$12 million project made possible by work of many Laurel BioComposite grand opening held last week

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Slicing through a gold ribbon made of the product they will be selling, Tim Bearnese officially opened the doors of Laurel BioComposite late last Wednesday afternoon.

Surrounded by a reporter-estimated crowd of 300 well-wishers, dignitaries and area media, Bearnese had a smile of relief on his face as the company hosted a ribbon-cutting ceremony that drew Gov. Dave Heineman, USDA rural development state director Maxine Moul, Laurel Mayor Mark Patefield and others from around the area.

More than 100 people took a tour through the $12 million facility after the ribbon-cutting ceremony, the cap of what has been an exciting and challenging time for Laurel BioComposite CEO Tim Bearnese.

"It was a really good day," he said. "We had a really nice crowd and a lot of different parties who have been a part of this were here and it went really well."

The company worked with a number of state and local entities, including the Nebraska Department of Economic Development, Northeast Nebraska Economic Development, USDA's rural development program and Security Bank in Laurel to make the project possible.

The company, which formed in 2007, uses distillers grains to create a Bio-Res pellet that can be used to replace a portion of traditional plastics in a wide variety of products, from flower pots to shipping pallets.

At the time of its grand opening, Bearnese said the company, which will employ 12-15 full-time employees, is producing about 1,300 pounds an hour, which translates into an annual production of about 7 million pounds. By the time a second production line is completed sometime in early 2014, the annual production is expected to be up to 50 million pounds.

Bearnese said a lot of local support made the project possible, including the help of Security Bank, which worked with the USDA

Redneck school buses

Those traveling along Highway 35 near Wayne High School on Monday may have been surprised to see a long row of tractors filling the parking lot. The occasion was Redneck Day, part of the school's celebration of Homecoming Week. A number of students drove tractors and dressed accordingly to school that day and took time to pose for a picture before school. Activities continue at the school through Friday.

Affordable Care Act questions, facts discussed at local meeting

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

With the Affordable Care Act now being implemented, there are still a lot more questions than answers for people wondering about how they will choose their medical plans and, more important, how they will pay for them.

A reporter-estimated crowd of 50 people, including local insurance agents, gathered Monday at the Wayne Senior Center to get the basics on the Affordable Care Act and ask questions of Jon Bailey, director of rural research and analysis for the Center for Rural Affairs.

Most of the discussion centered around what the Affordable Care Act is and what people can expect when they apply for it online. There were concerns, however, about cost increases and changes in insurance plans that were asked by some area residents.

Bailey said that some glitches were to be expected with the launch of the website www.healthcare.gov, where people will go to enter the "marketplace" where they can look for the best deals on health insurance and apply for coverage.

Jon Bailey of the Center for Rural Affairs discussed some of the nuances of the Affordable Care Act during a meeting here Monday.

conciliation Act of 2010, is reported to reform key aspects of the nation's health insurance coverage. The acts were designed to provide coverage to Americans with pre-existing conditions, end lifetime limits on coverage, end arbitrary withdrawals of insurance coverage and keep young adults covered on their parents' plans until the age of 26.

Beginning on Jan. 1, 2014, all American citizens and legal residents will be required to have some form of health insurance in place, Bailey said. Those who do not have health insurance in place would pay a penalty – however, the bill limits the penalty to a specific dollar amount or a percentage of a person's taxable income. In 2014, that penalty would be $95 or one percent of taxable income, rising to $695 or 2.5 percent of taxable income by 2016.

"Congress took out most of the mechanics for dealing with the penalty," Bailey said. "The only way you would pay it is if you get a refund on your taxes."

Bailey said that glitches were to be expected when the system opened for business on Tuesday, and added that he wasn't sure how the marketplace would work in Nebraska.

"It's going to have to connect to a number of websites, and there are a lot of moving pieces of data for hundreds of millions of people, so don't expect perfection," he said.

Bailey said there has been a lot of talk,

Tax receipts set new high

The city sales tax receipts for the City of Wayne were down for the month of September, but were still high enough to set a new record for year-end totals.

According to city finance director Nancy Braden, September's receipts, which are based off sales in the month of July, were $47,782.19. That number is down more than $3,000 from the previous month and more than $7,000 behind the same period last year.

Still, the city's final fiscal year total for 2012-13 was $614,827.19, an average of $51,235.60. That number was ahead of last year's record total of $593,969.16, which averaged $49,497.43 a month.

One individual was hurt when a school bus collided with a vehicle in the intersection of Lincoln and Fifth streets Thursday afternoon.

One hurt in bus accident

One person suffered minor injuries Thursday afternoon in the collision of a school bus and another vehicle in Wayne.

According to Wayne Police Chief Marlen Chinn, a 2005 International Mid States school bus, driven by Jonah Stephens, 68, of Wayne, was traveling south on Lincoln Street when it entered the intersection at Fifth Street and collided with a 2004 Chevy Trailblazer, driven by Dolce Torres, 17, of Wayne. Both vehicles collided in the intersection, causing both to leave the roadway. Both vehicles struck a tree and came to a stop in the yard of 421 Lincoln Street. A number of students were on the bus at the time of the accident, but none were injured. A male passenger in the Torres vehicle was taken by private vehicle to Mercy Medical for minor injuries.

Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne is in charge of arrangements.

Calvin Casey earns Eagle Scout award

Calvin Casey of Laurel was recently awarded the Boy Scout Eagle Award.

The Eagle Award is the highest rank attainable for a Boy Scout under the age of 18.

Calvin's Lions Club Park Eagle Scout Project consisted of repairing and painting picnic tables and bench, putting in new basketball hoops, painting a swing set and trash can Laurel-Concord/Coleridge orange to match the existing new park equipment, painting the wooden poles between the park and the parking spaces, repairing cement for basketball court and one shelter, painting grills.

His service scout project consists of planning, implement the project by asking for funds, order supplies, asking for volunteers and supervising and managing the project until complete.

Donations came from the City of Laurel, LCC Schools, Laurel True Value, an anonymous donor and the Laurel Lions Club.

Approximately 30 volunteers were at the park that day including: Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cub and Boy Scout Leaders, family and friends, including three college students from Creighton University that his sister, Julia, brought home.

The project was implemented and completed on Aug. 31. It was approved through the Boy Scout Council and after the project and proper forms were completed, Calvin appeared in front of the Boy Scout Board of Reviews for final approval for Eagle Award.

Calvin also went in front of the Lions Club and the Laurel City Council to have the project approved and asked for donation. He went to a school board meeting with the LCC School Boards for a donation.

At the completion of the project Calvin said, "Hard work always pays off, you might not know when or how, but it will always pay off."

Calvin has been in scouts since the first grade. The 17 year-old is currently a senior at LCC High School. He earned 24 merit badges including Citizen in the Nation, Citizen in the World, Fishing, Swimming and Shotgun Shooting. Scouts must have earned 21 badges before becoming eligible for the Eagle Award.

In high school, he has been a member of the LCC Football Team all four years, a member of FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) all four years and is serving as the Vice President this year. He has also been involved in track, wrestling, basketball and golf.

He took a High Adventure trip

Hiking and Canoeing in Colorado, went winter and summer camping, went to summer camps at Lewis and Clark Camp in Yankton, S.D. and Camp Cedars in Fremont.

Calvin's family includes an older sister, Julia, who is a sophomore at Creighton University in Omaha. She earned the Girl Scout Gold Award (highest achievement that a high school student can earn) by refurbishing the Veterans Memorial Park next to the City of Laurel Office by acquiring funds, ordering materials, implementing project and overseeing the project to completion.

Younger brother, Nolan, is a sophomore in LCC High School. He has earned 17 Merit badges and is currently completed including Archery, Canoeing, Environmental Science, and Orienteering. He is working on the remainder of his merit badges and will be starting to work on his Eagle Scout Project soon.

Calvin's sister, Anna, is an eighth grader at LCC Middle School. She is working with Madisyn Hall, a seventh grader at LCC Middle School from Coleridge on their Girl Scout Silver Award, highest achievement that a 6-8th grader can earn in Girl Scouts, by raising funds for a 44" Bronze statue of the "Fallen Regular City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in city hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

Electric Vehicle Charging Station in Wayne

There is an electric vehicle charging station in Wayne located in the parking lot west of Wayne city hall at Third and Pearl Street.

The charging station can be operated by swiping either a "ChargePoint" card or a regular credit or debit card that has the PayPass symbol on it. The cost for a charge is $1.

You can request the paypass option on your next credit card. You can secure a charge point card through the nationwide ChargePoint network at www.chargepoint.com

Planning and Zoning in Wayne

Paying attention to zoning issues is usually ranked with reading municipal budgets and audit reports.

However, zoning decisions like budget decisions have consequences. The primary purpose for zoning is to group similar property uses together such as residential with residential, industrial uses with other industrial uses, etc. The responsibility for long range planning and zoning lies with the Planning Commission whose members are appointed by the mayor and council.

When we purchase homes or when zoning regulations are amended, its difficult to get our attention about what zoning is in place and what it means. Zoning regulations attract a lot more attention in times of new investment and development in a community. There is a lot of new commercial and residential development happening in Wayne right now.

The Wayne zoning code and a map of the zoning areas are on the city web site. All zoning regulations are adopted after two public hearings, one by the Planning Commission and a second public hearing by the city council. Some public hearings require direct mailings to nearby property owners and some public hearings require only public notices in the local paper.

How can we know when these public hearings are held? The Planning Commission conducts a lot of public hearings. State law doesn't require sending individual notices to every property owner, every time and the cost would be prohibitive. A quick check of the city website or Wayne Herald notices will keep you informed.

Bark Park Benefactors

Betty and Bill Reeg of Arnies Ford Mercury recently presented a check for $2,000 to Jessi Hansen (center) representing the Wayne Bark Park. The Reegs donated the money in memory of Abbie and Reva, two Vizsla dogs they had had for approximately 16 years. "The dogs were our 'Canine kids' and long-time companions," Betty said. The Reegs have two new dogs and are anxious to use the Bark Park. "Our new dogs, who are also Vizslas, will be able to socialize at the Park," Betty added. The money donated by the Reegs was in response to a Barking for an Angel Challenge Grant, which was issued earlier this spring. The Reegs' donation, along with that of other donations and the proceeds from a number of fund-raisers, has allowed the Bark Park committee to reach its fund-raising goal. The park is now open for use by Man's Best Friend.

Area Emergency Management personnel assist at Outdoor Expo

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission requested assistance from the Northeast Nebraska All-Hazard Support Group at the Missouri River Outdoor Expo at Ponca State Park Sept. 20-22.

With an expectation of 25,000 to 30,000 participants per day, the Game and Parks Commission noted communications difficulties in previous years throughout the rugged terrain.

The group responded to the request to provide an effective solution to local responder units that had been unable to effectively communicate with the Game and Parks radio system.

The Dixon County Emergency Management Agency requested the Northeast Planning, Exercising and Training Region portable 85-foot antenna tower and one portable 30-foot area lighting tower to assist the Support Group with the park's communications issues.

After placing the two towers in strategic locations, a network of radio relays and a radio frequency plan were developed to accomplish the requested task.

The Wayne County's Emergency Operations mobile trailer was also deployed to the scene for a station to work from.

Local emergency medical and law enforcement responders used the system to mitigate and respond to three reports of missing children, a potential outside threat that became unrelated to the event, several hundred bee sting incidents, a sprained ankle, a fall including a bump to the head and a hand injury at the shooting range.

Jeff Jones, a Nebraska Game and Parks Commission Law Enforcement Officer and a member of the Missouri River Outdoor Expo Board expressed his appreciation of the Support Group being able to provide the communications solutions that he had requested during prior planning for the annual event. He also indicated that next year is the 10th anniversary of the event and was confident that the group will be requested again to a potentially larger crowd because of the tenure of the event.

The Northeast Nebraska All-Hazard Support Group was composed of emergency management members from Dixon, Cedar, Thurston and Wayne Counties and a Wayne Police Department Dispatcher.

The Wayne Dispatcher was Lee Wrede; Dixon County EMA was represented by Shea Scollard and Lynn Eifert; Cedar County was represented by Kevin Garvin and Bob Hamilton; Thurston County and Winnebago was represented by Matthew May and Wayne County was represented by Nicholas Kemnitz and Group Supervisor LeRoy Janssen.

