'Chicken' dancers shakin' it on YouTube

Promoting Wayne Chicken Show takes twist with dance videos on the Internet

By KATIE KASL
Of The Herald

There's a "chicken" that'll teach you how to Dougie, one that dances to a Justin Timberlake number in a college admissions office and another, surrounded by a mob of people wearing paper bags, Harlem-shaking it in the aisle of a grocery store.

If it sounds (alarmingly) like the water in Wayne, America has gotten so funky that our feathered friends are jiving throughout town, then rest assured; that's not the case.

Instead of tainted H<sub>2</sub>O, the city's flock of dancing chickens are the result of creative thinking by the Wayne Area Economic Development (WAED) office, which encouraged residents to put on their dancing shoes in an effort to promote the 33rd annual Wayne Chicken Show, which gets started Friday.

Once they had them on, WAED began publishing videos on its "Wayne, NE" Facebook page of a community member – or two or three – wearing the head from a chicken costume and dancing to songs like "Cruise" and "Party in the USA." After each video was posted, usually every Tuesday and Friday starting May 28, Facebook users could guess who was breaking it down under the bird beak. The first person to guess correctly received a Chicken Show

T-shirt, hat or other "cluck-tible" item. "Everyone's had fun with this," WAED office assistant Laura Burtwistle said.

The idea for the videos, she explained, stemmed from a contest WAED held in anticipation of last year's Chicken Show. In 2012, individuals were photographed wearing the chicken head, and the resulting picture was posted on Facebook so that profile holders could take a stab at the person's identity.

This year, the contest was tweaked, and photos were swapped for videos. City Council member Jennifer Sievers, who came up with the idea, was featured in the first dancing chicken video, in which she boogies to "Gangnam Style."

"It just kind of took off from there," Burtwistle said.

Though WAED gladly accepted volunteers to dance on camera, participants were also recommended by those in the community before they were approached and asked if they were interested in showing off their skills.

Some accepted while others declined; and, though participation was limited to the willing, roosters, hens and chicks alike were all allowed to dance.

"It doesn't matter how old you are," Burtwistle said.

As intimidating as the thought of having one's dance moves – whether good or bad – broadcast across social media may be, Burtwistle explained that the ability to do it incognito appealed to many participants.

"Once you get that chicken head on, it's a boost of confidence," she said.

And, on top of that, the embarrassment factor was relatively low.

"Everyone's really liked it," Burtwistle said. "No one's regretted it."

Not even the chickens that turn around and shake their tail feathers for all of Wayne to see.

Wayne's "Chicken" has been making the rounds in preparation for the annual Wayne Chicken Show, and his (Or is it hers? We certainly won't tell) dancing exploits have been a hit on the Internet this summer.

Two finalists named for WSC men's job

Wayne State athletic director Mike Powick has announced two finalists for the position of head men's basketball coach at Wayne State College.

Adam Bohac of Southern Nazarene University and Brian Dolan of Upper Iowa University will be on campus for interviews July 15-16. Dolan will be in Wayne for his on-campus interview Monday, July 15, and Bohac is scheduled for an on-campus visit on Tuesday, July 16.

Dolan just completed his seventh season at Upper Iowa University where he led the Peacocks to a 20-12 record and a trip to the NCAA Div. II Central Regional, the school's first-ever trip to the national tournament. Prior to arriving at Upper Iowa, Dolan also served as an assistant coach at Texas-Pan American, College of Southern Idaho, Southern Utah and Southwest Missouri State while also serving as an administrative assistant at Oral Roberts (1998) under Bill Self. Dolan is a graduate of William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo.

Bohac has served five seasons as head coach at Southern Nazarene in Bethany, Oklahoma. He has recorded four 20-win seasons and has a career record of 111-51. Bohac led the Crimson Storm to the NAIA National Tournament three straight seasons and the school now competes in the NCAA Div. II Great American Conference. Bohac is a native of Kimball, where he was a Class C-1 All-State football and basketball player in high school and went on to play basketball at the University of Nebraska under Barry Collier from 2000-04, where he was an Academic All-Big 12 First Team selection in 2004.

Members of the Wayne community are invited to meet each candidate and ask questions during a campus/community forum that will be held from 1-1:45 p.m. during each interview at Gardner Hall Auditorium on the Wayne State campus with public parking available in the east parking lot off Walnut Street.

Wayne State is looking to replace Paul Combs, who resigned June 15 to become head coach at Carroll University in Wisconsin. Combs was 54-58 in his four seasons at Wayne State, including a 17-12 record in the 2012-13 season.

Fireworks injures one in Hoskins

An individual was air-lifted from Hoskins to an unknown hospital after an accident at a residence in town late Saturday afternoon.

A fireworks-related mishap occurred near the corner of Fifth and Main streets at around 4:45 p.m. Saturday. According to information from the Hoskins and Woodland Park Fire and Rescue departments, a Norfolk man was mixing fireworks when they exploded. It was believed static electricity had caused the explosion.

The victim, whose name was not released, was airlifted to an Omaha hospital. He lost a hand and was not able to hear out of one ear. No other information about the incident was released.

Clothing store caters to multiple generations

Marie Mohr, standing by a display in her women's clothing store, has owned Swans Apparel in downtown Wayne since 1982.

By KATIE KASL
Of the Herald

In a quest to appeal to all groups of women, Marie Mohr, owner of Swans Apparel, has stocked her store with a colorful array of shoes, clothing and accessories. The shop's shelves and racks are lined with jewelry, purses and scarves; and garments include everything from sweaters to swimwear.

"We cover almost all generations," Jen Claussen, store manager, said.

And, in doing so, Swans has packed both its main floor and its basement, a 500-square-foot area devoted to clearance merchandise.

"Maxed out" is how Mohr describes the space.

A Wayne State graduate with a degree in home economics, she took over Swans in 1982 after the store's previous owners contacted her and asked if she was interested in running the business.

"I have always had an interest in fabrics, sewing and construction," Mohr said.

Her inventory – which caters to sizes extra small to extra large and 6-20, as well as petites and women's sizes 1X-3X – comes from markets in New York, Las Vegas and St. Paul. It changes with the seasons and has found a fan base among women throughout the region.

"We have had many loyal repeat customers, not only from Wayne but (also) area communities in a 50-mile radius," Mohr said.

She and her staff connect with these customers via e-mail, Facebook and a direct mailing list of 1,500. Photos posted online document new arrivals and store happen-

Obituaries

Kenneth Daugherty

Kenneth Daugherty, 89, of West Point died Friday July 5, 2013 at St. Francis Memorial Hospital.

Services with military honors were held Tuesday, July 9 at Trinity Church with Rev. Les Parmenter and Rev. Chris Meier officiating. Memorials may be directed to West Point Sunshine Senior Center.

Kenneth Fred Daugherty was born Nov. 24, 1923 in Spink County, S.D. to Fred and Irene (Carrington) Daugherty. Ken grew up on a farm near Wessington, S.D., attended country school, and graduated from Wessington High School in 1941. He worked in the ship yards in Washington state prior to his military service. Ken joined the Army Air Corps in February 1943 and served in the European theater and Trinidad. Following his October 1946 discharge, he worked for the Chicago Northwestern Railroad until 1950. On June 10, 1950, Ken married Betty Mae Janvrin at the Methodist Church in Hawarden, Iowa. Ken worked for Wayne County Public Power District in Wayne for 13 years, became a salesman, and owned and operated B.J.'s Fashions in West Point until his retirement in 1984. Ken served in the National Guard for 16 years, was active in scouting in Wayne and West Point as a Cub Scout Master, was a member of Trinity Church, and was involved with the West Point Chamber of Commerce. He was a member of VFW and took part in the Humble Heroes tour. His interests included boating and water sports, he was an avid card player, and he especially enjoyed playing bridge.

Survivors include his wife Betty of West Point; sons Scott (Carolyn) Daugherty Klar of Pooler, Ga., Kim (Nancy) Daugherty of West Point, and Fred (Tamra) Daugherty of Lincoln; sister Helen Hostvet of Luck, Wisc.; brother-in-law Alton Goehring of Delmont, S.D.; sister-in-law Patsy Daugherty of Oklahoma City, Okla.; grandchildren Gayle Klar, Lynn Klar, Kim Jr. "Pete" (LaRissa) Daugherty, Brent (Mandi) Daugherty, and Garrett, Emily, and Ryan Daugherty; great-grandchildren Rebecca, Kristina Anne, Brooklyn, Julie, Elise, and Jameson.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a brother, George Daugherty; a brother, David Daugherty and wife Maria; sisters, Beulah Goehring and Dolores Johnson; brother-in-law Dale Hostvet.

Stokely Funeral Home in West Point was in charge of arrangements.

Gene Topp

Gene Topp, 51, of Winside, died Tuesday, July 9, 2013 at Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk.

Services will be held Friday, July 12 at 10:30 a.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church in Winside with P.M.A. Glenn Kietzmann officiating. Visitation will be held Thursday, July 11 at Trinity Lutheran Church in Winside from 5 - 8 p.m. with family present.

Gene LeRoy Topp was born Sept. 22, 1961, at Norfolk to LeRoy and Carol (Kahny) Topp. He graduated from Winside High School in 1980. Gene married June Meyer, Nov. 7, 1980, at Yankton, S.D. The couple lived in the Wayne and Winside areas. They divorced in 1996. Gene was the owner and operator of Topp Notch Body and Paint Specialist in Wayne for several years. He later worked with his brother, Dustin, at Topp's Body Shop in Pilger, and for area farmers. Gene attended Trinity Lutheran Church in Winside. He enjoyed being outdoors, farm work, fishing and restoring his high school car, a 1969 Ford Torino. Most of all he loved spending time with his grandchildren.

