State senators visit Wayne, discuss issues

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

Some of the most underpaid employees in the state visited Wayne State College Friday morning.

A good turnout gathered at Gardner Hall on Friday as five state senators sat in on an hour-long forum to discuss a variety of issues being looked at by the Nebraska Legislature.

The senators – Sen. Charlie Janssen of Fremont, Sen. Lydia Brasch of Bancroft, Sen Dave Bloomfield of Hoskins, Sen. Jim Scheer of Norfolk and Sen. Paul Schumacher of Columbus – presented their thoughts on a variety of issues during the forum, sponsored by the government affairs committee of the Wayne Area Chamber. Mark Ahmann served as the forum's moderator.

The five state senators each talked about their priority bills in the Legislature, and gave their opinions regarding a number of issues before the Unicameral, including gun control, expansion of Medicaid, education-related issues and the death penalty. Students from schools in Wayne, Wake-

"Right now, we get $5.76 an hour in the Legislature," he joked.

The senators discussed the current federal minimum wage of $7.35 an hour, and while raising the rate would be good for those working hard to makes ends meet, it can also have an adverse affect on businesses, especially small ones.

"If somebody can afford to pay you $7 an hour, it doesn't necessarily mean they can pay you $10 an hour," Sen. Dave Bloomfield of Hoskins said. "It's nice to see, but it isn't free . . . and beware when the government comes bearing gifts, because you're going to pay for it.'

Bloomfield recounted his younger days when he worked for a gas station in South Sioux City and made 30 cents an hour. # Shots fired; man arrested Incident prompts hour-long lockdown at schools

Wayne Police arrested a local man after a report of gunshots at a residence near St. Mary's Catholic School Wednesday morning. At about 9:52 a.m., the police department received a report of shots being fired at a residence along East Seventh Street, prompting St. Mary's and Wayne Public Schools to go into lockdown mode for about an hour.

Michael Ellis, 36, was charged with discharging a firearm in city limits. No injuries or damage were reported, and he is being held pending the filing of formal charges.

Wayne Public Schools superintendent Mark Lenihan said the school took immediate action after receiving word of the incident. "At 10:15 AM this morning, we received word that possible gun shots had been fired inside the city limits of Wayne," Lenihan said. "As a safety precaution we put all buildings into a level one lockdown until we received information at approximately 11:15 a.m. from the Wayne Police Department that it was safe to return to a normal school day. During the lockdown students were kept inside their classrooms with their teachers. Your student's safety is always our first priority. Please contact your school with any concerns or questions."

Move to state radio system is ultimate goal

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

In a recent Omaha World-Herald story. Nebraska Gov. Dave Heineman said that county and local law enforcement agencies and fire departments could improve communication with the Nebraska State Patrol by joining the recently-completed statewide radio system

The problem, though, is that the Nebraska State Patrol is still trying to figure out the $17.3 million digital radio system. Until they do, complete statewide interfacing is still a step or two away.

Wayne County Sheriff LeRoy Janssen told The Wayne Herald that getting all the agencies together on the same system will ultimately help them communicate with each other directly, rather than having to go through two dispatch centers, which would be of utmost importance if a situation like a recent shootout in Johnson County – where two deputies were wounded - were to occur here

"Trying to get everybody to work off of that system is the ultimate situation,' Janssen said, "but complete interfacing is still a step or two away.'

Heineman told the World-Herald that local agencies did not want to be mandated to join the State patrol's emergency radio system, which left the state patrol and local agencies on separate radio systems.

Janssen said that communication between one of his officers and the Nebraska State Patrol requires the deputy to contact local dispatch, who then relays the information to the patrol's dispatch. The patrol's dispatch then relays the information to the officer.

"We can talk to that system through a dispatcher, but we don't have direct contact to it, which is where some of the problem is," Janssen said. "They're on one frequency and we're on another, so nothing has changed."

Heineman said that local agencies could resolve the problem by joining the state system, even though it would require those agencies to buy new radios and subscribe to the system. Regardless of the cost, Heineman said emergency communications See RADIO, Page 4A

James Wallace Hughes, 97, of Prescott, Ariz., died Friday, March 15,

2013 in Prescott, where he had lived for six years.

Memorial services will be held at 11 a.m. on Saturday, April 20 at First Baptist Church, 148 South Marina Street in Prescott. Burial will be with wife, Ruth, at Greenwood Cemetery, Wayne.

James Wallace Hughes, "Wally," was born in O'Neill on March 6, 1916, the fourth of seven children to George Wayman Hughes and his wife, the former Etta Gail Smith of Wayne. The family moved to Wayne in 1918 after his father registered for the World War I draft. Wally graduated from Haun High School in 1936. On Nov. 21, 1937, he married the former Ruth Genevieve Dressler of Brunswick. Three children were born to them prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor. Wally was a skilled mechanic which protected him from the World War II draft. In October 1945 he switched to working on John Deere farm tractors and was employed at Brandstetter Implement Co. in Wayne until August 1963, when Wally and Ruth moved to Bainbridge Island, Wash. Wally was a custodian at Blakely Elementary School on Bainbridge Island until his retirement in May 1981. While he lived in Washington, he was well-known for growing flower gardens and potted "Martha Washington" geraniums, and fuchsias.

In May 2007, Wally and Ruth moved to Prescott, Ariz., to be near their son. They celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary in 2007. Ruth died in March 2008 in Prescott, Ariz.

Survivors include one son, James Arthur Hughes and wife, Judy, of Prescott, Ariz.; his son-in-law, Dr. Glen Dappen and wife, Bonnie, of Lincoln; his daughter-in-law, Lynda Hughes of Salem, Ore.; nine grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents; his wife, Ruth; two sisters, four brothers, and all of their spouses; his younger son, William Wallace Hughes of Keiser, Ore. and his daughter, Barbara Gertrude Dappen of Lincoln.

A bill that would help protect Greater Nebraska against forest fires advanced through the Unicameral Monday.

LB634, the Wildfire Control Act of 2013, made it through the first round of consideration on a vote of 36-0 with eight senators not voting.

Under the bill, the Nebraska Forest Service would contract to place two single-engine air tankers near Chadron and Valentine to be ready to combat wildfires.

Sen. Al Davis of Hyannis introduced the measure and said the planes, along with other provisions of the bill, would cost $1.7 million. He said the cost of preventing or reducing fires was less than the cost of doing nothing.

"This program should have been placed a long time ago," Davis said. "We are moving into what appears to be a hotter and drier period in history. Fires are going to be stronger, harder, more severe and it's time the state started taking some responsibility and be proactive rather than reactive." According to a written statement from Major Gen. Judd Lyons and Al Berndt of the Nebraska Emergency Management Agency, 1,570 wildfires burned more than 500,000 acres of land in 2012. In 2011, fires burned fewer than 37,000 acres, according to NEMA's annual report. Lyons and Berndt said the majority of the fires were caused by lightning strikes and fueled by dry trees and crops, known as dry fuel, that resulted from last summer's drought and high temperatures. But senators thoroughly discussed another contributor to the wildfires: red cedars. The tree that is technically a fire intolerant weed, makes fires more rampant. The trees have to be trimmed because their seedlings spread rapidly, increasing the potential for wildfires. Davis said $600,000 in state money for the Fuel Reduction Program, alongside federal money and Natural Resources District funds, would be spent to try to eradicate the red cedar problem. Sen. Kate Sullivan of Cedar Rapids said she didn't want to get to the point where landowners would wait for grant money to take care of their cedars. "It is a problem that to a certain extent should never have happened if the landowner was doing his or her due diligence and taking care of those cedar trees before they got to be a problem," Sullivan said. "Over time I've seen hills just blackened because the landowner just doesn't take care of those cedar trees and then they get to be too big and you can't do it with anything other than burning or mechanical eradication," Sullivan said. Davis said, "Most people are working pretty hard at the red cedar problem.' "They were planted as wind break for many, many years and never had a problem but we have a new and sort of a more vigorous plant that's out there taking over the acreage," he said.

