City annexation ordinance fails to advance

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

Several items on the Wayne City Council's agenda were postponed due to the fact that three council members were absent from the meeting.

Council members Kaki Ley, Jill Brodersen and Rod Greve were absent from the meeting, and Council member Cale Giese needed to abstain from voting on a resolution that would have approved the preliminary and final plat for the Giese Second Addition.

An ordinance regarding annexation of property in the northeast quadrant of Wayne failed to move forward on a 4-1 vote. A majority of the elected council is needed to move the item forward. It will be brought back for council consideration at the next meeting.

Related to the annexation of the property were two items required to declare the area blighted and substandard and allow for Tax Increment Financing to upgrade the area.

Council members approved a resolution which will create a memorandum of understanding between the city of Wayne and the Wayne Basketball Development Association.

The agreement will allow the program to be under the city's insurance coverage for the next year. This will allow for the group to host a basketball tournament in Wayne and use facilities at Wayne State College.

Council members discussed the services provided to the city by the basketball association and the benefits the city receives from the group.

Following a public hearing, council members approved the city's one- and six-year street improvement plan.

Projects included for this year are the Windom Street project from north of Fairgrounds Avenue to Seventh Street, Hillside Drive from East Seventh Street south across the highway, installing a turning lane and ADA sidewalk at the corner of East 10th Street and Main Street, Tomar Drive and East Fourth Street near the Summer Sports Complex and the trail and pedestrian underpass on West Seventh Street.

Street superintendent Joel Hansen explained the order of projects and listed several projects that are slated to be completed in coming years.

Also approved during Tuesday's meeting were a resolution authorizing the city administrator to apply for Nebraska Public Transportation Act Funds for the operation of the Wayne Public Transportation system and the submission of the Senior Center's plan of operation and budget for 2014 for the Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging.

Council members approved the preliminary and final plat for the Angel Estates' Subdivision located north of 21st Street and for the Herman Commercial Subdivision located east of Centennial Road on what was the site of CVA prior to the Oct. 4 tornado.

The council will hold its next regular meeting on Tuesday, March 4 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Leadership Wayne now in fifth year

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

More than 75 individuals from the Wayne community have taken advantage of the opportunity to develop leadership skills through Leadership Wayne classes.

Leadership Wayne V is currently nearing completion, and the group, along with a number of guests, had the opportunity to travel to Lincoln to see state government in action.

"More than five years ago the Wayne Area Economic Development (WAED) Office began looking at other leadership programs, both in the state of Nebraska and across the country. We received a grant to help offset some of the costs and have worked to make the class affordable," Wes Blecke, Executive Director of WAED, said.

Leadership Wayne developed as a nine-month course, with classes being held one Tuesday of each month, September through May, from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Class size has ranged from 18-20 students, and those taking the class have ranged in age from college freshmen to middle-aged persons.

Sessions during the leadership classes are held at various locations throughout Wayne. Tours of industries in the community are also included in the class, and each month, a Lunch 'n Learn includes speakers on a number of topics.

Topics during the course include understanding each other and how to work with people, organizational leadership, handling change, community vision, communication (including social media), state government in action, community economic development, regionalism (how the community is a piece of the bigger pie) and entrepreneurialism.

The WAED office works closely with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension during the classes. Wayne State College faculty also bring insight into a number of community topics.

"Our purpose in offering the Leadership classes is not just for future business leaders, but to produce leaders in the community, in organizations and in the state," Blecke said. "We have had really good success with those who have completed the class. Many have gone on to take leadership roles in city government and other areas."

At graduation ceremonies in May each year, the students are asked to put the names of five people on a post card. These are people the students feel would benefit from the program. They are also asked to promote the program and ask others to join.

Blecke noted that the $139 per participant fee does not cover the costs of the class. However, the WAED board understands the importance of developing community leaders and providing funding for the remainder of the costs.

Applications for Leadership Wayne VI will be taken starting in July and may be made online or by contacting the WAED office at (402) 375-2240.

County hears update from safety committee

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Members of the safety committee at the Wayne County Courthouse updated the Wayne County Commissioners Tuesday on some safety concerns of note at the courthouse.

The county is working with the City of Wayne on an agreement to share facilities in the event that a fire evacuation is required.

Clayton Bratscher of the Wayne Sheriff's Department said the department is working with Wayne City Administrator Lowell Johnson on an agreement that would allow the county to evacuate to the Wayne City Library, and vice versa, in the event of a fire-related evacuation.

"Right now, everybody here evacuates to the east lawn of the courthouse, and we're talking with the city about evacuating to their parking lot or going inside in the event of inclement weather," he told the board.

Bratscher said that, in his discussions with Johnson, there did not appear to be a problem. The city's current policy is to evacuate the Wayne Senior Center, which is adjacent to the library, a block south to the Wayne City Auditorium. Bratscher said it would be closer for the senior center to evacuate across the street to the courthouse - which is always open during the day - than down the street to the auditorium, where it would have to be unlocked by a city employee.

The committee also discussed the idea of an alternate plan for where to go in the event of a tornado. The current plan is to evacuate into the women's restroom in the basement, but safety members said that

Wayne student is county's top speller, advances to Midwest Spelling Bee finals

The 2014 Wayne County Spelling Bee was held at Winside Public School under the direction of Winside Elementary Principal Sarah Remm.

Ky Kenny of Wayne Community Schools won the spelling bee and will advance to the Omaha-World Herald Midwest Spelling Bee, to be held March 15 in Omaha.

Second place went to Colton Jensen of Winside Public School, third place to Natalie Wright of Winside and fourth place to Mariah Frevert of Wayne Community Schools.

Each year, nearly 90 students from Nebraska and western-Iowa compete in the Omaha World-Herald's Midwest Spelling Bee.

The students earn the right to compete in the Midwest Spelling Bee by winning their county or district bees. The winner of the Midwest Spelling Bee receives an all-expenses-paid trip to Washington, D.C. to compete against champion spellers from across the country in the Scripps National Spelling Bee held the end of May.

The Omaha World-Herald has sponsored the spelling bee since 1929.

This sculpture, taken from an image created by Wayne resident Jennifer Parker after last fall's tornado, will be part of a silent auction that will be held at a volleyball tournament in Wayne on March 1 to benefit the Wayne Tornado Relief Fund.

Sculpture to be featured item at silent auction during volleyball benefit

A co-ed volleyball tournament to benefit Wayne's tornado relief efforts will include a silent auction for a piece of metal artwork that will be on display around the Wayne area.

The tournament will be held Saturday, March 1 at the Wayne Community Activity Center. A total of 22 teams will compete in the day-long tournament, with proceeds benefitting the Wayne Tornado Relief Fund.

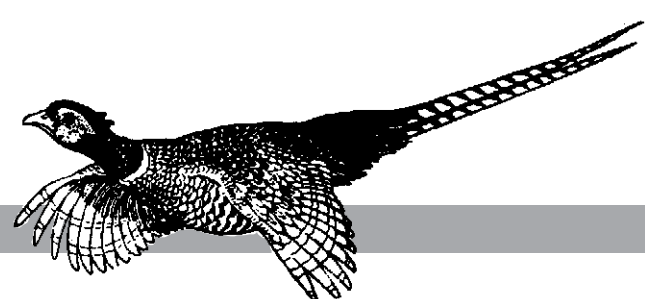

A silent auction will be held at the Activity Center from 8:30 a.m.-6 p.m. during the tournament. One of the major items is a metal artwork piece of a dalmation picture taken by local resident Jennifer Parker at the fire station immediately after the tornado.

The statue will be on display at the area banks. It was at First National Bank earlier in the week and will be at F&M Bank Feb. 21-24, State Nebraska Bank Feb. 25-26 and BankFirst on Feb. 27-28. Silent bidding for the artwork is currently open to the public and can be done at the area banks on the days they have the sculpture on display.

Looking Ahead in Wayne

By LOWELL JOHNSON
City Administrator

City Council Meetings
Regular City Council meetings are at 5:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in City Hall at Third and Pearl Streets.

Annual Retreat Goals
The mayor and council met for their annual strategic planning retreat on Feb. 7-8. The following is the un-ranked list of goals from the retreat that the council will prioritize and develop for a multi year plan.

1. Hold a "State of the City Address" before the election and include an opportunity for mayor and council candidates to tell about themselves and why they are running for election to the council.
2. Establish a City of Wayne/WSC Night Lights Pilot Program one Friday night per month at the CAC with student athletes to offer baby-

3. Select a swimming pool option to rebuild or replace.
 4. Rebuild the Summer Sports Complex with improvements.
 5. Annex the Williams Farm, Woehler, Wayne Airport and other city parcels but not the Pacific Coast property.
 6. Complete the Phase II Trail Project.
 7. Build new park equipment in one more park.
 8. Promote available properties around Wayne for future business development.
 9. Work closely with the newly reorganized CRA to incent private business development on available properties.
 10. Review the city employee group health plan.
 11. Review the city investment policy for cash reserves.
 12. Consider options for emergency back-up power for radio station as a part of our civil defense notification.
 13. Review compensation for future mayor and council members after the election.
 14. Cooperate with Wayne State College in future campus expansion projects for potential student housing.
 15. Review of tax increment financing projects.

'Dstrctd Drvng' Premieres on NET Television on Feb. 21

NET Television will premiere "Dstrctd Drvng" on NET1 on Friday, Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. CT. The 30-minute documentary takes an in-depth look at distracted driving in an age of cell phones and other electronic devices, and what law enforcement, safety organizations, families and others are doing to raise awareness and increase safety.

"Dstrctd Drvng" premieres at a time when 30 states have outlawed texting and even talking on cell phones while driving. Nebraska is one of three states to make these secondary offenses, meaning a driver can be pulled over or cited only if another traffic violation is observed. Safety experts expect the danger to increase with 300 million wireless devices already in use in America.

The program gives a personal glimpse into the lives of those affected by distracted driving, and considers issues like Inattention Blindness, a cognitive condition that describes the working of the brain while it is multi-tasking. Clinical psychologist and University of Nebraska at Omaha Professor Joseph Brown explains the condition as one that makes distracted drivers fail to see what's happening on the road in front of them.

The risk of a distracted driver causing a crash is similar to a driver at the legal limit for driving under the influence of alcohol.

"There are a lot of things you shouldn't be doing while you're driving," he said. "Talking on a cell phone happens to be one we do a lot and which is particularly dangerous."

Pet of the Week

This week's Pet of the Week at Tenderheart Animal Rescue is Hank, a two year old Boxer/Vizsla mix who strayed to a farm west of Wayne. He is young and needs some training to make him a good family pet. He does seem to have some issues with urinating when excited and may react poorly to perceived threat. We have had no problems with him at the shelter with any of the volunteers.

For more information or to adopt Hank, call (402) 369-6030.

"Dstrctd Drvng" will be re-broadcast on NET1 on Sunday, Feb. 23, at 10 p.m. CT and on NET2 World on Saturday, Feb. 22, at 1:30 p.m. CT, on Sunday, Feb. 23, at 5 p.m. CT and on Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. CT.

"Dstrctd Drvng" is funded in part by the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety, the Cornhusker Motor Club Foundation, Nebraska Trucking Association and the Nebraska Department of Motor Vehicles. It is a production of NET Television. NET1 and NET2 World are a part of NET Television, a service of NET. For a complete television program schedule, visit NET's website (netNebraska.org/television).

New equipment

Members of the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department pose with three new pieces of equipment: a thermal imaging camera, a Hearst power unit for the Jaws of Life and a portable 2,000-watt generator and 750-watt bulb used to light up a rescue scene. The equipment was purchased with the proceeds from last fall's pancake and omelet feed. Fire Chief Phil Monahan thanked the community for all donations received by the department. Another pancake/omelet feed is being planned for Sunday, April 6 from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Fire Hall.

Kiwanis event

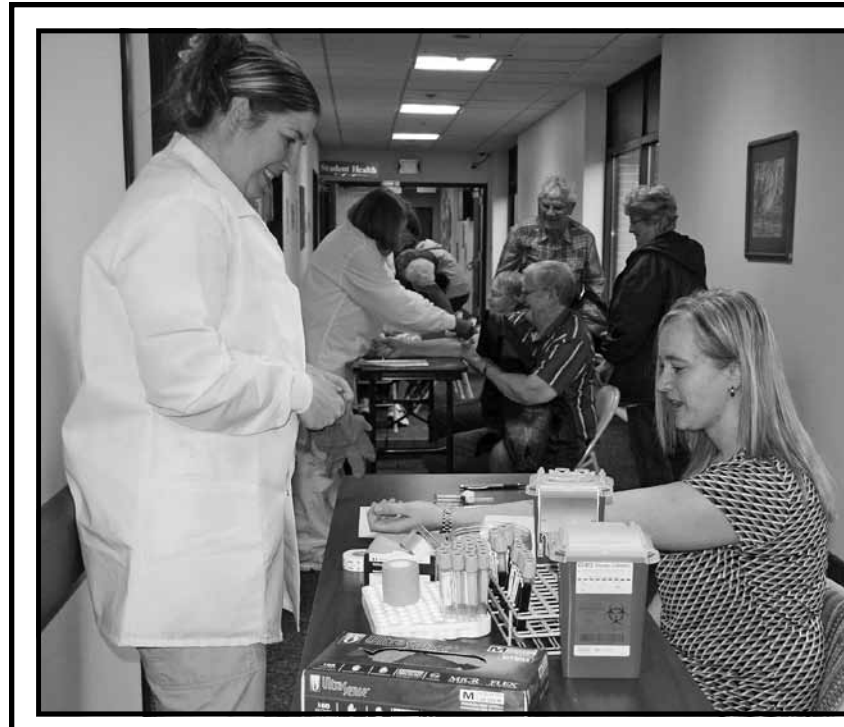

Jason Barelman and Curt Frye were among the Wayne Kiwanis members who served up pancakes and sausages on Feb. 16 during the annual Pancake Feed. They were assisted in their efforts by members of the Wayne State College Circle K Club, the Wayne Action Club and members of the local Boy Scout Troop. More than 300 people attended the annual event, which raises funds for a number of youth-related activities in the community.

Chamber Coffee

WAYNE — This week's Chamber Coffee will be held Friday, Feb. 21 at First Presbyterian Church, Third and Lincoln Streets. It is being hosted by the Wayne Kiwanis Club in observance of more than 90 years of service to the community. The coffee on Friday, Feb. 28 will be held at Tacos & More. The coffee begins at 10 a.m. and announcements at 10:15 a.m.

Parents' Night

WAYNE — Wayne High School will be honoring the boys' basketball team and their parents and the cheerleaders and their parents on Friday, Feb. 21. Boys' basketball parents should be at the Wayne High School gym by 6 p.m. They will be introduced between the JV and varsity basketball games. The cheerleaders' parents should be at the Wayne High School gym by 7 p.m. They will be introduced at halftime of the varsity game. Wayne will be hosting Pierce.

Burn ban in effect

AREA — Wayne Fire Chief Phil Monahan has announced that, until further notice, a burn ban is in effect for all open burning in Wayne County. Extremely dry conditions and the lack of snow cover this winter, along with frequent high winds, have made burning dangerous and has led to a number of uncontrolled fires in Nebraska.

World Thinking Day

AREA — Each year on Feb. 22, Girl Scouts and Girl Guides around the world celebrate World Thinking Day (WTD). WTD is an opportunity to celebrate international friendship and learn about being part of a global community. The Wayne WTD events will be held at Wayne State College's Student Center beginning at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 22. Girls will explore different cultures through fun games, crafts, dancing and sample an array of foods from all over the world.

Northeast CC, Bellevue U. sign partnership agreement

Northeast Nebraska residents will soon have the opportunity to take additional college level courses through a new articulation agreement between Northeast Community College and Bellevue University. The presidents of the two institutions signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) Tuesday on Northeast's campus in Norfolk that will allow Bellevue University to offer upper level undergraduate and graduate level courses and programs for constituents in the Northeast Community College service area with a primary focus on non-traditional working adults.