Survivors include his children, Matt (Donya) Topp of Pilger, Sheila (Jon) Jaeger of Winside, and Stephanie (Jason Wylie) Topp of Winside; parents, LeRoy and Carol Topp of Pilger; grandchildren, Katelyn and Kortney Jaeger, Tayven Topp; sister, Rhonda (Joe) Jindra of Pilger; brother, Dustin (Becky) Topp of Pilger; and nephew Alan Topp.

He was preceded in death by his grandparents. Active pallbearers will be Dirk Jaeger, Jason Topp, Ron Prince, Trevor Hartmann, Jeff Farran and Nick Wylie. Memorials may be directed to the family for later designation. Burial will be in the Pilger Cemetery at Pilger. Hasemann Funeral Home in Winside is in charge of arrangements.

Rotarian of the Year named

Barbara Engebretsen was recently selected as Rotarian of the Year by her Wayne Rotary Club peers for the 2012-2013 year.

To qualify for the nomination a member must do all of the following: attend at least 60 percent of the meetings; have your dues paid up to date; and cannot hold the office of President, President-Elect, Vice-President, Secretary, or Treasurer. Other qualifying criteria are also applicable, including supporting the Rotary Foundation.

Engebretsen was very active on the district level as well, including promoting Aqua Africa and assisting with the youth exchange program. She is the Chairperson for New Generations and International committees for the Wayne club.

Current Wayne Rotary President Dan Rose said, "Barb's passion for Rotary truly amazes me, considering she has been a Rotarian for a relatively short period of time. She is very deserving of this award!"

Barbara Engebretsen was presented the Rotarian of the Year award by previous Wayne Rotary President Elise Hepworth.

Northern Wayne Flood Plain Study

Wayne is located between the South Logan Creek Dredge and Dog Creek. Both valleys have an area along the stream beds that have been designated by FEMA as the "100 year flood plain".

Buildings in these areas require higher insurance premiums for flood insurance and require special permits to be built. All mortgage loans for buildings in a flood plain require engineering review to determine that the construction won't block flood water and will meet the design requirements and minimum floor level elevation.

Eight years ago Wayne hired an engineering firm to challenge FEMA's designated flood plain area along South Logan Creek. The engineering firm proved to FEMA that the flood plain area of the valley was actually significantly smaller than FEMA's designation, and we were able to remove the 100 year flood plain restrictions from a lot of property on the south and east side of Wayne.

FEMA then published a new Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) for Wayne showing the smaller flood plain areas in South Logan Creek Valley. As we were looking at those changes, we found some apparent changes in FEMA's designation of flood zones in the Dog Creek valley that extend into the golf course and WSC campus. This creates two problems:

1) The Planning Commission finds it difficult to do long range projections and planning on the north side of Wayne without confidence in the flood plain status of areas.

2) No elevations are available in the FEMA flood zones in Dog Creek Valley for us to approve future construction projects for WSC, the golf course or the private property owners in those areas.

The Planning Commission has requested that we hire an engineering firm to check FEMA's flood plain calculations for the Dog Creek Valley. The city council has agreed to retain a firm to determine what areas are actually threatened, to establish usable elevations for future projects and to suggest what flood control options are available if needed.

This process may take several years.

2013 Wayne County Fair is only two weeks away

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

July means several things - corn growing, hot weather, the Chicken Show and the Wayne County Fair.

The 91st annual Wayne County Fair is scheduled for Wednesday through Sunday, July 24-28.

A number of changes are taking place this year, both with the actual fairgrounds and with the schedule.

Two buildings that formerly housed dairy cattle and horses have been removed from the fairgrounds.

A new, large horse barn is receiving the finishing touches and will be ready for up to 52 horses.

The building was originally located on the grounds of the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln and purchased by the Wayne County Agricultural Society. It was 1,400 feet long and taken apart and brought to Wayne County.

The new building is 260 feet long and located to the south of the horse arena. Members of the Ag Society, and a number of other volunteers, have spent hundreds of hours getting the building ready for this year's fair.

The Ag Society has plans for additional portions of the building and hope to construct additional facilities for the fairgrounds in the future.

This year's fair runs a full five days, with Wednesday, July 24 being labeled as "Free Fair Kick Off Day."

In addition to all entries being brought to the fairgrounds that day, Richards's Amusements Carnival will be on the midway and a concert with Country Christian singer Lucas Hoge has been scheduled for 8 p.m. in the grandstand.

Thursday's activities include the 4-H Horse Show, Bucket Calf Show, Goat and Sheep Show, Dairy Show, a retirement ceremony for unserviceable flags and the Nebraska Bush Pullers Sanctioned Tractor Pull.

Swine, feed calves, breeding beef, market beef and cow/calf pairs will be judged on Friday, July 26. The weekly Chamber Coffee will take place on the fairgrounds at 10 a.m.

Wildlife Encounters will have several presentations throughout the day.

One of the fair's highlights, the annual barbecue, will begin at 6 p.m. and will be followed by the presentation of the Kilroy Award, Farm Bureau Oldest Active Farmer, Ak-Sar-Ben Awards and Fair Person of the Year.

Featured entertainment for the evening will be Mutton Busting at 7:30 p.m. and Bull and Ranch Bronc Riding at 8 p.m.

Saturday begins with rabbits and poultry being judged and continues with the annual Stan Nelsen Memorial Partner Pitch Tournament, the Sharp Shooters Laser shooting exhibition, the Pick Up Mud Run, Colors da Clown face painting and the Wayne County Horseshoe Pitching Contest.

Craig Campbell will be performing in front of the grandstand at 7 p.m. and will be followed by Tate Stevens at 8:30 p.m.

The fair wraps up on Sunday, July 28 with the 4-H Ag Olympics, Garden Tractor Pull, Pie Judging Contest, 4-H Round Robin Showmanship and Bonus Auction and the traditional Demolition Derby.

A complete list of fair activities will be printed in the Tuesday, July 16 edition of the Morning Shopper.

Soybeans used to teach science in classrooms

A program aims to show elementary teachers how to better incorporate relevant science into their classrooms by using the soybean as a model.

The Nebraska Soybean Board and the United Soybean Board fund the Summer Science Soybean Institute, coordinated by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Groups of teachers from Lincoln, northeast Nebraska and Kansas are meeting this summer for three weeks through July 12 to discuss ways to learn about agriculture and food. They also will learn how to apply that knowledge and skills to incorporate the soybean system as a model for teaching science and to meet their district, state and national standards.

The project, geared toward elementary teachers, started in 2010. It has expanded from Maxey Elementary school to other surrounding schools, as well as to schools in northeast Nebraska and Kansas.

All the teachers in the program met at UNL on July 1-3.

Jon Pedersen, the associate dean for research in UNL's College of Education and Human Sciences, helps coordinate the project.

"It is really about the nature of science and about how we help build teachers' understanding of the nature of science and systems thinking and implementing that in the classroom," Pedersen said.

Soybeans can be used to demonstrate many aspects of science, such as weather and soil conditions, Pedersen said.

"It's really about relevancy to the child's life and to their community as well as learning about the science," Pedersen said. "This has applications across all grade levels."

Oct. 1 due date for applications for tree grants

Communities and organizations wanting to plant shade trees can apply for Trees for Nebraska Towns grant funds by Oct. 1.

The program, which focuses on plant diversity and sustainable landscapes, provides grant funding and technical assistance to public-oriented projects that emphasize the planting of large-maturing trees in Nebraska communities. About $250,000 of TNT grant funds are available this year.

TNT funding, provided by the Nebraska Environmental Trust, a beneficiary of the Nebraska Lottery, is coordinated by the Nebraska Forest Service and is part of ReTree Nebraska's 10-year effort to plant 1 million trees by 2017.

The application, due Oct. 1, requires some advance planning and consideration so applicants are encouraged to begin the process early. The application is available online at retreenebraska@unl.edu.

School board has abbreviated meeting

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

Several agenda items were postponed during Monday's regular meeting of the Wayne Community Schools Board of Education.

Two members of the board, Wendi Consoli and Mark Evetovich, were absent from the meeting, making it necessary to delay action on items requiring a majority of members' votes. Superintendent Mark Lenihan updated the board on demolition and construction projects at the school.

He told the board that asbestos removal is continuing at the former elementary school and demolition crews are expected to be in the building late this week and demolition could start as early as next week. Several items, such as water and electricity to the school's track building, will need to be taken care of before the actual demolition. The board accepted a bid for milk for the upcoming year. Milk for the district will be provided by Robert's Dairy in Norfolk.

Also approved was a lease for copier machines and service. Marco will provide all new equipment and the agreement will start a new five year lease.

The Wayne Community Schools' Board of Education will next meet in regular session on Monday, Aug. 12 at 5 p.m. at Wayne Elementary School and will include a tour of the building.

ings, including Swans' recent remodel. The makeover, which took place earlier this year, meant the shop's old green carpet went out, and new flooring, paint, an energy-efficient back door and vinyl signage came in.

Also making it online is proof that, in addition to giving women trendy, affordable fashion choices, Swans also finds time to give back.

For example, this past April, the store partnered with Miss Molly's Coffee House next door for a style show and, during the following month, hosted "Bras for a Cause," both of which helped raise funds for Relay For Life.

"Hopefully, we can continue that as a tradition," Mohr said of the fundraising events.

In September, she has plans to repeat last year's food drive for the Wayne Food Pantry.

