School board gets update on WSC facilities project

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

Work on the Wayne State College football field and track was among the items discussed during the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education meeting on Monday.

Wayne State athletic director Mike Powicki and Kevin Armstrong, director of planned giving with the Wayne State Foundation, presented information on the project, which includes removing material from the football field, using it to widen the current soccer field, installing artificial turf on the football field and re-surfacing the track around the football field and re-painting it.

The base project is estimated to cost $1.3 million and does include several other options which would add to the price tag.

The two Wayne State representatives talked about the relationship between Wayne State College and Wayne Community Schools and noted that with the new football field surface, additional Wayne athletic events could be held at the facility.

Both Powicki and Armstrong noted that a portion of the amount paid by the Wayne district as part of the interlocal agreement between the two will go toward the project.

During board action, the board authorized superintendent Mark Lenihan to negotiate an agreement with the college for use of the college facilities at a fee not to exceed $30,000.

Lenihan also presented the board with an update on the district-wide accreditation process. He noted that the accreditation team will visit the school April 27-30, 2014.

Plans continue to move forward on the demolition of the former elementary school. Results of an asbestos survey have been sent to the school and decisions will soon be made on the next step in the process. Lenihan told the board that demolition of the entire structure may be the district's best option.

A school foundation report included information on a tailgate party held in Lincoln in conjunction with the boys basketball tournament. The event was well attended by Wayne High School alumni.

Steps were taken during Monday's meeting to move forward with the hiring of a reading teacher for the district.

Elementary principal Jill Pickinpaugh told the board that a committee had put together list of qualifications and responsibilities for the position.

After 20 seasons, Ruhl stepping down

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Twenty years ago, Rocky Ruhl stepped on to the floor and won his very first game as Wayne High's head boys basketball coach.

Two decades later, he stepped off the floor winning his last one.

Ruhl announced he was retiring as head boys basketball coach for the Blue Devils after Wayne's 56-50 win over Kimball Saturday in the consolation game of the Class C-1 State Boys Basketball Championships in Lincoln. He told his players and coaches after shaking hands with Kimball's team and before the medal presentations at Lincoln North Star High School.

It was an announcement that caught a lot of people by surprise. "Nobody knew except Sylvia (Rocky's wife) and Mr. (Mark) Lenihan," Ruhl said. "The kids didn't know and Rob (Sweetland) didn't know, and I told him right before we shook hands and said 'It's yours if you want it.'"

Knowing that Saturday was his final game as the Blue Devil mentor, Ruhl said he could feel his emotions starting to get the best of him as time wound down.

Drug bust nets arrests

Two Wayne residents were arrested on drug possession and distribution charges Tuesday in a joint effort by members of the Wayne Police Department, Wayne County Sheriff's Office, Nebraska State Patrol and SNARE Task force.

Katie Rutenbeck, 30, was arrested and taken to Madison County Jail Tuesday afternoon after the vehicle she was driving was pulled over on Highway 35 in Wayne County. Nearly a pound of marijuana was retrieved from her automobile, as well as other contraband, according to the Wayne Police Department.

Rutenbeck's arrest also lead to the arrest of Micky Rutenbeck, 33. The two, who have been part of an ongoing investigation, are currently being held and are awaiting formal charges.

Kasl joins Herald staff

The Wayne Herald has a new addition to their editorial staff, as Katie Kasl has been hired in dual roles as a graphic designer and reporter.

Kasl, 24, is a Dorchester native who graduated from Wayne State College with a degree in graphic design and a minor in journalism. In addition to her duties at the paper, she also works part time as a waitress and shift manager at Pizza Hut.

Kasl said she loves being in the Wayne community and came to Wayne State after having several relatives attend the school.

"I chose Wayne State because of its small size and also because several of my cousins have attended college here and they all really liked it, so I figured it can't be too bad and I was right," she said.

Kasl describes herself as a quiet person, until you get to know her. She's a confessed online shopping addict who loves reading, photography, writing and working out. She lists reading while running on the treadmill and eating man-sized portions of food among her many talents.

"We're thrilled to have Katie on board with her talents and creative mindset," managing editor Michael Carnes said. "She and I both come from the same area of the state, so I understand where she comes from. She's an outstanding graphic designer and a very good writer, and we're looking forward to utilizing her talents here at The Wayne Herald."

Wakefield school to get a facelift

By KATIE KASL
Of the Herald

With concrete that's deteriorating, a brick rack that doesn't exist and glass that leaks hot and cold air depending on the time of year, members of the Wakefield community have come to a conclusion: their school needs a face lift.

The decision, which was finalized last month by the Wakefield Board of Education, means the elementary and secondary school buildings will undergo exterior construction starting May 22. With completion planned for Aug. 8, the renovation will not only add elements to the Wakefield Community School entrance but will also fix those external ones that are in disrepair, as well as create a sense of dignity for the institution, according to superintendent Mark Bejot.

"We just want to increase the public pride in our school," Bejot said.

Though the majority of the new entry-way's costs will be covered by the district, a $150,000 grant given to the school by the Gardner Foundation will assist with the rest.

The concession, Bejot believes, was incredibly gracious.

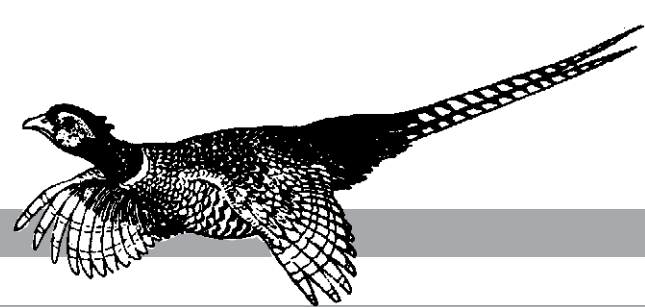

"It was awesome," he said. "(We're) very thankful."

Of course, the assistance doesn't stop there, as others have agreed to lend their services to the project.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By LOWELL JOHNSON
City Administrator

City Council Meetings
Regular City Council meetings are at 5:30 pm on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

How we will repave future streets?
When we build new streets, we assess the costs to the owners of the properties along the street. When those streets wear out will we assess the property owners along those streets again? Wayne got out of the mud and onto paved streets in the early 1900's using brick pavers. We began to build concrete streets in the 1930's and assess the costs to the property owners.

These old streets all have to be replaced eventually. Tear out and repaving costs are now about $100,000 per block, including the cost of the storm drain system and the sidewalks.

In the past Wayne annually received $60,000 in Nebraska MIRF construction funds, $120,000 in federal street cost share allocation and $350,000 in Nebraska Highway funds. Now the MIRF funds are gone, the federal funds are cut in half and still declining and Nebraska Highway funds are declining.

Why? The cash shortage of the federal government is translating into survival mode for federal programs and the easy place to cut is cost share to state and local governments. There is no stopping this.

So, how will we pay the cost of repaving the old streets without assessing the costs to the property owners along the street?

1) since streets and public safety is a core task of cities, we can reduce spending for other programs;

2) we can increase property taxes;

3) we can use the capital project funds from the 1 percent sales tax;

4) we can pour thicker streets for a small cost increase and make the future streets last a lot longer;

5) in the end, we may have to create paving districts and assess a small portion of repaving to property owners. That can only be done if the majority of the property owners approve the paving district and the project

'Devil Clouds: Tornadoes Strike Nebraska' tells 1913 storm stories

One newspaper called it the "Devil Cloud" - one of seven tornadoes that ripped across eastern Nebraska on Easter Sunday, March 23, 1913.