"It is with great pleasure that I share the news about our newest partner, Bellevue University," Dr. Michael Chipps, Northeast president, said. "We are delighted to expand educational opportunities for residents in our 20-county service area. They will have additional choices for aligning associate degrees with bachelors and masters degrees through Wayne State College, the University of Nebraska Medical Center and now Bellevue University," he said. "Each of our partner senior institutions offer several types of programs as well as different methods for completing them, which appeals to many sectors of our public. This is an exciting day for our colleges and for the residents of Northeast Nebraska."

Dr. Mary Hawkins, president of Bellevue University, is looking forward to partnering with Northeast. "I have worked for many years with Dr. Chipps, and I know he understands that Bellevue University works from a collaborative model, which will greatly benefit people in the Northeast service area and the higher education institutions that work so hard to serve them. Dr. Chipps and I believe in partnerships. And I am certain this collaboration will work well with Northeast and Wayne State College, as well as strengthen ties to business and industry in Northeast's service area."

Under terms of the MOU, Bellevue University will hire a full-time coordinator this spring to build programming needs to be offered in the Northeast region. The coordinator will have an office on Northeast Community College's campus in Norfolk and at Northeast's new extended campus in O'Neill. Bellevue University programs and services will also be made available at Northeast Community College's Extended Campus in West Point. In addition, Northeast will provide lecture, laboratory and distance learning classroom space for Bellevue University's upper level undergraduate and graduate credit courses.

"We are prepared to offer residential (in-class) undergraduate degree completion programs that allow Northeast Community College associates degree holders a transfer option that allows them to complete bachelors or masters' degrees while remaining in their community," Matthew Davis, vice president at Bellevue University, said. "These degree completion programs are also matched to meet the needs of the Northeast Community College Extended Campus in O'Neill."

Bellevue University will offer several undergraduate degrees through the partnership. This includes programs such as sustainability management, investigations, advance manufacturing, business analytics, cybersecurity, IT (Information Technology) operations management, project management, graphic design, game studies, adult education, supply chain and logistics management.

John Blaylock, vice president of educational services at Northeast Community College, said Bellevue University understands the students who attend a community college.

"Transferability from Northeast to Bellevue University will be greatly enhanced by having a local representative in the region to serve students. Additionally, for the working adult, the opportunities to complete a bachelor's degree will now be available locally and in the western regions of our Northeast service area," he said.

"The agreement with Bellevue University is a wonderful opportunity for not just Northeast Community College, but for the people we serve," Chipps said. "This collaborative venture will allow Northeast and Bellevue to work as a team, combine our resources and open yet another door for students to pursue additional higher education opportunities."

Junck family receives LENRD award

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District (LENRD) board honored outstanding conservationists at their annual awards banquet on Thursday, Jan. 16. The event was held at the Time Square Event Center in Norfolk and attracted over 80 people.

The recipients of the 2013 Conservation Honor Farm Award were Dennis and Nancy Junck of Carroll. Lary and Barbara Moeller of Wisconsin were awarded the 2013 Outstanding Tree Planter Award.

The awards were presented by LENRD Board Chairman Joel Hansen of Wayne and LENRD Assistant General Manager Ken Berney of Stanton. In making the award presentations, Berney described the winners as "well-deserving of the awards because of the great care they take in conserving our precious natural resources."

The LENRD's Conservation Honor Farm awards were first presented in 1973. Each year, award winners are selected for their demonstrated excellence in soil and water conservation. Dennis and Nancy Junck of Carroll were honored for their outstanding conservation work and named the 2013 Honor Farm Award winners.

The Junck family was nominated by Marty Marx, Soil Conservation Technician with the Wayne County NRCS office. They operate a cash grain operation, 900 acres of corn and soybeans.

Dennis utilizes no-till farming practices along with residue management and the use of his structural practices to minimize erosion on his farms as well as improve soil quality.

The Juncks are aware of how important their conservation practices are to maintaining their land's productivity. Their commitment to conservation continues with their ongoing attention of any maintenance activities needed on these practices. They work closely with the local NRCS for advice and assistance with their conservation practices and tree plantings.

The Juncks were very humble when nominated for this award. When Marty Marx told them it was time to reward them for all their years of commitment and dedication to conservation, their reply was, "Our reward has been our soil savings, keeping our farms productive. That's our reward."

Clean sweep

Jess Gibson was more than happy to sweep the floor at the Wayne High School gym on Friday night. Gibson and Brad Hoskins (above) swept the floor during halftime of both the boys' and girls' basketball games. Gibson was able to do this thanks to the efforts of students at Wayne High School who developed a way to attach the broom to Gibson's wheelchair. Involved in the construction of the device were (left) Payton Janke, Derek Davis and Jared Anderson. They are shown here with Gibson after he completed his task on Friday night. The three seniors are students in Mr. Tony Cantrell's Advanced Apps in Technology class. The sweeper was designed in large part by Davis, with assistance from his friends. Gibson, a student at Wayne Junior High, is an avid sports fan and can be found at many activities.

Affordable Care Act meeting in SSC

An education and enrollment meeting on the nation's healthcare plan, known as the Affordable Care Act, will be held later this month at Northeast Community College in South Sioux City.

The public meeting will be held Monday, February 24, at 6:30 p.m., in Room 126 in the College Center, located at 1001 College Way in South Sioux City.

"This meeting is open to anyone who wants to learn more about health insurance and/or enroll in a health insurance plan through the marketplace," Ashley Frevert, field navigator for the Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership, said.

During the meeting, Frevert will give a short presentation on the Affordable Care Act and provide assistance on enrollment. Those who are interested in enrolling in a health insurance plan at the meeting need to bring the following: income information of anyone they are applying for, information on current health coverage and information about an employer's health insurance plan.

For additional information, call Frevert at the Northeast Nebraska Community Action Partnership in Pender at (402) 385-6300, ext. 275 or (800) 445-2505.

Wayne State to host von Glan art exhibit through March 20

The Wayne State College Department of Art and Design will present its next gallery exhibition, "Leroy von Glan - Teapieces," on Wednesday, Feb. 19 at the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery in WSC's Conn Library.

The exhibition will begin with a reception open to the public on Feb. 19 from 4:30-6 p.m. in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery. Leroy von Glan will also give an artist's talk on his work at 3:30 p.m. in Gardner Auditorium. The exhibit will be on display until March 20.

"Leroy von Glan - Teapieces" is a selection of ceramic constructions that explore the boundaries of function and design of both the past as well as present-day teapots. The pieces in the show are stoneware-based with a variety of forming methods and glazes to give them shape and color. The historically-based teapots as well as those of a more modern slant have been created with the questions "Why?" "What if?" and "How about?" to alter their forms as well as their personalities.

Leroy von Glan graduated from high school in Wall Lake, Iowa and earned a BFA in education from WSC. He has been a full-time professional potter for the last 13 years as well as an adjunct professor of ceramics at both Wayne State and Northeast Community College in Norfolk for four years. He is an associate member of the Burkholder Project in Lincoln as well as a charter member of the Potter's Council. His summers will consist of participating in art fairs and Art-in-the-Parks throughout the region.

Leroy von Glan won the Washington Pavilion (Sioux Falls) Blue Ribbon in 2013 for best 3-D work, the Northeast Nebraska Art Association's annual spring show Best of Show award and an award of excellence from the Association of Nebraska Art Clubs (ANAC) annual conference. He is also an ANAC signature award winner with a total of nine awards. His work has been exhibited regionally and collected by individuals across the United States.

WSC Wind Ensemble set to perform at Bandmasters event

The Wayne State College Wind Ensemble has been selected to perform the opening concert for the convention of the Nebraska State Bandmasters on March 6 in Lincoln, Neb.

The Wind Ensemble was chosen by audition with recordings from recent performances. This selection is a prestigious honor for the Wayne State ensemble and speaks highly of the dedication and commitment of the Wayne State students. The last performance by Wayne State College at this state convention was in 1990 under the direction of Gary Davis.

The Nebraska Bandmasters is an organization comprised of band directors from all levels and from all areas of the state committed to "Building Better Bands for Nebraska." The annual convention presents a collection of presentations and concerts aimed at improving knowledge and camaraderie among band directors.

Wayne State's program will be held at 7 p.m. in Kimball Recital Hall on the UNL campus and will feature a great variety of new and traditional works for band. The concert will feature an overture that is fast and furious, a march, a tango, a fanfare and a beautiful melodic work; in addition to a work for band and pipe organ. Mark Kanitz, director of music at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Wayne, will be featured on the three-manual Reuter organ.

Admission to this concert is free and open to the public. The Wayne State Wind Ensemble will appreciate any and all attendees to support their endeavors. If you are not able to attend the concert in Lincoln, please make plans to attend a similar concert in Ramsey Theatre at Wayne State College on March 4 at 7:30 p.m.

County

From Page 1A concerns with the number of people that would fit in the room, as well as handicap issues, had them looking at other alternatives.

The committee also discussed the steps inside the courthouse, where tread strips were supposed to be put in place during the recent renovation, but have yet to be installed. The board encouraged the committee to contact local companies to look into costs, and the committee was going to work with County Attorney Mike Pieper regarding any small claims the county might file for the work that hasn't been completed.

In other action, the board:

- accepted the bid of $17,221.84 from Benco Products Inc. of Tea, S.D., for the rebuilding of a weed sprayer that was damaged in last fall's tornado. The county is expected to receive $16,000 in insurance money for the damaged sprayer. By comparison, a new sprayer would cost in the neighborhood of $30,000.
- received an update on road and bridge projects, including work that has begun on the Rethwisch Bridge, located on Grainland Road west of Wayne.
- accepted lodging tax applications from the Carroll Fire Department ($250), Wayne Community Theatre ($100), Elderfest ($1,500), Winside Junior Football League ($300) and Ecoupe Owners Club ($750).

The board's next meeting will be held Tuesday, March 4, at 9 a.m. at the county courthouse.

Kruger to be part of United Nations event in New York

Anna Kruger, a senior at Wayne High School, is one of four young women from Nebraska who have been selected to be a part of the 58th Session of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women.

Kruger

The event will take place March 7-14 in New York, N.Y. Traveling with Kruger will be Mia Azizah of Lincoln, Eros Shreve of Omaha and Jennifer Torres of Omaha. She is the daughter of Jerry and Judy Kruger of Wayne.

Each year, over 5,000 women and girls from around the world gather at the United Nations Headquarters in New York City to participate in the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW). CSW is a two-week session held at the United Nations focusing on the state of gender equality around the world. Girl Scouts of the USA, along with WAGGGS as non-governmental organizations with Consultative Status with the Economic and Social Council participate annually to bring the voices of girls and young women to the global stage.

This year marks the 58th Session of the Commission on the Status of Women and will focus on reviewing the progress on access and participation of women and girls to education, training, science and technology, including for the promotion of women's equal access to full employment and decent work.

Girl Scouts Spirit of Nebraska was selected as one of four councils who will comprise the Girl Scouts of the USA girl delegation. Each of the four councils was asked to select four girls, grades 9-12, to join the delegation.

The Nebraska Girl Scouts are also able to send one staff member, and those interested also had to apply. More than 20 girls applied for the four girl spots, and six applications were received for the adult position. Criteria were established and a careful review of applications took place among a group of senior staff members.

All relevant funding for selected delegates will be covered by Girl Scouts Spirit of Nebraska.

WSC sculpture deadline is March 1

The Wayne State College Annual Outdoor Sculpture Competition deadline for receipt of entries is March 1.

The selection committee will plan to meet during the first week of March. Any questions about the competition can be directed to stellio1@wsc.edu. There will also be a pdf of the attached entry requirements posted on the WSC website at www.wsc.edu/artd and www.wsc.edu/schools/ahu.

Wayne State College seeks submissions from artists 18 years of age or older working in outdoor mediums for the Fifth Annual Outdoor Sculpture Competition.

Submitted works should be of sound construction capable of withstanding severe Midwestern weather conditions. The selected sculpture(s) will be granted an honorarium of $1,500 for a 12-month outdoor exhibit at Wayne State College. Interested artists should send three high quality digital images of each proposed sculpture via e-mail, along with a short resume, artist statement, biography and an accompanying image list (title, media, dimensions) in PDF format to stellio1@wsc.edu.

The application deadline for receipt of images is March 1. Selected artists will be notified by mid-March, and selected work(s) are to be delivered and installed between mid-May and mid-July.

The call for entries can also be found on the College Art Association's website at www.collegeart.org/opportunities/listing/9796.

House fire in Carroll

Firefighters from the Carroll Volunteer Fire Department and Winside Volunteer Fire Department and the Wayne Sheriff's Department was on the scene of a house fire in Carroll early Saturday morning. At approximately 7:15 a.m., a call was received of a fire in the living room of a home on the east side of Carroll. Neither the occupants or any firefighters were injured in the incident. The family is currently working with the insurance company to determine the cause of the fire and damage estimates.

Blue Devils sending six to state meet

Most qualifiers in recent memory for Wayne High

BENNINGTON — In recent years, Wayne's appearance in the state wrestling tournament has been a short one, as the Blue Devils weren't able to get more than one or two qualifiers down to Omaha.

This year, the Blue Devils hope to be busy for a while.

Wayne High qualified six wrestlers for the Class B division of the Nebraska State Wrestling Tournament, finishing a very respectable sixth out of 12 teams in the always-tough B-2 district tournament that was held at Bennington High School.

The six qualifiers is the most Wayne has taken in some time, and coach David Wragge said it was especially sweet turning the trick in Class B's toughest district.

"Back in the 90's we took 10, but it's been a while since we've had this many," Wragge said. "It's a nice feeling, especially coming through this district. We thought we'd get a few in because we had some kids peaking at the right time, but six is a good number to take."

The Blue Devils had eight wrestlers still alive in the heartbreak round, and Wragge said he was nervous for his kids going into the consolation semifinals.

"When we had eight in there, I told the kids afterward that I wasn't sure I was going to survive it," he said, laughing. "I told the kids we just needed to go into that round and get things done, and we got on a roll there in that round and got six in."

Seniors Michael Cliff (138), Demetrius Alexander (182) and Kody Frahm (220) all bounced back from semifinal losses to earn a trip to state. Frahm qualified last year and Cliff was part of a championship team in Colorado, while Alexander makes his first appearance in the state tournament.

Three underclassmen also made it to the show, including junior Logan Reinke (152), sophomore Schuyler Schweers (195) and freshman Gage Schultz (106). All six Blue Devils finished fourth in their respective weight classes to punch their tickets to state.

