Council approves tornado-related requests

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

A number of construction projects, several of which are necessary because of the Oct. 4 tornado, received assistance from the city of Wayne during Tuesday's meeting of the City Council.

Two requests for use of LB840 funds were approved. The funds will be granted in a 15-year, no-interest loan, to be repaid in 15 equal payments.

The first of these was awarded to OCC Builders, doing business as Otte Construction. The $37,000 will be used as an emergency business loan to rebuild the business in its former location on Centennial Road.

Pat Garvin, doing business as Innovative Protective, Inc., was granted $10,000 for use in rebuilding this business.

Approval was also given to move forward with the Planning Commission's recommendation regarding the Jorgensen Addition Plat located near McDonalds on East Highway 35.

Jorgensen has purchased several lots, and they have been combined to allow for parking for the 11,500 square-foot sports bar project he is planning.

Council action on Tuesday also included legally platting a section of Tomar Drive as a city right-of-way, which had not been done when Tomar Drive was extended south toward the Summer Sports Complex.

Steps were taken to allow Tom Jacobsen to move forward with plans to build 36 market-rate apartments on West 13th Street, one block west of the Wayne State College campus.

The area is eligible for TIF financing, and Jacobsen's proposal for the project meets with the council's goals for local housing development.

Approval was also granted to move forward with a TIF agreement with Mid Plains Grain, LLC (Breck Giese) for the demolition and new construction of grain bins and elevator facilities. The process is being moved forward yet this fall due to the fact that two of the grain bins were damaged in the Oct. 4 tornado and need to be removed within 30 days.

"I encourage Wayne to consider buying power on the open market. The figures we have seen from doing this are quite remarkable."

— James McNally, Neligh attorney

On the city buying power on the open market

Council members listened to information from the city of Neligh in regard to the purchase of electricity through market pricing rather than from Nebraska Public Power as Wayne does.

James McNally told the council that Neligh buys "economy energy" on a daily basis that is sold at a discounted rate. He said that from April through October of this year, the city had a net profit of $183,000, which includes the bond payments being made on the new power plant that was built to generate power when necessary.

"I encourage Wayne to consider buying power on the open market. The figures we have seen from doing this are quite remarkable," McNally said.

McNally, a Neligh attorney who has been involved with the electric power purchasing by the city for a number of years, explained differences between open market energy purchases and firm power purchases, which give more security to customers but are more expensive.

Resolutions were passed which will allow for an agreement with Olsson Associates for design work for a sanitary sewer project on Chief's Way and an agreement with JEO Consulting Group for engineering work for the Highway 35/Tomar Drive/Hillside Drive Trail Relocation project.

Ken Jorgensen, who asked that the trail be moved to allow for the construction of the sports bar in this area, has agreed to pay for the costs of the engineering and construction from his TIF funds.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Showing support for Wayne

Employees at the corporate offices of Pacific Coast Feather in Washington state decided to show their support to their friends in Wayne and did so by purchasing a bunch of the shirts depicting the fire dogs statue holding up the American flag by the Wayne Fire Department. The group then got together and formed a large "W" in support of the community and had this picture taken in a lot outside their corporate offices.

Michael Foods helps tornado victims with $10,000 donation

Michael Foods, Inc., a food processor and distributor of eggs, refrigerated grocery and potato products with several Nebraska-based facilities, announced it is providing a $10,000 donation to the Wayne Tornado Relief Fund to help with ongoing recovery and cleanup efforts following the devastating tornadoes in October 2013 in Wayne.

"We continue to keep all those affected by this disaster in our thoughts and prayers," Joe Clevenger, plant operations manager for Michael Foods, said. "Our employees, our neighbors and our fellow community members were impacted by the devastation, and there is still a lot to be done to restore the area. We are honored to support the communities where we do business and where our employees reside."

Clevenger said Michael Foods employs more than 500 workers at its Wakefield farms and facilities, which are closely located to where the tornadoes occurred.

Michael Foods and its employees are committed to involvement and contributions in the Wakefield and Wayne communities. These efforts include hosting local food drives, funding scholarships, volunteering at community events and making numerous donations to non-profit organizations throughout the year.

"As a food company, we are passionate about working with local charitable organizations to relieve hunger issues and to extending help with disaster relief when necessary," Jim Dwyer, Chairman and CEO of Michael Foods, said. "Beyond these efforts, many of our employees are engaged in various community organizations and programs."

Veterans Day events scheduled for Nov. 11

Several activities have been scheduled to commemorate Veterans' Day in Wayne on Monday, Nov. 11.

A Veterans Day program will be held Monday, Nov 11 at 9 a.m. at Wayne High School. Nebraska State Sen. Dave Bloomfield will be the speaker this year.

All veterans are invited to attend this program in their honor and be a part of the event.

"We would love to have all veterans join us," Wayne Elementary Principal Jill Pickenpaugh, who is among those organizing the event, said.

At the Wayne Senior Center, the public and veterans are invited to the Veterans Day dinner at noon at the Senior Center.

A patriotic tribute to veterans will begin at 1:30 p.m. and will be entitled "Our Wayne Heroes." It will feature patriotic songs, the presentation of colors, taps and commemo-

Couple strives to meet many needs

By KATIE KASL
Of The Herald

The list of services available at Copy Write/Keepsake reads a little bit like a recipe card. It's one part print shop, one part office supplies store and equal parts video production and custom framing services, all mixed with pinches of package shipping, money transfers and gifts for every occasion.

Owned by Curt and Coleen Jeffries, both former public school music teachers, Copy Write/Keepsake has helped customers print, frame and ship since the duo bought it in the mid-90s. The printing end of the business, owned by Jane O'Leary, at 216 Main Street was already established when Curt moved his video production services, originally a hobby he pursued out of his own home, into an available space in the store. In 1996, when the business' previous owner decided it was time to sell, the couple made the decision to purchase it; Coleen continued to teach until she joined Curt in 1999, and they've both been at Copy Write/Keepsake ever since.

Now, Curt is back to education, splitting his time between the business and instructing classes in the music department at Wayne State. Though both keep him busy, it hasn't stopped him and his wife from adding to the offerings at their store in downtown Wayne.

"We're always looking for ways to expand the business," Curt said.

In fact, he did just that when he and his video productions first joined O'Leary. After the business was passed onto Curt and Coleen, and the years progressed, the two added other services to meet the community's wide and varied needs.

Today, the business' offerings include custom framing, a service

Together, Coleen and Curt Jeffries have run Copy Write/Keepsake at 216 Main Street since 1999. Originally a print shop, the business also offers digital video, custom framing, money transfer and package shipping services to its customers.

Curt picked up after the old Ben Franklin store sold out. It sells office supplies, ships packages via UPS and FedEx and can send and receive money orders with Western Union. And, of course, the video production side is also there, though Curt has shifted his focus from the weddings he initially worked with to the transfer of VHS recordings onto DVDs.

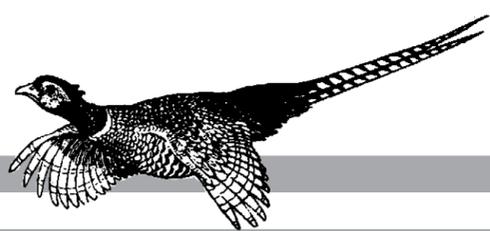

"We are a service business," Coleen said. "We strive to offer personal services to our customers."

Their printing services are still a popular offering, and Curt

Obituaries

Willis Johnson

Willis Johnson, 87, of Norfolk, formerly of Wayne, died Thursday, Oct. 31, 2013 at Faith Regional Health Services in Norfolk.

Services were held Monday, Nov. 4 at Grace Lutheran Church in Norfolk. The Rev. Ray Wilke and the Rev. Christopher Asbury officiated.

Willis E. Johnson was born Nov. 16, 1925 on the family farm near Wakefield, to Andrew and Clara (Lilje) Johnson. He was baptized, Dec. 13, 1925 and confirmed, May 21, 1939 at Immanuel Lutheran Church of Wakefield. He attended country schools through the eighth grade and graduated from Wakefield High School in 1943. Willis married Donna Sorensen on Jan. 9, 1949 at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne. The couple farmed until 1952. Willis was the State Farm Insurance Agent in Wayne from 1956 until 1988. They retired to Bella Vista, Ark. and in October of 2001, moved to a warmer climate, Siesta Village in Weslaco, Texas. In 2005, they moved back to Nebraska to be close to their children. Willis attended Faith Lutheran Church in Bella Vista, Ark. for 14 years and served on the church board, was a member of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne and then Norfolk. He recently entered The Golden Living Center in Norfolk. Willis enjoyed woodworking, fishing, golfing, doing puzzles, traveling, and having fun parties with their family and friends.

Survivors include his wife, Donna; daughters, Virginia (Gary) Kirch of Blair, Vivian Fox (Bob Blaser) of Norfolk, and Peggy (Charles) Menke of Norfolk; son, David (Ann) Johnson of Norfolk; grandchildren, Aaron Menke, April (Mike) King, Tanya (Travis) Reagan, Teri Fox, Toni (Ben) Deutschman, Amanda Menke, Elizabeth Johnson; 8 great-grandchildren; a brother, Derold (Irene) Johnson of Omaha; sister-in-law, Dorothy Johnson of Wayne; nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; brothers, Robert and Melvin Johnson; and sister, Leora (Warren) Austin.

Pallbearers were Willis and Donna's grandsons and great-grandsons, Aaron Menke, Ben Deutschman, Mike King, Chase King, Hayden King, Mason King and Travis Reagan.

Memorials may be directed to the Lutheran Hour.

Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery in Wayne. Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne was in charge of arrangements.

John Peterson

John Peterson, 85, of Carroll, died Monday, Nov. 4, 2013 at Providence Medial Center in Wayne.

Services will be held Friday, Nov. 8 at 10:30 a.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Carroll. The Rev. Harrison Goodman will officiate. Visitation will be held Thursday, Nov. 7 from 5 to 8 p.m. at Hasemann Funeral Home in Wayne with family present.

John Elmer Peterson was born May 29, 1928 on a farm near Laurel to Elmer and Elna (Kardell) Peterson. He attended school at District #75 in Cedar County and graduated from Laurel High School in 1945. He served in the United States Army from 1951-1953. John married Norma Bichel on Sept. 18, 1955 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church rural Wakefield. He farmed for many years near Carroll and was a rural mail carrier for 16 years. John was a member of the American Legion since 1953 and the Carroll Volunteer Fire Department for 13 years.

Survivors include his wife, Norma; children, Carol (Lane) Ostendorf of Sioux City, Iowa, Larry Peterson of Carroll, and Katherine Peterson of Columbus; seven grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; sister, Dorothy Whitney of Virginia Beach, Va.; many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents; three brothers, Einer, Carl, and Robert (Annabelle) Peterson; sister, Vera Peterson; granddaughter, Marcie Reeg; and grandson, Michael Ostendorf.

Honorary pallbearers will be Andrew Peterson, Danny Ostendorf, Preston Fischer, Andrew Mohning and Aaron Brockmann.

Active pallbearers will be Dallas Hansen, Roger Brandt, Harold Wittler, Mark Tietz, Lonnie Fork, Kermit Benshoof and Bob McElroy.

Memorials may be made to St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Carroll.

Burial with military rites will be held in Elmwood Cemetery in Carroll. Hasemann Funeral Home of Wayne is in charge of arrangements.

Wayne County Clerk Deb Finn accepts a plaque for her years of service as an election official for Wayne County.

Election officials honored by Secretary of State Gale

Twenty-four county election officials in Nebraska have been honored for their many years of service by Secretary of State John Gale.

He presented them with certificates during a training workshop on Oct. 23-24 in Kearney. It is the first time that county election officials have been recognized this way by the Secretary of State.

Among those honored was Wayne Deb Finn of Wayne, who has been an election administrator for 23 years, beginning in 1991.

"For several years we have honored poll workers for 20 years or more of civic service as citizen volunteers," said Gale, "and it was time to honor county election officials with similar years of outstanding service as election administrators."

Years of service ranged from 21 years to 39 years. The certificates are given to those officials who have worked 20 years or more.

"They have all seen dramatic changes in our election system including the implementation of the National Voter Registration Act (NVRA) in the mid 1990's as well as the Help America Vote Act (HAVA) in 2003," explained Neal Erickson, Deputy Secretary of State for Elections.

"The fact that these county officials have served twenty years and longer is a testament to the commitment they have to assuring that we have fair, reliable, and accountable elections and their dedication to doing an outstanding job," observed Gale.

WSC Orchestra to perform fall concert Nov. 10

The Wayne State College Orchestra will present its fall concert at 3 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 10 in Ramsey Theater, located in the Peterson Fine Arts Building at Wayne State College.

Orchestra members will perform a variety of exciting works of composers from around the world. The concert will include Sound Innovations Fanfare by Robert Sheldon, Andalucia Suite by Ernesto Lecuona, Marche Slave by Peter Tchaikovsky, and The Great Gate of Kiev from Pictures at an Exhibition by Modeste Moussorgsky.

Anyone interested in joining the group should contact Dr. Karl Kolbeck, Assistant Professor of Woodwinds and Orchestra Director, at (402) 375-7360 or e-mail kakolbe1@wsc.edu.