The storms roared in with little warning, interrupting celebrations with friends and family on what was forecasted to be a warm, spring day. By nightfall, there was a path of death and destruction never seen before or since in the state. Nearly 170 people were dead, hundreds were injured and areas of Omaha, Ralston, Yutan and Otoe (called Berlin at the time) were devastated. In the new NET Television documentary "Devil Clouds: Tornadoes Strike Nebraska," NET News Senior Producer/Reporter Mike Tobias tells the story of these storms and Nebraskans with the resolve to recover and rebuild. Developed to coincide with the 100th anniversary of the tragedy, it premieres Friday, March 22, at 7 p.m. on NET Television's NET1/HD.

"Devil Clouds: Tornadoes Strike Nebraska" repeats on NET1/HD Sunday, March 24, at 12 p.m. It repeats on NET2 World Saturday, March 23, at 9 p.m.; Tuesday, March 26, at 7 p.m.; and Friday, March 29, at 8 p.m.

The immediate Wayne area received 2 1/2 inches of snow from Saturday evening into Sunday afternoon. Area schools started classes late on Monday morning, due to the blowing and drifting snow. Temperatures are forecast to be in the 60s by Friday, with another chance of precipitation possible on Monday.

Chamber Coffee

Jan Kristjanson, Controller with the Northeast Nebraska Public Power District, spoke during last week's Chamber Coffee about electricity in the region.

Water heater is big energy user

You may not realize it, but the water heater is the second largest user of energy in most homes in Nebraska. Only space heating and cooling systems use more.

However, unlike heating and cooling equipment which are seasonal, your water heater works year round. The average home uses 65 gallons of hot water per day. If you pay an average of 12 cents per kilowatt-hour for electricity, you may be spending over $800 per year for hot water!

If you are shopping for a new or replacement unit, there is a lot to consider. With today's technologies, there are several different types of water heaters available:

- Conventional storage water heaters offer a ready reservoir (storage tank) of hot water. •Tankless or demand-type water heaters heat water directly without a storage tank.
- Heat pump water heaters move heat from one place to another instead of generating heat directly for providing hot water.
- Solar water heaters use the sun's heat to provide hot water.
- Tankless coil and indirect water heaters use a home's space heating system to heat water.

Cost varies from technology-to-technology. In general, more-efficient technologies cost more up front but provide significant savings over time, which reduces the total amount you have to pay to have hot water.

Even if you are not going to buy a new water heater, you can save a lot of energy and money with your existing system by following a few simple suggestions:

Conserve Water. Your biggest opportunity for savings is to use less hot water. In addition to saving energy (and money), cutting down on hot water use helps conserve dwindling water supplies, which in some parts of the country is a critical problem. Water-conserving showerheads and faucet aerators can cut hot water use in half. By installing these devices, a family of four can save 14,000 gallons of water a year and the energy required to heat it.

Insulate Your Existing Water Heater. If your electric water heater was installed before 2004, installing an insulating jacket is one of the most effective do-it-yourself energy-saving projects, especially if your water heater is in an unheated space. The insulating jacket will reduce standby heat loss — heat lost through the walls of the tank — by 25-40 percent, saving 4-9 percent on your water heating bills. Water heater insulation jackets are widely available for around $10. Always follow directions carefully when installing an insulation jacket.

Insulate Hot Water Pipes. In-ulating your hot water pipes will reduce energy losses as the hot water is flowing to your faucet and, more importantly, it will reduce standby losses when the tap is turned off and then back on within an hour or so. A great deal of energy and water is wasted waiting for the hot water to reach the tap. Even when pipes are insulated, the water in the pipes will eventually cool, but it stays warmer much longer than it would if the pipes were not insulated.

Lower the Water Heater Temperature. Keep your water heater thermostat set to the lowest temperature that provides you with sufficient hot water. For most households, 120-degree water is fine (about midway between the "low" and "medium" setting). Each 10-degree reduction in water temperature will generally save 3-5 percent on your water heating costs. When you are going away on vacation, you can turn the thermostat down to the lowest possible setting, or turn the water heater off altogether for additional savings. With a gas water heater, make sure you know how to relight the pilot if you're going to turn it off while away.

Organizers getting ready for 33rd annual Chicken Show

With less than four months to go before the 33rd annual Wayne Chicken Show, organizers are scratching through ideas and plans for this year's event, scheduled for July 12-14.

The Chicken Show website can be found at www.chickenshow.com, and has a new look, thanks to assistance from LB840 in the form of a marketing grant. The website has been updated and new features added. As the committee approves new information for the 2013 event, it will be added to the website.

The site includes a photo gallery, so anyone with favorite chicken show photos is asked to e-mail them to the Wayne Area Economic Development office so they can be featured on the website.

All sponsors of the event will be recognized on the website according to sponsor level: Grade A, $1000 and above; Rooster, $500 and above; Hen, $100 and above; Chick under $100 and Scrambler, In-kind participation.

approved, T-shirts will be ordered.

A new event is being organized to raise awareness and funds for the 15th Year of Wayne County Relay For Life. Committee member Jennifer Sievers is looking for volunteers to compete in raising funds by agreeing to have his or her head shaved during the Chicken Show if they earn the most votes.

Any organization interested in providing an activity in conjunction with the Chicken Show is asked to contact the WAED office to coordinate with the office and to have the activity listed on the Chicken Show brochure and website.

The Chicken Show committee is especially looking for groups to provide children's activities on Friday evening in the downtown area and Saturday afternoon at Bressler Park.

New home

Work began this week to dig the basement for what will be Wayne's fourth Habitat for Humanity home. The framing for the home has already been completed by Wayne State College students who are part of a construction class at the college. The home is located on South Lincoln Street and will be home to Juan Vargas and his family.

the fourth quarter, and I was getting a little emotional, but it was quite a game and one we really wanted to win."
Losing in Friday's semifinals to Wahoo was probably a little tougher to take, Ruhl admitted.
"You want to get something so big and win a state championship, and there were times after that loss yesterday that it was tough," he said. "But coming back and getting third today was great for us. This will be the highest we've been rated in the 20 years I've been here, so it's nice to end on a good note like that."
Ruhl said he is stepping down because of the responsibilities of his other jobs as high school athletic director and junior high principal. He said he'll continue coaching cross country, but may do it only one more year depending on how things go.

"The AD job takes up so much time, and so does being junior high principal," he said. "There were a lot of hours that we put into just to get ready for state, and I have an assistant coach in Rob Sweetland who is ready to be a varsity coach. He understands the game, and he's put a lot of hours into it and has a chance to develop a program."
Ruhl said he'll remember the way the kids always played and represented their school and community.
"I just like how our kids never gave up," he said. "There have been times in games over the years where they could have, and they never say die. They just keep fighting back, and I'm proud of that. We've been lucky that we haven't had too many down years in basketball, and the kids really come ready to play and really focus on it. The coaching staff and the kids believe in each other, and that's the big thing that stands out."
After finishing with a career mark of 311-155, Ruhl said it was a good 20-year run.
"It wasn't bad," he said.

Wakefield

Jon Carlson of Omaha-based Carlson West Povondra Architects designed the new front entrance, and a company out of Sioux City will be building it.

Bejot said the school received several bids for the renovation, with proposals ranging from $365,000 to $429,447. H & R Construction was not only the lowest bid, but also the one Wakefield selected for the project.
"When we checked references, they checked out well," Bejot explained.
The company, however, is no stranger to Wakefield. In addition to the new entrance project, H & R Construction has also done work on the Humpty Dumpty Daycare, a familiarity between the constructor and the community that, Bejot said, helped influence the school's decision.