Beer-tasting even tapped out at county board meeting

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

A request to hold an Octoberfest-style beer-tasting event on courthouse property was left untapped at Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne County Commissioners.

The three-member board talked with Bill Melena, who was approached by Heidi Claussen about hosting a special beer-tasting event during a date in October at the Farmer's Market, which sets up shop on the northeast corner of the Wayne County Courthouse property.

The event, which was to be held later this month, would sample a number of different craft and microbrewed beers, Melena told the board.

Because of the closeness of the event to the meeting, Melena said he would have a tight window to get information to the state's liquor commission in Lincoln in the time needed to get the event approved by the state.

Board members said they were concerned about setting a precedent for having alcohol around the county courthouse. While alcohol is served at the county fairgrounds during the Wayne County Fair, board members said they weren't excited about the idea of having an alcohol-related event at the courthouse.

"I could see that this would go over well, but I just worry about what it would open up," board member Randy Larson said. "Otherwise, I'd be fine with having a beer or wine-tasting event here."

Melena said he was fine with whatever decision the board would make on the request, adding that the idea was something that came up just recently and they would take the idea and try to put something together a little sooner so that an event could be done next year, whether on Sixth Street at the northeast corner of the courthouse or at the Wayne City Auditorium.

The board discussed how they would go about paying for a number of bridge projects that need to be done on county roads, as county engineer Phil Lorenson of D.A. Davidson presented a number of possibilities for the board to consider. The county receives $900,000 in highway allocation funds from the state that can be used for project expenses. That money can be used on bridge projects as long as roadway improvements are being done with the bridge.

Lorenson said the county has "a minefield that we need to navigate through in this process, but we can pick and choose which projects are best."

Larson said the county has "a lot more bridges (to fix) than we have money," and wondered if the county could handle some of the smaller projects on their own and use a bond issue for bigger projects.

"I'm for getting as much as we can done with a bond issue, because you only get one shot at it," he said. Lorenson said the county does have room in its levy to fund projects without it being "a horrible bite" on county taxpayers. The county can pay for projects over a varying number of years, but anything beyond 10 years would not be considered cost-effective, Lorenson said.

In other action, the board: - approved a request from County Assessor Dawn Duffy to have Melissa Rabbass work three days in that office. At the present time, Rabbass splits her week between the assessor's office and the county roads department. Under the new agreement, she will work two days in the county roads office and three in the assessor's office.

- the county received a letter from Chris Hassler, highway civil rights specialist for the Nebraska Department of Roads, praising the work Rabbass did on the county's Americans with Disabilities Act policy that was turned in to the state recently.

"A lot of times, I receive policies that the local agency has just thrown together in order to get it over with and get something turned in," Hassler wrote. "Wayne County's policy took some work. It's very thorough and it's obvious that the County took the self-evaluation and transition plan seriously. I just wanted to let you guys know how much I appreciate that."

Zombies coming here Saturday

The zombies are coming! From the success of the TV series "The Walking Dead" to Brad Pitt's movie "World War Z," zombies are popular in the media. This is your opportunity to get in on the zombie fun at the second annual Zombie Walk of Wayne.

The Undead Horde is rising for the apocalypse on Saturday, Oct. 5. Everyone in the community is encouraged to "get your dead on and donate to the American Red Cross! In lieu of cover charge, participants are encouraged to donate to the American Red Cross, who will have a table promoting disaster preparedness at the event."

The undead outbreak will be born in the Atrium of the Wayne State College Student Center in preparation for a total citywide takeover. Participants of the Zombie Walk will gather from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., playing games and having their makeup done. At approximately 5 p.m. the zombies will line up for a slow-paced shuffle through the WSC campus and then make their way to downtown Wayne.

After the walk concludes, zombies, victims, and bystanders will retire to the back room of Miss Molly's Coffee, located at 203 Main Street, for a social gathering and a contest (categories and prizes to be announced).

Participants can arrive dressed as zombies (or perhaps zombie hunters) or take advantage of the "Zombifying Stations" provided by the WSC Sci Fi & Fantasy Club to be made up as a zombie (donations appreciated).

"This is a family-friendly event, and non-zombies are also invited to attend the Zombie Walk. After all, you can't have a proper Zombie Apocalypse without spectators/victims! There is no admission fee, but we encourage donations to the American Red Cross," said Ron Vick, Sr., sponsor of the WSC Sci Fi Club.

Council battles over zoning

By CLARA OSTEN
Of the Herald

From "I don't see this as an urgent need for Wayne" to "this violates the core principles of the Comprehensive Plan" to "we are talking about all areas zoned A-2, not just the Bencscoter area" members of the Wayne City Council spent a considerable amount of time Tuesday evening discussing a proposed ordinance which would have reduced the minimum size area in an Agriculture Residential District (A-2) from 2.5 acres to 1.5 acres.

Mayor Ken Chamberlain told those in attendance at Tuesday's meeting that because the issue had been on the agenda at previous meetings, he was limiting the discussion to the council members.

Council member Cale Giese spoke to the council on a number of sections of the city's Comprehensive Policy, noting the development of the area would not promote "contiguous growth" for the city and that the council had a responsibility to "protect the integrity of the neighborhood."

Council member Kaki Ley said she felt the council "is doing what we're supposed to do to help the town grow." She also noted that "down the road, we may be interested in (developing this area), but I am against it at this time. I don't see this as an urgent need for Wayne."

Council member Matt Eischeid told those in attendance that "we are the voice of the community and should not be a bully. We need to show good character. The people who are being affected have no say, but they are as much a part of the city as we are."

He presented figures for the increase in revenue generated by smaller lot size and said, "the smaller lots won't generate much more income and with the prep costs for the lots involving 'lots of money' these lots will not be affordable for middle-class wage earners.

Council member Nick Muir said that he appreciated the comments presented by his fellow council members and appreciated what he called "the start to great conversation."

He said that he felt the council was representing those outside city limits, as evidenced by action taken during the recent Wellhead Protection Area discussion.

He also said he felt it was a good idea to integrate different types of housing within the community.

Council member Jennifer Sievers reminded the council that the discussion and ordinance changes would affect all areas zoned A-2, not just the Bencscoter project.

"The 1.5 acres would be great for future growth and we need to look to the future."

Following the discussion, the council voted 6-2 against moving the ordinance forward to a third reading. Council members Jennifer Sievers and Nick Muir voted in favor of the ordinance and Council members Jill Brodersen, Matt Eischeid, Kaki Ley, Jon Haase, Rod Greve and Cale Giese voted against the ordinance.

In other action, the council passed a resolution and ordinance directing the sale of the railroad right-of-way property and a tract of land located in the McCright's First Subdivision to Kenneth Jorgensen.

The sale is contingent upon Jorgensen constructing a business on the property within two years.

Council members listened to a presentation from Tom Jacobsen on a proposed multi-unit housing project he has planned for an area north of 13th Street on Pearl Street.

Jacobsen spoke to the council on the scope of the project and the need to include TIF financing to make the project affordable. The $1.7 million project would include 36 apartments, the majority of which would be two-bedroom units.

Council members were generally favorable to the project, noting that there are many other apartments in the area, which is located adjacent to Wayne State College.

Council members also gave their approval to a redevelopment plan presented by Sebade Housing, LLC for a three-plex apartment unit at Fourth and Nebraska Streets. The project will use TIF financing to complete a portion of the project. Work is expected to begin yet this fall.

Council members took action to remove several areas of the city from the 'blight and standard' designation. An 18 acre tract of land, as well as The Oaks and Wayne East were 'de-blighted.' This will also allow the city to move forward on declaring other areas within the city 'blighted and standard' and eligible for TIF projects.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Oct. 15 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Lofgren to present lute recital Oct. 8

Ronald Lofgren, D.M.A., will present a lute recital at 7:30 p.m. in Ley Theatre on the Wayne State College campus on Tuesday, Oct. 8.

The lute is a very soft instrument with a mellow tone. In the Renaissance era, it was the most popular instrument in the Western world. The lute was the instrument of kings and queens; it was heard in the theatre in the incidental music of Shakespeare's plays; and it was an instrument for the commoners, playing the popular tunes of the day in pubs, on street corners, and in various kinds of ensembles.

The lute came to Europe from the Middle East. It is the descendent of the Arabic oud which was brought into the Balkan states as early as the sixth century. Moors brought the oud to the Iberian Peninsula in the ninth century, and during the time of the Crusades (starting in the eleventh century) Crusaders returning home brought the oud back with them, popularizing the instrument throughout Europe. From the beginning, the lute had a pear-shaped body, a rounded back made of separate strips of wood, and a bent-back pegbox.

"The lute I will be playing was made by Malcolm Prior, a British luthier who lives near Norwich. It is tuned to one-sixth comma meantone, which means that it has pure thirds compared to the thirds in equal temperament," Lofgren said. "The public is invited to attend the concert and enjoy stepping back in time to enjoy the sound world of the late 16th century."

Ley Theatre is located in the Brandenburg Education Building. The concert is open to the public without charge.

Project

Rural Development Loan Guarantee program to help make funding possible.

"As a start up company utilizing new technology and introducing new products, the USDA Rural Development Loan Guarantee was an essential component of our plans to move the project forward," Bearnes said. "We appreciate the work of USDA and Security Bank team members in putting this together."

Funds were used to purchase equipment and provide working capital to the startup manufacturing plant. Product produced at the plant is sold to plastics manufacturers to use as a resin enhancer for thermoplastics products.

Getting to last week's ribbon cutting wasn't without some unforeseen hurdles, most notable of which was a mid-February fire in the company's downtown offices at the old bank building in Laurel. The building was gutted by the early-morning fire, but the company's losses were much less than they could have been.

"We had most everything backed up electronically, and fortunately we had taken our laptop computers home with us," Bearnes said. "We lost some product samples and some of our catalog work, but it all worked out fine."

After the fire, Bearnes moved the offices to a construction trailer at the Laurel BioComposite site, where they worked until they could move into their office in the end of June.

All things considered, Bearnes was happy to have seen the day when Laurel BioComposite opened its doors.

"It takes a lot of work to do a project like this, and it takes good support from a lot of people," he said. "There's been a lot of good things happen here along the way."

both in favor and against, the Affordable Care Act, but pointed to a similar system in Massachusetts that has been successful for residents there.

"This went into effect eight years ago (in Massachusetts) and seems to be working fine," he told those in attendance. "I don't think Nebraska residents are that much different from Massachusetts residents, so if it can work in one state it can probably work in the other 49."

Bailey fielded several questions from the audience, most notably about the vast percentage increase in premiums most people with their own insurance policies are experiencing.

Citing a recent Omaha World-Herald story, Bailey said that Blue

Cross Blue Shield attributed the changes in the Affordable Care Act to about 1-2 percentage points of the increases they were seeing. "The main driver of health care costs and insurance costs is the use of health care," he said. "This is a sick country and we use a lot of health care, more than anywhere else in the world."

That report was challenged by one local resident in the audience, who challenged the Blue Cross report regarding the increase in premium costs.

"Last year, it went up 14 percent and this year it went up over 60 percent," she said. "Because of the Affordable Care Act, I am no longer able to choose health insurance for my specific needs, and I'm going to be paying for it . . . it's going to increase rates for many of us who are self-insured and increase the paperwork we're going to have to do as small employers."

Information was presented to those in attendance to access the website, as well as to call for more information and answer questions. Trained "navigators" are being housed within nine Community Action Agencies across the state of Nebraska. In this area, the contact is Mary Reeson at Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership in Pender, (402) 385-6300.

Goal-line stand seals key 7-0 win for Wayne

FORT CALHOUN – Wayne High football coach Terry Bear said a lot out of his defense on Friday night, and they delivered in a most impressive fashion. Fort Calhoun put together a 23-play drive that ate up the equivalent of an entire 12-minute period in the second half, yet could not find the end zone for the tying touchdown as the Blue Devil defense held its ground and saved a 7-0 win Friday on the road. After losing a pair of close ball games to two very good teams, the Blue Devils needed to bounce back and beat the 0-3 Pioneers on their home field and avenge two losses from last year. Leave it up to the defense to get the job done.

