Longtime band director ready to take a bow

After 27 years at Wayne High School, Weber is set to retire

By CLARA OSTEN Of the Herald

With regrets, the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education accepted the resignation of long-time high school band director Brad Weber at Monday's board meeting.

Weber is retiring after teaching at Wayne High School for nearly 30 years.

Following the acceptance of Weber's resignation, the board approved the hiring of Marcus Brown as the band instructor for the coming year.

Superintendent Mark Lenihan and Wayne High Principal Mark Hanson explained to the board the interview process and selection of Brown. There were 21 applicants for the position, from throughout Nebraska and other states. Five of these applicants were interviewed.

Hanson told the board that Brown comes with very good recommendations and is well-qualified." Brown has experience with the Waverly school district and several Lincoln and Omaha schools, where he worked with the percussion section of the and eighth grade) and Terri Hypse and Syliva Ruhl bands.

Travis Meyer, head of maintenance for the school, spoke to the board on maintenance projects for the summer.

He noted that his department intends to complete a number of general cleaning projects that were not completed last summer due to construction in both the elementary and high school.

In addition, plans call for the removal of the asbestos at the former elementary school building and the demolition of that building. At that point, the Kern track concession stand will need to be resupplied with electricity and water.

Also scheduled for this summer is work on the steps at the west entrance to the high school building and plumbing in the boys' locker room.

During Monday's meeting, a Language Arts presentation was given by four members of the teaching staff.

Liz Garvin (third grade), MaryAnn Lutt (seventh (high school) each spoke to the board on what is being taught at the respective grade levels, including writing skills, communications skills and various types of reading activities.

The board also listened to a report from Superintendent Lenihan on pay changes for cooks and paraprofessionals, due to the changes in the amount of time they will be allowed to work. The changes are the result of the Affordable Health Care Act. Pay raises ranging from 75 cents to $1.75 per hour will be given to the 24 individuals affected by the change.

During the new business portion of the meeting, the board voted to approve the salary schedule for these employees for the 2013-2014 school year.

The board will next meet in regular session on Monday, May 12 at 5 p.m. at the Junior-Senior High School Library.

WSC turf funding moving toward goal

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

Officials from Wayne State College who are working on the school's $1.2 million athletic facilities project are moving toward the goal line and look to be in position to get the project started this summer.

In fact, once the bid is awarded this week, it won't be long before dirt is removed from Memorial Stadium to prepare for the installation of an artificial turf surface that will be ready to go for the Wildcats' football bring in another 25 percent of the project's home opener this September.

Almost a fourth of the $1.2 million that

The college is getting a $155,000 athletic facility grant from the state that will be used toward the project. The college is requiring the use of recycled crumb rubber for the infill for the new turf surface, and a grant for the use of recycled rubber could cost if the school gets the grant.

"We have some other grant applications needs to be raised for the entire project has out there, and now we're rolling out the public phase for individual donors, so we feel like we're in good shape," Powicki said. The contract for the athletic facilities See TURF, Page 3A

Hail of a storm

Mother Nature just can't seem to decide what season it should be. After beautiful springtime temperatures on Monday, the weather around town Tuesday turned wintry once again, leading to a hailstorm that dumped more than two inches of frozen precipitation on the area. The weather forecast continues to look cold and dreary until the weekend, when it is believed that springtime may finally hang around.

Wayne native excited for fourth season of 'The Walking Dead'

By MICHAEL CARNES Of The Herald

Emily Kinney is still alive on "The Walkng Dead."

The Wayne High graduate found out recently that her character, Beth Greene, will be back for another season on the AMC network's hit drama series about zombies and the end of the world, which begins its fourth season this October.

The show is based in and around Atlanta, Ga., at a time when a virus has caused dead people to turn into zombie-like creatures who attack humans and eat their flesh.

Kinney's character has been a background character, taking care of Rick's baby after the death of his wife, Lori. Beth nearly committed suicide in the show's second season, but has become part of the main group that is trying to survive the ongoing zombie attack.

"The character started out more in the background, but once in a while she would get moments to pen up, and the audience gets to hear her voice a bit," Kinney said in an e-mail interview with The Wayne Herald. "She's more a part of the main group and is now a part of the main action in that group's survival.'

She did have a chance to shine on the show this past season, including a scene during one episode where she sang the Tom Waits song, "Hold on." She found out about her voice and thoughts."

her character's status earlier this year and is excited to be able to continue in that role.

"I learned from my agent a couple months ago that becoming a series regular was a possibility," she said. "I'm excited to explore more of what Beth is going through, and I'm excited for the audience to hear more of

A 2002 Wayne High graduate, Kinney has a number of TV credits under her belt already, including roles on "Law & Order: Criminal Intent," "Law & Order: SVU," "The Good Wife" and "The Big C.'

Getting an opportunity to be a key element in a show's ongoing success, though, has been a big moment in her life.

"I feel happy to be working on something that I love," she said. "I feel like I've worked hard and taken a lot of chances, but I also feel like I've been extremely lucky in that, so far, the right projects have found me. I hope I keep working on fun things like this."

Shooting for the fourth season of the show begins in May and will continue into the late fall. The fourth season of the show will begin in October.

Kinney has also found some opportunities in film and music, as well as working with her manager on developing a television pilot program. She is in a movie called 'Concussion" that was well-received at the recent Sundance Film Festival and is recording songs for her second album, "Expired Love," which is the follow-up to her first EP, "Blue Toothbrush," that was recorded a couple of years ago.

"I absolutely love songwriting and spend a lot of time doing that," she said. "I write poetry and songs, and we've sung at different venues around New York City. We also did a show at the Hotel Cafe in Los Angeles during the break that was a lot of fun."

The place isn't in business anymore, but there used to be a beauty shop on Main Street across from the Grace Lutheran Church where Rae Stewart, owner of Tangles salon, was once employed.

It was her first job in Wayne, actually.

The shop was called Smart Set, and if there's anything about it that Stewart remembers, it includes the two tanning beds that went over like hotcakes.

"It was just insane," Stewart said.

Energy Efficiency

Wayne Power Plant has just converted our generator cooling system from the old steel radiators that required outside water to be heated all winter.

Gene Hansen and his crew worked through last summer to be ready for this summer season. The old cooling system was designed only to dissipate heat when power plants ran around the clock. The new system drains the coolant underground when the plant isn't running.

College radio station to host 24-hour remote

One in four people are affected by sexual assault or domestic violence in some form, and in the United States 1.3 women are forcibly raped each minute.

These statistics, though bleak, have caught the attention of one particular group of students at Wavne State College.

The WSC radio station, KWSC FM 91.9 The Cat, is holding its annual 24-Hour Remote to raise money for Haven House, an organization that brings awareness for sexual assault and domestic violence.

"The 24-Hour Remote is 91.9 The Cat's contribution to charity," General Manager Jason Geu said. "We donate our time and skills to help get donations for Haven House.'

91.9 The Cat has been hosting their charitable remote for almost 15 years, according to Geu. This year the remote will take place from noon on Thursday, April 18 until noon on Friday, April 19.

During the 24-Hour Remote, DJs on The Cat will be stationed at various locations in Wayne informing about Haven House and asking for donations for the organization. DJs will be located at Pac 'N' Save from noon to 10 p.m., downtown outside The Max from 7 p.m. until 2 a.m. and at Wayne East for all 24 hours. Members of the radio staff will also be visiting businesses in town and "dorm storming" on campus on Wednesday, April 17 or during remote hours.

dreds of people have benefited from, and used, the building in the last century.

The Carnegie Library, located in the 400 block of Main Street, served the community from 1913 (although a library existed in the community since 1902) until the present building was opened in 1997.