To complement everything, the school will be receiving new sidewalks, curbs, fences, stairs and retaining walls; an expanded vestibule; an area for students to sit at; energy-efficient windows; and letters spelling out "Wakefield Community School," among other things, there's also another fix it will get: an obvious entry.

"People ask, 'Where's your front entrance?'" Bejot said. "It's not clearly identifiable."
A prominent one, he believes, will alleviate any questions regarding the location of the main entryway.
"The goal here is to identify our front entrance," Bejot said.
As for the community's view on the upcoming change, the superintendent claims it's been a positive one.
"I think they've been very supportive," he said. "It is some change. People wonder, 'Is it truly needed?' and the answer is 'Yes.'"

It is noted that the person hired will be a reading teacher and work primarily with kindergarten through second grade students, although he or she will not be limited to that grade level.

The position is being created to ensure that students in the district will be able to read, and that any reading issues may be caught early enough in a child's education to correct them before they hinder any further learning.

Lenihan told the board that a preliminary budget has been put together for the 2013-2014 fiscal year, but exact numbers will not be available for some time. He told the board that among the items that could impact next year's budget is the requirements of the Affordable Health Care Act.

During the Facilities/Safety Committee report, Travis Meyer, head of maintenance at the school, told the board that new exhaust fans have been installed in the science rooms, heat pumps have been installed on the third floor of the elementary school, and several new lunch tables have been purchased. He also said the district is looking at options for replacing student lockers at the high school.

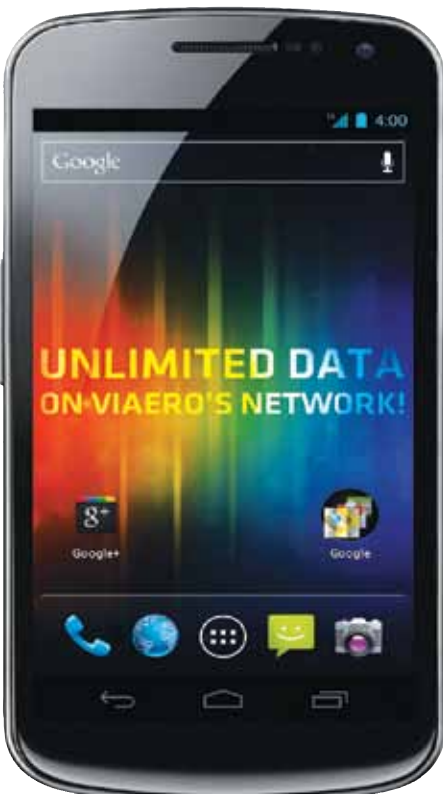

Lenihan informed the board of resignations of a member of the janitorial staff and a member of the technology department.

The board will next meet in regular session on Monday, April 8 at 5 p.m. at the Junior-Senior High School.

Blue Devils take third in C-1

Thoughts from state basketball

Just a few thoughts from this past weekend's state basketball tournament:

– First off, kudos to coach Rocky Ruhl, who coached his final game for the Wayne High boys basketball team in Saturday's consolation win over Kimball.

Ruhl has patrolled the Blue Devil sidelines for 20 years, and he's stepping aside at just the right time, coming off the team's best finish since 2003 and tying the school record for wins in a season.

After spending the past couple of years wearing many hats for Wayne Public Schools – Ruhl is also the athletic director, junior high principal and cross country coach – I'm sure the time commitment required for all of those duties has become quite a burden. He has a more than capable assistant in Rob Sweetland who can fill the coaching duties for basketball, and it would not surprise me if he turns over the cross country duties to Courtney Maas at some point down the road.

I've been fortunate enough to have worked with Ruhl a long time in a professional capacity, dating back to my days with the Norfolk Daily News. I've always known Rocky to be the consummate professional and someone who wants to see everybody he comes in contact with succeed. Winning more than two-thirds of his basketball games over the course of a 20-year career that included six trips to state, I'd say he's done more than his share to build a winning program.

– Normally, when a longtime coach steps aside, it usually marks the end of the road for a program that graduates a ton of talent and has very little returning the following year.

The cupboard Ruhl leaves behind for presumed successor Rob Sweetland is, by no means, empty – and some talent made its presence known during the team's run at the state tournament.

Starters Jalen Barry, Ben Hoskins and Jared Anderson will be back next year, and there is some good talent coming off the bench that will be back.

Luke Rethwisch did a very good job coming off the bench this season and being a dependable player. Zach Keating gave some much-needed big-guy presence at times, and Kaje Maly blew away a lot of people with his play off the bench, particularly in the games against Wahoo and Kimball. He drilled a three in the fourth quarter to get Wayne within two points of erasing an 18-point second-half deficit, and was solid out on the perimeter on defense in both the semifinals and consolation game. For a kid who didn't see a lot of playing time during the regular season, Maly certainly made a name for himself as a player to watch for next year.

It will be tough replacing Brady Soden, whose physical presence in the middle was a key to Wayne's success; and Grant Anderson, whose ability to score from anywhere – and light up a crowd with his dunks, as he did in the end against Adams Central – will be missed next year. The play of seniors like Lane Hochstein and Danny Melena, along with Steve Sherman, will also need to be picked up by those returning to the fold next year.

The key for next year's team will be the work that's done in the off-season. If Hoskins and Keating can both bulk up and get stronger, they would give Wayne a tremendous 1-2 force inside. Moving Barry to the shooting guard position would allow him to do more in the way of penetrating an offense, while Maly certainly showed he's capable of running the show out on the point. Add in Anderson as a more consistent scorer, and you've got a great nucleus to build around for next year.

– With the Bob Devaney Sports Center being reconfigured for next year, there are questions as to how the state basketball tournament

LINCOLN – The Wayne High boys basketball team didn't get the trophy they were hoping for, but ended the season on the right foot.

The Blue Devils bounced back from a disappointing loss to top-ranked Wahoo in the semifinals on Friday and withstood a fourth-quarter challenge from Kimball to bring home third-place honors in Class C-1 at the State Boys Basketball Championships.

The Blue Devils opened with a 48-39 win over Adams Central and lost to Wahoo 56-49 before coming back for a 56-50 win to end the season 24-6 and tie the school record for wins in a season.

"That was the thing we wanted, was to come out and finish with a win," coach Rocky Ruhl said after the Blue Devils' consolation win. "We didn't get our goal of winning state, but we did tie the school record for wins in a season, and the guys just battled through and kept playing hard and finished the game, and that's what we wanted."

Avenging a loss

In the opening round Thursday at Pershing Auditorium, the Blue Devils avenged a loss from earlier in the season, overcoming an 11-for-28 effort at the charity stripe to defeat Adams Central, 48-39.

The two teams had met in the finals of the Great Northeast Nebraska Shootout in late December, and the Patriots won a defensive struggle and handed Wayne its first loss in the finals with a 28-24 decision.

"It was a heck of a game for us," Ruhl said. "I knew coming in that the way Adams Central plays defense is the way teams in our conference play it, so playing teams like Norfolk Catholic, Boone Central and Pierce really helped us adjust to their man-to-man defense like that."

The game was a little higher-scoring the second time around, but the Blue Devils struggled at the foul line early, hitting just 4-of-13 from the line.

"I told the kids to believe in those free throws," Ruhl said. "I asked them how many they've shot this season and they said a million, and I told them we were going to have to win it at the free throw line."

Fouls became a concern very early in the game. Both Jalen Barry and Grant Anderson picked up two quick fouls in the first 3 1/2 minutes, and that forced Ruhl to switch from a man defense to a matchup zone.