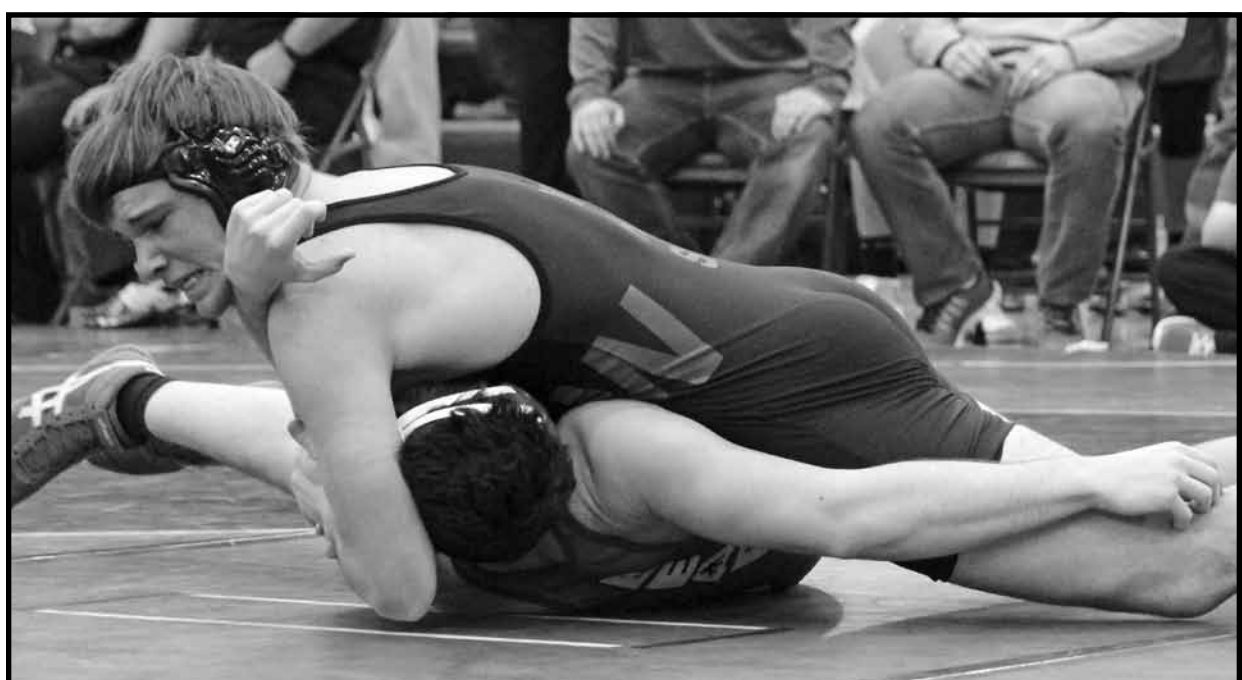

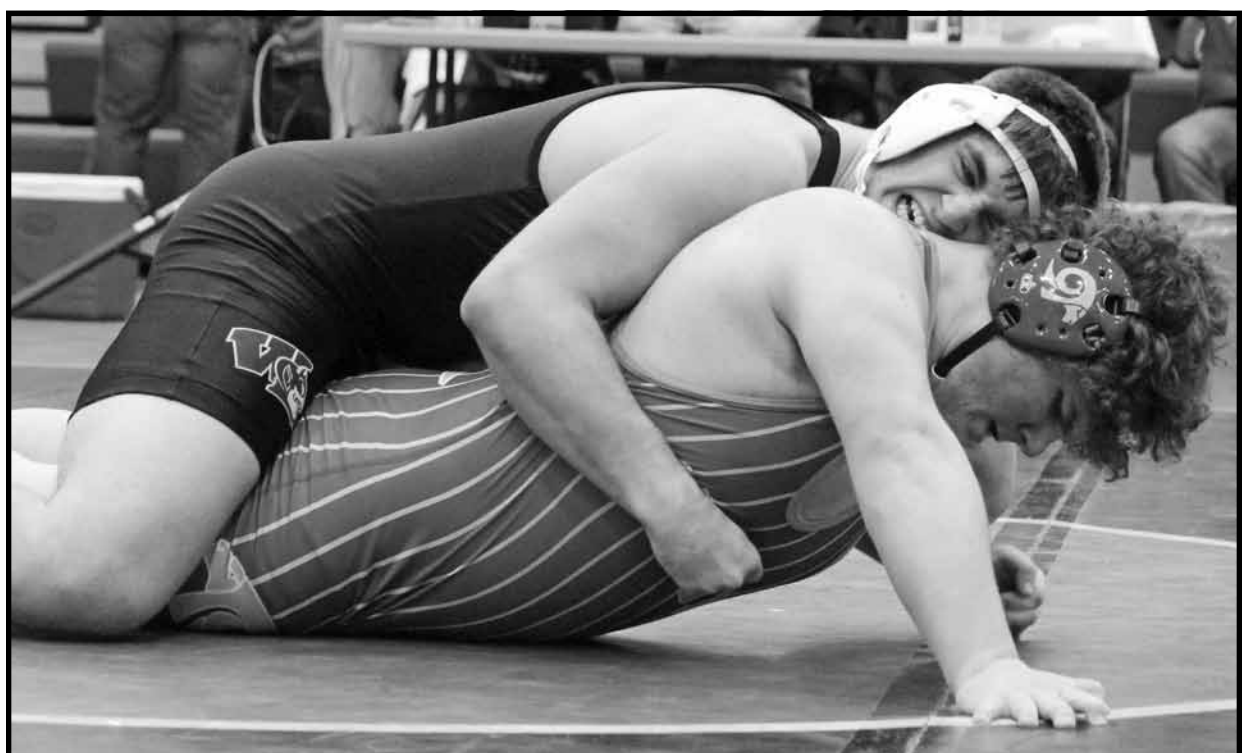

Schweers had the toughest road to the medal stand, as there were a number of upsets in his bracket.

"After he got knocked off, the first and second seeds both got knocked off and he had to go through both of them just to qualify," Wragge said. "For a sophomore at 195 pounds to be able to come back and beat No. 1 and No. 2, that's a pretty good day and he wrestled really well."

Because all six Blue Devils lost in the consolation finals, they will face district champions in the opening round on Thursday morning. Wragge said that wrestling in the toughest district in Class B will help his kids, however.

"We didn't get ideal draws coming out, but coming out of our district is a good deal because not a lot of districts are as tough as ours," he said. "I think we're at the same level as some of them, and we'll get ready to go."

Wragge said the team's goal is to

Even more wrestling yet to come

Got a lot on my plate this week, so here's a run through the "Bits and Pieces" file, buffet style:

— Wrestling season doesn't end this week, in case you haven't already heard. In fact, there will be some great wrestling here in Wayne the first weekend in March.

The Wayne State Wrestling Club is hosting the Great Plains Conference tournament on Saturday, March 1 at Wayne High School.

The tournament is a National Collegiate Wrestling Association qualifier for the national tournament that will be held March 13-15 in Allen, Texas. Wayne State is serving as the host team for the Great Plains regional this season, and the top three wrestlers in each weight class will move on to the national tournament.

Admission is $8 for adults and $5 for kids age 6-18 (it's free for kids 5-under). Some great college wrestling will be taking place here in Wayne, so check it out.

— And since we're on a wrestling-in-March kick, congratulations to Paul Sok and the Winside High wrestling team, which qualified for the state high school duals tournament, which will also be held Saturday, March 1 in Kearney at UNK.

The Wildcats made it into the duals tournament with a solid showing at districts last week, and are actually the No. 3 seed in what is being billed the Amherst Invitational — then again, if your team qualified all 14 wrestlers, had 13 in the finals and won 10 individual district titles, you'd be an overwhelming favorite to whoop everybody's backside, too.

Good luck to BOTH sets of Wildcat wrestlers next weekend.

— This is the time of year when some funny stories emerge from the pursuit of state tournament dreams.

One of the funnier ones I've heard comes from Wayne High wrestling coach Dave Wragge, who shared the closing seconds of Schuyler Schweers' consolation semifinal match at districts.

It's win or go home time, and Schweers is down by two late in his match when his opponent locked hands. With a point coming to him, Schweers scrambles to get a reversal in the closing seconds, and he goes from a two-point loss in the heartbreak round to a one-point win.

The funny part, however, was Schweers' reaction. He came to his feet, saw the scoreboard, then looked down at his ankles to make sure he was wearing the right color. When he realized he did, he put his hands in the air and jumped up in jubilation.

You've gotta love those "I made it" moments.

— While a lot of Wildcat women's hoop fans were worried about Friday's key NSIC matchup with Northern State, I was more concerned with the Saturday game against MSU Moorhead.

Two years ago, when the Wildcats made their magical Elite Eight run, they had to come from behind to beat Moorhead the night after wrapping up the NSIC regular-season title. Moorhead is good enough to be a trap game, I thought, and my fears were confirmed as the Dragons rolled to an upset win Saturday.

The bad news is that the loss all but kills any hopes of hosting the Central Region tournament this March. Wayne State still controls its own destiny in the race for NSIC supremacy, however — one win this weekend clinches the No. 1 seed for the conference tournament and two wins clinches the outright regular-season title.

Ashton Yossi hit six 3-pointers and scored a team-high 18 points in Wayne State's win over Northern State, which put the Wildcats in position to secure the regular-season conference title and earn a No. 1 seed for the conference tournament.

Big win over Northern trumped by 61-50 upset

It was an up-and-down weekend for the 11th-ranked Wayne State women's basketball team.

On Friday, the Wildcats won an emotional matchup with Northern State in a key battle for the No. 1 seed in the conference tournament, claiming a 67-63 win over the Wolves.

The euphoria of the big win didn't last long, however, as the Wildcats came out flat the following day and were victims of a 61-50 upset at the hands of MSU Moorhead, keeping the door open slightly for another team to snatch the top seed away from the Wildcats.

On Friday, the Wildcats used outside shooting and timely free throws to hold off the 17th-ranked Wolves and create a two-game cushion between them and Northern State in the push for the regular-season conference title.

Northern got out to an early 5-0 lead before the Ellen Hansen and Ashton Yossi hit back-to-back treys to give Wayne State a 6-5 advantage.

Yossi was hot from the outside on the night, going 5-for-6 from beyond the 3-point line in the first half and finishing the night with a six-pack of trifectas.

Wayne State went on a 10-0 run late in the first half, highlighted by the shooting of Yossi and Millie Niggeling, to take a 31-18 lead with four minutes to go in the half. Northern responded with a 12-5 run of their own and cut the lead down to six and trailed 36-30 at intermission.

Northern got as close as three with 14:21 to go before Hansen hit a key 3-pointer to get Wayne State going on offense. Another trey from Yossi made it 54-43 in favor

Blue Devils near 20-win plateau

The Wayne High boys basketball team had no problems with a pair of conference foes, posting easy wins to come within one win of the 20-win plateau.

On Friday, the Blue Devils raced through a 29-point first period and blew out visiting Madison in an 80-48 decision.

Four Blue Devils finished in double figures, led by Ben Hoskins' 19 points. Jalen Barry had 17 points, Brook Bowers put in 12 and Jared Anderson had 11.

On Saturday, the Blue Devils hit the road and had another huge first quarter, putting up 30 points on their way to a 74-50 win at Guardian Angels Central Catholic.

Barry had a game-high 22 points, Anderson added 20 and Hoskins racked up 19 for the 19-4 Blue Devils, who close out the regular season at home Friday against Pierce.

Koch honored by L&C

Longtime Winside resident Lee Koch was honored with the Jim Winch Service Award by the Lewis and Clark Conference recently. Koch has been active in just about every athletic activity in Winside, from high school sports to his years coaching baseball and softball. He continues to help out Winside High School as a statistician for football and wrestling and as an assistant track coach. He was presented the award by Winside Superintendent Jeff Messersmith during Thursday's basketball games with Osmond.

Lady Bears win two, LCC boys fall

The Laurel-Concord/Coleridge girls basketball team entered post-season play on an upbeat note, closing out the regular season with a pair of victories.

On Thursday, the Lady Bears came out strong in the second half to post a 75-57 win on the road at Wisner-Pilger. LCC outscored the Lady Gators 25-10 in the third period to take a 22-point lead into the final period and cruise to the easy victory. Cameron Eddie had a huge night, finishing with a game-high 27 points to lead three Lady Bears in double figures. Ellie Arduser added 20 points and Audra Corbit put in 13.

On Friday, the Lady Bears came out on top in their final game of the season, claiming a 64-53 win at Bancroft-Rosalie.

It was a tight battle throughout, but the Lady Bears broke a 43-43 tie after three periods by outscoring the Lady Panthers 21-10 to go on to the victory.

Four Lady Bears finished in double figures, led by Corbit's 16 points. Eddie added 14, Arduser had 12 and Erin Gubbels put in 11.

Bears drop road pair

Laurel-Concord/Coleridge's boys dropped a pair of tough road matchups last week.

On Thursday, the Bears played Wisner-Pilger tough, but couldn't quite get over the hump in a close one as the Gators came away with a 58-54 win. Dillan Wolfgram scored a game-high 20 points and Jordan Jansen added nine for the LCC boys.

On Friday, the Bears couldn't keep up with Bancroft-Rosalie in the early going, and the Panthers were able to roll to a 66-28 win. Klooz led a balanced attack with nine points while Wolfgram had eight and Casey put in five.

tournament for the Wayne High boys.

Right now, it's looking pretty good for the Blue Devils. As long as teams like Columbus Scotus and Wahoo continue their winning ways, Wayne is in good position to, at the very least, earn a wild card bid to state.

Of course, nothing beats winning your way to the big show, and I'm sure coach Rob Sweetland and his charges would rather take that journey to Lincoln, rather than have to rely on others to make it possible for them.

Do we REALLY want to be sitting in a half-empty gymnasium listening to another ball game on the radio like we did last year? Ummm... I think not.

Wayne natives lead WSC track teams at Concordia Invitational

Two Wayne natives posted first-place finishes for Wayne State during the Concordia Invitational, held Friday in Seward.

Senior thrower Carly Fehring scored a first-place finish in the weight throw with an NCAA provisional mark of 60 feet 0 1/2 inches. It was one of two medals for the Wayne native, as she also placed third in the shot put at 48-7 1/2.

On the men's side, Wayne High alum Zach Thomsen set a new meet record with his win in the 800-meter run, just missing an NCAA provisional mark with a time of 1:55.91. He was also a double-medalist, joining Mike King, Jared Balady and Derek Lahm on the 1,600-meter relay team that finished third.

On the women's side, Sara Wells posted a pair of top-10 finishes, placing fourth in the shot put and seventh in the weight throw. Jessi Pongratz was also in the top 10 in both events, taking ninth in the shot and 10th in the weight throw.

Alexis Guhl had two high placings, just missing a first-place effort in the 60-meter hurdles and running on the sixth-place 1,600-meter relay team with Elizabeth Pille, Danielle Hart and Emily Kaup.

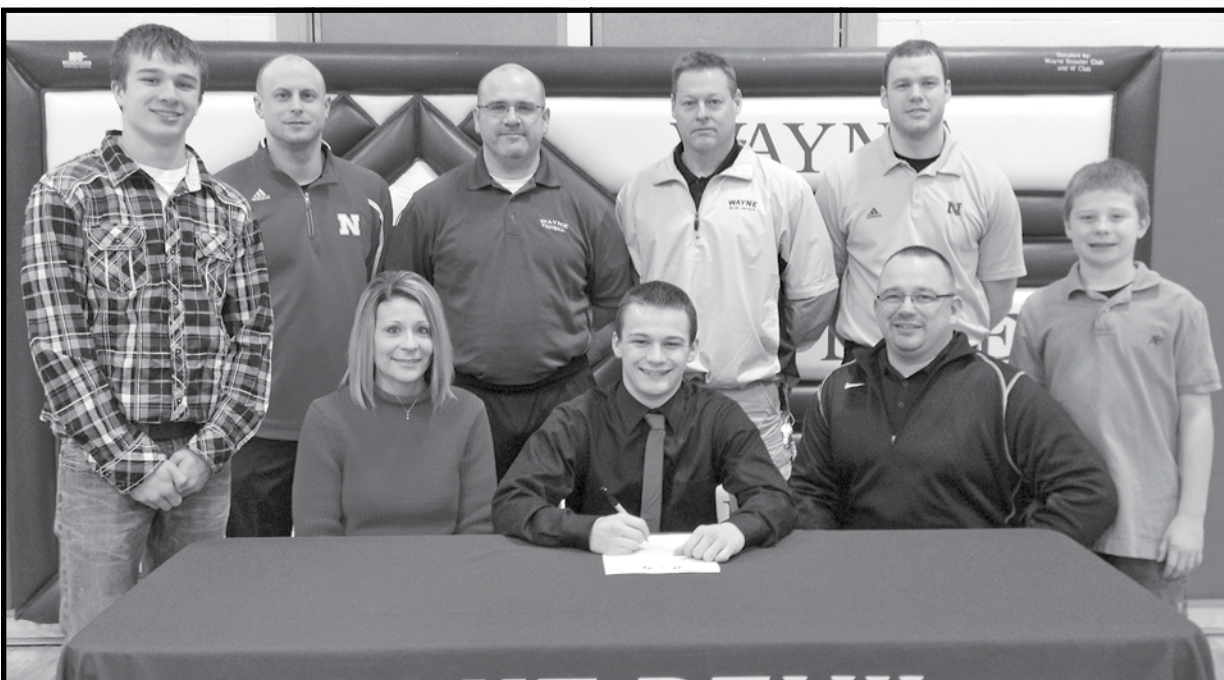

In other women's action, Emily Wells was third in the weight throw, Cristina Murillo placed eighth in the 3,000-meter run, Amanda Ramberg was seventh in the high jump and Sidney Blum placed ninth in the long jump.