Since that time, the former library has been used by Our Savior Lutheran Church for various vouth activities, including the After School program for young children.

In observance of the building's 100th anniversary, and in conjunction with National Library Week, April 14-20, the following information is being printed in this week's Herald.

TAKEN FROM THE NEBRASKA DEMOCRAT APRIL 10, 1913

THE NEW LIBRARY BUILDING

One of the Prettiest Carnegie Libraries in the West Now Open to the Public. A Monument to the Faithful Women Workers of Our City.

Several citizens of Wayne who have had an active part in the good work of establishing the library in Wayne tell of the new building: (By Mrs. Elsie Littell)

In April 1910, the library board, which had been appointed by the Mavor, Mr. Henry Ley, held its first meeting in the basement of the Baptist church. After organizing, the board immediately set to work to secure a public library for the city.

In order to accomplish this it was necessary to persuade the city council to levy a two-mill tax for maintaining a public library. At that time two mills were the maximum levy for such purposes. Accordingly a petition was circulated among the tax payers of the city and presented to the council. The levy was gladly made.

Immediately steps were taken by the board to secure a suitable site for a library building. After considering the available lots, the board decided upon the lot north of the Baptist church. The sum of $850 was paid for this lot, the money being raised by subscriptions taken in the town.

After the lot was secured the matter of getting a Carnegie library building was undertaken. During the next six months progress was slow as Mr. Carnegie was in Scotland. He also changed his private secretary during the time Wayne was negotiating with him. However, this delay proved a blessing in dis- ries. With a two and onehalf mills levy, Wayne could guarantee $1000 a year for maintaining a public library. Therefore, we were entitled to $10,000 from the Carnegie library fund. Also during this period of delay, the commercial club decided that it would be a fine thing to have more ground around the library for parking purposes. Accordingly the club purchased the lot north of the one selected by the library board and after closing the alley between the two lots presented it to the city. This made a beautiful

(By E. J. Huntemer)

To the student of public buildings, the public library building is an architect's ideal in reality. Limited as the designer of this building was by the quality of construction demanded, and the amount of money to be expended, he produced a structure of which the people of Wayne can be justly proud. From a standpoint of architectural beauty it is so new and original in design as to attract and hold the attention of everyone. It is a complete idea in itself. Every part so harmonizes that it presents the most pleasing appearance.

As to construction, space permits mention of only a few of its many features. The entire basement wall below the grade is one solid block of concrete, with a footing sufficient to beautiful it may be, does not make sustain the weight of a four story building. The entire floor is cemented under the regular oak and maple floor of the lower rooms. thing that one notices is the color scheme of the ceilings and walls. color work. The heavy mission wood work and furniture were especially built for this building, from the architects detail drawings. Every part was planned by the designer, from the doors and book-cases to the picture mould.

The heating plant is the Ideal hot water system. The heated water rises to the attic and then descends through the radiators of the library room and then on down through the radiators of the lecture room and back to the furnace. The entire system of electric lights is controlled individually from giving the building the final touch of beauty.

All credit is due J. H. Foster & season building for their home town this splendid edifice. It was they who really made this "architect's ideal in reality."

(By the State Librarian)

Of course the Wayne people do not need anyone to tell them that their library building is beautiful of it, but perhaps the word of praise from an outsider whose business is libraries will strengthen them in their satisfaction in it. The Wayne library is, to my mind, the exemplification of what the library in the small town should be. It is only in these days of the grace of Andrew Carnegie that small towns have been building libraries and it has taken us some time to realize that the small library is not to be just the big city library cut down. The small library should express simplicity, hospitality, friendliness and dignity, which are, or should be, the essential features of small town life. and all these you have in your library with its harmonious proportions, its lack of any "show features," its convenient arrangement, and in the beautiful materials and good workmanship used.

But a library building, however a successful library: it must have shelves filled with the best books and people to use them; for the gloginning has been made in the book collection and now that the struggle-The roof is the standard of excel- for-existence stage has been passed, lence. project is expected to be awarded later this week, and construction crews are expected to begin work the week after graduation exercises are held in Memorial Stadium in early May. Graduation is moving from its traditional site in the Willow Bowl to the stadium, due to delays in getting sod planted in the Willow Bowl.

"The bids all came in this past Friday, and we have to award the bid this week because of the time table," Powicki said. "The contractors know it needs to be done by Aug. 1, so that we can be ready for fall camp in mid-August."

Powicki said there shouldn't be any problems getting the football field ready for the Wildcats' first home game the second week of September, but the soccer field will need to have sod in place by the middle of July in order for the team to be able to practice and prepare for its first home game on Sept. 8.

"The artificial surface will get done in time, and the big concern now is getting the soccer pitch sod in place and have it set," Powicki said. The sod needs to be down 45 days with no activity on it for things to take root, so we'll need to get it down there in mid-July so it has time to settle.'

Dirt that will be removed from Memorial Stadium for the new turf will be moved over to the soccer field, which will be widened to NCAA regulations. Powicki said there are fields the soccer team could use to practice if the field is not ready in time, but he hopes that won't be an issue.

"Our schedules are in place based on a two-facility system," he said. "The new football field will be lined for soccer, and while we could play there, we aren't looking at that as an option right now. The contractors know we need all of this to be done by the first of August so we can be ready for competition in late August and early September.'

Powicki said there are plans to put a timelapse camera in the press box at Memorial Stadium so that fans can see the stadium's progress throughout what should be an exciting summer.

"There's going to be a lot of activity going on," he said. "It's a pretty tight time table, and one project is going to depend on the next. It's exciting, but stressful, and we're excited about getting it going.'

"I've got quite a few that've followed me," she said. "It makes me feel good."

In fact, one of her clients moved to Minnesota, came back to visit and while he was here, stopped at Tangles for a haircut.

"I love the small town," Stewart said.

Which is exactly what Wayne is. It's a place where everyone knows everyone, and if you're a business owner like Stewart, and you don't know the answer to a customer's question, you can direct him or her down the street to someone who does

"People keep it local," she said. And Stewart, interestingly, keeps it basic.

From The Bleachers Michael Carnes

Special play is a special NU moment

It's spring, which means that the thoughts of young men turn to more serious pursuits – such as a springtime purging of the "Bits and Pieces" file:

- As a lifelong fan of Nebraska football, I always look forward to the Spring Game and the optimism that comes with watching the incoming talent showing us what they've got on the field.

This year, though, I'm very concerned. The offense usually doesn't show off a whole lot in this game, and the defense is usually ahead of the offense in terms of execution.

With all of that in mind – what does it say to the team's hopes for success in 2013 when the team's leading rusher is a 7-year-old, and that young man actually scored on a 69-yard touchdown run?

I mean . . . if the Blackshirts can't stop a little boy dealing with cancer, how can we expect them to slow down Iowa's running backs this November? (OK . . . maybe we should be more worried about the other 11 teams on the schedule, rather than those patsies in Iowa City. But I digress . . .)

All kidding aside, the play of the day at Saturday's Spring Game was seeing little Jack Hoffman taking the handoff from Taylor Martinez, going left, then cutting back to his right and following his blockers on the way to a touchdown late in the game.

It's pretty cool when a football program of such elite status can take a moment to give a sick boy like little Jack an opportunity to have his day in the sun. He's been battling cancer and is in the middle of a series of tough chemo treatments, but was on the sideline in his Rev Burkhead jersey (he and Rex have struck up a friendship through connections made during Burkhead's time at Nebraska) and thoroughly enjoyed running the play the coaches designed just for him.

BEEMER – Laurel-Concord/ Coleridge and Wayne brought home the championship and runner-up trophies on a cold and windy day at Indian Trails Country Club.

