Ice Bucket Challenge 'cool' way for locals to help out

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

They've been seen all over the Internet – videos shot in back yards, driveways and even near a school entrance.

The craze of shooting videos in support of ALS has reached well beyond critical mass as people of all shapes, sizes, races and genders have taken the "Ice Bucket Challenge."

The phenomenon started several months ago when professional golfer Chris Kennedy was believed to be the first to use the challenge to raise awareness for ALS research, challenging a cousin whose husband was stricken with the disease. Since then, the ALS Foundation's coffers have exploded with the worldwide generosity. While a normal year finds $1.4 million coming to the organization, the past few months have seen an exponentially higher number coming in, with reports of as much as $9 million in a single day being raised and almost $90 million being pledged as of Wednesday morning.

The origins of the challenge go back to last year when the "Cold Water Challenge" became popular in the effort to donate to cancer research. By this summer, however, the focus of the challenge turned to ALS, promoting awareness of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, also known as Lou Gehrig's Disease.

The rules of the challenge are simple – once you are challenged, you have 24 hours to provide video evidence, through Facebook or other social media, of having taken the challenge and donated $10 to ALS fundraising efforts. If you refuse to take the challenge, you are supposed to donate $100. Once you take the challenge, you can challenge others to do the same.

Challenges have come in just about every possible form, from the challenged dumping a bucket over his or her own head in the backyard to a group of people – like the Winside High School volleyball team – getting a skid loader full of ice water poured over them in the school parking lot.

Justin Raulston, assistant pastor at Journey Christian Church, was challenged by a number of people, and he was more than happy to take part in the challenge.

"It's obviously been very successful. Hopefully, they'll be able to find a cure for this disease with the money they're raising."

– Mark Lenihan, Wayne superintendent of schools

"I like anything that raises awareness and makes people check things out, and it was fun to involve my kids," he said, adding that they poured a "big cooking pot full" of water over his head.

Raulston said the challenge was an opportunity for him to educate his children, as well as have fun at his expense.

"We got to talk about ALS and why it's important to give money to causes that don't have a cure, and it was a chance for me to teach my kids about being generous," he said.

Wayne superintendent of schools Mark Lenihan was one of a number of school officials who were challenged, and he took part in an after-school shower outside the junior-senior high school with three teachers, Terry Bear, Rob Sweetland and Tucker Haight.

"It was cold," he said of the shower he and the teachers received. "We had a bunch of buckets up there thrown on us."

Lenihan was more than happy to take part in the challenge, and said it has brought a lot of awareness and support for ALS.

"It's been good to bring that awareness to the public more," he said. "I thought it was also good for the kids to take part in it and know what's going on, and we tried to explain to them what we're doing and why."

Judging from the kids' reaction, it seemed they enjoyed watching their teachers and superintendent get dumped on.

"I'm sure they enjoyed it," he said, laughing. "But it's an easy thing to do and it's obviously been very successful. Hopefully, they'll be able to find a cure for this disease with the money they're raising."

One of the first area challenges that could be found on YouTube was actually a part of the "Chillin' For Charity" effort that was put on by the Women's College Basketball Association.

Wayne State athletic director Mike Powicki took part in the challenge, along with Wayne State women's coach Chris Kilemeier, assistant coach Katelin Oney and men's basketball coach Brian Dolan.

"Ours was a little different because it wasn't part of the ALS challenge, but was more a broad challenge where we had the option to choose our charity," Powicki said. "Our women's basketball program got challenged, and Chris asked me and Brian Dolan to do it as well."

Powicki's donation was to go to the Wayne Food Pantry, and he challenged the athletic directors from fellow NSIC schools at Upper Iowa and Minnesota State University to take part in the challenge.

"It was good, but it seemed like it took forever," Powicki said. "Kim and Adam Endicott helped pour the water, and Adam took his time dumping the five gallons of ice water on my head. It was cold, but it was worth it."

Even this writer has been in on the action, taking the plunge in front of the student body at Wayne High School last week (video of the challenge is available on The Wayne Herald's Facebook page). Challenges were passed on to friends and other notable local residents before four high school kids each dumped five-gallon buckets of ice water that – considering the warm and muggy conditions of the day – wasn't nearly as cold as one might think, and was actually quite refreshing.

That it has raised so much money and so much awareness is part of what has made it so fun to be a part of, Raulston said.

"I like it from the aspect that it was more about raising awareness than money, but the money that's been raised has gone through the roof," he said. "I've seen a lot of videos on Facebook of people taking the challenge, and it's really educated a lot of people and raised awareness."

Bark For Life event is coming to Wayne

Bark For Life of Wayne County will be held Saturday, Sept. 6, at the Bark Park, located in the southeast portion of Wayne.

Activities are scheduled from 9-11 a.m. at the Bark Park, located on East Fourth Street behind the softball fields.

Bark For Life presents an opportunity for people to be empowered through their canine companion partnerships and to contribute to cancer cures through the mission of the American Cancer Society.

"This is a great outing for you and your dog. You will have an opportunity to learn more about preventative measures to keep your dog healthy, take part in some special activities with your dog, meet some new friends and catch up with some old ones and enjoy a morning supporting a wonderful cause," said Jessi Hansen, one of the organizers for the event.

Canine Caregivers are Canine Companions, Guide Dogs, Service Dogs, Rescue Dogs, Therapy Dogs, Police Dogs, Cancer Survivor Dogs, and Diagnostic Dogs, who with their owners, are joining the American Cancer Society as Relay teams. They participate to celebrate cancer survivorship, to honor people lost to cancer, and to fund-raise in support of the American Cancer Society mission of eliminating cancer through research, education, advocacy and service.

Families and their dogs come together for a few hours during the day and complete a walk to honor the care giving qualities of their canine "Best Friends" and cancer survivors. There will also be a special presentation, doggie games, a talent show and special demonstrations.

Family and professional dogs bring the warm hearted feelings of wagging tails to the ACS Bark For Life to make the Bark a happy and meaningful community event to support the mission of the American Cancer Society.

Anyone with questions or who would like to learn how to register a dog for the Bark For Life of Wayne County, is asked to contact Hansen at jessihansen17@gmail.com or call (402) 360-1283.

Cheering on the Huskers? Be wary of traffic issues

An increased Nebraska State Patrol presence is planned for Husker home football games during the 2014 season.

Troopers and communications specialists with the Nebraska State Patrol Headquarters Troop-Lincoln and Troop A-Omaha will be working overtime hours during the first four Husker home games (Aug. 30, Sept. 6, 20, 27), thanks in part to a $13,160 grant from the Nebraska Office of Highway Safety.

The Nebraska State Patrol Aviation Support Division will also be in the air assisting troopers and providing traffic reports both before and after the games.

Traffic volume tends to increase during Husker home games. Fans traveling to and from Memorial Stadium can expect congestion and delays, and are encouraged to give themselves plenty of time.

Nebraska's Advanced Traveler Information System can be utilized to keep up today with the latest conditions. Motorists can access the 511 Mobile Traveler Site at www.ndortraveler.mobi or www.511.nebraska.gov by dialing 511 from any cell phone.

Anyone who observes a reckless driver, or anyone in need of non-emergency roadside assistance should call *55 from their cell phone. Report emergencies to 911.

Manson named new softball coach at Wayne State College

Shelli Manson, head coach at Westminster College in Missouri, has been named the new softball coach at Wayne State College, according to a text message released by the college to The Wayne Herald this afternoon.

"I would like to thank Athletic Director Mike Powicki and the entire search committee for giving me the privilege to be a part of the Wildcat family," Manson said in a news release by the school Monday. "I'm looking forward to continuing the tradition of winning, along with building on the foundation of success, that has been established with the softball program at Wayne State."

Manson has served the last five seasons as head coach at the NCAA Div. III school and inherited a program that was last place in the conference and elevated the team to second place in 2013 and fourth place in 2014. Prior to that, she was an assistant coach for three years at Louisiana Tech, and she was a graduate assistant at Defiance College in Ohio from 2004-2006. Manson was a standout player at Muskingum College in Ohio where she played on the 2001 NCAA Div. III national championship team and was in the NCAA tournament all four years as a player.

"We are excited to have someone of Shelli's experience and character to take the helm of our Wildcat softball program," Powicki said. "I am confident with the foundation that is already in place, and with the addition of Coach Manson, our softball program will continue to excel and thrive within the NSIC and NCAA Div. II."

Manson takes over for Krista Wood, who stepped down earlier this summer after eight years with the Wildcats to take the head coaching job at South Dakota State University. She was 270-154 during her tenure, guiding the Wildcats to a conference title and a super regional appearance.

Teams forming for Alzheimer's walk

The Alzheimer's Association is inviting Wayne residents to become "Champions in the fight against Alzheimer's" by participating in the annual Walk to End Alzheimer's.

Wayne's Bressler Park will be site of the walk on Saturday, Oct. 11, beginning at 10 a.m.

More than 5 million Americans are living with Alzheimer's disease, including an estimated 33,000 Nebraska residents. As baby boomers age, the number of individuals living with Alzheimer's will rapidly escalate. Funds raised by the Walk to End Alzheimer's will benefit the Alzheimer's Association Nebraska Chapter, helping provide care and support services to Nebraska residents, fund Alzheimer's research and advocate for Alzheimer's-related legislative issues.

The Walk to End Alzheimer's is the nation's largest event to raise awareness and funds for Alzheimer's care, support, and research programs. Held annually in hundreds of communities across the country, this inspiring event calls volunteers of all ages to become Champions in the fight against Alzheimer's.

Teams are currently being formed to walk against the nation's sixth leading cause of death. Community groups, families, friends, and organizations alike are encouraged to come together for the cause.

The Wayne event will include a ceremony honoring local champions in the fight, a walk through the park, and a chance to honor those affected by Alzheimer's or other related dementias.

To sign up for the walk or for more information, contact Liz Brummond at (402) 375-1500 or visit the website at act.alz.org/wayne2014.

Foster parents to be recognized

September has been designated as National Foster Parent Appreciation Month. In observance of this, Building Blocks for Community Enrichment is hosting an event to honor our foster parents.

The event will be held Saturday, Sept. 6 from 4-7 p.m. at Miss Molly's Coffee Company, located at 203 Main Street in Wayne. Included will be dinner, entertainment and foster parent years of service awards.

Building Blocks for Community Enrichment is a non-profit agency that provides licensing and supportive services to foster parents in northeast and north central Nebraska. The agency covers 42 counties and has offices in South Sioux City, Norfolk and O'Neill.

There are currently 28 families with five or more years of dedicated service to youth and families in Nebraska and three of those with over 30 years of service.

With over 3,500 Nebraska youth in out of home care (foster homes, group homes, shelters, etc.) and more entering every day, the need for more foster homes is ominous.