On the men's side, Lahm added a pair of high individual finishes to his relay effort, placing fourth in the triple jump at 44-2 3/4 and fifth in the long jump at 21-11.

King finished seventh in the 200-meter dash, Balady was fourth and Corbin Marksmeier was seventh in the 600-meter run.

Wayne State is back in action on Friday, taking part in the South Dakota Invitational on Friday in Vermillion, S.D., beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Cliff signs with Northwestern

Mike Cliff signed a letter of intent recently to play college football at Northwestern in Iowa. On hand for the signing were his parents, Jenn and Tom; (back) brother Jordan Cliff, coach Adam Hoffman, coach Terry Bear, coach Brendan Dorcey, coach Tucker Haught and brother Isaac Cliff.

of the Wildcats midway through the second half.

But Northern would come back and make a game of it, getting the Wayne State lead down to two with 4:50 go and trailing 58-57 with 2:31 to play. Hansen came up with a key offensive rebound and completed a three-point play to make it 61-57. Addy Roller hit four free throws and Hansen sealed the deal with a pair of free throws to give Wayne State the win.

Yossi led the way with 18 points and Hansen added 17. Niggeling scored 13 points off the bench and Jordan Spencer had a double-double with 10 points and 10 rebounds.

On Saturday, the Wildcats struggled to get anything going offensively, and that allowed upstart Moorhead to come in and build a double-digit lead before posting a 61-50 win that dropped Wayne State to 24-3 overall and 17-3 in the NSIC.

Wayne State missed seven of their first eight shots, a telling statistic for how the game would go as Wayne State shot just 35 percent from the field. They were also out-rebounded 49-26 as the Dragons crashed the boards at will against the flat Wayne State defense.

Wayne State did lead 22-18 at the half in what was a defensive battle, but the Dragons would go on a 15-2 run in a six-minute span of the second half to build a 16-point lead. Wayne State would chip away and got as close as six with a minute to go, but the Dragons closed it out with free throws for the win.

Niggeling led the Wildcats with 19 points, Spencer added 11, Roller had nine and Yossi had eight in the losing effort.

Wayne State closes out the regular season on the road this weekend, facing Winona State on Friday at 6 p.m. and Upper Iowa on Saturday at 8 p.m.

Wayne State Coaches Show

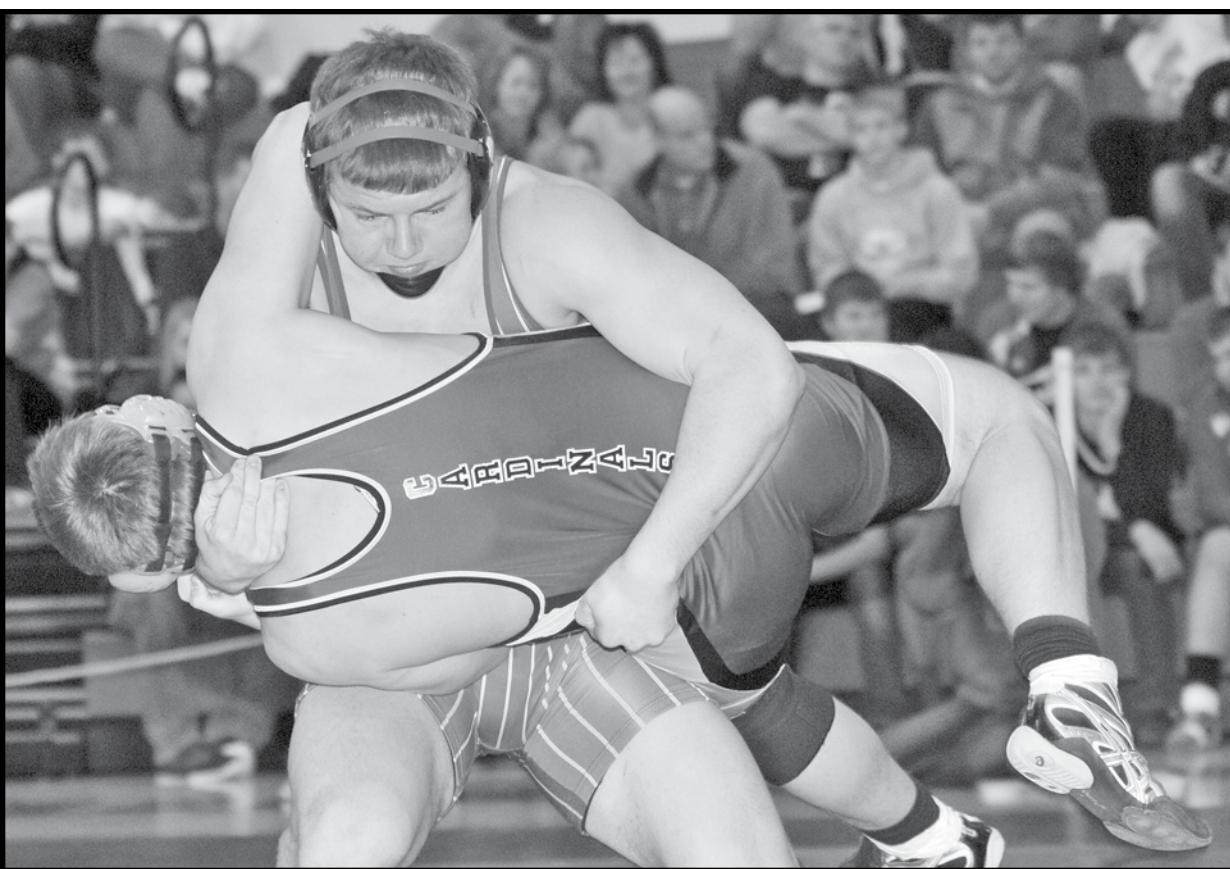

Exclusively on mywaynews.com

Interviews with Wildcat coaches and highlights from each week's events

Available every Wednesday afternoon

mywaynews.com's Michael Carnes sits down each week to talk to Wayne State coaches about their teams' efforts throughout the 2013 season. We'll recap the previous week's games and talk about upcoming opponents.

Winside senior Caleb Lienemann set a new school record for pins in a season on his way to winning the D-2 district title at 220 pounds. He is one of seven Wildcats to qualify for the state tournament this week in Omaha.

Wildcats send seven to state, earn trip to state duals meet

PENDER - Winside's wrestling team got back to full strength at just the right time.

The Wildcats had one of their better finishes of the season, qualifying seven wrestlers for state and taking runner-up honors in the D-2 district tournament Saturday at Pender High School.

The high finish was important on another front for the Wildcats, as they were able to qualify for the Nebraska State Duals Championships that will be held Saturday, March 1 in Kearney. The four Class D district champions and four wild cards qualify for the eight-team dual tournament, and Winside qualified as the No. 3 seed based on their district point total, number of qualifiers and number of wrestlers entered in the district tournament.

"I was proud of the team for the effort they put out," coach Paul Sok said. "They met two big goals Saturday. They wanted to finish in the top two at districts and qualify for state duals."

The team's effort at districts was one Sok said he was hoping to see.

"The kids wrestled about as well as they have all year," he said. "This was the first meet since Battle Creek that we were at full strength, and we had a good effort and a lot of pins."

Caleb Lienemann was the lone district champion for the Wildcats, setting a new school record with his 30th pin of the season during the tournament. The No. 2-ranked senior and returning state runner-up finished off his bracket with a first-period pin of Justin Dearthmont from North Central.

Sean Mann also reached the championship finals, settling for runner-up honors at 106 pounds after losing to Wyatt Lane of Arcadia-Loup City on a first-period pin.

Marcos Escalera finishes off an opponent with a spladle on his way to a state qualifying effort at districts. Winside finished as district runner-up and also qualified for the state duals tournament on March 1 in Kearney.

Colby Erickson bounced back from a tough loss to the No. 3 kid in the state at 120 pounds to earn consolation honors. He won his heart-break-round match and got an injury default to take the third-place spot in the weight class.

Marcos Escalera and Zach Morris also came through with consolation wins to finish third in their respective weight brackets. Escalera was third at 132 pounds after ending with a second-period pin. Morris went to the final seconds of the third period before pinning Brett Kinney of Elgin/Pope John to take consolation honors at 138 pounds.

Zach Jones and Zane Jensen will also represent Winside at state, as both finished fourth in their respective brackets. Jones lost a close decision in his consolation finals match at 160 pounds, while Jensen was a 7-2 loser in the consolation match at heavyweight.

The Wildcats will take part in Class D action at the Nebraska State Wrestling Championships, beginning Thursday at 4:30 p.m.

5 BONUS BENEFITS OF EXERCISE

For as long as you can remember, you've been hearing about the benefits of exercise: Weight control, chronic disease management, stronger muscles and bones, to name a few. But the list of exercise benefits just keeps getting longer. If you could package it in a pill, you might have a multi-million dollar product!

Maybe these less touted benefits will offer the motivation you need to make exercise a regular part of your daily routine.

1. Improve your immune system. Seem like you catch every bug in the book? Maybe exercise can help. Researchers are finding that as little as 30- to 45-minute brisk walks five times a week can greatly boost your immune system.^{1,2}
2. Influence aging. Early research indicates that exercise may partly reverse the aging process caused by stress.³
3. Enhance your mood. You may already know that exercise can help you feel fitter. Increasing body temperature may have a calming effect. Exercise also releases brain chemicals that may relieve tension and ease depression and anxiety. Some studies have even shown that exercise may be as effective as an antidepressant.^{4,5}
4. Boost your brain. Exercise increases growth factors in the brain, which help the brain make new brain cells and new connections between them. This may enhance memory, attention, and concentration, helping with learning.⁶ Some studies have even begun to show a link between exercise and grades on math and reading tests.⁷ But the benefits aren't limited to kids in school. Exercise may also greatly reduce the risk of developing Alzheimer's disease, a form of dementia.⁸
5. Sleep better. A recent poll conducted by the National Sleep Foundation uncovered some interesting connections to exercise. Those who exercised—no matter what time of day—reported better sleep than those who didn't, even when they slept the same length of time. Sedentary people were also about twice as likely to be sleepy during the day and were more likely to have sleep apnea, a disorder that interrupts breathing while you're asleep.⁹

So how much do you need to reap benefits like these? Experts recommend getting at least two hours and 30 minutes each week of moderately intense aerobic activity or one hour and 15 minutes weekly of vigorous aerobic exercise.¹⁰ It's best to combine this with muscle strengthening two times a week.¹⁰ But remember: short stretches of physical activity throughout the day can bring many of the same advantages as a structured gym workout.¹¹

If you're not sure where to begin, I may be able to help. Before you start a new routine, it's also best to have a talk with your doc.

Wakefield's Nick Gonzalez reached the finals of the 120-pound weight bracket and came away with runner-up honors to join the four Trojans heading to state.

Seven area wrestlers survive C-2

LCC's Haisch is district champ

BATTLE CREEK – The area will be well-represented in the Class C state wrestling tournament this week, as seven area wrestlers qualified for state out of the C-2 district tournament Saturday in Battle Creek.

Wakefield is sending four wrestlers to the state tournament this year after finishing sixth in the 16-team district meet. Laurel-Concord/Coleridge will also have a number of Bears on the mats, as three wrestlers qualified out of their ninth-place squad.

Brett Haisch of LCC was the only area wrestler to come away with a district championship. The 182-pound senior earned an 11-5 win over Michael Liermann of Wisner-Pilger in the championship round to take the title and earn one of the 16 spots in the Class C, 182-pound bracket.

Wakefield did have one wrestler in the championship round. Nick Gonzalez reached the finals at 120 pounds, but dropped a 10-7 decision to Beau Braniff of Tekamah-Herman to earn runner-up honors.

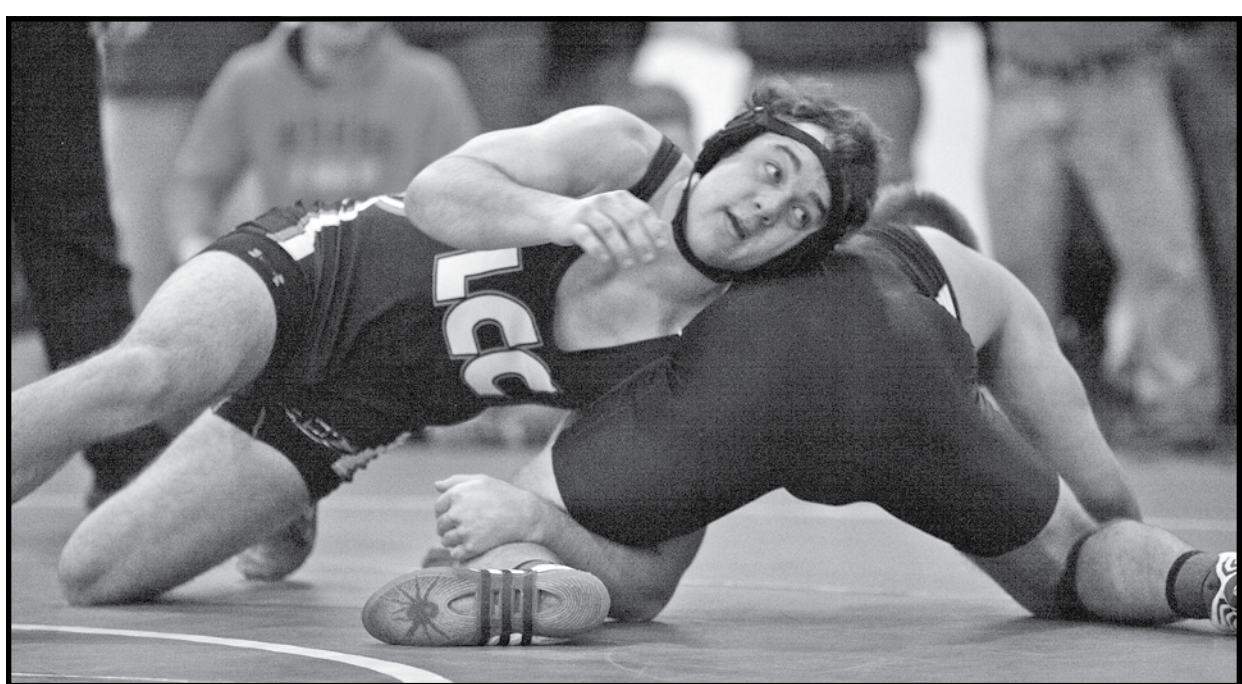

The other five area wrestlers came back through the consolation bracket to earn trips to state.

For Wakefield, fifth-ranked Cody Thomas was a consolation champion at 170 pounds, coming back after an upset in the semifinals to earn third-place honors with a third-period pin of Hunter Randles of Madison. Thomas has won 44 matches this season and will go into state hoping to join his brother, Caleb, as a state medalist.

Caleb Thomas, a junior who was ranked No. 1 at 160 pounds, was unable to compete in districts due to an elbow injury and will not have a chance to improve on last year's runner-up finish at this year's state meet.

Irvin Ramirez and Efen Godinez also qualified for the Trojans with fourth-place finishes. Ramirez lost a close decision to Lucas Miller of Crofton at 113 pounds while Godinez bounced back from a semifinal loss to Haisch to reach the consolation finals, where he was pinned by O'Neill's Bailey Thompson.