Pulitzer Prize winner to speak at WSC Nov. 16

A Pulitzer-Prize winner will speak at Wayne State College during the fall meeting for the Nebraska Collegiate Media Association (NCMA) in the Humanities Building on Nov. 16. There will be a mass communication program tour and social hour at 9 a.m. on fourth floor in Humanities.

The keynote speaker at 10 a.m. is Pulitzer-Prize winner and UNL journalism professor Matt Waite. Waite is nationally recognized for his work with drones, using them to teach students to shoot video and aerial photographs. He was ordered by the FAA in July to stop flying drones until he gets government authorization.

Waite and the UNL journalism school have asked the FAA for permission to resume using the drones for news-gathering purposes.

The NCMA promotes media programs at small colleges in Nebraska and recognizes outstanding achievement among students and their schools through the Golden Leaf Awards each spring.

Forty-four years and counting

Larry Lindsay (right) thanked the community for its support of his family business, Wayne Auto Parts during last week's Chamber Coffee. He noted that he is now serving a third generation of customers and said he plans to continue working as long as his health allows. Larry and his wife Jeannie opened the store on Nov. 3, 1969. Their son, Darrell, (left) works with the couple at the store.

Salvation Army seeks bell ringers

It is that time of year again when in the hustle and bustle of the holidays, the sight of The Salvation Army's Christmas Kettles and the sound of the bells remind us to be thankful for what we have and to think of others less fortunate.

Often when people think of those in need, they picture the homeless in large cities, not realizing The Salvation Army is hard at work here in Wayne, America.

A good example is the recent tornado in October. The Salvation Army was right there working to make sure meals were ready for volunteers and personal needs were taken care of. In the months ahead, they will continue to come to help those who need help with emergency rent, utilities, and prescriptions. The Salvation Army is a United Way agency.

Several local businesses have consented to having the kettles on display. They include Wayne East, Shopko, Bomgaars, Quality Foods and Pac 'N' Save.

The churches belonging to the Wayne Ministerial Association have consented to bring their youth and congregation members out to ring bells for an hour when possible, along with Boy Scouts, Girls Scouts and 4-H members.

There are still vacant spots that need to be filled on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings through the month of December. For more information contact Phyllis Rahn at (402) 375-1667.

The home of Chad and Cherry Sebade, located at the corner of Fourth and Windom streets in Wayne, will be one of the stops on this year's Tour of Homes.

Tour of Homes set for Nov. 22-23

The Friends of the Wayne Museum have set the dates and announced the names of those who will have their homes open for this year's Tour of Homes.

Five homes in Wayne and the Wayne Museum will be part of this year's tour, set for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 22-23. Tours will take place from 5-8 p.m. on Friday and 11 a.m.-2 p.m. on Saturday.

Homes on this year's tour include Jason and Heidi Claussen, Chad and Courtney Maas, Sandy Brown and Matt Ley, Craig and Jill Walling and Chad and Cherry Sebade.

Advance tickets for the event may be purchased at all Wayne banks or at the Wayne Area Economic Development Office. Tickets will also be sold at the museum during the tour.

Chad and Cherry Sebade 402 East Fourth Street

The story-and-a-half house was built in 1915.

A sun porch was added to the east side. In the last 1950s this porch was converted into a kitchen.

The Sebades purchased the house in 2000 for a rental home. After six years, they decided to do a total renovation from top to bottom and make it their home. At the time of the renovation, they added a laundry room and an attached two-car garage.

The house features a master bedroom and guest bedroom on the second floor, two bedrooms in the basement, and three full bathrooms, one on each level.

During the renovation, they added six panel oak doors, a vaulted ceiling in the kitchen with solid hickory cabinets and granite vanity tops in all the bathrooms.

Chad has an office off the kitchen for his contracting business.

The house has a multi-color appeal, especially on the main level, and an inviting front porch.

Although the house does not have a back yard, it has a nicely landscaped front yard with a colored stamped design small patio. Passers-by often comment on how beautiful the house is. It is a good example on how to transform an older house into a home that meets the needs of a modern-day family.

The home has been decorated for the holidays by Rustic Treasures.

Chad and Courtney Maas 913 Sherman Street

The house was built in 1966 by Paul and Vivian Telgren. The Telgrens first lived in the home directly to the north and built the house in what was then their back yard. They purchased the back portion of the lot from the home on 10th Street to form what is the current back yard.

The sunken living room/office off the kitchen was added at a later date.

Fortunately for him and his wife,

A Christmas tree in the sunken living room at the home of Chad and Courtney Maas is ready for Christmas this year.

The Telgrens often rented the basement out as an apartment as they have a full kitchen. The separate entrance through the garage was removed in 2008.

Chad and Courtney Maas purchased the home from the Telgrens in 2008. Since that time, many updates have been made.

The basement, excluding the kitchen, was remodeled in 2009. The exterior of the house was painted, along with all rooms throughout the house. The bathroom was recently remodeled. New flooring, new trim and doors were installed throughout the upstairs, and a new driveway was poured this fall.

Needs

From Page 1A described the scope of their capabilities as being able to tackle anything from "a single copy to 5,000 copies."

In the years Curt and Coleen have been in business together, they've not only been able to help out with the demands of a community of 5,600, but have also learned a very valuable lesson.

"We are strong advocates of supporting local business," Curt said. "We really didn't realize the importance of that until we went into business ourselves. Before we were business owners, we didn't think anything of driving out of town to shop."

Fortunately for him and his wife, the city of Wayne has also realized the importance of buying locally.

"People really do try to come here and utilize what we have," Coleen said. "And for that, we're thankful."

Veterans

Speakers for the afternoon include Steve Gross, who will talk on "War Heros" and Earl Fuoss, who will present "A Tribute to Local Heros."

The Wayne Junior Optimist Club will present thank-you cards and cookies to the veterans.

Winners selected in Lions Peace Poster competition

Madi Meyer, a sixth grade student at Wayne Elementary School, has taken the first step to becoming an internationally recognized artist by winning a local competition sponsored by the Wayne Lions Club.

Meyer's poster was among more than 375,000 entries submitted worldwide in the 26th annual Lions International Peace Poster Contest. Lions Clubs International is sponsoring the contest to emphasize the importance of world peace to young people everywhere.

"It is in our future to help the future of the world," the 13-year-old from Wayne said.

The poster was selected by Wayne State College Instructor Dr. Pearl

Hansen's Art Education students for its originality, artistic merit and portrayal of the contest theme, "Our World, Our Future." The judging was held in October at Wayne State College.

Wayne Lions Club president Kathleen Johs said she was impressed by the expression and creativity of the students at the Wayne School.

"It is obvious that these young people have strong ideas about what peace means to them," she said. "I'm so proud that we were able to provide them with the opportunity to share their visions."

Meyer's poster will advance to stiff competition through the district to multiple district and international rounds if she is to be declared the international grand prize winner, Johs explained.

One grand prize winner and 23 merit award winners will be selected. The grand prize includes a cash award of $5,000, plus a trip for the winner and two family members to the awards ceremony at Lions Day with the United Nations.

The 23 merit award winners will each receive a certificate and a cash award of $500.

"Our club is cheering for Madi as her poster advances in the competition, and we hope that her vision will ultimately be shared with others around the world," Johs said.

Helping out the ruggers

Ameritas of Wayne recently got together with members of the Wayne State Rugby Club after the business presented a $2,500 donation to the club to help replace equipment that was lost in the Oct. 4 tornado.

Family

From Page 1A ey "underneath the table" to the family in an effort to buy the land, although county board members and County Clerk Deb Finn all said that no such offer was made. A legal offer made in the office of County Attorney Mike Pieper and authorized by the county board in the amount of $32,000 for 3.17 acres was turned down by the Rubecks, Finn said.

Kirsch called for the resignations of all three members of the county board, directing most of her anger toward District 3 representative Jim Rabe, where the Rubeck property is located; and District 2 representative Dean Burbach, both of whom have been on the board from the start of the discussions with the Rubecks and Kirsch.

"You do not do things the way you have been doing," Kirsch angrily told Rabe and Burbach.

Kirsch claimed that she was injured during the time that gates were put up to close the road, which was once used by the county under a lease agreement with the Rubecks before the family demanded the road be closed a few years ago.

Kirsch also said that she was promised that a road with three bridges, that she claimed was once in place on the property, would be put back in place. Exhaustive research that has been done over the years, however, has not been able to provide an accurate and consistent placement of a road in the impacted area.

"I was promised that if I pulled the gates that I could have my road with three bridges, and nobody remembers the road with three bridges, but I've brought you a picture with that road and a third bridge," she said. "Are you just going to abandon it?"

Rabe moved to go ahead with the resolution that begins eminent domain proceedings, and District 1 commissioner Randy Larson added that the motion be made "with regrets" as he felt Kirsch didn't fully understand the legal process that is part of the process for condemning property.

"These kinds of proceedings are always uncomfortable, and this is made more complicated because I don't think they fully understand the process," he said. "By starting these proceedings with regret, it shows some compassion to the situation. It's a really tough situation, but if every other option has been explored, then what are our choices?"

In other action, the county board:

- awarded the Winside East federal aid road project to Dixon Construction of Correctionville, Iowa, in the amount of $458,422.30 for grading, culvert and bridge work. The award was well under the project's estimated cost of $564,060.27, according to Finn.

- approved lodging tax applications for the Christmas in Wayne program on Nov. 21 for $1,000 and the Carroll Craft Show on Nov. 22 for $200.

- approved the county's cost allocation plan for fiscal year 2011-12 for Clerk of the District Court's indirect costs and the Department of Health and Human Services' direct and indirect costs.

- approved a request for proposals on the issuance of bonds for road improvement projects in the amount of $4 million that will be repaid over a 15-year period.

The county board was in recess until Thursday, when it will have a 9:15 a.m. public hearing regarding the sale of county property that was damaged in the Oct. 4 tornado. The properties are located at 421 Centennial Road (the former Health and Human Services building) and 1609 Chiefs Way (the former Noxious Weed building).

Maggie Warrick powers toward the goal line to help the Wayne State women's rugby team to a 56-12 win over MSU Moorhead to win the NSCRO West Region title and earn a second straight Final Four trip later this month in New Jersey.

Women ruggers return to Final 4

Defending their national championship from a year ago, the Wayne State women's rugby club dominated MSU Moorhead in the NSCRO West Regional final Sunday at the Wayne Rugby Park in a 56-12 win that sends the Wildcats back to Cherry Hill, N.J. for rugby's Final Four.

The Wildcats used the wind to their advantage in building a 23-5 halftime lead, spurred by scores from Amber Kutnick and Maggie Warrick.

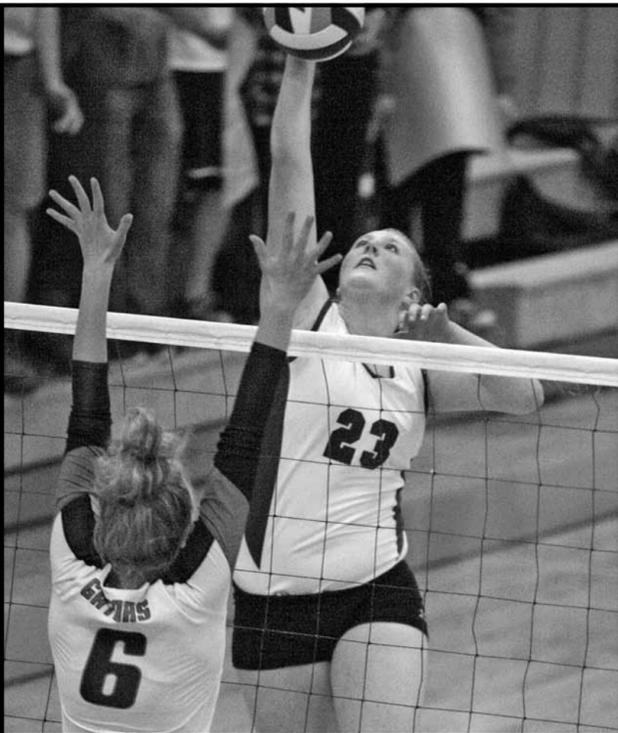

Wayne State looked to put the game out of reach early in the second half, but the visiting Dragons held the Wildcats a yard away from scoring, regained possession and took the ball the other way, scoring a try and converting the point-after kick to make it 23-12 about five minutes into the second half.

The Wildcats responded with a second-half scoring barrage that included some impressive scores by Warrick and Jasmin Kovacs, who also scored a pair of tries on runs of 60 and 15 yards, to help Wayne State put the game out of reach.

Spurred by a good crowd that saw Wayne State's first match since the Oct. 4 tornado damaged the park, the Wildcats dominated and went on to claim their second straight regional championship.

Alesha Rosberg, Julianne Wilke, Kayla LaValais and Kaylee Freese also scored tries for the 15-0 Wildcats, who will head to New Jersey for the NSCRO Final Four, set for Nov. 23-24 in Cherry Hill, N.J.

Paige Wacker reaches high for a kill to help Wayne win the C1-7 subdistrict title Tuesday over Wisner-Pilger.

Blue Devils finish job at subdistricts

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

OAKLAND – The last five weeks have been pretty emotional for Wayne High volleyball coach Traci Krusemark.

So it was really no surprise, then, to see her emotions pour out as her team beat her alma mater, Wisner-Pilger, in the finals of the C1-7 subdistrict Tuesday with a 25-21, 21-25, 25-16, 25-19 win at Oakland-Craig High School.