Sen. Lydia Brasch of Bancroft opposed the bill while supporting the amendment. She questioned whether allowing medical practitioners to prescribe treatment to people they have never examined was good public policy.

'Taking prescription drugs is not as simple as taking over-the-counter aspirin," Brasch said.

She added that she thinks it is not good policy to prescribe medicine "when you don't know who the patient is" or "what the medical consequences could be.'

Sen. Dave Bloomfield of Hoskins said he was undecided about the bill but thought this amendment was a step to making it better, he said.

"I believe it does no harm at all to McCoy's the bill," Bloomfield said.

Higher education was also a topic for discussion, and Janssen and Scheer were both critical of Gov. Dave Heineman's proposal to hold down the cost of tuition for the next two years at the state's colleges and universities.

"I think it's a bad bill," Scheer said. "I'm not adverse to providing the additional 2 percent, but the way the bill is set up, we'll be paying for that for the rest of our lives. If we're serious about tuition costs, we need to provide a refund or cut checks (to students), rather than committing the state to that. It's not a good long-term solution, doesn't solve the problem and puts a teeny Band-Aid on what tuition costs are going to be in the future.

"Sen. Scheer is exactly right," Janssen added. "It's bad policy moving forward, and once you give it, you'll never get it back."

Sen. Brasch touted her priority bill, LB296, which would double the $5,000 tax credit for those who start a college savings plan, and would also allow plans from out of state to be rolled into a Nebraska plan. The bill would also, in the event of a custodian's death, transfer ownership of the fund from the custodian to the beneficiary.

"As it stands now, college funds can be delayed in the event of death, so this is very important." Brasch said, adding that she encouraged the youth in the audience to start saving early for their kids' education in the future. The state senators were unanimous in their agreement that the Keystone XL pipeline be approved, saying the proposal is long overdue. "I believe that, legislatively, we've insured every measure has been taken," Brasch said. "I believe it's a good route and there are existing pipelines of many kinds running through the state. Nebraska is prepared to move forward, pending any federal hold-backs. Nebraska is good to go." Janssen added that the pipeline is being held up due to political concerns. "This should have been done before our special session," he said. "It was perfectly safe then, it's perfectly safe now, and we've wasted resources and time for political ploy." Bloomfield and Janssen both discussed gun control legislation that is being held hostage in the judiciary committee by Sen. Ernie Chambers, but both expressed optimism that legislation they have both proposed will make it to the floor of the legislature. Bloomfield is also optimistic about a bill he has proposed that would expedite conceal-carry permits for those who have been victims of domestic violence, shortening the wait from 45 days to five.

should be a top priority for all levels of law enforcement.

Janssen said he didn't have any idea what cost local agencies would incur if the state mandates that they buy into the radio system. Some agencies in the western part of the state bought into the system in the beginning, but until testing is completed and the state patrol becomes more comfortable with the system, Janssen said he didn't think local agencies would know what it would cost.

'71-'72 L.A. streak beats the Heat's

Since Mother Nature is being such an - ahem - ill-tempered old hag, here's a few thoughts about the sports world that I thought I'd try to melt the snow with:

- Is the Miami Heat's current threat of the 33-game winning streak racked up by the 1971-72 Los Angeles Lakers a better run than that historic effort in Tinseltown?

While the Heat certainly has better athletes today than the Lakers did back in the day (even though L.A. had three of the greatest players of all time in Wilt Chamberlain, Jerry West and Elgin Baylor), I would submit that the Lakers' run is still the gold standard, regardless of how high the Heat go.

There were fewer teams in the NBA 40 years ago, so the quality of talent playing in the league was much better than today's NBA. Yes, the athletes today are bigger, stronger and faster – but there are also more athletes playing in the NBA who, in all honesty, couldn't carry the jockstrap of some of the players from the 70's.

Also – consider that the Lakers consistently scored above 100 points a game – WITHOUT a 3-point shot - and rarely had to come from behind to beat teams. The Heat have had to come back from double-digit deficits on SEVERAL occasions this season, including a 27-point comeback against Cleveland (Cleveland??? Really???)

I'm not saying that the Heat's current run (27 as of this writing) isn't impressive. Any time you can go on that kind of run in professional sports, you have to give it props. At the end of the day, however, the NBA as a whole today is much more watered down than the NBA of 40 years ago. The Lakers put up 33 in a row in times where they didn't have their own jet, played threegame sets in as many nights four times during their run, and beat the crap out of some outstanding teams of that era – teams that would run up, over, and through some of the teams Miami has beaten in the past couple of months.

– He's baaaaack.

Tiger Woods is No. 1 in the golf rankings again, and I'm thinking this is a good thing for the sport.

Now I'm not going to act like his personal hiccups never happened if nothing else, they humbled a guy who, for a time, looked like he would completely obliterate the game as we know it and set records that mortal man would never come close to realizing.

He's still young enough that he could assault some of those marks, including Jack Nicklaus' 18 major wins (Tiger's at 14 heading into the Masters next week). He's getting back to playing the kind of golf we expect to see from him. His putting is looking very good right now, and if he's making things happen with the flat stick, the rest of the studs on the PGA tour are going to have to get reacquainted with that idea of playing for second place at Augusta.

Will Tiger be as dominant as he was in the early part of the last decade? It remains to be seen - but the idea that it could happen again is going to be fun to watch.

– A final thought . . . if your NCAA bracket took a beating last week, take comfort in knowing that there are those experts out there who are looking like chumps right now.

How many so-called experts were singing the praises of Georgetown, only to start choking on them after Florida Gulf Coast kicked off its improbable run to the Sweet 16? And there were those Gonzaga bandwagon-jumpers who had to visit the emergency room to fix their broken ankles after Wichita State knocked them off their No. 1 perch.

I'm sure nobody picked it – but wouldn't it be nice to see a LaSalle vs. Florida Gulf Coast national championship game? OK, it's probably not going to happen. However, considering the insanity we saw in that first weekend of the tournament, can you be sure it WON'T happen?

The defending national champion Wayne State women's rugby team will be one of about 65 teams from across North America that will play in this year's March Madness and Mayhem rugby tournament in Wayne. Because of the Easter holiday, this year's tournment will actually be played the first weekend in April.

No foolin' – March Madness rugby tourney set for April

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

Wayne's usual dose of March Madness won't be coming until April this year.

The 12th annual March Madness and Mayhem rugby tournament, hosted by the Wayne State Rugby Club, was moved off its usual last weekend in March slot because of the Easter holiday. This year's version will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 6-7, with games at the Wayne Rugby Park and Wayne State College.

Because of the change in schedule, fewer teams are expected this year, according to Wayne State rugby coach Darrin Barner.

"Teams go to certain tournaments on the same weekends every year, and with the Easter holiday we were forced to move it back a week, so some of the teams we usually see are probably going to play that weekend in Denver or St. Louis," he said.