For more information on becoming a foster parent, contact Tonya Bauman, Building Blocks recruiting and training specialist, at (402) 851-1097.

Arnie's Huyck earns honors

Daryl Huyck, service technician at Arnie's Ford in Wayne, has recently earned several achievements in the 2014 Masters program through the Ford Customer Service Division.

Huyck was one of 460 technicians in the Twin City Region who earned the title of Chassis Master. He was one of 433 technicians in the region who earned the status of Engine Master.

According to Frederiek Tony, president of the Ford Customer Service Division, "As vehicle technology progresses, it requires increased levels of knowledge and skill for technicians to effectively complete advanced diagnostic and repair operations. The accomplishment we celebrate today demonstrates Daryl's support of our joint commitment to highly trained personnel. Most importantly, this commitment fulfills our customer's expectations that their vehicles are repaired by highly-skilled, factory-trained technicians."

Wakefield residents talk tornado

More than 50 community members from Wakefield gathered at the Wakefield Fire Hall last week to discuss the work that was done in the aftermath of June's severe weather that hit the area. Representatives from emergency management groups in Wayne and Dixon counties, along with Wakefield Fire officials, were on hand to assess what was done well and what could be done better the next time a disaster strikes.

Signs of aging sometimes funny

I get the cute little cartoons and funny jingles by email all the time about the aging process. Some strike me as sadly, too true! But our lunch bunch that gets together every other month to reminisce about our student nurse days were sympathizing with each other this month! We visited a church pew company after the meal, and I will have to tell you about that another time.

First of all, five of us had to get into a Buick to drive to the pew factory; three of us had a hard time getting in and out! The driver, my cousin, bless her, has walked on a tread mill for thirty minutes six days a week most of her adult life. I did not see any disability from her. And the other gal, who is actually two years older than the rest of us, did okay. But the three of us who got into the back seat did so with grunting and groaning. For one thing, the seats are quite low compared to a Ford Escape; that's my excuse!

Secondly, we all could not believe how heavy things have become! I for sure cannot bring home the forty pound bags of water softener salt and I certainly can't get them into the softener. I did that all the time on the acreage.

The Farmer's Wife
By: Pat Meierhenry

I can't lift my portable sewing machine; it's a Viking and I've always been proud of how well it's made. Now, I'm looking for someone to give it to. Along with the Kitchen Aide mixer! My word, I can't even move it across the counter.

Third, the restaurant portions are too large! They give one look at us and come back with the Styrofoam boxes.

Several ladies in our association go to movies on Tuesday afternoons because tickets are just $5. Last week, Shirley and her friend, Lou, went to the one nearest us and of course, they all feature several screens and several movies playing at once.

So, once inside, they got tickets and they proceeded to hunt for the right entrance. As they paraded up and down in front of the kids behind the concession stand, Shirley started laughing and asked them if they got a kick out of all the old ladies who got lost in the place. They responded, "Every Tuesday!"

You see, it's universal. I guess we can take comfort in the fact that we are all in the same boat. We sympathize with each other while trying to remember names. We understand when someone begins expounding on a subject and then loses her train of thought.

Then we laugh and say, "Well, we are all still here!" And plan for our next luncheon, which will take us to Tecumseh and a Christmas tree farm! Sounds fun to me, but I think I will offer to drive!

Fire blight affecting fruit trees

Fire blight is a bacterial disease that affects apple, crabapple, pear, and related tree species. Fire blight is active this year, especially in ornamental pears. Here is some information about this disease from Kelly Feehan.

For a disease to infect a plant, three factors must be present. A susceptible plant, the pathogen, and environmental conditions conducive to infection. If any one of these is missing, a plant disease will not become an issue. Fire blight is most often seen following conditions of cool temperatures, frequent rains with windy conditions, and when plant growth is rapid and succulent. We have had these conditions this year and susceptible plants may be infected. Symptoms range from flower buds dying in early spring to a reddish browning or blackening of leaves near the ends of branches to twig or branch dieback. Cankers may also be found on tree branches.

The bacteria overwinters in twig and branch cankers. It oozes from cankers in early spring and is spread by insects, rain and wind. Careless pruning will also spread the bacteria. Blossoms are often infected first because pollinating insects carry the bacteria from oozing cankers to flowers. Infected blossoms turn brown and die, but tree owners may view this as natural blossom death. New shoot growth is also susceptible to infection in spring and early summer. If infected, the tips wilt, die and may curve to create a shepherd's hook appearance. It appears that a flame has been applied to the area, from which the term "fire blight" comes from. Terminal infections can kill up to a foot of branch ends.

Twigs and branches become infected through wounds, such as those made by pruning or hail. The bacteria can also move from infected blossoms or shoot tips into branches. Cankers then develop and appear as discolored, sunken, or oozing areas.

The best way to avoid fire blight is to not plant susceptible varieties. Take time to research varieties, ask at garden centers and nurseries, or check with your local Extension office to learn if a variety is highly susceptible or resistant.

Since fire blight infects fast growing, succulent shoots, avoid applying nitrogen fertilizer to susceptible trees. Nebraska soils are fertile enough for most trees. Trees growing in fertilized lawns receive plenty, if not too much, nitrogen. Do not fertilize landscape trees unless they show signs of low fertility. Once a tree is infected, reduce fire blight by pruning and destroying diseased branches. Pruning while the tree is

Pheasant show some improvement in 2014, Quail outlook good

Nebraska pheasant hunting opportunities in 2014 should be on par with last year or slightly better, according to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission's upland game hunting outlook.

The consensus among Game and Parks' field staff is that habitat conditions have improved across most of the state, providing suitable nesting and brood-rearing habitat for pheasants. However, spring storms seem to have negatively impacted pheasant hatch. Replacement nests for those lost to these early storms might yet compensate for some of the losses.

Pheasant populations are beginning to recover from the drought of 2012-2013. The southwest and Panhandle regions should have the best hunting opportunities. The abundance of pheasants in the southwest should be similar to 2013 but still lower than before the drought. Habitat loss in the eastern part of the state continues to be a concern, particularly east of U.S. Highway 81.

The outlook is based on spring and summer upland game surveys, and conditions reported by biologists. Regional weather events that could impact populations are considered.

Bobwhite quail abundance was higher across the state based on surveys and field observations. Southeast Nebraska, especially Johnson, Pawnee and Richardson counties, should offer the best opportunities for hunting quail, but conditions should be good rangewide.

Abundance of grouse is higher in the Sandhills and central part of the state than in any other region and is higher than 2013 in both regions. Cottontail abundance is higher overall than in 2013, with the highest abundance in the northeast and central parts of the state, where the best hunting opportunities should exist.

Rural residents optimistic, poll says

Rural Nebraskans' optimism seems to be up a bit, according to the 2014 Nebraska Rural Poll.

Fifty percent of poll respondents said they were better off this year than five years ago, up from 42 percent last year. Only 17 percent said they were worse off, compared to 26 percent in 2013.

A similar turnaround was reflected in a question about how rural Nebraskans see the future, with 44 percent believing they'll be better off in 10 years, up from last year's 34 percent, the lowest recorded in the poll's history. The percentage of those who think they'll be worse off decreased from 32 percent in 2013 to 22 percent this year.

The 19th annual University of Nebraska-Lincoln poll was sent to 6,813 households in 86 Nebraska counties in March and April. Results are based on 1,943 responses.

Poll organizers aren't certain what to make of the improved optimism in this year's poll. Since the numbers this year are more reflective of the poll's historical trends, the 2013 findings may be an aberration, said Randy Cantrell, rural sociologist with the Nebraska Rural Futures Institute.

The poll is taken in spring, so sometimes its results capture passing moods, events and perceptions about the state of the world. During spring 2013, there was a good deal of uncertainty, particularly over the economy and the Affordable Care Act, Cantrell said.

One of the biggest contributors to confidence about the future appears to be growing job security. The percentage of respondents who said they were satisfied with their job security increased from 65 percent in 2013 to 73 percent this year.

Elsewhere, the Rural Poll's findings were generally similar to past years:

— Majorities of respondents rated their community as friendly, trusting and supportive — 77, 64 and 69 percent, respectively.

— Fifty-five percent said it would be difficult to leave their community; 31 percent said it would be easy.

— Sixty-one percent of respondents disagreed that their community is powerless to control its future.

— Some services saw significant decreases in satisfaction levels this year. Satisfaction with streets and roads fell from 53 percent to 44 percent. Satisfaction with parks and recreation dropped from 76 percent to 71 percent.

The Rural Poll is the largest annual poll of rural Nebraskans' perceptions on quality of life and policy issues. This year's response rate was about 29 percent. The margin of error is plus or minus 2 percent. Complete results are available online at ruralpoll.unl.edu.

Although the Grand Island area

(Hall, Hamilton, Howard and Merrick counties) was designated a metropolitan area by the U.S. Census Bureau in 2013, the Rural Poll continues to include those counties in its sample. Also, Dixon and Dakota counties were added to the poll this year.

Jager in UNL Marching Band

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln's 300-member Cornhusker Marching Band will make its 2014 debut Aug. 30 at Memorial Stadium with pregame and halftime performances at Nebraska's football season opener against Florida Atlantic University.

Among those involved with the band is Sawyer Jager of Wayne, a senior computer engineering major, who plays the trumpet.

This year's band includes representatives from nearly every region of the country, however, 82 percent of the students are from Nebraska. Twenty-six percent of the students are music majors. The rest are studying in more than 60 other degree programs across campus. Each band member passed two auditions to gain admittance to the group.

Anthony M. Falcone, associate director of bands in UNL's Glenn Korff School of Music, is the director of the Cornhusker Marching Band. Douglas W. Bush is the assistant director of bands and assistant marching band director. Carolyn Barber, professor of music, is director of bands. Other band staff members are graduate teaching assistants Chris Barnes, James Dreiling, Zach Paris and Melanie Settle; Ashlea Jurgens-Woitzel, color guard instructor; Rose Johnson, administrative technician; Jan Deaton, office associate; and Nolan Schmit, the "voice" of the Cornhusker Marching Band.

AN UPDATE FROM DAVE

We're actually doing our update out in the new building this time. It's a very impressive large building.

There are presently 14 combines back in the service area and that doesn't even fill up the space. We're only using about 3/4 of the shop. There is still a little bit of construction needs to be done.

We're still needing some equipment for the heating system for the front of the building. Should be here this week, then needs to be installed and wired.

We're pretty close to being done on the inside. Still looking for a home for some of the things. There are plenty of things out on display already - collectibles, John Deere toys, lawnmowers, weed eaters, chain saws.

Still doing dirt work outside. Meyer's are still doing some leveling and we'll put grass out front. Probably wait until spring to let everything settle in.