"We went to that matchup zone because we were in foul trouble, and they had problems with our matchup zone after that, so once we got ahead we just stayed in it and they couldn't pull us out of that zone."

The Blue Devils took the lead late in the first period and never gave it up after that. Barry buried an early 3-pointer and Anderson made a heads-up play, bouncing an in-bounds pass off an unsuspecting defensive player's back, grabbing the ball and laying it in to help give the Blue Devils a 7-5 first-quarter lead.

Fehringer hits big one for All-American finish

Wells finishes sixth in shot

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Carly Fehringer knew she needed a big one on her last throw if she was going to solidify her first All-American effort.

And she got it.

The Wayne native bettered her school record by four inches, and her final heave of 64 feet, 5 1/4 inches in the hammer throw was good enough for a third-place finish and her first All-American honor at the Div. II Indoor Track and Field Championships last week in Birmingham, Ala.

Fehringer was in good shape to earn All-American honors for much of the meet, but wanted to leave this year's meet on a high note.

"I went into the finals sixth, and I knew I needed to hit a big one," she said. "The throws were there, but they weren't in bounds, so on that last one I just needed to stay calm and get a mark, and it was exciting to finally hit that mark."

Coach Marlon Brink said he had a feeling the junior daughter of Dan and Shelly Fehringer of Wayne wasn't going to leave with anything less than her best effort.

"She was sitting fourth or fifth going into the finals and had a couple of girls pass her, but she's such a clutch performer and she knew she needed a big one," he said.

It's been a record-setting year for the criminal justice major. She has bettered her school record several times during the course of the season and has made an impressive adjustment to the event, which was a lot different than when she did the discus and shot put in high school.

"The technique is completely different from the shot and discus, and as a freshman coming in, I had to learn two new events with the weight and the hammer throw, so this is only my third year in the event," she said.

"The weight throw and hammer throw are definitely suited to her, because she's athletic, strong and explosive," Brink said. "You need those attributes to be a success in those events, and she's also a very

Softball team finishes first road trip of season with 7-3 record

The Wayne State softball team finished its spring trip with a 7-3 record, winning three of their last four games on their season-opening road trip.

Wayne State won a pair of games on Thursday, beating Post University 2-0 and College of St. Rose 10-6.

In the first game, Kelcie Bormann threw a complete-game four-hitter, striking out two and walking two. She helped her own cause with two hits, while Kylee Simpson added a pair of hits.

Wayne State scored both of their runs in the sixth inning, with Bormann scoring Jordan King with a hit and Simpson scoring on a Megan Hagemann single.

In the second game, Wayne State came from behind and scored seven runs in the second inning to take the lead for good. Vicki Nielsen, Sam O'Brien and Lexie Loos each had two hits in the win, while Kaiti Williams scored three times in the game. Sara Scheffert got the win on the mound with 5 2/3 innings of relief work in support of freshman Cassidy Miller.

The Wildcats split their final two games of the road trip on Friday, beating Wilmington 9-0 and losing to Fort Hays State 2-1 in eight innings.

In the first game, Scheffert threw a one-hit shutout and struck out seven in her most dominating performance of the young season. She got plenty of support from O'Brien, who hit a grand slam and went 2-for-3 with six RBI's in the game. Simpson was also 2-for-3 with a double and two runs scored.

In the finale, Wayne State left 11 runners on base to lose a heart-breaker. Wayne State scored its only run of the game in the fourth when O'Brien doubled home Bormann to tie the game. The game would stay tied until the eighth, when the Tigers scored a run to get the win.

Bormann struck out three and allowed five hits in a losing effort for the 7-3 Wildcats.

Blue Devils

Jared Anderson made a nice move to the hoop, and Grant Anderson followed with a 3-pointer on a cross-corner pass from Brady Soden to give the Blue Devils its biggest lead of the half at seven points, 16-9.

Adams Central cut the Blue Devil lead to four at intermission, but Wayne rebuilt their lead to seven, then extended it to 10 points off a Jared Anderson outback of a Ben Hoskins miss to give Wayne a 31-21 advantage late in the third period.

Adams Central cut Wayne's lead to four with 4:37 to go, but the Blue Devils shook off their rust at the foul line, hitting 7-of-15 down the stretch and playing solid defense to keep Adams Central from getting the advantage down to a one-possession game.

The Blue Devils finished off the game in impressive fashion, as Grant Anderson got behind the defense after an Adams Central miss, taking a long pass home for an uncontested two-handed dunk that put the finishing touches on Wayne's opening-round win.

"He looks for that a lot and it fires up the crowd, so that was good for (Anderson)," Ruhl said.

Anderson's dunk finished off a game-high 17-point effort to lead three Blue Devils in double figures. Barry added 12 points and Jared Anderson put in 11.

Late rally falls short

The Blue Devils faced a tall task in Friday's semifinal at the Devaney Sports Center, and they dug too deep a hole early, allowing top-seeded and undefeated Wahoo to advance to the finals with a 56-49 triumph.

Wayne trailed by 14 after one period, and while they were able to get the deficit reduced to a single basket midway through the fourth quarter, the long road back proved to be too much.

"We had put in some new things (defensively), and they didn't go as well as I'd hoped they would," Ruhl said. "We haven't played against a lot of 1-3-1 (zone), and they did some things with their quickness that played into it. We didn't play, defensively, up to what we're used to doing and gave up a lot of second shots, and it just wasn't where we needed it to be."

Wayne scored the first basket of the game on a Grant Anderson layup, but Wahoo put up eight straight points, then closed the quarter with a 12-2 run that helped them build a 20-6 first-quarter advantage, the final three coming on a buzzer-beating 3-pointer by Jonathan Abbott.

Abbott proved to be a real thorn in Wayne's side, as he found ways to score on the perimeter and inside, finishing with a game-high 30 points.

"He was just on fire, and we let him do some things he shouldn't have done," Ruhl said. "We needed to be more physical with someone like that, and we let him have his way a little too much."

The Blue Devils left it all out on the floor in trying to overcome Abbott's hot hand, however.

Wayne came to life in the second half, cutting Wahoo's 16-point lead in half on a pair of Soden baskets and a Danny Melena outback of a Kaje Maly miss to get the lead down to eight points, 34-26, midway through the third.

Wahoo built the lead back up to 13, but a baseline jumper by Grant Anderson, Hoskins basket and a trey by Barry got the Wahoo lead down to six.

"The kids coming off the bench like Danny and Kaje really stepped up for us and gave us a lift," Ruhl said. "They didn't let the stars get to them, and I was proud with how they played."

Wayne made it a one-possession game with four minutes to go on a 3-pointer by Maly, who ignited the Blue Devil faithful with the shot that made it 43-41.

"He had some great practices leading up to state, and I thought he deserved a chance and he came in and did some good things for us and really gave us a lift," Ruhl said.

Unfortunately, that was as close as Wayne would get for knocking off the undefeated Warriors and making their first state final since winning the Class B title in 1956, as Wahoo took advantage of free throw opportunities, hitting 13-of-20 from the stripe in the final period to thwart the Blue Devil comeback.

"Wahoo's a heck of a team, and they came back after us and we just dug ourselves too big a hole early on," Ruhl said.

Grant Anderson led the Blue Devils with 15 points, Soden added 11, Barry put in nine and Melena had seven.

Consolation head

The Blue Devils trailed early in the game, 3-2, but quickly regained control of their consolation matchup with Kimball and finished the season with a win and the third-place trophy.

After losing a tough game to Wahoo - where they nearly eliminated an 18-point second-half deficit - Ruhl said his team was ready to forget Friday's loss and end the season on the right note.