Even with some of the usual combatants not on hand, there will still be some outstanding programs that will make their way to Wayne for the annual twoday rugby festival. Barner estimates about 65 teams from the United States and Canada will invade Wayne that first weekend in April.

One of the teams that is expected to contend for the women's tournament title is the University of Oklahoma, who Wayne State beat last year to start a 17-game winning streak that ended in the school's first-ever national title.

"We defeated Oklahoma, Northwestern and Notre Dame last year, and that really got us out of the gate," Barner said. "Once we beat Oklahoma last year, we knew that team had a chance, and we feel honored that we'll be able to give them the opportunity to have some revenge against us this year."

The Iowa State women's team is also expected to compete for the team title, while the men's bracket could come down to one of three Canadian teams, including teams from the University of Manitoba, Win#### nipeg and Hamilton, Ontario.

Both Wayne State teams will compete in this year's tournament. The men's team finished their season last fall at 12-2 with a loss in the second round of the NSCRO playoffs, while the women are coming off that incredible 17-1 season that ended with them bringing home the NSCRO national championship trophy.

Nine players on the women's side are back this year, while eight men return to this year's team.

"We've only had a week of practice outdoors because of the weather, so we're looking a little rusty right now and we're a little behind schedule for where I'd like us to be." Barner said.

Historically, the tournament has not only been good for the sport of rugby in the Midwest, but it has been pretty good for the business community in Wayne. Research conducted during last year's tournament by the University of Nebraska's Bureau of Business Research found that the economic impact of the tournament brought in, at a conservative estimate, more than $400,000 to the community.

Barner said those numbers may be down a little, with the date change affecting the number of teams that usually show up. But he has plans for next year's tournament that should not only draw some of those regular teams, but bring in some potential future rugby stars.

"Next year, we're looking at adding a high school bracket that could bring in another 30-35 teams, so we could have about 100 teams in next year's tournament," he said. "We'll be back to our usual March date next year, and adding a high school bracket would also bring in some more quality officials who are connected with USA Rugby, and be good for recruiting for the school as well. We might even be able to play the championship games on the new turf at Memorial Stadium, but that's something we'll have to wait and see."

years, posting a 74-50 record during Elementary, and the school will be his tenure. In the 2010-11 season, gin a search for a new head coach he led the team to a school-record immediately.

O'Brien homered while Bormann one run on two hits over the final 2 1/3 innings with one strikeout.

The story of the second game was the pitching and hitting of Bormann, as the sophomore carried the Wildcats to the doubleheader split.

Bormann pitched a completegame five-hitter, striking out eight, while going 2-for-3 at the plate with two runs scored in the win.

After UNK took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on three hits, Wayne State grabbed the lead for good with four runs in the third inning on five hits. Vicki Nielsen's two-run double was the big hit of the inning, while Bormann added an RBI single.

Wayne State added solo runs in the fifth and seventh innings to make the final score 6-1. Bormann was hit by a pitch to open the fifth and later scored on Hagemann's groundout, while Bormann scored again in the seventh on a sacrifice fly from Hagemann after leading off the inning with a single.

Wavne State had nine hits compared to five by UNK. Nielsen was 2-for-3 with a double and two RBI's, while Bormann finished 2-for-3 with two runs scored. Williams finished 2-for-4 with two runs scored while Simpson, Lexie Loos and Michelle Thille also had hits.

Schools, businesses, other organizations and individuals can visit www.nebraskablue.com to register and learn more.

Registering will give Nebraskans access to helpful information in planning a walk event, and will help BCBSNE track participants.

This year, participating organizations will support statewide hiking and biking trails. For every organization that registers, BCBSNE will donate $20 to the Nebraska Game and Parks Foundation (up to $10,000 total).

"Our state has 1,236 miles of trails for Nebraskans to use and enjoy, and we are happy to support the Foundation in maintaining and/ or expanding them as needed," said Kathy Nellor, BCBSNE wellness business consultant.

Walk at Lunch has become one of the state's largest health events. In 2012, nearly 37,000 Nebraskans registered to take a 30-minute walk at lunch. Most walked with their business or school; 366 organizations and 400 individuals from 70 Nebraska communities participated.

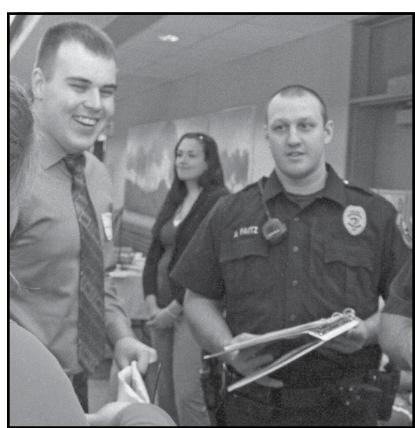

Participation is simple: Businesses and schools organize their own walks, choosing a time and place that is most convenient, while individuals walk at their leisure.

PTK installs new members at Northeast CC

The Phi Theta Kappa (PTK) Tau Chi Chapter at Northeast Community College in Norfolk recently hosted a PTK Induction Ceremony for new members.

John W. Davies of Pilger, past PTK inductee and a member of the Northeast Community College Board of Governors, was the guest speaker during the event.

Since the installation of Northeast's Tau Chi chapter in 1996, some 2,645 students have been inducted into the honor society which recognizes academic excellence.

For more than 80 years, membership in Phi Theta Kappa has signified a singular honor and a willingness to embrace the Society's shared commitment to academic excellence. The Northeast students who were recently inducted into PTK have earned at least 12 credit hours and achieved a minimum grade point average of 3.5 or above out of a 4.0 system.

The following were welcomed to PTK during the Spring Induction Ceremony:

Erika Hochstein of Dixon and Wayne Lee French of Wayne.

Phi Theta Kappa sponsors are Wellness/Aerobics Instructor Amy Ries, English Instructor Bonnie Johnson-Bartee, and Wind Technology Instructor Glen Lammers.

NAMES OF CONTRACTOR

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes Managing Editor

Basketball coach is one lucky guy

Because you need a diversion from the train wreck that is your NCAA tournament bracket - here's a heaping pile of stuff from the "Bits and Pieces" file:

- Andy Enfield is, without a doubt, the luckiest man on the planet.

For those of you not familiar with the name (which, until the start of the NCAA tournament, would have been darn near everybody on the planet), Enfield is the coach of Florida Gulf Coast, the Cinderella sensation of the cournament that became the first No. 15 seed to reach the Sweet 16.

The guy is married to a former supermodel, Amanda Marcum, and met her while giving her a ride from New York to Boston for an NCAA tournament game (until she married her hubby, she was an Oklahoma State fan). The two hit it off, and eventually wound up being husband and wife.

OK, so he outkicked his coverage and married a hot blonde whose modeling credits include the covers of magazines like Vogue and Maxim. Now HERE is where the luck factor gets upped a few notches – the guy took his eventual wife to, of all places, Taco Bell for their first date. When he proposed to her, he gave her a box of Krispy Kreme donuts with the ring stuck between two donuts.

They've been married nine years and have three kids together - and, thanks to him, single guys like me will only take our future dates to fastfood joints from here on out. After all, if it's good enough for a supermodel

- From the "Yup, that's a gimme" department: An Illinois man was enoying an early-spring round of golf with his buddies when he suddenly found himself in the middle of a REALLY unplayable lie.