"It's one way where we can give back for community support," Mohr said.

And all of it, from hosting special events to operating Swans itself, wouldn't have happened without the encouragement Mohr receives from her husband and staff.

"It makes it possible for us to continue," she said.

Seniors can get the job done at B-5

This is the time of the season when you find out just what kind of a team you have.

As the dog days of summer drag on, the best baseball teams are the ones where the team's chemistry comes together, the pitching is solid and the hits are timely.

Way back when in my days of playing American Legion baseball, I remember our Juniors (now Seniors) team coming together after struggling through a difficult month of June. Our low point came in a high-scoring game where we took a five-run lead into the bottom of the fifth on the road . . . and didn't get to see the sixth inning.

The opposing team batted around twice, scored 15 runs without recording an out and beat us on the 10-run rule. We went from being up 10-5 to losing 20-10, and the butt-chewing we got in the dugout after the game from a normally mild-mannered coach left us with a question to answer: do we come together as a team and get better, or do we wallow in mediocrity for the rest of a long, hot summer?

We did a fantastic job bouncing back after that humiliating loss. We won 12 of our last 13 games to close out the regular season and battled through to the area championship game before losing to the host team. That we were even around at the end of the season was a testament to our team chemistry and our willingness to play hard and let the game come to us.

That's what the Wayne American Legion Seniors need to do as they head into Area 5 tournament play next week. They have the talent and the tools to win an always-challenging area tournament, and if they play hard and let the game come to them, they've got a chance of extending Jeff Zeiss' baseball coaching career out one more week.

This group of young men are close to winning 100 games in their careers in American Legion baseball. This writer has been critical of the schedule they have played over the years, beating smaller-community teams on a regular basis while struggling against programs more on their level. In spite of that, to have played as well as this group of kids has over the years in summer ball is a testament to their spirit and the energy this team has.

For the success they have had over the past few summers (including a third-place state finish in 2010), the postseason has been something of an enigma for this team. They've taken good records into the area tournament but have not fared well in the play-in to the state tournament. Aside from that 2010 state tournament run, it's been rough sailing in the Area 5 waters.

This year's bracket is set up very nicely for the Seniors, however. Wayne is the No. 1 seed in a bracket that, outside of Wayne, Aurora and Crofton, isn't all that strong. With only seven teams in the tournament, Wayne need win just two games to reach the championship and would only have to make two long road trips to Aurora to get that done, with a day of rest in between each game. Winning on the road is tough enough, and going through the losers bracket to do it would be a bigger challenge, as they would have to make daily trips five days in a row and play six games to earn a trip to state.

I came on board here at the end of the 2009 season and covered the state Seniors tournament in Wayne, when most of these kids were either in their first year of Juniors or last year of Ponies. I've had the pleasure of watching these kids come up and develop over the last four years, and I would love nothing more than to see this group of seniors and fifth-year players end their careers with an Area 5 championship and a trip to state.

With good chemistry, solid pitching and timely hitting, this team has everything it needs to get the job done and get to state.

Wakefield Seniors claim RBL title

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Smart play and solid pitching have been the trademarks of Wakefield baseball for as long as anyone can remember.

Wakefield-Ponca showed why they are always a team to be reckoned with at the end of the season, putting a solid three-game series together and finishing it off with a come-from-behind, 3-2 win over Tekamah-Herman to win the Ralph Bishop League title in an exciting championship final Sunday at Hank Overin Field.

After opening with a win over Pierce, Wakefield handled Wayne 6-2 to reach the finals, then bounced back from a 2-0 deficit early in the game to slip past the Tigers for the tournament title.

Tekamah-Herman scored a pair of runs in the first inning off Wes Torson, and after Wakefield made a pitching change, the South Division champions never scored again.

"We had to play really well to win, and Tekamah gave us everything we wanted and played really well," coach Paul Eaton said after the game. "We played pretty sharp tonight and we had to. We've gotten a lot better since Wayne 10-runned us here earlier in the summer. They made us see where we have to play if we want to compete, and we adjusted to that."

After giving up the two runs early, Wakefield got a run back in the third when Aaron Carlson scored on a sacrifice by Shane Husen. They tied the game in the fifth inning when Alex Conley singled and scored on an error.

Evan Nicholson, who came on in relief of Torson early in the game, got out of a big jam in the top of the sixth. Tekamah-Herman had two on and one out before Nicholson was able to force a ground ball to Owen Salmon, who started a 6-4-3 double play that went from Salmon to Zach Kudrna and to Carlson to get Wakefield-Ponca out of the jam.

That set the stage for the winning scenario for Wakefield-Ponca. Josh Masin opened the inning with a leadoff single, and was still on first with two outs when Conley and Carlson walked to load the bases. Nicholson worked the count full in his trip to the plate and saw ball four tail off to the outside, bringing home Masin with the go-ahead run.

"Evan was sitting there with a 3-2 count, and the ball just fell out of the strike zone, otherwise who knows what happens," Eaton said.

Nicholson pitched very well in relief of Torson and helped keep the game close to set the stage for Wakefield's comeback.

"Evan did a really nice job," Eaton said. "Wes pitched well, and they just hit the ball well and hit it into the gaps. We thought Evan would be a good change of pace, and he came on and threw well for us."

Wakefield-Ponca's win helped avoid a championship sweep by Tekamah-Herman, who beat Battle Creek 6-1 in the Juniors championship game. Wayne's Seniors beat Dodge-Scribner-Howells 6-1 in the consolation game, while Wisner was a 4-2 winner over West Point in the Juniors consolation.

The win came one day after

Wayne Seniors take third, Juniors 0-2 in RBL tourney

The Wayne Seniors took third-place honors in the Ralph Bishop League tournament, while the Juniors went 0-2 in tournament play to close out their regular season.

The Seniors opened with an easy 10-0 win over Battle Creek on Wednesday, scoring six runs in the second to break the game open. Jordan Backer had two hits, and Bradley Longe and Corey Doorlag each scored two runs. Brady Soden threw a two-hit shutout, striking out nine.

On Saturday, Wayne fell flat against Wakefield in the North Division finals, dropping a 6-2 decision at Hank Overin Field.

Wakefield jumped on Wayne for two runs in the first inning and never looked back from there. Wayne tried to mount a comeback after trailing 4-0 going to the bottom of the sixth. Jake Lutt walked and scored on a Drew Carroll groundout to get Wayne on the board.

They would add another run in the seventh when Joey Lenihan singled and scored on a fielder's choice by Danny Melena, but it wasn't enough to help Wayne defend its tournament title from a year ago as Wayne was out-hit 9-5.

Wayne did bounce back on Sunday, breaking a 1-1 tie with Dodge-Howells-Scribner with a run in the top of the sixth and two more in the seventh to claim a 4-1 win.

Wayne got a run in the first when Melena walked and scored on a Carroll single to take the early lead before D-H-S tied it with a run in the bottom of the fourth. It would stay that way until the sixth, when Wayne broke the tie to take the lead for good on a sixth-inning RBI single by Lenihan before adding a pair of insurance runs in the seventh. Carroll had the big blow

14-under Devils play hard, go 2-2 in state tourney

The Wayne Dirt Devils 14-under team bounced back from an early loss to post a pair of tough wins before bowing out in the Class C state tournament in Norfolk.

On Friday, Wayne opened with a tough 7-4 loss to a Norfolk Impact team they had beaten earlier in the season. Danica Schaefer and Sierra Scardino both had triples and scored in the game, while Ashten Gibson tried to help her cause with a double. She took the loss in the circle, allowing six hits and five walks while striking out four.

Wayne came back with three late runs to outlast the Omaha Mystix by a 5-3 count. Hannah Belt struck out 10 and worked through five hits and four walks. She got some key offensive support from Kiara Hochstein, who had two hits and two runs; and Jamie Gamble, who knocked out a pair of hits.

In their next game, Wayne continued to play well and posted an 8-5 win over Tekamah. Schaefer had a hit and scored two runs, while Belt, Gibson, Gamble and Nicole Craft all added hits. Belt again got the win in the circle, striking out nine and allowing seven hits.

Wayne played well against the Gretna Storm but came up short in a 4-3 decision that knocked them out of the tournament. Craft homered and singled in the game, while Gamble and Gibson both had doubles.

"It was a tough first loss, and it would have been a long hard battle back through the losers bracket," coach Alesha Finkey said. "I'm proud of the effort and the fight the girls showed throughout the tournament and the season."

Seniors send Zeiss out on top with 9-5 victory

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

With all the pomp and circumstance going on Tuesday, it took a while for the Wayne American Legion Seniors to get focused on the reason why they were there.

The combination of Seniors Night and the final home game for long-time coach Jeff Zeiss took a lot of the focus away from the Seniors as they took on Norfolk in a nine-inning game at Hank Overin Field, but once they all got on the same page, they were able to bounce back from a 4-2 deficit to post a 9-5 win and improve to 21-6 heading into the final weekend of the regular season.

It was a special night before the game, as Jake Lutt, Brook Bowers and Bradley Longe were presented with the Marty Summerfield Award. Zeiss and his wife, Jacki, were also honored prior to the game for their work in the Wayne American Legion baseball program, and the Gamble family was also recognized for a memorial sign outside the park that was erected in honor of Linda Gamble, a longtime Wayne athletics supporter who passed away earlier this spring.

With all of that, it was no surprise the Wayne team spent the first four innings kicking the ball around, as seven errors in the first three innings helped stake the visitors to a 4-2 advantage.