"The guys were a little looser today and were ready to go, and they wanted to come out and finish the season the right way," Ruhl said.

Wayne got a jump on things with the opening tip, as 6-foot-5 Grant Anderson beat 6-foot-8 Michael Daum to the tip, tipping the ball to Soden, who found Barry for a quick layup.

Kimball briefly held the lead at 3-2, but Wayne bounced back and built a 17-14 first-quarter lead.

A tip-in by Anderson off a Hoskins miss, a Hoskins basket off a backdoor pass by Soden, and 3-pointers by Barry and Melena helped Wayne build a 23-14 advantage midway through the second period, but the Longhorns hung in the game and were able to get the Wayne lead down to four at halftime, 29-25.

"They were real fighters, and that big guy was tough and could hit from about anywhere," Ruhl said. "They were a very game and physical team, and it was a tough matchup for us."

The Blue Devils appeared to put Kimball in their rear-view mirror in the second half. Barry drilled a three from the right corner, and Melena followed with his second three of the game. When Barry put back a Jack Belt miss as time expired, Wayne was in control with a 12-point advantage at 45-33.

Kimball battled back, however, as Daum finished with a game-high 30 points and hit a 3-pointer to get the Longhorns back within four points. Wayne was able to hit free throws down the stretch, and Ruhl was able to finish the game with all five seniors - Anderson, Soden, Melena, Lane Hochstein and Steve Sherman - on the floor as the Blue Devils ended with a win.

"Those seniors were very important to our success," Ruhl said. "They started a tradition by getting (to state) two years ago, and we played in some big games this year and they taught the younger kids some lessons on how to win and be competitive. I think they helped set the table for next year."

Barry finished with 21 points for the Blue Devils, while Anderson added 17 and Melena put in 10.

 good shot put, so I like it that she can contribute in two events for us." Her progression has been phenomenal, and she's happy to have been able to achieve this honor, not only for herself, but for the community.

"It's exciting to be able to say I'm from here and see people around town who know me," she said. "Getting All-American is an exciting feeling, and it's something I've worked for the last couple of years."

The possibilities for an even better finish in the next indoor season look pretty good for Fehringer, as the two women who finished ahead of her are both seniors.

"I thought about that after the awards, and it's something I'm definitely looking forward to," Fehringer said. "There's always going to be competition coming up next year with the other All-Americans who placed. They'll all be getting better, which means I have to get better."

Fehringer's effort was one of two All-American performances for the Wildcats at this year's meet. Sara Wells made the most of her first appearance in the indoor national meet, coming away with a sixth-place mark of 47 feet, 2 1/2 inches in the shot put.

While Fehringer is a three-time competitor in the national indoor meet, this was Wells' first rodeo, and she said she tried to ride the wave of energy she was feeling coming into her competition.

"My palms were pretty sweaty, but I tried to turn that into adrenaline and not let my nerves take over," she said. "It's a pretty good feeling (to make All-American), especially since this was my first nationals. I felt pretty prepared, thanks to coach (Wayne State throws coach Brent) Suckstorf."

The daughter of Jack and the late Lea Ann Wells of Albion said she didn't have her best performance of the year, but was still happy with the final result.

"Considering it was my first time, I think I did a pretty good job," she said. "It wasn't my best effort, but overall I'm pretty happy with the performance."

"It was really exciting for her," Brink added. "It can be an overwhelming experience that first time at nationals, but she handled it very well and it was really exciting for her. She has the potential to do some great things the rest of her career."

The All-American efforts by Fehringer and Wells helped Wayne State score nine points and finish 20th in the women's team standings. It's the second-highest finish in school history, trailing only the 13th place finish recorded in 2011.

Three other athletes competed for Wayne State in the national meet. Emily Wells finished 14th and Lachel Milander was 15th in the weight throw on the women's side, while Brad Wright did not record a mark in the men's weight throw. Fehringer also competed in the shot put, placing 13th.

Baseball team finishes Florida trip 4-2

The Wayne State baseball team finished their Florida spring break trip 4-2, closing out the annual journey with three victories.

On Wednesday, Brandon Lalk went 3-for-4 with a homer, triple, double and two RBI's to help the Wildcats to a 4-2 win over Wheeling Jesuit University of West Virginia.

Wayne State trailed 2-1 in the fifth when C.J. Nolen walked and scored on Lalk's homer to right. Blake Brisson singled and scored on an RBI double by Brett Keim in the sixth to give Wayne State an insurance run.

Eric Browning pitched five strong innings to get the win, giving up two runs on three hits with two walks and two strikeouts. Nick Ragan got the save. Brisson was 3-for-3 while Michael Herman was 2-for-4.

On Thursday, Michael Frericks battled to an 11-strikeout performance to help the Wildcats upset No. 15 Grand Valley State 5-4.

Frericks pitched six innings and scattered 10 hits and three earned runs. He left with a 4-0 lead after six innings, as the Wildcats doubled their advantage with two runs in the sixth on RBI hits by Brisson and Kevin Anderson.

Lalk had three hits in the win, while Brisson and Andersen each had two hits to help Wayne State to the upset win.

Wayne State closed out the week in exciting fashion, winning a 14-inning marathon over Missouri-St. Louis, 3-2.

The Wildcats forced extra innings when Lalk tripled and scored on a wild pitch in the bottom of the eighth to tie the game at 2-2. It stayed tied until the 14th, when Keim tripled to right with one out. After a strikeout, the bases were loaded intentionally on two walks. Herman worked the count full and drew a bases-loaded walk to score Keim and end the game.

Matt Schulz got the win in relief with a scoreless 14th inning. Keim was 2-for-5 in the game, while Herman, Tanner Lancaster and Curtis Bussard each had two hits.

The Wildcats were scheduled to play a home-and-home matchup with Morningside College this weekend, with games at Wayne on Saturday and in Sioux City on Sunday. Those games are weather-permitting.

 will be played in the years ahead.

The new Pinnacle Bank Arena in Lincoln will no doubt be the site for the finals games, but how the rest of the tournament is played will be something to watch as the NSAA plans for the future.

There was a lot of talk of changing the tournament from a three-day to a four-day tournament, using only Pinnacle and either the Devaney Center or Pershing (this reporter would be first in line to push the button that flattens Pershing Auditorium, a facility that has long since outlived its usefulness). With a four-day tournament, half of the first-round games would be played on Wednesday, the other half on Thursday and Friday's and Saturday's schedule would run as normal. This would take the Lincoln high school facilities out of play (aside from North Star and South-west high schools, this would not break the hearts of anybody who has tried to find parking at the four original high schools) and put the tournament, essentially, at two sites each year.

While there has been the occasional suggestion of moving the tournament to Omaha and using the new Ralston arena and Century Link Center (there aren't enough vowels in the word "baaaaaaad" to describe this idea), the tournament should remain in Lincoln through the foreseeable future, and I think it will be better if the four-day, two-facility format is adopted. It will take confusion and frustration for fans who try to park somewhere in the same zip code as Pershing or one of the high schools, and would give Lincoln's two best basketball arenas a place to showcase the state's best teams.

One last thought, not basketball-related, but certainly something that made its presence known during the state tournament: respecting Old Glory.

I find it galling that the public address announcer has to remind people to "remove your hats" before the playing of the Star-Spangled Banner. As American citizens, it should be as second nature as breathing for us to show proper respect to the flag, and those who fought and died so that it may fly free, by removing our hats. Evidently, that simple act of respect was lost on certain people, most of whom think it fashionable to wear their hats backwards during the anthem, as if to show us what wanna-be studs they are.