The Bears edged the Blue Devils by two shots to take top honors at the West Point-Beemer Invitational, the first big meet of the year for all the area schools.

LCC was led by Mitch Klooz, the two-time defending Class C state champion who transferred to Laurel from Plainview over the summer. He wasn't in top form on Saturday, struggling with the cold and wind and finishing the day with an 81, good for third-place overall. His effort was enough, though, to help the Bears edge the Blue Devils in the final team standings.

It was one of those moments that left no doubt about the old saving there is NO place like Nebraska.

- Time to get your groan on for this story: a minor league baseball team is giving fans a chance to enjoy the game, even in the men's room.

The Lehigh Valley IronPigs, a minor league team in the Philadelphia Phillies' system, is debuting what is called a "urinal gaming system" at their ballpark in Allentown, Pa.

The system includes a video display mounted above the urinal. When one of the guys steps up, the video console senses his presence and switches into gaming mode, and the guy can control the action while he – shall we say – goes potty.

Team officials said they looked upon this new system as a, ahem, golden opportunity. He believes the new system is – and I'm quoting here – "sure to make a huge splash." Just make sure you wash your hands after you complete Level 3.

- If you're a fan of any team other than the New York Yankees, this item will certainly make your day.

The New York Post reported recently that New York Yankees fans who were searching for tickets on Google were being directed to an old team web page with an 800 number to purchase tickets.

When you call the number, though, you're not going to be talking to an operator about box seats along the third base line . . . you'll be talking to a company that calls itself "America's hottest talk line."

Thaaaaat's right, boys and girls – the old Yankees ticket phone number is now the home to an adult chat line, where people can hook up for anonymous dates that lead to – well, you know. Women can call the number for free, while guys get a five-minute free trial before they have to pay for the service.

A spokesperson for the Yankees said the phone number was temporarily used for seat relocations a few years ago. Considering the way the Yankees' season has started, they might want to have a couple of players make a few phone calls to the old number.

Wayne nipped in Werner Park duel

The Wayne High baseball team had the kind of week that might hits during Wayne's early explofrustrate some coaches.

On Friday, the Blue Devils cranked out a season-high 15 runs, but couldn't hang on to a nine-run lead as Norfolk was able to come back and win a high-scoring 16-15 battle at Memorial Field in Norfolk.

The following day, Wayne's pitching and defense was solid in their matchup with No. 7-ranked Blair, but couldn't generate the timely hit down the stretch and lost a 2-1 game at Werner Park in Omaha.

The Blue Devils appeared to be on their way to a big win over a Class A school on Friday, but the bottom fell out of Wayne's pitching and defense, turning a 14-5 advantage midway through the game into a Panther comeback win.

"Any time you score seven or eight runs, you'd think you'd win, and we scored 15," coach Adam Hoffman said. "But you also have five RBI's. Danny Melena and Jake to pitch and play defense, and we weren't able to do that."

Wayne jumped on Norfolk for two runs in the first, then scored four Rethwisch both added hits. times in each of the next three innings to take a 14-5 advantage.

Curtis Moeller had a couple of big sion, He had an RBI double in the third inning, then had a two-run hit in the fourth to help Wayne to its nine-run advantage.

After that, it was all Norfolk. They scored 14 runs in their final five frames, including a four-run effort in the bottom of the seventh that completed the comeback.

"We left too many 0-2 pitches out over the plate, and they hit the ball well and made the plays they needed to," Hoffman said. "We're up 14-5 (in the fourth) and have a chance to go on to the win, and we just couldn't make the plays when we needed to. And it doesn't matter who you play, if you give teams extra outs, they're going to make you pay.'

Moeller had a great night at the plate in a losing effort, finishing with four of Wayne's 11 hits and Lutt each had two hits and two RBI's, Bradley Longe added an RBI triple and Drew Carroll and Luke competed and improved their outcomes during the Upper Iowa Invitational, held Sunday and Monday in Moravia, Iowa.

Freshman Zandria Cole shot a State women's team in the final round Monday. As a team, the Wildcats shot rounds of 375 and 367 to finish the 36 hole event in 10th place at 742.

Cole, a freshman from Grand Island, led Wayne State both days with scores of 87 and 83 for a 170 total. The 83 score by Cole was the best from a Wayne State women's golfer since 2010, when Paige Barry shot 83 at the UNO Invite.

The next finisher for the Wildcats was Sarah Phinney with a 187 (89-98), followed by Wayne native Taylor Burke at 188 with rounds of 98 and 90. The other Wildcat golfer was Morgan Jones, who carded rounds of 101 and 96 for a 197 total. O'Neill sophomore Blake Bauer fired a four-under-par round of 68 in the final round Monday to lead the Wavne State men's team at the Upper Iowa Invite. As a team, the Wildcats shot season-best rounds of 311 and 307 to finish ninth with a 36-hole team score of 618.

Bauer posted the top Wildcat score with a one-under par 143 over 36 holes with rounds of 75 and 68 to tie for sixth place overall. The 143 score is tied for the second-best ever score in a 36 hole event by a Wildcat men's golfer, and his round of 68 on Monday is also the second-

www.mywaynenews.com Wildcats lead NSIC in softball standings

Wayne State's softball team continued to play well in the early going of conference play, sweeping three doubleheaders this past week. On Wednesday, the Wildcats pounded out 26 hits in a sweep of Upper Iowa in their home opener at the Chapman Complex, winning 13-5 and 7-3.

In the first game, Wayne State trailed 4-0 going into the bottom of the third, but the bats woke up in a big way as the Wildcats erupted for six runs, highlighted by Vicki Nielsen's grand slam home run.

The Peacocks cut the two-run deficit in half, but another six-run effort in the fifth helped Wayne State put the game away. Sam O'Brien hit a two-run homer and Kylee Simpson added a two-run single for the big hits in the fifth inning.

Simpson was 3-for-3 and Lexie Loos was 3-for-4 to lead a 14-hit attack. Nielsen had two hits in the win and scored twice. Cassy Miller got the win in relief of Kelcie Bormann, striking out seven in 4 1/3 innings of work.

In the second game, Wayne State broke the game open with four runs in the fourth inning, highlighted by RBI singles from Bormann, Nielsen and Kaiti Williams.

That was more than enough for Sara Scheffert, who allowed seven hits and struck out six to get the win in the circle. Miller came on in relief for the second time and got the save. Williams had three hits, while Nielsen, Loos and Jordan King each had two hits.

The Wildcats were the visiting team at home over the weekend, as doubleheaders with Bemidji State and Minnesota Crookston were moved to Wayne, due to bad field conditions in Minnesota.

The Wildcats took care of the "host" Bemidji State on Saturday, winning 3-2 and 2-0, thanks to the hitting of King, who went 3-for-7 at the plate and scored three runs in the twinbill win.

In the opener, King scored on a Kaiti Williams single in the top of the ninth to break a 2-2 tie and give Wavne State the win.

Wayne State scored single runs in the second and third innings, and added three insurance runs in the sixth to come away with the win. Brandon Lalk's two-run homer was the key hit in the sixth inning. The Wildcats had seven hits while holding BSU to three in the win. Justin Beranek finished 2 for 3 with an RBI while Lalk's homer was the lone extra-base hit for Wayne State. Blake Brisson singled to extend his hit streak to 14 games while Tanner Lancaster, Michael Herman and C.J. Nolen also had hits. In the nightcap, eight different starters recorded hits to highlight a 12-hit attack. Wayne State took an early 3-0 lead in the first, thanks to an RBI triple from Beranek, an RBI double by Herman and a run-scoring single from Nolen. Brett Keim's solo homer in the second gave the Wildcats a 4-0 lead. Bemidji State scored a run in the third, but the Wildcats scored three runs to grab a 7-1 lead. Herman led Wayne State at the plate with two doubles, going 2-for-4 with three RBI's. Kreft also doubled twice while going 2-for-4 with a run scored. LCC, Allen Krumwiede

HOMER - Both Allen and Laurel-Concord/Coleridge came away with some good results Friday during the Krumwiede Invitational at Homer High School.