"There was a lot of stuff before the game that may have taken our focus from what we needed to do on the field, but they did a good job and regrouped and refocused," head coach Adam Hoffman said.

"We didn't play very well defensively against a good hitting team like Norfolk, so we were lucky to be in the game and we just battled and controlled the game from the fourth inning on."

Both teams notched a run in the first inning, with Danny Melena scoring Wayne's first tally on a wild pitch. Wayne added another run in the third when Longe tripled and scored on Brady Soden's double but found themselves in a 4-2 hole midway through the game.

The home team came through for their longtime coach in the bottom of the fifth, plating four runs to take the lead for good. The inning was highlighted by an infield single by Longe that scored Lutt, which was followed by a wild pitch that brought Jack Belt home with the tying run. A fielder's choice by Soden and a sacrifice fly by Joey Lenihan gave Wayne a 6-4 lead that they would not relinquish.

Both Soden and Longe pitched well through the first seven innings, battling through some shaky defense to keep the Norfolk bats from exploding in key situations.

"Brady only threw 60 pitches, but it would have been 30 if we could have made some plays behind him," Hoffman said. "He battled and kept throwing strikes, and Brad struggled a bit but was able to battle through."

Longe loaded the bases in the seventh, and Hoffman went to catcher Corey Doorlag to put out the fire. He did a good job, limiting Norfolk to a single run and getting out of the bases-loaded jam to help Wayne

18-under Devils 2-2 in Ringneck tourney

The Wayne Dirt Devils went 2-2 in the international Ringneck Tournament in Sioux Falls, S.D., over the Fourth of July holiday weekend. Wayne opened the tournament with a pair of wins, defeating the Midwest Dirt Devils 8-0 and the Minnesota Chaos 3-1. In the first game, Cassy Miller threw a four-hit shutout, striking out seven and walking two. Abbie Hix had a big game at the plate, going 4-for-4 with three doubles, three runs scored and two RBIs. Kristin Carroll had two hits and two RBIs, and McKenna Gibson added a pair of hits and drove in a run. Against the Chaos, Miller and Shelby Wobken combined to get the win for Wayne. Miller was 2-for-2 with a run scored, while Carroll, Gibson and Hannah Gamble each had hits. Wayne lost a tough one to the Forest Lake Rangers, 6-4. Wayne had four hits in the game, with Carroll, Victoria Kranz, Caitlin Fehring and Megan Hoffart all having hits. The team bowed out of the tournament with an 8-4 loss to the Minnesota Impact. The game was close until the final inning, when the Impact was able to put the game out of reach. Kranz, Hix and Gibson all had hits and Miller struck out six in the circle in a losing effort. In other action, the Dirt Devils split a home doubleheader with the Norfolk Golden Girls last Tuesday, July 2, winning the opener 2-1 and dropping the nightcap 7-4. In the first game, Miller struck out nine and allowed three hits to get the win. Carroll had two hits and scored a run, while Miller, Kranz, Gamble and Kendall Gamble each had hits. Fehring homered and had two hits in a losing effort in the nightcap. Kranz, Sidney Harris and Kendall Gamble all had hits. Carroll took the loss in the pitchers circle. On Tuesday, the Dirt Devils finished up the regular season with a 10-3 win over the Norfolk Impact. Hix and Kendall Gamble each had two hits and three runs scored. Kranz and Hannah Gamble each scored twice, and Gibson and Emily Leeper both added hits in the win. Gibson struck out four and allowed five hits to get the win. ## 12-under Devils fall to Wisner

The Wayne Dirt Devils 12-under softball team dropped a 3-2 decision to Wisner in their season finale last week. Wayne held a 1-0 lead for most of the game until Wisner scored three in the bottom of the third. Wayne closed the gap and had opportunities to score the tying run, but the Devils came up short. Tori Kniesche pitched well in a losing effort, striking out six while allowing two hits and five walks. Josie Thompson had the lone hit for Wayne and also drove home a run and scored one herself.

Wayne hosts Area 5 Juniors tournament

The Wayne Juniors are the No. 2 seed for the Class B, Area 5 tournament that will be played at Hank Overin Field in Wayne July 12-16. Wayne will battle third-seeded Albion on Friday, July 12 at 7 p.m. in the second game of the tournament. The tournament opener features No. 4 O'Neill vs. No. 5 Schuyler at 4 p.m. Columbus Lakeview is the top seed in the five-team, double-elimination tournament and will play the Schuyler-O'Neill winner on Saturday, July 13 at 5 p.m. The winner of the tournament advances to the state tournament at Elkhorn Mount Michael, July 20-24. The Area 5 bracket is as follows:

 keep its advantage. Doorlag followed with a two-run single in the seventh to close out the scoring and help Wayne improve to 21-6 on the season. Wayne outhit Norfolk 10-7 in the game, with Longe's three hits and two runs scored leading the way. Soden, Doorlag and Lutt each had two hits, and Lutt and Melena both scored twice. It was a great way for Zeiss to go out in his last home game in a Wayne uniform, and he got a cold shower after the game as the team dumped the water cooler on him after the final out. He said he was proud of the team's effort, even after the shaky start. "With all the ceremonies before the game and the Summerfield awards, there were some distractions but you still have to play baseball," he said. "I'm proud to wear Wayne on the front of my jersey and will miss that a lot and will miss working with these kids. It was a really neat night and I've been proud to be a part of Wayne baseball. We're going to keep the ball rolling, though, because the season's not over yet." Hoffman concurred, noting that games against Pierce, Pender and Seward to finish off the season are important for the team that carries the No. 1 seed into next week's Area 5 tournament in Aurora. "It's always a tough and competitive district, so we still have a lot of work to do this week," he said. "We need to be strong mentally and keep fighting through things and battle as a team, and we just need to come out and play the game and let the game come to us."

seven innings before Wisner scored the winning run on a controversial double down the line in the final inning. Jack Belt had half of Wayne's six hits in the game, while Noah Braun scored Caden Korth with Wayne's only run. Lutt pitched well in a losing effort, striking out 10 and scattering six hits. In consolation play, Wakefield scored seven runs in the second inning to take the lead for good. Wayne had four hits, with Braun getting two of them. Belt and Lucas Longe both scored runs, and Belt took the loss on the mound.

 in the inning, as his two-run double scored Melena and Longe. Longe, Carroll and Steve Sherman each had two hits to lead a nine-hit effort. Melena and Carroll both scored two runs, and Carroll and Soden had doubles in the game. Lutt went the distance for Wayne, striking out six and walking none while scattering five hits. In Juniors play, Wayne fell to Wisner 2-1 in eight innings, then dropped a 9-2 decision to Wakefield in consolation play. In the Wisner game, the teams battled to a 1-1 deadlock through players leaving the Seniors team to play for the Juniors in area and state tournament play. Wakefield hosts the Class C Juniors state tournament, so their availability for the Seniors area tournament is up in the air. "We're going to lose players like Alex Conley and Daniel Gustafson, so we'll have to find some people to fill those spots," Eaton said. "We have some guys coming back like Alan Lopez and Jacob Lunz, and we'll have to figure out who we're going to put in some of those positions."

Wakefield

 Wakefield dominated the top-seeded Wayne team in the semifinals, posting a 6-2 victory. Wakefield jumped on Wayne with two runs in the first inning, scored on an RBI single by Husen and a sacrifice fly by Adam Drieling. They added single runs in the fifth and sixth on RBI hits by Husen and Salmon, then put the game out of reach with a two-run single by Josh Masin in the seventh. The challenge now for Wakefield-Ponca is to fill a few holes that could be left behind with some Junior-age players leaving the Seniors team to play for the Juniors in area and state tournament play. ## Democrat leader targeting Kansas?

To all of you out-of-towners – and the rest of us who live here – it is my honor to welcome you to the 33rd annual Wayne Chicken Show . . . and this weeks' midsummer purging of the "Bits and Pieces" file:

– I hate to be the bearer of bad news, but we're about 16 months away from the next general election, and already the Nebraska Democrat Party has got the mudslinging equipment out and is putting it to good use.

And the Nebraska Democrats are taking this desperate approach to electoral prostitution to new lows. They aren't just attacking the opposing party – they're going after another state.

Vince Powers, the leader of the Nebraska Democrats, has taken his finger-pointing across the border to the south, telling the Nebraska Watchdog political news website recently, "Frankly, we don't want to be Kansas."

You know your party is desperate when you have to leave the state to find candidates from the other party to target. Then again, this is the same party that imported its candidate for the U.S. Senate last year, and that approach seemed to work out pretty well for them (sarcasm alert).

– Three men in Florida were charged recently with the kind of theft that, had it happened here in Wayne, may have resulted in their untimely demise.

The three men stole a 600-pound aluminum chicken from a Putnam County residence and proceeded to take it for a little joyride. They hooked up the chicken to a pickup and dragged it for a mile. One of the thieves even mounted the chicken for a joyride before officers tracked them down.

The chicken suffered some injuries, according to the report, including a lacerated leg, a cracked claw and some scarring. Two of the suspects were freed on bond, while the third was being held on a probation violation. Here in Wayne County, they likely would have been barbecued.

– Nothing says "Welcome to parenthood" quite like a box of condoms.

England's Prince William and his wife, Catherine, recently received a gift package of maternity-related products from Finland, who sent the package as a neighborly gesture.

The box, which is given to all expecting mothers in Finland, included a variety of items, including romper suits, snowsuits and booties. The box the items came in can also double up as a cot.

But condoms? I don't know what kind of neighborly message that sends – that they shouldn't have any more kids?

– Charity? Or act of cruelty? You be the judge.