“Boy, it seemed like they had the ball the entire second half,” Bear said. “Our defense has been rock solid and were able to hold them under 150 yards of total offense, and I was really proud of their effort. That goal-line stand was fantastic.” The Blue Devils got the game’s only points in the second period when Jalen Barry hit Jared Anderson on an out route. Anderson hauled the pass in and raced 60 yards for the score midway through the second, and Mike Cliff’s point-after kick made it 7-0. As it turns out – that’s all Wayne was going to get from an offense that seemed intent on self-destruction

Big plays sink Bears' hopes

LAUREL – Take away two plays Friday night, and it might have been a different outcome for the Laurel-Concord/Coleridge football team. A pair of long second-quarter runs by Ponca's Walsh helped the visiting Indians build a 22-0 halftime lead, and even though Laurel-

Concord/Coleridge was able to move the ball, they couldn't make a dent in the Ponca outburst as they came up short on homecoming in a 28-8 decision at Haskell Field. The Indians got scoring runs of 50 and 52 yards from Michael Walsh during a two-minute span of the second quarter, turning a 6-0 lead into a 22-0 halftime advantage for the visiting Indians, who were – like the host Bears – seeking their first win of the year. “Except for those two plays in the first half, I was really happy with the effort,” coach T.J. Shiers said. “They got a couple of long runs on us and that’s something that can’t happen, but other than that we battled hard and were in better shape at the end and I was proud of the way the kids worked.” LCC had its chances to score and

3 = 1 for WHS girls

Trio leads Wayne to first place at Crofton

CROFTON – It's not often that a team other than the Crofton girls takes home the girls' first-place trophy from the Crofton Invitational, but that's exactly what the Wayne girls cross country team did on Friday.

Three Blue Devils finished in the top 10 overall, and Molly Burbach's 18th place finish helped Wayne end the day four points ahead of the host Warriors in what was a tight four-team race.

Coach Rocky Ruhl was very pleased to see his girls team come through with a solid performance and leave the host team with the runner-up trophy for a change.

“I don't know how long it's been, but it's been a while since Crofton has been beaten there,” he said. “For us to beat Crofton on their home course was a good accomplishment for the girls.”

The girls have relied on the trio of Marta Pulfer, Cassie Heier and

Wayne (3-2) vs. W. Pt.-Beemer (2-2)

Friday, 7 p.m. at Memorial Stadium

Wayne made a huge step forward last week with their goal-line stand at Fort Calhoun. They have a golden opportunity to secure a playoff position and end a long homecoming drought against a Cadets team that is desperate for a playoff spot. Look for a big win for the home team this Friday.

Wayne 38, West Point-Beemer 14

Wayne State (1-3) vs. Augustana (2-2)

Saturday, 1 p.m. at Sioux Falls, S.D.

Call this the Turnover Bowl if you'd like. Wayne State has committed 15 turnovers in four games, while Augie gave it away five times last week at St. Cloud. Both teams are in dire need of a win this Saturday, and it's going to come down to who wins the turnover battle. We'll take the 'Cats on the road here.

LCC (0-4) vs. Wakefield (0-4)

Friday, 7 p.m. at Wakefield

The good news in this all-area matchup is that SOMEBODY is going to get their first win of the year and keep their playoff hopes alive. Both teams have favorable schedules for the second half of the season, and the winner here could sneak in to the playoffs if they can win one or two more.

Allen (1-3) vs. Randolph (3-1)

Friday, 7 p.m. at Randolph

Allen's final three games will not be easy, and after losing a heartbreaker at Hartington last week, they are in major need of a win if they want to think about the playoffs. Cardinals traditionally have some good size and will create some matchup challenges at home.

Winside (0-4) vs. Osmond (0-5)

Friday, 7 p.m. at Winside

In a season of frustration for both teams, one of these cats will leave Jim Winch Memorial Field with a win Friday night. The Wildcats have surprisingly held their own against some tough competition, so if they can stay healthy and avoid turnovers, this could be a homecoming "W" for the "W" team.

Home sweeps help 'Cats bounce back

The Wayne State volleyball team bounced back from a tough home loss to Augustana on Tuesday to post three-game home sweeps over the weekend.

On Friday, the Wildcats dominated Minot State in a straight-set win at Rice Auditorium, posting a 25-17, 25-17, 25-18 win over the Beavers.

The two teams went back and forth in the first set before Wayne State scored the final five points to close out the set. Wayne State's defense picked up in the second set, limiting Minot State to a minus-.026 hitting percentage. That momentum carried over in the final set, as the Wildcats finished off the sweep of the visiting Beavers. Cori Hobbs led the way for Wayne State with 12 kills and hit at a .312 hitting percentage. She also had a team-high 17 digs. Alyssa Frauenfelder and Katie Beierman each had seven kills, while Elizabeth Gebhardt and Leisa McClintock had six apiece.

McClintock played well at setter and posted 33 assists. Courtney Van Gronigen added 16 digs and Katie Hughes had 10.

On Saturday, Gebhardt was on fire at the net in helping the Wildcats post a three-set win over University of Mary, winning 25-18, 25-23, 25-13 to improve to 11-2 overall and 3-2 in the NSIC.

Angie Nelson to lead the way this season, and they delivered again on Friday. Pulfer was the runner-up to Haley Fritza of South Sioux City, and the freshman was followed by Heier in fourth place and Nelson in eighth.

"Marta brings a lot of ability to the team and loves to run, and that really helps motivate Cassie and Angie because they know they have a good team and it influences them and the other kids to run hard in practice and compete hard in meets," Ruhl said.

The Pulfer-Heier-Nelson triple threat has been complimented in recent meets by Burbach, another freshman who finished 18th on the day. Mandy Stabler was two spots behind Burbach, while Marissa Munsell finished two places behind Stabler.

"The top three runners are our strength, and if we can get our fourth, fifth and sixth runners a little closer to the front, that will make us stronger," Ruhl said.

The Wayne High boys finished fourth out of 10 teams at Crofton, with junior Ben Hoskins the lone medalist with his fourth-place finish.

Wayne's other three scoring runners saw Luke Pulfer in 17th, Jared Peterson in 23rd and Bryce Sebade in 25th. With Nolan Reynolds at 27th and Cole Leonard in 29th, the Blue Devils have a five-man bunch that could make their team a lot tougher if they can close the gap with Hoskins.

"Ben has been a solid top-five runner for us for most of the year, and the other kids are packed up and now we need to move them up," Ruhl said. "We need them to keep cutting their times, and they've been doing a good job of that and we'll need to keep it up to give us a chance to be in the top three when districts roll around."

Laurel-Concord/Coleridge junior Sadie Petersen finished third in the girls race. The boys team finished right behind Wayne in fifth place and had three of their four runners finish in the top 20. Aaron Haahr led the way with a sixth-place finish, Adam Haahr was 18th and Jordan Jansen with 19th. Ethan Gubbels rounded out the team with a 44th place finish.

Wayne's runners compete this week in the Aquinas Invitational, while LCC goes to the Stanton Inv.

make a game of it, however.

Late in the first half, Dillan Wolfgram hit Cory Peterson on a 30-yard pass, and the Bears got an additional 15 yards for an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty that resulted in a Ponca player being ejected.

The Bears appeared to be in the red zone later when Wolfgram found Cory Wilson on a 20-yard pass inside the Indians' 10, but the play was called back on a holding penalty, and a Hail Mary pass at the end of the half was intercepted.

In the third period, Calvin Casey picked off a pass and ran 25 yards to the Ponca 15-yard line. The Bears got inside the five when Wolfgram tried a quick pass over the middle that was tipped, intercepted and returned 65 yards to the Bears 40-yard line. Ponca scored several plays later to make it 28-0 and put the game out of reach.

"I'll probably be re-thinking that one for a while," Shiers said of the play that resulted in the interception. "I was thinking they'd think we'd run, and maybe I out-thought myself."

The Bears did salvage a late touchdown when Wolfgram rolled in from three yards out and ran in the two-point conversion. He finished with 97 yards on 20 carries and was 13-for-22 in the passing department for 116 yards and two interceptions.

"Dylan is a great athlete, and people need to remember this is just his fourth game as a varsity quarterback," Shiers said of the sophomore. "It's a big jump going from playing quarterback in eighth grade to playing in high school, and there are some things we need to work on."

Although the Bears are 0-4 and have a date with cross-area rival Wakefield on the road this week, Shiers said his team still has a chance to get into the state playoffs later this month if they can right the ship.

"We were tied for the last playoff spot coming into tonight, so if we can win a few games here we have a chance to get in," he said. "We have to cut down on the mistakes and heal up some, and hopefully we can get a few breaks to go our way."

Vikings outscore Winside, 58-36

WAUSA - For the second straight week, a second-half rally came up short as the Winside Wildcats dropped a 58-36 decision at Wausa on Friday.

The Vikings got out to a 34-0 lead in the first half and led 40-6 at halftime, but Winside came back in the second half to make the score a little more interesting at the end.

Gage Main got Winside on the board in the second period with a 32-yard run. Wausa would answer with a 3-yard run by Austin Conn, who ran for six touchdowns and passed for a seventh, to give Wausa a 40-6 halftime lead.

After the Vikings scored on their first possession of the second half, Main took the ensuing kickoff back 75 yards for a score. Caleb Lieneman added a 57-yard run later in the period, then scored a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns from 18 and 37 yards away to account for the Wildcats' scoring.

The Wildcats racked up a season-high 344 yards in total offense while falling to 0-5 on the season. Lieneman finished with 227 yards on 27 carries, while Main added 53 yards on 10 tries.

Defensively, Lieneman had 12 total tackles, Main added seven and Zach Jones had 5 1/2 stops.

The Wildcats will try to get in the win column this week, as they host 0-4 Osmond on homecoming at Jim Winch Memorial Field on Friday night.

Golfers are third at Metteer

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Consistency is the key to a successful girls golf team, and the Wayne High girls golfers are starting to find that magic formula.

The Blue Devils finished third in the Metteer Invitational on Thursday at Wayne Country Club, but more important was the consistent play coach Josh Johnson felt his team put together in warm and windy conditions on their home course.

"They had a few bad holes here and there, but they bounced back and didn't let it get them down," he said. "They're working hard and the scores are becoming more consistent, and that's what we need."

Cassidy Wiese shot very well on the front side, coming in with a 44. She struggled on the back side, however, carding a 54 to place 11th overall with a 98 to lead the Blue Devil effort.

"I know there are some places on the back that she left some strokes out there, but that's kind of how we have to do it on this course," he said. "You need to score on the front and survive on the back, and I thought overall she battled through it."

Marissa Wiese was the only other Blue Devil to earn a medal on Thursday, coming in 20th with a 104. Holly Grosz stepped up as the team's No. 5 golfer to card a 108, while Emma Loberg shot a 113 and Cienna Stegemann carded a 116.

The result Thursday was a good tell for what teams can look for when they come back to Wayne in less than two weeks for districts. Columbus Scotus and O'Neill – the top two teams in Thursday's tournament – will play in other districts, leaving Wayne as the team to beat for the district tournament.

"We're going to have to come out and play well 12 days from now at districts, so it was nice to see us do it today," Johnson said.

Getting consistent play from all five golfers will be a key for Wayne's hopes at making it back to state as a team for the first time since a runner-up finish two years ago.

"Our scores are becoming more consistent, and that's what we need right now," he said. "If we can get Cassidy in that 98-105 range and get the other girls close to that, we have a good shot at qualifying or maybe even winning districts. We just need to keep it together that way."

Wayne girls take third in conference

The Wayne High girls golf team posted a third-place finish Tuesday in the Mid State Conference tournament at Crofton.

The Blue Devils shot a 432 and were led by Holly Grosz, who finished 10th overall with a 105. Emma Loberg also shot 105, Marissa Wiese had a 110, Cassidy Wiese had a 112 and Cienna Stegemann shot a 115.

The JV team won the JV division of the conference tournament, led by Kaitlyn McAllister with a 111. Stegemann's 115 was carried over to the JV score. Ashlyn Pecena had a 117 and Anna Loberg shot 142.

Wayne closes out the regular season this week with the Columbus Scotus Invite on Wednesday and the Oakland-Craig Invite on Saturday. They play host to district competition on Tuesday at the Wayne Country Club.