We're busy back in the shop doing combine checkups. There is lots of stuff to be done before harvest, which is about 45 days away.

Still planning the Open House in November, depending on the harvest.

This will be the last update for awhile, we'll be busy with harvest, but will be back before the open house.

Customers can park on the east side of the building and use the east door to get in.

Fire Blight

dormant will help reduce the spread of the bacteria. Monitor trees during the growing season and remove infected branches as soon as possible to reduce spread. Always prune 8-12 inches below a canker or the infected area. Ideally, an infected branch is best removed where it attaches to another branch or the trunk. Avoid leaving a branch stub when pruning. Avoid spreading bacteria during pruning by dipping or spray the pruning tool cut with a 10 percent solution of bleach, one part bleach to nine parts water, between each cut.

Streptomycin is a bactericide applied for fire blight. It is too late to apply this product now. If used, it needs to be applied in spring. A minimum of two applications are needed. Read and follow all label directions for safe and effective control.

Again, the Nebraska State Fair will run through Labor Day weekend. A lot of the 4-H animal shows will be on Labor Day weekend, so try to get there. Check the State Fair schedule for individual events.

What does WalMart do for local groups?

As you may have read on our website and in last week's paper, the people of Wayne will have the chance to vote on a bond issue that would add one-half of one cent to our city sales tax so that a new public swimming pool can be built.

I haven't decided how I'm going to vote on the bond issue, but there were some points raised by readers on our website that we need to think about.

As somebody who has lived in the big city, I knew how easy it is to be able to get anything that I might need at any time, day or night. Many a time, I have done my grocery shopping at 2 a.m., looked for a birthday gift or some other item after midnight at WalMart, or even got gas and a car wash after hours at a 24-hour convenience store.

Some of our online readers were quick to criticize the business community in Wayne on everything from not being open late, to not having EVERYTHING available in one place to being a haven for what one reader called "Sanford & Son stores." They assure us that we can go to a big-box store in the big city somewhere and get WHAT we need, WHEN we need it and we never have to wait for it.

OK, so you can make the 35-mile drive to Norfolk or the 40-mile drive to Sioux City and get what you need. You can take your hard-earned dollars and spend them in another town. I certainly have no problem with that.

Now - what do you suppose the odds are that one of those big-box stores in the big city will jump right up and support your local community that you live in? Is a Menards, or a WalMart, or a Hy-Vee going to open up their checkbooks to help your daughter's fundraising efforts to buy new uniforms for the high school cheerleaders, your son's local Boy Scout troop, or maybe your local church's mission efforts to help the less fortunate in another country?

The companies and people who do business here in Wayne (and in all the other small towns in our area) are, with few exceptions, your neighbors. They live here. Their kids go to school here. They attend the school functions, and some of them donate money they earn from the sales they make here to groups that help make our town and area the great place to call home that it is.

How much of that money you spent on groceries at Hy-Vee or on new shoes at WalMart do you suppose is going to be donated to help the high school band, or the youth sports teams, or even the Wayne Bark Park?

Nada. Zero. zilch. A big, fat donut.

I don't know of a business here in town that doesn't make some kind of donation to help support our community. And we're not talking donations after disasters like the severe weather we've had here in the last year - I'm talking about those charitable efforts that are made week in and week out to help support the community organizations here in our area.

Go to the high school gyms in Wayne and Winside, for example, and look at all the corporate sponsor ads that adorn their walls. Do you see a big-box store from the big city up there? No - you see local seed distributors, flower shops, grocery stores, meat processors, and so many others who call this area home and rely on the support of people like you and me to keep their doors open and their families fed.

I'm certainly not going to sit here and tell you that I NEVER spend a dollar outside of my home town. Sometimes the gas gauge gets a little too close to "E" for my comfort and I'll fill up in the big city before driving home. There is the occasion where I'm driving through the big town late at night and remember that I need milk and make a quick stop as I pass through. And there are certain things that I may need NOW and can't wait for a local business to make a special order for that are available a short drive away.

But what is the likelihood of one of those businesses in the big city returning the money I spend back to my home town? Is it going to come back to help support a fundraising effort at Wayne State College? Will they help buy new uniforms for the local youth baseball teams? Are they going to help contribute to some local effort to improve our quality of life?

I know that I can do business here in Wayne and know that the money spent here will STAY here and help those who call this area home. You'll NEVER get that by shopping at WalMart.

Planter problems mostly petunias

Now the rest of the story. Lois Shelton's remarks on the downtown flower pots were not nearly scathing enough. I, too, find it disgusting that the shop owners don't take care of the flower pots. However, there is another side of this story that needs to be told.

This year, those pots never had a chance because they were planted ugly. It's very hard to take care of ugly planters, although it does happen, as evidenced by a few planters that were taken care of.

The problem is - wrong petunias! You never use white as main color. White should be used sparingly as an accent color. The best colors to use for outdoors is hot pink, pink, two shades of purple and maybe a teeny bit of white. Mostly white, nobody will take care of them ugly.

So, some of the problem is on the planting committee. Use the right plants and much of the care problems will go away. Two six-packs of the right hybrid petunias per pot will do it. And don't put any of that other junk in.

Prison reform needs attention

By J.L. SCHMIDT
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

I don't know 40-year-old Kena Jackson of Beatrice, one of the countless numbers of formerly incarcerated persons who were rounded up and sent back to prison amid allegations that somebody in the Department of Corrections screwed up.

There has been plenty of finger pointing, promises from Governor Dave Heineman that heads will roll, a criminal investigation and questioning of the former head of corrections by a legislative panel. The public has been swamped with a myriad of numbers about how many inmates were erroneously released following the incorrect calculation of sentences. Other numbers about how many have been arrested and how many incorrect early releases were avoided are also out there.

A couple of Omaha World-Herald reporters discovered the mess. It appears, from what we have heard, that a Supreme Court ruling on recalculating sentences was ignored. It also appears that the then head of the Department of Corrections didn't know anything about the situation. Neither did the governor nor attorney general. It also appears that the people who did know have either suddenly retired, been amazingly mum or have just simply gone off the grid.

But with all the headlines and the rhetoric and the he-said-she-said bantering, perhaps somebody has missed a very important point.

Kena Jackson had been out of prison after serving time on a drug charge. He was released before Thanksgiving last year with no supervision. He had been working a full-time job and staying out of trouble. He was arrested on a warrant July 1 - one of 20-some people rounded up on an affidavit by current Corrections Director Mike Kenney after the big oops came to light.

News reports said that officials quickly and quietly started pulling the inmates back into prison, saying they owed the state more time. Does the "quickly and quietly" bother anyone? Defense attorney Jerry Soucie said he didn't like how the state went about pulling in his client, Jackson, and others. He filed an appeal asking the Nebraska Supreme Court to intervene. He said Jackson was not taken before a judge, granted a hearing or given a chance to contest his arrest. Soucie told the Lincoln Journal-Star it was unconscionable how they just picked people up off the street after they had been told they had done their time and been released.

Does this sound like a police state? Does it reek of every jaw-dropping, bone-chilling scene you've ever seen in a good-guys versus bad-guys movie? People, it's Nebraska. We expect this kind of activity in the corrupt nations of the world. Soucie bristled at what he called the "ad hoc seat-of-the-pants make-it-up-as-we-go criminal procedures." He argues that the prison's release order should have been as final as a judge's verdict and that due process was in order. He said the whole thing has become so politicized that it's time for the high court to step in and provide some stability.

There's a lot of emotion at work here. Count the number of times the governor and the attorney general have cited public safety as the best reason for dragging Kena Jackson and others back into prison. Control and fear are the two biggest motivators for most emotion run amuck. It does appear that things at the Department of Corrections have gotten out of control - the control of elected officials and their appointed minions who obviously had no idea that something was wrong.

I like what community activist and retired sociology professor John Krejci shared in a recent column in the Lincoln newspaper. He said the efforts being spent on prosecuting the Department of Corrections should be redirected to reforming the prison system. He said the work of a special legislative committee discussing recommendations expected later this year from the Council of State Government Justice Center should receive full support from the Legislature and the public.

Anyone who works with formerly incarcerated persons knows that there is a problem in finding employment, housing, treatment and opportunity in a society that has inadequate understanding of the situation and even less sympathy. Community involvement in providing alternatives to prison sentencing and the assimilation process of those who have been released is essential.

Krejci and at least a handful of state senators have noted the problem with mandatory minimum sentencing - a concept that was popular with the "tough on crime" Legislature of the 1990s and has served, at best, to bind the hands of judges and force them to impose a minimum number of years that must be served. He says such laws have contributed to prison overcrowding.

Above all else, he cautions that the current turmoil should not be a distraction to the real problem, which is prison reform.

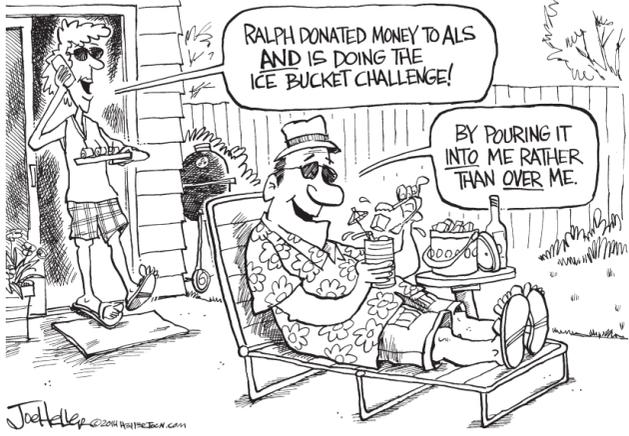

Somewhere in all of this, remember the Kena Jacksons of the world and make sure that they receive due process and an opportunity to prove themselves worthy of a return to society.

Legislative Update

Minimum wage raise is on Nov. 4 ballot

It is official - when you head to the voting booth in November you will have the opportunity to vote on raising the minimum wage. It is my intent to discuss this in this and upcoming newsletters.

Secretary of State, John Gale, has announced that Initiative 425 received 9,000 signatures more than the 90,000 signatures needed to get it on the November ballot. We will be joining Alaska and South Dakota

Joel Keller © 2014

Legislative Update
By Dave Bloomfield
State Senator, District 17

in voting as to whether or not we should increase our minimum wage.

We were one of 34 state legislatures that had bills proposing minimum wage hikes - 10 states and D.C. actually enacted the proposed legislation. I was opposed to legislation last session that would have increased Nebraska's minimum wage and we blocked it in the Legislature. Senator Jeremy Nordquist from Omaha, along with other like-minded folks mounted a successful "ballot initiative" to place the question on the election ballot this fall. Currently our minimum wage is the same as the federal minimum wage, $7.25 an hour. Initiative 425 would increase the minimum wage to $8 an hour in 2015 and $9 an hour in 2016.