The LCC girls claimed runnerup honors in the 10-team meet and finished the day with six first-place finishes.

Ellie Arduser won a pair of individual events, taking top honors in the 200-meter dash and the triple jump. Sadie Petersen was also a double-winner, winning both of the distance events. Audra Corbit claimed top honors in the high jump, and the 400-meter relay team ran away with first-place honors in the meet.

The Lady Bears also got runnerup finishes from Sammie Camenzind in the 400 and Arduser in the 100 to finish with 81 points, second to Oakland-Craig's 104-point effort.

The Allen girls won the 3.200-meter relay to highlight their sixthplace finish on the day. Candice Rastede, Cortney Reuter, Rachel Finnegan, Lexi Oswald and Vanessa Klug earned individual medals for the Lady Eagles, and they also scored in the 400 and 1,600 relays.

The LCC boys finished sixth and the Allen boys were eighth out of 11 boys teams at the meet.

Justin Saunders earned three individual medals on the day to lead the LCC boys. He won the 400-meter dash in a time of 54.0 seconds, and also finished fifth in the 200 and the shot put.

Aaron Haahr was a double medalists individually for the Bears, taking third in the 3,200-meter run and finishing fourth in the 1,600-meter run.

Brian Boese led the Allen boys with a pair of individual medals. He finished fifth in both the long jump and the 300-meter hurdles. Krumwiede Invitational

Wayne girls finish third, boys take compete at fifth at Wisner Lions Club Invite

The Wayne High track and field teams brought home a number of medals and finished well in the Wisner Lions Club Invitational on Saturday at Wisner-Pilger High School.

In varsity action, the Wayne High girls finished third overall and had two individual champions, while the boys were fifth and had one individual champion on the day.

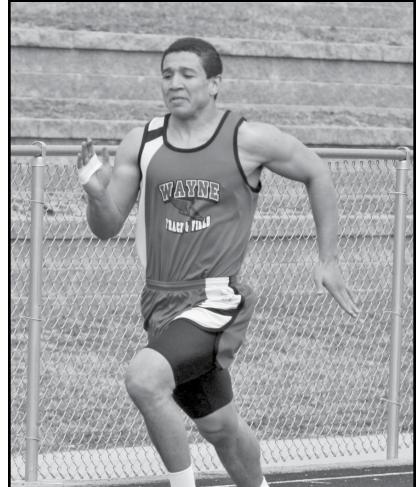

Senior Sarah Maxson led a 1-2 finish in the girls high jump, as she was followed by teammate Ashton Schweers in the event. Angie Nelson also won a first-place medal in the 3,200-meter run, part of a fourmedal day for her that included a second in the 800, a fourth in the 1,600 and a third as part of the 1,600-meter relay with Cassie Heier, Meagan Backer and Maxson.

The 400-meter relay of Jalyn Zeiss, Backer, Heier and McKenna Frevert also brought home a silver medal with their runner-up finish. The Blue Devils finished behind North Bend and Guardian Angels Central Catholic in the 10-team meet.

Backer and Zeiss finished fourth and sixth, respectively, in the 100, while Backer added a fifth in the 200. Heier and Maxson were fourth and fifth in the 400. Victoria Kranz was fifth in the 100 hurdles.

In field events, Heier was fifth in the triple jump, Lexi Sokol was third in the shot put and Bailey Bentjen and Paige Wacker were fourth and fifth, respectively, in the discus.

On the boys side of the ledger, Grant Anderson was the lone winner of the day, taking top honors in the high jump. He also medaled as a member of the fourth-place

PEO Chapter conducts April meeting

WAYNE - Chapter AZ of P.E.O. met at the home of Jill Sweetland on April 2. Assisting hostesses were Amy Bowers, Sarah Boyer, and Jill Walling.

President Marie Mohr appointed the following committee to select a recipient for the Bressler scholarship for 2013-2014 - Gerrie Christensen, Diane Pieper, Jason Barelman and Lucille Peterson. They will work with the Wayne State Financial Aid Office and the Wayne State Foundation. The Bressler family has established this scholarship to honor the memory of Helen Bressler who was a member of Chapter AZ for 75 years.

Jilll Sweetland will represent Chapter AZ at the state convention in June.

Sarah Boyer presented an interesting program about her experiences in publishing two books she had written. "Follow a Certain Path" and "Follow My Lead" may be found on Amazon.com. "Follow My Lead" is in Kindle format.

The next meeting of Chapter AZ will be held on April 16 in the home of Kris Giese.

Wieland accepted into RHOP program at WSC

Dillon Wieland of Wayne has been accepted for the physician's assistant portion of the Rural Health Opportunities Program (RHOP) at Wayne State College.

Wieland is the son of Brad Wieland and Patty Wieland.

"The need for rural health professionals continues to grow," said Dr. David Peitz of Wayne State College. "These students have proven themselves to be gifted and dedicated to their profession. They have displayed the potential to develop into strong community leaders."

RHOP is a cooperative effort between Wavne State and the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) and encourages students from rural areas of Nebraska to return to rural settings after graduation to pursue their career. Individuals selected obtain guaranteed admission to UNMC Colleges upon successful completion of studies at WSC and receive a full-tuition waiver at WSC.

Areas of study under the program include clinical laboratory sciences; medicine; nursing; pharmacy; physical therapy; physician assistant; dental hygiene; radiography; and dentistry.

Dillon Wieland

A shortage of rural health practitioners in Nebraska prompted higher education institutions to implement the RHOP program in 1989. Selection of candidates is based on an applicant's residency in a rural Nebraska community, academic potential and commitment to practice in rural Nebraska.

Winside high school students participate in ecology field trip to Omaha zoo, aquarium

Sixteen students from Mr. Sok's senior advanced biology class at Winside High School participated in an ecology field trip to the Henry Doorly Zoo in Omaha and the Ak-Sar-Ben Aquarium in Gretna recently.

The students left bright and early and arrived at the zoo. They were able to take in some of the sights during the first hour, then viewed and IMAX presentation on dinosaurs and fossil recovery.

After this, the students viewed a variety of areas in the zoo, and then had lunch at the Tree Top Restaurant.

After lunch the students participated in a discussion on amphibian populations. Zoo curator, Julie Anderson lead an hour long view into a variety of zoo projects and international concerns about declining populations. This was followed by a question and answer session, which lead into a group activity centered on the Chytrid Fungus problem facing countless amphibian populations around the world. The group spent a half an hour developing graphs and answering questions centered around a couple of scenarios

After the zoo experience, the group then slipped over to the Ak-Sar-Ben Aquarium near Gretna. Park Ranger Tony Korth set up an up-front and behind-the-scenes tour of the facility.

He started with an ecological view of a typical pond and presented a variety of amphibian and reptile species. Mr. Korth then took the students around for an in-depth discussion on the majority of Nebraska fishes (safe to say fishes when you are talking about a variety of fish species). The aquarium tour then finished with a view of the behind the scene workings with bait fish areas and spare aquatic specimen for the park.

This is the 32nd year that Mr. Sok has led groups to Omaha for field trips. The class was sponsored by Kevin Pedersen from Milford, who is currently completing his student teaching assignment in the Natural Sciences at Winside.