Softballers bring home first place at Adams Central Invite

The Wayne High softball team continued its winning ways last week with a first-place finish in the Adams Central Invitational.

Wayne won their pool with easy wins over Cross County (11-0) and Blue Hill (11-1), then came from behind to beat the host Patriots 4-3 to take home the first-place trophy.

In the first game of the day, the Blue Devils posted their seventh consecutive shutout, riding the two-hit pitching of freshman Hannah Belt, who struck out eight and walked one in the four-inning game.

Offensively, Kiara Hochstein led the way with a 3-for-4 effort, scoring two runs. Rylee Bessmer had two hits, scored twice and had two RBI's, while Jalyn Zeiss and Victoria Kranz each had two RBI's.

In the second game, the Blue Devils got a grand slam home run from Abbie Hix to highlight a six-run second inning. That was more than enough for senior hurler Kendall Gamble, who struck out four and gave up just two hits. Nicole Craft scored three times, Hochstein came home twice and Lauren Gilliland had three RBI's in the win.

Wayne trailed 2-0 in the second before getting a big play by Zeiss. Her fly ball to left with the bases loaded was dropped, allowing all three runs to score. A second error on the play allowed Zeiss to come home with the fourth run, and that was enough for the Blue Devils to hang on for the win.

Belt pitched well in the clutch for Wayne in the win over the hosts. She scattered four hits and four walks while striking out seven.

On Thursday, Wayne posted its sixth consecutive shutout with a dominating effort at Wisner-Pilger, posting a 12-0 win.

Zeiss was 4-for-4 in the win, scoring three runs. Bessmer had two hits and scored three times, Danica Schaefer had a two-run single and scored twice.

Hix had three RBI's and Craft added two in the win. Belt tossed a one-hitter, striking out eight in four innings.

On Tuesday, Belt threw a three-hitter and struck out 10 and Craft hit a two-run homer to spark an 8-1 win over Logan View/Scribner-Snyder at the Wayne Softball Complex.

Craft's two-run bomb came in the second inning, scoring Zeiss, who went 3-for-3 in the game with a triple and three runs scored. Craft, Hix, Kranz and Gilliland each had two hits as Wayne improved to 19-4 on the season.

Winside netters fall to Trojans

The Winside volleyball team got off to a fast start, but couldn't contain that momentum as Scribner-Snyder came back to post a four-set win on Tuesday in Scribner, winning 20-25, 25-19, 25-16, 25-17.

Carly Thies led the Winside net attack with 16 kills, while Jayd Roberts had eight and Carly Schwager and Kelly Tweedy each had seven. Roberts had 35 assists, Thies had seven blocks and two ace serves, and Morgan Jensen had 27 digs. Schwager added 19 digs, Tweedy had 14, Roberts picked up 12 and Thies had 10.

Winside, 5-12, hosts Niobrara/Verdigre in action Tuesday at Winside High School.

Lady Eagles win two of three at Ponca

Allen's volleyball team snagged two wins in the Ponca Quadrangular Tuesday night along with a loss.

The Lady Eagles played tough volleyball and defeated Ponca 25-10 and 25-20, as well as taking care of Wynot 25-17 and 25-16, but was unable to win against Emerson, losing 25-13 and 25-20.

"We played fairly well in this tournament," head coach Cheryl Greve said. "Definitely four strong teams here and we are really happy to come out with two wins."

In the match with Ponca, Cortney Reuter and Gabby

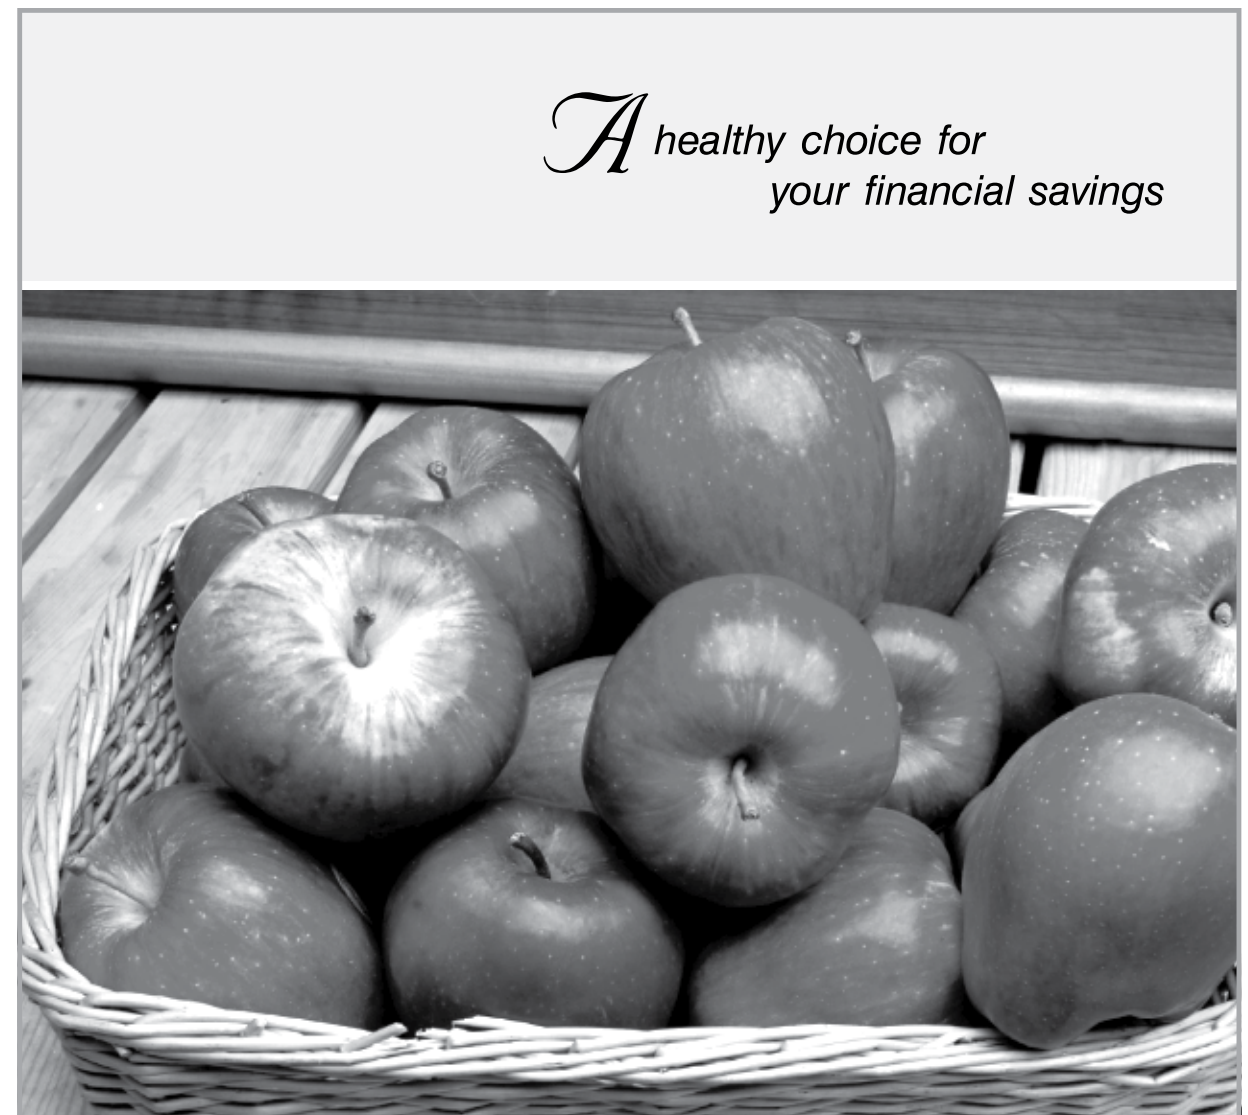

Sullivan slammed home six kills a piece while Lindsey Sullivan contributed 14 set assists.

In the win over Wynot, Lindsey Jones led Allen with eight kills and Reuter collected four more while L. Sullivan recorded 25 set assists.

The Lady Eagles were not so successful against Emerson, as they were unable to record a set victory.

Reuter led the team with seven kills while Jones added six more.

Allen's record now stands at 9-2 overall on the season.

Turnovers, Bulldogs bite Wildcats Saturday

There is little room for error when you're playing a perennial powerhouse.

Wayne State found out the hard way what happens when the No. 13 team in the country capitalizes on turnovers, as Minnesota Duluth turned three miscues into scores and pulled away for a 64-21 win over Wayne State on the Wildcats' annual Homecoming/Hall of Fame Day Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

Wayne's first two drives of the game ended in turnovers, and the Bulldogs capitalized on both. An early fumble by Charlie Davidson was turned into a 13-yard run by Logan Lauters, and the Duluth defense picked off a Zach Osborn pass and returned it for a touchdown to make it 15-0 less than three minutes into the game.

The Wayne State offense tried to keep pace after spotting the early 15-point lead. Osborn bounced back from his early mistake to throw a pair of long touchdown passes. He hit Adam Stark on a 65-yard strike off the left sideline, then found Toney Abraham for a 36-yard connection on their next series to make it 15-14 with 6:36 to go in the first period.

Duluth wasted no time on their next possession. Lauters hit paydirt for the second time on the first play of the next series, going 64 yards to make it a 22-14 ball game. Austin Sikorski scored late in the first period to make it 29-14.

Wayne State did get the lead back to 15 when Osborn threw his third touchdown pass of the day and second to Abraham, a 58-yard connection that made it 36-21 with 8:26 to go in the first half. That was as close as it would get, however, as the Bulldogs scored again before halftime and added three more scores in the second half to finish off the rout.

Wayne State's ground game was shut down by the Bulldogs on Saturday. Davidson was replaced by Rashad Trimble early in the game, and the Wildcats were limited to 52 yards on 34 carries for the day. Osborn was 8-of-20 for 206 yards and three touchdowns along with one interception.

Abraham was the team's top receiver with 109 yards on four catches, while Stark had 87 yards on three receptions.

Chase Samuel paced the Wildcat defense with nine tackles, while Austan Pomajzl had seven. Jon Davis picked off a pass to account for the defense's only takeaway of the day.

The 1-3 Wildcats go on the road this weekend as they start South Division play, taking on Augustana in a 1 p.m. matchup at Kirkeby-Over Stadium in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Braves spoil Trojans' homecoming in 49-0 rout

By RICHARD RHODEN
Of the Herald

The Wakefield Trojans knew the challenges that Battle Creek presented - a ground and pound offense and a stingy defense.

After 334 yards on the ground and a rigid defensive showing, the Braves spoiled Wakefield's homecoming on Friday at Eaton Field, handing the Trojans a 49-0 setback.

Wakefield moved the ball downfield on its first possession, moving the ball to the Battle Creek 37, but the drive stalled and they were forced to punt. The Trojans were again able to move into enemy territory on the second possession, but were unable to score.

"We are starting to get a little offensively, we are throwing the ball pretty well," coach Mike Hassler said. "We just have to find a way to run the ball. We are inexperienced up front and we have to get more physical."

Battle Creek got things going early, scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter on runs by Nate Gray. Wakefield's offense sputtered in the second quarter, as Evan Nicholson threw two interceptions and was unable to move the ball past midfield.

The Braves proceeded to run all over the Trojan defense, scoring three times in the second quarter. The first came on a pass from Zach Bellar to Preston Bussey; Bellar struck again from seven yards out; and the final touchdown of the half came with just :15.8 left as Bellar ran it in again from five yards out, to make it 35-0 at the half.

"We knew coming in that they were going to put up points, I was hoping that we could slow them down a little bit and make them earn it," Hassler said. We are trying to find a combination out there that works well."

The Braves came out on all cylinders in the second half, scoring another touchdown on the first possession on a four-yard run by Trev Bode.

After a Wakefield punt, Battle

Creek proceeded to go on a 10-play, 59-yard drive that was capped off on a three-yard scamper by Kobe Lade.

As the Braves attempted to melt the clock in the fourth quarter, the Trojans fought for points.

On the final possession of the game, starting from its own two-yard line, Wakefield steadily made its way downfield. In eight plays, the Trojans had moved the ball the deepest it had all game, all the way to the Battle Creek 19-yard line.