Even more infuriating was witnessing some high school students sporting the American flag as superhero capes, and seeing that no school administrator from the school the offending wearers were cheering for saw fit to have the students remove the flags.

Maybe I'm too old school, but I know that if I were committing such an unpatriotic act when I was in high school, my principal not only would have removed the flag from my neck, but would have done so by dragging me by my neck out into the hallway for one whale of a tongue lashing.

The American flag must be shown complete respect at all times - trying to pass yourself off as Captain America (who, by the way, doesn't even wear a cape, let alone one made of the Stars and Stripes) is disrespectful and should have been dealt with on the scene. I'm very disappointed that the administrators of the school these offenders were cheering for did not feel it necessary to educate their students on proper flag etiquette.

The radical GLBT (gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender) agenda is making inroads in Nebraska. Their efforts always start with the introduction of so-called "anti-discrimination" legislation. Now, 4 bills have been introduced in our Unicameral. LB 380 allows adoption "by two persons jointly." LB 385 places children in foster homes with GLBT foster parents. LB 485 anti-discrimination based on sexual orientation. LB 619 state-mandated sex education for public schools. (What happened to local control?!) Call and email your state senators now to get these bills stopped! This should be decided by the people, not the politicians and the lobbyists!

Schumacher pitches for Spain in tourney

Former Wayne State baseball standout Nick Schumacher was a member of Spain's team that completed play over the weekend in the 2013 World Baseball Classic.

Spain was eliminated from pool play over the weekend going 0-3 in Pool C of the 16-team tournament. Schumacher made one appearance for Spain, working 1 2/3 innings of relief in Saturday's 6-3 loss to the Dominican Republic. He did not allow a run while giving up three hits and two walks in his one appearance.

Schumacher spent the 2011 and 2012 seasons pitching for the Sioux City Explorers of the American Association, where he was 15-13 in his two years with the club. Before that, he spent three seasons in the San Diego Padres organization.

He was a standout pitcher for Wayne State College from 2004-08, accumulating a career record of 30-9 to tie the school record for wins, shared with Brady Borner. Schumacher earned All-American honors at Wayne State as a senior in 2008

Lalk named NSIC Player of the Week

Brandon Lalk of Wayne State was announced as the Northern Sun Conference Baseball Player of the Week following his play last week on the Wildcats' spring break trip to Florida.

The 5-foot-11, 180-pound sophomore outfielder from Oshkosh, Wis. hit .500 for the Wildcats last week, going 12-for-24 at the plate on Wayne State's six-game swing in Florida. He had one double, three triples, one home run and five RBI's while hitting safely in all six games with four multi-hit games.

Lalk was 3 for 4 with a double, triple homer and two RBI's in the 'Cats 4-2 win over Wheeling Jesuit (W.Va.) on Wednesday, and followed that with another three-hit game the next day in Wayne State's 5-4 win over No. 15 Grand Valley State of Michigan.

Shelby earns All-NSIC first-team

Amry Shelby of Wayne State was named to the 2012-13 NSIC Men's Basketball All-Conference Team.

Shelby earned first-team All-NSIC honors and was the lone Wildcat player named to the All-Conference Team. It marks the second straight season that Shelby was named first-team All-NSIC. He was a second-team All-NSIC player in his sophomore season.

A 5-foot-11 senior guard from Marion, Iowa, Shelby led Wayne State in scoring again this season and has now led the team in scoring all four years of his career, averaging 14.6 points during his senior season. Shelby ranked 12th in the NSIC in scoring and was first in the conference in free throw percentage, shooting 93.5 percent from the charity stripe. He also ranked sixth in steals per game in the conference with 1.59 per game, and was 12th in minutes played logging 32.04 minutes per game.

Shelby finished his Wildcat career ranked third in school history in scoring (1,582), fourth in free throws made (381), fifth in steals (142), sixth in field goals made (535) and eighth in assists with 236.

Fleer earns Eagle Scout

Raymond Fleer of Pierce reached the Rank of Eagle Scout on March 2 at a Court of Honor held at Zion Lutheran Church in his honor.

He is the son of Dave and Lavonne Fleer of Pierce and grandson of Walter and Arlene Fleer.

Raymond started scouts as a Tiger Cub in first grade and worked his way through the ranks of Bobcat, Wolf, Bear, Webelos I and II. He then entered the Boy Scouts in the summer of 2007 and attained the ranks of Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star, Life and, finally, Eagle. In attaining the rank of Eagle Scout, Raymond has completed 65 merit badges and has many memories from along the way. Raymond completed all four levels of the P.R.A.Y. Series. He was inducted into the Nani-Ba-Zhu at Camp Cedars. He went on two white water rafting adventures and many canoeing and camping trips.

Raymond's Eagle Scout project was building a brick foundation to hold the school bell from Zion Lutheran School and redoing the flower bed on the north side of the school building. He laid sod around the bell tower, creating an appealing entrance to the school.

Raymond's future plans are to go to NCTA at Curtis, Nebraska, to pursue a degree in agriculture and cattle.

Cloud computing technology webinar

The reviews are in – and the Broadband Webinar on Cloud Computing Technology shares the information that small business owners need. The best news is that you can watch it again, share it with a friend, or enjoy it for the first time. This Nebraska Broadband Webinar is now available at broadband.nebraska.gov/web/nebroadband/webinar-library. As a bonus, the Webinar Summary sheet shares the highlights.

This Webinar provides information on the technology and uses of cloud information storage and access, plus news on the latest tools and how to benefit from them. Learn from a team of University of Nebraska-Lincoln experts and successful small business leaders who discuss the impact of cloud computing.

This Webinar is part of a series, Don't Know . . . What I Don't Know, all available to watch on the website, www.broadband.nebraska.gov. The Nebraska Broadband Project also is available on Facebook at www.facebook.com/broadbandnebraska or on Twitter, @BroadbandNEBR.

This webinar series is part of a project funded by a grant to the Nebraska Public Service Commission by the U.S. Department of Commerce's National Telecommunications and Information Administration. The Broadband Mapping and Planning Initiative has been conducted by a coalition of Nebraska partners, including the PSC, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension, the UNL Center for Applied Rural Innovation, the Nebraska Information Technology Commission's Communication Council, the AIM Institute and the Nebraska Department of Economic Development.

Benefits of Cloud Computing
– Provides flexibility for employees to work from home. Employees in rural location don't need to commute to work, which increases employee morale and productivity.
– Allows you to work with clients from any location. Illness or travel won't keep you from meeting with a client, because you can meet virtually through the cloud.

– Increases the geographic reach of your organization. Because you aren't limited by location, you can hire the best and brightest employees for your business.

– Reduces infrastructure costs. There is no need to buy servers, computer hardware and disc storage space, and you won't need to employ someone to manage your computer storage systems.

– Provides flexibility to scale up or down according to needs. With the cloud you're only paying for what you use. You can purchase more storage space during a busy time and scale down during a slow time.

Considerations in choosing a cloud computing system

– Do they manage their own data? You reduce the risk of glitches if there is no third party involved.

– Are they certified with security standards? Compliance with standards ensures security for your data.

– Do they have multiple facilities across the country? An alternate facility can provide continued service if a natural disaster occurs in one part of the country.

Examples of Cloud computing programs

These websites offer free cloud services that allow you to evaluate and get comfortable with the cloud.

1. Dropbox (dropbox.com) gives you storage space online and allows you or others to access the files from any location or device.

2. Google Drive (drive.google.com) is a file storage service available to anyone with a google account. Google Docs are stored online, allowing you to "grab" those files from any location when you need them. Others can collaborate on the documents as well.