HEALTH SMART FROM HEALTH MART

The amendment passed with a 30-3 vote.

"It's not easy on offenders; it is not giving them a break, necessarily," Ashford said. "It does clearly give hope to juveniles who have committed a serious offense."

He added that he thought the 40 years to life sentence range was a responsible compromise for the bill. which would allow for rehabilitation of these juveniles.

With the new sentence range in place, the committee amendment to the bill was adopted, replacing the original language of the bill. It passed on a 31-1 vote.

Before adopting the 40-year sentence, senators rejected an amendment (AM967) that would have required a mandatory minimum sentence of 25 years for juveniles who committed Class 1A felonies.

This amendment failed on a 23-14 vote, needing at least 25 votes to pass.

speaks to the seriousness of these crimes," McCoy said.

Supporters of the 25-year mandatory minimum sentence said that they thought it was more proportionate to the crime than the 30-year sentence, which would allow inmates to be eligible for parole after 15 years.

Sen. John Harms of Scottsbluff said that 15 years was too short of an imprisonment, especially if the rehabilitation has not been proven to be effective for these juveniles.

Sen. Bill Avery of Lincoln said, however, that it is unrealistic to think that inmates will be released on their first parole date because there is a series of requirements that they usually do not meet before that time. He referred to these requirements, such as counseling sessions, as "punching the ticket."

"They are not going to be really eligible for release until that ticket is punched," Avery said, "and the system does not provide adequate opportunities for inmates to punch the ticket when they need to punch it.'

Other opponents of McCoy's amendment said that setting a mandatory minimum would limit the discretion of the courts.

"Trust your prosecutors. Trust your judges," Sen. Burke Harr of Omaha said.

Ashford also emphasized the need for the change in juvenile sentencing to allow more opportunities for rehabilitation rather than more years in prison.

The documentary, "Switch," will be shown at 7 p.m. at Majestic Theatre in downtown Wayne. There is no admission charge. This documentary is about the future of energy. This event will be immediately followed by a question and answer session with local experts in the energy field.

This day of events is sponsored by the Wayne Biology Club, Student Activities Board and College Relations.

Vitamins are essentials – the substances your body needs to function normally. You can usually get the vitamins you need from a healthy, balanced diet.1 Add a "rainbow of color" to your diet and you increase your chances of getting what you need.

But some people lack certain vitamins, so they need supplements.¹ Ask your doctor whether or not you do. And, remember: too much of a good thing can be bad for you. So be careful not to overdo.

Here are the basics about vitamins:

ABOUT VITAMINS

Vitamin A helps with vision, bone growth, and reproduction. It also plays a role in cell division and promoting healthy surface linings in eyes and other places in your body. Sources of vitamin A include beef and chicken liver, carrots, sweet potatoes, pumpkin, spinach, and cantaloupe.²²

B vitamins such as B6 and B12 are versatile, helping with many of the body's functions. This includes forming red blood cells and helping your body get or make energy from food (a process called metabolism). You mostly find B vitamins in proteins such as tuna, salmon, poultry, beef liver, and dairy products. Some foods, such as breakfast cereals and breads, are also fortified with B vitamins.⁴

Vitamin C helps the body form collagen (a fibrous protein) in blood vessels, bones, cartilage, and muscle. Fruits high in vitamin C include guava, oranges, kiwi, and strawberries. Vegetables high in vitamin C include raw red and green sweet peppers, Brussels sprouts, broccoli, and sweet potatoes.³

Vitamin D works with calcium to maintain bone strength and quality. Vitamin D is also involved in cell growth, as well as nerve, muscle, and immune functioning. And, it can reduce inflammation in the body. Few foods contain vitamin D. However, it is found in fatty fish such as salmon and tuna, and in fish liver oils. Orange juice, milk, and yogurt may be fortified with vitamin D. You may also get some vitamin D from sunlight.⁵

Vitamin E is an antioxidant. It helps protect cells from damage. Vitamin E also is involved with immune function and metabolism. Sources of vitamin E include wheat germ oil, sunflower seeds, almonds, peanut butter, and sunflower or safflower oil.⁶

Sometimes doctors prescribe vitamins. But sometimes vitamins may interact with certain medications.⁸⁹ If you have questions about any of this, I'd be glad to talk it over with you. I can also answer your questions about Health Mart brand vitamins. Or, you can go to www.healthmart. com to learn more about the Health Mart Vitamin Finder. This is a new internet-based, personalized tool to help you make smart decisions about vitamins

6B The Wayne Herald – Thursday, April 11, 2013 Students learn safety during Poison Prevention Week

National Poison Prevention Week was observed March 17-23. Providence Medical Center's pharmacy department visited Wayne fourth, fifth and sixth grade students, as well as Mrs. Loetscher's first grade at Winside, Mrs. Straight's kindergarten in Winside and the Wayne New Beginnings Preschool.

National Poison Prevention Week raises awareness of the dangers of poison exposure, and reminds the public that they can call their poison center and a Registered Nurse will give them quick, reliable and free assistance.

"That one call, any time of the day or night, will have you talking to an RN immediately and likely save you a costly trip to the doctor's fourth, fifth and sixth graders who office or emergency room. (800) 222-1222 is one of the most important numbers you can have in your home," said Kimberly Bentjen, PharmD, Providence Medical Center Pharmacy Director.

PMC Pharmacy's Keri Carlson CPhT, said, "Children are naturally curious and busy. I really wanted to reach out to the younger kids and make sure they know that poisons can look like food or drink so they must ask an adult before eating or drinking. I also think its important that kids know medicine is not candy and it should only be given to them by an adult." Bentjen said of the visits to the schools, "I wanted to make sure the are starting to babysit, and who have younger siblings at home, knew what to do if an accidental poisoning did occur. Giving them the knowledge of what to do in the first few seconds of an accident is very important. I had a great time working with kids and they had such great questions!"

Jill Pickinpaugh, principal at Wayne Elementary School, thanked the PMC staff or the presentation, saying, "Thank you for taking the time from your busy days to share such important information. Having the community working with our children is such a blessing and engages the wise saying . . . it takes a village to raise a child."

Congratulations Nancy Guill ~ Employee of the Month ~

"I nominate, Nancy Guill for Employee of the Month, because she reflects the Emeritus Family Values by always having an attitude that is warm, positive and cooperative. This makes her an asset to residents, visitors and co-workers alike. She's very approachable and friendly. Nancy takes a real interest in her job. She goes the extra mile often in her duties. She may have a full day, but she readily takes on supplemental activities. In this way she makes a difference every day. I hear compliments all the time about what a beautiful community we have at The Oaks. Nancy has a large share in making this so. The Housekeeping team makes this place shine."

Farm animals belong on farm, not in city limits

My next-door neighbor owns two small dogs that love to bark. At anything.

At anytime.

They'll bark at passing cars, neighbors walking by on the sidewalk, the nailman during his Saturday morning delivery . . . they'll even bark at eaves falling from the trees across the street.

Being a "dog" kind of guy, I'm fine with their yipping at all hours. Despite their near constant barking, they're very playful and friendly dogs who love to have their ears scratched and will sit in your lap if you stop by and chat with their owners.

Now if my neighbor were to own a couple of chickens – I'm not so sure I'd be near as excited to have them clucking next door.

The Wayne City Council voted to authorize the drawing up of an ordinance that will allow local residents to keep poultry as pets. Chickens, ducks, geese, turkey – if it's got feathers and you might enjoy sticking it in your oven when it gets good and fat, you may soon be able to keep them as pets.