In addition to Haisch, the Bears

Wayne girls bounce back to win finale

The Wayne girls basketball team closed out the regular season with a road loss and a home win to secure the top seed for their subdistrict.

On Thursday, the Blue Devils dropped a 44-31 decision to Concordia in action at Omaha. It was a tightly-contested battle, with the host team coming out on top in the second half to get the win.

Danica Schaefer came off the bench to score eight points for the Blue Devils, while Rachel Rauner added seven and Meagan Backer scored five.

On Friday, the Blue Devils had no problems with visiting Madison, getting a big home win with a 63-24 victory over the Dragons.

Wayne led by 10 after one period and extended that lead to 22 by halftime to go on to the easy win. Ashton Schweers had a game-high 16 points to lead three Blue Devils in double figures. Jalyn Zeiss added 13 and Rauner put in 10.

Wayne girls open subdistricts with 31-28 win over Cadets

Style doesn't matter during the postseason, as the Wayne High girls showed in their opening-round 31-28 win over West Point-Beemer in the C1-7 subdistrict at Oakland.

It was a struggle throughout for both teams, as the Blue Devils managed to shoot just 26 percent from the field in the winning effort.

Jalyn Zeiss hit a pair of 3-pointers in the second half to give Wayne a 24-17 advantage, but the Cadets hung tough until the very end before Wayne advanced to Thursday's subdistrict final against Tekamah-Herman.

Zeiss and Meagan Backer each had seven points and Ashton Schweers put in six for the 15-10 Blue Devils.

Trojans outlast Indians, 61-57

For the third time this season, Wakefield came back from a double-digit deficit to defeat Winnebago.

On Monday, Lauren Lehmkuhl and McKenzie Rusk combined for 52 points and 29 rebounds to help the Trojans come back and beat the Indians, 61-57, in the play-in round of the C2-4 subdistrict at Wayne High School.

The Trojans trailed by seven at the half and were down by 12 midway through the third quarter before starting their rally. Lehmkuhl and Rusk were both key scorers during the comeback, and Whitney Echtenkamp hit a key 3-pointer in the closing minutes.

Wildcats' season comes to a close

The Winside girls basketball team ran into a buzzsaw on Tuesday as top-seeded Bancroft-Rosalie rolled to a 72-8 win over the Wildcats, ending their season at 3-18.

Winside scored just one basket in the first half against the Panthers' full-court pressure, and the Bancroft-Rosalie team used that advantage to take a 47-2 halftime lead.

Carly Schwager, Halle Brogren, Kelly tweedy and Jayd Roberts all had baskets for the Wildcats.

WSC track signs Wyoming thrower

Wayne State women's track and field coach Marlon Brink announced that Kacie O'Connor of Sundance, Wyo., has made a commitment to compete in track and field for the Wildcats in 2015.

Wildcats lose final two home games to Northern, MSU-M

The final home games of the 2013-14 season did not go well for the Wayne State men's basketball team, as the Wildcats lost home matchups to Northern State and MSU Moorhead to fall to 8-16 overall and 5-15 in the NSIC.

On Friday, Northern State's hot offense was too much for the Wildcats, as the visiting Wolves ran away with a 90-59 NSU win at Rice Auditorium.

The two teams battled back and forth early on before Northern went on a 10-3 to take a 16-9 advantage. Wayne State kept it around the seven-point margin until the last six minutes of the half, when the Wolves went on a 24-7 run to take a 49-25 lead at the half and take control of the game.

The Wildcats had a nice run early in the second half. Joel Heesch hit a pair of baskets and Adol Aluong had a layup to highlight a 6-0 rally that got Wayne State within 21 points at 53-32 with 15:36 to go.

That was as close as Wayne State got, however, as the Wolves continued to pull away with a solid offensive effort that saw them hit 61.9 percent from the field, including a 10-of-20 effort from 3-point range.

David Andersen led the Wildcats with 17 points in the losing effort, while Ty Bauschek added 12 points. Ryan Rolfzen led the Wildcats in rebounds with 10.

On Saturday, the Wildcats' offense was clicking, but not enough to overcome one of the top offenses in the NSIC as MSU Moorhead managed a 95-84 win over the Wildcats.

The Wildcats got down early, but tied the game at 9-9 on a three-point play by Jared Bartling and a 3-pointer by Rolfzen. The game stayed close until late in the first half, when the Dragons extended their advantage to as many as 13 points before settling on a 42-33 halftime lead.

The Wildcats kept the game respectable for much of the second half. Backups by Bartling and Andersen got the Wildcats as close as eight with 15:25 to go, but Moorhead took advantage of some Wayne State misses to fuel a 13-4 run that put them up 17 and Wayne State could not get closer than eight after that.

Bartling had a career-high 24 points for the Wildcats, as all four seniors finished in double figures in their final home game in a Wildcat uniform. Bauschek added 15 points, Rolfzen put in 13 and Aluong scored 10.

Wayne State will conclude the regular season this weekend on the road, playing at Winona State Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at Upper Iowa at 6 p.m.

Unintentional mountain lion killing reported

A mountain lion was unintentionally killed in a cable restraint trap near Taylor in Custer County on Feb. 16, according to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

The mountain lion was an adult male weighing approximately 150 pounds that appeared to be in good health.

The trapper called Game and Parks immediately upon discovering the mountain lion, as required by Game and Parks policy. High pelt prices have led to an increased effort to trap bobcats and other furbearers, which may have contributed to the incidental capture of the mountain lion, officials said.

All nine starters back for Wildcat softballers

The 2014 Wayne State College softball team returns all nine starters and all four pitchers from last year's team that graduated just one senior and posted a 28-16 record, finishing tied for sixth in the Northern Sun Conference with 17-9 league mark.

It was the seventh straight winning season for the Wildcat program under head coach Krista Wood, matching a school record set from 1984-90.

This year's team returns three players that received All-NSIC recognition last season and will still be relatively young with just three seniors, seven juniors, five sophomores and five freshmen on the 20-player roster.

"We are really excited about this upcoming season and have great expectations," Wood said. "The team has worked very hard through the off-season to make themselves better both physically and mentally in all aspects of the game."

Headlining the large group of returning starters are returning All-NSIC selections Kaiti Williams and Kelcie Bormann. Williams, a junior first baseman, was a Second Team All-NSIC selection for a second straight season last year after hitting a team-best .357 while leading the team in hits (50) and runs scored (34). Bormann, a junior pitcher/designated player, was a First Team All-NSIC selection last season at designated player after posting a .331 batting average to rank second on the team with 24

RBI's and 31 runs scored.

The final returning player to receive All-NSIC honors last season was senior right fielder Kyle Simpson, who was named to the 2013 NSIC Gold Glove Team after not making an error defensively last season with 37 putouts and two assists.

"With the return of every starter from last season, along with a very talented freshman class, we expect the competition for positions to be very intense throughout the spring," said Wood, who is the all-time winningest coach in Wayne State softball history with a record of 235-136 overall (113-52 NSIC) while leading the Wildcats to three NCAA Tournament appearances, one Central Region title (2010) and one NSIC Tournament title (2010). "Being a good teammate, mental toughness and accepting roles during the 56 games this spring will determine the success of this team along the way."

Wayne State was picked to finish seventh in the 2014 NSIC pre-season coaches poll. The league features four teams that reached the 2013 NCAA Tournament, including Winona State, who won the Central Region 2 title and advanced to the Super Regionals.

Wayne State will open the 2014 season Friday and Saturday at the Kelly Laas Memorial Dome Invitational in St. Cloud, Minn.

The Wildcats will also travel to Joplin, Mo. for the Teri Mathis-Zenner Memorial Tournament at Missouri Southern March 1-2 before heading south to Florida for the team's annual spring break trip March 9-13. Their first home matchup is a Tuesday, March 18 doubleheader with Washburn, with games at 2 and 4 p.m.

Don't get me started

By: Michael Carnes
Managing Editor

(NOTE: Opinions expressed here are those of the author exclusively.)

Senator made bad priority bill pick

We all have the freedom to make choices in our lives that can benefit – or be detrimental to – our future.

We also have the opportunity to make choices that will improve the quality of others' lives.

State Sen. Dave Bloomfield, had a chance to make a choice as the District 17 representative in the Nebraska Legislature that would have improved the quality of lives of those who are dealing with domestic violence issues. In fact, he had three chances to make the kind of decision that would have greatly benefitted our state's youth, both now and long into the future.

Unfortunately, he chose to follow a different route – a journey that was doomed from the beginning, does nothing to improve the quality of life for Nebraska's citizens and left me disappointed with somebody who was elected to represent the best interests of ALL Nebraskans, not a select few.

Every year, each of the 49 state senators in the Nebraska Legislature has a chance to adopt any of several hundred legislative bills as a "priority" bill. These bills are the ones that advance out of the various committees that study and hold hearings on these bills during each legislative session.

A check of the Nebraska Legislature's website found that Sen. Bloomfield had nine bills credited to him as the primary introducer. Among those were bills that would help protect children from sexual assault (a bill I asked him to introduce last year, LB143), one that would expedite concealed handgun permits for those who are victims of domestic violence (LB171), and a third that would authorize residence restrictions for sexual predators who live in our communities (LB 473).

Any one of these pieces of legislation would have been a positive for a lot of people in Nebraska. The first bill would give schools the option to provide age-appropriate education to help children in this state avoid sexual abuse and know how, where and who to report their experiences to. The second would help speed the process that would help victims of domestic violence protect themselves from their attackers. The third would provide a legal buffer that would keep sexual predators away from areas where our children play and congregate.

Instead, Bloomfield chose to hang his priority hat on the ill-fated LB393, a bill that would make it optional for motorcycle riders to wear helmets. It's a decision that would seem to be a no-brainer from a safety perspective – the state requires that helmets must be worn by all motorcycle riders which, as one state senator who helped kill Bloomfield's bill last week pointed out, saves lives and dollars spent on related health issues.

Sen. Mike Gloor noted that when Michigan repealed its helmet law two years ago, 55 helmet-less riders died and 195 had incapacitating injuries. Had those riders been wearing helmets, about half would still be alive and almost a fourth would not have suffered such serious injuries.

For Bloomfield, though, it's all about the freedoms we have as American citizens.

"These freedoms have been paid for with too much blood and treasure for me to just say 'The government thinks it is a good idea, so okay.' Not in this lifetime," Bloomfield remarked in his Legislative Update column on this page last week.

I wasn't paying full attention to my American History teacher in high school, but I don't seem to recall American soldiers fighting for the "freedom" to decide whether or not to wear life-saving protection while operating a motorcycle. And while I certainly appreciate Bloomfield's belief that there is too much government in our lives, there are better avenues to keep government out of our lives than worrying about whether or not motorcycle riders should be free to scramble their brains along our highways if they should lose control of their vehicle.

I don't know about you, but if there are freedoms that need protecting, I'd like to think that the freedom to grow up without having to live as a survivor of child sexual assault or being able to defend yourself from the lowlife scumbag spouse (or significant other) who physically and emotionally assaults someone would be of greater benefit to the state as a whole than whether or not an Evel Kneivel enthusiast wants to enjoy a summer's ride with the wind blowing through his (or her) hair.

And, while Bloomfield fights valiantly to allow bike riders the freedom to permanently rewire their craniums, opportunities to protect our children and help those in need protect themselves from some of our more evil-minded citizenry languish in committee, left to die with the possibility of reintroduction in 2015 a dubious chance at best.

Opportunities to help the 1 in 4 girls and 1 in 6 boys under the age of 18 who have been sexually abused in this state – done.

Opportunities for survivors of domestic violence to protect themselves from their attackers – kaput.

Opportunities to protect our children from sexual predators – nope.

Oh, but don't you motorcycle enthusiasts worry – even though that freedom to ride without life-saving protection is dead for now, Sen. Bloomfield plans to reintroduce the legislation in 2015.

"I'll be working on this until I'm no longer here," he told the Lincoln Journal Star.

A comforting choice for those who want to ride without protection – but for those who need to be protected from domestic violence and sexual assault? Not so much.

Legislature getting things done

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

By the numbers, progress in the short session of the 103rd Legislature may seem slow. With more than a third of the 60-day session already expired, one questions whether all that has been broadcast and printed really amounts to much.

Daily talk of filibusters and threats of filibusters and the actual filibusters themselves make news. Rumbblings from the Executive Branch that the Legislative Branch needs to get busy simply add to the confusion. Mix in a lot of intrigue about: the upcoming May primary election; college football recruiting successes or failures; the on-going struggles of the University basketball team; Obamacare; a Beatles retrospective after 50 years; the Winter Olympics in (gasp) Russia and Nebraskans' own struggle with arctic temperatures and recurring snowfall – and it's easy to discount the occurrence of another legislative session. Let alone the importance of it.

Let's face it. We view it as the annual battle of the Governor getting what he promised in the State of the State address. And the resistance of the 49 elected state senators to let one man take credit for any or all of it. The classic he said/she said applies here. Does not. Does so.

So, let's try a mathematical approach. Lawmakers have passed 16 bills and presented them to the governor for his signature. Three of them were left over from the first session and were passed with emergency clauses so they take effect the minute they are signed. There are another 182 bills at one of the three stages of debate before the full Legislature. Another 712 remain in committee as afternoon hearings on them continue. Some may see the light of day. Some will die unceremoniously mid-April.

So what about the 16 that have passed? Or, as some like to say, what have they done to us now? They have passed measures dealing with: the monitoring of health care costs in Nebraska (LB76e); letting the public know how much their school superintendent is being paid and what kind of contract they have (LB470e) and making it easier for county fair boards to sell property and to improve the fairgrounds (LB597e). Those were among the leftovers that needed to be handled. The e-clause (emergency) means that the bills become law as soon as they are signed. Without that designation, bills passed this session become law 90 days after the Legislature adjourns, meaning the effective date would be mid-July.

Lawmakers also passed a bill (LB403) that would ban the sale of novelty cigarette lighters without a childproof safety feature. These are lighters that look like toys or play musical notes or have flashing lights. The Legislature agreed that those features make the lighters dangerous in the hands of children. Another measure passed (LB215) requires county government to use their Visitors Improvement Fund to promote, encourage, and attract visitors to the county if it is determined the visitor attractions in the county do not require improvement. Some counties had been using the funds to improve their attractions instead of promoting them. The Legislature also approved (LB446) adding the term "flood damaged" to salvage titles of those vehicles that have been flood damaged. Duh.

Other bills passed deal with: powers of the tax commissioner in attaching liens (LB33); allowing the Department of Environmental Quality to increase fees to offset the cost of administering a chemigation program (LB272); allowing the Secretary of State to change the fees it charges for electronic transactions (LB278); several other natural resource programs and four bills from the Revisor of Statutes to eliminate outdated language.

Then there is this measure (LB174) that deals with the size, weight, and load provisions in the Nebraska Rules of the Road, to increase the minimum fine for manure spills within corporate limits of a city of the metropolitan class (Omaha) from $100 to $250. The law is aimed at prohibiting any person from spilling manure or urine, from the vehicle that contained livestock, on any highway within the city limits of Omaha. The penalty is a class IV misdemeanor with a minimum fine of at least $250.

I know what you're thinking. But the bill wasn't just a bunch of kaka. It survived four hours of debate on the legislative floor after its sponsor, Sen. Heath Mello of Omaha, explained that manure spills from cattle trucks in the Stockyards and packing plant area of South Omaha have caused numerous traffic accidents and have cost significant amounts of money to clean up. Most of the spills are on state highways and the Nebraska State Patrol issues most of the tickets, he said. The fees were agreed on by the trucking and cattle industries and the South Omaha Environmental Task Force. Two outstate senators argued against the bill saying it would cost jobs in the packing industry. But Mello said there was no testimony against the bill at the public hearing.