For the Wayne coach, who lost her home in the Oct. 4 tornado that hit the Wayne area, volleyball has been the one normal thing she's had going on, and it all came out for her when she shook hands with her former high school coach and longtime coaching mentor, Wisner-Pilger's

Late score sinks Wayne, 28-27

Blue Devils end season with 5-5 mark

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

FALLS CITY – Desperate times call for desperate measures.

Falls City had to go to the back of their playbook to find something that would work down the stretch against the Wayne High defense and used some trickery to help set up the winning score and break the Blue Devils' hearts in an exciting 28-27 finish in the first round of the Class C-1 playoffs Thursday afternoon at Jug Brown Stadium.

Facing a fourth-and-3 at the Blue Devils' 19-yard line, Falls City lined up in a swinging gate formation with five linemen lined up to the wide side of the field. On their first attempt, they were whistled for an illegal formation but got the formation right and used it on their next two plays to put them into position for the winning score.

"We had five films on them, and we hadn't seen them in that formation. They had to go off-script to get us," a disappointed coach Terry Bear said after the game.

Special teams played a significant role in the outcome of the game between the East No. 7-seeded Tigers and No. 10 Blue Devils.

Wayne trailed 21-20 early in the fourth quarter when Austin Keiser blocked a Falls City punt, setting the Blue Devils up at the Tigers' 27-yard line. Luke Rethwisch then wrestled a lobbed pass from Jalen Barry away from a Falls City defender inside the Tigers' 10-yard line and caught another pass from Barry on the next play to give Wayne a 27-20 advantage.

"Luke's a player who comes up big for us and caught a lot of tough ones this year, and he pulled that one away from their kid and showed a lot of heart and sparked us into scoring that touchdown," Bear said.

Wayne opted to kick the extra point to make it an eight-point game, but Falls City got through and blocked the kick with 4:56 to go, giving them an opportunity to come back and win.

On their next drive, Falls City converted a third-and-long at their own 37, then used the swinging gate play on a fourth-and-8 from the 24 to get into position to score. Two plays later, Mitchell Harling found Jordan Stoller alone in the back corner of the end zone to make it 27-26, and Brenden Heckenlively managed to just sneak the ball across the goal line on the two-point conversion to give Falls City the lead with 1:33 to play.

Wayne had one last chance at a comeback, but Stoller stepped in front of a Barry pass over the middle for an interception with :48 to seal the win and end Wayne's season.

"That one point was big, but we fought all the way to the end and wanted to win just as bad as they did," Bear said. "We did fairly well offensively, and I thought our defense played well, and we fought to the end."

It was a back-and-forth game throughout, with Wayne having an answer for every Falls City score

Net play helps Trojans advance

By RICHARD RHODEN
Of The Herald

Wakefield's play at the net proved to be the deciding factor in the C2-4 Subdistrict Final over Homer Tuesday at Wayne High School.

The Lady Trojans used offensive firepower along with a stingy defense to win the match in four sets 25-15, 22-25, 25-17 and 25-13.

"We definitely have things to work on before we take on GACC, but it is nice to see the girls able to come back when they are down. That is one thing we have worked on – fighting back – so it was nice to see that from them," coach Timarie Hansen said. "The offense finally came together in the fourth set, and you can see what our offense can do when it starts clicking, and that was evident in that set."

Wakefield raced ahead to a 9-4 lead in the first set before Homer closed the gap to 13-9.

The Lady Trojans collected five straight points and cruised to the 25-15 set victory.

Homer came out aggressive after losing the first set and, in a back-and-forth match, was able to outlast the Trojan offense with a 25-22 win.

With the game tied at 16, Homer strung together two points and never relinquished the lead after that.

The two teams traded points until Homer was able to capture the final two points to seal the win.

"I told the girls that we have to stop playing for the opposite team to error but for us to grab points," Hansen said.

It looked like Homer was in control of the third set, as they were able to jump out and take a 15-12 lead at one point.

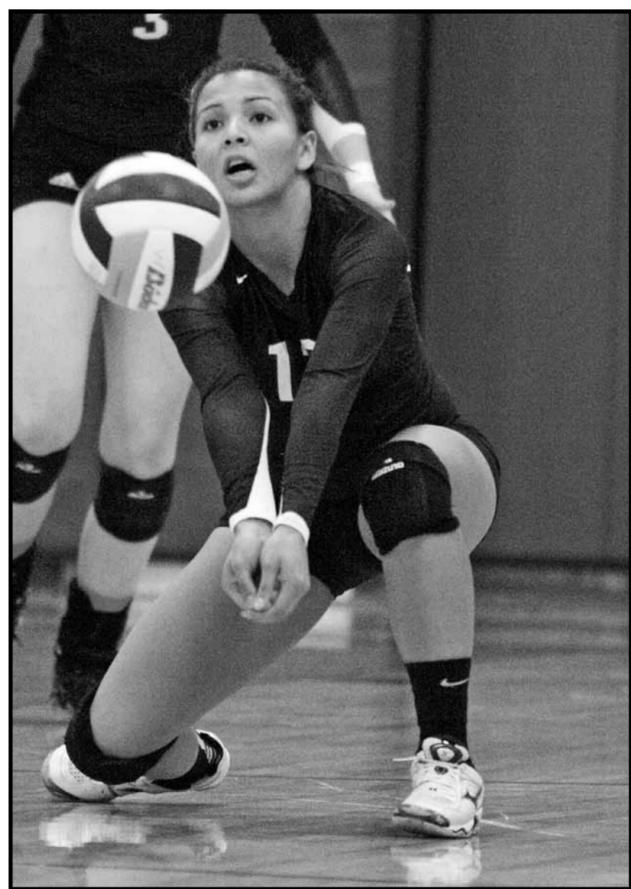

But as the game score was 16-14 in favor of the Knights, Wakefield scored 11 of the final 12 points in the match to clinch the 25-17 set three victory.

Wakefield's offense was at its best in the fourth set as the Lady Trojans took an 8-0 lead early in the set and never looked back as they won a dominant 25-13 victory and clinched a spot in the C1-2 district final against Guardian Angels Central Catholic.

Individually for the Lady Trojans, Lauren Lehmkuhl dominated the kills department with 24 as Tianna Gnat added 13 more. Emily Puls recorded eight kills, and McKenzie Rusk scored two.

"Lauren is just one of those all-around great athletes who I enjoy coaching, and her strengths are all around the floor," Hansen said. "She is a passer, defender, blocker

Wildcat netters take two on road trip

Wayne State continued its success on the road in the NSIC, as the 18th-ranked Wildcat volleyball team picked up a couple of road wins.

On Friday, Alyssa Frauendorfer recorded 18 kills and hit a scorching .515 for the match to lead the Wildcats past Minnesota Crookston, 25-15, 25-27, 25-21 and 25-12.

Wayne State got off to a slow start, trailing early 7-2 to force a Wildcat timeout, but caught fire and pulled away with the first-set win, thanks to five service aces including three from Cori Hobbs.

After Wayne State held an 8-6 lead in the second set, the host Golden Eagles got on a roll and scored 10 straight points to come away with the second set to tie the match. The third set was close throughout, but with the score tied at 20-20, Wayne State used kills from Frauendorfer and Elizabeth Gebhardt and an attack error from UMC to go up 23-20 and go on to take the third set.

In the final set, it was the Alyssa Frauendorfer show as she had 10 kills and one service ace in the set to help Wayne State close out the four-set win.

Wayne State hit .221 for the match compared to UMC's .159. The Wildcats had 55 kills to 47 for the Golden Eagles and had a 6-5 edge in blocks over UMC. Wayne State also served up a season-high 10 service aces in the win.

Hobbs contributed her 18th double-double of the year with 11 kills and 13 digs. Courtney Van-Groningen notched a team-best 19 digs, followed by Katie Hughes with 18 and Michaela Mestl with 10. Leisa McClintock had 43 set assists and 10 digs for her fifth double-double of the year.

On Saturday, Wayne State made quick work of Bemidji State in a 25-13, 25-16, 25-13 win at Bemidji, Minn.

Wayne State jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the first set and never looked back in taking the first set, forcing Bemidji State into nine attack errors and a minus-.103 hitting percentage. Frauendorfer had five kills and three blocks in helping the Wildcats win the second set, and Wayne State finished off the match with 12 kills and two errors in 31 attacks for a .323 hitting percentage.

Frauendorfer led the Wildcats in hitting for the second straight match, recording a match-high 13 kills in 21 attempts with just one attack error for a .571 attack percentage. She also had six blocks in the win. Hobbs followed with six kills and had 10 digs, while Gebhardt had six kills and four blocks. Hughes accounted for a team-high 16 digs with libero Courtney Van-Groningen adding 14, and McClintock was credited with 28 assists and had nine digs.

Wayne State is 19-7 overall and 10-6 in the NSIC. They will be at home this weekend, hosting 20th-ranked Northern State Friday at 7 p.m. and MSU Moorhead on Saturday at 4 p.m.

 and hitter. We know if we get her the ball, she can get the job done.” Savannah Nelson passed the ball around with great accuracy for Wakefield as she collected 36 set assists in the match.
 “For a freshman, she is great. We are just working on consistency, and that was the issue in the second and third sets to, just keep the ball on the net where it needs to be,” Hansen said. “It is a big role for her to step in especially losing our setter from last year. Savannah has done a nice job stepping in and getting the job done.”

Whitney Echtenkamp paced the Lady Trojans in digs, recording 18 while Gnat followed with 16. Lehmkuhl was credited with 14 digs and Nelson was responsible for 12.

On Monday, the Trojans made fast work of Ponca in the first round of subdistrict play, winning 25-19, 25-20, 25-12.

Lehmkuhl had 20 kills, Gnat added eight, and Puls added seven for the Trojans. Nelson had 38 assists.

Defensively, Echtenkamp had 14 digs, Nelson added 13, Gnat had 12 and Lehmkuhl picked up 10.

Jean Groth, after the match.

“Volleyball has been the one thing that’s been normal for me this last month, and it’s great to come out with a win,” she said. “Coach Groth taught me everything I know, and it’s always a great match and we both are very competitive and wanted to win.”

The Blue Devils, who had split a pair of best-of-three matches with the Lady Gators this season, were able to do something they’ve had trouble doing during the course of their 24-6 season – finish a tough match.

Krusemark said Tuesday’s win was a lesson learned for her team on how to put away a good team like Wisner-Pilger when the opportunity presents itself.

“We’ve been trying to teach the girls about finishing,” she said. “We were up 2-0 on Crofton (in the conference semifinals) and we didn’t finish. We’ve been up in some other games and didn’t finish. You’ve got to keep pressing and be the first to 23, and then 24, and then 25, and I think the girls know now what it’s like to finish.”

The Blue Devils broke a 14-14 tie in the first set with a pair of kills by Paige Wacker, and Ashton Schweers had a kill and a block to help Wayne get some momentum, closing out the first set on a Wisner-Pilger hitting error.

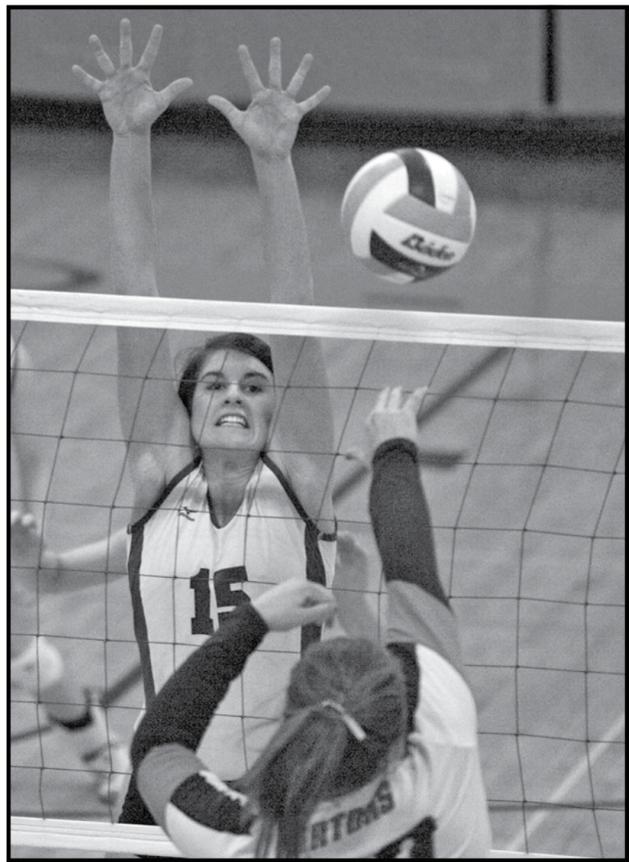

The Gators returned the favor in the second set, finishing things off after Wayne had come back from a four-point deficit to tie the match at 20-20. Back-to-back kills by the Lady Gators’ Bailey Batenhorst and an ace serve by Makenzie Kalkowski helped Wisner-Pilger to tie the match at one set apiece.

Wayne’s front line started to catch fire in the third set, with Madison Frevert and Alyssa Schmale picking things up. Frevert was on fire in the final two sets, picking up the bulk of her team-best 13 kills in the final two sets, including a bomb that gave Wayne its biggest lead of the set at 22-14.

“She played great early in the year and kind of went into a slump, but this is when you need to play great and Madison was really on top of her game,” Krusemark said.