3. Evernote (evernote.com) allows you to take notes, store them online, and then retrieve them from your smart phone and other device. You can add pictures, insert videos, and even sketch ideas.

Program designed to assist in the fight against diabetes

One of the greatest weapons in the fight against diabetes is knowledge. Information can help people assess their risk of diabetes, motivate them to seek proper treatment and care, and inspires them to proper treatment and care of their diabetes for a life time.

Whether you have just been diagnosed with diabetes, have had diabetes for many years, or are a family member or friend intent on learning as much as you can about the serious disease of diabetes and its life threatening complications we invite you to participate in the March session of Control Diabetes for Life.

Control Diabetes for Life is a program that will help you take charge of your life and learn to control diabetes and get up-to-date information related to controlling diabetes. The program will take place on Wednesday, March 27. Participants will have the opportunity to discuss questions they have with the teaching team of Stacie Petersen, B.S.N. and Certified Diabetes Educator; Deborah Wilcox, R.D., L.M.N.T., all of Franciscan Care Services in West Point; and Debra Schroeder, UNL Extension Educator in Cumming County.

Topics included during the March 27 session are: New Tools for Weight Loss including: What's New in Diabetes Care, Weight Loss with Diabetes and Developing Compassion for You. Recipes for diabetic appropriate foods will be shared to help you with food management goals.

The program will be offered on Wednesday, March 27, from 1:30-4 p.m. at Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department in Wayne.

Participants are asked to pre-register for Control Diabetes for Life by calling Wayne County Extension Office at (402) 375-3310. — WE BUY GOLD EVERY DAY —

Acme Club holds monthly meeting March 4

Ruth Victor was hostess to seven members of the Acme Club at the Senior Center on March 4. The group's meeting was preceded by lunch.

President Joann Temme called the meeting to order. Ruth Victor gave the Thought for the Day – "C'mon Get Happy." Numerous studies have shown a link between an upbeat attitude and a healthy body. Research is clear that happiness is connected to success in all walks of life. Researchers have found evidence of a link between sunny perspectives and stronger immune systems, better health habits and longer life spans.

To rate yourself, ask yourself for example, "In uncertain times, I usually expect the best" or "If something can go wrong for me, it will."

Rall call was telling how many times we have moved, as years ago, moving day on the farm was March 1.

Correspondence from Orphan Grain Train and Haven House was read.

Final plans for Guest Day were made. Delores Utecht will make the Easter favors and deliver them to the hospital.

Ruth Victor gave the program about Valley Forge National Historical Park.

Valley Forge National Historical Park is the site where the main body of the Continental Army (approximately 12,000 troops) under the command of General George Washington spent the winter of 1777-1778 near Valley Forge, Penn. during the American Revolutionary War.

Originally Valley Forge State Park, it became a national historical park in 1976. The park contains historical buildings, recreate encampment structures, museums and recreation facilities. The headquarters of Washington and his generals still stand.

Valley Forge also serves a very important modern purpose, protecting over 3,400 acres of land and 1,000 species of wildlife in the densely populated Philadelphia metropolitan area. It is visited by over 1.2 million people each year.

Located in the park is the Washington Memorial Chapel. It was built as a tribute to General Washington and is an active Episcopal Parish with more than 175 communicants making the chapel their spiritual home. The park as a full program of worship, study, fellowship and service. The chapel receives no public funds and is entirely supported by contributions from its members and from visitors.

The altar cross was given by a member of the Lincoln family as a memorial to Abraham Lincoln. The cross of hand-carved wood is gilded and poly chrome and adorned with small statues carved of ivory representing the four evangelists: Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

Over the door of the chapel is the

George Washington window with 36 scenes from life, beginning with his baptism and ending with him reading his Bible at Mount Vernon.

The organ was originally built in 1909 and a major renovation was needed in 1988 and a new console was built. It is a four-manual console, containing over 50 ranks and 3,100 pipes ranging in size from smaller than a pencil to over 16 feet tall.

Acme Club's next meeting will be Monday, March 18 for a Guest Day. It will begin at 2 p.m. at the Grace Lutheran Fellowship Hall.

NECC students judge Car Show

Some Northeast Community College students have had the opportunity to apply the skills they have learned in the classroom.

Sophomore students in the Northeast auto body technology program were invited to take part in the judging of the entries at this past weekend's Cabin Fever Car Show. The annual event, sponsored by Norfolk Rod and Custom, was held Saturday at Northeast Community College's Chuck M. Pohlman Agriculture Complex, east of the college's main campus.

Norfolk Rod and Custom President Carlin Synovec said he was happy with the student's performance. "They did a real nice job," he said. The students judged car, truck and motorsports' entries.

Northeast Auto Body Technology Instructor Dave Beaudette said he is pleased for his students. "This was a fantastic learning experience for the students. To be exposed to the show culture and see some truly great craftsmanship this early in their careers was a wonderful opportunity for them," Beaudette said. "Hopefully, this may start some of them down the path toward their own show worthy rides!"

Students taking part included:

Garrett Hingst, Allen; Tyler Micanek, Lynch; Ryan Kotrous, Niobrara, Adam Brodecky, North Bend; Thayer Boschen, Norfolk, Nathan Jedlicka, Schuyler; and Seth Porkorny, Yankton, SD.

Students in Northeast's auto body technology program learn the basics of metal finishing, frame alignment, panel replacement, major body damage, and unibody technologies for today's vehicles by using the very latest equipment and training materials. Students will develop skills in welding, metal working, refinishing, straightening and panel alignment, glass, hardware, trim installation, estimating, and shop management skills.

Upon graduation, students will be prepared for jobs in independent body shops or new and used car dealerships. With additional education, they will also find career opportunities in insurance adjusting and teaching.

The Cabin Fever Car Show attracted 500 to 700 people this year, according to Synovec. Approximately 70 vehicles were registered for the event.

Northeast Community College's Diversified Ag Club also took part in the car show by serving food.

Garrett Hingst of Allen and six fellow students in Northeast Community College's auto body technology program recently applied some of the skills they have learned in the classroom. They served as some of the judges at the recent Norfolk Rod and Custom's Cabin Fever Car Show.

Sharing Devaney Center memories

WELL, the terrible snow that was supposed to happen two weeks ago happened yesterday! As the Latvian neighbor said when he brought over the Lincoln paper and picked up the Omaha, "we had plenty of food and plenty of vino, so we didn't do anything! Nada!" That's exactly what we did. As the snow removal crew arrived at 5:30 this morning; I snuggled down into bed and remembered those days when we would be out in it, checking for new calves!

Everyone's been talking about their memories of the Bob! You know, the house that cigarettes built, the Devaney Center. The gals from Randolph were planning to buy their last nachos because they taste better there. (I have a hunch you will still be able to get them when it becomes the volleyball venue; and you might be able to get some volleyball tickets, too!)

The papers have carried reruns of some of the great basketball games played there. I particularly remember the night that Wahoo beat Pi us in overtime and started their four championship series. We were watching from home, but it was just as exciting.

I think I remember more wrestling matches there; for years, Winside sent a bunch of grapplers to the state tournament. One year, I remember, we were Class D champs, but had no individual champ for the first time in ages. I've never seen such a sad bunch of champions! And one year, it was snowing as we left, just as it was yesterday afternoon.

Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

I also remember some great volleyball games, when they would move there to accommodate the folks who could never get tickets. I wanted to do something drastic to Destiny Hooker, that high jumper from Texas who ended up on the Olympic team with Jordan Larson. I think the last game we saw there, we beat Illinois when they were rated ahead of us.