A pass from Nicholson to Alex Conley put the ball on the four-yard line with just seconds remaining. Knowing it would be the last play of the game, the Trojans attempted to get the ball in the end zone on a pass from Nicholson to Anthony Gustafson that fell helplessly to the ground, ending the game and Wakefield's chances at scoring.

Wakefield is 0-4 going into this weekend's showdown with district foe Laurel-Concord/Coleridge, who is also fighting for its first win.

"Our district is wide open, and we are going to work hard this week at getting off the ball better," Hassler said. "Laurel is a much improved football team and we are going to have our hands full with them coming here next week."

Sweeps

light up the Marauders defense in the afternoon matchup. Gebhardt had 11 attacks and 10 went for kills, good for an amazing .909 hitting percentage.

Wayne State had to rally in each of the first two sets to get the win, but dominated Mary in the final set. Wayne State had 16 kills and three attack errors in the final set, while Mary had six attack errors.

Hobbs led a balanced attack with 12 kills and 12 digs, while Frauenfelder added 11 kills and Gebhardt had 10. McClintock had 37 assists and VanGronigen put up 11 digs.

Wayne State goes on the road this weekend to face MSU Moorhead on Friday and Northern State on Saturday. Both matches start at 7 p.m.

Goal-Line

at times.

"We just need to leave our six-shooters at home and stop shooting ourselves in the foot," Bear said. "I thought our offense would score more, but every time we'd get something going we'd have a penalty, a dropped ball or a turnover. When you add it all up, it doesn't look very smooth."

Still, it was just enough to inspire a defense that has been the saving grace of the Wayne High team this season. Even in losses to South Sioux City and Columbus Lakeview, Bear felt his defense showed they are capable of playing well against anybody.

"South Sioux and Lakeview were really good teams, and we held them down on points and yards, and they saved our bacon Friday," he said. "Coach (Brendan) Dorcey has a really solid package and the coaches put in a lot of hours in breaking down film, and they just get these kids to play hard-nosed football and they buckled down again Friday."

Fort Calhoun's extended drive went all the way inside the Wayne 1-yard line, but the defense held on fourth down to keep the shut-out intact. Wayne was able to dig out of the deep hole on third-and-long when Barry broke loose for a 60-yard run, allowing Wayne to eventually run out the clock and preserve the shutout win.

Wayne had just 227 yards in total offense, 60 coming on Barry's run as he finished with 78 yards on five carries. He was also 7-for-21 in the passing department for 98 yards.

Defensively, Kody Frahm had 5 1/2 tackles to lead the 3-2 Blue Devils. Curtis Moeller, Drew Davie and Brandon Martian each had 4 1/2 tackles, and Cliff, Trevor Pecena and Austin Keiser had four stops apiece.

Wayne has a chance to end a long homecoming drought and get their first district win on Friday when they face West Point-Beemer in a 7 p.m. showdown at Wayne State College's Memorial Stadium.

"These guys are able to put some things together and get some things figured out, and I feel confident about this game Friday," Bear said. "We're focusing on the little things this week and getting back to some fundamentals, and it would be great for these kids to come away with a win on homecoming."

Blue Devils take runner-up honors, win home triangular

The Wayne High volleyball team played well in posting a runner-up finish on Saturday at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational.

The Blue Devils started the day with a three-set win over Pierce, winning 23-25, 25-10, 25-14. Wayne came back after losing the first set and relied on the hitting of Lexi Sokol and Madison Frevert, who had 11 and nine kills, respectively.

Paige Wacker added seven and Ashton Schweers had five in the win. Emma Evetovich recorded 34 assists and Peyton Roach had three ace serves.

In the semifinals, Wayne dispensed of Chambers-Wheeler Central in straight sets, 25-13, 25-12. Frevert and Schweers both had six kills while Sokol added five and Wacker had three. Evetovich had 16 assists and Meagan Backer led the defense with eight digs.

In the finals, Wayne fell to the host Lady Gators in straight sets, 29-27, 25-22. It was a tightly-contested match throughout before the hosts prevailed to take the first-place trophy. Sokol had seven kills and Schweers added six in a losing effort. Evetovich had 19 assists, Backer had nine digs and Alyssa Schmale recorded six.

On Tuesday, the Blue Devils wasted no time in taking care of Arlington and West Point-Beemer in a home triangular at Wayne High School.

In their first match, Wayne raced out to a 16-0 lead and finished off Arlington in straight sets, winning 25-11, 25-18. Schweers led the net attack with 10 kills, Frevert added seven, Sokol had four and Wacker had two. Evetovich had 21 assists and Backer led the defense with 20 digs, with Schweers adding seven, Roach six and Schmale five.

Wayne also had no problems with the Lady Cadets, beating West Point-Beemer 25-16, 25-13. Sokol and Schweers led a balanced attack with seven kills apiece, Frevert had five kills and three blocks, Evetovich had 19 kills, two blocks and two ace serves, Backer had 11 digs, Roach had eight and Schweers and Tarah Stegemann each had six.

Wayne is 13-3 on the season and plays with LCC and Wakefield in a triangular at Wakefield Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Lady Bears fifth at W-P Invite

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge volleyball squad took action in the Wisner-Pilger Tournament on Saturday, and finished the day 1-2.

Laurel started the day losing in three sets to Homer 25-21, 20-25 and 25-20, coming back strong in the consolation semifinals against Madison 25-16, 23-25 and 25-12, however was unable to defeat Pierce in the fifth-place game, losing 25-19, 25-20.

In the match with Homer, Audra Corbit and Ellie Arduser paced the Lady Bears with nine kills a piece, while Candice Rastede accumulated 11 digs. Cameron Eddie was able to collect 32 set assists as well for Laurel in the loss.

"We were out-of-sync early on and then became more as the game progressed," head coach Patti Cunningham said. "Unfortunately, we had another stretch of errors where Homer gained momentum and captured the set to win the game."

The Lady Bears made some adjustments before the second match with Madison, and it paid off with the three-set victory.

Arduser led the way with nine kills along with eight digs. Rastede racked up 16 digs as well as three service aces. Eddie provided 27 set assists along with two more service aces in the win.

"At times we were content to just play with the opponent point-for-point which caught up with us in the second set," Cunningham said.

LCC was able to reach the fifth-place match, but ran into a wall known as Pierce, losing in straight sets. Erin Gubbels, Arduser and Corbit combined for only six kills, two each, while Eddie was unable to find a rhythm with just seven assists.

"We struggled hitting around Pierce's block, and limited communication on defense made it difficult to run a solid counter-attack," Cunningham said.

The Lady Bears took the court Tuesday night against Pierce and came up short, losing 25-23, 25-23, 26-24. Corbit racked up 11 kills in the match while Rastede was able to accumulate a total of six service aces.

Soccer forges tie with Crookston, falls to Bemidji in home matches

The Wayne State women's soccer team got their first draw of the season a part of a 0-1-1 week at home at the Wayne State soccer complex.

On Saturday, the Wildcats played Minnesota Crookston to a 1-1 deadlock on Homecoming Day at the complex.

Crookston scored first, finding the net in the 19th minute. That lead would last for about four minutes, as Wayne State tied the match when Kelly Voigt scored off a header deflection by Macy Hagen at the 23:11 mark.

Both teams had their chances to score, particularly in the second half. The Wildcats had a couple of quality shots at the net that sailed wide, while Crookston missed on several chances as well in the second half and overtime.

Overall, Wayne State had a 12-9 advantage in shots to the Golden Eagles, but could salvage only a draw on the day. Crookston had a 5-4 advantage in corner kicks.

Hobza had five shots on goal for the Wildcats while Mallory Hoyt had three. Kylee Comba picked up four saves on the day as goalkeeper.

The Wildcats played well in the first half, but couldn't hold off visiting Bemidji State as the Beavers came away with a 3-0 win, dropping Wayne State to 1-6-1 overall and 1-3-1 in the NSIC.

The game was scoreless at half-time, but the Beavers scored three minutes into the second half to take the lead for good. They would add a second goal nine minutes later, then put a third away with about 10 minutes to go to finish off the shutout. Bemidji State outshot Wayne State 20-12 in the match. Hagen, Voigt and Hobza each had three shots on goal, and Comba had eight saves in a losing effort.

Both teams were called for six fouls in the match. Bemidji State had a 4-2 advantage in corner kicks over the Wildcats.

Wayne State is on the road this weekend, facing Minnesota Duluth on Friday at 6 p.m. and St. Cloud State on Sunday at 1 p.m.

Wayne State rugby teams do battle in home matches

The Wayne State rugby teams saw some exciting action on Homecoming week.

On Wednesday, the Wayne State men played a rare game under the lights at Memorial Stadium, and a reporter-estimated crowd of 200 saw the Wildcats pull away in the second half for a convincing 55-17 win over South Dakota State.

The Wildcats got on the board early when Tanner Jackson stole the ball in the try zone and put it down for a Wayne State score. That got the Wildcats rolling to a 24-5 halftime lead, and they were able to play a number of players as they built their lead in the second half.

Christian Victor had a pair of tries to lead the Wayne State offensive effort. Brandon Stewart scored off a penalty tap, Taylor Helton had a 35-yard run for a score, Eric Harvey scored from 30 yards out and Jonathan DeRochoa, Kellen Wells and Brad Grimes each added scores for the Wayne State men.

The Wayne State women locked horns with Kansas State in a wild, physical defensive struggle on Saturday at the Wayne Rugby Park.

The defending national champion Wildcats saw some hard-hitting action from the visiting Wildcats, and the purple-clad 'Cats seemed to have the upper hand for much of the second half.

Wayne State scored its only try of the match on a 27-yard run by Tiff Randall down the right sideline. Kansas State would answer to tie the game at 5-5, and the visiting Wildcats looked poised to add another score in the second half of what was a physical game that saw two yellow cards handed out.

With seven minutes left, Kansas State got within striking distance and had multiple attempts to score, but couldn't find the try zone. Wayne State countered and had chances of their own, including a couple of opportunities to kick a potential game-winning field goal. The host Wildcats opted instead to go for broke and were stopped short as the official called the game with a 5-5 tie.

"We just mentally fell apart the last couple of minutes," coach Darin Barner said. "We had the game won and let it slip through our fingers, and I think our players learned from those mistakes. We'll need to correct those mistakes if we want to make the playoffs."

Softball parents night set for Oct. 7

The parents of the Wayne High softball team will be honored during the team's final regular-season home game on Monday, Oct. 7.

Parents should be at the Wayne Softball Complex at 5:30 p.m. They will be introduced at 5:45 p.m., prior to the Blue Devils' matchup with South Sioux City.

Junior high football posts big wins

In eighth grade football action, Wayne defeated Hartington Ceder Catholic 40-8. Brennen O'Reilly and Mason Lee each scored twice. Hunter Jorgensen and Ryan Jaxien closed out the scoring. Beau Bowers passed for two touchdowns and Edgar Ficke-Anderson converted on four extra points. On defense Zane Jackson, Sam Bruckner and Justin Dean were the tackle leaders.

In seventh grade play, Wayne defeated Hartington Ceder Catholic 14 to 6. Tyler Gilliland passed to Ethan Hill for one touchdown while Juan Vergera returned a fumble 40 yards for the second touchdown. The defensive leaders were Kaden Kneifl, Drew Buck and Owen Frideres.

Wildcats fall to No. 10 in D-2 poll

The Wayne State volleyball team dropped two spots, but remains in the top 10 of the latest American Volleyball Coaches Association's Div. II poll released Monday.

The Wildcats fell to No. 10 after losing to Augustana on Tuesday.

They rebounded with straight-set wins against Minot State and University of Mary over the weekend.

Concordia-St. Paul and Minnesota Duluth traded places at the top after the Golden Bears won a five-set thriller over the Bulldogs on Friday. Southwest Minnesota State moved up into a tie for seventh place with Angelo State. No other Northern Sun Conference schools are in the top 25, but Augustana did receive votes this week.

Other Central Region teams in this week's Top 25 include Central Missouri at No. 4, Nebraska-Kearney at No. 5, Washburn at No. 15 and Truman at No. 18.

Wayne State plays at MSU Moorhead and Northern State this weekend, and will travel to Kearney on Tuesday, Oct. 8, to face the Lopers at 7 p.m.

