State senators talk gambling, marijuana, taxes

District 16 Sen. Lydia Brasch discusses the topic of expanded gambling as District 17 Sen. Dave Bloomfield of Hoskins listens during the 23rd annual Legislative Forum held Friday at Wayne State College.

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

Three Nebraska state senators representing northeast Nebraska took part in the 23rd annual Legislative Forum at Wayne State College on Friday.

Senator Lydia Brasch, representing District 16; Dave Bloomfield, representing District 17; and Jim Scheer, representing District 19; took part in the forum, which included a number of area residents, as well as students from Wayne State College, Ponca High School and Wayne High School.

Dr. Chuck Parker, WSC professor, moderated the event, which included a time for each of the senators to give a brief history of their legislative service and a question-and-answer session.

Topics covered included casino gambling in Nebraska, income and property taxes, legalization of marijuana, same-sex marriage and Medicaid expansion.

All three senators told their audience they were not in favor of expanding gambling in the state, noting that "it affects families and can ruin lives. It is not an economic developer for the state."

Sen. Bloomfield spoke on his opinions in regard to property taxes, noting that "a study has been done and property taxes in Nebraska are too high. We have the third highest property taxes in the country."

He said that legislative bills to reduce property valuations have been passed in the Unicameral.

Sen. Scheer said he feels "lowering valuations won't work. It will raise tax levies in rural areas. If we reduce income taxes, we will need to reduce spending."

On the topic of legalizing marijuana, as Colorado has done recently, all three senators noted that while tax revenues have been generated, "there are lots of problems, and it is still against federal law."

Scheer noted that crime has gone up in areas of Colorado where marijuana is being sold because the sales are all done in cash.

"Nebraska has issues with the sale of marijuana because we are a border state. The sale of marijuana also creates a number of other social issues," Scheer said.

"I'm opposed," Bloomfield said of same-sex marriage.

Sen. Brasch said she felt marriage was based on a religious foundation between a man and woman but feels all individuals have a "right to choose who we love."

Scheer said same-sex marriage was a civil union, and the state shouldn't "discriminate in regard to health insurance. This is a personal choice and those who choose to live this way have a very hard lifestyle."

He too felt marriage is a religious institution.

The final topic discussed during the forum was that of video

Team responds to sexual assault, aids effort to help victims

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

It is a crime that is being dragged out of the shadows – sexual assault.

Studies have shown that 1 in 6 women and 1 in 33 men in America are survivors of a completed or attempted sexual assault. More than 9 in 10 victims are attacked by someone they are acquainted with, from a family member to a co-worker.

April is Sexual Assault Awareness Month, and a combined effort of local health professionals, advocates and law enforcement are working to help those whose lives have been shattered by the violent act of sexual assault to bring justice to those who attack them and help them recover, both physically and emotionally, from the wounds that are left behind.

In 2001, Providence Medical Center put together one of the area's first sexual assault response teams (SART) to help victims get treatment for their injuries and work with social workers and law enforcement to deal with the aftermath of the crime they were a party to.

The idea for the creation of the SART came after a rather frustrating night in the emergency room after a sexual assault was reported, according to Jill Belt, a mental health practitioner at PMC.

"We did an evidence collection in our emergency room, and it took a very long time," she recalled. "We all interviewed the person separately, then the police interviewed them, and it took all night. We've gone from that to a process that takes about an hour or so."

Now, when a patient who has been sexually assaulted comes into the hospital, the SART is called into action, starting with a general assessment from a registered nurse.

"The floor nurse doesn't do any questioning, but they will handle some of the medical needs, such as stitches or X-rays or taking care of any injuries," Carrie Fertig, registered nurse and PMC's sexual assault specialist, said.

The victim is brought to a private room

City talks TIF at Council meeting

By CLARA OSTEN
Of The Herald

"Using tax benefits to eliminate blight" is what Tax Increment Financing (TIF) is capable of accomplishing, according to a presentation heard during Tuesday's meeting of the Wayne City Council.

Mike Bacon, an attorney in Gothenburg for 34 years, spoke of his extensive work with TIF in Gothenburg and throughout the state.

He said he has been involved with more than 200 TIF projects in at least 60 cities totalling more than $500 million.

Bacon went through the steps necessary to receive TIF financing on a project, including the need to determine that an area is blighted, the fact that a city attempting to TIF a project must have a Comprehensive Plan and the need to pledge the real estate taxes for up to 15 years to pay for the project.

He also listed the parts of a project that are eligible for TIF funds and those not eligible.

He noted that "TIF will not raise taxes, and TIF projects will help spur growth in a community. TIF is not tax forgiveness."

TIF is to be used for projects that would not be financially feasible without the funds. Examples of TIF-eligible projects include bringing new businesses to town, helping with start-up or expansion of businesses and keeping a business in town.

TIF projects can also be used for single family housing, subdivision development, downtown facade improvement and enhancing employment in areas that are not blighted.

Bacon praised the work done by the city of Wayne and concluded his presentation by saying "Wayne has done an outstanding job with the use of TIF to create housing."

At F&M Bank, it's all about change

By KATIE KASL
Of The Herald

When the doors to Farmers & Merchants State Bank of Wayne first opened on Nov. 16, 1990, the business had a name, a building from which to operate and a charter – the third to be established in a town that already had two.

Beyond that, there wasn't much else. "We started at zero," Tim Keller, who currently serves as the bank's president, said.

Twenty-four years ago, he was the only loan officer at a brand-new-to-Wayne business at 321 Main Street. While there were no customers, no loans and no reputation, Keller did have a goal: to change all that.

And change he did.

In the 24 years Tim Keller has been with F&M Bank, he's seen the business change and grow to accommodate its customers' many needs. "There's nothing permanent except change," he said.

PMC warns of Lifeline scam

If you are a subscriber to the Lifeline emergency system, you need to be aware of a scam that is going on with the medical alert system.

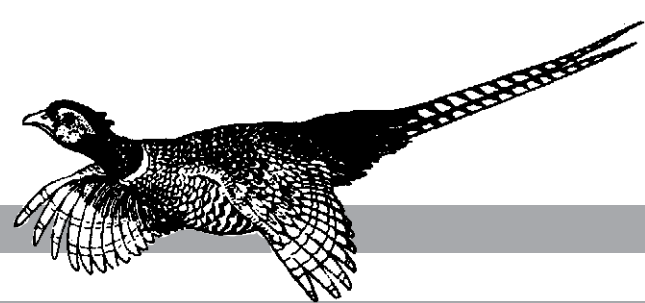

"Providence Medical has received a call from one of our Lifeline subscribers informing us that Phillips Lifeline has sent him a box and fedEx label asking him to return his Lifeline," Sharyl Luedeke, PMC Lifeline Supervisor, told The Wayne Herald. "I have called Lifeline and they state that PMC is a home-base provider and that this is a scam. Providence Medical Center is in the process of contacting all of our subscribers by phone now and informing them of this scam. Please, do not send Lifelines back. Again, this is a scam."

The Lifeline medical alert system provides quick 24-hours-a-day, 7-days-a-week access and is provided by PMC to nearly 140 residents in the area.

Campaign signs don't belong on highway right-of-way

The Nebraska Department of Roads (NDOR) is reminding Nebraskans that it is against the law to erect political campaign signs, or any signs, on state highway right-of-way.

Various sizes of signs often appear along roadsides around national and local election time.

NDOR maintenance crews will remove signs that are improperly placed within the state highway rights-of-way. These signs will be stored for a brief period of time in NDOR maintenance yards across the state, where they can be reclaimed by the owners.

This state right-of-way reminder applies to any errant plantings or harvesting operations, parked equipment or salvage items, commercial sales, private business stands, garage sale signs, and debris.

According to State of Nebraska statutes, no physical or functional encroachments upon right-of-way of State highway are permitted without written consent of the NDOR. Those needing further information concerning the boundaries of right-of-way corridors, or seeking permit information, should contact their NDOR District headquarters, or their nearest NDOR staffed office.

Change

In fact, that's been a common theme for the business over the years.

When Farmers & Merchants started in 1990, it was a stand-alone bank that was owned by a holding company in West Point. There was a third bank in South Sioux City, and the trio would eventually be joined by a fourth in Gretna. Keller's original staff, once he was able to hire on more people beyond himself, included four employees - two each to carry out full- and part-time duties - and, in the years since, has grown to eight.

Two decades after the Wayne location was chartered, the banks in the Farmers & Merchants family - Wayne, West Point, South Sioux City and Gretna - merged into one, a move that not only streamlined operations but also changed the name to F&M Bank.

After the merger, the bank still maintained its autonomy.

"The decisions are local; the directors are local," Keller said. "With that, we are able to offer quality services that don't have to be outsourced to be decided. There's a quick turnaround."

That factor has allowed the bank to grow and change as it's needed. Last year, the building was completely gutted and remodeled, which included a 24-hour ATM at the main bank in addition to two other machines around town, which can be found at Sinclair and Quality Foods, and another lane was added to the drive-thru area of the facility.

Technology has also been a source of constant change at F&M Bank. Its history has seen the introduction of debit cards, followed by Internet banking, mobile banking and now social media, such as Facebook.

"We've always been on the cutting edge of technology," Keller said.

If customers don't want their statements delivered to them in their paper form, they can opt to have them sent to them electronically. If they do, that's not a problem either.

"We need to do that because we have different types of customers," Keller said. "We really have something for everyone."

To complement the services listed above, F&M Bank also carries a variety of checking and savings options, plus brokerage and wealth management offerings and a wide variety of loans.

"There isn't any kind of loan we can't offer," Keller said, adding that agriculture and commercial loans make up the majority of the loan volume.

And then, to further complement all that, Keller and his associates strive to provide an excellent customer service experience. Personal relationships - plus a strict adherence to maintaining accuracy and protecting client confidentiality - are core values at F&M Bank, and the company firmly believes that people will go to a particular place if it's inviting and makes them feel they are appreciated.

"We've always been an organization that's big enough to serve you but small enough to know you," Keller said. "People don't care how much you know until they know you care."

"We take banking personally' has always been our motto," he added.

It's an important relationship, and the banker describes it by saying that it means he's not the boss.

"The customer is the boss," he said. "It's that simple."

It's a loyal customer base, a great staff and local directors that have allowed F&M Bank to have a successful 24-year existence, the business has gone to great lengths to return the support. Keller calls it "a good corporate citizen to the community." The bank backs as many projects and small organizations as it can in an effort to help Wayne continue to flourish.

"Our objective is to help the Wayne community grow," Keller said.

And, in that sense, the bank has come full circle from its humble beginnings.

Author to present founding fathers program April 9 at WSC

Dr. John Kaminski, founder and director of the Center for the Study of the American Constitution (CSAC) at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, will deliver a presentation based on his book, "Adams and Jefferson: Contrasting Aspirations and Anxieties from the Founding," at 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 9, in Gardner Auditorium at Wayne State College. The presentation is part of the Dr. Sheila Stearns Lecture Series.

Kaminski has written extensively about the United States' founding fathers. He is author and co-author of more than 15 books covering topics such as George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, Abigail Adams, Thomas Paine, George Clinton, William Pierce, the Bill of Rights, the Constitution, and the Constitutional Convention.