Wacker had back-to-back kills to close out the third set, and Wayne took control of the fourth set late, thanks to a kill and a block by Frevert and another kill by Schmale. The foursome of Frevert, Schweers, Wacker and Schmale all finished the night in double digits in the kills department with 13, 11, 11 and 10, respectively.

Emma Evetovich ran the offense well, contributing 40 saves, two ace serves and 12 digs to the winning effort. Meagan Backer had 48 digs and three ace serves, while Schweers (22), Schmale (11) and Peyton Roach (13) all hit double digits in the digs department.

Ashton Schweers has a look of determination as she tries to block a Wisner-Pilger attack in subdistrict play Tuesday.

On Monday, the Blue Devils opened subdistrict play with an easy win over West Point-Beemer, taking care of the Cadets in straight sets, 25-18, 25-16, 25-16.

Wayne got good balance at the net, led by Schweers’ 12 kills. Wacker added eight, Frevert and Schmale each had six and Jaci Jenkins had four. Evetovich had 31 assists and also knocked down a pair of kills.

Backer led the defense with 26 digs, while Schweers had 10 and Schmale had nine. Wayne High took home consolation honors in the Mid State Conference tournament last week, bouncing back from a tough loss to Crofton to sweep Hartington Cedar Catholic in the third-place match in Battle Creek, 27-25, 25-19, 25-23.

Schweers had 12 kills, Schmale added eight and Frevert had six for the winners. Evetovich had 26 assists and 16 digs. Backer led the defense with 30 digs, while Schmale had 18 and Schweers added 15.

Wayne High will face Norfolk Catholic in the C1-4 district finals on Thursday, and although the Blue Devils already own a four-set win over the Knights in the regular season, Krusemark said her team will need to be ready to go out and finish the job if they want to make it to next week’s state tournament.

“The thing is, it’s one of those games where we’re going up against a good team that’s played with us, and we still have to pass, set and hit well and take it to them and get them down early,” she said.

“And then finish it.”

Allen falls in five-set thriller Winside's volleyball season comes to a close

Lindsey Jones tries to distract a Randolph opponent as she bumps the ball near the net during Lewis and Clark Conference action Friday in Laurel. After losing the conference final, the Lady Eagles returned the favor against the Cardinals before losing to Emerson-Hubbard in the finals.

HARTINGTON - Playing five-set matches on back-to-back nights is a tall order, and the Allen Lady Eagles faced that challenge in the D1-4 subdistrict.

Unfortunately, the Lady Eagles weren't able to put wins together in their consecutive nights of marathon matches, losing to Emerson-Hubbard in the finals Tuesday at Hartington Cedar Catholic, 25-18, 25-22, 10-25, 17-25, 15-11 to finish the season with a 20-10 record.

Coach Cheryl Greve said her team battled hard and just came up short in their matchup with the Lady Pirates.

"I thought our girls played pretty hard," she said. "We didn't come out as focused as we needed to the first couple of sets, but they battled back and won the next two and took it to five."

The matchup came one night after a five-set win over Randolph, and Greve felt her team was up to the challenge.

"We knew they were going to be tough, and I thought the girls were in good condition," she said. "We missed a couple of swings there late, and it just turned the momentum of the game a little bit, but I thought the girls gave their best. It could've gone either way, and it just went (Emerson-Hubbard's) way."

Lindsey Jones led the Allen net attack with 23 kills, while Gabby Sullivan added 12. Courtney Reuter recorded eight kills, and Rachel Kneiff added six.

Lindsey Sullivan did a nice job directing the offense, finishing with 44 assists. Lexi Oswald paced the defense from her libero position, finishing with a team-best 16 digs.

Allen got to the subdistrict finals after extracting some revenge from a loss to Randolph in the Lewis and Clark Conference finals last week. On Friday night, the third-seeded Lady Eagles won the first set against the Cardinals, but the No. 7-seed Randolph squad bounced back in a big way, sweeping the final three sets to take the conference title, 13-25, 25-20, 25-18, 25-18.

Jones finished the match with 23 kills in a losing effort for the Lady Eagles, while Gabby Sullivan added nine, Reuter put down seven and Sammy Sullivan had six. Lindsey Sullivan recorded 39 assists in directing the Allen attack.

Allen returned the favor in Monday's subdistrict semifinal in a match that almost mirrored Friday's conference final. Allen won the first set before Randolph took the next two, but this time it was the Lady Eagles who came out on top at the end, winning a five-set thriller, 25-19, 18-25, 22-25, 25-21, 15-11.

"The girls played with a lot of heart and determination," Greve said. "Randolph is a solid team with a lot of weapons and some great defense."

Jones had 24 kills, and Gabby Sullivan added 12 in Allen's bounce-back win. Sammy Sullivan had six kills, as did Lindsey Sullivan, who also had 48 assists. Reuter and Kneiff each added five kills. Oswald led the defense with 14 digs, while Gabby Sullivan added 12.

Winside's volleyball season came to a close Monday, as the Wildcats dropped a four-set decision to Lyons-Decatur, 25-15, 25-27, 25-13, 25-9.

The Wildcats battled the Cougars for much of the first two sets, coming from behind in the second set to tie the match.

Lyons-Decatur took control in the final two sets and were actually able to upset Bancroft-Rosalie in the subdistrict final Monday to advance to district play on Thursday.

Carly Thies led the 6-24 Wildcats with 12 kills, while Ellie Jaeger had seven and Carly Schwager had six. Jayd Roberts had 25 assists, and Thies had 10 blocks.

Morgan Jensen recorded three ace serves and added 28 digs. Roberts led the defense with 31 digs, while Kelly Tweedy and Schwager each had 20 and Alex Bargstadt recorded 10.

 early on. The Tigers opened the game when Stoller took the ball around the near side for a 67-yard touchdown run to give the hosts a 6-0 first-quarter advantage.

Wayne responded on their next drive when Barry hit Jared Anderson for a six-yard touchdown pass, and Jordan Cliff's kick gave Wayne a 7-6 lead after one period.

Falls City scored again on a three-yard run by Weston Witt late in the first half, but Wayne got that score back just before halftime when Barry called his own number and scored from five yards away, giving Wayne a 14-12 halftime lead.

Falls City reclaimed the lead late in the third on a short run, but Barry and Anderson connected on a pair of big pass plays. The first, on a fourth-and-nine from the Falls City 38, found Barry scrambling before finally finding Anderson on the near sideline for a first down. Two plays later, the seniors hooked up again as Anderson was open for 20 yards and a touchdown to make it a 21-20 Wayne advantage.

Wayne's defense held, and Kesier got through for a block. Wayne scored two plays later to take the lead with 4:56 to go before Falls City mounted its final comeback.

The Blue Devils outgained Falls City 260-223, with Barry throwing for 155 yards on 12-of-19 passing. Anderson caught seven passes for 104 yards, and Barry and Demetrius Alexander led the rushing offense with 31 and 30 yards, respectively.

The Blue Devils finished with their first winning regular season in several years and completed a 5-5 campaign that Bear said his kids could be proud of.

"They won't see it right now, but they did something that hasn't been done here in a while, and I'm very happy for them," he said. "They did a really good job this past sum-

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge volleyball team saw their season come to an end Monday in C2-4 sub-district play at Wayne High School.

The Lady Bears took care of Homer in the first set, but the Knights came back and took the next three sets to take the match and end LCC's season, 22-25, 25-19, 25-12, 25-23.

"We played tight and too timid at times, while Homer stayed aggressive," coach Patti Cunningham said. "This put us out of system for stretches throughout the match, sometimes caused by errors on our part and then also from plays by the opponent. It was an unfortunate time to not be playing our best."

Kelsey Dietrich led the 15-12 Lady Bears with 12 kills, while Audra Corbit, Ellie Arduser and Erin Gubbels each had seven kills. Cameron Eddie had 36 assists.

Arduser led the defense with 12 digs, while Rastede had 10, Gubbels had eight and Eddie had seven.

LCC took home consolation honors in the Lewis and Clark Conference volleyball tournament, taking the third-place match Friday over Emerson-Hubbard, 25-14, 25-19.

"The girls worked hard to play consistently and aggressively, and it was fun to see them do well," Cunningham said.

Arduser had five kills and Gubbels and Corbit each had four for LCC. Dietrich had three kills and two blocks.

WSC soccer ends season on a positive

The Wayne State women's soccer team closed out the regular season on a positive note with a tie against a ranked opponent and a season-ending win at home.

On Thursday, the Wildcats battled No. 19 Southwest Minnesota State to a 0-0 double overtime tie in Marshall, Minn., before closing the 2013 season with a 5-2 win at home against University of Sioux Falls.

The first half was all about defense on Thursday as SMSU got off three shots to Wayne State's one. The host Mustangs fired off 11 shots in the second half to three for Wayne State, but neither team found the back of the net. Southwest Minnesota State had three shots in each overtime period while holding Wayne State without a shot, but neither team could find the goal and the game ended in a scoreless deadlock.

Individually for Wayne State, McKenna Adams had two shots, both on goal, while Kelly Voigt had one shot on goal. Alex Mathers was credited with the remaining Wayne State shot in the contest. Goalkeeper Kylie Comba was credited with seven saves in the contest.

On Sunday, five different players scored goals as Wayne State ended their 2-14-2 campaign with a win over the Cougars at the Wayne State soccer complex. The five goals scored Sunday were the most by the Wildcats against an NCAA Div. II team since the 2009 season, when Wayne State beat MSU Moorhead 5-3.

The Wildcats opened the scoring just under six minutes into the contest when Mallory Hoyt found the back of the net for an early 1-0 lead. Wayne State made it a 2-0 game at the 14:07 mark when a header from Adams off a pass from Hailey Smith got past the USF goalkeeper.

Wayne State then scored two goals late in the first half to take a 4-0 lead at intermission. Macy Hagen scored her fourth goal of the season at the 40:45 mark, and Natalie Poppe added another goal three minutes later off a pass from Kelsea Lambert.

Sioux Falls got on the scoreboard at the 64 minute mark, but Wayne State scored with about 10 minutes left as Voigt beat the Cougar goalkeeper for a score.

Wayne State had a 17-6 edge in shots over Sioux Falls, including a 12-5 lead in shots on goal over the Cougars. Hagen and Adams each had one goal and one assist to lead a balanced Wildcat effort. Voigt scored her fourth goal of the season for Wayne State, while Poppe and Hoyt also scored goals for the Wildcats.

Ryan Wells played just over 70 minutes in goal to pick up the win, allowing one goal with two saves. Comba had one save while allowing one goal in just under 20 minutes of work in goal.

Wayne softballers tabbed for all-state

Five members of the Wayne High softball team that finished as runner-up in Class C this season were named to the Omaha World-Herald's Class C all-state team Sunday.

First-team selections were Victoria Kranz and Jalyn Zeiss, while Danica Schaefer was named to the second team. Honorable mention selections went to Hannah Belt and Abbie Hix.

Wayne's Pulfer earns NCA all-state honor

Wayne High freshman Marta Pulfer was named to the Nebraska Coaches Association's Class C girls all-state cross country team.

Pulfer finished second overall in the state meet last week and led the Wayne High girls to a third-place finish at the Nebraska State Cross Country Championships last month in Kearney.

Fraendorfer named Player of the Week

Wayne State freshman Alyssa Fraendorfer was named the Northern Sun Conference Volleyball Offensive Player of the Week following her play in weekend road victories at Minnesota Crookston and Bemidji State.

Fraendorfer continued her sizzling play over the weekend for the 18th-ranked Wildcats, averaging 4.43 kills and 1.14 blocks per game while recording a scorching .537 attack percentage. She had 18 kills with two blocks and hit .515 in Friday's 3-1 win at Minnesota Crookston and followed that with 13 kills and six blocks in Saturday's 3-0 sweep at Bemidji State.

For the weekend, Fraendorfer notched 31 kills and just two attack errors in 54 attempts. Over the last two weekends, she has accounted for 4.31 kills and 1.12 blocks per game with a .496 attack percentage in matches against fourth-ranked Minnesota Duluth, St. Cloud State, Minnesota Crookston and Bemidji State.

For the season, Fraendorfer is now averaging 2.77 kills to rank second on the Wildcat team. She leads the Wildcats in blocks per game (0.95) and attack percentage (.355), which ranks sixth in the Northern Sun Conference.

It's the first time the 6-foot freshman middle hitter from Humphrey was awarded conference player of the week honors.

Wildcats stay put in AVCA D-2 poll

The Wayne State volleyball team remained at No. 18 in this week's American Volleyball Coaches Association Div. II coaches poll.

The Wildcats won two on the road last week to stay in the top 20. They are one of five NSIC teams currently in the top 20, along with top-ranked Concordia-St. Paul, No. 3 Minnesota Duluth, No. 8 Southwest Minnesota State and No. 20 Northern State.

Other Central region teams include No. 5 Central Missouri, No. 7 Nebraska-Kearney, No. 11 Washburn and No. 21 Truman State.

Area athletes part of NECC volleyball

The Northeast Community College volleyball team opened post-season play this week in the Iowa Community College Athletic Conference.

The No. 3 seed Hawks were to face No. 2 seed Southwestern Community College in the opening round of the ICCAC Region XI-B bracket tournament in Creston, Iowa. Other teams in the bracket include top seed Kirkwood Community College and Marshalltown.