Now I know that Wayne is the home of the Chicken Show. I'm completely in favor of all the chicken-related activities that take place every summer in our wonderful community. Heck, some of my best meals have about whether to provide them up involved some type of poultry, and if somebody ever opened a KFC here in to each city or village on a recom-Wayne, America, I'd eat breakfast, lunch and dinner there.

I'm just not too thrilled, though, with the idea of being clucked at while walking to work. Whistled at by good-looking, single women? Yes. But a clucking chicken? Ehhh, not so much.

An argument about keeping chickens was raised during last week's City Council meeting that the birds produce less, shall we say, waste than a good-sized dog. And chickens are generally quieter animals than Fido, particularly if the neighbors come walking by and startle the old pooch.

So chickens create less poop than dogs – if this is your argument for making poultry legal within city limits, you really need to find a better reason.

OK, so chickens lay eggs. Great – a side benefit that the neighbor's dogs aren't capable of pulling off. Still, having a pet that can help you make omelets every morning isn't a compelling enough reason.

Let's also think about the potential for an unexpected tenant that would certainly find a chicken, and its feed, an attractive pursuit. My guess is that rats would enjoy finding a hole in the garage – or the house – of a Legislative Update chicken owner and go for the chicken feed (and whatever else it might find

era

In 1991 lawmakers approved the Local Option Municipal Economic Development Act (LB840) to allow municipalities to vote and approve additional sales tax to be used for local projects under guidelines approved by the state.

Twenty-two years later, 60 Nebraska communities are using local option taxes to fund various economic development projects. Last year, the Legislature approved yet another option for the money, an incentive to lure film companies to choose Nebraska communities as movie locations. Other activities have been added in two decades and some have been rejected. It's all spelled out in state statute, Section 18-2705. Cities and villages of all sizes located in every corner of the state have voted to create and fund local economic development programs.

Lawmakers have now passed a measure (LB295) to add to those activities the option to provide relocation incentives for new residents. Sen. Kate Sullivan of Cedar Rapids, sponsor of the measure, convinced her colleagues that the plan would leave the decision about what constitutes relocation incentives for new residents and the decision mendation by the local economic development board. The move would have to be approved by local elected officials on the city council or village board.

Local decisions by local people expending local funds. Both Sullivan and her city colleague, Urban Affairs Chair, Sen. Amanda McGill of Lincoln, underscored that concept and reminded fellow lawmakers of it numerous times during two rounds of floor debate before the bill passed 44-0. Simply put, the bill has ject to local approval and local control, something that makes sense.

Sullivan said the bill grew out of several years of discussion about how to reverse the loss of residents in rural Nebraska. She said she worked several years ago with Sen. Galen Hadley of Kearney, now chair of the Revenue Committee, to study rural depopulation. A public hearing was held in Kearney in the fall of 2011 and senators heard from a number of rural economic development coordinators. Sullivan said many of those people noted that they had jobs available in their communities, but didn't have the skilled people to fill them.

She said she has continued dis-cy, something that almost assures a tive district (41) and has been told the option. gubernatorial signature, and is sub- that while they have unemployment rates of 3 percent or less, they lack people such as plumbers, electricians, nurses, welders, IT professionals, and manufacturing workers to fill good jobs. She said the lack of people to fill these jobs can actually limit a business' ability to grow and expand, and certainly limits the opportunity for a rural community to grow and thrive.

The Nebraska League of Municipalities supported the bill, which was advanced from Urban Affairs without a dissenting vote. McGill said there were plenty of checks and balances in the law to allow voters to change or otherwise rescind the activity if it isn't working. She said it is unknown how many of the 60 no fiscal impact on any state agen- cussions with officials in her legisla- eligible communities will even use that alone is refreshing.

Kearney Mayor Stan Clouse said his community needs welders to work in a large number of industries. Columbus Economic Council co-chair, David Bell, said he believes bringing more workers to his city could assist in the effort to attract new companies. He said the lack of an available work force has hindered the city's ability to attract new businesses in the past. Columbus and Kearney are larger than Sullivan's hometown of Cedar Rapids, population 374, but it's a rural issue. And one that has now. thankfully, been recognized and hopefully addressed. Time will tell, But that will be a local decision, and suitable fare). I think we can all agree that a neighborhood full of vermin is certainly a lot less attractive than a barking dog late in the evening.

Baby chicks and ducks are cute little pets for kids to enjoy. My uncle used to have a small colony of yellow-feathered chicks that he enjoyed taking care of. Eventually, though, those chicks grew up to be chickens, and grandma put her foot down and made sure those birds found a home on a farm somewhere once the novelty of playing with the chicks wore off.

Farm animals belong on the farm. Dogs, cats, rabbits and small birds are fine pets that can live with few problems within a small town. If poultry are allowed to live within the city limits, how much longer will it be before somebody in town wants to keep Bossy the Cow in the backyard? I mean, I'm all in favor of a good steak and a big glass of milk, but where does the city draw the line?

The City Council voted 5-3 in favor of drawing up an ordinance for consideration at next week's meeting. Wayne is the home to the Chicken Show, but I don't believe it needs to be the year-round place for hens to roost in our neighbor's back yards.

I would hope that, sometime between now and Tuesday, at least two of the five who voted in favor of drawing up the ordinance will see the illconceived logic of keeping farm animals as pets inside city limits and send the proposal to its rightful destination – the slaughterhouse.

I'm not much of a TV watcher (outside of sports and "Behind The Music" documentaries), but if you're a longtime resident and a fan of "The Walking Dead" on the AMC network, you're going to see a lot more of a familiar face in the season ahead.

Emily Kinney's character, Beth Greene, is going to be a regular on the program when the series begins this fall. She has seen her character's presence on the show develop during the first three seasons, and when the fourth season starts shooting later this spring, her character will have more of a weekly presence.

The Wayne High graduate is developing a very nice resume with her acting experience, and she's also a talented musician who is working on her second album.

The show, as I understand it, has seen a lot of characters die (it's a show about the end of the world, which stands to reason). Hopefully, Beth Greene's time on the show will continue forward as long as "The Walking Dead" is still alive.

With all-day debate in full swing ment to the counties for the loss of and a schedule for late nights at the Legislature, it is becoming clear that we may debate a full eight hours on more bills than we should. address a specific issue faced by one community, county or area.

First up was LB57, brought by Sen. Tyson Larson, which would expand the oversight authority of the Nebraska Environmental Trust when its funds, given to grantees, are used to purchase real property. Lautenbaugh, would reduce the LB57 also provides for reimburseproperty tax revenue when Environmental Trust funded property is sold or transferred to a federal land management agency. While especially if they were brought to there are still some questions and possibly even some problems with the bill, it did advance from General File debate. I support this bill in hopes that it will help our counties, state-wide, preserve their property tax base.

least 35 days prior to the election. As introduced, the bill would have required ballots to be ready 25 days prior to the election. You could say that 30 days is a true compromise, no one is overly thrilled with it but they can deal with it. Nationwide, the average is 22 days. This bill is necessary for the State of Nebraska to be in compliance with the federal help America Vote Act of 2002.

Starting this week, the Legislature will be in session until at least 6 p.m. or 6:30 p.m. every night that we are in session. Starting on April 22nd, we will begin working past the 6:30 p.m. hour on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Our final push will begin on May 7, when every night we are in session is reserved by Speaker Adams as a late night, which could run as late as 11:59 p.m., with the exception of the last day of the week.

As of today, the 54th day of the session, 115 of the 655 bills introduced have seen final action. Of that 115, 72 have been approved by the Governor, 36 have been indefinitely postponed and seven have been withdrawn. I think it is safe to say that we have our work cut out for us with the budget and around 100 priority bills ahead of us. It sometimes seems like we make a lot out of some things that do not amount to much. Then we "fly over" more important issues.