CSAC was born out of funding by a private contribution from the Ford Foundation in the late 1950s to provide a documentary history of the Ratification of the Constitution. Federal funding began in 1964. The initial work, known simply as the Ratification Project, began under the direction of Robert Cushman, and after his death the project was turned over to Merrill Jensen at the UW-Madison. Jensen then hired Gaspare J. Saladino and John P. Kaminski as associate editors. Richard Leffler joined the project in 1973. The project was moved permanently to UW-Madison in 1970 and has remained there since. With the death of Merrill Jensen in January 1980, Kaminski became the director of the Ratification Project.

Kaminski founded CSAC in 1981 and continues to direct the center. In addition to continuing the Ratification Project, the center began additional projects more broadly related to the Founding Period. CSAC has collected copies of more than 60,000 documents in its efforts to publish the definitive history of Ratification as well as produce scholarship related to other topics of the Early Republic. CSAC's and Kaminski's publications are voluminous and are widely used by scholars, judges, and teachers. The center seeks a larger presence in curricula and classrooms around the region and the nation through outreach and professional development.

The Dr. Sheila Stearns President's Lecture Series, named after former Wayne State president Sheila Stearns, brings to campus speakers of national and international distinction who have the ability to inspire students to think broadly about global issues and motivate them to become engaged in civic and public affairs.

Plans underway for Winside book

The committee working on the Q125 Winside History book has been busy typing up family histories, as well as those of businesses, organizations, and community history.

Plans are to begin pre-sales of the new book by the end of May, and the book will be completed by the June 2015 celebration. The new book will also include a CD of the entire 640-page 1990 Winside Centennial Book, so buyers will be getting two for the price of one.

There will be a donor section in the new book, and any individual, business, or organization that would like to make a monetary donation toward the cost of this project may do so by sending it to the History Book Account at Winside State Bank. All donors will be recognized in the new book.

The committee welcomes histories and stories of anyone having ties to Winside over the years, and those who were previously in the 1990 Centennial History Book are being asked to provide history updates for the last 25 years.

Information can be submitted to any of the following committee members, Rose Janke, Lin Brummels, Dianne Jaeger or Pam Gruenke. Photos that are submitted will be returned when finished.

Students create roller coaster ride

Physics students in Lisa Janke's classes at Wayne High School have been busy constructing roller coasters. Students were asked to construct a model roller coaster and use the roller coaster to record measurements of variables that affect the motion of passengers. They were instructed to describe the motion of the roller coaster, both mathematically and conceptually. The roller coasters were constructed from playing cards and were required to have a minimum of two loops and one curve. Each student also researched the history of roller coasters and described the motion of a roller coaster with the following physics concepts: linear motion, Newton's Laws of Motions, g-forces, weightlessness, work and energy. The project concluded on March 26 when the high school Physics students presented their roller coasters to the Wayne Community Schools' fourth-grade students.

County agrees to rent space for satellite State Patrol office

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

Wayne County may soon see more Nebraska State Patrol vehicles hanging around the county courthouse.

At Tuesday's County Commissioners meeting, the board agreed to offer space to the Nebraska State Patrol in the basement of the court services building, which currently serves as the home base for the Wayne County Sheriff's Office, for a satellite office.

The State Patrol is looking for a new location for its current office in Oakland, and the county board agreed to offer the basement of the court services building for $750 a month rent, half of what the State Patrol now pays for its Oakland office.

County Clerk Deb Finn told The Wayne Herald that the basement was recently renovated for use as an emergency operations center after last October's tornado that hit the Wayne area, and includes phone hook-ups and a secure wi-fi network. The facility also has a secondary exit from the basement, something that the state patrol needs and is not available at the Oakland office.

The board agreed to offer the basement for the $750 monthly charge, which includes electricity and wi-fi. Lt. Jim Stover of the Nebraska State Patrol, who spoke with the county board at Tuesday's meeting, said he would take the information on to his supervisors for further consideration.

The county is also gaining some land that will be used as the new home for the District 1 county shed and offices for the county's noxious weed division.

The board unanimously approved a purchase agreement from Randy Petersen and Marion Arneson on a tract of land located south of the Van Diest Chemical building on the east part of Wayne. The county plans to build its new shed and noxious weed building on that site, which would replace the current building located at 110 S. Pearl in Wayne. A timetable for construction was not yet known.

In other action, the board:

– met with Jack and Bev Beeson regarding a 1.96-acre piece of property that had been given to the county on a quitclaim deed more than 30 years ago. The Beesons asked to have the land deeded to them and be placed on the tax rolls, but board members wanted to do more research to see if other similar pieces of property might have to be looked at in the future.

– Spoke with Brent Pick and Jeff Morlok on the possible paving of Chief's Way. Discussion took place on whether or not the owners of the property could form a paving district to have the road paved. Board member Randy Larson questioned whether the county would have need to pave the road, as it is now a dead-end road with the reconstruction of Grossenburg Implement's new facility taking place.

– Accepted the bid of $18,019.35 from B's Enterprises for culvert inventory.

– Awarded the fertilizing, weed service and mowing for courthouse grounds to Hytrek Lawn Service, and awarded mowing of two abandoned cemeteries in the county to Wayne Langmeier.

– Approved a lodging tax grant application of $1,000 to Sons of American Legion in Winside for an upcoming gun show.

The county board's next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, April 15 at 9 a.m. in the county courthouse.

Wind-fueled flames

Firefighters from Wayne and seven area communities were called to a fire east of the Wayne Municipal Airport late last Wednesday afternoon. Winds in excess of 50 miles per hour got to a controlled burn and reignited the flames, which quickly spread across a field and near the home of Dave Zach. Wayne firefighters were on the scene and received assistance from firefighters from Winside, Hoskins, Carroll, Wakefield, Concord, Laurel, Allen and Pender.

Kenny finishes fourth in spelling bee

Pfeffernuss, schadenfreude, weissnichtwo . . . just a few words off of a list of thousands needed to study for the Omaha World-Herald's Midwest Spelling Bee on March 15.

After winning the school and county spelling bees, Ky Kenny, an eighth grader at Wayne Junior High, was ready for the challenge.

After a few weeks of studying, he and his family headed to Omaha Public School Teacher Administrative Center, where he was to square off against 75 competitors.

Competition day included a welcome, two practice written rounds, and one scored written round. At that time, eight contestants were left standing, including Ky.

The reading and explanation of the rules for the oral elimination rounds ensued. Now using words not provided on the lists, one by one, students left the stage leaving the last four.

Then came the word: elicitation, or was it illicitation? Two words with the same pronunciation but different meanings. The meaning was read, but the wrong word was spelled. Although the word was spelled correctly, it was not the correct term for the definition given.

Ky earned a fourth-place medal, out of the original 75 competitors; exceptional, but not enough to place among the top three, the only places recognized with prizes.

"Even though I didn't get a prize, this was a great experience. I have a participation medal to prove it, and I got to make new friends and meet lots of new people," Ky said.

Ky is the son of Joe and Kelly Kenny of Carroll.

Olympian makes stop in Laurel

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation hosted Olympic bobsled medalist Curt Tomasevicz as part of a "Thank You" event held March 28 in Laurel. The appreciation was designed to thank all the young farmers, ranchers, agribusiness people and small business owners in the area who make rural Nebraska "a great place to live."

TeamMates walk set for April 13

The TeamMates Mentoring Program in Wayne will be participating in the "One Hour Walk: Together We Transform Lives" on Sunday, April 13.

Wayne is joining TeamMates Mentoring programs across the state for the seventh annual One Hour Walk.

At 1 p.m. on April 13, mentors, mentees and community participants from across the state will walk in their own communities to celebrate the power of mentoring.

At least 50 walkers are expected to register for this one hour event that recognized the importance of the one hour that mentors spend with their mentees each week.

The Walk will be held at the Wayne Community Activity Center in Wayne. Registration begins at 12:30 p.m.

For additional information on the walk or the TeamMates program, contact Jill Walling, TeamMates Board Chairperson at (402) 375-4282.

The TeamMates Mentoring program was founded in 1991 by Dr. Tom and Nancy Osborne. It is a school-based mentoring program that matches adult volunteers from the community with students in grades 5 through 12. Mentors meet one hour per week to provide support and encouragement to youth. The goal of this program is to see youth graduate from high school and pursue post-secondary education.

The TeamMates Mentoring Program serves nearly 7,000 youth in over 110 chapters across Nebraska and Iowa. In Wayne, more than 60 youth are benefiting from the program.

Brasch has introduced school bus stop arm legislation to help keep students getting on and off the bus safe, but "there are still people breaking the law."

The annual Legislative Forum is co-hosted by Wayne State College and Wayne Area Economic Development's Government Affairs Committee.

I think that Nebraska is doing it (TIF) right."

Following his presentation, Matt Ley, representing the Downtown Association, spoke to the council and those in attendance at the meeting on areas where he felt TIF was not appropriate.

Ley said that in an area that has been developed with TIF funds, "all the taxpayers are paying for the upkeep of the project. I also feel it creates unfair competition."

Ley said that TIF should be used for real estate that is deteriorating, "not farm land."

He also told this audience that California has outlawed TIF.

During Tuesday's meeting, council members voted to forgive a sewer bill received by the Wayne County Agricultural Society.

Dave Jaeger and Kevin Davis, representing the Ag Society, said there is a leak in the water line at the Wayne County Fairgrounds but the exact site of the leak has not yet been determined.

The two said that work will be done this spring to locate and fix the leak, but noted that the water that has been 'used' by the Ag Society is not going through the sewer system.

Council member Matt Eischeid said he felt "giving a break to the county was setting a precedent and everyone who has a water leak will come to us asking to forgive their bills."

Council also approved on third reading an ordinance which will annex a portion of real estate into the northeast quadrant of the city.

Council member Eischeid said he was opposed to annexing the Pacific Coast property, noting that if a developer came into Wayne looking to develop the property, but who did not wish to be inside city limits, that option was not available to them.

The original ordinance, including the Pacific Coast property in the annexed area, failed to receive council approval, but a motion to annex property in the area without Pacific Coast, was approved.

Council members also approved a request for Community Block Grant Funds on behalf of Ken Jorgensen in the amount of $300,000.

City Finance Director Nancy Braden explained to the council that the city has had money in a revolving loan fund for many years, but due to changes in state regulations, the money cannot be loaned out by the city, but instead had to go through a non-profit development organization (NDO).

Braden told the city that she feels it would be beneficial to have the money being used, as she is not sure whether or not, at some point in the future, the state will ask for the money to be returned.

The money that will be repaid on the loan will be paid to the Northeast Nebraska Economic Development District (NNEDD) to be used in the district.

An application will also be submitted by the city on behalf of Angel Village in the amount of $603,100 for the construction of 20 housing units in the southeast portion of Wayne.

An earlier application for funding was not approved, but the Nebraska Department of Economic Development staff have contacted the city to assist with the application.

The grant would be used for the land, infrastructure and construction of six of the 20 homes to be reserved for low rent for income qualified elderly.

The council also took action to allocate money from the city's electric fund to pay for the Summer Sports Complex Lighting project, with additional funds coming from the Capital Project Fund to relocate the fields, install an irrigation system and add double fencing.