See, even the little things matter to the Nebraska Legislature.

Legislative Update

Motorcycle helmet bill dead for 2014

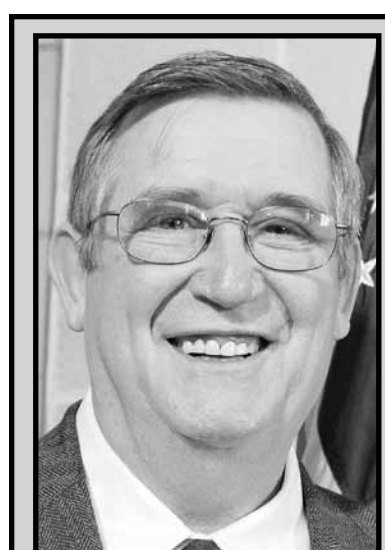

After four days of debating my priority bill, LB393, it essentially died after not receiving 33 votes on the cloture motion.

A cloture vote is when a vote is taken to immediately cease debate and proceed to vote on the bill. We had 25 votes for cloture, eight shy of the 33 we needed. This is what is commonly referred to as a filibuster. It is a very frustrating procedure when it is used against you, but very nice when you want to stop something that you might disagree with.

On an encouraging note, we did survive an earlier vote to bracket the motion until the end of session. I wish that we could have had an actual up or down vote on LB393, because I think if that had happened we would have had more than the 25 votes needed to advance the bill to Select File.

We heard many arguments for and against the bill. If you have followed my position on this bill you know that for me, repealing the helmet law boils down to one thing: the freedom of personal choice.

When you mention "choice" some individuals start to question me and even claim that I am a hypocrite, because while I am all for your right to decide if you want to wear a helmet on a motorcycle or not, I do not believe that you have the right to take the life of an unborn child.

In my opinion there is a huge difference between the two. When it comes to abortion, an adult is making the decision to end the life of an unborn child that has no say in that decision. I believe that an adult who decides to get on a motorcycle, with or without a helmet, should know and understand the risk they are taking. Free adults should be allowed to make that decision.

Joy Circle holds February meeting at Our Savior Lutheran Church

The women of Our Savior Lutheran Church, Joy Circle, met Feb. 12.

President Phyllis Rahn welcomed everyone, gave announcements, and recognized Thelma Moeller for her birthday in February.

Nancy Jo Powers gave the devotions. She shared a story in which a little boy on his way to meet God encountered an old woman in the park.

Their interactions consisted of his sharing his food, and the old woman smiling in return. At the end of the day, when each went back to their respective homes, they were asked what made them so happy. Each responded they had seen God. How often do we fail to let those with whom we come in contact know how important they are to us?

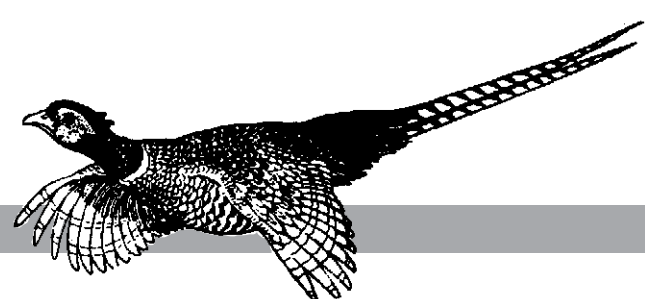

The group made greeting cards which the Visitation Committee will send to members throughout the year.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, March 12. The program will be given by Pastor Sylvia Karlsson, who will share her faith story. Hostess will be Elaine Menke.

Make sure advance directives are put in place

"Research shows that more than 80 percent of us die in a hospital or nursing home. Advances in medical technology can now prolong life as never before. The quality of that life, however, may be greatly reduced. As a result, many patients, families, and caregivers face difficult questions about how much technology to use when a patient cannot get better. This means most of us will face a decision about whether to use life-sustaining treatments at the end of our lives. If we cannot speak for ourselves at that point, other people will have to make those decisions for us." - Caring Connections

Since December 1991, the Patient Self-Determination Act passed by Congress ensures that people know their rights regarding advance directives. Health care institutions are required by law to tell adult patients about the legal right to accept or refuse medical treatment. The Nebraska Rights of the Terminally Ill Act gives Nebraskans 19 years of age and older the right to prepare written instructions for their physicians about the use of life-sustaining measures if their condition is terminal.

What are Advance Directives?
Advance directives are written documents stating personal wishes for medical care in the event someone is unable to communicate such desires due to illness or incapacity. The term "advance directives" refers to both living wills and power of attorney for health care. Such documents help ensure that personal wishes about medical treatment are respected. They provide assistance to those who must make decisions for another person, and may name someone to make such health care decisions if a person is unable to do so.

In Nebraska, the most common advance directives are a living will (officially called a "declaration") and a durable power of attorney for health care. Medical directives, including a specific list of medical procedures, are often part of either document. Medical directives allow someone to specify the care and procedures they want, do not want, or are unsure about, and provide valuable information for others to make decisions.

What is a Living Will?

A living will is so named because it takes effect while someone is still living. This written document provides guidance for health care providers about the type of life-sustaining measures a person wishes to receive or not receive when medical professionals have determined there is no possibility for recovery. Once executed, a living will cannot be overridden by the wishes of family members who might not agree with terms of the document.

Life-Sustaining Treatments

An important component of the living will is instructions about life-sustaining treatments (also called life support or life-prolonging treatments). Such medical procedures are used to replace or support a failing bodily function necessary for life. They include a ventilator, dialysis, artificial nutrition and hydration, and CPR including artificial respiration, chest compression, electric shock or drugs, and/or fluids or medication given by vein.

To learn more about the beneficial and negative consequences of using life-sustaining treatment, talk with the doctor or other knowledgeable health care professional. In addition, publications online from the National Hospice and Palliative

Ruth Vonderohe
Extension Educator

Care Organization discuss common types of life-sustaining treatment in detail.

What is a Power of Attorney for Health Care?

A power of attorney for health care allows someone (called the "principal") to authorize another person to act as their agent or attorney-in-fact. The agent will make health care decisions for the principal when that person is unable to do so, not just at the end of life.

What Advance Directives Are Not

A living will is not the same as a last will and testament and/or a living trust. A last will and testament and/or living trust defines property distribution at death. The living will provides instruction for end-of-life, health care decision making. A durable power of attorney for health care is not the same as power of attorney for financial issues. A power of attorney for health care names an agent to make health care decisions for the principal. The power of attorney used for financial affairs empowers someone else to make financial decisions for the principal.

Are Both a Living Will and Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care Needed?

While the decision to have either or both is a personal one, each advance directive offers a distinct advantage. The living will addresses end-of-life situations only. The durable power of attorney for health care appoints someone to make health care decisions in situations beyond just those involving end-of-life. In Nebraska, it is possible to do a living will within the durable power of attorney for health care.

General Requirements for Advance Directives

An advance directive should be written, dated, and completed while someone still knows what they want and can express their health care wishes. Two witnesses or a notary public must sign the document. In Nebraska, anyone legally married or divorced or at least 19 years of age may do an advance directive.

When do Advance Directives Take Effect?

Advance directives are valid as soon as they are signed and witnessed but they do not go into effect until the signer is no longer able to make health care decisions.

For a living will to go into effect:
- the physician determines that someone is in a terminal condition or persistent vegetative state, and that life-sustaining procedures will only prolong death.

- if the physician has a copy of the living will, the physician then notifies the family or guardian of the intent to put the living will into effect.

For a durable power of attorney for health care to go into effect:

- the physician determines the patient cannot make health care decisions.

- the agent agrees to start making those decisions. Advance directives continue in effect until they are revoked by the person who made them, or when that person dies or becomes capable of making health care decisions again.

What if a Health Care Provider is Unwilling to Abide by the Terminally Ill Act?

Any health care provider who, because of personal belief, is unwilling to abide by the Rights of the Terminally Ill Act is required by law to transfer patient care promptly to another health care provider who will accept the conditions of the advance directive.

Who Should be Consulted Before Preparing an Advance Directive?

Family, close friends and other appropriate people such as clergy may be consulted. Talk with them about what is important in life and personal wishes about health care procedures. Gather information about life-sustaining treatments to make informed decisions about care options. While it is not a legal requirement in Nebraska to consult an attorney in order to complete an advance directive, some may choose to do so.

Emma is the daughter of Bill and Barbara Engebretsen of Laurel. She will finish her bachelor's degree in nursing in 2016. She currently works at Hillcrest Care Center of Laurel.

Ben is the son of Ray and Sharon Kneifl of Dixon. He received an electrician associate's degree from Northeast Community College in 2009 and is currently farming with his family and working as an electrician.

The couple plan to exchange vows at Immanuel Lutheran Church of Laurel on March 29, 2014. They will then reside north of Dixon.

Eagles Auxiliary hosting events

The Wayne Eagles Auxiliary met Feb. 17 with President Marsha Roth presiding.

The Chili Cook-Off will be held Saturday, Feb. 22. Entries are still being accepted. Those interested in taking part are asked to contact Deb Moore or Wendie Meyer. The public is encouraged to "come eat chili and vote for your favorite one."

Family Bingo Night will be held on Saturday, March 15. Prizes will be awarded at the event. It will be held from 7-9 p.m. and will include a St. Patrick's Day theme. Those attending are encouraged to come dressed in green. Anyone wishing to donate prizes for the event is asked to contact Jennifer Sievers.

The next meeting will be Monday, March 3 at 7 p.m.

Titanic is topic at Minerva Club

A no-host meeting of Minerva Club was held at the Wayne Senior Center February 10, 2014. President, Connie Webber opened the meeting by reading how certain sayings came into being.

Eleven members responded to roll call by telling if they had traveled on a ship and if so, where. A letter of appreciation from the Wayne County Historical Society was read thanking the group for the donation.

Historian Hollis Frese read from the Jan. 27, 1930 Minerva Club minutes that a bill of $1.50 was allowed for flowers to send to a member in the hospital. As a follow up to last meeting's roll call of where you were born, she also shared pictures of early day Wayne Hospitals from the Wayne County History Book

The history of the Titanic was reviewed by Fauneil Bennett. It was the largest ship afloat at the time. Passengers started boarding in England on April 10, 1912. After stops in France and Ireland it set sail for New York City carrying about 2,200 passengers from the very wealthy to many immigrant families. On April 14 it hit an iceberg south of Newfoundland with such force it broke apart. The 722 survivors told of a lack of life-boats, some leaving before they were full, preference given for certain ethnic groups, etc. but several passengers like Molly Brown were deemed heroes. The wreckage of the Titanic was discovered in 1985 and it remains on the seabed but several artifacts have been placed in various museums around the world.

The next meeting will be hosted by Phyllis Rahn at the Senior Center on Monday, Feb. 24.

Awana students compete in Bible Quiz

Students in grades three through six from the Concord Awana Clubs competed against six other teams at a Bible Quiz on Feb. 15.

The event was held at the First Baptist Church in Norfolk.

The purpose of the Quiz is to promote Bible memory and to give clubbers a greater love and working knowledge of the Bible.

Placings were as follows:

Third place: Miles Forsberg, cody Kempf and Caleb Lipp (Adventure Book 1); Jaelyn Kempf (Adventure Book 2); Makayla Forsberg and Elizabeth Lipp (Challenge Book 2).

Second place: Gage Longe and James Torres (Adventure Book 2); Hannah Kvol, Kaitlyn Walton and Freya Young (Challenge Book 1); Brock Floyd, Brogan Jones and Lukas Oswald (Challenge Book 2).

First place: Eli Barner, Aaron Bloom and Treving Boysen (Adventure Book 1); Faith Junck and Kyle Kempf (Challenge Book 2).

Delaney Hall also quizzed over Adventure Book 1.

Faith Junck and Kyle Kempf had perfect scores on the Oral Quiz.

Sharon Longe of Laurel coached and organized the Concord quizzers with the help of Holly and Elisabeth Torres and other parent volunteers.

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid holds Feb. 12 meeting

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid and LWML met Feb. 12 in the Church Fellowship Room.

President Rhonda Sebade called the meeting to order and the LWML pledge was read in unison.

The devotion was from the LWML Prayer Guide for Mission Grants: Rebuilding Nord Est Haiti Lutheran School. The school reaches out to Haitian children through education. They also share God's Word with future generations and prepare productive members of society.

Mites were collected.

President Sebade welcomed Pastor Lilienkamp and 14 members. The business meeting followed.

The program was led by Pastor Lilienkamp, a Bible study entitled "Hard Times - Bring Hard Questions!" The group read 2 Corinthians 11:23-28 and 12:9-10 with discussion of Paul's troubles and how he overcame them. Romans 8:28-39 showed evidence of God's love for us; giving hope for the future and the present. Discussion of several

Hard Questions with the Biblical answers were discussed, i.e. "My baby was born blind, what did I do to deserve this?" (John 9:2-3) and "If God is love, why is there so much suffering?" (1 Peter 2:19-21)

President Sebade led the in the Lord's Prayer and the Table Prayer.

The Birthday song was sung for Ruth Victor with her lit cupcake. Cupcakes will be taken to Esther Hansen and Kay Denker who were not present.

Dessert and coffee were served by Esther Brader.

Altona Ladies Aid gathers for Feb. 10 discussion

First Trinity Lutheran women's Missionary League of Altona met Feb. 10 at Country View Assisted Living in Wayne.

The Rev. Terry Makelin began with devotions taken from Lutheran Service Book. He finished the lesson, "Forgiveness, Received and Given," taken from the Lutheran Witness.

The LWML Pledge was recited as the mite box offering was taken.

Darlene Bowers presided at the meeting.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were approved as read. The secretary reported sending one get-well card.

Discussion was held on the upcoming soup and sandwich suppers to be held preceding each Lenten service. The first supper and service will take place on Ash Wednesday, March 5, at First Trinity of Altona.

The suppers and services will alternate each of the six weeks of Lent between First Trinity of Altona and St. John's in Pilger.

The table prayer, "Feed Thy Children, god Most Holy" was sung by all and the Lord's Prayer prayed.

Hostess was Darlene Bowers. There was one guest.

The March meeting will be held at the Wisner Care Center with the date to be announced.

Wildfires could be a concern for 2014

The combination of a lack of moisture, consistent high winds and dry air masses may increase the danger of wildfires across Nebraska this year.

Dry, windy days — an average of nine days with winds over 40 mph in the first weeks of the year — have been recorded, and newspaper reports of wildfires burning and threatening homes and property have been common.

Recent snowfall has been welcome, but the outlook is still a concern, especially considering wind trends so far in 2014.

"Most of Nebraska has recorded less than a quarter-inch of rainfall in January and, without significant snow cover to compress fire fuel materials such as grass and other vegetation, the wind can quickly and easily carry a spark across a yard or field," said Casey McCoy, Nebraska Forest Service wildland fire training manager. "It's important to stay alert and be prepared when conditions are favorable for fires."

According to Shawn Jacobs, meteorologist with the National Weather Service Weather Forecast Office in North Platte, average sustained wind speeds are higher so far than any year since 2009 and wind gusts meeting red flag warning criteria are up more than 30 percent this year. "Considering the atmosphere usually decouples at night and the wind goes calm, it's pretty impressive for January," Jacobs said.

After a record-breaking year in 2012 and record low numbers of wildland fires reported in 2013, 2014 appears to be shaping up as a busy one for Nebraska's fire departments. Fire has historically proven to be a valuable tool in land management, but under the conditions that exist in Nebraska so far this year, it can be a nuisance at best, a deadly threat at worst. Unfortunately, each year thousands of acres and millions of dollars are lost to careless burning practices. The Nebraska Forest Service urges Nebraskans to be careful with fire and offers these tips:

— Check local, county or state laws on open burning. Nebraska has a full-time burn ban that can only be waived by obtaining a permit from your local fire department. Be sure to notify the fire department when you start burning.