The guy was having a good round when he went to hit a shot on the No. 14 fairway, only to find himself suddenly at the bottom of an 18-foot sinkhole. He was waiting to hit his shot when he noticed an indentation just behind him on the fairway. The indentation gave way soon after, sending him, literally, underground.

His buddies were able to pull him out and he suffered minor injuries - Legislative Update no word on whether or not his fellow golfers gave him a free drop to play his next shot.

- This just in from the "Some things are more important to the government than letting school kids go on field trips to the White House" department: Times must not be THAT tight with the sequester going on in Washington, since the federal government recently awarded a Boston hospital $1.5 million to determine why most lesbians are overweight.

Calling it a "significant public health issue," the National Institutes of Health recently issued the grant to Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston to study the relationship between sexual orientation and obesity.

Capitol View Halfway through the session

By J.L. SCHMIDT Statehouse Correspondent The Nebraska Press Association

The Wayne

The first session of Nebraska's 103rd Legislature is half over. Forty-five days in and the talk has centered on taxes, or the lack thereof. Lame Duck Governor Dave Heineman's plans to end the personal and/or corporate income tax in Nebraska have been left in the dust. Concern over ending millions in sales tax exemptions was enough to cause second thoughts.

Hours of debate before the Legislature's Revenue Committee - most of it in opposition to the bills – was enough to convince the chief executive to scuttle the plan which had seemed like such a good idea when presented by fellow Republican governors in several other states.

Some say it was less than a smart idea to make such a proposal in Nebraska. Others say it was genius because it obviously started a conversation, which led to the now lingering discussion of tax reform.

Sen. Paul Schumacher of Columbus offered a bill (LB613) to create the Tax Modernization Commission. Schumacher, a member of the Revenue Committee, and Committee Chairman Sen. Galen Hadley of Kearney said the hearing on the Governor's proposals made it clear that Nebraskans want to further discuss tax reform. Given that the state's current tax system dates back to the 1960s and the last reform came with the oft-noted Syracuse tax study in the 80s, it's time for another look.

Now I'm not going to knock homosexuality here - but to call overweight lesbians a "significant public health issue" is, in polite terms, a reach. Obesity in general to a significant public health issue? Yes. Obesity in a small, specific socioeconomic group? If we were talking about balding, 40-something heterosexual sports writers who can't cook, then MAYBE . .

- While we're on the subject of government incompetence, here's one that is both insane and frightening.

The commandant for the Marine Corps recently posted a video online that encourages Marines to preserve ammunition and gasoline, asking the to "save every round, every gallon of gas."

I've never been in combat, so I'm no expert on this. However, if I'm in the middle of a battle, and somebody is shooting at me, I'm going to be trying to rain return fire on them at each and every available opportunity. It only takes one bullet to kill an enemy soldier – but 4-5 would certainly take some of the guesswork out of it, wouldn't it?

Rather than preserve ammunition and fuel - how about we cut the salaries of those who are foolishly wasting our money in Washington? My guess is that if 535 members of Congress were suddenly working without a paycheck or pension, a lot more would get done, and our armed forces could be better armed and prepared to defend themselves.

THIS is change for us to believe in?

- Annnnnnd finally, from the folder where we keep the REALLY goofy stuff: Actress Jennifer Love Hewitt is looking to insure her two biggest

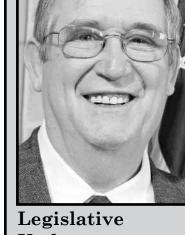

If you've seen Hewitt on TV anytime recently, you'll know exactly what 'm talking about

She recently told USA Today that her two biggest assets – which are prominently displayed every time she appears in public - should be insured for $5 million.

is passed according to the law. On Wednesday, March 20, LB613 advanced to Select File which is the second round of debate. I believe that this is something we need to do; we need to look at our current tax structure and ways to improve it as a whole. Studying the issue during the remainder of this year and then making decisions is a much wiser path than passing a smorgasbord of tax bills with no idea of what the impact might end up being.

I know that both of these bills are now in the black hole that the Judiciary Committee has become. Many good ideas go to this committee never to be heard from again. LB171 was not as strongly condemned so it might have a slight chance. There were five or six bills introduced to this committee to strengthen and protect your rights to keep and bear arms. I doubt any of them will survive this group of senators. If you feel strongly that any of these bills need to come out of the committee, I would encourage you to contact the members of the Judiciary Committee and let them know how you feel.

Pet of the Week

Yellow is an adult, male cat available at Tenderheart Animal Rescue.

He has the most beautiful face and eyes. He also has great markings. He sits with everyone who sits in the cat room and he is very popular with the volunteers because he is really laid back and cool but just loves to be held.

they work to promote the mission of Nebraska 4-H, which encourages all young people to reach their full potential, by working and learning in partnership with caring adults. 4-H is education for life and focuses on helping young people explore the science in their everyday lives, grow leadership and citizenship skills, explore future career opportunities, and make healthier decisions.

All three of the Nebraska 4-H Camps are American Camp Association (ACA) accredited - meaning that they care enough to undergo a thorough review of over 300 standards related to operations, staffing, and emergency management. They recruit an experienced and caring staff that receives training in first-aid/CPR, water safety, camping skills, and positive youth development. Campers' safety, security, health and growth are our primary concerns.

No matter which 4-H camp your child attends, camp is a great place to meet new friends, try something for the first time, and build cherished memories to last a lifetime!

In addition to the Nebraska State 4-H Camp in Halsey, there is the Eastern Nebraska 4-H Center at Gretna and the South Central 4-H Center at Alma. A wide variety of camps are located at each site.

Acme Club holds Guest Day at Grace Lutheran Church

Acme Club met March 18 at Grace Lutheran Fellowship Hall for the annual Guest Day.

President Joann Temme welcomed the seven guests and six members present. She introduced the guest speaker, Ray Schutte, who told and showed slide pictures of the trip he took with a tour group in February and March of 2012 to Israel – "Land of Jesus and Moses." The group left Kearney by bus for

Chicago and then flew on to Ammon, Jordon.

There are 25 countries in the Middle East, 22 are Arabic. The non-Arabic ones are Iran, Turkey and Israel. Abut 97 percent of Jordanians are Muslim and three percent are Christian.

The tour guide was a Christian. There are now about 6.5 million people in Jordan, whose population is growing from neighboring citizens moving in. Bethany, beyond Jordan, is in Jordan, and is where Jesus ws baptized by John the Babptist. There are over 10,000 archeological sites in Jordan, many of which were in the Bible. Many of the people of Jordan are ancestors of the Bedowins who raised sheep and goats. Lamb and goat meat, milk and cheese are still important to the diet of the Jordanians. The Bedowins move their herds and dwellings to where the grass is. Often they own houses in town, also, and it is not unusual to see a Mercedes parked at the house.

the Promised Land, the "land of milk and honey" in Deuteronomy 32:1. Mount Nebo is only 710 meters above seel level; however, it seems higher because it is close to the Dead Sea, which is 423 meters (1,300 feet) below sea level.

After visiting Mount Nebo the group traveled to a governmentrun building where disabled students were taught to make mosaics frm various colored stones found throughout the country. They then crossed over into Israel over the King Hussein Bridge. Jericho is the first town the Israelites come and took over after crossing over the Jordan River. It is also believed to be the first and oldest city and the oldest continuously inhabited site on earth.