An Omaha teenager is helping out a young girl who is dealing with a host of medical problems at Children's Hospital in Omaha.

The teenager has already seen Justin Bieber twice and had tickets to his most recent show in Omaha when she decided to give her tickets away to someone less fortunate (or more fortunate, depending on whether or not you're a "Bie-lieder" . . . and if you are, step away from the medicine cabinet and go breathe some fresh air before you kill any more brain cells).

You've got to admire the teenager's act of paying it forward – although, if she wanted to give her a REAL musical gift, she'd have gotten her tickets to a show where actual music is being played – like a Starland Vocal Band reunion tour.

– Speaking of Hollyweird warping our children, most of us are willing to recall the first concert of a popular artist that we attended as a kid.

I once sat next to a father who took his 6-year-old son to a Santana concert, and it was a memorable experience for the kid, as well as those of us who sat next to them (the kid was handed a guitar pick by Carlos Santana in the middle of his solo).

You would think, being the classic rocker that I am, that my first concert would be something like the Stones, or Lynyrd Skynyrd, or Boston, or even a hard rock band like Kiss or Def Leppard. I won't specifically say who the first artist I ever saw in concert was, but I'll give you this clue: her one hit single, "You Light Up My Life," reached No. 1 on the charts 35 years ago this year – and this may provide a lot of answers to those of you who wonder when the cheese slipped off my cracker.

– Annnnd finally, from the "Mutiny in the cereal bowl" department: There is a serious issue brewing within our armed forces, one that could have a nationwide impact if it is not settled.

At issue is the question of whether or not Cap'n Crunch is really a captain.

Horatio Magellan "Cap'n" Crunch has been leading the S.S. Guppy since 1963, when the cereal first made its debut. (Yeah, Cap'n Crunch is 50 years old – don't you feel ancient right about now?) Whether or not he really is a captain is up for debate within the U.S. Navy, which is looking into this as an act of impersonating a naval officer, which is a serious offense (as opposed to impersonating a President, of which the current officeholder has done for the last 5 1/2 years, but I digress).

Of course, before this gets too serious, we should point out something the Cap'n noted in a recent YouTube video – he's got four fingers, his eyebrows are attached to his hat, and his first mate is a dog.

If we're REALLY concerned about people abusing their positions of authority, somebody needs to have a word with the guy calling himself King Vitamin.

Pierce car dealer has history

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The Internet is alive with the story of the pending two-day auction of the former Lambrecht Chevrolet Company in Pierce, Nebraska. The dealership closed 17 years ago. The Minnesota-based auction company is touting a number of vehicles with fewer than ten miles on the odometer, plastic on the seats, original factory stickers still in the windows and hub caps and floor mats still in the trunk.

It's the stuff that car guys yearn for. A 1958 Chevrolet Cameo pickup truck with one mile on the odometer. A 1964 Chevy Impala with four miles on the odometer. A Silver Anniversary issued 1978 Corvette with four miles on the odometer. Plus a large number of "project" cars, trade-ins that were not re-sold, but stored on the Lambrecht farm. In addition, there are car parts still in the bins, parts books still on the counters, advertising displays, etc. in the showroom.

But the story of Ray P. and Mildred Lambrecht, as told to the auction company by their daughter Jeannie Lambrecht Stillwell, is the story of small business in the Midwest, of the true spirit of Mom and Pop and their love of, and involvement in, the life of the community.

She writes that her Dad and Mom owned and operated Lambrecht Chevrolet Company from 1946 until 1996, selling new Chevrolets to multiple generations of families all over the Midwest and beyond. They had one mechanic, and Ray developed a reputation for making his first offer to the customer his best offer. No dealing or dickering. He would offer a price and encourage his customers to go elsewhere and try to beat it. They usually came back. Born in 1918 during a depression in rural Pierce County, Nebraska, a small farming community, Lambrecht drove his first car at age nine. It was a 1927 tan Chevrolet two-door coupe, and he drove his mother seven miles into town to buy groceries. He was drafted into the Army in 1942 and served in the Aleutian Islands in Alaska where there was fierce fighting with the Japanese. Honorably discharged in 1946, he returned to Nebraska, married Mildred and went into the car business with his uncle. He designed and built the building that housed the dealership, driving from town-to-town in post-war Nebraska to find the materials. After two years, he bought out the uncle.

Ray and Mildred operated the dealership for 50 years until they retired in 1996 at ages 78 and 75. They worked six days a week for 50 years, never taking one single day of vacation or one sick day. They worked hard and operated their business with honesty, integrity and kindness, frequently lending a helping hand to others who were in need. Now, 17 years later, they have decided to sell everything, including the cars that are making collectors quiver with excitement. The late September auction is even the subject of a YouTube video. Stillwell says her dad believed in the Golden Rule, and he treated his customers accordingly. He was especially kind to the children who accompanied their fathers to the dealership to look at cars and trucks. He would let the kids sit inside new cars or look under the hoods while he explained to them how things worked. The kids were delighted and often became life-long customers when they became adults.

Ray also believed in selling safe cars to families and often took the trade-ins to the farm where his collection started to grow. It now includes 500 survivor vehicles. Ray, now 95, can look at any of those vehicles today and tell you the story behind it. He remembers each used car and the former owner, like the 1928 Durant owned by his wife's uncle Louie. That car is still part of the collection. But more important than the cars was the fact that Lambrecht Chevrolet participated in all of the important local celebrations and events throughout the years. For its grand opening in 1946, there were real live elephants in front of the dealership wearing Chevrolet banners on their backs, Stillwell said. During the Nebraska Centennial in 1954, Lambrecht had the honor of driving the Governor of Nebraska in a 1953 Corvette down Main Street in the parade. Pioneer Days in June of 1959 was the 100th anniversary of Pierce County, Nebraska.

Ray again drove dignitaries in a new 1959 Chevy in the parade. There were countless other functions and parades. Lambrecht Chevrolet Company remained a small business in a small Nebraska community of about 1,200 people. In the 1980s, the Lambrechts made the transition from typewriter to computer for communications with General Motors. But Mildred still used an adding machine for maintaining handwritten financial ledgers and paper files. The original cash register from 1946 still sat on the front counter and was used daily.

The inventory of Lambrecht Chevrolet is a virtual time capsule. The dedication of Ray and Mildred and their involvement in the community is a story repeated every day across Nebraska by countless small businessmen and women dedicated to serving friends and neighbors.

Legislative Update

An enjoyable week over July 4 holiday

This has been an enjoyable week. I was able to watch and listen to Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt (actually a very good impersonator) deliver a campaign speech from 1912. This was at the Heritage Museum in Pender on Saturday, June 29. Then I was back in Pender on Sunday to take part in their annual parade.

The first Tuesday of each month is our American Legion meeting in

Legislative Update
By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

Winside. This was the first meeting I have been able to attend there since our legislative session began back in January. I do enjoy attending these meetings when I can. It is a good opportunity to spend some time with some really great people who have served our nation well.

On Thursday, July 4, I took part in the annual parade in Hoskins. Later in the day came what I consider the highlight of the week. I had earlier been asked to, and on Thursday was honored to, be involved in ground-breaking ceremonies for the permanent half-scale replica Vietnam Veterans Memorial, which is being built as part of Siouland Freedom Park. As a veteran of the Vietnam War (some call it a conflict, they weren't there), it is very gratifying to see this being built in northeast Nebraska. For those of you who might not be familiar with Siouland Freedom Park, I suggest that you simply Google it. I would also encourage you to donate to this effort; it is very much worthwhile.

I hope that each and every one of you who reads this newsletter was able to take time to enjoy the birthday of this great nation! We, as a nation, are struggling with many problems, but I can think of no better place on earth to live. What the United States of America has accomplished over the last 237 years or so is truly remarkable. We, as Americans, still enjoy more freedom than anywhere else that I know of. There are those of us who feel that we are giving up too much of that freedom and privacy in today's society.

A Democratic Republic form of government such as ours cannot survive and prosper without the involvement of her people. I know all of us are tired of politics and politicians; it is important however, that you be active in your government. It is not too late. Your freedoms need not disappear. YOU can make a difference.

In Nebraska, the Primary Elections will take place in May of 2014. That is only 10 months away; the candidates have not been selected. YOU can and should be involved in that process. Perhaps you should consider an elective office; if not, at least you should find someone who shares your ideas and beliefs. Encourage and support them. Decisions made by elected officials from town boards to state and federal lawmakers will affect you. Now is the time for you to have an effect on who they are. Make your voice heard, become involved. It is important to you, to your state and your nation.

As always, if we can be of any assistance, contact our office at (402) 471-2716 or e-mail dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov.

St. vs. Tyler L. Bassett, Wayne,

Pet of the Week

The Pet of the Week at Tenderheart Animal Rescue is a beautiful male collie. He is between 3-5 years old and is very gentle and so very sweet. He is now sporting a hair cut and feels great. He was found abandoned west of Wayne. He is very good with other dogs and kids. The staff at Tenderheart has not tested him with cats. He was timid at first, but he just wasn't sure of what was going on. This dog is very smart and would make a wonderful pet for someone. He is neutered, up-to-date on all shots, and has been wormed.

For more information or to adopt this dog, call (402) 369-6030.

No-till, cover crops among topics of workshop

A No-Till, Cover Crops and Manure Management Educational Workshop will be held Wednesday July 24, from 5:30 - 8 p.m., at the Nielsen Community Center in West Point.

Registration begins at 5 p.m. This workshop will provide the opportunity for producers to hear first hand and ask questions concerning no-till, cover crops and manure management.