— Check weather conditions and forecasts, not just for the day of the burn but for the days following the burn and be flexible. If weather conditions are unfavorable or forecast to be unfavorable, one of the hardest decisions you might need to make is to postpone burning to a later date.

— Look up, look down and look around. Protect buildings and fences and watch out for power poles, power lines and tree branches.

— Build a firebreak to contain a fire in the area to be burned. Even if your burn is just a small brush pile, reduce or remove the grass and other fuel around it. And leave at least 30 feet of separation between your burn and homes, outbuildings and other structures.

— Keep firefighting tools, such as rakes, shovels and garden hoses close at hand for small fires. Discs, plows and large sprayers are needed for large fires. Have plenty of help.

— Remember, fires can grow extremely fast. A small fire can rapidly become a raging wildfire with a gust of wind. If a fire appears to be getting away, call your fire department immediately. Never leave a fire unattended; check it multiple times after it appears to be out.

— Burn piles can hold heat for weeks as they continue to consume remaining fuel. If the forecast includes dry conditions and wind, check any piles burned recently to ensure there is no heat remaining. Pour water on it, stir the ashes and pour more water on it.

— Be certain all burning materials such as fireplace ashes and cigarettes are completely out before moving them outside.

— Be very careful with anything that can create a heat source such as welding or cutting equipment. One small spark outdoors on a windy day can lead to a fast moving fire.

Nebraska's more than 14,000 career and volunteer firefighters are the state's primary wildland fire suppression force.

"These dedicated members of the community are your neighbors, friends and fellow farmers and ranchers," McCoy said. "One careless mistake can result in many hours away from jobs and families for them. They willingly put themselves in harm's way with no expectation of anything in return, so please keep them in mind the next time the wind picks up and Nebraska fuels are primed to burn."

These tips are condensed from the Nebraska Forest Service publication "Fire Prevention on the Farm and Ranch." This and many other wildland fire and fire prevention publications are available online at nfs.unl.edu.

Exciting weekend for sports

It hit 40 degrees today and the forecast is for 60 tomorrow! What a change! And New England is supposed to get even more snow, while California is in drought. I also heard somewhere that it's been flooding in England. And, of course, we know it's been warm in Sochi. BUT, they have plenty of snow from last winter under thermal blankets; that is amazing.

Amazing, too, are some of the dare devil events. We were watching the ski races yesterday; preceded by ski jumping. Then there were the skateboarders, and the half pipe, and the two man bob sled. Those people are crazy! Actually, the ice dancing got that way, too, with one of our American guys literally crashing into a wall.

And I think the older Russian has had something like thirteen surgeries? It's hard for me to imagine that kind of motivation and desire.

The weekend was actually full of amazing stories, especially the "Trifecta" in Nebraska basketball on Sunday. I think we are getting used to seeing our Husker women win their games, but the men have not been very consistent, making that win over a No. 9-ranked team even more special. And I'm guessing Villanova thought that perfect game Creighton had against them was some kind of fluke; yesterday, they found out it wasn't.

Words do have an effect, I'm sure. I know coaches who like to use profanity to inspire, and in truth, I hear Coach Miles did deliver a "paint peeler" speech in the locker room at half time a couple of weeks ago. But yesterday, as both teams waited for the TV cameras, he told them he believed in them and believed they could win. He claims it was a Gene Hackman moment straight out of Hoosiers. I think I'm going to have to rent that movie and watch it again; they beat Butler in the gymnasium from that movie last week.

And, when Coach Yori went down right after half time, the assistant took over and told the gals to "get their swag on," so they did! They played the second half for Connie. To make it even better, Jordan Hooper set a new record for threes. In fact, her total scoring passed Maurice Ivy's. On Saturday eve, Jess Shepard passed Maurice's high school scoring numbers. And Doug McDermott passed Larry Bird's! As I said, it was just an amazing weekend.

Now, comes high school subdistricts for girls, followed by state wrestling, and then boys' basketball. Meanwhile, college teams are dreaming of NCAA invitations. And, somewhere out there, the pros are playing basketball, too, but who has time to worry about them? We are heading to March, and you know what that means. I know, this isn't a sports column, but it's hard not to be excited for what the rest of the season will bring. Let's hope our home teams can continue to be healthy and play hard!

Pesticide applicator training, tree pruning information available

Just a reminder that Private pesticide applicator certification will be held at the Wayne Fire Hall this Thursday at 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. and this Friday at the Pender Fire Hall at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Next Monday, Feb. 24, there will be pesticide applicator training at the First Nebraska Bank in Emerson at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. and on Wednesday, Feb. 26 at the Fire Hall in Newcastle at 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. Please make sure you bring your bar coded letter with you.

If you are interested in pruning your trees, particularly your fruit trees for better production, there will be a tree pruning workshop on Saturday, Feb. 22 in South Sioux City beginning at the Public Library. Later we will go out to some local fruit trees for some hands-on work.

Believe it or not, it is shade tree pruning season but do not prune a tree unless there is a good reason. Pruning creates tree wounds so have a good reason to prune before wounding. Pruning also removes stored food, and photosynthetic tissue needed for food production.

Ideally, needed shade tree pruning should take place beginning three to four years after a tree is planted, but before the tree has been in the ground for 10 years, to promote strong structure.

If too much pruning is done the first few years after planting, this will stress a young tree. If a tree is not pruned until after it has been growing on a site for 10 years or longer, it is likely to be difficult to correct structural issues, such as double trunks, weak branch attachments, or tightly criss-crossed branches. After 10 years, pruning wounds are also much larger. If a tree has been planted in the last 4 to 8 years, now is the time to take a close look for pruning that is needed.

Pruning now before new growth starts this spring will not stress the trees as much, and allow the tree to recover when the new growth begins shortly. For more information on how to correctly prune trees go to the Nebraska Forest Service website nfs.unl.edu/treecare.

Wait until spring, typically about mid-April, to prune tender plants like roses and suffrutescent shrubs. These types of shrubs retain a woody base from which new growth occurs each spring. Examples include Caryopteris (Blue False Spirea) and Buddleia (Butterfly bush). Wait until after these shrubs begin to grow before pruning them.

This allows time to determine how far back the shrub has died that year and how much dead wood needs to be removed. Waiting also helps to avoid additional injury if pruning stimulates the plant to begin growth too early in spring.

4-H News

COUNTRY CLASSICS 4-H Club

The Country Classics 4-H Club met Febr. 9 at the REA Building.

President Emma Loberg called the meeting to order and the Pledge of Allegiance and 4-H Pledge were led by Flag Leader Henry McCalla.

Secretary Anna Loberg read previous minutes, which were approved. Treasurer Beau Bowers gave the treasurer's report which was also approved. Historian Sylvia Jager gave an update on pictures that were taken.

New business was discussed including: theme booth, 4-H wreath workshop, Consumer Challenge on March 22, Poultry photography contest and the special garden project.

The meeting was adjourned and the next meeting will be Sunday, March 9 at 1 p.m. at the REA Building.

Presentations were given by Elizabeth, Faith, Sam, and Brandon along with Robotic demonstrations by Ray and Henry.

Crop scouts training to be held

Crop scouts will learn how to better manage corn and soybean pests during a University of Nebraska-Lincoln Extension Crop Scout Training for Pest Managers program March 6.

The training provides in-depth and detailed information from university specialists.

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m., and the workshop is from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. at the university's Agricultural Research and Development Center near Mead.

Cost is $135. Fees include lunch, refreshment breaks, workshop materials and instruction manual. Registrants should preregister to reserve their seat and to ensure workshop materials are available the day of the training session. Updated reference materials are included in this year's take-home instruction manual.

Topics include: how corn and soybean plants grow and develop; soybean and corn insect management; insect quiz; identifying weeds — plant morphology; using a key to identify weed seedlings; crop diseases and quiz; and nutrient deficiencies.

Certified Crop Advisor continuing education credits are available with 4 in pest management, 1 in crop management and .5 in fertility/nutrient management.

For more information or to register, contact UNL Extension at (402) 624-8030, (800) 529-8030, e-mail Keith Glewen at kglewen1@unl.edu, or online at ardc.unl.edu/training.shtml.

AN UPDATE FROM DAVE

Dave Olson - "Things are starting to shape up."

Instead of just concrete footings, our location east of town is at a point where you can sense the width and depth of the new building. All steel is up, and so are the interior sheets. We still have about 22,000 feet that still needs to be put up, but you can see the progress that we have made.

The main shop is up, and we've made visits to other facilities in Minnesota to check out things there. These trips are giving us ideas about our own place — where we want our work benches, how we want our parts set up, etc., etc. We're figuring out what we like and don't like.

As we progress, we continue to work out of the same locations that we have been. For service, you can call 402-833-0088. For parts or sales, we can be reached at 402-375-3325.

We also scheduled a couple of workshops for the month of February. On Wednesday, we held a planter clinic. Next week, on February 26, we will host a tractor clinic at 1 p.m. in the meeting room of the Fire Hall.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

The City of Wayne, Nebraska, will receive sealed bids until 2:00 p.m., CDT, on the 25th day of February, 2014, at the office of the City Clerk, 306 Pearl Street, P.O. Box 8, Wayne, Nebraska 68787, to relocate two fields at the Summer Sports Complex north of the existing locations, to reconstruct the infields, and to create a common space between the fields.

At that time, all bids will be opened and read aloud in the Council Chambers at the Wayne City Hall.

Specifications may be obtained from the City Clerk's office between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The City of Wayne has and reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

The successful bidder shall supply a performance and maintenance bond executed by a corporate surety licensed in the State of Nebraska in an amount equal to 100 percent of the contract price as part of his contract.

All work is to be guaranteed for a period of one year following final acceptance. Partial payments will be made in City warrants, monthly, on the basis of ninety percent of the amount of work done and materials supplied. Final payment will be made within thirty days after completion of the work and acceptance by the Owner.

No bid may be withdrawn without the consent of the City of Wayne. The City agrees to make a selection as soon as possible after the letting, based on price, warranties and any other pertinent facts, and to enter into a contract with the bidder who submits the best bid proposal.

No person of the City of Wayne shall, on the ground of race, color or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity.

Any questions concerning this request for bids should be directed to Alex Koch, Recreation Services Director, at 402-375-4803.

The regular meeting of the Wayne Board of Education was held at Wayne Jr/Sr High School, Wayne, Nebraska, on Monday, February 10, 2014 at 5:05 p.m. Notice of the meeting and place of agenda was posted at Wayne Community Schools, Wayne Public Library, Wayne Post Office, and online: meeting.nasblne.org. A copy of the Nebraska Open Meeting Act was displayed for the public to read. The Pledge of Allegiance was recited.

Roll Call & Action on Absences: The following Board members answered to roll call: Mrs. Wendy Consoli, Mr. Mark Evetovich, Mr. Rod Garwood, Mr. Ken Jorgensen, Dr. Carolyn Linster and Dr. Jeryl Nelson.

Adoption of the Agenda: The Board may enter Executive session to discuss any matter for which executive session is lawful and appropriate. Motion by Consoli, second by Nelson to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried.

Consent Agenda: Approval of Minutes and Financial Claims Motion by Consoli, second by Evetovich to approve the minutes from the Regular Meeting on January 13, 2014, and Financial Claims as presented. Motion carried.

Personnel: Teacher Resignation- Motion by Jorgensen, second by Garwood to accept the resignation of Marcus Brown as High School Band Teacher effective at the end of 2013-14 school year with regrets. Motion carried.

Communication from the Public: Reports and Information: Gifts: No Gifts.

Requested Presentations: Presentation at the Honor Coffee by Mrs. Tompkins and students in the First Lego League Team- Team Twisters.

Administration: Written reports were provided by Administration. Copies of their reports are available at the District Office upon request or online: meeting.nasblne.org Principals Appraisals- Mr. Lenihan stated the appraisals of the four administrators are complete. He spoke on the evaluation tool that he used to complete the appraisals. Accreditation Update- Mr. Lenihan had a handout for the Board to review for the five standards and the stakeholder surveys. Most of our staff development time in January was spent on this. In March, Mr. Lenihan will bring all necessary documentation to the Board prior to final submission to AdvanCED.

Project Update- HVAC and Track projects are out for bid. Bid opening is Thursday, February 27th at 2:00 p.m. Facility Study, Mr. Carlson has spent a day here talking with staff, Board Members and the Foundation Board. He plans on spending another day talking with Elementary staff. The goal is to have the study complete by the end of the school year and present at the June Board of Education meeting. The new elementary boiler is up and running. It was installed in a manner that we can switch back to the old boiler that works if needed. Mr. Lenihan and Mr. Meyer do not feel the need to purchase another boiler at this time as the old boiler runs sufficiently, and will be a good back up for now.

Technology Update- Mr. Larsen and two teachers and two students visited three schools that are presently using Chrome books. Mr. Hanson stated that the chrome books have been working out good. Teachers can view students work, and students can share documents. A student spoke that she is very thankful for the use of the Chrome book and she enjoyed traveling to other schools to get their opinions and to see how they used their Chrome books.

Custodial Duties and Staff- Mr. Lenihan stated that the school has advertised in the paper for a custodial position. We have not filled the position that was vacated several years ago in the maintenance department.

Legislative Update- Mr. Lenihan shared with the Board the most recent a pertinent legislative bills the legislation is working on.

High School Principal- Mr. Hanson stated NESa testing in the high school was done. Prior to testing Mr. Hanson met with students to emphasize the importance of doing their very best. Every student was given a free breakfast that morning of testing. Students did a great job on the test. Mr. Hanson also congratulated Mrs. Anderson on being chosen as Outstanding Educator at the Chamber Banquet. Mr. Hanson is looking into having a drug dog come into the school. He thinks this will be a good deterrent to prevent students bringing drugs into the school. He will use the appropriate periodical to notify parents when he decides to do this.

Special Education Director- Mrs. Bear stated the Early Childhood Fair was held January 31. Mrs. Bear said the Special Education Training will be taking part in Sibshop training in June in hopes of establishing a local Sibshop group in Wayne. Sibshop is sibling support project is the only national effort dedicated to the interests of over six million brothers and sisters of people with special health, mental health and developmental needs.

Elementary School Principal- Mrs. Pickinpaugh stated the Kindergarten Penguin Parade was a huge success. Chris Good shared more information for using Pads.

Junior High Principal/AD- Congratulations to Mr. Ruhl on his nomination as 2014 Outstanding Coaches Recognition. Mr. Ruhl said they have discussed ways to help improve reading comprehension and to develop classes outside of language arts to focus on reading. Meeting with Mrs. Hyspe, Mrs. Ruhl, Mrs. Brogie, and Mrs. Hill, they have developed a new Science class for seventh grade called Science 7+. The idea is to use differentiated science instruction with an emphasis on reading skills to help students who are 1 to 2 grade levels below the seventh grade reading level to improve comprehension. The class is limited to twelve to fourteen students the first year. This is a pilot and if successful we plan to look at other disciplines, for example social studies, in the future. Subdistricts are starting. Wayne is hosting C2-4 girls and boys basketball.

Board Committees:

Foundation and Community Relations: Rocky Ruhl, Ken Jorgensen, Rod Garwood, Carolyn Linster, Mark Lenihan and Lindsay McLaughlin- Mr. Jorgensen stated the foundation committee met with Mr. Carlson and they are planning an Alumni Banquet sometime this year.

Curriculum and Americanism- Wendy Consoli, Carolyn Linster, Jeryl Nelson and Misty Bear- No Report.

Facility/Safety- Travis Meyer, Mark Evetovich, Rod Garwood, Ken Jorgensen and Mark Hanson- No Report

Policy/Title IX- Mark Evetovich, Wendy Consoli, Jeryl Nelson and Jill Pickinpaugh- Need to review the Bullying Policy and compare it with other schools.