Presently, five states have no minimum wage meaning they default to the federal minimum wage, while 23 states have a minimum wage that surpasses the federal minimum wage. Twelve states have plans to increase their minimum wage in upcoming years. Based on laws that have been enacted, by July of 2018 six states will have a minimum wage surpassing $10 an hour.

When talking about the minimum wage it is important to keep in mind who it applies to. The state minimum wage applies to businesses with four or more employees. The federal minimum wage applies to businesses conducting business across state lines, with a yearly gross income of $500,000 or more, schools, hospitals and few others.

These are some of the bare bone facts about minimum wages. Next week I will try to explain some of the pros and cons of Initiative 425.

As always, if we can be of any assistance, contact our office at (402) 471-2716 or e-mail dbloomfield@leg.ne.gov.

Allen Community Club

Allen residents enjoyed the end-of-summer potluck picnic on Aug. 18 in the fire hall. After eating and visiting, President Greta Kraemer introduced the speaker, Tyler Wulf, Assistant Ponca State Park Superintendent who presented a power point and information about the lodging facilities and many fun and educational activities held at the park year-round.

The Allen community is fortunate to have a state park with so many educational activities close to town.

President Kraemer called the meeting to order. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Bills for activities of the summer, as well as giving the Dixon County Tourism grant to the Dixon County Historical Society were paid.

The summer's activities, including the two bike rides, the tractor ride, and the Waterbury parade entry were summarized.

It was decided to get the edging from the playground company. A workday will be set and volunteers will be needed to install the baby swings and the edging. Fundraising will continue to pay for the playground edging with the selling of raffle tickets for a quilt. The Village Board is still working on updating the park's restrooms.

- > Property taxes - $664,000 - this retains the same mill levy as last year. The increase from last year is due to the property valuation increases. The general fund, plus the airport, can have a maximum level of $45. If the Community Redevelopment Authority would come forward and ask for a portion of the mill levy, that would have to come out of the $45 also. Debt service is outside the $45.

- > The franchise fees for electric will be increased from 8.5% to 10.5%; water will be increased from 7% to 8%; and sewer will stay the same at 7%.
- > Increase the Community Activity Center fees by 10%.
- > Take out the sidewalk project from Hank Overin Field to the Summer Sports Complex ($30,000), and put $15,000 of that back into the Fire Department's budget for their air packs.
- > Budget assumes a 2% cost of living increase for employees.
- > Increase police dispatch fees for Wayne County from $36,000 to $72,000, with the same being reviewed annually. This fee has been the same since the 2005-2006 fiscal year.
- > Add back in the 8th Police Officer position.
- > Decrease police professional services from $50,000 to $30,000.
- > Renovate the Bressler Park bathrooms before the 2015 Chicken Show.
- > Recreation fees need to be increased, and the need to rely on more volunteer coaching.
- > Increasing the employee's percentage of the health insurance premium as well as deductibles in 2015 and 2016. (Employee from 2.5% to 10% in 2015 and then to 20% in 2016; Family from 10% to 20% in 2015 and then to 30% in 2016; with deductibles being $1000 single/$2000 family in 2015 and $1500 single/$3000 family in 2016).

Wildcats eye trip to D-2's

Courtesy WSC Sports Information

One thing was missing from the normal list of accomplishments for the Wayne State College Wildcat volleyball team from last season.

Wayne State posted another victory over national power and seven-time defending national champion Concordia-St. Paul, registered another 20 win season and was ranked in every national poll finishing the season ranked 21st in the country.

But one streak that came to an end after eight consecutive seasons was a trip to the NCAA National Tournament, and that is the motivating factor for success heading into the 2014 volleyball season.

Wayne State finished 2013 with a 22-10 record, going 12-8 in the NSIC to finish sixth in the league. The Wildcats ended the year in the top 25 for a fifth straight season and has also been listed in 61 straight top 25 rankings dating back to September 2009.

The Wildcats were ranked fifth in the NSIC Preseason Volleyball Coaches Poll released on Aug. 12, and start the season ranked 20th in the AVCA Div. II Coaches Top 25 preseason rankings nationally.

"We are extremely excited to get the 2014 season under way," commented Wildcat head coach Scott Kneifl, who is 224-80 entering his 10th season as head coach of the Wildcat program. "All of our returning players spent the summer in Wayne to work out together, which we feel will be a huge advantage both physically and mentally for our team this season."

The 2014 Wildcat roster is an experienced one despite not having one senior on this year's 14 player roster. Kneifl returns four juniors, four sophomores, one redshirt freshman and five freshmen. Wayne State lost four seniors from last year's team, including first-team All-NSIC selection Cori Hobbs, who had 22 double-doubles in 32 matches while averaging 3.47 kills and 3.42 digs per set.

"Although we do not have a senior on this year's roster, we have a solid group of young players returning with valuable, court-time experience," added Kneifl. "We have a very exciting freshmen class that we feel will be able to step in and help us immediately."

The Wildcats return five starters from last year's team, led by juniors Leisa McClintock and Courtney VanGroningen, who have started two years at setter and libero respectively. McClintock was second-team All-NSIC for a second straight season last year after averaging 10.67 assists per set.

"Leisa is turning out to be a very good leader for us both on and off the floor," said Kneifl. "We look for her to have an incredible season and her decision making and ability to attack the second ball will give us an added dimension to our offense."

VanGroningen led the Wildcats in digs last season at 4.54 per set to rank fourth in the Northern Sun Conference.

"Courtney is coming off a solid spring where she continues to excel in serve receive and back court defense," remarked Kneifl. "She is one of the most underrated players we have and will continue to be a great part of our team."

Outside hitter Katie Hughes is another returning starter after accounting for 4.08 digs and 1.55 kills per set. Right side hitter Elizabeth Gebhardt ranked third on the team in kills last season (2.36) while hitting an efficient .311 and was also one of the team's top blockers at the net recording 0.76 blocks per set.

"Katie is coming off back surgery and has been working hard to prepare herself for this season," Kneifl stated. "She will be an even better attacker and defender this season. We will utilize Liz's net play on both the right and left side at different points this season. She can terminate at a very high level and has learned to adjust to the speed of the college game."

The sophomore class is anchored by middle hitter Alyssa Frauendorfer, who was named the NSIC and AVCA Central Region Freshman of the Year last season after notching 2.77 kills and a team high 0.97 blocks per set. She was one of the Kiera Hochstein brings in a fly ball to end the inning for Wayne in their season-opening loss to Blair on Thursday.

After rough start, Wayne earns tournament win

By MICHAEL CARNES
Of The Herald

After a flat start to the season, the Wayne High softball team rebounded nicely and won a good early-season gut-check game to win their season-opening tournament.

The young Blue Devils team stumbled out of the gate in their season opener Thursday, losing to an always-tough Blair team 5-1 at the Wayne Softball Complex. Two days later, the Blue Devils responded with a pair of shutouts, then came from behind to win an extra-inning thriller and take first-place honors at the Wayne Invitational.

"It was a lot better today," coach Rob Sweetland said after Saturday's 4-3 win in nine innings over Tekamah-Herman. "I guess I expected quicker changes and it's going to take some time, but the girls made good steps today."

Blair jumped on Wayne for three runs in the first inning, taking advantage of a throwing error to score two and adding the third on a sacrifice fly.

Wayne scored its lone run in the third when Abby Hix lined a shot to the right side, scoring Kiera Hochstein, who got on with a one-out walk.

Blair's pitching shut down Wayne after that, setting down the final 14 batters. Wayne's pitching struggled, though, as Hannah Belt struck out nine but walked 13 while throwing a two-hitter.

Wayne's pitching was much better on Saturday. Belt tossed a four-hit shutout to open the tournament in a 4-0 win over Pierce. She struck out 10 and walked just three to respond to the disappointing effort on Thursday.

"Hannah had good stuff today, and I can handle it if we give up a few walks," Sweetland said. "Really, other than one inning, we had goose eggs on the board all day, so Hannah pitched well and Ashten (Gibson) also threw well for us today and was able to get us out of a jam late."

Danica Schaefer singled and had two RBIs to lead the Wayne offense. Wayne scored all of its runs in the third, as an error brought home Hochstein and Kennedy Maly, while Hix and Schaefer scored on passed balls.

Wayne dominated the Highway 91 Cyclones in their tournament debut, shutting out the visitors 10-0 in a four-inning matchup.

Gibson tossed a two-hit shutout with six strikeouts and no walks, and helped her cause with a two-run double in the fourth that ended the game on the 10-run rule.

Wayne scored two in the first, highlighted by an RBI single by Jamie Gamble, then blew the game open with five in the third, highlighted by a two-run double by Sierra Scardino.

Wayne scored early in the championship game against the Tigers, thanks to a two-run double by Scardino in the bottom of the first. That lead would hold until the fourth, when Tekamah-Herman used an error to score a pair of runs and brought home a third to take a 3-2 advantage.

Wayne came back in exciting fashion in the fifth. Hochstein doubled and came home on a double down the line in left by Maly. Hix followed with a single up the middle, but Maly was thrown out at

Blue Devil golfers open with third-place effort

The summer heat may have slowed them down a little, but coach Josh Johnson was still happy with the way the Wayne High girls golf team battled the high temperatures to post a third-place finish at the West Point-Beemer Invite Thursday.

The Blue Devils finished third out of 12 teams, coming home with a score of 467. Holly Grosz and Emma Loberg both posted top-10 finishes to help Wayne get off to a good start.

"I was extremely happy with the way my girls competed on a very difficult day," Johnson said. "It was hot and buggy on one of the most challenging courses my kids will play all year, and the girls kept battling the whole way and played better at the end than in the morning."

Grosz led the Blue Devils with a fifth-place medal and score of 110, followed by Loberg, who shot 114 and finished ninth. Anna Loberg

Hopes high for WSC in '14

Total of 16 starters back from hard-luck 2-9 season

Courtesy WSC Sports Information

Wayne State College suffered through a hard-luck season in the 2013 campaign, battling numerous injuries while losing five games by seven points or less, to finish with a 2-9 record. It snapped a school record streak of six consecutive winning seasons for the Wildcat football program.

Turnovers were a problem for the Wildcats last season in numerous close losses as 35 Wildcat giveaways led to opponents scoring 115 points. That makes a difference between winning and losing when those close losses were by two points in triple overtime, one by three points, two by four points and another game by seven points.

"We can't give away games like we did last year," stated Wildcat head coach Dan McLaughlin. "We had a lot of young kids who now have a year of experience and that should help us overcome some of those mistakes we had last season."