They viewed the Jezree Valley, a large fertile plain and inland valley south of the Lower Gahlee region in Israel. It is a 15x15x20 mile triangle of fertile soil. # Agland values up again, according to report

Despite an extreme drought and Market Developments survey. indicators of weaker agricultural earnings on the horizon, Nebraska's agricultural land markets remain strong, with an overall increase of 25 percent in the last year, according to preliminary findings from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Following the advances of 22 and 32 percent in the previous two years, the 2013 all-land value of $3,040 per acre is more than double the value in early 2010.

"Few would disagree that this period has clearly been a land boom," said UNL agricultural economist Bruce Johnson, who leads the annual Nebraska Farm Real Estate reported percentage gains for all the farmland classes for the period from Feb. 1, 2012 to Feb. 1, 2013, but "the variation across the classes as well as across sub-state regions was extreme," Johnson said.

Drought conditions in 2012 lifted market demand for irrigated cropland, Johnson said, as irrigated land classes had the largest percentage value gains across the state.

"Income flows from irrigated land have been phenomenal in recent years, and 2012 was no exception," he said. "The combination of favorable irrigated yields while widespread drought was seen across the nation's Corn Belt fueled high crop

In the southern parts of Nebraska (Southwest, South, and Southeast districts) the percentage value advances for irrigated land were particularly strong over the past year.

percentage increases over the past year varied greatly across the state. In the Northwest and North districts, the value gains were below 10 percent, while reported values were more than 30 percent higher in the South and Southeast districts. The land class, dryland cropland with irrigation potential, shows considerable variation as well. The presence of water moratoriums across much of the state precludes irrigation development even if groundwater sources exist.

Despite the heavy toll of drought that cut forage capacity as much as 50 percent or more during the 2012 grazing season, grazing land value values still rose, Johnson said.

"Forage shortfalls for cattlemen may have actually caused a more spirited bidding for additional land just to maintain their cow herd numbers," he added. "Unfortunately, even if the drought ends quickly, it may be several years before grazing capacity may be able to return to pre-drought levels."

Survey reporters "frequently commented that current land prices being paid seem over-optimistic,' Johnson said. "In turn, when asked what they expected land value movements to be for the remainder of 2013 as well as out three to five years, the vast majority saw a market which had topped out with little if any upward movement in the near future.

"In fact, a sizable number of reporters thought values could weaken somewhat in the next few years," he added.

Survey reporters also indicated that 2013 cash rental rates for cropland were up from 2012 levels. Preliminary estimates for dryland cropland cash rents in eastern Nebraska averaged about 8 percent above a year ago, while rates in the rest of the state rose 5 percent or less. The increase was much below the annual rises of the past few years, reflecting the seriousness of soil moisture deficits going into the 2013 crop year.

Across the state, center pivot irrigated cropland cash rental rates for 2013 were reportedly 13 to 15 percent above a year earlier. Reported rates for the high-third quality center pivot cropland were over $400 per acre across the eastern third of the state. The value of water in rain-deficit periods, particularly with the efficiency of the center pivot technology, is clearly being reflected in these rates. Pasture land rates on a peracre basis moved upward for 2013 in most regions of the state. Last year's forage production shortfalls with depleted carry-over stocks into this year have sharpened the market for pasture, even though the potential grazing output will very likely be below normal for the year. On a cow-calf pair per month basis, the rates were up from a year earlier in all regions with most districts showing gains in the 3-6 percent range. Comparing the recent percentage gains in value of agricultural land classes with the associated lower percentage gains in cash rental rates indicate a continuing pattern of lower rent-to-value ratios associated with all farmland classes, Johnson said. "At some point, the implied economic returns to land as a percent of value can fall to a point where market participants say 'enough' and no longer bid values higher," he said. "Here in Nebraska, we well may be quickly approaching that point." The findings in this report are preliminary. A final report will be released this summer.

More information, including tables showing details of average land values for all classes of land, is at www.agecon.unl.edu. Click on the March 21 Cornhusker Economics.

'Backyard Farmer' experts offer tips for green thumbs

As winter memories melt and our next season springs to life, it's time to begin thinking about your green space. The NET Television series "Backyard Farmer" premieres with "sage and thymely" advice on Thursday, April 4, at 7 p.m. on NET1/HD. Beginning the weekend of April 6 and 7, it will repeat Saturdays at 3 p.m. on NET1/HD and Sundays at 12 p.m. on NET3 Create.

This season, updated graphics and new segments may make the series look a little different, but the "Backyard Farmer" lawn and garden experts from the University of Nebraska will still offer the same, trusted advice they have since the series premiered in 1953. The series will also feature more "human interest" segments, including a focus on unique gardens and landscapes and the gardeners who grow them.

Host for the "Backyard Farmer" series is Kim Todd, University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) Extension landscape horticultural specialist The panelists specialize in such areas as horticulture, plant pathology, turf grass management, landscape design and entomology

"Backyard Farmer" will also be focusing on more pictures - both user-submitted pictures as well as pictures provided by the faculty panelists.

"We want the show to be more visually appealing," said producer Brad Mills. The experts will also be taking questions via e-mail and from social media sites for the series, including Facebook and Twitter. "But we will still be taking viewer phone calls like we have always done on the show," added Mills. Now in its 61st season, Backyard Farmer inspires the gardener in all of us. From bugs to begonias, vines to vegetables, wilts to weevils, sustainable practices and reliable ways to kill cucumber beetles and critters, the live format with viewer call-ins often produces a surprise, a hearty laugh and the best practices for good gardening. Although "Backyard Farmer" is deeply rooted in tradition, the series takes advantage of technology with segments on YouTube (youtube.com/user/bucslim) and on the "Backyard Farmer" website (byf. unl.edu). Each show is also available on iTunes as a video podcast after the Thursday evening broadcast and is streamed live at byf.unl.edu. The series also appears as a podcast on the University of Nebraska iTunes U channel. And, a mobile phone app is available in the iTunes Store.

Controlling winter annual weeds and lawn care

It doesn't seem like it because of the recent cold temperature that have kept plants from coming out of dormancy, but soon annual weeds will be greening up and beginning to grow vigorously. Some crop fields will even turn purple by planting time. What is the impact of winter annual weeds and what should you think about in planning control programs?

Winter annual weeds begin germinating in early fall, and some species (especially marestail) continue to germinate until after planting. Depending on the species, they begin flowering in early to mid-April and most set seed and senesce by mid-June or earlier.

Control of winter annuals is relatively easy in the fall and early spring, but harder once they begin flowering as they are less susceptible to herbicides. In addition, the time between the start of flowering and when they have viable seeds can be relatively brief. Henbit, for example, produces mature seeds within two weeks of flowering. Plants can be flowering and shedding mature seeds at the same time.

Because winter annual weeds are small and their growth doesn't overlap extensively with crop development, their impact on grain yield is sometimes overlooked. In areas where dense winter annual weed infestations occurs, we recommend controlling those weeds at least two weeks before planting to protect against yield loss. In addition, controlling winter annual weeds before mid-April will reduce the risk of weeds going to seed and increasing winter annual weed pressure in subsequent years.

Warm weather brings lawn work but don't be in a hurry to apply fertilizer just yet. It is more important now to clean up the yard and reseed damaged areas. It may be worth it to wait a couple of weeks to see if your brown areas green back up. Bluegrass is tough and can recover through underground rhizomes. However, after last summer's drought, some areas are bound to require reseeding. If you decide you have to replant, seed as soon as possible. Do not apply any herbicides prior to reseeding or within two or three mowings unless allowed on the label.