President Joann Temme called the meeting to order. Seven members answered roll call by telling how they had observed Easter.

Ruth Victor gave the Thought for the Day - "Change is Good. Can dark cloud types really turn into people who see the silver lining?"

Positive psychologist think so. Scientists say we have a happiness set point. There are actions we can take to live in an upper range of happiness.

It takes a lot of grit and ability to go from a pessimistic person to an optimistic one.

Every night think about three things for which you are grateful and why they took place. This helps rewire your mind to stop dwelling on negatives and develops a pattern of hopeful thinking. A happy though indeed.

Correspondence was a thank you from the Nebraska Children's Home for the Easter gift.

Verdelle Reeg gave a program about the Carlsbad Caverns National Park, which is located in the southeastern corner of New Mexico. It was discovered more than 1,000 years ago by prehistoric Na-

corn growers

Corn growers can take an active role in an on-farm research project sponsored by University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension in partnership with the Nebraska Corn Growers Association and the Nebraska Corn Board.

The goal of the Nebraska On-Farm Research Network (NOFRN) is to implement a statewide on-farm research program addressing critical farmer production, profitability and natural resources questions. The project kicked off in 2012 with 40 on-farm comparisons conducted in 10 counties.

Replicated treatments will be planted and harvested in growers fields using their equipment.

For more information about the Nebraska On-Farm Research Network and how to participate, contact UNL Extension at (402) 624-8030, or the Nebraska Corn Growers Association at (888) 267-6479. For more information, visit cropwatch. unl.edu/web/farmresearch.

'Music' not to writer's tastes

As you may have figured out by now, I'm not into popular music, groups, albums, etc. But I did know who Green Day was; I read the entertainment section. My friend, Dorothy, does not!

She called the first part of March to tell me she was getting tickets to a musical that would be playing at the Lied, and I was to be her guest. I protested, as she has already taken me to one at the Orpheum and another one at the TADA Theater. That was all Sondheim, and I don't know his stuff, but it was well done. Anyway, she said the musical was called American Idiot and it would be there on March 30, and she was getting tickets for the matinee. After she hung up. I realized that was the day before Easter, and I would probably have things to do that afternoon. THEN, I read that American Idiot featured songs by Green Dav!

I emailed her to tell her that the group is punk rock and I didn't think we would appreciate it; besides, it was the day before Easter. Well, she wasn't having Easter dinner, and she already had the tickets. (And they were expensive.) She ture, and that if it was too bad, we would leave.

I spent the next week telling myself to make the best of it, and then berating myself for ever saying I would go in the first place. She and there were three performances. picked me up in her new car, and we On Easter weekend. The irony was went downtown for lunch and had a a little too much for me. If this is the good visit. Then, we walked to the music young people are listening to, added that it would be an adven- Lied Center. She commented that it God help us!!

was Easter weekend, so it couldn't be too bad. HA!

I was somewhat relieved when I saw that I was not the only grey head in the audience. Then, the curtains went up and the music started!! And the lights, and the gyrations, and the four-letter words!! You really could not call it music, it was just noise. I think what really got to me were the upside-down American flags. After about 10 minutes, she whispered, "Do you want to leave?" I figured it was her money, and I said "yes!" And we did. An usher told us she had been hearing negative comments.

Out of curiosity, I read the review in the paper. Then I looked up the word nihilism, to make sure I understood the meaning. "The attitude that traditional values and beliefs are unfounded and that existence is meaningless." That's how it looked and sounded. It made me kind of sick to my stomach.

Irrigation, soils courses offered

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension provides two online short courses on irrigation and soils at marketplace.unl.edu. The courses combine the convenience and flexibility of online learning with the opportunity to obtain continuing education unit (CEU) credits.

The virtual learning environment is especially suited for those whose schedules or location may prevent them from attending traditional extension training opportunities. The modules are intended for crop consultants, agency personnel, crop producers and others interested in improving their soil science or soil fertility management and irrigation management skills.

UNL Extension still offers programs for those who prefer traditional, classroom-style training. However, the new online course on irrigation management allows participants to learn at the click of a mouse.

course will help increase awareness and understanding of irrigation management concepts. Agricultural water users can optimize water use efficiency and protect the quality of water resources by applying basic information about irrigation systems, crop water use and management practices.

Reducing irrigation application amounts and increasing uniformity of application leads to reduced deep percolation and runoff. The result can be reduced irrigation costs, increased efficiency, increased yields and reduced surface and groundwater contamination.

Formal admission to UNL is not required to enroll in the short courses. Register online at marketplace. unl.edu/extension/registration. The registration fee for each course is $50. CEU credit is available for an additional $10 per credit with a maximum of 13 credits per course.

Wayne, Nebraska

April 2, 2013 The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, April 2, 2013 in the upstairs conference room of the Courthouse.

Burbach read the "Citizens Comments" guidelines from the agenda

Roll call was taken and those in attendance included Chairman Burbach, Members Rabe and Wurdeman, and Clerk Finn.

Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wavne Herald, a legal newspaper, on March 21, 2013

A current copy of the Open Meeting Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

It was noted that Mark Mainelli would not be attending the meeting. Motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman to approve the amended agenda and the minutes of the March 16, 2014 meeting. Roll call vote: Rabe-ave. Wurdeman-ave. Burbach-ave: motion carried.

The commissioner meeting recessed and the board convened as a Board of Equalization at 9:15 a.m. on motion by Wurdeman, second by Rabe. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-ave; motion carried.

The board reconvened as Board of Commissioners at 9:25 a.m. on motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Dale Krusemark stated water is filling in the ditch along land he owns in Sec. 16-T25N-R4E due to a silted tube. He was advised to speak to the board about his liability concerns -- If there was a wreck, and someone would drown, would Krusemark or the county be liable? The water flows out of Krusemark's land but can't go through the tube because the dirt is about 4 foot higher at the south end of the tube than any other place.

Wurdeman said he tried to fix the problem last year. He contacted the land management company to see if the county could go on the property and clean out that tube, but his request was denied. Wurdeman was told by the county attorney that there is nothing the county can do when the landowner says no.

Currently there is about 300 feet of water on Krusemark's side needing to drain. Krusemark had his side cleaned out, and asked if the county could cut out the ditch on the other side so the water could drain.

Wurdeman will shoot the area with a transit to see if working on the ditch would help. He will also contact the land management company, explain the liability concerns, and see if the county can get permission to go on the property.

The bids opened for paving the courthouse parking lot from the east side of the east drive to the east boundary line were: Everett Schultz - $13,075.00, Robert Woehler & Sons Construction, Inc. - $22,758.75, and Leseberg Masonry and Construction - $14,036.80. The concrete bid was 47B, no rebar, 7" thick. The county will do the tear-out, hauling, and sink hole if possible. Everett Schultz was low bidder and will be contacted for reference projects.

An Interlocal Agreement with Cedar County for a bridge replacement project was reviewed. The total shared project costs are estimated to be $58,800.00. Wayne County is responsible for 100% of preliminary engineering, 50% of materials cost, 100% of Right-of-way costs, 100% of utility relocation costs and 100% of construction costs. Cedar County is responsible for 50% of materials cost. Motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman to approve the Interlocal Agreement for Carroll Northeast, Project No. C-90(330), Structure No. C009010205, between Sec. 2-T27N-R2E Wayne County and Sec. 35-T28N-R2E Cedar County. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

County Burial Application No. CB13-01, for $2,312.78 was approved on motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Imprest Account check number 13020093 for $33.00 was returned due to duplicate payment. Motion by Wurdeman, second by Rabe to cancel check number 13020093. Roll call vote Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

A dividend check of $7,623.00 from Employers Mutual Casualty Company for the 07/01/11 to 07/01/12 policy period was received and deposited in General Fund. The county's loss ratio for that period was 1.61%. A resolution setting the date for a recall election and the question to be submitted to the voters of County Commissioner District 1 was reviewed. Resolution No. 13-06 was adopted on motion by Rabe, second by Burbach. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye, Wurdeman-nay; motion carried Rabe questioned if it could be part-time cleaning and part-time weed spraying position. Hansen questioned part-time cleaning and part-time maintenance position.