Participants of this year's Optimist Club Punt, Pass & Kick Contest pose with members of the Wayne State College football team after the competition.

Optimists sponsor Punt, Pass & Kick

On Aug. 25, Wayne Optimist Club and kickers from Wayne State College football team held a fun afternoon of competition with 20 youth from ages 6-15.

Girls and boys from the area, under the leadership of Bob Keating and his Optimist team workers, gathered together at the Wayne school football field to compete in the local Punt Pass and Kick Optimist event.

After the competition the youth were treated to time with Wayne State's kickers, who shared some tips for those who won at the local level who qualify to go Oct. 13 to the state sectional competition at Nebraska Wesleyan Abel Stadium in Lincoln. Those who win at this level go on to the final competition and perform during halftime of a Kansas City Chiefs game.

Those boys winning at the local level in Wayne were Kaleb Moor-meier, age 7; Caden Backer, age 8; Tanner Walling, age 9; Gunnar Jorgensen, age 11 and Drew Buck, age 12.

Those winning in the girls competition were Jala Krusemark, age 6; Gracie Jansen, age 8; Sydney Redden, age 9, and Annika Wachter, age 10. All received ribbons of recognition for all were winners.

What we WON'T pay to be amused

Since our world can't seem to move with a shut-down government, here's something to take your minds off the dolts and idiots "representing" us in Washington — another rib-tickling run through the "Bits and Pieces" file:

— The recent Lambrecht car auction in Pierce was a testament to good ol' American know-how when it comes to paying outrageous prices on stuff we normally wouldn't pay more than a couple of bucks for.

Overpriced food and drinks notwithstanding, I was amazed at some of the reports I received from friends who were attending the show over the weekend. Among the crazy (at least, in my opinion) prices paid for some of the items were $16,000 for a pedal car, $36,000 for a 1960s era used car with more than 60,000 miles on it and the grand poo-bah of insanity — $225 for a yardstick.

Yes, you read that right — more than two Benjamins for a three-foot stick.

It's items like these which further cements my belief that there is no ceiling for the price we will pay to be entertained. We'll whine and moan about the price of a gallon of gas, the property taxes we pay and what Uncle Sam takes out of our check every two weeks — but will spare no expense for a little amusement.

— A man in nearby Carroll is ordered by a judge not to date anyone for three months as part of his probation sentence for his role in a Norfolk burglary late last year.

Since the judge is interested in the romantic affairs of others, I'd like to ask the judge to consider the following: the next time he sentences a single white female, somewhere between the ages of 40 and 54, who seems psychologically stable, is a non-smoker and social drinker, is reasonably good looking and isn't being sentenced for a felony, part of her probation should include having to date ME for three months.

I'm sure my mother will be THRILLED to know her potential daughter-in-law may be wanted in several states.

— In the past, when I've broken up with another woman, it's usually done through a face-to-face conversation, maybe a note or even over the phone.

The leader of North Korea has a somewhat different approach to splitting up with the ex — he executes them.

Kim Jong-un had a former girlfriend executed by firing squad recently. And while some of us would like to do the same to our old flames, it would appear he had a pretty good reason to snuff out his old girlfriend.

According to reports, the woman was found to be part of a porn scandal in North Korea and was arrested three days prior to her execution. She was among a dozen well-known (at least, in North Korea) porn stars who were on the receiving end of a barrage of machine-gun fire.

— From the "Some criminals are just stuck on stupid" department: A wannabe rapper had developed quite the cache of weaponry in New York recently — then made the mistake of showing off his guns and wads of cash on Instagram.

The idiot's social media gaffe sparked a multi-state investigation by authorities that netted more than 250 weapons and put 19 suspects behind bars.

One law enforcement official said some of the more powerful weapons in the arsenal "could kill an elephant."

Or, maybe, a lawbreaking wanna-be rapper?

— From the "Stick 'em up and give me all your chemo" department: a California man had the unfortunate luck of drawing the attention of the FBI when he walked into a Wells Fargo bank in Montebello, Calif.

The man, who had undergone treatment for hodgkins lymphoma the previous day, was wearing a surgical mask to protect himself from germs when he walked into the bank.

Unfortunately, he bore something of a resemblance to the "Surgical Mask" bank robber who had recently held up two banks in Orange County. Before he knew it, he as surrounded by police.

The good news is that, after questioning and a search of the vehicle, he was let go — and will probably make sure his banking business is done BEFORE his next chemo treatment.

— This just in to the "Death by Bossie" bureau: a man in Brazil was crushed to death after a cow — believe it or not — fell through his roof.

The man was asleep when the cow fell through a corrugated iron roof on top of their home. The cow reportedly escaped from a local farm, broke through a fence and climbed on the roof.

No word on whether or not the cow was going to jump over the moon.

— Today's evidence that video games on your smart phone are bad for you: a woman in China was taken to a hospital after her breast implants exploded while she was playing a game on her iPhone.

The woman was laying face down as she played the game, causing a buildup of pressure on the implants that led to their eventual rupture.

No word on whether she made it to Level 65 of Candy Crush or not.

— Annnnnnd finally, we have scientific confirmation that proves, without question, that the people "representing" us in Congress are not of this world.

Scientists at the Westheimer Institute for Science and Technology in Florida recently presented evidence that a mineral essential to the creation of life was available ONLY on Mars. Supposedly, the mineral was formed on Mars three billion years ago. Coincidentally, that was around the time Nancy Pelosi had her first botox injection.

Capitol View

Colorado tragedy touches us

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

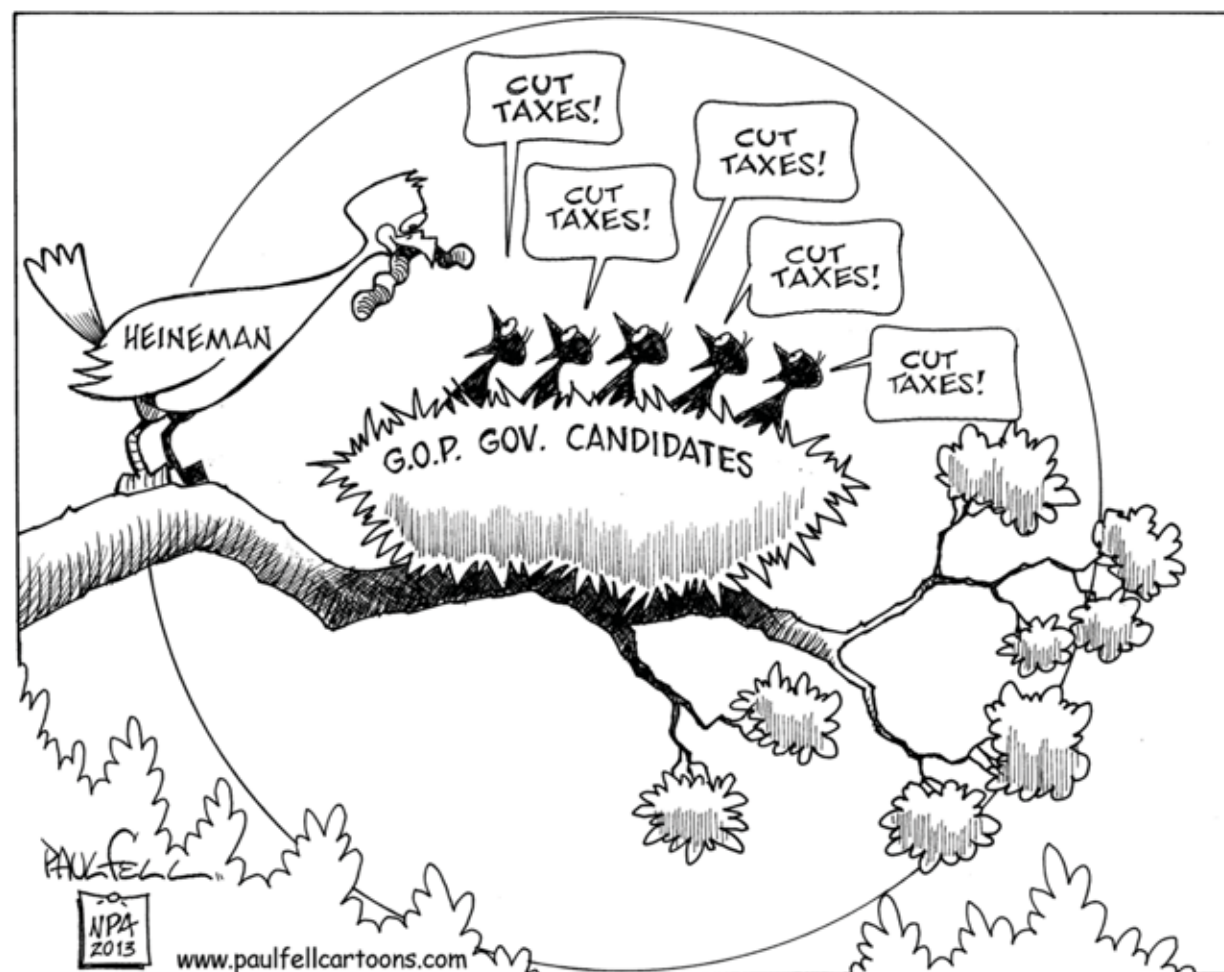

The rolled hay bales in a field between the South Platte River and Interstate 80 west of Paxton looked like shredded wheat in a bowl of chocolate milk. But it was actually the downhill aftermath and a tragic reminder of severe flooding in Colorado.

By the time the wall of water in the South Platte had left the areas adjacent to southwest Nebraska frosted with a liberal coat of mud, folks in the Cornhusker State were on high alert for what would be record flood levels. In some cases, those records were more than 70 years old.

Railfest in North Platte kicked off on a clear and unseasonably pleasant Friday afternoon in Cody Park, near the North Platte River which had sent water lapping into the park's edges a few years ago. Many residents kept an ear to the radio and the eyewitness accounts of those who were watching the South Platte River as it runs under the new bridge on Buffalo Bill Avenue in the city's southwest quadrant, near Interstate 80.

Folks walked their dogs and accompanied children on bikes and tricycles as a steady stream went to watch a rather agitated river flow. Across town at a cemetery tour celebrating a controversial book — "Evil Obsession — The Annie Cook Story" — participants watched helicopters and fixed wing aircraft that had been flying the river so news people and weather observers could keep tabs on a developing story.

Many pooh-pooed predictions of record flooding that afternoon. By Saturday morning, the crowds had swelled on the bridge and the water was running faster and wider. Still, the community was busy with the railroad celebration and a softball tournament and a rodeo. The Union Pacific offered train rides to Maxwell and Brady on historic passenger cars. It was later in the afternoon when the tour guide on the Challenger dome passenger car noted that the water in the South

Platte was out of its banks near the North Platte Airport, east of town.

It was then that he received a phone call that water was backing up in the storm sewers near his home in that southwest quadrant of the city. The news came as a surprise to many who hadn't anticipated the turn of events. As night fell, many kept a wary eye on the situation.

Morning brought news that the river had apparently crested at 14 feet and some relaxed their watch and went about wrapping up the final day of Railfest and related activities. But the river wasn't done.

By 1 p.m. on Sunday, word reached Cody Park that the flooding from storm sewers had left water knee-deep in some areas that the neighbors had been watching. Union Pacific employees — many of whom who had spent Saturday cooking hamburgers and hot dogs to feed thousands at the festival — rushed to the area to help residents sandbag. Folks upstream in Sutherland sent three semi loads of sandbags to North Platte. The river at North Platte crested at 14.3 feet, washing out the old record set in 1935.

School officials, more used to making school closing decisions in cold and snow, decided to hold classes on Monday as the water moved downstream and residents mopped up. By Tuesday, the water was lapping at the edges of Interstate 80 near Gothenburg and a crest — albeit diminished from earlier predictions — was anticipated to hit Buffalo County by nightfall.

But the vast amount of dry land along the Platte channel was doing its part to absorb the flow. Irrigation districts were diverting water into canals where possible. Many doubted that the flood rush would make the fish hook curve in the Platte and threaten Columbus. That provided some relief for emergency management people and city officials along the route, while those where the water had already crested could turn their thoughts to cleanup.