It's too early to apply fertilizer to your lawn now. Heavy spring fertilization should be avoided. Cool-season turf needs little additional encouragement to grow and applying too much fertilizer in late March and April causes excess shoot growth at the expense of root growth and uses up valuable storage products needed for summer performance. Early spring fertilization should be reserved for the professionals, while most homeowners should wait until after the first growth flush to apply fertilizer.

Once emerged, grasses grow from their crown and thus it greens up green and growing underneath.

Now is the time to check your the garden. mower's mowing height, sharpen the blade, and start the mower to guarantee it is ready to go when needed. Lawns eventually should be mowed at 3-3.5 inches throughout the year and ideally often enough to remove no more than one-third of the leaf blade. This will keep the lawn at optimum thickness to provide enough height to shade itself in the summer and provide competition for weeds.

For the first couple of mowings you can lower the blade a bit but bring it up to 3-3.5 inches when

Methodist church have begun an 375-3440 NDA accepting specialty 1002 Industrial Drive WAYNE, NE SINCE 1951

crop grant proposals

The Nebraska Department of Agriculture (NDA) is currently accepting specialty crop grant proposals. Specialty crops are defined as fruits and vegetables, tree nuts, dried fruits, horticulture, and nursery crops (including floriculture).

"The specialty crop industry in Nebraska continues to grow," said NDA Director Greg Ibach. "I encourage individuals involved in this sector to consider submitting a grant proposal this year."

NDA will utilize funds from the United States Department of Agriculture (US-DA) Specialty Crop Block Grant Program to administer the state program, subject to the availability of funds.

A two-phase competitive process will be used to determine eligible grant recipients in Nebraska. Phase one requires interested organizations and groups of individuals to submit by April 19 a concept proposal explaining the main points of their project idea. All submitted concept proposals will be competitively ranked and the top proposals will be asked to move on to phase two of the process. Phase two will involve a more detailed grant proposal to be submitted as part of the state plan to be reviewed by USDA.

According to USDA guidelines, eligible projects must solely enhance the competitiveness of specialty crops, and may focus on: research, education, consumption, trade enhancement, food safety, food security, plant pest and disease control, organic and sustainable production practices, among other opportunities. Proposals must show how the project will benefit the specialty crop industry or a segment of the industry as a whole; proposals that will profitably benefit one organization or individual will not be accepted.

Grant proposal guidelines and application information are available through NDA by calling (800) 422-6692, or e-mailing casey.foster@nebraska.gov. More information on the process can also be accessed on the NDA web site at www. nda.nebraska.gov. Additional information is also available at the USDA web site at http://www.ams.usda.gov/scbgp.

Prior to convening as Board of Equalization, Chairman Wurdeman noted the agenda said the meeting would start at 9:00 a.m. and the notice in the paper said the meeting would start at 9:15 a.m.; he asked if they needed to get legal advice to determine precedence.

Two notices were published. The first notice was published prior to the change in starting time, a second notice was published after the change. Wurdeman had not seen the second publication. (The second publication was in the March 14th edition of The Wayne Herald, page 7C)

Wayne, Nebraska March 19, 2013

The Wayne County Board of Equalization met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, March 19, 2013, in the upstairs conference room of the courthouse. Those in attendance included Chairman Wurdeman, Member Burbach, Assessor Duffy and Clerk Finn.

Advance notice was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on March 14, 2013. A current copy of the Open Meeting Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

Motion by Burbach, second by Wurdeman to approve the agenda. Roll call vote: Burbachaye, Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-absent. Motion carried.

Rabe joined the meeting at 9:02 a.m

Duffy gave an overview of permissive tax exemptions. A list of the organizations seeking exemptions, descriptions of the property, and her recommendations were kept in the assessor's office

The following recommendations were given by Duffy:

- Approve the applications submitted by Wayne Veterans Association, Bethany Cemetery Association, and Forward Wayne (Majestic Theatre).
- Deny exemptions for unused vacant lots held by churches and the Habitat for Humanity. Based on Regulation 40-005.03A and 40-005.04F: the intent to use the property in the future does not exempt the property at this time. The entities can reapply when the property is used for an exempt purpose.
- Deny the application for the Mercy Medical building held by Providence Medical Center. Duffy talked to a few people in other counties, and at the state, and most of the time a clinic is not exempt the same way a hospital is; clinics are generally taxed. The personal property tax records back to 2008 show Mercy has been paying personal property tax.

Motion by Rabe, second by Burbach to recess the meeting and convene a public hearing. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

A public hearing to review tax exemption applications and reaffirmations for real and/or tangible personal property convened at 9:15 a.m.

Those in attendance included Chairman Wurdeman, Members Burbach and Rabe, Assessor Duffy, Clerk Finn. Also in attendance were Mike Carnes representing The Wayne Herald, Laura Gamble representing Providence Medical Center, and Patty Wurdeman.

Laura Gamble stated she was there for Tom Lee. CEO of Providence Medical Center ("Providence"). They were seeking a real property tax exemption for the clinic leased to Mercy Medical Services, Inc. ("Mercy"), because Providence is a charitable foundation, and because both Providence and Mercy have a 501(c) (3) exemption.

Providence agreed on the taxable status of the clinic up until 2005, but once Mercy started a from Providence the clinic should be tax Providence and Mercy have both given a lot of charity care and feel they meet the charity care definition in both areas of the Nebraska Supreme Court case Bethesda Foundation v. County of Saunders. They are making fair market value just like everyone else, they are not benefiting more than anyone else Gamble said the Nebraska Supreme Court has stated if they used the building for charitable items or doing charitable things then it should be tax exempt. The Supreme Court also said property owned by a religious/charitable organization and leased to another entity is still tax exempt if the property is used exclusively for tax-exempt purposes. Fort Calhoun Baptist Church v. Washington County Board of Equalization.

Phil Lorenzen of D.A. Davidson & Co. provided an update on financing county road improvements. Highway allocation funds and bond issuance authority are found under Section 66-4.101. The highway allocation funds are pledged to make the payments, but actual payments could come from levied taxes. Construction authority and bond issuance authority are found under Section 39-1638 through Section 39-1655. This requires board action and permits the county to levy part of the costs as an assessment against the abutting property.

Lorenzen recommended the board create two road improvement districts and use the authority of the highway allocation funds to pave South Centennial Road and Chiefs Way. Road improvement districts can be started by board action, or a petition signed by the landowners of 25% of the area in the road improvement district. Once the scope and cost of the project is determined, a resolution needs to be proposed, a public hearing held, and the adoption process completed.

The county will not need an interlocal agreement with the City of Wayne for Chiefs Way because the city has a statutory right to extend water and sewer lines.

In closing Lorenzen recommended the board create two road improvement districts, use highway allocation funds for actual financing, but assess some of the cost back to the property owners. He noted that interest rates are currently at 1.75% for 10 yr transaction

Nebraska Public Power District Project Manager Jedd Fischer presented an update on the transmission line project from the Hoskins substation near Nucor to Neligh. A new transmission line is being proposed due to the extreme load challenges in 2012. There was plenty of generation, they just couldn't transmit it where needed. Public hearings will continue through the summer of 2013. Engineering, surveying and easement acquisition will take place from the fall of 2013 through the summer of 2015. Construction will begin in the summer of 2015 and the line will be in service in summer of 2016. Until then, NPPD is working on several smaller line upgrades and they have acquired some mobile generators to help serve the load.