The council will next meet in regular session on Tuesday, April 15 at 5:30 p.m. in council chambers.

to collect evidence that is required by the state's crime lab. A special kit that includes envelopes to gather specific evidence is used by the sexual assault nurse examiner and the physician to collect and preserve any evidence collected. The victim has the option on whether or not to refuse collection of certain evidence, which includes hair, bodily fluids and other items that could be used as evidence in a conviction.

Once a sexual assault case comes in, the hospital is required by state law to report the crime to local law enforcement. Fertig said that, on occasion, law enforcement will be contacted first and they will bring the victim to the hospital for evidence collection and treatment of injuries, a process that generally takes 1-3 hours, depending on the severity of the attack.

Once the evidence is gathered and the victim has a chance to clean up, Belt said she works with the patient to talk through the event.

"My main job is to debrief them from being traumatized and walk through what happened and what they felt, what they saw or what they heard," she said. "We try to follow up afterward and see if they received the counseling they wanted."

Haven House, a domestic violence advocacy and crisis center located in Wayne, has served as a go-to source for a variety of options, from providing a safe place to stay the night to referring the victim to legal services.

"If they are in fear after the exam and don't feel safe at home, they can come into our shelter," said Rebecca Onderstal, an advocate at Haven House. "Our services are free and confidential, and it's up to the client if they want us to help them out. It's pretty traumatic, so we talk with them about what's going on so they understand what's going to take place."

As the victim seeks to restore their peace of mind, law enforcement is at work to make sure they have the information they need to help bring a victim's attacker to justice.

Sgt. Jason Sears of the Wayne Police Department said that law enforcement's job is to gather the evidence collected from the patient and conduct interviews with the victim, witnesses and the alleged attacker to put the pieces of the case together that can yield a sexual assault conviction.

"I've done a lot of interviews, and once they are conducted, you have

SAAM presentation to be held Monday at WSC

The month of April is nationally known as Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM) and Haven House and Wayne State College are centering this year's Preventing Sexual Violence program around the theme "Your Voice, Our Future."

The public is invited to attend the program at the Frey Conference Suite at Wayne State College on Monday, April 7. Michael Carnes, author of "Call Me A Survivor" and a survivor of child sexual abuse, will be the guest speaker. He will also be speaking to students at Wayne Junior-Senior High School earlier that day.

Providence Medical Center SANE nurse Carrie Fertig, RN, will be available to address questions pertaining to sexual assault evidence collection and other related medical questions.

Another national awareness campaign for sexual assault is called "Denim Day," to be held Wednesday, April 23. Community members are invited to take part in this campaign by wearing jeans on that day, or for the week of April 21-25. Many businesses have permitted wearing jeans on this day for a $5 pledge to a local domestic violence sexual assault agency.

For more information on domestic violence and sexual assault awareness, visit the Haven House website at www.havenhousefsc.com, or call (402) 375-5433.

to look at that information and corroborate it to what the victim is saying," he said. "There may be other witnesses to interview or other people the victim has talked to, and you have to look at all of that."

Sears has found that, in most cases, the perpetrator of the crime will ultimately confess to the crime.

"I'm not a psychiatrist, but a lot of them seem to think they have this power over the victim and are smarter than them. They have a control problem and think they can talk their way out of it," he said. "They're more concerned with the discipline they're going to be subjected to than what happened to the victim. In their mind, what they did wasn't that big of a deal."

The SART and law enforcement can also call on the Child Advocacy Center in Norfolk to deal with sexual assault cases that involve children, a crime that, according to a Centers For Disease Control study, affects 1 in 4 girls and 1 in 6 boys under the age of 18 in the United States.

"The Child Advocacy Center is wonderful to open up at all hours and are better set up to handle children," Belt said.

"We try to treat the medical side of things, and then we'll refer them to the Child Advocacy Center to do the interviewing, and it's less traumatic for the victims," Fertig added.

The Child Advocacy Center has trained staff who can interview children, working with local law enforcement that bring cases to them.

"We utilize the Child Advocacy Center when it involves children, usually under the age of 15," Sears said. "It's a child-friendly environment, and we'll usually sit in another room and observe the interview via video, and if there's something specific we need to know, we can communicate with the interviewer."

All of that work has been beneficial in helping bring perpetrators of sexual assault to justice.

"The mindset toward the crime is much different today," Sears said. "It used to be that sex wasn't something you brought up in conversation, but it's not quite as taboo as it once was and the crime is being prosecuted more vigorously today than it was before. You're seeing mandatory minimum sentences in state statutes now, and there isn't a lot (for perpetrators) to bargain with."

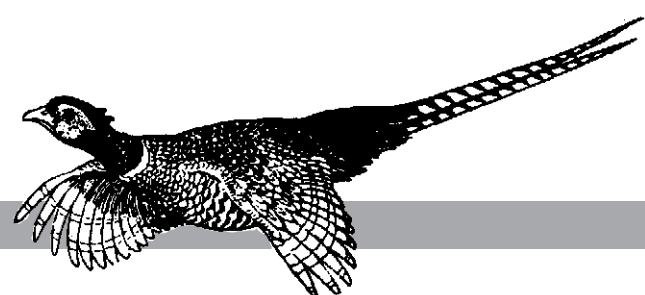

Both Fertig and Belt said the crime of sexual assault still has some myths attached to it that might make a victim uncomfortable with reporting a crime. Those myths shouldn't stop them, however, from getting the physical, emotional and legal help they need to fight back.

"It starts the moment they come through our doors, and we're all very helpful in working with patients," Belt said.

"There is a place to go and a team of people here (at PMC) who are willing to help out, and they don't have to be alone or be scared to report," Fertig added.

Office picks going out the window

Here are some more thoughts, observations and other random sports-related hoo-hah from the "Bits and Pieces" file:

– Sooooo . . . how's your bracket doing?

Here at The Wayne Herald, we have a friendly little competition (for entertainment purposes, of course) to see which of us is the better prognosticator when it comes to the NCAA tournament.

And what we've found out with this year's tournament is – well, nobody here really knows anything.

We were all in agreement that Florida was going to win their half of the bracket and make it to the finals. Half of us even had enough faith in Florida to go all the way, and we'll find out in the next few days whether or not the Gators can polish things off and win for the third time.

As far as the REST of the Final Four – well, let's just say that nobody here was even in the neighborhood. In fact, only one of us (not me, unfortunately) correctly picked more than one participant in this weekend's showdown. A number of us had Michigan State and/or Michigan in the Final Four, and both teams were a win away from making some of us look halfway intelligent with our brackets. Unfortunately, only Wisconsin was able to make it out of the Big Ten Conference, so a bunch of brackets died at the hands of those two teams.

Other brackets took major blows on the first weekend. Duke was a popular pick, and their first-round upset loss to Mercer really blew things up for everybody, some of whom had the Blue Devils going all the way. Two of us picked Wichita State to run the table, and the Shockers turned around and fell victim to a suddenly-hot Kentucky team, who nobody guessed would still be playing at this time of the tournament.

For the record, yours truly is nowhere near being in the hunt for bragging rights, which just goes to show that the less you know about sports, the better your chances for winning office pick-'em contests.

– Speaking of March Madness, if you noticed a significant drop in local work productivity during the first weekend of the tournament, there's a reason for that.

The first two days of the NCAA tournament are like an unofficial holiday for some people. Some get a chance to attend games in person, while most will "call in sick" and prop themselves up in front of a TV to engage in back-to-back 12-hour basketball-related sensory overload.

There is a growing group of people in the business community here who plan their schedules around March Madness, and I found several of them camped out at the White Dog Pub and The Max. I'm not going to name any names, but suffice to say all those involved enjoyed spending two days eating, enjoying a few adult beverages and checking their brackets as the upsets mounted and the field was whittled down.

By the end of Friday, the tournament field was cut in half and the crowds had been whittled down to the most die-hard hoop junkies, the end of what might be the third-busiest weekend for the local bars, next to Chicken Days and the weekend of the rugby tournament.

– Did I just say rugby tournament?

Yes, it's that time of year, and the Wayne State Rugby Club's annual March Madness and Mayhem extravaganza is running a week later than usual this year.

This tournament draws a HUGE crowd to Wayne and is a boon to area businesses, who will see an estimated $400,000 economic lift as more than 80 teams will descend on our fine community for two days of rugby action.

The tournament's numbers have been down a little over its peak of

WSC's Fehringer hits automatic mark

Throwers lead charge for 'Cats at home invite

The Wayne State track and field teams enjoyed some decent weather and saw some good performances in their first outdoor competition of the season, playing host to the 17-team Wildcat Invitational at the LeRoy Simpson Track at Cunningham Field.

Wayne State senior Carly Fehringer hit an automatic NCAA qualifying mark in the hammer throw to highlight the Wildcat women's effort. The Wayne High grad recorded her top mark of 195 feet, 11 inches on her third attempt in finals to win the event by more than 27 feet over Wildcat teammate Emily Wells, who achieved an NCAA provisional mark of 168-2.

Other Wildcat finishers in the hammer throw included Sara Wells placing fourth (161-0), Jessi Pongratz fifth at 160-5 and Mackenzie Masching came in sixth at 159-10. Kyndra Sturm was 10th at 148-1.

Sara Wells had a stellar Saturday in the field events for the Wildcats. The junior won the shot put with an NCAA provisional mark of 48-4 and also hit an NCAA provisional mark in the discus with a second-place finish at 154-3.

Pongratz also achieved an NCAA provisional mark in the shot put Saturday, taking fifth with a mark of 44-6 3/4, while Fehringer took ninth in the event at 43-6 1/2.

Alexis Guhl and Megan Svitak had strong finishes in the 100-meter hurdles, taking third and fourth, respectively, with times of 15.22 and 15.29 seconds. Svitak also had a 10th-place finish in the high jump at 4-11.

In the 400-meter hurdles, Rebecca Davenport placed sixth at 1:07.73 while Elizabeth Pille was 10th in 1:09.25. Sidney Blum was ninth in the triple jump at 34-7. The 1,600-meter relay team of Pille, Danielle Hart, Davenport and Ellen Wulf came in ninth in 4:11.87.

Sam O'Brien connects on one of her three home runs on the weekend, helping the Wayne State softball team sweep doubleheaders against Northern State and MSU Moorhead. The Wildcats are back home this weekend to face Minnesota Crookston and Bemidji State.

Two sweeps, two splits for 'Cats

It was a busy and productive week for the Wayne State softball team, as they swept two doubleheaders and split two more in Northern Sun Conference action.

Last Wednesday, the Wildcats salvaged a split at home against 11th-ranked Augustana at the Chapman Complex, dropping the opener 2-0 before coming back to win the nightcap, 2-1.

With high winds blowing toward the outfield, a high-scoring affair was expected, but defense and pitching ruled the day as both teams struggled to get their offenses on track.

In the first game, Wayne State left 11 runners on base, leaving the bases loaded in the fourth and fifth innings. Augustana scored the game's only runs on a two-run homer in the top of the fifth inning.

Wayne State had the bases full in the bottom of the fifth with just one out. Jordan King was hit by a pitch, Kaiti Williams singled and Kelcie Bormann walked to load the bases. Augustana was able to get out of the jam, however, and Wayne State couldn't get another rally going.