Finance (Inc. Transportation & Budget) - Mark Lenihan, Wendy Consoli, Rod Garwood, Ken Jorgensen, and Rochelle Nelson- No Report Negotiations- Jeryl Nelson, Carolyn Linster, Mark Evetovich, and Mark Lenihan- No Report.

Out for Honor Coffee @ 6:26 p.m. In from Honor Coffee @ 7:02 p.m.

Action Items Old Business: No Old Business. New Business: First Reading of 2014-15 School Calendar

Motion by Jorgensen, second by Nelson to approve the first reading of the 2014-15 school calendar as presented. Motion carried. Discussion: Mr. Lenihan stated he would like to have a moratorium in July with no summer activities.

CARROLL VILLAGE BOARD PROCEEDINGS
 Carroll, Nebraska
 February 12, 2014

Board of Trustees of the Village of Carroll met in regular session on the above date with the following members present: Mark Tietz, Scott Hurlbert, and Diana Davis. Board member Michael Staub arrived later, and Board member Kirby Hall was absent. Also present were Nicolas Kemnitz, EOC, Clayton Bletcher, Rich Koenig, State of Nebraska, Dale Bohac, JEO Consulting Group, Adam Junck, water system operator, Jesse Milligan, maintenance, and Jamie Muhs, Village clerk. Mark Tietz, Chairperson, opened the meeting and pointed out the open meetings act.

Mark Tietz opened the public hearing on the One and Six Year Street Plan for Carroll, NE. The current plan for Carroll, NE, is maintenance; there are no projects planned. A motion was made by Scott Hurlbert and seconded by Diana Davis to approve the One and Six Year Street Plan for 2014. Roll call vote. Aye-3. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Mark Tietz closed the public hearing on the One and Six Year Street Plan for Carroll, NE. Motion was made by Diana Davis and seconded by Scott Hurlbert to approve the minutes of the January 8th meeting. Roll call vote. Aye-3. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Bills presented were as follows: Jamie Muhs, salary, 400.00; George Ellyson, salary, 25.00; Irene Inman, salary, 58.00; Jesse Milligan, salary, 450.00; Jesse Milligan, mileage, 27.69; Adam Junck, salary, 550.00; Adam Junck, mileage, 350.87; Waste Connections of NE., sanitation, 2217.46; Northeast NPPD, 1186.01; Eastern Nebraska Telephone, E911, 165.77; Eastern Nebraska Telephone, lagoon, 41.85; American Broadband, 105.12; Jamie Muhs (office supplies), 126.56; Farmer's State Bank, loan, 334.40; Nebraska Dept of Revenue, 336.53;

Nebraska Public Health Environmental Lab., water, 49.00; City of Wayne, 126.67; Wayne Herald, 108.93; Appears, 172.20; Bomgaars, 48.45; Kevin Davis (snow removal), 100.00; Leseberg Masonry and Construction, 945.00; Carroll Plumbing & Heating, 97.50; CopyWrite, 13.39

Motion was made by Scott Hurlbert and seconded by Diana Davis to approve payment of bills as presented. Roll call vote. Aye-4. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Nicolas Kemnitz presented Hazard Mitigation Plan information as required by the State of Nebraska. The Board answered questions regarding past and future Hazardous situations that impact the Village.

The Board discussed a rate decrease from Waste Connections for the Village of Carroll. A motion to approve the decrease in sanitation rates for the Village was made by Scott Hurlbert and seconded by Michael Staub. Roll call vote. Aye-4. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Rich Koenig from the State of Nebraska and Dale Bohac from JEO Consulting Group were present to discuss progress on the north well 25-1. Rich Koenig informed the Board that they would need to decide if the Village would choose to be on permanent chlorination distribution. If the Village chooses to stop treatment of the water system, the Village of Carroll's water tests must pass testing. If the water system cannot pass testing, the State would require the Village to be on permanent treatment. If the Village chooses to permanently treat the water, new treatment equipment would need to be installed at both Village wells. The Board asked for time to discuss permanent chlorination and the issue was tabled until the March 12th meeting.

Adam Junck informed the Board the water tower was due to be inspected this spring.

A motion to return the Community Hall deposit to Deb Finn was made by Scott Hurlbert and seconded by Michael Staub. Roll call vote. Aye-4. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Outstanding utility bills were discussed. It was decided that collection letters would be sent out with a shut off date of February 26, 2014.

Mark Tietz informed the Board about a new paging system for the Carroll Fire Department. The new system will take the 911 pager call and transfer it to cellphone as a call or text for volunteers out of the paging area. Other villages in the area are currently using this system. The cost for this system is $650 for the first year and $600 each following year. The Fire Department is asking for a donation to help pay for the new paging system. The issue was tabled until the March 12th meeting.

A motion to adjourn the meeting was made by Diana Davis and seconded by Michael Staub. Roll call vote. Aye-4. Nay-0. Motion carried.

Meeting adjourned at 9:52 pm.

Next regular meeting is scheduled for 7:00 pm at the Community Hall on March 12th, 2014.

Employees at Providence Medical Center showed their support in the fight against heart disease in women by wearing red during the first Friday in February.

PMC observes 'Wear Red Day'

Staff at Providence Medical Center in Wayne were all decked out in red on Feb. 7 in honor of Wear Red Day, sponsored by the American Heart Association.

This year is the 10th anniversary of Wear Red Day, which is always observed on the first Friday of February, a day set aside to bring attention to heart disease in women.

According to information provided by Providence Medical Center:

- Heart disease has been called the silent killer because it often has no noticeable symptoms. It is more deadly than all forms of cancer combined. It is NOT just "an old man's disease."

Heart disease is #1 killer of women.

Some healthy lifestyle tips to lower the risk of heart disease include:

Lose weight, check your cholesterol, exercise, improve your diet and last, if you smoke - quit, and last but not least, consult with your doctor about developing a heart health plan.

"All of us at Providence Medical Center in Wayne encourage everyone to know their cardiovascular risk and take the steps necessary to insure a long, healthy lifestyle," said Terri Davis, RN, Cardiac Rehab Supervisor.

Get Moving: Easy tips to get active!

Information provided by the American Heart Association

Take the first step. Start with walking! Why? It's easy, it works and it pays!

And visit StartWalkingNow.org to find tools and resources to get you on the right path to a healthier lifestyle.

It's Easy

Walking is the simplest way to start and continue a fitness journey.

Walking costs nothing to get started.

Walking has the lowest dropout rate of any type of exercise.

Walking is easy and safe.

It Works

Studies show that for every hour of walking, life expectancy may increase by two hours.

Walking for as few as 30 minutes a day provides heart health benefits.

Walking is the single most effective form of exercise to achieve heart health.

It Pays

Physically active people save $500 a year in health care costs.

Employers can save $16 for every $1 they spend on health and wellness.

Fitness programs have reduced employer health care costs by 20-55 percent.

Reducing just one health risk in the workplace increases productivity by 9 percent.

Reducing one health risk decreases absenteeism by 2 percent.

Walking isn't your only option. Try these tips for increasing physical activity wherever you are. You may be surprised at all your opportunities to increase your physical activity every day. Consider carrying this list with you for one day. Check off the ways you notice that you could increase your physical activity.

Tips for Increasing Physical Activity

At Home

It's convenient, comfortable and safe to work out at home. It allows your children to see you being active, which sets a good example for them. You can combine exercise with other activities, such as watching TV. If you buy exercise equipment, it's a one-time expense and other family members can use it. It's easy to have short bouts of activity several times a day. Try these tips:

- Do housework yourself instead of hiring someone else to do it.

- Work in the garden or mow the grass. Using a riding mower doesn't count! Rake leaves, prune, dig and pick up trash.

- Go out for a short walk before breakfast, after dinner or both! Start with 5-10 minutes and work up to 30 minutes.

- Walk or bike to the corner store instead of driving.

- When walking, pick up the pace from leisurely to brisk. Choose a hilly route. When watching TV, sit up instead of lying on the sofa. Or stretch. Better yet, spend a few minutes pedaling on your stationary bicycle while watching TV. Throw away your video remote control. Instead of asking someone to bring you a drink, get up off the couch and get it yourself.

- Stand up while talking on the telephone.

- Walk the dog.

- Park farther away at the shopping mall and walk the extra distance. Wear your walking shoes and sneak in an extra lap or two around the mall.

- Stretch to reach items in high places and squat or bend to look at items at floor level.

- Keep exercise equipment repaired and use it.

At work

Most of us have sedentary jobs, and work takes up a significant part of our day. What can you do to increase your physical activity during the work day? Why not...

- Brainstorm project ideas with a coworker while taking a walk.

- Create an exercise accountability partnership.

- Walk during business calls when you don't need to reference important documents.

- Stand while talking on the telephone.

- Walk down the hall to speak with someone rather than using the telephone.

- Take the stairs instead of the elevator. Or get off a few floors early and take the stairs the rest of the way.

- Walk while waiting for the plane at the airport.

- Stay at hotels with fitness centers or swimming pools and use them while on business trips.

- Take along a jump rope or a resistance band in your suitcase when you travel. Jump and do calisthenics in your hotel room.

- Download some audio fitness coaching.

- Participate in or start a recreation league at your company.

- Form a sports team to raise money for charity events.

- Join a fitness center. Work out before or after work or drop by for a noon workout.

- Schedule exercise time on your business calendar and treat it as any other important appointment.

- Walk around your building for a break during the work day or during lunch.

- Some have mastered the art of typing while on a treadmill by securing the laptop to the base. Be creative!

At play

Play and recreation are important for good health. Look for opportunities such as these to be active and have fun at the same time:

- Plan family outings and vacations that include physical activity (hiking, backpacking, swimming, etc.)

- See the sights in new cities by walking, jogging or bicycling.

- Make a date with a friend to enjoy your favorite physical activities. Do them regularly.

- Play your favorite music while exercising; enjoy something that motivates you.

- Dance with someone or by yourself. Take dancing lessons. Hit the dance floor on fast numbers instead of slow ones.

- Join a recreational club that emphasizes physical activity.

- At the beach, sit and watch the waves instead of lying flat. Better yet, get up and walk, run or fly a kite.

- When golfing, walk instead of using a cart.

- Play singles tennis or racquetball instead of doubles.

- At a picnic, join in on badminton instead of croquet.

- At the lake, rent a rowboat instead of a canoe.

What is heart disease?

Heart disease – also called cardiovascular disease and coronary heart disease – is a simple term used to describe several problems related to plaque buildup in the walls of the arteries, or atherosclerosis. As the plaque builds up, the arteries narrow, making it more difficult for blood to flow and creating a risk for heart attack or stroke.

Other types of heart disease include heart failure, an irregular heartbeat – or arrhythmia – and heart valve problems.

Arrhythmia

The term "arrhythmia" refers to any change from the normal sequence of electrical impulses. The electrical impulses may happen too fast, too slowly, or erratically – causing the heart to beat too fast, too slowly, or erratically. When the heart doesn't beat properly, it can't pump blood effectively. When the heart doesn't pump blood effectively, the lungs, brain and all other organs can't work properly and may shut down or be damaged.

Heart Attack

Most people survive their first heart attack and return to their normal lives to enjoy many more years of productive activity. But having a heart attack does mean you need to make some changes in your life. Your doctor will advise you of medications and lifestyle changes according to how badly your heart was damaged and what degree of heart disease you have. It's up to you to follow your doctor's recommendations to make a full recovery.

Cardiac Arrest

Signs of cardiac arrest: It strikes suddenly and without warning.

- Sudden loss of responsiveness

- No response to tapping on shoulders.

- Does nothing when you ask if he is okay.

- No normal breathing

- The victim does not take a normal breath when you tilt the head up.

- Check for at least five seconds.

If these signs of cardiac arrest are present:

- Call 9-1-1 for emergency medical services.

- Get an automated external defibrillator (AED) if one is available.

- Begin CPR immediately

- Continue until professional emergency medical services arrive.

- Use the AED as soon as it arrives.

If two people are available to help, one should begin CPR immediately while the other calls 9-1-1 and finds an AED.

Cardiac arrest is reversible in most victims if it's treated within a few minutes. This first became clear in the early 1960s with the development of coronary care units. Electrical devices that shocked the heart were discovered to turn an abnormally rapid rhythm into a normal one.

Before then, heart attack victims had a 30 percent chance of dying if they got to the hospital alive; 50 percent of these deaths were due to cardiac arrest. In-hospital survival after cardiac arrest in heart attack patients improved dramatically when the DC defibrillator and bedside monitoring were developed. Later, it also became clear that cardiac arrest could be reversed outside a hospital by properly staffed emergency rescue teams trained to give CPR and defibrillate.

Immediate treatment is essential to survival of cardiac arrest. The problem isn't whether cardiac arrest can be reversed but reaching the victim in time to do so. The American Heart Association supports implementing a "chain of survival" to rescue people who suffer cardiac arrest. The chain consists of:

- Early recognition of the emergency and activation of the emergency medical services (EMS).

- Early defibrillation when indicated.

Interesting Facts About The Human Heart

1. The average adult heart beats 72 times a minute; 100,000 times a day; 3,600,000 times a year; and 2.5 billion times during a lifetime.
2. Though weighing only 11 ounces on average, a healthy heart pumps 2,000 gallons of blood through 60,000 miles of blood vessels each day.
3. A kitchen faucet would need to be turned on all the way for at least 45 years to equal the amount of blood pumped by the heart in an average lifetime.
4. The volume of blood pumped by the heart can vary over a wide range, from five to 30 liters per minute.
5. Every day, the heart creates enough energy to drive a truck 20 miles. In a lifetime, that is equivalent to driving to the moon and back.
6. Because the heart has its own electrical impulse, it can continue to beat even when separated from the body, as long as it has an adequate supply of oxygen.
7. The fetal heart rate is approximately twice as fast as an adult's, at about 150 beats per minute. By the time a fetus is 12 weeks old, its heart pumps an amazing 60 pints of blood a day.
8. The heart pumps blood to almost all of the body's 75 trillion cells. Only the corneas receive no blood supply.
9. During an average lifetime, the heart will pump nearly 1.5 million barrels of blood—enough to fill 200 train tank cars.
10. Five percent of blood supplies the heart, 15-20 percent goes to the brain and central nervous system, and 22 percent goes to the kidneys.
11. The "thump-thump" of a heartbeat is the sound made by the four valves of the heart closing.
12. The heart does the most physical work of any muscle during a lifetime. The power output of the heart ranges from 1-5 watts. While the quadriceps can produce 100 watts for a few minutes, an output of one watt for 80 years is equal to 2.5 gigajoules.
13. The heart begins beating at four weeks after conception and does not stop until death.
14. A newborn baby has about one cup of blood in circulation. An adult human has about four to five quarts which the heart pumps to all the tissues and to and from the lungs in about one minute while beating 75 times.

Healthy hearts

Students at St. Mary's Elementary School learned about ways to keep their hearts healthy during February - Heart Month. Among the activities they took part in during Physical Education classes was jumping rope. Mark Evetovich, PE instructor, shared with his students a number of heart facts and explained the importance of exercise.

The pressure created in the heart during a heartbeat is enough to squirt blood a distance of thirty feet.

Blood takes about 20 seconds to circulate through the entire human body.

Electrical impulses in the heart muscle (the myocardium) are what cause the heart to beat

The first successful heart transplant was performed in Cape Town, South Africa in 1967.

Most heart attacks occur between the hours of 8 and 9 AM with Monday being the most "popular" day.

Every day 2,700 people die of heart disease.

The risk of heart disease for inactive people is double that of people who get regular exercise.

To reduce the chances of heart disease the American Heart Association recommends at least 30 minutes of moderate exercise on most days of the week.

Regular exercise can strengthen your heart and cardiovascular system and improve circulation, helping your body use oxygen better and lower blood pressure.

Care for Children

Not as much is known about care for children who experience cardiac arrest, but critical elements include managing temperature, glucose, blood pressure, ventilation and cardiac output. Survival is higher in hospitals with specialized pediatric staff.