Notification that Project BR-3100(1). Winside East may be scheduled for letting this spring was received from the Nebraska Department of Roads. For the project to be constructed we need to eliminate the possibility of migratory birds building nests in trees and on the existing structure. The county will keep the construction site free of migratory bird nests until the contractor is responsible for the project.

Merrill Baier requested permission for S&S Construction to trench a water line across 862nd Rd between Sections 12 & 13, T27N, R2E in ROW Application No. 13-03-01. Motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman to approve the application. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Delinguent real estate taxes were offered at public auction on March 4th as per §77-1813 The Return of Delinquent Sales Tax Proceedings submitted by Treasurer Karen McDonald listed 32 parcels were sold for a total of $57,824.60. The report will be placed on file.

Mae Greve was nominated by the senior centers in the county to complete the unexpired term of Barbara Greve on the Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging Advisory Board. Motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman to appoint Mae Greve as a Wayne County representative on the Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging Advisory Board. Roll call vote: Rabe-ave. Wurdeman aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried. The term of this appointment is through December 2013.

As per the Lodging Tax Committee's recommendation, a motion was made by Rabe, seconded by Wurdeman to approve a $1,000 grant for the WSC Rugby Tournament. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried. The tournament will be held April 7th in Wavne Sth 8 Motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman to recess for lunch at 12:02 p.m. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried. The meeting will reconvene at 1:15 p.m. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Burbach to reconvene at 1:22 p.m. Roll call vote:

he intended to resign, Wurdeman did not. The date proposed for the recall election was May 7 2013 Pattv Wurdeman "P. Wurdeman" asked and received permission to speak. She told the board they could not set a date for a recall election because the petition did not meet statute

32-1303 paragraph 4, and as such was not valid. P. Wurdeman read the following portion o paragraph 4: "The filing clerk shall certify on the papers the name of the principal circulator of circulators to whom the papers were issued and the date they were issued. No petition paper shal be accepted as part of the petition unless it bears such certificate." P. Wurdeman stated there was not a certificate on the petition papers. And if the board of commissioners accepted the petitior they would be in violation of election law

Finn stated the petitions were valid. The certificate was a separate sheet from the Secretary of State website that was completed the same way the state handles initiative and referendums Then a specific process was followed to identify and number the petitions. Finn reviewed the entire process she used with the Secretary of State's office, and it was accepted. The only way to reject the petitions was by going through court.

Burbach asked P. Wurdeman what she meant by a certificate, she stated an initial or seal on each petition paper.

Commissioner Wurdeman stated they didn't have to go through court, the Board of Commissioners could kill the petition; P. Wurdeman agreed.

Burbach contacted County Attorney Mike Pieper and was advised to set a date for the recall election. Burbach continued by saying they were looking at setting the date for May 7, 2013.

P. Wurdeman stated the county attorney needed to be at the meeting to discuss the matter She wanted to hear what he had to say, stating, "He's a county attorney, this is a county matter. think he should be here and it should be discussed." "You go against the election law you guys could be guilty of misdemeanors."

Burbach continued saying they were looking at May 7th. P. Wurdeman said that date would be in violation of statute 32-405 which sets the dates for special elections. Finn stated Statute 32-405 does not apply to recall elections. Finn added she had it in writing from the Secretary of State's office that a recall election is not considered a special election.

P. Wurdeman stated she (P. Wurdeman) was there to make sure the Election Act was followed. She stated "Anyone that has a handle on the English language and can read would see that it specifically states when a special election can be held." She proceeded by reading part of the definition of a special election and stated if the board wants to hold it at a different time ther they should take it to court saying they want the election on this date because they want to go against state statute.

Burbach tried again to set a date.

P. Wurdeman insisted that she hear what the county attorney had to say. She couldn't hear what he said on the phone and it was a public meeting.

Before County Attorney Mike Pieper could be reached by phone he joined the meeting. He asked the commissioners what their question was.

Commissioner Wurdeman asked Pieper if the board was violating the state statute P Wurdeman had previously quoted that specifically says there has to be a certification.

Pieper asked Finn if she carried out all petition requirements that she was aware of, and i a valid number of signatures existed. Finn replied yes to both questions stating Neal (Erickson) at the Secretary of States' office had called her the previous afternoon. They had reviewed her process and it was fine.

Motion by Commissioner Wurdeman not to accept the petitions until the board gets atute 32-130 cation on petition unless it bears such certificate, and none of these bear a certificate. The motion died for lack of a second Motion by Burbach to set the special election date for May 7, 2013. Rabe seconded the motion Burbach clarified his motion, he meant "recall" election, not "special" election, and then asked for any further discussion Commissioner Wurdeman stated that 32-405 specifically says any special election under the election act shall be held on the first Tuesday following the second Monday unless otherwise specifically provided Assessor Duffy recommended the application be denied because Mercy Medical had filed personal property on their equipment in Wayne and other locations, which they wouldn't do if they felt they were exempt. The second reason was unlike a hospital, Mercy has the ability to refuse to see a patient that cannot pay for their services.

No other testimony was given.

Additional discussion focused on:

- Entities can reapply for an exemption when property is used for an exempt purpose
- If an entity has a funds built into their budget to cover write-offs is the organization still considered charitable?
- Hospitals and clinics are not looked at in the same way
- Predominant use of property
- Board of Equalization determinations

Motion by Rabe, second by Burbach to close the hearing at 10:15 a.m. Roll call vote: Rabeaye; Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Rabe, second by Burbach to approve the exemption application submitted by Bethany Cemetery Association for Parcel ID #80007.00. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Rabe, second by Burbach to approve the exemption application submitted by Forward Wayne dba Majestic Theatre for Parcel ID #2713.00, #4143.00, and #4144.00 because the property is a theatre and used for school film studies. Roll call vote: Rabe-ave, Burbach-ave, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Burbach, second by Rabe to deny the continued exemption request submitted by Grace Lutheran Church for Parcel ID #80188.01 because the property is a vacant lot. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Rabe, second by Burbach to deny the continued exemption request submitted by Norfolk Area Habitat for Humanity for Parcel ID #4673.01 because the property is a vacant lot. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Rabe, second by Burbach to deny the continued exemption request submitted by Norfolk Area Habitat for Humanity for Parcel ID #2872.00 because the property is a vacant lot. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Burbach, second by Rabe to deny the exemption application submitted by Providence Medical Center for Parcel ID #8080.00 because of Duffy's research and the property is primarily used as a clinic. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried. Motion by Rabe, second by Burbach to deny the continued exemption request submitted by St Paul's Lutheran Church for Parcel ID #80246.00 because the property is a vacant lot. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Burbach, second by Rabe to deny the continued exemption request submitted by The United Methodist Church at Carroll because the property is a vacant lot. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Rabe, second by Burbach to approve the exemption application submitted by Wayne Veterans Association for Parcel 80121.00 because it is used primarily for flag storage and supplies. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Motion by Rabe, second by Burbach to adjourn at 10:27 a.m. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-aye; motion carried.

Debra Finn, Wayne County Clerk

Wayne, Nebraska March 19, 2013

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, March 19, 2013, in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse. Roll call was taken and those in attendance included Chairman Burbach, Members Rabe and Wurdeman, and Clerk

Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on March 7, 2013.

A current copy of the Open Meeting Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

The agenda was approved.