Featured speakers will include Dan Gillespie (Madison County farmer and NRCS Technician/No-Till Specialist), Paul Jasa ( UNL Extension Engineer), Derek Schreiter (NDEQ Inspector), Kristin Schluter (NRCS Resource Conservationist), and a panel of Cumming County producers who practice no-till farming, cover crops and manure management on their own farming operations.

The workshop will feature a Rainfall Simulator demonstration. This is a must see demonstration which illustrates the differences in water infiltration vs. water runoff between long term no-till soil and soil with varying degrees of tillage and residue combinations.

Various aspects pertaining to the use of cover crops in crop rotations will also be covered. Some of the many benefits of cover crops include erosion control, improved soil health, suppression of weeds, and interruption of crop disease cycles. Manure can also play an important role in soil health. Commonly asked questions pertaining to manure application will be addressed and obligations for non-livestock producers who purchase manure for use on their own farms will be reviewed.

Other topics will include highly-erodible land (HEL) compliance for USDA farm programs and some of the cost share programs available for producers to implement practices that help them achieve their conservation goals.

This informative workshop and your questions pertaining to your own operation can be answered by the industry professionals. The No-Till, Cover Crops and Manure Management Educational Workshop is free to the public. Those attending are encouraged to bring along anyone else who may be interested in attending. All we ask is that you let us know how many will be attending by Wednesday, July 17 so that we can get an accurate count for the complimentary supper that will be provided by the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District (LENRD).

To RSVP or if you have any questions, please call the NRCS office in West Point at (402) 372-2451 Ext. 3. This workshop is sponsored by the Natural Resources Conservation Service, Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District, UNL Extension, Nebraska Department of Environmental Quality, and a grant from the Nebraska Environmental Trust.

Wayne County will be accepting bids for a per hour rate for hauling asbestos contaminated soil and building debris. The debris will need to be tarped and decontaminated from the transport vehicles after delivery to a certified site. Inquire at or reply to the Wayne County Emergency Management Agency at 402-833-5190 before 5 p.m. on July 15, 2013.

Applied Science very flexible major

The world of agriculture is so exciting with so many opportunities for students that will provide for them endless opportunities throughout their professional careers.

Sciences and Natural Resources (CASNR) have a relatively new major – Applied Sciences. In the Applied Science major, students select from a broad range of courses in agriculture and environmental science from CASNR offering to tailor a degree to their career goals. Applied Science is one of the most flexible majors on campus or online-students choose over 50 percent of the courses that they take to graduate.

Applied Sciences, formerly known as Diversified Agriculture, prepares students for the science and technology based demands in agriculture today and far into the future. Students develop strong decision making skills through selecting and completing courses that will prepare them for their specific interests.

After completing the core and required courses, students select

Jennifer Hansen
Thurston County

courses in four concentration areas: Food, Animal, and Plant Science; Food Genetics, Biotechnology, and Processing; Ecology; or Entrepreneurship, Economics, and Policy.

The Applied Science major also includes 18-20 credit hours of free electives – students can choose any course in the university to further their career goals, enrich their personal interests, or use the credits to incorporate a minor, such as the new Business or Entrepreneurship minors.

Just a few of the possible careers include: public relations with commodity groups, plant specialist, ethanol production, extension assistant, research associate, direct involvement with farming, crop scouting.

For more information on a degree in Applied Sciences from UNL/CASNR and set up a campus visit contact: Steve Danielson or Lisa Silberman Applied Science Program Phone: (402) 472-8693 or sdanielson1@unl.edu.

Signs of rabbits and identification of damage

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a two part series.

Rabbits are active year-round, and can be active day or night during summer or the warmer periods of the day during winter. You can identify the presence of rabbits or damage they cause by their tracks, droppings, and markings. Tracks made by their hind feet are much longer than the front feet and are placed as pairs ahead of the slightly staggered front feet in the snow or soft earth. Toe prints are indistinct because the toes are well-furred.

Rabbit droppings are pea-sized individual pellets. Gnaw marks of rabbits are irregularly placed on the trunks of trees and shrubs a few inches above ground and occasionally on exposed roots. Rabbits will eat young bark on trunks and stems higher than three feet, especially in deep snow. A mark left by cottontail incisors is about 1/4 to 3/8 inches wide. Rabbits will nip pencil-sized stems cleanly at a 45-degree angle, while deer leave a jagged torn edge on stems of this size or larger.

Prevention and control of damage

The presence of rabbits does not always result in economic damage to plants. Most 2- to 3-foot high shrubs can survive having most of the 1- and 2-year-old twigs removed. However, the desirable bud, flower, or fruit development may be impaired. The key to effective and economical rabbit control is being able to predict and intercept damage with methods that are relative to the predicted loss in value.

A 1-inch mesh fence of poultry netting chicken wire works well to protect gardens and perennial flower beds from rabbit damage. Bury the bottom edge of the fence about 4 inches below the ground to prevent rabbits, particularly jackrabbits, from digging under it. The buried portion should be flared outward from the protected area to better prevent digging. Install a 2-foot high fence to protect against cottontails and a 3-foot high fence against jackrabbits.

Consider building the fence higher to exclude rabbits when snow cover is high or predicted to be high. A 2-foot high fence made of poultry netting (galvanized after the weave or weld will last longer) and 4-foot, 3/8-inch fiberglass fence rods spaced 3 feet apart can protect a 25-x 50-foot garden space for as little as $168.37 at 2010 prices ($1.13 per linear foot).

Reduce the cost by purchasing non-galvanized chicken wire and wood posts. Extend fence life by removing it each fall and storing it out of the weather. Plastic poultry netting is available in neutral colors but it is more expensive than wire mesh and can sustain damage from gnawing.

To exclude rabbits from an entire backyard, fences can be easily installed as additions to existing structures. Perimeter fences of welded wire mesh of 1-inch x 2-inch or 1-inch (hardware cloth, hail screen) excludes young rabbits, but a 2- x 3-inch mesh or chain link fence will exclude adults provided the fencing is anchored properly.

For small flower beds, construct a lightweight frame of fiberglass or metal rods at the anticipated height of the flower blossoms and shape plastic mesh netting over it. Use plastic mesh colors that blend into the background environment. Nurseries, tree farms, and other large areas, can be protected with a double-strand electric fence or electrified plastic-net fence. Place electric wires at 3 to 4 inches and at 8 to 12 inches above the ground. Consult local regulations before installing electric fences.

To protect individual trees, place cylinders of black plastic drain tile, cut to length and slit down one side, around the trunks. Poultry netting supported by stakes can be placed around the trunks of young trees and shrubs. Shrub stems growing through the netting will become susceptible to damage by rabbits.

Secure spaces under sheds and decks with 1/4 inch wire mesh to prevent rabbits from using the space for shelter. Instructions on proper exclusion techniques can be found at the Internet Center for Wildlife Damage Management's website: www.ICWDM.org. When properly done, the exclusion will also prevent skunks from taking up residence.

Habitat modification and plant selection

Reduce harborage for rabbits by removing brush piles and tall weeds, particularly those located near new windbreaks. Mow or spray to remove vegetation within 3 to 4 feet of recently planted trees and shrubs. Some trees and shrubs may need protection for as long as 10 years before they become mature enough to discourage rabbit feeding. Conversely, to guard against jackrabbit damage, you should encourage taller and denser vegetation.

We do not recommend supplying alternate foods for rabbits to reduce damage to desirable plants. In rare cases, feeding rabbits to save highly-valued plants may be a short-term solution until other control methods are implemented. Rabbits are selective in their plant preferences and will inexplicably switch to other food sources. Supplementing with other food, such as clover and alfalfa, may attract more rabbits and lead to further damage.

Changes taking place at Winside Methodist Church

Beginning July 1 Winside united Methodist Church's pastor Judy Carlson has moved from a part-time pastor to a full-time Senior Pastor.

She will, however, not only serve the Winside church, but also the Methodist Churches of Wausa and Randolph. She will not have to do it completely alone though, as she will have an assistant student pastor, Lauren Rudolph.

Pastor Carlson is taking care of the Randolph and Wausa churches due to the retirement of Rev. Brian Fong. She has lived in Wausa for the past 17 years and been married to Larry Carlson for 15 of those years. She has three children, two step-children, and seven grandchildren. She enjoys quilting, history and is very knowledgeable in genealogy.

Pastor Carlson has served the Winside Methodist church on a part-time basis for the past six years. Prior to going into the ministry, she worked in the Knox County courthouse at Center.

"I love the people" she said. "I have a passion for people and care about the people in the church. I love teaching and therefore value the Bible studies. I try to find a way to reach whatever age group I'm working with. Bringing God's message to them every Sunday is my highlight"

"To me the ministry is not a job, it's a mission", she said. "The responsibility that comes with it is something to take seriously because you're responsible for peoples lives".

"I'm very excited about my new position and also of having Lauren as an assistant. Lauren has a real gift in music and will be bringing a younger perspective on that into our churches" she said. "I'm not yet sure what duties Lauren will be doing, as I'm still analyzing the needs of each church. In Winside, we already have a very active Sunday School and Youth Group but we may be expanding with some age groups in all the churches. A lot is still being determined".

Rudolph grew up in the North Platte and Ogallala areas. She graduated from the University of Nebraska-Kearney with a bachelor's degree in music, art, and education. She originally had plans on being a music teacher, but she said God had other plans. She plays the piano, guitar, and some violin, but her primary instrument is voice.