Williams and Sam O'Brien each had two hits as the Wildcats out-hit the Vikings 5-4. Sara Scheffert pitched well in a losing effort, striking out seven and walking three.

In the second game, the Wildcats and Vikings were tied going to the bottom of the seventh, but Williams – who was 5-for-7 on the day – came through with a single up the middle with one out to score Lexie Loos and give Wayne State the split.

Loos scored Wayne State's other run in the fifth, pinch-running for Alex Schmidt and scoring on an infield single by Williams to give Wayne State a 1-0 lead. Augustana tied it in the top of the sixth, setting the stage for Williams' game-ending heroics.

Wayne State had a 9-4 advantage in hits, with Williams going 3-for-4 on the day and O'Brien adding two hits. Scheffert got the win in relief

Rugby tournament drawing 80+ teams

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

March Madness may be winding down . . . but there is still some mayhem for area sports fans to contend with.

The Wayne State Rugby Club is hosting its 13th annual March Madness and Mayhem rugby tournament, a two-day non-stop rugby juggernaut that will see more than 80 teams from all over North America making their way to Wayne, America.

This year's tournament is a special one for several reasons, club organizer and WSC rugby coach Darin Barner said.

"We were hoping to have our tournament the last weekend in March like we always have, but Wayne State had baseball, softball and track meets all at home the same weekend, so we moved it to this weekend," he said.

It's also the first big event at the Wayne Rugby Park since last October's tornado that blew away the club's storage trailers and damaged one of the goal posts on the main field.

"We still have some broken and crooked goal posts and some field damage, but it's still in playable condition and all the teams who are coming understand what happened," he said.

In fact, several teams are bringing along extra equipment to help out the Wayne State Rugby Club, from goalpost pads to field marking flags and other game-time equipment.

"A number of teams have volunteered to bring stuff along, which is great," he said. "All of the teams who play here really take pride in our park, because it was built to host tournaments like this, as well as our games. It's kind of like it's their place, too."

Because of the early-April schedule, a number of teams who are usually regulars at the March Madness and Mayhem tournament have league games that conflict with this year's tournament schedule.

That doesn't seem to be much of an issue, though, as Barner said more than 80 teams have signed up for this year's tournament, with teams coming from all over the United States and Canada. Teams will play two games on Saturday, beginning at 8:40 a.m., and at least one more on Sunday, with semi-finals and finals in the men's and women's divisions set for Sunday beginning at 12 p.m.

This year's tournament is also drawing interest from overseas, and Barner said representatives from a professional team from Great Britain is going to be in attendance this weekend to check out the festivities.

"There is a professional team from Wales who is interested in playing in the tournament next year, and we've had discussions with a representative who came to town recently to check things out," Barner said. "They're also bringing some scouts along to see if there are any players who might be interested in playing professionally over there."

As far as the college teams who will be in attendance, many of the familiar names will be in town, including Northern Sun Conference rivals Augustana, Southwest Missouri State, Minnesota Duluth, MSU Moorhead, Bemidji State, Northern State, St. Cloud State and Minnesota State. Bigger area schools like South Dakota, Iowa State and Creighton will also be in attendance.

In addition, schools like Colorado, New Mexico Highlands, Eastern Washington, Michigan State, Lamar College and Lindenwood will make the long road trip to Wayne, and a team from the University of Winnipeg in Canada will make the trip across the border to play in this year's tournament.

In addition to the regular tournament format, a 7-on-7 tournament will be held that is a qualifier for the national USA Rugby 7's college tournament. The winner qualifies for the national finals, set for May 31-June 1 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Wayne/Wakefield picks up first win of spring

The Wayne/Wakefield baseball team debuted in cold and windy conditions, and while the bats were hot early, the defense struggled as the Blue Devils stumbled out of the gate for the 2014 season.

On March 24, the Blue Devils opened at Arlington and battled the Eagles in a defensive struggle. Wayne tried to come back from a three-run deficit, but came up a run short in a 4-3 decision.

The Blue Devils trailed 2-0 in the fifth before cutting the deficit in half on an RBI single by Payten Gamble, bringing home Curtis Moeller. Arlington would extend their lead to 4-1 in the bottom of the fifth, scoring two runs off losing pitcher Jake Lutt.

Wayne tried to make a game of it in the sixth when Moeller lined a double to center, scoring Brook Bowers. Moeller stole third and came home on a single by Frankie Nuno, but the Blue Devils couldn't bring the tying run home. Wayne outthit Arlington 6-4 in the losing effort.

On March 25, Wayne/Wakefield couldn't get out of a seven-run hole in their home opener against Fort Calhoun, as the Pioneers scored big early and came away with a 14-7 win.

Fort Calhoun scored three in the second and broke the game open with four more in the fourth inning to take a 7-1 advantage. Wayne/Wakefield got on the board in the third when Luke Rethwisch singled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Moeller, then added a run in the bottom of the fourth when Alex Conley scored on a groundout by Daniel Gustafson.

Wayne/Wakefield scored another run in the sixth when Conley singled and drove home Moeller. Fort Calhoun put up five more runs in the top of the seventh, but Wayne/Wakefield made it interesting with four in the bottom of the seventh, highlighted by a two-run double by Dylan Sokol. Both Sokol and Rethwisch later scored on wild pitches.

Rethwisch had two of Wayne/Wakefield's four hits in the loss to the Pioneers, while Sokol had two RBIs. Alex Conley took the loss on the hill.

On Tuesday, the Blue Devils had to work a little overtime to get their first win, but overcame a comeback effort by Archbishop Bergan to post a 6-5 win in 10 innings at Fremont's Christensen Field.

It was a back-and-forth affair, and Wayne/Wakefield trailed 2-0 after two innings before scoring in each of the next four innings to take a 5-2 advantage.

In the third, Wayne got on the board when Bowers scored on a single by Conley. They tied it in the fourth when Lutt tripled and scored on a sacrifice by Sokol to make it 2-2.

Wayne/Wakefield took a 4-2 lead in the fifth when Rethwisch singled to right with one out, scoring Nuno and Conley. They added another run in the sixth when Gustafson scored on a fielder's choice, but Bergan came back in the bottom of the sixth, scoring three runs to tie the game at 5-5.

Wayne/Wakefield had a chance to win the game in the seventh, but left two runners on base. Bergan had a chance in extra innings, leaving the winning run on third in the bottom of the ninth.

Finally, in the top of the 10th, Wayne/Wakefield broke the deadlock when Lutt drew a one-out walk, moved to second on a Gustafson sacrifice and scored on a Sokol two-out single to center. Rethwisch and Lutt combined to shut down Bergan in the bottom of the 10th to give Wayne/Wakefield its first win of the season.

Lutt and Conley each had two hits to lead a nine-hit effort. Lutt had a triple and Sokol had two RBIs.

Wayne is back in action Thursday with a home matchup against Crete at Hank Overin Field. They play at Wahoo on Saturday and host Guardian Angels on Monday.

more than 90 teams in 2011, but in talking with club organizer Darin Barner, he's optimistic that the tournament will draw close to 100 teams next year when it goes back to its traditional spot on the calendar. There is also some interest in a couple of professional teams from Great Britain who may come to Wayne for an exhibition game, which would be a real feather in the club's cap if that becomes reality.

— A final note . . . for those who enjoy the Wayne State Coaches Show on mywaynenews.com, please note that there will be a one-week break coming up the week of April 16, as yours truly will be taking a much-needed sabbatical from the sports desk. The show will return on April 23, with the April 9 show occupying the video spot in the interim.

of Bormann, working a scoreless seventh inning. On Saturday, Wayne State's bats were on fire, as the Wildcats scored 28 runs and pounded out 28 hits to sweep visiting Northern State by 14-4, 14-4 at the Chapman Complex.

The Wildcats brought out the long ball on Saturday as Bormann and O'Brien both hit home runs in the first game and Kylee Simpson went 3-for-3.

Wayne State scored five runs in the first, capped by a bases-clearing triple by Simpson. In the third inning, Wayne State tacked on six more runs, highlighted by a three-run homer to right center by Bormann.

Wayne State outthit Northern 15-2 in the first game. Bormann and O'Brien both had two hits, with O'Brien scoring two runs and Bormann finishing with four RBIs.

Scheffer pitched well in the opener, striking out three in four innings and allowing one run on two hits. In the nightcap, O'Brien homered again, and Simpson and Melanie Alyea also cleared the fence to give Wayne State the sweep. O'Brien and Alyea both homered in a five-run third inning, with O'Brien hitting a three-run blast and Alyea following with a solo shot. She also had a two-run single as part of a seven-run fourth inning that included a two-run single by Tiffani Housh and RBI singles from King and Shelby Wobken.

That was more than enough for Bormann, who went the distance and allowed three hits and struck out six.

On Sunday, the Wildcats played well defensively and came away with another sweep, taking care of MSU Morehead by scores of 8-2 and 5-0.

Williams had another big day, going 5-for-5 at the plate. She had three hits in the opener as the Wildcats spotted Morehead two runs before scoring eight unanswered to get the win.

Wayne State tied the game with two in the third and got two in the fourth with an RBI single by Williams and an RBI double by Bormann. Wobken and Williams both had doubles in a four-run fifth inning that put the game out of reach.

Williams and Bormann each had three hits to lead a 13-hit attack, while Alyea added two. Scheffert got the win, striking out six and allowing seven hits and three walks.

In the finale, Bormann tossed a six-hit shutout and O'Brien hit her third homer of the weekend, a two-run shot in the first inning for her sixth home run of the season. Wobken added a solo shot in the sixth to close out the scoring.

Bormann improved to 10-1 on the season with the shutout, striking out eight and allowing six hits and one walk.

On Tuesday, the Wildcats and Upper Iowa split a pair in Fayette, Iowa. Wayne State dominated in the opener, winning 11-1, but the Peacocks returned the favor with an 11-0 shutout.

Wayne State hit Upper Iowa for five runs in the second inning to take control of the game. King had a bases-clearing double and Megan Hagemann hit a two-run homer to get Wayne State rolling.

Wayne State outthit Upper Iowa 13-5 in the opener. Williams led the way with a 4-for-4 effort, while King had two hits and four RBIs and Alyea had two hits and scored twice. Scheffert picked up the win, while Cassy Miller worked an inning in relief.

The second game was a complete turnaround from the opener, as Upper Iowa limited Wayne State to three hits and scored three in the first and six in the second to take control of the game.

Hagemann, Schmidt and Loos all had hits in the nightcap. Bormann took the loss in the circle, getting relief help from Miller and Sarah Macias.

Wayne State is 20-10 overall and 6-2 in the NSIC, and will be at home this weekend for NSIC doubleheaders, hosting Minnesota Crookston Saturday and Bemidji State Sunday in 12 p.m. doubleheaders at the Chapman Complex.

Wayne State shortstop Zak Leighton races Northern State's Matt Stubbs to second base on a force play during Sunday's doubleheader.

Wildcats, Northern State trade doubleheader sweeps

Wayne State's baseball team got a non-conference win on the road and split a pair of doubleheaders with Northern State in action this past week.

Last Wednesday, Sioux City West graduate C.J. Nolen went 4-for-5 at the plate with two runs scored to lead Wayne State to a 9-2 win over Morningside College at Lewis and Clark Park in Sioux City.