Volleyball came back to Northeast this season after a 10-year absence. "We are very proud of our girls and how our season ended with this being the first year volleyball back at Northeast," coach Amanda Schultze said. "It is always hard to start from scratch, but this team did a nice job in ending up sixth in the conference and making it to the first round of the regional tournament."

The winner of Tuesday's match will move on to the regional semifinals on Saturday, Nov. 9 in Fort Dodge, Iowa, with an opportunity to advance to the NJCAA national tournament.

Members of the Northeast volleyball team include area players Sarah Maxon of Wayne, Brittany Sullivan of Allen and Nazya Thies of Winside.

Top-ranked Minnesota State held Wayne State to 176 yards of total offense as the Mavericks rolled to a 45-3 win over Wayne State Saturday afternoon at Blakeslee Stadium in Mankato, Minn.

Minnesota State scored on their first three possessions while forcing three Wayne State punts as the Mavericks built a 21-0 first quarter lead. The Wildcats turned the ball over on downs on their next two series while Minnesota State scored again with 10:04 to play in the second quarter taking a 28-0 lead. The Mavericks added a 36-yard field goal on the final play of the first half to take a 31-0 halftime advantage.

The second half started with Minnesota State scoring on the opening possession to take a 38-0 lead. Wayne State put together its longest drive of the game, traveling 53 yards on 16 plays and using up more than eight minutes before settling for a 32-yard field goal by Tyler Basch. Minnesota State added a fourth-quarter touchdown for the final points of the day. The Mavericks gained 456 yards in the game while Wayne State finished with 176 yards. After gaining 118 yards in the first half, the Wildcats were limited to just 58 yards of offense in the second half by the NSIC's top-ranked defense.

Charlie Davidson led the Wildcats in rushing with 67 yards on 21 carries. Quarterback Zach Osborn was 11 of 25 passing for 123 yards with two interceptions. Tight end Grant Otten had three catches for 54 yards followed by Brian Kent with three catches for 22 yards.

Defensively for Wayne State, defensive back Jon Davis led the Wildcats with eight tackles followed by Trevor Meader with six stops.

Wayne State, 2-7 will be at home next Saturday as the Wildcats entertain Upper Iowa in a 1 p.m. NSIC South Division game at Bob Cunningham Field in Wayne.

Ryan Rolfzen (left) and Ellen Hansen helped lead Wayne State's basketball teams in season-opening exhibitions at Purdue and Iowa State, respectively.

Wildcats open with exhibitions

Wayne State's basketball teams tipped off the 2013-14 season with exhibition games against Div. I opponents.

On Sunday, All-Big 12 junior forward Hallie Christofferson scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds to lead Iowa State past Wayne State 76-52 at Hilton Coliseum in Ames, Iowa before a crowd of 10,036 fans.

The Cyclones got out to an early to a 6-0 lead, but Wayne State closed within one at 6-5 on a Jordan Spencer jumper and 3-pointer from Ellen Hansen with 16:28 to go in the half.

The Wildcats cut the ISU lead to five at 17-12 with 11:11 to play on a layup by Spencer and a 3-pointer by Michaela Barry, but the Cyclones went on a 9-0 run and took a 26-12 lead and Iowa State maintained a double digit lead the rest of the game.

Wayne State got within 10 at 31-21 on a Spencer free throw with 2:14 to go before halftime before Iowa State finished with a 35-21 lead.

The Wildcats stayed within reach early in the second half, trailing twice by 10 points. Wayne State trailed 55-43 with 8:48 to play, but Iowa State scored the next seven points to push the lead to 20 points at 63-43 and the Cyclones went on to post the 76-52 win over Wayne State.

Spencer's 14 points and 11 rebounds led the Wildcats in the losing effort. Addy Roller followed with 10 points while Ashton Yossi added nine points. Hansen, a graduate of Ames High School, finished with eight points and 10 rebounds.

Wayne State opens the 2013-14 regular season at home Saturday evening hosting Peru State College in a 7 p.m. contest at Rice Auditorium.

On Monday night, Purdue shot 61 percent in the first half, building a 46-15 lead, to help the Boilermakers top Wayne State 91-58 in a men's college basketball exhibition game in West Lafayette, Ind. before a crowd of 11,911.

The Boilermakers took an early 11-0 lead on the Wildcats in the first four minutes of the game before Wayne State got on the scoreboard with a jumper by Jared Bartling at the 15:12 mark.

The Boilermakers used a pressure defense to force 21 Wayne State turnovers in the first half combined with 61.3 percent shooting to take a commanding 46-15 lead at halftime.

The second half saw Wayne State battle with Purdue as the Boilermakers only outscored the Wildcats by two points, 45-43. Wayne State shot 53.1 percent in the second half and had just eight turnovers against the Boilermakers in the final 20 minutes.

Ryan Rolfzen led Wayne State in scoring with 11 points, all coming in the second half. Bartling and Adol Aluong each recorded 10 points.

The Wayne State women open the regular season Saturday with a 7 p.m. matchup against Peru State College at Rice auditorium. The men kick off the regular season on Sunday afternoon, visiting Nebraska-Kearney in a 2 p.m. contest.

Wayne State alum earns honor

The Iowa Communication Association hosts a conference every year to allow faculty to exchange teaching and research ideas and to honor the best and brightest teachers in the state. Jamie Stech, an assistant professor at Iowa Western Community College in Council Bluffs, Iowa earned one of these awards at the 2013 conference held in Ankeny, Iowa.

Jamie, originally from Osmond, earned the Outstanding New Teacher of the Year Award at the conference. Last year Jamie received the Outstanding Adjunct Teacher Award at the conference. Jamie has been a full-time instructor since 2009 and teaches classes such as Public Speaking, Interpersonal Communication, Intercultural Communication and Group Communication. She is presently taking classes at the University of Nebraska and will attain her Doctorate in Educational Administration in 2014.

Jamie is a 2003 graduate of Osmond High School, a 2007 graduate of Wayne State College where she received her Bachelor Degree and a 2008 graduate of University of South Dakota in Vermillion where she received her Master's Degree.

She is the daughter of Marvin and Mary Beth Stech of Osmond.

Northeast Community College students create Little Library in Norfolk park

Northeast Community College building construction students design and build houses on campus every year. But what about building a library? That was the task Instructor Roger Walker gave eleven of his freshmen students at the start of the 2013-14 academic year. This is not your ordinary library, however. While you may check out a book and sit down and read it at this particular library, you don't need a card and there are no fines. The students have constructed a "Little Library," a large doll house size box that has been placed in Norfolk's Central Park that will work on the concept of "take a book, return a book." It will be full of books so anyone can stop by and pick one up and then replace it with another for others to enjoy. "With the Little Library, people are encouraged to borrow a book and leave a book in its place," said Jessica Chamberlain, Norfolk Public Library director. "There will be children's books as well as books for adults in the Little Library." Chamberlain said the project started last year as part of the Norfolk Arts Center's effort to urge community involvement in Central Park. While the concept is new to Norfolk, the trend of creating these miniature libraries has grown in popularity across the world. Little Free Library.org reports there are more than 15,000 of them in 55 countries.

Walker said his students researched the concept of what type of structure to build. Not only did they construct the Little Library, they erected a shelter with benches so people may read the book right in the park. As for the design of the Little Library itself, students found inspiration in a small park on Northeast's Norfolk campus.

"We were in Echtenkamp Park to look at a gazebo there to get some ideas, when some of them noticed a small little building nearby. The design of the Little Library was the idea of a couple of students who saw a small one-room school house made out of metal." The miniature school house was created by Vincent Pearson, former Northeast welding instructor, in 1975 as part of the College's commemoration of the nation's Bicentennial a year later. "The students thought that it would be perfect to design the Little Library to look like an old school house," Walker said. "It combines the concept of reading and learning."

Eleven students have been involved in the assignment, which has been a side project for them. The students also are involved in a two-year building construction program project of designing and framing a house on campus. They will finish working on the house as sophomores. Two student-built homes are sold at auction every summer.

Walker said this has been a learning experience for the students in another way. They had to sell their idea to Chamberlain. "They had to give a presentation to Jessica. They had to come up with a drawing to show her what they were thinking and then give her an estimate on cost. It has given them an idea of what to expect when working with the public once they enter the workforce."

Walker said while this particular project is unique to Northeast building construction students, it's not uncommon for the students and instructors in the program to assist other groups and organizations. "We have built sheds out at the soccer fields south of town and we always work with Norfolk Area Habitat for Humanity on their projects." He said they have also constructed play houses and playground equipment for groups such as "Go Red for Women" and "Team: India" that have been raffled off to raise proceeds for their causes.

Carhart Lumber in Norfolk also donated or greatly reduced the price of a variety of building materials to help the students meet their budget.

Walker said he's proud of his students. "They're freshmen. For them to jump into something like this at the beginning of the year is tough for them. But they have done a real good job on this project."

Northeast students involved in the Little Library project include Brandon Bader, Shelby, Layne Hochstein, Wayne, Jason Kaufman, Newman Grove, Clifford Kizzire, Norfolk, Clay Konicek, Wisner, Jacob Kuntz, Genoa, Bradley Longe, Wayne, Tanner Nelson, Lyons, Caleb Sjuts, Humphrey, Brandon Sutton, Central City, and Nathan Thege, Columbus.

Chamberlain said it is exciting to see the project come together. "Not only has it been a great experience working with Northeast Community College, the Norfolk Arts Center and the Norfolk Library Foundation on this, we see it as an important way to encourage reading in the community. We hope the community will embrace this honor system of lending and borrowing reading materials, to keep kids engaged with new books and to keep good stories circulating among adults. The Little Library is one of the many ways that the Norfolk Public Library supports a community of readers."

A dedication ceremony for the Little Library will be held Tuesday, Nov. 12 at 1:30 p.m.

Class representatives

Winside Elementary Principal Mrs. Sarah Remm recently announced fourth-sixth grade Student Council Members. These students will act as a voice for the Winside Elementary School and will plan various projects that incorporate learning and service to others. Members include (front) McKenna Russell (fourth), Jackie Escalante (fifth), Brooklyn Behmer (fifth), (back) Mrs. Remm, Carter Jensen (sixth) and Andi Bargstadt (sixth).

Pacific Coast Banking School announces 2013 Nebraska graduates

Pacific Coast Banking School (PCBS) has announced three graduates from the State of Nebraska.

They include Jason E. Claussen, Vice President, State National Bank & Trust Company in Wayne; Brent A. Klein, Vice President, Wealth Management and Banking Services, Bank of the West in Omaha; and Timothy R. Schlegelmilch, Vice President, U.S. Bank, N.A. in Lincoln.

These executives completed the three year PCBS graduate-level educational program focusing on leadership, risk management, and financial performance in the financial services industry. Participants attend a two-week resident session each August on the University of Washington campus in Seattle, Wash., and complete six written extension assignments and an original management thesis. PCBS granted Certificates to the bankers in a ceremony at the University of Washington.

This year's graduating class consisted of 204 individuals representing a diverse mix of financial institutions from 27 states and one American territory.

First Nebraska Bank scholars

Dixon County schools participate in 4-H National Youth Science Experiment

Ready. Set. Map it!

Millions of young people became geospatial scientists during the sixth annual 4-H National Youth Science Day (NYSD) in October.

This event, taking place in urban, suburban and rural communities all across the nation, seeks to spark an early youth interest and leadership in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) careers in an effort keep America competitive in those fields.

This year, the National Science Experiment, 4-H Maps & Apps, designed by Colorado State University Extension, turns young people into geospatial thinkers as they design and map their ideal park, use GIS mapping to solve community problems and contribute data about their community to the United States Geological Survey. Hundreds of events took place around the country on Oct. 9 and through the month of October. Fifth and sixth grade youth in Allen, Emerson, Newcastle and Wakefield as well as youth in 4-H clubs participated in this year's Experiment.

In this year's experiment, 4-H Maps & Apps, young people became geospatial thinkers as they designed and mapped their ideal park. Sandy Preston, UNL Extension Educator in Dixon County Coordinated the activity.

Different kind of storm swirls around us now

EDITOR'S NOTE - When the Oct. 4 tornado hit Wayne, John Dunning and Mike Anderson were returning home from a conference in Chicago and were driving home together. Anderson suffered minor injuries, but Dunning was seriously injured and has spent the last month recovering from his life-threatening injuries.

Recently, Dunning posted a note on his Facebook page that looked back on the experience and all he has been through in the past month. We were moved by his comments, and he has given us permission to reprint that note as a guest editorial this week. Enjoy - MC

Not the eye of the now famous Wayne tornado, of course. That storm came and left again just as quickly, impacting many lives during its brief visit with our community. Many of you know the details of that storm and, for those of you who don't, it was a storm like other storms...unleashing its fury with an apparent random disregard for those effected by it and as such the details aren't that important.

The storm I'm speaking of is one that began in the minutes after the tornado and one in which you've had a part by your very participation in this thread. Since those first few moments after the tornado we (Ann, mom and I) have been surrounded by literally hundreds of people swirling around us helping in countless ways. Where the tornado brought sheet metal and glass, this storm has brought thoughts and prayers. Where the tornado brought destruction and injury, this storm has brought love and healing. Where the tornado took me to the brink of death, this storm provided a beacon illuminating the path back to life.