And I distinctly remember hearing Norfolk on the radio when they won the class A boys state basketball title while the city kids were yelling "farmers, farmers". How is that a put down???

In the early days, the State Fair had name performers there; we enjoyed Glen Campbell, Kenny Rogers, and the Oak Ridge Boys. We took my Mom and her friend to the latter, as they were great fans. At least, it was air conditioned, and the seats were comfortable. It sure beat the open air auditorium where the musical acts have been the last few years before it moved to Grand Island. The stage was round, and moved in a slow circle so everyone could see the entertainer; Kenny even got some folks from the crowd up there to do the Texas Two Step. It looked fun!

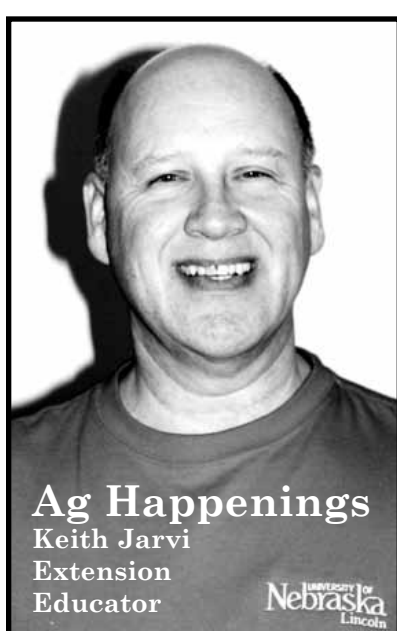

Oh, and we saw a couple of track meets and at least one swim meet there; it's been a very diverse facility. I guess it's time to say thanks for the memories and look forward to the new ones that are sure to be made there.

Workshop to discuss herbicide-resistant weeds

Herbicide-resistant weeds are increasing in Nebraska. Uncontrolled horseweed, kochia, giant ragweed and waterhemp are becoming an all-too-common sight in commodity crop production. To help combat the issue, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension weed scientists will offer four workshops on new tools to battle weed resistance.

These "hands-on" workshops will demonstrate how to use the Herbicide Site of Action Numbering System in the 2013 Guide for Weed Management Guide for Nebraska and cover these topics: herbicide tolerant crops, how weed resistance develops, an overview of weed resistance in the Midwest and Nebraska, and examples/practical solutions for major weed resistance cases in Nebraska.

The nearest workshop will be held Monday, March 18 at the Life Long Learning Center at the Northeast Community College in Norfolk. Online preregistration is required for this workshop. The cost is $30 and includes a variety of printed materials. Doors will open at each site at 8:30 a.m., and the meeting will be held from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. Register early as attendance will be limited to 30 people per site in order to facilitate the hands-on format of these workshops. To register, please visit: go.unl.edu/weedresistmgmt-workshop13.

We are still in a drought, and drought can play havoc on pasture leases. All too often, pasture leases fail to include an appropriate plan to adjust to this problem.

Without a plan, both the landowner and the tenant are at risk. Landowners risk having the pasture become overgrazed, resulting in future weed problems, reduced long-term production, and lowered value. The tenant risks poor performance or health of the livestock due to less forage and lower quality feed. This can lead to higher supplemental feed costs or being forced to sell the cattle.

So, who decides when drought has lowered pasture production low enough to remove the cattle? And, what should be the adjustment in the rent payment?

Unfortunately, I can't give you a specific answer. Instead, now is the time to discuss these issues as landlord and tenant. Be sure to list the length of the grazing period in the lease along with beginning and ending dates. Also make sure that stocking rates are specified in the lease, adjusting these stocking levels for increased cow size if necessary. Usually, it is best to design the lease so both landowner and tenant share in the opportunity and risk associated with drought by adding an appropriate escape clause due to drought. Indicate how a drought adjustment will be made and how that will affect rent payments. Drought can cause a lot of headaches. But if you plan ahead, making sudden adjustments to your pasture leases won't be one of them.

And, get it all in writing to avoid any misunderstandings later. One of the most frustrating things I come across is the lack of written leases for pasture and crop rents. Please get it in writing to relieve everyone of a lot of stress.

National Poison Prevention Week is March 17-23

The number to your poison center is (800) 222-1222.

This number should be programmed into and located near every phone in the United States.

The fastest growing drug problem in the United States is the abuse of prescription medications. It is estimated that 30,000 Americans will die from prescription drug abuse and overdoses this year. Poisonings are the leading cause of unintentional home injury deaths for those ages 15 to 59, largely resulting from unintentional drug overdoses of prescription medications.

Most people take prescription medications responsibly; however there has been a steady increase in the non-medical use of prescription drugs. The most commonly abused medications are the class of drugs known as prescription painkillers, which include drugs such as hydrocodone, oxycodone and methadone.

Where are all these drugs coming from? More than three out of four people who misuse prescription painkillers use drugs prescribed to someone else.

The Poison Center offers these tips on medications:

- Understand why you are taking each medication. Keep a current list of your medications.

- Read each label carefully and follow the directions. Do not double your medications.

- If you are a parent educate yourself first about prescription drug abuse and then talk to your children.

- Talk to grandparents about what is in their medication cabinet.

- Store medications in a safe and secure location.

- Be more aware of your medications - they need to be monitored.

- Keep medications in their original containers.

- Never take a prescription medication that was not prescribed for you. They should never be shared.

- Dispose of old or unused medications that are no longer needed. They should never be flushed.

- April 27, 2013 is the DEA Drug Take Back Day. The Poison Center can help you find the closest location for convenient drop-off.

- Call the Poison Center, (800) 222-1222, if you took too much medication. The nurses will provide immediate treatment advice.

Poison Control Centers are effective and economical because more than 70 percent of cases are resolved over the telephone without requiring hospital services. This avoids unnecessary emergency department visits, ambulance use, hospital admissions and treatment delays. Contact the poison center if you have any questions.

Preparation and storage important steps in traditional Easter Egg's safety

For most families, Easter means colorful, patterned eggs and Easter egg hunts.

However, Easter eggs require careful preparation and storage to practice these traditions safely. Julie Albrecht, University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension food specialist, has three steps to handle the traditional Easter egg for a safe and healthy celebration.

When buying eggs for coloring, Albrecht said to inspect the eggs before purchasing.

"Inspect the eggs to make sure that none in the carton are cracked," she said.

Purchase eggs several days before preparing because fresh eggs that are hard-cooked are not easy to peel.

Once it's time to prepare the eggs, Albrecht recommends hard-cooking rather than hard-boiling. This will prevent the green ring around the yolk, which forms as a result of a chemical reaction between the egg yolk and egg white.

"Put your eggs in a pan with water about one inch above the eggs," Albrecht said. "Then bring the water just to a boil and let the eggs sit."

The suggested cooking times are nine minutes for medium eggs, 12 for large eggs and 15 for extra large.

The coloring used for Easter eggs might be a concern for some parents, but Albrecht said it does not make the egg harmful to eat.

"The coloring used is food grade," she said. "Sometimes red coloring might bleed through and turn the white pink, but that's OK."

After the eggs are bright and colorful, refrigerate and do not leave them sitting at room temperature for more than two hours at a time and do not keep the eggs for more than four days.

Ponca State Park planning activities

Ponca State Park offers a variety of family activities for Easter on March 30.

These activities include an Easter egg hunt, wild bird egg/nest craft, wildlife viewing from a blind that may be reserved on a first-come, first-served basis, and 30-percent discount on lodging.

Call the park for reservations at (402) 755-2284, and visit the park's Facebook page for activity updates. A park entry permit is required for each vehicle entering the park.