Motion by Rabe to approve the minutes. Wurdeman stated there was an error in the closing of the meeting. Burbach had left the meeting shortly after Finn, and was not present to vote on the motion.

Patty Wurdeman, a member of the public, questioned why a deputy clerk was not present to take minutes after Finn left. Commissioner Wurdeman responded there was no further business they just didn't make a motion to adjourn until they were in the clerk's office.

Burbach read the "Citizens Comments" guidelines from the agenda.

The motion to approve the minutes died for lack of a second.

The minutes of the March 5, 2013 meeting were corrected to read "There being no further business, Finn left the meeting at 3:38 p.m.; Burbach left the meeting shortly after. The meeting was adjourned on motion by Wurdeman, second by Rabe at 3:56 p.m. Rabe asked for roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-absent; motion carried."

Motion by Wurdeman, second by Rabe to approve the corrected minutes. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye, Rabe-absent.

Rabe joined the meeting at 1:25 p.m.

Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz reported Wayne has been selected to host a National rch and Rescue class tentatively set for April 7-11 of 2014. The State of Nebraska had some concerns with our hosting it since it has never been done in Nebraska before so they thought Omaha or Lincoln would be a better location. Kemnitz said he will work with the area chamber economic development and the college to do our best to host the class. There will be about 35 people coming in for a week, which includes 24 attendees and support staff. The Air Force selects the attendees for this class; they will include military and a few state and local agency representatives.

Burbach reported he had contacted Joel Hansen at the City of Wayne about sharing a Flood Plain Administrator; a joint meeting to discuss sharing an administrator will be scheduled.

Veterans Service Officer Brad Wieland will request a representative from each of the Carroll, Wayne and Winside Veterans Clubs meet with the Veterans Memorial Committee to discuss the avenue of flags project. Wieland is proposing the current poles be removed, and eight new poles (four on each side) with cranks be installed. The Clubs and Memorial Committee will be asked to pay for the eight new poles, estimated at $3,000 - $4,000, and the county to pay for the cement to put the new poles Wurdeman reported Toni Hytrek is willing to keep the lawn mowing charge the same as bid in 2012. He discussed the stick pick-up charges with Hytrek. If she has 5-6 people picking up sticks for fifteen minutes it is not a big deal, but if it is a 1/2 hour she is losing. Hytrek also noted it shouldn't take as long to pick up sticks this year because the sticks were picked up last year rather than being mowed over.

A one-year extension of the 2012 bid submitted by Hytrek Lawn Service for fertilizing/weed control and lawn mowing of the courthouse and social services lawns, and a one-year extension of the 2012 bid submitted by Claussen & Sons for spring & fall sprinkler system service were approved on motion by Wurdeman, second by Rabe. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye. Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Burbach reported Final Touch measured last week and is preparing estimates for both carpet and tile for elevator access areas

Jerry Conradt, a member of the Wayne Municipal Airport Authority, came before the board in an unofficial capacity to invite the commissioners to set in on their meetings. The airport has been extremely sufficient in covering its own expenses and is very well managed. The goal is to make the Wayne Municipal Airport Authority a Northeast Nebraska regional airport. Conradt would like to open communication and see what the thoughts are for the future of a municipal airport county facility. He thought the best way to start was by extending an invitation to have someone set in on their meetings and learn what they are doing and why. This would not be a position with voting rights, but an opportunity to report information back to the board of commissioners.

On a different point of discussion, Conradt stated he represents a company that offers free cell service for law enforcement officers. As of February 4th Verizon changed their marketing strategy and they are now allowing his company to resell to Verizon customers. The company Conradt works for uses the same towers, equipment ,and signals as Verizon. If the county is interested he would be willing to assist.

Burbach reported on the bids opened during the March 5th meeting for a 42,000 pound hydraulic excavator

- The Case CX160C was the cheapest with a net bid of $134,900. It did not meet minimum operating weight bid specifications.
- The Hitachi ZX180LC-5 has 123 hours on it with a net bid of $141,301. It did not meet minimum operating weight bid specifications, and with the hours already on the unit it was not worth the $10,000 difference between it and the John Deere
- The John Deere 180G LC could be custom ordered, the net bid was $151,034. Burbach felt it was the better buy for the county rather than spending another $22,000 for a Caterpillar.
- Burbach wanted to finance the purchase of the John Deere over three years

Motion by Wurdeman, second by Rabe to accept the bid of $151,034.00 for a John Deere 180G LC submitted by Murphy Tractor and Equipment of Sioux City, IA. Roll call vote: Wurdemanave. Rabe-ave. Burbach-ave: motion carried.

Kim Hansen appeared before the board to discuss the cleaning service in the courthouse. There is no consistency in the work performed, and they are not meeting the job description they bid. Other companies might be interested if we put it out for bid again.

The board agreed it is a difficult building to clean, and regardless of who is hired there will be complaints. Everyone starts out doing a great job, but the building eventually becomes overwhelming.

Patty Wurdeman questioned why all the lights are on in the building while the cleaning work is done, she recommended they do just one floor at a time.

The board will consider bidding cleaning service since it has been four years since it was last bid. Hansen will ask the offices to review the cleaning job description and bring an updated description to the April 2nd meeting.

Hansen also reported that someone had slipped on the stairs but it was not a result of wet conditions.

The county still has not recovered the $1,700.00 deposit made to Nores on the original stair tread order last summer. Nores is no longer in business. Hansen is trying to find out if the county's money was forwarded to the manufacturer of the treads (Mohawk) or stayed with Nores. Hansen will talk to Mike Pieper to determine what action can be taken.

Wurdeman told the board he no longer had a conflict with the April 16th meeting so there was no need to reschedule. however, he would have a conflict with the May 7th meeting Rescheduling of the May 7th meeting will be placed on the April 2nd agenda.

Before setting a date for the Kelvin Wurdeman recall election Burbach asked Wurdeman if Finn responded that statute 32-405 does not apply to recall elections, but if he wanted May 14th that was fine.

Burbach made a motion to amend his motion from May 7th to May 14th, Rabe seconded that motion. There was no additional discussion. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye, Wurdemannay because of violation of statute. Motion carried.

The motion as amended was to set a recall election for Kelvin Wurdeman for May 14, 2013 Burbach asked for additional discussion.

Scott Jackson asked to speak, his request was denied by Burbach. Commissioner Wurdeman and P. Wurdeman challenged the denial. As per the "Citizens Comments" guidelines read at the beginning of the meeting, the public can speak only if recognized by the Chairman Jackson had not been recognized.

There was no further discussion. Roll call vote: Burbach-aye, Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-nay citing violation of 32-1303, paragraph 4 and stating the board was willingly and knowingly violating election law. Motion carried, the recall election for Kelvin Wurdeman was set for May 14, 2013.

Wurdeman told Pieper about Jerry Conradt's invitation to have a county representative attend the meetings of the Wayne Municipal Airport Authority. Wurdeman's concern was if the county accepted an ex-officio seat it would be the first step for them to try and get county tax dollars. Pieper suggested the board table action pending further information.

Burbach announced Noxious Weed Superintendent Marlin Schuttler will be retiring the end of March or April. The commissioners preferred Schuttler retire the end of April so he could attend the 2-day training the beginning of April, and share that information while training his replacement Schuttler requested a Weed Board member and county commissioner assist in verifying the weed department's inventory prior to his retirement.

Motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman to adjourn the meeting at 3:54 p.m. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.