Even though she graduated with honors, no full-time job was to be found. After a lot of prayer, she decided to travel the road God was calling her on. She was an intern at the Methodist church in Madison and Norfolk where she enjoyed working with the children and with music.

"The only thing I've wanted to do my entire life is to help people" Rudolph said. In college she was involved in a campus ministry and went on mission trips. She will be attending seminary at Sioux Falls, S.D. in the fall.

Carlson said she is looking forward to the skills she and Lauren can bring to the three churches. "Hopefully we can help the churches grow. Our ultimate goal is to bring people to Jesus Christ".

Sunday services at the Winside United Methodist Church will remain at 10:30 a.m. Randolph will have service at 9 a.m. and Wausa will be at 11 a.m. "Pastor Rudolph and I will be alternating Sunday services with one of us at Winside and the other doing a service at both Randolph and Wausa that morning."

Praise Assembly Church participates in mission work

Sunday morning Phil Pfaltzgraph led us into praise and worship. Communion was shared amongst the believers, remembering what Jesus Christ has done for us by dying on the Cross for our sins and resurrecting from the tomb signifying our eternal hope in Christ Jesus.

"We are blessed to participate in many different missions groups all around the world. Our children's ministry Kidz Praise, has focused on an organization called Boys and Girls Missionary Challenge sponsored by the Assemblies of God. Every month the boys and girls compete on how much weight and amounts of change are collected," said Pastor Jason Pickering, pastor of the church.

On the last Sunday of June, the boys won the weight and the girls won by having the greater amount. The whole congregation is involved with this.

"It is a joy to see the Kidz and the Adults work together having fun for reaching the lost around the world purchasing equipment to missionaries," Pastor Pickering said.

Pastor Pickering preached and taught on the subject of Understanding the Holy Spirit's Work and Witness. He said, "Most of the time people live an unexamined life."

He outlined seven areas the Holy Spirit functions in that are manifested invisibly and visibly in a person's life.

1) The Spirit of God strives with man Psalms 103:8,9. God will convict actual sin and inherited sin from the curse of Adam and Eve. Also, the Holy Spirit will convict careless Christians who need to be involved in active ministry, anchoring their faith unto the Lord. Invisibly, conviction creates an uneasiness in one's soul. Visibly that person may have a troubled look on his face.

2) The Spirit of God also works to restore man John 3:5-8 & 2 Corinthians 5:17. When we believe in God and receive Christ in our life we open the door for God to transform us from our own sinful desires to having a new life in Christ. Invisibly, that person can receive peace in their heart and visibly output the fruit of the Spirit Galatians 5:22-23, that reveals a heart that is being transformed.

3) The Spirit of God works to Sanctify 1 Peter 1:2. In the process of sanctification, the Spirit manifests Joy in the heart which produces a fruit unto holiness that is visible Romans 6:22.

4) The Spirit of God bears witness with our Spirit. Divine healing, answers to prayer, and a changed life in Christ give an invisible confidence towards God, because He is working in our lives. Visibly, Romans 10:10 reveals a testimony to the world of the Spirits work in an individual. Pastor Jason made the statement, "The Spirit of God cannot be bottled up in a person, if there is a change in the heart, the mouth will testify of God's goodness and grace."

5) The Holy Spirit also teaches (John 14:26). Someone who is taught by the Spirit has insight into the words of Jesus John 14:26. The visible manifestation of this occurs when one displays wisdom in the regards to the Christ-Life and hidden things of God.

6) The Holy Spirit anoints us to prepare and enable an individual to undergo some kind of trial or difficulty in life. That anointing invisibly gives insight into God's dealings with His children according to Psalms 23:5-6 and visibly reveals boldness and liberty to do God's work and will. This boldness will allow one to speak the truth about God's Word Acts 4:29-31.

7) The Spirit of God Baptizes. Matthew 3:11. One of the keys that Pastor Jason made mention was "Spiritual manifestations may be produced with or without our emotional awareness."

In all these points, there is a demonstration of the Holy Spirit at work in those who are following Christ and especially those who are lost without Christ. John 3:16 states, "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish, but have eternal life."

The community is invited to join the congregation of Praise Assembly every Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Vacation Bible School set at Methodist Church

First United Methodist Church of Wayne will be conducting Vacation Bible School Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 15-17.

Activities will take place from 4:30-7:30 p.m. each day at the church, located at 516 Main Street. Supper will be served to the children.

All children, ages three years through sixth grade, are welcome to attend. To register for the Bible School, call the church at (402) 375-2231. Registrations will be accepted up to July 15.

The theme of this year's Bible School is "Back Stage with the Bible" and will involve lots of singing and play acting.

Wayne Sharp Shooters place 14th at nationals

Six members of the Sharp Shooters 4-H Club competed in the 48th annual Daisy National BB Gun Championship Match, held in Rogers AR, on June 29-30. A total of 54 teams from across the U.S. vied for the coveted title with the Sharp Shooters finishing in 14th place.

Team members included Austin Arens, son of Kelly and Jenny Arens of Laurel; James Simpson, son of Jeff and Colleen Simpson of Wayne; Cameron Muhs, son of Brock and Jamie Muhs of Carroll; Joshua Greunke, son of Darin and Staci Greunke of Winside; and Sam Perry, son of Ted and Angie Perry of Carroll. Trevin Boysen, son of Scott and Kim Boysen of Laurel, was the lone alternate for the team.

The National BB Gun Championship format consisted of each competitor shooting 10 shots in each of the following positions; prone, standing, sitting, and kneeling. Each entrant also took a written test covering firearm safety and rules of the competition. Each position and the test had a possible perfect score of 100 points, for a total of up to 500 points. The team members scores were added together to comprise the team score. "The kids did a great job," said Darin Greunke, coach of the Sharp Shooters. "We had three goals going down to Nationals - to have fun, to shoot the best we could for the match and to learn. The kids were relaxed on the range, smiling and laughing. They kept the mood light."

After the scores were tabulated, the Sharp Shooters accomplished goal number two in scoring a team total of 2,272 out of a possible 2,500 points. The winning team score was 2,374.

"All the kids kept their cool and shot really well," said Greunke. "Finishing 102 points out of first, in this high level of competition, is testament to how hard the kids worked in practice before going down."

Three of the Sharp Shooters shot personal best scores in Rogers. Austin Arens shot a 377, Joshua Greunke kept pace with a 373. Trevin Boysen finished with a 327. Austin also shot a 99 in the sitting position to tie with eight other shooters for second place. The tie was broken by scoring center shots. Austin finished in fifth place in the sitting position overall. James Simpson tallied 366 points, Cameron Muhs shot a 359, with Sam Perry finishing with 353.

The test was the make or break portion of the match. "They rewrote the test this year, making it more challenging than usual. The Sharp Shooters fared well on the test. The team scored 444 points toward their team total," added Greunke. "In coaching the kids, I told them the test would most likely be harder.

They responded by studying harder."

Wayne Teen Supremes 4-H Club earns Governor's Agricultural Excellence Award

The Wayne County Teen Supremes were awarded a Governor's Agricultural Excellence Award by The Nebraska 4-H Foundation and the Nebraska Investment Finance Authority (NIFA) on July 1.

(NIFA) which recognize 4-H clubs for the work of the individuals in the club and the community service work of the entire club.

Twenty-five clubs have been recognized each year since 1997. Recognition is in the form of $500 checks issued to the club's treasury to be used as described in the award application form completed by the club.

A public presentation of the checks and banner was made during the PASE/Life Challenge event on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's East Campus.

Clubs may use the award dollars for many different programs, conferences or workshops for others in the community, trips or tours for club members, community improvement projects in their home town, campus visits, fair grounds enhancement, inter-generational programs, and the development of a youth council are just a few examples of the ways the award can be used.

The Teen Supremes in Wayne County will be painting at the 4-H Building, making educational posters for some of the livestock barns, and purchasing some new displays for the 4-H Building. In addition to the NIFA award, $500 is also being matched by the Wayne County Fairboard, Wayne County 4-H Council and UNL Extension in Wayne County.

Deadline for acreage reports approaching

Farm Service Agency (FSA) Director Dan Steinkruger reminds producers of the upcoming acreage reporting deadline for 2013 spring seeded crops and Conservation Reserve Program acres.

"Producers are required to submit their acreage certification to their local county FSA office by July 15, 2013 to meet FSA program eligibility requirements," said Steinkruger.

Accurate acreage reports are necessary to determine and maintain eligibility for current and future FSA programs, including the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program (DCP), Average Crop Revenue Election Program (ACRE), Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) and Non-insured Assistance Program (NAP).

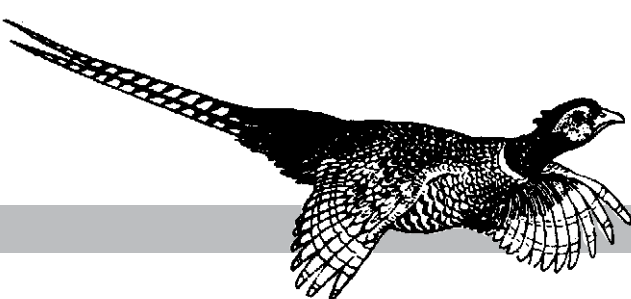

Acreage reports are considered timely filed when certified by crop reporting deadlines. In addition to the final reporting deadline, producers should also report any acreage that was prevented from being planted or that has failed. For 2013, the deadline to report prevented planted acreage has been extended to July 15, 2013. Failed acreage must be reported before the disposition of the crop. NAP crops that are harvested prior to July 15 must be reported 15 calendar days before harvest or grazing of the crop. "Producers should contact their county FSA office if they are uncertain about reporting deadlines," said Steinkruger.