People have sent cards and flowers, included us in what seems to be countless prayer chains, donated professional services, given us money for expenses, cared for our house and pets, visited us, brought food, run errands, offered more than we can possibly accept. This is to say nothing of the people who where involved professionally, the people in Wayne who triaged me, the people in Sioux City who operated on me and literally nursed me back to consciousness, the people here at Madonna who are helping me to retrain a confused and battered body to work correctly again.

I've spent a fair amount of time thinking about why people behave this way and I suspect there are a variety of reasons. Some people know and love my family. Some people pride themselves on doing their jobs extraordinarily well. Some people simply want to do "the right thing". Some people are being the hands and feet of Christ. In many cases, these motivations blend together, which does nothing but add to the beauty of the behavior.

There is a power scale for tornados (actually there are several scales). The Wayne tornado was relatively powerful. There isn't a scale that I know of to measure the impact of people working together. Perhaps there should be. It could be measured by the cleaning and construction happening in Wayne; it could be measured by the number of people wearing "Wayne America Tough" t-shirts; it could be measured by the healing in my body as cuts change to scars and bones knit back together. What I can say from my perspective without equivocation is that people are much more powerful than tornadoes. It is easy to destroy and much harder to rebuild and yet, collectively, this storm of people is doing exactly that: rebuilding buildings, homes, businesses and health.

Of special note here are my lovely wife and wonderful mother, who have been my near constant companions through this experience, watching over me, comforting me, taking care of countless details and logistics and, in doing so, creating a wonderful environment for my body to rebuild itself. I've always known they were strong, but I swear, the two of them together could stare down a tornado and frighten it away.

I wouldn't wish what has happened to me on anyone and, in particular, I wouldn't wish it on anyone's family, for Ann and Mom bore the brunt of the pain and worry in the first two weeks while I was in a coma. That being said, this experience has created for me the opportunity to witness the storm of human love right from the center: the eye of the storm. I am floored by what I see: human beings are incredibly beautiful. It's not as if I didn't love people before, but this experience has provided me a view of humanity that I've certainly never seen before and I would venture to say few are blessed to see. I wish I could adequately convey what has unfolded before my eyes in the last three weeks. Perhaps the most effective way I can manage is to simply say this: You are beautiful . . . deep down glowing from the core of your being beautiful. Thank you so much for sharing that beauty with me and everyone in your life in whatever way you have.

God bless you as He has me through your presence in my life and in this experience.

I beg your continued involvement as we go through the slow process of rehab. We have weeks yet to go and you sharing your beauty has kept all three of us safe and secure...in the eye of the storm.

Look at community development

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The former director of one of the state's most philanthropic private foundations has urged Nebraska lawmakers to consider investing in community development as the state becomes more attractive to outsiders.

The Legislature created a long-range planning committee four years ago to assist state government in identifying emerging trends, assets and challenges and to look at the long-term implications of decisions made by lawmakers. A bill (LB653) was passed by the Legislature in 2009 to establish the committee and set the parameters for future discussion.

A database was created for the committee in conjunction with the University of Nebraska at Omaha College of Public Affairs and Community Service. The goal of the database is to present a common sense and data driven assessment of key areas important to Nebraska's quality of life. The committee considers nine areas of policy indicators: economy, agriculture, natural resources, state and local government education, health and human services, public safety, transportation and telecommunications.

Lyn Wallin Ziegenbein, long-time executive director of the Peter Kiewit Foundation, told a recent gathering of the Long Range Planning Committee that Nebraska has caught the interest of people and businesses outside the state, and it's time to ensure that change happens in the right way. In her 32 years at the Kiewit Foundation, she oversaw the investment of $550 million in statewide projects in the form of matching and challenge grants.

She told the committee she has seen local leadership succeed and watched the power of local citizenry work to make projects happen. She has also seen a state with tremendous needs and the lack of resources to meet those needs. She said she's looking at the entire state, at developing cities to become regional hubs for smaller towns. The database indicates that only 16 Nebraska communities are larger than 10,000 people, while an overwhelming 300 communities have populations of fewer than 300 people.

Ziegenbein said she thinks lawmakers need to consider dipping into the $679 million cash reserve to serve as a catalyst for private philanthropy to participate in getting the state into top shape for the changes and growth to come. She said communities need libraries, parks, public art and plantings, health facilities, large recreation areas and supported law enforcement to bring them up to par as part of the "Good Life."

Committee member Sen. Heath Mello of Omaha, who also chairs the Legislature's Appropriations Committee, said he supports the need for community development and planning. Paying for that, he said, is a topic for further debate. He did suggest that the idea of a public-private partnership for such activity is long overdue.

Let's hope that the issue makes it to the table in the coming Legislature and can survive the expected attempts to use some of that same state money to provide tax relief.

Remembering Veterans Day on Nov. 11

On Monday, Nov. 11, government offices and banks will be closed in honor of Veterans Day. As we prepare for Veterans Day, I cannot help but think that to many individuals it has become just another government holiday. In reality, it is so much more than that.

On the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month in 1918, an armistice between the Allied nations and Germany took effect, becoming known as the end to "the war to end all wars." In November of 1919, President Wilson would proclaim Nov. 11 as Armistice Day with the following: "To us in America, the reflections of Armistice Day will be filled with solemn pride in the heroism of those who died in the country's service and with gratitude for the victory, both because of the thing from which it has freed us and because of the opportunity it has given America to show her sympathy with peace and justice in the councils of the nations. . ."

Originally, the day was observed with parades and meetings. In 1938, Armistice Day became a legal holiday to honor the veterans of World War I. After fighting in World War II and Korea, veterans groups pushed for a change in the name; and on Oct. 8, 1954, President Eisenhower issued the first "Veterans Day Proclamation." This change was made to insure the proper observance of this anniversary, for all veterans and veterans' organizations.

Nov. 11 is not simply another day; it is a day to remember, to honor and to thank those men and women, along with their families, who have served our great nation in a branch of our armed forces. You can and should thank them for all of the freedoms that you enjoy today.

If you, like me, are less than satisfied with the direction our country seems to be headed these days, do not blame the vets. We, whether we have served in the military or not, must become involved in the political fabric of our nation lest it continue to rot from within. Our brave warriors cannot reach inside the halls of Congress to affect what is happening there, but you can. It is important that you let elected officials know how you feel. That is not done by complaining at the "coffee shop." You need to contact them! I, personally, am very disappointed that not one of our Nebraska delegation to Washington D.C. had the fortitude to stand with Sen. Ted Cruz and Congressman Steve King when the going got tough.

As always, if we can be of any assistance, contact our office at (402) 471-2716 or e-mail dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov.

Michael Foods assists with community projects

Michael Foods Incorporated (MFI) of Wakefield has an organization called the "Gung Ho Wellness Team."

Juan Pagan and Andres Manjarrez presenting the air conditioner to the Hispanic Christian Church.

Cheryl Roberts presented the Boy Scouts with a number of CPR masks.

Gina Heithold presenting the check for the playground to Andrew Simpson on behalf of the Fishers of Kids Preschool.

Deb Rish presenting the check to the Wayne Girl Scouts troop.

Mike Belt with the Wayne Swim Team holding their stopwatches.

This team organized a campaign this summer called "Help Us Help Your Community."

MFI employees were encouraged to nominate people or places in the community that could use some assistance.

The first two nominations chosen were for CPR masks for the Boy Scouts, a project nominated by Cheryl Roberts and the second was stop watches for the Wayne Swim Team, a project nominated by Mike Belt.

Three other nominations were also chosen. The first of these was the Hispanic Christian Church, which was in need of an air conditioner. The church was nominated by Juan Pagan, Andres Manjarrez and Herwin Bernal.

The second nomination chosen was submitted by Gina Heithold. It was for a donation toward the playground area that was built by Andrew Simpson for the Fishers of Kids Preschool in Wayne. Andrew built the playground as his Eagle Scout project.

The final nomination that was chosen was for the Girl Scouts in Wayne, which was submitted by Deb Rish. The Girl Scouts are going to put the donation toward their cabin they use for meetings.

The Gung Ho Wellness Team did their first fundraiser to raise money for the Church, the Preschool, and the Girl Scouts. The team purchased a bike, a tent, and a grill to raffle off. The team was able to raise $1800 during the fundraiser and donated $600 to each of the three organizations.

Wayne State College celebrates international education

Wayne State College is participating in a joint initiative of the U.S. Department of State and the U.S. Department of Education to celebrate the benefits of international education during International Education Week, Nov. 11-15, 2013.

The WSC International Club welcomes the public to an activity in the Student Center atrium on Wednesday, Nov. 13 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

International Education Week is an opportunity to celebrate the benefits of international education and exchange worldwide. This annual initiative aims to promote international understanding and build support for international educational exchange by encouraging the development of programs that prepare Americans to live and work in a global environment and attract future leaders from abroad to study in the United States.

Exchanges are critical to developing mutual understanding and respect, building leadership abroad, fostering an appreciation for the U.S., and investing in the future relationship between Americans and people around the world. International education prepares U.S. citizens to live, work, and compete in the global economy.

It offers an opportunity to celebrate the benefits of international education and exchange worldwide. This joint initiative of the U.S. Department of State and the U.S. Department of Education is part of the efforts to promote programs that prepare Americans for a global environment and attract future leaders from abroad to study, learn, and exchange experiences in the United States.

Cut back on salt to improve health

Many Americans don't recognize how much sodium they are consuming especially from packaged foods and meals consumed away from home. Here is how the U.S. intake breaks down.

- 77 percent from packaged and restaurant food;
- 12 percent is naturally occurring in foods
- 11 percent from adding salt to food while cooking or at the table

Learning about the sodium content in foods and new ways to prepare foods that reduce sodium content will help you to achieve the sodium recommendation of the 2010 Dietary Guidelines for Americans. Here are ten steps for cutting sodium intake:

1. Read the Nutrition Facts

CARD SHOWER

Sandy Preston
Dixon County

Label - See how much sodium is in the foods you are considering. All Americans should consume less than 2,400 milligrams (mg) of sodium each day. Read labels for frozen meals, packaged soups, breads, dressings/sauces, and snack foods to choose those with lower sodium content.

2. Prepare Your Own Food When You Can

Do not salt foods before or during cooking, and limit the salt shaker use at the table.

3. Learn to Use Herbs and Spices to Add Flavor to Food

Try parsley, cilantro, coriander, sage, chervil, rosemary, oregano, basil, curry powder, pepper, ginger, fresh garlic or garlic powder (not garlic salt), vinegar or lemon juice, and no-salt seasoning blends.

4. Buy Fresh or Frozen (Not Processed) Poultry, Pork and Lean Meat

These are a better alternative to canned, smoked or processed meats like deli meats, sausages, bacon or corned beef. Fresh foods are generally lower in sodium. Remember to check the package label on fresh meat and poultry to see if salt water or saline has been added.

5. Buy Fresh, Frozen (Without Sauce) Vegetables and Low Sodium or No-Salt-Added Canned Vegetables

Read the labels and compare different brands for sodium content per serving.

6. Give Canned Products High in Sodium a "Rinse"

This lowers sodium content. By rinsing foods, such as tuna, vegetables, and beans before using, sodium is removed.

7. Lower the Fat

Choose fat-free or 1 percent low-fat milk, soy milk, or nut-based milk products, such as yogurt and cheese. Limit processed cheese products and spreads.

8. Go Unsalted

Choose unsalted nuts and seeds and "low sodium" or "no-salt-added" chips and pretzels. For an even better snack, try some raw veggies with a low-fat ranch or onion dip made with low-fat sour cream or yogurt.

9. Educate Yourself on the Sodium Content of Typical Condiments

Examples include the sodium in soy sauce, ketchup, salad dressings, and seasoning packets. Choose lite or reduced sodium soy sauce and no-salt-added ketchup. Try adding your own oil and vinegar to a salad rather than purchasing bottled salad dressings.

10. Speak up at Restaurants

Ask for your meal to be prepared without salt and request that sauces and salad dressings be served "on the side".

Take these small steps and you can minimize your salt intake and not even miss that taste.

PEO Chapter holds November meeting

Chapter AZ, P.E.O. met at the home of Jill Walling on Nov. 2. Refreshments were served by co-hostesses Nana Peterson, Marcia Gray and Gerrie Christensen.

The chapter will send a monetary contribution to the family of Mark and Connie Hanson whose home was destroyed by the recent tornado

Birthday

Pat Roberts to observe 90th

Pat (Johnson) Roberts of Wayne will observe her 90th birthday on Saturday, Nov. 9.

A card shower has been requested for her in honor of this occasion.

Her family includes her children, Mark Pramila) Johnson and Marsha (Mike) Creighton; step-children: Terry (Laurie) Roberts, Brad (Lena) Roberts and Shauna (Dan) Reckmeyer. She has 16 grandchildren, 14 great-grand children. Her husbands were Bob Johnson and Lynn Roberts.

Cards may be sent to the honoree at 1500 Vintage Hill Drive, Apt. 48, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

in Wayne. Connie is a member of Chapter AZ.

President Marie Mohr showed the original charter of Chapter AZ, dated March 3, 1906, which has been framed in archival quality material. It will be kept with the president's files. She also presented a list of current needs of Haven House.

Marcia Gray reported that the Scholarship Committee will submit an application for a STAR award for the academic year 2014-15.

Every 20 years P.E.O. prints a book of the history of Nebraska chapters. Copies of past histories were distributed and discussion will be held at the next meeting on information about Chapter AZ to be included in the 2015 publication.