Coming off a 2-9 season, the Wildcats were picked 13th overall and seventh out of eight teams in the 2014 Preseason NSIC Football Coaches Poll released on Aug. 7.

The Wildcats are optimistic about returning to its winning ways with an experienced team that returns 16 starters, seven on offense and nine on defense.

"We are senior dominant on the defensive side of the ball for the first time in a long time," remarked McLaughlin. "Plus, we are now in the second year under defensive coordinator Mike Aldrich and our players now have a comfort level with the schemes and understanding of the defense."

Offensively, the Wildcats need to replace 1,000 yard rusher Charlie Davidson, who graduated after racking up 1,266 yards on the ground last season, the second-most yards in a single season by a Wildcat running back.

But Wayne State does return a senior-laden group of wide receivers with sophomore quarterback Zach Osborn back under center. Osborn completed 146 of 310 passes last season for 2,149 yards with 18 touchdowns and 11 interceptions. Senior Brody Rohach will serve as the backup while freshmen Layne Sullivan and Taylor Reedy will battle for playing time in a reserve role.

2014 FALL SPORTS PREVIEWS

Changes for gridgers

There are a lot of changes on the horizon for the Wayne High football team as they prepare for the 2014 season.

In addition to the usual roster changes, graduations and moves around the field, the path to the state playoffs has become a little more difficult for Class C-1 teams like the Blue Devils.

The Nebraska School Activities Association returned to the old nine-game regular-season schedule with a 16-team playoff format for 2014, which means the days of teams with .500 records or below making the playoffs will be a thing of the past.

That being said, Wayne's very difficult schedule should prepare them well, and coach Terry Bear said his team will have to rely on some younger players to take active roles in the team's success this year.

"We're going to have to have sev-

Netters eye repeat trip

For the first time in 10 years, the Wayne High volleyball team begins the season with a well-earned title: DEFENDING district champions.

The Blue Devils capped a 25-7 season in 2013 with their first trip to the state volleyball tournament since back-to-back appearances in 2002-2003, losing a tough three-set match to Ogallala in the opening round.

Four senior starters are back from last year's state tournament team, and coach Traci Krusemark said that leadership will be a key asset in this year's success.

"We have a quality group of seniors that have shown some leadership over the summer and have extensive experience," she said. "We're excited to get the year started, but we do have some big roles to fill from our graduating seniors."

Madison Frevert established herself as a key element in the team's

Harriers' hopes high

Hopes are high for the Wayne High cross country team this season, as both the boys and girls teams have opportunities to do very well this season.

Both teams have four starters back from last year, and the girls have a solid nucleus from last year's third-place team in Class C to make a run for all the marbles this season.

"We have set our goals high after last season," coach Rocky Ruhl said. "We have some key girls returning and some young girls who will push for varsity positions, so it should be a fun year."

"Holly and Emma were great leaders and showed the younger girls what it takes to compete at this level. I am super-excited about this year and the potential these girls have. It should be a great year for Wayne golf."

Laurel-Concord-Coleridge finished seventh out of the 13 teams competing at Indian Trails Country Club near Beemer, finishing with a 562. Emily Klooz paced the Lady Bears with a 122, missing the top 10 medal stand by six shots. Brook Young shot 135, Gail Leaply added

Bears hope to improve

The Laurel-Concord-Coleridge football team has a new coach this season, and will look to improve on last year's 2-6 record this season.

The Bears are somewhat lacking in depth with only 19 players suited up this season, so they will rely on seven starters who played key roles in the team's growth last season.

Junior quarterback Dillan Wolfgram returns to the fold as the team's signal-caller in 2014, and he has a returning receiver to work with in 6-foot-4 sophomore Jayden Reifenrath, who can use his height and quickness to make himself an available target in the passing game.

Running backs who return for L-C-C include seniors Brad Steffen and Collin Dirks, and they'll run behind an offensive line with a lot of returning experience, led by senior Chayce Hirschman and juniors Nolan Casey and Eric Surber.

The Bears should be solid up front with Hirschman, Casey and Surber, while Steffen and Dirks will lead at linebacker and Reifenrath and Wolfgram help out in the secondary.

Dirks, Hirschman and Steffen are the only seniors in the L-C-C lineup this year, while new coach Jordan Taylor also has four juniors in Wolfgram, Casey, Surber and Zach Hauptmann to count on for upper-classmen leadership this season.

The Bears once again face a tough district docket and will face some tough teams from the area, including six playoff teams from last year. Their first four matchups are all against 2013 playoff squads, capped with a Sept. 19 game in Norfolk against Lutheran High Northeast, who reached the quarterfinals a year ago.

The Bears kick off the 2014 season at home Friday against West Holt.

Two out for Winside XC

Winside's cross country team is thin in numbers this year, with only two runners donning the red and white for the Wildcat thinclads this fall.

Kevin Ross and Josh Greunke will participate in cross country for Winside this year, both of whom are out for the sport for the first time.

The Wildcats open the season next Thursday, Sept. 4, at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational.

 top hitters in the NSIC last season with a .344 attack percentage to record First Team All-NSIC recognition.

"Alyssa had a phenomenal freshman campaign and we will look to use her in a variety of ways this season," said Kneifl. "Her back row play continues to get stronger and her net play is already at a very high level."

Another top sophomore is defensive specialist Michaela Mestl, who last season averaged 2.30 digs per set. This season she may see action as an outside hitter as well.

"Michaela saw some valuable time last year as a freshman and will have the opportunity to fight for a leftside position this season while still excelling in the back row," commented Kneifl. "Her ability to read what is going to happen will continue to be an asset for our team."

Rounding out the sophomore class are setter/defensive specialist Sydney Rose and middle blocker Alex Opperman, who both gained valuable experience last season and will be expected to play more this season.

Lexi Steffen sat out the 2013 season as a redshirt and the 5'11 middle blocker is expected to compete for playing time at the net this season after learning the Wildcat system last year.

The 2014 roster is completed with the addition of five incoming freshmen. Bree Ackermann, a 5-foot-4 libero from Lincoln Pius, will add depth behind VanGroningen. Mariah Halvorsen, a 5-foot-9 outside hitter from Plymouth, Minnesota, will likely redshirt this season after suffering a knee injury during the spring in club volleyball. Riley Funk, a 5-foot-10 outside hitter from Ewing, will contend for playing time along with Megan Gebhardt, a 5-foot-8 setter/right side hitter from Lutheran High Northeast. Rounding out the freshman class is 6-foot-1 middle blocker Erin Gross of Tekamah-Herman.

Wayne State College faces a challenging schedule in the 2014 season. The Cats open on Friday, Sept. 5 at the Oredigger Volleyball Classic in Golden, Colo., facing four teams that had winning records last season including Grand Valley State of Michigan who was 31-4 and ranked 14th one year ago. Wayne State also plays in the Minnesota State Tournament in Mankato Sept. 12-13 before opening conference play at Augustana on Sept. 16.

The Wildcats play 10 matches this season at Rice Auditorium, where Wayne State ranked second in NCAA Div. II in home attendance last year, averaging 757 fans per home match. This was the fifth straight year WSC has ranked in the top 10 nationally in home volleyball attendance.

The first home match this season is Friday, Sept. 26 against St. Cloud State at 7 p.m. The annual Pack The House Night at Rice Auditorium will be Tuesday, Oct. 28 when the Wildcats host Augustana at 7 p.m.

 home to leave the game tied at 3-3.

"We had our chances and even had some of our experienced players come up in those spots and maybe tried a little too hard," Sweetland said. "The younger girls are coming along, and I just need to stay more patient."

The international tiebreaker came into play in the seventh inning, and Wayne's defense came up big with an inning-ending double play in the seventh. Neither team scored in the eighth, and Gibson came on in relief of Belt and got the final two outs as the Tigers left the bases loaded. Schaefer started the bottom of the ninth at second, and Gamble singled to right center to bring her home with the game-winner. Maly and Scardino each had two hits in the championship game. Scardino had a pair of RBI's.

Tuesday's matchup with O'Neill will be highlighted in next week's edition of The Wayne Herald. Wayne High takes part in the Lincoln Public Schools Classic on Saturday and is home Tuesday to face Highway 91.

Trojans make move to eight-man

Change is the big word for the Wakefield football team this season, as they look to replace some key spots while making the transition from 11-man to 8-man football for the 2014 and 2015 seasons.

Since Wakefield's enrollment is over the state-mandated limit for eight-man teams, the move to eight-man football will keep the Trojans out of the playoffs the next two seasons, making every game on the schedule a playoff game in and of itself for the Trojans this season.

Coach Mike Hassler said that, with the changes, the Trojans will have some solid leadership on the field this year.

"We have good veteran leadership, coupled with some hungry younger players who are competing for varsity playing time," he said. "We have a tough schedule, but we have high hopes that we can improve on last season."

Ten players return with letter-winner experience, including four starters on offense and six on offense.

Senior Alex Conley will go from catching the ball to throwing it this year, as he makes the move from receiver to quarterback, a position he played in JV ball the last two seasons.

He has a couple of experienced targets to shoot for this season, including fellow senior Anthony Victor, a 6-foot-1, 170-pound receiver who led the team last year with more than 30 catches and over 300 receiving yards.

Junior Efrén Godínez will also see the ball in the air coming from the tight end or fullback position. He is one of the hardest-hitting kids on the team and will also see action at linebacker.

Senior Levi Nelson is the team's returning rusher from last year and had a solid finish last year that he is looking to carry over into this season. Nick Gonzalez could also see time in the backfield with his quickness an asset to the Wakefield offense.

Also returning are senior lineman Tim Anderson, a three-year starter; junior Juan Delgado, who missed last year with a knee injury; and sophomores Moises Barboza and Daniel Nuno. Barboza made a lot of gains in the weight room last summer and should see time on the line, while Nuno started at cornerback as a freshman and will step into the running back position on offense.

Hassler said that sophomores Isaac Camrena and Jose Sanchez are players to watch this year. Camarena should split time at receiver and compete for a starting spot at free safety, while Sanchez will add depth in the backfield and on the defensive line.

The Trojans open the season Friday, Sept. 5 at Clarkson/Leigh.

Wakefield netters shifting talent

Some familiar faces will be in new places for the Wakefield volleyball team this season.

The Trojans return three starters and four letterwinners back from last year's 20-8 district runner-up team, and the third-year coach is hoping those changes will prove positive for the Wakefield team this season.

"We have had to shift several girls around to new positions, so we are working on learning new positions and getting comfortable in those positions," she said. "We don't have a lot of power up front, but our hope is to have a strong defensive team."

Senior middle hitter Emily Pulls is back from last year, and senior McKenzie Rusk will move from outside hitter to the middle as well. Sophomore Savannah Nelson experienced a trial by fire of sorts last year in directing the offense as a freshman, and that experience should pay off as she should be a stronger force in running the Wakefield setup this season.