Wayne State got on the board in the fourth inning with two runs, as Nolen led off the inning with a single and later scored on a wild pitch. Jake Perez singled and came across the plate on a Kevin Andersen sacrifice fly to right for a 2-0 lead.

Morningside answered with a run in the bottom of the fourth, but the Wildcats scored three in the sixth and added four more in the seventh to take control of the game. Jake Bruner led off the sixth with a single to right and scored on a passed ball. Skye O'Neil walked, Andersen singled and both came home on a pinch-hit double by Alex Schleppebach.

The Wildcats scored four in the seventh on just two hits with one Morningside error, two walks and a hit batter. Michael Herman's single to left scored Zak Leighton while O'Neil's fielder's choice brought home Nolen. Jake Bruner walked and later scored on a wild pitch along with Herman to close out the Wildcats' scoring.

Wayne State had 11 hits in the game, led by Nolen's 4-for-5 effort. Herman added two hits to the winning effort. John Roberts pitched five strong innings, striking out five and allowing five hits and a walk, to get the win.

The Wildcats and Northern State traded doubleheader sweeps over the weekend. Wayne State won Saturday's twinbill, 13-6 and 14-3, while Northern State took Sunday's pair, 6-3 and 6-4.

Wayne State scored seven runs in the second inning after Northern State jumped out to a 4-0 lead in Saturday's opener. The big inning was highlighted by Aaron Molinaro's three-run opposite-field home run to left, and Jake Perez added a three-run triple to cap the explosion.

Wayne State added four more in the fifth on a two-run single by Nolen and an RBI double by Perez, part of a 15-hit effort by the Wildcats. Molinaro had three hits while Perez, Nolen, Herman and Kevin Andersen each added two hits.

Eric Browning got the win in the first game, overcoming a slow start to allow four runs on five hits while striking out six and walking three in six innings.

In the nightcap, Wayne State's hot bats continued, as they jumped Northern for six runs in the first two innings and ended the game on the 10-run rule in seven innings.

Perez, Herman and Molinaro each had RBI singles to spark a four-run first, and Herman added a double and Nolen hit a sacrifice fly to make it 6-0 after two innings.

Wayne State doubled their advantage with six runs in the fourth, highlighted by a two-run double from Mike Servais and a two-run single by Alex Kreft. The Wildcats put up 15 hits once again, led by Herman's 3-for-4 effort. Leighton, Curtis Bussard and Nick McIntee each had two hits, and Matt Russell worked six scoreless innings to get the win, striking out six and allowing three hits.

Northern State returned the favor on Sunday, overcoming a 3-0 deficit in the opener and getting out of several defensive jams in the nightcap to salvage the weekend split.

In the first game, Wayne State led 3-0 after two innings, but Northern State came back to score four runs in the third and added two insurance runs in the seventh to earn the win.

Wayne State was limited to six hits in Sunday's first game, and Dylan McGill was credited with the loss, giving up four runs on eight hits in 4 1/3 innings.

In the nightcap, Wayne State had their chances, but left 13 runners on base, including the ninth inning, where they left the bases loaded with the tying run on base.

The teams went back and forth early on, but Northern scored a run in the seventh, two in the eighth and one in the ninth to take a 6-2 lead. Wayne State scored twice in the bottom of the ninth, but left three runners on and couldn't get them home.

Leighton led a 13-hit attack with three hits and two runs, while O'Neil had three hits and Perez added two hits and two RBIs. Molinaro and McIntee each had two hits.

Nick Ragan took the loss on the mound, allowing three runs on six hits with three strikeouts and two walks.

Wayne State played University of Mary at home on Wednesday, and the 11-9 (4-2 NSIC) Wildcats will be at home this weekend for 12 p.m. doubleheaders Saturday and Sunday against University of Sioux Falls at the Chapman Complex.

Wayne track squads open at Scotus Relays

COLUMBUS – Wayne's first outdoor meet of the track and field season was a chilly one, as the Blue Devils braved cold temperatures to compete in the Scotus Relays at Pawnee Park.

The Wayne High girls finished sixth and the boys were eighth in the eight-team meet. The girls had one first and two seconds, while the boys had a pair of runner-up finishes.

In girls action, Ashton Schweers tied the school record in the high jump with a best effort of 5 feet, 4 inches, to help the high jump relay to a first-place finish at an overall height of 14-4. Joining her on the winning relay were Tarah Stegemann, Kiara Hochstein and Marta Pulfer.

The shot put relay team of Danica Schaefer, Victoria Kranz, Abbie Hix and Melinda Longe took runner-up honors with an overall total of 95 feet, 7 inches; and the discus trio of Longe, Hix, Bailey Bentjen and Lauren Gilliland earned a runner-up finish with a total throw of 264 feet.

On the boys side, the Blue Devils had a pair of runner-up finishes on the track, taking second place in the 800-meter relay and the 1,600-meter medley relay. Runners on the 800-meter relay were Demetrius Alexander, Trevor Pecena, Tyler Pecena and Tayib Toussaint, while 1,600-meter medley relay team members were Alexander, Toussaint, Trevor Pecena and Ben Hoskins.

"Both teams had some good marks competing against tough competition," coach Dale Hochstein said. "Just the 10-degree difference in temperature makes for better training south. Our marks for this time of year were as strong, if not stronger, for most athletes, so I was pleased with our competitiveness for the most part. It is a good lesson how picking up one point for a sixth or flipping a place can make a 5-6 point swing and move you up the team scoring in a meet."

Wayne High will host its annual meet on Tuesday, April 8 at the Wayne Kern Track, starting at 1

School, community are solid partners

By MARK LENIHAN
Superintendent
Wayne Community Schools

Each year in spring for the past four years, the Wayne Community School Board of Education has held a "State of the Schools" presentation. This presentation was held last week in the Wayne High School Gymnasium in front of about 40 people.

The objective of this presentation was to inform parents and community members of the goals and initiatives of the Wayne Community School Board of Education and district staff. The end of the presentation time was built in for public comment and questions.

In fall of 2009, the school board and administrative staff established three goals that have outlined the focus of our work. The three goals are as follows:

- Actively support the efforts of the superintendent, district staff and families to ensure continuous achievement for all students as 21st-century learners.

- Provide a safe and inclusive climate across the district by providing quality facilities and demonstrating fiscal accountability.

- Ensure effective communication and promote involvement throughout the district.

The three district goals were the basis of the information in the presentation and are areas in which we have been very involved as we move forward with planning and initiatives in our district. While the goals are continual and ongoing, we feel we have accomplished a great deal in all three areas. We also know there are aspects within all three goals in which we want to improve upon. As many of you know, our district is hosting our five-year external accreditation and school improvement visit at the end of April. We are looking forward to the visit and the findings of the external team in areas of accomplishment and improvement.

At the end of the presentation, information was presented to the audience about student behavior, not only in general, but also as it pertains to bullying. As a follow-up to our meeting and some concerns that were addressed at the meeting, I would like to briefly include some information on behavior expectations that we have for our students and staff and list ways that parents and community members can get involved to help us.

While we have policies that outline behavior expectations in detail, there are three general areas of positive behavior that we promote at Wayne Community Schools. Those three areas entail being prepared, being respectful and doing the right thing. It is important for us to teach those behaviors to our students and for our staff to role-model those in all areas of our work.

Dealing with the issue of bullying at school is complex and one in which good communication between school and home is key to helping our students learn how to have positive relationships. We also try to help students learn how to carry themselves in an appropriate manner when relationships aren't so positive.

We all know when dealing with classmates, co-workers, family members and other relationships that we may not always like and agree with everyone we are in contact with. Our job at school is to educate our students on maintaining good relationships with classmates and friends and to educate students on how to act and behave when those relationships are not so positive.

Our curriculum includes a character education program, which allows us the opportunity to be proactive in educating our students on positive characteristics that we hope help them in school and support what is taught at home. We know it is an unfortunate reality that not everyone is going to get along, but we also know bullying and disrespect are not good ways of handling those situations.

When it is reported to school that there may be a situation of bullying occurring, our staff follows a process of investigating the claim. Students and parents can report incidences of bullying to a teacher, guidance counselor or administrator, whether they are the victim of bullying or they have witnessed or know of a situation where bullying occurred. The person who is reporting is asked to give a description of what is happening with some detail of where, when, who and how the mistreatment is taking place. From there, staff will follow-up by investigating the claims to verify what did or did not happen, deal with verified incidents in an appropriate manner and notify parents of both individuals of the circumstances.

Good, effective and timely communication is a very important component of our efforts at school to reduce bullying and teach our kids positive ways to interact. While I believe our staff works hard on these issues when they are presented to them, I encourage parents to be persistent in talking with them or to call me when they have questions or concerns or need clarification. The sooner good school-to-home communication occurs, the better chance we have to resolve whatever the issue is and have our students in a positive learning environment.

As community members and parents, you can get involved to help with the situation of bullying. Our students are involved in a chapter of "Stand for the Silent," which is a student-led project that provides our students with a venue for addressing the issue of bullying with their classmates and friends.

Last year, the school board, along with input from many community members, developed an initiative called "The Community Partnership for Youth." The purpose of this group is to involve community members in working together to encourage our youth to choose safe, healthy and productive experiences. Last fall, the group sponsored a cyber-bullying presentation by Officers Jason Sears and Dominic Consoli from the Wayne Police Department.

As discussions continue with our staff, school board and parents, we will be looking for community members to help this group in planning opportunities for our community to promote positive behaviors, respect, kindness and other important traits. This is a great way for our community to come together and support the work that is occurring at home and in school and in making the Wayne community an even better place for our kids to feel safe and give them opportunities to make good choices.