Discussion was held on when the chapter could invite Stephanie Weaver, current recipient of the Helen Bressler scholarship, to a chapter meeting. We would like to present an opportunity for P.E.O. members to meet Stephanie.

Lauren Walton presented a program on inspirational seminars she has attended.

The next meeting of Chapter AZ will be Tuesday, Nov. 19 at the home of Kim Bentjen.

Minerva Club gathers

Twelve members of Minerva Club met at noon at the Senior Center on Oct. 28 hosted by Hollis Frese.

For roll call members told if they had already purchased Halloween treats. President Connie Webber told of a variety of significant events that happened on this day in past years from the establishment of Harvard University in 1636 to the completion of the Arch in St. Louis in 1965.

Historian Hollis Frese read from Oct. 21, 1946 minutes detailing Minerva Club's 50th anniversary celebration which was held at the Women's Club Room.

New Arrivals

HOCHSTEIN - Twin daughters were born to Brad and Gail Hochstein of Lincoln on Aug. 29, 2013. Adelyn Mae weighed 5 lbs., 1 oz., and was 18.25 inches long, and Emersyn Marie weighed 6 lbs., 5 oz., and was 19.75 inches long. They were welcomed home by brothers, Rylan, 4, and Reid, 2. Grandparents are Anita Klitz and the late David Klitz of Dodge and Dale and Laura Hochstein of Wayne. Great grandparents are Don and Elaine Hochstein of Hartington.

an's Club Room. For the program the Club history was reviewed. Guests at the tea were from other clubs in the area.

The program Decade of the 1900's was presented by Hollis Frese. A few items of note were: The World's Fair held in Paris in 1900; President McKinley, a well liked man, was assassinated in 1901; 22 cents was the hourly wage; Life expectancy was 47 years; The population of Las Vegas, Nev. was 30. Hollis's parents were born in the decade. She told of her heritage when in 1876 the Johnson family moved near LaPorte in Wayne County, followed by the Gamble family. Several early family pictures were displayed, giving a glimpse of early homes and the city of Wayne in it's early development.

The Nov. 11 meeting will be hosted by Donna Hansen at the Senior Center.

Students at St. Mary's School pose with the iPads that were purchased after several donations were received and a school was awarded a grant from the Gardner Foundation.

St. Mary's receives technology donation

Thanks to the efforts of several families and a grant from the Gardner Foundation, St. Mary's School in Wayne has received $7,000 to improve technology in the classroom.

The school collaborated with parish members who specialize in computer information technologies to explore all the possible products that exist to enhance the educational experience.

The teachers at St. Mary's also attended a workshop given through the ESU No. 1 in Wakefield which focused on the use of iPads in the classroom.

After considerable research, 15 iPads were recently purchased. The staff and students are very excited about the possibilities of learning with these new devices.

"Thank you to all the families and the Gardner Foundation for your generous donation which will benefit students for years to come," said Mark Evetovich, head teacher at St. Mary's School.

Praise Assembly congregation discusses faith in recent sermon

In his sermon on Oct. 27, Rev. Jason Pickering, pastor of Praise Assembly of God Church, asked the question: "What are you doing each day that requires faith in God?"

He told his audience, "It is impossible to remove references to faith in the Bible - especially when it applies to the power of God being released in supernatural ways that make differences in the lives of people."

Pastor Pickering cited five principles about faith, based on a text from Hebrews 11:1-2:

- Faith is acting on what you see God doing: NOW.

- We must be careful: anything we want to do in the Kingdom of God that is not motivated by faith is called "sin" in the Bible.

- It is not possible to please God without faith.

- If we have faith without love, we are of no value. Why? Because love treats others the way that we would want to be treated - if we were in the other person's position.

- The law of faith declares that faith is an act - and is connected to our deeds or behavior.

The comforting fact (also mentioned in the Bible) is that God has given to every person a "measure of faith".

This weekend the Sunday morning service is at 10:30 a.m., which follows Sunday School for all ages, starting at 9:30 a.m. The mid-week (Wednesday) family activities begin at 6:30 p.m.

Looking ahead, the congregation will celebrate its Missions Sunday on Sunday morning, Nov. 17, and will connect it with the "Harvest Festival."

Master Gardner program available

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension's Master Gardener Training will again be available throughout the state. The Nebraska Master Gardener program is a horticulture-related volunteer training program based in many counties throughout the state. It has been part of UNL Extension since 1976.

Master Gardener volunteers are trained by UNL Extension faculty and staff. They contribute time as volunteers working through their local Extension office to provide horticulture-related information to their community. More specifically, they provide education about sustainable horticultural practices.

Participants are required to complete 40 hours of training and 40 hours of volunteer service during the initial year of their involvement in the program. Master Gardener volunteers retain their certification through annual training and volunteering.

Some of the topics that could be covered are:

- Plant functions and the growing environment
  - Insect identification and management
  - Turfgrass management
- Class time, location, and cost vary across the state, but generally classes are offered from February through May.

Check with your local UNL Extension office for complete details on a Master Gardener Program near you.

Profit opportunities available with cash hay

Persistent spring rain, insect damage, fewer acres, winter injury. What do all these have in common? They are making high quality hay scarce everywhere.

If you've been paying attention to this year's ag news, you realize that high quality alfalfa hay is in short supply this year.

Throughout much of the alfalfa growing region, including here in Nebraska, cool temperatures and persistent rains greatly reduced dairy quality hay production during first cutting this spring. This region also lost alfalfa acres, some due to winter injury but most due to conversion to annual row crops.

This is good news - at least for you hay growers in our area. The market for high quality alfalfa is looking strong again this year.

Just think about this. Suppose someone offered you 250 dollars, or even 150 dollars per ton for your best alfalfa. Could you find other hay, or maybe corn stalk bales, nearby that you could make work for your animals that would cost you less than 100 dollars? If you can, maybe you should sell high, buy low, and pocket the profits.

So, how do you find these buyers. You could post notices at truck stops, place ads in newspapers and magazines, or set up a sign by your driveway. But, there are more effective ways to contact buyers. One is to place your hay on a computer listing in one of the dairy states. Another way is to work with dealers or become a member of a marketing group, like the Nebraska Alfalfa Marketing Association, to take advantage of their market connections.

Local extension offices have information on both association membership and computer listings. You may need some luck and do some work to be able to buy low and sell high. Smart operators look for these opportunities.

Get the most from grazing corn stalks

Corn harvest is well along and cows are starting to graze the stalks. How should this grazing be managed to get the most out of them?

Grazing corn stalks during winter has many benefits. It can save over a dollar a day per cow compared to feeding expensive hay.

But, the way you manage grazing of stalks by your cattle can have a big effect on its success. For instance, maybe you have a goal of feeding as little protein supplement as possible while winter grazing. Then you must make sure you have enough acres of corn stalks so your cattle only need to select just the higher quality plant parts to eat. And whenever the grain and husks are gone, move to a fresh field. Or, maybe you use stalks just as a filler to keep cows from bellowing while you limit feed corn, distiller's grains, or other more nutrient dense feeds. Then high stocking levels and unrestricted access might be best.

Another strategy might be to stretch winter stalks as far as possible. In that case, restricting animal access to small areas at a time by strip grazing until nearly all the grazable stalks are gone might be best. Be careful, though, about forcing cows to eat the lower stalks. They won't get much protein or energy from lower stalks but the nitrate levels might be dangerously high.

Whatever your strategy, consider carefully what kind of nutrition animals are getting from the stalk pasture so you neither underfeed nor overfeed expensive supplements.

Also be sure to provide salt, calcium, phosphorus, and vitamin A free choice at all times. And once all the grain is gone, cows need about half a pound per day of an all natural protein to meet nutrient needs.

Stalk season is here. Make wise decisions to use them best.

Solutions exist for farmers suffering from arthritis

Arthritis can be a debilitating disease for farmers and ranchers, reducing mobility and physical strength, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension educator said.

"We estimate that there are over 50 million doctor-diagnosed cases of arthritis," said Sharry Nielsen, UNL extension educator. "To accommodate some arthritis related limitations people can consider some solutions."

One solution uses a very ancient technology, the wheel.

Nielsen said that farmers and ranchers can use wheeled devices such as wheelbarrows to transport seed, feed and equipment, which eliminates heavy lifting and puts less stress on joints.

Nielsen suggested using ergonomically designed tools that are of a lighter weight to reduce joint stress, pain and fatigue.

"Many farmers think that pain is just part of the job," she said, "but there really are some steps that they can take to prevent the pain of arthritis."

To help prevent arthritis, the Nebraska AgrAbility Project has created a brochure describing a series of daily stretches to help joint health.

To view the brochure and other information about arthritis, go to www.agrability.org/Resources/arthritis/index.cfm.

Program to focus on exercise, treatment of diabetes

Control Diabetes for Life, a program to help participants learn to control diabetes and prolong the onset of complications, will be held Wednesday, Dec. 4 at Northeast Nebraska Public Health Department, 215 N Pearl Street in Wayne. The program runs from 1:30-4 p.m.

Have you ever thought that someday you might be unable to walk and enjoy the simple pleasures of life? If so, it is time that you begin to reduce the chance of not being able to perform activities of daily living by beginning an exercise program. Exercise can be a powerful tool in an individual's health program and has been shown to improve a person's quality of life. Regular exercise can improve your chances of being able to continue to perform those activities that you enjoy.

Today exercise is indicated in the treatment of a large number of medical problems and is considered by some as the "wonder drug of our time". Evidence suggests, in selected cases, that exercise can be as effective as medical treatment, and in special situations more effective. Being active protects against heart disease, cancer, stroke and helps the body in controlling blood pressure, cholesterol and blood sugars. Exercise can also lessen the effects of arthritis, improve bone strength, reduce falls, and decrease the stress associated with everyday life.

For individuals with diabetes, regular exercise has been shown to lower their blood glucose levels, and can decrease blood glucose for several hours following exercise. Decreasing your blood sugars by 1 percent can reduce your chance of heart attacks by 15-20 percent. Uncontrolled diabetes can decrease your life expectancy by 8-10 years. Participating in a regular exercise program can improve your quality of life and improve your life expectancy.

If you have just been diagnosed and wonder how you'll get in shape, or if you have had diabetes for a long time but still want to be more active, there is no time like the present. Don't use diabetes as an excuse to not exercise. Use it as an excuse to exercise.

During the December session of Control Diabetes for Life, attendees are invited to learn how exercise can change their lives. The program will help you get started with your exercise program by providing instructions on who can exercise, general rules about exercise, what type of exercise should you perform, how much exercise is enough, how often you should perform an exercise program and how you can get started. The goal of exercise is to improve a person's quality of life by decreasing the presence and the effects of disease. Set a goal to take control of your diabetes. Feel better and stay healthy for years to come by exercising and lowering your blood glucose level.

Control Diabetes for Life is a joint project, sponsored by University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension and Franciscan Care Services of West Point, and is offered free-of-charge.

Participants are asked to pre-register for Control Diabetes for Life by calling UNL Extension - Wayne County at (402) 375-3310. Please register by Monday, Dec. 2, 2013 so the proper number of handouts may be prepared. Nebraska School Food Service Association has approved this session for two hours of continuing education credits for food service staff for attending.

Auxiliary initiates new member

The Wayne Eagles Auxiliary met Nov. 4 with President Marsha Roth presiding.

New member Mandy Kubik was initiated into the auxiliary. Traci Gamble was her proposer.

Soup suppers will be held Nov. 21, Dec. 5 and Dec. 12. Anyone wishing to donate soup, sandwiches or bars is asked to sign up at the club.

The family Thanksgiving pot luck will be held Saturday, Nov. 23. Each family is asked to bring one meat dish and one other dish. All family members and the public are invited to attend the 7 p.m. event.

Anyone wishing to purchase Watkins products can contact Cheryl Henschke until the end of November. The auxiliary receives a percentage of the sales.

Members are encouraged to save the date of Saturday, Dec. 7 for the Family Christmas Pot Luck supper at 7 a.m. A $5 gift exchange and a Santa Claus visit will follow the supper. There will be no Steak Fry at Saturday.

The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 18 at 7 p.m.

Enjoying the memory of the game

It was not on my bucket list. In fact, the last time I went to a Nebraska football game, I swore it would be my last. My back hurt, my feet hurt, and my neck hurt from looking at the little screen attached to a board in front of me and up. The field was so far below me, the players looked like ants!

Our friend, Jim, has a doctor friend who has half a skybox. Yes, a skybox; not a club seat, but a skybox. On Friday, while I was feeding the Big Farmer's cousins some crumb cake, he called and asked for Sue's phone number. I wondered what he needed that for, but I gave it to him.

Soon, Sue called to say that Jim wanted Mike and me to share two of the tickets he usually received for each home game, in the skybox! Well, that made me reconsider! But Mike really likes watching the game on his big screen TV, on the Big Ten network, while ensconced in his electric recliner, with cousin, Ron, in the easy chair nearby.

Sue was scheduled to go with her friend, Chris, who is on the faculty and has season tickets. After some consultation, they both decided to sell those tickets and take advantage of the opportunity to experience football in luxury.

WELL! Some of you probably know whereof I speak. But I was surprised, to say the least. It's a suite, and it's on fifth floor, and you need a special ticket that is put on a lanyard for you to wear. Then, you proceed to an elevator and an usher with a walkie talkie calls it down for you. It was neat, because a lot of people from our church work as ushers, so they gave us extra VIP service!