While keeping the death toll and the massive costs of rebuilding infrastructure in Colorado in mind, Nebraskans looked to assess damage to buildings and crops and personal property. It's no doubt that lessons will be learned from this historic flood emergency in Nebraska. While it appears that many communities and their residents dodged a bullet this time, there is no doubt that the flood of September 2013 will factor into future business in counties and municipalities in all of the state's river basins.

Legislative Update

Tax committee hears from taxpayers

Last Thursday, Sept. 26, the Tax Modernization Committee held their long awaited hearing in Norfolk. The 14 senators who make up the committee, along with several other current and past senators, saw a good turnout of people from all over northeast Nebraska.

During the hearing, which lasted for three hours, many complaints were aired. While it is clear that no one enjoys paying taxes, the sad fact is that if we wish to enjoy the services provided by the state, taxes must be paid.

The tax which seems to have most folks upset is, not surprisingly, the tax on property. This is particularly true about taxes on farm land, which have literally exploded over the last few years. The Committee was clearly in Norfolk to listen to

Legislative Update
By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

suggestions, as is their charge, and not to provide the answers which the entire legislature will be challenged to do later.

There were a number of ideas suggested by the public, ranging from charging sales tax on food to reducing the percentage of the valuation on which property tax must be paid. The idea of lowering sales tax to 2 or 3 percent, then placing it on every transaction, was also heard, as were ways to change our state income tax system.

I want to thank everyone from District 17 who took time to show up at and take part in this hearing. If the committee learned nothing else, they should have confirmed that the people of Nebraska are not happy with the system that is in place. Another point that cannot be overlooked is the decency of the people who we senators from northeast Nebraska are privileged to serve. There was no name calling, no loud outbursts, no foul language and no lack of respect shown by anyone during the hearing.

I wish I could tell you that everything will change and that all of your taxes will be reduced, but we all know better than that. What I can tell you is that a clear message was sent to the Legislature that changes need to be made. The Tax Modernization Committee will issue a report, and we will see what happens in January.

As always, if we can be of any assistance, contact our office at (402) 471-2716 or e-mail dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov.

Terry Kellogg stands next to a portion of the items donated during a recent Christmas in July promotion that he organized. Kellogg set out boxes throughout the community. Items donated will be distributed to Haven House, Ronald McDonald House and Providence Medical Center.

Area shooters compete in state silhouette event

Three area shooters finished in the top three in their divisions in the 2013 Nebraska High School Silhouette Championships, held at Pressey Wildlife Management Area south of Broken Bow on Sept. 28. In .22-caliber rifle silhouette shooting, each competitor fires 40 shots at small metal targets. Each shoots 10 shots at targets that are 43, 66, 84 and 109 yards in distance. The annual event is open to all hunter education graduates who are at least 11 years old and have not graduated high school. This year's event included 50 shooters. "Tricky variable winds blowing up to 20 mph, with gusts, caused the competitors to struggle to hit the targets," match director Matthew Haumont said. Andrew Simpson of Wayne was the high boy in the competition, with a score of 31. James Simpson finished second in the unlimited division with a score of 26, while David Greunke was third in Class B with 28.

Greunke graduates from Marine Corps boot camp

Water symposium is set

The University of Nebraska's water science and policy symposium and water law conference will be Oct. 15-16 at Lincoln's Cornhusker Hotel.

The events are cosponsored by NU's Nebraska Water Center, part of the Robert B. Daugherty Water for Food Institute; NU's College of Law, the Natural Resources and Environmental Law Section of the Nebraska State Bar Association, and the U.S. Geological Survey's Nebraska Water Science Center.

Registration is $155 for one day and $270 for both days through Sept. 30, after which slightly higher rates apply, Benson said. Rates are the same as last year.

More information about both events can be found at watercenter.unl.edu.

The Pride of the Blue Devils Marching Band took its traditional spot at the end of the Wildcat Days/Band Day Parade.

Carter Hasemann was all smiles as he rode through the parade with the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.

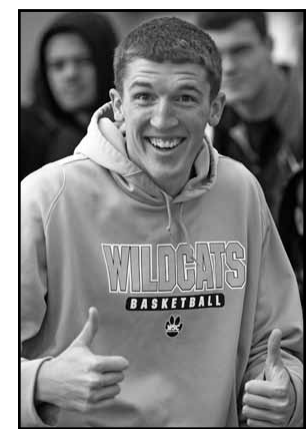

Irene Fletcher salutes the flag at the beginning of the parade. She and Mark Kanitz served as two of the judges for this year's parade.

Despite cloudy, windy conditions, Wayne State students showed their pride and creativity during the Wildcat Days Parade.

Dick Korn, a member of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department, drove the 1936 fire truck through the parade.

Basketball player Ryan Rolfzen gave the parade two thumbs up.

Sporting a Chicken Hat, Jennifer Sievers, a member of the Chicken Show committee, helped announce the theme for the 2014 Chicken Show, Cluck Dynasty.

WSC President Curt Fry and his wife, Diane, welcomed those attending this year's parade.

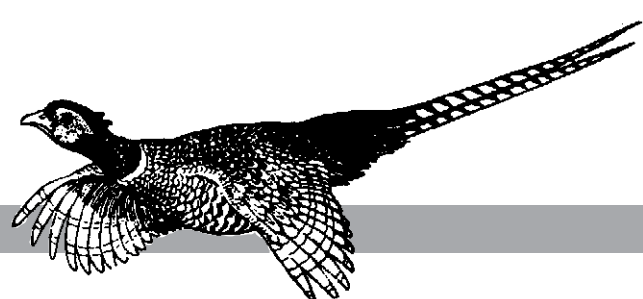

Wayne State cheerleaders did their best to motivate parade attendees by cheering their way up Main Street as part of this year's parade.

What does a child cost these days?

We have repeatedly seen the breakdown of the cost of raising a child, but this is the first time I have seen the rewards listed this way. It's nice.

The Price of a Child - July 2008

The government recently calculated the cost of raising a child from birth to 18 and came up with $160,140 for a middle income family. Talk about sticker shock! That doesn't even touch college tuition.

But $160,140 isn't bad if you break it down. It translates into:

- $8,896.66 per year
- $741.38 a month, or
- $171.08 a week
- That's a mere $24.24 a day!
- Just over a dollar an hour

Still, you might think the best financial advice is don't have children if you want to be "rich." Actually, it is just the opposite. What do you get for your $160,140?

- Naming rights. First, middle, and last!
- Glimpses of God every day.
- Giggles under the covers every night.
- More love than your heart can hold.
- Butterfly kisses and Velcro hugs.
- Endless wonder over rocks, ants, clouds, and warm cookies.
- A hand to hold, usually covered with jelly or chocolate.
- A partner for blowing bubbles, flying kites.
- Someone to laugh yourself silly with, no matter what the boss said or how your stocks performed that day.

For $160,140, you never have to

Ruth Vonderohe
Extension Educator

- grow up. You get to:
- Finger-paint
  - Carve pumpkins,
  - Play hide-and-seek,
  - Catch lightning bugs, and
  - Never stop believing in Santa Claus or the Tooth Fairy.

You have an excuse to:

- Keep reading the Adventures of Piglet and Pooh,
- Watching Saturday morning cartoons,
- Going to Disney movies, and
- Wishing on stars.

You get to frame rainbows, hearts, and flowers under refrigerator magnets and collect spray painted noodle wreaths for Christmas, hand print sets in clay for Mother's Day, and cards with backwards letters for Father's day.

For $160,140, there is no greater bang for your buck. You get to be a hero just for:

- Retrieving a Frisbee off the garage roof,
- Taking the training wheels off a bike,
- Removing a splinter,
- Filling a wading pool,
- Coaxing a wad of gum out of bangs, coaching a baseball team that never wins but always gets treated to ice cream regardless.

You get a front row seat to history to witness the:

- First step
- First word
- First bra (well sometimes.)
- First date, and
- First time behind the wheel.

You get to be immortal. You get another branch added to your family tree, and if you're lucky, a long list of limbs in your obituary called grandchildren and great grandchildren. You get an education in psychology, nursing, criminal justice, communications and human sexuality that no college can match.

In the eyes of a child, you rank right up there under God. You have all the power to heal a boo-boo, scare away the monsters under the bed, patch a broken heart, police a slumber party, ground them forever, and love them without limits, so . . . one day they will like you, love without counting the cost.

That is quite a deal for the price! Love and enjoy your children and grandchildren! What would we ever do without them?

Our thanks to the unknown author.

Winside Trinity Lutheran ladies hold Guest Day

Trinity Lutheran WELCA of Winside held Guest Day on Sept. 26. The area churches that were invited were St. Paul's and United Methodist from Winside; St. John's in Norfolk; Peace United Church of Christ, rural Hoskins; Christ Lutheran of Wisner; St. Peters of Pilger; St. Luke's in Stanton; Our Savior Lutheran in Wayne; Salem Lutheran in Wakefield and Trinity members. There were 46 people in attendance.

President Kathy Jensen welcomed everyone and thanked them for coming. She opened the event with a short humorous reading.

Mrs. Jensen had a reading based on Romans that corresponded with the scripture on the mugs everyone received to take home with them, which inspired Hope and Joy.

Mrs. Jensen also introduced Elaine Peacock from Elk Point, S.D., who presented a musical and self-witness program. Elaine is known for her beautiful singing voice. She also presented a poem set to music which she wrote while on her journey through breast cancer treatments.

After the program Mrs. Jensen thanked Elaine for "a wonderful afternoon" and led the group in table prayer.

The rest of the afternoon was filled with food and fellowship. The Trinity WELCA furnished a dessert bar.

Trinity Lutheran's WELCA will meet again on Thursday, Oct. 10, at 2 p.m. in the church basement. Peggy Krueger will serve.

Anyone interested in the WELCA is welcome and encouraged to attend the next meeting.

Soil health advocate to visit Ainsworth, Norfolk as part of statewide road show

The Nebraska Grazing Lands Coalition (NGLC) and UNL Extension are hosting Gabe Brown, noted soil health advocate, on a four-day, eight-stop traveling road show across Nebraska.

Brown is one of the pioneers of the current soil health movement, which focuses on regenerating natural resources.

Gabe, along with his wife Shelly, and son Paul, own and operate a diversified farm and ranch near Bismarck, N.D. The Browns holistically integrate their grazing and no-till cropping system, which includes multi-species cover crops, with all natural grass fed beef, poultry and sheep. This diversity and integration has regenerated the natural resources on the ranch without the use of synthetic fertilizers, pesticides and fungicides. Wildlife populations thrive in this ecosystem. Many game and non-game wildlife make their home on the 5,000-acre ranch, which is located only two miles from the city of Bismarck.

Over 2,000 people visit the Brown's Ranch annually to see this unique operation. They have had visitors from all 50 states and 15 foreign countries.

Brown has been an invited speaker across the U.S. and beyond. He was honored with the NRDC's 2012 Growing Green Awards winner in the Food Producer category. For over 15 years, he has merged back-to-basics agrarian practices with innovative science-based sustainable farming techniques.

For Gabe, healthy soil is the renewable resource that sustains all. By making use of a 100 percent zero-till cropping system, mob grazing, and polyculture cover crop and polyculture cash crop rotations, he has successfully transformed conventional grazing and cropping operations into models of regenerative agriculture.

Brown's Ranch also integrates its cow-calf and grass finished livestock operations with a highly diverse cropping rotation, which includes over 25 different cash and cover crops resulting in high yields and strong net profits. Gabe's trailblazing work has made him a leader in regenerative ranch management.

Gabe will share his experience with: Decreasing inputs while increasing yields; Livestock - The missed income opportunity; Producing corn for only 1.42/bu.; Regenerating your soil resource; Opportunities to bring the next generation into the operation; Lowering your cow wintering costs.

His schedule includes:

Wednesday, Nov. 20: 10 a.m.-2 p.m., Time Square Event Center, Norfolk; Contact Wayne Ohnesorg, UNL Extension Office in Madison County (402)370-4040; 5-9 p.m., Scotia Community Center, Scotia; Contact Heather Depra, UNL Extension in the Central Four District (308)728-5071.

Thursday, Nov. 21: 10 a.m.-2 p.m., Ainsworth Conference Center, Ainsworth; Contact Dennis Bauer, UNL Extension in Brown, Keya Paha and Rock Counties (800) 634-8951.