Capitol View

Session is drawing to a close

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
Nebraska Press Association

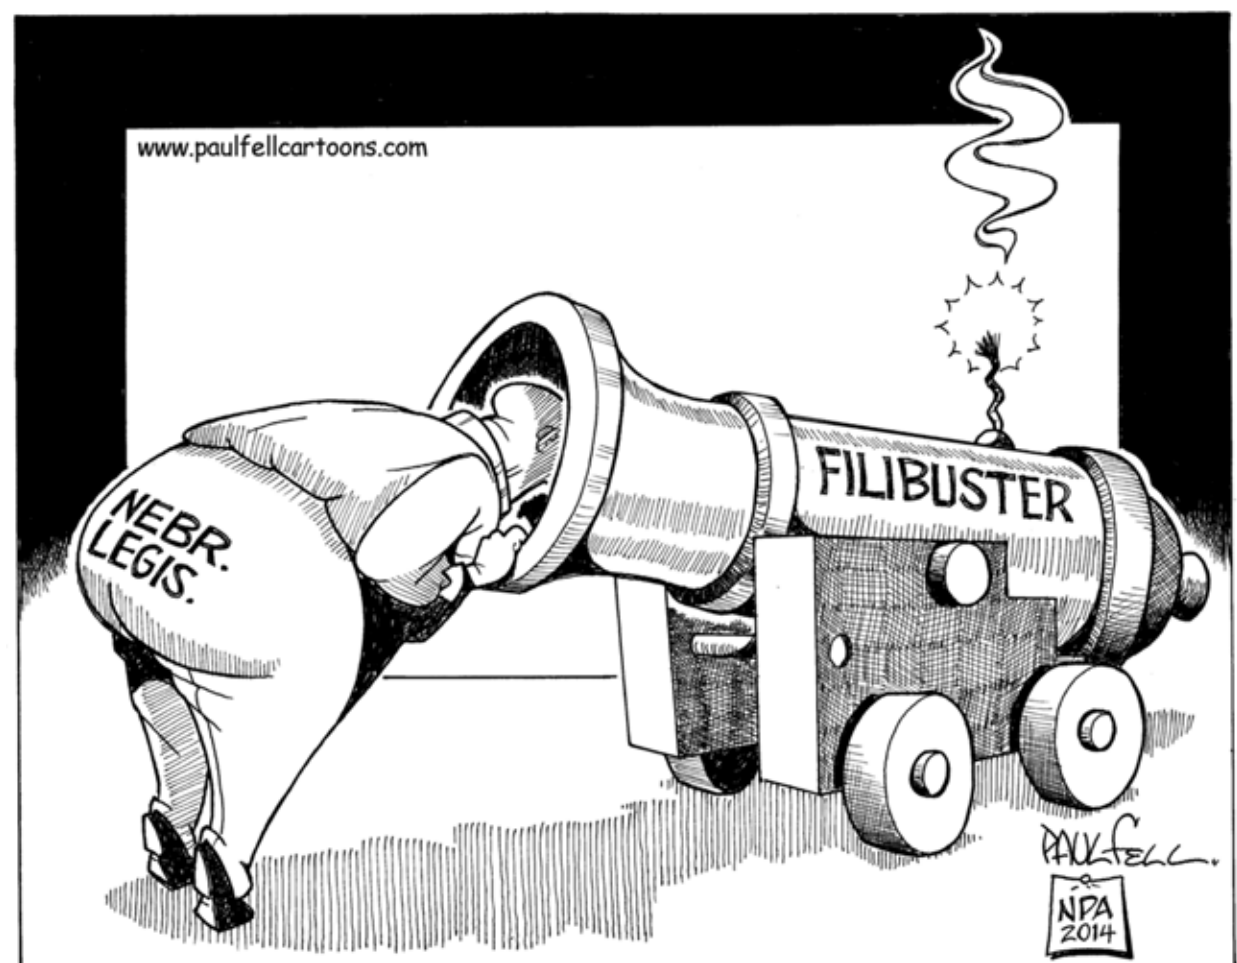

Fil-i-bus-ter n. 1. A. The use of obstructionist tactics, especially prolonged speechmaking, for the purpose of delaying legislative action. B. An instance of the use of this delaying tactic.

There's been a lot of that in the Nebraska Legislature this year. It hasn't all come from the mouth of veteran lawmaker Ernie Chambers of Omaha, the undisputed tactical champion of the nation's only one-house lawmaking body. A number of his colleagues have taken a shot at it, with varying degrees of success.

In fact, senators have charted some new ground in the art of delay, including a recent filibuster launched to stall a Chambers' bill (LB671) at the second of three rounds of floor debate. The bill would eliminate a Nebraska Game and Parks hunting season on mountain lions, which Chambers has declared both unnecessary and unsportsmanlike. Omaha Sen. Scott Lautenbaugh launched the rare Select File (second round) filibuster. The measure eventually advanced to final round consideration.

It came as little surprise then, that on a day when the mountain lion bill was up for a final vote, Lautenbaugh filed a motion to return the bill to Select File to strike the enacting clause, a move that would kill the bill. He noted that it wasn't common to filibuster on final reading and seemed a bit proud that he was perhaps plowing new ground. Chambers, who seemed neither puzzled nor alarmed at Lautenbaugh's action, stood behind his desk (most senators are seated during final reading) and watched.

At some point, Lautenbaugh let it slip that he was testing the waters on a final reading filibuster just in case the same thing happened to a proposed constitutional amendment (LR41CA), which he favors and which is also coming up for final consideration soon. Chambers has been a vocal opponent of that measure and has filed 28 amendments during previous rounds of debate to stall or derail the measure that would allow voters to decide if wagering on historic horse races (ones that have already been run with identifying information that could lead to predicting a winner removed) should be allowed at licensed horse racing tracks.

Lautenbaugh withdrew his motion, but Omaha colleague Sen. Beau McCoy — one of six Republican gubernatorial candidates in the May primary — took a shot by offering an amendment that would change the name mountain lion to cougar. McCoy said he doesn't like the Chambers' bill and feared that it will open the door for the Humane Society of the United States of America to step in and wreak havoc with hunting and fishing in the state.

McCoy — who had previously filed 19 amendments on the gambling measure (LR14CA) — said he didn't agree with Lautenbaugh's assessment that backing off on final reading filibustering on the Chambers' bill would provide a safety cushion for the final reading on the gambling bill. After making it clear that he disliked both the gambling and the hunting bills, he withdrew his motion, and a final vote on the mountain lion hunting restriction was allowed. The bill passed 28-13 and will take effect 90 days after the scheduled April 17 adjournment of the Legislature, if the governor signs it. There would be no hunting season, but farmers or ranchers would be allowed to shoot a mountain lion if it was threatening livestock or family members.

Chambers, who remained uncharacteristically silent during the debate, has said he opposes the horseracing constitutional amendment because it would just be expanded casino gambling by another name. Proponents say they want to use the wagering to breathe new life into the dying horse racing industry in Nebraska. Omaha Sen. Steve Lathrop said he has seen a number of Nebraska licensed vehicles at the legal casinos across the river in Iowa and sees the Lautenbaugh measure as a way to keep Nebraska money in Nebraska.

Opponents of expanded gaming in this state have called it "Gambling with the good life." With few days left in the current short session of the Legislature, it seems that filibustering has become a popular form of gambling as well.

Legislative Update

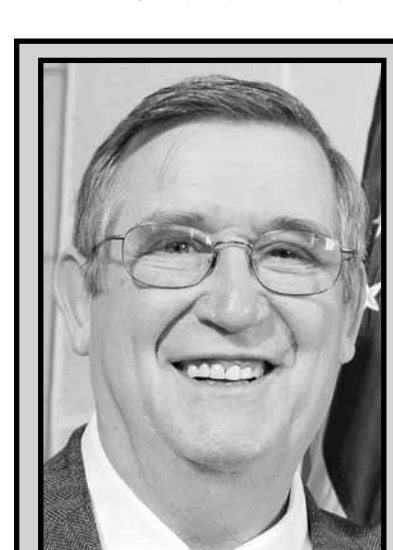

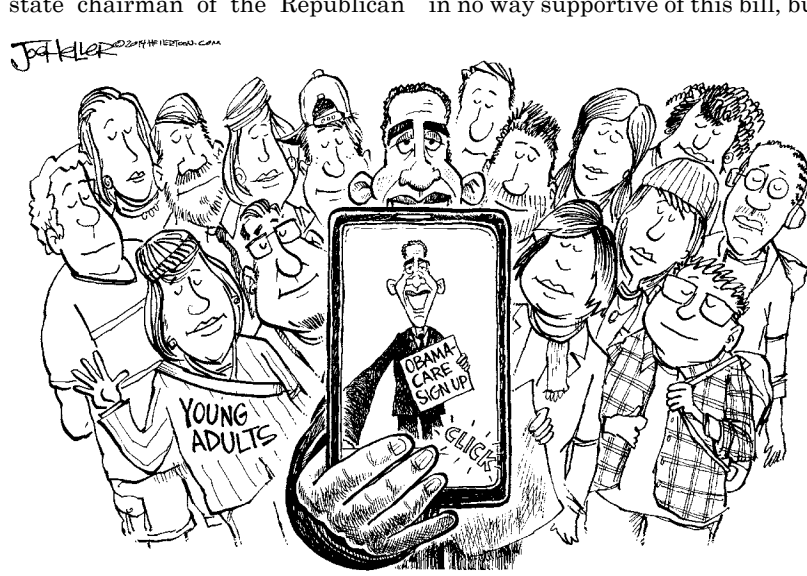

Explaining committee vote on LB1058

Let me start this newsletter with an explanation of my committee vote on LB1058.

LB1058 would adopt the interstate compact on the agreement among the states to elect the President by national popular vote. It was originally introduced by Sen. John Murante of Gretna.

Sen. Murante proposed the idea to me, and I told him no. A former state chairman of the Republican Party came to me asking me to support the plan, and I told him no. In a procedural move, Sen. Murante removed his name from the bill, and it was picked up by Sen. Tyson Larson from District 41, which borders District 17. Sen. Larson asked me as a personal favor to help him get the bill out of committee. I did so with the understanding that I would likely oppose it on "the floor." I am in no way supportive of this bill, but it is an issue that Sen. Larson feels strongly about, and he wanted to have the discussion, and that I can support.

By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

Earlier this week, we discussed another bill that is of great interest to District 17, LR41CA.

Introduced by Sen. Scott Lautenbaugh of Omaha, LR41CA is a constitutional amendment that would authorize legislation for the licensing and regulating of wagering on replayed horse races.

If you have followed the debate on this bill at all you know that I am opposed to it. I understand that there is a huge desire to approve expanding gambling in part of the district, but honestly I do not feel that this bill will lead to what is wanted.

If this constitutional amendment were to become law, I am certain that it will be another 10 years before a measure to allow for the further expansion of gambling is passed. If this fails to pass, it will be 10 years before anyone brings a bill again.

While it is my job to represent the district, it is also my job to do what I believe is in the best interest of Nebraska. This bill is shortsighted. LR416CA is a bill that would have been a constitutional amendment to authorize casino gaming, provide for a local vote and it was a bill that I could have supported going out to the voters, though I would not personally vote for it on the election ballot. Unfortunately, LB416CA did not even get a vote in committee.

Northeast Nebraska RC&D hears of Farm-to-School Program, upcoming events

The Northeast Nebraska Resource Conservation & Development (RC&D) Council met March 24 at the Winside Public Library.

Caryl Guisinger, Center for Rural Affairs Farm-to-School Fellow, shared information on this program's progression around the country. Nebraska is one of only seven states without a farm-to-school program. Caryl said that one third of US children under age 17 are overweight and only two percent of US children eat sufficient fruits and vegetables.

Farm-to-School programs are seeing many gains through improved K-12 academic achievement, fewer behavioral issues, and improved diets. Participating farmers have seen a five percent increase in income, new opportunities for diversity, and they have developed positive connections with students. Communities are seeing it as a win-win for everyone.

The RC&D Council voted to start a Farm-to-School project and will be seeking input from citizens and schools.

Document Shredding of sensitive materials will be offered on May 8 at the Orchard Public Library, Plainview's Midwest Bank, and Creighton's Midwest Bank. On Friday, May 9 the service will be provided in Ponca at the Co-op, Hartington at the Lewis & Clark NRD office, and in Wayne at the Courthouse. Security Shredding of Laurel will be the contractor.

A Grant Writing Workshop is scheduled for Thursday, April 17 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Serendipity Restaurant in Plainview. Six state agencies and organizations will be sharing information on how to be successful in securing their grants. Registrations are due by April 10.

Recycling of electronics will be offered soon and Recycletronics from Sioux City will again be the contractor. Locations will be in Tilden, Hartington, Creighton, and Plainview. Dates are yet to be determined and the public is being asked watch for more information.

Free radon test kits are still available at the RC&D office.