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

The feature I appreciated the most was the very private restroom. But the food was good, the seats comfortable, with back rests, and the view wonderful! There was a darling UNL student tending to all our needs. When the game started, the huge windows opened, and you got the FULL effect.

PLUS, the half time show by the marching band was music from Les Miz! You don't get to see that on television. Of course, I admit to many moments of anxiety; and long waits for the Gator to pick up the injured. The Huskers did not play their best football; and by the end of the game, we were missing a lot of starters.

But that ending! It was the frosting on the cake! I was doing high fives with strangers, and yelling, and crying, and remembering a night in Missouri with Matt Davison. I give the faithful fans all kinds of credit; some left, but the majority were still there. And when the sign said, "Make some noise," they did! And as Shatel said today in the paper, that roar at the end has not been heard there since the 57 foot field goal, and that was 2008.

I'm really not optimistic about the rest of the season, but today, I'm still savoring the moment, and the experience. Sometimes, it's just fun to see how the other half lives!

Time to think about cash rents for 2014, landlord and tenant meetings

It's time to think about cash rents for farmland for next year. Here are some edited thoughts from Al Vyhnalek, Extension Educator from Platte County and one of the presenters for our series of Landlord/Tenant meetings to be held soon.

First of all, the economics just do not support $350 per acre for dryland rent, or $500 per acre for irrigated ground cash rent. Too many times, the landlord wants to calculate rent on the best yield and the price of about $8 per bushel, which is the best price of the last year. The tenants want to calculate rent on the poorest yielding year of the last 10 years and the lowest price of the last year, which might be about $3.90 per bushel. Neither point of view is fair or realistic.

It is suggested that a starting point for rent should be about 30 percent of the gross revenue per acre, which would be paid to the landlord. This calculation should be completed by taking an average yield times a fall 2014 price at the local elevator or grain processor. So, an average irrigated corn yield of 200 bushels per acre times an expected fall 2014 price of about $4.40 would be $880 gross revenue per acre. By multiplying that amount

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator

by 30 percent you arrive at a suggested rent of $264 per acre. This would be the starting point for negotiating rent for 2014.

You can see from this simple calculation, if cash rent for irrigated corn ground is less than $200 per acre, it may be appropriate for the rent to go higher. If rent is above $350 per acre, a decrease in rent seems appropriate.

Now having said that, rent will be determined by what the tenant is willing to pay and what the landlord is willing to accept, not by a suggested calculation. True economics of a particular commodity is still determined by supply and demand. With land economics, the demand appears to be exceeding supply. So, cash rents will probably still remain strong in Nebraska, and specific rent on a specific farm will vary.

In our area the Landlord/Tenant Cash Lease workshops offered in Ponca (Dixon County) and Laurel (Cedar County) on Thursday, Dec. 5 will help landlords and tenants put together a lease that is right for them and help maintain positive farm leasing relations. The Ponca workshop will be held at the Community Hall and be from 9 a.m.-noon. The Laurel workshop will be from 2-5 p.m. at the Laurel Learning Center. A Monday, Dec. 16 meeting in Norfolk is also planned.

Topics for discussion include the latest information about land values and cash rental rates for the area and state; expectations from the lease, including goal setting for the rental property; lease termination, including terminating handshake or verbal leases; lease communication, determining appropriate information sharing for both the tenant and landlord; alternative cash lease arrangements, flexible provision considerations for your situation. Other topics, like irrigation systems, hay rent, pasture rental agreements, and grain bin rental will be covered as time allows.

A UNL Extension Educator team will present on these topics and provide common sense tips during the presentation. It is very helpful if both the tenant and landlord can attend together. It is also helpful if the spouse attends. Everyone is welcome to the workshop. This free workshop is sponsored by the Nebraska Soybean Board and the North Central Risk Management Agency. Refreshments and handouts are provided. Registration is requested by calling the host county of the workshop. Register by three days prior to the workshop (by Dec 2nd) to ensure that there are enough handouts and refreshments.

This workshop has been held extensively across Nebraska for the past two years with over 2,200 attending. The vast majority of both landlords and tenants find the workshop to be very helpful in improving communications, setting rental terms, and learning about the use of flex lease provisions. As crop budgets are tighten, it is even more important to attend and listen to the latest discussion about leasing issues.

For more information or assistance, contact Allan Vyhnalek, Extension Educator, UNL Extension, Platte County, at (402) 563-4901, e-mail ayhnalek2@unl.edu.

Adam Severson - "Everything Is Going Well"

The temporary service building has all it's electrical hooked up and the overhead door is in place. The plan is to have 3-4 service techs working out of this building.

As for the old building, the concrete has been removed and crushing is being done onsite. In approximately 2 weeks concrete will be poured for the new building.

The John Deere parts trailers are still in town through Nov. 15. The trailers are being used to replace parts lost due to the tornado.

Insurance will be holding an auction in approximately 3 weeks. More details will be announced later.

We have five techs out in the field working to get customers through harvest. We are also working out of several farm locations during the building period. Our harvest hours are Monday-Friday 7 to 6:30, Saturday 7 to 4 and Sunday 10-3.

THANK YOU

We appreciate the messages of support and prayers directed our way following the destruction of the AgVenture Seed Source offices and warehouse. A huge thanks to those who brought equipment and willing hands to help clean up or offered support in other ways. Karen thanks her students for their focus, energy and sense of humor when hers was flagging. The Seed Source office is now located in the former physical therapy location at 611 Valley Drive, west of Pizza Hut. Lowell and Karen Schardt

Thank you to all who called and sent cards to help celebrate my 80th birthday. God bless you. Don Dahlquist

What a wonderful, thoughtful and most appreciated surprise to have Wayne area Christian youth groups rake and dispose of our leaves. A BIG thank you and God bless each of you. Freddie & Gena Puls

A HUGE Thank You to all of the volunteers. 100's of them, who helped cut up downed trees, and walked the fields for debris (3 truckloads and 5 trailer loads with still more left). Thanks to all the volunteers who rebuilt pasture and yard fences to hold cattle, to those with chain saws and those who helped pile trees to be hauled away, for clearing yards of debris, for making temporary work in chutes to care for cattle, cutting the destroyed grove to get to an injured cow, to those great ones preparing sandwiches for all the hard working volunteers, and to all for food brought in. God Bless You All! Bev and Jack Beeson

My 95th birthday was a very happy one week celebration. Thanks to my son Harold, my two sisters Ivy and Fern, nieces and nephew. Thanks for all the cards and calls from my friends and relatives. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered. God's Blessing. Eveline Thompson

A very special "thank you" to the PMC doctors, nurses and staff. Every person was so caring and attentive. And, to Pastor Feldmann and Pastor Lilienkamp, each visitor and card sender, I thank you. God bless! Al Wittig

The family of Darrell French would like to thank everyone for the flowers, memorials, food, cards and those who gave us a hug or a shoulder to cry on. Thank you to Careage of Wayne for taking care of Darrell this last month and to Dr. Martin and the Providence Medical Center staff for the care and compassion shown to him and our family. A special thank you to Scott and everyone at Hasemann Funeral Home, and to Father Beran, Father Mac and Deacon Pat Gross for the beautiful service. The many acts of kindness shown to all of us have been overwhelming and very much appreciated. Dorothy French Ed Schmale and Tami Conner Kathy and Ray Johnson Janet and Chad Ludwig Mary and Todd Jenkins Len and Khristy Schmale Diane and Mike Vovos David and Mary French Doug and Melanie French and families

Legal Notices

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
Notice is hereby given that the City Council of the City of Wayne will hold a public hearing to determine whether the real estate described in this notice should be declared to be substandard and blighted, pursuant to the Nebraska Community Development Law. The hearing will be held in the Wayne City Council Chambers in Wayne, Nebraska, on the 19th day of November, 2013, at or about the hour of 5:30 p.m. The property affected by this notice is legally described as follows:

All-State Choir

Congratulations have been extended to Lindsey Sullivan and Morgan Bathke on being selected to the 2013 Nebraska All-State Choir. Also honored was Cortny Surber as alternate. All-State Choir will be held November 21-23 at UNL in Lincoln.

Veteran's Day

Allen Consolidated School will be hosting a Veteran's Breakfast on Monday, Nov. 11 at 7:45 a.m. The breakfast will be served by the kitchen staff, student council and National Honor Society.

An assembly will follow that is open to the public and will be attended by all Allen Consolidated student body and staff. The assembly is scheduled to start at approximately 8:15 a.m. (following breakfast) in the gym. The program will include the Pledge of Allegiance, music by both the elementary and high school music departments.

"Plaques for 'Local Heroes'"

Plaques will be awarded to the "Local Heroes" of Allen. Plaques will be awarded by veteran children, grandchildren or great grandchildren. If a veteran has no current family in the Allen Consolidated School system, an Allen student will be appointed to the veteran receiving the award.

The awards will be given to current, living residents of the Allen Community that are active with the Floyd-Gleason Post 131 and have served our country. It would truly be the honor long overdue and well deserved if we could fill the bleachers for this event.

Legion, Auxiliary News

The next meeting for Legion and Auxiliary will be on Tuesday, Nov. 12 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be pot luck, so please bring a finger food item.

This is a change from the normal day of Monday, Nov. 11 due to the Dixon County Convention being held that date in Newcastle. If any member needs a ticket for the supper for the Convention, please contact Richard Olesen.

Ladies Tea will be at the Newcastle Legion Hall starting at 3 p.m. with a registration fee of $1 per person. The Ladies' meeting will start at 5 p.m. and meal will be at the Newcastle fire hall at 6 p.m. Next year the County Convention will be in Allen.

Lewis & Clark Honor Band

Allen placed a record 22 students in Honor Band for 2013.

They include Brooke Kneiff-Flute; Sherry Stallbaum-Flute; Morgan Bathke-Clarinet; Marissa Brentlinger-Clarinet; Austin Roth-Clarinet; Mariah Kramer-Bass Clarinet; Cortny Surber-Bass Clarinet; Destiny Ryan-Bass Clarinet; Coleman Kneiff-Alto Sax; Rachel Kneiff-Alto Sax; Lexi Oswald-Tenor Sax; Takota Burnham-Bari Sax; Austin Connot-Trombone; Chase Johnson-Trombone; Taylor Kumm-Baritone; S.T. Okeefe-Tuba; Myles Flores-Tuba; Lindsey Sullivan-Trumpet; Lindsey Jones-Trumpet; Caleb Thomas-Trumpet; Becca Boeshart-Drumset; and Cortny Ruter-Drumset.

FFA Annual Fruit Sales

Allen FFA chapter members, of which Wakefield students participate in, started selling fresh fruits, meats and cheeses on Oct. 24.

Apple, oranges, grapefruit and pears are sold by the box. Mixing and matching of fruits in smaller quantities are also available. Orders will be taken until Nov. 12 and delivery will be in early December.

This is the largest fund raiser of the year and the majority of funds raised help send members to the National FFA convention which is being held in Louisville, Ky. this year.

National Convention is the highlight of the year because members get to develop their leadership skills, meet new friends and see the best of the best in competition.

Nebraska FFA is dedicated to making a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

Legal Notices

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Wayne City Council will hold a regular meeting on Tuesday, November 19, 2013, at 5:30 p.m., in Council Chambers of the Wayne Municipal Building, 306 Pearl Street, Wayne, Nebraska.

At or about 5:30 p.m., the City Council will hold a public hearing to consider the Planning Commission's recommendation in regard to amending Chapter 90 Zoning, Division 4 PUD Planned Unit Development, Section 90-641 Intent (a) and (b), to more clearly define where a PUD may be placed. The applicant is the City of Wayne.

All oral or written comments on the proposed matter received prior to and at the public hearing will be considered.

Individuals requiring sensory accommodations, including interpreter services, Braille, large print, or recorded materials should contact Betty McGuire, City Clerk at 402-375-1733, no later than 4:30 p.m. on the Friday preceding the meeting.

Kids can attend Wayne Ducks Unlimited banquet for free

The Wayne area chapter of Ducks Unlimited is looking to the next generation of wildlife conservationist and hunters.

Greenwings, (DU youth 16 years of age and under) are able to attend the 2013 banquet for free when accompanied by an adult DU member. Chairman Adam Dorsey of Wayne said that the Wayne Area chapter has been given a sponsor gift to support the Greenwings in the local area. The chapter will pay for the Greenwing youth membership in DU and a meal for the first 50 youth 16 years of age and under to register.

The banquet will be held Friday, Nov. 15th at the Wayne National Guard Armory, 800 E. Seventh Street in Wayne. A social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m. followed by dinner and auction at 7 p.m.

Committee member Rob Bose of Emerson said, "The new generation of hunters will be the leaders of conservation in the future, and the focus on the Greenwings in the area is important to future programing and events." Committee member Greg Urwiler of Laurel also said, "In addition to membership and a meal, all Greenwings will be entered into drawings for Greenwing prizes."

Tickets are available at the door or from any DU committee member. A single membership is $40, couples $60, Greenwings $15 and National Sponsorship is $265. The ticket prices include dinner and annual membership in DU. This year's banquet will include an auction of both collectible DU art and memorabilia and other useful items for the hunter. Other Area DU chapter committee members are: Steve Smith, Chad Johnson, Kent Earnes, B.J. Woehler, Mitch Lanser and Chad Frideres.