Senior Taryn Hingst is moving to the libero position, which should help strengthen Wakefield's defense even more this year.

The Trojans will play host to their annual tournament Sept. 11-13 at Wakefield High School. Wakefield takes to the court next weekend for the Northeast Nebraska Classic, which will be played Thursday and Saturday in Wisner and Pender.

Qualifiers back for LCC runners

Laurel-Concord-Coleridge's cross country team doesn't have a lot in the way of numbers, but it has plenty of experience returning for the 2014 fall campaign.

Four state qualifiers are back from last season, and coach Scott Petersen is optimistic that it will be a good year for the Bears and Lady Bears on the hills and valleys this season.

"With four returning state qualifiers and three promising newcomers, we are again looking to have a very competitive team," he said.

Three of the four runners on last year's state-qualifying boys team are back, led by Aaron Haahr, who finished ninth at the state meet last year. Jordan Jensen and Ethan Gubbels are also back to lead what will be L-C-C's deepest boys roster in some time.

Joining the threesome are three newcomers, including senior Colton Jansen, junior Billy Barelman and freshman Logan Hansen. Jansen and Barelman are both talented athletes, and the addition of Hansen will add some youth to the lineup.

The lone girl on the L-C-C roster this year is senior Sadie Petersen, who is looking to become a four-time state qualifier for the Lady Bears. Petersen has performed well during her career in a Lady Bear uniform, and is hoping to make it back to state for a fourth chance at a state medal.

The L-C-C cross country runners start the year Sept. 4 at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational.

Lady Eagles return five starters

The Allen volleyball team has five starters back from a team that went 20-10 last season, and the experience and quickness returning should make the Lady Eagles a fun team to watch this fall.

The Lady Eagles fell in the sub-district finals last year, but have plenty of returning talent back to lead the team this season, coach Cheryl Greve said.

"We aren't tall, but we are quick, and hopefully we can use that to our advantage," she said.

Three players who were all-state honorable mention selections return, led by four-year starter Lindsey Sullivan at setter. Juniors Lexi Oswald (libero) and Gabby Sullivan (middle hitter) are also back from last season. Sullivan and Oswald were All-Lewis & Clark Conference honorees in 2013.

Also back from last year is senior outside hitter Cortney Reuter, and sophomore Rachel Kneif returns to the lineup after bouncing back from a torn ACL. Senior outside hitter Brooke Hingst came off the bench and performed well last year, and her experience will be important.

Greve listed four players to watch for the Lady Eagles this season, including senior Mollie Bertrand (middle hitter), juniors Kay Stapleton (outside hitter) and Mariah Keiser (middle hitter) and freshman Bri Hingst (outside hitter).

The Lady Eagles open the 2014 season Thursday at the Northeast Nebraska Classic, with games taking place in Wisner and Pender.

Eagles hope to end grid drought

The Allen High football team is hoping to end a four-year playoff drought this year with a move to Class D2 and a talented group returning from last year's 2-6 campaign.

Coach Dave Uldrich said the 19-man roster may be a little short in quantity, but there is some good returning talent and he's excited about the possibilities for this year's Eagle squad.

"We look to get better with each practice," he said. "We have the ability to be a fairly good and competitive squad, but what we do with those opportunities will be up to the team to accomplish. We hope to be playing in November."

Five seniors will lead the Eagles this year, led by four-year starter Caleb Thomas, who earned all-district honors in each of his first three seasons at linebacker for Allen.

Wade Connot was an all-district honorable mention selection at linebacker and also returns to help the Allen defense. Brian Boese is back in the backfield, Brady Krakau gives Allen some depth on both lines, and Nick Brahmstead will add depth in the defensive secondary and up front on offense.

Brandon Abts should see time as a hybrid lineman, and Dalton Fudge will be a solid utility player who should fill in well for the Eagles.

Junior lineman Austin Crom returns after knee and back troubles ended his season early last year. Nate Bausch and Kenny Kramer should see time in the offensive backfield and in the secondary on defense, and S.T. O'Keefe should see action up front as well.

Sophomore Tayler Kumm will compete for the quarterback spot after seeing time there last year, as well as in the secondary. Cody Thomas will play up front, but could also see time in the backfield on offense. Garrett Brentlinger could see time at split end and defensive back, Chase Johnson will see time on the line and E.J. Martell will be a specialist for the Eagles.

Uldrich sees freshmen like Jacob Williams, Blake McCorkindale and Owen Pedersen with the potential to compete and contribute to the Eagles' success this year.

Allen opens the season at home Thursday against O'Neill St. Mary's.

Quickness key for Wildcat netters

Quickness and a wealth of returning talent should make the Winside volleyball team an exciting one to watch this fall.

The Wildcats return six starter and eight letterwinners back from a young team that struggled to a 6-24 effort in 2013, but coach Teresa Watters said the team is anxious to hit the floor.

"We are really excited to get the season started," she said.

Three seniors lead the group of six starters who return from last season. Morgan Jensen will anchor the defense at the libero position, while Carly Schwager and Carly Thies will lead the offensive attack, playing either middle hitter or outside hitter for the Wildcats.

Juniors Ellie Jaeger (middle hitter) and Kelly Tweedy (outside hitter) are also back for the Wildcats this season. Sophomore Alex Bargstadt should be holding down setting duties and can also play some outside hitter as well.

Letterwinners back in the fold this year include junior Jami Jaeger and sophomore Callie Finn. Both play on the right side for the Winside offense.

The Wildcats debut next Thursday, Sept. 4, at a triangular with Elkhorn Valley in Wausa.

year by beating Norfolk Catholic to claim their first district title since 2003, and they'll have a solid schedule to prepare them in their quest for another state tournament trip this season.

The Blue Devils have several key home matchups this year against quality teams like Guardian Angels Central Catholic, Crofton and Lutheran High Northeast, all of whom made it to state in Class C-2 last year.

The Blue Devils kick off the 2014 season at the Northeast Nebraska Classic, Sept. 4-6 in Wisner. Their first home match is the following Tuesday, Sept. 9, against Dakota Valley (S.D.).

Wayne FB

eral of the younger players take an active role on offense, defense and special teams this year," he said. "We had a few players who got some valuable experience last year that will benefit them this season."

Three starters are back on both sides of the ball for a Blue Devils team that finished 5-5 in 2013, just missing out on a first-round upset in a heartbreaking playoff loss at Falls City.

Two starters on the offensive line are back this year, including junior Cole Koenig and senior Jake Thompson. Brook Bowers was one of several dependable receivers that helped move the Blue Devils down the field this year, and the senior receiver is back again this year. Drew Davie saw some time late in the season at fullback, and looks to be the big man in the backfield full time this season.

On defense, Wayne has Davie and senior Jack Belt back at linebacker, as is junior linebacker Schuyler Schweers. Bowers will also be looked upon to provide coverage in the defensive backfield.

Among the additions to the lineup will be a senior speedster, Tayib Toussaint, who is showing a lot of quickness at the receiver position and in the defensive backfield. Bear feels the combination of Toussaint and Bowers will give Wayne a great defensive secondary this season.

One of the big question marks this year will be replacing a speedy quarterback, and senior Zach Keating looks to have the job this season. Although not near as mobile as his predecessor, the 6-foot-6 Keating has good pocket presence and will be able to stay in the pocket and find receivers downfield.

The Blue Devils will have to pick it up quickly this year. After this weekend's season opener at O'Neill, the Blue Devils face six teams over a seven-game period who were in the playoff last year. Four of those teams won at least one game in the postseason and the last of the six-pack, Boone Central/Newman Grove, got to the semifinals before losing to eventual state champion Cozad.

Wayne is in a new six-team district this year that includes playoff teams Pierce, Madison, Norfolk Catholic and Boone Central, along with an improving Madison team and a season-finale against West Point-Beemer. Although making the playoffs will be a lot tougher, Bear feels that the quality of schedule Wayne faces this season could make a 6-3 record good enough for a trip to state.

The Blue Devils face their first test this Friday at O'Neill. If you can't make it to the season opener year are back for the Blue Devil girls. Sophomore Marta Pulfer was a district champ and finished as the Class C runner-up in 2013, while senior Cassie Heier came home from state with an eighth-place finish. Wayne's 1-2 duo at the front should put the Blue Devils in good position to win a lot of team races this fall.

Wayne XC

Backing them up are two returning state qualifiers. Junior Mandy Stabler finished 60th as the team's fourth runner last year, and sophomore Marissa Munsell was 70th at state.

Four returning letterwinners are also back for the Wayne girls, including senior Hannah Kenney and sophomores Caitlin Janke, Kelsey Boyer and Jennifer Espino. They'll be joined by a pair of freshman newcomers who could make an impact, including Marcella Jurotich and Molly Hoskins.

The Wayne High boys finished sixth at districts last year and missed qualifying as a team, but they do have a returning leader with state experience and trained well during the summer to get ready to make a run in Class C this year.

Senior Ben Hoskins was a state qualifier last year and will lead the team, along with three other returning starters that include senior Luke Pulfer, junior Cole Leonard and sophomore Nolan Reynolds.

Senior Cornelio Espino was injured last season, but should be back to full strength this fall. Sophomore Will Anderson saw some varsity action last year and should be in the hunt for a varsity spot again this fall.

Newcomers to watch this year include junior Mason Reynolds, sophomores R.J. Liska and Garret Reynolds, and freshmen Jack Evetovich and Dawson French.

Wayne will host its own invitation on Tuesday, Sept. 16, and will also play host to district competition on Thursday, Oct. 16, with both events being held at the Wayne Country Club. The Blue Devils debut on Thursday, Sept. 4 at the Wisner-Pilger Invitational.

Wildcat soccer team hoping for turnaround in '14

Courtesy WSC Sports Information

A strong finish to the 2013 season, coupled with 17 incoming players, have second year head coach Tom Cliff excited about Wayne State women's soccer for the 2014 season.

Although the Wildcats finished 2-14-2 overall in Cliff's inaugural campaign, WSC ended the season on an up note, recording a double overtime tie at then-No. 19 Southwest Minnesota State, followed by a season-ending 5-2 win over Sioux Falls.

"There are a lot of positives looking at the season," said Cliff. "The returning players are prepared and have worked hard. We have a large group of new players and the coaching staff has meshed well as we have a year under our belts."

The Wildcats return seven starters, but have to replace the team's top two scorers from last year in Macy Hagen, a two-time team MVP and All-NSIC honorable mention selection; along with sophomore Kelly Voigt, who did not return to the team this season. Those two players combined for eight of Wayne State's 14 goals last season, so Cliff will be looking at a number of players to step up and score goals for his team this season.