For more information about any of the RC&D programs or services please contact the office at 402-582-4866 or email northeastred@plvw-telco.net.

The virtual field trip starts here

Youth love to use technology! More and more youth also have access to iPhone's and iPads! So why not use this technology to take them on a virtual field trip (VFT).

A VFT is a guided exploration using the internet. There are numerous interactive sites out there that are topic-specific, age targeted and organized to take your club members on an unforgettable trip! A VFT is a real time guided field trip that creates "real" experiences for students. Some are in a movie format and others have still photos and descriptions. Where else can you "take a trip" to see The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Campus and Hershey's Chocolate Park in Pennsylvania all in the same day!

A VFT gives the opportunity for members to explore and see places, things, and people that you don't normally see on a typical day. These "trips" can spark your member's interest and motivate their learning in a specific curriculum area.

The VFT is also very cost effective. Most are free! Check out some of the great website below to enhance your club meetings!

Minerva Club gathers at Senior Center

Marilyn Wallin hosted Minerva Club at the Senior Center on March 24.

The 13 members present shared their grandmother's names for roll call. President Connie Webber opened the meeting by reminding members of questions to ask if someone might be having a stroke. She also gave some appropriate responses if you are caught napping on the job.

In reviewing club minutes from Oct. 12, 1929, Historian, Hollis Frese noted the program honored Christopher Columbus while the Oct. 26 meeting highlights included a program on Romeo and Juliet and making plans for a joint meeting on Nov. 9 at the Wayne Community House with other local clubs.

The birthday song was sung for the four members having March birthdays.

Marilyn Wallin began her program on the 1980's Decade by reporting that on May 18, 1980 Mount St. Helens erupted at 8:32 a.m. It remained active until 1986. The avalanche was triggered by a 5.1 earthquake causing a gap in the mountain. A total of 57 people were killed. In 1981 Lady Diana married Prince Charles. The couple had two sons, William and Harry. On Jan. 28, 1986 the Space Shuttle Challenger disaster occurred 73 seconds into launch, disintegrating over the Atlantic Ocean killing all crew members, including teacher Christa McAuliffe. Failure of an O-ring seal was listed as the cause.

Connie Webber will host the next meeting at the Senior Center on Monday, April 14.

The meeting began with Pastor Makelin reading a selection from 2 Samuel 24, leading in prayer and all present praying The Lord's Prayer.

The Rev. Makelin gave the lesson, "At What Cost?" taken from the Lutheran Witness.

The LWML Song, "Lutheran Women, One and All," was sung by all as the mite box offering was taken.

Darlene Bowers presided at the business meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer's report were given.

Correspondence dealt with the District Convention schedule as well as the LWML Spring Workshop.

Hope Lutheran Church in South Sioux City will host the LWML Christian Growth Workshop on Tuesday, April 29, beginning with registration at 9 a.m. Ingathering items will benefit Haven House. A list of items needed will be posted on the church bulletin board, so all who wish may contribute before April 29.

The upcoming District Convention, to be hosted by the Wayne Zone LWML, will be Friday and Saturday, June 20-21 at Lutheran High Northeast in Norfolk.

Discussion was held on the soup and sandwich suppers held each Wednesday during Lent, before Lenten worship.

One get-well card has been mailed since the last meeting.

The congregation will have a potluck dinner after the 10:30 a.m. worship service. The youth of the church will be waving palm branches as worship begins. Bring a dish to share in fellowship after worship. Beef and vegetable soup will also be available.

On Maundy Thursday, April 17, a come and go Communion will be held from 3-5:30 p.m.

The Good Friday Service on April 18 will be held at 5:30 p.m. It will be an inspirational service that will bring a new perspective to the death and resurrection of Jesus our Lord. This will be the same service that will be held in Randolph at 7:30 p.m. and in Wausa on Thursday evening April 17 at 7 p.m. This gives church members three opportunities to experience this amazing service.

Easter Morning Worship on Sunday, April 20 will be at 6:30 a.m., followed by a breakfast. The women of the church are in charge of this year's breakfast. A freewill offering will be taken.

Visit from Superzero

Is it a bird? Is it a plane? No, it is Superzero! Superzero flew into the Winside first-grade classroom, where he administered the Oath to make the young students Jr. Superzeros. He read a book titled "Zero Is the Number of Leaves on the Tree" and led the class in several math activities. He concluded his visit by flying with the students through the corridors while counting by 10's to 100. Some say that Superzero bears a strong resemblance to ESU 1's Director of Special Education, Stuart Clark.

Irene Fork hosts Center Circle Club

Irene Fork hosted the March 27 Center Circle Club meeting at Jensen's AK Cafe with seven members present.

Club President Georgia Jansen called the meeting to order. Secretary Janice Jaeger took roll call of "A habit I want to break". She also read the secretary report. No treasurer's report was given.

Members voted to donate $10 to the Wayne County Fair for the 12 and under open class division. Irene Fork will get it to the appropriate person. Members looked at some old club photos and will try to get a current photo of everyone for the Q125 History Book coming up.

A thank you was read from Betty Miller's family and photos of the flowers the club gave for her funeral were shared.

Thirteen-point blind pitch was played for fun with prizes going to Shirley Bowers, Helen Holtgrew and Dianne Jaeger.

USDA announces extension of MILC program

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) Administrator Juan M. Garcia today announced the extension of the Milk Income Loss Contract (MILC) program. The extended MILC protects dairy farmers enrolled in the program against income loss through Sept. 1, 2014, or until a new Margin Protection Program for dairy producers (MPP), established by the 2014 Farm Bill, is operational. Contracts for eligible producers enrolled in MILC on or before Sept. 30, 2013, are automatically extended until the termination date of the MILC program. Dairy operations with approved MILC contracts will continue to receive monthly payments if a payment rate is in effect. MILC compensates enrolled dairy producers when the Boston Class I milk price falls below $16.94 per hundredweight (cwt), after adjustment for the cost of dairy feed rations. MILC payments are calculated each month using the latest milk price and feed cost, just as in the 2008 Farm Bill. The payment rate for October 2013 through January 2014 marketings is zero. Payment rates during the months after January 2014 until the termination of the MILC program will be determined as the appropriate data becomes available. Since MILC payments are limited to a maximum amount of milk production each fiscal year, dairy operations may select a production start month other than October

2013 (the start of fiscal year 2014). Producers who want to select a different production start month must visit their local FSA office between April 14, 2014, and May 30, 2014. FSA will provide producers with information on program requirements, updates and sign-ups as the information becomes available. For more information on MILC, contact a local FSA county office or visit the FSA website at www.fsa.usda.gov

Options available for fertilizing pastures

Is nitrogen fertilizer too expensive for pasture? It might be unless your fertilizer applications and grazing are managed well. After adding nitrogen to your pastures in past years, did your grass grow really nice in April and May? Then did it get stemmy in June with cows trampling and laying on more of it than eating it? And by August was most of the grass brown or dead, much of it matted down, with the only green material so short that cows could barely get any of it?

Fall-planted rye, triticale, and wheat as well as spring pastures soon should be ready to graze. These fields can give great grazing, but be sure you take steps to avoid problems with grass tetany. Grass tetany is caused by low blood magnesium. Low blood magnesium can be due to low levels of magnesium in lush spring grass, but it also is caused by mineral imbalances like high potassium and nitrogen or low calcium in the diet. Grass tetany primarily affects older, heavy milking cows or sheep, but young stock also can be affected. It occurs most frequently in spring during cool, cloudy, moist conditions when lush, immature grass starts growing rapidly. Cattle or sheep affected by tetany often graze away from the herd, are irritable, show muscle twitching, awkwardness, and staggering, and they are somewhat wide-eyed and staring. When affected severely, the animal will collapse, thrash around, throw its head back, maybe lapse into a coma, and possibly die. To prevent grass tetany, first wait to graze until grass is more than 6 inches tall. Also, feed or graze legumes like clover or alfalfa when you start on pasture since they have high magnesium levels.

pasture growth as if you had fertilized everything to begin with, but without spending as much. If your pastures often are overgrown in spring and run out in summer, change fertilizer timing. You'll get more grass when you want it or maybe save some money. Source: Bruce Anderson, Extension Forage Specialist, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, (402) 472-6237.

Advice offered to prevent grass tetany

Fall-planted rye, triticale, and wheat as well as spring pastures soon should be ready to graze. These fields can give great grazing, but be sure you take steps to avoid problems with grass tetany. Grass tetany is caused by low blood magnesium. Low blood magnesium can be due to low levels of magnesium in lush spring grass, but it also is caused by mineral imbalances like high potassium and nitrogen or low calcium in the diet. Grass tetany primarily affects older, heavy milking cows or sheep, but young stock also can be affected. It occurs most frequently in spring during cool, cloudy, moist conditions when lush, immature grass starts growing rapidly. Cattle or sheep affected by tetany often graze away from the herd, are irritable, show muscle twitching, awkwardness, and staggering, and they are somewhat wide-eyed and staring. When affected severely, the animal will collapse, thrash around, throw its head back, maybe lapse into a coma, and possibly die. To prevent grass tetany, first wait to graze until grass is more than 6 inches tall. Also, feed or graze legumes like clover or alfalfa when you start on pasture since they have high magnesium levels.

Feeding about 10 to 20 grams per day of supplemental magnesium via commercial or home-made salt-mineral mixes may be the best way to reduce tetany problems, but start supplementing as much as 30 days before grazing begins. Magnesium oxide is one of the best and cheapest sources of magnesium. Mix equal parts of magnesium oxide with dical, salt, and ground corn for a simple home-made supplement that provides adequate magnesium when each cow eats about one pound of the mix per week. As always, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Gov. Heineman appoints student reps to NSCS Board of Trustees

Gov. Dave Heineman has appointed Jacob Rissler of Gillette, Wyo., Rachel Henry of Peru and Matthew Mullins of Falls City as student representatives on the Nebraska State College System (NSCS) Board of Trustees. The students will serve during the 2014-2015 academic year. Rissler, a junior at Chadron State College (CSC), is a business administration major who is the CSC student association president and a senior resident advisor for the CSC residence life association. Rissler has been involved in numerous organizations and received several honors. He was one of two students chosen to represent the CSC student senate at the American-Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC) Policy Conference in Washington, DC. Rissler is the son of Denise Guy of Gillette, Wyo. He succeeds Danny Reynaga of Alliance. Henry is a junior at Peru State College (PSC) and is majoring in business administration with an emphasis in management. She is president-elect of the Phi Beta Lambda business club and the director/founder of "Feeding 44," a mobile food distribution program for Nemaha County (No. 44). Henry serves as an AmeriCorps Service Scholar and has participated in a number of research and program activities promoting wellness and educating the public on the current obesity epidemic. She currently works in the admissions office at PSC and helps parents, prospective students and high school counselors with the admissions process. Henry is the daughter of Todd and Shauna Henry of Peru. She succeeds Jessica Merrill of Murray. Mullins is a freshman at Wayne State College (WSC) and is majoring in speech communication and psychology with a minor in international studies. He is a member of the student senate and is enrolled in WSC's honor program. In high school, Mullins was involved in numerous clubs and activities and served in leadership roles in the student council, the national honors society and the pep club. In addition, he was class president and a local community volunteer. In his application letter, Mullins said, "A student trustee must have a positive mental attitude and represent one's college well. Putting oneself into one's work can make all the difference. As the student trustee, I would give myself, my energy, and my time to make sure that the job is done well. I love Wayne State and want to do everything I can for the betterment of this fine establishment." In her letter of recommendation, Dr. Deborah Whitt, director of the WSC honors program, said, "Matthew is hardworking, dedicated, dependable, polite and personable. He demonstrates campus leadership abilities and is a most worthy candidate to represent Wayne State College as a student trustee." Mullins is the son of Dave and Jeannie Mullins of Falls City. He succeeds Madison Becker of Hartington.