Bid specifications to clean the courthouse and to clean the court services building will be compiled as separate bids and as a joint bid. The specifications will be reviewed by the board during their next meeting.

The board questioned Hansen about a claim for payment of 2011 court appointed attorney fees. Hansen responded that the attorney filed the claim on a timely basis, the county judge had approved the claim on a timely basis; but it wasn't until last week that she heard it hadn't been filed for payment. Since the claim did not come before the board within the statutory 90 days, the board requested a new order for payment be approved by the county judge and then the claim be resubmitted.

Veterans Service Officer Brad Wieland discussed the update to the avenue of flags at the south entrance of the courthouse. He proposed replacing the twelve smaller flagpoles with eight poles, four on each side of the sidewalk, placed 20 feet apart. These would be 25' poles with sleeves that go three feet into the ground, like the ones at the cemetery. The estimated cost for the eight poles plus shipping would be $6,015.00.

Wieland said the veterans and citizens would greatly appreciate it if the county would pay for the poles, as they will be set on county property. Burbach questioned why the change, at last report the Veterans Clubs were going to pay for the poles. Wieland responded the clubs don't have that kind of money; they use their money for scholarships and they support non-profit organizations. Wurdeman asked if the monument committee would pay for the flagpoles. Wieland had not asked them; he felt the county needed to take responsibility. The board agreed to pay for the flagpoles and to help with installation, but told Wieland to bring three flagpole quotes for their

At 12:05 p.m., the board recessed for lunch on motion by Wurdeman, second by Rabe. Rol call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

The meeting reconvened at 1:27 p.m. on motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman. Roll call Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Flooring quotes for the elevator access areas were not received

Wieland presented flagpole quotes from Flagworks, American Flag and Flagpole Company, and The Flagpole Company. Motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman to accept the quote of $6.015 submitted by Flagworks. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried. Wurdeman will contact Schultz for project references.

Allemann-Dannelly received authorization to contact Squeaky Clean and have the courthouse windows cleaned after the paving project is complete.

Cleanup of the courthouse lawn by road maintenance workers was set for Friday at 1:00 p.m.

At 2:25 p.m., the board recessed until Friday, April 5th at 1:00 p.m. on motion by Wurdeman, second by Rabe. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

The commissioner meeting reconvened at 1:12 p.m. on Friday April 5, 2013 on motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Those in attendance were Chairman Burbach, Members Rabe and Wurdeman, and Clerk Finn

A copy of the Open Meetings Act was on the table.

The board discussed their findings on Schultz's references. The paving bid of $13,075.00 submitted by Everett Schultz was accepted on motion by Wurdeman, second by Rabe. Roll call vote: Wurdeman-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 1:27 p.m. on motion by Rabe, second by Wurdeman. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Wurdeman-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried

Resolution No. 13-06:

WHEREAS, on January 24, 2013, a Recall Affidavit was filed against Kelvin Wurdeman, Wayne County Commissioner District #1 by Jerold Meyer, Principal Circulator, and

WHEREAS, on February 13, 2013 said petitions were issued to the Principal Circulator Jerold Mever, and

WHEREAS, on March 14, 2013, said petitions were returned to the County Clerk's Office for signature verification, and

WHEREAS, after the completion of the verification of signatures the following certification was made by the Wayne County Clerk on March 14, 2013 and service was made on Kelvin Wurdeman and the Governing Body (Wayne County Board of Commissioners) on March 15, 2013 by personal service:

Total number for recall purposes: 250

Total signatures submitted: 342

Total rejected signatures: 0

Total valid signature: 342

WHEREAS, the Governing Body, said Board of Commissioners, hereby finds by said certification that the total number of valid signatures required by law for purposes of a Recall Election has been met.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners that a Recall Election shall be held on May 14, 2013 for the purpose of submitting to the voters of County Commissioner District 1, County of Wayne, Nebraska, the following question:

Shall Kelvin "Wurdeman be removed from the Office of County Commissioner District 1?

Chairman Burbach reported that Noxious Weed Superintendent Marlin Schuttler had submitted a letter of resignation. Acceptance of the resignation will be on the agenda of the April 16th meeting. Wurdeman recommended the board not advertise the position until the resignation is formally accepted. The Noxious Weed Board will be asked to assist with the preparation of a job description.

Wurdeman asked if the commissioners were going to make the position part-time with weed superintendent duties only, or if they were going to make it full-time and put the individual in charge of road/bridge signs and snow removal at the courthouse. Rabe thought it would depend on whom they hired; Burbach said he would like the position to go back to full-time. Wurdeman stated he fought to make it part-time and he would not vote to make it a full-time position if there weren't enough duties to justify full-time. The position will be advertised as a part-time noxious weed position; if additional duties arise, they will be dealt with at that time.

The date of the May 7, 2013 commissioner meeting was changed to Monday, May 6th to accommodate Wurdeman's schedule.

Emergency Manager Nic Kemnitz reported Wayne State College was very receptive of the Military Search & Rescue Training in 2014. The Frey Conference Center has been reserved for the week; participants will be encouraged to eat on campus during training. A block of 25 rooms at the Cobblestone Inn has been reserved.

The Northeast Nebraska Planning, Exercise & Training Region is using Homeland Security funds to conduct two full-scale search & rescue exercises on Saturday, April 20th. The trainings for local responders will be conducted in Center and Neligh. Wayne County's EOC trailer will be setup at the Neligh location.

Kemnitz also reported that work on the LEOP is almost complete. All the communities have signed-off on the plan and he is waiting for public health department to finish.

Development of an agreement for usage of the EOC trailer was discussed. Consideration has to be given to counties that have contributed equipment to the trailer, counties within the district, what equipment is used, what personnel costs are involved, etc. It was agreed that a standard policy would be difficult to establish. The actual cost per day will need to be determined, and then it will depend upon the situation.

Clerk of District Court Deb Allemann-Dannelly reported Judge Johnson and Judge Kube would like to keep the District Judge offices open in the court services building. This would permit the court reporter to maintain an office in Wayne, and a second courtroom would continue to be available when county and district court have scheduling conflicts. The Sheriff's Department will be given access to the courtroom for trainings.

Allemann-Dannelly reported that the judge's bench in the court services building has four big cracks going down the front. Over the last two years both Judge Ensz and Allemann-Dannelly have talked to Jeff Morlok about the bench but no work has been done. After looking at the bench. the board authorized Allemann-Dannelly to contact someone that works with wood to see what can be done.

County Court Clerk Magistrate Kim Hansen reported bid specifications for cleaning the courthouse had been circulated throughout the courthouse. The responses received were very consistent from office to office. Burbach asked if anyone has spoken with the cleaning service about the concerns. Finn reported she had spoken with the local supervisor about some of the concerns, and told her the county was considering having the work bid again.

Hansen asked if the board would consider bidding cleaning of the court services building at the same time. Wurdeman and Rabe thought employees that worked in the court services building could take care of the cleaning, especially if it was only cleaned once a week. Janssen replied he has one part-time employee, and she wasn't interested in cleaning. As for his full-time employees, he preferred to stay away from the impact of Fair Labor laws on an employee with multiple job