Producers should contact their local FSA office to schedule an appointment to certify all acreage. In 2013, FSA implemented new reporting deadlines for fall seeded and perennial forage crops. The deadline to report these crops was November 15, 2013. Producers are encouraged to report any previously unreported crop. Fees for late-filing any crop for 2013 have been waived until September 15, 2013. For questions concerning specific crop reporting dates or any FSA program, producers should contact their local FSA office.

Enjoying the music of the Fourth

One of the joys of summer in Lincoln is a tradition that is now over 100 years old; the Sunday evening band concert in the band shell in Antelope Park. It's pure Americana, and always reminds me of a scene from the musical, "The Music Man."

Last night's concert featured some patriotic numbers and a couple of Sousa marches; plus, solos by winners of a contest sponsored by the band. A high school girl sang a number from "42nd Street," and an UNL student from Alliance played the euphonium. His parents came all that way to hear him, too.

There was a flag raising ceremony by a small group of Civil War reenactors. Which reminded me of the reenactments that were taking place at Gettysburg the past week. One article said that the hardest part for the commanders of the units was deciding who was going to play dead! Those guys, after investing a lot of money in authentic uniforms and weapons, and driving hundreds of miles, do not want to spend the afternoon lying on the ground while the rest of the troops keep shooting at each other! I can understand that.

I got hold of a lovely spinet piano a couple of years ago, and so far, it's just been used to hold my Dept. 56

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

collection at Christmas time! I do play it, but not as much as I should. It desperately needs tuning. With Marlyce coming next week, I was looking for a tuner. (Marlyce is an accomplished piano player.)

I put my lawn chair beside a friendly looking couple when I got to the park last night and soon, a gal I know approached us to say hello. She obviously knew the other couple, too. In fact, she commented that he is a piano tuner! So, that solved my search. He gave me his card, and I'm waiting for him to call regarding a time.

It was 92 degrees when I left to get to the park, and it was 90 when I arrived home two hours later. The wind that had been blowing all day went down after the crowd arrived in the park, and did not pick up again until about the last number. But I think there was a record crowd.

We didn't even get to Seward for the Fourth; it was just too hot for us old folks. I did get to our church for a supper of pulled pork sandwiches; it was put on by the Family Life board for the neighborhood. Our day care serves over 300 students, so some of those families were in attendance. We sometimes have trouble believing how many new homes and apartments have been built in this neighborhood since the church moved there 10 years ago. Lincoln continues to grow, but in essence, is still a small town. Any bigger, and I would not be comfortable.

The city council has cut the funding for the band concerts, but donors have stepped up; hopefully, we will always be able to enjoy the music. And the fireworks, and the suppers, and all that goes with celebrating the Fourth! Hope you had a good one.

to $71; 2's + 3's, 280-300 lbs., $65 to $69; 3's + 4's, 300 lbs.-over, $60 to $65.

Sows — 350-500 lbs., $60 to $65. 500-650 lbs., $65 to $70. Boars — $18 to $30.

4-H contest at State Fair will address hunger prevention

Nebraska 4-H has announced the second annual Great Question Challenge Competition occurring at Nebraska State Fair.

The Great Question Challenge inspires youth to develop entrepreneurial skills through the process of finding solutions to community needs. Prizes include $1,000, $700, and $450 for the top three teams in each division to put their plans into action.

In partnership with the Engler Agribusiness Program and DuPont Pioneer, the Great Question Challenge will take place Monday, Sept. 2, 2013 from 9: a.m.-12 p.m. in the 4-H/FFA Building. In teams of two to four, 4-Hers will present their unique ideas regarding hunger prevention in their communities.

In preparation for the contest, youth are encouraged to present their ideas to community leaders and refine their strategy based on community suggestions.

Nationally about 15 percent of all U.S. households are food insecure. In Nebraska, nearly 100,000 children are unsure where their next meal will come from. The presence of "food deserts" within low income and rural areas make it difficult for those without personal transportation to access the wide variety of affordable, nutritious foods typically found in a traditional super market. The teams will have five minutes to present their solution to the judges.

More information can be found at www.4h.unl.edu/nebraskastatefairbook. Registration will close Aug. 10. To register, please contact your local extension office.

SoyWater helps with irrigation

As we all know, we are heading into the hot, drier part of the summer. Hopefully it will be nothing like last year but irrigation systems will be running and hopefully last year reminded us that we need to manage our water resources more efficiently.

We can't do anything about the weather, but if we have irrigation, we can water our crops and yards. In crops, sometimes it might appear pretty simple. Turn the pivots on and don't stop them. In corn, which enters a high water use phase around tasseling, this could be pretty close to the truth. Irrigated corn, with its higher plant populations, will use over .30 inches of water per day during the early reproductive stages. Since most pivots can put about an inch of water on a field about every three days, the turn on and stay on might be a reality. However, some water/electric restrictions and occasional rainfall can cause a change in plans.

To get more information on corn production, including irrigation management, go to www.cropwatch.unl.edu/web/corn/home.

A relatively new UNL website offers soybean producers an easy-to-use decision aid for optimizing irrigation efficiency and energy use. SoyWater, available at soywater.unl.edu, asks a few, simple questions specific to the field and then provides daily estimates of crop water use and soil water status.

Users log on and after just a few mouse-clicks, SoyWater provides a table of real-time, actual daily weather data for computing daily crop water use from planting (or emergence) to the day before producer log-in. It then uses historical weather data to compute daily crop water use from the day of log-in to the day of expected crop maturity.

The daily weather data is from a weather station of the Automated Weather Data Network (AWDN) maintained by the High Plains Regional Climate Center (HPRCC). (SoyWater automatically identifies the weather station nearest the producer's field.) During the season, the producer will log in to SoyWater to input the date and amount of local rainfall and any irrigation applications.

Based on this information, SoyWater will highlight the projected date when the first (or next) irrigation should be scheduled and projects the dates of specific soybean vegetative (V-) and reproductive (R-) growth stages. SoyWater can be useful to both rainfed and irrigated soybean producers interested in predicting the date of a V- or R-stage.

This information also can be useful when making other crop management decisions for a particular soybean field, such as when the effectiveness of a herbicide or fungicide depends on application at a specific growth stage. Give it a try.

Local 4-Hers attend judging contest

Four Wayne County 4-Hers participated in the PASE/Life Challenge Event on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Campus, Animal Science Building on July 2.

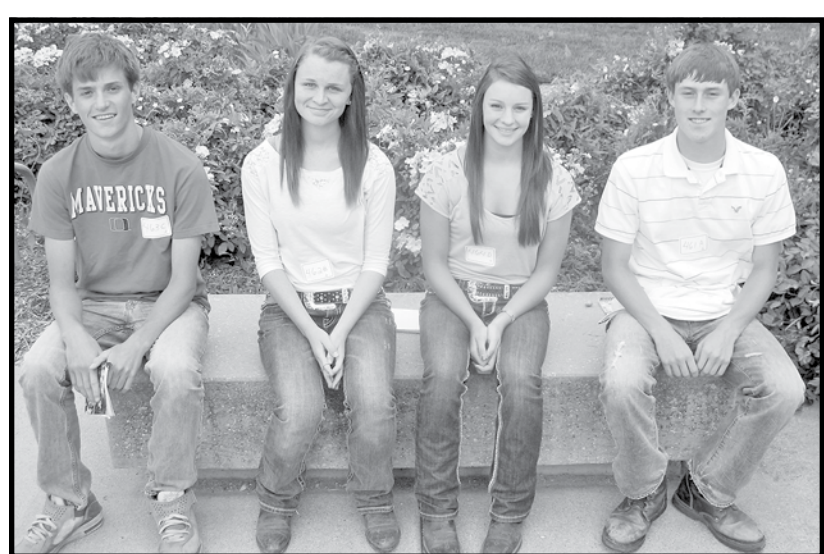

The individuals judged eight classes of livestock, including breeding and market beef, breeding and market sheep, breeding and market swine and a class of Boer breeding does.

The 4-Hers gave four sets of oral reasons and also answered two sets of questions while completing in the contest.

Those 4-Hers competing for Wayne County included Brook Bowers, Riley Nichols and Luke Pulfer of Wayne and Alyssa Schmale of Carroll. The team placed 18th in the Senior Division.

Alumni Weekend A Success!

The Allen Alumni weekend held last weekend was a success. The weekend included many events. The honor classes of 1962 and 1963 met at the Allen Fire Hall before the All School Social where the Allen Development group served burgers, salads, dessert and drinks.

There was Food & Fun in the Allen Park with carnival games and rides from Mike and Val Isom at Love-A-Lop Animal farm. Several people lined the street for the parade honoring our Rural Community that had entries ranging from antique tractors to a hillbilly hot tub float - which included spraying the spectators with water. Saturday night was the All School Alumni Banquet catered by R&D Catering (Roger and Donna Kraft of Allen.)

The winners were announced at the Banquet for the Allen Community Club raffle. They included: 46" TV - Dean Chase, Allen; iPad - Doug Done, Pilger; 6 - $50 Gift Certificates to Countryside Gas & Grocery - Tom Decker, Ponca; Bailey McCoy, Ponca; Courtland Roberts, Allen; Carla Dickens, Allen; Val Bard, Wakefield; Bonnie Crom, Wakefield.

Following the banquet was the Memorial Fireworks Display at the Isom-Hill Athletic field. Several beautiful fireworks were set off for the community to enjoy. It was a great ending for an event-filled weekend.