Mystery of phone problem solved

The cookie jar was empty. I had kept it that way because when there are cookies in it, I'm the one who eats them. But I needed some cookies, and I didn't have any chocolate chips. I did have chopped walnuts, and I remembered a recipe my Mom used to make, using walnuts and oatmeal, rolled into logs and chilled before baking.

I dug out the old church cook book from about 30 years ago, and there it was. I was in the middle of rolling the logs when the phone rang. My classmate and now neighbor was calling to check out the name and phone number for the piano tuner. We were halfway through the conversation when she could not hear me. We redialed and tried again; same problem. So, I used the cell phone to finish the call, telling her this had happened before and I would be calling Time Warner if it kept up.

The next day, the same thing was going on, so I put in the customer service numbers for the cable company and went on hold, while someone told me all about upcoming TV shows. Finally, a live voice of someone in Lincoln answered and tried all kinds of things from where he was sitting. Nothing helped. He said the next appointment date for service was on Sunday; this was Thursday. I pleaded for mercy, saying that the Big Farmer has a Life Call and it had to have a land line.

Next thing I knew, there were two young men with tool belts on at the door. The first thing they did was check to see if what I reported was actually happening. Then, they checked the phone in the basement; it had a line sound. Oh, oh, that made it look like the problem was vice was on Sunday; this was Thursday. I pleaded for mercy, saying that the Big Farmer has a Life Call and it had to have a land line.

Next thing I knew, there were two young men with tool belts on at the door. The first thing they did was check to see if what I reported was actually happening. Then, they checked the phone in the basement; it had a line sound. Oh, oh, that made it look like the problem was in my phone and not their problem at all.

They asked for a Q-Tip, which I was happy to provide. There was some beige stuff in a crevice at the bottom of the phone; it popped out with the Q-Tip. Then, a toothpick revealed a tiny slit under that; apparently, that is where the mike for my voice is. Yes, it was dried cookie dough that was obstructing the sound! Oh, how embarrassing.

The guys were very nice about it, and cheerfully went on about their job that day. But I wasn't done. Somehow, I lost the mailbox key between the box and our front door! I looked in all the pockets, the jacket I wore, the jeans, the floor in the coat closet. AND, this was the one and only key; I had meant to get a copy made and of course, had procrastinated. Now, I would suffer for it.

The sad part is, this is the second time I've lost a mailbox key; there seems to be a Bermuda Triangle from the kiosk to our door. Furthermore, it took a lot longer to get a locksmith here than a cable repair man. And, of course, it was not part of the service; there was a fee for the new lock; but I now have two keys!

I tried not to do anything too technical or dangerous the rest of the week! Some days are just like that.

How to handle winter annuals in crops, warm weather lawn care

It doesn't seem like it because of the recent cold temperatures that have kept plants from coming out of dormancy, but soon winter annual weeds will be greening up and beginning to grow vigorously. Some crop fields will even turn purple by planting time.

What is the impact of winter annual weeds and what should you think about in planning control programs?

Winter annual weeds begin germinating in early fall, and some species (especially mare's tail) continue to germinate until after planting. Depending on the species, they begin flowering in early to mid-April and most set seed and senesce by mid-June or earlier.

Control of winter annuals is relatively easy in the fall and early spring, but harder once they begin flowering as they are less susceptible to herbicides. In addition, the time between the start of flowering and when they have viable seeds can be relatively brief. Henbit, for example, produces mature seeds within two weeks of flowering. Plants can be flowering and shedding mature seeds at the same time.

Because winter annual weeds are small and their growth doesn't overlap extensively with crop development, their impact on grain yield is sometimes overlooked. In areas where dense winter annual weed infestations occurs, we recommend controlling those weeds at least two weeks before planting to protect against yield loss. In addition, controlling winter annual weeds before mid-April will reduce the risk of weeds going to seed and increasing winter annual weed pressure in subsequent years.

Ag Happenings
Keith Jarvi
Extension Educator

Warm weather brings lawn work, but don't be in a hurry to apply fertilizer just yet. It is more important now to clean up the yard and reseed damaged areas. It may be worth it to wait a couple of weeks to see if your brown areas green back up. Bluegrass is tough and can recover through underground rhizomes.

However, after last summer's drought, some areas are bound to require reseeding. If you decide you have to replant, seed as soon as possible. Do not apply any herbicides prior to reseeding or within two or three mowings unless allowed on the label.

It's too early to apply fertilizer to your lawn now. Heavy spring fertilization should be avoided. Cool-season turf needs little additional encouragement to grow and applying too much fertilizer in late March and April causes excess shoot growth at the expense of root growth and uses up valuable storage products needed for summer performance. Early spring fertilization should be reserved for the professionals, while most homeowners should wait until after the first growth flush to apply fertilizer.

Once emerged, grasses grow from their crown and thus it greens up from the base in the spring. The end result is that even though the turf looks brown from above, it may be green and growing underneath. Now is the time to check your mower's mowing height, sharpen the blade, and start the mower to guarantee it is ready to go when needed. Lawns eventually should be mowed at 3-3.5 inches throughout the year and ideally often enough to remove no more than one-third of the leaf blade. This will keep the lawn at optimum thickness to provide enough height to shade itself in the summer and provide competition for weeds.

For the first couple of mowings you can lower the blade a bit but bring it up to 3-3.5 inches when the lawn begins to grow quickly. It is better to mow too often than not enough and return the clippings unless they are composted or used on the garden.

Weed control can also wait a while, so stay ready but hold off for now. Crabgrass control should not go on until late April at the earliest.

Put extra hay to good use

The open winter left many of you with more hay left over than expected. Save some of that hay in case of drought, but any extra hay might provide extra value used strategically.

Get extra value from carryover hay by using that hay in ways that will be valuable especially to you. Usually that means feeding hay instead of something else that would be more expensive. Another option, though, is to feed hay so you can make other resources more profitable.

For example, replace old, thinning alfalfa fields with new seedings this spring. Then use carryover hay to substitute for lost yield during this seeding year. Future hay yields from new fields should be more abundant and reliable.

Or how about adding legumes to cool-season grass pastures or hay meadows. We usually lose some forage production during legume establishment as you control competition from the existing sod, but your carryover hay can be fed instead as needed. Better grazing and meadow production should be the result.

Another possibility that would be especially useful this year is to feed hay a little longer this spring before turning cows out to pasture. Or maybe feed this hay mid-summer to provide extra rest and recovery for your pastures, increasing their productivity. Grass weakened by heavy grazing the past couple of years then will get extra time to recover before experiencing this year's stress of grazing.

You also could use less fertilizer on pastures or haylands and make up for the reduced production with your carryover hay. Or chop less silage and use hay next winter instead.

If you think about other ways you can use that hay yourself, maybe you, too, can find its extra value.

In this moment...
Nothing compares to the sense of pride you feel when you first head outside in the morning.
When it comes to protecting your farm, it doesn't matter if you saved money in 15 minutes.
It doesn't matter if the guy down the road has the same insurance you do.
What matters right now is the quality of your independent insurance agent and the company that stands behind them.

AN UPDATE FROM DAVE

Crews are doing whatever the weather will let them do. They actually put roof sheets down at the start of the week. It has been too windy most of the time to do this.

Plumbers and electricians are working. The plumber is putting the main water line in across the shop and the sewer line is being put in.

There is always something going on - whatever the weather will let them do.

We have at least two new corn planters yet. Equipment will be ready before anyone is ready to go to the field. There is still time to do tractor and planter checkups. There are still some good used planters for sale.

You have been hearing about a new John Deere corn planter. You can see this by going to JohnDeere.com. We will have one of these here in late May. We will be able to order these in June. There is some new technology on these units. You can find out about them by calling the sales office at 402-375-3325. The service number is 402-833-0088.

Everything is progressing inside now. When the ground is thawed they will be putting everything in the ground that needs to go in the ground before the concrete is poured. Once that happens, things will go faster.

SPEEDING RECOVERING FROM SURGERY

A sudden fall. A serious diagnosis. Surgery isn't always something you can plan for. Even so, you can take steps to make recovery at home a little faster and safer. You just might need to depend on others for extra help. With the benefit of advance planning, of course, do what you can before the day of surgery.

Simplify. What felt easy before surgery may suddenly feel a little like mountain climbing. Take a few simple steps now to eliminate steps later.

- Stock up on food and other supplies. Buy ready-made meals or prepare and freeze single meals.
- Put items you use often within easy reach—between waist and shoulder level.
- Make sure your bed is firm enough to support you while you recover.
- Stay on the same floor as a nearby bathroom. Or buy a portable commode to put by the bed.
- Put a portable or cell phone within easy reach. Keep handy the numbers you will need to call, like the doctors office, neighbor, relative and pharmacy.
- Place a firm-backed chair in rooms you use most often.
- Use a pack to carry items with you around the house. Place the phone inside in case you fall and need to call for help.

Ask for help. If not now, when? Remind yourself that most people feel good about helping out. So when someone says, "What can I do?" be specific. You might say something like this: "I need help getting the dog walked twice a week." "A home-cooked meal tomorrow would be terrific." "If I give you a list, can you run to the store for me once a week?"

Will you need help with basic things like bathing and transportation, but don't have anyone at home who can help? Ask the doctor, nurse, or social worker how to find trained caregivers.¹

- Safe-proof the bathroom. Unless you make a few changes, this room can be dangerous.
- Consider buying an elevated toilet seat and a shower or bath chair.
- Install grab bars vertically or horizontally. Don't ever use towel racks as grab bars.
- Add non-slip suction mats in the tub and a non-skid mat outside the tub.
- Place soap and shampoo where you won't need to reach for it.¹

Remember that you can purchase some of these special items in our store.

Prevent falls. Do what you can to remove tripping hazards. Remove loose wires, cords, and throw rugs in walkways. Add extra lighting, for example, nightlights to hallways and bathrooms. Keep your hands free when moving from room to room. Practice using crutches, a walker, or wheel chair.¹

Follow instructions. After surgery, you'll likely go home with special instructions on incision care. To prevent infections, make sure you understand how to care for your incision. For example, call the doctor if you see pus or the incision becomes really painful.^{2,3}

Also, take medications exactly as prescribed. If you have questions about any of this, remember that I'm here to guide you in the proper use of your medications. Remember that pain control can help you get moving, which can speed your healing and help prevent complications. Let your doctor and me know if pain medication isn't working or is causing side effects.⁴ There's no reason to suffer in silence!

Nothing herein constitutes medical advice, diagnosis or treatment, or is a substitute for professional advice. You should always seek the advice of your physician or other medical professional if you have questions or concerns about a medical condition.