Seventeen incoming players have bolstered the roster size to 32 entering fall workouts. This year's roster is highlighted by four seniors who are looking to close out their Wildcat careers on a positive note. Senior forward McKenna Adams had one goal and two assists last season while ranking second on the team in shots (23) and shots on goal (13).

The three remaining seniors were work horses for the Wildcats last season starting all 18 contests. Senior midfielder Mallory Hoyt had one goal while Alex Mathers and Jordan Hobza anchored the Wildcat back row as the team's top defenders.

"One of the most exciting aspects of this fall is being settled and having the last year to really establish a rhythm for the year and gain some understanding of the NSIC," added Cliff. "We are looking forward to putting it all together this fall."

Seven juniors return to the Wildcat roster, led by junior midfielder Makenzie Evans, who was limited to just 11 games last season due to injury after scoring one goal with one assist. Junior Rachel Mabrey made a position switch in the off season from defender to midfielder and Cliff expects big production from her. Junior midfielder Josie Brown started 14 contests a year ago while junior Natalie Poppe closes out returning goal scorers from one season ago. Other returning juniors include midfielder Hannah Thayer, junior forward Kelsea Lambert, and junior midfielder Dana Ormiston.

Returning sophomores include goal keeper Kylie Comba, midfielder Kelsey Engstrom and defender Valerie Hernandez. Comba set a new school record last season for saves with 133 while playing all but 70:06 of the season. Engstrom started 14 contests and had one goal with one assist while ranking fifth on team in shots with 15.

The 17 incoming players include two transfers (junior defender McKenzie Hallstrom from Western Carolina and sophomore defender Amy Oates of Alaska Fairbanks). The remaining 15 newcomers are all freshmen coming from eight different states and will have a chance to compete for playing time and help turn around the Wildcat program.

"Our incoming freshmen are a diverse and exciting group," stated Cliff. "They should bring significant competition to our training sessions. Those additions, along with our two transfers, will be an important story line for our program this fall."

Despite finishing last season strong, the Wildcats received little respect in the 2014 NSIC Soccer Preseason Coaches' Poll, picked to finish 15th out of 16 teams in the league. Seniors Mallory Hoyt and Alex Mathers were listed as Wildcats to Watch in the NSIC this season.

"The soccer program has grown so much this past year with a new field, scoreboard, fencing and so many other things," Cliff noted. "It has been exciting to watch and I know our players have a facility that they are proud of. The ladies have prepared well for the start of the season so now it is a matter of putting our best foot forward on the season."

Wayne State opens the 2014 season on Sunday, Sept. 7 with a road trip to Northwestern Oklahoma State. The Wildcats also play non-conference games at Nebraska-Kearney Sept. 10 with the home opener on Monday, Sept. 15 against Colorado Christian at 12 p.m. Wayne State opens the Northern Sun Conference schedule on Thursday Sept. 11 in a 5 p.m. contest at Augusta, Ga. The Wildcats have eight home contests this season at the Wayne State Soccer Complex.

Winside gridders look to improve

The Winside football team is looking to show improvement this year and compete for a playoff spot.

The Wildcats will have more depth this season than last year, with more than 20 players participating this season. Among those are nine returning starters and 12 returning letterwinners from last year's 1-7 squad.

"We're a young team looking to improve from previous seasons, and a new coaching staff has helped out tremendously," coach Mark Tonning said of this year's Wildcats.

Five seniors are among the returning starters from last year, including back Sam Wolfe, ends Bryce Meis and Zach Jones, and linemen Zane Jensen and Brock Carlson.

Junior Marcos Escalera is back at quarterback this year, and sophomore backs Hayden King and Isaiah Muhs and linemen Caleb Dwinell return to the fold as well.

Returning letterwinners from last year include sophomores Zach Morris (back), Joe Haase (line) and end Jadon Wagner.

Among the players to watch are sophomore transfer Cory Shoff, who will play on the line. Freshmen expected to make an impact include Brandon Watters in the backfield and ends Colton Jensen and Dylan Brogren.

The Wildcats open the season Friday at home against Bancroft-Rosalie.

Potential there for LCC netters

There is a lot of potential for success in the Laurel-Concord-Coleridge volleyball program this year, as a good nucleus returns from last year's 15-12 campaign.

Three starters are back from a team that lost to Homer in the first round of subdistricts a year ago, and coach Patti Cunningham said the Lady Bears are anxious to show what they're capable of this season.

"The team is eager and willing to learn and compete at a high level," she said. "They're a fun blend of athletes who have the character and potential to be a close group who takes care of each other on the court."

Three senior returning starters will lead the Lady Bears. The solid net combination of outside hitter Ellie Arduser and middle blocker Audra Corbit are back, and the defense will be led by senior libero Candice Rastede.

The L-C-C girls have a number of solid young players who should step up and play a key role in the team's success this season. New players to watch include juniors Carrie Benson (outside hitter), Bayley Holloway (middle hitter) and Katie Leapley (middle blocker); and sophomores Katelyn Cook and Kaci Groene (outside hitter).

The Lady Bears open the season at home Thursday against Randolph.

Activities for our kids to help them grow

By REBECCA SWARTZ
UNL Extension Specialist

I want to help my child learn and be ready for school, but sometimes I feel like the day is so busy I can't fit in one more thing! Do you have ideas for activities we can do together that won't take extra time?

Every day errands and chores are a great time to involve your child and help them learn and grow.

Parents and caregivers often think they need to use computer software, videos, or workbooks for "learning" but, actually, young children learn from every day experiences and learn best when they are involved in hands on activities. Plus, they love to help and be part of what you are doing. Here are some ideas to help you get started with suggestions for different ages of children.

1. Talk about what you are doing. It may feel funny at first, especially with a small infant or toddler who cannot talk back to you or ask questions. Try to pretend you are on a cooking or "do it yourself" show while your infant or toddler is watching you or playing by your side. You can describe the actions you are doing while cooking or working in the garden. Describe what you see around you as you are driving in the car or at the grocery store. Your child is learning new words and concepts just by hearing you talk.

2. Read signs and words around you. Children learn that printed words carry a message from the signs and words that are in their world. Try pointing out the signs of familiar stores, traffic signs, and signs with information. You might be surprised at how quickly your child learns to point out "S-T-O-P Stop!" Through these experiences, children learn that letters come together to form words and these words carry a message...key things for readers to know!

3. Laundry time is math time? Even toddlers can sort out all of the socks from a basket of laundry. Preschoolers may be able to match the socks into pairs. Young children can fold simple things like pillow cases, washcloths, and towels. Try giving your child their own little basket and asking them to sort or fold a certain type of laundry. They are learning early math skills of classification, shapes, fractions, (learning to fold in halves and quarters) and building their sense of competence as they help you.

Extension
Educator
4-H & Youth

4. Dusting, picking up, and direction following? Try giving your child a damp rag and asking them to dust certain surfaces. Make it a game by giving interesting directions... "Can you dust three things that are green? Can you pick up all of the purple blocks and put them in the basket?"

Then encourage your child to look for furniture or the toys that you have described. Being able to follow directions and use clues are both important early learning skills. Children may be motivated when you make a job a game.

5. Let's watch things grow together! Your child will enjoy working by your side in the garden. They may enjoy planting seedlings or flowers with you. They can learn important science skills about their natural world when working by your side. A small child sized rake can be fun to use in the fall. Children can help bag leaves, pickup sticks, and dig up weeds in the garden if you show them how to identify plants that are weeds. Work and play side by side with your child and they will be learning every day!

Bit Of Light

Praise Assembly of God attendees joined with other community members on Aug. 20 for a viewing of the movie "God's Not Dead," which was shown at Our Savior Lutheran Church. It is a powerful and timely film designed especially for students and adults in grade six and older. Many thanks to the congregation of Our Savior for making this available for others to see.

Located at 1000 East 10th Street, Praise Assembly has an outreach that goes beyond the borders of this local community, as all churches do. The families that attend the church are from Wayne, Wakefield, Wisner, Allen, Laurel, and Carroll. The ministries which the church helps support are around the world, as we join with other believers in other lands and send others where we ourselves cannot go. This week we are thankful for - and praying for a young "soon-to-be-missionaries" family from Ohio that headed to language school in Paris, to begin their training to become missionaries on another continent.

They have heard the same call that Paul was hearing when he followed the voice of the Holy Spirit and went from town to town, speaking truth and refuting unbelief, all the time carrying the message of the Gospel of Jesus to all who would listen.

In his message this past Sunday morning, Rev. Jason Pickering spoke about another individual in Bible history - King Solomon - at the juncture when Solomon was first anointed to be the King of the united Kingdom of Israel. The Lord told Solomon that he would be granted whatever his prayer would be; and Solomon wisely chose to ask for wisdom. The Lord poured much more onto the king because of this astute request.

Like Paul and like Solomon, we also are seeking the Lord. Solomon wanted to be able to speak wisely the things that the Lord showed him. God heard that prayer. God does the same for you and me.

As I write this today, I know that I am writing to a community of people that - as in any other town - go through situations where their faith is tested, and their resolve on trial. This is a cycle that is not just for unbelievers, but is also common to believers. As Pastor Jason said, "It is easier to be a victim than to be victorious. We need to get a conquering spirit from the Lord." This starts as we ask God for His wisdom and His insight.

"That which the Lord gives will have an effect on everything about us: time, talent, wisdom, the ability to interact, and on and on". And the ironic thing is that when we start by asking God for wisdom, He comes alongside and helps resolve situation after situation that is before us.

The pastor asked the congregation where we go for information and answers, admitting that all too often we trust in doctors and Wikipedia and FaceBook more than we do in waiting for the Lord to speak to us. And even then we sometimes act as if we want an email or a text message from God. We trust in facts, names and information - rather than trusting in the Lord. When we start by seeking God, "He reminds us of one thing or another, reminds us of something we already know of God, or something we know from the Word; and in that moment God gives us His wisdom that is precisely what is needed for the moment," Pastor Jason continued.

As he concluded, Pastor Jason reminded us (in what he called the "home run"): "When you and I as believers need extra wisdom in our lives, we can ask; however, we must have the faith to believe that God will hear and respond. And we must have the faith to believe that God will also be faithful - and have His way." The sobering thing, however, is that if we don't live by what we KNOW (based on what God has already shown us), then we cannot expect to have His peace, His joy, and the wisdom to walk in that path of obedience. However, if we become obedient, we will hear His voice again.

Rev. Jason Pickering and the congregation of Praise Assembly invite everyone to join with them this weekend. Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. and Morning Worship at 10:30 a.m.; and the Wednesday evening prayer meeting and children's activities that start at 6:30 p.m.

"Remember that there is always a place for YOU at Praise Assembly. We welcome you to join with us anytime: We are Seeking God, Serving God, and Sharing God," Pastor Pickering said.