Registration fee is $15 and covers the cost of the meal. Must preregister with fee by Monday, Nov. 11 to reserve a meal by calling the UNL Extension office indicated. Registrations will be taken until full.

List debunks four common food safety myths

Just because something tastes good doesn't mean it is safe to eat. Raw cookie dough is no exception.

The Partnership for Food Safety Education has released four food safety myths for National Food Safety Month. Topping the list is the myth that only children eat raw cookie dough or cake batter and that it is safe to do so.

No one should eat raw cookie dough or cake batter because it could contain bacteria that could cause illness. The dough and batter must be cooked thoroughly before consumption to kill bacteria. People who eat raw cookie dough and cake batter are at a higher risk of food poisoning than others.

"People who are making cookie dough at home from scratch might want to use pasteurized egg substitutes instead of eggs so that kids can eat it," said Julie Albrecht, food specialist in the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

The second myth is that when kids cook a "heat-and-eat" meal, they don't have to worry about food safety because the microwave kills all the bacteria.

Many times, microwaves cook food unevenly. Bacteria can survive in cold spots. The food must be heated to a safe internal temperature before it is edible. Follow instructions carefully to avoid food safety hazards.

Albrecht recommends putting a plate of marshmallows in the microwave and cooking it for thirty seconds. Some marshmallows will be more cooked than others, a good indication of where in the microwave the hot spots are.

The third myth is that kids can rinse their hands under running water to get rid of bacteria.

In order to effectively kill germs, soap must be used. Rub hands together to make a lather, then scrub them well, making sure to scrub the backs of hands, between fingers and under nails. One tip is to sing the "Happy Birthday" song twice to time yourself. Rinse hands completely under water and dry them using a towel, air dryer, or paper towel.

Albrecht cautions against the use of hand sanitizer as a replacement for hand washing. Hand sanitizer is not as effective and is intended only for situations in which there is no access to soap and water, like camping, Albrecht said.

The fourth myth is that pre-packaged fruits and vegetables do not need to be washed before consumption.

The only pre-packaged foods that do not need to be washed before consumption are those that say "ready-to-eat," "washed," or "triple washed." All other foods should be washed under running tap water. Be sure to wash your hands first. Firm items such as melons and cucumbers should be scrubbed with a produce brush. Dry with a clean cloth towel or paper towel to further reduce germ presence.

Changes at fuel pumps mean higher cost, same performance

Choices have changed at the gas pump, but drivers shouldn't see a change in how fuel performs in their cars, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension educator says.

Motorists for many years have had a choice of gasoline fuel with octane ratings of 87 regular, 89 with 10 percent ethanol or 91 premium. However, oil companies have started to run a sub-octane fuel up the pipeline, which is 83 or 84 octane, said John Hay, associate extension educator in biological systems engineering at UNL.

Mixing ethanol with the sub-octane fuel gives it the octane boost it needs to reach 87 octane level. Ethanol has an octane rating of 100. Fuel stations have begun to change their pumps and labels to reflect the new blends.

"This sub-octane fuel needs to be blended with other fuel types to make it the 87 octane level or above we need at the pump," Hay said. "So basically, 87 with ethanol replaced the 89 with ethanol, and our low cost option at the pump is now 87 with ethanol."

Hay said for those that used to fill up with 89 with ethanol, they can now fill up with 87 with ethanol and it will work the same in their engines.

Before the changes, Hay said there was about a 10-cent price difference in regular gas versus the 10 percent ethanol blend. However, since the changes, that has been ranging 15 to 25 cents across the state.

"The reason is because the 87 regular used to be just the fuel coming out of the pipeline; now it has to be blended with 91 octane premium fuel to make the 87 octane regular," Hay said.

The majority of the U.S. has already seen this change, and Hay said Midwest fuel stations will be deciding what blends to carry and what prices to charge over the next few months.

An octane rating ranks fuel's ability to compress without detonating.

"The average car needs a minimum octane rating of 87," Hay said, but be sure to consult your owner's manual for minimum octane required for your car. "To take advantage of higher octanes, you need a car with higher compressions, such as a high-performance sports car."

Octane is not a rating of energy density and both the 87 with ethanol and the old 89 with ethanol have the similar Btu content and will both give drivers the same gas mileage.

Hay said another fuel fact is about winter and summer fuel.

As winter approaches, oil companies will begin their annual change to "winter" fuel. This winter fuel will have the same octane but is made of shorter chains of hydrocarbons and is thus more volatile and less energy dense.

The higher volatility helps with cold start in winter conditions, yet has less energy than summer blend gasoline. This reduction in Btu content will be accompanied by lower gas mileage but also a lower price at the pump, Hay said.

He said the oil market has a lot of price volatility and thus price changes due to switchovers like summer to winter and winter to summer are hard to notice. Similarly driving conditions and styles make fuel mileage fluctuate, making small changes in the fuels energy hard to distinguish.

Resistant soybeans may be beneficial for disease management

This year we have seen several soybean stem and root rot diseases for which the main management action is the use of resistant or tolerant varieties. Everyone reading this article does not need to use a resistant soybean variety in all their fields, but many farmers would benefit from using them to manage specific disease problems.

If you have a history of any of the problems mentioned below and a major area in a field is affected, make this a criterion in variety selection this year. There are enough resistant varieties on the market that you should be able to find varieties with the total genetic package you need. Unlike other traits that you pay more to have in your variety, disease resistance generally does not cost any more than comparable susceptible varieties.

In recent years we have seen an increase in the number of fields with Soybean Cyst Nematode. Producers are encouraged to use the free testing program administered by UNL and funded by the Nebraska Soybean Board to determine if a field has SCN. If you have a history of SCN and you have been using resistant varieties, make sure you are rotating the varieties in the field and if at all possible, rotate the source of resistance.

Ag Happenings

Extension
Educator

Phytophthora root and stem rot has been very active the last two years. Early planting in wet conditions creates a situation very conducive for Phytophthora if it is present. Dry conditions followed by heavy rains have also been observed to result in significant disease levels in fields with a history of Phytophthora. In most cases symptoms develop within a week of a heavy rain. In addition to using resistant varieties, make sure you use an increased rate of mefenoxam or metalaxyl seed treatment for these fields. Note that seed treatments will only be effective for about 30 days and this disease can infect and kill the soybean plant throughout the season — so resistance is key to management.

In addition to specific resistance, soybean varieties are also rated for "tolerance" to Phytophthora by many companies. Research has shown that a high tolerance score with a resistance gene is the best combination for managing this disease with genetics. Producers should keep records on which fields they identify with Phytophthora so that they can select soybean varieties with resistance and/or tolerance to the disease for those fields. This disease will not affect corn. Fields with a long-term history of Phytophthora may require a different resistance gene if you start seeing Phytophthora-killed plants even with resistant varieties.

White mold or Sclerotinia stem rot is a disease that starts early in the season. The actual infection occurs on the senescing flower, which the fungus feeds on and infects. All infections in soybean will typically start at a node. You can even tell when the infection occurred based on how high up the plant the stem lesions and fungal growth are. This year's cool, wet conditions during flowering were favorable for infection. Even at harvest you can identify Sclerotinia stem rot in the field as the stems will be very light (bleached) in color. Upon close inspection you will see dark black bodies (sclerotia) of the fungus on the stems. When dead stems are split, you often will see the sclerotia of the fungus inside.

Management of Sclerotinia stem rot integrates variety selection and cultural management. Longer term rotations can help reduce sclerotia numbers. High plant populations and narrow rows can increase white mold potential. Varieties vary in their level of partial resistance, and no varieties currently have complete resistance. Select varieties with good scores for Sclerotinia in fields with a history of this disease over several years. This is not a disease we see every year in Nebraska, but some locations — typically in river bottom areas in the northern half of the state — have it more consistently.

In 2013, many fields were affected by either brown stem rot (BSR) or sudden death syndrome (SDS). While foliar symptoms of these diseases are similar, there are key diagnostic differences in other symptoms. Management differs for the two diseases and requires a different variety selection process. Both can result in patches of soybean plants dying in fields. Foliar symptoms are not always present for BSR, therefore any pockets of stressed or dying plants can be suspected for the disease. Foliar symptoms start with interveinal necrosis; then the spots coalesce to form brown streaks between the leaf veins with yellow margins.

Plants affected by brown stem rot will have some root rot, but it won't be as extensive as plants with SDS where the root system will have a deteriorated tap-root and lateral roots will only be evident in the upper soil profile. Plants will typically pull easily and there may be a dark blue fungal growth on the roots with SDS. Plants affected by brown stem rot will not have root rot symptoms.

With any root and stem rot disease it is critical that you split the stems to accurately identify the disease. This is particularly true when trying to differentiate between SDS and brown stem rot. With SDS the center of the stem will not be discolored; discoloration will be confined to the outer stem layers. The root cortex also will be discolored — a light-gray to brown — and may extend up the stem.

Brown stem rot will discolor the center of the stem and typically will be brown from the soil line going up. Examination of the split stem may show discoloration starting at the nodes. Variety selection will be your best option for managing both BSR and SDS. Fields with high levels of SDS should not be planted early in future years and should be managed to reduce compactions. Fields with brown stem rot will benefit from longer rotations, but fields with SDS will not be affected by rotation.

For more information on these diseases, see the article by UNL Extension Plant Pathologist Loren Giesler at <http://cropwatch.unl.edu/web/cropwatch/archive?articleID=5413084>.

Livestock Market Report

The Nebraska Livestock Market conducted a fat cattle sale on Friday.

Prices were generally lower on all classes. There were 200 fat cattle sold.

Strictly choice fed steers, $123 to $124.75. Good and choice steers, $119 to $123. Medium and good steers, $115 to $119. Standard steers, $100 to $115. Strictly choice fed heifers, $123 to $124.50. Good and choice heifers, $119 to $123. Medium and good heifers, $115 to $119. Standard heifers, $90 to $105.

Beef cows, $74 to $77. Utility cows, $76 to $80. Cannons and cutters, $68 to $74. Bologna bulls, $87 to $95.

Music is good for the soul

It's fall, and it's October; harvest is in full swing. Apparently, both corn and beans have had a good "drying out", thanks to wind and sun. But yields are much better than last year, thank God!

We watched the news reports of that auto auction in Pierce in absolute amazement. Mr. Lambrecht was a bit eccentric, to say the least, but he's reaping the profits now. I'd like to have a '56 Chevy, but not if I have to pay thousands of dollars for it. (The only new car my dad ever had, the year I graduated from high school.)

In the weekly addition to the Lincoln paper, the wife of Governor Thone writes a column. This week, she says she writes it to find out how she's feeling about things. That is a very good explanation of why we write! She goes on to say they are going to a lot of funerals; me, too! And she has learned the value of the ritual in memorializing old friends and family.

I'm feeling especially good today about a Hymn Sing I attended on Sunday. There are two venerable old churches in Lincoln that hold special memories for me; one, downtown, is the one I received my cap in; and the other, south of there, is where I graduated from nursing.

The latter, First Plymouth, is in the grand tradition of churches: high ceilings, stained glass, a courtyard, (where they served punch and cake after our ceremony), and a million dollar organ! Just to hear that instrument can make your heart pound.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

This gathering featured the church choir, Doane College choir (under the direction of Dr. Kurt Runestad), and the Lincoln Lutheran Choir. There was also a bell choir and some brass; you can imagine how that all sounded on songs like How Great Thou Art.

The theme was "How Can I Keep from Singing?" That song is not brand new, but I don't think I had ever heard it until lately. Now, it seems every college choir that comes through is singing it. It's very appropriate, that's for sure.

The neat part was that we were invited to sing along, even in harmony! Oh, happy day! As an introduction, one of the directors said he had been invited to direct a women's choir at Doane last year. One of the singers commented that she knew she was not musically gifted, but that her "spirit" desired to sing. After she heard the recording of some of the music her group had done, she said she never knew she could be a part of something so beautiful.

I think that was the gift the choirs gave us on Sunday; we were part of something so beautiful. Of course, I imagine many of the folks in the pews were members of choirs somewhere; I know the lady to my left joined in on my alto without hesitation, but I'm also sure there were many who did not consider themselves "singers". And we sounded beautiful! I think those feelings are going to stay with me all week; at least, I hope so. Because it was good for my spirit, and my soul.
