He also will give a short overview of research at the center.

Other morning speakers and their presentations include: Allan Vyhnalek, UNL Extension educator, "Hay, Stalks, & Pastures: Costs & Considerations for 2013," which will give information on values, rental rates and considerations for coming out of a drought and possibly going into another, and Bruce Anderson, UNL Extension forage specialist, who will give producers information on "Forage Planning for the Possible 2013 Drought. This could be critical as beef producers faced a shortage of pasture and now hay and other forages in 2012 and prepare for 2013.

Lunch will be provided and will be handled with a rotation system during two noon sessions featuring Aaron Stalker, UNL beef range systems specialist, who will provide two concurrent presentations on "Corn Stalk Grazing: Values to Cattle Producers and Corn Farmers," and a presentation on the "New UNL Beef Body Condition Scoring App."

Rick Funston, UNL beef reproductive physiology specialist, will start off the afternoon. In light of current feed costs, many producers The Cow/Calf College will kick off are looking at options and strategies for replacement heifer development in the months ahead. Participants can learn more about his research during "Cost Effective Replacement Heifer Development."

Al Dutcher, UNL state climatologist, will give his take on the "Potential for 2013 Drought: Weather Update." There is no doubt that most producers and especially beet producers are worried about what may be ahead for climate that will affect grass and forage production. This session will inform producers about upcoming weather condi-

Concluding the college, all presenters will join on stage to pull everything together, give their final thoughts and considerations and then participate in a coffeeshop style panel discussion during which cattlemen can ask questions and get answers on topic questions that came to them during the day's

A chance for door prizes will be awarded to those who stay for the entire event.

It's time to start planning for this year's winter meetings in the northeast part of the state.

They involve Crop Production Clinics, Beef Management meetings, and pesticide trainings, among other topics. For all scheduled meetings in the northeast area sponsored or co-sponsored by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, go to the website nerec.unl.edu.

The fifth annual Crop Production Clinics will be held at nine locations across Nebraska in January. The Clinics will provide valuable information to help crop producers and agribusiness professionals improve their profitability and safety. The Crop Production Clinics succeed the Crop Protection Clinics which had been conducted annually since

The Crop Production Clinics will feature presentations from extension specialists and educators on soil fertility, soil water and irrigation management, crop production, ag business management and policy, pesticide safety, and disease, insect and weed pest management. Check program locations at the website cpc.unl.edu for specific presentation titles. Program topics are tailored to meet the needs of cropping systems in different parts of the state, and vary by location.

December 18, 2012

The Wavne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:15 a.m. on Tuesday December 18, 2012 in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse. Roll call was answered by Chairman Rabe, Members Wurdeman and Burbach, and Clerk

Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

The agenda was approved The minutes of the December 4, 2012, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record.

Mark Mainelli of Mainelli Wagner & Associates called during the meeting and requested a work session for the 2013 One and Six Year Road Improvement Plan. The work session was scheduled for Thursday, December 27 at 10:00 a.m. Mainelli is getting additional information on a coalition formed by 23 western lowa counties, the "Hungry Canyons". This group researches and builds structures to control stream channel degradation, loss of farm ground, and the pollution caused by soil going down the Mississippi river.

Projects are completed with the assistance of state and federal funds. Linda Kirsch said she had told Mr. Pieper not to prepare the county's offer to purchase land from LeRoy and Ione Rubeck because their answer is "no". She told the board the easement in question is south in Deano Janke's field, and the state's easement is south of the trees. The county is to get on the easement, and contact Mr. Pieper with any questions. Kirsch also requested the board allow money for Finn to make copies of information Kirsch has found; the board said Finn could make copies of information she felt should be included in the county records. Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz was asked to find out whether an architectural enginee needs to review the plans for the placing a radio tower next to the court services building A new public alert warning system will be operational in 2013, possibly mid-summer. Emergency messages are currently generated by the national weather service and received by radio and television. The new system will be generated locally and received by current alert stems and by cell phones and mobile devices in the watch/warning area ROW Application No. 12-12-02 submitted by Northeast Nebraska Public Power District to trench electrical wire was approved on motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye; motion carried.