Sunday School to begin Sept. 7 at First Trinity church

Sunday Schol at First Trinity Lutheran Church of Altona will begin Sunday, Sept. 7, following worship.

All children in the congregation, age three and above, are invited to attend. All children of Sunday School age in the community, as well as all St. John's of Pilger students are invited.

PUBLIC NOTICE - NEBRASKA FEMA-DR-4183-NE, DR-4185-NE

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security, Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) hereby gives notice to the public of its intent to reimburse state and local Nebraska governments and agencies, and eligible private non-profit organizations for eligible costs incurred to repair and/or replace facilities damaged by:

1. Severe Storms, Tornadoes, Straight-line Winds, and Flooding occurring from June 14-21, 2014;
2. Severe Storms, Tornadoes, Straight-line Winds, and Flooding occurring from June 1-4, 2014.

This notice applies to the Public Assistance (PA) and Hazard Mitigation Grant (HMPG) programs implemented under the authority of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 USC §§ 5121-5207, as amended.

Under a major disaster declaration for Nebraska (FEMA-4183-DR-NE) signed by the President on July 24, 2014, the following counties in the state of Nebraska have been designated adversely affected by the disaster and are eligible for PA only: Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Franklin, Furnas, Harlan, Kearney, Phelps, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne. All counties in the state of Nebraska are eligible for HMPG. There are no counties declared for Individual Assistance.

Under a major disaster declaration for Nebraska (FEMA-4185-DR-NE) signed by the President on July 28, 2014, the following counties in the state of Nebraska have been designated adversely affected by the disaster and are eligible for PA only: Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Franklin, Furnas, Harlan, Kearney, Phelps, Stanton, Thurston and Wayne. All counties in the state of Nebraska are eligible for HMPG. There are no counties declared for Individual Assistance.

designated adversely affected by the disaster and are eligible for PA only: Burt, Butler, Cass, Hamilton, Holt, Nemaha, Pawnee, Polk, Rock, Thurston, Valley, and Washington. All counties in the state of Nebraska are eligible for HMPG. There are no counties declared for Individual Assistance.

This public notice concerns public assistance activities that may affect historic properties, activities that are located in, or affect, wetland areas or the 100-year floodplain (areas determined to have a one percent probability of flooding in any given year) and critical actions within the 500-year floodplain. Such activities may adversely affect the historic property, floodplain or wetland, or may result in continuing vulnerability to flood damage.

Such activities may include restoring facilities located in a floodplain with eligible damage to pre-disaster condition. Examples of such activities include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Non-emergency debris removal and disposal;
2. Non-emergency protective measures;
3. Repair/replacement of roads, including streets, culverts, and bridges;
4. Repair/replacement of public dams, reservoirs and channels;
5. Repair/replacement of public buildings and related equipment;
6. Repair/replacement of public water control facilities, pipes and distribution systems;
7. Repair/replacement of public utilities, including sewage treatment plants, sewers and electrical power distribution systems; and

8. Repair/replacement of eligible private, non-profit facilities (hospitals, educational centers, emergency and custodial care services, etc.).

The President's Executive Order 11988, Floodplain Management, and Executive Order 11990, Protection of Wetlands, requires that all federal actions in or affecting the 100-year floodplain or wetland areas be reviewed for opportunities to move the facility out of the floodplain or wetland and to reduce the risk of future damage or loss from flooding and minimize harms to wetlands. However, FEMA has determined that in certain situations, there are no alternatives to restoring an eligible facility located in the floodplain to its pre-disaster condition. These situations meet all of the following criteria:

1. The FEMA estimated cost of repairs is less than 50 percent of the estimated cost to replace the facility and the replacement cost of the facility is less than $100,000;
2. The facility is not located in a floodway or coastal high hazard area;
3. The facility has not sustained structural damage in a previous presidentially declared flood disaster or emergency;
4. The facility is not defined as critical (e.g., hospital, generating plant, contains dangerous materials, emergency operation center, etc.).

FEMA will provide assistance to restore the facilities described above to their pre-disaster condition except when measures to mitigate the effects of future flooding may be incorporated into the restoration work. For example, insufficient waterway openings under culverts and bridges may cause water backup to wash out the structures. The water backup could wash out the facility and could damage other facilities in the area. Increasing the size of the waterway opening would mitigate, or lessen, the potential for this damage. Additional examples of mitigation measures include providing erosion protection at bridge abutments or levees, and extending entrance tubes on sewage lift stations.

Disaster assistance projects to restore facilities, which do not meet the criteria listed above, must undergo a detailed review. The review will include a study to determine if the facility can be moved out of the floodplain. The public is invited to participate in the review. The public may identify alternatives for restoring the facility and may participate in analyzing the impact of the alternatives on the facility and the floodplain. An address and phone number for obtaining information about specific assistance projects is provided at the end of this Notice. The final determination regarding the restoration of these facilities in a floodplain will be announced in future Public Notices.

Due to the urgent need for and/or use of the certain facilities in a floodplain, actions to restore the facility may have started before the federal inspector visits the site. Some of these facilities may meet the criteria for a detailed review to determine if they should be relocated. Generally, facilities may be restored in their original location where at least one of the following conditions applies:

1. The facility, such as a flood control device or bridge, is functionally dependent on its floodplain location;
2. The facility, such as a park or other open-use space, already represent sound floodplain management and, therefore, there is no need to change it;
3. The facility, such as a road or a utility, is an integral part of a larger network that could not be relocated economically.
4. Emergency action is needed to address a threat to public health and safety.

The effects of not relocating the facilities will be examined. In each case, the examination must show an overriding public need for the facility at its original location that clearly outweighed the requirements in the Executive Order to relocate the facility out of the floodplain. FEMA will also consult state and local officials to make certain that no actions taken will violate either state or local floodplain protection standards. The restoration of these facilities may also incorporate certain measures designed to mitigate the effects of future flooding. This will be the only Notice to the public concerning these facilities.

The National Historic Preservation Act requires federal agencies to take into account the effects of their undertakings on historic properties. Those actions or activities affecting buildings, structures, districts or objects 50 years or older or that affect archeological sites or undisturbed ground will require further review to determine if the property is eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places (Register). If the property is determined to be eligible for the Register, and FEMA's undertaking will adversely affect it, FEMA will provide additional Public Notices. For historic properties not adversely affected by FEMA's undertaking, this will be the only Public Notice.

FEMA also intends to provide Hazard Mitigation Grant Program (HMPG) funding under Section 404 of the Stafford Act to the State of Nebraska for the purposes of mitigating future disaster damages. Hazard mitigation projects may involve the construction of a new facility (e.g., retention pond, or debris dam), modification of an existing undamaged facility (e.g., improving waterway openings of bridges or culverts), and the relocation of facilities out of the floodplain. Subsequent Notices will provide more specific information as project proposals are developed.

Information about assistance projects may be obtained by submitting a written request to the Regional Director, DHS-FEMA Region VII; 9221 Ward Pkwy., Suite 300; Kansas City, MO 64114-3372. The information may also be obtained by calling: (816) 283-7060, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Comments should be sent in writing to the Regional Director, at the above address, within 15 days of the date of publication of this Notice.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met in regular session at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, August 19, 2014 in the upstairs meeting room of the Courthouse.

Roll call was answered by Chairman Burbach, Members Larson and Rabe, and Clerk Finn. Advance notice of this meeting was published in the Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on August 7, 2014.

A current copy of the Open Meetings Act was posted in the meeting room and accessible to the public.

The agenda was approved. The minutes of the August 5, 2014, meeting were approved as printed in the Commissioner's Record.

ROW Application No. 14-08-01, submitted by American Broadband, to bury fiber optic cable for future expansion purposes in the area of Hwy 35 and Pheasant Run was approved on motion by Larson, second by Rabe. Approval was subject to the line being placed 48" deep. Roll call vote: Larson-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

ROW Application No. 14-08-02, submitted by American Broadband, to bury fiber optic cable for communication services to Titan Machinery in the area of Chiefs Way and 577th Avenue was approved on motion by Larson, second by Rabe. Approval was subject to the line under South Centennial Road being bored 9' deep, and along Chiefs Way to be 48" deep. Roll call vote: Larson-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

ROW Application No. 14-08-03, submitted by Gary Pfeiffer, to run a power line to a bin in the area of 853rd Rd and 558th Ave was approved on motion by Rabe, second by Larson. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Larson-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Shelley Albus, a representative of Family Heritage Insurance, gave an overview of the supplemental insurance benefits available for employees. Albus requested permission to briefly meet with county employees to present the available plans. The board agreed to give flyers to employees, but they would not assemble employees on company time, she would have to meet with employees on their own time.

Bids for a 20-22 cubic yard, 3 axle gravel trailer were opened and reviewed. Motion by Rabe, second by Larson to accept the bid of $51,200.00 for a 2015 Trail King 43', 22 cubic yard, bottom dump trailer submitted by NMC, Inc. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Larson-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

Roger Brandt was present for the morning session. Brandt expressed his concerns with the tire damage caused by utility locate flags left behind at project sites. The county is trying to pick up the flags after their jobs, but there are numerous flags left from privately requested locates.

Brandt commended the county on holding the line on the proposed 2014-15 budget.

A meeting will be conducted in Wakefield on Wednesday, August 20th to receive input on disaster relief efforts from the June 16th tornado.

Preliminary Tax Requests were reviewed. Motion by Larson, second by Rabe to approve the following requests as presented:

Resolution 14-8, Wayne County Library Association, General Fund $13,000
Resolution 14-9, Carroll Rural Fire Protection, General Fund $31,523, Bond Fund $36,817
Resolution 14-10, Wayne Rural Fire District, General Fund $40,700, Sinking Fund $21,000
Resolution 14-11, Hoskins Rural Fire District, General Fund $55,086, Sinking Fund $10,000, Bond Fund $45,000

Resolution 14-12, Winside Rural Fire District, General Fund $29,006, Sinking Fund $9,000
Resolution 14-13, Wakefield Rural Fire District, General Fund $87,500
Roll call vote: Larson-aye, Rabe-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

The preliminary tax request for the Wayne County Agricultural Society was $122,258.28, which was $52,443.51 higher than the 2013 request. Representatives of the Ag Society had previously explained the additional funds would go for a proposed swine and small animal building. Motion by Rabe, second by Larson to approve Resolution 14-7, awarding Wayne County Ag Society $80,500 for General Fund. The board felt this amount was fair as it fell in line with the increases taken by the county and rural fire districts. Roll call vote: Rabe-aye, Larson-aye, Burbach-aye; motion carried.

A budget work session was held. The hearing on the 2014-15 county budget will be scheduled for Tuesday, September 2nd at 1:30 p.m.
